After Chasing BootleggersAyden Man Gets Life
For Raping Children

John W. Harrington, 36-year-old Negro from near Ayden was sentenced yesterday afternoon to serve the remainder of his natural life in the State Prison at Raleigh for raping two Negro girls, ages 9 and 11.

Judge Chester R. Morris passed sentence yesterday afternoon in Pitt County Superior Court after the jury returned with a verdict of guilty with a life imprisonment recommendation.

The state rested its case around noon after Dr. Clifton Davenport of Ayden, the fifth witness, testified that Gail Marie, and Donnell McCarter, ages 11 and 9 respectively, had been penetrated and that both had gonorrhea, as did Harrington.

Harrington denied all charges against him when he testified during the afternoon. He was the only witness the defense offered except for character witnesses.

The trial which started Tuesday morning with the selection of the jury, ended last night at 6 o'clock when Judge Morris passed sentence. The juror deliberated for 50 minutes before returning with their verdict at 5:58.

The state built its strongest case around the testimony of the two girls and the doctor. Both Gail Marie and Donnell testified that Harrington had had sexual relations with them many times before he was arrested August 18. Harrington is married to a Goldsboro woman, but the girls' mother, Mildred M. McCarter testified that he had been living with her for the past four years, and had had two children by him, one of which died shortly after birth.

Last Of Rallies
In Washington

WASHINGTON, N.C. (AP) — Tar Heel Democrats held the last of the 12 congressional district campaign rallies here today with Sen. W. Kerr Scott as the principal speaker.

At the Second District rally in Tarboro yesterday, Gov. Hodges declared the Republican administration is interested in "big time farming" and has neglected the little farmer.

He declared farmers have lost hundreds of millions of dollars of income each year of the Eisenhower administration.

The bandwagon started out a month ago with top state and federal Tar Heel Democratic office holders holding rallies in the various congressional districts. Today's First District rally was the last one.

True Bills Named
In Highway Case

True bills were returned by the Grand Jury on all six charges of false pretense against Philip A. Sasser, 43 and Cyrus Sheppard Jr., former Highway Department employees of the Second Division.

The two men were suspended permanently from their jobs around the first of this month for alleged irregularities, described by Highway Commissioner A. H. Graham of Raleigh as "carrying men who did not work in Highway Department payrolls."

After 11 Years:

Hitler Declared Dead

BERCHTESGADEN, Germany (AP) — Adolf Hitler was officially declared dead today — 11 years, 5 months and 25 days after he committed suicide and his body burned in the bomb-pocked garden of Berlin's Reich Chancellery.

An official notice said "Adolf Hitler, born April 20, 1889, in Braunau on Inn (Austria) is dead. The time of his death was established as the 30th of April 1945."

At the same time, the Berchtesgaden court and the Bavarian Ministry of Justice made public a 419 page document on the long-vaunted "Hitler diaries."

It said in part: "There can no longer exist the least doubt that Hitler took his life by his own hand on April 30, 1945, in the 'Fuehrerbunker' of the Reich Chancellery in Berlin, and that he did it by a shot into his right temple."

account of the last days of the Fuehrer, citing testimony by 42 witnesses and also evidence contained in German and foreign documentary references.

The witnesses included Hitler's valet, Heinz Linge, and the Fuehrer's SS (Nazi elite guard) adjutant, former Major Otto Gueneche. Hitler's aide, Heinrich Himmler, helped burn Hitler's body with more than 50 gallons of gasoline after the Fuehrer shot himself.

Hitler's bride, Eva Braun, swallowed poison. The long-time mistress and Hitler were married a day before carrying out their suicide pact. Her body was also burned.

Since the end of the war, there has been virtually no doubt in Germany that Hitler was dead. Numerous legends, however, spread abroad that had him hiding out in South America, Tibet, or elsewhere.

Two Pitt County lawmen were hurt and two Pitt County Negroes were jailed early this morning as a result of two weeks that occurred within 75 years of each other.

ABC officers James L. Ross and Deputy Sheriff Marvin Coward were hospitalized after their night patrol car overturned several times on the Stantonsburg road about six miles west of Greenville. The extent of their injuries is not known, but they are thought not to be critical.

Chief ABC officer J.M. Ward said Ross and Coward picked up the car pictured above, which was carrying 60 gallons of bootleg whiskey, near the Greene County line about 2:30 this morning. The car refused to stop as the chase went from near Willsboro to Ballard's Cross Road to Bell Arthur and finally ended where the two vehicles overturned. Ward said the pursued car overturned first and then the officers' car flipped over trying to miss it.

The two men were identified as Isaac Taft, 23, 712 Vanderbilt Street and Jesse Ray Harris, 16, Greenville, Route 2. They left the scene of the accident and caught a ride into Greenville where they were later arrested. Taft was caught at the home of Billy Jenkins of West 3rd Street. ABC officers, Police and Sheriff's Deputies found him under the bed in Jenkins' home. Young Harris was found in a car belonging to Jenkins. Both men were placed in jail without bond pending the condition of the two officers.

Ross complained of pains in his shoulder and Coward said his chest hurt him. Ward said neither man was able to recall what happened. He said they couldn't recall turning over.

Corporal C. E. Whitfield, aided by D. L. Minshew, Jim Boykin and Farmville Police were the investigating officers at the scene of the accident.

Both vehicles were said to be total losses. Ward said the Taft car was carrying 10 cases of bootleg.

Taft was charged with transporting 60 gallons of non-tax-paid whiskey for purpose of sale, driving carelessly and recklessly, speeding (over 75) and driving after license had been revoked.

Attending the meeting from Greenville in addition to Bloxam and Duncan were Councilmen J. E. West and C. W. Harvey Jr.

Greenville's city manager, Leonard P. Bloxam, was appointed the North Carolina League of Municipalities District 4 director at the League's annual meeting held in Asheville this week.

City Clerk H. H. Duncan was elected vice-president of the North Carolina Finance Association during the three day meeting.

Attending the meeting from Greenville in addition to Bloxam and Duncan were Councilmen J. E. West and C. W. Harvey Jr.

Seven bodies, including that of a baby girl, fell with the wreckage. The jet plummeted flaming into an empty home. The engine of the civilian plane crashed into the kitchen of another home where a mother had just taken her children into the living room.

"That small plane looked as if it were flying almost in the same direction as the jet," L. B. Martin, Dallas, Tex., truck driver said. "There was a loud explosion, then pieces of both planes and bodies were falling everywhere."

Killed were Winfred R. Clement, 27, his wife Elizabeth, 25, and their 13-month-old daughter Cathy, all of Bowles, Tex.; Mrs. Clement's parents, Roy E. Howard, 63,

Hodges Reveals
Large Allocation
For State Roads

RALEIGH (AP) — Gov. Hodges today announced the allocation of 1 1/2 million dollars in highway surplus funds for three projects.

The money will go for:
1. Grading, structures, additional right-of-way and paving additional land on U.S. 117 south of Greensboro, $350,000.

2. Replacement of bridges in Alamance, Caswell, Guilford, Orange and Rockingham counties, $550,000.

3. Portion of costs on building approximately 15 miles of U.S. 421 from Deep River Bridge toward Siler City, $600,000.

The allocation left on hand $5,005,903 in the highway surplus fund.

The governor told his news conference he favors giving county commissioners a larger hand in the administration of secondary road matters.

A report covering the subject is expected within the next few weeks from a commission set up by the last Legislature to study Highway Department organization.

Hodges said: "Contrary to what some others believe, I think county commissioners would be willing to accept responsibility." For portions of the secondary road program, Hodges said. Generally, people would rather go to elected county officials on local road matters than to a highway commissioner who is a political appointee, the governor added.

Hodges said he does not know that the Highway Study Commission will say on the subject. Recently, the commission has sent several persons to Virginia to study the secondary road program there, he said.

A number of other reports also will be coming in within the next few weeks, Hodges said.

Spanish Poet
Wins Nobel Prize

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — Juan Ramon Jimenez, 74, Spanish poet best known for his odes to a donkey, was awarded the 1956 Nobel prize for literature today.

The award was made by 18 literary experts of the Swedish Academy of Letters from a field of about 30 candidates proposed for the $30,000 prize. The award, the richest in literature, was made possible under the will of the late Alfred Nobel, Swedish inventor of dynamite.

Jimenez, who left his native Spain in 1936 during the disorders of the Spanish Civil War, has lived in nearly every country in the Western Hemisphere, including the United States, during the last 20 years.

He is now living in Puerto Rico, where he went in 1951 to become a visiting professor in the College of Humanities at the University of Puerto Rico. He now edits the campus newspaper, and acts as a counselor to students interested in writing.

He purchased a home in Seville, Spain, planning to return there early this year, but postponed the trip because of the grave illness of his wife, Zenobia, herself a writer, whom he married in 1946.

Informing a few days ago that he was the leading contender for the Nobel prize, he said, "I think there are other Spanish authors more deserving of the honor than I."

But if he should award the prize to himself, he said, "I should actually go to my wife, Zenobia, who has been the inspiration for most of my work."

His best-known work, "Platero y Yo" (Silver and Me), written in 1914, is about a light grey donkey named Silver to whom the poet makes poetic speeches while wandering along the roads of Southern Spain.

Delegate Reports
Revolt Expected

TOKYO (AP) — A Polish delegate to a United Nations subcommittee meeting said today his nation's revolt against Soviet control was not entirely unexpected.

Dr. Stanislaw Gall said he had anticipated such a change since a "democratic" movement began in Poland six months ago.

of another home and lodged in the bathtub. A child was found crumpled in a flower bed.

Webb Air Force Base said one of the airmen in the T33 had ejected himself, but his chute failed to open. The body of the other airman was found in the burned Saunders home.

The Clement plane had taken off at 2:30 p.m. from the Ector County Airport at Odessa, 12 miles southwest of this west Texas town, after the Clements had visited with Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Howard.

The military ship was based at Webb Air Force Base, Big Spring. Later last night, a jet training plane crashed and exploded east of Big Spring. Officials at Webb Air Force Base said the pilot, a mechanic at the base who had taken the plane up without authorization, was killed. His name was not released.

Wild Hungarian Revolt Continues
Despite Premier's Plea For HaltPoles Seek Independent
Communist Government

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Wladyslaw Gomulka, Poland's new Communist party boss, worked today to erect a structure of independent Communism in the wake of a political revolt against Moscow domination.

Official broadcasts said Gomulka and the Politburo of the Polish Communist party had assumed "leadership of the working classes and the entire nation to overcome the mistakes and blunders of the past."

One broadcast said a program would be submitted to the party's central committee Sunday for improvement of economic conditions and the participation of youth in the government.

It promised to lift the "fetters of secrecy" from party affairs, and pledged a free election of party officials. A party resolution condemned antisemitism.

Gomulka and other leading members of the Politburo plan to fly to Moscow soon to talk over differences between Polish and Soviet Communist leaders.

A Moscow broadcast today reported the speech of Gomulka to a mass meeting last night. But it left out Gomulka's statement that he had received assurances from Nikita Khrushchev, Soviet party boss, that Soviet troops in Poland would be returned to their regular bases within 48 hours.

Gomulka's statement was the first official confirmation of threatening Soviet troop movements during the political crisis here. Broadcasts quoted Polish reporters throughout the provinces as saying "Soviet army units have either already withdrawn to their bases, or are in the course of doing so."

Life in Poland seemed to be returning to normal. Last night some young Poles ignored Gomulka's appeals for order and engaged in anti-Soviet demonstrations in sympathy for Hungarian rebels. Warsaw's radio said workers had rushed in trucks from the suburbs to discourage these "oligarch outbursts."

In his speech yesterday to a crowd of 250,000 Gomulka made it clear Soviet troops would remain in Poland as long as there are NATO bases in West Germany — a statement that was received in silence by the crowd.

He was cheered loudly when he declared Poland was in charge of its own decisions — including whether Soviet officers will remain in the Polish army.

He attacked anti-Soviet sentiment as displayed in demonstrations in several Polish cities earlier in the week, and asserted Communist authorities would tolerate no action against the Polish state.

The crowd of 250,000 included factory and farm workers, office clerks, villagers and students who gathered in front of the 35-story Palace of Culture and Science, formerly known as Stalin Palace, to hear Gomulka.

The crowd cheered when he said "it depends only on us how long Soviet troops may remain here."

But there was only stony silence when he added that government policy requires that the Russian troops stay as long as the West had military installations in West Germany.

The students, ignoring appeals to end demonstrations, paraded from the University of Warsaw crying "Rokossovsky go home."

They were assailing Marshal Konstantin Rokossovsky, the Polish-born former Soviet marshal who remains as defense minister in the Polish government.

The 34th Annual Convention of the Northeastern District of the North Carolina Education Association will open here tomorrow with teachers from 22 counties expected to attend.

More than 2,000 teachers, principals, supervisors, superintendents and college faculty members are expected and officials believe that all attendance records will be broken. The NCEA is preparing to celebrate its centennial in 1957 and the district convention will be a part of the celebration.

During the day 24 divisions and departments will meet to discuss professional problems pertaining to their areas of teaching and work. Each group will hold a business session and elect new officers.

Local unit presidents will hear Helen Wells, NCEA Director of Field Services, discuss means of improving local unit functions.

The legislative and public relations chairmen of the local units are scheduled to meet with NCEA Professional Staff members for a briefing on legislative affairs and public relations procedures.

General sessions will be held in the Wright Building on the East Carolina College campus and exhibits will be set up in the Flanagan building.

District officers are: Lela Mae Taylor, president, Snow Hill; Mrs. Phoebe Emmons, vice-president, Washington; John Horne, secretary, Kinross; and Ella Cherry Moore, NCEA District Director, Rocky Mount.

Mr. Ray S. Wilkinson, Education Chairman, North Carolina Junior Chamber of Commerce, Rocky Mount, will be the principal speaker at the morning General Session. His subject will be "Current Education and Its Facilities As They Are Directly Related to the Growth of Education Generally."

During the One Hundred Year History of NCEA, Dr. J. D. Messick, president, East Carolina College, Greenville, will speak on "Making Education Practical" at the afternoon General Session.

Others to appear on the program will be: Dr. John Bennett, East Carolina College, Greenville; D. S. Johnson, superintendent, Rocky Mount City Schools, Rocky Mount; The Rev. B. E. White, pastor, Snow Hill Baptist Church, Snow Hill; B. L. Davis, superintendent, Greene County Schools, Snow Hill; Earl C. Funderburk, superintendent, Asheville City Schools, Asheville; NEA Director, Dr. Charles P. Carroll, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, Raleigh; O. P. Johnson, NCEA president, Kenansville; and Mrs. Ethel Perkins Edwards, NCEA Executive Secretary, Raleigh. Music for the two General Sessions will be furnished by the East Carolina College Band, Herbert L. Carter, director, and a Clinic Chorus from high schools in the district. Dr. Elwood Keister, East Carolina College, Greenville.

By RICHARD KASISCHKE

VIENNA (AP) — Hungarian rioting continued today, and Premier Imre Nagy promised he will negotiate with Moscow to withdraw its occupation troops if the rebels will end their revolution.

Nagy went on the radio to appeal for the rebellious forces of students and workers to lay down their arms and help his new government.

He promised that if they did so the country would get a new deal. "As soon as order is re-established those troops which were called by our government to help will be withdrawn," he said.

Apparently this meant that as soon as the revolution ended the Russian troops, tanks and jet plane pilots would be recalled to their bases. Then Nagy would take up negotiations with Moscow to have the four or five Soviet divisions in Hungary evacuated to Russia.

Broadcasters in Budapest claimed Soviet and Hungarian troops were slowly crushing the anti-Soviet rebellion—but fighting went on.

There were no late figures on casualties, but travelers from Hungary last night said hundreds had been reported killed in Budapest alone.

In Vienna today Western diplomatic sources said they had heard that four regiments of Hungarian soldiers had gone over to the side of the rebels.

This would explain how the revolutionaries—believed first to be composed of only students and workers—had been able to hold out against Russian and Hungarian army tanks, jet planes, machine guns and grenades. It would also explain where the rebels got their weapons.

The ruling Communist party in contradictory broadcasts appealed for the people to return to work, and warned them to stay off the streets because of continued shooting. It announced the ouster of its first secretary in an evident effort to appease rebels who since Tuesday night had been staging a bloody uprising in the heart of the Hungarian capital.

Radio Budapest said Ernoe Geroc, who only this week returned from Belgrade where he had a "reconciliation" conference with Yugoslav President Tito, had been replaced as first secretary by Janos Kadar, a former jailed Titoist.

It was the second major shake-up in the Hungarian hierarchy in two days and the third in three months. Yesterday Imre Nagy, purged as premier, replacing Andras Hegedus. Geroc succeeded the loyal Stalinist, Matyas Rakosi, as party secretary only last July. The radio said the ouster of Geroc was "greeted with loud cheers by the Budapest population" and that people in the street "embraced with joy."

A curfew, in force through the night, was extended, but people were told in other broadcasts that they could go out in case of extreme necessity.

Earlier broadcasts said rebels—who had started their insurrection with cries of "Russkies go home"—were still firing in scattered sections of the city, but predicted that the rebel forces would be liquidated "in the course of the day."

The widespread arrest of rebels and suspected sympathizers was reported.

Budapest remained cut off from the outside world by telephone. In a mid-morning broadcast Budapest radio had claimed that "life in the capital is coming back to normal."

It reported many people lined up at food shops, especially to get bread. It gave assurances that potato supplies are sufficient for three months.

Austria hastily reinforced its border guards to handle any possible influx of refugees from Hungary. It was unlikely that many would get through because the Hungarians had sealed their frontiers with army reinforcements.

Some Vienna newspapers reported that the Budapest rebels had obtained their weapons from dissident, Russian-hating Hungarian army units. The Vienna press also reported that there were many Hungarian soldiers among the rebels.

of strength" in dealing with any potential enemy came late yesterday as he replied to questions put to him by a group of women on a GOP-sponsored radio-TV program.

The President will make a major campaign speech there tonight. Advance indications are that he will follow up the argument which he advanced yesterday that the H-bomb helps give America "a position of strength" for peace by making any aggressor's attack "suicidal."

The speech will be delivered from Madison Square Garden, with a nationwide broadcast over NBC television and radio, at 9 p.m. EDT.

Before that time Eisenhower will confer with New York Republican leaders. Afterward he will fly back to Washington.

Eisenhower, accompanied by his wife, appeared in good humor as he climbed aboard a special tarmac train at Washington's Union Station for the four-hour run to New York.

The White House indicated Eisenhower plans to hit out again at a proposal by Adlai E. Stevenson, Democratic presidential nominee, that the United States take the lead in seeking world agreement on banning hydrogen bomb tests.

Eisenhower's statement that U.S. possession of the H-bomb helps give it an essential "position of strength" in dealing with any potential enemy came late yesterday as he replied to questions put to him by a group of women on a GOP-sponsored radio-TV program.

President Makes Bid
For New York VotesTown Of Grifton
Named In Suit

In Superior Court in Greenville Mrs. Nannie Chapman of Grifton has instituted suit for $1500 against the Town of Grifton for alleged damage to her property.

In her complaint, Mrs. Chapman alleges "That the Town of Grifton has erected and installed two deep water wells with sheds and tank for the use of the town; that the tank was located on land belonging to the town of Grifton, but one well and shed were located without any permission on the land of the plaintiff."

The plaintiff further alleged in her suit that she "has complained on various occasions of this trespass and encroachments to the Town of Grifton, but no action about her complaints has been taken by the Town of Grifton."

Retired Lawyer Succumbs,
Funeral To Be Tomorrow

Fordyce C. Harding, 87, retired lawyer of Greenville, died at his home, 409 Harding Street, at 8 o'clock this morning following a heart attack.

Funeral services will be conducted at 3:30 by Rev. John Drake, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal Church. Burial will be in Cherry Hill Cemetery. Members of the Greenville

Rotary Club will be active and honorary pallbearers.

Mr. Harding, son of the late Major Henry and Susan Spitz Harding, was born in Stonewall, N.C., February 12, 1869, and spent his early life in Aurora. He came to Greenville at the age of 14 and attended the University of North Carolina, graduating in 1893. He received the degree of LL.B. in 1894 and practiced law in Greenville until he retired in 1954. He served as a state senator for several terms. He was on the Greenville School Board for a number of years and served on the East Carolina College Board of Trustees for 33 years.

Mr. Harding taught the Sunday School Bible Class at St. Paul's Episcopal Church for 21 years and was an honorary member and past president of the Greenville Rotary Club. He was married to Annie E. Harding November 16, 1890, and they celebrated their golden wedding anniversary in 1940. Mrs. Harding died September 29, 1953.

Surviving are a daughter, Miss Mary Louise Harding, of the home; two sisters, Miss Bessie Harding and Mrs. H. T. Latham Sr. of Washington, N.C.; a brother, Dr. H. P. Harding of Charlotte; and a sister-in-law, Miss Eliza Harding of the home.

Lydia Wooten Class Meets

The October meeting of the Lydia Wooten Class of Jarvis Memorial Church was held Monday night at 8 at the home of Mrs. M. W. Maxwell, 1806 E. 6th Street. Mesdames Charles Flye, T. F. Smaw, James A. Piver and John Clark were co-hostesses.

Miss Wynette Garner gave the program. She told the class of her experience during the summer months as counselor in a northern New Jersey camp operated for under-privileged children. She gave in detail a full day's schedule with the children and pointed out their great need for kindness and love.

Mrs. J. L. Simmons, president, opened the meeting and presided. Mrs. M. W. Maxwell gave the devotion, using as her theme "Friendship and Fellowship." She read from John 15 verses 12-17 and told highlights of the writing of the poem "Let Me Live In A House By The Side Of The Road." She read the poem and closed with a prayer.

The secretary called the roll with 21 members being present. Minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. Correspondence was also read.

Dues were collected and the treasurer's report was given by Mrs. T. F. Smaw.

Mrs. Maxwell announced that aprons were wanted for the church bazaar to be held in November.

Mrs. Clara Moye Shackell announced the United Nations Day program to be held on October 24. Mrs. J. L. McDonald was welcomed back to the class after a long absence.

Mrs. Simmons closed the meeting with a prayer of rededication. Refreshments served by the hostesses during the social period carried out the Halloween theme and included iced cake squares, cookies, candy corn and coffee.

Luncheon Fetes Miss Skinner

Miss Nina Skinner, whose marriage to Roy Upchurch Jr. will take place here November 17, was honored at luncheon Monday.

Hostess for the occasion was the bride-elect's grandmother, Mrs. C. M. Hayes of Washington. The event took place at the Washington Country Club.

Luncheon tables were decorated with arrangements of white chrysanthemums and greenery while white mixed flowers were placed throughout the club.

Miss Skinner presented a corsage of gardenias.

Attending the event from Greenville in addition to the honoree and her mother, Mrs. Charles Skinner, were Mrs. J. T. Chestnut, Mrs. Ralph Garrett, Mrs. Lee Hannah, Mrs. Luther Moore and Mrs. Will Lipscomb.

A total of twenty-two guests enjoyed the three-course luncheon.

Broiled ham steak is delicious served with whole cranberry sauce to which diced orange has been added.

Supper At Red Oak Well-Attended

RED OAK EVENT—Local citizens turned out in droves last night to attend the annual "Harvest Supper" and "Country Auction" at Red Oak Community Building. The menu included a choice of ham, turkey, barbecued pork or chicken with plenty of country vegetables, rolls, homemade dessert and tea or coffee. The large crowd—an estimated 1800 plates were sold—kept the women hustling to keep the plates and orders filled. (Reflector Staff Photo).

Miss Ballance Is Honored

A floating miscellaneous shower last night honored Miss Bernadine Ballance of Hooker Road, whose marriage to Sidney Carraway will take place November 11.

Hostesses for the event were Mrs. Paul Hunsucker, Mrs. Ralph Heidenreich and Miss Sarah Jones. Miss Jones and the honoree greeted guests at the Jones home, 1104 W. Fourth Street.

In the dining room a color note of green and white was used in decorations and refreshments.

An imported Irish linen cloth covered the refreshment table. The punch bowl, placed in the center, was encircled with white mums and daisies interspersed with ivy. Silver candelabra holding white burning tapers flanked the punch bowl from which Mrs. George Johnson poured.

Assisting in serving bridal cakes, mints and nuts was Mrs. Norman Harris. Mrs. Heidenreich directed guests to the dining room. An arrangement of daisies and mums on the buffet completed the decorations.

Mrs. Hunsucker received in the gift room where mixed fall flowers were used. The hostesses presented Miss Ballance a corsage of mums and a set of china.

Some fifty guests called during the evening to shower her with gifts.

Out-of-Town Party
Miss Ballance was honored on Friday evening at another shower held in Pikeville at which her aunt, Mrs. Leo Talton, Mrs. Jack Kirby and Mrs. Charles Pender were hostesses.

Greeting guests were the honoree and her aunt.

Following several games, Mrs. Pender poured punch from the dining room table which was centered with an arrangement of white carnations and greenery. White candles tied with green satin ribbons flanked the arrangement.

Guests were served bridal cakes.

Comfort In Time Of Trouble

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—From three to four hours a day, Mrs. Louise Kniss sits at the kitchen table of her home and goes over obituary notices. Those hours have developed into a unique "ministry of sympathy" which more than 16,000 people have felt.

Mrs. Kniss sends to survivors of loved ones inspirational tracts—and with no thought but to comfort the bereaved. She does it anonymously. Her daily procedure started five years ago when the minister of Christian Missionary Alliance Church here put suggestions to his congregation on ways they might serve the Lord.

Mrs. Kniss herself knew what a comforting message could mean—she found out three years earlier when her husband died. Now, she brings that same kind of comfort to others, almost all of them total strangers.

She sends two tracts: "In Time of Sorrow," a four-page leaflet with a simple message of comfort; and "I Am the Door," a gospel tract outlining the plan of salvation.

"As I stuff each envelope, I breathe a prayer that the Lord will bless them and comfort them," she said quietly.

Often people who receive her mail respond, sometimes with thank-you cards, frequently with notes of appreciation. One came from the family of the late Sen. Alben W. Barkley. All are forwarded to her by the church, whose address is on the envelope. "But if I never got one single response I wouldn't care," she says. "I've never expected thanks."

Creamed ham and chicken is delicious served over split squares of cornbread. If you need to stretch the sauce, add hard-cooked egg or mushrooms to it.

Want to vary those frozen breaded fish sticks? Thaw them and wrap them in pastry squares; brush the pastry with heavy cream and bake in a hot oven.

President Honored As Presbytery Ends

By ANNE SINGLETON
Mrs. Ella Greathouse, past president, presented Mrs. George B. Moore of Tarboro, president of the Women of the Church of Albemarle Presbytery, an Honorary Life Membership yesterday at their 56th Annual Meeting held at the First Presbyterian Church.

New officers for the forthcoming two-year period include: Mrs. Eric W. Rodgers, Scotland Neck, president; Mrs. George B. Moore, Tarboro, second vice-president; Mrs. Turner Whitehead, Scotland Neck, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Dan Cratch, Washington, chairman of World Missions; Mrs. L. G. McCarter Jr., New Bern, chairman General Fund Agencies; and Mrs. C. J. Blanchard, Rocky Mount, chairman of District I.

Three hundred and eighty-three delegates from 53 churches in 22 counties attended this two-day meeting. The initial session opened at 4 p.m. Tuesday and adjourned yesterday afternoon at 4 p.m.

Wade H. Boggs Jr., Dr. Wade Hamilton Boggs Jr. spoke during the morning session yesterday on "Jesus and Citizenship" and in the afternoon session "Christ and Citizenship" was his topic.

Mrs. E. B. Hicks, Chairman of Spiritual Growth, introduced Boggs. He is the Professor of Bible and Christian Doctrine at the Assembly's Training School, Richmond, Va. His first pastorate was in Buchanan, Va., where he served a group of four churches. From this post he went to Queens College, Charlotte, and served for four years as Chairman of the Division of Religion and Philosophy.

Boggs is the author of "Faith, Healing and the Christian Faith," to be published in October, and chosen by the Religious Book Club as its Book-of-the-Month.

His two speeches dealt with a thorough review of the book, "Jesus and Citizenship," by Ernest Trice Thompson. This book will be used as a study book by the women of the church during the forthcoming year.

Boggs divided the book into three divisions. First, he pointed out that "Christians have an obligation to bring their Christian insight and principles to bear on the various problems of the Church order."

Secondly, he discussed several of the problems facing people today and illustrated how Jesus' teachings can help people with their problems. Nationalism vs. Internationalism, War and Peace, Plenty and Want, Sickness and Health, and Brotherhood and Race were some of the everyday problems he covered.

"The third division of this book tells how objectives can be achieved and tells us where sources can be found that will help Christians to achieve their objectives," he concluded.

Materials and How

"Read the Bible" five minutes

a day, meditate five minutes a day, and pray five minutes a day," spoke Mrs. Lacy Godwin, vice-president, from Fayetteville. Mrs. Godwin reviewed several books to be used by the women during the forthcoming year and gave helpful study hints concerning those that would be used for teaching.

Mrs. Leonard W. Topping, wife of the Greenville Presbyterian minister, gave a report on the Church's work with the World Missions. She illustrated with the use of a drawing board how the Birthday offering in December would be divided between Korean hospitals and student work in Mexico.

Mr. Edwin A. West, Chairman of Women's Work, Albemarle Presbytery, Washington, installed the new officers and Mrs. E. W. Harvey Sr., chairman of credentials, closed the meeting with a prayer.

Donation-Flowers-Music
Two hundred and seventy dollars and sixty-four cents was collected during the meeting. This money will be applied on a scholarship that will be given to a young person who is going into Christian service.

Mrs. Walter Cox, Greenville, was in charge of the flower decorations throughout the church and in the Fellowship Hall. She was assisted by Mrs. John Clark, of Greenville.

Greenville. Mrs. Tige Gardner of Greenville was in charge of the fruit arrangements that adorned the tables at yesterday's luncheon. Miss June Crews and Mr. August Laube were the soloists at yesterday's session. They were accompanied by Mrs. Guy Smith, organist.

The Women of the Church of Albemarle Presbytery will meet at the First Presbyterian Church in Washington in 1957 for the 50th annual meeting.

Hook Up Your Christmas Gifts

CROCHETED CUTIES . . . The tassel cap at left and the baby cap at right are crocheted of furry white angora yarn, ideal Christmas gifts for every young girl on your list.

AP Newsfeatures

NOW IS THE TIME to put your knitting needles and crochet hooks to work on that Christmas gift list. Nothing is more appreciated than a hand-made gift, planned especially for someone you like. Needlework departments are full of suggestions for small, quick and easy accessories that you can make in a few hours, and make somebody happy on Christmas morning.

Any young girl would love one of the new crocheted caps or hoods so popular just now. They come in various versions: are prettiest when done in furry white angora yarn, and can be completed in a couple of hours if you are handy with your crochet hooks. Especially beguiling are two new styles: a head-hugging cap with a long knotted tassel of jumbo yarn hanging down the back; and a crocheted baby cap with a hole in back for a pony tail, tied under the chin with narrow black velvet ribbon.

For free directions for making both caps plus a charming little white angora knitted shoulder stole, send stamped, self-addressed envelope to: ANN BUCILLA, 230 Fifth Avenue, New York 1, N. Y.

Program Last Night Observes Twelfth Anniversary Of UN

The twelfth anniversary of the founding of United Nations was observed in St. Paul's Episcopal Parish House last night at 8 o'clock.

The program was sponsored by the League of Women Voters, the A. A. U. W., the Ministerial Association, the Woman's Club, and the Greenville Council of Church Women.

Miss Peggy Griffin, a student at East Carolina College, sang "One World."

Mrs. Bill Semons, president of the Greenville Council of Church Women, presented Mrs. Clara Shackelford who introduced Mrs. Eli Bloom.

Mrs. Bloom acted as moderator of a panel discussion on the historical facts and current operation of United Nations.

Members of the panel were: Mrs. J. Vance Perkins, Mrs. J. C. Galloway Jr., Mrs. H. G. Williams, and Mrs. John Shannonhouse.

Dr. Richard Todd, professor of Social Studies at East Carolina College, gave the principal address.

Dr. Todd stressed that if America is to keep her position of leadership in the West then the United Nations citizens as individuals must examine themselves and their nation in relationship with God.

He stated that the UN is not a world government, but a world forum which is being challenged by many age old differences between nations.

A devotional was given by the Rev. C. C. Cribb, president of the Ministerial Association, and the benediction was pronounced by the Rev. John W. Drake, Rector of St. Paul's Episcopal Church.

Halloween Party Enjoyed

A large group attended the Halloween Party presented by the Junior Club No. 13885 of the Modern Woodmen of America on Monday night at 7:15.

The party took place at the meeting hall on Broad Street.

Robert C. Payne, state manager, was guest speaker for the evening.

The new queen, Judy Forbes, and king, Danny Kay Singleton, were crowned by the queen mother, Mrs. Robert Boyd.

A scrap book, won by the club for preparing and submitting articles on Junior Club events to the local newspaper, was presented to Lib Sutton, president of the club, by Mrs. Robert Forbes.

Under the direction of Larry Stox Sr., junior director, a program was presented.

In the costume parade—Janice Boyd won first prize and Linda Phillips won second.

Danny Kay Singleton was the only winner in the apple contest. In the marshmallow contest Billy Parkhurst and Brenda Boyd were winners.

Mr. and Mrs. Boyd won the marriage proposal contest. Maggie Boyd and Billy Hunning won in the sack race contest. Billy Hunning also won the "dress-like-women" contest.

Mrs. Parkhurst was chosen as the most sophisticated lady. Named most sophisticated man was Mr. Williams.

In the fishing contest Mr. Boyd pulled in a baby bottle and a pen. Mr. Williams caught a girl. Maggie Boyd was the winner in the cracker-eating contest and Janice Boyd won the pie-eating contest.

Mrs. Williams was chosen the winner in the beauty contest. For the witch wagon drawing Stella Boyd won first prize and Linda Phillips won second.

Judges were Mrs. Lancaster, Mrs. Parkhurst, and Mr. Carley of Kingston.

Several families from Kingston attended the party.

A blend of blue cheese, cream cheese and sour cream makes a delectable salad dressing. Add salt, pepper, paprika and grated onion to taste.

Always loosen a meat loaf from the sides of the pan before turning out.

Double Parking Traffic Hazard

Greenville has enough trouble with its traffic situation in the business district without the additional bottlenecks daily caused by trucks double parking in the streets.

Practically every block in Greenville's business district has at least one loading zone and some of the blocks have two or more loading zones. In addition to these, there are alleys in some of the blocks which provide loading and unloading facilities at the rear of business houses.

It would seem that these facilities should provide adequate loading space to eliminate the necessity of trucks double parking on a busy street to take packages into business houses. Hardly a day passes when traffic is not blocked completely or slowed to a snail's pace several times a day on busy streets in Greenville's business district.

The police department, which seems intent on eliminating the double parking of automobiles, apparently condones the double parking by trucks in spite of loading zones which have been provided. Why provide this special treatment for trucks?

Particularly noticeable by their habitual double parking are the mail trucks which ply back and forth in the business district. It is not uncommon to see a mail truck stop in a traffic lane several times in one block. The driver gets out of his truck, leisurely delivers a package into a store, gets back into his truck, drives a hundred feet or so, stops again and repeats the ritual.

It may take a little more effort for mail trucks to use the loading zones, but frankly we don't think it would disrupt the mail service to downtown stores. We are quite sure it would facilitate the movement of traffic in the business district.

The mail trucks, of course, are not the only offenders. All types of delivery trucks have gotten into the habit of double parking in the business district. Sometimes it's a small truck that blocks traffic. Another time it may be a huge van.

Since Greenville has gone to the trouble and expense of establishing one-way streets to handle the increased traffic flow, we see no reason for allowing these trucks to double park at will and cause countless hazardous traffic bottlenecks countless times a day.

With a little more cooperation between the city, trucking concerns, the post office, and business houses, this double parking problem could be appreciably alleviated. In the interest of the traffic flow and traffic safety in Greenville's business district, efforts toward that end should be made.

Point Of Decision For Russia; Other Nations

Russia is going to have to use military force and a considerable amount of it if it is to hold together its crumbling satellite empire.

Poland, the largest of Russia's European holdings already has declared her independence from Moscow control. For the time being Poland appears successful in its bold venture; but only the first chapter has been written. Russian counter moves against Poland are now in the making.

Poland's apparent success at defying Kremlin leaders has brought open revolt in Hungary where Russian troops have brought in not only guns but planes and tanks to put down the rebellion.

These two rapid fire developments in Kremlin satellite states are indicative of unrest throughout captive countries under the Kremlin heel. Inspired by the success in Poland, at least a moral victory for the people in Hungary, other states may be expected to push their bid for independence in short order.

The Kremlin must decide whether to use force to hold its satellite empire together or watch it crumble. Other nations of the world at the same time must decide whether to aid these nations which are trying to shake off the Kremlin yoke, or leave them to their own resources.

Presidential Winner To Be Picked By 531

By LYNN NISBET
ELECTORAL VOTES — Although it is expected that more than 65 million Americans will go to the polls on November 6, actually there will be only 531 ballots cast for President—and they will not be officially voted until December 17, and officially counted in the House of Representatives after Congress convenes in January.

Presidential electors, only persons who can vote directly for President and Vice President, are apportioned to the several states on basis of one for each Representative and Senator in the Congress. A plurality of one vote in the popular elections carries the full voting strength of the state. It is entirely possible, in fact it has happened, that this arrangement will give a candidate a majority in the electoral college although he failed of a majority in the popular vote. Dewey, Thurmond and Wallace got 150,000 more votes in 1948 than Truman.

Adlai Stevenson received 44 percent of the popular vote in 1952, but less than 17 percent of the electoral vote. The switching of about a million votes in ten states would have elected Stevenson four years ago. But the same process of figuring the switching of 330,000 in the nine states carried by Stevenson would have given Eisenhower the unanimous electoral vote.

Two-thirds of one percent of the people who voted for Stevenson had cast their ballots for Eisenhower. It would have put North Carolina in the Republican Column. It would have taken only 331 switches to give Kentucky to the Republicans.

In 1948 the entire electoral votes of Michigan and New York went to Dewey, although in each state the combined popular vote for Truman and Wallace exceeded the Dewey total. That same year Truman got the whole California vote, although he lacked 173,744 of getting half the popular ballot.

PROBABILITIES — It takes 266 electoral votes to win. Stevenson received only 89 and needed 177 more—despite his 44 percent of the popular vote. The eleven states which went for Truman in 1948, but against Stevenson in 1952, with the number of electoral votes are:

California, 32; Florida, 10; Illinois, 27; Massachusetts, 16; Minnesota, 11; Missouri, 13; Ohio, 25; Oklahoma, 8; Tennessee, 11; Texas, 24; and Virginia, 12. That totals 189 electoral votes.

Of these states Oklahoma, Tennessee, Texas and Virginia are rated certain Democratic this year, with odds favoring Florida and Illinois. The others are close, with Stevenson given a slight edge in Minnesota and Ohio by most observers.

Other close states which went for Eisenhower last time are Michigan, New Jersey, New York and Pennsylvania. The change of a few thousand votes in the right places could turn the electoral result into almost a landslide for Stevenson or Eisenhower without seriously affecting the popular majorities.

Another factor is that electoral votes are apportioned as they were four years ago based on the 1950 census. Several states have gained population much faster than others. That tends to reduce the value of individual votes in those states and to increase it in states which have not kept pace. California, for instance, gained seven electoral votes in 1950 over 1948, while New York lost two and Pennsylvania lost three. Regardless of population shifts since 1950 the electoral states will have the same voting strength for President they had in 1952.

SCHOOL NEEDS — What are the basic needs of the public school system in North Carolina? There are almost as many answers to that question as there are people interested in the schools. All of them involve adequate financing.

Lloyd Griffin, executive vice president and secretary of the North Carolina Citizens Association, sets out three major items. He speaks with the authority of experience as a legislator who largely wrote the school laws in 1933 and later served as secretary of the State School Commission.

At top of the list he puts improvement in quality of instruction. That means better trained teachers with lower pupil loads. He has no criticism of the job teachers are now doing, and thinks the curriculum is pretty good. He does think pupils ought to have more training in learning how to read, as a basis for further instruction.

Next in importance, if not of equal weight, is the need for "running out of the school system" the philosophy of non-discipline, freedom of individual expression, which infiltrated the North Carolina schools as an aftermath of the depression. The idea that no pupil should be subjected to discipline for misconduct, or rewarded for achievement, undermines the very foundations of citizenship training, said Griffin.

Personal responsibility and appreciation for opportunity should be emphasized as much as subject matter in the textbooks. In logical sequence the next step is to instill in the pupil a desire to go on to college. It is shameful, he said, that only 31 percent of high school graduates go to college. Along with creating the desire for further education, there must be some provision for financial aid to pupils who cannot afford the price of college.

My experience is that bad spelling is in other phases of accuracy. It involves some defect of optical observation, at least," said an editor. And another, "We have a Harvard man on our staff, for instance, who wrote about a 'bazaar series of events.' (Yale men are no better!)"

Two thirds of the editors said that poor spelling would hold back a newspaper man who, otherwise, was capable and reliable. Almost one-third reported that poor spelling "won't help." Only one editor said it was "of minor importance."

Words most frequently misspelled, editors say are: marshal, accommodate, consensus, mount, separate, embarrass, occurred, principle and principal, dependent, hemorrhage, weird, parallel, veterinarian, commitment, affidavit.

Asked "how important do you consider spelling for a newspaper man?" one editor said "vital," while the balance said "of considerable importance." Not one said "of minor importance."

Something Coming Up?

By JACK EDWARDS

A Chance To Witness

On purpose, I waited until the 1956 Pitt County Fair was well behind us before writing this. My intention is to arouse your curiosity as to what about the fair could be news at this point.

For most, the 1956 fair is gone and forgotten. But for the minister and some of the members of St. James Methodist Church it will live forever.

Each year St. James has a booth at the fair for the purpose of making money for the church. The average profit in the past has been about $500. This year St. James made $770—but the money involved is secondary.

Right here in Greenville, St. James performed missionary service that has previously been overlooked. The personnel of the fair were fed two free meals; one on Sunday before the fair began, and another the following Sunday from midnight until four in the morning. Truck drivers, show girls, gambling table operators—every member of the group was served free.

One man said, "I've been on the road 20 years and this is the first time I have ever been offered a free meal."

These people were reached by the spirit of the church. Those who worked at the booth said they have never seen people more grateful for a small gift. St. James' minister, the Rev. J. Malloy Owen, was on hand every day beginning at seven in the morning. Many of the members of the fair personnel were impressed by his interest and were eager to comment on it.

Mrs. Alton Clapp was in charge of the entire operation and did a terrific job. Before the week was out everyone around was calling her Louise, with respect and affection.

How did this come about? In previous years St. James has had a booth, concentrated on making money and the opportunity for such a missionary feat never occurred to the members. Because the scriptures were followed, St. James would not sell food on Sunday. Thus, the fair personnel was fed free. When it was evident that the people had been reached by this act, everyone involved knew it was a blessing.

"By having a booth at the fair," the Rev. Owen says, "we do not mean to imply that we approve of everything that goes on at a fair. Yet, by having the booth the opportunity to witness for Christ came about."

Notebook On Life

Tale Of A Female Explorer

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Peggy Keenan, a lady pianist who became a gold miner, now has decided to become the first woman to reach the North Pole.

"And I will," she said positively. She is the only woman on a scientific expedition of 16 men and 40-dog sleds scheduled to fly to the North Pole next January. The expedition will be headed by her explorer husband, John P. Stanwell-Fletcher, a veteran arctic explorer and U.S. Air Force reserve officer.

Miss Keenan, who is red-haired and has eyes she describes herself as "Alredale colored," expects to spend two months in the vicinity of the North Pole and will keep records of the expedition. She doesn't feel her sex is any liability, thinks more active exploring should be coeducational.

"A woman actually can stand cold weather better than a man," she said. "I find that out on two previous trips to the arctic, when the weather went to 55 below zero."

It was on a trip to Alaska as a USO entertainer that she met her husband.

At this level, all men begin their praying. And although prayers take on the form and coloration of widely differing theologies, nevertheless all men begin their petitions to the Most High with the conviction that man can pray, that God wants him to pray, and that prayer makes a difference. Someone has expressed it by saying that prayer is the rising up of human desires into the very purposes and grace of God.

It is amazing how easier God is to give to His children and how timid they are about asking for His bounty or reaching out their hands to receive it. His outgoing love shames our fear. His continuous providence rebukes our lack of faith.

By RAY TUCKER
WASHINGTON Despite the Democrats' superior grass-roots work and organization, the big city-state machine bosses still show an extraordinary dislike for Senator Estes Kefauver.

That TV CRIME EXPOSE—Kefauver's sensational television crime expose disrupted many Democratic city and state machines, but his disclosures of tie-ups between politicians and criminals did the most damage in Hartman's New York, Truman's Missouri and Stevenson's Illinois. They defeated former Senator Scott Lucas in Illinois, and contributed to Eisenhower's sweep of the three states.

When Kefauver sought the nomination in 1952, and defeated Truman in the New Hampshire primary, the book relates how the organizations gathered against him. They entered what he called "stalking horses" against him—former Senator Robert J. Burkeley in Ohio, Senator Robert S. Kerr of Oklahoma in Nebraska, Attorney General Edmund Brown in California, and two anti-Kefauver delegate states in Wisconsin.

BIOGRAPHY TALES The most vicious anti-Kefauver counter-attack, however, was staged in Illinois.

"The Chicago Democratic machine," continues this eulogy of Kefauver, "promptly began a frantic campaign to promote write-in votes for Governor Adlai Stevenson. This Lucas-sparked campaign against Kefauver was endorsed by the Democratic National Committee to the tune of $40,000. The money was quietly dumped into Illinois to cut down the Kefauver vote."

Such shenanigans in a primary contest are strictly against political rules. The function of the National Committee is to back Democratic candidates in general elections not to attempt to control the primaries.

Although Kefauver does not say so specifically, he virtually accuses his 1956 running mate of engaging in "Political shenanigans" and a violation of political ethics.

Miss Keenan is an adventure-loving woman with both business as well as artistic talent who has never been satisfied with doing just one thing at a time.

While pursuing an active career as a professional pianist she also built up a bankroll operating a flooring concern.

Nine years ago during a dinner party in Los Angeles one of the guests spoke at length of the still untapped mineral wealth in the Black Hills of South Dakota. She was so interested that one of the other guests suggested jokingly, "Why don't you become a gold miner yourself, Peggy?"

Miss Keenan didn't think it was a joke at all. The idea appealed to her at once.

"I'd been a rock hound myself ever since I tramped the High Sierras as a girl with my father, who was interested in mining ventures," she recalled.

She hired a mining engineer with her own money to go to the Black Hills and survey the area. His report was so optimistic that she banded shut her piano, went to South Dakota, put on boots and entered the mining business.

There was plenty of metal in the hills, but it wasn't until recently that new techniques made removing it economic.

Miss Keenan bought mineral leases on a 20-square-mile area northwest of the town of Spearfish. She now heads a $400,000 syndicate called Northwest Defense Minerals, Inc., which will

Expansion Foreseen In Sports

By ELMER ROESSNER

America's interest in sports and other recreational activities has grown almost unbelievable in the last 25 years, but even greater expansion is ahead, according to Fessenden S. Blanchard, New York business consultant, in a talk prepared for the current Boston Conference on Distribution.

The prime reason is that more people have more time and more money for sport than ever before. Mr. Blanchard pointed out. The rise in incomes, vacations with pay, more holidays and the shorter work week have created both the time and the means for more fun.

In addition, he noted that in the last 50 years, the number of persons over 65 had quadrupled, and a great many of these now have pensions that put them in the leisure market.

Other reasons for the great growth of recreational activities, he said, are:

Autos, good roads, motels and other accommodations make it easier for people to get away for sports and recreation.

States, local governments and private industries have greatly expanded sports facilities with playgrounds, marinas and other sites.

PUBLICITY PLAYS PART The promotion of sporting exhibits and events, in the flesh and on television, has increased interest in many sports.

The increased participation of women in sports has aided their development.

The informal, casual pattern of life today leaves people better prepared and better dressed for sport.

The decentralization of living from city to suburbs has increased opportunities for engaging in sports.

Mr. Blanchard cited some of the effects of the greater interest in recreation on business:

In 1939, 120,000 outdoor motors were produced; last year more than 500,000 were made.

As late as 1947, only 3,750 boat trailers were sold; last year 129,000 were purchased.

In 1955, more than 50,000 persons visited the national parks, 10 or 15 times the number there in 1930.

SOME DECLINE

Tennis is one of the sports that have lost ground. Skating has been set back by several warm winters. Indoor badminton has lost popularity, but the backyard version is growing. Real estate developments have chewed up many golf courses, but the sale of golf balls continues to rise, indicating that more people are using the remaining courses—or that players lose balls more frequently than they used to.

Team sports are gaining in popularity. Twenty million persons now are estimated to play softball. Sales of basketballs, which were 500,000 in 1939, reached 1,000,000 in 1947 and 2,000,000 in 1953; sales are even higher today.

The growth of sports and other recreational endeavors has had vast impact on the textiles and apparel market, the speaker said. Dress shirt sales have declined while demand for sports shirts has skyrocketed. Sales of skirts for women, sweaters, men's sports jackets and coats and cashmere sweaters are up.

"We know of a mill making men's and women's worsteds that refused to recognize the importance of sportswear trend, the possibilities of blended fabrics and the trend to higher percentages of light, summer-weight garments," Mr. Blanchard said. "It is now out of business."

All of this growth in recreational pursuits has come since the advent of the 4-hour week. Can you imagine what will happen when the four-day work week becomes a reality?

Opinions In Brief

BELLINGHAM, WASH., HERALD: "The 'farm problem' has been with us for years. It has been aggravated by conditions of war and peace. But experts who do not want to keep it before the people as a political football regard the program now in effect as the most hopeful long-range solution yet offered for turning the farm business back to private enterprise farmers."

BUSH BACK-ROOM BOSSES. "The under-table contribution," continues "The Kefauver Story," "was brought to light when a national Democratic officer, William Bradley, resigned in protest over finances. But the money went down a rat-hole, Illinois primary results showed. Kefauver polled nearly a half million votes, against 50,000 write-in ballots for Stevenson."

The volume then quotes numerous editorials which charged that a few "backroom bosses" had manipulated the convention so as to defeat "the people's choice, Estes Kefauver."

TENNESSEE FOR IKE IN 1952 When Stevenson finally won the nomination, the Senator's father, Luke Kefauver, snorted, and the outburst was relayed to Stevenson.

"They can take the nomination and go to hell with it!" President Eisenhower carried Tennessee by 2,437 votes, although it is normally a Democratic stronghold.

Dixie Leaders Challenge Justice Department Charge

WASHINGTON (AP) — Southern leaders have challenged a Justice Department official's statement that a mass campaign to deny Negroes the right to vote is under way in the South.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Warren Olney said yesterday investigations already are under way in sections of five states, and criminal charges will be filed where Negroes are deprived of voting privileges because of their race.

"Disfranchisement of colored voters is going forward on a mass basis," Olney said, in some areas of Alabama, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi and North Carolina. This is being accomplished, he said, by what he called "systematic" revisions of registration rolls, frequently on the basis of challenges by White Citizens Councils.

Mississippi's Gov. J. P. Coleman replied that "on its face this is a political move designed to get votes from the Northern Negro."

He said he personally will join in defending any Mississippian indicted on what he called "these trumped-up charges."

Earl Echnols, chairman of the Pierce County (Ga.) board of registration, said 130 Negro voters were removed from rolls there after "failing to appear to meet the challenge of their eligibility at a board hearing." Of others who did appear, he added, "only three, four or five" were removed, two of them because of felon convictions. Olney had said Pierce County was one of those under investigation.

Denials came from several officials in Alabama.

State Sen. Sam Englehardt, head of the Alabama Assn. of Citizens Councils, said that organization "hasn't done a thing" about trying to get Negroes off voting lists.

Asa Carter, executive secretary of the separate Alabama Citizens Councils, said his group has made no effort to "intimidate or threaten board registrars to disfranchise Negroes."

William F. Thetford, circuit solicitor for Montgomery County, Ala., labeled as "untrue" and "political propaganda" any such report in his county, and Tom P. Young, solicitor for Macon County, said he had received no such reports. Both counties had been named by Olney.

The Justice Department official said wholesale removals were reported also in Ouachita, Rapides and Grant parishes in Louisiana, and in "some other" counties he could not name at this time.

Olney told newsmen he intends to bring criminal prosecutions "in every instance where we can show a qualified person was denied the right to vote simply because of his color" in the forthcoming general elections.

He said the statutes available for such prosecutions carry penalties ranging from 1 to 10 years imprisonment and fines of $5,000 to $10,000.

He described the situation as "unprecedented as a mass movement," because he said it involved the "purging" of voters previously recognized by local authorities a qualified.

There is little or nothing the Justice Department can do now, Olney said, because "you can't make a case until a qualified voter is deprived of his rights at the polls."

Men Roughed Up By Virginians

NORTH WILKESBORO, N. C. (AP)—Two North Carolina men reported to police yesterday that they were "roughed up" by a carload of unidentified men in Virginia, which they believed resulted from a strike against their employer.

Sheriff E. B. Shockley of Wythe County, Va., said George Faw and George Wilson reported their truck was stopped on Iron Mountain near Speedwell, Va. They said some men whom they did not know beat them with their fists.

The Teamsters Union is on strike against the Carolina Mirror Corp. here.

Substitute drivers, among them Faw and Wilson, were hired after the drivers walked out Sunday. The two men were treated at a Wytheville, Va., hospital for cuts and bruises.

Church Offering Buildings For Use As Schools

DALLAS (AP)—The First Baptist Church of West Dallas has offered the use of its three buildings for an all-white private school in case the public schools of Dallas are integrated.

The announcement said teachers would condemn the United Nations and "one world ideology."

The Rev. Carey Daniel, pastor of the church, is vice president of the Texas Citizens Council of Dallas. He said the school also will teach evolution "as a damnable heresy and not as a scientific fact."

HOME TOWN RAIL MISS AMERICA:—Marian Ann McKnight, Miss America of 1957, rides a fancy float and waves to the crowd of home folks welcoming her back to Manning, S. C., with a gay celebration. Truman Says Republicans In Situation Similar To '29

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Former President Harry Truman said today he saw in Republican economic policies "the glimmer of another 1929."

In a speech prepared for delivery before the convention of the Bakery and Confectionary Workers International Union, Truman said:

"The danger is that, as the Republicans continue their policies of favoring the privileged few, more and more of the little people will fall by the wayside. The wage earner will join the farmer and the small business man on the to-bogged of falling incomes. The gaps in our prosperity will get bigger and bigger. No man knows where it will end, but in the distance I see the glimmer of another 1929."

Referring to the 1929-1932 period, Truman said, "I know it is regarded as impolite in some quarters to talk about this. But the fact remains that we did have a depression at that time — a very bad one, and it is also the fact that it came as the culmination of 12 years of Republican rule in Washington."

Campaigning for the Democratic party, the former President said the Democrats put the country back on its feet when it took office in 1932. But under the Republicans since 1952, he said, "the economic growth of our country has slowed down."

"Mr. Eisenhower," said Truman, "has some figures he is fond of using that are supposed to show how much better off the country has been during his administration. At the same time, he is prone to accuse those who disagree with him of using half-truths. When we examine what he has been doing with some of these figures, you might be inclined to wonder whether anyone accusing him of half-truths would not be engaging in sheer flattery."

Truman said President Eisenhower described himself as "the chief apostle of truth" and added:

"Now the worst thing about this is not that a president of the United States should treat the truth so lightly, although this is very bad. The worst thing is the danger which lies in the facts he is trying to conceal."

Car Follows Man Into Lunch Room

DALLAS (AP)—Travis Mayberry went into a barbecue stand for sandwiches, and his wife and auto followed him.

Mrs. Mayberry said her husband left the car parked with the motor running. It started to roll and she jammed her foot down on what she thought was the brake.

With the throttle wide open, the car's automatic transmission took over and it roared across the sidewalk and smashed through the plate glass window into the cafe.

Little Girl Gets Question Answered By Stevenson And Ike's Secretary

By ED GRIFFITH
Bakersfield Californian

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (AP)—Janice Anderson of McFarland is a little girl with a big question. And, like another little girl who received the answer to her big question in the famed "Dear Virginia" editorial of the New York Sun many years ago, Janice has directed her query to a newspaper. Here is the question she has posed to the Bakersfield Californian:

"Dear editor:
"My name is Janice Anderson. I am 10 years old. I would like to know the difference between Democrats and Republicans. My mother and father are Republicans and my neighbor is a Democrat.
"My father and mother explained it, but I still can't understand it.
"Thank you. Yours truly, Janice Anderson, Rt. 1, Box 426, McFarland, Calif."

Managing Editor Jim Day asked Kern County party leaders for help in replying. The best he got was, "Now, that's a tough one to answer."

Consulting Webster's 1955 Unabridged International Dictionary, the Californian found these definitions:

Democratic party—"It has advocated a strict construction of the Constitution, sharp limitations of powers of federal government and a broad construction of reserved rights of states. It has generally pronounced in favor of a low tariff, practically for revenue only."

Republican party—"Among the policies with which the Republican party has been identified are a liberal construction of the Constitution, esp. in the direction of federal power, maintenance of the gold standard, and a protective tariff system."

The Californian's editor wondered: Is Webster really accurate?

Next Day wrote President Eisenhower and Adlai Stevenson. After some delay, Murray Snyder, assistant press secretary to the President, replied for the Republicans and Stevenson himself answered for the Democratic party.

Snyder wrote:
"It is not possible for us to give you a presidential statement" on Janice's question. Snyder offered what he termed "an excellent exposition on the subject," delivered in Minneapolis last month by Arthur Larson, undersecretary of labor. (It was two long pages of single-spaced typing.)

As his answer, Stevenson sent directly to Janice a seven-page, double-spaced copy of a speech he delivered in August to members of the United Auto Workers meeting in Washington. The Illinois Democrat wrote to Janice he hoped that "perhaps your mother and father will be able to help you understand" the difference between Democrats and Republicans by "simplifying some of the more difficult passages."

The official Republican statement started out by saying there is an "underlying cleavage in philosophy between the two parties."

YOUTHFUL VANDALS DAMAGE SCHOOL IN ALABAMA—Faculty members inspect damage done by vandals in a classroom at the Bellingham School in Montgomery, Ala. Police said two pupils "10 or 11 years old" admitted tearing up the school. Damage was estimated at thousands of dollars. (AP Wirephoto).

Democrats, said Undersecretary Larson, have "a tendency, as to all sorts of human problems, to try collective and governmental remedies as against relying on individual, pluralist, and private activities."

His party "believes that the private and individual remedy should be tried first in all problems, with the government stepping in only if the job is too big for private, state or local efforts," Larson concluded.

Declared Stevenson: "It is the Democratic faith . . . that the government of a democracy must trust all the people it serves, that it must be made up of representatives of all the people, and that its obligations cannot be to any special interest but only to all the people."

Of the millions of people listening to the words now being uttered in campaign speeches, perhaps one might know a short, simple answer to Janice's question. Meanwhile, Janice figures her search for uncomplicated truth has not been completely fruitless: She has Stevenson's autograph!

Deluxe Style

SUN VALLEY, Idaho (AP)—When Don Anderson, head of the sports department at this deluxe resort goes hunting, he does it in deluxe style. He reported he shot a four-point buck deer on a ridge above nearby Trail Creek. The deer lurched forward and rolled down the hill—stopping within three feet of the tail gate of his vehicle.

begin full-scale operations next spring.

"The men elected me president," said Miss Keenan grinning, "after I pointed out I owned 60 per cent of the stock."

"The gold we take out will pay for the actual mining costs but gold is no longer a glamour metal. The real glamour metals are columbium-tantalum, tungsten, beryllium and titanium. They are the heat-resistant metals the government needs for the jet airplanes of the future."

"Today we are in a whole new age of metals."

She expects to take out more than a million dollars worth of metal a year and clear around $600,000. She says there is a 50-year ore supply in the area she has leased.

Between exploring North Pole ice and removing Black Hills gold, Miss Keenan expects 1957 will be her most hectic year.

"After that," she confessed, "I believe I'll be content to go back to my piano for a while."

Only about 8 per cent of United States rural roads were surfaced in 1955.

Fire Department To Honor Hero

WARSAW, N.C. (AP)—A 12-year-old boy credited with saving the life of an invalid man from a burning home yesterday will receive special honors from the Warsaw Fire Department.

R. P. Wood Jr. will be given a special badge and honorary membership in the fire department at the recommendation of Fire Chief John Anderson Johnson.

The farm home of E. B. Hales caught fire yesterday. Young Wood was playing in his yard a short distance from the Hales home when he heard the invalid man's collie dog barking excitedly. Investigating, he found the house was afire.

The smoke was too heavy for the youth to enter the house, so he obtained the aid of others in getting the bed-ridden man to safety. The house was destroyed.

Sulphuric Acid Threatens Towns

DURANGO, Colo. (AP)—A trailer truck carrying 3,000 gallons of sulphuric acid missed a turn and broke through the railing of a bridge south of Durango last night, dumping the acid into the Animas River.

Northern New Mexico towns which use the river's water were notified of the danger.

Only the trailer tank section of the truck fell into the river. The driver was not hurt.

At Farmington, N.M., about 50 miles downstream, inlets to the city reservoir were closed. Aztec shut off all water lines from the river.

Diversion canals for irrigation water south of Durango also were closed.

Colonel Returns With Money Bags

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Col. Mahlon N. Haines is back, folks, so don't be surprised if someone steps up to you and offers you $10 to throw away your cigarette or $100 to quit smoking for a year.

That's what the retired show manufacturer from York, Pa., often does. He practices what he preaches, for he's a non-smoker and drinker.

He spends his winters here and the think of which he's the proudest is the four home runs he hit in last year's kids and kubs baseball play (for persons 75 and over). The colonel is 81.

Drownings are second only to motor vehicles as a cause of accidental death.

Russian Force Show May Hurt Commies

WASHINGTON (AP)—Russia's show of the iron fist in Hungary seems likely to damage her ability to build influence in South Asia and the Middle East.

The entrance of Soviet troops into the struggle against Hungarian students and workers, even at the request of Hungary's Communist government, is regarded here as something Moscow must have wanted desperately to avoid.

Some U.S. officials think this action will destroy a myth the Soviets have long nourished. The myth is that people under Communist rule are happy with their lot and feel their system is best. A part of the myth is that there are voluntarily friendly relationships between Moscow and the satellites.

This picture has been offered to countries in the African-Asian belt for years as the alternative to Western colonialism—a happy state of good living which oppressed peoples could look forward to if they could throw off the "imperialism" which the Reds denounce.

The Western Allies have maintained that the Soviets have been imposing a new imperialism upon vast areas, particularly the satellites in Eastern Europe.

These conflicting arguments have been important in the "battle for men's minds" going on in neutral countries.

Last weekend's successful revolt against Soviet domination in Poland was not nearly so sensational as what has since happened in Hungary.

The big difference is that the Poles never took any overt action which the Communist authorities could use as an excuse for calling in Russian forces.

News reports told of Soviet warships gathering off the Polish coast and Soviet troops moving into positions for action in East Germany and in garrison cities inside Poland itself. But they never went into action.

That they did not is the most striking evidence that Soviet Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev realized that if Russian soldiers shot down Polish citizens in a fight over political issues, the action might destroy the myth of friendly Russian relations with other Communist states.

Hungary offered the Soviets no such choice. The Polish revolt has been under the control of Communist leaders, but the struggle in Hungary exploded into open civil war.

The picture presented to the world is one of Russian soldiers, tanks and jet planes ruthlessly blasting the desperate attempt of Hungarian revolutionaries to restore their country's independence.

Langlie Bares Knuckles In Campaign For Senate

By JAMES HUTCHESON
SEATTLE (AP) — The governor who spoke with the restraint of a college lecturer as keynote for the Republican National Convention has become a bare-knuckle campaigner in his fight for a U.S. Senate seat.

"A real barn-burner" was the label one newspaperman in a farming district pinned on Gov. Arthur B. Langlie's local blast against Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, Democrat, who seeks a third term.

With Magnuson campaigning on personal popularity and Senate seniority, the governor is concentrating on an attempt to undermine public confidence in his rival, who has served 20 years in Congress. In speeches and pamphlets, the governor has hammered at the ethics, the industriousness and the social life of the senator.

He blasts at the senator's slogan of "getting things done for everyone" as "the Magnuson myth." He calls it the product of a high-powered publicity machine.

Most sideline observers agree Magnuson still is a heavy favor-

This Will Be Big Year For Nation's Retail Men

NEW YORK (AP) — Retailers are agreed this will be the biggest year for total retail sales. But for what kind of stores?

Competition rarely has been fiercer than it is this fall between the discount houses and the conventional stores, the cut-price catalogues and the small-town appliance or furniture shops, the

No Progress In Winston Strike

WINSTON-SALEM (AP) — The Western Electric Co. gave assurances yesterday that the company will not discriminate against any non-striking employee whose relative has chosen to strike.

The statement was issued after morning and afternoon bargaining sessions with federal and state mediators yesterday during which the question was raised.

J. R. Dinkins, president of the Communications Workers of America local, said he understood that supervisors had told their striking wives that the supervisors would be fired unless the wives went back to work.

The company's statement said: "The union has sufficient issues to bargain with for its own constituents without concerning itself with management employees whom it does not represent."

"The company of course will not discriminate against any union-represented employee who exercises his lawful right to strike or not to strike."

"Therefore it should be obvious that the company will not discriminate against any relative of such an employee because that employee exercises this lawful right."

After the sessions, spokesmen reported no progress.

Award For Disney

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The Screen Producers Guild has voted Walt Disney its annual milestone award for his contribution to motion pictures.

The award will be presented Feb. 3, president Samuel C. Engel said. Others who have received the award are Jesse Lasky, Louis B. Mayer, Darryl F. Zanuck and Cecil B. DeMille.

Sentence Over For Marine Hero

PARRIS ISLAND, S.C. (AP) — A three-month confinement sentence for Marine Medal of Honor winner Sgt. Alford L. McLaughlin has been remitted by his commanding officer.

A Marine spokesman announced here yesterday that Col. George F. Guber also had suspended McLaughlin's reduction in rank to private for a period of six months. During that time he will be on probation.

Guber upheld, however the $120 fine imposed on McLaughlin.

The Marine sergeant, 28-year-old Leeds, Ala. native, was found guilty by a court martial at Parris Island last week of drunkenness, being absent from his base without proper authority, disrespect for a superior officer and disrespect for a superior non-commissioned officer.

McLaughlin was arrested in Rome, Ga., where he was assigned, for threatening an officer with a shotgun after having drunk a quantity of whiskey.

McLaughlin was decorated by President Eisenhower for unusual bravery in the Korean War. He held an outpost by singlehandedly killing 150 Chinese Reds and wounding about 50 others.

Or Otto Reichert of Provo who brought his buck back alive. He's already shot one when he came upon a three-pointier trapped in a barbed-wire fence. Freeing the animal, he brought it home with him, treated its cuts and turned it over to fish and game department.

Star Grounded

VAN NUYS, Calif. (AP) — Actor Steve Cochran has been grounded for 90 days and fined $300 for swooping his light plane within 100 feet of his home last month.

Cochran pleaded guilty in municipal court to a charge of reckless flying.

Christian Church Leaders Preparing For Convention

WILSON — Leaders in North Carolina's Christian Churches were busy engaged in pre-registering delegates this week for the annual State Convention of their Church which will open in Greenville on November 13.

Ross J. Allen of Wilson, Executive Secretary of the North Carolina Christian Missionary Society, said today that the churches expect to pre-register more than 1,000 delegates this week for the convention. He said the three-day event will draw from that 2,000 delegates from throughout the state.

Headquarters for the convention will be the Eighth Street Christian Church in Greenville, but sessions will be held throughout that city as many of the meetings are scheduled as breakfasts, luncheons and dinners.

Host minister for the convention is Dr. H. Glenn Haney, pastor of the Eighth Street Christian Church.

President of the three-day meeting is Rev. D. Guy Saunders, minister of the North Spray Christian Church in Spray.

The convention will open with a ministers' luncheon on Tuesday afternoon, November 13 at 1 p.m. An evening session is scheduled on Tuesday with three sessions—morning, afternoon and evening—set for Wednesday, November 14, and three sessions are planned again on Thursday, November 15.

The convention is expected to break all previous records for attendance. One of its highlights will be the welcoming of two new churches into the convention. They are the Sunset Hills Christian Church in Raleigh, and the First Christian Church in Gastonia.

Young Grandma Expecting Twins

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Mrs. Hazel Parker, who became a grandmother last week at 33, has entered the hospital for the birth of what her doctor thinks will be twins.

Her 17-year-old daughter, Mrs. Irma Jean Kilpatrick, is still in the hospital with her daughter born Oct. 19.

And Mrs. Parker's second husband Elmer, has this to ponder: As Irma Jean's stepfather, he became a grandfather before he was a father.

Thomas Said In Good Shape

CHARLOTTE (AP) — Charlotte Memorial Hospital reported today that veteran stock car racer Herb Thomas was in satisfactory condition. Doctors had not decided whether to perform a brain operation.

Thomas, from Sanford, N.C., suffered severe head injuries and other lacerations in a seven-car wreck in a Grand National Circuit 100-mile race at Shelby Tuesday night.

He was brought here yesterday for possible brain surgery. Thomas remained unconscious during the transfer and was reported in critical condition.

Thomas suffered a broken leg and other injuries in a race wreck here 16 months ago. Shortly after leaving the hospital he won his second "Southern 500" Labor Day stock car race at Darlington, S.C.

Thomas is leading in this year's Grand National Circuit competition with 8,514 points. Buck Baker of Charlotte is in second place with 8,468, counting 200 he picked up by winning the Shelby race.

Baker said shortly after the wreck that he would not race at Martinsville, Va., Sunday unless Thomas also could drive there. That would have given Thomas the national point leadership by default. But Baker announced last night after talking to race officials and his sponsor that he would compete.

Along with its huge production of bituminous coal, West Virginia is also a considerable agricultural state. It produces about $5 million worth of alfalfa annually in addition to other crops.

N. C. Crops Are In Good Shape

RALEIGH (AP)—The condition of North Carolina's crops of corn, peanuts, soybeans and sweet potatoes is reported as "mostly good," the North Carolina Crop Reporting Service said today.

The agency released a crop summary for the week ended Oct. 20, showing that soils at the end of the week were reported as mostly "O.K." to "too wet."

Crop prospects in coastal plain counties were said to be more favorable than in other areas. The condition of cotton was listed as "fair to good," with reports from coastal plain counties indicating mostly "good to very good" condition.

"For all practical purposes," the report stated, "the flue-cured and burley tobacco crops have been harvested, and more than two-thirds of the cotton crop had been picked."

General rains have delayed harvesting of corn. Slightly more than one-fourth of this crop had been harvested. About 34 percent of the small grain acreage had been seeded by the end of the week.

Grifton Students Pick Students Of The Month

By BARBARA TAYLOR
Grifton High School Reporter

Wilma Patrick and Wayne Ervin were elected by the student body as Students of The Month during the past week.

Wilma, a Sophomore, is an outstanding member of her class. She is serving as secretary - treasurer of the Sophomore Class this year. She is a member of the FFA Chapter, in which she holds the office of Pianist. Wilma is also a member of the basketball team.

Wayne Ervin is leading the Senior Class this year as president. He is a member of various clubs and organizations including the basketball team, FFA, annual staff, glee club and he is a bus driver. Wayne's hobby is carving which won him a prize at the Pitt County Fair this year in the craftsmanship division.

Eight FFA Girls, accompanied by advisor, Mrs. Eunice Casey, traveled to Aboskie Saturday to attend The District No. 1 Rally which was held there. Lou Raye Mewborn was running for the office of Song-Leader.

The EFCC met Friday with Mr. E. B. Bright and Mrs. Casey. The purpose of this meeting was to set up rules and regulations which would be followed for the selection of basket-ball cheerleaders Wednesday. Members of this organization are Nell Jackson, Jesse Wade, Judy Hart, Connie Dennis, Jordan McCotter, Dorothy Groet and Billy Burney.

The Junior Class will present its play titled "Papa Says No!" on Thursday night, November 8. The admission is 25 and 50 cents.

Preparations are being made for the Halloween Carnival which will be held October 26 at the school. Added to the carnival this year are Elvis Presley, Little Richard and Nervamus Nannus. A teen-age dance will be sponsored on that night by the PTA.

Candidate Is Almost Phantom

ALEXANDRIA, Va. (AP)—Richard O. Read is a phantom candidate for Congress in Virginia's 10th Dist. Well, almost.

Read is on the ballot as an Independent and Democratic challenger Warren Quenstedt.

He has made no speeches or public appearances. His only communication with the public has been through a circular in which he said he would make no speeches, radio or television appearances.

The circular listed a platform calling for:

A federal act to control the weather.

Six bridges across the Potomac River into Virginia.

An act to abolish war, selective service and to substitute a construction program with military facilities to be used by civilians and private contractors.

Abolition of gangster movies and plays on television and radio.

Read's only press notices have been those telling of unsuccessful attempts to reach him.

When a reporter called at his residence, a neighbor said he was out of town and wouldn't be back for a few weeks.

Programs For Children Fascinate TV Critics

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—Three new weekly television programs which I happen to enjoy have given me new insight into myself.

I am, it seems, about 14 years old and find great glamor in the military tradition. I believe death preferable to dishonor. I am always loyal to my friends and true to the fine ideals presented to me in my more vulnerable years. I have a pure mind in a strong body and I enjoy taking great risks when the cause is worthy.

Ah, a friend in the front row is shaking his head, saying, "This is not I. No, sir, it is not, except when I'm watching West Point (CBS-TV) on Friday evenings or Bengal Lancers (NBC-TV) on Sunday evenings or Sir Lancelot (NBC-TV) on Monday evenings.

These are three of the most brightly polished and technically well-executed of the new series this season. In their cognizance of romantic love and derring-do they might be called "adult juveniles" or "juvenile adults" because they make a frank appeal to many between the ages of 8 and 80.

It is interesting that all are concerned with arms and men, or what might be called the military tradition in man. Bengal Lancers and Sir Lancelot are as preoccupied with physical violence as any Western, but because time and place have been changed they do not chafe the viewer with long familiarity. No moralist has complained about their effect on the young, and almost certainly none will.

Yet to those of us who remember the 1930s there is something bemusing in our middle-aged passive acceptance of the glorification of soldiering and war. Times certainly do change. There is not much you can tell our generation about war, but here we sit before our sets, fascinated. Times change and memories are short.

Thief Switches Fake For Diamond

CINCINNATI (AP)—A jewelry store operator told police that a sick thief exchanged a bogus diamond ring for a genuine one.

Police said he told them the "customer" visited the store several times and finally asked to see a $1,350 ring. After looking it over, he handed a ring back to the clerk and walked out with the real one.

Good News Foreseen For Steak Lovers: Lower Prices Coming

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

There was good news this week for lovers of porterhouse steak and charcoal broiled sirloin. Prices were heading lower.

Steak was the standout item among "specials" being promoted by food chains for the coming weekend. One supermarket chain in the New York area advertised sirloin steak at 89 cents a pound, down 6 cents from the week before.

Other beef cuts you're likely to find at reduced prices this week end include chuck roast, pot roast and rib roast.

The outlook is for still lower beef prices, marketing specialists say, although it's doubtful if prices will soon get down to the relatively low levels of a year ago. In the Chicago livestock markets, choice steers are currently selling for $28.50 per hundred pounds. That's down $2 from the 18-month high of $30.50 scored just a month ago, but still well above the year-ago price of $23.25.

You'll also find occasional bargains this weekend in pork loin, roast, center cut pork chops, veal and poultry. Turkeys are being heavily promoted, although Thanksgiving is still a month away. Broilers and fryers are also featured.

With Hallowe'en almost here, pumpkins have joined cabbage on the list of best buys among vegetables. As usual, housewives are expected to buy pumpkins for decorative purposes next Wednesday night as well as for eating.

Potatoes and onions also are still rated as outstanding buys in most sections, along with celery and cucumbers. Beans are said to be somewhat irregular, cheap in some sections and higher priced in others. Lettuce is somewhat similar. Cauliflower is getting less expensive generally.

Radishes, beets, carrots, spinach and winter squash are reported to be good buys, especially in places where they're still available from nearby farms. Corn, on the other hand, is just about finished and almost everywhere except Florida and California.

Tokay grapes and limes will head the bargain list at most fruit departments. Prunes, oranges and lemons also are fairly good buys now and apples are getting better each week, from the price standpoint. In case you didn't know, this is National Apple Week.

Grapefruit also are headed downwards in price, but still are not at their winter level. Pears are attractive where they're available from local orchards, but getting higher prices in other sections.

Grimesland Students Studying Harder Now

By IRENE CAYTON
Grimesland School Reporter

If a student at Grimesland High School makes the honor roll, he's got to study like he's never studied before. The grading standard has been raised, and the teachers are checking closely on every assignment that's due. Besides having to make from 90 to 100 to get an "A," an "H" representing honor on conduct must appear beside each "A."

That's tough going, but at least an "A" will represent much work well done. Only one student in high school made the honor roll this six weeks. Hats off to senior Barbara Mills.

go on to Duke. That's what they're trying to prepare me for."

If you went by our school and saw a turkey tied to one of the bushes, it was for our Halloween Carnival held Thursday night. Along with the selling of turkey chances, were cake sales, dancing, bingo and frights in the horror house.

Li'Shak, a magician, thrilled the students last Tuesday as he performed his many spectacular acts. Several of our students aided him in his feats.

We welcome to Grimesland as school secretary, Annie Kite, who was a 1956 graduate of Grimesland High.

Injuries And Scholastic Troubles Hamper Phantoms As Non-Loop Game Approaches

Wilfong, Kelly,
Nixon, Everett
Out For Season

Disaster struck two-fold at Greenville high school this week. In the form of injuries and scholastic difficulties.

With a contest with Class AA Fuquay Springs just one day away, the Phantoms lost four top gridders via the above-named causes. Three fullbacks, Jimmy Kelly, Reti Everett and Robin Wilfong, will not be present when the G-Men tackle Fuquay Springs. Kelly and Everett dropped off the team due to study troubles and will not play the rest of the season. Wilfong suffered a bad head injury in a scrimmage session this week and will be out of commission for the rest of the season also.

One lineman, Sam Nixon, was also caught in the scholastic difficulty and will be out for good. By way of explanation, the scholastic troubles are merely the accumulation of failing or dangerously low grades.

Fuquay Springs So-So

The Phantoms' foe for the coming weekend, according to the Greenville camp is having a so-so season thus far. They have "won a few and lost a few" according to Coach Guy Lewis and have a on-and-off team.

Expected to take over at the fullback slot against the hosts this weekend, is Charlie Smith. With him in the backfield will be Billy Sermons and Robert Howell at halfbacks and Mack Roebuck at quarterback. Reserves Johnny Arnold and Charles Roberts will probably see some duty.

In the line, Wade Jordan will hold down the center post while Billy Brown and Kelly Barnhill will run at guards. Tackles will be Angus Duff and Roy Martin. Ends, Coach Lewis will have Ed Wilkerson and Robert Conway, along with Billy Cox.

Running Offense

The Phantom running offense, that has featured Sermons and Kelly throughout the past few games, will be somewhat hampered by the loss of the slender fullback, Sermons, injured slightly in last week's New Bern encounter, is expected to do most of the heavy duty running, with some assistance from Howell.

Quarterback Mack Roebuck, who has had trouble connecting on his passing of late, may revert back to the air against Fuquay Springs. The Phantom running attack, which has been the main source of yardage since the season opened, may be unable to click against the FS outfit, making it a pass-or-nothing situation.

Roebuck, a triple threat, has shown promise of fine passing in earlier games and is expected to use the Green aerial attack tomorrow night. Ends Wilkerson and Conway will be the principal receivers though Sermons and Howell have been frequent targets lately.

As the game nears, observers rate Greenville a slight 12-point favorite, despite the loss of their four players and the possible lag in offensive power.

Moore, Patterson To Sign Contract For Fight Today

CHICAGO (AP) — Archie Moore, light heavyweight champion, and Floyd Patterson, were to have a formal contract signing today for their 15-round heavyweight title bout in Chicago Stadium Nov. 30.

The battle for Rocky Marciano's vacated crown will be home televised with the Chicago area blacked out. James D. Norris, president of the International Boxing Club, will attend the signing along with managers Charley Johnston of Moore and Cus D'Amato of Patterson.

Norris has said previously the fighters will receive 30 per cent each of all revenue — from the gate, radio, television and movies. The TV sponsor (Gillette) reportedly has agreed to pay $175,000 to air the fight via NBC.

Pumlico, opened on Oct. 27 1870, is America's second oldest active horse racing track.

Notre Dame Coach Toying With Lineup Of Sooners

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Coach Terry Brennan of Notre Dame faces one of his biggest football decisions today—whether or not to shift quarterback Paul Hornung to halfback and use an untested sophomore as field general against Oklahoma.

Hornung leads the Irish in rushing, scoring, passing, punting, kickoffs returned, passes broken up, playing-time and is second in number of tackles made.

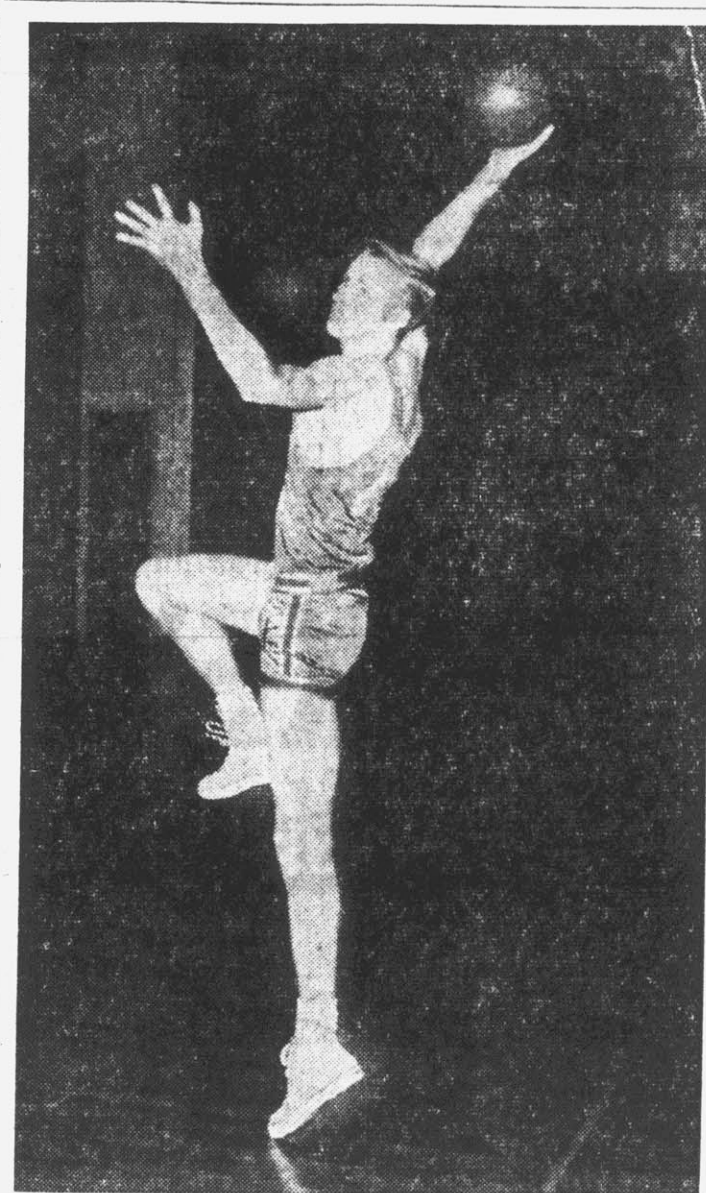

The thumb on his left hand was hit while he was making a tackle in the second quarter of last Saturday's game, which was won 47-14 by Michigan State.

"The thumb was dislocated and we taped it up as soon as we could," said Brennan, whose Irish now have lost two straight and three out four starts.

"He played the second half and I knew it was hurting him. By Sunday it had swollen badly. This week I have given him a rest—he's only been passing and running a little. He hasn't been able to take the snap-back from center."

"Today I will decide definitely if he can take the ball from center well enough to play quarterback. Otherwise we'll shift him to halfback. I feel that he will have less chance of aggravating the injury in taking hand-offs than in taking snap-backs."

Brennan emphasized that he would not move Hornung from quarterback unless it was absolutely necessary. If the switch is made, Bobby Williams, a 185-pound, 6-foot-2 sophomore from Wilkes-Barre, Pa., will be used. Williams has never played a game for Notre Dame.

PIRATE MAINSTAY—A mainstay in the East Carolina basketball quintet of last season, 6-5 Guy Mendenhall, is back again and is expected to hold down a center slot for the 1956-57 edition of ECC hoopers. The Cary junior was regarded as one of the State's top performers last year, averaging into the double figures as a scorer.

Barnes Tapped As All-American Back

CHARLOTTE (AP) — Wake Forest's football team has won only one game this year and is last in the eight-team Atlantic Coast Conference race, but the Deacons would be even more hard put if they didn't have Bill Barnes at fullback.

The Associated Press All American board serving the ACC region

Local Man Hits A Hole-In-One

Yesterday afternoon, Reynolds May walked up to the 165 yard number 10 tee at the Greenville Golf and Country club, and cracked a five-iron shot in the hole for the first hole-in-one ever made on the new back nine course here.

This was May's second hole-in-one, quite an accomplishment. He related that he had made another at the age of 14.

He received congratulations from golfing companions who witnessed the feat. They were Tyson Bilbro, W. L. Alton and Ben Harrison.

Incidentally, May carded a 32 on the back nine, for a new course record.

today put the finger on the 190-pound senior from Landis, N.C., as the No. 1 back in the conference at this mid-season point.

Barnes, shifted from halfback by Coach Paul Amen, has been a weekly standout. In five games Wake Forest has netted 1,135 yards on total offense. Barnes has been responsible for almost half, picking up 532, all on rushing. His average is 6.8 yards for 78 carries.

He's a determined, hard-driving ball carrier who does the punting and plays a strong all-around game.

Running Barnes a close second for backfield honors is Virginia's top fullback, junior Jim Bakhtiar from Iran. He ranks second to Barnes in total offense and rushing. He added to his versatility by booting a field goal last week against Lehigh.

Two of the league's top quarterbacks met today at Columbia, S.C., as Clemson sent slender Charlie Bussey against South Carolina and Mackie Prickett.

Duke's Sonny Jurensen, rated No. 1 before the season started, has been hit hard by his old injury jinx. Dave Reed, a pre-season injury victim, looked like one of the better quarterbacks in the conference as he led North Carolina to its 34-6 rout of Maryland.

Halfbacks cited by the board as Carolina's sophomore pair of King Dixon and Alex Hawkins. Clemson's Joel Wells, yet to get going at his accustomed pace; and Ed Sutton of North Carolina.

The AP board of six men includes:

Dodgers Run Into New Phenomenon Smiling Miyamoto

SENDAI, Japan (AP) — The Brooklyn Dodgers have run into a new baseball phenomenon on their tour of Japan—the big grin that Yomiuri Giant outfielder Andy Miyamoto always wears.

The Dodgers' perplexed manager, Walt Alton, says "I never in my life saw a player smiling when he's stealing bases before — and I particularly never saw one still smiling after he's thrown out."

The grin says help whether the slugging Hawaiian Nisei strikes out or hits one of his frequent homers.

When Miyamoto steps up to the plate note the Dodgers all yell:

"Hey Happy!"

Wants Permission To Fly Saucers

COVINGTON, Ky. (AP) — A space-minded clerkman with earthly reasons wants the city commission to permit "flying saucers" to be dropped on the city.

The Rev. John Longworth requested the action, explaining that dropping the objects from an airplane would help promote a youth revival meeting.

Mr. Longworth, pastor of the Covington Revival Center, didn't explain the nature of the "saucers." City manager Oscar Hesch was directed to obtain a sample model before action is taken on the request.

Rebels Capture Defensive Lead Despite Defeat

NEW YORK (AP) — Mississippi Rebels were surprised by Tulane 10-3 last Saturday but the setback didn't stop them from taking over the defense lead among the major college football teams.

In breaking Princeton's 2-week grip on the total defense lead, the Rebels yielded only 177 yards, 65 of which came on Gene Newton's 85-yard upsetting touchdown run.

NCAA Service Bureau figures released today show the Southeastern title defenders first in total defense with a 126.4-yard average allowance to five opponents and Princeton second on 151.3, given up to four rivals. Princeton, which defeated Colgate, yielded 273 yards, almost as much as they'd allowed three previous foes combined.

With Tulane doing most of its gaining on the ground, Ole Miss also took over first place in pass defense with an average of 22.8 yards a game compared to Texas Christian's 23.5 for second place.

In four games, TCU has permitted only .176 per cent of opposing airmails to be completed, batting down 24 of 40 throws and intercepting nine. The 225 per cent the Frogs have intercepted is the highest and is the first time in 10 years any major team has gone through four games with less than a 200 completion percentage by the opposition.

North Carolina State is ninth in pass defense, stopping 29 of 52 attempts for a 42 per cent in five games. The Wolfpack has allowed an average gain per game of only 48.6 yards by passing.

In rushing defense Princeton is on top with a mark of holding its opponents to an average of 95 yards a game. Michigan State is second with 97.3 and Iowa third with 101.5.

Anderson Puts Record On Line

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — "The strongest man on earth"—a strapping 340-pounder named Paul Anderson — puts his reputation and his world records on the line Saturday as America's best musclemen square off in final tryouts for the U.S. Olympic weight lifting team.

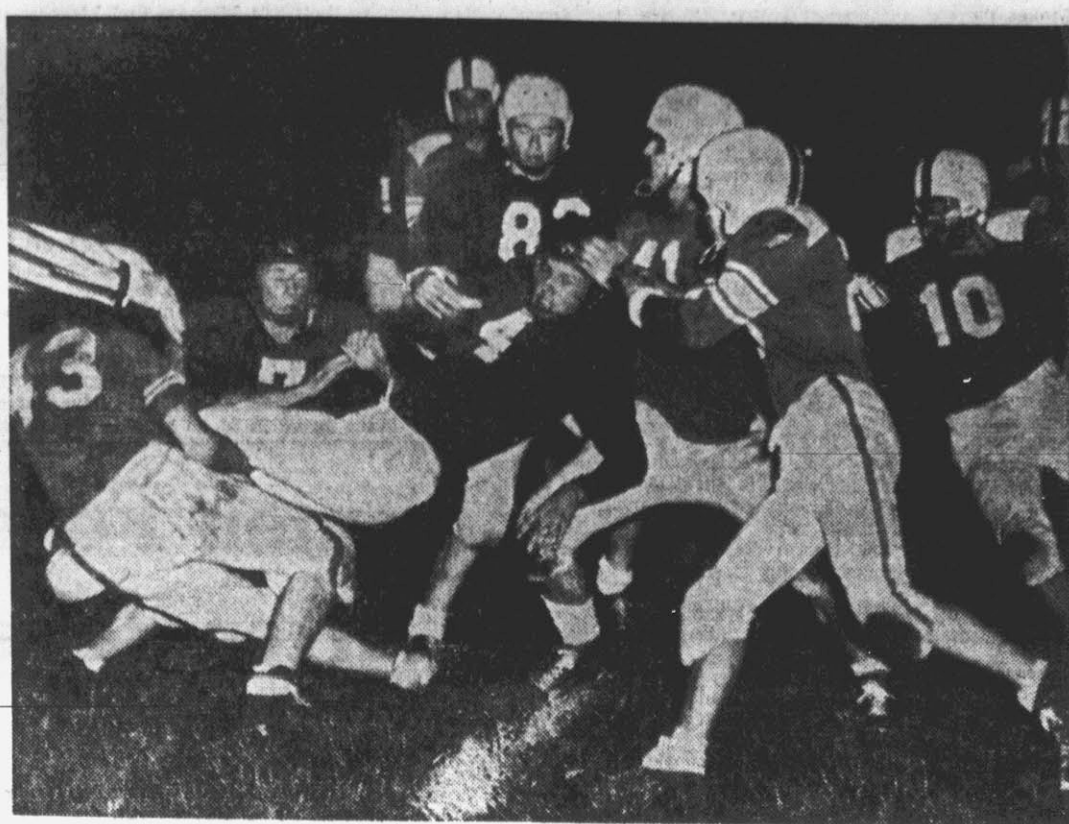

Two of seven team berths already are filled by virtue of only one entrant each in featherweight and bantamweight divisions. National feather champ Isaac Berger and bantamweight Chuck Binet, both of York, Pa., are along in their classes.

Five Olympic champions are among the 22 lifters vying for the five remaining spots. They'll get three attempts each at the three games lifts — two hand press, two hand snatch and two hand clean and jerk. Entrance restrictions have ruled out all but the very best in each category.

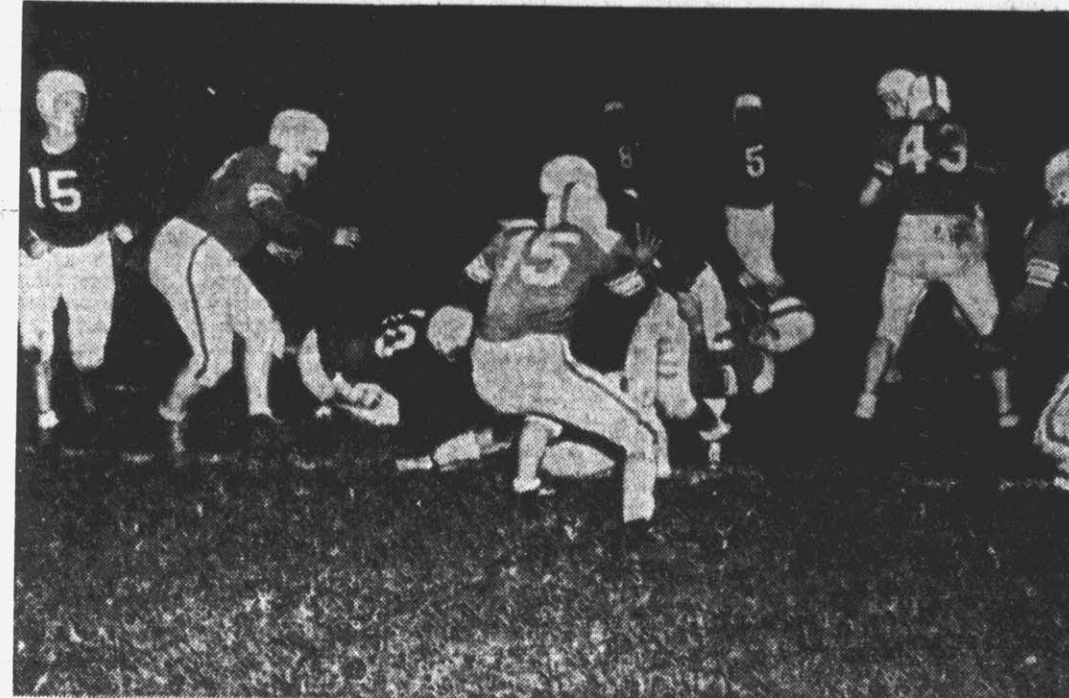

Anderson, 23, of Toccoa, Ga., is a relative newcomer to the sport but he holds all world records in heavyweight competition. U.S. trainer Ray Van Cleaf says "an athlete in any sport has more likely prospects of winning a gold medal at the Melbourne Olympics than Anderson."

The Georgia strongboy's major competition will come from John Davis of Brooklyn, N.Y., Olympic champion in 1948 and 1952 and the best in the world until Paul came along. Davis is in the twilight of a great career that includes undisputed reign as world heavyweight champ from 1937 to last year.

How Ayden Copped The Crown

CAUGHT BUT NOT STOPPED—In this action-packed Photo taken at the Ayden-Contentnea contest last Friday, End Billy Vandford was caught by three Contentnea tacklers but the Tornados were not stopped. Vandford took a pass from quarterback Lindy Dunn and bulled to a first down before being hauled down. The play set up Ayden's first touchdown in the 40-0 rout that netted them the Coastal Conference football crown.

EDWARDS SCORES—Ayden runner Tommy Edwards plunges into the end zone on still another Ayden scoring play in the 40-0 Contentnea battle. Coach Stuart Tripp's team rolled up six touchdowns to rack up one of their biggest scores of the season. In Coastal play, they were undefeated, untied and un-scored upon, winning five and losing none. (Photos by James W. Everett).

Appalachian Tilt A 'Must' For Wavering Buccaneers

When East Carolina travels to Boone this weekend, to tangle with the big Mountaineers of Appalachian State College, it will be a matter of life and death to them, so far as their bid for the North State conference crown is concerned.

The Bucs have a 2-1 record thus far in loop play, having beaten Western Carolina and Elon, and having lost to Catawba. The League's top team, Lenoir Rhyne, is resting comfortably in front of Catawba in the second slot, and the Pirates in third. The Bears have a 3-0 record and Catawba follows closely with a 3-1 mark. A loss at the hands of Appalachian Saturday night would drop East Carolina's slim hopes completely out of the picture.

Apps Are Big

Though not one of the league's top teams, Appalachian could push ECC's chances out the window with a victory. The Apps are a big team, boasting a line almost as heavy as their North State mates Catawba. Their 1-4 record, however, gives the Pirates a slight edge in rankings.

Strictly a power-running eleven, Appalachian has lost to Elon, Catawba, Emory and Henry and Lenoir Rhyne, while beating only hapless Western Carolina. Observers rate Coach Jack Boone's visiting team seven points better than the Mountaineers, based on these comparative scores and records.

The East Carolina camp reported this week that Appalachian is probably the slowest team yet to wear Mountaineer uniforms, but are packed with plenty of line power and several strong backs. They run from the Split T formation, using the drive and belly series plays much of the time, as do most of the nation's power teams.

Edwards Is Out

Ruell Edwards, freshman end

from Georgia, who has been running first string on offense for the Buccaneers, will be absent from the lineup this weekend. He suffered a painful pelvic injury in the Morris-Harvey encounter last Saturday. Also out of action will be Billy Helms, another end, who is having shoulder difficulties; Charlie Hoover, a guard; Waverly Chesson, a center.

Coach Boone is expected to use Gary Mattocks at quarterback Saturday night, with Bobby Perry and James Speight as halfbacks. As a result of his play last week, Bobby Gay has been shifted to first unit fullback for the coming encounter.

In the line, Jerry Brooks and Horse Howell will man the tackle positions; Ed Emory and Kenry Burges, along with Dick Monds, will work as guards; ends will be Ray Pennington and Tommy Waggoner; center will be Algy Faircloth.

American Officials Think Russian Satellite System Is Cracking Up

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON (AP)—Top American officials are swinging around to the belief that Russia's Eastern European satellite system is beginning to crack up.

This view apparently was reflected by President Eisenhower last night in a reference to the revolt against Soviet domination in Poland.

"The fruits of imperialism," Eisenhower said in a speech at a labor dinner here, "are discontent, unrest, riots in one place and demonstrations in another, until the tyranny exercised over them either dissolves or is expelled."

Eisenhower implied American readiness to aid the Poles or any other people who would successfully assert their independence of Moscow and seek American help. He did this in outlining this four-point policy for the United States "as the champion of human freedom":

"First, so to conduct ourselves in all our international relations that we never compromise the fundamental principle that all peoples who have proved themselves capable of self-government have a right to an independent government of their own full, free choice."

"Second, so to help those freedom-loving peoples who need and want and can profitably use our aid that they may advance in their ability for self-support and may add strength to the security and peace of the free world."

"Third, so to manage our commerce with other nations that we are joined with them in a genuine partnership of trade, fostering a spiral of mutually shared prosperity and abundance that will be proof against all propaganda and subversion."

"Fourth, so to exemplify at home the opportunities, the rewards for work well done—all the good things of a free system—that the world will recognize in human freedom the sure road to human good."

The President did not spell out in detail how he would apply these points, particularly the ones having to do with aid and with trade.

But the implication was strong that the administration is ready to develop toward Poland a policy comparable to that which it has followed in the case of assistance to Yugoslavia, which broke with Moscow in 1948.

Administration authorities are not sure yet how far the break between Warsaw and Moscow will go. They do not know, for example, whether it will mean a lessening of Poland's commerce with Russia and a really new political orientation of Poland.

Yugoslavia, which broke under entirely different circumstances, developed a neutral position as between the Soviet and Western power blocs. Some informed officials here doubt that the Poles can shift their policies to that degree since they have a common frontier with the Soviet Union.

In these conditions of uncertainty about Poland's future position, the attitude of the State Department is to go slow in formulating American policy—beyond looking into the possibilities of economic assistance and broadly asserting American support for securing and expanding Poland's independence of action.

But officials who were reluctant a few days ago to jump to any sweeping conclusions about the scope of the Polish revolt against Moscow control now say privately that what has happened there must be considered as only a beginning of things to come throughout the satellite system.

Furthermore, it is believed that the longer the Soviet rulers refrain from using military forces to suppress the drive for independence the less likely its use becomes.

Businessmen Foresee More Trade After Polish Revolt

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Turmoil in Poland sets American businessmen to wondering today if a new twilight zone of world trade may be in the making.

While they wait to see how things turn out in Poland and in Hungary—whether these and other Communist lands join Yugoslavia in squirming out, at least partially, from under the Kremlin's thumb—Western businessmen weigh the chances of a boost in the near future to the already slowly reviving East-West trade.

First reaction came on the Chicago Board of Trade Monday, where grain futures advanced smartly on the chance that a more independent Poland might become eligible for American aid in the form of surplus farm products.

Movement of American surplus into world markets has increased sharply this year. The Agriculture Department reports agreements signed for the sale of surplus commodities come to a total commercial export value of 1½ billion dollars. (They originally cost the government 2½ billion under its price support program.) Wheat and flour lead feed grains, rice, cotton and fats and oils in these government-directed export movements.

But private cotton shippers have exported nearly one million bales since Aug. 1, which is about three times as much as in the same period a year ago. Some expect these exports to top five million bales by next August, compared with the 2½ million that moved into world trade in the previous season.

Private shippers buy surplus cotton at cut prices to sell overseas at world price levels, which are lower than the support price here.

Businessmen, however, are looking beyond farm surpluses when they discuss the chance—however "iffy" it may be now—of a pickup in East-West trade. Americans recognize that tight curbs on trade with Red Russia and Red China will continue. But if the Eastern European nations break away from Moscow domination, there is at least an off chance of a twilight zone of increased trade. These nations presumably will remain Communist like Yugoslavia and not notably friendly to the United States, but trade with them might seem more desirable than it has while they were doing Russia's every bidding.

Pierce To Speak To Alumni Group

Ovid W. Pierce, faculty member of the department of English at East Carolina College and author of the prize-winning novel "The Plantation," will speak before members of the Norfolk-Tidewater, Virginia, Chapter of the East Carolina College Alumni Association Friday of this week, October 26.

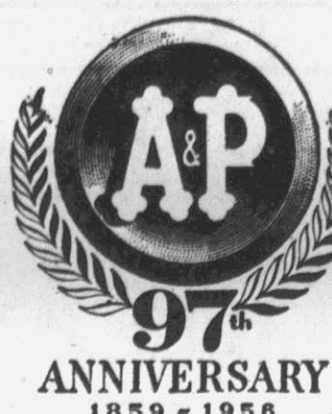

The meeting will take place at Carl Parker's restaurant in Norfolk at 6:30 p.m., according to an announcement by Helen Winslow, president of the chapter.

Mr. Pierce's "The Plantation," published by Doubleday and Company in 1953, received that year the Sir Walter Raleigh Award for the best work of fiction by a North Carolina author. A French translation came out in 1954. The book, highly praised by critics, has won for its author an international reputation as a novelist. After ten years of teaching at Southern Methodist and Tulane universities, Mr. Pierce joined the East Carolina faculty this fall. As a member of the department of English here, he is teaching a course in which twenty students are practicing the art of the college. In addition, he is now creative writing under his guidance in Rocky Mount an ex-

C. L. Lupton Co. Has Celebration

The C. L. Lupton Company of Greenville will celebrate its ninth anniversary and formally open its new quarters on West Fifth Street at Memorial Drive tomorrow and Saturday.

Door prizes valued at $200 and favors will be given to visitors to the remodeled plant during the two days. Guests will also be introduced to the firm's new paint line by Kurfees and the new line of cabinets by the Miami Company. In addition, there will be displays of the Lupton Company's building materials, canvas and aluminum awnings, weather-stripping and insulation products.

The remodeled building gives the Lupton Company more than 8,000 square feet of floor space. The company has seven regular employees and adds additional workers during peak periods of work. Six vehicles are used in connection with the company's work.

C. L. Lupton is owner and manager of the firm. He is assisted by Floyd A. Nobles, assistant manager.

Attendance Up In State Schools

RALEIGH (P)—North Carolina's 12 state-supported institutions of higher learning have 25,866 students this year, 5 per cent more than in 1955.

The figures were released yesterday by Dr. J. Harris Purks, state director of higher education.

Four of the state's five Negro colleges experienced a decrease in enrol for a total decline of 154.

Otherwise, enrolments showed substantial increase at all other schools except one. The biggest increase, percentage-wise, was at Pembroke State College for Indians where 221 were enrolled the first of this month against 152 Oct. 1, 1955.

Woman's College at Greensboro, which has 2,364 enrolled this year, had 2,338 last year.

N.C. State College's enrolment increased 16 per cent to a total of 5,361. The university at Chapel Hill gained 396 students for a total of 6,971.

Appalachian State Teachers College at Boone has 1,813 this year compared with 1,718.

East Carolina College at Greenville has 3,101 against 2,843 last year.

Western Carolina College at Cullowee gained 41 students for a total of 1,659.

Lutheran Worker To Visit ECC

Helen Habermann, who is now making a series of visits to various Lutheran student associations in North Carolina and Virginia, will be a guest on the East Carolina College campus Oct. 29-November 1. Miss Habermann is associated in church work with Pastor Oswald Elbert, eastern secretary of the National Lutheran Council.

During her visit at East Carolina she will speak at chapel exercises Tuesday, October 30, at noon in the Austin auditorium. She will be a dinner guest of the Lutheran Student Association of the college that night.

Ben Alexander Natural In New Western Movie

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD — Ben Alexander looked natural enough, playing the sidekick to a law enforcer. But there was a difference. He was playing a deputy sheriff, not officer Frank Smith of TV's Dragnet.

His buddy was not Sgt. Joe Friday, alias Jack Webb, but Jeff Chandler instead.

But the most shocking thing was — Alexander was drunk!

All this was in a movie scene, of course — Universal-International's "Pay the Devil." The scene had Alexander, as an erring deputy, getting drunk on duty at the insistence of the heavy.

"If my partner (Webb) could see me now, he'd kill me," Alexander laughed.

He was obviously having the time of his life — and no wonder. It was his first film role aside from Dragnet in 22 years!

"The last picture I made was right on this lot," he reflected. "That was in 1934. After that I went with NBC and I've been with them ever since."

Ben's film career dates back to the first World War, when he appeared as a child actor with D. W. Griffith. He grew up in pictures during the '20s, playing in wholesome films like "Penrod and Sam" and "Boy of Mine."

His big break as a young man came in 1930, when he appeared in "All Quiet on the Western Front."

"Universal wanted to sign me to a term contract," he recalled. "But Lewis Milestone, the director of the picture, advised me to hold out until it was released, then I'd get offers from all the studios."

"So what happened? The picture was released and nobody could tell us apart in those uniforms, except for Lew Ayres. I didn't work for two years!"

Later he went into radio as an announcer and quiz master, edging into TV after the war. His association with Webb turned out to be a golden one for all concerned. Now at 45, Ben is better known than he ever was as a kid star.

He's on a sabbatical from Dragnet right now, since enough films have been made to run through mid-1957.

Judge Forbids Convicted Man To Visit Armory

By CHESTER WALSH
In Police Court Monday, Judge Charles H. Whedbee found Armond LaBrecque, Camp Lejeune Marine, guilty of being drunk and disorderly and resisting arrest at the Greenville Armory last Saturday night and gave him 60 days on the roads and fined him $10.

The judgment also provides that LaBrecque shall pay court costs, remain of good behavior two years, and not visit the Greenville Armory or adjoining streets for two years.

For being disorderly, the court gave him 30 days (consecutive) suspended on payment of $25, costs deducted, and pay $13 medical bill.

For resisting arrest, 30 days (consecutive), suspended on payment of $30 medical bill for Officer R. E. Joyner and pay court costs, and it was in this case that the court put the local armory "out of bounds" for the Lejeune Marine.

Willie Tucker, Negro, assault with a deadly weapon (knife) on George Lee Joyner, Negro, 60 days on the roads, suspended on payment of $25, costs deducted, and the judgment provides that he is not to molest or harm Joyner.

Hyman, Negro, 707 Pitt Street, carrying a concealed weapon (pistol), 12 months on the roads, suspended on payment of $100, costs deducted. The judgment provides that he is not to possess firearms for two years and the pistol was confiscated and sold. This cause was retained for further order.

John P. Chapman, Negro, 302 Cadillac Street, who was charged with careless and reckless driving, paid costs for speeding.

Leon Gilbert, Negro, 718 Fleming Street, no operator's license, paid costs and he is not to drive without a license.

Oct Blount, Negro, non-support, six months, suspended on payment of $7.50 a week for support beginning October 27, 1956.

Berlie C. Carter, Negro, Rt. 2, city, hit and run, 60 days, suspended on payment of $30 property damage and court costs; Driving drunk, 90 days (consecutive), suspended on payment of $100 and costs, and he is not to drive for a year. For not having a driver's license the court gave him 30 days in jail (concurrent), suspended on payment of court costs and he is not to drive without a license.

Revival Planned

Rule Crime Lies In False Claims

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The Mexican Supreme Court says it is no crime to practice a profession as long as you do not claim to be something you are not.

The opinion was given in the case of Mario del Rio, a well-known plastic surgeon. He appealed from a fine imposed by the Ministry of Health on a charge of usurpation of the profession of a medical surgeon.

The court ruled in his favor, saying he had not claimed to be a licensed doctor or medical surgeon.

Italian Medals For West Point

WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP) — A collection of 45 Italian awards and decorations has been presented to the U.S. Military Academy.

The idea for the presentation came when Paolo Emilio Taviani, Italian minister of defense, made a tour of the Academy's historical museum last year and noted none of the Italian medals was on display.

The gift includes the highest military award, as well as decorations recognizing the contribution of citizens in peacetime.

Brasselle's Wife Ties Up Assets

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The wife of actor Keefe Brasselle says he told her he was going to Europe to seek work — and that if she thinks she can collect on a court order against him, try it.

In superior court Mrs. Norma Brasselle, 29, tried. The court appointed a receiver to take over Brasselle's assets, which his wife's attorney listed as half of the $100,000 equity in a Beverly Hills office building.

Mrs. Brasselle's attorney said Brasselle is $1,175 in arrears in alimony and child support and owes $1,000 in attorney's fees.

Mrs. Brasselle obtained an interlocutory divorce decree last March 29 but Brasselle had it set aside. A contested divorce suit is pending.

HOMES FOR AMERICANS

SMARTLY STYLED, this house is designed for family living in the modern manner. Open planning merges the family room, living-dining area and kitchen in one spacious sweep through the house from front to rear. Room divisions are created by the fireplace, indoor planting boxes, a snack bar and a short kitchen wall. Bedrooms are segregated for privacy. Skylights illuminate the hall, two closets and the main bathroom. The heater room has an outside entrance for service. No basement is needed. Large car port combines with patio for extra porch space. This is plan K-2AP by Charles E. Armstrong, architect, 1013 University Drive, Fort Worth, Texas. The house covers 1,788 square feet; car port and storage closet add 514 square feet. A combination of flat roof planes and a slight pitch over the house produces a distinctive modern air.

Watches Step, Ends Up In Jail

LONGVIEW, Tex. (AP)—Cafe owner too closely and ended up in jail. Albert Jones watched his step. Liquor board agents Jack Graves and Walter Sparks noticed that Jones carefully skipped the sixth step when climbing the stairs at his place. There were 19 pints of wine under the step and Jones went to jail on a charge of possessing wine on premises licensed only for beer.

Forgot Narcotics He Was Carrying

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. (AP)—Gerard P. Velasco told a jury he just plain forgot he was carrying marijuana when he went to San Quentin prison to visit his half brother. Velasco, 27, a Hollywood piano player, testified in his superior court trial on charges of possessing narcotics and attempting to smuggle them into the prison. "What a stupid thing for me to do," Velasco said he had exclaimed to the guards who checked him entering the prison. Velasco said Hollywood musician friends had given him the marijuana as a sort of going away present. He testified he told the guards he had "used a little the night before and forgot I had it in my pocket."

ON THE HOUSE

By DAVID G. BAREUTHER, AP Real Estate Editor

Excessive dampness can attack and undermine the livability of virtually any type of house, whether it is built over a basement, a ventilated crawl space or on a concrete slab. Only proper vapor sealing can adequately protect a house against dry rot, mildew, warpage and other problems.

You'd think that a house built over a thoroughly ventilated crawl space with relatively dry earth underneath could be free from moisture troubles. But this is not always the case. Engineers have found that soil can act as a wick and evaporate more moisture than a surface of water. If you built a house on stilts over the edge of a river or lake, you'd expect some dampness. So with granules of soil multiplying evaporation surfaces by the millions, you stand to get even more dampness. You must seal that soil surface.

There is a case for a vapor barrier. Heavy asphalt roofing paper widely overlapped or polyethylene plastic film can do this job effectively and apparently permanently. Smooth the ground as well as possible, stretch the vapor barrier carefully over the surface allowing wide overlaps and scatter a little dry sand on top of it to hold it down. Even houses with so-called heated crawl spaces should be sealed against ground moisture.

Fog and frost on cold window panes have inspired a lot of advice on controlling indoor moisture. Cooking, laundering and bathing without adequate ventilation are said to add from two to four gallons of water to the air in a house within one day. People add still more moisture from their lungs and skin surfaces—as much as 11 to 12 pints daily for a family of four. But one expert says this all amounts to a drop in a bucket compared with the moisture that comes into houses from the outside. He is G. A. Voorhees, technical secretary of the National Warm Air Heating and Air Conditioning Assn.

In a formal report for architects and engineers, entitled "Moisture Problems in Crawl Space Houses," Voorhees gives comprehensive reasons for the wick action for the soil. He points out that 10 pounds of soil can contain from one pint to one quart of water, depending on the clay, silt or other "fines" in the soil.

A small house with 850 square feet of crawl space is examined. If this house is built over bare earth of a high moisture content, 16 1/2 gallons of water may be evaporated under the house in 24 hours. If the same house is built over water the evaporation at the same temperature would amount to only 14.8 gallons. If the earth surface is covered with 55-pound roof roofing, less than one pint of evaporation will occur.

"Too often," says Voorhees, "we hear the statement 'Oh, I don't need any vapor barrier on the floor of this crawl space because the ground water level here is at least 12 to 15 feet below the surface.'"

20 feet below the level of the crawl space floor."

Odds makers Running From NY Senate Race

By CHARLES DUMAS
ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The U.S. Senate race between New York City's Mayor Robert F. Wagner and State Atty. Gen. Jacob K. Javits makes the odds makers run for cover.

There has been no clear-cut favorite from the outset, and there's likely to be none even on Nov. 6, when an estimated seven million New York State voters will line up at the polls.

Veteran observers of the New York State political scene seem to agree that the vote margin between the two contenders probably will be as slim as the difference between their political philosophies.

Wagner, the Democratic candidate, and Javits, the Republican nominee, are seeking the seat to be relinquished by retiring Sen. Herbert H. Lehman, a Democrat.

The political balance in New York rests between heavily Democratic New York City and the predominantly Republican counties outside the city. The vote Nov. 6 probably will be fairly evenly divided between the two political strongholds.

The 46-year-old Wagner, a bland affable politician, has been a popular mayor and is counting on strong support from his admirers in the city.

He is the namesake son of the late U.S. senator who authored the Wagner Labor Relations Act and figures to pull a lot of labor votes.

He has been endorsed by organized labor. He has the nomination of the liberal party, a potent group whose chief strength lies in New York City and the solid backing of the Democratic organization.

Javits, 52, a New York City lawyer and former congressman, is banking on heavy support from the traditionally Republican counties upstate and from the fast-growing suburban areas on Long Island and north of New York City.

But he is confident also that he can give Wagner a run for his money in their mutual home town, having had liberal party and organized labor support in four successful campaigns for Congress in a heavily Democratic district in New York City.

Javits is a Jew, Wagner a Catholic.

Javits two years ago knocked out Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., in a race for attorney general. He was the only Republican on the state ticket to survive a Democratic uprising that put Averell Harriman in the governor's seat.

The victory earned Javits the Senate shot, although he almost lost out at the last moment when reports were circulated that he had sought Communist party support in his early congressional campaigns.

Javits went before a U.S. Senate subcommittee to deny them under oath.

After closed-door deliberations, the GOP State Committee voted Javits the nomination. But unlike Wagner, he does not have the wholehearted support of his party organization.

Many GOP leaders continue to look askance at Javits for the personal brand of political liberalism that he practices. While in Congress, he compiled what some call a "maverick" voting record—siding against his party and with the Democrats on some key measures.

But Javits maintains he has found a political home in the Eisenhower philosophy of Republicanism. In his Senate campaign, he has preached support of Eisenhower.

Tennessee Rated Toss-Up In Voting With Strong Support For Ike, Adlai

By ARTHUR EDSON
NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Other voters may not know whether they want Dwight D. Eisenhower or Adlai E. Stevenson for President.

But such doubts don't assuage R. C. Barret, a one-time sawmill worker in Covington, near Tennessee's western edge.

"I'll vote the Democratic ticket," said Barret, a frisky 79-year-old. "Always have, and always will."

On the other side of the state, and of the political fence, is Mrs. Oscar Shockley, who lives on a farm near Morristown, in eastern Tennessee.

"Mr. Sockeye said, of course, she's a Republican. And is her husband too?"

"Naturally," Mrs. Shockley said. "I wouldn't have married him if he hadn't been."

These two examples illustrate the rewards, and the problems, that each presidential candidate has in Tennessee.

Eisenhower can count on staunch Republican support in the eastern Tennessee hills where four years ago he rolled up a 95,165-vote margin. This enabled him to overcome Democratic advantages in the rest of the state, and to squeak through a winner, by 2,437 votes. He thereby became only the third Republican presidential candidate in history to carry Tennessee.

Stevenson can count, with some exceptions, on loyal Democratic support in the western two thirds of Tennessee.

Because Democrats normally outnumber Republicans in Tennessee, most neutral observers are saying Eisenhower won't make the grade this time and that Tennessee's 11 electoral votes will go to Stevenson.

Not that the Republicans have given up.

Guy L. Smith, editor of the Knoxville Journal and the Republican campaign manager, says that by getting out a larger vote the GOP margin will be increased. His prediction: Eisenhower by 100,000 votes.

Or take Ray Jenkins, whom many will remember as the Senate committee lawyer in the celebrated hearings involving the Army and Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.). Jenkins, a loyal GOP money raiser, said: "I speak to you with frankness. Up to within 10 days ago, I had written Tennessee off."

But he says Eisenhower's appearance at Lexington, Ky.—"He came out there, with his bouncing stride, so strong and vigorous"—recharged GOP enthusiasm.

Both Smith and Jenkins count on the women, and especially mothers who remember Korea, to put Eisenhower over.

Even so, Democrats believe that with Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee as his vice-presidential candidate, Stevenson shouldn't have too much trouble cutting away that narrow margin Eisenhower had in 1952. Buford Ellington, the Democratic campaign director, predicts: "A landslide victory."

Any impressions of a state as varied as Tennessee are bound to be risky, but nevertheless here are a few that stand out:

That many farmers—especially in western Tennessee where dry weather has multiplied their problems—are unhappy, but no one can say how many are disgruntled enough to switch their votes.

That anyone who doubts Eisenhower's personal popularity needs only to talk with the voters. It's hard to find a Republican who isn't going to support him, and even the Democrats often speak of him kindly.

That the race, at least in Tennessee, seems to boil down to this: Eisenhower vs. the Democratic party. A voter will say, "I'm for Ike," without mentioning the Republicans, or "I'm a Democrat," without mentioning Stevenson.

But there are exceptions, such as A. H. Kirkpatrick, who runs a shoe store in Lebanon. He says of Stevenson: "I think he's the smartest man we've ever had up for president. A fine face, intelligent."

Now let's drop in on a few voters and listen to what they are saying.

U.S. Highway 51 heads north-east out of Memphis. Here the land produces cotton, those shacks that seem inevitable wherever cotton is grown, and Democrats.

At Covington, a county seat town of 5,000, J. D. Walk was explaining why the farmer is unhappy. With his brother Hollie, Walk farms 400 acres.

Walk said four years ago he had all his machinery paid for and $8,000, but now that nest egg has shrunk to $2,500. He figures farm prices have dropped at a time when everything else has gone up.

Did Walk know of any farmers who would change their vote?

"Yes," he said. "An old fellow out our way—fine old gentleman—came into the store the other day. Around 20 of us were there. He said he voted for Eisenhower, but now he knew he was wrong and he wanted to apologize, not only to us, but to the whole state of Tennessee."

Tom Anderson, young assistant president of the bank, said: "You'll find very few outspoken Republicans around here. I don't know of over six or seven in the whole county."

Anderson said, yes, he knew of one Eisenhower supporter of 1952 who won't be in 1956. His name: Tom Anderson. He's changing because of the farm situation.

Now east of Nashville, to Lebanon, so called because cedars flourish here as they did in biblical Lebanon.

John K. Ferrell, who is in the livestock business, was talking with Lloyd C. Huddleston. Each was "bred a Democrat." Each feels Eisenhower will lose some farm support.

"What hurts us," Ferrell said, "is that everybody else seems to be doing all right."

Drop down to Murfreesboro, where they raise corn, cattle, cotton and a little tobacco. On the courthouse lawn Kit Vance was saying, "I live off the interest on

WHAT I owe." How would he vote? "I'd give both arms before I'd vote Republican."

At a clothing store, Less T. Fite, an insurance man, and John Smythe, a salesman, said they were for Eisenhower. "Did you hear Ike's last speech?" Fite asked. "He's full of vim, vigor and victory."

Now on east to Jefferson City, where they grow cattle, corn and Republicans.

R. R. (Rob) Bell, a retired farmer, has taken an informal poll and is convinced Eisenhower will carry Tennessee again. "He'll get a good vote in the South," Bell said.

But J. L. Catton, a Democrat who edits the weekly papers here, and Tom Gentry, a Republican who publishes them, both figure Eisenhower will get fewer votes in eastern Tennessee this time.

Walter Burkhardt came along in his pickup truck. He's a dairyman. He voted for Eisenhower, probably will do so again, and he thinks many another complaining farmer in his area will do the same.

Couple Runs Off To Get Married, Are Found Dead

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—The note said Mazie Soo Hoo, 18, and Edward Kwong, 21, were going to Reno to get married. And it added "don't try to stop us."

Mazie's father, Henry, told how he went to Reno to find the young couple—not to stop them but to tell them to come home "and have a church wedding or at least a big reception."

When he returned he learned his daughter, a University of California coed and Edward, a sophomore at Menlo College, had been found dead with arms around each other, in a car in the East Oakland foothills.

Four suicide notes told of a love pact.

"We never opposed their marriage," Mazie's father said. "We would have done anything to see them happy."

He said the two would be buried side by side.

One Man's Opinion: Give Halloween Back To Druids

By RON AUTRY
VERONA, N.J. (AP)—They can take Halloween and give it back to the Druids, who started it, as far as I'm concerned.

Some of the other middle-aged kids I know look forward to it with glee. But not this disillusioned boy. I have tricked and treated my last time.

The family has agreed to include father out of any Halloween plans.

Last time I bobbed for apples, I had a cold for a month.

Last time I went to a Halloween masquerade, I said the wrong thing to a gal I thought was somebody else. Moreover, I couldn't recognize anybody—but everybody recognized me, a shattering experience.

Now, at long last, I have jumped the last Halloween hurdle. Finally, my two youngsters are old to shift for themselves.

No more cut hands from carving jack-o-lanterns. No more pumping seeds clinging to my elbows. No more burnt fingers from flickering candles.

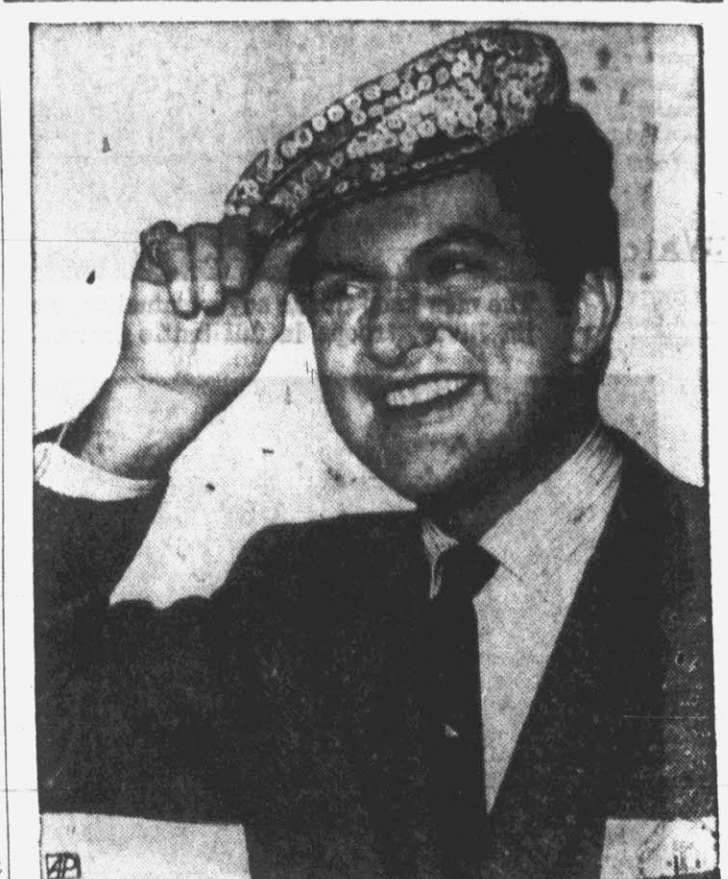

No more long hours skulking in the cold, dark streets keeping an eye on the kids tricking and treating. No more suspicious glances from passing policemen. No more getting the daylight scared out of me by asked youthful frights popping from behind trees and mailboxes.

Oh, I know. Think positively. Take this weakness in my character and make it a strength. Put more into it, get more out of it. That's what some fathers do.

They're the boys who have the kids in for soda pop, blindfold them and have them feel wet

They're the playboys who, when a kid rings the door bell, leap out the door clad in a sheet, banging cymbals and wailing what they fondly think is a banshee's cry.

No, sir, Halloween is not for me. This year the night of Oct. 31 will find me down in the cellar with the family dog. I'll be the one with the cowed look.

The Daily Reflector

All Quiet On The Korean Front

More than three years have passed since the guns stopped booming in Korea, but Americans are still keeping vigil in a 15-mile sector along the armistice line. Life in Korea is not easy, although the army is striving to make it more agreeable for the soldiers. Most Americans have moved into comfortable quonset huts. Plans are under way for running water, sewers and power plants along the front. Big, well-equipped recreation halls help while away the off duty hours.

But no one is allowed to forget, in spite of an armistice, that Americans still man a battlefield on which fighting could erupt at any moment. The men are kept on their toes. Training exercises are always under way, including amphibious operations along the Imjin River almost within sight of North Korea. Engineers are at work bridging rivers and keeping roads passable. "Morale is excellent," says Maj. Gen. S. B. Mason, commander of the 24th Division, and adds, "We're sitting right across two of the historic invasion routes to Seoul and I'm convinced we could stop anything the Communists might decide to start."

The men keep fit for any eventuality. During amphibious training exercise on Imjin River, troops in full battle gear board one of small boats for river crossing.

Troops enjoy ping pong, shuffleboard and billiards in new recreation center.

GIs prepare projectiles for the 4.2 mortar during training exercise on north shore of the Imjin River.

ON THE LOOKOUT. Standing at the military demarcation line that separates North and South Korea, Capt. Jack Youngblood of Unadilla, Ga., looks through field glasses for any signs of Communist activity.

Men of the 24th Division are being moved from tents into quonset huts in major housing move that will be completed before Korean winter sets in.

Korean youngsters crowd around Pvt. James F. Chapel of Tucson, Ariz., as he drives jeep through village of Taesong Sang. "Hey" is only English word they know.

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK — The stock market resumed its quiet decline in slow trading early this afternoon. Key issues declined from fractions to around 2 points.

Coppers, rails and motors took the brunt of the losses but there was no great selling pressure. The lower earnings reports of General Motors and Ford depressed the auto group. Coppers continued to suffer from the lowering of copper prices. Rails apparently were still reeling from their healthy rise of last week.

General Motors declined around a point and Ford a good fraction. Among the coppers, Magna dipped around 2 points despite higher earnings reported for the nine months. International Nickel was a 2-point loser. Anaconda and Phelps Dodge each lost a point or so. Kennecott dropped a fraction.

Bethlehem Steel was down around a point as directors prepared to meet after the close today on quarterly earnings and dividends. Republic Steel was off a fraction. But Jones & Laughlin gained slightly as a stock dividend was voted in addition to the usual cash dividend.

Among the rails, Illinois Central and New York Central each fell around a point while Santa Fe and Chesapeake & Ohio were off fractionally.

Gulf Oil was steady but Standard Oil (New Jersey), Texaco and Royal Dutch gave up fractions.

Chemicals were irregular as Du Pont lost over a point. Allied around a point and American Cyanamid a fraction. Dow and Air Reduction were steady.

Bobcat Awards Given To Cubs

Bobcat pins were presented to new Cub Scouts of Pack 205 and skits were staged by the five dens during their Tuesday night meeting sponsored by Memorial Baptist Church.

Each of the five dens presented a skit using puppets and stages which were made by the Cubs. A prize for the best show went to Den Mother, Mrs. Marvin Riddle and Assistant Den Mother, Mrs. Francis Worsley.

Pins were presented to the new Cub Scouts including Ed Tipton, Jimmy Wells, Paul McKenna, Steven Wright, Jimmy Reeves, Bill Overton, Gene Riddle, Hank Worsley, Gerald Forest, David Briley, Charles Dees, Richard Baker, Billy Jenkins, Bobby Jenkins, Charlie McKee and George Lilly. David Edwards was awarded Bear Badge and Gold Arrow Head for achievements earned in Bear Book. Jimmy Fleming was awarded a Denner Stripe.

The following were called and failed to answer: Willie Lane, assault with a deadly weapon; Alena Marshall, larceny; and Jasper Lee Johnson, driving drunk. Judgment Nisi, Sci Pa, Capias Instantar.

Cops Bombarded With Wire Staples

OKLAHOMA CITY — Traffic officer W. L. Williams was minding his own business writing parking tickets for autos in front of an office building when—zing!—he was bombarded with a flurry of wire staples.

Furious, but unable to locate the source of the flying missiles, he called in another policeman to set a trap.

Setting himself up as a target again, Williams caught another barrage. But fellow officer R. L. Potter spotted two men flipping the staples from a window with rubber bands. The pair was arrested and fined $12 each.

Scouts Hear Reports Of Finance Campaign

Reports from the Fall finance campaign of the East Carolina Council of the Boy Scouts of America, made at the quarterly meeting of the executive committee in Greenville Wednesday evening, indicate that $84,000 have been subscribed toward the $1957 goal of $111,000.

The drive will continue through November and December, announced Dr. J. D. Messick, council president, who conducted the meeting.

Tributes were paid retiring Scout Executive Ralph H. Mozo who moves to the Greater Miami (Florida) Council on November 1. Among those voicing appreciation of Mozo's work in the near seven years of scouting service in the Council were Dr. Messick, Past Council Presidents Penn T. Watson of Wilson and W. C. Chadwick of New Bern, and others, including committee chairman Joe Eagles of Tarboro, Roland Modin of Washington, Wiley Wall of Jacksonville, and Wyatt Brown and James W. Butler of Greenville.

A gift was presented Mozo who responded in a word of appreciation. Mozo returns to the Council in which he began his Boy Scout experience. He had earlier served the Pitt district as a field executive, and came to the Council after service in the national headquarters of the Boy Scouts of America.

Chairman Erskine Duff reported that the Pitt Rocky Mount and Roanoke-Chowan districts now lead in the number of applications for registration at the Boy Scout Jamboree to be held at Valley Forge in 1957, and Roland Modin announced that 437 new Scouts and Explorers and 200 Cubs have registered in this Council since Sept. 1.

Receipts to be applied on the 1957 budget of $91,000 total $84,862. Treasurer Bruce Riley of Wilson noted.

The finance reports were made by district finance chairmen with Council Finance Chairman L. S. Picklen of Greenville in a "round-up" of the fund-raising efforts.

President Messick named to the nominating committee to select a slate of officers for the council president, vice presidents, commissioners and national council representatives the following: K. P.

Greenville Man To Attend Meet

R. E. Wilcox of Greenville, member of the staff at the DuPont Company's Plant in Kinston, will represent industry, when North Carolina Educators and Industrial representatives discuss current problems of science education in the state at Duke University October 29.

Organized at the request of the National Committee for the Development of Scientists and Engineers, the meeting will be one of the first State-level conferences of its kind in the nation.

The conference will center around discussion of problems connected with procuring and training high school science teachers. Also up for discussion will be the possibility of forming a permanent science teaching advisory committee for North Carolina.

Houston Police Get Night Sticks

HOUSTON, Tex. — Houston police are going to get their nightsticks back. Chief Carl Shuptrine said he is requesting purchase of 55 billies for patrolmen and any other officers who feel they need them. Houston police have not used night sticks since World War II, when most of the supply was issued to the home defense guard.
