Renews Call For H-Bomb Test Ban

TEANECK, N.J. (AP) — Adlai E. Stevenson challenged President Eisenhower today to "take the leadership" in a move to ban hydrogen bomb tests and suggest Russia is willing to go along. Renewing his campaign call for an end to testing of large-scale nuclear weapons, the Democratic presidential nominee declared: "The renunciation of such tests is a step which I think the great powers are now willing to take. If there is leadership in this direction, it is a step that can be safely taken, for no one can explode a hydrogen bomb in secret, and each would know whether the others were acting in good faith. It would be a step along a new path toward peace." Since only the United States, Britain and Russia are known to possess nuclear weapons, Stevenson obviously included Russia when he said he thinks "the great powers" are willing to suspend H-bomb tests. Stevenson's assertion that a hydrogen bomb cannot be exploded "in secret" apparently was a reply to Eisenhower's Sept. 19 dismissal of his proposals as a one-sided "theatrical national gesture" in the absence of enforceable international agreements. Stevenson, who accused the Eisenhower administration last night of failing to provide leadership in the field of education, renewed his proposal for suspension of bi-scale nuclear tests in a speech prepared for an audience at the Fairleigh Dickinson University campus here. It was one of eight talks Stevenson scheduled in a day of stumping New Jersey after a flight from Washington. Included were an afternoon speech at Newark and a rally tonight at Jersey City. In his prepared Teaneck speech, Stevenson expressed regret that the Eisenhower administration, as he put it, "has not pressed forward along this path to peace as so many have urged — Catholic and Protestant religious leaders, distinguished scientists, prominent educators, yes, and serious politicians." Stevenson said also that the administration "seems to have ignored what appears to be an increasing desire to close the gap between East and West on such subjects as mutual inspection and limitation of armed forces. There is a "danger" in insistence on "perfect, foolproof answers," he said and added: "We must always press toward those answers and not be content until we get them. But we cannot afford to reject small gains. "That the world has never yet achieved a system of universal and enforceable disarmament surely does not prove that it never will. Surely, Stevenson continued, this government should explore disarmament proposals by others "to see whether they were made in good faith and whether they will meet our security requirements." He said the Eisenhower administration "has even withdrawn its own proposals when others indicated a willingness to accept these proposals." He said it is because he sees the building of a peaceful world as an "organic process" that he attaches "so much importance to the halting of large-scale nuclear tests by the great powers." "Surely," Stevenson continued, "there must be sufficient vision to save the human race from contaminating its own air, from filling the upper atmosphere with maligen elements which may have incalculable effects on humanity." Stevenson arranged a visit to Fairleigh Dickinson to view a world arms control center set up here to stimulate thinking about peace. He said the beginning of practical thought about peace "is the complete conviction that war is no longer a practical means of adjusting differences between nations." In a Washington statement last night, Stevenson called for a five-point federal aid program to help provide 50,000 more teachers and build 100,000 new classrooms year-long. This was the second of a series of "major affirmations" which he says will guide his course if he is elected president.

Car Crashed Headlong Into Tree

16th—James Edward Allen, 23-year-old Greenville Negro, lies dead beside the smashed wreckage of the car in which he was riding with six other Negro men and women last night when it hit a tree on highway 264 about two miles from Greenville. Walter Flueller, 22, Kinston, is shown as he lies half out of the car. Flueller was seriously injured. (Reflector Photo by Neil King).

Greenville Man Is Killed In Accident

By NEIL KING
Reflector Staff Writer
One person was killed instantly and three others hospitalized when the car in which they were riding crashed head on into a tree on highway 264 about two miles west of Greenville last night around 1 o'clock. The dead person was identified as James Edward Allen, Negro, 23, 602A Pamlico Avenue. There were four other Negro men and two Negro women in the car, all from Kinston. Ezekiel Patterson, 20, driver of the vehicle, was charged with manslaughter, drunk driving and driving carelessly and recklessly by investigating highway patrolman D. L. Minshew. Patterson told highway patrolman Jim Boykin, who assisted Minshew in the investigation, that he was home on indefinite leave from the Navy and that he was a "mental patient" in the Naval Hospital at Philadelphia and occasionally "blacked out." Allen, the son of Mrs. Minnie Allen, became Pitt County's 16th highway fatality for 1956. This is just two deaths short of the all-time high of 18 set in 1952. Patrolman Minshew called for help when he arrived on the scene and found several of the occupants were pinned in the smashed car. The Rescue Truck and an ambulance were dispatched to the scene to help Minshew extract the pinned victims and to rush the injured to the hospital. They were identified as Walter Flueller, 22, who suffered a compound fracture of the lower left leg; Hazel Herling, 18, fractured arm, leg and ribs; Louise Bass, 25, fractured jaw and thumb; James Jarmon, 23, abrasions of the face and shins; and David Suggs, 23, lacerations of the head and face. Patterson told patrolman Boykin that he had had one beer yesterday morning and another around 5 or 6 o'clock last night and that he was traveling "between 53 and 55 m.p.h." when the accident occurred. Other occupants who were able to talk said that they had asked him to slow down just before they smashed into the tree and one of them said they were going "90 miles an hour." Jarmon told Minshew that when they left Kinston around 7:30 last night they had a pint bottle of gin and everyone drank from it except the Herring girl. Also that they stopped at a club here in Greenville and everyone except the Herring girl had a round of beers. Jarmon said they picked up Allen so that he could direct them to the club. Allen, he said, thought he knew where Patterson's grand-mother lived and would take them there. "We left the Club after about ten minutes," said Jarmon "and started out toward Farmville. After looking, Allen told us he couldn't find her house, so we started back and that's when it happened." Patterson was first taken to Pitt Hospital Emergency for treatment, "but he became boisterous and used profanity and wouldn't cooperate with the nurse who was trying to treat him," said Boykin, "so we took him to the county jail when the nurse was finally able to bandage his arm." He is being held there without bond pending a coroner's inquest. Patrolman Minshew commented that he received assistance from everybody after the wreck occurred including members of the Fire and Sheriff's departments, the ABC men, and the City Police.

Eastern N. C. Demos Fork Up $16,065 At Rally

Eastern North Carolina Democrats forked up a total of $16,065 for the $15-a-plate Sam Rayburn dinner here Friday night. Rally Chairman John G. Clark reported this morning a total of 1,071 tickets were purchased for the rally held in the Wright Auditorium on the East Carolina College Campus. "We haven't been able to get our final check on expenses of the rally yet," Clark said, "but it appears now that our expenses will be less than $3,000." That would leave approximately $13,000 to be turned over to the national party's campaign fund from the 29 counties which participated in the regional rally. Clark said Pitt County led in ticket sales with 585 tickets accounting for $8,775 of the total of $16,065 raised for the rally. Beaufort County was second in the number of tickets sold and Martin County was third. The report on ticket sales today made the Rayburn rally here the largest political fund-raising rally in this section of the state in a number of years and probably set a new record, according to veteran observers. In turning over the proceeds of the rally to the National Committee, each county which participated will be given credit for its part of the contribution on the basis of the number of rally tickets purchased by residents of the particular county. The rally last Friday proved one of the major political events in Greenville's history attracting in addition to House Speaker Rayburn, Gov. Hodges, Senators Ervin and Scott, Congressman Bonner and Fountain and a host of other state officials and political leaders.

Murders Committed By Gun And Axe Early Today

CLINTON, N.C. (AP) — Officers early today discovered six children slain by gun and ax in their humble tenant farm home, and several hours later their father's body was found in woods nearby, a gun beside him. Sampson County Coroner Coleman Carter announced the finding of the body of the father, 34-year-old Rufus A. King. Sheriff's deputies who went to the King home to serve a warrant charging assault on his wife found the children's bodies strewn about the blood-spattered home. One was in bed. Five were sprawled on the floor of the six-room frame dwelling. Coroner Carter said a superficial examination showed that most of the children had been beaten with the butt of a rifle or with an ax. The youngest, 2-year-old Susan, had been shot. All the others suffered compound fractures of the head.

"It was the most horrible sight I have ever seen," the coroner declared. "It's the terriblest (sic) thing that ever happened in this community," said Allen McCullen. He operates a store at Keener, three miles from the King home and about 60 miles southeast of Raleigh in Eastern North Carolina. State highway patrolmen earlier had joined local officers with bloodhounds in a search for King. Mrs. King spent the night with relatives in Johnsontown, about seven miles from her home. Early today she signed a warrant charging her husband with assault. Dep. Sheriff Ira Hatch said he and other officers attempting to serve the warrant looked through the windows and saw the bodies. Neighbors reported that some of the children were frolicking around their yard about breakfast time. They said the school bus driver stopped at the King home, blew the horn several times, and departed. Hatch theorized that the killings took place between 7 and 8 a.m. He and McCullen said King never had been in trouble before. McCullen described him as "very quiet." More than 100 persons had joined in the search for King near noon. Coroner Carter listed the children as Alice Gray, 10; Joseph Allen, 9; Melvin, 7; Ruth, 5; Jerry, 4; and Susan Allen, 2. Joseph's body was in the kitchen. Ruth was in the doorway between the living room and a bedroom. Jerry and Melvin lay near a bedroom fireplace. Alice was in a doorway between two bedrooms. Susan was in her bed.

Quiet GOP Caravan Slips Into Town For Brief Stop

REPUBLICAN CANDIDATES—Kyle Hayes of North Wilkesboro, Republican candidate for governor, led a caravan of Republican candidates for state office into Greenville today. The caravan is touring the eastern portion of the state. From left to right above: J. M. Stancil, Durham, candidate for Commissioner of Labor; Joel A. Johnson, Four Oaks, candidate for U. S. Senate; Hayes; C. E. Hyde, Murphree, candidate for Attorney General; and Fred R. Keith, St. Paul, candidate for Commissioner of Agriculture. (Reflector Staff Photo).

North Carolina's Republican candidate for governor isn't "optimistic" about chances for a Republican victory in North Carolina this fall. Kyle Hayes, a North Wilkesboro attorney, said the Republicans "haven't campaigned as hard as they could have" this year. He also said, "President Eisenhower isn't as popular this year as he was in 1952 so far as North Carolina is concerned." When asked if he thought that was true of the entire country, he said, "I hope not, but I don't know."

Hayes and a caravan of Republican candidates for public office slipped quietly into town around noon today. The caravan stopped at the Court House here, enough for Hayes to speak with a couple of personal friends and then moved on to other towns to the First Congressional District. Accompanying Hayes were Joel A. Johnson, candidate for the U. S. Senate; C. E. Hyde, candidate for Attorney General; Fred R. Keith, running for Commissioner of Agriculture; and J. M. Stancil, the party's nominee for Commissioner of Labor. In a brief sidewalk conversation, Hayes repeated his stand for a 29 per cent increase in teachers' pay, an expanded Highway Patrol, and a state school bond issue to set up a system of Junior Colleges throughout the state. The proposed increase in teachers' salaries would give them a 19 per cent increase January 1, a five per cent increase in January, 1958, and another five per cent increase in January, 1959.

Community Chest Begins Drive For Needed $14,875

Greenville's Community Chest today launched its 1956 fund raising campaign seeking a goal of $14,875 for eight local agencies which make up the Chest. Dr. John D. Messick, president of East Carolina College, was the principal speaker at a kick-off breakfast attended this morning by more than 300 special gifts solicitors. Dr. Messick assisted the Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts and other Community Chest agencies must have the financial support of local people if they are to continue their work. W. H. Watson, chairman of the special gifts solicitations, urged members to complete their solicitations as soon as possible and make their report not later than Tuesday of next week. Approximately 63 local business and professional men will take part in the special gifts drive. A luncheon was held at 12:30 this afternoon for chapter representatives who will handle solicitations among employees of Greenville business firms. Milton C. Williamson is chairman of the chapter plan solicitations. Other phases of the Community Chest campaign will include a house-to-house canvass under the direction of the Service League, solicitations of the high school and college faculties and staff and a Negro division headed by Leroy Barnes.

An organizational meeting of the Negro division was held last night and a kick-off dinner for this phase of the campaign will be held Tuesday evening at 7:30. Community Chest President J. B. Kittrell Jr. and general campaign chairman Ben L. Rouse today urged the people of Greenville to give generously to the Community Chest this year. "The eight agencies are looking to the people of Greenville to contribute sufficient funds to the Community Chest to finance their operations during the coming year," Kittrell said. "We are making every effort to reach the goal of $14,875, but the success of this campaign depends upon the response of the people of Greenville."

Another Reports Men Are Fragile

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Men are more-fragile than womgn, says Dr. Daniel Beltz. A family physician, Dr. Beltz told an audience yesterday: "The vital organs of men are more fragile than those of women, and 200,000 more men than women women have died annually in the United States in this decade." The years between 45 and 60 are particularly dangerous for men, he said, whereas women find the going harder after 60.

12-Year-Old Did As Told: Shot Armed Intruder

SOUTH NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — When an armed intruder broke into her home while her parents were away, 12-year-old Mary French knew just what to do. Daddy had told her. And, shaking with fright, she did it. Ejecting into an adjacent room, Mary locked the door, took her father's .38-caliber pistol from a drawer, inserted five shells, unlocked the door and shot the gun-waving intruder in the leg. He fled in panic. Police said the girl was at home with several smaller children when James Bell, 24, Negro, broke into the house Sunday night and asked where her father was. Mary told him she didn't know, then hurried into the next room to get the pistol. She fired twice.

Pitt Board Of Education Holds Routine Meeting

The Pitt County Board of Education handled only routine business yesterday in its regular monthly meeting. Major action of the Board concerned offering the old Whitehurst School property for sale. County Superintendent, D. H. Conley, said today the property consists of three-quarters of an acre of land in Carolina Township which is no longer needed for school purposes. The property will be advertised for sale. The school was for many years a one-teacher Negro institution which was consolidated with the Bethel Negro school. According to Conley, there have been no inquiries about reopening the school since it was closed. The Board also gave final ap-

Moose Women Sponsor Nurse

Miss Nancy Scherer, daughter of Mrs. Eleanor Scherer of Grimesland, left Sunday for Wayne County Memorial Hospital in Goldsboro, where she will begin her student nurse studies.

She will study under the sponsorship of Chapter 1308, Women of the Moose.

In 1955 the chapter assumed as a continuing project the sponsorship of a student nurse. This offer is open to any girl in Pitt County who is a high school graduate and meets the application requirements which are based on need, good moral character, scholastic average and a pre-nursing aptitude test.

Miss Scherer is the first girl to begin her studies under this project. She is a 1956 honor graduate of Grimesland High School, where she was active in all school activities and president of the Beta Club her senior year.

The Women of the Moose gave her a going-away shower and party where she was presented a nurses' watch from the chapter.

Maple Cookery Pronounced A Roaring Hit

By DOROTHY ROE

We AMERICANS love our baked beans, clam chowder, apple pie and flapjacks with maple syrup.

But the professional French chef is likely to view these viands with a jaundiced eye. And to ask him to cook them can be as deadly an insult as questioning his mother's ancestry.

So it was with lively interest that I accepted a recent invitation to attend a maple syrup luncheon aboard the liner Ile de France, a ship noted for the elegance of its French cuisine.

This, the man said, was to be a traditional French menu with all the main dishes cooked with pure maple syrup.

The great dining salon of the liner was deserted except for one perfectly appointed long table when the dozen reporters arrived, all looking as secretly excited as I. We were served the following:

Broiled grapefruit with maple syrup.
 Roast duck with maple syrup sauce.
 Salad with maple syrup dressing.
 Pure maple baked Alaska.

And instead of sugar they served maple syrup with the demitasse.

Vintage wines accompanied each course, the service was perfect, the succeeding dishes superb.

But it seems that before the luncheon was produced, international amity was threatened and for a time high drama reigned in the kitchens of the Ile de France, when Chef Jean Reguere stared in horror at the menu presented to him, tore off his spotless chef cap, waved his arms, pounded the table and shouted:

"No! I will not do it! My honor and my reputation are at stake! Pour maple syrup all over my superb food? Nevaire!"

Feats of diplomacy worthy of a conference at the summit were required to calm the shattered nerves of the wild-eyed Jean, who, it seems, kept muttering: "What would Escoffier say?"

But when the luncheon was served the next day as scheduled, there were no signs of the preliminary strife, and all seemed sweetness and light. Most of those present were food experts, and all pronounced the maple cookery a roaring success.

Mrs. A. T. Schmidt and Mrs. Ann De La Mater were hostesses for the September meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary on Thursday evening at the home of the latter. Mesdames W. C. Eagles, J. B. Kittrell and J. Knott Proctor were assisting hostesses.

Mrs. Alfred Kennedy, president, presided. There were 25 members and four guests present, the guests being Mrs. Ledyard Ross, Mrs. Clara Christopher and Misses Janice Worthington and Mickie Sumrell.

It was decided to have Poppy Poster and Essay contests next spring, the same as in previous years and to start work on the project as soon as the material is received.

Members were reminded that gifts for the gift shops in Veterans hospitals should be turned in early and if possible brought to the next meeting.

It was stressed that each and every member should try to provide one or more gifts suitable for veterans to give to man, woman or child. Many of these veterans are unable to get out and shop for gifts for their loved ones and this is their only chance of personal selection, it was pointed out. The gifts are not wrapped in the shop after the selection is made, so wrappings may be included.

Attention was called to the Area Meeting which will be held in Farmville in October, to which all members are invited.

The president introduced two new members, Mrs. Woodrow Williams and Mrs. James Nobles. Mrs. C. A. Bowen, Americanism chair-

Hoping Raleigh Rule Can Relax

After decades of emphasis on centralized government, has North Carolina, under leadership of Gov. Hodges, entered another era in which a greater portion of responsibility will be handed back to local government?

Perhaps it is a little early now to say just which way the pendulum will swing. It is not too early to see that Gov. Hodges has given more emphasis to local effort in getting things done than any governor North Carolina has had in several decades.

The next four years should establish a definite pattern. But at the outset, the pattern should in some way be fixed on a more permanent basis than during the administration of a particular chief executive.

The Reflector has long mourned the gradual loss of autonomy by local governments throughout North Carolina and the concentration of authority in Raleigh. Frankly we are enthused about the trend which seems to be developing under Gov. Hodges' leadership. Yet it remains clear that if local governments are to assume a larger role in administration and financing of joint state-local projects, they must be given more authority of these and other affairs than they now have.

It is likewise clear that local governments—if this new trend develops—will be expected to take over more financial responsibility in these joint projects. This will mean more revenue from local taxes.

In the matter of teachers salaries, for example, Gov. Hodges has suggested perhaps a 10 per cent increase by the state, and another five per cent increase from state funds if local funds will match it with a five per cent increase.

His suggested revision of the State Highway Commission would likewise place more authority in the hands of local government, but so far there has been no indication of increased financial responsibility on the part of local governments in this connection.

Out of these and other suggested changes—which are merely suggestions at the moment—several things are immediately evident:

1. If local governments are to regain a portion of the autonomy they once enjoyed, they must likewise resume a larger portion of the financial responsibility which once was solely theirs.

2. More local tax revenue must be raised to meet these increased financial obligations either through higher taxes or through increased valuations brought about by the location of new industries and businesses which will themselves provide taxable structures and in turn boost the general economic level of the locality.

3. In assuming these responsibilities and obligations, local governments will be in a position to demand, as a condition of acceptance, that they be cut free from the unnecessary apron strings which still enable the legislature to dictate what shall be done in a number of purely local matters.

Local governments in North Carolina, if they are to regain the autonomy and authority they have lost to the state over the years, must stand ready to meet this challenge which is rapidly developing. They can indeed meet it and profit by it, if citizens at the grass roots have the courage to assume the obligations which go with greater authority and responsibility in government.

Those Who Look To The Chest For Help

Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, youngsters who enjoy the Teen Age Clubs, and young and old people in need of help are looking to the citizens of Greenville to give generously to the Community Chest campaign now under way.

These citizens of our community look to the Community Chest for help. The Chest in turn appeals to all the people of Greenville for funds with which its individual agencies carry out their programs from year to year.

This year may be the last for the local Community Chest which has provided untold thousands of dollars to build a better Greenville during its long years of service to the city. Indeed, according to the board of directors of the Chest, this will be the last year of the Chest if the goal of $14,875 is not reached. For the past three years the annual campaign has fallen short of the goal. In 1953 contributions were $1,571 short of the goal. The following year contributions fell $2,629 short of the goal and last year the goal was missed by $2,283.

The Greenville Community Chest cannot be expected to carry on its work if it does not receive support of the people of the city. The Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, Teen Age Clubs, and other service agencies financed by the Community Chest cannot be expected to continue their work without funds.

It is impossible to place a dollar value on the benefits the eight Community Chest agencies afford Greenville every year. Without Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts and charity work, Greenville would be a poor community indeed.

Is it unreasonable for these eight agencies of the Community Chest collectively to ask the people of Greenville for a little more than 75 cents per capita for the city's population? If Greenville or any other community can finance activities of the Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Teen Age Clubs, Emergency Charity Funds, Community Service Funds and shoulder its portion of the United Defense Fund for 75 cents per capita per year, it is indeed fortunate.

In the Community Chest budget, that's all that is being asked.

Significance Found In Increased N. C. Crime

The increase in North Carolina's crime rate during the first six months of 1956 presents a challenge to law enforcement agencies and to local citizens.

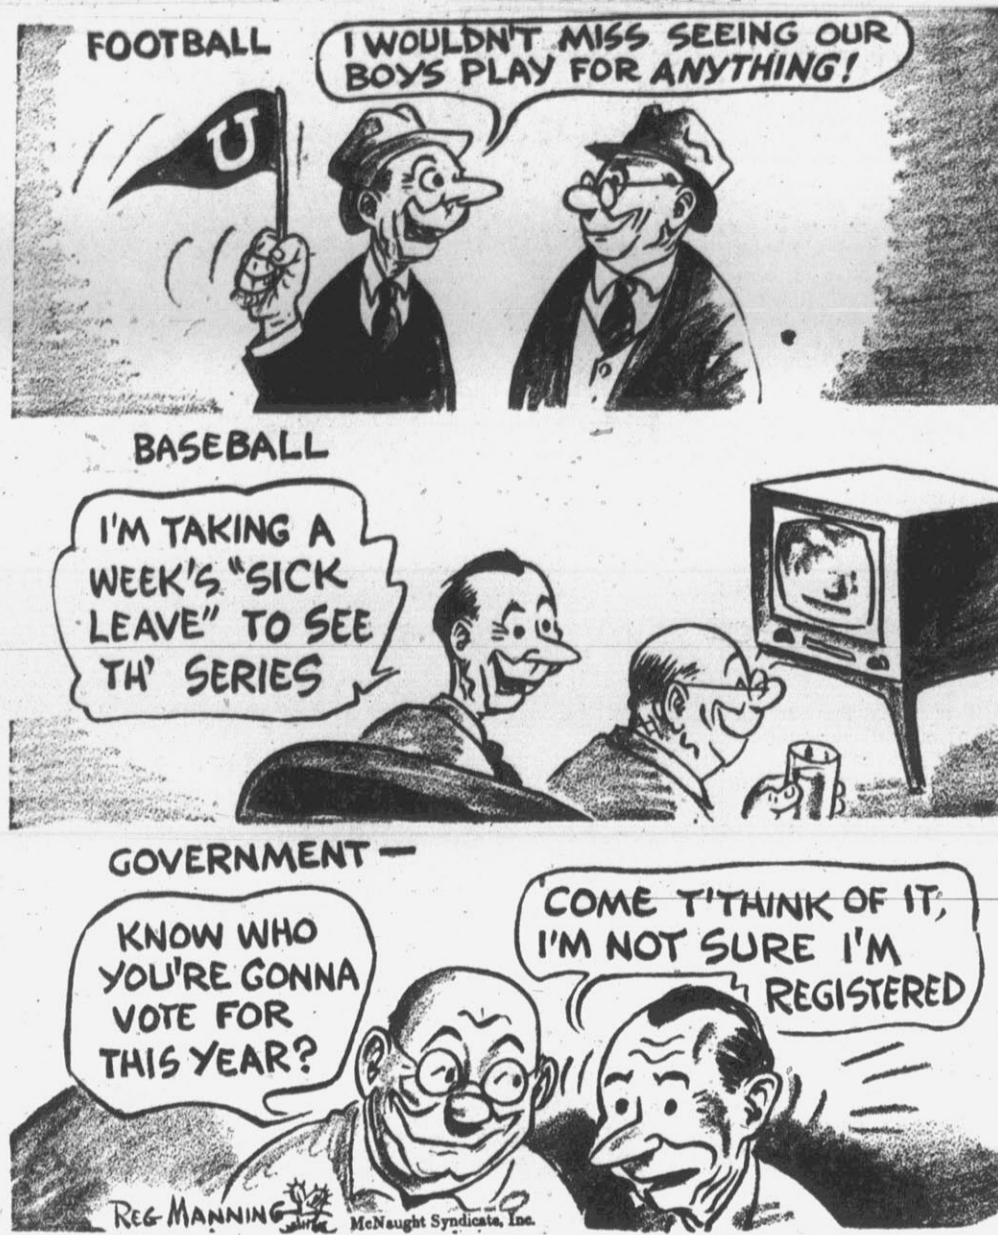

In four major categories the crime rate in the state increased while in only one category—robbery—did the state show a decrease in the rate established last year.

Not only did the total number of criminal acts increase in North Carolina during the period, but also the number of crimes per 100,000 population increased in the state. That means, of course, that an increasing percentage of the state's citizens found themselves at odds with the law concerning major criminal acts.

The increased crime rate means a bigger job for local and state law enforcement agencies in apprehending those guilty of the crimes. At the same time the increased crime rate poses a real challenge to each community a better place in which to live. In addition to greater effort in apprehending criminals, the situation points to the need for greater efforts in preventing crime. That involves not only law enforcement agencies, but the citizenry as a whole.

In the final analysis, the citizens of a community must play a larger role in crime prevention than the law enforcement agencies.

The Defense Now Testifies

The gap created in the Daily Reflector staff will not soon be bridged. Internal tensions within the paper's news room will exist for years to come. I am referring, of course, to the rift caused by certain other staff members' references to a certain Government Issue raincoat owned and put to full use by the man whose name happens to appear at the top of this column today.

Frankly, this is to serve notice that I and the United States Army, a grand and glorious institution which has held the enemies of democracy from the shores of this great nation on countless occasions which I need not enumerate here, consider the scurrilous remarks which appeared in this very same place last week as a very personal affront. Without stooping to personal argument with those who nip at the well worn hem line of my GI raincoat I would inform them in a calm and collected manner that that coat has a history which makes it an item very close to my tired old heart.

Together it and I, both as sort of United States property, marched through two years of blood sweat and tears, wind, snow and rain, in the United States Army. I tell you young whippersnappers, its enough to make a man think. In fact its enough to make a man wax poetic, thusly: Through wind, snow and rain We marched arm-in-arm (so to speak) Hold my GI raincoat in disdain But never do it harm.

Streets For The Pedestrian?

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — What can be done to keep traffic from choking to death the centers of America's big cities? Victor Gruen, a distinguished architect, has a simple but revolutionary solution—ban all automobiles from downtown areas and restore the streets to the pedestrians. Gruen predicts this will happen by the end of the century.

Pedestrians would have the streets entirely to themselves except for slow-moving electric shuttle cars for the ill, the crippled—and the downright lazy. "Cars need 20 times as much space as people do, and their birthrate is higher. The time seems not far off when unless countermeasures are taken, people would be better off to move out and leave the cities to the mechanical monsters."

Sounds like a jaywalker's heaven. The heart of the city would be converted into a pleasant business and recreation area with plenty of trees, fountains, gardens and arcades. One fashionable street in the shopping center would be roofed over and completely air-conditioned.

When he came to middle life, he entered a monastery, and most of his time thereafter was spent in the kitchen. Yet there was something so rare in this monastery cook that the Gran Vicar, after conversing with him always made notes, and people of high rank came long distances to talk with this cook, not about roasts and saucers but about religion. He found glory in the kitchen.

Shrines have their place, but the glorious thing about Christian faith is that it makes every place a shrine. "Take Fort Worth as an example," he said. "If traffic continues to increase at its present rate and only piecemeal efforts are made to handle it, the city somehow would have to provide 16 million square feet of surface streets by 1970, compared with 5 million square feet of surface feet today. Big as Texas is, there just isn't that much room in downtown Fort Worth without knocking down half its buildings."

The idea of auto-free streets sounds wonderful to us career pedestrians. But will the motorists regard it as sporting? For them it might take all the fun out of driving. "Most of America's other large cities are in the same plight. They'll have to take drastic steps soon to survive."

'Against' Benson, Ike And Dick Nixon

By LYNN NISBET

AGAINST — There might be some reason to wonder, on basis of evidence presented, whether the Democrats in Eastern North Carolina are enthusiastic for Adlai Stevenson and Estes Kefauver. There is no doubt they are vigorously against Eisenhower and Nixon and Benson.

—spoke the names of Stevenson or Kefauver.

John C. Clark, Pitt county chairman who MC'd the affair, said if Harriman had been nominated he could have staged the rally. Governor Hodges said there are signs of a "great turning to the Democratic party" throughout the country. Speaker Rayburn commended the Democratic program. But nobody told the folks who they could vote for in order to bring about this return of happy days.

They are mad enough to reverse the traditional policy of sort of sitting out the general election. With no local inter-party contests and with the state's vote for the Democratic ticket assured, easterners have not been as active as their western brethren in the November campaign.

Earlier in the day Rayburn had said during a television interview that the Democrats had a winning ticket with Stevenson and Kefauver, and nobody thought the omission from the platform was intentional. It did occasion a good bit of kidding back and forth among the diners after the meeting adjourned.

Friday night more than 1100 people from 27 counties paid $15 apiece for $1 dinner and a chance to hear Speaker Sam Rayburn lambast the Republicans. The dinner was staged in Wright Auditorium on the campus of East Carolina College at Greenville. It netted some $10,000 for the national Democratic campaign fund. The guests gave evidence they got their money's worth from Mr. Sam with generous extra helpings from Governor Luther Hodges and Rep. Herbert Bonner.

William Manning, large tobacco farmer in the Greenville area, tells a story illustrating the extent of the feeling. He said at a recent revival meeting the preacher announced that "We will now join in singing hymn No. 244."

It was definitely an anti-Eisenhower and Benson crowd. Most of the people came from bright leaf tobacco and peanut producing areas, and they do not like what Republican Benson has done to them. A huge streamer back of the rostrum read: "HELP WANTED TO RETURN BENSON TO UTAH."

Whereupon an old fellow rose in the back of the church and shouted: "Damned if that's so. In Pitt county we sing No. 139. WHOSE MONEY? — The degree to which sentiment has built up in the highway department that the highway fund is a distinct and separate entity was illustrated at the recent highway commission meeting. The matter of buying the property on the corner of Blount and Morgan streets, adjoining lots owned by the State was under discussion. The suggestion was to pay for it out of highway surplus and then perhaps later "sell it to the State." Chairman Graham stated that acquisition of the property would mean that "we" (highways) will own all of the block bounded by Wilmington, Morgan, Blount and Edenton streets "which the State doesn't own."

Every reference by Governor Hodges and Congressman Bonner to incompetence of the Republicans was loudly applauded, and Mr. Sam was interrupted more than a dozen times during his castigation of Republican tactics and his placing of responsibility on President Eisenhower. He said party leaders could no longer contend that the President is above or different from his party. He must be held accountable for the acts of Eenson, Dulles, et al.

OMISSION — That the audience was against something rather than for somebody was illustrated by the unusual omission of the names of the Democratic candidates. There were pictures of the nominees for President and Vice President on each side of the stage, but none of the speakers—Hodges, Bonner or Rayburn

Other Editors Are Saying... N.C. The Best Ham State

(Goldshoro News-Argus)

Goldshoro had a top position with cures from Smithfield, Dunn and Fayetteville also getting high place.

Just how far North Carolina outstrips the rest of the nation in this prized food processing was demonstrated at the Country Ham show of the National Freezer Locker Association in Chicago a few days ago. Awards were set up for two classes, light country cured ham and heavy country cured ham. Erezer locker operators who offer hams from all the states were invited to show their best. A strict set of rules for determining quality and flavor was set. Judges were men competent in the field.

This good ham business has hardly been touched. Wayco, which for three years straight took top honors at Chicago, increased its capacity over a year ago, but has not been able to meet demands for its own cure. As fame of North Carolina freezer cured country hams spreads, we shall see this mount to an industry of real importance. We shall see it provide more jobs and return a fair dividend on the investment we have in this country—style ham cure as advantage and an opportunity that we should develop to the fullest.

When the ham battle smoke had cleared, North Carolina had taken nine out of the ten awards in the two classes. North Carolina took both firsts in light and heavy cured. Mo. placed for any state other than Tar Heel. The light country cure from that town won a second place.

Here is a well founded and nationally known industry which Goldshoro could make the most of. To put our city in the national spotlight as a good ham city we should have to insure an adequate supply of quality hams for curing. We should have to increase local capacity to keep pace with demand. That demand would grow as long as the customer was satisfied. And people are willing and ready to pay a premium price for a quality product. Particularly if it is a good country cure style ham.

Lesson 1: How To Get Rich

By ELMER ROESSNER

Want to make a fortune? Build an estate?

There's an almost sure-fire way of doing it. The method will take a little time, of course. And some capital. And perhaps a bit of work.

But it can be done by simply figuring out the consequences of the population trend and correlating it to the trend in income.

That population trend is phenomenal.

As Vergil D. Reed, advertising economist (and J. Walt Thompson Co. vice president) told a National Industrial Conference Board meeting, we can count on 4,205,000 babies in the next twelve months.

This is not due solely to the marriage rate, he noted: the clang of wedding bells has slowed a bit since 1947 and won't speed up until about 1961 when the war babies start marrying in large numbers.

FAIN: 336 PER HOUR
"Within the next hour, the Grim Reaper will cut down 171 of your old customers," he went on. "But this time tomorrow he will have 'rubbed out' 4,104. By a year from today, he will have deprived you of 1,498,000 of your old customers..."

"Immigration adds 30 consumers an hour, 720 per day, or around 262,800 per year while you lose 3 per hour, 72 per day or 26,280 in a year as emigrants from the U.S. If we tote up the plus and minus scores of the five trend makers I've mentioned, our net population increases, at present rates, in 336 per hour, 8,064 per day, and roughly 2,900,000 per year."

Meanwhile Fortune, in an analysis of income trends, points out that consumer spending rose from $20 billion in 1950 to $24 billion this year and will probably amount to $22 billion by 1960—in constant 1956 dollars.

It also calculates that by 1959, there will be 20,000,000 families, or 3,400,000 more than today, with cash incomes after taxes of $5,000 or more.

TRENDS WITHIN TRENDS
This vast growth suggests vast opportunity, but for richest results, further analysis is necessary.

To take fullest advantage of these trends, an enterpriser must determine which age groups will increase in ratios and income (the rise of the number of older persons and the rise of pensions is tremendously significant), and in which areas the greatest growths take place. There are a number of other factors, such as the comparative sizes of families in New England and, say, California, and the relative trends in wages in Mississippi and, say, Detroit.

Data on which trends may be projected are readily available from Commerce, Census, Labor and other government offices, and from private analysts. Practically all this material is available at public libraries.

If you analyze these trends correctly, you will know exactly how big your community will be in any future year. Even without analysis, you can figure that it will be quite a bit larger. Then, all you have to do is to determine in which direction it will grow, and buy or option land in that area. These new families are going to require millions of homes, miles of highways and acres of parks and school sites. And all you have to do is to sit back and wait for values to rise.

MORE GOODS REQUIRED
Or you can calculate on what additional goods the rising population will require, and how much people can spend for them out of the rising income. Then all you need do is to arrange to have such goods in production as the market grows, or to have a market in a farm area destined to be a population center.

There are only two hazardous bridges on this highway to fortune. One: you may evaluate the trends incorrectly and be wrong about the direction and size of the growth in the area in which you are investing. Two: you may evaluate the trends correctly, in which case somebody else may do the same and beat you to the land or the product that would make your rich.

GOP Computing Cost Of Adlai's Plan

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON The Republicans are so frightened by Adlai E. Stevenson's campaign theme of a "New America" that they have set their financial experts to figuring out how many billions it would cost in the form of higher taxes, a boost in the national debt, annual deficits and expansion of the public debt. It is a new wrinkle in Presidential debate.

STEVENSON'S "NEW AMERICA"

The underlying purpose, of course, is to depict Ike's opponent as an "irresponsible spender" after the pattern of Roosevelt and Truman, Ickes and Hopkins. They will also contrast Stevenson's proposed expansion and expenditures with Democrats' demand for a reduction of taxes. The GOP counterblast will probably be delivered by Treasury Secretary George M. Humphrey or one of his aides toward the campaign wind-up.

Although final figures cannot be submitted and publicized until Stevenson elaborates further on his "New America," it is estimated that his expanded farm and old age assistance programs will nick the taxpayers and the Treasury for at least an extra $5 billion annually.

As the Democratic nominee unfolds his theories in speeches or in "The Man from Libertyville" television spots, the fiscal experts of each Federal department affected—State, Defense, Agriculture, Labor, Health, Education and Welfare—estimate the cost of the Stevenson program in their field, and submit the figures to the Director of the Budget.

They follow the same procedure that they do in preparing the annual Eisenhower budget for presentation to Congress. The only difference is that they are making up a "Stevenson budget," based on his rosy cam-found, are not worrying over war with Russia, the Suez Canal difficulty, peace and prosperity, or any of the more publicized issues. They are not thinking, and possibly will not vote, on national and international levels.

PARENTS' CONCERN Mothers and fathers seem to be worrying over housekeeping questions—namely, the need for more and cheaper homes, new and better schools and teachers, safer highways and less traffic congestion for shopping trips, less expensive hospital and medical care, and medical care, and of course, a modicum of comfort and security in their retired years.

In short, they dream, as Stevenson proposes, of a brighter pattern of everyday living for the parents' present and their children's future. This "New America" idea, GOP strategists realize, includes all the slightly showpony appeals of Wilson's "New Freedom," F.D.R.'s "New Deal" and Truman's "Fair Deal." All these slogans were winners!

Doctors Hopeful They Can Save Child's Sight

DURHAM (AP) — A little 6-year-old South Carolina boy, rapidly going blind from cataracts of both eyes, continued a round of preliminary examinations at Duke Hospital today where doctors hope they can save his sight.

Luther Mishoe and his widowed mother who works as a share-cropper near Simpson Creek, S. C., arrived here yesterday. Doctors immediately began their examinations.

South Carolina doctors told Mrs. Mishoe, mother of five children, that it would be only a matter of weeks before Luther goes blind. He can see practically nothing now.

Mrs. Mishoe earns less than $300 yearly. The Loris, S. C., Lions Club is paying part of Luther's expenses and an appeal was made for contributions. A Durham women's group said yesterday it plans to contribute to the cause.

UNDAUNTED

SHERMAN, Tex. (AP) — Some 100 law officers were attending the 1956-57 regional convention of the Texas Police Assn. last night. But two burglaries and an armed robbery were committed, just the same.

Week Of Partying For Grifton Pupils

By BARBARA TAYLOR
Grifton School Reporter

Parties seemed to be the vogue around Grifton during the past week.

Eleanor Wetherington invited a few friends to her house Wednesday night to talk about the latest happenings and to enjoy dancing. Those attending were Wayne Ervin, Patsy Burney, Nancy Smith, Gilbert Quigley, Janice Manning and Jimmy McLawhorn.

Pat Matthews decided to have a pajama party Saturday night so JoAnne Bass, Dorothy Groot, Esther Coward, Linda Chauncey and Nancy Smith showed up with their pajamas and bobbie pins. The girls looked as if they could use a little sleep the next morning.

Wilma Patrick and Linda Chauncey celebrated their birthdays September 28 by having a joint birthday party. A weiner roast was held at the Chauncey home. The honorees received many gifts from the guest who included Sally Mewborn, Jordan McCotter, Martha Hart, Donald Bennette, Connie Dennis, Linda Koon and others.

Along with the social activities a lot of hard work has been going on at Grifton High School. The Band elected officers Friday with Bill Goolsby being elected president. Other officers are Mac Chauncey, vice-president; Barbara Taylor, secretary-treasurer; and Billy Gardner, sergeant-at-arms. The high-strutting majorettes will be Linda Chauncey, JoAnne Bass, Pat Bennette, Emily Nelson, Dorothy Groot, Carolyn Hart and Ellen Carver. The band is under the direction of Mrs. June Carson.

The High School met in the assembly room Friday to enjoy a Patriotic Program presented by the third year Home Economics girls. At the conclusion of the program, Principal E.B. Bright complimented the student body on the attitude shown by the students this year.

The Junior Class wishes to thank everyone who helped to make their annual magazine project a success. Phyllis Dudley won camera with flash attachment for being high salesman and Frances Davis won a pajama bag for placing second. The Orange team will be host to the Blue team at a party Friday night in honor of the Blue team winning the sales competition championship.

Move Library On Conveyor Belt

DENVER (AP)—More than 500,000 books from Denver's main public library are being moved on a 700-foot long conveyor belt to a new $3,300,000 library.

Books in the old library are placed in boxes which are then put onto the conveyor. It transports them across Civic Center. On the way it rises to a height of 14 feet to bridge traffic over busy 14th Avenue.

Tapped To Build 6 Navy Reactors

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Westinghouse Electric Corp. has been picked by the Navy to build the atomic "furnaces" for six new high speed submarines.

The Navy announced last night it was awarding a 24½-million-dollar contract to Westinghouse to design and construct the atomic power reactors which will be key elements in the propulsion system of the subs.

Says 3 Pines 4,000 Years Old

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—A University of Arizona professor says he has found the world's oldest living things — three small bristlecone pines high in the mountains 20 miles northeast of Bishop, Calif.

Dr. Edmund Schulman estimated they are 4,000 years old. The giant sequoias of California, current record-holders for old age, are about 3,000 years old.

The scientist bases his estimates on detailed countings of the pine trees' rings under the microscope. He said the trees grow to a maximum height of only 30 feet, with trunks from 25 to 50 inches across, and that the trunks grow just an inch across in 150 to 200 years.

A Turning Point Of Solicitation In Eleven Days

By ANNETTE JACKSON
Reflector Woman's Editor

Local citizens will be asked to give October 2-13 a total of $14,875.

It will be a decisive battle for funds which will determine whether or not eight agencies continue to draw upon the Greenville Community Chest for their support or whether they must rely on individual campaigns for future subsistence.

During the eleven-day period, Ben L. Rouse, and W. H. Watson, drive cochairmen, will watch the returns carefully. It is their belief, along with that of J. B. Kittrell, Jr., president of the Community Chest, that each of the agencies makes a vital contribution to civic life.

A close look at the agencies deriving their support from the Greenville Community Chest shows they cover a variety of needs, each generally considered to be worthy of support.

Agencies covered include White and Negro Boy Scouts, White and Negro Girl Scouts, White and Negro Teen-Age Clubs, the Emergency Charity Fund, Community Charity Fund, The King's Daughters Charity Fund and the United Defense Fund.

Under the 1957 approved Greenville Community Chest Budget, $6,800 has been set aside for Boy Scout work; $5,225 for Girl Scout work; $250 for the Negro Teen Age Club and $250 for the White Teen Age Club; $200 for charity work administered by The King's Daughters and Sons, $250 for the Community Service Fund administered by the Greenville Service League; $500 for the Emergency Charity Fund also administered by the Greenville Service League; and $1,183.71 for the United Defense Fund which serves servicemen.

The approved budget also sets aside $216.29 for expense of the fund-raising campaign.

Funds may be contributed through one of three plans: special gifts plan, chapter plan through which employees of individual business firms will give as a unit, or on an individual basis.

Watson will serve as chairman of the special gifts plan. Milton Williamson will head the chapter plan which is being initiated this year. The Greenville Service League with Mrs. Robert Forney as chairman will handle the house-to-house canvass.

Also assisting with the drive are Dr. J. D. Messick, in charge of contributions from the ECC faculty and employees and O. E. Dowd, chairman of contributions among city school employees.

EMERGENCY CHARITY FUND—If the Community Chest Budget is met for this year, $500 will be used for emergency charity among local citizens. The money is used each year for such purposes as providing emergency food, clothing, medicine and fuel for local families in distress until more permanent plans can be made. The Greenville Service League has been designated to administer this fund. Mrs. Eugene West is shown above as she shops for food for a needy family. Like many another Service League member, Mrs. West gives willingly of her time and service for this cause. Last year the league answered 96 calls and delivered 25 Christmas baskets.

One-Way Ride For Sophomore

LOS ANGELES (AP) — About 75 Claremont Men's College freshmen "kidnaped" the president of the sophomore class last night and put him aboard an airliner for New York.

The one-way free ride for 19-year-old Ted Dettmerman of Riverside was explained by a freshman spokesman, Frank Frye, 18, of San Diego, who said, "This year the class of 1956 wanted to do something bigger and better than ever" in the hazing line.

The freshmen told Dettmerman they might send him bus fare home.

Rainy Days Fill Auction Barns

CLINTON — the chant of the livestock auctioneer draws many Sampson County farmers to sale barns, especially on rainy fall days, according to Assistant County Agent W. S. Young.

He points out that many of the farmers go to check the prices of the different types of animals and also bring along some animals for sale. Others are just fascinated by some of the things the auctioneers do in carrying out a sale.

Better types of livestock should be the aim of these farmers as they watch some of the animals that are offered for sale, advises Young.

GIRL SCOUTS—The Girl Scout salute might well be extended civic-minded citizens who will dig deep into their pockets during this Community Chest Drive. The Chest budget for this year calls for a total of $5,225 to go toward White and Negro Girl Scout work. The above photo is of a last year's Brownie Troop.

THE KING'S DAUGHTERS CHARITY FUND—Into The King's Daughters Charity Fund will go $200 under the 1957 approved Community Chest Budget. The King's Daughters is a charity organization which spends far above this amount for its mission of goodwill. In the above photo, a local druggist sells Mrs. C. A. Bowen a prescription for a needy person while Mrs. Clara Moye Shackell looks on. Mrs. Bowen is president of the local chapter; Mrs. Shackell, a former N. C. State Branch officer. The group's charity fund furnishes such essentials as clothing, food, medicine and fuel to many persons—both White and Negro—who are in need. 144 individuals were helped by the group at Christmas last year alone, while an estimated $25-$30 is spent monthly for its charitable purposes.

BOY SCOUT WORK—The 1957 approved Community Chest Budget provides for $6,800 to go to Boy Scout Work among both Negro and White troops in the County. Pictured above is a new troop being organized this year under the direction of Dale Gidley as scoutmaster. The group met Wednesday night at the Episcopal Church and they are shown above as they elect officers for the year.

TEEN-AGE CLUBS—Shown above are members of the Negro-Teen Age Club which meets at Eppes School on Friday nights. The 1957 approved Community Chest budget allocates $250 for the Negro club and $250 for the White club which meets on Saturday nights at Elm Street Park. Prof. W. H. Davenport serves as adult advisor for the Negro club which last year had a membership of some 200 students, between the ages of 15 and 19. The club, designed to furnish wholesome recreation for the city's teen-age citizens, does not meet during the summer. It is now in the process of reorganizing.

Dick Cherry Resigns From East Carolina Monday

'Illness In The Family Given As Reason For Resignation

By BILLY ARNOLD
Reflector Sports Editor

Dick Cherry, who, in a three-year span of football at East Carolina, has gained Little All-America, All-State and All-Conference (three times) honors as a triple-threat quarterback, officially resigned from school yesterday.

The stocky 165 pound senior dropped out of school due to "illness in the family" according to the East Carolina Athletic office.

Since coming to ECC in 1952, Cherry has been the most publicized gridders in the eastern part of the state and has been hailed as "one of the institution's All-Time greats."

In 1952, the "Blonde Bombshell" netted All-North State Conference honors as a freshman quarterback. The following year, by far his best, he guided the Pirates to their first North State Championship and All-State laurels. He has been chosen to the All-Conference team each of the three years he has played at ECC.

According to reports from the Euc athletic department, Cherry's resignation from school was no spur-of-the-moment decision. Cherry, himself, told reporters earlier that he had been contemplating such a move for some time, due to sickness in his family at Washington.

The athlete's parents operate a funeral establishment in Washington. Recently Mr. Cherry became ill and entered a sanatorium for treatment. Dick's mother, too, became sick and the funeral establishment was in jeopardy, with no one to take care of the business details and transactions. That, according to reports, is what Dick Cherry plans to do: handle the family business.

Coach Jack Boone, who has been Cherry's football mentor during the past four seasons, expressed his sorrow over losing Cherry as a quarterback and said further that, "he's been a worried boy for quite a while. He actually was not in good football shape during the past two games, because of the strain on him. It forced him to miss most of the drills and besides that, he just didn't have his mind on it."

Bucaneer gridders have a healthy respect for the chunky Washington boy and have played well behind his command for three full seasons. Tackle Charlie Smith, who has been a Pirate footballer since Cherry's first year, summed it up for all the boys: "Cherry's a natural. He's simply a great ball player."

Coach Boone had Gary Matlocks at quarterback throughout the Catawba contest, Saturday, and is expected to use him as first unit man at Cherry's slot for the full season. Also, in line for duty at that position are Ralph Zehring, Billy Skeeter, George Turner, Stuart Holland.

Ezzard Charles Fights Tonight

LONDON (AP)—Ezzard Charles and Dick Richardson re-enact a famed old pugilistic drama tonight on the four-cornered stage at Harringay Arena—the faded favorite and the brass hat.

Old Champion Charles who has lost more than he has won in recent engagements, meets the 22-year-old Welshman who is getting a fancy buildup in Britain in the hopes that this one time capital of boxing can have at least one world class heavyweight.

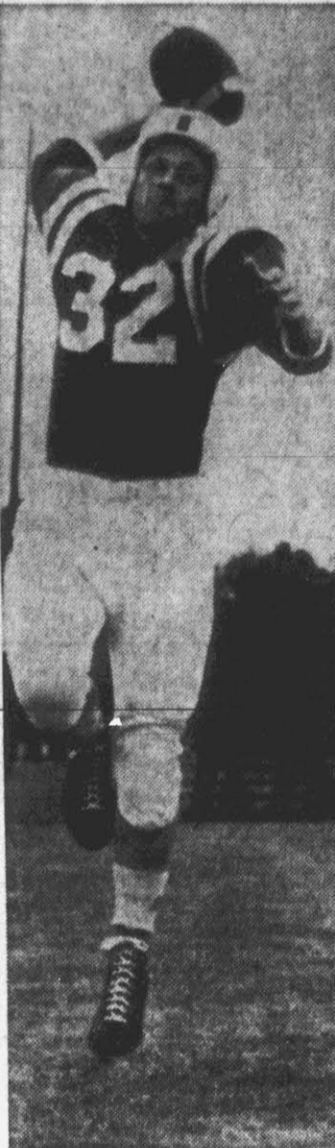

The fight could last 10 rounds but it is not supposed to.

London authorities say Richardson—who seems to lack a keen boxing intellect—should knock Charles out before the time limit. Charles and his manager, say Charles' superior experience and ability will see the old boy through once more.

Charles went through two bloody fights against Rocky Marciano two years ago and he has never been the same.

RALEIGH—There's a possibility of nine sophomores playing on North Carolina State's second team this year. They are end Bob Pope, tackle Francis Palandrani, guards Joe Rodri and Larry Cox, center Ron Savage, quarterback Frank Cackovic, halfbacks Jay Margerum and Ken Trowbridge and fullback Don Hafer.

Dick Cherry

RESIGNS — Dick Cherry, Little All-America quarterback at East Carolina, resigned from school yesterday, due to family illness. The Washington native has been hailed as one of the school's All-Time football greats for his play during the past four years.

Alston Isn't Worrying About Yankee Strength

BROOKLYN (AP)—If Manager Walt Alston of the Brooklyn Dodgers is worried about the big, bad New York Yankees, he should go in for heavy drama — he's that good an actor.

"My team was good enough to win the National League pennant in a tough last-ditch fight, and it looks all right to me to go against the Yanks," he said today before sending the club into its final Ebbets Field workout prior to tomorrow's first series game.

Didn't he think that maybe the long, tiring battle took something out of the Brooks?

"On the contrary," he said, "I prefer a team that is keyed up like we are. I did not like our situation last year when we clinched the pennant early and sat around for weeks waiting for the series to get under way."

It's no big secret that Alston would like to start Sal Maglie in the opener, but the ancient Barber would be going with only three days of rest. He planned to talk it over with Maglie and announce his decision later today.

If it isn't Maglie, though, Alston appears to be inclined toward relief ace Clem Labine.

"I spoke to Clem yesterday," said Alston, "and he said he was ready to start or relieve. Of course, his big value to the club is in relief, but I feel that if he did start, I'd be able to bring him back for an inning or two Thursday."

"I think, too, that our entire relief picture has improved. Don Bessent did a good job Sunday and his stuff was as good as it's been all season. With Labine and Bessent, we've got a fine bullpen."

He Picks Yanks To Win Series

NEW YORK (AP)—Boston Red Sox Manager Mike Higins, who believes the Yankee pitching staff is underrated, today picked New York to beat Brooklyn in five games in the World Series.

"I'll take the Yankees in five," Higins said. "They're a solid club, good defensively and I don't believe their pitching staff is as bad as it has been written up all year."

Yanks Rated A 7-5 Choice To Dethrone World Champion Bums

By JOE REICHLER
BROOKLYN (AP)—The well-rested New York Yankees ruled a stout 7½ to 5 choice to dethrone the champion Brooklyn Dodgers in the 1956 World Series which starts tomorrow at Ebbets Field but the National Leaguers had plenty of supporters, too.

Bobby Bragan, who gained stature as a manager even in Pittsburgh's three season-ending losses to Brooklyn, picked the Dodgers to win.

"All they have to do is play the kind of ball they played against us in those last three days," Bragan said. "Those guys were simply great."

A major league umpire, who will remain unidentified even though he will not work in the series, thought the Dodgers would win "because they are keyed up right now and they have the momentum."

"I've been reading where the Dodgers are supposed to be tired," he said. "Tired of what? Winning? Capturing the pennant on the last day of the season, and the manner in which they did it, was the best pick-me-up they could have gotten."

Whitey Ford was certain to pitch for the Yankees in the opener but Manager Walter Alston was not expected to name the Brooklyn pitcher until after the workout today.

It was believed that Sal Maglie, Brooklyn's hottest pitcher in the stretch, will get the call. Alston wants Maglie to open things up and late yesterday he had just about made up his mind to go with Sal but reserved judgment when the 39-year-old righthander complained of miseries in his shoulder.

"Maglie will pitch if his arm is all right," Alston said. "If not, it will be Clem Labine."

Maglie admitted he felt tired and also complained of a mild stomach disorder but said he would pitch if Alston wanted him to.

The former Dodger killer's 13-5 record for Brooklyn ranks him second only to Don Newcombe (27-7), who will hurl the second game for Brooklyn against New York's Don Larsen. Sal lost his only previous World Series start against the Yankees, failing to go beyond the fifth inning in the 1951 Yankee-Giant series.

Ford, who hasn't pitched since he failed in his bid for a 20th victory last Wednesday, will have a full week's rest. The southpaw ace appeared undaunted by the task confronting him in a park called a left-handed pitcher's graveyard. In Whitey's only series appearance there, in 1951, he was knocked out in the first inning.

"For a lefthander to win at Ebbets Field is a challenge," acknowledged Ford. "But I am anxious to prove I can do it."

Ford said he was surprised when his manager, Casey Stengel, sent him to Ebbets Field Sunday to give the Dodgers a look.

"I didn't learn anything I didn't already know," said Ford, who has two series triumphs over the Dodgers, both in Yankee Stadium.

"I still regard Carl Furillo and Jackie Robinson as the two toughest hitters for me, but I still don't think the Dodgers are tougher to beat in Ebbets Field than the Red Sox are up in Fenway Park. And I have won there."

Stengel said he planned no lineup changes. Mickey Vernon, though still bothered by a pulled muscle in his left groin, is a certain starter in center field, as is Billy Martin at second base, despite a back ailment. Enos Slaughter has a bad toe but he will be in left field. Bill Skowron at first base, Andy Carey at third, Gil McDougald at shortstop, Hank Bauer in right field, and, of course Yogi Berra, behind the plate, complete the lineup.

Alston, who said Sunday he may play rookie Charlie Neal at second base, switching Junior Gilliam to left field in place of Sandy Amoros, was uncertain about such a move today.

"Right now I'm leaning the other way a bit and may go with Amoros," Alston said. "Sandy has been hot lately and he may continue that way no matter who is pitching."

Amoros never has started a game when a lefthander opposed the Dodgers this year. The lefthanded hitting little outfielder batted 11 times against southpaw relief pitchers, getting one hit, a triple.

If Amoros plays, the lineup will be: Junior Gilliam, 2b; Pee Wee Reese, ss; Duke Snider, cf; Jackie Robinson, 3b; Gil Hodges, 1b; Carl Furillo, rf; Amoros, lf; Roy Campanella, c; and the pitcher.

All 34,000 tickets for the game have been sold. Those unable to get tickets may see the games on television (NBC) or hear it on radio (Mutual). Game time is 1 p.m. EDT.

Injuries Hit ACC After Rough Week

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Troubles piled up in several football camps of the Atlantic Coast Conference yesterday as practice drills got under way.

Maryland's misfortunes included the loss of the first two right ends, Ed Cooke and Dick Porter, first string halfback Jack Healy, and second string halfback Bob Layman.

Cooke and Porter were in the infirmary with a virus infection. Layman in a Baltimore hospital with suspected appendicitis and Healy on the sidelines with a sprained ankle. Healy suffered the injury in Saturday's Wake Forest game which the Terps won 6-0.

All are expected to be out of action in Saturday's game with Baylor.

Two regulars were missing from the Virginia Cavaliers' squad. Reece Whitley, sophomore quarterback, was lost for the season in a rough 40-7 defeat by Duke last week and Ron Melnik, right tackle, is expected to be out of action this week with a recurrence of a knee injury.

Duke Coach Bill Murray expected two first stringers to miss action in Saturday's game with Tennessee. Center Jack Harrison, who suffered a neck injury in last week's games, and quarterback Sonny Jurgensen who suffered a knee injury, will miss action this week.

Asst. Coach Dumpy Hagler, after scouting Tennessee's victory over Auburn last week, warned the squad: "Tennessee is a typical old-time Volunteer team composed of experienced performers and spearheaded by one of the best backs in the business in John Majors."

Three men were on the injured list at Wake Forest. They included Ted Rollins, second string right guard; reserve left end Henry M. (Mutual). Game time is 1 p.m. EDT.

North Carolina's cocaptain George Stavnitski, injured in the Oklahoma game last week, still was in an Oklahoma City hospital with undetermined injuries.

But on the brighter side, The Tar Heels hailed the return of quarterback Dave Reed to full scale work and the switch of Wally Vale to halfback.

Reed, out with a hurt knee since the first fall practice, worked with a backfield unit including Jim Varnum and Vale at halves and Don Lear at fullback.

The only other player missing from the South Carolina squad was guard Bill Floyd. He suffered a sprained knee against Miami last week.

The Gamecocks rehearsed pass plays and worked on defense in preparation for Saturday's game against North Carolina.

Clemson held a long session in prep for Saturday night's game at Raleigh against North Carolina State.

The first four Tiger teams got a taste of State's multiple offense but no contact work was held.

Top Phantom Fullback

ROBIN WILFONG—The youngest man on the Greenville high school football team, freshman Robin Wilfong, a 175 pound fullback, is also one of the most promising to come out of the Phant camp in some years. In his first season of play with the G-Men, he moved All-Conference Billy Sermons to a halfback position with his hard running and has also been a standout on Green defense this Fall.

Stengel Sighs Over 'All That Stuff' Wasted

NEW YORK (AP)—Casey Stengel, the grizzled old manager of the New York Yankees, sighed today at the thought of the piles of wasted effort that went into scouting Milwaukee and Cincinnati as potential World Series rivals.

"I guess I'll have to throw out all that stuff on the Braves and Redjacks," rasped the Yankee skipper who leads his team into Ebbets Field for the first game of the '56 classic tomorrow. "I think I'll dig out one of those lineups the Dodgers used last year."

"I guess the only big guy they got who is new to us is Sal Maglie, and he not only knows how to pitch, but he is in a very hot streak right now. We didn't see enough of him when he was with Cleveland in the beginning of the year to get much of a line."

Then he added with the famous Stengel wink: "But I think those Dodgers will find that we are at least as good as Pittsburgh."

Then with a scowl: "We turned down an invitation to work out in Ebbets Field. Last year we worked out there and lost all three games. The year before we didn't and won one. I know all about the place. Things would have been different if it was someplace else. And it would have been if it wasn't for that Maglie."

The Yank pilot obviously had a heap of respect for the 39-year-old Brooklyn pitcher who won 13 games in the stretch drive.

Turning to the subject of Whitey Ford, his left-hander, who probably will start the opener, Stengel said:

"Yah, yah, I know all about the troubles left-handers are supposed to have over there. But how can I afford to hold out my best left-hander for three days?"

"Anyhow, I've seen other lefties win over there, so why can't Ford? He knows how to pitch."

Ford acknowledged that it was difficult on southpaws, especially with the vaunted Brooklyn righthanded hitting power. "But he wants to try it if for no other reason than to prove he can win in Flatbush."

Pollet Is Given Pirate Release

NEW YORK (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates today gave Howie Pollet, veteran left-handed pitcher, his unconditional release.

In making the announcement, Pirate officials here for the World Series, said they understand Pollet intends to retire from baseball. He has an insurance business in Houston, Tex.

Pollet, 35, returned to the Pirates in midseason this year after having been released by the Chicago White Sox. He appeared in 19 games for Pittsburgh, winning none and losing four.

Tough When It's Football Season

MERCED, Calif. (AP)—Superior Judge Gregory P. Maushart is tough on high school student traffic violators in football season.

Any student cited must spend from 8 to 10 p.m. Friday — high school football night — in Maushart's court taking driver education lessons.

The judge started his miss-the-game penalty four years ago. Last year he held Friday night court for only two offenders.

"I hope I don't get any this year," Judge Maushart said. "I like to see football games, too."

Oklahoma Still Rated Top Team

The Associated Press
With a string of 31 straight victories behind them and the end hardly in sight, Oklahoma's Sooners are the nation's No. 1 college football team until someone proves they're not.

The nation's sports writers and broadcasters voted Oklahoma into the No. 1 spot in The Associated Press ranking poll for the second week of the 1956 season. The Sooners also were the pre-season choice.

The seasonal debut of the Big Ten Conference teams, many rated high in the pre-season picks, had a distinct effect on this week's ratings. But Oklahoma, first on 60 of 97 ballots, still dominated. After whipping North Carolina 36-0 in the season opener, Oklahoma polled a total of 983 points on the basis of 10 for each first place vote, nine for second.

Michigan State, returning to its pre-season second rating on the strength of a 21-7 victory over Stanford, drew 17 first places and 773 points. Then came Georgia Tech, second a week ago, with 6-2 points. Tech has won two games, coming through a 9-7 squeaker against Southern Methodist last Saturday.

Others in the first ten, which included two new members and in an entirely different order since last week, were Ohio State, Michigan, Mississippi, Pittsburgh, Texas Christian, Tennessee and Southern California.

Michigan, a smashing winner over UCLA in its opener, advanced from 13th place to fifth. Tennessee, not even in the first 20 last week, gained recognition by whipping Kentucky.

There's little trouble in sight for top-ranked Oklahoma. The next opponent, Kansas State, already has been beaten twice.

Michigan State vs. Michigan is this week's big one. Then Ohio State faces Stanford in a game that should indicate the balance of power in the Big Ten race. Georgia Tech has an open date. Mississippi plays Houston. Pitt tackles California. TCU meets Arkansas. Tennessee meets an old rival, Duke, and USC visits Wisconsin.

VPI Halfback Is Player Of Week

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Virginia Tech halfback Bobby Wolfenden has been named Southern Conference football "player of the week" for his performance in last Saturday's 35-6 Tech victory over North Carolina State.

Wolfenden, a 185-pound senior from Wytheville, Va., scored two touchdowns and contributed yardage to three others. He collected 127 yards, three more than the entire State team, and punted twice for a 36.5-yard average.

Wolfenden was named in balloting by the Southern Conference Sports Writers Assn.

Close behind Wolfenden was The Citadel's sophomore quarterback, Dick Guerrieri, who passed for two touchdowns and set up two more in the Bulldogs' 34-7 conquest of Davidson.

Others nominated in the weekly balloting were Bobby Jordan of Virginia Military, Noel Whipkey of West Virginia, Mickey Marinkov of Richmond and Ray Siminski of Furman.

From the road up, 1957 Fords are a complete departure from previous models. They will be unveiled by Ford dealers in 19 body styles, of which this is the four door Victoria, a member of the new "Fairlane 500" series. Fairlane models are nine inches longer and four inches lower than their 1956 counterparts. Though the new models are lower, interior headroom is as great as last year, since the car's chassis and floor are re-designed for a lower center of gravity.

Trouble With Scouts: Not Enough Of Them

The late Will Rogers once said, "The trouble with the Boy Scouts is that there aren't enough of them."

The adult Scouters in Pitt District (Pitt County), of the East Carolina Council, Boy Scouts of America, feel that they are not reaching enough of the available boys for Scouting. Although in Pitt District there are 932 Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts and Explorer Scouts in 45 different Cub Packs, Boy Scout Troops and Explorer Units.

To date this year there have been four new Scout units organized in the county. They are as follows: Cub Pack 374, sponsored by the Lions Club of Fountain; Boy Scout Troop, sponsored by St. Paul's Episcopal Church in Greenville; Boy Scout Troop 388, sponsored by the Community Sunday School of North Greenville; and Cub Pack 385, sponsored by St. James Methodist Church in Greenville. There are 58 Scouts in these four new units.

Charles Gaskins of Greenville, chairman of the District Organization and Extension Committee, stated that by December 31 of this year the total membership will most likely increase from 932 Scouts to 1050 in the Pitt District. This increase will happen as a result of present Scout units enrolling new members and the chartering of possibly six more new Scout Troops and Explorer Units.

Gaskins said that one year ago, September 1955, there were 805 total Scouts and 39 total Scout Units in Pitt District. He feels that this increase of six Scout Units and 127 Scouts over one year ago will be very much greater six months from now. He stated that this would happen as a result of the increased volunteer manpower: 414 registered adult Scouters as against 320 last year this time and the Pitt District having a full time Scout Executive. In past years the District has shared a Scout Executive with several other counties.

Scout membership by towns in Pitt District is as follows: Greenville, 444 Scouts, 20 Scout units; Ayden, 107 Scouts, six Scout units; Bethel, 37 Scouts, two Scout units; Fountain, 54 Scouts, three Scout units; Farmville, 90 Scouts, three Scout units; Falkland, 35 Scouts, two Scout units; Bell Arthur, 15 Scouts, one Scout unit; Grifton, 49 Scouts, two Scout units; Winterville, 91 Scouts, four Scout units; Pictolus, 9 Scouts, one Scout unit. Wyatt Brown, chairman of the District Scout Advancement Committee, stated that during 1955, 286 rank advancements were awarded Scouts. Already this year through August there have been 254 rank advancements. He feels that by December 31, there will be 400 or more for 1956.

Dr. Keith Holmes, chairman of the District Leadership Training Committee announced that of the Physically Handicapped may be given the opportunity to prove their value in productive and self-supporting employment. IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused to be affixed the seal of my City.

DONE, this 24th day of September, in the year of our Lord, nineteen hundred and fifty-six. W. L. Whedbee, Mayor

First NFL Meet At Belvoir - Falkland

By ANNE HARRIS Belvoir-Falkland Reporter The first N.F.L. meeting of the school year was held during class time September 21. Only two officers were elected to serve the club, senior Shelby James as president and junior Dorothy Harris as secretary-treasurer.

Mrs. Evelyn Finch, the club advisor, explained to Freshmen interested in becoming active club members what the National Forensic League means. The old and new members discussed going to Greenville High School where an N.F.L. Practice was held on September 25.

Seven of the members, along with the advisor, attended the practice where they enjoyed poem, manuscript and radio script readings and extemp oration talks, after which refreshments were enjoyed by all, especially the Belvoir chapter. We'd like to say thanks, Greenville!

Ring Time Again The dignified Seniors are still putting much of their time and effort in making this year's annual the best ever; but the jolly Juniors have had a "big break in the monotony"—class ring time is here again. A class ring representative took a seemingly short hour of the Juniors' time on September 26, when he visited them to show them the latest in ring fashions.

The class unanimously agreed upon a round ruby set with the United States seal on one side of the ring and the Lamp of Knowledge on the other. Now they are waiting until December, when they have been promised that their class rings will arrive!

Not only are rings a main topic of discussion among the Juniors, but they are now beginning practice on their class play. The Sophomores aren't contented to sit back and let the Seniors and Juniors have all the fund-raising projects. They are now grading tobacco as an early beginning toward their Junior treasury for next year's Junior-Senior Banquet.

F.H.A. Meets On Friday, September 21, the officers of the Belvoir-Falkland Chapter of the F.H.A. held their first meeting under the supervision of Mrs. Dorothy Gurganus. The first item on the agenda was the discussion of putting Parliamentary Procedure into action more effectively this year. Next, a point system by which members would work to a certain number of points, thereby receiving their Junior and then Chapter Degrees, was approved. Also much emphasis was placed on planning entertaining, as well as informative, programs for the year. It was decided that the new officers would be installed in assembly with the entire student body present.

The president appointed chairmen for various committees: Degrees, Refreshments, Finance, Program, Projects, Scrapbook, and Recreation. Money-making projects for the year were suggested and discussed. Another interesting item was the year books which will give an account of the year's activities. Each girl will receive one.

Our F.H.A. chapter met after school September 24. After the girls enjoyed refreshments the meeting was begun with the opening ceremony, led by Gail Garris, president. The secretary then called the roll and read the minutes of the last meeting. After the minutes were approved, the treasurer's report was given.

The only item under old business was the election of the three remaining officers. Those chosen were songleader, Sheila Wooten; pianist, Barbara Bullock; and photographer, Faye Cobb.

Initiation Planned New business began with the reading of the minutes of the officers' meeting. Then a lively discussion of initiation took place and the members decided to make it partly serious and partly fun. A committee was appointed to make plans. As to a time for meetings, a decision was made to meet once a month at activity period and to have one night meeting a month.

Projects chairman, Iris Smith, informed us that the first project would be to give a closed dance at the gym on Friday night, October 5, from 7:00 until 11:00. Admission will be 25 cents and bids will be sold by the F.H.A. members. Refreshments will be divided equally and furnished by the girls.

The point system was explained by Mrs. Gurganus. Faye Corbett, secretary, read a list of ways to make points.

The president asked for a show of hands of all who planned to attend the State Fair with the F.H.A. and the F.P.A. The groups plan to go on Friday, October 19.

After talking over plans for the District Rally to be held in Ahsokie on October 20—where, incidentally, they hope to be well represented—the meeting was brought to an end with the Closing Ceremony.

The Tobacco Drive, sponsored by the Student Council, ended on Thursday. The third grade earned special recognition for bringing more tobacco than the other elementary grades, while the Senior Class topped the other classes in high school. The profits from the tobacco will go to the Council, which will sponsor Homecoming.

The Juniors finally reached their $750 goal of selling magazines on Friday. High salesman was Sheila Wooten who sold $220, second high salesman was Anne Harris, and third high was Jean Flake.

THE BLONDE DIED DANCING

by KELLEY ROOS

From the Book "Mead & Co. Novel" Copyright © 1955 by Kelley Roos. Published by Kelley Roos, Greenville, S. C.

SYNOPSIS
Connie Barton's suspicions were aroused by her husband Steve's clumsy excuses for his regular Wednesday night absences. She trailed him to a private dance studio and then realized he was taking dance lessons as a pleasant surprise for her. Keeping herself unnoticed, Connie watched the door of the studio till Steve left, and went in for a private word with his teacher. She found the instructor, Anita Farrell, sprawled on the floor—shot dead. In the corpse's hand was a paper silhouette of herself. Confused, Connie's first thought was to cover up for Steve. She grabbed the silhouette and the appointment book at the unattended reception desk outside and went home to confront Steve. She had to believe his assertions of innocence.

Police promptly got the names of all Miss Farrell's pupils and began checking to identify the 7 p.m. Wednesday waltzer. When Lieut. Bolling asked Steve his lesson time, Steve said 3 o'clock Saturday. From the stolen appointment book Steve took the lesson time of a Ralph Tolley whom Bolling hasn't contacted—yet.

Using the name Hester Frost, and with a plan in mind to save Steve, Connie got Miss Farrell's teaching job. Connie noticed a ventilator in the ceiling of Studio K—the murder room—and set about exploring the possibility of the gunshot having come from there. While up on a catwalk over the false ceiling, she heard from the studio next to hers a man and a girl arguing whether he should chance going to "Rhinebeck Place." That is where the late Miss Farrell lived, at No. 11.

Connie phones Steve and tells him to meet her there. When she arrives she spies a determined young man in a hurry.

CHAPTER II
The young man bounced past me, his heels beating a frenetic rhythm on the sidewalk. He was a good looking kid, but at the moment his face was clouded with trouble. It wasn't a face built for that. This boy looked as though he should have been laughing it up with the crowd at the corner drug store back home. I hoped my hunch was wrong, as I watched him over my shoulder. I hoped he would turn into one of the other houses on the block. But it was Anita Farrell's apartment house he went into.

I hurried back to number 11. As I entered the vestibule the inside door was just settling back into its frame. I re-opened it an inch or two and listened. Footsteps were thudding on the stair carpeting. They stopped, and I heard a strong, rough voice say, "Where you headed, son?"

The next voice was the one I had heard from the catwalk over the Crescent School. My hunch had been right; this young man had just hurried down here from the studio next to mine.

"What d'ya mean, where am I headed?" he said. "Who are you?"
"I work for the city, son. Police department."
"The police . . . what are you doing here?"
"Haven't you any idea?"
"No . . ."
"Where you headed, son?"
"To see some friends of mine."
The young man said. He spoke easily. If he had anything to be nervous about, he wasn't showing it.

"They live on the top floor. I just dropped in to say hello."
"What's the name of your friends?"
"Martin. Janie and Ed Martin."
"Martin. There's nobody named Martin lives in this building."
"Sure they do . . . 9 Rhinebeck Place. That's what they told me over the phone."
"This isn't 9, son. It's 11."
"Oh, sorry . . ."
I let the door swing closed. I hurried out of the vestibule of number 11 and into the vestibule of number 9. The name Martin was not under any of the mailboxes. I kept moving until I was safely in the vestibule of number 7, but my precaution was needless. The young man didn't think it necessary because of the cop to go through the motion of visiting the phantom Martins. He breezed right past number 9 on his way toward Christopher Street.

I set out after him. I knew now that the apartment he was interested in was Anita Farrell's. The first step in discovering why would be to find out who this young man was. He turned left on Christopher toward Sheridan Square. I went as far as Christopher, then I followed, realizing that I mustn't follow him.

He hadn't expected to find a policeman on duty at Anita's apartment. I hadn't, either. There was a possibility that Steve would make the same mistake. I would have to wait for him here, warn him against blundering into the police as the young man had.

I was beginning to worry about what was taking Steve so long when a cab pulled up to the curb and stopped. The driver leaned out at me.

"You Mrs. Barton?"
"Yes."
"Hop in. Your husband sent me to pick you up."
"Pick me up . . . where 'is he?"
"At the Feather Club. If he's gone when you get there, you're to ask the bartender for a message."

was more important than finding out who the young man in Anita's place was, and why he was there.

The Feather Club was a tourist trap on Seventh Avenue below Sheridan Square. It was too early in the evening for the nearly naked ladies whose blown-up pictures decorated the front of the joint to be in action. I got out of the cab and headed for the silver door between the girls. Steve stepped out of it to meet me. He drew me to one side.

"Connie, the guy's inside."
"What guy?"
"The one we're looking for."
"But, Steve, how do you know?"
"He was down at Rhinebeck Place . . ."

"You've been there already?"
"Sure, and he was hanging around number 11. Then he got into the yard behind it from Greenwich Street, but something scared him away . . ."
"The cops," I said. "There's a cop on duty there."
"Oh," Steve said.

"And anyway, he isn't the one I phoned you about. My guy was there, too. And the cops scared him away."
"What?"
"Yes. That's a real popular spot, Anita's apartment."
"Tell me about your guy."
I told him about my guy, and I said, "Now you tell me about your guy."
"I've told you all I know. Except that I followed him here . . . he's here now."

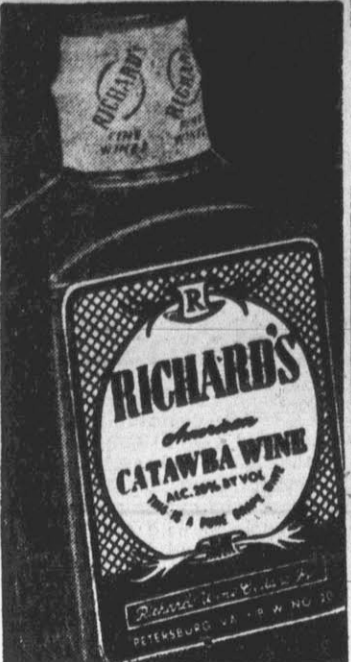

"We've got to know more."
"Yes, Connie. I may be precluded, but I think he'd just love to tell you all about himself."
"Oh? Oh, yes." I had forgotten I was a blonde. I got out my lipstick. "Describe him for me."
"He's at the bar . . . sitting right in front of the cash register."
"Don't go far away, Steve."
"Don't worry about that."

I waltzed into the Feather Club, spotted the cash register and climbed up on a stool two down from the man in front of it. The bartender accosted me. I ordered a sherry. I looked in the mirror at Steve's man. He was looking at a lusty redhead at the far end of the bar. I had competition.

My first impression of the man was that he was proud of himself. He liked his looks, the cut of his clothes, the debonaire way he smoked his king sized, filled tipped cigarette. Actually, he was handsome after a rather blantant fashion. I couldn't tell how tall he was, but he was slender, dark, and he had brown eyes, bedroom eyes, a bedroom with a Hollywood sized bed in it. It was with surprise that I noted he did not have a mustache. He definitely gave the initial impression of having a well-waxed, Adolphe Menjour tupe

He turned his sleek head and caught me examining him. I let my eyes linger admiringly on his face a moment. I almost smiled at him, but not quite. I let him know that I, while not totally inaccessible, would be a challenge to his allure. Then I dropped my eyes. I took a dainty sip of my sherry. I sneaked a glance at the red-haired woman. She was glaring at me, and I knew that I was in

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK — The stock market hit the comeback trail today with a recovery that was still going strong in early afternoon.

Steels, motors, rubbers, oils, aluminum and coppers paced the upturn, with several issues taking on gains of 2 points or more. A surge of buying hit the market in the first 15 minutes causing the ticker tape to run a minute late. Trading eased back for a while until another wave of buy orders came in around the noon hour.

Trade was at a pace of around 2 1/2 million shares for the day. That compares with 2,600,000 shares traded in yesterday's declining market.

The Associated Press 60 stock average at noon was ahead $1 at $172.20.

Brokers attributed today's advance to the improved outlook for general business in the final three months of 1956, and to political factors. Some said President Eisenhower had finally succeeded in convincing the financial community that he really planned to fight hard for re-election.

Favorable business news included forecasts that the new 1957 automobiles would sell like hot cakes, thanks to extensive style and engineering changes.

Steels were well out in front with Youngstown U.S. Steel and Bethlehem up around 2. In the motors division, Chrysler was ahead 2 points and Ford and General Motors gained fractions.

Goodrich, Phelps Dodge, International Paper and International Nickel gained more than 2, while advances of a point or more were scored by Goodyear, Boeing and Alcoa. Aluminum were strong with Alcoa up 2 1/2. Aluminum Ltd. 2 and Reynolds 1 1/2.

10 Orphaned Children Stir Town As To Their Future

To Head Cast In Religious Drama

W. Joseph Stell III of Greenville will have the leading role in the three-act religious play "The Brother" in a production by the Alpha Zeta Chapter of the Wesley Players, drama organization of Methodist students at East Carolina College.

The play will be presented November 4-5 in Friendship Hall of the Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church of Greenville and will be open to the public.

James A. Daugherty of Kinston will direct "The Brother." Letty DeLoach of Conway will be technical director in charge of scenery, costuming, properties, and lighting.

Stell will play the part of James, brother of Jesus, in the religious drama. Last year in the East Caro. Univ. production of "Oklahoma," which played four nights to packed houses, he won applause of audiences in the role of the villain.

Eight Initiated Into Honorary Education Fraternity At ECC

Eight men students at East Carolina College have been initiated into the Tau Chapter of Phi Sigma Pi, national honorary education fraternity.

New members are Jesse Beaman, Wendell Warren M. Browning, Washington, N.C.; Daniel R. Godfrey, Lynchaven, Va.; Wallace Lee Giles, Raleigh; Malcolm Rhodes, Jacksonville, N.C.; Eugene C. Crawford, Rockingham; Purvis E. Boyette, Raleigh; and Oliver Williams, Rocky Mount.

Phi Sigma Pi is one of the oldest honorary fraternities on the campus. To be a member a student must maintain a high scholastic average and show outstanding qualities of leadership.

Horace Rose, senior from Richmond, Va., heads the fraternity this year. Other officers are Mack Edmondson, Kinston, vice president; Lloyd Bray Jr., Greenville, Secretary; Edwin A. Dennis, Durham, assistant secretary; B. Franklin Keaton Jr., Belhaven, treasurer; Glenn Ross, Greenville, sergeant-at-arms; and Edward B. Outland Jr., Rich Square, historian.

Over The Top

The Greenville Lions Club has met its goal in its campaign to raise money for the Pitt County Blind Association. It was announced last night by Dick Worsley, chairman of the campaign.

$2,537.55 has now been raised, Worsley said, thus surpassing the goal of $2500.00.

This morning, Dr. M. W. Aldridge, club president, expressed his appreciation to the people of Greenville, especially to Greenville businesses, for their cooperation.

"This money," he said, "will allow the Pitt County Blind Association to carry out its many activities in sight conservation and aid to the blind. Almost 100% of this money will be used for these purposes rather than for administrative expenses."

Last Rites Held For Mrs. Jesse E. Coats

Funeral services for Mrs. Margaret Honeycutt Coats, mother of Roy L. Honeycutt, were held Saturday in Raleigh.

Dr. Howard P. Powell, pastor of Eden Street Methodist Church in Raleigh, officiated. Interment was in Montlawn Cemetery.

Other survivors include her husband, Jesse E. Coats of Raleigh; three brothers, G. S. Rose, William Rose, and G. A. Rose, all of Smithfield; and two grandchildren.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith, aged 39 and 32, and Mrs. Bowman, 35, were killed outright. Bowman, 41, died 24 hours later.

"No one can figure out how it happened," Potvin said. "It is a gradual curve. There were no skid marks. There are theories that the steering gear failed, or Mr. Smith had a heart attack."

"I don't think it was excessive speed," said Mrs. Kosanke. "He wasn't that kind — and why would he be speeding so close to home?"

The parents were all prominent in American Falls community life. Smith owned the Automotive Parts and Sales Co. He was a member of the Chamber of Commerce and governor of the Moose Lodge. Mrs. Smith was secretary of the Women of the Moose.

Bowman, a salesman, was a member of the City Council and commander of the local American Legion post.

Funeral for the Smiths will be Wednesday morning, for the Bowmans Thursday afternoon.

For the present the Bowman children are in the family home. They have relatives in town — David West is a brother of Mrs. Bowman.

The Smith children are staying with friends. The Legion Auxiliary, Women of the Moose, church and other groups are seeing that they are cared for.

The Bowman children are: Tommy, 3; Jerry, 6; Jimmy, 8; Janice Ann, 10; and Arthur, 13.

The Smith children are Paul J., 5; Jimmy Allen, 8; Steve Neal, 9; Ruth Diane, 12; and Richard Ray, 14.

Study Problems Of Seed Peanut Shelling At Experiment Station

James Keel and Eugene Moore of the Keel Peanut Co. journeyed to Washington, D. C. yesterday with R. B. Moore of the State College Extension Service to study seed peanut shelling problems.

The group went to the Federal experiment station at Beltsville, Md. where a type sheller in which rubberized surfaces are being used was discussed.

Moore said this morning that Keel is planning to attempt to rework his equipment using some of the ideas discussed on yesterday's trip.

The group also talked of a new chemical known as Gidderelic acid which has recently been found to give tremendous increases to plant growth.

Moore said he is hoping to check to see what effect the chemical will have in this area.

Also discussed were different seed treatments and other seed problems.

Moore is in charge of field crop stands for the Extension Service.
