The Woman's Society of Christian Service of Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church voted to pledge $5,000 to the church building fund program at its meeting Monday afternoon.

American Fashion Comes Of Age

WOOL-KNIT SWANK . . . Robert Goldworn, who with his mother, Gertrude, received an award for outstanding design in knitwear, inspects ensemble of white cable-knit sheath dress and gray knit coat accented by white cable-knit stripes down front.

By DOROTHY ROE
 Associated Press Women's Editor

HAVING ATTAINED the ripe old age of about 50 years, American fashion is a big boy now. The biggest in the world, if you want to make comparisons.

Recent establishment of a Fashion Hall of Fame, with designer Norman Norell its first member, calls attention to the growing influence of American designers on world fashion trends. The announcement was made during ceremonies attending the Coty American Fashion Critics Awards, given this year to milliner Sally Victor and young Cuban designer Luis Estevez.

A return award was made to James Galanos of California, 30-year-old sensation of the high-fashion world. And a special award was given to a mother-son team, Gertrude and Robert Goldworn, for carving out new horizons in the field of knitwear.

It was pointed out that until after the turn of the century, America had no fashion industry as it is known today. Most clothes were made at home or by the family dressmaker, by patterns adapted from the French. Development of the sewing machine on a commercial mass-production basis gave birth to the business of ready-to-wear, which now is among the nation's top three or four industries.

With growth of the garment industry came emergence of American designers, who first began getting individual recognition around the start of World War I, with the first fashion "Winnies" awarded in 1943. Since then the annual awards have gone to a growing and imposing group of designers, each of whom has given new stature and importance to American fashions.

THEATER SUIT . . . James Galanos, noted California designer, uses dark gray flannel for stark gown and mink-collared jacket.

Alabama State Topic Of Book Lovers' Program

ROBERSONVILLE—When Mrs. Robert K. Adkins entertained the Book Lovers Club Tuesday afternoon her home was decorated throughout with fall flowers.

This year members are studying the Southern States and on this occasion the hostess had the program.

She gave a talk on Alabama which was King Cotton in the 19th century and showed a miniature bale of cotton.

Mrs. Adkins mentioned Helen Keller and several famous men and women born in that state then she told of the Creoles, the forgotten people of the Gulf Coast.

Principal places of interest were pointed out and a list of songs about Alabama concluded the outline. The group, accompanied by Mrs. Adkins at the piano, then sang "Oh, Susanna."

Block ice cream, angel food cake and salted peanuts were served to the members and one guest, Mrs. Roe Greene.

The meeting adjourned late in the afternoon to meet with Mrs. Rosa Carraway on October 23 at 3:30.

Red Oak News

Plans are nearing completion for the "Harvest Sale" and "Country Auction" to be held at the Red Oak Community Building October 24.

Those coming for supper will find their choice of ham, turkey, barbecue or barbecued chicken along with a variety of country vegetables, salads, dessert and drinks.

Supper will be served from 4:30 o'clock until 7:30 o'clock and plates will be prepared to carry out for those who cannot stay.

After supper, Colonel Reginald Alston, general auctioneer from Scotland Neck, will auction off to the highest bidder a variety of home-grown produce consisting of cakes, pies, home-made candies, dressed poultry, meat, dairy products, fresh country eggs, all kinds of canned goods, fresh garden vegetables, preserves, pickles, ham, handicraft, home-made quilts, dish gardens, dressed dolls and many other items.

This will be Colonel Alston's ninth year at this affair. His hobby is helping rural churches to "get on their feet." Red Oak's goal this year is $1800 which will be used to make a payment on the new educational building and parsonage which was completed this past summer.

There will be a musical program for entertainment while waiting for the auction to start. There will be Organ, piano, ukelele, accordion music, solos, readings, quartets and choruses on this program. Miss Shirley Lanman, assisted by Bettie Lane Evans and Jane Winchester will have charge of this.

Miss Vincent, Mr. Hardee Exchange Vows

Greenville Free Will Baptist Church was the scene Sunday for the 4 o'clock wedding of Miss Constance Arletta Vincent of Greenville, daughter of the late T. and Mrs. Cleveland Herbert Vincent of Winterville, to David Carol Hardee of Ayden, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Hardee of Ayden, Route 2.

The Rev. R. B. Crawford officiated at the double ring ceremony. The church was decorated with bouquets of white gladioli and ferns, emerald greens and plumes fern interspersed with several branch candelabra holding cathedral candles. The bride was covered with white satin and family pews marked with white ribbon-tied mums.

Preceding the ceremony a program of nuptial music was presented by Ralph and Clifton Sullivan of Greenville, vocalists, and Mrs. William Taylor of Greenville, accompanist.

The vocalists sang "Through The Year," "The Sweetest Story Ever Told," as a duet, and for the benediction, "The Wedding Prayer."

Given in marriage by her brother, CPO James C. Vincent of Columbia, S. C., the bride wore an original length wedding gown of handclipped chantilly lace over bridal satin, designed with fitted bodice and featuring long sleeves tapering to points over the hands. Her bouffant skirt was gathered to the bodice and the hemline detail was repeated at the bottom to complete the design.

Her two tiered fingertip veil of French illusion extended from an open crown Juliet cap of simulated pearls and orange blossoms. She carried a white Bible topped with a purple throated white orchid showered with tuberoses.

Miss Yvonne Ruth Vincent of Greenville was her sister's maid of honor.

She wore a street length dress of mauve lace over taffeta made princess style with bateau neckline and featuring a pink taffeta bow in back with streamers extending to the hemline. Her bandeau and gauntlets were of matching material and she carried a cascade of pink roses.

George Douglas Wood served his brother-in-law as best man. Ushers were Walter Briley of Greenville and Charles Hart of Ayden.

The bride is a graduate of A. L. Miller Senior High School, Macon, Ga., and the Washington School for Secretaries in Washington, D. C. She is now employed at Refrigeration Discount Corporation in Greenville.

The bridegroom is a graduate of the Ayden High School. He attended North Carolina State College in Raleigh and served with the U. S. Army.

For her son's wedding Mrs. Hardee chose a navy blue crepe dress with matching accessories and a corsage of red roses.

Following the ceremony the couple received in the vestibule of the church.

For travel on a wedding trip to unannounced points, Mrs. Hardee changed to a brown silk dress. She wore a winter white hat and gloves with brown shoes and bag. Completing the outfit was a fur cape and the orchid lifted from her wedding bouquet.

After October 28 the couple will be at home in Ayden.

Cake Cutting

Members of the Hardee-Vincent wedding party and other invited guests were entertained at a cake cutting at the home of the bridegroom's parents Mr. and Mrs. David Hardee, following the rehearsal Saturday evening.

The refreshment table was covered with a linen cloth and centered with an arrangement of white carnations flanked with burning tapers.

After the bridal couple had cut the first slice from the three tiered wedding cake, Mrs. James C. Vincent, sister-in-law of the bride, served cake.

Mrs. Hardee poured punch from the opposite end of the table and Miss Fay Hardee assisted in serving mints and salted nuts.

Mrs. Ernest White presided at the register.

No Choice But To Affirm That Vote

It should be embarrassing to Greenville officials to have to call local citizens to the polls again to vote on a bond issue already approved in a referendum.

We do not know whose fault it was that the technicality which requires the new election was not complied with initially. Perhaps it could not be avoided. That, however, is not the most important thing at present.

The important thing is that the people of Greenville go to the polls again on November 20 and vote in favor of the six bond issues which total $275,000 for capital improvements for the city.

When the bond election was held the first time on July 10, voters approved overwhelmingly all six of the bond issues. When voters go to polls on November 20 they will be voting again on the same bond issues, not additional bond issues.

After the favorable vote of July 10, city officials were under the impression that all requirements had been complied with and the bonds would be sold. On that assumption they have entered contracts for the expenditure of some of the bond funds for items which were included in the issue. But because the initial vote on the question has been declared invalid, money from the bond issues cannot be obtained until the questions are once more approved by voters.

In short the city finds itself in this situation: It has obligated to spend bond money it does not have. Unless voters approve the bond issues again in the new election, the city will not have the funds for which it is already obligated and other funds to carry out proposed projects.

It is more important than ever, therefore, that Greenville voters give their approval a second time to this bond issue.

Legally, the bond issue has not been decided by voters of the city. The decision made at the polls on November 20 will be final. The outcome of that referendum will determine whether the city issues bonds of $26,000 for the Fire Department; $15,500 for the Street Department; $24,000 for street improvement; $16,000 for drainage of Green Mill Run; $131,500 for street drainage; and $62,000 for recreation facilities.

Greenville needs all the permanent improvements this bond money will afford. The situation behooves local citizens to go to the polls on November 20 and for the second time give their overwhelming approval to these bond issues.

Stevenson Damaging His Election Chances

Aldi Stevenson's double talk about eliminating H-bomb tests and ending the draft are doing more to hurt chances of a Democratic victory in November than any other one thing which has transpired during the current campaign.

The more Stevenson pushes his issue of ending H-bomb tests the more confusing his stand on the matter comes. As a matter of fact the situation has now reached the point where it appears to many that Stevenson himself doesn't know where he stands.

Does he mean that the United States should end its H-bomb tests regardless of what other nations do? Does he mean that the United States should renew attempts to gain a world-wide agreement on banning H-bomb tests and use? Does he mean that the United States should end its tests and then try to persuade Russia to do likewise?

Various statements Stevenson has made in the past few months would indicate all these things. So far as we have been able to learn, he has not concisely clarified just what he means.

In his latest statement he advocates ending tests but continuing H-bomb research. What good will research do if we are unable to ascertain the results of our research through actual tests? Will we know how effective the research has been or what progress we have made if we are unable to test?

Modern history has taught the free world that it cannot preserve peace against aggressors by denuding itself of arms and the material necessary to make war. History has clearly shown a decisive defeat of efforts to preserve peace every time the freedom loving nations have sought to negotiate from weakness rather than strength.

We again call the Democratic candidate's attention to the party platform which pledges the party to untiring efforts to strengthen the defense of the nation. We have yet to see how the major defense measures advocated by Stevenson—ending H-bomb tests and ending the draft—will contribute to world peace and the strengthening of the defenses of the free world.

Fewer Republicans In 1957 Assembly

By LYNN NISBET

LEGISLATORS — Indications are that there will be fewer Republicans in the 1957 General Assembly than in any previous session. The 1955 count was ten Representatives and one Senator, the lowest number in many years. Predictions are that there will be not more than seven in the House and possibly two in the Senate next time.

The 24th district comprising counties of Davis, Yadkin and Wilkes has always had a Republican Senator, and Pat Eilers of Wilkes is rated to win over C. P. Jones of the same county this year. The 30th district — Avery, Madison, Mitchell and Yancey — went Democratic in 1954 for the first time in many years. Sen. B. H. Winters may hold his seat, but he is up against John C. McBee of Spruce Pine, one of the potent figures among mountain Republicans. Odds are about even, with slight edge given the Republican. They do not have a chance in any other district.

The ten counties represented by Republicans in 1955 were Avery, Caldwell, Cherokee, Graham, Henderson, Mitchell, Randolph, Transylvania, Wilkes and Yadkin.

Cherokee does not have a candidate this year. The man nominated resigned and his place was not filled. Death of the veteran Ralph Fisher leaves Transylvania almost certain to land in the Democratic column. The situation in Henderson will be affected by the death of Sheriff W. G. McCall, whose personal popularity and political know-how was a big asset to the local Republicans. Rep. W. T. McShane, who represented the county last time, was defeated in the primary. Odds favor election of a Democrat to the House to work with Sen. Lee Whitmore, who is rated certain to be elected. Caldwell and Randolph are rated better chances to name Democrats than two and four years ago, although popularity of Reps. John Anderson and Ed Gavin will be hard to overcome.

SWITCHES — To offset Republican losses, there is prospect they may pick up members in Davis and Madison, with somewhat less chance in Polk. G. M. Alexander, Catawba and Graham are traditionally border counties. The Republican state chairman lives in Taylorsville and his is making all out effort to

Unaffected By His Jackpot

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Charles Mercer is an unusual author.

Not merely because he has hit the literary jackpot with "Rachel Cade," a best-selling novel that stands to net him some $200,000 when all the returns are in.

What makes Mercer unusual is that he sees no reason why practically anyone who can stand being lonely can't do the same thing.

"Writing does require a certain bent," he said, "but anyone who can tell a suspenseful situation in two pages—even in a letter—can eventually write and sell fiction."

"The difference between those who do and those who don't is largely self-discipline. Writing is an antisocial sport. Many people don't write because they can't stand being lonely. Writing is the loneliest industry on earth."

He had at last mastered the technique of fiction writing. During a subsequent 21-month hitch in the Army during the Korean War he sold 10 stories and a couple of novelettes. He also later published two novels, "The Narrow Ledge" and "There Comes a Time," the story of a clergyman.

His real bonanza idea came during a trip to the Belgian Congo in 1954 to gather newsfeature stories. Africa had interested Charlie since he was a boy of 11, and he chose it as the locale for "Rachel Cade," a tale about a missionary nurse's search for love and understanding in defying the ancient tribal taboos of the dark continent.

Charlie wrote the novel in a year on weekends in 12-hour Saturday and Sunday sessions at the typewriter. It was an immediate hit. The Literary Guild picked it for its current selection, the Woman's Home Companion bought serial rights, and RKO snapped it up for the movies. It is being published in three foreign editions, "including the Scandinavian."

Their sudden leap to prosperity has made no difference in the lives of either Alma or Charlie, who plans to continue writing his daily column.

The North American experience in democracy is by all odds the most amazing circumstance in world history.

Think of it for a moment. This vast territory, containing only a few hundred thousand aborigines, continued probably for centuries to be an empty continent. In the United States alone, 500 times as many people now live in this area as lived here when the Indians owned the land. The same, to a lesser degree, is true in Canada. In 1949 he finally sold a short story for $750 to the Saturday Evening Post. Then he made a big decision.

"I read everything I had written up till then, and decided it was all worthless," Mercer said. "So I took it out to the backyard and burned it—150,000 words on which I'd spent three years."

But he had at last mastered the technique of fiction writing. During a subsequent 21-month hitch in the Army during the Korean War he sold 10 stories and a couple of novelettes. He also later published two novels, "The Narrow Ledge" and "There Comes a Time," the story of a clergyman.

Congratulations, Best Wishes To A New Daily

The Reflector welcomes to the field of afternoon daily newspapers in North Carolina the Morganton News-Herald which will make the jump from a semi-weekly to a daily newspaper on October 29.

Under the direction of its publisher Miss Beatrice Cobb, the News-Herald has been for a number of years one of the outstanding non-daily newspapers in the state. For the past 23 years it has been an aggressive semi-weekly newspaper serving Morganton and Burke County. As a daily newspaper the News-Herald will be in a position to be of greater service to the people of its community and county.

Miss Cobb and her co-workers at the News-Herald have our congratulations and best wishes in this bold new venture.

Presently the odds favor Jonas and the Republicans, but the margin is being narrowed and Douglas has a long shot chance to win.

CONTRAST — State Senator Fred Bentley of Cobb county has announced his purpose to sponsor legislation designed to curb the power of the Governor of Georgia with respect to appointments and control over State fiscal policy. The South Carolina Legislature a few years ago enacted laws which greatly reduced the power of the chief executive.

That is in striking contrast with the present trend in North Carolina to give the Governor more authority in administration of State government. The fact is that while the constitution denies the North Carolina executive the right of veto on legislation, and does not permit him to appoint members of the Council of State, statutory provisions making him director of the budget and delegating more real power to appointive officials than is enjoyed by constitutional elective officers, the Governor of North Carolina has tighter control over State government than the chief executive of many other states can exercise.

JUST ONE — There's just one "troutman" postoffice and railroad station in North Carolina. For many years the Ledell county town was designated as "Troutman" and the highway maps still read that way. But the "S" at the end of the name has been marked off the railroad station name and the postoffice.

Opinions In Brief

IT GAVE LIFE A ZING (Publishers' Auxiliary)

The other day, a friend of ours who keeps track of such things, told us that the trend in advertising is away from slogans and catch-phrases.

We hadn't noticed but we hope not. We grew up willing to "Ask The Man Who Owns One" and we were sure that "When It Rains, It Pours," and even that there would be "A Prize In Each and Every Package."

We hope that if the trend does exist it swings back in the other direction.

We liked it when we knew we "Would Walk a Mile for A" you-know-what and we were sorry when so and so "Green Went To War," and it was a wonderful feeling to drive through the country and pass a barn and not know it was full of, not just bored bovines but "Contented Cows."

IT GAVE LIFE A ZING TO IT.

A WELL-READ MAN (Know-How News-Sentinel)

Down in Corpus Christi, Tex., Manuel Garza has won a beef against the cops. He got arrested for drunk driving and was hustled off for a blood test. A policeman handed him a release to sign.

But Manuel was sober enough to insist on reading the fine type and darned if he wasn't giving his consent for amputation of a leg! Naturally he refused to sign anything, and when the police sheepishly admitted to the judge that the wrong form had been used, Manuel went free.

Let it be a lesson to you. Never get blind drunk in more than one eye at a time.

Other Editors Are Saying...

(Wall Street Journal)

The House Government Information subcommittee, headed by Representative Moss, has scored a modest little victory in its continuing battle for the right of the public to know what goes on in Government.

The California Congressman had induced the Treasury Department to rescind its rule to keep secret the names of people who are fined or penalized $1,000 or more for violating the import regulations. From now on the Bureau of Customs will make public the names of all those who are guilty.

How will that help you ask? Well, in the first place, when a man knows that if he is caught violating the law all he will have to do is pay out a little more money, he is likely to look on the whole system as a license for violating the law.

We would certainly be among the last to suggest that the primary responsibility of newspapers is to engage in do-goodism; its primary responsibility is to print the news. But the fact is that printing the names of wrongdoers is sometimes a mighty strong deterrent to others. Paying a secret fine is nothing; facing their families, friends, and neighbors is quite a different thing.

More importantly, the public is entitled to know who is trying to cheat the Government on import duties just as the public is entitled to know who cheats the Government on income tax payments, or who has lost his license for reckless driving. To protect the identity of lawbreakers, it seems to us, is to condone the breaking of law.

But for those who aren't unduly disturbed over the former secret about import violations, Mr. Moss offers another example he hopes will wake up the public to what goes on.

Under the present regulations, bar owners who water their whiskey and are caught by Federal agents are fined. But nobody but the agents and the Government and the bar owner know the man cheated. And the bar owner can go right on watering his whiskey until he's caught again and the customers who don't notice the dilution go right on getting cheated. The Government says nobody can tell on the cheaters.

Well, things have gone pretty far when regulations put the Government in cahoots with a man who is stealing just as much as if he had his hand in your pocket. Instead of in your whiskey glass. We thought, perhaps that example of Government secrecy would pick you up.

Protecting The Guilty

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON In no Presidential election have the women been wooed or propagandized more earnestly than in the Eisenhower-Stevenson contest. It is obvious recognition of the fact that, besides their subtle influence on the male members of their families, they outnumber men voters.

This factor has increased the importance of such home-and-mother issues as the cost of living, higher pay, old-age safeguards, schools, hospitals, low-cost homes, etc. It has transformed politics into a household affair.

There was a time, even since women's suffrage was granted, when the women left these matters to their husbands and fathers. Now, the dinner table and living room, especially, and radio sets, have become debating forums. Even the children join in the arguments.

It is HAPPY AUGURY The Republicans profess to regard this development as a happy augury, for they conclude from field reports that President Eisenhower has a distinct edge over Adlai E. Stevenson with the "family vote." His friendly and homey personality, they believe, is supposed to appeal more strongly and directly than Stevenson's type.

Although the world still lives in an uneasy tension, the women seem to consider like a "man of peace." It matters not that both the Korean and Indo-China settlements constituted a territorial gain for the Communists. The overriding emotional fact is that their men were brought back from a "shooting war," and were able to find jobs awaiting them.

EFFECT OF DOMINANCE OF WOMEN'S VOICE The dominance of the women's vote has even effected changes in campaign techniques. No President before Eisenhower associated his wife so completely and so intimately with his stumpings. It was discovered in 1952 that the image of Ike as "a fine father diminished. That is the weight of the labor vote, and this, too, may be a gain for the GOP.

With average industrial pay at $2 an hour, the workmen and their wives now regard themselves as members of the great "middle class." There do not exist the sharp social and economic divisions or cleavages on which F.D.R. and Harry S. Truman capitalized so successfully at the ballot box.

DEMOCRATS' CHARGE BLUNT-ED The fact appears to have blunted and weakened the Democrats' indictment that the Administration "favors the rich over the poor." With the growth of pension and retirement funds depending so heavily on returns from corporations' stock, and with so many workmen investing in securities and other forms of personal wealth, they have a greater stake in business and industry than ever before. It is this development which led Ike to ask in a tone of indignation:

"How can anybody (I say) call any American a 'little man'?"

Deception Out Of Inflation

By ELMER ROESSNER

The idea that inflation—or whatever we are having now—tends to deceive the populace seems to be supported by the Chicago Federal Reserve Bank.

In its October issue of "Business Conditions," the bank states: "It is now clear that the current year will set a new record for over-all activity—not all lines of activity, but for virtually all aggregate measures. The value of the nation's output of goods and services was running 5 per cent ahead of last year in the second quarter and it now appears that results for the year as a whole will approximate that gain."

Then the bank exposes a bit of economic legerdemain. It says: "But advances in dollar measures of activity are being influenced more and more by higher prices. Between 1954 and 1955 the nation's output of goods and services rose 7 per cent in real terms. In 1956, after adjustment for price changes, the increase may be about 2 per cent."

WHAT THAT MEANS

Many people think 1956 is the biggest boom year in history. True, the economy was reaching new high marks both in dollars and real values—but the increase over 1955 is really less than a third of the increase in 1955 over 1954.

In terms of real values, according to the Chi Fed, that $5 raise you got was only $2—and if you didn't get a raise of 2 or 3 per cent so far this year, you've actually failed badly.

That $50,000 increase in dividends that was poured on the stock market last year, $20,000 more in yachts and assorted luxuries. And the $5,000,000 rise in net earned by your corporation is a lot less than it seems. Maybe the company can't buy up a dozen smaller ones after all.

The Department of Commerce's recent report on personal income is interesting in this connection.

GAINS LESS THAN THEY SEEM

Commerce reported that total personal income in 1955 was $306.1 billion, and during the first eight months of 1956 at an annual rate of $321.8 billion. That's a seeming gain of 5 per cent but, as the Chi Fed pointed out, a real gain of only 2 per cent.

Incidentally, the figures show that labor is not doing badly at all. In 1955, while the total personal income was $306.1 billion, wages and salaries were $210.4 billion. In August, at annual rates, the total was $322.2 billion, of which wages and salaries constituted $227.1 billion.

In percentages, wages and salaries rose from 68.7 per cent of the total to 69.2 per cent.

The wages and salaries category includes those fancy, six-figure salaries paid top corporate executives, but the salaries constitute only a tiny part of the whole—and most of them go for income taxes.

Government figures on the purchasing power of the dollar, based on Department of Labor statistics, bear out the idea supported by the Chi Fed. If the dollar was worth a dollar in 1947 to 1949, it was worth 90.3 cents in the wholesale market during an average 1955 month and 87.3 cents in August, 1956. In the consumer market, it was 87.3 cents in 1955 and 85.6 in August.

But if you go back to 1935-39 as the 100-cents base, the buck in Charlie since he was a boy of 11, and he chose it as the locale for "Rachel Cade," a tale about a missionary nurse's search for love and understanding in defying the ancient tribal taboos of the dark continent.

The Senior Class play "Granddad Goes Wild", will be presented in the High School auditorium Friday night at 8 o'clock. From the way the whole class has been practicing, it seems that they are wild about the play.

Girls and boys have begun basketball practice and both are looking forward to good seasons this year. The teams will have their first practice game November 2 against Jamesville in the Stokes gym.

The girls have received new warm-up coats this year.

Cheerleaders for the Blue Jays are also hard at work practicing their routines and progressing favorably under head cheerleader Sylvia Nelson. Other cheerleaders are Betty ou Jones, Sally Lee, Janice Crandell, Nellie Ruth Stallings and Annette Hudson.

The cheerleaders have a feeling they will be the best-dressed in the county this year. Last year they received new sweaters and this year will add blue wool skirts with a taffeta lining and tights.

Oklahoma Heads List Of Favorites This Weekend

Only One Big 4 Team Picked To Hit Win Column

By HAROLD CLAASSEN
NEW YORK (AP)—Eight of 11 selections involving Southern college football teams were wrong last week. In all, there were 30 correct guesses and 13 wrong ones for an average of 696. That makes the season's total 134 right and 89 wrong for 787.

Here are this week's winners—after a menu well spiced with hominy grits and corn pone:

Oklahoma over Kansas: The Sooners' No. 1 position is being threatened. That will be Kansas' one Saturday.

Michigan State over Notre Dame: Notre Dame's sophomores to get a liberal education watching Michigan State halfbacks Clarence Peaks and Walt Kowalczyk operate.

Georgia Tech over Auburn: The way Auburn handled Kentucky last week was a surprise. This time the Plainsmen will get the surprise.

Mississippi over Tulane: A neighborhood argument that likely will be decided by Paige Cottrill's efforts in the Rebel backfield.

Michigan over Northwestern: It simply isn't in the cards for the Wildcats to claw their way to victory in this one.

Southern California over Washington: The Trojans have had a lot of trouble during the past year, including a 7-0 setback by Washington in 1955. USC gets revenge this time.

Ohio State over Penn State: Day by day, in every way, the Buckeyes get better and better.

Iowa over Hawaii: Victory No. 4 for the Iowans.

Syracuse over Army: The Cadets will be grateful that there are not 11 Jim Browns.

Skippering over the others in a hurry:

FRIDAY NIGHT
George Washington over Virginia Military, Denver over Colorado College.

SATURDAY

EAST: Villanova over Boston University, Harvard over Columbia, Dartmouth over Holy Cross, Navy over Cincinnati, Brown over Penn. Virginia over Lehigh, Colgate over Princeton, Boston College over Rutgers, Yale over Cornell.

MIDWEST: Dayton over North Carolina State, Tulsa over Detroit, Colorado over Iowa State, Missouri over Kansas State, College of Pacific over Marquette, Illinois over Minnesota, Nebraska over Indiana, Houston over Oklahoma A&M, Wichita over Drake, Wisconsin over Purdue.

SOUTH: Davidson over Stetson, Pittsburgh over Duke, Wake Forest over Florida State, Kentucky over LSU, Mississippi State over Arkansas State, Virginia Tech over Richmond, Vanderbilt over Florida, West Virginia over William & Mary, Tennessee over Alabama, Miami over Georgia, Maryland over North Carolina.

SOUTHWEST: Southern Methodist over Rice, Texas over Arkansas, Texas A&M over Texas Christian.

FAR WEST: UCLA over California, Montana over Brigham Young, Arizona over New Mexico, Stanford over Oregon, Utah State over Colorado A&M, Oregon State over Washington State, Wyoming over Utah.

PHANTOM LINEMEN—Roy Martin and Angus Duff, two Greenville High School tackles, will be the heaviest men in the Phantom forward wall when the locals battle New Bern this weekend. Against a line that averages 210 pounds, Martin will weigh in at 175 and Duff at 185. Both play full-time for Coach Guy Lewis' outfit, excelling on defense as well as offense. Both are veterans, having been regulars in last year's front wall.

Phantoms To Meet Heavy, Powerful New Bern Outfit

Coach Guy Lewis' Greenville high school gridders have been undergoing a strenuous preparation routine this week, as they set themselves for one of the toughest encounters of their season, at New Bern.

The New Bern Bears, a very real contender for the Northeastern AA Conference crown, are one of the largest teams in the state. The Bear forward wall averages approximately 210 pounds per man. This far, the New Bern club has roamed through conference play undefeated, while taking three victories and tying Washington 0-0.

Under a new coach this season, Sam Arbes, the Bears have a big, strong club that operates from the straight T formation. Using pure brute strength to conduct much of

Mantle Best In Indian Coach Has Past 15 Seasons

NEW YORK (AP)—Mickey Mantle won the American League slugging championship in 1956 with the highest average in 15 years. The New York Yankees' star center fielder piled up 376 total bases in 533 times at bat for a .705 mark.

Figures compiled by The Associated Press today also revealed Duke Snider of the Brooklyn Dodgers was the National League's pacesetter. He edged Milwaukee's Joe Adcock—598 to 597.

The titles were the second for both Mantle and Snider.

Mantle, who also led the junior circuit in batting, runs batted in and home runs, numbered 79 extra-base hits among his 188 safeties last season. In addition to his 32 four-baggers, the 24-year-old switch-hitter had 22 doubles and 5 triples.

Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox, runner-up to Mantle with a .603 average, was the last player to have a better than .705 slugging mark. He finished with 735 in 1941.

Yogi Berra of the Yankees and Charley Maxwell of Detroit wound up in a third-place deadlock the past season. Both showed 531 in '55.

Snider, the National League's leader in home runs with 41, also cracked 33 doubles and a pair of three-baggers among 158 hits for 324 total bases.

Hank Aaron of the Braves, the NL's batting champ, tied Cincinnati's Frank Robinson for third place. Each slugged 538.

Eppes Prepares For Homecoming With Goldsboro

Eppes high school's Bulldogs are preparing for their biggest game of the season, when they will tangle with the Goldsboro eleven, here for Homecoming.

Goldsboro, a AAA Conference team, is currently riding high in the loop with only one loss to their credit. They dropped a narrow 14-13 game to Kinston early in the season.

Coach Percy Daniels has been putting the Bulldogs through a vigorous defensive drill pattern this week. The locals will meet the visitors with a host of injuries in key places, which gives Goldsboro a tremendous edge in rankings for the contest.

Center Joe Tyson will be out of action with a bad ankle injury. Joe Baker, one of the team's top backs, according to Daniels will also miss the game. He is expected to be on the injured list for two weeks with a muscle injury. John Jenkins, an end who has been out for the past week from an injury, will be back in the lineup against the visiting Dillard High School crew.

Coach Daniels commented further that William Teel has been shifted from an inside post to an end position to strengthen the Bulldog offense and defense. Expected to pace the locals against Dillard, at Guy Smith Stadium, will be Virgil Lynch, freshman quarterback and signal caller. In the line, Big James Brewington, a 265 pound tackle, will be the stalwart.

Reds, Golds In 6-6 Tie; White Drop Blues 6-0

In Midget football, a survey of recently completed games found the Whites dropping the Blues by a 6-0 margin and the Reds and Golds battling to a 6-6 tie.

Games, this afternoon, are being played on the football field at Elm Street Park. Only four teams are registered in the program for boys under the age of 14.

Scoring the only touchdown of the Blue-White contest, halfback Jack Merkin grabbed a punt in the early minutes of the game and raced 60 yards to the goal.

The rest of the contest consisted of smart defensive play by both squads. For the Whites, Cozart, Morris, Merwin and Starling were outstanding. Felton, Forbes, Pierce, Hunning and Waters were tops for the losers.

In the 6-6 Gold-Red tie game, a 26-yard pass from Joyner to Roberts set up the first score, and Joyner then blasted four yards to a touchdown for the Reds.

Aycock, of the Golds, recovered an enemy fumble on the 16 yard line and quarterback James then sneaked over from the five moment later.

Ken Joyner, Don Joyner Roberts, and Jenkins were the standouts for the Reds. Aycock, Smith, Surles, James, Andressen and Foley were most effective for the Golds.

McDonald Seeks Selection Again

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Tommy McDonald, Oklahoma's nimble split-T halfback who appealed for the option play, has taken a long step toward repeating as a member of the All American team.

The 170-pound speedster from Albuquerque, N.M., was chosen Back of the Week in the first such 1956 poll of sports writers and broadcasters conducted by The Associated Press.

McDonald was the principal instrument in the 45-0 rout of Texas last Saturday at Dallas. He scored three touchdowns, tying with a teammate Clendon Thomas in the point-making department.

He scored one touchdown on a 44-yard run and a second on a 53-yard pass play, on which he caught a 35-yard heave and ran an additional 18 yards. The third score was made from four yards out on a plunge.

In all, McDonald gained 160 of his team's 399 yards on the ground. In addition, he caught two passes for 61 yards, returned a kickoff 34 yards and passed 27 yards once to set up a fourth touchdown. He had a 47-yard run canceled by a penalty.

Sunday's Micro Races Slated As Biggest Yet

ZEHRING—Playing his first season of football for East Carolina, Ralph Zehring has turned in outstanding work as a passing quarterback this year, behind Dick Cherry and Gary Matlocks. A former Virginia high school All-Star, the 5-10, 160-pounder from Alexandria, is in line to capture the signal-calling position next fall and will continue the ECC tradition of "golden armed quarterbacks", according to school publicity. (ECC Photo by Henry).

Proceeds To Go To Mental Fund For Pitt Clinic

Sunday, Oct. 21, the Micro Midget Race Club will sponsor the "biggest race" ever held on the Greenville track. Proceeds from the event will be turned over to the Pitt County Mental Health Association.

A very worthy cause, the Pitt County Mental Health fund, will benefit from the race action. The fund is a project to aid operation of the free Pitt County Mental Health Clinic.

Cars from all over the state as well as some out-of-staters, will be present to feature the largest field of racers yet to perform here, according to track officials. Expected to enter the event are a total of 35-40 cars.

A tentative slate for the events has been issued. There will be two heat races, however winners of those matches will not be in the consolation race. For the 40-lap main event, all drivers will be eligible.

Plans are being made to have the Quarter Midget racers of Rocky Mount present at the Sunday trials. These are tiny power-driven soap-box type racers, driven by boys between the ages of seven and nine.

Outstanding drivers from Raleigh, Fayetteville, Williamston, Kinston, Grifton, Ayden, Wilmington, Norfolk and Portsmouth are expected to be on hand for the Benefit races.

Several weeks ago, the world's record was equaled on the Greenville track in speed. A field of 22 cars finished a 40-lap main event race in 13 minutes, a distance of 10 miles, for an average of 55-60 miles per hour.

Logart Presses Ring Campaign Against Ortega

BOSTON (AP)—Isaac Logart, third-ranked contender for the world's welterweight title, presses his campaign for a higher rating while meeting durable Gaspar Ortega tonight in a 10-round nationally-televised bout at Mechanics Building.

Logart, a 23-year-old Cuban with speed and punching power, rules upwards of a 3-1 favorite over Ortega whose chief claim is that he never has been knocked out in 41 pro bouts.

The Cuban flash from Kid Gavilan's hometown of Camaguay is invading Boston for the second time in three months in his attempt to get a shot at Boston's Tony De Marco, former welter champion now the No. 1 contender.

Promoter Johnny Buckley is holding $10,000—for all to see—as a guarantee to De Marco to meet Logart. De Marco, who defeated Gavilan in Boston Garden last Saturday, isn't saying anything.

Logart will be placing a nine-bout winning streak on the line when he enters the ring against Ortega. Ortega, from Mexicali, Mexico, is unranked in the 147-pound class.

The bout, set for 9 p.m. (EST), is scheduled for national television (ABC).

The public has been invited to the barbecue supper in the Falkland lunchroom Friday night from 6 o'clock until 8 o'clock. Plates will be sold for 50 cents and one dollar and proceeds will go to the Falkland Community Building.

The Beta Club held its first meeting Wednesday with President Wade Lewis presiding.

Club members discussed plans for the projects which are baby-sitting for parents who want to attend P. T. A. meetings, keeping the teachers' lounge clean, and popping popcorn at basketball games.

Mrs. Dorothy Hardy, club advisor, suggested that the members take it upon themselves to get the honor roll and principal's list each marking period.

THE BLONDE DIED DANCING

CHAPTER 24

"Oliver succumbed scarcely at all to Anita's charms," Leone said to me. "But he had driven her home once after work, he'd come up with her for a nightcap . . . it was before he and I . . . before we'd fallen in love. She did get him to admit she was a very attractive young woman. Oh, to be honest, he did get excited about her, but it was more ludicrous than lurid. But, as Anita pointed out to me, if she played that tape over the P.A. system at the school . . . which she threatened to do . . . he'd be laughed right out of business. Actually, he would have died of shame. You know Oliver Bell."

"So there was nothing at all for me to do . . . except move out of Anita's apartment as soon as I could. I don't know if Oliver ever learned about the existence of that recording. Certainly I'd never humiliate him by mentioning it. But I think he doesn't know. I can't believe Anita would ever have gone so far as to try to blackmail Oliver. No matter what the consequences might be, I'm certain he's too moral a man ever to pay blackmail."

"So you understand, Hester," Leone said emphatically. "I'm convinced that Oliver would never be suspected of Anita's murder. It wasn't to save him from that that I wanted the tape. It wasn't that important. But I was working late at the school last night. I heard one of the policemen talking on the phone; they were going to take the guard off Anita's place. I still had a key to her apartment . . . and I knew where the tapes were hidden. I saw the chance to eliminate the possibility that Oliver might be embarrassed by that tape if the police . . . or some unscrupulous person found it. I'd just got inside her apartment when I heard someone in the hall. I was terrified. I waited and waited . . . then I heard someone at the window. I grabbed one lamp . . . it was all I had time to get . . . and made a dash for it. That's all there is. But I'm sorry I hit you, Hester."

"You hit me with the lamp?"

"Yes . . . I didn't know it was

you. I'm sorry, I might have hurt you badly."

"Even if you had known it was I, you still would have hit me, wouldn't you?"

"Yes," she said. "Of course."

We smiled at each other, Leone and I. Then she said, "I wish I could prove to you that I destroyed all the tapes I found."

"I'm not worried," I said. "I know you won't be blackmailing me. Nice conversation, isn't it?"

"Isn't it? Let's break it up, shall we? I have to get back. Aren't you going to eat your sandwich?"

"No, I don't want it."

"I don't blame you. I feel slightly nauseous, too. Hester, you will destroy them, won't you? The tapes you found?"

"Maybe," I said. "I'll think about it."

We paid our check.

There was a phone message waiting for me when Leone and I returned to the school. The girl who was spelling Leone at the reception desk handed me a slip of paper. I was to call the number on it. It was Steve's office phone.

I said, "How long ago did this call come in?"

"Just a few minutes ago."

"Hester," Leone said, "you can use one of my phones here."

I smiled sweetly and turned down the office. Leone's curiosity about me would have to go unsatisfied for a while longer. I used a phone booth in the hall. I caught Steve just as he was leaving. Another few seconds and I would have missed him. I could tell from his voice he was excited.

"I think," he said, "I've got the dope on the guy Stubby killed."

"Walter," I said. "Yes?"

"There's a story in the August 19th paper, last August. A Walter F. Stone, aged forty-six, fell out inside her apartment from a window in his office at 923 West Twenty-third street. He died instantly. He lived at the Waller Hotel. There were no known relatives. How does that sound to you, Connie?"

"The date's right . . . August. And falling from a window . . . that's right, too."

"I'm going to that office address. There might be someone

Town Will Build Statue To A Dog

WARRENSBURG, Mo. (AP)—This town plans a statue to "Old Drum," the hound who inspired a famous speech in 1870 by Sen. George Graham Vest of Missouri. The Chamber of Commerce has started a campaign to raise $2,500 for it.

Vest's famous tribute to dogs was delivered in a damage suit in which he represented a man whose dog had been shot by a neighbor in Warrensburg. The jury deliberated two minutes and awarded Vest's client $500.

A bronze plaque will carry Vest's declaration that: "A dog is the one absolutely unselfish friend that a man can have

Boys Take Their Politics Serious

LOS ANGELES (AP)—College boys are taking politics seriously. Police arrested Harold K. Kachigan, 18, for carrying a pistol at a Democratic rally on the University of Southern California campus. They said he had an unloaded .22-caliber revolver stuck in the waistband of his trousers.

Police quoted Kachigan as saying students of Republican persuasion were picketing the rally and he thought sight of the pistol might keep things peaceful.

around there that knew him."

"I'll meet you there."

"Do you think you should?"

"This is more important than anything I could accomplish here. It might even prove I'm wasting my time here. What's that address?"

"923 West Twenty-third."

"See you there, Steve."

"I'm leaving right away."

"So am I."

I stepped out of the booth and went back to Leone at the reception desk. She was alone but busy. I interrupted her; she was faintly annoyed. When she heard what I had to say she was vividly annoyed.

"Something's come up," I told her. "I've got to get away. Can you get a substitute for my four o'clock?"

"I shouldn't."

"But you will of course. Since I'm such an intimate acquaintance of yours now."

"You will be back for your seven and eight o'clocks."

"If I can."

"No, you've got to. Look, Hester, Mrs. Bell knows what goes on around here. I can cover you for one hour, but you miss tonight, too, he's going to start asking questions about you. You don't want that, do you?"

"No. All right. I'll be here."

I outran the closing doors of an elevator. I snatched a cab from a gent who couldn't have been going any place special. The cab driver was a career man. He got me away out on Twenty-third street just as Steve came hurrying down the block.

Number 923 was a large, dowdy building. There was a carpenter shop on the ground floor, but the proprietor hadn't spent any of his talent on the premises. We went into a vestibule at the right of the place. There was a battered old name case hanging on the wall without enough letters left to spell the tenants' titles completely. No attempt at all had been made to spell Walter F. Stone.

We rode the rickety self-service elevator up to the fifth floor and we found what we were looking for. Found more really than we had expected to find. The Bartons were getting lucky, and it was a nice change.

"The words 'Merry Toy Company' were most prominent on the crinkled glass of the office door. In the right hand bottom corner was the name Walter F. Stone. Beneath it was the name Frank Stubby."

"Frank Stubby," Steve said.

"Stubby," I said, "killed his business partner."

Steve tried the door; it was locked.

I followed Steve into the office of a twine company that was in business next door. An unhappy rather ill-kempt lady stenographer frowned at us. I guess the twine business wasn't booming, and Steve and I probably didn't look as if we used much twine.

Steve said, "Hello."

"That didn't get him any place. He said, 'The Merry Toy Company next door . . .'"

Miss Sour said, "Out of business."

"Mrs. Walter F. Stone . . ."

Miss Sour brightened a bit. "Dead."

"His partner, Frank Stubby . . ."

Miss Sour shook her head and shrugged.

"Is there anybody here who might know about him?"

Miss Sour didn't answer immediately. She was looking at by blonde hair and thoroughly disapproving of it. Finally, she said, "Try the carpenter downstairs. He the janitor for this building."

"Thanks," Steve said. "Do you enjoy being in twine?"

Miss Sour just glared at him.

Lingerie Leads In Shop Thefts

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Women's night-gowns, slips, panties and hose are more frequently stolen than any other items in a store, a private detective reports.

The odds are almost 5 to 1 that the thief is working in the shop, says Bill Keith, head of a Miami detective agency. He told a convention of the Council of International Investigators that "lingerie accounts for 41.5 per cent of all thefts."

Keith said men's furnishings, especially hose, ties, handkerchiefs and shorts, are next most popular with shoplifters and thieves. Then come cosmetics, notions, candy and ladies ready to wear. He said some 76 per cent of such thefts are committed by shop employees.

Professor Says Math Preferred

DENVER (AP)—Who says kids don't like math?

"If they had a choice they'd keep arithmetic and throw out sports," says Dr. Richard Madden, a professor of education at San Diego (Calif.) State College. He's in Denver as special consultant to public schools.

"That old law about school kids and math is all wrong. But, mathematics is a language. And teachers can't learn to talk it by going to college and studying calculus. They get it by working with kids. The problem is to get teachers to like it, too."

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK — The stock market dipped in slow trading early this afternoon.

Key issues were down fractions to a point or so. A few selected issues gained.

The performance was in the same sluggish, uncertain vein that has marked recent sessions in which no strong leadership has been exerted either up or down.

Although some stocks responded to individual news of their companies, there was not much stimulus to the market from the flood of third quarter earnings reports, most of them favorable.

Bullish economic news such as the Federal Reserve Board report that industrial production in September was back at the record 1955 rate had no apparent overall effect.

Leading steels, after their rise of yesterday, backed away. Copers continued their decline of yesterday on news of lower prices for the red metal.

Motors, oils, utilities, miscellaneous manufacturing and farm implement stocks edged downward.

Fedders Quigan gained around a point on news of its higher dividends. Johns-Manville was up a fraction following its higher earnings report for nine months. Eastman Kodak was a 1-point gainer in the wake of its 1 3/4-point slide of yesterday.

Losses of a point or so were taken by Bethlehem Steel, General Motors, Chrysler, Du Pont, Standard Oil (New Jersey) and Royal Dutch.

U. S. Steel, Youngstown and Ford dipped fractionally. Sears Roebuck, International Harvester and Caterpillar were other fractional losers.

American Telephone and Commonwealth Edison edged back. Anaconda and American Smelting were 1-point losers. Kennecott Copper and International Nickel dropped fractions. Chesapeake & Ohio posted a small gain. Other leading rails were unchanged or slightly lower.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off 50 cents to $178.80 with the industrials down $1.10, the rails unchanged and the utilities off 10 cents.

RALEIGH (N. C. D. A.) — Hog prices irregular. Tops of 15.75 to 17.00 at Rocky Mount; 16.50 to 16.25 at Tarboro, Enfield, Bethel, Scotland Neck and Jackson; 15.75 to 16.25 at Kinston, New Bern, and Benson; 16.25 at Hillsboro, Fayetteville, Clinton, Micro, Mount Olive, Elizabethtown; 16.00 at Rich Square, Lumberton, Smithfield, Wingate, Shallotte, Tabor City, Goldsboro, Mount Gilead, Siler City, Kenly, Newton Grove, Clarkton, Whiteville, Dunn, Bailey and Blackmans Crossroads; 15.75 at Farmville, Nahunta and Castle Hayne.

RALEIGH (N. C. D. A.) — North Carolina poultry markets: Fryers and broilers steady, farm price 17 to 17 1/2, mostly 17; f.o.b. plant 18 1/4 to 18 3/4.

Raleigh eggs steady. A large 48; Asheville eggs steady. A large 45-47.

HOMES FOR AMERICANS

MINIMUM EXCAVATION is needed for this modern split level house. The large recreation room under the bedroom wing is less than half a story below grade. Smartly contemporary in design, this house covers only 945 square feet—an economical size to build. Vertical sliding blinds with the tall windows of the extra-high living room. This is plan R-409AP by Alfred Ryder, architect for the Progressive Plan Service, 324 Citizens Bldg., Euclid Ave., Cleveland, Ohio.

Cub Scout Pack Will Be Talked At Church Meet

A meeting is scheduled to be held tomorrow night, 7:30, at the Immanuel Baptist Church for all parents who are interested in having their sons join a Cub Scout Pack.

Irby B. Jackson, Pastor of the Church, in his letter to parents who have boys Cub Scout age, said: "Cub Scouting is a program in which the whole family participates. It provides common interests for boys and parents. Its activities are started toward the home and neighborhood. These activities are built around the needs and interests of 8, 9 and 10 year olds."

"Since Cub Scouting requires the participation and cooperation of parents, it is necessary for you to learn about your part in the program. Therefore, you are asked to attend an organization meeting. If you wish your boy to become a member, your attendance at the meeting tomorrow night is vital."

Band Conductor Guest Of Rotary

Greenville Rotarians Monday evening heard Commander Charles Brender, conductor of the United States Navy Band, of Washington, D. C., and GIB Sandfer, tour manager of the band, in an "off-the-cuff" commentary on band operations and travels. The band appeared at East Carolina College Monday afternoon and evening.

Introduced, also, was Lieutenant Harold Fultz, assistant conductor of the band; Warrant Officer Anthony Mitchell, 1-3 in command; and Musician I-C L. P. Geiger, aide to commander Brender.

Introduced as a guest was the Rev. Irby Jackson, pastor of Immanuel Baptist Church, brother-in-law of Lieut. Fultz. A new Rotarian, Dr. Charles Pace, was presented and announcement made that he will be formally inducted later.

Sandfer, described the operations of the band and its travels at no additional expense to the taxpayers, covering geographic areas of the United States once in at least four of five years, and contributing to the musical enlightenment of people of all ages and tastes. A native of Texas and a former Rotarian, Sandfer in typical Texan manner regaled Rotarians with "tall tales and dry humor."

Commander Brender has been a member of the U. S. Navy Band for 44 years, rising to his position as conductor and recognized as a "top-flight" musician in the nation. He described the building of the band programs, and spoke in high appreciation of Lt. Fultz, recently named to the assistant leadership following the retirement of a veteran musician. The two had divided the conducting of the band at the afternoon concert.

Fultz, native North Carolinian, was chosen for his present position from 1600 U. S. Navy Band candidates. The program was arranged and presented by James Butler.
