Stevenson Opens Hodges Plans Committee Giveaway Charge To Guide Nuclear Work

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Adlai E. Stevenson opened a Western campaign swing today with a charge that the Eisenhower administration has permitted public lands to "be invaded by and given away to selfish private interests." His prime target, President Eisenhower, meanwhile prepared to fly to Pittsburgh, reportedly ready to reply to Democratic criticisms with some of his own in a nationwide radio-TV speech tonight. The Democratic presidential nominee's opening blast came in a speech prepared for delivery in Great Falls, Mont. He planned to speak later today in Boise, Idaho, and Seattle, Wash. A White House aide said Eisenhower's speech tonight will be a reply to what the aide called "the misstatements that have been made in this campaign by the opposition."

cooperated in conserving the nation's parks and forests. From his Libertyville, Ill., farm home yesterday, Stevenson released the third in a series of "major affirmations" he would support if elected president. The latest one called for a federally aided health program. Goals included: a health insurance program for all, regardless of ability to pay; more funds for medical research; a speeded-up medical training program; and construction of more hospitals. Stevenson said his proposals are not "socialized medicine," and "administration of the program would rest with the states." The principle is that no American should be deprived of good medical care for lack of funds, he said, but those who can pay all or part of the expense should do so. Both candidates for the No. 2 spot also hit the campaign trail today. Vice President Nixon scheduled three appearances in Texas and Sen. Estes Kefauver, Stevenson's running mate, sought votes in New Jersey and New Jersey and New Hampshire. During a busy day in Delaware yesterday, Kefauver said that (1) most American women will vote Democratic this year in protest of what he called "the high cost of living," and (2) any instances of wrongdoing in the Democratic party in the past are "infinitesimal" compared to what he termed Eisenhower administration "give-aways."

WINSTON-SALEM (AP) — Gov. Hodges soon will appoint a committee to guide state planning on atomic energy development, he told the State Board of Conservation and Development here last night. The governor questioned whether the atomic reactor at North Carolina State College has "kept step with unbelievable progress in this field," and expressed pleasure at the action of four major power companies in forming a development organization to enter the nuclear power field. "This," said Hodges, "is the type of initiative and foresightedness that we need. Yet the possibilities are still so broad and so far-reaching that I doubt if we, as a state, have even scratched the surface." As chairman of the board he challenged members to step out in new and more vigorous ways to keep North Carolina moving towards "the bright future it so richly deserves." He called for leadership on the community level just as urgent as on the state level. He said a conference with municipal leaders is being planned. "Our state government has grown into a multimillion-dollar operation, and we must get accustomed to a big operation and think 'big' to serve a growing and expanding population and economy," he declared. He repeated a plea for action to raise per capita income, modernize the state tax structure, reorganize state government more efficiently and tackle farm problems. He also stressed the importance of research. Industrial research and industrial training in colleges and high schools "needs our attention," he said. The board today will consider a recommendation by a committee that the state accept 450 acres of land from Ashe County citizens to form Mount Jefferson State Park. The board tentatively agreed to take the area over as a park four years ago but the matter was left pending because not enough land was provided. Additional acreage has been obtained since then. Mount Jefferson State Park embraces Negro Mountain, generally regarded as one of the most scenic spots in the western part of the state. Another committee appeared before the board asking support for an area airport in northeastern North Carolina. The group asked the board to clarify a resolution it adopted last year which apparently has caused the Civil Aeronautics Board to refuse a federal grant for the Rocky Mount airport. The board resolution called for the building of one or more airports in the eastern part of the state as a boon to new industry. The Rocky Mount delegation said it did not want to join in a 17-town group now working for an airport. The town itself had applied for federal funds for airport construction and a spokesman for Rocky Mount said it was rejected. The basis for this rejection, he said, probably was the belief that the C&D board preferred one airport in the general area. The board took no action on the request.

Attendance For Fair Opening Is Above Last Year

Attendance at the Pitt County Fair on opening day was ten percent above the first day of 1955. Fair Manager Norman Y. Chambliss reported this morning. There were 1,008 paid adult admissions last night and 54 paid children admissions, Chambliss noted. "We had a very, very fine opening last night," he declared. "Officials were very much pleased with the opening."

The O. C. Buck shows were practically completed last night except for the ferris wheel and merry-go-round, the fair manager pointed out, and those two rides will be in operation tonight. He noted that judging of all exhibits is underway today. White children of Greenville City Schools are being admitted free today until 6 p.m. on tickets issued through their teachers. Chambliss said that Legionnaires who did not attend last night will be admitted to the Fair today, Wednesday or Friday upon showing their 1957 membership cards. The cards will be punched at the gate to indicate that the free admission has been used. Auxiliary members were guests last night.

Jenkins Chosen By Commission The Recreation Commission last night chose Dr. Leo W. Jenkins of East Carolina College as a new member subject to the approval of the City Council. Dr. Reynolds would replace Dr. J. O. Reynolds of the college faculty. Dr. Reynolds has tendered his resignation as a member of the commission. The commission also heard the monthly report of Recreation Director Gordon Goodman last night.

Parole Follows Death Sentence RALEIGH (AP) — Marvin Matheson, sentenced to die for murder 12 years ago, has gained his freedom on parole. The State Board of Paroles announced his release today. Matheson was convicted in Alexander County Superior Court in August, 1944. The death sentence was commuted to life imprisonment in April, 1945. Another commutation in August, 1955, reduced Matheson's sentence to 40 years. A list of 11 paroles announced by the board also included Clyde Levy, sentenced from Cumberland County in January, 1946, to serve 30 years for second-degree murder.

Farm Bureau Membership Drive Reported Lagging Pitt Farm Bureau's drive for members is dragging, Chairman of the Drive Jack Marston said this morning. As of yesterday afternoon, Marston reported, the county had only 513 of the quota of 4,500 members. The drive has been underway for 12 days. Marston urged all workers to "contact their prospects and report as promptly as they can." "We are anxious to get the drive over," the chairman declared. He said although the membership drive is dragging "I think the people sooner or later will get around to it but I'd rather they do it sooner."

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary of State Dulles said today there is little chance of settling the Suez problem so long as it is possible for any nation to use the vital waterway as an instrument of its national policy. Dulles told the U.N. Security Council that this is the heart of the problem and that the first step should be an acceptance by all parties of the principle that a system should be set up to ensure against any such action. He did not flatly reject a proposal made by Egypt yesterday for the establishment of a U. N. negotiating body to work out a system of cooperation for the operation of the canal. He called the Egyptian move "constructive," but he indicated this did not go far enough. Dulles stood firmly behind a British-French proposal which called for negotiations on the basis of the London proposals for international control of the canal. He said he would vote for the British-French plan. On the basic principle of guaranteeing against use of the canal as an instrument of national policy, the secretary of state said: "If Egypt accepts that simple and rudimentary principle of justice, then I believe that the subsidiary problems can be resolved. If that principle is repudiated, then it is difficult to foresee a useful role for a negotiating body. Indeed, under these conditions it is difficult to foresee any settlement in accordance with the principles of justice and of international law."

Tobacco Market Holiday Voted By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Sales on Carolinas and Virginia flue-cured tobacco markets have been suspended for Thursday and Friday this week, the Bright Belt Warehouse Assn. sales committee announced last night. The committee ignored strong pleas from the North Carolina-Virginia Old Belt to cancel the sales holiday. General Manager L. T. Weeks of the Flue-Cured Stabilization Corp. told the committee the action was needed to relieve congestion in handling of leaf going to the corporation under the government's price support program. It was the first time Weeks had made such a request. The committee members said all belts should be able to conclude the season without further holidays, barring a further rise in the amount of leaf going to Stabilization. There were no protests from the South Carolina-Border North Carolina or the North Carolina Eastern and Middle belts. Market News Service reported average prices were steady to higher on flue-cured markets.

Another Million Dollar Sales Day Greenville paid out more than a million dollars again yesterday, Supervisor of Sales on the local tobacco market W. L. Wheedee reported this morning. The market averaged $52.81 in paying out $1,035,513.67 for 1,960,900 pounds of tobacco. Wheedee said full sales are expected tomorrow.

COTTON BURNS GAINESVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Fire roared through two warehouses today destroying 7,500 bales of government-owned cotton worth an estimated $1,125,000.

Wounded Forger Is Identified As Artist NEW YORK (AP) — Police say a dapper young man who shot two bank employees in a $7,000 forgery attempt is a commercial artist with a spacious studio in suburban Pelham, N.Y. They identified him last night as Richard Lee Henthorne, 26, Greenville, 209 300; Fictitious, 0; Grimesland, 0; 200; Fictitious, 0; 250; Swift Creek, 5, 200; Winterville, 111, 375. No date for completion of the drive has yet been set.

Dulles Sees No Suez Pact If Canal Run By One Power Dulles spoke as the 11-nation council wound up its opening round of policy statements and prepared to go into closed-door sessions for detailed discussions. Despite the apparent gap between the Western proposals and the Egyptian and Soviet Union, Dulles told the council that the "possibilities are good" for a peaceful solution of the problem. He said: "Rarely, if ever, have comparable efforts been made to settle peacefully an issue of such dangerous proportions. The council knows that it is not dealing with governments bent on the use of force. Even those most aggrieved have shown their desire to bring about a just solution by peaceful means." Dulles said the debate in the council had been on the whole temperate and constructive, but that Soviet Foreign Minister Dmitri Shepilov had been responsible for some jarring notes. He mentioned specifically Shepilov's charge that U.S. monopolies were trying to gain control of the Suez under the guise of giving financial aid for improving the waterway.

Frightened Boy Gives Up After Killing Father CLEVELAND (AP) — A frightened 14-year-old boy walked out of a woods early today, signaled police with his flashlight and surrendered, eight hours after he shot and killed his father. Robert Zavainak left in the woods, with his slingshot, the rifle he used to fire three bullets into his father, Joseph J. 42, after an argument during the supper hour last night at their home in suburban Brecksville. State Highway Patrolman Clarence Drabi and Brecksville Constable Walter Zimlich, to whom the boy surrendered, recovered the weapon. After firing a bullet into his father's head and two more shots as the man lay dying on the kitchen floor, Robert sped away in the family's station wagon, leaving three notebook pages of a "confession" and "last will and testament."

Mrs. Frances Zavainak, 38, the victim's wife, first learned of the shooting when her 11-year-old daughter, Nancy, telephoned her at work in downtown Cleveland. Nancy told Brecksville Police: "I plead guilty but insane."

Full Cupboard Greet New Rector And Family

By ANNETTE JACKSON

A well-stocked pantry and refrigerator greeted the Rev. and Mrs. John W. Drake, Jr. when they arrived at their adopted home one week ago today.

The Rev. Mr. Drake was installed as Rector of St. Paul's Episcopal Church Saturday and began his duties there Sunday.

Acts of thoughtfulness like those mentioned above take the strangeness out of a new town for a minister's family is more fortunate than most. We get to know people so much quicker and the people are always so nice to us."

In a sense, the Drakes are no newcomers to Greenville. Mrs. Drake was here in 1947-49 as a student at East Carolina. She was also working with the Episcopal students during that time when the Rev. Roscoe Hauser was rector at St. Paul's.

The former Miss Marjorie Gray Dunn, Mrs. Drake says "In a sense we are coming home. It was here that we met and we have many friends here whom we've missed."

"We've missed East Carolina and its way of life and are glad to be back. There are nice people everywhere but having been brought up in these parts, we think it's rather special," the Rector adds.

The Rev. Mr. Drake grew up in Wilson and attended the high school there. His parents have since moved to Pittsboro but he feels a kinship to this section, even so.

Mrs. Drake comes from Williamsport where her father is Postmaster. She is closer to her parents home now that she's been for some time.

The little Drakes—Bill, 6, Tom, 3½, and Joanna, 3 months—have brought new life to the Rectory on Fourth Street.

Bill is in the first grade at Wahl-Coates and well initiated into the town's younger social set. Tom, at an obvious disadvantage, is looking forward to the arrival of his pet cat "Alchoo," the only remaining member of the family left behind.

Mrs. Drake reports the Rectory is more than adequate for the needs of her growing family. Pointing out that they moved from a small compact home, she says, "All this room is just grand and we're thrilled to death with it!"

The Rectory comes complete with carpets and some drapes. Furniture is still being placed by the Drakes who plan to use some old and make some new curtains.

The Rev. Mr. Drake was graduated from Wake Forest College and did his seminary work at the University of The South. He has been returning there for the past few summers for graduate work.

The new Rector has been located in Winston-Salem and Scotland Neck before coming to Greenville.

In 1951 he returned to Winston-Salem for the second time to start a new church which was completed in 1954. It was from this church—Saint Timothy's—that he came to Greenville.

He enjoys golf in his leisure time but says he's "definitely not good" at it. The Drakes like to spend their leisure time together as much as possible.

Mrs. Drake enjoys bridge and tennis—or did in her younger days, she laughs. In Winston she was a member of a bridge club and of a Child Study Club, devoted to the study of children and their problems.

Book Club Has Luncheon Meet

Mrs. J.K. Proctor, Jr. arranged the Dutch Luncheon at the Sino Restaurant October 2 where members of the Pickwick Club gathered for the first meeting of the fall.

The centerpiece consisted of a decorated coconut cake placed on a crystal stand.

Members enjoyed examining the new booklets prepared by the Program Committee which marked each place. Members of this committee are Mrs. Proctor, Mrs. R.E. Lee, Jr. and Mrs. Charles Stokes.

After the main course which each member ordered for himself Mrs. Proctor cut the three-tiered cake for dessert.

There was no formal business meeting but new ideas for the coming year were discussed generally.

Mrs. Connor Merritt, librarian, distributed the new books, bringing the afternoon to a close.

Local Sub-District Of WSCS Will Meet

The fall meeting of the Greenville Sub-District, Woman's Society of Christian Service, will meet in Vanceboro Methodist Church, Vanceboro Wednesday at 10 a.m.

Registration will begin at 9:30 a.m. and last through the lunch hour. Theme of the meeting is "Spirit of Christ For All of Life" and many women will be taking part. A feature of the program will be the "Secretary's Hour" in which all secretaries of the districts will take part.

All women of Greenville Sub-District are urged to attend by a spokesman for the group who points out many new phases of the new quadrennium will be discussed.

The Greenville Sub-District is made up of eleven churches.

NEW RECTOR AND FAMILY—The Rev. and Mrs. John W. Drake, Jr., new rector at St. Paul's Episcopal Church, pose above with the little Drakes for a family portrait. Coming here from Saint Timothy's Episcopal Church in Winston-Salem, the Drakes have been in town for one week. The Rev. Mr. Drake was installed Saturday and assumed his duties at St. Paul's on Sunday. The youngsters are, left to right, Tom, 3½, Bill, 6, and baby Joanna, 3 months. Bill is in the first grade at Wahl-Coates. (Reflector Photo by Annette Jackson).

Albemarle Convention Tomorrow

ROBERSONVILLE—The forty-fourth convention of the Albemarle Christian Missionary Union will be held at the First Christian Church in Iymouth on Wednesday.

The program will start at 10:30 a.m. and close at 2:45 p.m., with the Women's Fellowship of the host church serving lunch.

The program will be centered around the theme, "Recruiting the Ministry," and will include a panel discussion by Allen Sharp, professor of religion and some ministerial students from Atlantic Christian College; an address by Miss Etta Nunn; sermons by the Rev. Howard Grover, minister of First Christian Church, Williamsport; and the Rev. M. Elmore Turner, minister of the First Christian Church, New Bern; a devotional by Mr. William Taylor, minister from Belhaven.

Club Hears Mrs. Little

At the October 6 meeting of the Littlefield Home Demonstration Club, Home Agent Lillie Little presented a demonstration entitled "Make Your Home Bright With Lights."

Types of light bulbs were shown and proper usage was encouraged. The devotional was given by Mrs. G. C. Garris.

Reports were heard from Mrs. G. C. Garris, home gardens leader, on proper planting of fruit trees; and from Mrs. Thad Hart Jr., the education leader, on educational facilities in North Carolina.

James E. Sutton of Farmer's Day, Inc. gave a talk on the Pitt County Progress Program and afterwards chairmen were named for the various categories of the program.

Chairmen were named to see that appointments are kept and transportation provided for all those who are going to the Cancer Detection Clinic at Rocky Mount this month.

After refreshments the club had a look at the fair booth exhibit which Littlefield is entering in the Pitt County fair.

Last Rites For Mrs. Gedaliah Tucker

Mrs. Pattie Smith Tucker, 86, widow of Gedaliah (Tom) Tucker, died at 8:45 o'clock Monday night at Memorial General Hospital in Kinston following two weeks of critical illness. Funeral services will be conducted at the home in Grifton at 2:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon by the Rev. E. G. Cole, pastor of the Winterville Baptist Church, assisted by the Rev. D. H. McCollough, Baptist minister of the Grifton Cemetery.

Mrs. Tucker, daughter of the late John and Sallie Ann McLawhorn Smith, was born and reared in the Winterville community. She was married to Mr. Tucker in 1894, and he died in 1947. She had lived in the Winterville community until 1919 and then moved to Grifton. She was a member of the Winterville Baptist Church.

Surviving are three sons, Gland L. and Ben G. Tucker, both of Grifton, and Warren K. Tucker of Tampa, Florida; three daughters, Mrs. L. A. Renfrow of Lucca, Mrs. Grover S. Mumford of Greensboro, and Mrs. William Cross of Sunbury; 12 grandchildren; 3 great grandchildren; one sister Mrs. Mary Jackson of Colerain; and one brother, Jamie Smith of Bowers Hill, Va.; and a number of nieces and nephews.

'Civil Defense' Is Topic Of Woman's Club Program Friday

The Woman's Club held its regular monthly meeting Friday at 3:15 p.m. at the club house.

Mrs. Tige Gardner, acting in the absence of the president, introduced Jake Hadley, supervisor of the local Ground Observer Corps, who in turn introduced Sgt. Scott, member of the U. S. Air Defense Command who spoke on "Civil Defense."

Sgt. Scott's job is to help establish, promote and train civilian defense workers. He stressed the importance of civilians "alerting themselves" to avoid panic in case of emergency and explained why the Ground Observer Corps is a vital part of civilian defense.

The Executive Board brought a recommendation which was passed that the club continue supporting the Ground Observer Corps. The Woman's Club has been responsible for manning the observer station every other Monday. Sgt. Scott expressed his willingness to meet with club members to give them training so they may be qualified to do a more efficient job of observing.

Freezing Popular With Modern Housewife

By LILLIE LITTLE
Pitt Home Agent

Frozen foods have changed the eating habits of the American people.

This method of food preservation has become one of the most popular ways of preserving food in the home and is big business, commercially.

Today everybody can enjoy a variety of foods—both out of season and non-seasonal. All are singing the praises of having on hand these foods that may be so quickly and easily prepared.

they are apt to be flabby and juicy when completely thawed. Thaw in the refrigerator or at room temperature but keep in the package while thawing.

Frozen Meats
Frozen meats may be cooked thawed or unthawed. Of course it takes longer to cook hard frozen meat and you will need a lower temperature.

Many people prefer to partly or completely thaw meat before cooking it. This is a matter of choice. However, never hold meat more than 24 hours after thawing as it spoils easily.

Prepared Dishes
In addition to these fresh frozen foods there is an increasing variety of prepared dishes being introduced on the market and frozen in the home.

Most of these are partially cooked and simply require heating. Many can be heated in the containers in which they are frozen, thus eliminating extra pans for preparation.

Variety of Breads
In the bread line, variety is possible also. One might have waffles, rolls, biscuits, the brown and serve breads, loaf breads or any of a number of the sweet breads.

Sandwiches of many kinds freeze well and can be ready for a meal at anytime just by removing from the freezer a short while before using.

Frozen Desserts
Then, of course, one must not overlook desserts. Pies can be made in numbers ready to be whisked in the oven when needed.

Pastry actually seems to improve with freezing. The home freezer has given the consumption of ice cream desserts a real boost.

Cakes Freeze Well
Cakes are another favorite. The loaf cakes and plain layer freeze exceptionally well. The butter frostings also freeze well but for many other frostings best results may be obtained by frosting the layers as needed.

Convenience Factor
We are all finding frozen foods a great convenience to have on hand.

They save time in preparation; they save food value if prepared properly and they save all of the natural flavor of fresh foods.

Is it any wonder frozen foods are increasing in popularity?

A REACH INTO THE FREEZER—Home demonstration club women throughout the county heard programs last month on "Meals From Frozen Foods." It was pointed out to club members by the home agent's office that frozen foods save time in preparation, save time in food value—if prepared properly—and save all of the natural flavor of fresh foods. Pictured above is Mrs. H. L. Lewis of R-6, Greenville who begins her meal by a reach into the freezer. Mrs. Lewis is an avid freezer fan. She has two 13-ft. freezers filled to capacity. 'Harmless' Boric Acid Can Poison Your Body

By DOROTHY V. WHIPPLE, M. D., AP Newsfeatures

BORIC ACID is a poison and capable of making babies sick.

Boric acid has been used for years. It is only recently that science has traced certain cases of serious illness and even death in babies to poisoning with boric acid.

Boric acid used on a healthy skin does no harm, but used on an injured skin enough can be absorbed to cause trouble.

A baby gets a diaper rash, mother applies generous amounts of pure powdered boric acid, or a boric acid ointment to the inflamed skin. The baby wets his diapers, and the combination of urine and the boric acid makes it easy for the drug to get right through the injured skin and into the baby's blood and cause symptoms of poisoning. One of these symptoms is a rash. With the appearance of more rash not only in the diaper region but elsewhere on the baby's body mother redoubles her efforts, puts on more and more boric acid each time she picks up the baby to change his diapers. After four or five days the baby is really sick. He has not only a bad diaper rash but the skin on the rest of his body is inflamed too. He has probably developed diarrhea and vomiting.

Unless the boric acid treatment is stopped immediately that baby will get worse and worse.

Two doctors from Montreal have recently reported the stories of four infants brought to their hospital suffering from boric acid poisoning, one of them died. All four had had a diaper rash treated with boric acid. Another doctor in New York reported 3 cases of boric acid poisoning in young infants. One of his cases died.

Recently the chief medical examiner for the State of Maryland reported the deaths of six infants due to boric acid poisoning. The powdered boric acid repeatedly applied to an area of diaper rash could be given.

It's only recent that doctors have been sure that boric acid is the cause of these deaths. Probably a great many more cases of illness due to smaller amounts of boric acid have occurred and have not been recognized as caused by boric acid.

This knowledge about the dangers of boric acid is so new that any number of busy doctors may not yet know about it. It takes time to get old habits changed. Doctors, mothers, grandmothers have used boric acid for years. Most of the time it has done no harm. In those cases where it has caused illness nobody realized what it was made the baby sick. Now the facts are clear and it's high time to stop using powdered boric acid or a boric acid ointment on a baby's skin.

Boric acid was thought to be a mild antiseptic. It's really a very poor one, and now with all our new drugs there are many not only safer but far more effective antiseptics to use.

Miss Drake To Appear In Recital

Elizabeth Drake, pianist and faculty member at East Carolina College, will appear in recital Sunday afternoon, October 14, at 3:30 in the Austin auditorium on the campus. The public is invited to attend.

Her program will initiate a series of recitals by faculty members at the college which will be sponsored by the East Carolina department of music during the 1956-1957 term.

Miss Drake has chosen for inclusion on her program works by classic, Romantic, and modern composers. Featured selection will be Mozart's "Sonata in D," K-576. Six of the Liebeslieder waltzes by Brahms; Chopin's "Fantasie in F Minor," op. 49; and "Fancy Dance" and "Toccata" by the modern composer Burrill Phillips will be among numbers to be played.

Miss Drake is a native of Scotland Neck and a graduate of the Woman's College in Greensboro and of the Juilliard School of Music in New York, where she was also a member of the teaching staff.

She has studied under outstanding pianists and teachers, including James Friskin and Claudie Arrau. During the past summer she attended Miami University, Oxford, Ohio, where she was a pupil of the noted pianist Robert Goldsand.

In 1954 she was among graduates of the Woman's College selected to appear in Greensboro as a solo performer at the annual initiation ceremonies of the national honorary music society Phi Kappa Lambda.

Miss Drake has appeared locally in a number of recitals sponsored by the East Carolina department of music and by various civic and cultural organizations in Greenville. As guest artist before music clubs and other groups she has played in Rocky Mount, New Bern, Raleigh, Wake Forest, and elsewhere in the state.

Garden Club Workshop Held At Perkins Home Saturday

The Greenville Garden Club held a workshop Saturday morning at the home of Mrs. Vance Perkins, program chairman.

Mrs. Perkins gave a talk on the care of house plants, a variety of which were on exhibition for the occasion. Some members exchanged plants.

Mrs. K.W. Cobb gave timely garden hints on flowering bulbs to plant now.

Mrs. R.V. Keel demonstrated several arrangements with fall flowers.

Mrs. K.W. Cobb, Mrs. Sam Mitchell, Mrs. R.V. Keel, Mrs. J.B. Smith and Mrs. George Staples attended the flower arranging lecture October 5 sponsored by the Raleigh Garden Club.

They heard Mrs. Earl B. White of Winterhaven, Fla., a national chairman of flower arranging, give the illustrated talk.

Mrs. Keel presented many of the highlights of the talk to the workshop group.

Mrs. J.H.B. Moore discussed the program and plans of the Greenville Club for the year.

The first meeting of the Greenville Garden Club will be a coffee hour October 19 at 10 a.m. The event will take place at the Woman's Club.

Add beef, salt, pepper, Worcestershire and milk; mix thoroughly. Shape into oval loaf, that can be handled, on waxed paper, sprinkle top of loaf with half of flour; turn over and sprinkle other side with remaining flour. Heat butter in iron skillet (9 inches is a good size). Carefully turn loaf into hot fat. Brown as rapidly as possible; turn heat moderately low and add 2 tablespoons stock; cook covered 20 to 30 minutes or until half done, add a little more stock if necessary. Turn carefully and cook other side the same way, adding as much of remaining stock as necessary.

Pop Music Is Best Practice Says Liberace

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—All children should enjoy their piano-practicing, declares Liberace, and if not, it's usually the parents' fault.

For generations, parents have been using the wrong approach on their piano-learning youngsters, using a figurative club instead of proper psychology, according to the popular pianist.

For the millions of American fathers and mothers who despair daily because Junior and Sis consider piano-practicing an ordeal instead of a pleasure, Liberace has some interesting comments and suggestions.

Until recent years a youngster taking piano lessons was taught to practice on the classics only. If he deviated from the rules, and indicated a preference for popular music, he was told he was doing wrong.

"That, definitely, is bad psychology," contends Liberace. "It makes music-haters out of many potentially fine piano-players, and they give up before they have a chance to prove their abilities."

"Music should be something youngsters approach with enthusiasm rather than as a chore. And what applies to the piano is equally applicable to other musical instruments."

"It's often much better if they first become familiarized with music and instrumental techniques through the medium of popular melodies, taking up the classical later on."

East Holds N. C. In Demo Ranks

Without an overwhelming Democratic vote in four congressional districts in the eastern part of the state, North Carolina would have gone Republican in 1952. Without a similarly overwhelming Democratic vote in the east this year, the state may go Republican.

There are few people in North Carolina—particularly the voters of the East—who give much thought to the fact that it is the East which keeps the state Democratic in national elections. West of Raleigh North Carolina voters are fairly well divided between Democrats and Republicans so far as national elections are concerned. In the four congressional districts which are made up of counties east of Raleigh, however, the vote is overwhelming Democratic.

Four years ago Mr. Stevenson carried North Carolina by only 94,000 votes out of the more than 1,100,000 cast in the state. Four congressional districts of the East—the First, Second, Third and Seventh—give Stevenson the majority by which he carried the state.

In "Democratic" North Carolina it may be a little surprising to note that 36 of the 100 counties went Republican in the 1952 national election and in another six counties the Democrats held sway by less than 200 votes. Mitchell County went almost four-to-one for Eisenhower while in several other counties there was a two-to-one vote for the Republican nominee.

To hold North Carolina in the Democratic column voters of the East must off-set these Republican majorities of the West. They must likewise make up for the Democratic deficit in a number of counties where the voting is always close in a national election.

The Democrats of the East cannot do this by staying at home on election day. Without the eastern votes, North Carolina would have been in the Republican fold in 1952. The same situation will exist this year.

It will be up to the voters of the East to hold North Carolina for the Democratic party. If the voters east of Raleigh go to the polls in large numbers, North Carolina's electoral votes will be safely in the Stevenson camp. If the voters of the East leave it up to the rest of the state to decide the election, North Carolina's electoral votes will go for Eisenhower and Nixon.

N. C. Demos Might Be Missing A Bet

By LYNN NISBET

LABOR — The Democratic party in North Carolina may be missing a bet by not giving more recognition to organized labor, in the opinion of a non-union, but not anti-union, political leader in the 12th district. He said he had noticed that members of labor unions were conspicuous by absence from committees and strategy conferences.

Big Labor at national level is backing the Democratic ticket. Preponderant majority of union members in North Carolina are following the same line. The mountain politico thought it would be smart to give them recognition in party councils.

Labor has not been a political factor in North Carolina as a whole. A few counties and cities in the highly industrialized Piedmont have felt its impact. As industry spreads into mountain and coastal plain counties, the unions are increasing efforts to organize the employees. Most observers agree it will be a long time before this state is unionized to the degree of some others. Even where unions are strong the members have voters' minds as citizens than as unionized workers. Same is true of lawyers and doctors and farmers and merchants.

The reason bloc voting has not prevailed among the professions and businesses is that both major parties have distributed honors among them all, and has sought counsel and advice from every group.

It would be smart, argued the mountain man, to bring Labor more fully into the strategy meetings in order to forestall the necessity (?) for Labor to set up its own political organization. JONES — Woodrow Jones is retiring as Congressman of the 11th district in January. But he isn't expected by neighbors as he goes into seclusion. He had the unique experience the other night of hearing his own "funeral" preached. A large part of the program at the Spindale rally was devoted to paying tribute to his services. And there were clear intimations that he will be heard from in a big way during the next few years.

That means his friends are already booming him for Governor, since it is regarded as unthinkable that he or anybody else could defeat Sen. Sam Ervin when he comes up for reelection in 1962. This was not the first time Woodrow Jones has been suggested for Governor. But it was more emphatic and public. His constituents presented him a handsome shot gun, with the suggestion he could use it both for catching up with his hunting and for eliminating the Republicans in his district.

HODGES — Governor Hodges gave out with a piece of news, an election forecast and a bit of his personal philosophy at the Charlotte Democratic meeting. The news was that National Chairman Paul Butler had asked his helping in locating an advertising firm to handle Democratic publicity. Several agencies contacted by Butler had declined, on the ground they had been threatened with loss of other business if they took on the account.

The election forecast was a Democratic majority of more than a quarter million in the November election for the national ticket in North Carolina. Last time it was less than 100,000.

The philosophy: "I never talk politics with a preacher, nor religion with a politician." SIDELIGHTS — The first week of the Democratic "flea circus" wound up Saturday morning at Winston-Salem. The official party made the trip to Asheville and back through the 11th and 10th districts and the YDC meeting in an air-conditioned bus. The air conditioning was popular, because temperatures even in the mountains ranged in the middle 80's every day.

There were fewer jokes told—old jokes, that is—than usual. Yet there was some very light moments. Senator Kerr Scott was responsible for a lot of laughs. Like when Chairman John Larkins invited him to the platform and suggested that it might help his Larkins' looks. "Anything that might help ought to be tried," quipped the Senator. At the opening of Mecklenburg Democratic headquarters, Scott was glad to see the campaign getting off to such a good start. "I am a mighty poor man to get anything started in Charlotte," he said with a grin.

W.M. Nicholson, Mecklenburg county chairman, put on a good show at the headquarters opening. He invited Rep. Charles Raper Jonas into the meeting, pretended to be giving his a chair, and then carried on a one-sided conversation with the absentee Republican. Only thing that worried him, he confessed later, was that Jonas could not talk back—because he wasn't there.

Sen. Olin D. Johnston of South Carolina made an unexpected appearance at the luncheon given for Governor Hodges and added his plus for all the Democratic candidates from President down.

Yankee Fans Have A Hero In Pitching Box

If all the New York Yankee baseball fans could go to the polls today, Don Larsen could win the Presidency in the most lop-sided vote in history.

The big righthander pitched himself into Baseball's Hall of Fame and into the heart of all the nation yesterday with his perfect no-hitter against the Brooklyn Dodgers. It was the first time a no-hitter had ever been pitched in Series history and the seventh perfect game in the long and distinguished history of Organized Baseball.

According to our hurried calculations based on the history of organized baseball, fate gives a pitcher about one chance in 141,000 of getting a perfect game. Yesterday fate smiled on Don Larsen.

Fate also smiled on the more than 65,000 fans who jammed Yankee Stadium and the other millions who watched breathlessly at TV screens or listened intently to the radio. Perhaps for another 50 years this host of baseball fans will smile contentedly at their juniors and recall smugly, "Well, I remember the day Big Don Larsen . . ."

Those who saw it, and those who heard it will long cherish their charter membership in the Don Larsen Perfect Game Club. Even a few hardened Dodger rooters may be proud of their membership in years to come.

A couple of years ago, Larsen was a member of the Baltimore team and wondering if he would ever get a chance to prove himself. He was playing with an inept team and, even at that, was second fiddle to Bob Turley, the big noise of the Orioles and one of the outstanding pitchers in the league.

In one of those off-season deals that only the Yankees appear to be able to arrange, Turley went to the New York club for a big sum of money and some players. Larsen was "thrown in" to complete the sale.

Even then, Larsen continued to play behind Turley. This season, he began to come into his own and wound up as one of the Yankees' big winners, ahead of Turley who has been dropped to the New Yorkers' second line.

McKeon Case Is Given A More Just Ending

Secretary of the Navy Thomas has contributed to the cause of justice by revoking the bad conduct discharge given Sgt. Matthew C. McKeon, in reducing the sentence the ex-drill sergeant was given at the hands of a Paris Island court martial.

McKeon, while he must assume some responsibility for the death of the six men he ordered into Ribbon Creek, was made the goat of traditional Marine Corps training methods by a combination of unfortunate circumstances and an attempt to save face on the part of some Marine Corps officials.

Under the circumstances which came to light during the trial, it is quite clear that McKeon did not deserve the bad conduct discharge. The action he took on the fatal night of April 8 was no violation of Marine Corps tradition and training methods. Countless drill sergeants before McKeon had marched untold numbers of boots into swamps and creeks in the same fashion. In some instances recruits might have met their deaths in such training methods. But previous incidents did not attract the attention McKeon's incident did. And other drill sergeants were not called to answer to all the faults of Marine training methods the way McKeon was.

Secretary of Navy Thomas took the only course open to him in the interest of justice.

Opinions In Brief

DALLAS, PA. POST: "In the horse-and-buggy days, flying trash—especially wind-blown newspapers—was a frequent cause of runaways. Quant as it sounds, you'd think such accidents were a thing of the past, but they're not! Today trash on the highways kills and maims more people than ever before. The Western Insurance Information Service reports from 750 to 1,000 deaths a year. But 100,000 serious injuries are caused every year by cars striking objects thrown on the road by litterbugs . . ."

Squeaking Wheels Get Grease

(Rocky Mount Telegram) There's an old adage that the squeaking wheel gets the grease. Nowhere is this more true than in politics. And the loudest-squeaking political wheels which get the most grease are those where there is some friction between the two parties—where the decision is in doubt. Look now at how the Democrats and Republicans are knocking themselves out to woo the fickle voters of the embattled 10th Congressional District with its main-spring in populous Charlotte and Mecklenburg County. Democratic nominee Ben Douglas of Charlotte, is trying to unseat North Carolina's only Republican Congressman, Charles R. Jonas of Lincoln, and the party faithful of both sides are flocking to the fray. While Eastern Carolina, which is always a sure thing for the Democrats anyway, gets a mere "lick and a promise" from the Democratic bigwigs—and even less from the Republicans, both parties can't do or promise too much for the 10th District voters. Governor Luther Hodges, Senator Kerr Scott and a large entourage have ungalantly squar-

Strength for the Day

By EARL L. DOUGLASS NOTHING TO FEAR Sometimes when we think of this teeming, living universe, we are appalled almost to the extent of terror. This revolving globe on which we live is, the astronomers assure us, only a minor part of one of the almost infinite number of solar systems, so that probably there are many other worlds much like the one in which we live. We cling to the side of this planet and are whirled through space. Most of our lives are lived on the physical plane. We are spiritual beings also, but the spiritual part of our lives is only a seed which will come into the fullness of its being in a future life. Our mind is a vast kingdom in some ways connected with our bodies and in other ways connected with that incipient spirit which we possess. But the one element of hope, even of thrilling joy, which keeps us from despair is the realization that we are part and parcel of a life which is universal. God is a living God. This God is love—not just lovable or loving but having love as the very substance of his Being. And we are in his hands. He destined only good for us. It is not his will that one of us perish. He has shown us what true life is like, in the life of his Son, Jesus Christ. There can be neither terror nor despair in an existence presided over by a loving and living God.

Why Sinclair Weeks' Voice Is Unheard

By RAY TUCKER WASHINGTON — The Republican high command insists on keeping Sinclair Weeks off the political stump as persistently and stubbornly as the Democratic managers of the Presidential campaign are keeping former Secretary of State Dean Acheson out of sight or sound of the voters. The reason for the concealment of the Secretary of Commerce is that, far more than Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson or Treasury Secretary George M. Humphrey, he is the symbol of the "big business" tag which Adlai E. Stevenson seeks to apply to the Eisenhower Administration. Worse still, even in the midst of the hard-fought contest, Weeks has advanced a proposal which would provide the opposition with heavy ammunition on this issue. He is urging that the steel industry be granted the right of fast tax amortization subsidies on $1.2 billion of proposed new construction. It would mean a great

Report On Health Of Executives

By ELMER ROESSNER

If you are reading this in a hospital bed, you may be a business executive.

And if you are a business executive in a hospital, you shouldn't be reading this. An important cause of hospitalization of executives is the fact that they take business worries with them when they leave their offices. This column sometimes provokes business worries.

Executives' obsession with business problems, to the neglect of their health, has become a growing problem for many corporations. A company may spend a million dollars bringing along a man of executive talent only to have him come out with diabetes. Is that the way to garner the stuff from which dividends are made?

Executive health was a major topic at a recent American Management Association conference on personnel. Almost all personnel men present agreed that the health of their executive team was vital to continuing growth of their firms.

One of the reasons some of the executives present went directly from the conference rooms to their doctors' offices was a report by Dr. Charles J. Thompson on an examination of 500 business leaders at the Health Research Center of Chicago.

Ulcers were far less common than expected and in most cases in which they were found the executives were aware of them. And 8 per cent of those examined had no diseases at all.

At this point, most of the conferees were fairly cheerful and some of them were considering a thick sirloin with fried onion rings as soon as the session broke up. Then Dr. Thompson pulled out the rug.

Of those with no ailments, he said, all were under 40. Of the rest, one out of ten had a previously undiscovered heart disease. One out of nine had thyroid deficiency, with an excess of fatty elements in the blood, a factor in hardening of the arteries. Two per cent had cancer.

Some of these thinking about steaks decided to have skimmed milk and a vitamin pill instead.

PATTERN OF SUCCESS

The typical executive under 40, Dr. Thompson said, is strong, athletic, energetic, ambitious and able to work from 10 to 12 hours a day. From 40 to 55 the typical executive becomes heavier, barker and less active. "His preoccupation with his work continues—the psychological drive to achieve is the outstanding feature of this man's philosophy," Dr. Thompson said. "This has a tendency to make him ignore the early warning signs of disease."

The senior executive, he said, tends to fall into one of two classes. One consists of the top men, usually heads of their companies, who are physically fit because of disciplined modes of living. The other consists of associate executives, more likely to be over-weighted, with a tendency of high blood pressure, one or more heart attacks, some arthritis or gout and an occasional cancer.

Hospitals, clinics and private or company doctors have not been able to provide a solution to the problem of executive health, Dr. Thompson said. Specially trained doctors to do a complete job are needed, he declared. These doctors must have sole responsibility to the executive, he said; his findings should remain confidential.

Executives would resent reports on their health made by doctors to their companies. As a practical matter, he said, nearly all executives confide the state of their health to superiors or to their company, and making such reports voluntarily "maintains the dignity of the executive and represents his own personal honesty and devotion to his organization."

So if you are an executive, try to stop worrying about business after you leave the office. Have regular health examinations. And if your doctor decides you ought to spend six months in the Bahamas, spend six months there. Cemeteries are filled with executives who ate too much, drank too much and worked too hard too long.

College English Ass'n Meeting Set For Oct. 20

A regional meeting of the College English Association to be held at East Carolina College, Saturday, October 20, will bring together for discussion of problems related to the teaching of English representatives of colleges in North Carolina, Virginia, and West Virginia.

Dr. James Poindexter of East Carolina, association president, has announced the program for the conference.

Discussion and business meetings in the morning and the afternoon will take place in the auditorium of the Joyner Memorial Library. A luncheon for delegates is scheduled for 1 p.m. in the college dining hall.

Bruce Dearing of Swarthmore College in Pennsylvania, president of the College English Association, will head a group of speakers who will participate in the regional program. He will extend greetings from the national organization at the luncheon and at a session at 2 p.m. will address the group on the topic "Uses and Misuses of Psychology in the Interpretation of Literature."

A panel discussion beginning at 10:30 a.m. will deal with "Problems of Teaching Literature in the College." Literature in the freshman and sophomore courses will be considered, respectively, by John Hamilton of Appalachian State Teachers College, Boone, N.C., and Nat. Henry of the University of Richmond in Virginia. Dorothy Schlegel of Longwood College, Farmville, Va., will discuss "World Literature in the English Curriculum"; and Lionel Stevenson of Duke University, "Teaching Advanced Courses in Literature."

Four group meetings, beginning at 11:30 a.m., will give further opportunity for discussion of ideas presented by the panelists.

Moderators at these informal programs will be Dora Jean Ashe of Lynchburg College in Virginia, George Horner of the University of North Carolina, Louis Locke of Madison College, Harrisonburg, Va., and Roberta Cornelius of Randolph-Macon Woman's College, Lynchburg, Va.

Mrs. Meredith Posey of Greenville will entertain luncheon guests with a program of ballads and folk songs.

Alaskans Cast Ballots Today

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP)—Voters in this sprawling territory cast ballots today in an election that will test once more the adage: "As Alaska goes, so goes the nation." Voters from Juneau to Nome, some 1,000 airline miles and three time zones apart, selected candidates in balloting that had the attention of state-wide political trend-seekers.

Election eve appeals from President Eisenhower and Adlai Stevenson attested to the status of an election Alaskans feel is an accurate barometer of things to come in the States.

Alaskans do not vote for president, and the delegate they send to Congress has a seat but no voice in the House. The "so goes the nation" adage stems from the outcome in recent years of contests for seats in the Territorial Legislature.

Alaskans point to the 1948 election when they elected 29 Democrats to the 24-member House of Representatives. The election was held in October. In November, Stateside voters gave President Truman a four-year term in the White House.

Four years later, Alaskans elected 21 Republicans to the House, and the nation elected President Eisenhower and a Republican Congress. In 1954, Democrats won control of the Territorial Legislature and the national Congress.

Besides electing legislators, territorial officers and a delegate to serve a two-year term in the House, voters are choosing two "honorary" U.S. senators and a U.S. representative.

They will be sent to Washington to lobby for statehood in the fashion of Tennessee and other states which used the plan successfully when they were seeking admission to the Union.

ASC Committeemen To Be Elected On Oct. 23

On October 23, ASC Committeemen will be elected in Pitt County. In each community a chairman, vice-chairman, regular member, and two alternates to the local ASC Committee will be elected.

A nominating committee in the community, composed of three farmers residing in the community who are not now members of the County or Community ASC Committee, have already chosen from among their neighbors a slate of farmers whom they consider the most capable. Individual farmers residing in the community who desire to add additional names to this list of nominees may do so providing they secure a petition signed by at least 10 eligible voters and present it to their Community Election Board not later than the eighth of October.

G. C. Scott, Chairman of the County ASC Committee, is announcing these election plans called on all farmers in the county to carefully plan their action on election day and by all means visit the polls and cast their vote.

According to Scott, every farmer who is participating or who is eligible to participate in any program administered by the County ASC Committee is eligible to vote.

This includes any owner, operator, tenant or sharecropper on a farm who is eligible to participate in the Agricultural Conservation Program, the Soil Bank Acreage Reserve or Conservation Reserve Programs, the various price support programs, or who is affected by acreage allotments and marketing quotas on any of the basic commodities, he said.

In past years, Tar Heel farmers have shown their interest in farm programs by turning out in great numbers on ASC Election Day. Last year, however, participation in ASC Community Elections dropped off sharply. "This is your chance to help elect the best ASC Community Committeeman you can find. Don't let your neighbors down by passing up the election when it is held in your community," Scott urged.

Big Dividends To Insured Veterans

WASHINGTON (AP)—Some 5,350,000 veterans will receive about 236 million dollars in dividends on Veterans administration insurance during 1956.

Veterans Administrator Harvey V. Higley, announcing this today, said all the payments will be "regular annual dividends, not special dividends."

However, some 20,000 veterans holding U. S. Government Life Insurance term policies will get their first dividend in 25 years, sharing about one million dollars.

A VA spokesman said there was no political significance in the fact that these veterans received their last dividend in 1932, during the Republican administration of President Herbert Hoover, and that their next "annual" dividend, 25 years later, was announced in this election year by the Eisenhower administration.

He pointed to the formal announcement which said that: "Up until recently the mortality and disability experience among these term policy holders has not been good enough to warrant the payment of a dividend. However, the continuing good trend of recent years has made it possible to pay a dividend on this plan for the first time in 25 years."

There will be 210 million dollars in 1957 dividends for some five million veterans holding National Service Life Insurance, about 25 million dollars more than was made available for 1956 dividends.

The million dollars to be paid the USGLI term policyholders will be part of a kitty of 26 million dollars to be split among holders of various types of USGLI policies. The 26 million dollars is two million more than was set aside for USGLI policyholders this year.

Higley said each of the USGLI term policyholders will be notified by letter of his prospective dividend. It will amount to an average of 20 per cent of the premiums the 20,000 are now paying. The NSLI dividend will average 13 per cent higher to holders of both term and permanent policies, with higher age groups getting the bulk of the payments that will run above 13 per cent and lower age groups the bulk of those falling below the average.

Light Fire Loss For September

Local fire losses for the month of September totaled $440, Fire Chief George Gardner reported today.

Not included in that total is the heavy loss at New Enterprise warehouse on Memorial Drive during the month. The warehouse was destroyed by fire with the loss expected to run between three quarters of a million and a million dollars.

The chief pointed out that the warehouse was outside the city limits and was counted as a county call. During the month the department received four box alarms, six phone calls, three county calls and 13 rescue calls. There were three false alarms when sprinkler systems in local tobacco factories went off.

Fire losses for the entire year through September are estimated at $30,370.60.

Don Larsen Hurls Perfect Game To Give Yanks Lead

Big Don Pitches 2-0 No-Hitter To Beat Maglie

By JOE REICHLER BROOKLYN (AP)—Their backs to the wall, just as has been the case all year, the Brooklyn Dodgers today were staking their World Series hopes on friendly Ebbs Field.

Beaten for the third consecutive time at Yankee Stadium yesterday, 2-0, in a history making perfect game performance by unpredictable Don Larsen of the New York Yankees, the Dodgers found themselves trailing 3 games to 2.

Manager Walter Alton turned to his ace relief pitcher Clem Labine rather than to his 27-game winner Don Newcombe to keep the Dodgers' faint series hopes alive.

Yankee pilot Casey Stengel, in a spot where he can gamble, selected Johnny Rucks, his 18-game winner.

This was Labine's first starting assignment. He pitched eight times in three series. In his one relief effort during this series, he yielded one hit and one unearned run in a two-inning relief job in the third game.

He wound up with a season record of 10-6. Rucks has appeared in two games, both times in relief, and has given up three hits and two runs in two innings.

It is extremely doubtful in fact, the odds are better than 40,000 to 1 against it, that either of today's pitchers will duplicate Larsen's nerve-tangling epic that had every fan in the gathering of 64,519 hanging breathlessly on every pitch.

The 27-year-old right-hander's incredible performance was embellished by Mickey Mantle's third series home run and Hank Bauer's run-producing single, was at the expense of Sal Maglie, who literally pitched his heart out in a gallant but losing effort.

At the end, however, it was Larsen, the fun-loving, devil-may-care native of Michigan City, Ind., who had the huge, emotion-filled crowd cheering wildly as he fired a third strike past pinch hitter Dale Mitchell to climax the greatest game ever pitched in a World Series.

Larsen did it too with a most revolutionary delivery, a no-windup service. In this first perfect World Series game, Larsen made only 97 pitches, threw three called balls, to only one batter—Pee Wee Reese in the first inning—and struck out seven.

So amazing was Larsen's feat that only four batted balls had a chance of being rated hits. One was a foul by inches. Three drives were converted into outs by spectacular Yankee fielding.

In the second inning, Jackie Robinson smacked a vicious grounder off Andy Carey's glove at third base for what momentarily appeared a certain hit. But Gil McDougal, the alert Yankee shortstop, recovered the ball in time to nip Robinson at first by a half step.

In the fifth, minutes after Mantle had put the Yankees ahead 1-0 with a blast into the right field stands, Gil Hodges sent a drive that appeared headed for the alley between center and left for extra bases. But Mantle raced across the turf to make a sensational backhanded catch.

On the next play, Sandy Amoros connected with a pitch and rocketed a drive toward the right field stands that promised to tie the score. At the last second, however, the ball was caught by inches. Then, in the eighth, Hodges once again was victimized by a thrilling Yankee play.

Gil hit a tricky, low liner to the left of Carey. Yankee third baseman lunged for the ball and caught it inches above the ground. The biggest drama was saved for the ninth, however, with everyone in the nail-biting crowd realizing that each pitch was a big one—one that could end big Don's dream of a lifetime—Larsen calmly disposed of Carl Furillo, Roy Campanella and Mitchell without even as much of a minor scare.

This was only the seventh perfect game pitched in the major leagues and only the fifth in baseball's modern era. The last perfect game in the majors was achieved by Charley Robertson of the Chicago White Sox on April 20, 1922, when he vanquished the Detroit Tigers, also by a 2-0 score.

Larsen Only A Nobody Earlier

By ED WILKS BROOKLYN (AP)—A year ago last winter Don Larsen was somewhere in the middle of 18 men in that deal that brought Bob Turley to the New York Yankees from Baltimore.

Last Friday, Larsen was one of a record seven pitchers Yankee Manager Casey Stengel fed to Brooklyn's bats as the Dodgers took a 2-0 lead in the World Series. Today Larsen is all alone in baseball history—the only man ever to pitch a perfect game in a World Series.

No one ever had pitched even a no-hitter in a series before. Not since Charlie Robertson of the Chicago White Sox stopped Detroit and Ty Cobb in April 1922 had anyone pitched a perfect game in major league baseball.

Larsen, a big, 27-year-old right-hander, has everything going for him, except maybe himself. "He can run, he can hit, he can bunt, he can throw," said Stengel. "He's been a fella who should be able to pitch good—but he don't always pay attention to business."

"Now that no-windup of his," Casey said. "He did that himself. Thought Boston was stealing signs on him two, three weeks ago. It's helped him, and I suppose everybody will be doing it now."

Larsen's Duke Snider had a heckuva time with that lack of a windup. "You wait for him so long and then he goes ahead and throws it. You can't tell when he's going to let it go. And while you're waiting there, maybe you drop your elbow or something and before you get set again the pitch is there."

Pee Wee Reese, like most of the Brooklyners, the no-windup helped Larsen, but it was "his stuff, that fast ball and his control," that beat them. Larsen was giving no hits. Nor any walks. He went to three balls to only one man—Reese with a 3-2 count in the first inning. He struck out Reese, the second man he faced, on a called strike, just as he had nailed leadoff man Junior Gilliam, and just as he ended the game against pinchhitter Dale Mitchell.

Larsen did it too with a most revolutionary delivery, a no-windup service. In this first perfect World Series game, Larsen made only 97 pitches, threw three called balls, to only one batter—Pee Wee Reese in the first inning—and struck out seven.

German composer Johann Bach wrote in all forms of "modern music"—except opera.

Mitchell. 'I told, he fanned seven. Of the 97 pitches Larsen threw, 21 were called strikes.

Oklahoma Still In First Place; Tennessee Fifth

By HUGH FULLERTON JR. Oklahoma still is the nation's No. 1 college football team, but some people are hard to convince.

After rolling up a 66-0 score against Kansas State, getting a major college record with their 32nd consecutive victory and making it 54 without a defeat against Big Seven Conference rivals, the Sooners retained their No. 1 rating in the Associated Press poll of sports writers and broadcasters.

But Michigan State continued to push for the top spot. Oklahoma was first on 76 of 130 ballots. Michigan State, a 9-0 winner over Michigan in the big game of the past weekend, drew 32 first-place votes.

In the point totals on the usual basis of 10 for each first-place vote, 9 for second, etc., Oklahoma piled up a 120-point margin, 1,185 to 1,065.

The also-rans were well behind and closely bunched. Georgia Tech led last Saturday, polled 793 points to hold third place and Texas Christian edged out Ohio State for fourth, 740-735. Then came Tennessee, Mississippi, Southern California, Texas A&M and Baylor completing the first 10.

BOBBY LILLEY—East Carolina's backfield this season has been bolstered by Sophomore fullback Bobby Lilley, a 5-11, 195 pounder from Tarboro, N.C. Lilley has seen plenty of action behind Bob Maynard and was a standout against Elon, Saturday, at Burlington, N.C. East Carolina stopped the Christians 19-7 in their first North State win of the year.

Boone Says Buccaneers Have 'Improved Much'

By BILLY ARNOLD Reflector Sports Editor Coach Jack Boone, whose East Carolina Pirates came through with their first victory of the season Saturday, upsetting Elon 19-7, said this morning that "there were many reasons for the way the boys won that game."

Boone praised quarterback Gary Mattocks, saying, "Plenty of times during our first ball games, we haven't been able to pick up that first down. We'd lose it by only inches and we'd have to punt and lose the ball. Against Elon, however, many of our first downs came just on Gary's sheer determination. He ran the ball himself much of the time on that option play and did well in the clutch."

Another thing that made quite a difference according to the Pirate head mentor, was the use of two different units. "We substituted pretty freely and that helped us."

"The main thing," Boone continued, "was that our defensive play just made things tough for Elon's runners. The defensive team has improved a great deal and as long as you can stop a team on defense, they're not going to beat you. Our boys in the line really did well."

Boone stated that ECC line play was good "all the way through, from end to end, on both offense and defense. We've improved with each game and some of our freshman linemen are finally finding themselves."

Raymond Pennington, senior end and captain, was outstanding on both defense and offense. It was his recovery of an Elon fumble that led to the second Pirate touchdown. Another lineman chosen by Boone as a standout, was freshman tackle Bucky Dennis. The big

225 pounder pointed on two loose Christian fumbles and caused a third with a jarring tackle. "James Speight, Bobby Perry, Bobby Lilley, and Tommy Nash ran very well," Boone added. "They came a long way and will be seeing plenty of action this week against Western Carolina."

The Catamounts will journey to College Stadium this Saturday to take part in East Carolina's Homecoming celebrations. They will offer the Bucs their third competition in North State Conference play. The ECC loop record at present, is 1-1. Coach Boone rates Western Carolina as a "rugged, good ball club." He stated that reports indicate that the Cats have a strong, big forward wall and love to run. Western Carolina has played two conference contests, losing both. They dropped a 19-7 battle to Appalachian early in the season and succumbed to Catawba last week, 7-0.

At the present time ECC is ranked to beat the visitors by a one-touchdown margin, based on previous play in the North State circles. Still out of the lineup for East Carolina due to injuries, are Charlie Smith, Jerry Brooks, Waverly Chessy and Ed Emory.

'Smart Money' Was Wrong In Miceli Battle

NEW YORK (AP)—Some of the "smart money" bettors around the country must be checking on their sources of "information" today following Joe Miceli's victory over Danny Giovanelli.

From even money at noon the odds shot up to 4-1 favoring Giovanelli at fight time. And there were reports from out of town that bookmakers had taken the fight "off the boards." That means they had stopped taking bets because of one-sided betting and rumors.

If there was a betting coup in the making, Jolting Joe broke it up with his decisive unanimous decision in the telecast 10-rounder at St. Nicholas Arena last night. Miceli, an experienced, one-time contender making his first appearance in his native New York this year, belted handsome Danny repeatedly with left hooks and left jabs, dropping him in the second round. Giovanelli was up at two, took the mandatory eight-count from Referee Ray Miller, and lots more punishment the rest of the way.

Miller had it close, 5-4-1, for Miceli while the other two officials scored it bigger for the winner. Judge Joe Eppy had it 7-2-1 and Judge Bert Grant 6-3-1. The AP card made it Miceli, 8-2, giving Danny the sixth and eighth rounds by narrow margins.

"When I heard of the odds going up I went down to Miceli's dressing room to tell him and his handlers," said vigilant Teddy Brenner, the matchmaker and promoter at the Arena. "I heard of the funny changes, too," said Harry Stickever, Miceli's manager. "I told Joe had to win this fight more than any other."

"The first time I heard about the odds was when Harry told me," said Miceli. "So I went out to win it big. I was happy to win, no matter how close anyone scored it. Now bring on Vince Martinez or any of those other welterweight contenders. I've got a wife and kid and I need these pay days."

Miceli, outweighed 150-10 to 145-10, hit his 24-year-old rival from Brooklyn almost at will with his left hooks and left uppercuts. Some of them were thrown from the bleachers but Danny seemed to be hypnotized and couldn't avoid them. Giovanelli started to come on in the sixth when Miceli tired but Joe had enough left to pound Danny soundly in the final two rounds.

At the finish, Giovanelli was bleeding from the mouth and nose and was battered around the eyes. Miceli was just a little winded.

Two Series Stars In Court Trouble

ACC Records Falling Easily

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Individual records in the Atlantic Coast Conference have been falling at the rate of better than one a week in this young 1956 season.

With three weeks of the season now passed, four records have fallen, two of them to Virginia's fullback star, Jim Bakhtiar. Last Saturday he carried the ball 29 times on rushing plays against Wake Forest for one of them. The previous record was 23 rushes by Duke's Bob Pascal against Ohio State last year.

In the season opener against Virginia Military Institute Bakhtiar picked up his first record of 210 yards gained. Wally Vale of North Carolina set another record for the longest punt, 84 yards, against Oklahoma and Wake Forest's Bill Barnes set a new record for most points in a single game, 20, against William and Mary.

The Virginia squad came through the Wake Forest game without serious physical damage and worked yesterday for Saturday's Tobacco Festival game with South Carolina at Richmond. The first unit at South Carolina rested while the second and third units scrimmaged the Junior varsity for half an hour, then, the first unit went through dummy drills on offense and defense.

Coach Warren Giese said fullback Bob Barrett is out for an "indefinite" period, because of a knee injury. Two second string guards were promoted by Clemson Coach Frank Howard as work started for Saturday's tilt against Wake Forest.

Howard said his team came out of a 13-7 win over North Carolina State without serious injuries. Earle Green and John Gardjian were pushed up to the first team. Coach Paul Amen had his Wake Forest regulars out for only an hour yesterday as the first string got its first look at Clemson's offensive and defensive formations. The Wolfpack plays Florida State at Raleigh Saturday night.

NEW YORK (AP)—Two World Series pitchers got into judicial hassles yesterday — one over support payments to his estranged wife and the other over a rhubarb with a heckler.

Shortly before Yankee Don Larsen pitched the first perfect game in series history, his wife got a State Supreme Court order designed to hold up his series money on the ground that he was $420 in arrears.

Dodger Don Newcombe was served with a simple assault summons obtained by a parking lot attendant who razed the big pitcher last Friday after the Yankees knocked him out of the box in the second series game at Ebbets Field.

Larsen's wife Vivian, 29, charged in court papers that he had subjected her and their 14-month-old daughter Carolyn Jean "to the pleasures of starvation existence."

A few hours after he had made baseball history at Yankee Stadium, the 27-year-old pitcher sent $420 to his wife's attorney Harry H. Lipsig.

Lipsig said the court order against Larsen — issued yesterday by Justice Samuel H. Hofstadter — would still have to be answered Monday.

Newcombe, 30-year-old Negro, is scheduled to appear in Flatbush Magistrate's Court Thursday on complaint of Michael Brown, 40, attendant at a parking lot outside Ebbets Field. Newcombe beat Brown and his lawyer both appeared at the Dodger dressing room at Yankee Stadium yesterday to serve the summons. The pitcher said he didn't know what the specific charge was, except that it probably was simple assault or disorderly conduct.

RYLIE, Tex. (AP)—Buss Everett, plagued for three years with a timber wolf which had taken up residence on his 200-acre farm ranch, finally trapped the beast and killed him. But the wolf cost Everett $2,000 before its death.

He says the wolf killed 300 turkeys, 38 sheep and a great many chickens. Numerous possums had tried to run down the animal without success.

She Conquered Blindness And Dreaded Cancer

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—A gallant woman who walked a thousand miles to get here in 1860 and who conquered blindness at 91 died yesterday at the age of 107.

She was Mrs. Ann Catherine Milne, who on her birthday four years ago said:

"I've outlived everything and everybody I knew."

Her family moved westward from Boston with the Mormon migration in 1860, the children walking the entire distance from the railroad at Omaha to Salt Lake City.

She lost her sight in 1924, but an operation restored it in 1939. Stricken with cancer in 1949, she submitted to X-ray treatment and conquered the disease.

Two of her eight children survive her. Survivors also include 32 grandchildren, 106 great-grandchildren and 25 great-great-grandchildren.

Writing Since His College Days

JOINS FACULTY—Ovid Pierce who joined the faculty at East Carolina College this fall is shown above as he teaches a class in Creative Writing. Previously he taught at Southern Methodist University and Tulane University.

PREPARES FOR CLASS—Pierce, author of the best seller novel "The Plantation," prepares for a class in his office at E. C. His novel won for him the Sir Walter Award as the best book of fiction by a North Carolinian in 1954.

THE PLANTATION . . . Located near Weldon.

By ANNE SINGLETON
Reflector Staff Writer
Writing, Teaching, and Farming is quite a bite; but not for Ovid Williams Pierce, English professor at East Carolina College. When he went to Harvard for a Master's degree, Pierce studied writing under Robert Hillier. "It was then that I began to write seriously," he said. Most of the short stories he wrote then were later published in the "Southwest Review." He has been writing since college days. After finishing high school at Weldon, he went to Duke University, where he was graduated in 1932. There he was Kappa Alpha, Phi Beta Kappa, and editor of the "Archive," the University literary magazine. "It was during this period that I suppose I developed my first real concern with matters literary," he smiled. "I remember that I was enormously interested in the publication of "I'll Take My Stand" the collection of 12 essays by 12 Southerners. This book helped to launch me on my long preoccupation with the problem of interpreting the complete Southern scene."

Interlude
After Harvard, and a few more stories—his writing stopped. He went into the Army in April, 1941, was a member of the Counter-intelligence Corps, and was stationed at the Mexican Border and in Puerto Rico, Trinidad, and British Guiana.
Pierce was released from the Army in 1945 and became a member of the faculty at Southern Methodist University in Dallas, Texas, where his main course was Creative Writing. After four years at SMU he took a year off because of illness.
Subsequently he taught the modern novel at Tulane University, New Orleans, Louisiana. He traveled in Europe; then returned to the faculty of SMU in the fall of 1954.
Pierce joined the faculty at ECC in the fall of 1956.
"I feel at home here, there is something valuable here; this half of the state has a way and a tradition all its own," explained Pierce when asked his reason for returning to Eastern North Carolina. "A lot has been retained here that has been lost in other places. I don't feel the pressures of everyday life here and there is a feeling for the land," he continued in his quiet spoken manner.
Everywhere there is a "prevailing sense of the past or death itself which can be felt when you see the relics of the past around you . . . abandoned plantation homes, cemeteries choked in vine, monuments in the town squares honoring the dead—usually those who fought in the Civil War . . . this area is constantly with the past."

Won Award
"The Plantation" won the Sir Walter Award for the best book of fiction by a North Carolinian in 1954.
This novel evolved slowly, he said. It was written over a period of five years, mostly during his summers at home. The critics declared that at last here was a Southern novel without magnolias and mint juleps.
"The New York Herald Tribune" said, "Beautiful, poignant . . . Nothing is more finely handled in Ovid Williams Pierce's book than the relationship between black men and white."
Actual setting for this novel is not one spot "but composite of plantation homes and life in Eastern North Carolina," states Pierce. The book incorporates that which was so common to a generation of people; after the Civil War, the disintegrating plantation, the predominance of women, their dependence on the men, and the realization that an old code would be insufficient for survival in a new world.
"And yet I wanted to do something in addition to this regional theme," he said. "I wanted the characters to be people first and Southerners second, to render the atmosphere and the motivations of the characters so convincingly that their behavior should appear to the outsider as inevitable under the circumstances."
That he succeeded is evidence by the opinion of Lee Baker, a Doubleday editor, who called "The Plantation" "The finest first novel I have seen in twenty-five years of publishing."
Plon, the French publishing firm, published a French translation of the novel in 1954.

ern half of the state deserves an excellent school of its own and I believe that East Carolina College can become just that."
Present plans include an article on the state of North Carolina that will be appearing in the not to distant future in "Holiday" magazine.
In the future he "intends to write three or four more novels with this section of the country as the setting," to continue along the same vein as "The Plantation." "One who writes never quits," he concluded.

THE BLONDE DIED DANCING

by KELLY ROOS

CHAPTER 17

The lights were on in our living room when I got home. As I went through the vestibule, I played "shave-and-a-haircut" on our bell. When I got to our landing, Steve was standing in the doorway. There was a look of warning on his face. He took me in his arms and gave me the least satisfactory kiss of our career.

"Bolling," he whispered, "inside."

He stepped back from me and said loudly, heartily, "How's your cousin Marie?"

"Improving," I said. "The swelling's gone down."

We walked into our living room. Detective Lieutenant Bolling put a beer down on our coffee table, rose and greeted me. I was disappointed in the way he looked. He looked fine, not the least bit worried. Apparently this was a policeman without any pressing worries at all, including the capture of the Walter.

"The swelling's gone down?" he said to me.

"What? Oh, Cousin Marie. Yes, perceptibly. Thank you."

"Steve says she has anemia. I didn't know there was ever any swelling involved in anemia."

"You're quite right, there isn't. Cousin Marie got it, a fight with her doctor and he belted her one in the eye."

"You're kidding," Bolling said.

"Yes, stop kidding, Connie," Steve said. "Bolling was in the neighborhood and he just dropped in."

"Lovely. Anytime you're in the neighborhood, Mr. Bolling, just drop in."

"Thanks."

"Any news about the Walter?"

"He was seen tonight in a joint in the Village, the Feather Club."

"No!" I said. "Really?"

"Yeah. We got a description of him from a Crescent pupil who was there, name of Kipp, Wendell Kipp. The bartender saw him, too, and a waiter and a couple of other people."

"What was he doing, the Walter?"

"Annoying some blonde."

"Any blonde," I said, "who would frequent the Feather Club could hardly be annoyed. I had to ask the question and I did, bravely. What does the Walter look like?"

"Well, this Kipp didn't give much of a description. He didn't impress me as the type that ever noticed very accurately what a man looked like. Then he was still pretty upset by the slugging the Walter handed him. His description didn't tally very well with the other people's descriptions."

"What," I asked, "was his description?"

"He said he was a big man, powerfully built."

Steve smiled, rather proudly, pleased.

Get Records In Buying That Dog

Pitt County Health Director Dr. Walter C. Humbert today warned against purchasing hunting dogs without obtaining bills of sale and rabies vaccination certificates.

Dr. Humbert said that persons who buy dogs, particularly hunting animals, and do not receive bills of sale and vaccination certificates run the risk of getting either stolen or unhealthy animals. He said that there have been several reports of stolen dogs in neighboring counties and pointed out that many of the animals are sold as hunting dogs when they are actually household pets.

The Health Director said the county requires dog dealers who operate here to pass along bills of sale and health records. He said that two dealers have been cleared through the Health Department thus far.

Dr. Humbert also said that Pitt County has established an embargo against dogs from seven western North Carolina counties which have high rates of rabies. The Health Department directive prohibits the importation of dogs from those counties and is honored by approved dog dealers.

Dog owners are also cautioned to keep their pets confined, particularly where there is a danger of the dogs following children to school. "When dogs follow children to school," Dr. Humbert said, "there is almost certain to be a scrap between animals on the school grounds and a child could be seriously injured trying to rescue his pet. Also, there is always the danger of the animal being injured in traffic and some children have been hurt dashing into streets to retrieve their dogs."

Dr. Humbert added, "There may be some additional cost when dogs are bought from dealers, but the extra price is worthwhile because the buyer knows he is getting a good animal from a reputable dealer."

World Series In Family Quarrel

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP)—Dink Davis, 68, and his wife, 64, argued over the World Series.

Mrs. Davis told police her husband hit her twice with a chair, bruising her arms. Davis said she hit him with a hammer.

Davis went to a hospital for treatment of head lacerations. Mrs. Davis was charged with assault with intent to kill and was released on $1,000 bond.

Both declined to tell which team they rooted for.

Ross Wins Race Saturday Night

In Saturday night's Micro Mid-race, at the Greenville Fair Grounds track, Ernest Ross walked away with the 40-lap main event prize.

Pulling up second in the main race, was Bill Hayes, of Kinston, and Charlie Wells took third. Obie Bridges followed fourth.

Ross was driving a new car, owned by Ralph Evans, of Greenville.

In Kinston, Sunday Ben Blanton won the main event trials, driving in Dr. M. W. Aldridge's car. Aldridge had engine troubles Saturday night and was forced out of the race after about 30 laps.

The Micros will race again Thursday night of this week, and again on Saturday, in special races during the Pitt County Fair. Cars from Kinston, Wilmington, Fayetteville, Norfolk, Portsmouth, Wilehamston and Greenville are expected to field the biggest number of participants ever to race on Greenville tracks.

A demonstration of the best known methods of hair and scalp treatments to be given to the citizens of our city.

WHAT IS YOUR REASON FOR BALDNESS?

All Merrill Clients in the vicinity of Greenville, North Carolina, are invited to appear at Proctor Hotel, on Wednesday only, October 10, 12 noon until 9 p.m. These private individual re-examinations are free of charge and are a part of the established service to our Clients.

Oklahoma City, Okla., Sept. 27—In an interview here today, G. O. Abbott, international hair and scalp consultant and Director of Merrill Hair & Scalp Consultants, said: "There are many different scalp conditions that may cause men and women to lose their hair. Using common sense, a person must realize no one tonic or so-called cure-all can correct all these different conditions," he explained.

READ WHAT A FEW OF THE MANY SATISFIED CLIENTS HAVE SAID ABOUT MERRILL HOME TREATMENT IN THEIR UNSOLICITED REPORTS: THERE ARE MANY MORE IN OUR FILES:

"After using your course of treatment I am happy to report scalp is free of dandruff and does not itch at any time—my hair has more life and also my hair is growing in all areas including the top crown which was balding. You may feel free to use me as a reference at any time."
Glen Ridgeway
Terrebonne, Oregon

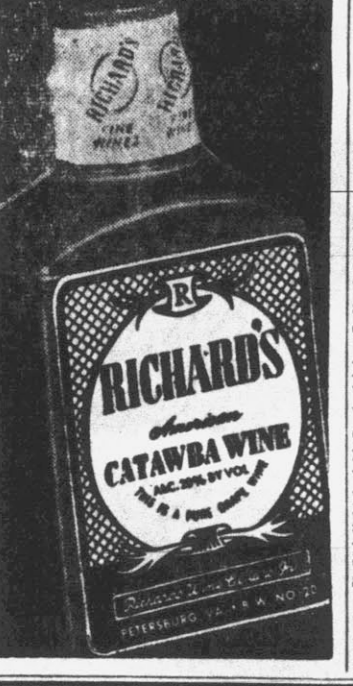

"I believe your products for the treatment of the scalp are the best. My scalp has never felt as good as it has since I started using the Merrill treatment. It is twenty years that I have been bald so I don't expect miracles, but my hair has thickened and come in somewhat. I only wish I had known of your treatments years ago. My supply of products is nearly gone, so I will re-order soon."
Palmer Huntington
So. Norwalk, Conn.

Guaranteed
Not everyone can be helped by the Merrill Home Treatment. Only those we think we can help are accepted for treatment. Those who are accepted for Merrill Home Treatment are given this guarantee: "If you are not completely satisfied at the end of thirty days your money will be returned." This is only because most people are skeptical of claims that hair can grow on balding heads. Usually when a person avails himself of the Merrill treatment, his skepticism disappears.

No Cure-All
"We have no cure-all for slick, shiny baldness," Abbott emphasizes. "If there is still fuzz, that hair follicle of the scalp is still producing hair. Merrill's users have grown hair. We have many reports testifying that after using our home treatment, weak fuzz has developed into healthy mature hair. Proper use of this home treatment may bring about a healthy scalp condition which will help the body to produce new hair. If there is any fuzz at all, a healthy scalp condition may be restored, and the hair may grow normally again as nature intended." There is one thing Abbott wants to be certain every man and woman knows. If a recession appears at the temple or a spot begins to show up on the crown of the head, there is something wrong and it should be given immediate attention.

Free Examination
In addition to re-examining present clients, the Merrill method of home treatment will be demonstrated to others who are interested. The examination is very thorough and highly technical. It requires 20 to 30 minutes. The Consultant makes no charge for this examination and no appointment is necessary. After examining the person, he is told the required length of treatment and how much it will cost. Regular reports are made to the Merrill firm in Oklahoma City to check the progress of the home treatment.

SMART BIRDS ROANOKE, Va. (AP)—A "wolf-whistle" around the Children's Zoo on Mill Mountain here doesn't mean a thing girls. The zoo has recently acquired two new mynah birds. The birds are supposed to talk. So far, however, all they've done is let out a low whistle when people—particularly pretty girls—walk by.

Young People Hear Minister

"We are stewards not only of our own talents and possessions but of other people," said the Rev. Bruce Pale speaking to the youth at Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church this morning.

The Youth Activities Week service was held at 7 o'clock followed by breakfast in the fellowship hall.

The youthful minister from Biddgeton, a native of LaGrange told the youths that as Christian stewards people must be "our brothers keeper."

The sermon Wednesday night will be "Stewardship of Possessions." The meeting will begin with hymn singing at 7:15 p.m. Judith Ferris will conduct the worship at 7:30.

Discussion groups will meet for the last session at 8:20 Wednesday night.

The Rev. LaFone Varen will lead recreation in the fellowship hall at 9 o'clock. Refreshments will be served.

Youth Activities Week will conclude with worship Thursday night at which time the sacrament of the Lords Supper will be observed.

Two Convicted Of False Claims

Magistrate Luther D. Moore at a trial in Greenville Monday convicted William Richardson Negro, 2005 South Pitt street, Greenville, guilty of violating the Employment Security Law by making false reports of wages earned in June and July, 1955. Prayer for judgment was continued on payment of costs.

Claims Deputy C. A. Dees of the Employment Security Commission, of New Bern, prosecuted the case.

As a result of the conviction Richardson will owe the Employment Security Commission $285 and he will not be allowed to file again for unemployment benefits before June 9, 1957, the claims deputy said.

Magistrate Moore convicted James E. Harper, Negro, 309 Wade street, Farmville, and taxed him with court costs for making a false report while filing a claim for compensation on July 11, 1956 concerning the cause for his separation from his last job.

As a result of his conviction Harper will not be allowed to file again for unemployment insurance before July 11, 1957, the claims deputy stated after the trial.

Another Palace Crisis Foreseen

THE HAGUE (AP)—A new palace crisis was foreseen today as reports spread that Dutch Queen Juliana is still keeping in touch with the faith healer who played a key role in the recent royal rift.

Reliable sources said that despite palace avowals that Juliana and her husband Prince Bernhard had patched up their differences, the Queen still was in contact with Miss Green Hofmans.

Will Institute New Lodge On Saturday

The Crown Point Masonic Lodge U. D. will be instituted by John Catlett Vance, Grand Master of the North Carolina Masons Saturday. The ceremonies will be held at the Masonic Temple on Fifth St. beginning at 7 p.m.

Master of the new Lodge George W. Smith said several other Grand Lodge officers will also be present for the institution ceremonies. In addition invitations have been extended through the District Deputy Grand Master Robert L. Martin to members of all Masonic Lodges in the fifth district to attend, Smith said.

The ceremonies will not be open to the public.

The new lodge will have 36 charter members who are living in Greenville but have memberships in lodges throughout the state.

Smith said that for the past several years it has been the thoughts of some of the leading pay most heed to now.

"Perhaps most important is the Commandment 'Thou shalt have no other gods before me,'" he said. "What man today can say he has not put gold above God, ambition above God, flesh above God, and himself above God?"

"The commandment that is perhaps broken only slightly less often is, 'Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbor.'"

"How much gossip do you suppose goes on between the Atlantic and Pacific oceans each day?"

DeMille paused, then added: "If this commandment were better observed, it might even change the present political campaign considerably."

As a result, a meeting was held in the fall of 1955 attended by all past masters of Greenville Lodge 284. The group decided unanimously that the time had arrived to begin work on the formation of the new Masonic Lodge.

Work was begun after Greenville Lodge 284 granted its consent.

After much preliminary work word was received from the Grand Master that Oct. 13 had been set as the date of institution for the new lodge.

Smith noted that the new lodge is named after Crown Point, the first Masonic Lodge ever located in Pitt County.

Other officers of the Crown Point Lodge U. D. in addition to Master Smith are: F. Luther Whitehurst,

Lions See Slides And Hear Talk On Alaska At Last Night's Meeting

Jerry Howell presented color slides on Alaska and a talk on that territory at last night's meeting of the Lions Club.

Club president, Dr. M. W. Aldridge, read a letter from the Griffon club invited Lions to a dance at Griffon High School October 12 to raise money for the White Can fund.

It was also announced that at the next meeting, October 15, District Governor Roy Sandlin from Wrightsville Beach will pay an official visit to the club, and will be the featured speaker.

Preliminary plans were formulated for the annual Christmas party of the local club.

In his talk on Alaska, Mr. Howell told the Lions of unusual climate, environment and customs in the northern territory and Arctic area. He made the trip with a former member of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police and several other men last summer, and said he was especially impressed by the "eternal daylight" that exists in the summer months. "About 20 minutes of twilight was all the night there was at Fairbanks," he said.

Jerry is the son of Lion member, Waitus Howell.
