League Wants Closer Liaison

ASHEVILLE — The North Carolina League of Municipalities was on record today as wanting closer liaison between state and municipal governments — particularly in matters involving finance.

The league adopted an 11-point legislative program at the close of its convention here yesterday, aimed at bringing this about. The program calls for "better housekeeping practices."

Mayor E. J. Evans of Durham was elevated to the presidency of the league succeeding Mayor Marshall Kurfees of Winston-Salem.

Mayor Phil Van Every of Charlotte endorsed a request of the State Department of Public Instruction for increased appropriations for school bus transportation inside corporate limits of towns and cities.

Ike, Adlai Start Big Business Talk

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS President Eisenhower and Adlai Stevenson, without dropping their H-bomb debate, today picked up another continuing campaign argument — big business.

Eisenhower, replying to Stevenson's repeated proposals that the United States take the lead in seeking an end to tests of large nuclear weapons, said last night it cannot be done under present conditions "for the sake of peace itself."

Stevenson, speaking in New York last night, and it is a matter of moral responsibility that "... we take the lead in curbing this ghastly killer," the hydrogen bomb.

Then, starting a 12-hour series of rallies in the New York City area, he shifted his attack today to what he called a Republican policy of "sneaking intimacy" toward big corporations.

He said small business is being "squeezed by the growing giants, buffeted by the merger movement, strangled by high interest rates."

"The Eisenhower administration seems to have confused genuine friendship for business with sneaking intimacy toward a few of its giants," he said. "And meanwhile, the big have gotten bigger and the small are disappearing."

Eisenhower, addressing a labor group in Washington last night, already had produced a statistical defense to the oft-repeated Democratic charges that his administration favors big business.

"During the years 1946-52, inclusive," he said, "corporate profits — after taxes — averaged 7.7 per cent of the national income. During the period since 1953 when this administration entered office, corporate profits — after taxes — have averaged 6.0 per cent of the national income."

Two Are Questioned In Robbery, Shooting

GASTONIA, N.C. — Two men arrested at a roadblock near Mount Holly today were brought here for questioning about a motel robbery here and the wounding of an off-duty Spartanburg, S.C., detective.

Police in Gaston County and Spartanburg County said they thought there might be a connection between the two incidents.

Gaston County police identified the men as Boyd Gardner and Arthur Hollowell. Mecklenburg County police said parole papers indicated both had lived in Wichita, Kan.

The men were held at the Gaston County jail, without charge.

Hodges Satisfied With Stevenson

RALEIGH — Gov. Hodges said today he is satisfied that if Democratic presidential candidate Adlai Stevenson were elected "we would have a much better chance" on the segregation issue than under the Eisenhower administration.

Hodges made the statement in commenting on a report by Neville Bennett, chairman of the South Carolina Democratic Party, that he felt Stevenson would take a "moderate" attitude toward the integration issue if elected.

Bennett was quoted as saying that numerous Southern governors, including Hodges, had interviewed Stevenson during his campaign "and the fact that Gov. Hodges and others supported him obviously means they were satisfied with their conversations."

Hodges said "We didn't ask him (Stevenson) specifically to commit himself" on the segregation issue. He added, however, "I was satisfied that under Stevenson we would have a much better chance and we could live better than we could on a comparative basis with the present administration."

RED SPRINGS, N.C. — Gov. Hodges today called for leadership among farmers, community leaders and others to diversify our crops "and strive to stabilize our year-round income and production by every possible means."

Hodges, in a speech prepared for delivery at the seventh annual fall festival here, said North Carolina must emphasize quality production and offer its products in a modern fashion for marketing and merchandising.

This, he asserted, calls for leadership among farmers, community leaders, professional people, farm agents, educators and others. He added, "It also means community leadership and initiative in the development of new and expanded local industries."

The governor said, "We want to encourage as many of our farm people as possible to continue to live on the farm or in rural areas so that they may enjoy the benefits of our great rural state with its good roads, good schools, rural churches, and so forth."

He added, "I believe we can do this and I believe that we will meet this challenge for a more diversified, better balanced economy for all our people."

Planes And Tanks Join In Battle To Crush Bold Hungarian Revolt

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — Many hundreds of persons were reported killed in an anti-Russian, anti-Communist revolution gripping the Hungarian capital today. Soviet tanks and troops went into action and Communist machine-guns and warplanes waged a fierce battle against the rebels.

Austrian travelers arriving tonight from Budapest said "many hundreds" had died. They reported Communist jet planes joined the Russian tanks and machine-guns to battle students and workers who defied a government ultimatum to surrender.

The travelers said many Hungarian soldiers refused to fight against their countrymen and actually gave the rebels active support by letting ammunition trucks fall into the workers' hands.

Budapest radio announced the rebels defied the latest Hungarian ultimatum to surrender and the battle, which began with peaceful demonstrations last night, roared into the night.

Direct telephonic communication with the city was cut off, but it was evident that casualties in the fighting were mounting by the score. A Westerner who reached Warsaw after traveling from Budapest said 150 persons were reported to have been killed when Russian tanks were brought into fighting outside the Hungarian Parliament building.

Russian tanks by the dozen were reported rolling through the streets and firing on blazing buildings. Budapest radio reported "numerous soldiers, citizens and members of the security forces" were slain in wild, riotous fighting which burgeoned from peaceful demonstrations against Moscow last night. The revolt dwarfed the anti-Russian demonstrations in satellite Poland.

Budapest radio announced soldiers had captured a machinery plant where rebels held out for three hours. It appealed to wives and trade unions to dissuade men from joining the demonstrations.

Indicating the fighting still was raging into this afternoon in the city of more than a million, the new government of Premier Imre Nagy extended an ultimatum zero hour for surrender of the rebels.

In apparent gesture of appeasement to the rebels, Communist leaders had removed Andras Hegedus as premier and installed Nagy, who was purged in 1955.

All through the night students, workers, off-duty soldiers and others shouted for Nagy as premier and demanded the expulsion of Soviet troops from Hungary. But when the Communist government gave in to the demands for Nagy, apparently the rebels were not to be appeased without some indication the Russians would get out.

The cry "Russies go home" mingled with gun fire near a statue of Stalin that young workers tried to topple.

Today's accounts of the fighting came from the official Budapest radio and from travelers who reached the Austrian frontier. Direct telephonic communication with Budapest was cut off after Andre Marton, AP correspondent there, gave a detailed account of the early hours of the uprising.

The rebellion was far more violent than that in Poland, where emphasis was on independence of the Communist party from Kremlin domination.

In Poland's case Soviet Communist boss Khrushchev already had backed down, accepted the idea of a free Polish nation and reportedly apologized for his bitter attacks on the Poles. Warsaw sources said he promised to call off Soviet military pressure which had been brought to bear against the new Polish regime.

In Hungary, the Russians apparently felt the time had come to use military force. Soviet troops joined Hungarian units against the rebels, in response to an appeal from the Communist government.

In Washington, top American officials expressed belief Russia's Eastern European satellite empire is beginning to crack up.

President Sets Six More Talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House today announced plans for six campaign speeches by President Eisenhower next week, including talks in three of the four Southern states he carried in 1952.

The President will make three separate trips. They will take him into Florida, Virginia, Texas, Oklahoma, and Pennsylvania.

Eisenhower has scheduled six speeches during the three tours. James C. Hagerty, presidential press secretary, emphasized that the President will return to Washington at the end of each day.

The President will do that, Hagerty said, primarily to keep in close touch with the "fast breaking developments in the (Soviet) satellite nations." That was a reference to the unrest in such countries as Poland and Hungary.

Here is Eisenhower's campaign schedule for next week: MONDAY — He will leave Washington at 8:40 a.m. and fly to Miami, Fla., speaking at International Airport there at noon.

He then will fly on to Jacksonville, Fla., arriving there at 2:05 p.m. for a talk at Ineson Airfield.

The next stop will be Byrd Field at Richmond, Va., for an airport address about 4:40 p.m. Then he will return to Washington.

WEDNESDAY — He will leave Washington at 8:30 a.m. and arrive at Love Field in Dallas, Tex., at 12:30 p.m. for an address at the airport.

Then he will fly on to Oklahoma City for a talk at Will Rogers Field there about 2:25 p.m. then return to Washington.

THURSDAY — Eisenhower will make a major nationwide address on television and radio — NBC — from Convention Hall in Philadelphia at 9:30 p.m. EST. He will travel to Philadelphia by train from Washington, leaving the capital at 6:30 p.m.

Eisenhower will return to Washington that evening but there has been no decision yet as to whether he will return by train or plane.

Hagerty made it clear that Eisenhower will be making additional campaign speeches after he concludes the itinerary announced today.

There have been reports the President will conclude his campaign on election eve Nov. 5, with a major address in Boston.

Hagerty said the original plan had been to make a two-day trip out of the visits to Florida and Virginia. Those plans were revised, he added, because of the situation in the Soviet satellite nations.

trial we have won" said State Atty. Gen. John Ben Shepperd.

Shepperd had accused the NAACP of 11 violations of state laws, principally solicitation of law suits, profit making and political activities.

The NAACP, which is chartered as a charitable, nonprofit organization, denied all charges and said much of Shepperd's evidence was obtained illegally.

"I want to correct some false impressions as to what this hearing is about," the judge, a veteran east Texas jurist, said in a brief statement accompanying the ruling.

"This is not an integration or segregation suit, but is one to determine if the defendants are operating and conducting their business within the laws of this state. It is not a suit to prohibit or prevent any individual group or organization from legally joining together for the purpose of bettering themselves.

"Everyone has a right to band together for the purpose of improving their lot in life, but their activities and goals must be in accordance with the law."

After the dinner meeting Powell told newsmen he wanted to clear up what he called a misunderstanding about yesterday's statement by James Hagerty, White House press secretary, that Powell had misquoted the President when he said Eisenhower favors jailing anyone disobeying court orders to desegregate schools.

He said he still is a Democrat and will support the party's candidates except for Stevenson.

"Anyone who is endorsed on the one hand by Eleanor Roosevelt and on the other by Eastland," he said of Stevenson, "has to be either a hypocrite, a liar, a double-talker or a double-dealer."

Investigating Patrolman D. E. Minshew identified the youngster as ZeLois Anne Williams of Farmville, R. 2.

Minshew said the child jumped out into the side of the passing car as she was walking home around 3 p.m. She had just gotten off the school bus on U. S. 258 and was walking with other children on the road.

Operator of the vehicle was identified by Minshew as Elmer Suckland of Walsenburg, R. 2.

The Williams child, who was knocked down by the impact, was taken to a Farmville doctor's office where she was treated for cuts and bruises and released.

The child is a student at H. B. Suggs school. No charges were placed.

44 True Bills Returned By Jury

The Pitt County Superior Court Grand Jury received 48 Bills of Indictment for consideration during the first week of court, returned 44 True Bills, and 4 were returned Not a True Bill.

The Grand Jury called in the County and City Superintendents of Schools for a report on previous recommendations. Both superintendents reported satisfactory progress in making improvements previously recommended by the Grand Jury.

The eighteen men of the Grand Jury expressed their appreciation to Judge Chester R. Morris, Solicitor Robert D. Rouse, Jr., and all County and State Officers and employees for their assistance during this session.

gerian rebellion, the Sultan's household made clear he would not travel in a French plane.

The Sultan had come to Tunisia to confer on a purported plan to bring peace to Algeria and to set it into a new union of North Africa.

The French trick which diverted the plane of rebel chiefs to French-run Algiers and waiting French troops instead of their destination in independent Tunisia kicked up a storm on both sides of the Mediterranean. The action touched off riots and protest strikes in both Tunisia and Morocco. Arab mobs killed nine persons — eight of them French — in the Moroccan town of Meknes.

French police reportedly threatened to stop working for the Moroccan government after four of their men were found slain.

Eight bodies of Europeans were found, this morning near the Portuguese bridge on the main road to Rabat, 100 miles east of Meknes.

Calls Stevenson 'Slave' To Dixie

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Rep. Adam Clayton Powell (D-N.Y.), given a police escort around pickets carrying Democratic party banners, last night called Adlai Stevenson "a slave to the Eastland-Talmadge-Long Dixiecrat bloc."

The Negro congressman, at an earlier Republican rally, described the three Southern Democrats — Sen. Eastland of Mississippi, former Gov. Talmadge of Georgia, and Sen. Long of Louisiana — as leaders of what he called "America's fifth column of native Fascists."

Powell's appearance at the evening gathering was delayed for two hours when pickets marched outside the auditorium. When he finally arrived, his police escort whisked him in a rear door where there were no pickets.

Powell told his predominantly Negro audience he had switched his support to president Eisenhower because of what he called the President's "positive, personal, continuing" support of civil rights.

He said he still is a Democrat and will support the party's candidates except for Stevenson.

"Anyone who is endorsed on the one hand by Eleanor Roosevelt and on the other by Eastland," he said of Stevenson, "has to be either a hypocrite, a liar, a double-talker or a double-dealer."

African Riots Kill 27 More

RABAT, Morocco (AP) — At least 27 persons — 21 of them European — today were reported killed in rioting touched off by French seizure of five top Algerian rebels.

Twenty-six farms in the rich agricultural country around Meknes were burned in the riots yesterday.

Today's Menu

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Toasted Ham and Cheese Sandwiches
Molded Grapefruit Salad
Cookies Beverage

MOLDED GRAPEFRUIT SALAD
Ingredients: 1 can (1 pound) grapefruit sections in medium syrup, 2 tablespoons strained lime juice, ginger ale, 1 envelope unflavored gelatin, 1-4 cup thinly sliced small pimiento-stuffed olives, salad greens, mayonnaise.
Method: Drain grapefruit sections thoroughly in a strainer over a 2-cup measure; cut whole sections in half. Add lime juice to grapefruit syrup; add enough ginger ale to make 2 cups. Pour off 1/2 cup of this liquid; sprinkle gelatin over it; allow to soften. Heat remaining liquid until almost boiling; stir in softened gelatin until dissolved. Chill until partly thickened; fold in drained grapefruit sections and sliced olives. Turn into individual molds; chill until set. Unmold and garnish with salad greens. Serve with mayonnaise. Makes 6 servings.
Note: You'll need most of a 12-ounce bottle of ginger ale for this salad.

Try Blonde Personality

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newscast Beauty Editor

WHAT DOES IT FEEL like to be a blonde?

How is it different from being brunette, redhead or Mrs. Mouse Hue?

One working girl, who has been all four within the year, says that being blonde is the last word in girldom—that she understands now why Marilyn Monroe and others enjoy the role and play it to the hilt.

"It's like being shot with high potency vitamins on top of Mt. Everest," says the girl with the new blonde look. "It makes you feel that you tower over other girls, except perhaps another blonde wearing a sable of chinchilla coat. It gives you poise, inflates your ego like nothing else in the world. It makes you feel pursued, even when you aren't."

The story about blondes being dizzy is absolutely true, she says, adding:

"You feel exhilarated all the time and you don't seem to have as many inhibitions as a redhead and none to compare with a brunette."

Miss Z, who prefers to keep her identity secret, was a total flop as a brunette. She wore her hair in a bun, combed straight back, wore large horn-rimmed glasses and wore black all the time "hoping to hide behind it." She felt drab all over, she says.

"I really wanted to be somebody else, but as a brunette I didn't feel up to it. Somehow nothing I wore looked right on me, and I couldn't look attractive no matter how I tried."

When Miss X became a redhead she started to emerge from her cocoon.

"I began to feel more extrovert inside, even though I didn't display it at once," she says, "and I needed more prodding to be my true self. So I decided to become blonde after eight months of being a redhead. Now I feel like I've joined the human race."

If you feel exhilarated inside, give yourself a chance to show it, this new blonde advises. But she cautions that you choose only an expert hair dyer and be willing to pay his price. She says:

"Whatever happens, you don't want a brassy-blonde look. Ash blonde is the popular shade now, and it looks natural."

at the church last night. The flowers and table decorations carried out an autumn theme.

Delegates to the meeting registered last night at 7 p.m. Approximately three hundred delegates are expected to attend this two-day meeting.

Mrs. George B. Moore of Tarboro, president, opened the meeting with a call to order. The entire session joined in singing "The Church's One Foundation." The Rev. Leonard W. Topping led the group in prayer.

"It is with pleasure that I welcome you to this 58th annual meeting of the Women of the Presbytery," Mrs. H. H. Bryant, president of the Women of the Greenville First Presbyterian Church, said at the opening of last night's meeting.

The church choir accompanied by Mrs. Guy Smith, organist, sang "The Heavens Are Telling" by Handel.

Mrs. J. E. Fountain, Tarboro, explained how the offering would be used. The money will help young people interested in becoming ministers, missionaries and workers of the church, she said. There is an "urgency for educated Christian youth and the leadership for today depends on Christians."

"The American people spent more on chewing gum during 1954-55 than they did on the Presbyterian Missions," declared Sheldon F. Koesy, last night's speaker.

Dean Koesy is a professor of Bible and dean of students at the Presbyterian Junior College at Maxton. Previous to this work, Koesy was with General Chennault's Flying Tigers. He was awarded the Purple Heart, the Air Medal with Oak Leaf Cluster, and Distinguished Flying Cross before leaving China. He is a member of the Air Force Reserve with the rank of Captain.

Upon his return to the United States Koesy was stationed at Fort Meyers, Florida, until his release in 1945. He then resumed his education, studying law at the University of Miami. He is a native of Miami, Florida. He received his LIB degree in 1949 and was licensed to practice law in Florida.

But he gave up this career for the Christian ministry. Koesy graduated from the Columbia Theological Seminary, Decatur, Ga. in 1952.

Prophets Proclaimed . . .

Dean Koesy explained that the prophets in the "Bible" were "proclaimers of the mind of God. . . Thus saith the Lord." Adding that the prophets were not old hermit-bearded men who distilled fear, but rather men from common, everyday backgrounds. They were producers—told forth—instead of predictors.

He compared the Biblical prophets' messages and thus pointed out that today the same problems are faced they "told forth" of—national prosperity through graft, pleasure seekers, wives trying to "keep up with the Jones," and great church activity.

"With this great church activity do we find true devotion to the church?" he asked.

Koesy quoted some appalling facts that "five per cent of reported church members do not exist; ten per cent cannot be found; twenty per cent never pray; twenty-five per cent never read the 'Bible'; thirty per cent never attend church services; forty per cent never go to Sunday School; sixty per cent never go to church on Sunday night; seventy per cent never engage in any church activity; eighty per cent never attend prayer meeting; ninety per cent never have family worship in the home and ninety-five per cent never win a soul to Jesus Christ."

"Two hundred and sixty-nine billion dollars was earned in America during 1954-55. Nine billion dollars went toward alcohol while only two billion went toward church work and church donations," he concluded.

Adjournment

"Breck Thou The Bread of Life" was sung by the entire assembly followed by the Sacrament of The Lord's Supper administered by the Rev. Mr. Topping and the Session of the Church.

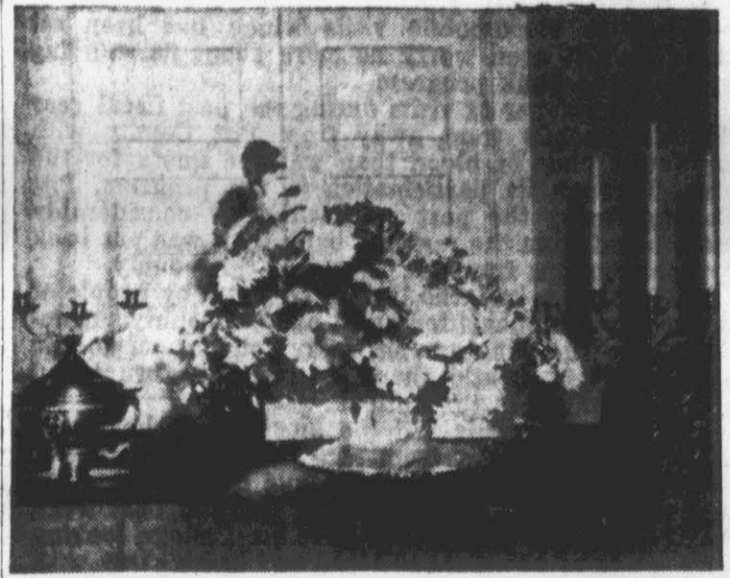

The meeting was closed by the Rev. Mr. Topping who gave the Benediction.

Mrs. Willis Speaker

"One of the most neglected areas of Christian citizenship is the use of the mind in study, thought and search for truth, and the teaching, interpreting and revelation of truth to others," Mrs. R. A. Willis, Jr. told Women of the Albermarle Presbytery this morning.

"We have stressed the stewardship of time, talent and money and now we face our God-given talent of thinking minds," the president of the Women of the Church, Synod of North Carolina, asserted.

She called on the church women to seek for truth "in its eternal context" taught by Him who is Truth and Life and Light; and secondly to interpret that truth in its eternal context."

AUTUMN THEME—A floral arrangement of yellow chrysanthemums adorned the speakers' table at the Executive Board supper last night.

FOUNTAIN—The A. G. Courtney Sunday School Class of Fountain Presbyterian Church met in the Fellowship Hall of the church Monday night at 7 o'clock.

Mrs. John Joyner, Miss Anne Harris and Mrs. James Forrest were hostesses.

A covered dish supper was served and a social hour enjoyed by all.

Words of Caution

She cautioned against accepting the status quo, and opinion as to "recognize prejudice as prejudice," declaring . . . Our Christianity is deep enough and high enough and wide enough to allow for individual differences in our unity through our faith in and acceptance of one Lord and Savior."

Mrs. Willis declared the most important school for teaching Christian citizenship is the home. She stated that it is in the home Christian values are translated to the children in various and subtle ways.

She called on her audience to face up to their responsibilities as Christian citizens.

Mrs. Willis' address this morning was one of the highlights of the second general session of the meeting.

Also featured on the program was an address by Dr. Wade H. Boggs, Jr. on "Jesus and Citizenship." Also scheduled were reports from the various committees, a summary of the year's work by Mrs. George B. Moore, president of Women of the Church of Albermarle Presbytery and the presentation of an honorary life membership.

Response Helps Blood Program

If Pitt County citizens continue the pattern of response to bloodmobile visits which has been set this fall, Pitt need worry no more about its standing in the blood bank program.

On a number of visits during the past fiscal year the bloodmobile went away from Pitt County with far fewer pints of blood than was the quota for the visit. Through its participation in the program, Pitt County during the past year withdrew considerably more blood from the regional bank than was put back by contributions from the people of this county.

Needless to say, the lack of response by people of the county to appeals for blood had the county's membership in the program on shaky foundation. In the past couple of months there has been an abrupt and pleasant change in the outlook.

On its visits this fall the bloodmobile has more than filled its quota from Pitt County. On its two visits in September the bloodmobile quota was over-subscribed at both Greenville and Grifton. Last week the bloodmobile visited East Carolina College looking for a quota of 140 pints of blood and came away with a whopping 214 pints. Although the quota was missed at Bethel the following day the bloodmobile still had more than its combined quota for the two-day visit in Pitt County.

4-H's Make Every Day A Real Achievement Day

Each year a special day is set aside as 4-H Achievement Day and special exercises are planned to honor outstanding 4-H members throughout Pitt County.

Those who attend these annual programs such as the one Monday night get an insight into the vast amount of work which is done by these youngsters every year. Most come away with the distinct impression that not just one day a year but every day in the year is truly an achievement day for 4-H'ers throughout Pitt.

In the county's 4-H clubs and more than 1,000 teen agers who are participating in a wide variety of projects which teach them to be better farmers, better homemakers, better individuals and better citizens. There are few days in the year which pass without some 4-H member learning a valuable lesson from his or her 4-H work. There are few days indeed which pass without the evidence of a 4-H contribution to the community being obvious.

Once each year a few members of 4-H clubs throughout Pitt County are singled out and honored for their outstanding achievements. Their records of progress are clearly indicative of the planning and work which brings about the honors. They indeed deserve special recognition for their achievements.

In addition, all the 4-H members in Pitt County deserve congratulations for their collective contribution to making Pitt a better place in which to live.

Voter's Dollar Still Important In Politics

Anyone who doesn't think money—even a dollar—plays an important part in the amazing game of politics needs only to look at what politicians will do to get a dollar for their candidate's campaign.

From Raleigh comes the report that the city's Republican leader was sporting an "Adlai" button the other day.

The reason: He had made a bargain with a Stevenson supporter to wear the button for a day in return for a $1 contribution to the Eisenhower-Nixon campaign.

The Republican probably figured he could do his candidate more good with the Democratic dollar than he would do harm by wearing the Democratic pin. He was probably right. After all, "Adlai" pins are so numerous in North Carolina these days the average person wouldn't pay any attention to it.

And the dollar? Well, he can send that somewhere else where it might help get an electoral vote for the Republicans.

Strength for the Day

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
NEW HABITS
FOR A NEW WORLD

Every great change which takes place in human ways of living necessitates a physical and mental readaptation to environment.

Do we wonder that we have so many people dying or disabled by heart attacks and nervous breakdowns? Are we bewildered over the startling emergence into modern life of the problem of juvenile delinquency? There is no one cause for any of these things. All social phenomena are complex. But certainly one cause of many modern situations is that we have suddenly changed from a way of life involving considerable physical effort to a way of life involving very little physical effort. Yet we keep on eating the same amount of food that our forebears did, who worked on the farms. We suddenly switch from physical work to long hours of mental concentration. We give up walking and go from one place to another on wheels.

The modern world is full of blessings, but we have to learn how to enjoy these blessings. They may drag us down and kill us if we do not. Let us remember that God has given us all things richly to enjoy—not to use to our destruction.

The modern world is wonderful, but we have to learn how to live in it. The old ways will not suffice. Our environment has been fundamentally altered in the past few years. We must change many of our ways of living if we want to keep health, sanity, and peace of mind.

This volunteer blood program has meant a great deal to Pitt County in the years it has been in operation. It has meant a ready supply of blood for any person in the county who needed it. And the rate at which Pitt has had to call on the regional blood bank indicates the extensive use which has been made of the program. Literally, the county's participation in the program has meant the difference of life and death to quite a number of Pitt's citizens.

The Reflector urges the people of Pitt County to continue their present high rate of contributions to the blood program in order that the county may remain a member in good standing and continue to enjoy the benefits the program has made possible.

Every American Should Resent Kremlin Meddling

Russia's forthright attempt to influence or confuse the American people at the height of a presidential campaign should be resented by every American. It is nothing new for the Kremlin to use any means at its disposal to influence elections in countries of Europe or Asia, but this is the most obvious attempt the Moscow gang has yet made meddle in American politics.

It is quite clear that Premier Bulganin's note on limiting H-bomb tests will do neither of the political candidates any harm when it comes to votes. Whatever votes are gained by Stevenson from the Moscow endorsement will be off-set by those which will now go against him for the simple reason the Kremlin has, in so many words, endorsed the vague program he has proposed.

Whatever votes Eisenhower may gain by his strong rejection of this latest Russian note will be off-set by votes of new converts to Stevenson position on H-bomb tests.

We are frank to say, however, we seriously doubt that the Russian note will cause many American voters to change their minds about how they already had planned to mark the ticket on November 6. Most Americans will accept the Russian meddling as another attempt to broaden the sphere of Soviet influence by the old process of confusion and division.

Democratic Rallies Using New Alignment

By LYNN NISBET

NAMES AND CAUSES — Historians write the name of Charles Bradley Aycock high on the list of promoters of popular education through public schools. Without detracting from credit due him for sparking the educational renaissance at the turn of the century, the fact is his program called for a State appropriation of $100,000, to guarantee that school teachers would receive a gross salary of $100 a year for teaching four months—80 days.

Angus Dhu MacLean, author of the MacLean Bills of the 1931 and 1933 General Assemblies, which placed responsibility for school operation in the State rather than the several counties, is another name high on the roster. It was no secret then or now that MacLean was primarily concerned about relieving railroads and big lumber companies from local ad valorem taxes to support the schools.

Aycock's $100,000 and MacLean's $16 million have grown to around $150 million a year for public schools from the State, and the local tax relief contemplated has not materialized—because school demands have grown faster than combined resources of State and local units can meet. Approximately two thirds of all taxes paid into the State and county treasuries is devoted to public schools.

Demands for other social services, especially in health and welfare, have pyramided almost as rapidly as the school needs. Governor Luther Hodges has the courage to question, for the first time in two decades, whether it is possible or if possible whether it is wise, to continue this trend.

He told reporters at his latest news conference he felt that prospective legislators should consult their constituents to see how far they are willing to go in additional tax levies before they enact laws imposing heavier burdens upon the people.

EAST-WEST — A new boundary line between East and West as applied to Democratic political alignment was established for the money-raising dinners Saturday night. The 57 counties were embraced in the territory for the Eastern dinner at Raleigh included Rockingham, Guilford and Randolph, as well as Moore and Scotland. The other 43 counties were assigned to the Western dinner at Charlotte.

This division was made chiefly because of geographic proximity to the place of meeting. It also follows pretty closely the population division according to the 1950 census and subsequent estimates. The most generally accepted line heretofore has run down the eastern borders of Rockingham, Guilford and Randolph, and it will probably be a long time before the people in those counties will accept permanent assignment to the East.

Attendance at the two dinners indicated more interest among the Easterners. Some 230 Democrats paid $25 apiece to come to Raleigh, about half that number paid the same price for the Charlotte affair. The dinners yielded between $6,000 and $7,000 for the Stevenson-Kefauver television program.

Need for the money was clearly evidenced by the fact one big company canceled the contract to handle the piping of the closed circuit TV shows to the 30 dinners across the nation because the Democrats could not make advance payment, and it took some hustling at New York to get another firm to handle the job on credit. According to a story in New York Times and program Saturday night cost the national committee between $150,000 and $200,000. The big time movie, radio and television stars who appeared gave their services free.

FRIDAY — Carolina alumni and students noted with satisfaction that the "Friday regime" at the University got off to a good start at Kenan Stadium Saturday afternoon. The 34 to 6 victory over Maryland, first win for the Tarheels this season, came just two days after approval of William C. Friday for president of the Consolidated University.

Bill W. Carmichael, UNC vice president and controller, wisecracked that "Carolina and State had gotten so fed up with what has been happening on Saturday afternoons, they switched to Friday—and it worked."

When someone complained about the number of off-side penalties imposed on Carolina, Kay Kiser objected to protests on that score. "I hope we get an off-side penalty every time we get the ball," he said. "That shows the boys are eager and on their toes. We can make up that five yards a lot easier than we can overcome gains by the other team because our fellows are star-gazing when the ball is put into play."

Statistics show that Maryland gained 113 yards by rushing, 105 yards by penalties assessed

Don't Find Them Much Anymore

By JIMMY ELLIS

O, To Be In South Carolina

This week is the Big One for our high-minded neighbors to the South.

This is State Fair Week in South Carolina. This is the time for sand lappers and hillbillies to meet on common ground in Columbia to socialize, ride the ferris wheel, look over the other fellow's blue ribbon crops, rawk at the shameless dancing girls and try to fathom the mystery of cotton candy.

This is the time for outlanders to visit their State House, solemnly note the great bronze stars on the West and South walls and recall a man named Sherman who lined his artillery across the river and shelled the city.

This is the time when the county folk track fairground through the legislative chambers and remember Putschford Ben Tillman, Jimmy Byrnes, Strom Thurmond and the other public servants who have been there before them. This is the time when simple cotton farmers stand on the great North steps of the State House and look down busy Main Street—and wonder at the metropolis that has grown from their cotton and tobacco fields.

This is the time when men forget business, the Supreme Court, suppers and Marian Ann McKnight to talk about a pair of boy football players named King Dixon and Joel Wells, the young coach Warren Giese and the old coach Frank Howard, the bright prospects of a trip to Miami January 1 and the million intangible things that make Big Thursday the most outstanding football day in the world.

This is the time when women go forth to buy the clothes they wouldn't buy last spring so they could have enough money to do it now, wonder with each other what Mrs. Byrnes and Mrs. Thurmond will wear to the Big Thursday football game that has become the state's biggest social event, and to discuss the problem of baby sitters during State Fair Week.

This is the time when little people and big people, crooks and ministers, politicians and ditch diggers, school children and old folks get caught up in a fever that is quite unlike anything else in the world.

This is the time for a Palmetto Mardi Gras. This is New Year's Eve, graduation night, a baby's first birthday and a first date rolled into one.

This is the time for all South Carolina to make up for the lost moments of the rest of the year. This is State Fair Week in South Carolina—a time for everybody to be happy, see the bright side of everything and confidently say they do everything better than everybody else.

This is the one time I wish I was back in South Carolina.

Notebook On Life

How To Enjoy A Party

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Everybody talks about how terrible the average cocktail party is, but nobody does anything about it—except maybe throw a worse one himself later.

It's reached a point where, when a host invites you to a cocktail party, you wonder whether it's because he really wants to see you, or merely is seeking revenge because you had him over to your last house party.

After attending some 3,000 of these social marathons—I have the same morbid interest in them that old women have in attending funerals—I believe I've figured out a way cocktail parties can not only be made endurable but enjoyable.

First, let us examine what is wrong with most cocktail parties. Connoisseurs of the napkin circuit agree that while the canapes may make a party indigestible, it is the conversation that actually makes it insufferable.

Many complain that the talk at cocktail parties sounds more like screaming than conversation. This is true. People start screaming because they are so bored with the person they are talking to they can't stand to hear him say another word.

That's the crux of the whole trouble. You rarely get to pick the people you talk to. It is a kind of verbal lottery, and the odds are against your getting a likely number, someone interested in the same things you are. "I know you'll be enchanted with Miss Wambnutt . . . She's so intellectual . . . and also with Mr. Froshingham . . . He's a real dear," says the hostess and gallops off fast.

Two hours later you know the deadly reason, Miss Wambnutt, who wears Clara Bow bangs, is hipped on reincarnation and is sure she remembers you from a previous life in Nineveh—or was it Tyre? When she was a princess and you were her Christian slave. Mr. Froshingham, a distinguished coder with a silver mustache, has only two words—"Uh" and "uh-uh." His main interest in life is in dipping his mustache into a martini and then squeezing it dry with his lower lip.

How can we avoid these situations? By taking a tip from business conventions, at which delegates wear identity tags bearing their names and business firms.

Here is my idea. Every cocktail party guest should be made to wear, not merely an identity tag, but a printed biography card listing his interests and prejudices—in large clear type.

For example, a card like this: "My name is Elbert Stitchee. I manufacture ladies undergarments. Yes, I find it interesting. My income is upward of $20,000 a year.

"I have a wife and three children—all grown. If you don't show me pictures of your family, I won't show you mine."

"I am an intermittent Presbyterian and a registered Democrat. Yes, I know I should probably vote Republican, but my father told me with his dying breath that if I ever did he would roll over in his grave."

Subjects I don't want to talk about: Politics, religion, flying saucers, the opera, interplanetary flights, the possibility of life on Mars, and John Foster Dulles.

"Subjects I do like to talk about: Sex—if you're a girl under 40, golf—if you know a sure way to shoot under 100, and new income tax deductions you've heard of, the unreasonable demands of labor, and why the government will do anything for the farmer but nothing for the small businessman."

My pet peeves are: Jazz receders, collectors, suburbanites, do-it-yourself fans, mothers who tell the cute sayings of their children, Brooklyn Doger rooters, and people who think it's funny to ask me, "What's new in brassieres these days besides foam rubber?"

Special warning: No matter how many martinis I drink, I never lend money to strangers at a party, so save your breath. "Special request: If you know any atom bomb secrets, don't

More Tax Forecast For 1957

By ELMER ROESSNER

Regardless of who is elected two weeks from today, you'll pay more taxes in 1957, '58, and in '59, and so on to the end of your life.

The general feeling a year ago was that, if the rest of the world behaved itself, there was a good chance for a Federal tax cut in 1957. In fact, that idea was echoed in this column.

I take it back. There won't be any broad tax cut next year. There may be a little chipping here and a little putting there, but the general rate of taxes will be about the same as it is now. Because of rising wage rates and other forms of incomes, and of corporation profits, total payments will be larger.

GOVERNING TO COST MORE — The chief reason is that the cost of operating the government—just like the cost of operating your home and your business—is going up.

The rise in steel wages and the resulting boost in prices of almost everything made of or by steel, followed by the big jump in coal miners' pay, are increasing the prices of most things the government buys. On top of that, the Suez situation is threatening to push up prices of oil and other imports.

The upward shove on the wage level by the steel and coal settlements is certain to have effects on government salaries and in the end every coffee-breaking typist and every star-shouldered general—and everyone else in between—will pay more.

HIGHER DEFENSE COSTS — The necessity of arming the nation with better and more expensive weapons is also affecting the costs of government. The greater emphasis on intercontinental jet bombers, guided missiles, atomic-powered ships and submarines, and of the vast defense measures against similar weapons in the hands of possible enemies is certain to increase government spending.

A free-hand guess: defense spending in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1958, will be $10 billion higher than this year.

It seems certain that whether he is Dwight D. Eisenhower or Adlai Stevenson, the president next January will not be in a position to ask Congress to cut taxes. He may be able to recommend minor adjustments, of course; there may even be token trims. In the end, the government will have to pay for more revenue and if higher incomes and higher profits do not indicate sufficiently higher tax revenues, then the rates themselves must be increased.

AFTER THAT, THE STATES — And if the President or the Congress embark on a program of expanding the social and welfare services of the government to any great degree, then government revenues must be further increased.

Meanwhile, the costs of operating state and local governments are rising relentlessly—and that means that state and local tax rates will rise.

Brethren, we are stuck. CLUES AND CUES — TO BUSINESS TRENDS — Youngsters between 13 and 20 have $9 billion a year to spend, according to a survey sponsored by the Bureau of Advertising of the American Newspaper Publishers Association. Millions in this age group buy their own pens, records, jewelry, shoes, deodorants and other articles, the survey showed. . . . Inventories rose $200,000,000 in August in Department of Commerce reports

Construction contracts awarded in September in 37 eastern states topped $2 billion, slightly less than a year ago, the F.W. Dodge Corp. reports. . . . Department and specialty store sales rose to new peaks during the first six months of this year, the National Retail Dry Goods Association says. Net profits after Federal income taxes were 1.2 per cent of sales, compared with 1.1 per cent in the first half of 1955. . . . Continuing creeping inflation is forecast by Edwards and Hanley, Long Island brokerage firm, in its October bulletin.

Opinions In Brief

ROSEBURG, ORE. NEWS-REVIEW: "It is evident that the average worker considers himself a citizen first and a union member second. Also that more and more are beginning to view with suspicion the political labor stooge. . . ."

Clayton, then vice president of the North Atlantic Union Association, saw the economic advantages as an international trader. He said: "By bringing into one Union the free peoples of the world, we can have one single competitive economy for all the democracies."

Luckily for the Stevenson-Kefauver ticket, in view of Allied opposition over the Suez Canal and other problems, the "One World" and "Union Now" movement never got beyond the talk stage, although Kefauver had fixed 1950 as the year for the North Atlantic Union's first international convention.

Other Editors Are Saying... How To Go Backwards

(Wall Street Journal)

One of the common complaints leveled against our hit-and-miss system of letting people choose their own occupations is that the country has no way of being sure we will get the right number of doctors, engineers, school teachers and the like.

How much better it would be, say the planners, to have a government bureau give some conscious thought to this—plan for this many medical or engineering students this year so that we would have the proper number of doctors or engineers a decade hence.

Well, in 1949 the Labor Department surveyed the situation and advised college students that there was an over-supply of engineers and would be "for several years." Now, says the chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, "we are paying a heavy price for such errors. Engineering was de-emphasized at a time when we should have been building a reservoir of skilled manpower. . . . We have lost both valuable time and talent."

To be sure, this is hindsight. Nobody can blame the Labor Department for not seeing the 1956 situation in 1949. But just the same it's too bad too many young people heeded the prophecies of the experts. And it's a damned good thing the Government didn't have the power to control people on the basis of the experts' predictions and that a few youngsters decided to disregard the good advice. Otherwise we'd have even fewer engineers.

It wouldn't take much of this kind of forward planning to make us a backward nation.

Kefauver Blasted For 'One World' Ideas

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — The charge that Senator Estes Kefauver advocates a "dual citizenship" involving possible loss of American sovereignty has been leveled against him in certain Middle West areas and in anti-British centers because of his promotion of an organization known as the "North Atlantic Union."

With the support of 19 other Senators, the Democratic Vice Presidential nominee introduced a resolution requesting former President Truman to "invite the democracies that sponsored the North Atlantic Treaty to meet in convention to explore how far they can apply among these peoples the principles of a free federal union."

When former Secretary of State Dean Acheson opposed the idea, Kefauver accused him of suffering from a "lack of imagination and enterprise." The Kefauver resolution was never acted on by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, and some of its original backers have withdrawn from the movement.

"ONE WORLDERS" AND "UNION NOW" ENTHUSIASTS — The nation's most illustrious internationalists, "one worlders" and "union now" enthusiasts were associated with Kefauver in this effort to organize a "United States of the Free World."

They included the late Justice Owen J. Roberts of Philadelphia; the late Robert P. Patterson, former Secretary of War; William L. Clayton, Houston international cotton broker; Clarence K. Strat, a author of the movement's bible, "Union Now"; and Harold C. Urey, atomic scientist.

One reason why the GOP has overlooked this issue is that Secretary John Foster Dulles, in his 1949 campaign for Senate re-election, endorsed the idea. It was bitterly opposed by the American Legion, the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the Daughters of the Revolution.

SEEMING "DUAL CITIZENSHIP" — URGED Although Kefauver did not specifically propose a "dual citizenship" for a dozen or more nationalities to be fused into the North Atlantic Union, he and his associates seemingly pointed in that direction. In urging favorable Senator action, the Tennesseean said:

"A greater crisis, a depression or the conquest of individual countries by communism might rush the convention and the Atlantic democracies into precipitate action, as the British were precipitated into offering union to the French in 1940."

This referred to Churchill's proposal to Paul Reynaud, French Premier, just before the Dunkerque disaster, that Britain and France agree to a common citizenship.

"SINGLE COMPETITIVE ECONOMY" — Another advocate, Representative Hale Boggs of Louisiana, said that "a basic political institution must precede economic and military programs, or it would be putting the cart before the horse." Urey went even further. He said:

"As to whether the Union will eventually grow into a world government depends to a marked degree on how the Union behaves."

Clayton, then vice president of the North Atlantic Union Association, saw the economic advantages as an international trader. He said:

"By bringing into one Union the free peoples of the world, we can have one single competitive economy for all the democracies."

Luckily for the Stevenson-Kefauver ticket, in view of Allied opposition over the Suez Canal and other problems, the "One World" and "Union Now" movement never got beyond the talk stage, although Kefauver had fixed 1950 as the year for the North Atlantic Union's first international convention.

Socialist Party Candidate Says We Have Much To Do

READING, Pa. (P)—Peace, prosperity and progress? Darlington Hoopes, Socialist party presidential candidate, doesn't believe the United States has attained that happy status.

Hoopes, a 60-year-old Reading attorney, said today "It is false to claim that America has prosperity when poverty continues to grow amidst the plenty."

The rich, he said, are getting richer.

Hoopes was the Socialist vice-presidential candidate when Norman Thomas headed the party's national ticket in 1944 and 1948. When Thomas refused to try for the presidency for the seventh time in 1952 Hoopes got the nod. He polled 21,000 votes.

"The issue that we are stressing the most is the continuance of poverty amidst plenty in the United States," he said in an interview.

"The U.S. census figures show that in 1954 the poorest 20 per cent of the people received less than 5 per cent of the total income. If you study that a little it means that 34 million persons, including 10 million children, have average family incomes of $1,313 or $25.25 per week, before taxes.

"When you go just a little further and find that 14 million persons, including 12 1/2 million children, live in families with average weekly income of less than $12 you can't help wondering how they exist."

The Socialist party would wipe out what Hoopes called "unearned property income" — rents, interest, dividends and capital gains.

"The only way you are going to stop this unfair distribution of income and end poverty amidst plenty is for the people collectively to take over the businesses and industries and run them democratically for the purpose of providing goods and services for the people rather than making profits for the rich owners," Hoopes declared.

"In all cases it will be public ownership and democratic management to produce for the public welfare instead of for rich profit of the rich owners."

"This is socialism," Hoopes contended, "and differs from communism as day does from night."

On the issue of "peace" Hoopes criticized the Republican argument that lack of actual military combat signifies the world is at peace.

"This is absurd," he said. "The way to peace is worldwide elimination of economic suffering. The way to defeat communism is to raise the living standard of the poor and oppressed in Asia, Eastern Europe, Africa and Latin America."

The Socialist party isn't spending a lot of money to advertise its program. It is on the presidential ballot in only about 10 states — the biggest, Wisconsin — and Hoopes said, "I won't spend more than the $150 it cost me in the 1952 campaign."

Hoopes, associated in his law office with his eldest son Darlington Jr., said he believes that "within the next 10 years there will be a political realignment in the United States."

He said that "socially minded liberals and labor will line up on the one side against the conservatives who are for the present system and against every kind of social reform that we support."

Future Teachers Leaning Toward Lower Grades

Approximately 40% of the 127 East Carolina seniors who are participating this fall in the student teaching program at the college are working in classrooms of elementary schools as they gain practical experience as instructors.

A report just issued by Dr. J. L. Oppelt, director of the Office of Student Teaching and Placement at East Carolina College, indicates that 37 of the seniors are conducting classes in the Coates-Wahl Laboratory School on the campus. Five are teaching in the Third Street School, and one in the West Greenville school in the city of Greenville. Six students of music are teaching both high school and elementary classes in public school music at the campus laboratory school. One is teaching at the State School for the Blind in Raleigh.

The total number of students this fall includes 45 men and 32 women. They are preparing themselves for careers in education through acting as instructors in classrooms of twenty-two schools in the eastern part of North Carolina.

Seventy-six of the seniors are teaching high-school subjects in secondary schools. Their classes include work in home economics, foreign languages, science, health and physical education, mathematics, business, English, the social studies, and music.

Fourteen of the teachers of high school subjects are assigned to classrooms of the Greenville High School. Other Pitt County schools where East Carolina seniors are teaching and the number assigned to each are Ayden, 4; Belvoir-Falkland, 2; Bethel, 4; Chicod, 4; Farmville, 10; Grimesland, 2; and Winterville, 3.

Other high schools where East Carolina seniors are conducting classes and the number teaching in each are Rock Ridge, 2; Plymouth, 2; Contentnea, 3; Robertsonville, 4; Washington, 6; Luccama, 2; Grainger at Kinston, 9; Williamston, 2; Bath, 2; and Tarboro, 2.

Chicod Basketball Squads Practicing

By IVA LOU BRUNSON
Chicod School Reporter

Boys and girls basketball practice started this week. The girls will be coached by Principal R. H. Hodges, and the boys by Coach Leroy Pittman.

Iva Lou Brunson has been elected chief of the cheerleaders. Other members of the squad include: Jo Ann Smith, Nancy Sue Dixon, Peggy Jean Dixon, Alice Faye Wiggins, Betty Lou Reel, and Pat-sy Smith. Their advisor is Miss Grace Baker.

Halloween is getting near! The teachers are preparing for this important date with all kinds of decorations and posters. There is excitement in the classrooms as each class tries to get the most votes for their King, Queen, and Baby. The winner will be crowned at the Halloween Carnival on October 31.

The Seniors are putting the finishing touches on their play, "Who's Crazy Now." The three-act comedy will be given October 24, at 7:30 p.m. in the school auditorium.

The cast includes: Jo-Anne Smith, Christine James, Jeannette Reel, Sandra Porter, Marie Galloway, Shelby Stocks, Roberta Hathaway, Sue Smith, Joyce Had-dock, Jimmy Mills, David McGowan, and Carlton Gray. Their sponsor is Mrs. Olive Smith.

The Annual staff met their first dead line when they sent the first set of pages off to the publishers this week.

Many of our students went to E.C.C. last week to hear the Navy Band. All reports were very favorable. They seemed to enjoy it very much.

Mrs. Wilma Smith gave a reading demonstration with a group of her first graders at the regular meeting of the NCEA Monday afternoon. County Superintendent D. H. Conley, guest of the teachers, spoke. The refreshment committee served soft drinks, cookies, and peanuts.

Carlton Gray, David McGowan, James Edward Mills, and Mrs. Cozart (their sponsor) attended the S.G.A. Congress in Wilmington. They left Sunday and returned Tuesday.

We are glad to see Mr. F. H. Hodges back at school this week after undergoing a minor operation Saturday. He is recovering nicely.

Bilbro Named Student Veep

Greenville High School student Bob Bilbro was elected vice-president of the North Carolina Student Council Congress at the 13th annual meeting held in Wilmington yesterday and Monday.

In addition to Bilbro SGA president Jerry Howell, Angus Duff and Mrs. Lena Reynolds, student council advisor, made the trip as representatives of Greenville High School.

Student Council activities in various high schools were compared at the meeting's workshops and panel discussions. Bilbro was called on to lead a discussion group on "How a Student Council Can Promote Better Leadership."

In addition to the many discussions, a banquet and dance was held Monday night for the delegates' entertainment. James Macris, New Hanover High School student body president, acted as master of ceremonies.

Keynote address for the convention was delivered by Dr. Albert Coates, director of the Institute of Government at Chapel Hill. Other speakers included H. M. Roland, New Hanover County superintendent of schools and Macris.

'Honest' Thieves Returned Money

SALT LAKE CITY (P)—Police say $1,249 taken from two safes in Continental Insurance Agency over the weekend was found on the doorstep of Continental Vice President H. O. Molitor's house wrapped in a copy of the newspaper which carried an account of the burglary. Police had no idea how it got there.

Cops Investigate Kefauver's Loss

SALT LAKE CITY (P)—The FBI at the request of Democratic vice presidential nominee Sen. Estes Kefauver, asked police to investigate the loss of a $113 camera taken from his chartered plane during his 19-hour stopover here last weekend. The World Airlines, whose Constellation the Tennessee senator is using, gave Kefauver another camera.

Hungarian Leader Calls For Support

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (P)—Hungary's Communist party boss says his government must secure the understanding and support of the broadest masses of the people to develop a democratic system.

Party Secretary Erno Geroe heads a delegation of top Hungarian leaders conferring with Yugoslav leaders including President Tito, who has been preaching national communism independent of Moscow. Geroe's comments were published last night in Borba, a newspaper that speaks for Tito's government.

Boy Blows Up School He Liked

GREENUP, Ky. (P)—A 12-year-old boy who said he "liked to go to school" and "didn't have anything against the teacher" admitted he and another youth dynamited the Upper Alcorn School last Tuesday, according to Sheriff Delbert McKenzie, who said the boy "just thought it would make a hole in the ground." They were released in custody of their parents.

Game Ends With Boy's Death

HOUSTON, Tex. (P)—Larry Glenn, 5, and his brother John, 3, were playing cowboys when their mother heard a shot and heard Larry cry out. He was dead on arrival at a hospital with a .38 caliber bullet wound in the chest. The mother said the boys must have taken the revolver from a chest where she had placed it. John said Larry put the pistol to his own chest and pulled the trigger.

Networks Are Offering 10 Hours Of Variety

By CHARLES MERCER
NEW YORK (AP)—In this present week the three major television networks are offering 10 hours of evening "variety" programs. These hours do not include the activities of Today, Home, Tonight, the Garry Moore and Arthur Godfrey daytime festivities, and countless other programs presenting a variety of guests. They do include the nighttime shows of Ed Sullivan, Steve Allen, Walter Winchell, Perry Como, Jackie Gleason, Arthur Godfrey, etc. What is a "variety" program anyway? Obviously it's a variety of entertainment—a little music, a little dance, a little talk. It's a series of beads strung together by one person, the master of ceremonies. TV shows have reached a new high in numbers, and parts of them are constantly flying off to help form the whole of still other variety shows. Thus if you miss Gisele MacKenzie on one show she'll shortly appear on another. Multiply her by dozens of other entertainers and by a process of geometric progression you have the age of fission in variety shows. Even the hardy neuters themselves, the masters of ceremonies, fly off to other variety programs. Ten hours of variety in a week dulls the senses. Try as you will to shake off weariness of spirit and dullness of perception from this surfeit, it becomes increasingly difficult to pick the better from the good in these variety shows. Thus we come to an 11th variety hour in this current week—Washington Square, starring Ray Bolger, which bowed in Sunday afternoon on NBC-TV and will reappear every other Sunday. Ray Bolger is one of the finest dancers and most winsome personalities in show business. That such a superior performer could have had such an unhappy history in TV almost makes the medium seem at fault. Washington Square still is not the vehicle that sets Bolger's star in its proper place in the firmament. Nearly all its faults lay in the writing.

Top U. S. Officials Fear Drastic Action By Russia

By JOHN SCALI
WASHINGTON (AP)—Top U. S. officials fear Russia may yet take drastic action — possibly including force — to smash Communist Poland's drive for independence. In their view, the most dangerous phase of the struggle for control of Poland is just beginning, with the Kremlin apparently undecided about its countermove. American diplomatic officials said Soviet leaders scarcely will sit back and let Poland slip out of their control because:

1. If successful, Poland's example in defying Moscow may follow throughout Russia's satellite empire.
2. Kremlin leaders, led by Nikita Khrushchev, Soviet Communist boss, undoubtedly realize their future may be in jeopardy if they can be accused of fumbling away a chunk of the satellite domain left by Joseph Stalin. 3. An independent Poland would cease to be a buffer against the kind of surprise attack Nazi Germany launched in 1941. Further, it might imperil communications with Soviet army and air force units in East Germany. Responsible officials stressed a belief that Poland's drive for independence broke so fast that the Kremlin was caught by surprise. Now that the initial shock has ceased, they said, Khrushchev and other top Kremlin leaders undoubtedly are considering countersteps. These U. S. officials said the possibility of outright military force cannot be ruled out even though Soviet leaders apparently have avoided resort to any such steps thus far. Reliable intelligence reports reaching Washington show that from two to four Soviet divisions in East Germany were moved to the Polish frontier last Thursday. The Soviet troops apparently did not cross into Poland, however.

and may have returned to their East German bases by now, officials said. Officials said Soviet leaders undoubtedly realize that resort to force might wreck the image of a new "reasonable" Russia which Moscow has sought painstakingly to spread before the world since Stalin's death. American economic aid likely will be made available to the new Polish regime, if it survives, but U. S. officials said they would wait a while before acting.

Beats Speed Rap With Slide Rule

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Marvin Lee Perryman Jr., 29, an engineer, used a slide rule and a sheaf of maps to beat a $25 speeding fine. He convinced Criminal Court Judge Frank Rokepe the officer who arrested him was wrong in claiming he was doing 80. Perryman said the officer would have had to drive his motorcycle 140 m.p.h. from a standing start to catch a motorist going 75, and the judge agreed.

Free Enterprise Back In Poland

WARSAW, Poland (AP)—Communist Poland now is actively encouraging private enterprise. In past years private tradesmen and shopkeepers suffered from a ruthless taxation system, although some prospered — mainly those who resold goods brought in from abroad. Many thousands of others were driven out of business. Not only had they to pay high taxes, but frequently they were faced with unexpected levies and had to pay up or go out of business. Craftsmen like tailors and shoemakers also had the greatest difficulties in getting material. The result was that it was practically impossible to find a plumber if pipes froze up in winter, or to get a house painted. Shoes and clothing in practice could be conveniently bought only through state stores which through lack of competition had goods of poor quality. The policy began to change a year ago and now the change is accelerating. One young Pole trained as tailor told how he decided to open his own business: "The authorities gave me help in finding premises. The state textile company gave me credit to stock up with material. Even better, I don't have to pay any taxes whatever for the first year." If this young Pole starts off well he will be able to employ perhaps three or four craftsmen to help him. But any really spectacular success story is unlikely as the system stands now.

Feuders Ordered To Forget Grudge

TAVARES, Fla. (AP)—County Judge W. Troy Hall Jr. yesterday told the families of two men killed in a feud to forget the hard feelings. He told the families of Estell R. Warnock, 35, and Leroy Lowe, 45, to devote their energies to assisting the widows and children of the victims. The men shot each other when they met Saturday on a wild hog range in Ocala National Forest. Testimony indicated they had been feuding for months over hog hunting rights.

Simmonds discovered a soapy substance had been sprayed on his suit, apparently, police theorized, from a toy pistol. The stranger was apologetic and wiped off the suit with a handkerchief. When Simmonds got home he discovered his wallet containing $215 was missing.

Terp Coach Worried About Able Gridders

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Maryland's Coach Tommy Mont, plagued with injured players all season, now has a new problem. This time it's the able-bodied gridders he's worried about. Mont said yesterday that keeping morale of his squad up is a task. This week the Terps take on unbeaten Tennessee. He disclosed that in the game last week against North Carolina "our kids didn't quit consciously, they let down after the first five minutes." North Carolina scored its first win of the season, beating Maryland 34-6. And the bad news on injuries continued. Halfback Ted Kershner has a bad limp and fullback Tom Selep may be lost for the season. Mont has lost 13 of the players he figured to make up his first two teams since the season started. Elsewhere in the Atlantic Coast Conference Coach Ben Martin's usual Tuesday practice routine was the order of the day at Virginia. The workout included instruction in new variations of the Cavaliers' running plays, passing and defense against passing and a brief defensive scrimmage. Virginia plays Virginia Tech at Roanoke this week. North Carolina State's defense got a stiff test as reserves ran Duke plays in an hour-long scrimmage. In the last two games Coach Earle Edwards has praised his team's defense. The injury list at Duke grew as guard Phil Scudieri, a top reserve, was tabbed "lost for the season" by Coach Bill Murray. Scudieri injured a knee in the Pitt game last week. The Blue Devils worked on pass defense then reviewed other departments. The South Carolina Gamecocks held their last session before taking on Clemson in the State Fair game Thursday at Columbia. It was a light practice which ended with a chalk-talk by Coach Warren Giese. The Clemson Tigers, also holding their final workout before the game, ran through pass defense and offense patterns. North Carolina's Tar Heels worked at full strength, concentrating on how to stop Bill Barnes, Wake Forest fullback and top ground gainer in the conference. Coach Jim Tatum said he would start the same eleven that opened against Maryland. A full-scale offensive scrimmage was staged by the Wake Forest Deacons. Halfback Bill Pegram participated for the first time since Sept. 15 when he hurt an elbow. First and second teams alternated in offensive drills against the freshmen. Al Lang, Florida's good will ambassador to major league baseball, says 72 teams from organized leagues trained in Florida last spring. He said it was the highest number in history.

Four Leading Pirate Returnees

VETERANS—These four flying young men, all starters on last year's East Carolina basketball team, will return to Coach Howard Porter's stable again this season. Left to right, they are Don Harris (6-2), Guy Mendenhall (6-5), Nick Nichols (6-4) and Freddy James (6-2). They will be expected to lead the Bucs in the forthcoming hoop campaign.

Oklahoma, Duke, Carolina Are Favored This Week

NEW YORK (AP)—One can get poor in a hurry picking against Notre Dame's football team but there is every indication that it can be done this time without injury. The Irish sophomores, who could jell at any moment, now have a record of one triumph in four games. Oklahoma, erstwhile No. 1 in the nation, hasn't been defeated since Notre Dame did it in the 1953 season opener. Other picks on this week's schedule (last week's record 38-10 for 792. Season's figures: 172-49-773): Michigan State over Illinois: A spot for an upset if Michigan State has let down too far after its victory over Notre Dame last Saturday. Georgia Tech over Tulane: Very quietly, Tulane has built a strong record in the Deep South but this time it collides with Wade Mitchell, Tippy Vann and all those other speedy Engineers. Tennessee over Maryland: Too many Marylanders on the injured list. Michigan over Minnesota: Neither team too strong on defense but Michigan has Ron Kramer. Southern California over Stanford: This is Jon Arnett's farewell as a Trojan—and Stanford will be glad he's among the alumni after this. Baylor over Texas A&M: The Aggies gave their all last Saturday while Baylor rested. Home field means the difference. Texas Christian over Miami: Jim Swink can't be held in check on successive Saturdays. Pittsburgh over Oregon: Oregon has scored only two touchdowns in its last three games. Clemson over South Carolina: This is the annual State Fair game on Thursday. Skipping over the others in a hurry: FRIDAY Denver over New Mexico. George Washington over William & Mary, Kansas over Oklahoma A&M. SATURDAY EAST: Syracuse over Boston University, Brown over Rhode Island, Army over Columbia, Princeton over Cornell, Dartmouth over Harvard, Navy over Penn. Florida State over Villanova, West Virginia over Penn State, Yale over Colgate. SOUTH: Mississippi State over Alabama, Houston over Auburn, Davidson over VMI, Duke over North Carolina State, The Citadel over Furman, Kentucky over Georgia, Florida over Louisiana State, North Carolina over Wake Forest, Vanderbilt over Middle Tennessee, Virginia Tech over Virginia, Mississippi over Arkansas, Clemson over South Carolina. WEST: Colorado over Nebraska, Northwestern over Indiana, Cincinnati over Marquette, Missouri over Iowa State, Tulsa over Bradley, Ohio State over Wisconsin, Oklahoma A&M, Tulsa over Iowa over Purdue. SOUTHWEST: Rice over Texas. FAR WEST: Arizona over UCLA, Montana over Colorado A&M, Oregon State over UCLA, College of Pacific over Washington State, Brigham Young over Utah State, Utah over Idaho, Wyoming over Kansas State.

Sooners Afraid Of Notre Dame Upset

BY SAUL FELDMAN NORMAN, Okla. (AP)—"Oklahoma score more points against Notre Dame than Michigan State?" "Son, the Sooners will be lucky to get out of South Bend Saturday with their string of 34 football victories intact." That's the entire Oklahoma coaching staff at its favorite pastime of chanting the "We Can't Beat Them Blues." From Head Coach Bud Wilkinson down the line, the worry is growing among the coaching staff that the team won't be able to handle the Irish in the nationally televised contest. It's a sincere worry, and maybe is one reason that Oklahoma has been so successful under Wilkinson for 10 years. Nothing is ever taken for granted. There are very few things Wilkinson's teams haven't accomplished, and one of them is beating Notre Dame. Twice the Sooners have clashed with the Irish, and both times they were whipped by a touchdown. The first time in 1952, they lost 21-27 and the next year it was 21-28. Michigan State stopped Notre Dame 47-14 last Saturday, an impressive enough victory to cause sports writers to drop the Sooners into the No. 2 spot in the nation's football ranks. Michigan State took over the top rung. The cry has been going up for Oklahoma, which has made 178 points while holding its four opponents to 12, to run up a bigger score to get back into the No. 1 spot. "Talk of beating Notre Dame is just wishful thinking," Wilkinson said.

Farmville Only Team To Play

Two of the Coastal Conference schools in this area, Robersonville and Ayden will use the coming weekend as rest periods, according to their schedules. The Rams and the Conference champion Tornadoes have open dates for Friday night. Farmville, however, will tangle with Windsor in their final home contest of the season. Ayden copped the loop crown last week with a crushing 40-0 performance against Contentnea. Farmville will have the following boys in their starting lineup against the visiting Windsor crew: Horace Corbett and Wade Mills at ends; Willie Allen and Dave Braxton at tackles; John Thorne and Troy Dail at guards; Cliff Williams at center; Sonny Mall at quarterback; Irving Allen and Johnny Dixon at halfbacks and Billy Eason at fullback.

Buc Cagers Preparing For 1956-57 Campaign

By BILLY ARNOLD Reflector Sports Editor Coach Howard Porter, East Carolina basketball mentor, who has had his 1956-57 hoop candidates in drills off and on since the first of October, is eyeing the coming season with little anxiety. There's a good reason. Last season, with a crew of four green youngsters and one veteran, East Carolina whipped through the tough North State Conference, finishing in the top three, rolling up a consecutive home-court winning streak of 46 games, and gave an excellent account of themselves in the NAIA National Tourney. Though they won neither the NAIA nor the loop title they finished the season rated one of the top teams in the area. This year, the four green youngsters are back with plenty of experience and the "Fox" has brought into the school a whole host of outstanding newcomers. Coach Porter stated yesterday that "We're in better shape at this stage of the game than we were last year. Our boys will have had more experience and they're all in good condition." Porter was referring to the fact that three starters Freddy James, Nick Nichols and Guy Mendenhall spent much of last year hampered by injuries. "We should start better this season," Porter said, "but that doesn't necessarily mean we'll do any better in the long run. The league as a whole will probably be improved quite a bit, too." The colorful Buc coach is currently working with a group of 22 boys. Eleven lettermen return to bolster the team, including Mendenhall, Nichols, James and All-Conference Don Harris. Others are Tim Smothers, Marion Hales, Maurice Everette, Joe Plaster, Harold Ingram, and Waddell Solomon. The one starter lost last year by graduation was J. C. Thomas. Among the string of newcomers on the Pirate court thus far include a flashy guard from Carv, Charlie Adams; former Greenville guard Ike Riddick; Roy Dennis, from Newport; Eddie O'Brien from Pittsburgh; Charles Hoffman from Virginia; Eddie Lauter, Raeford Walker, Ace Warren, Wallace Lewis, Durwood Hoffman. Rapid-Fire Style

Famous for a rapid-fire running style of basketball, Coach Porter said that he would continue to have his boys use the run-shoot game. Under that system of play, Mendenhall, Nichols and Harris are the big firing guns in an around the basket, while James and the other guard (unnamed as yet) will handle the deep duties. Harris was the team's top scorer last season and is expected to repeat in 1956-57. He averaged over 21 points per game. Regarding the schedule, Porter said: "We'll play at least 25 regular season games against some of the best around this area. There may be more including the various tournaments. That hasn't been settled yet."

Thunder Drives Man To Murder

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — A man who told police an ominous roll of thunder was a sign to kill a faith healer who had "hexed" his mother was charged with murder today.

after his arrest in the shotgun slaying of George Webster, leader of the Negro Divine Temple of Healing. Webster was shot yesterday at the temple. Homicide Capt. W. W. Wilkinson quoted Tolliver as saying that Webster had hexed his mother, and had started in on his sister, Gracie Tolliver.

Never before in history has anything built by man traveled so far in so short a time —by land or sea! An announcement of decisive importance to anyone about to buy a new automobile. The most exhaustive endurance test ever given an automobile has just been completed by two stock '57 Fords—identical in every respect with cars now being offered by Ford Dealers. Under supervision of the United States Auto Club and the Federation Internationale de Automobile, each of these two '57 Fords traveled 50,000 miles in less than 20 days. Ford No. 1 averaged 108.16 mph for the entire run... Ford No. 2, over 107 mph. These averages include time for all pit stops. In all, the '57 Ford smashed 458 national and international records. This test was run on the Bonneville Salt Flats in Utah... it was the longest left turn in history. A car, like a man, is known by its deeds, not words. That is why, we at Ford, despite our confidence in our '57 cars, let their deeds of accomplishment speak for themselves. We wanted them to prove to you—in action—the stamina and performance we had built into them. No words of ours could speak with equal conviction. Therefore, we engaged an independent engineering organization to test our '57 cars more thoroughly than any other cars have ever been tested before—in this country or abroad. We provided them with '57 Fords—cars identical with those now offered by Ford Dealers. The rest we left up to them. Here is what they did: They took these cars to the Salt Flats at Bonneville, Utah. Here, twelve of the world's greatest drivers took over. In relays they drove these cars night and day for a distance greater than twice around the world... a distance equal to 5 years of normal driving. Not in all history has a man-built machine traveled so far in so short a time—by land or sea! But this was not a test of speed—but of endurance of the "Inner Ford." A trial to take the measure of Thunderbird Y-block V-8 power without qualification of any kind. A test of running gear—of brakes, of materials in body and chassis. Of steering and roadability, yes, and comfort, too! A test, indeed, such as no cars have ever undergone, let alone successfully concluded. We feel that by their deeds, you shall know the '57 Ford cars. Surely they have told you, in decisive terms, that they are worth more when you buy... and when you sell! Your Ford Dealer will gladly place at your disposal the new kind of Ford that means a new kind of value for your car-buying dollar—the greatest the world has ever seen. ## Ayden Celebrates Annual Homecoming

By JEANETTE WORTHINGTON

Ayden School Reporter Betty Craft, chief cheerleader and popular member of the senior class, was elected Homecoming Queen last week. Betty was sponsored by James Willis.

Runner-ups were Ann McLawhorn, sponsored by R. L. Collins, and Pattie McCay, sponsored by Lindy Dunn. Other sponsors are Sandra Carter sponsored by Nelson Cannon, Annette Willoughby sponsored by Ikey Baldree, Suzanne Taylor sponsored by Wayne and McLawhorn, Frances Booth sponsored by Joe Dunn, Peggy Wood sponsored by Dan Bateman, Barbara Gagnon sponsored by Kay Dunn, Nancy Jackson sponsored by Billy Vandiford, Kay Woodard sponsored by John Hart, Brenda Davis sponsored by Leslie Stocks, Carolyn Turnage sponsored by Billy Cuthrell, and Shirley Moseley sponsored by Harold Worthington.

The Queen, the runners-up, and all other sponsors rode in the Homecoming Parade last Friday afternoon and took part in the half-time activities at the Homecoming football game Friday night.

It is report card time again at the Ayden Schools! The teachers have been busy for the past week delivering the reports to the parents. These home visits prove beneficial to both teachers and parents, because by talking over school problems or by just becoming acquainted, the school and home is able to work together more harmoniously—thereby helping the students to get more from their school work.

Seventeen members of the Ayden National Forensic League went to Kingston Monday night and enjoyed the forum sponsored by Grainger High N. F. L. The attending members were Pattie McCay, Bob Gagnon, Annette Dail, Brownie Harrington, Betty Lou Williams, Edith Faye Hardee, Carol McLawhorn, Buddy Ross, Barbara Gagnon, Brian Little, Wilbur Ormond, Sandra McLawhorn, Peggy Wood, Carl Nobles, Carol Lynne Cavlier, Kay Woodard, and Jeanette Worthington. They were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. John Clark Noble and Mrs. Wilbur Worthington.

Mrs. C. C. Little's Home Room won the $10 attendance prize with the highest percentage of parents present at the regular monthly meeting of the Ayden Parent Teachers Association.

Dr. Flannery, East Carolina College professor, spoke on "The Unusual Child." President Harvey Gwynn presided.

The Tri-Hi-Y held its regular night meeting October 8 at Carolyn Sumrell's home. Betty Craft, president, called the meeting to order. An inspiring devotion by Annette Dail followed.

The following new members were elected by the Tri-Hi-Y: Barbara Jean Worthington, Betty Lou Tripp, Liddle Anderson, Jeanette Harris, and Peggy Wadkins. The girls will be initiated at the next meeting.

Refreshments were served followed by the circle of prayer. Mrs. Brickhouse, advisor, was present.

On Wednesday during chapel period, a film, "Making the Most of School," was seen by the student body. "Use time wisely, be resourceful, investigate opportunities and know the rules and follow them" were the four points brought out in the film.

Friday afternoon the fire whistle sounded and all students marched orderly out of the building. They are taught to rise immediately when the whistle blows and leave everything where it is and march single file out certain specified exits. Few of the students were really excited because they are accustomed to fire drills.

However, last week the fire trucks and firemen were on the spot with ladders raised beside the building and fire hoses ready to fight a real fire.

Mansion Fixtures Picked By Wife

RALEIGH (AP)—The State Board of Buildings and Grounds can be sure new $10,000 chandeliers and sconces on order for the Governor's mansion will please the occupants.

Mrs. Luther Hodges, wife of the governor, and Elizabeth Thompson of Raleigh personally selected the fixtures. They picked them from a dozen proposals made to the State Division of Purchase and Contract.

The new lighting fixtures will replace chandeliers destined for use in the Tryon Palace at New Bern. Mrs. John Kellenberger of Greensboro, the donor, has allowed the chandeliers to hang in the will be moved to New Bern next mansion while the palace has been under reconstruction. They will be moved to New Bern next spring.

The new chandeliers and 14 wall sconces will cost about $10,200, including transportation charges and other expenses.

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK — The stock market dipped in slow trading early this afternoon.

Leading stocks took losses ranging to around 2 points.

Motors, steels and copper issues were the worst losers.

The sharply lower earnings reported by Ford, combined with continued hesitation as investors considered the election prospects were regarded as the main factors in the decline rather than the news of armed strife in Hungary.

Coppers were under continued pressure as the price of copper wire scrap was down again and news came of another cut in the basic copper price to British consumers.

Despite the dramatic news from abroad and the impact of the news about Ford, trading was only a bit more active than yesterday.

Ford was off 1/4 at 59 1/2 on its opening block of 2,000 shares then gradually extended its loss around a point more. Other motors declined sympathetically. Chrysler was off around a point and General Motors a fraction.

Steels caught the mood. Youngstown dropped around a point. Bethlehem, also affected by speculation as to its third quarter earnings and dividend report tomorrow, was down around 2. U. S. Steel dropped a fraction.

Kennecott Copper was down more than 2. Anaconda well over a point and International Nickel around a point.

Among specialties, American Hawaiian Steamship added 4 points. Joy Manufacturing was up 2 as it raised its dividend.

American Telephone dropped around a point.

RALEIGH — (NCDA)—Hog prices were steady to mostly 25 lower today. Tops of 15.50 to 16.25 at Rocky Mount; 15.75 to 16.25 at Scotland Neck, Jackson, Tarboro, Enfield and Bethel; 15.50 to 16.00 at Kinston, New Bern, Benson; 16.00 at Hillsboro; 15.75 at Rich Square, Fayetteville, Clinton, Micro, Lumberton, Elizabethtown, Mount Olive, Goldsboro, Wingate, Shallotte, Mount Gilead and Siler City; 15.50 at Tabor City and Keno; 15.25 at Smithfield, C as 1 1/2 Hayne, Clarkton, Whiteville, Ballew, Dunn, Blackmans Crossroads, Farmville, Newton Cross and Nahant.

Furniture Dealers Conclude Meeting

A. F. Kennedy, Jr. was elected chairman of the Greenville Furniture Dealers when they met here last night.

Those from Washington attending included: Louis C. Clark, of Washington Supply Co.; Ed Walker, C. W. Walker, Jr., G. W. Walker and Sons; Bill Phillips, Jim Phillips, Phillips-Wright Furniture Co.

For the benefit of the Washington guests Program Chairman Robert Tunnell outlined the work and accomplishments of the association since it was organized in June, 1952.

Annual Meeting Of Principals To Be Held Friday

The Northeastern District Principals' Division of the North Carolina Education Association will have its annual meeting at Respass Brothers Restaurant Friday at 12:30. President W. L. Flowers of New Bern will preside.

Dr. Benjamin Childs professor of education at Duke University, Durham, will lead the discussion "On Being A Principal." He began his teaching in the public schools of Georgia after receiving his degree from the University of Virginia. He received the Phelps Stokes Teaching Fellowship at the University of Virginia and was for three years chairman of the departments of psychology and education at Randolph-Macon College. Dr. Flowers went to Duke in 1924 and is still on the faculty.

Principal E. F. Johnson, of the Ayden High School, Ayden, is immediate past president and now is a member of the Board of Directors of the Principals' Division.

New Drain Pipe To Be Shown

Demonstration of "Bernidrain", a fiber drain pipe will be given on the Clarence Little farm located on U. S. 264 tomorrow afternoon at 2 p.m.

The Little farm is located five miles west of Greenville.

The demonstration is being staged by The Brown Co., makers of the new pipe, and it is being held in cooperation with the Soil Conservation Service and the Pitt County Extension Service.

Approximately 2,000 feet of the new drain pipe will be installed tomorrow to show Pitt farmers how it works.

Funeral Tomorrow For Epworth Farmer

AYDEN — Charles L. (Pate) Morris, 69, farmer of the Epworth community of Grifton, died Tuesday night at 8 o'clock at Lenoir Memorial Hospital in Kinston. He was a member of Maury Methodist Church.

Funeral services will be held at Britt's Funeral Chapel in Ayden Thursday at 3 p.m. Rev. D. W. Alexander, Free Will Baptist minister of Bethel, will officiate. Burial will be in the Ketchum family cemetery in the Ormondsville section of Greene County.

Naval Reserve Observes Date

Greenville naval reservists celebrated the seventh anniversary of the founding of the local unit here last night.

Congressman Herbert C. Bonner of Washington, one of the speakers at the meeting, paid tribute to the thousands of reservists in all branches who are giving of their time to keep the nation's military strength at a high level.

Chairman of the House Merchant Marine Committee Bonner pointed out the necessity for keeping the nation's naval and maritime fleets at a level of readiness to meet any international emergency.

Another speaker, Commander Morey of the Naval Bureau of Personnel in Washington, D.C., discussed the current trend in naval reserve training programs to meet changes being made in the fleet. He also spoke of changes in both operations and training which will have to come about as atomic energy is introduced in propulsion of naval vessels.

Lt. Cmdr. Fontenot, officer in charge of the naval reserve training center at Raleigh, addressed the group briefly on possibilities of a naval reserve training center in this area.

Naval reservists from Greenville, Farmville, Rocky Mount, Wilson, Goldsboro and Kinston attended the social hour and dinner meeting at which Cmdr. F. E. Lansche, commanding officer of the local unit, presided. A number of special guests also attended the meeting.

Hospital Group Meets Here Today

Hospital personnel from Greenville and surrounding counties met here today for a Blue Cross Hospital Workshop, sponsored by the Hospital Care Association of Durham.

The meeting was the fifth in a series of six Hospital Care is holding over the state this month. The purpose of the meeting was to explain to hospital business office and insurance office personnel the details of a new series of certificates which the Hospital Care Association will offer the public around the first of the year.

Hospital Care Association operates statewide and has a current enrollment of approximately 295,000 members. The Association has a district office in Raleigh which serves this area.

Jarvis Memorial Campaign Rises To $293,654

The final meeting of all committees in the Building Fund Campaign carried on over the last six weeks at Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church revealed the total of $293,654 in cash and pledges and a determination to finish the successful campaign by affording every member of the church and desire of all the workers in the campaign was rewarded with gratifying success. The church is keenly appreciative of their magnificent efforts. The activities and cooperation of the ladies of the congregation was inspiring.

Rev. W. M. Howard, pastor of Jarvis Memorial, declared, "I want to commend the people for their loyalty and their belief in the future of the church and their desire to have a share in what they think is needed to assure the future success of the church."

The chairman of the official board of the church, Luther D. Moore, said last night, "I am greatly gratified and thrilled that we have a reality of our dream."

He explained that he meant the enlarged sanctuary, the chapel, ladies parlour and additional property to be acquired.

The announcement of the final figure of $293,654 brought broad smiles to each face and at that moment J. H. Waldrop arose and remarked upon how much the campaign had meant to workers on to remind those present of the many who had not had an opportunity to enjoy the privilege of participating in the giving. He urged that everyone keep working until each has had an opportunity.

Dr. K. B. Pace remarked on how it had been a wonderful campaign and suggested that a rising vote of thanks be given to John Brinton, the expert of Ketchum, Inc., who had done such fine work and planning. The vote was registered with unanimity and enthusiasm.

Brinton was then called on for remarks. He said he wanted to point out from his wide experience in fund raising that there had been no outstanding stars—individuals—because all had worked together, resulting in his expert opinion in a very pleasant and easy campaign. "As long as you have this spirit, your church will go ahead," he declared.

Campaign Chairman Taft said he wanted to thank all the workers and others such as the ladies who prepared and served the dinners and helped in other ways in making the campaign a success. For a job well done he pointed to the committee chairman: Reynolds May, Dr. J. D. Messick, J. H. Waldrop, S. B. Underwood Jr., James W. Brewer and Ed W. Ratcliffe. He further commented that each committee had exceeded expectations in the amount raised.

The smiles, back-slapping, congratulations, and the inevitable raising of pledges by some all contributed to creating a great spirit of enthusiasm as individuals reacted to the victorious conclusion of the final report and rally. A spirit of unity pervaded the meeting which inevitably results from success of a cooperative effort. No stars, as Mr. Brinton said, were born but every heart felt the phoenix of hope as Jarvis Memorial looked back on 125 years of usefulness and glimpsed a future of increasing usefulness in the vineyard of the Lord.

Executive Club To Hear Nyaradi

Dr. Nicholas Nyaradi is to be the guest speaker when the Pitt County Executives Club holds its next meeting at East Carolina College Saturday at 7 p.m.

Nyaradi is a former Minister of Finance of Hungary. He spent seven months in Moscow, in conference with Stalin's henchmen over a reparations claim the Soviet levied on Hungary. Day after day, Nyaradi argued against the Soviet ministers, including Molotov. Finally the claim was reduced to approximately one-fourth its original amount.

Now unpopular with the Russians, a price of death has been placed on the head of Nyaradi and his wife. In this country he has authored articles revealing the Russian plans for the "Saturday Evening Post," "Fortune," "Liberty" and other magazines.

Nyaradi comes here from Peoria, Ill. where at Bradley University he holds the chair of Doctor of Law and Political Science.
