British Declare 'Peaceful Intent' President Hopes Conference Table Can Settle Suez

LONDON (AP)—Britain said today she intends to settle the Suez Canal dispute peacefully.

The Foreign Office statement also declared that the old Arab-Israeli dispute had no part in the Suez issue.

The statement, volunteered by the Foreign Office's news department chief at a news conference: "Our intention is that the dispute on the Suez Canal should be peacefully settled and that this issue is wholly separate from the Arab-Israeli dispute. Any attempt to inject the Arab-Israeli dispute into the Suez Canal dispute would not be helpful to a settlement."

Meanwhile, India agreed to attend the international Suez conference, but Prime Minister Nehru said he understood Egypt "could not and would not" take part in the parley.

Nehru's announcement to the Indian Parliament in New Delhi increased expectations that Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser would appeal to the U.N. Security Council to take a hand in the dispute over his nationalization of the strategic waterway.

Britain, meanwhile, marshaled an air and sea armada to move more troops to the Mediterranean. The British also went doggedly ahead with their plans to hold the Suez conference — scheduled to open in London Aug. 16 — even if Egypt didn't participate.

Nehru appealed to Britain and France to halt their "warlike" preparations," which he said had disturbed all of Asia. He also criticized the United States, saying the "way" in which Washington withdrew its offer to help finance the proposed Aswan high dam on the Nile had "precipitated" Nasser's decision to nationalize the canal.

Nehru said his government had accepted Britain's invitation to participate in the London conference after it was assured the meeting would not harm the "sovereignty and dignity of Egypt." Indian sources in New Delhi had said previously that Nehru's acceptance would in no way commit him to approve the international control of the canal which the Western Big Three hope the conference will agree to sponsor.

India was the 17th nation to agree to attend the meeting proposed by Britain, France and the United States. A British Foreign Office spokesman said it would be held no matter how many of the 24 nations invited refused to come.

There has been no reply yet from Egypt, Russia, Ceylon, Indonesia, Spain, Greece or Denmark.

In Washington, Secretary of State Dulles reportedly told the ambassadors of the 20 Latin-American republics that Britain and France may feel Egypt already has used force to take over the Suez waterway, entitling them to answer with force.

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said today he has every hope the Suez Canal crisis will be settled by peaceful means.

Eisenhower told a news conference he cannot conceive of military force bringing a good solution in the tense situation under present circumstances.

Told that his remarks might give the impression he would be opposed to use of force under any circumstances, Eisenhower shot back that he had not said that.

What we are trying to do, Eisenhower said, is to substitute the conference for the battlefield.

His mention of the conference table was an allusion to the 24-nation conference which the Western Big Three—the United States, Britain and France—have called in London for Aug. 16 in an effort to arrive at a peaceful settlement of the Suez situation.

Eisenhower also dealt with these other matters:

HEALTH—He declared anew that if at any time he feels his health is not what it should be for him to serve a second term, he will go before the American people and tell them so.

Eisenhower also said he plans another thorough physical examination this year to determine whether his health is what he feels it should be in the light of his decision to seek a second term.

POLITICS—Eisenhower said he feels he has made himself perfectly clear with respect to the controversy over a vice presidential running mate. If he didn't manage to be clear at his news conference last week, then he probably never will be able to, he added.

The controversy was touched off by efforts of Harold E. Stassen to ditch Vice President Nixon from the No. 2 spot on the Republican ticket in favor of Gov. Christian A. Herter of Massachusetts.

Eisenhower's remarks came after a reporter told him there apparently was some doubt as to the meaning of what Eisenhower had to say on the subject a week ago.

At that time the President said Nixon is "perfectly acceptable" to him as a running mate.

But he declined comment on Herter or any other possible vice presidential candidate.

He said if he started discussing them he might have to make reservations about some of them.

Asked whether his chief aide, Sherman Adams, carried any message from him when Adams visited Herter in Boston yesterday, Eisenhower touched off a laugh by remarking he had not even been aware of Adams' visit until the reporter mentioned it.

Stevenson Stirs Protests Over Civil Rights Stand

CHICAGO (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson rode the angry waves of a self-created storm over civil rights today with some signs that his Democratic presidential nomination ship might be springing a leak.

Stevenson, top contender for the nomination at next week's convention, hit his Southern supporters with something akin to a bolt of lightning yesterday. He called for "unequivocal approval" in the party's platform of the Supreme Court decision outlawing racial segregation in public schools.

Dismayed Southerners hurriedly huddled under the leadership of Gov. James P. Coleman of Mississippi. Coleman last month headed a pre-convention caucus of Dixie Democrats concerned primarily with keeping the party from endorsing the court's opinion.

After three hours of discussion behind closed doors, Coleman came up with this verdict: "The Southerners don't like Stevenson's stand but 'as of this date" he remains the active candidate most acceptable to the South.

Coleman added later, however, that "the whole situation will have to be reappraised in the light of the developments and the action of the Platform Committee."

This seemed to hold out the threat that if no compromise is reached within the Platform Committee, some of the Southerners might walk out of the convention. Any such move would enhance the chances of Stevenson's thus far outdistanced rival Gov. Averell Harriman of New York.

Coleman made it clear, however, that he and others wouldn't relish a walkout.

"We're up here to do our best to keep in the Democratic party," he said.

For the time being at least the Southerners appeared to have no other candidate in sight whose stand on the issue was less objectionable to them than Stevenson's.

The Stevenson statement which kicked up the storm was this: "I have a very strong feeling that the platform should express unequivocal approval of the court's decision, although it seems odd that you have to express your approval of the Constitution and its institutions."

This statement in a TV interview was interjected in some quarters as a public move by Stevenson to wipe out the "moderate" label pinned on him by Harriman.

The statement provoked caustic comment from the Harriman camp that Stevenson was moving in the direction of their own candidate.

It left some of Stevenson's supporters shaking their heads at his rock-the-boat tactics in a pre-convention period when they felt he had the nomination sewed up and needed only to keep silent.

Whether Stevenson lost any vital ground among the perturbed Southerners who might give him the votes needed for a first-ballot nomination was debatable.

Stevenson's Virginia backers appeared unshaken. Rep. Howard Smith said in Richmond he recognizes "the facts of life" and will continue to support Stevenson. Smith and others indicated they felt Stevenson had little choice except to take the position he did.

"I doubt if the Southern people feel they could get a plank that would say the Supreme Court was all wet," Smith commented.

However, Alabama Circuit Judge George C. Wallace of Clay-ton said he thinks the courts have reached a new low in prestige "when the political parties of this country have to endorse a decision of the Supreme Court in order to give it some validity." Wallace added:

"If the presidential candidates will leave the committee alone, it may come up with a plank acceptable to all Democrats."

2 More Cases Of Paralytic Polio For Pitt; Neither Child Had Shots

Pitt County's eighth and ninth cases of paralytic polio were reported today by Health Director Walter C. Humbert, who termed the disease now in "epidemic" stage here.

He pointed out that of the nine polio cases reported within the past three weeks, eight have been the paralytic type. "This is the highest percentage of paralytic cases of polio we have ever had in Pitt County."

Latest victims of the crippling disease are a six-year-old Negro boy of Farmville Route 2 and an eight-year-old white boy of Ayden Route 1. Neither had been immunized.

The Negro youngster has been transferred from Pitt Memorial Hospital to the Central Carolina Convalescent Sanatorium in Greensboro, while the other youth is still under treatment at the local hospital.

Severe Virus

All nine cases, except one in Farmville, have been in rural families and have been scattered over the county. Dr. Humbert said, "I and lives on the Washington highway near Port Terminal."

cannot emphasize enough the fact that the polio we've got here now is the most dangerous kind, and it's all over the county."

In reviewing the situation yesterday Dr. Humbert and Dr. G. Earl Trevathan Jr., chairman of the Polio Advisory Committee of the Pitt County Medical and Dental Society, estimated that if a good percentage of the eligible county residents had not been immunized when the outbreak of polio began the last of July "there would probably have been more than 100 cases of severe polio by now, and probably the worst epidemic in the history of the Coastal Plain."

The physicians estimated there have been at least 200-300 "sub-clinical" cases of polio here within the last few weeks. This means the disease never affects the child beyond the sore throat, headache, fever and upset stomach stage because he has partial immunity. These cases usually never even see a doctor.

Dr. Humbert said the physicians believe Greenville has escaped the polio virus so far "because by far the biggest proportion of those immunized have been from the city."

He said there are still between 6,000 and 7,000 of the eligible population from six months through 19 years of age who have not been immunized.

Number Vaccinated

He estimated that 67.5 per cent of all eligible persons have received the first injection of the Salk vaccine since it became available in April, 1955, while some 10 per cent have received the third dose. He said response has been best from the age group five through nine, with some 81 per cent of these youngsters vaccinated. Reason for this large percentage, the health director stated, is that first and second doses were given earlier in the schools. Poorer response has been from the teenagers, and Dr. Humbert urged that they get the vaccine, either from their private physicians or from the Health Department.

The Pitt County Board of Education has recommended that all Pitt County school children get the polio immunizations before school opens this fall.

Clinics To End

The special polio clinics now being held at the Health Department offices over the county will terminate when school starts, Dr. Humbert said.

Clinics are being held this week in Greenville today, Friday and Saturday, in Farmville tomorrow and Saturday, and in Bethel Saturday from 8:30 until 11:30 a.m. Next week the Greenville clinics will be held Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 8:30 a.m. until 4:30 p.m. and on Saturday from 8:30 to 11:30 a.m. In Farmville the clinics are scheduled for Monday, Wednesday and Thursday from 8:30 a.m. until 4:30 p.m. and on Saturday from 8:30 until 11:30. In addition, a clinic will be held in Grifton Monday afternoon from 1 o'clock until 4.

Total Immunized

Dr. Humbert has estimated that some 13,400 persons have received at least one injection of the Salk vaccine from the Health Department or private physicians since the program began in 1955.

First injections given by the Health Department and by private physicians using vaccine obtained free of charge from the health office total 11,899 and Dr. Humbert said at least 1,600 more shots have been given by the physicians.

A total of 5,817 second doses have been given and 1,376 third immunizations, making a total of 19,692 doses of the vaccine administered from April, 1955 through August 4 of this year.

The court terms run for eight years. Chief Justice Barnhill was elected in 1952 and Associate Justice Winborne in 1954. The term of the attorney general is four years.

Barnhill resigned, effective at one o'clock, August 21, because of poor health. He was first appointed to the high court by Governor Hoey in 1937 and was successively re-elected. Appointed chief justice by Governor Umstead, he was elected in 1954 for the unexpired term of Chief Justice William A. Devin, resigned, who had been elected in 1952.

As a retired member of the high court he will be subject to call for special duty as an associate justice when his services are needed and his health will permit.

The new chief justice came on the court at the same time as the retiring chief, July 1, 1937, when membership was increased from five members to seven. He was successively elected, including election for an eight-year term in 1954.

William Rodman was appointed attorney general by Governor Hodges on July 1, 1955, upon the death of Harry McMullan. He was nominated without opposition in the recent primary for both the unexpired portion of the McMullan term and for a four years on his own.

At the time of his appointment it was predicted that he would get the first vacancy on the Supreme Court.

Because the executive committee of the board of trustees of the university met with Governor Hodges Tuesday morning some reporters and a large segment of the public thought the special news conference was called to announce selection of a university president. The court shuffle caught most of them napping.

While there was no surprise in the elevation of the two able jurists involved, the timing of the event is rated one of the best kept secrets around capitol square this year.

Governor Hodges took occasion to read into the record and to hand reporters a signed statement paying high tribute to service rendered by the State by the retiring chief justice.

Coroner's Jury Orders Driver Held For Action

A Coroner's Jury last night ordered Johnny Luther Moore, 20-year-old Negro, held for Grand Jury action in connection with the July 21 highway accident which took the lives of Ronald Gray Godey and his two-year-old son William.

Coroner Griffin H. Rouse directed that Moore be held without bond pending action of the Grand Jury which meets on August 27.

The fatal accident occurred just south of the Greenville city limits at the intersection of the fire tower road and Evans Street extension.

Mrs. James S. Lafferty, 2409 East Fourth Street, told the coroner's jury she did not witness the accident, but shortly before the accident she saw the car driven by Moore weaving along the highway. She further testified that when she passed Moore's car, he pulled off the road and stopped.

Investigating Patrolman J. B. Surles charged Moore with manslaughter, driving drunk and failing to stop for a stop sign. Surles testified last night that he had smelled a strong odor of alcohol on Moore and that Ella Ruth Barrett, 32-year-old Greenville Negro who was riding with Moore, said that she and Moore had "stopped at a super market and purchased a bottle of wine and we had been drinking together." The Barrett woman who later took the stand told the jury she could not remember having said anything to Surles.

William B. Sullivan, in his testimony to the jury, said that seconds before the accident Moore had run him off the road. He saw the wreck in his rear view mirror, he testified, and asserted he did not see the spotlight on Moore's car at the intersection.

Moore, last to take the stand, told the jury he had driven all night prior to the accident in the early afternoon and that he was "very sleepy." He said he remembered pulling off the road for a car to pass, but remembered nothing subsequent to that until he woke up in the hospital.

Pitt Magistrate Frank Brooks Planning Retire

Magistrate Frank E. Brooks, 117 West Third Street, whose commission expires shortly, announced today he is retiring from the bench. Governor W. Kerr Scott appointed him in 1950 and Governor Umstead later re-appointed him.

Brooks plans to engage in the farm loan business on a statewide basis and devote his entire time to it. He will represent five insurance companies, three of them major corporations. He will have his office with Attorney Frank M. Wooten, 113 West Third Street.

The Pitt County magistrate is vice-president of the Association of North Carolina Magistrates and holds membership on the State Executive and Legislative committees. He farms on a small scale

Five Admitted To Hospital In Two Pitt Traffic Accidents

Five persons were admitted to Pitt Memorial Hospital yesterday afternoon after accidents on highways in the county.

Four of the injured were admitted after a two-car collision at the intersection of N. C. 43 and N. C. 102 at Calico. The other injured person, W. S. Fleming of Greenville, was admitted after his car left U. S. 264 in Grimesland and knocked down two poles.

In the collision at Calico, a 1955 Packard operated by Ann Graham Grady, 19 of New Bern was struck by a 1952 Cadillac operated by A. T. McLean, 74, of Lumberton. Miss Grady's car was headed South on Highway 43 when it was struck by McLean's automobile which was traveling West on Highway 102. Both cars were total losses, according to investigating patrolman Delbert Minshew of Farmville.

According to Minshew, Miss Grady was admitted to the hospital with head injuries and shock. Miss Beth Lanche, also of New Bern and a passenger in Miss Grady's car, was admitted to the hospital for treatment of head injuries. Mr. McLean, the most seriously injured of the four people involved in the accident, received head injuries and internal injuries. Mrs. McLean, also 74, received minor cuts and bruises and shock. The investigating patrolman said that his report of the accident was incomplete because he has not been able to talk with McLean who reportedly was returning to his home in Lumberton from a summer cottage at Nags Head.

Minshew's report on the accident at Grimesland is also incomplete because he has not been able to talk with Fleming who was admitted to Pitt Memorial Hospital with a fractured hip and chest injuries. His condition was diagnosed as "serious."

According to Minshew, Fleming's 1951 Ford was traveling West on Highway 264 inside the town limits of Grimesland when Fleming apparently went to sleep at the wheel. His car left the highway on the left side, knocked down two power line poles, traveled for several hundred feet and struck a small building belonging to the State Highway and Public Works Commission. One of the hot lines from the demolished poles started a grass fire in the area and electric power in Grimesland was cut off for a short time.

Fleming's car was almost completely demolished.

Patrolman J. B. Surles of Greenville assisted Minshew in the accident at Calico.

Governor Names Sen. Jones To Conference

RALEIGH — Governor Hodges has announced the appointment of State Senator Paul E. Jones, of Farmville, as one of five legislators to represent North Carolina at the annual legislative work conference of the Southern Regional Education Board.

This conference will be held in New Orleans, September 13-15.

The Governor said: "I am pleased to have the services of Senator Jones for this annual conference which reviews the program of the Southern Regional Education Board and later makes recommendations to the Board on this important regional program. Senator Jones is a capable and conscientious member of the General Assembly and he will ably represent our State."

Winborne To Be Chief Justice; Rodman Tapped

By LYNN NISBET

RALEIGH—John Wallace Winborne will become chief justice of the North Carolina Supreme Court on August 21, succeeding Maurice V. Barnhill, C.J. resigned. At the same time William B. Rodman Jr. will go on the high bench as associate justice filling the vacancy occasioned by elevation of Justice Winborne.

These appointments were announced by Governor Hodges at a special news conference Tuesday afternoon. They hold until the November election. Before that election the Democratic state executive committee must meet to nominate candidates for the positions of chief justice, associate justice and attorney general.

It is virtually certain that the committee will nominate the men appointed by the Governor: Wallace Winborne for chief justice, for a term ending January 1, 1961; William Rodman for associate justice, for a term ending January 1, 1963; and whoever the Governor appoints as attorney general for the remainder of the current term ending January 1, 1957, and the full four-year term ending January 1, 1961.

The court terms run for eight years. Chief Justice Barnhill was elected in 1952 and Associate Justice Winborne in 1954. The term of the attorney general is four years.

N. C. Demo Delegates Plan Ride Along With Stevenson

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

North Carolina's Democratic National Convention delegates apparently will stick with Adlai Stevenson for a term ending January 1, 1963, and whoever the Governor appoints as attorney general for the remainder of the current term ending January 1, 1957, and the full four-year term ending January 1, 1961.

This was indicated today interviews with several of the Tar Heels who will attend the convention beginning in Chicago next Monday.

Stevenson said in a television interview yesterday that "The platform should express unequivocal approval of the (Supreme Court's) decision, although it seems odd that you have to express your approval of the Constitution and its institutions."

B. Everett Jordan of Saxapahaw, North Carolina's Democratic national committeeman, said at Montreat as he was preparing to leave for Chicago:

"I think he probably lessened some of the enthusiasm of some Southern delegates, but I still think he is the most acceptable candidate for the South as a whole, unless something more radical happens."

Jordan said he was inclined to think that most of the Southern delegates who had endorsed Stevenson would continue to support him.

"I suppose he felt he had to say something" on he subject in order to bid for "some of the Northern delegates that New York's Gov. Averell Harriman has, or is claiming," Jordan continued.

Said W. S. Harris Sr., retired postmaster of Mebane in Alamance County and an alternate delegate from the 6th District:

"Mr. Stevenson's statement regarding a stronger civil rights plank in the Democratic platform does not change my belief that he is the best candidate and I still plan to support him at the convention. I think Gov. Stevenson has done this to pacify the Northern liberals. I do not believe we can win with a conservative candidate."

The national committeewoman for North Carolina Young Democrats also pledged her continued support of Stevenson.

Mrs. Mildred Morgan, an alternate delegate from Concord, said:

Owners Of Two Liners Dispute Blame For Atlantic Collision

NEW YORK (AP)—Owners of the Swedish motorship Stockholm and the Italian liner Andrea Doria are in dispute over blame for the disastrous collision of the two vessels.

The Swedish American Line said yesterday the Doria without warning made a reckless left turn in front of the oncoming Stockholm.

The Italian Line replied that, on the contrary, a swift, unsignaled right turn by the Stockholm caused the fatal crash.

The opposing statements came as a preliminary to court actions that will argue blame for the collision. Millions of dollars in damage claims are at stake.

Fifty-two persons are dead or unaccounted for in the July 25 collision south of Nantucket Island, Mass. The Doria sank, but more than 1,600 of those aboard were rescued. The Stockholm suffered a crushed bow but crept back to port here for repairs.

The Swedish American Line filed legal papers in federal court asking that the firm not be held responsible for any losses, damages or injuries resulting from the crash. At the same time the line said it would sue the Doria owners for damages.

A spokesman for the Italian Line said the court action by the Stockholm owners was "obviously made in anticipation of an Italian Line suit to recover damages resulting from the sinking of the Andrea Doria."

Damage suits against both lines have climbed past the two-million-dollar mark with no end in sight.

Both lines not only disputed the blame for the crash but also differed about the weather on the night of the collision.

The Italian Line said dense fog covered the water at the time. But the Swedish Line said the Swedish Line said the moon was out and visibility good.

The line's petition said: "The sea was moderate, there was a little wind, the moon was shining, and although there was haze on the horizon, visibility was good . . ."

The sleek, white, 12,165-ton Stockholm picked up the Doria by radar about 10 miles away, the petition said. The streamlined, 30,000-ton Italian liner hove into eyesight about two miles off.

The petition continued: "The Andrea Doria was showing her red or port side light . . . Although the vessels were in a position to pass safely port to port (to each other's left like cars in opposite lanes of a highway), the Stockholm went to starboard (right) to give even greater passing distance."

"The Andrea Doria, however, suddenly closed out her red light, showed her green light and veered sharply to her own left or port at undiminished speed, turning across the bow of the Stockholm. . . . The Stockholm immediately went hard right and full ahead, but it was impossible to avoid collision . . ."

Try Tricks With Pennants

COLLEGE CATCHALL
This roomy duffie is simple to make with felt and pennant.

AP Newsfeatures
MODERN COLLEGE GIRLS are discovering better uses for pennants than hanging them on the walls. They stitch them on felt skirts, make throw pillows out of them and even use them for big carry-all bags.

Here's a suggestion for a going-away gift for a girl headed back to college. Even a beginner seamstress can make a gay triangular tote sack, big enough to carry notebooks or an extra sweater.

Local sewing center experts tell you how to make this college catchall. You will need a college pennant, 3-8 yard of 72-inch felt, a 12-inch square of heavy cardboard and a 14-inch handbag zipper.

On the cardboard draw an equilateral triangle, 11 inches on each side. Cut out. Using this for a pattern, cut two triangles of felt, 1-4 inch larger all around than the cardboard.

Place cardboard between two layers of felt and stitch around all three sides, using the cording foot of your sewing machine.

Out two pieces of felt, using the pennant as a pattern. Stitch edge of pennant along zipper, with bottom of zipper six inches from wide end of pennant. Stitch edge of one side piece of felt to other bottom portion of side piece and pennant. Stitch top portions together. Then stitch second piece of felt to edge of pennant and other side piece.

Using leftover scraps, cut a double strip of felt to form a handle. Stitch edges of handle section together and stitch to top of the bag.

Whip-stitch bottom edges of pennant and side pieces to the three sides of the base. Use heavy thread, so the bag will be strong enough to hold books. All seams may be stitched on the outside, and trimmed.

If you like, you may use pennants from three different colleges to make the bag.

James Celebrate Golden Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. James of Stokes were honored by their children July 22 in celebration of their Golden Wedding Anniversary.

Some 120 guests called between four and six o'clock at the home of Charlie Junius James which was decorated appropriately for the occasion.

Miss Mary Frances Mayo and Douglas Petterton, grandchildren of the honorees, greeted guests. Receiving throughout the house were their children, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Hurdle of Elizabeth City; Mr. and Mrs. James of Stokes; Mr. and Mrs. R. H. James of Rocky Mount; and Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Staton, Mr. and Mrs. Wiley Waters, Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Mayo and Mr. and Mrs. D. L. James, all of Greenville.

The dining room table was covered in white linen and decorated with yellow gladioli. The two-tiered anniversary cake was placed in the center of the table. Guests were served lime ice punch, cake squares iced in gold and white, gold mints and assorted nuts.

Mrs. James was presented a corsage of yellow gladioli and Mr. James a gold boutonniere. They were also showered with gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. James are the grandparents of nineteen grandchildren and one great grandchild.

30 Years Ago Today

THE DAILY REFLECTOR
August 8, 1926

Mrs. Ada James was hostess at a lovely bridge party last evening in honor of Miss Dovie Burnette, who will be married next Saturday. The home was prettily decorated with cut flowers. There were four tables for players. Miss Burnette was remembered with a miniature corsage and lingerie. The top score was made by Mrs. James McCauley, who was given a box of powder with a miniature corsage. Following the game the hostess served an ice course.

Whether your petticoat is red silk, softly flounced, moderately full, or bouffant, it should be sudsed clean after every one or two wearings. The lower edge, most likely to peek out from your skirt, may be suds-scrubbed with your fingertips or brush before laundering the entire petticoat.

A Cool, Clean Mattress Goes Long Way Toward Beating Heat

Here's another suggestion to add to your formula for dropping off to sleep on a sweltering summer night. Try shampooing your mattress early one morning. You'll be surprised how much cooler it feels to sleep on a clean, fresh-smelling mattress that night.

No elaborate preparation is required to do the job. Merely mix a bowl of "dry" soapsuds by combining soap with a small amount of water and mixing well with an egg beater until you have a meringue-like mixture.

Carefully sponge the thick suds onto a small section of the mattress and rinse well by lightly wiping with a fresh sponge and clear water. Dry with a soft, clean cloth. Repeat the process until the entire surface is spanking clean. To prevent streaking, be sure to start each section with the last one. An electric fan placed nearby will hasten drying.

But before you go to ANY extra exertion in the heat, make sure that your mattress is worth the effort. Check it for telltale signs of wear: lumps, bumps, sagging, broken stitches, missing buttons or tufts, or droopy borders. If you find any of these faults, it's time to replace your mattress. While you're at it, you might investigate the new super-size. The added inches will give you greater freedom of movement and help you to relax—even on the hottest of summer nights.

Hymn-Sing Planned Sunday Afternoon At St. James Church

An old-fashioned hymn-sing called a "singspiration" will be held at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon at the St. James Methodist Church in Greenville. Minister J. Malloy Owen, announcing the meeting, invited "everyone regardless of Church affiliation to join us in this informal Christian fellowship in air conditioned comfort."

The new church is air conditioned throughout, which will probably be a major factor in the minds of many prospective hymn-singers on a hot August afternoon.

"The Circuit Rider Male Quartet and Girl's Trio will sing, as will our baritone soloist Ed Conway," the Rev. Mr. Owen added. No sermon will be delivered. The program will last one hour. Emphasis will be placed upon the Gospel Message of the music and the informal fellowship atmosphere will be designed to encourage joyous singing.

Area-wide publicity is being given the "Singspiration" through newspapers, television, and radio, so that a large crowd is expected. "The Circuit Rider," biweekly religious telecast seen on WNCN Sundays at 2:30 and heard on a Wilson radio station at 5:30, will feature a special invitation to the people of Eastern Carolina to come to Greenville for the musical program.

This season's glamorous bathing suits are entitled to a good sudsing and rinsing after each trip to the beach, lake, or swimming pool. Remember to wash your bathing suit just as you wash yourself after a swim. A swim is no bath for either of you!

Two Generations In Stage Show

By HILARY DAVIES

AP Newsfeatures
BROADWAY has had many distinguished mother-and-daughter combinations on its boards, but few can have been as close friends as the current twosome: Viola Roache and Philippa Bevens.

Their first appearance together was more years ago than either cares to remember when Philippa was scarcely knee-high to her mother, who was playing leads in stock at Boston. Between that date and their present engagement in the successful musical hit "My Fair Lady" they have played many times together.

Coincidence nearly always have governed their joint appearances, as in "My Fair Lady"—but it is by design that they are rarely apart off stage. They share an apartment overlooking the Hudson, and divide equally the cleaning and cooking chores. Their only concession to independence is separate telephones and bathrooms.

"It isn't that we spend so much time using either," explains Miss Bevens, "but you know how it is, people always want them at the same moment. They can be the center of trouble in the best families."

They were naturals for "My Fair Lady" for both are British by birth and through long residence in this country—Miss Roache is now a citizen—has equipped them with authentic American accents, they can return to the mother tongue at will.

It is fortunate that they never meet on stage during the performance for Miss Roache admits she is overcome by a desire to giggle whenever she has a stage exchange with her daughter. This dates back to an incident when both were in stock, when Miss Roache played Lizzie Borden in "Suspect" and Miss Bevens played her ancient nurse, who "mothers" her. The situation was almost too much for their dramatic control.

Backstage they share a dressing room and dresser, and as they have a TV set installed to entertain them between their scenes it is as well that they share similar tastes in shows.

Miss Roache, a youthful 70 and determined not to retire, had a fight to attain her stage ambitions as her parents had no connection with the profession and disapproved, but daughter Philippa, as she puts it, "never had, or wanted, any other choice."

Few mothers and adult daughters, however affectionate their feelings towards one another, could maintain such a close friendship. In explanation Miss Roache says: "I think we are fortunate to be real friends, because we have such fun together. I think the secret is that we are not tied to one another's apron strings. Although we live together we can lead independent lives, have our own friends, and do what we like. We don't interfere, pry into or criticize each other's actions or friends—that counts a lot in such a relationship."

FOOTLIGHTS IN THE FAMILY . . . Philippa Bevens and her mother, Viola Roache, look over the script of "My Fair Lady," current Broadway hit in which they appear in separate roles.

Obviously Need More Court Terms

Pitt County's move to clear up its criminal court docket with two special terms of criminal court this fall in addition to the three terms of court already scheduled is a wise move.

It has been impossible for the county to keep its Superior Court criminal docket up to date with the limited number of terms of court which have been allotted the county in the past two years. It was necessary last year for special terms of court to be requested. It has been necessary again this year. The special terms cost the county money, but at the same time they alleviate the backlog of court cases which otherwise would continue to grow.

The situation faced by Pitt County in asking for special criminal terms of court is likewise faced by other counties in this area. They too have found it necessary to request special terms of criminal court to keep up with the cases being added to dockets.

Because of the criminal terms of court already scheduled for counties in the fifth solicitorial district, it will be impossible for Solicitor Robert D. Rouse, Jr. of Farmville to be in Pitt Superior Court for the special terms requested for the weeks of November 12 and December 3. Therefore if the county is to dispose of criminal cases during these weeks of court, it is necessary that a special prosecutor be provided by the county. For that reason Rouse requested the Board of Commissioners appoint a special assistant to the solicitor to handle the special terms and to assist the solicitor in the three regular terms of criminal court to be held in the county between now and the end of the year. The commissioners responded by requesting the two additional terms of court and appointing attorney Clifton Everette of Bethel as assistant to the solicitor.

If the county is to keep its Superior Court criminal docket up to date, it must be provided with more criminal terms of court than it has been given since the realignment of judicial districts in 1955. Prior to that time the county was assigned 10 weeks of criminal court each year and even so it proved impossible to prevent the backlog of cases from mounting.

Since the realignment, which was designed to remove the staggering backlog of Superior Court cases throughout the state, Pitt has been regularly granted only eight terms of criminal court during the year. The county had to request special terms of court last fall and again now in an attempt to keep up with the cases being placed on the docket.

The Board of Commissioners also has taken action pointed at obtaining for the county 12 terms of criminal court instead of eight a year when the 1957 General Assembly meets. The additional terms of court, which are clearly needed, should be provided for by the legislature.

Each year the number of cases being handled by Superior Courts throughout North Carolina are rising. Naturally it will take more terms of court each year to dispose of the increasing number of cases. We can see little that is to be gained by granting each county an insufficient number of court terms annually which force the counties to request additional special terms in order to keep their dockets reasonably current.

The realignment of judicial districts and the creation of more judges authorized by the 1955 General Assembly was a step toward alleviating the logjam of cases in Superior Courts throughout the state. Since that time, however, it has become evident that the 1955 action did not make adequate provisions for the counties to keep their court dockets for becoming congested. Further study should be given the problem by the 1957 session of the legislature with an eye to providing more terms of criminal court in counties throughout the state to cope with the increasing number of cases being placed on the dockets.

Sheriffs Can See Only Larger Vote

By LYNN NISBET
ASHEVILLE — Consensus among the sheriffs attending their state convention Friday and Saturday was that the only thing to be accomplished by an organized campaign ahead of the September 8 election will be to get out a larger vote.

Estimates on the majority ratio in favor of the school amendment ranged from "better than three to one" predicted for Mecklenburg by Sheriff Clyde Hunter, to approximately "twelve to one" in Surry forecast by Sam Patterson, former sheriff for 12 years.

Many of the sheriffs would not estimate percentages, but all with whom your reporter talked agreed the favorable vote will be overwhelming.

None looked for organized opposition anywhere. Several expressed opinion that some real opposition would be helpful in stimulating interest. The fight will be against apathy. Some citizens may conclude that because nobody appears to be against the amendment, it will not be necessary to vote.

"It's hard to wage an active campaign against nothing," quipped one veteran of many elections.

Sheriff L. L. Guy of Cumberland said opposition to the Pearlman plan in his county came from two small classes. A few newcomers, influenced by the mixed school program at Fort Bragg, are ready to integrate the county schools.

A much larger number of old timers think the plan does not go far enough to guarantee continued segregation. The situation in Cumberland, Robeson and Sampson is complicated by a third factor—a sizeable Indian population.

Sheriffs Malcolm McLeod of Robeson and W. E. Hall of Sampson agreed with Sheriff Guy that their counties will give big majorities for the amendment.

RETIREMENT — The Law Enforcement Officers' Benefit and Retirement Fund is in good condition. That is true despite the fact it has potential liabilities of $18 million and has only $11 million immediately available to meet them. Explanation is that large part of the "potential liabilities" will not come due for 10 to 15 years. Meantime income from members payments, matching funds from employing counties and cities, receipts from court costs in criminal cases and interest on investments keeps coming. The fund has about $11 million invested, which yields around 3 per cent a year.

This report was made at the sheriffs' convention by Henry L. Bridges, State auditor and chairman of the board. Bridges also reviewed progress in efforts to obtain Federal Social Security coverage for law enforcement officers.

officers, and out-lined procedure under the new act signed last week by President Eisenhower. Largely through efforts of Sen. Sam Ervin the overall social security act permits participation by law officers, including uniformed municipal police in North Carolina and three other states, when they vote to come into the system.

Bridges said the North Carolina board had agreed to seek enabling legislation for a referendum as soon as the General Assembly convenes. Whether that will be January or February depends upon voter action on an amendment in the September 8 election.

Unlike the election last spring in which law officers other than city police participated, and which was voided on technicalities, the voting next time will be on separate unit basis. Only members of the IBOBAR system can vote. If a majority of members in any county or any city vote for the social security plan all will be covered. If the majority votes "no" nobody can get in.

LOCAL — The local governing body, county commissioners or town board, will determine when coverage begins in event the officers vote for it. One objection to the proposition last spring was the retroactive feature. Coverage began on January 1, 1955, and members as well as employing units, had to put up a lump sum for 18 months back time.

Bridges said under the new plan coverage can be retroactive to January 1, 1955, or any quarter date since, or begin after the election. He said he had been advised by several counties that the commissioners would lead officers money to make up back payments if they desired.

LOTTERY — Every sheriff, deputy sheriff and guest who registered at the recent state convention was given a lottery ticket. Drawings entitled the winning sheriff and deputy to a fine Colt pistol. The winning women got cash prizes. It was all very legal, because no registration fee was charged, said the sheriffs.

DIVERSITY — Malcolm McLeod, sheriff of Robeson county and president of the state association, was explaining the growing complexities in the sheriff's job. He noted that the Legislature kept on making more and more things illegal.

"A sheriff now," he said, "has to watch for undertakers engaging in embalming; know when a crop-dusting plane is operating illegally; and read all the 'funny' books that come into his county, to see if they comply with the law."

The association voted to ask the Legislature to relieve sheriffs of enforcing the law against crime comics — or at least to put some responsibility on other law officers.

Another Visitor In Europe

Another interesting letter from Europe comes from Terry Flanagan, another of Greenville's summer travelers to foreign points. Terry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E.G. Flanagan, is making a tour of ten foreign countries with a group of Salem College classmates.

She writes from the Hotel Montana Lucerne, Switzerland.

"We arrived here tonight from Naples. It really was a beautiful city. We took an excursion boat to Capri, which is just like an immense rock sticking up out of the water. We went into the Blue Grotto in row boats. The water is iridescent blue; actually it is very small, though. We went swimming there—beautiful water—but the queerest looking people there you ever saw."

"One thing I've found out—Europeans don't think Americans are all rich, materialistic and brassy. There is much envy and resentment. Of course, being on a tour we don't come into too much contact with that."

"Something interesting I just remembered—in Venice Jack Benny was making a movie across the canal from our hotel. We hopped in a gondola and paddled over to watch. We waved and he spoke to us and said the name of it was 'Benny in Venice' and it will be out next fall. It was a lot of fun."

Surely sounds like it.

Terry sailed for Europe from Canada the latter part of June, looking forward to the pleasure trip, which is including of course all the important cultural aspects.

Despite the wonder and excitement of the trip, however, Terry confessed at the close of her letter, "I'm getting a tad homesick." Which goes to show that no matter how true it may sound, there really is no place like home. Terry will return to Greenville later this month.

Notebook On Life

Merely Mynah Over Matter

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Keep yourself mentally healthy. You owe it to your parakeet.

"If you become neurotic, the pets in your home may become neurotic, too," said Rene Gaspard.

Gaspard, owner of the Midtown Pet Center, is a specialist in the emotional woes of his little feathered friends.

Although he deals in animals ranging from $3 turtles to $1,200 cheetahs—"Just the thing to show off your new sports car"—the dapper, middle-aged Frenchman likes to call himself a "bird psychologist."

This is a title you earn, he said, not by going to college, but by lifelong study of the habits and yearnings of birds.

He has provided pets — or boarded the pets — of such well known clients as Skitch Henderson, Faye Emerson, Ernie Kovacs and Arthur Godfrey, who has two mynah birds.

"People in the entertainment world usually are extraordinarily kind to their pets," he remarked. "They feel nothing is too good for them."

However, he recalled the case of one comedian who liked to tour the bars at night with his pet monkey. The monkey soon began to share his taste for whisky.

"The combination of liquor and late hours killed the monkey," said Gaspard.

key," said Gaspard, "but the comedian is still making the rounds—alone."

Birds, he insisted, can have a form of nervous breakdown, just like people. Too many crowded cocktail parties, for example, will upset a canary and cause him to come down with sinus trouble, a psychosomatic escape.

One of his current patients, a talking crow named "Ole" had been used as a photographic model for a beverage concern. He also had appeared on TV, where he spoke a cherry "Hello." After a photographer held him too tightly while posing him for a picture, "Ole" became so frightened his head feathers fell out, he became bald, and clammed up completely.

Strength for the Day

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
VICTORY WITHOUT WHAT IT COSTS

We so often take religion as a matter of fact that we fail to realize it is something vastly more than mere custom or mere belief. It is the victory which the soul wins over the body. It is the triumph of conscience over the disposition to sin. It is the opening of a life of hope to those who have no hope—the coming of light to those who have spent so many miserable hours in darkness.

To untold millions of people, belief in Jesus Christ as a divine Person, working in the midst of human affairs, has caused a change in life utterly stupendous. In some people this change has come about suddenly. Gross sinners and those addicted to evil habits have found the power to break with their chronic weaknesses, and to break completely and finally. Some have been able to tear hate from the hearts. Others have turned from double-dealing to honesty. They have restored what they had unjustly acquired and gone out of their way to make amends for past wrongs.

In the case, probably, of most people, this change of moral principle comes about gradually. Through faith, prayer, and diligent reading of the Bible, people come to see and believe that Jesus knew exactly what he was talking about when he declared that all power had been given to him in heaven and on earth. We can have that power if we want it. It costs the surrender of our wills to the will of God—but it is worth what it costs.

Now, following several sessions on the psychiatric perch with Gaspard, "Ole" has begun talking again. But instead of saying "Hello" he mutters "What for?" and "Oh, yeah?"

"Kindness is essential in dealing with birds," said Gaspard. "A small canary needs affection as much as a Great Dane. You can't force birds to talk or sing. They will do it only when they are happy and carefree."

"A bird is as temperamental as a child. It will perform only when it wants to."

Here are a few more things Gaspard has learned:

"Women can teach a parakeet to talk much better than men can. It is because their voices are higher, more like those of birds."

"Birds learn words easier that have the letter R in them. It is probably easier for them to

Retailers Get Small Margin

By ELMER ROESNER

People not in merchandising have curiously confused ideas about profits in retailing.

You can prove it yourself. Ask 10 persons not in retailing how much a sporting goods dealer, for instance, makes in gross and net profit on each sales dollar.

The chances are you'll get 20 different answers, not one correct and all too high.

Good answers would be 28.6 cents gross and 2 cents net, which is what Dun & Bradstreet found the typical sporting goods store made in 1955.

AVERAGE MARGINS NO SECRET

While a merchant may not be willing to tell just how much he makes on each article, the average margins are known through studies made by Dun & Bradstreet, Harvard University, Fairchild Publications, the National Retail Dry Goods Association and other trade associations.

In the more common retail lines, margins range from 13.9 per cent of sales in farm supply stores and 15.9 per cent in grocery stores up to 47.5 per cent in installment jewelry stores.

These margins have only a little to do with net profit rates. Out of margins must come rent, wages, loss from theft and breakage, bad debts, insurance, utilities, cleaning, licenses, protection and losses from changes in style. The jewelers' 47.5 per cent shrinks to 5.8 per cent and the grocers' 15.9 per cent shrinks to 1.5 per cent. Both figures are before taxes.

Lumber and building material dealers, along with installment jewelers, have the highest net profits—5.8 per cent—of 36 lines of which figures are at hand. They are followed by variety chain stores with 5.4 and paint and wallpaper stores, 5.1 per cent. All the rest net less than 5 per cent. Package liquor stores, generally regarded as great money makers, do only moderately well, with a 19.7 per cent margin and a 2.6 per cent net. Women's wear stores have one of the lowest nets; it was 0.8 per cent of sales in 1954.

TYPICAL RESULTS

Here are some more profit ratios in various years from 1949 through 1955. The first figure is the gross margin, the second is net profit, both in per cent of sales.

Appliance — radio — television dealers, 34.3, 3.4; auto accessory and parts stores, 31.1, 2.4; bars and taverns, 45.8, 2.4; book stores, 38.1, 3.0; camera and photographic supply stores, 30.9, 2.4; children's and infants' wear stores, 32.5, 3.6; department stores, 36.2, 4.5; drugstores, 33.5, 5.1; dry goods and general merchandise stores, 27.5, 2.8; family clothing stores, 30.1, 3.4; farm equipment dealers, 18.3, 2.6; farm supply stores, 13.0, 2.0; floor covering stores, 35.7, 1.7; florists, 47.4, 3.3; furniture stores, 38.0, 1.4.

Gasoline service stations, 22.6, 1.9; gift novelty and souvenir shops, 39.0, 3.4; grocery stores, 15.9, 1.5; grocery and meat stores, 16.3, 2.0; meat markets, 20.7, 1.4; hardware stores, 29.4, 2.3; jewelry stores (cash and open credit), 44.4, 3.7; jewelry stores (installment), 47.5, 5.8; lumber and building material dealers, 20.7, 1.4; men's furnishings stores, 32.8, 3.5; men's wear stores, 33.7, 3.4; office supply and equipment dealers, 35.4, 3.3; restaurants, 47.3, 3.3; family shoe stores, 35.4, 4.5; variety chain stores, 37.6, 5.4; women's accessory and specialty stores, 33.7, 2.2; women's ready-to-wear stores, 32.3, 2.9; women's wear stores, 34.4, 0.8.

The profit figures are before both Federal and state taxes and that makes a big difference, often slicing the net in half. Department stores, for instance had a net operating profit of 4.5 per cent of sales last year and only 2.3 per cent after taxes.

TRADE-MARK COSTS NOW AMORTIZABLE

There's a little-noticed tax gimmick in an amendment to revenue laws passed by the recent Congress. It permits amortization over five years or more of expenses directly connected with the acquisition, protection, expansion, registration or defense of a trade mark or trade name, but not including the price paid for the purchase of a trade mark, name or business.

The Big Egghead Hunt

(The Wall Street Journal)

In any political year Easter has nothing on the summer season when it comes to hunting eggs. Both parties scramble for ingredients to make an omelet palatable to everybody. But this year, it seems, there's a special search for eggheads.

The Democrats in 1952 had most of the writers, artists, economists, professional pundits and self-appointed intellectuals. And the Republicans didn't seem to care. There was some thought that the eggheads had been spoiled by their long basking in the glow of the New Deal and that they no longer seemed so savory to the public. Too many of them had been found in strange places.

Now they are back on the menu. Washington reports have it that the G.O.P. is getting up a campaign committee to sell the professed intellectual community on the idea that conservatism can be intellectually respectable, and so, too, can be a vote for the Republican party.

This campaign, no doubt, will have an intellectual base. Aristotle, Socrates, Burke, John Stuart Mill, Jefferson and Franklin can be called upon, once educational deficiencies are removed, to make the ideas of individual

Suez And Civil Rights Could Help GOP

By RAY TUCKER
WASHINGTON — Egyptian Dictator Gamal Abdel Nasser and the Democratic Party may have improved the Republicans' chances of corraling two important voting blocs in the November election. Rightly or wrongly, that is the new belief at Republican National Headquarters here.

The two groups, whose shift to the Democrats in 1952 was believed partially responsible for their long string of Presidential victories, are the colored and the pro-Zionist vote. Together, the politicians estimate that they can decide the outcome of states with more than 100 electoral votes. They are especially strong in certain large cities.

Both major parties maintain special "nationalities" divisions charged with the specific assignment of wooing and winning these elements of the electorate. Segregation on their present partisan attachment matches current discussion of the attitude of the farmers, the veterans and businessmen.

ADMINISTRATION ACCUSED

OF APPEASING ARAB BLOC—President Eisenhower and Secretary Dulles have been under constant attack by pro-Zionist organizations, and especially by Democratic members of Congress, for their refusal to sell arms to Israel to offset Russia's reinforcement of Egypt. The Administration has been accused of appeasing the Arab bloc.

Nasser's nationalization of the Suez Canal, however, which was precipitated by our refusal to finance the Aswan Dam, has alarmed the West. Foreign statesmen brand him as "a little Hitler" and an "international outlaw." Whether by diplomatic means or economic pressure, the British and French demand that Washington oppose his pretensions and uphold the sanctity of international treaties.

As for the Administration dollars this line, which seems certain it may strengthen its hope of satisfying pro-Zionist defections.

GOP'S RECORD ON RACIAL ISSUES The managers of Chairman Leonard W. Hall's "Nationalities Division" anticipates a good break with the normally Democratic colored vote.

think that the GOP record on controversial racial issues exceeds the opposition's.

In the first place, they will argue that the Administration-sponsored Civil Rights and school measures were kept from passage by Southern Democrats, and in the list they will include Senate Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, Senator James O. Eastland of Mississippi, Chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee, and Representative Graham A. Barden of North Carolina. Chairman of the House Education and Labor Committee.

The election of a Democratic President, Chairman Hall's "nationalities" orators and propagandists will contend, will mean Democratic—or Southern—control of Congressional committees and all the legislative machinery. Under such circumstances, the GOP refrain will run, there will be no prospect of favorable legislative action for colored voters and sympathizers.

Justice—Earl Warren—who read the Supreme Court's 8-0 ruling against segregation. His role is emphasized in speeches and literature now being sent out to selected sections of the country by the GOP.

They will point out, too, that it was a Hoover-named jurist—Federal District Judge John Paul—who first insisted formally that Virginia's educational system must eventually comply with Chief Justice Warren's edict.

It has a chance to make himself popular with the colored bloc at the present moment. Another Federal Judge in Virginia—Albert V. Bryan—has handed down an even stronger decision than Judge Paul, fixing a definite date for school integration in Arlington County, across the Potomac from the Capital.

Although named to the bench by former President Truman, Judge Bryan has been backed by Virginia's two Senators and the Republican Representative from the Arlington District, for elevation to the Fourth Circuit Court of Appeals. His promotion by Ike would furnish Chairman Hall with another argument and appeal to this bloc.

Will Charge Two In Slaying Of Blonde Scotland County Girl

LAURINBURG, N.C. (AP)—Scotland County Sheriff Jesse Gibson says he will charge two persons being held as material witnesses with first degree murder in the knife slaying of blonde Ida Mae Treadaway.

The nude body of the wife of an overseas soldier was fished from Roberdell Lake Monday night. Eight stab wounds covered her body. One had penetrated her heart.

Gibson said he would charge 61-year-old Kenny Watson and Mrs. Bernice Wick Chandler, 28, when they are returned to Scotland County jail today or tomorrow. They were taken to Richmond County jail in Rockingham yesterday.

Mrs. Chandler and Watson, a lanky, gray-haired Sandhills farmer, told officers that they had been with Mrs. Treadaway and three strangers at a road house Friday. They left in two cars, they told police.

Chicago's Polio Outbreak Nears Epidemic Stage

CHICAGO (AP)—Chicago's mounting polio outbreak—now 609 cases and 13 deaths—today appeared heading toward the halfway mark of a full-scale epidemic.

Clinics and hospitals, wary of the mid-August and September peak polio season, stepped up their program of inoculating thousands of Chicago children with Salk antipolio vaccine.

The U.S. Public Health Service, on the basis of the city's nearly four million population, has set 1,330 cases as the number marking an epidemic.

The 1956 polio surge in Chicago—the nation's highest—is more than 3½ times greater than a corresponding period in 1952 when the previous high was set with 170 cases and 11 deaths. The total number of cases in 1952 was 1,203. This year's outbreak exceeds by more than 7½ times the 80 cases and three deaths reported for the same period a year ago.

Meanwhile, leaders of the vanguard to the Democratic National Convention starting Monday watched the mushrooming polio outbreak but did not plan any mass inoculation of delegates.

Dr. Karl Meyer, chief medical officer for the convention, termed the polio emergency as not serious enough to warrant any planned stoppage.

The city's Board of Health president, Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, reporting 27 new cases and three deaths yesterday, said, "There is no cause for alarm for delegates."

Bunden explained that 300, or 49 per cent, of the 609 cases were in the high incidence West Side area while the International Amphitheatre—site of the convention—has 59 of the 609 polio victims to date had Salk shots.

The stepped-up vaccination drive in Chicago is now averaging about 50,000 inoculations a day, Bundesen reported.

'War And Peace' Are Now Facing

WORCESTER, Mass. (AP)—The statues representing war and peace on Lincoln Square now have their backs turned to each other.

The war memorial statues, which used to face each other, were dismantled to make way for a traffic development program.

When they were placed back on the square the statue of the woman with dove and olive branch were back to back with the statue of a man with spear and shield.

Sculptor Carl Paul Jennewein said the delicate symbolism has been destroyed.

City officials said correction of the mistake will be difficult because air spaces which facilitated initial dismantling have been filled.

Italy now has 4 million automobiles, an increase of 15 percent since 1953.

Found A Boa In Banana Stalk

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—Stanley Smedley found a boa constrictor in a stalk of bananas yesterday.

It happened as he and Nick Pott were unloading a carload of bananas at his father's Smedley Fruit Co. here.

Smedley recalled he had just said: "I don't believe all those stories of tarantulas and snakes being found in carloads of bananas."

And Pott replied: "There one of them now."

It was in a stalk of fruit Smedley had just unloaded. The rush to gain a respectful distance caused some bruised bananas.

Local zoo curator Jerry DeBary, to whom the men presented their find, identified the two-foot reptile.

High Tax Value Placed On Cats

SHAWNEE, Okla. (AP)—In Pottawatomie County cats are worth more than either horses or mules.

County assessor Roy Black presented a report which showed six cats were assessed at $25 each, while 272 horses were valued at $15 apiece and 10 mules at $10 each.

Closing In On Rebel Forces

QUITO, Ecuador (AP)—Government army, navy and air force units were reported closing in today on a rebellion in western Ecuador's Manabi province.

Ecuador's military high command said the revolt would be put down "once and for all by whatever means necessary."

The outgoing government of President Jose Maria Velasco Ibarra charged the uprising was led by defeated political leaders and a military garrison at Portoviejo, Manabi provincial capital. The government denied rebel radio reports that other garrisons were joining in the revolt.

Activities in Quito, capital of this nation of three million persons, were normal.

Censorship was imposed on newspapers and dispatches from Ecuador.

Reports from Portoviejo said the 200-man garrison rebelled Monday night and proclaimed its commander, Lt. Col. Arturo Davila, civil and military chief of the province.

Jorge Acosta, interior department subsecretary, said the entire province of Manabi, which has a population of 385,000 was involved in the revolt.

Coastal Plain All-Stars Rally To Edge Kinston, 6-5

Spotted Rivals 5-Run Lead For Overtime Win

By NEIL KING
Reflector Sports Writer

The Coastal Plain Little League All-Stars spotted Kinston's Little American League five runs in the first three innings and then came from behind to win 6-5 in an extra inning.

The local All-Stars pushed across the winning marker in the bottom of the seventh when third baseman Thomas Riley of the Grifton Bears was hit by a pitch and scooted all the way home on a line smash to rightfield by pitcher Joe King. In an effort to catch it, Kinston's rightfielder Dean allowed the ball to get past him and roll to the fence. Riley slide under the high relay throw.

The Coastal Plain boys tied the game in the bottom of the sixth. Bill White of Winterville reached first on a fielder's choice and advanced to third to successive walks to Harry Hart and Jack Rose. White scored on a passed ball.

Kinston bounced away to a one run lead in the second inning. Gardner singled, took second on a fielder's choice and scored on a one base knock by Stephenson. In the next inning they smacked across four more runs on three hits, two walks, and three Coastal errors. Stephenson and Deluse had two runs-batted-in each in this big inning.

The Little League All-Stars of Grifton, Vanceboro and Winterville battled back to score four runs in the fourth. Rose and Bobby Hobgood started things off by drawing walks. Leftfielder Paul Castellone bingled Rose home and Riley drove in Hobgood with another single. Castellone and Riley scored on passed balls.

Lefty Joe King went the route for the winners striking out 11 and giving up but four free passes, one of which was intentional. Pitcher Gaskins of Kinston also turned in a fine performance. He whiffed 11 and gave up seven base on balls. He allowed only four hits.

Coach J. H. Mobley's forces return to Kinston tonight to play the Kinston Little National League, who squeezed by Jacksonville 2-1, for the right to advance to the state tournament to be held in Wilmington starting the 16th. Game time is scheduled for 7 o'clock.

Coach Mobley plans to start Paul Castellone, a right-hander, in tonight's game. Castellone hurled for Winterville during the regular season and posted a 7-3 win-loss record. He pitched 49 innings, fanned 87 and walked 51. He also owns a handsome .533 batting average. Castellone played leftfield in last night's game and had a double and single.

King will start at first base tonight and Hart will probably start at shortstop.

Score by innings:

Kinston	0	14	000-0-5-10-1
Coastal	000	001	1-6-4-5

All Smiles Over Olympic Tryout

DETROIT (AP)—Robert Muir, U. S. Olympics men's swim head coach still was smiling today over the tremendous battle waged here by the eight finalists in the 100-meter freestyle sprint last night of the Olympic tryouts.

The first five wound up in a blanket finish, less than an arm's length apart, with Hawaiian Bill Woolsey, Michigan's Dick Hanley and Reid Patterson, an apprentice seaman from Pineville, Ky., coping the 1-2-3 places and berths on the Olympic team. They were timed in 57 seconds, 57.1 and 57.4.

Carl Woolley of Michigan was fourth in 57.5 and Robin Moore of Stanford — holder of the world mark of 48.9 for 100 yards—was fifth in 57.6.

The three tall aquatic sprinters and three little divers from Ohio State University, Don Harper, Glen Whitten and Bob Clotworthy, became the first competitors here to earn trips to Melbourne.

Harper, 25, junior from Lakeland, Fla., took first in the three-meter springboard dive final with 516.65 points, followed by Whitten, 490.50 and Clotworthy, 476.30.

The men's 100 and dive were the only finals on the opening day of the four-day trials but the action steps up today with five pay-off competitions—the finals in the women's springboard diving in the afternoon and evening finals in the men's 200-meter butterfly and 400-meter freestyle, and the women's 100-meter freestyle and 200-meter breaststroke.

Shelley Mann, versatile, attractive 18-year-old multi-champion from Arlington, Va., and the Walter Reed Swim Club, yesterday clipped nine-tenths of a second off Nancy Simon's 100-meter freestyle American record with a 1:04.6 performance to top the eight qualifiers. Joan Rosazza, Lafayette (Ind.), also bettered the mark with 1:05.3 while Miss Simon, Chicago Town Club, equalled her own standard of 1:05.6.

California Ring Shakeup Sought By Investigators

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—A special state investigating committee today urged drastic changes in control of boxing in California and recommended revoking the licenses of some of the biggest figures in what it called a gangster-ridden sport.

The special committee, appointed by Gov. Goodwin, J. Knight, landed its heaviest blows on matchmaker Babe McCoy and promoter Cal Eaton, both of Los Angeles, and promoter Jimmy Murray of Oakland.

The three were characterized as dictators in their areas and were accused of associating with underworld figures.

Of McCoy the report said: "He is truly representative of all that is wrong with boxing today. All of us who worked on this project have had experience in law enforcement, and in the course of such employment have known and dealt with criminals. McCoy is as vicious as any of us have encountered."

The report urged both McCoy and Eaton be booted out of boxing and forbidden even to visit training camps. Eaton is the father of Robert Eaton, who is married to Gov. Knight's daughter.

Browns Are 'Up' For Collegians

guy who should know, the Cleveland Browns are prepared to the hilt for their football battle against the College All-Stars Friday night at Soldier Field.

Otto Graham, ex-Cleveland quarterback who led the Browns to the National Football League title last fall, issued the warning yesterday.

Graham, who did not play in last year's All-Star game but came out of "retirement" to qualify the Browns for this year's game, said "If the pros are up mentally they should beat any All-Star team and those Browns are mentally up."

Referring to the pros' 30-27 defeat last year by the All-Stars, Graham said, "The Browns are ready this time. Ordinarily they'd run only one or two scrimmages before their first game. They've scrimmaged five times for this one."

Instead of trying to stop Graham they'll have to concentrate on George Ratterman and Vito Parilli. Ratterman couldn't pass the Browns to victory last year, although it wasn't all his fault. The Brown line received some unexpected competition from the All-Stars.

Williams Fined For Saliva Salvo

By BOB HOOBING

BOSTON (AP)—Sluggish Ted Williams spat defiance today at his $5,000 fine for spitting at Boston fans — heaviest fine in major league history.

"I'd spit again at the same people who booed me today," the Red Sox great said last night.

The $100,000-a-year man logged a new item in his long list of records for his most recent saliva salvo, which occurred after he put a fielding error and fielding gem back to back in the 11th inning against New York yesterday.

Although the announcement was made some 90 minutes after the game by General Manager Joe Cronin, club owner Tom Yawkey later revealed in New York "I instigated it" after a phone conversation with Cronin.

"It's got to stop, that's all," was Yawkey's comment.

For Williams it was a severe rebuke from the South Carolina millionaire-lumberman who has given Ted a blank check and a free hand for years.

Williams indicated his spitting campaign may be at an end by saying: "I wouldn't be at the ball park tomorrow if I could stand a fine of $5,000 a day."

Asked if this would be his last season as a player, the fuming Williams added: "Probably."

Only New York's immortal Babe Ruth drew a like $5,000 fine from Manager Miller Huggins in 1925 — and it was repaid later to the Bambino. Ruth was penalized for not reporting to the club for two days in St. Louis and for showing up late the third day.

Yesterday, with two out in the Yankee half of the 11th inning, Williams misjudged Mickey Mantle's fly ball, which bounced off his glove for a two-base error.

Drop Decision

The Greenville Little League All-Stars dropped a 1-0 decision to Charlotte Civilians yesterday at Todd Field in Gastonia.

The Civilians scored in the bottom of the last inning on successive doubles by Boger and Mike Martin. Gary Black hurled a neat one-hitter, fanned 12 and walked but one. Only one Greenville All-Star reached second base and that was on an error.

Alan McArthur pitched the entire game for Greenville. He gave up four hits, struck out 12, and walked none. Greenville's only base knock was an infield hit.

Forest City topped Fayetteville 9-8 yesterday. They play Charlotte in the finals today. Greenville and Fayetteville do not play.

Snider Set For Home Run Title

JERSEY CITY, N.J. (AP)—Barring a horrendous slump, Duke Snider probably will become the Brooklyn Dodgers' first National League home run king in 15 years.

Dolph Camilli won the home run crown in 1941, but since then, no Dodger has been able to do it despite the fact that the team has been No. 1 in the past seven seasons.

Snider has hit 31 homers, including his two-run job in last night's 3-0 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates. He's now half a dozen ahead of the field and just six behind Mickey Mantle.

Today he was all smiles as he prepared to board the Dodgers' special plane for a night game with Pittsburgh.

"I'd sure like to lead the league in home runs," he said. "I'd like anything like that. Anyone would. If the home runs win games, I'd like it even more."

But the Duke was more eager to talk about the way he has snapped out of his slump. He had trouble keeping with his batting average during the first half of the season. Now he's up to .293.

"It was my head," he said. "and I'm not talking about my brains. I was jerking it up on my swing. It was very noticeable. Sometimes, I was looking up at the sky at the end of my swing."

"I knew I was doing it, but it's not that easy when you're in a slump. You can't go up to the plate thinking just about that or you won't be ready for the pitch."

During the home stand that ended in the Brooks' home-away-from-home here, Snider blasted 11 homers in 18 games. The team came out on top in 15 of the games.

Big Newk Closing In On Another 20-Game Season

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press

Big Don Newcombe, "humming that pea" again, is closing in on his second straight 20-victory season and now is within reach of two shutout records while helping Brooklyn's Dodgers keep the pressure on Milwaukee in the National League race.

Newk, winning his 17th of the season and eighth in a row, hung up his third consecutive shutout—stretching his scoreless-inning string to 33—by blanking Pittsburgh 3-0 last night.

The National League record for consecutive shutouts is four and it's been accomplished by only two modern-era pitchers — Bill Lee with the Chicago Cubs in 1938 and Sal Maglie, now a Dodger, when he was with the New York Giants in 1950.

The NL record for consecutive scoreless innings is 46 1-3, by Carl Hubbell of the Giants in 1933. The victory kept the world champs within 1½ games of the Braves, who belted the Chicago Cubs 6-1. Third-place Cincinnati fell three games back, losing to St. Louis 8-4. Philadelphia, hottest club in the league, made it five straight and 9 out of 10 by sweeping the Giants 4-3 and 3-1 in a two-night double-header.

American League headlines centered on Ted Williams, fined $5,000 by Boston General Manager Joe Cronin for another spitting skirmish, as the Red Sox clipped the New York Yankees 1-0 in 11 walks. The defeat, seventh in eight innings on Ted's bases-loaded games, trimmed the Yankees lead to seven games over Cleveland as the Indians broke a four-game slump with a 5-2 victory over Detroit. The Chicago White Sox defeated Kansas City 5-4 and 4-3 in a pair of 10-inning contests in the only other action scheduled.

Newcombe, who has allowed only two runs and 25 hits in his last 45 innings, got all the support he needed from Duke Snider, who tagged Vern Law (4-13) for his 31st home run, with a man on, in the third inning.

The Braves banged 11 of their 12 hits—including two singles that gave Hank Aaron a 24-game streak—off Jim Brosnan. Southpaw Warren Spahn chipped in a homer in winning his 12th.

St. Louis scored five runs in the last two frames to dump the Redlegs and 15-game winner Brooks Lawrence, who now has lost four. Wally Moon had five straight hits for the Cards, including a homer. Ed Bailey and Wally Post smacked two-run homers for an early 4-3 Cincinnati lead. Reliever Jim Konstanty was the winner.

The fifth-place Phils scored two in the ninth to win the opener, with Richie Ashburn bringing across the tying run in a rhubarb that left the Giants playing under protest and Manager Bill Rigney in the clubhouse. Umpire Vic Delmore first ruled Ashburn out for failing to touch the plate, then reversed the decision after conferring with the other umps. The final ruling made Ashburn, who bunted for his 1,600th hit in the first inning, safe on interference by catcher Wes Westrum. Harvey Haddix won the opener, Curt Simmons the nightcap.

Williams' fine came when he spat at the Fenway Park fans after they booed his error on a fly ball. Tommy Byrne gave up the walk, after relieving Don Larsen—who had a four-hitter but took the loss when two errors and a walk loaded the bases. Willard Nixon won his sixth.

Mike Garcia, despite getting tagged for 11 hits, didn't lose his shutout until the ninth on Ray Boone's two-run homer as the Indians ended Detroit's winning streak at four games.

Jim Rivera's triple scored Walt Dropp with the winning run in the first game for the White Sox. Then Dropp singled Larry Doby home with the clincher in the nightcap.

Two Ambitious Sluggers Meet

CHICAGO (AP)—L. C. Morgan of Youngstown, Ohio, and Henry (Toothpick) Brown of Philadelphia, a pair of relatively unknown lightweights, meet tonight in a 10 round bout at Chicago Stadium.

The fight will be televised nationally (ABC, 9 p.m. EST).

Morgan, 22, winner of 14 of 16 bouts, is ranked ninth among lightweights in the current Ring Magazine ratings. His last start ended in a 10-round upset victory over Ludwig Lightburn at Cleveland, on March 28.

Brown, 25, is somewhat of a mystery man among lightweights. Although he has had 28 fights, 23 in the victory column, this will be his first televised bout.

Gunning for a match with Larry Boardman in Boston, Morgan says "I've got to win this one" and predicts he'll knock out Brown in six rounds.

Brown's manager says this of his fighter: "You ain't seen anything like him. There's nobody around like Toothpick. He'll knock this Morgan cold."

Brown got his nickname from a golden toothpick given him by his aunt and says it has nothing to do with his being a "skinny fighter."

Allstate paid $90,700.587

in auto insurance claims during 1955!

■ Allstate, the company founded by Sears, has long been famous for low cost auto insurance. But here's another important reason why Allstate Auto Insurance is a really better value too.

Allstate's record is unsurpassed for keeping our promise of protection.

Last year Allstate paid out $90,700.587 to protect our policyholders. An average of $357.089 every working day of the year!

At the same time, Allstate's service organization grew to number over 2,600 thoroughly trained, state licensed agents and more than 8,200 other full time employees conveniently located in 998 offices throughout the U. S. and Canada.

It's no wonder that in 1955, for the second straight year, car owners bought more auto insurance from Allstate than any other company based on direct written premiums. You can't buy better auto insurance, why pay more?

Stassen Maintains He Has Only Vote-Motive

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—Harold Stassen — judged by his own words — is concerned about the vice presidency for political reasons and not about the merits of Richard Nixon or Christian Herter as president.

Stassen, trying to keep Vice President Nixon off the ticket, has not discussed his worth as a possible president. Nor has he said Gov. Herter of Massachusetts, whom he prefers, would make a better president.

He simply says Herter would draw more votes — especially among labor, minority and independent groups — and thus be a bigger help in getting Republican members of Congress elected. He brushes aside any question about either man in the presidency.

Asked if he had considered that Eisenhower might die, he said he was operating in the belief Eisenhower would give the country leadership "for 10 years or more."

Yet, because of Eisenhower's age and his two serious illnesses in a year, there never has been an election in which more attention was given to the possibility of a vice president becoming president.

Stassen, opposing the professional Republican politicians who have closed ranks for the nomination of Nixon, has also said he is dedicated to the principle of an open nominating convention free to name whom it pleases.

But Stassen said he would not have opposed Nixon if Eisenhower had said directly he wanted his vice president as running mate again.

If Eisenhower should die or drop out of the picture between the time this month's Republican convention nominates him and election day, Nov. 6, then the Republicans almost certainly would move the convention's vice presidential nominee into Eisenhower's spot and name someone else for vice president.

To do otherwise — to have second thoughts on their vice presidential candidate and pick someone else instead of him for the presidency — would be to sacrifice public confidence in the party, its judgments, motives and ticket.

In addition to any claim that they are thinking of the good of the country in pushing Nixon for vice president again, the Republican professionals have some good political reasons for wanting him.

They could present the same ticket which won so overwhelmingly in 1952 and they could avoid a party-shattering fight in San Francisco over the vice presidency. A party split is the last thing they want in an election year when the President's health is an issue.

Dollar-&-Cents Aspect For U.S. In Suez Dispute

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP)—A winding 100-mile ditch — already growing obsolete for the bigger ships that a swelling volume of world trade demands in its haste — today worries businessmen as well as diplomatic and military brass.

The Suez Canal dispute has its dollar-and-cents side for U.S. business. The crisis threatens to add another twist to the U.S. consumer's cost of living by raising the price on many imported products.

American businessmen, necessarily making their long-term plans, must weigh the risks of three outcomes:

Egypt's nationalization of the canal could bring war, pulling the rug out from a prospering peacetime economy.

Or it could lead to a stoppage of traffic, cutting off for a short time many commodities and materials that U.S. manufacturers need. Later they would get them by the long and more expensive searoute around Africa. This would add burdens to an already heavily loaded merchant fleet and raise the costs of importing the goods and materials.

Or it could bring higher canal tolls, adding to the cost of things Americans use — rubber tires and tin cans, black pepper, tea and burlap bags, metal products made of manganese tempered steel — and perhaps even fuel oil and gasoline, if European petroleum prices should soar from being cut off from Mideast oil except by the long sea route.

None of these things may happen. A peaceful solution, keeping the canal open at going rates, may be found. Even then there's the added chance that as taxpayers Americans, directly or indirectly, may have to pay part of the costs of deepening the present canal or dredging a new one.

The present ditch is too shallow for the latest huge oil tankers, just as are some American ports. The long way around Africa is too slow for the modern business pace and too costly for modern profit margins.

American oil companies with concessions in the Mideast have another worry — the obvious restlessness of the Arab nations as they weigh Nasser's chances of seizing the canal and using its tolls to build a dam on the Nile. Nationalization of property owned by aliens can be a contagious idea.

Stopped, Looked But Hit Anyway

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Rubin McKwills, the driver of a concrete mixer-truck, is a little mixed up himself, and even a little shaken up.

McKwills stopped his truck at a railroad crossing, looked both ways and then drove on. At that moment, a freight train he failed to see struck the truck.

Police said McKwills suffered only minor injuries. There was no estimate of damage to the truck.

Heart Stopped A Second Time

MARSHALL, Tex. (AP)—Bob Brayshaw 3, whose heart stopped beating for eight minutes Monday and had to be restarted with massage, died yesterday.

The boy's heart stopped in what doctors called a "one in a million" cardiac arrest as a reaction to anesthesia during a tonsillectomy.

When usual treatments failed, the boy's chest was opened and the heart massaged for about five minutes. He never regained consciousness, however.

Aged Veteran Of Hood's Brigade Seriously Ailing

FRANKLIN, Tex. (AP)—Walter Williams, 113, oldest surviving Civil War veteran, lay seriously ill today in his isolated east Texas farm home.

"I'm afraid he won't last long," said Mrs. Willie Mae Bowles of Houston, a daughter of the aged Confederate veteran. "He cannot be moved to a hospital, so a doctor from Normangee is treating him at home."

She said he was suffering from dropsy.

The frail, blind old soldier was a forage master for Hood's Texas Brigade. He was born Nov. 14, 1842, in Adawoma County, Miss., and joined the Confederate cavalry when he was 22. His job was scrounging food for Company C, 8th Division.

Williams is one of three living Confederate veterans and the only one in Texas. The last Union Army veteran, Albert Woolson, died last Thursday in Minnesota.

No Garden Club Came Forward

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Mayor Andrew Broaddus thought it would be nice if the people of Louisville demonstrated a little interest in their city's beauty.

Several weeks ago he hinted that neighborhood garden clubs might like the job of beautifying the city's numerous traffic islands.

But yesterday he ordered the parks department to the job. The mayor had only one offer from a garden club. And there was no traffic island in its neighborhood.

If you're saving for the unexpected...

...where you save does make a difference

Having twins can be a big surprise... the kind it's wise to save for. And when you save in an insured Savings and Loan Association you're wiser still. You get important advantages! Excellent returns from your money is one advantage. Modern, efficient, forward-looking service is another. And, of course, your money is safe because in insured Savings and Loan Associations your savings are protected by sound management and substantial reserves. They are insured up to $10,000 by the FSLIC—an agency of the U. S. Government. No wonder Americans are now putting more of their savings account dollars into insured Savings and Loan Associations than anywhere else!

This sign identifies us as a member of The Savings and Loan Foundation, Inc., a nationwide organization of insured Savings and Loan, Building and Loan and Homestead Associations which sponsors this message in Life and U. S. News & World Report.

News Men Draw A Blank Scouting Gov. Coleman

By ED CREAGH
CHICAGO (AP)—Last night we saw upon a chair
A governor—or was he there?
The press thought yes. The gov.
said "Hey!"
No doubt he wished we'd go away.
That was the situation last night when some old friends of Mississippi Gov. James P. Coleman dropped in for a chat.
Word had got about that Dixie meeting was in the works. Since Coleman has emerged as the principal spokesman for the South in the drafting of the Democrats' platform for this year, it seemed likely that Coleman would be the host.
You'd never have known that this was the way it turned out, though.
Unless you had normal hearing. A reporter went to Room 1151 at the Palmer House. That's the governor's room number. Quite a considerable debate was flowing

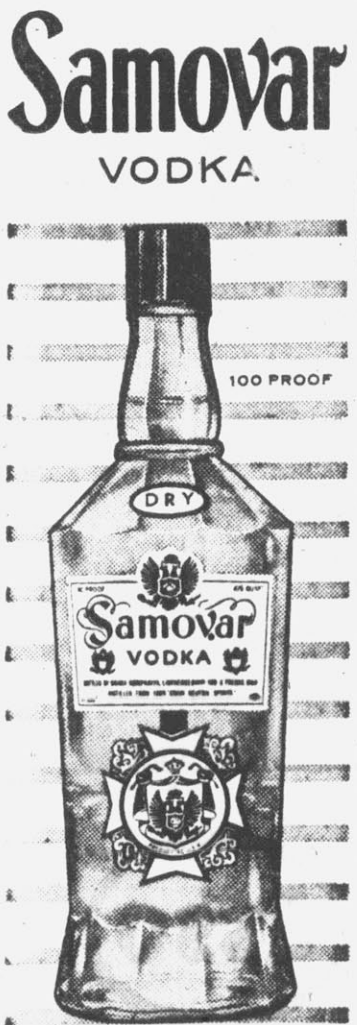

Pearsall Plan Discussion Set

State Rep. Walter Jones of Farmville (above) will discuss the Pearsall Plan for North Carolina schools in an open meeting at 8 p.m. August 21 in the courtroom at City Hall.
The meeting, to which the public is invited, is being sponsored by the Greenville League of Women Voters. Mrs. Michael Luskin, league president, said it is being held "so the voters will have a better understanding of the issue when they vote on September 8."
Jones said he "will not speak for or against the Pearsall Plan, but do my best to explain it." He will also give his reasons for voting in favor of the measure at the special legislative session and will answer questions from the floor.
Mrs. Luskin said, "We hope everyone will take advantage of the opportunity to learn more about the Pearsall proposal and to ask all the questions they want."

Early Breakfast Is Also Pledged

NEW YORK (AP)—The pretty brunette bride of Dave Garraway promises to love, honor and cook breakfast for the TV commentator every morning at 4 a.m.
Pamela Wilde, 28, told newsmen of the promise shortly after she and Garraway were married yesterday in the Municipal Building.
Garraway, 42, has to get up early each weekday morning for his NBC-TV Today show, which starts at 7 a.m.
The marriage is the second for both Garraway and his bride. Both were divorced.

out over the transom. Words like "candidate" and "platform" floated through the corridor with great distinctness.
So the reporter knocked on the door of Room 1151 to ask what was going on. A plumping man in a shirt-sleeves answered the knock.
"Meeting?" he inquired. "No meeting going on here."
And, gently, he closed the door. Ten minutes later there were more reporters knocking.
Same friendly fellow. Glasses. Southern accent.
"We'd like to speak with Gov. Coleman," said one of the newsmen.
"I'm the governor," said the shirt-sleeved man, affably. "See you in about 45 minutes."
He did, too. And into his room went the press.
It hadn't really been a meeting at all, he said—just some fellow Southerners who were paying a call.
Politics? Why, sure they talked politics, said the governor. What else? This is a Democratic National Convention, isn't it? What would you expect a bunch of delegates to talk about?
The governor of Mississippi was as pleasant as the most hidebound carpetbagger from the northlands could ask.
But he wasn't giving away any Southern secrets.
What would the South do in the convention?
That, said the governor generally, would await developments.
Would the South go for front-running candidate Adlai Stevenson?

Underestimated Wife's Influence

RICHLAND, Kan. (AP)—Andy Gray grinned a little sheepishly when he called for a Democratic ballot in the Kansas primaries yesterday.
At his side was Georgia Neese Gray, treasurer of the United States in the Truman administration and now Democratic national committeewoman for Kansas.
When they were married Jan. 24, 1953, Gray pointed out he was a Republican and said:
"The only way to make a Republican out of a good Democrat is to marry her."
Yesterday he said:
"It never pays to underestimate the power of a woman."

New Address Is Sent Tax Office

ALBUQUERQUE (AP)—Nothing like keeping on the right side of the law, as in this letter received by the Internal Revenue Service here:
Dear sir:
About March 26, 1956, I filed my income tax from the county jail at Albuquerque, New Mexico.
This letter is to inform you as to the change of my address.
Since that time I have been sentenced to the U.S. penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kansas.
Very Truly Yours,

If, By Any Chance Eisenhower Did Drop Out, GOP Would See A Fight

By ED CREAGH
Associated Press Staff Writer
If by some last-minute mischance President Eisenhower should not head the Republican ticket this year, the GOP convention would be transformed from a largely cut-and-dried affair to a dogfight matching anything the Democrats can produce at Chicago.
Ever since the President announced last February that he'd accept renomination, it has been taken for granted that he would be the presidential candidate by acclamation.
But what would happen if something unexpected—say a third siege of illness—should knock him off the ticket?
Would vice President Nixon move into the top spot? Not if his detractors, who are not limited to Stassen, could help it. A 99 per cent sure bet would be a struggle for the nomination between Nixon, his fellow Californian, Senate GOP Leader Knowland, and as many as a dozen other hopefuls who would blossom out overnight.
Knowland, Senate majority leader, actually filed as a candidate in Pennsylvania and various other states when the President's second-term intentions still were unknown. He did not press his candidacy once Eisenhower announced his own. But nobody doubts he'd go all out should the President prove unavailable.
Who else is in the picture? Not too many. The overpowering prospect of Eisenhower as a candidate has discouraged the usual election-year boomlets. Still, there are some possibilities.
Harold E. Stassen spotlighted one of these in his recent campaign to get the No. 2 spot on the ticket for Massachusetts Gov.

CHAPTER 36

Bill settled back in a corner of the sofa and said, "Like Winchell, I want to tell you all about tomorrow's headlines. I'm sure you all know something has been going on."

"Those strange men weren't on the Silver Song for a social visit," said Peggy. "You're one of them, aren't you? F.B.I.?"

"Not F. B. I. Secret Service. We've just broken up a counterfeiting racket and that's one thing that doesn't come under the F. B. I. There are other things involved in this, too, that comes under the Smuggling Act and the Bureau of Narcotics. It's a pretty big thing. Smuggled jewels and marijuana are mixed up with the counterfeiting."

"When Alvarez came here presumably to fish, I was sent down to keep him covered. We had a hunch that counterfeiting would be going on somewhere close by. I was beginning to think Alvarez was too smart to be caught," he paused, smiled, and said, "Then Rita and Priscilla came." No one said anything, and he continued, "And Lookout House entered the picture. At the party on the yacht that night I heard Rita and Alvarez talking about the place and something clicked in my mind—all that talk about the secret room and passage."

"I located the room the morning I went there and found Priscilla ransacking the cedar chest. And I went back and explored the secret passage after Priscilla had gone."

"You didn't tell us!" "It wasn't the time. This thing was so big I couldn't afford a slip. The door was open leading from that room to the secret passage and I closed and bolted it. If I had taken the counterfeiting equipment then, it—with the marijuana and smuggled jewels—would have been found on property belonging to Priscilla."

"Priscilla was staring at him. 'And that's why you said you could have placed me under arrest!'" Bill smiled at her. "I wanted to scare you into holding onto the property until the right moment. It was the only way Alvarez had to get into that room, after I had blocked the passage."

"Why didn't he get suspicious? Finding the door locked, I mean?"

"That's probably what made them so desperate to conclude the thing and be on their way. Alvarez would naturally suppose if the things had been found, they would be reported at once. Instead, he fell into my trap."

"What about the lights flashing?" Rita asked.

Bill told them of seeing the light flash on two separate nights, and of the answering signal from the Molly B. It was Red Gallagher who brought the men to the secret passage, the entrance of which was cleverly camouflaged.

"What about the dope? The jewels? Were they taken to Alvarez, too?"

"Don't you see? Those were brought in by Alvarez and placed in the room where the money was made. They were kept there until there was a chance to sneak them out."

Peggy shivered, and everyone laughed.

"Alvarez got uneasy. He had to select an opportune time to get the things out of the house and I had a hunch the operation would take place on Harbor Day, when the presence of strangers would not be questioned. It worked perfectly for us, too."

"The people in the gray Packard!" Pete suddenly exclaimed.

"They were mixed up in this?"

"They were to take the dope out. It was on Gallagher's boat, along with the jewels. They might have got away with their part of it if we hadn't got the tips we did, just when we did. An hour after the sale of the house was made, I went back to that room and the things were gone, all of them. They didn't even take time to lock the place."

"But that was morning. Didn't they take a chance of people seeing them?"

"The things were left in the passage until night, when Gallagher picked them up. The dance was going on and that neighborhood was deserted. Remember, Pete, Gallagher was tied up at the dock most of the day. They had it all worked out perfectly."

"Good grief!" Priscilla exclaimed suddenly. "I'll bet the money Rita found was counterfeiting."

"It was. That's why I sent you the anonymous note telling you not to spend the money."

"They discussed it a little longer, then Peggy said, 'And now I have another important announcement to make. Pete and I are going to be married. We're going to have the biggest wedding Apalachicola has ever seen. And, Peggy continued, all the sleepiness gone from her voice, 'You're all going to be in it. Priscilla will be my maid of honor.'"

Dick said, "I'm afraid Priscilla can't do that."

"Why not? They all looked at him. Priscilla, from her place beside him on the sofa, looked up at him inquiringly.

"Because it's going to be a double wedding," he said, dropping an arm from the back of the seat to Priscilla's shoulders.

"What did you say?" Peggy looked at him, not understanding.

"Double wedding. You know what that is. Four people. Two couples getting married at the same time. I haven't asked her yet, but if I can persuade Priscilla, we'll make it a double ceremony."

"Heavenly days! Peggy exclaimed. 'Why—why that's wonderful, simply wonderful.' She looked at Dick, then at Priscilla.

Priscilla was momentarily speechless. When she found her voice, she said, 'I haven't been consulted, but I agree that it's a pretty wonderful idea, as Peggy says.'"

"Then you will?" Dick tilted her head toward him and oblivious of the others, bent and kissed her.

CALL, Colombia — The death count climbed grimly toward 1,000 today from an explosion of seven dynamite-laden trucks that ripped through the heart of this fourth city of Colombia.

Latest unofficial estimates put the total dead at about 700. But many others among the hundreds of injured were not expected to live, and rescue workers digging through the shattered blast area continued to uncover additional victims.

It was feared the death toll might exceed 1,000 when an accurate compilation could be made. Officials said employees of U.S. firms probably were among the injured.

President Gustavo Rojas Pinilla blamed political sabotage for the explosion early yesterday, which virtually leveled an eight-block area and was felt for 20 miles.

The seven trucks had parked for the night Monday in a densely populated area of slums, warehouses, hotels, stores and factories in the center of this city of about 285,000 persons. They were part of a 10-vehicle convoy which had left the port of Buenaventura Monday with explosives to be delivered to the Public Works Ministry in Bogota. The drivers of the seven vehicles decided to spend the night here, sleeping in the cabs of the trucks.

The spot where the trucks were parked was scooped into a large crater by the force of the explosion. Buildings as far as 12 blocks from the blast center were damaged extensively.

Large-scale relief operations were in full swing. Doctors, nurses, medical supplies and food streamed in from Bogota and other cities. The American Red Cross in Panama dispatched two tons of medical supplies, including blood plasma, by U.S. Air Force transport.

Emergency hospital stations were set up to care for the overflow of injured from the city's regular hospitals and clinics.

Bulldozers and other earth-moving machinery worked around the clock, moving huge piles of debris from the explosion area in a search for additional bodies. Grief-stricken citizens from all walks of life combed the wreckage and debris for the injured and the dead.

Burial of the victims, hampered by an acute shortage of coffins, was an urgent task in this tropical climate. Military authorities announced plans to bury unidentified dead in a common grave. Relatives and friends of persons living or working in the blast area were urged to help in identification without delay.

Dump carts piled high with mutilated and burned bodies formed a grisly parade through the city.

Bodies were placed in caskets, public buildings and other sites awaiting identification and burial.

One reporter said he personally counted 320 dead in one hospital building.

Insurance officials estimated the damage from the explosion and subsequent fires would run as high as eight million dollars. Buildings leveled included several industrial plants, three theaters and six hotels. A Goodyear Rubber Co. plant was among those destroyed.

The State Department announced that Dulles and the envoys engaged in "informal speculation" concerning "the juridical basis for the use of force in the canal zone."

The statement added that Western Big Three talks in London, which Dulles attended, were "designed, not to justify the use of force, but to avoid the use of force."

The State Department and the International Cooperation Administration, meanwhile, were disclosed to be holding in abeyance pending settlement of the Suez dispute talks with Egypt about new foreign aid programs which may amount to about 25 million dollars.

Injured In Fall From Burning Tobacco Barn
Raymond Dixon of Pactolus was injured yesterday when he fell from a burning tobacco barn while attempting to put out a fire that started in the barn.

The Greenville fire department was called to the burning barn on the farm of J. Paul Davenport Jr. at Pactolus. When the fire in the barn was discovered, Dixon was said to have climbed to the roof of the barn in an effort to extinguish the blaze and save the 1,200 sticks of tobacco in the barn. He suffered a fractured arm and injured hip.

A truck from the local fire department arrived too late to save the barn, but prevented the fire from spreading to other buildings.

Local firemen were also called to Worsley's Shoe Store on East Fifth Street shortly after noon when a light fixture shorted out. No damage was reported.

Wilson Terms Suez As Minor Upset For U. S.

WASHINGTON — Secretary of Defense Wilson says he agrees that the Suez Canal situation is a "minor upset" which he thinks will have no impact on American defense planning.

"We can't flip up and down because of a relatively small thing," he told a news conference yesterday. Later he told a reporter who used the words "minor upset" in connection with the tense Suez situation that "you described it well."

His comments contrasted with those of Secretary of State Dulles and of President Eisenhower, who said Friday night he was "vastly disturbed" by the repercussions stemming from Egypt's nationalization of the canal.

Wilson was being questioned about the possible impact on overall U. S. military planning.

He acknowledged that the situation could have ramifications, while expressing hope that "it would be a local friction and not something that would involve the East and West."

"Of course," he added, "I have to admit there is always the possibility of any war deteriorating into a big one."

As Eisenhower and Dulles have done, Wilson said he is sure the United States will do all it can to work out a solution by diplomatic means.

"The best time to teach a bird is just before he goes to bed. Then he will study in his sleep."

"Don't just teach your bird nonsense phrases. Make him learn his name and address. I know of one parakeet that became lost and was returned home safely because he was able to give his telephone number to the person who found him."

Birds, alas, like their owners, are not immune to snobbery.

"If you put two talking crows in with two talking mynah birds," said Gaspard, "one crow will learn from the other crow and one mynah bird from the other mynah."

"But no crow will pick up a word from a mynah, and no mynah will imitate a crow."

"How much can a mynah bird learn? A smart one can learn 110 words fairly easily."

How does he do it? Simple. It's a triumph of mynah over matter.

Calls GOP Claims Of Prosperity A 'Myth'

CHICAGO — Leon H. Keyserling, top economist of the Truman administration, denounced as a "myth" today Republican claims of having brought record prosperity to the nation.

Keyserling, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers under Truman, said in a statement prepared for Democratic convention platform drafters that economic progress has all but been brought to a halt under the Eisenhower administration.

Keyserling said unemployment has grown, farmers have been dealt a "calamitous blow" and small business has been "hounded, squeezed and anesthetized."

Keyserling thus struck at one of the two major themes Republicans have sounded for the fall election campaign — peace and prosperity.
