Most Of Voters Are 'Imports'

Survey In Eighth Precinct Shows Only About One-Third Born In Pitt

Where do the voters of Greenville township come from?

Dr. Howard McGinnis, registrar of Greenville's Eighth Precinct, asked himself that question while presiding over the registration of 1,426 persons at the Old Hospital. He was curious to know if his precinct is a provincial or a cosmopolitan group—if the voters are natives of the section or "imports."

The Eighth Precinct is one of the larger precincts in the county. But, strangely enough, only slightly more than a third of the registered voters were born in Pitt County. Nearly half of them were born in 69 other North Carolina counties, slightly more than a fifth came from other states and the registration book carried the names of voters from eight foreign countries including Russia, France, Italy and Mexico.

Thirty-five states, plus the District of Columbia, other than North Carolina are given as the birthplace of 299 voters. Of these, Virginia provided 71, South Carolina came through with 26, Georgia sent 18, Kentucky 16, Tennessee 14, New York and West Virginia 13 each and Ohio 12.

Forty-two of the non-natives list Yankee states as their birthplaces. Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Maine and Connecticut are included in the list. Fifteen states in the central and western sections of the country provided 67 more voters. Of that group, Ohio was the birthplace of 12, Missouri nine, California five, Iowa five, and Texas four.

Of the total registration of 1,426 persons, 510 or 35.76 per cent were born in Pitt County. Other North Carolina counties provided 608 or 42.64 per cent of the total. Other states accounted for 299 or 20.97 per cent and nine registrants were born in foreign countries, to account for 0.83 per cent.

Dr. McGinnis, after doing all the figuring, says, "One bluebird doesn't indicate that spring is here, nor does the analysis of voters in one precinct prove that analysis of all voters in the city would follow the same pattern."

The former registrar at East Carolina College also had a few observations to make about the process of registration for the elections. "In spite of all the newspapers, radio, television, advertising and other agencies have been doing to interest people in getting their names on the registration books, they have been slow in doing so. Some haven't done it yet."

"In the eighth precinct, for instance," Dr. McGinnis points out, "61 people registered in August with three doing so the first Saturday, nine the second Saturday and 49 the third Saturday. In October, 13 were registered the first Saturday, 30 the second Saturday and 67 the third Saturday. That makes 171 for the two registration periods."

"Important offices have been filled by a smaller margin of votes," he added.

Board Endorses Spacing Out Tobacco Plants

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS The chief governing body in the tobacco industry has endorsed a plan to cut production an estimated 10 per cent by getting growers to space plants further apart.

The board of governors of the Bright Belt Warehouse Assn. also voted at a meeting in Raleigh Saturday to support any tobacco acreage reduction for 1957 recommended by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Red Army Takes Over Hungary

Scattered Rebel Resistance, But Seen Hopeless

VIENNA (AP)—The Soviet high command in Hungary broadcast an appeal to Hungarian army officers and men today to join in crushing the still-smoldering rebellion in the nation.

A large part of the Hungarian army eagerly went over to the rebels in the insurrection against Russian and Communist domination which started Oct. 23. Yesterday the Russians unleashed a massive assault by their troops, tanks and planes to crush the independence movement.

But the rebels fought on with bare hands and homemade bombs. The resistance appeared hopeless.

From a weak transmitter in Budapest came an appeal by the Russian commander to Hungarian troops to "join in the fight against reaction."

"We are the loyal friends of the Hungarian nation," the commander said. "We are the soldiers of freedom and friendship among workers."

"We appeal to the soldiers and officers of the Hungarian army to join up in fighting against reaction, for freedom and democracy."

Shortly after the broadcast, a 22-automobile convoy brought more than 100 citizens of Western nations, including 22 American dependents of personnel in the American legation in Budapest, across the Austrian border at Nickelsdorf.

Cables sent to the High Point (N.C.) Enterprise and to his parents indicated that a young North Carolina minister was among the Americans trying to get out of the fighting area.

The message to the newspaper said: "Joe Kennedy of Thomasville with American diplomatic caravan caught by Russians in Hungary. Send news to Birmingham papers. Another cable received by Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Kennedy of Rt. 1, Thomasville, said: "Don't worry, everything all right."

The Russians treated the evacuees "very courteously," members of the party said.

Investigation Is Still Incomplete

Pitt Commissioners heard a brief report early this afternoon on the investigation of alleged shortages in the tax office of Henry L. Andrews, but auditors informed the commissioners that their investigation is not yet complete.

No indication of the amount of the alleged shortage was given. Special Auditor D. R. Hollowell told the board investigations of Andrews' record show a "definite pattern is continuing" and that a "shortage has been established."

"I am not going to report any specific amounts (of shortages) until we are ready," Hollowell said. "It is a matter of how far the board wants to go with it. When we do report we will have recommendations to make to the board."

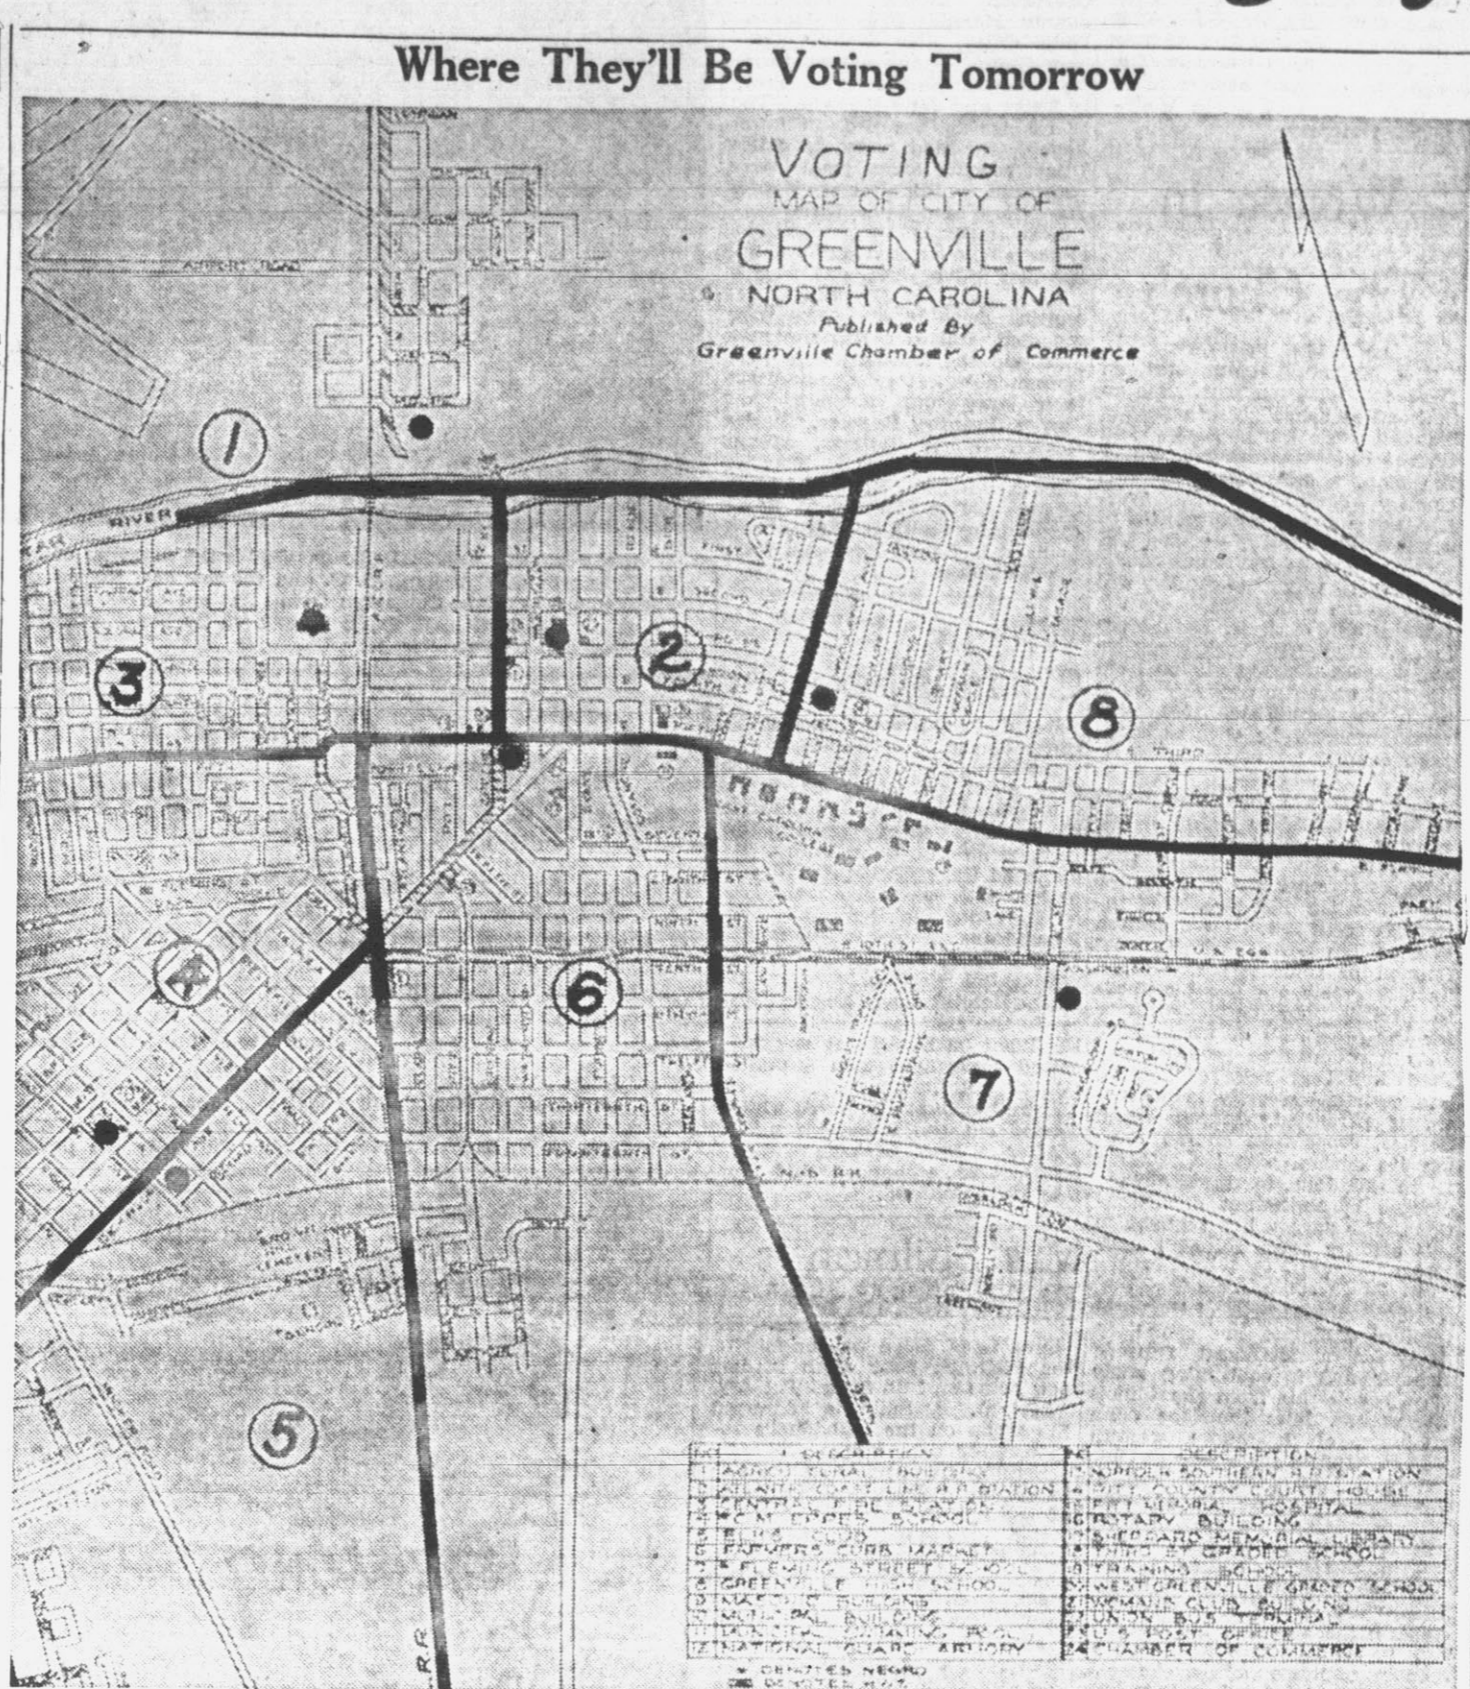

Andrews was suspended from his position of assistant tax supervisor and assistant tax collector last Tuesday when civil actions were filed charging Andrews with fraud in connection with funds collected by his office. In a special meeting last Wednesday the County Commission voted their approval of action which had been taken and authorized a thorough investigation of the county's tax records.

Although Hollowell did not inform the board when a report from the auditors will be ready, he did tell the board today, "We are pretty close to being able to tell you where this thing will go."

He added that what the auditors have thus far uncovered in their special investigation "warrants what action has been taken and warrants continued investigation."

Andrews was not present this afternoon when the brief report was made to the board. At the special meeting of the board last Wednesday Andrews conferred with the Commissioners for about an hour in executive session. At that time he told the commissioners that any shortages were "errors and mistakes" and that he would be willing to make restitution for any such "errors and mistakes."

The Commissioners at that time adopted a resolution which said Andrews' explanation of the alleged shortages was not satisfactory and ordered the investigation continued.

VOTING PLACES—The above map, prepared by the Greenville Utilities Engineering Department, shows the precinct boundaries in the city. The large black dots indicate the locations of the polling place for each precinct. The voting places are: No. 1, Farmers Warehouse; No. 2, Court House; No. 3, Third St. School; No. 4, West End Fire Station; No. 5, Keel's Warehouse; No. 6, Main Fire Station; No. 7, Elm St. Park Recreation Building; No. 8, Old Hospital.

Eastern N. C. Cities, Counties Have Pledged $650,000 To Joint Airport

The executive committee of the Board of Conservation and Development was told this afternoon Eastern North Carolina cities and counties have pledged $650,000 in local funds for the Mid-East Carolina Airport.

W. W. Speight, chairman of the airport authority, made the announcement shortly after the special meeting began in Raleigh at 1 o'clock this afternoon.

The special meeting of the executive committee of the Board of C and D, Gov. Hodges, representatives of the Mid-East Carolina Airport Authority, CAA officials and representatives from Rocky Mount was called to resolve the difficulties between Rocky Mount which is seeking to establish its own airport and other cities and counties of the area which are seeking the establishment of a joint area airport.

Representing the Mid-East Carolina Airport at the meeting in addition to Speight were W. H. Watson of Greenville, engineer for the authority, Ed Davenport of Farmville, Mayor H. G. Nicholson of Tarboro, John Dertch Lewis of Goldsboro and Shelby Cullom of Wilson. CAA officials from Atlanta were also present at the meeting.

This morning prior to the meeting Speight said, "The governor has promised to give every consideration to reaffirming his position to support the Mid-East Carolina Airport Authority and has stated that in his opinion most of the cities and towns will favor the Mid-East Carolina airport."

Speight added that Robert M. Haynes of Winston-Salem, chairman of the executive committee of the Board of Conservation and Development, "has assured us that he is deeply interested in the success of this project to establish a common air facility to bring adequate air service to Eastern North Carolina."

Cities and towns which have voted to support the project have contributed of over $400,000, Speight said. The county governments involved have pledged another $250,000 in local funds to finance the joint airport.

The chairman added that the figures did not include contributions from Tarboro or Edgecombe County. The figures do include, he said, anticipated contributions from Kinston and Lenoir County. These two local government units, Speight said, have assured the authority they will participate if other cities and counties in the area do.

Cities and towns which have either appropriated funds for the airport or passed resolutions pledging funds are: Greenville, Wilson, Goldsboro, Farmville, Fountain, Fremont, LaGrange, Pinetops, Snow Hill, Stantonsburg, Walstonburg and Winterville. County governments which have either appropriated or pledged funds for the project are Pitt, Greene, Wilson, and Wayne.

Rocky Mount some weeks ago asked the C and D board to alter its motion supporting the Mid-East Carolina Airport and designating it as the area airport for this section of the state. Rocky Mount representatives asserted the resolution was blocking appropriation of CAA funds for the proposed new Rocky Mount municipal airport.

Charles Whedbee who told the board that the area beer inspector had said that the board's recommendation would figure strongly in whether or not the license is granted. Whedbee also presented a letter from Dean James Tucker of East Carolina College who had answered an earlier letter from Whedbee regarding reopening the establishment.

Dean Tucker's letter which was read to the board, said that college officials would watch the establishment closely although the actual granting of a license would be a matter between the sheriff and the applicant.

Cease-Fire Order At Port Said As Surrender Talked

LONDON (AP)—Waves of British and French paratroopers landed in the Port Said area at the north end of the Suez Canal today. Within hours, the British announced, the Egyptian commander there began discussing surrender terms with the invaders. A cease-fire was declared.

A communique issued by the High command said: "A cease-fire has been ordered in Port Said. Brig Butler, commander of the allied parachute regiment, is now discussing surrender terms with the governor and the Egyptian military commander."

The cease-fire was announced by Prime Minister Eden. The developments meant the situation of Egyptian President Nasser was becoming more precarious by the hour. Last week the Egyptians lost their vast Sinai Peninsula, east of the canal, to invading Israeli forces.

The announced purpose of the British-French invasion is to safeguard the canal—now closed to shipping—and to separate the belligerents in the Israeli-Egyptian fighting. The British say they are willing to turn over control of the canal area to U.N. forces, once the situation is stabilized.

The paratroopers landed in the canal zone only 4 months and 22 days after the British surrendered to Egypt the military bases they long had occupied there. In the meantime, on July 26, Nasser nationalized the Suez Canal.

The invasion came shortly after the U.N. General Assembly, seeking to restore peace in both Hungary and the Middle East, ordered an international police command set up to establish and supervise a cease-fire in Egypt.

The British and French governments had gone ahead with their long-heralded invasion, but said they would welcome the U.N. police force as a shield between warring Egypt and Israel as soon as the two Middle East governments accepted U.N. proposals for peace, and there was a settlement of the Suez question.

The French and British paratroopers started landing just after dawn, apparently to seize a bridgehead for land forces at sea on a large armada sailing from Cyprus.

The command at Cyprus said the operations went according to plan, with the troops landing on time and at the right places. Some resistance from mortar and machinegun fire was met.

The first Egyptian announcements claimed the first wave of 3,000 paratroopers was annihilated by soldier, police and civilian fighters and that a second wave was being wiped out.

Then Eden made his dramatic announcement of the Egyptian negotiations to surrender.

'Police Force' Is Approved By UN

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) The General Assembly early today ordered a U. N. command set up for an international police force to work for a cease-fire in Egypt.

Britain and France, in a statement issued in London, said they would halt all military action as soon as Egypt and Israel agreed to a police force to stop the fighting, secure the withdrawal of the Israeli forces and get the Suez Canal back into operation.

It appeared unlikely that Israel, anyway, would agree immediately. The Israeli government sent the U. N. a five-part demand for clarification of the latest U. N. cease-fire call, and Israeli Delegate Abba Eban warned the assembly that "the stationing of a force on the territory of Israel is not possible without the consent of the government of Israel."

There was no immediate reaction from Cairo. The Assembly voted 57-0 at 12:17 a. m. to set up the police force. The resolution for its creation was sponsored by Canada, Colombia and Norway. Nineteen countries abstained.

The vote came about an hour and half before the announcement that British and French troops had landed in Egypt, where Israel has already occupied the Sinai Peninsula.

The new command will recruit officers immediately from small countries for "an emergency international force to secure and supervise the cessation of hostilities."

U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold, author of the plan, will try to get "the necessary troops" from among 71 of the U. N.'s 76 members, barring only Britain, Nationalist China, France, the Soviet Union and the United States.

Hammarskjold reported to the Assembly that Colombia, New Zealand and Norway had agreed to take part in the force. Canadian Foreign Secretary Lester B. Pearson confirmed that Canada would do so subject to parliamentary approval.

U. S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. announced that the United States was ready to "help in an important way" with air-lifts, shipping, transport and supplies.

Ask $35,000

Pitt County Commissioners this afternoon passed a resolution asking the 1957 General Assembly to appropriate $35,000 for construction of a mental health wing on the Pitt County Health Center building.

Action of the board came after Pitt Health Director Walter C. Humbert told the board that the tremendous response to the 10-month-old Mental Health Clinic has made its immediate expansion imperative.

Dr. Humbert informed the board that patients from 19 counties other than Pitt are regularly visiting the clinic, and in view of expanding the physical plant of the clinic, he proposed the addition to the Health Center consists of 2,200 square feet.

The land is made available. Otherwise, he stated, the vehicles will be sent to Kinston although Greenville's Service Battery is charged with responsibility for the vehicles.

Chairman W. J. Smith referred the matter to the airport committee and suggested that Allen and other National Guard officials contact Greenville city officials at their next meeting.

The commissioners also endorsed the improvement program underway for Pitt County A.B.C. stores and approved payment plans for the improvement program.

A request for endorsement of a beer license application was referred to the Sheriff's Department and the Tax Department before the board will take any action. The application has been made by Mack Buntings, 25, of Route 5, Greenville, who proposes to reopen the Jolly Roger at the intersection of Port Terminal Road and the Washington Highway.

Pitt Commissioners Asked For Land For Nat'l Guard Use

Pitt County Commissioners this morning referred to its Airport Committee a request for land to store National Guard vehicles that will be transferred from Camp Butler.

That was the major item of business handled by the commissioners at their regular monthly meeting. Routine matters consumed the remainder of the morning session.

The request for land for a motor pool came from Mayo Allen, advisor to the Greenville guard units. He told the commissioners that the state motor pool at Camp Butler was being disbanded and vehicles assigned to units in the state organization were being sent directly to the units for care and maintenance.

Allen asked for at least an acre and possibly five acres of ground on airport property. He pointed out that the state will pay all expenses of setting up a unit motor pool with the exception of land acquisition. He said that 46 trucks and trailers would be assigned here if

Election Party

As it has for many years, the Reflector will conduct its election party after polls close tomorrow night.

Returns will be taken at the Reflector office and results of the election tabulated by the newspaper staff members and volunteer workers.

The county results will be posted outside the newspaper office as they come in.

Poll holders within the county are urged to call the Reflector—Phone 6166—as soon as the final count of ballots is made.

Agency Reports Were Accepted

Agency reports were accepted from several county departments. The county has received $300 of a $1,000 federal grant for insect control, according to a report from Auditor Reginald Gray. The remainder of the grant will be forwarded to the county upon completion of a federal audit of the project.

Gray also said that application had been made to the Civil Defense agency for a $950 payment for the county's 1956 vehicles. Civil Defense pays 50 per cent of the cost on provision that the communications facilities are made available to Civil Defense in emergencies.

The board approved an increase of $82.60 in the Welfare Department's budget to cover increased costs of clerical assistance in the department. The increase was caused by a two-weeks training program for a clerical replacement made after a recent resignation. The commissioners continued their meeting this afternoon.

Board Noted Change In Special Team of Superior Court

The board noted the change in a special team of Superior Court from November 14 to December 5 and approved a jury list drawn for the December term of court.

Dr. Henry Of ECC Faculty Is Speaker For Woman's Club

The regular monthly meeting of the Greenville Woman's Club was held Friday at 3:15 p.m. at the club house.

The American Home Department was in charge of the program. They brought Dr. Frances Henry who has her doctorate in special education and is a member of the faculty of East Carolina College.

Mrs. J. B. Spilman, first vice president, turned the program over to Mrs. J. C. Galloway Jr. who introduced the speaker.

Dr. Henry brought a timely message on health and child welfare, her subject being "For The Want of A Nail, A Shoe Was Lost."

Dr. Henry paid tribute to Greenville by calling it a city of "advanced thinking—a city vitally interested in and actively doing something for those who have needs."

The speaker's first interest is in those whom she termed "marginal children." She challenged her audience as she explained the city's immediate need of a child guidance clinic.

Club members were urged to go to the Guy Smith Stadium on November 12 at any hour convenient to them at which time a supervisor will be on hand to instruct those interested in doing a more effective job of sky-watching. The Woman's Club is responsible for manning the station every other Monday.

A good representation from the Greenville Woman's Club is expected to attend a meeting of representatives from 24 clubs in District 15 of The North Carolina Federation of Women's Clubs in Plymouth Thursday.

The meeting will be held in the Plymouth Methodist Church. Registration will begin at 10 a.m. The meeting will convene at 10:30 a.m. Luncheon will be served at 1 p.m.

Mrs. R. P. Rogers of Greenville is president of District 15.

Mrs. J. H. B. Moore, president of the Greenville Garden Club, announced the coming of Mrs. Roy Caviness of Raleigh on November 16. She will be at the club house from 2 to 4 p.m.

Mrs. Caviness is an authority on Christmas decorations and the public is invited. A nominal fee will be charged non-garden club members.

Mrs. J. B. Spilman, secretary of the Tuberculosis Association of Pitt County, asked for volunteers to come to the Woman's Club today or tomorrow at any hour convenient to them to help stuff seals in envelopes for mailing.

Mrs. J. H. B. Moore, on behalf of the Fine Arts Department, urged members to visit the Art Gallery at Shepard Memorial Library tomorrow where William C. Fields, noted painter of New York and Fayetteville, will display a collection of 14 portraits. The gallery will open at 10:30 a.m. and the artist will be present to discuss his portraits from that time to 12:30 p.m.

On November 29, Mrs. Clara Moye Shackell, president, along with 12 other Greenville women will be flown by Constellation plane to Fort Jackson, S. C. to attend a meeting and to be entertained by the general. They will be flown back the same day.

The following were elected to serve on the nominating committee for the coming year: Mrs. J. B. Spilman, chairman; Mrs. M. L. Wright, Mrs. J. C. Galloway Jr., Mrs. Tige Gardner and Mrs. Leonard Bloxam.

The club house was decorated with fall flowers and a social hour was enjoyed before the meeting.

The following were hostesses: Mrs. L. W. Cherry, Mrs. Luther Herring, Mrs. Martin Swartz, Mrs. C. D. Ward, Mrs. R. M. Garrett, and Mrs. Marvin Tripp.

Women In The Church

By MARY FOWLER
The Methodist Commission on Deaconess Work has authorized an "official exchange" of deaconesses between the United States and several countries overseas. Under the plan, a deaconess from this country will go to a country overseas for one year, nine months of which will be spent in working and three months in travel and study. A deaconess from that country will come to the United States for the same length of time. Miss Mary Lou Barnwell, New York, executive secretary of the Commission, said the first exchange probably would begin in September, 1957, and would probably be with a European country.

U.S. church women are urged to take all possible action in arranging for homes and jobs required to allow upwards of 1,000 refugees to enter the U. S. before the expiration next Dec. 31 of the Refugee Relief Act. United Church Women (an arm of the National Council of Churches) has called upon its state and local councils to provide immediate assistance for the group, all of whom have all other clearance required and need only guarantees of housing and economic security before entry is permitted. Church World Service, cooperative church refugee aid agency, says aid required is in addition to that already pledged by Protestant denominations. The agency has brought to this country 14,009 refugees since 1953.

A descendant of one of the royal families of Samoa has completed study as a Methodist Crusade Scholar and is continuing study on a scholarship from the Illinois Conference. Miss Penelope John Alallima, of Salamumu, western Samoa, student for a year at Ohio Wesleyan University, is now at MacMurray College, Jacksonville, Illinois, for another year of study before returning to her work of teaching in her homeland. According to a Methodist official in Samoa, "her calling as a Christian rates higher than her noble standing in Samoan families." One of fifteen children of a Samoan Methodist minister (a district superintendent), Miss Alallima has taught in Methodist mission schools and "sometimes she says, 'I taught in Methodist Sunday schools.'" Her mother, from whom Miss Alallima received her royal heritage, has been a district president of the Methodist Women's Christian Association of Samoa.

Some 100 At Pack Meeting

Approximately 100 Cub Scouts and parents attended the last pack meeting at Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church. Cub Master Charles D. Cobb presided.

Mike Cavendish led the Pledge of Allegiance and Keith Holmes' participation in a good turn was announced. Members of the pack joined others in reminding citizens to vote Tuesday in the National Election. An entertaining puppet program was presented.

Four new den mothers were inducted by Mrs. Clara Williams, who also led Joe Taft, Joseph Smith Jr., Clinton Joyner and James H. Tucker in the cub pledge. Two den mothers, Mrs. Joe Blalock and Mrs. Wyatt Brown, were awarded service stars.

Service stars were also awarded to Cubs Toby Cobb, Staton Martin, Rex Roberts, Wyatt Brown, Keith Holmes, Hunter Hanniford, Mike Cavendish, Jimmy Nethercutt, Jimmy Merrill, Willard Jackson, Eddie Otley, Alex Blalock, Graham Quinn, Danny Saied, Chipple Galloway, Clinton Joyner, Scotty Tabor and John Flanagan. The bear badge was awarded to Clinton Joyner, the lion badge to Eddie Otley. Elective arrow points were presented to Bill Proctor, Hunter Hanniford and Eddie Otley.

Next month's theme will be "Puerto Rico" and a uniform inspection will be held.

As a result of the annual recruiting drive 16 new Cubs were inducted. Following this the parents and the following boys were presented bobcat pins to indicate their entry into cubbing: Dan Joyner, Brantley Register, Charles Rogers, Bobby Roberts, Milton Hadley, James Harris, Houston Tucker, Roger Riddick, Mike Greene, Mike Kachmer, Steve Flannery, Joe Smith III, Edgar Taft, Louis Taft, Robert Moye and Warren Wilkerson.

Whichard Is Cosmos Speaker

David J. Whichard, managing editor of the Daily Reflector, was guest speaker for the Cosmos Book Club meeting Tuesday afternoon. Whichard spoke to the club on the participation of women in the political life of communities. He discussed the present political situation with particular emphasis on the vote the Democrats and Republicans received in Pitt County and North Carolina in the last presidential election.

Mrs. Ralph Garrett Jr. was hostess to the club for the afternoon. Her home on Elm Street was decorated throughout with a profusion of fall flowers.

Refreshments were served which carried out the Halloween motif. After a brief business session, books were exchanged and the meeting adjourned.

Mrs. Spilman Is Pickwick Speaker

Mrs. L. M. Boyd was hostess to the Pickwick Book Club at her new home on 10th Street Tuesday. Mrs. J. B. Spilman addressed the group on the individual's responsibility as a voter. Emphasis was made on the role of women in the political activities of the nation. She urged individuals to explore their potential abilities with the aim of improving their immediate environment, and as a result, their country as a whole. Mrs. W. H. Watson, president, then recognized special guests for the afternoon, Mrs. John Drake, Mrs. F. R. Franke of Zion Nat'l Park, Utah, and Mrs. Spilman. During the social period that followed, the hostess served individual lemon pastries and coffee.

Engagement Announced

MISS MARY JOSEPHINE HOOVER is the daughter of Mrs. R. E. Hoover of Batesburg, S. C. and the late Mr. Hoover. Her engagement to Blake Covington Lewis, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis of Washington, N. C., is announced by her mother. The wedding will be December 1.

Social Notes

Miss Clark Is Shower Honoree
Miss Shirley Clark of Greenville was honored Friday evening at a miscellaneous shower at the Red Oak clubhouse.
Mesdames Sadie Entwistle, Fenner Allen, Joe Joyner Sr., John Causey and George Haddock were hostesses for the party.
White chrysanthemums were used as corsages and were featured in the floral arrangements which centered both the gift and refreshment tables. The latter bore a note of pink in addition to the bridal color scheme of green and white which was used throughout the spacious room.
Mrs. Fenner Allen, assisted by the honoree and her mother, welcomed guests at the door.
Mrs. Jarvis Tripp received the gifts and Miss Nancy Allen registered the more than sixty guests who were present.
From one end of the appointed table the bride-elect's mother, Mrs. John Alver Clark, poured punch and, from the opposite end, Mrs. Lena Smith served individual squares of daintily-iced and decorated cake.
The guests then helped themselves to butter mints and salted nuts.
Mrs. Glenn Scott and little Miss Carolyn Hathaway of... entertained with a program of music, singing, readings and impersonations.
In addition to the shower gifts, the hostesses presented the honoree with gifts of china and silver in her selected patterns.

December Wedding Planned

Miss Patricia Ann Dawson of Belhaven and Rocky Mount is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Wilson Dawson of Belhaven, who announce her engagement to the Rev. George Robert McKenzie, Jr. of Fayetteville and Wilmington, son of Mr. and Mrs. McKenzie of Wilmington. The wedding is planned for December 15.

Gov. Hodges To Speak To Credit Women's Clubs

An address by Governor Luther Hodges on November 11 will highlight a Raleigh gathering of delegates from Credit Women's Breakfast clubs throughout North Carolina. He is scheduled to speak during a Sunday luncheon on the last day of the Fall Board Meeting of the North Carolina State Association of Credit Women's Breakfast clubs. Mrs. Mary Wray Howard of Fuquay Springs, state president, will open the convention with a president's workshop at 7:30 o'clock November 10 at the Sir Walter Hotel. An open house will be held by the Raleigh club from 9 until 11 o'clock Saturday night. Another distinguished guest slated to speak Sunday is Miss Geneva McQuarters, executive secretary of the International association, with headquarters at St. Louis, Mo.

Thirteen Local Women To Visit Fort Jackson For Day

Thirteen Greenville women are to be the guests of the United States Army November 29 for a tour of Fort Jackson, S. C. This announcement has been made by Major A. C. Marcereau, Jr. of the local Army Reserve Corps. Invited are women leaders in town, representing Women of the Moose, the League of Women Voters, the local Council of Church Women, the Service League, AAUW, Woman's Club, and various PTA groups. Members of the Press will also be included. In issuing the invitations, Major Marcereau points out this is one of the many ways the United States Army has of showing taxpayers how their money is spent. Women will be met at the Fort Jackson Base by the commanding general or one of his representatives. They will be briefed with a history of the camp and given informational brochures. They will then be conducted on a tour of the camp where they will see actual training situations and demonstrations. According to plans they may have an opportunity to visit with trainees from Greenville and Pitt County. The four at Fort Jackson include PVT. Robert P. Smith of Ayden, PVT. Theodore K. Fountain, Jr., 404 Elizabeth St., PVT. Dale D. Brooks, 315 E. Eleventh St. and PVT. Roger H. Averette, 1005 Forbes Street. The two-motored 30 passenger C-46 or C-47 will leave the local

Funeral Held Today For Mrs. J. B. Baker

Mrs. Elizabeth Owens Baker, widow of John B. Baker, died at Park View Hospital in Rocky Mount, 9 p.m. Saturday following ten months of illness. She was 68. Funeral services were held at the home of her son Noah Baker, near Fountain at 3 p.m. Monday. Services were conducted by the Rev. L. B. Manning, Free Will Baptist Minister of Fountain. Burial was in the Edmond Owens Cemetery near Saratoga. Mrs. Baker spent most of her life in the Fountain community. For the past 3 years she had been living in Rocky Mount. Her husband died in 1949. She was a member of the Espen Grove Free Will Baptist Church near Fountain. Surviving are 4 sons; John T. Baker and Jessie R. Baker of Jacksonville, Noah H. Baker of Fountain and Graham D. Baker of Rocky Mount. Two daughters; Mrs. Leslie Peaden of Falkland and Mrs. J. G. Mosley of Fountain. Nineteen grandchildren; 6 great grandchildren; and a brother Johnnie Owens of Saratoga. A sister, Mrs. Carrie Balfour or Wilson and a half brother, Willie Owens of Wilson.

UNICEF Drive To Be Annual Event

BETHEL—Members of the Bethel Woman's Society of Christian Service have announced this year's "Trick or Treat for UNICEF" will be so successful that they plan to make this an annual event in the future. Mrs. Walter C. Whitehurst, local chairman, has expressed her appreciation on behalf of the WSCS for the cooperation received from the other local churches and from the parents who helped make the drive a success. She reports the children gathered at the Methodist Church for a devotional before starting their "Trick or Treat" and later returned to the church for their treat—a party given by the parents of the children of all denominations.

Thirty-Four To Represent EC College In 'Who's Who'

Thirty-four East Carolina students will represent the college in the 1956-1957 edition of "Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges." This nationally circulated yearbook, published annually, lists and gives biographical sketches of student leaders in educational institutions throughout this country. Nominations of those to be included in the yearbook are made at East Carolina by a student-faculty committee. Determining factors for the choice of representatives are excellence in scholarship, leadership, participation in student activities, citizenship and service to the school, and promise of future usefulness to business and society. East Carolina students chosen for the honor and the areas in which they have made some of their most valuable contributions to campus life are: Dock G. Smith, Princeton, president of the Student Government Association; Samuel David Carson, Williamston, president of the senior class; Neel DuPree, Greenville, president of the YWCA; James M. Ferrell, Lucama, editor of the weekly campus newspaper, the "East Carolinian"; Bobby Mann, Newport, president of the North Carolina Future Business Leaders of America; Robert S. Forrest, Greenville, treasurer of the Student Government Association; Patricia A. Everton, president of the campus Association for Childhood Education; Freda Jean Fisher, Wilmington, chairman of the Women's Judiciary; Frank Leslie Moore, Farmville, past president of the YMCA; Betty Joan Ashley, Whiteville, Methodist Student Union; Greenville Banks, Jr., Maple, Future Business Leaders of America; Lloyd Bray, Jr., Greenville, East Carolina Playhouse; Decoma Byrd, Garner, College Union Student Board; Lemuel H. Cox, Four Oaks, director of student intramural activities; June F. Crews, Creedmoore, music organizations; W. Mack Edmondson, Jr., Kinston, service fraternities and departmental organizations; Marion Evans, New Bern, East Carolina

POOL CAR

Health Department Scores Again

Pitt County's outstanding Health Department has achieved another important accomplishment which promises to bring even more improvement to the public health program which is being carried out in the county.

Approval of a county health department for residency training of physicians in the field of public is

Half Of Responsibility Is Up To 'Johnny'

When one of the state's leading educators expresses the view that we may be "dead ducks" unless certain changes in attitude toward education come about, it is time for the people to consider what he has to say.

Not long ago one of North Carolina's outstanding educators was talking off the cuff to a few friends. During the course of conversation he said something like this: "Unless in education we stop placing all the responsibility on the teacher and impress upon the students their responsibility to learn in school, we're going to be dead ducks."

What he was saying is that if young people are to receive the kind of education they need, the teacher can do only part of the job. She can teach the student, but she can't "learn" him at the same time. The youngster must have the desire to acquire the knowledge which is being offered. He must realize that knowledge, like most other worthwhile things, cannot be attained without a major effort on the part of the recipient.

In the public mind today the burden of children getting an education has been shifted almost entirely to the teacher. If little Johnny doesn't make good grades in school, parents usually feel the teacher isn't doing as good a job as she should. In reality she's probably doing all she can to teach Johnny. Whether he learns or not is entirely up to him.

Often the failure of a student to learn lies in the fact that at home he isn't sufficiently impressed with the importance of learning. He doesn't fully realize that at least 50 per cent of the responsibility is his. His parents haven't instilled in him the real desire to acquire as much education as possible from his daily school work.

Perhaps it is time we re-evaluate our attitude toward the student, the teacher and the school? Perhaps we have come to place too much emphasis on classroom sessions and not sufficient emphasis on the importance of homework and individual initiative on the part of the student?

Unless there are changes not only in the attitude of students but in the attitude of parents, the educator may be right. Maybe we will be "dead ducks".

A Partial Answer To N. C. Road Program

There can be no question about state standards for paving secondary roads if the commissioners of each county are to play a larger part in determining the course of the secondary road program as Gov. Hodges has proposed.

The Reflector is in favor of a program which would place upon the commissioners of each county greater responsibility in the secondary road program. We realize, however, that there must be certain uniform standards and requirements set up for such a program to be workable. There also must be an adequate system of controlling the secondary road program between the various counties.

In part, Gov. Hodges proposed that the county commissioners rather than a highway commissioner would have the final say in a situation where two roads in a county meet requirements for paving and there are sufficient funds for only one of the roads.

A couple of years ago there was adopted in the Second Highway Division what is known as a "merit system" for determining priority ratings given each unimproved section of road in every county in the division. In theory at least the results of these priorities were to decide in what order roads were to be paved as funds were made available for the secondary paving program.

A uniform point system was established whereby each road was evaluated as to the number of vehicles which used it, the school bus trips made over the road, the number of houses, churches, stores and other commercial establishments on the road, and other factors which would help determine the importance of the particular road. Roads with the highest total number of points were given top priority for future work and others were given lesser priorities in accordance with the number of points they acquired under the system.

It seems a similar system of priorities could be worked out for every county of the state as a guide for commissioners in discharging the new road responsibilities which the governor proposes that they discharge.

Such a system would answer only a part of the problems involved in Highway Commission changes proposed by Gov. Hodges, but it could prove a worthwhile, uniform yardstick to be used by commissioners of every county in the state.

rare indeed. The approval is given only those departments whose work is of the highest calibre. The approval of Pitt County's Health Department for such training of public health doctors should be a source of pride not only for the department but for every citizen of the county.

There are only 35 health departments in the nation which have been approved by the American Medical Association to give such training to public health doctors. Four of these are in North Carolina, but at the present time only the one Public Health Center in Chapel Hill is active. The health departments of Charlotte, Winston-Salem and Forsyth County, and Halifax County have received approval to offer such training in the past, but none of these three are active in that training program at the present time.

Under the guidance of Dr. Walter C. Humbert during the past several years, Pitt County's Health Department has come to be recognized as one of the outstanding health departments in North Carolina. It has likewise gained national recognition as is evidenced by this recent approval by the AMA for residency training for public health doctors.

Through its new residency training program for public health doctors, the local department will not only be able to provide training for public health physicians it will also be afforded the advantage of the services of these doctors while they are in training in the county. This should enable the Pitt County Health Department to broaden its scope of work and afford even better public health programs for the people of the county.

The people of Pitt should be grateful not only for the fact that they have such an outstanding health department, but also for the fact that the people whose responsibility it is to administer the department are constantly striving to reach new heights of public health service for the people of the county.

Notes On Political Campaigns In N. C.

By CARL GOERCH

LYNN NISBET
Some notes on this and other political campaigns in North Carolina.

Four years ago Stevenson carried this State by 94,700 votes. Governor Hodges a few days ago predicted that Stevenson will carry North Carolina at Tuesday's election by about 250,000 votes.

Four years ago thirty-two counties in North Carolina gave a majority to Eisenhower. Secretary of State Thad Eure predicts that Eisenhower will not carry more than sixteen Tuesday.

Another prediction by Mr. Eure:

In the 1952 election there were 1,210,000 votes cast in the presidential election in North Carolina. Tuesday the total vote will be in excess of 1,300,000 according to our Secretary of State.

Although Eisenhower carried 32 North Carolina counties four years ago, only one of these was in the eastern half of the state. Brunswick, down in the extreme southeastern corner, gave Eisenhower 2,958; Stevenson, 2,951.

The strongest voting Democratic county in the state in the 1952 presidential election was Greene. The voters within the borders of that county gave Stevenson 2,973; Eisenhower, 186.

And listen to this: from a numerical standpoint — the actual number of votes cast — Pitt County gave Stevenson a larger majority than any other county in the State. The vote was: Stevenson, 11,271; Eisenhower, 2,203. That gave Stevenson a majority of 9,068.

Not only that, but John C. Wainwright, well-known political leader in Pitt County, claims that his county gave Stevenson a greater majority than any other county in the United States.

Some of our counties with the largest population went for Eisenhower in 1952, among them were Buncombe, Forsyth, Mecklenburg and Guilford.

One of the most bitter campaigns ever fought in North Carolina was in 1928, the only time the Republicans have carried the state since the turn of the century. That was when Al Smith and Herbert Hoover were the opposing candidates. Hoover won out over Smith by 62,706 votes.

The closest election we ever had in North Carolina was back in 1920 when Cam Morrison, Max Gardner and Bob Page were candidates for Governor. In the first primary, Page was eliminated and Morrison led Gardner by 87 votes.

In the second primary, however, Morrison won out over Gardner by about 9000 votes. Approximately 130,000 Democrats went to the polls that year. When Mr. Gardner ran again in 1928 he was unopposed, so there was no gubernatorial primary.

Another close one took place in 1936, when Clyde Hoey, Ralph McDonald, Sandy Graham and John McRae were the Democratic candidates for Governor. In the first primary, Hoey led McDonald by about 4,000 votes, and some of McDonald's friends are still contending that his candidate was counted out.

In the second primary, Hoey increased his lead over McDonald to 52,000 votes.

Voters in North Carolina are much more independent now than was the case some twenty or thirty years ago. In those days there were political leaders in a number of counties who could "deliver" the vote any way they pleased. There are mighty few cases of that kind today.

William B. Umstead holds the record for having received more votes in a primary than any other candidate for Governor in the history of the State.

In 1952 there were 294,000 Democrats who voted for Mr. Umstead in the primary.

Opinions In Brief

The Detroit Times has something of the first importance to say about the development of peacetime uses of atomic energy — and about the efforts to turn this development into a rounded government monopoly.

"If the government keeps a strangle hold on atomic energy," says the Times, "it will keep, also, a strangle hold on economic development. More than any other single commodity, short of sheer military power, control of power supplies means control of the whole economy."

"Our government, both in its wisest and most honest leaders, and in its most sincere and humane businessmen, has in the last two years made real and great strides toward promoting 'atoms for peace.' But if the attempt succeeds to drive private brains and energy out of the atomic energy field, it will be the end of atoms for peace and a victory for 'atoms for politics.'"

"Atomic power, utterly ruled by politicians, will be the greatest political tool of our age."

The independent utility companies, naturally are most directly interested in making possible the production of power from the atom on a commercial scale. In pursuit of that end, they are offering full cooperation to the Atomic Energy Commission and the other interested government agencies. It is unthinkable that these offers should be rejected, that the vast resources and know-how of the industry be lost to atomic progress, and that this enormous new energy source become a political football. Strength for the Day

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
LADDER TO HEAVEN
AND BACK AGAIN

It is hard for us to realize that so many actors in our lives that we exist simultaneously, but by unseen forces than by the things we can apprehend by the use of our physical senses.

Love is the great motivating force in life, and love is unseen. Electricity is one of the greatest motivating forces in the physical world, yet no one knows what electricity is nor has anyone seen it. This strange elusive thing called life which, departing from an injured or sick body leaves it a corpse, is also unseen.

We might just as well get used to the fact that all about us are unseen forces steadily at work on our physical, mental, and spiritual lives. There may be in the universe and perhaps round about us realms of existence so different from our own world that we exist simultaneously, but unconscious of the other.

Religion is God's revelation to us that spiritual forces are constantly at work in our life. Man is a physical being on one side of his life but a spiritual being, on the other. Angels guard us, holy influences come down upon us every day guiding and deterring us.

Spooky? Not at all. Glorious. Heaven is reaching down and touching earth all the time. As Jacob pictured it in his dream, there is a ladder set up between earth and heaven, and angels are constantly ascending and descending upon it.

Business Today

Looking Ahead In Business

By ELMER ROESSNER

Here are some more predictions of developments in business. There is no magic to these forecasts; they have been arrived at by putting pieces of information together and looking at the result from vantage points of common sense and experience.

Another rise in domestic whiskey prices is coming. Prices have been held in check by the low price of the largest-selling bonded bourbon. That brand 'Dant' is about to be boosted 20 to 30 cents a fifth, giving competing brands a little margin for a price increase.

You'll hear more about "rural-English" furniture. Several manufacturers are making furniture in this seventeenth century design, which preceded American colonial and stores' buyers showed considerable enthusiasm at recent markets.

More of men will be visible next summer. A survey by Men's Wear discloses stores are planning to stock more slim, tailored and briefer swim wear next year and fewer regular boxer styles. Bold patterns are preferred, too.

Christmas shoppers may get a bit more protection this year. Better Business Bureau all over the country are campaigning against deceptive price-cutting and false price claims. Their sleuths are shopping stores now, looking for articles with fantastically high prices printed on the package so that sellers can offer equally fantastic "discounts" and goods "marked down" from imaginary high prices. (You get even better protection by shopping only at reputable stores.)

Carpet sales may set a new record this year. Calculations make at the recent session of the Carpet Institute showed the manufacturers are well on their way to a new high in sales, with Christmas buying expected to shove totals over the top.

There'll be more oranges and grapefruit next year. Studies by the Department of Agriculture show more trees are coming into bearing in the 1957-58 season.

Rayon and acetate garments will cost more. Wage rises granted workers in Southern mills are already being reflected in fabric prices and soon will affect apparel tags.

BOOM PASSING HOUSING BY
The home-building boom won't resume soon. Interest rates remain high, money continues scarce and, even worse, builders face a price squeeze. Wholesale prices and labor costs have been rising and to meet them builders may have to price new homes above the buying limits of still more familiar families.

More power or government regulatory agencies may be coming. A subcommittee report is now being circulated among members of the House Small Business Committee recommending changes in laws to permit the Federal Trade Commission and four other executive agencies to submit their own budgets direct to Congress and to appeal unfavorable court decisions without regard to the Solicitor General.

Advertising will set a new record this year. Total investment in all kinds of advertising ran ahead of 1955 marks during the first nine months of the year and commitments for the remainder of the year make it a sure thing that the total for the year will set a new mark.

OLD PROMOTER
INTERPRETS A POLL
The Old Promoter dropped in for a visit today and, as he often does, he started peering at the mail on the desk.

"Say, this is interesting!" he remarked, indicating a communication from St. Preston, a publicist, stating that a poll of visitors to the Meramec Caverns of Missouri gave 1,967 votes for Eisenhower and 1,179 votes for Stevenson.

"You think it proves Ike will win?" he asked.

"No," he replied.

"Maybe that Republicans like dark, underground places?"

"No."

"What does it prove, then?" he demanded.

"It shows more Republicans than Democrats can afford to travel," he replied.

Survivors Of Change In Business

By ROGER W. BABSON
BABSON PARK, Mass. — So much is published today about electronics, atomic energy, and new gadgets of all kinds that I have been investigating what businesses have survived throughout the centuries. Let this week's column give you my report.

WHAT EGYPTIAN HISTORY TEACHES

Probably the best evidence of what businesses are the oldest is to be found in ancient Egyptian Tombs of several thousand years ago. They all contain ceramic ware, jewelry, musical instruments, tapestries and pictures. Although all these arts and crafts — they continue to exist. Religion has also been a "big business" alternating between great influence and barbaric persecution. Gold, silver, and fine architecture have represented wealth throughout history. Although the Egyptian art and music of those early days was not made to many of us, yet modern art and jazz have not returned to it. This definite cycle has taken place several times during the past 4,000 years. In fact, the cycle is shown in the history of Egypt itself.

Three thousand years ago Egypt was the richest and most progressive nation in the world. Then a decline came which brought poverty and chaos, finally dropping that nation into the lap of Great Britain as its poorest colony. Today's newspaper headlines are now on Egypt, which appears to have 15 great nations eating out of its hand! The great wheels even of history are slowly but constantly revolving. This means we should carefully avoid using two words — "now" and "always" — in connection with an art, a profession, a business, or even a nation, or a religion.

THE BIBLE AND ECONOMIC HISTORY

However readers may disagree as to the importance of daily Bible reading, the Bible gives us an excellent review of what businesses have continued through the centuries. Bankers, lawyers, and tax collectors existed then as now. Jesus even spoke a good word for the bankers (Luke XIX) although he did not want them to carry on their business in the Temple. Fishing has also survived and much of it is being carried on in the same old-fashioned way.

When we realize that stocks and bonds were unknown several centuries ago, one wonders at their permanence; yet I forecast that some form of investment will exist. Real estate had served that purpose for thousands of years. Just now we hear much about "Shopping Centers"; but the downtown Main Street market who cheer merchants and hours to new conditions had little to fear. The Stoa, in the world's once most beautiful shopping center which flourished 2,000 years ago at Athens, Greece, has been buried for many centuries. John D. Rockefeller is now rebuilding this in a new to cheer merchants who cannot now afford to change to a new "shopping center."

MERCHANTS MUST BE PROGRESSIVE

During Bible days the chief musical instrument was the harp. This gradually developed into the piano. Musical instrument stores which refused to sell pianos were probably forced out of business. Yet more harps are being sold today than ever before. We once thought that kerosene would kill the candle business; that gas would kill the kerosene business; and that electricity would put gas out of business. Yet more candles, more kerosene, and more gas were sold last year than ever before.

Why do I write this column today? My reason is to prevent a manufacturer or merchant from hastily giving up without having some expert make a study of his business, prospective parking lots, and needed changes. Such a merchant should not be in a hurry to sell or give up, but it is wise for him to keep out of debt and to advertise. Then he will have very little to worry about. Sometimes I think that when the next business depression does come, it will be due to the worries of manufacturers, retailers, and especially the consumers, who are most important of all.

Notebook On Life

Things A Columnist Learns . . .

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Odd things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail, or listen to door-to-door salesmen:

That if Adlai Stevenson believes history runs in cycles he might be cheered to recall that just 100 years ago James Buchanan, a Democrat and a bachelor, defeated a famous soldier, John C. Fremont, the Republican party's presidential candidate.

That although women may be the deciding factor in the 1956 U.S. elections, they are even more powerful in France where there are 117 women voters for every 100 men.

That 11 per cent of the lawyers in France wear skirts. So do 23 per cent of the dentists, 28 per cent of the pharmacists, and 7 per cent of the doctors. There are 19 women deputies in the National Assembly, and nine women senators in the Council of the Republic.

That a friar of Raphael, on first seeing his Renaissance masterpiece, "St. Cecilia," was so overcome by the faultless beauty of the painting, he fell dead. Some people say modernistic painting slays them, too.

That the road gauge of American railroads is equal to the width between the wheels of ancient Rome's battle chariots — 5 feet, 8 inches. We copied the idea from the British who, in the days when they were savages and painted themselves blue, were occupied by the Romans.

That if evil spirits are haunting you, an old remedy for warding them off is to wear a bag of eggshells around your neck. It also is said to help, if you are a woman, to wear your petticoats inside out or in the case of a man, to reverse his waistcoat. Don't worry about what the neighbors may think. All people think their neighbors are a bit touched anyway.

That two out of three first-graders who have trouble learning to read have subpar vision. The American Optometric Assn. believes children shouldn't be encouraged to read until they enter school.

That Pee Wee Peese, shortshop for the Brooklyn Dodgers, got his nickname because of his skill at marbles. He can still knock down and beat any kid in his neighborhood at the game.

That 45 per cent of American men complain the bed they sleep in isn't long enough for comfort. That a fever of 109 degrees will kill most people, but medical analysts list one recovery from a fever that reached 113 degrees.

Observers See Eisenhower Landslide

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower should win tomorrow's election by a virtual landslide, according to the politicians' last-minute tabulations, although his electoral and popular majorities may not reach the 1952 proportions. In that year, the electoral tally was 442-89, and the popular margin was 6,621,260.

It is estimated that Adlai E. Stevenson's maximum electoral figure could be 138, with 26 necessary to elect. But it could fall as low as 110, if states regarded as doubtful or leaning to the Democratic nominees should slip into the Republican column. To roll up the 138 total, Stevenson must carry the following states that went for Ike four years ago: Virginia, Tennessee, Missouri, Michigan, Minnesota, Oklahoma and Texas. They have a total of 99 electoral votes.

POWERFUL STATES FOR IKE
But the only state in this group which seems certain for him are Missouri and Oklahoma. If he loses the other five, and there is a good chance of such an outcome, his electoral tally would fall 110.

There is no expectation that Stevenson will carry enough of the electorally powerful commonwealths which he needs to win, or even to make a more respectable showing. These are New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Ohio and California, which have the massive electoral bloc of the 161 ballots.

Top-level Republicans, including experts around the White House and at Republican National Headquarters, mention between 120 and 135 as Stevenson's most hopeful prospects. Several small states reportedly on the borderline — Rhode Island, Kentucky, Arizona, New Mexico — might go to the Chicago lawyer in a close finish. Ike won all in 1952 except Kentucky, which he lost by only 700. Texas is also a Stevenson possibility.

dit the Eisenhower-Dulles policies as partially responsible for the anti-Russian outbreaks and possible freedom from Moscow, it could tighten the House contests. These elements could be a ballot-box balance of power for the GOP in New England, the Middle Atlantic States and the Upper Middle West, especially Michigan and Illinois.

The so-called "Jewish vote" is reported to be hostile to the Administration so, his refusal to rearm Israel. Possible developments in the current crisis could drive them into the Democratic camp also boosting Stevenson stock.

OFFSETTING GOP COMPENSATIONS
However, there could be offsetting Republican compensations in these violent winds of war from the slopes of Mt. Siani. Many voting elements have always thought that Truman's partiality to Israel derived from selfish, partisan considerations. They have welcomed Ike's nonpolitical policy of strict neutrality, and Israeli aggression may only confirm them in this viewpoint.

The murder charge against Martha Elva Pollard and S. T. County creek during the first part of the summer. Forty-six-year-old Morning and the 23-year-old Pollard woman each received six to eight years sentences at the last session of Pitt Superior Court on the charge of concealing the birth of a child. Judge W. A. Leland McKelthan nol prossed the murder charge.

William Russell Buck Jr., 20, Greenville, Route 5, pled guilty to driving drunk and with no brakes. He was sentenced to 60 days on the roads to run concurrently with the sentence imposed in Pitt Superior Court at the January 1953 term by Judge Henry A. Grady, where the defendant was given an 18 months suspended sentence for assault with a deadly weapon.

The charge of manslaughter against Ollie Daniels, Negro, was nol prossed with leave.

Russell J. Whitfield, 1010 Dickinson Avenue, was sentenced to 30 days for public drunkenness, disorderly conduct and using vulgar and profane language. The sentence was suspended for two years upon the condition that he pay the costs and remain of good behavior and not violate any laws for

Wreck Blamed On Auto-Racing

Jesse Van Jackson, 16, Winterville, Route 2, was admitted to Pitt Memorial Hospital Saturday night suffering from back injuries after losing control of his car and overturning.

Lee Ann Newby, Jefferson Drive, Greenville, Jackson's companion, was also admitted but only for observation.

Jackson told highway patrolman Dick Taylor that two oncoming cars, racing each other forced him off the road. The accident occurred in front of James Langley's on the old Tar Road about 3 miles south of Greenville. Damage to the car amounted to an estimated $600.

Patrolman Taylor said that it is not known who was racing in the two cars.

Sunday night around 11 o'clock Thomas Miller, 18, of Vanceboro, hit a 300-pound hog on NC 118 nine miles east of Grifton.

Miller hit the hog, which was killed instantly, and skidded for some distance without turning over. Miller told Taylor, who also investigated this accident, that he was going around 55 m. p.h. at the time.

Damage to the front end of Miller's car was estimated at $500.

PETOSKEY, Mich. (AP)—Feeding his worms on cornmeal is the secret of success for a young Petoskey bait dealer.

22-year-old Mack McClellan, who had a net $100 profit last year, expanded this year from one feed bed to three where he keeps 8,000 night crawlers on hand.

McClellan observes that coffee grounds fatten the worms "but they get lazy and aren't lively like they are on cornmeal."

Lenoir Rhyne Routs East Carolina 57-12 Saturday

Bullard Scores 4 Times To Pace Bear Offensive

HICKORY—Lenoir Rhyne's frenzied Bears notched their fifteenth consecutive victory, Saturday night, as they all but completely demolished East Carolina 57-12 here in the LR Stadium.

It amounted to EC's worst defeat of the season and the Bears' best effort. Coach Clarence Stasovich commented that his Lenoir squad was "top" for the game and playing their best ball.

As an aftermath of the game, which proves how devastating the Bear attack was, a host of Pirates were nursing serious injuries today. James Speight, ECC halfback started things off. He came out of the game in the first quarter with a swollen eye and didn't play after that; three Bes had to have stitches taken in their faces; guard Dick Monds suffered a fractured elbow; end Raymond Pennington received a hip injury and end Tommy Waggoner was inflicted with a sprained ankle.

20-Point Quarter
The Pirates have been Lenoir Rhyne's toughest enemy in the North State Conference for the past several years. In the four games they have played to date (not counting Saturday's) the Bears have been able to score only three touchdowns. They equalled that many points in the initial quarter Saturday night.

A 38-yard pass from quarterback Dean Cline to end Joe Mills chalked up the first score. Before the shock had taken full force, a halfback named Foster plunged over from the five to add another touchdown. Walter Cornwell grabbed another Cline pass only seconds later and went 44 yards for still another tally. It was 20-0 at the end of the quarter.

In the second quarter, the Buc forward wall stiffened. Only one Bear score was recorded. Fullback Harold Bullard, LR's leading candidate for Little All-America honors, crashed over for one of his four touchdowns.

Bullard, Bullard, Bullard
The third period was all Bullard. With a 26-0 lead at halftime, the Bears came back with their most furious assault of the season—and Bullard led the way.

In the third period, the 212-pound battering-ram runner plowed over for three touchdowns, coming on runs of eight, five and one yards.

And Foster added the final scores in the last quarter, on nine and 11 yard jaunts, to wrap it up. East Carolina's scores came in the third and fourth periods. Tommy Nash, a freshman halfback, from Monroe broke away on an end sweep for 80 yards and a tally.

In the third quarter, and set up the only other Buc score on a 22-yard pass play.

Jim Henderson, senior ECC halfback, scored in the early moments of the fourth quarter, but the play was nullified by an offside penalty. Later in the period, Nash's pass from quarterback Gary Mattocks set up a one-yard plunge by Mattocks, for ECC's only other score.

Coach Jack Boone said after the game that "Lenoir Rhyne has a great ball club and is a credit to the North State Conference. They have one of the best teams I've ever seen, certainly the best we've played all season." This includes, of course, V.P.I., which was rated No. 15 in the nation last week.

The Bear attack, which operated from a single wing formation, left the Bucs in a crippled condition, according to reports this morning. An open date this week will give the Pirates time to get in shape for Richmond, in Greenville however, several ECC boys will be out for the rest of the season.

The only mention of his team which Boone would give was as follows: "They didn't quit. Even though things were going rough, they stayed in there and were fighting every moment."

Bill Barnes Is Still Leading Individual Race

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Bill Barnes of Wake Forest still leads the Atlantic Coast Conference individual scoring race with 38 points although he didn't tally in last Saturday's 13-0 victory over North Carolina State.

He was the workhorse of the Deacon offense, with 118 yards rushing. That brought his season total to 756, a new Wake Forest record. It's 39 yards better than the old record of 717 yards Bill Grekus gained in 1948. Barnes has made his in only seven games. It took Grekus 10 games.

Barnes also is only 26 yards away from the ACC single season rushing record of 782 yards held by Joel Wells of Clemson. Barnes has three games to break this mark.

Alex Hawkins ran 66 yards for a touchdown in South Carolina's 13-6 victory over Furman, and moved up on Barnes in the scoring race. He is runner-up with 32 points.

Joel Wells and Charlie Horne scored a touchdown apiece in Clemson's 21-6 victory over Virginia Tech, and moved into a five-way tie for third place at 24 points. The victory was Clemson's fifth of the season against no losses and a 20-20 tie with Florida. And it improved the Tigers' chances to be the ACC entry in the Orange Bowl game against the Big Seven representative in Miami on New Year's Day.

The trio tied at 24 the previous week didn't score last Saturday.

HE SMASHED BUCS—Big Harold Bullard, Lenoir Rhyne's 212 pound candidate for Little All-America fullback honors, scored four times against East Carolina Saturday night. The Bears won 57-12 in possibly East Carolina's worst defeat in many years.

HE HELPED—Another All-America candidate from Lenoir Rhyne, tailback Walt Cornwell, helped end East Carolina at Hickory, Saturday night. He scored once in the 57-12 rout.

Detroit, Chicago Win Sunday To Continue Lead In Pro Football

Every promoter's dream—a balanced league—is merely a wishful thought this pro football season.

With just about half the games in the record books after yesterday's five-game card, the National Football League, despite inter-conference play, cannot even boast a balanced division.

Four of the 12 league teams hold 60 per cent of the victories, and two are in each conference. Furthermore, no other team has more wins than setbacks!

Yet it's doubtful if you'll hear anybody kicking. Both conferences are featuring rousing two-team dogfights and 20,000 attended yesterday's games.

Detroit is the big winner among big winners. The unbeaten Lions, Western Conference leaders, grabbed off their sixth straight by topping the San Francisco 49ers 17-13 on the West Coast.

Several hundred miles to the south the Chicago Bears stayed one game off the Western pace with a 35-24 decision over the Los Angeles Rams. The Bears are 5-1 and haven't lost since opening day when Baltimore knocked them off 28-21.

In the Eastern Conference, New York's Giants and Chicago's Cardinals remained deadlocked for the top at 5-1 as both checked in with triumphs over division opponents. The Giants edged the host Pittsburgh Steelers 17-14, and Chicago rolled over the visiting Philadelphia Eagles 28-17.

The Cleveland Browns broke a three-game losing streak and moved into a three-way tie for fourth in the East with a 24-7 upset of Green Bay's Packers at Milwaukee. Cleveland is now 2-4, as are the Eagles and Steelers.

Washington, idle yesterday, is third in the East with a 2-3 mark. The Redskins, who meet the Baltimore Colts Dec. 23 in a game forcibly postponed by a Baltimore Stadium pact with the U.S. Naval Academy, had an extra week to get ready for the Lions next Sunday. The Bears have a game at home against Green Bay, but the Giants and Cards clash head-on at Yankee Stadium for Eastern supremacy. The Cards whipped the Giants Oct. 7 at Chicago 35-27.

Baltimore (2-3) is third in the West followed by the Packers. (2-4) and the Rams and 49ers (both 1-5).

That means the Lions, Cards, Bears and Giants have won 21 of the 35 games played.

The Bears and Lions will have showdowns Dec. 2 at Detroit and Dec. 16 at Chicago.

Lenoir Rhyne's sizzling Bears, looking ahead to a possible bowl bid, rode atop the North State Conference standings today and continue at the head of the nation's unbeaten, untied small college powers.

The Bears smothered East Carolina's Pirates 57-12 at Hickory last Saturday night to run their unbeaten string to 15 straight, eight of them this season.

The only hint of trouble ahead for Coach Clarence Stasovich's single wing powerhouse toward the conference title appears to be Catawba. The Indians surprised strong Wofford 24-6 at Spartanburg Saturday night and look to be a major stumbling block for the Bears.

Lenoir Rhyne and Catawba meet Thanksgiving Day in the loop's final game. That could decide the championship. Catawba meets Guilford this weekend and figures to have no trouble. Lenoir Rhyne meets strong Elon but also is expected to prevail.

In other action the past weekend, Appalachian stopped Guilford 32-7, Elon bowed to Newberry 40-14 and Western Carolina lost to Emory and Henry 39-14.

Some indication of what may be expected in the Lenoir Rhyne-Catawba finale on Thanksgiving Day is shown in comparative scores. Lenoir Rhyne edged Wofford by 13-7, compared with the way Catawba did it, 24-6.

The Bears, not a member of the National Collegiate Athletic Assn., are being talked strongly for the new National Assn. of Intercollegiate Athletics bowl game at Little Rock, Ark., set for Dec. 22.

That game, expected to attract a crowd of 30,000, will be nationally televised (CBS), assuring the participants of a cut in TV proceeds in addition to the usual cut of gate receipts. Another team being mentioned is Middle Tennessee State of Murfreesboro.

Vol-Tech Game Promises Sparks

By ED CORRIGAN
The Associated Press
Tennessee, which has won more football games than any school in the country during the past quarter of a century, is back near the top of the heap scrambling for the Southeastern Conference championship and a postseason bowl plum.

Since Gen. Bob Neyland quit coaching in 1952, the Vols have been having their troubles. In the next three years, they won only 16 games and lost 13.

But thanks mainly to tailback John (Drum) Majors and an imposing list of 19 other lettermen from last year, the Vols have waded through half a dozen opponents so far in quest of their first undefeated, untied season since 1951, when they won the national championship.

There's a villain lurking in the shadows, though, in Georgia Tech, Tennessee's No. 1 rival for the conference championship. The Engineers also have polished off half a dozen opponents, giving up only four touchdowns.

The two teams meet in Atlanta this week. To the victor no doubt will go the Southeastern crown. Tennessee warmed up to the task Saturday with a routine 20-0 victory over North Carolina, while Georgia Tech, second ranked behind Oklahoma in last week's Associated Press poll, edged Duke 7-0.

Neither, however, has any hopes of getting past Oklahoma in the national rankings. The hulking Sooners won their 36th game in a row, a come-from-behind 27-19 decision over Colorado.

Oklahoma was down 19-6 at the half, but the Sooners woke up and scored three touchdowns in the second half to wrap it up.

Colorado, which can nail down second place in the Big Seven if it gets past Missouri this week, is all but certain to get the Orange Bowl bid. Oklahoma went last year and was barred by a conference rule from competing two years running.

At the moment Clemson is leading the Atlantic Coast Conference, which supplies the other team. Duke still has an outside chance but Maryland, the perennial contender, is just another has-been this year. The Terps, who have won just one game in seven, were cut down by Kentucky 14-0 Saturday.

Oklahoma, Georgia Tech and Tennessee, incidentally, from three fifths of the remaining major unbeaten, Wyoming, which wrapped up the Skyline title with a 21-0 victory over Utah State, and Princeton, which walloped Brown 21-7, are the others.

It may be a couple of weeks before the Pacific Coast entrant in the Rose Bowl is decided. One thing is certain—it will be Oregon State, the current leader, or Stanford. The two meet Saturday and if State wins, Stanford will have only a bare mathematical chance of sneaking in.

The Big Ten's Rose Bowl team also should be determined after Saturday's clash between Minnesota and Iowa. The Gophers will be favored on the basis of their 9-6 nonconference triumph over Pitt, while the Hawkeys were being bounced from the unbeaten list by Michigan, 17-14.

Only 2 Automobile Makes Carrying Lower Price Tags

By DAVID J. WILKIE
 AP Automotive Editor
 DETROIT (AP) — The auto industry invested probably 1 1/2 billion dollars to bring its 1957 models from drafting board to assembly line. The huge investment brought some of the broadest styling and engineering refinements in car industry history.

Along with higher manufacturing costs it also brought some of the highest price tags in auto making annals. Only two makes—Nash and Hudson—went contrary to industry trend and lowered prices. These two represent a relative small share of American Motors' over-all sales volume, most of it coming from the Rambler models, prices of which were increased.

The over-all price advances range from as little as $1 to as much as $644. The $1 advance was by Ford; the $644 increase by Cadillac. All the prices so far announced at the factory level have been exclusive of federal, state and local taxes, distribution and handling charges and optional equipment items.

These additional charges add several hundred dollars to the final price the retailer charges the customer. The manufacturers emphasize, too, that they do not fix retail prices; that, they emphasize, is the retailer's responsibility.

In several instances the car makers reported some of the price advance was offset by making certain heretofore optional items standard equipment.

Price revisions so far announced at the factories (exclusive of taxes, other charges and options) include:

Ford — increases ranging from $1 to $104.
 Chevrolet — increases ranging from $74 to $166.
 Plymouth — increases range from $66 to $160.
 Pontiacs — increases range from $100 to $280.
 Buick — increases range from $168 to $264.
 Oldsmobile — increases range from $132 to $284.
 Cadillac — increases range from $348 to $644.
 Lincoln — increases range from $316 to $440.
 Dodge — increases range from $64 to $192.
 American Motors — price reductions range from $236 to $378 on Nash and Hudson models.
 Rambler six cylinder models — increases range from $85 to $117.

Jaycees Will Present Play November 12, 13

"My Sister Eileen" is to be presented November 12 and 13, 8 p.m. in McGinnis Auditorium by the Greenville Jaycees.

This play has been seven months in the making. Early last May a play-reading committee of Bob Forney, Ed Hirschberg and Gay Gragey selected from many "My Sister Eileen."

Tryouts were held the second week of September. So much interest was generated that all twenty-seven parts were cast immediately.

The production staff, all volunteers, includes: Bob Forney, director; Ed Hirschberg, assistant director; Diane Piet, rehearsal assistant; Pete West and Gay Gragey, sets; Bob Wagner and Jim Piet, lighting technicians; Norm Pierce, sound effects; Marilyn Forney, Pauline Luskin and Dottie Pierce, costumes; Kathleen Nunney, properties; Meriam Vetter and Margaret Starns, make-up; Signey Marshall, typing.

Job Open For Lady Blacksmith

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—If you're a good stout girl and don't mind dirt and perhaps an occasional kick, there's a pretty good job open for you — as a lady blacksmith.

W.E. Combs, who is 76 and one of the few horseshoers left in Florida, wants to retire but can't find anyone to take over his quite active business.

Combs figures more women than men ride horses nowadays so "I'm thinking if some good stout girl got interested in it I'd learn her to fit shoes."

He says he once thought he had a good prospect but, it turned out, "she weighed only 80 pounds. Wouldn't do."

Coming

Yesterday the Sunday School teacher in one of Greenville's churches was talking to a group of children, building up to the Thanksgiving theme.

Said the teacher, "Something is coming along in November we always look forward to. Who knows what it is?"

Without hesitation one little boy spoke up boldly: "The Democrats!"

SYNOPSIS

Casson Duker, a well-to-do amateur detective, is intrigued by Henry Lockyer, a stolid banker getting drunk before dinner at their club. Casson's curiosity compels him to find out why the normally light-drinking Lockyer is acting in such a manner. Lockyer tells Casson he has been blackmailed by an ordinary looking little man named Bagot who threatened to ruin his reputation. Bagot

The keystone fell into place. The Roman bust settled perfectly into the mental arch. Bagot was his own master. He was a man without family, without relationships. He only desired beautiful things. To get them, he blackmailed.

Casson took his gloves and went out. If Bagot had blackmailed once, he might have blackmailed before.

He walked up Savile Row to the West End Central Police Station. Casson waited while the uniformed constable in the entrance hall took his name and rang through to the C.I.D. He was shown upstairs and into a plain office.

Superintendent Strutt, George Barnard Strutt of "C" Division, sat behind a desk, pushing a paper-clip round the surface of his blotting-pad with the chewed end of a pencil.

He was a man of forty-two and, for a policeman, unusually shaped, being short and fat and piggy-eyed.

"Well?" he grunted. Casson sat down.

"I need your help."

"Naturally."

Casson sighed to himself. Strutt was in a temper and when that happened he took time to placate—time and lager beer. In the end he always helped. He liked Casson.

"I am hunting a blackmailer," said Casson. Strutt reached for a writing-pad.

"What's his name?" His voice was uninterested.

"Bagot." Strutt made no motion to write. Casson settled himself into the uncomfortable armchair. "As you will already have guessed, my brilliant and beautiful policeman, Bagot is not his real name. It is an alias."

"Now before I unfold to you his unpleasant little story, I must warn you that it's off the record. The victim does not want Bagot found and will not give evidence against him if he is found. But I wish to find him because I dislike such people."

He told Strutt the whole story, including Lockyer's name. When he had finished giving Lockyer's description of Bagot, he added:

"Now, as you will agree, that particular appearance is one which he uses only for blackmail. His ordinary appearance will be different. But it will not be very different. So what does he do to disguise himself? He makes his hair darker, not by dye but by hair oil. He parts it in the middle—a thing which the victim would automatically notice. He wears heavy spectacles. Undo these things and you have the real Bagot, a man of about forty-five, with mossy hair parted on the side, and probably wearing light-rimmed spectacles. He will be neat in his habits, has clean, unspoil hands, and is five foot ten in height. Find that one if you can."

"Easy," Strutt replied equably. "There are seven thousand of them in the West End of London every day."

"Listen," Casson told him the rest, displayed before him the personality which his mind had created for Bagot, described the place of the bust in the arch of mental invention which framed the blackmailer.

"I think you're wrong. I think you're being too clever about this art business."

Strutt reached for the telephone. "Yard, please. Criminal Record Office." He gave them the two descriptions of Bagot and Casson's imaginary character-study, leaving out the incident of the bust and merely saying that the wanted man might be interested in antiques. He put the receiver down.

"I'll let you know," he said.

"Come in on your way home and have a drink at my flat," Casson suggested. I've come by an early Colette novel which you can borrow."

"Right, boy," said Strutt, grinning. His hobby was French literature. "Six sharp, Mount Street."

Casson strolled down to Cane's for lunch. In the anteroom he met Nigel Willington, and the sight of the gaunt, cadaverous figure gave a practical twist to his ideas.

He ordered a sherry and went over to Willington. Nigel was

The next morning he walked leisurely down Berkeley Square, along Bruton Street and Bond Street to his office. Two Georgian windows framed the front door, over which was written in unobtrusive gold letters Mantion, Heywood, and Partner. Merchants in Wine and Liqueurs. It looked more like a private house than the offices of a well-known firm of wine merchants.

Tippet, the head clerk, in his frock-coat, was standing behind the counter when Casson entered.

"Good morning, sir."

"Good morning, Mr. Tippet," Casson replied, passing through into his own office. He always addressed Tippet as "Mr."

Casson settled down to his letters. At eleven he went and stood by the window, idly contemplating the people who passed by outside. He was counting his good fortune. He was thirty-seven, almost thirty-eight, but still a young man. He was fit, interested, and sufficiently well-off. He was a bachelor and his own master; his own master too in business since he had inherited the firm from his father, extending both its list and its customs. He appreciated beautiful things. He turned to glance with pleasure at the wall over the fireplace where there hung a landscape by Theodore Rousseau.

How often do you check your million dollar eyes?

If you had two million dollars invested in some machine, you'd have it checked regularly to make sure everything was always okay.

But folks take their million dollar vision for granted, failing to have it checked for the changes which may occur in eyesight in a few months.

Just as you perhaps see your dentist twice a year for dental check-ups, so should you see your eyesight specialist at least once a year for a vision examination.

You are, I suppose, chasing some harassed malefactor?"

Casson agreed readily and added: "I'd be grateful if you'd get one of your assistants to check any catalogues you've got of forthcoming sales and see if there is anything — busts or figures — likely to be of an early date; and then let me know. Do you keep any record of who bought things at sales which your men attended?"

"Sometimes. If it's an article that interests us."

"Could you let me know the name of anyone who has bought such stuff—not merely busts — during the past two years? The purchase must be fairly small; small enough to go into a typical parlour."

"It will take a day or two," said Nigel. "We're jammed up with our scheme for this year's Antique Dealers' Fair. But I'll send you the catalogues and get a man to check on the back sales as fast as possible. I'll ring you later this week."

Casson lunched alone and went back to his office. Intrigued though he was with the quest for Bagot, he deliberately prevented himself thinking of it since he felt that Strutt was about to dis-appoint him. When he arrived at six that evening the Superintendent would probably hand him a full record of the real Bagot, would know precisely who he was and exactly where to find him.

Strutt comes up with a surprise in the battle of Casson vs. Bagot in Chapter 5, tomorrow.

The U. S. Navy once occupied the Bahama Islands. The "occupation" lasted for only one day, and the U. S. flag wasn't even raised. That was in March, 1776.

Who says dream cars never come true?

Dynamite from Detroit

Coming! America's first production dream car—it will influence the shape of cars for years to come.

The old Detroit rule was to introduce new features gradually, to make little changes each year. Sometimes a new grille, an engine improvement, or new colors and trim.

We broke that rule. In fact, we broke all the rules. This is dynamite!

For you are not the only one who has dreamed of a totally modern car, a car that has everything you find at automobile shows, in illustrations, and in custom-built experimental cars.

Detroit has had that dream, too. And that's why the 1957 Mercury is the car that has honestly excited the most car-jaded, the most sophisticated of Detroit's automotive experts.

When you see the new 1957 Mercury, you'll see America's first full-production dream car—a car that will influence the shape of cars for years to come.

You'll see a dream car you can own and drive—a car that has far more than startling years-ahead beauty.

THE BIG M for '57 boasts dream-car features never before found outside a designer's dream-book: a Keyboard Control that makes ordinary push-button driving old-fashioned; an exclusive Floating Ride with a revolutionary new cushioning action you have to feel to believe. There are Mercury "firsts" everywhere you look. A Power-Booster Engine Fan in the Montclair series that saves horsepower other cars waste. And many more Mercury exclusives.

You'll see THE BIG M—the new Mercury for 1957—soon. You'll see it. You'll drive it. The first dream car that can be yours. The dynamite is on its way from Detroit to your dealer's—now!

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK — The stock market rallied and turnover was heavy early this afternoon.

International oils erased early losses and made sharp gains as news came of the cease-fire in the Port Said area.

The market had been rising before that after a mixed opening. Brokers said new reports of booming prospects for the steel industry and high confidence in Wall Street that President Eisenhower would be returned to office tomorrow's election stimulated buying.

Leading issues advanced from fractions to around a point in most major divisions.

Oils with heavy holdings in the Middle East were losers in early trading because of the cloudy military picture. Domestic oils were improving on prospects of heavier demand. But news of the Suez cease fire spurred Royal Dutch and Gulf Oil up 3 points or more in active trading. Later they eased, keeping more than 2 points of their gains.

Amerada, a big domestic producer, went ahead nearly four points.

U. S. Steel and Bethlehem charged ahead a point or more, even though both stocks were selling ex-dividend. Lukens Steel added well over 2 points. Republic Steel and Youngstown gained fractions.

General Motors and Chrysler were up a point or so. Ford rose a fraction.

RALEIGH — (NCDA) — Hog markets were mostly 25 higher today. Tops of 15.50 to 16.00 at Tarboro, Enfield and Rocky Mount; 15.25 to 15.75 at Bethel; 15.00 to 15.50 at Kinston, Smithfield, New Bern, Benson, Scotland Neck and Jackson; 15.75 at Hillsboro; 15.50 at Goldsboro; 15.25 at Wingo, Elizabethton, Tabor City, Mount Gilead, Micro, Shallotte, Siler City, Castle Hayne, Lumberton, Clinton, Fayetteville and Rich Square; 15.00 at Clarkton, Whiteville, Elizabethton, Blackmans Crossroads, Newton Grove, Dunn and Kenly.

RALEIGH — (NCDA) — North Carolina fryers and broilers unsettled, farm price 15, f.o.b. plant 16 1/4 to 16 1/2; Raleigh eggs steady, A large 44 to 46; Asheville eggs about steady, A large 43 to 45; Charlotte eggs steady, A large 45.

Cases Heard In City Police Court

By CHESTER WALSH

At last Friday's session of Police Court, Abner Stepps Jr. address unknown to police, was charged with assault, damaging personal property, assault on a female and with being drunk in a public place.

Judge Charles H. Whedbee found him guilty of assault and gave him 30 days in jail, suspended on condition that he pay court costs and pay $30 to such optician or doctor as Emma Griffith, prosecuting witness, may indicate. The charges of damaging personal property and assaulting a female were combined with the first case. For being drunk, the court fined Stepps $20, costs deducted.

Larceny by trick: Clarence E. Joyner, Negro, 1314 Pitt street, 30 days in jail, suspended on payment of court costs and repay money he obtained by trickery.

Failure to yield right of way: William F. Moore, Rt. 2, city was found not guilty. William F. Boyd, Rt. 6, city, 30 days, suspended on payment of $25, costs deducted. The judgment also provides that he is not to drive for a year unless and until he makes adequate restitution for property damage and personal injury caused by a collision.

James Mobley, Negro, 318 Center street, breaking and entering other than burglariously, 12 months on the roads.

Jesse Bradley Jr., Negro, 442 West Third street driving drunk, 90 days on the roads, suspended on payment of $10 and costs. The judgment also provides that he is not to drive for a year and the court recommended that his license be revoked for a year.

Drunk: Bryan Worthington, Winterville, 116, Abraham Newton, Negro, 822 Fleming street, 30 days or pay $30, costs deducted; Willie B. Dixon, Black Jack, 30 days or pay $15; Coy Rogerson, Rt. 5, city, $15; James L. Edwards, Negro, 1901-B Pitt street, $10; Jesse L. Sencil, Winterville, $10.

Week Of Highlights For GHS Students

By MARTHA JANE PIERCE
Greenville High School

Camilla Henderson was off to Raleigh this past week-end for a whirl of parties, new faces, and a great deal of fun. She was visiting Mary Glide Wade, a junior at Needham Broughton.

Halloween fun was the main idea of the party. Mary Alice Gibbs and Reggie Johnson gave last Friday night. The group enjoyed a scavenger hunt which took them on a wild goose chase looking for hard-to-find items.

Jan Vincent, Frankie Saleed, Clark Brewer, Norfleet Felton, Robin Wilfong, Billy Stocks, and Jack Bass were the boys who were present. Alice Walters, Anne Briley, Ellen Bennett, Carol Wilkerson, Susan Willis, Judy Balance, Ann Satherwaite, Brenda Harris, and Jenny James were the girls present for the occasion.

Eighty band members representing Greenville High School left early Saturday morning to participate in the half-time show at high school band day in Chapel Hill. They traveled on the new activity's bus and one chartered bus and were chaperoned by Bandmaster James E. Rogers and other adults.

Four thousand musicians from all over North Carolina filed on the football field every two or one half yards. They played five or six numbers conducted by Carolina Band Director Herb Fred. As part of the half time feature, majorities from all the schools represented formed a continuous twirling line on the field.

To help girls determine whether they want to make nursing their career is the purpose of the Future Nurses of America. Older girls are given opportunities to work as nurses aids at the hospital. Work on the library cart is given to the younger members.

Jane Bass, junior, serves as president. Other officers are Judy Jolly, vice president; Martha Moye, secretary; Barbara Gilliam, corresponding secretary; and Mildred Coleman, treasurer. Ann Moore heads the point committee. Anne Parkinson, Gwen Johnson, Martha Moye, and Vicki Averette assist her.

Directing the financial committee is Judy Jolly, chairman. Betty Whedbee, Linda Crawford, and Lois Brown are assistants. The standards committee is headed by Jane Bass with Kathryn Oakes, Rebecca Highsmith, and Lou Rogers helping her.

Colored News

The Bachelor Benedict Club of Greenville is continuing its campaign to raise $1,000 for purchasing uniforms and other equipment for Eppes High School athletics. William Myers is president of the club. Tom Foreman, chairman of the Athletic Fund Raising Committee, requests that white and colored friends who plan to make donations contact him by telephone or mail.

The Gospel Chorus of Selbia Chapel Free Will Baptist Church will meet at the church Tuesday night at 8 o'clock.

The Decorating Committee for the annual conference will meet at Mount Calvary Free Will Baptist Church Wednesday night at 7:30.

The Senior Choir of Mount Calvary Free Will Baptist Church will meet for rehearsal Wednesday night at 8:30.

Card of Thanks

The family of Joe Edwards, who died last week, appreciate the flowers sent by employees of the E. B. Ficklen Tobacco Company. "You're all so nice, so thoughtful, too, and that means every one of you; and so we send this just to say, thank you all."

The Family.

Edgar Barnes Post No. 222 will meet tonight at 8 o'clock at Norfleet Tea Room, on West Fifth street. Members are requested to attend and register for 1957 membership. Important business is to be considered. C. C. McGlone is post commander.

Funeral services for Bennie Barnes, who died Thursday night near Elm City at the home of his son, Joddie Barnes, will be held Thursday at 3 p.m. at Phillippi Christian Church. Rev. J. F. McLaurin of Elizabeth City will officiate. Surviving are two sons, Joddie Barnes of the home and James S. Barnes of Baltimore; three daughters, Miss Flossie Barnes of Greenville, Mrs. Lottie Johnson and Mrs. Lettie Gorham of Pine-top; one brother, Governor Barnes of Farmville; one sister, Mrs. Mattie Barnes of Bell Arthur. That there are 31 moons in the solar system—Jupiter has 12—and you can win money by betting your favorite teen-ager he can't name the two plants that have no moon—at all—They're Mercury and Pluto.

That Nero never fiddled while Rome burned—the victim hadn't even been invented then—but he may have been busy putting on makeup. He enjoyed wearing cosmetics.

That a million Americans now wear contact lenses.

That if you make mistakes, you aren't the only one. The nation used up two million pounds of erasers last year.

That smarties who say Irish progress stopped with the wheelbarrow probably don't realize the pneumatic tires they now ride on were invented in 1888 by John B. Dunlop of Belfast, Ireland.

That it was Bismarck, Germany's "Iron Chancellor," who once contemptuously observed, "Universal suffrage is the government of a house by its nursery."

That, if this is true, universal suffrage in the United States has proved that house run by a bunch of smart kids will outlast one ruled by a stupid king.

That the man who doesn't take the trouble to vote tomorrow will be the one who'll cry the loudest about the government for the next four years.

Dowd Announces Plans To Set Up GHS-PTA

Plans are close to completion for the development of a parent-teacher organization, at Greenville High School. Principal O. E. Dowd announced last week. He has issued an invitation for all parents and other interested citizens to attend the first meeting of the group November 14 at 8 in the High School auditorium.

Leading the movement to get the group under way, in addition to Principal Dowd and teachers at the high school, have been a number of parents who have joined together in an informal steering committee under the leadership of Mrs. William Taft, Mrs. Wendell Smiley, and Mrs. Michael Luskin. Mrs. Taft has been elected temporary chairman and will preside at the initial meeting, at which permanent officers will be elected.

According to members of the steering committee, the drive to organize a parent-teacher group in the local high school grew out of a widely-held feeling that closer cooperation between parents and teachers in solving numerous problems which affect the well-being of students in the school is needed.

Thus the following statement of aims has been formulated by the steering committee and endorsed by Mr. Dowd: "To develop between teachers and parents a unified effort to secure for every student the highest advantages in physical, mental, social, and spiritual education."

Mr. Dowd has pointed out that one important feature of the initial meeting will be an opportunity for each parent to meet with his homeroom teacher of his or her child, as, after the general meeting, the program calls for smaller meetings according to grade levels. Other details of the program will be announced later.

The group has chosen to call itself a parent-teacher organization because present plans call for independent operation rather than affiliation with the National Parent-Teacher's Association.

Others who have worked with the steering committee are Mrs. Jack Edwards, Mrs. Richard Heller, Mrs. M. P. Hoel, Mrs. Tyson Biltro and Mrs. Reynolds and Mrs. Smith, teachers at the High School.

New Location For Local Firm

The Greenville Parts and Metal Company, Incorporated, an old company with a new name, has changed its location to the Bethel highway.

The primary reason for leaving the old place on North Greene Street, said general manager Nick Simonowich, "is to give our customers better service." An Atlantic Coast Line railroad spur track comes back into the company grounds, which makes loading and unloading faster and more efficient. Under this present system, two gondola cars may be loaded and one unloaded at the same time. Also, the Parts and Metal Company, an affiliate of the Frank H. Nott Incorporated firm of Richmond, is now buying tin.

NICK SIMONOWICH

In addition to tin, the local firm buys metals, such as copper, brass and aluminum, rags, batteries and all kinds of iron. They have connections with the leading foundries, smelters and refineries of America and are exporters of steel. For local use, they sell used auto parts and clothes line posts.

Four years ago the Nott firm purchased this business, then known as J. Sam Fleming. They continued to operate as Fleming, Incorporated, until just a short time ago when the name was changed and the move was made.

Simonowich, who has been trained by one of the leading smelters of America, has the basic knowledge of a metallurgist. The general manager is a member of the Moose, Jaycees and a member of the naval reserve.

C. R. Fleming is bookkeeper and Willie Wallace is manager of the parts department.

Honor Clubs Conduct Tapping Ceremonies

By BETTY SUE DAIL
Farmville High School Reporter

The Keyette and Key Clubs held their annual tapping ceremonies. Each club has these qualifications for membership: scholastic standing, participation in extra-curricular activities, outstanding achievements, and proper attitude toward school.

Girls tapped for the Keyette Club were: Sun Dilda, Betty Sue Baker, Beth Baker, Linda Mewborn, Eleanor Newton, Eleanor Newton, Wanda Bell, Sandra Wooten, Mavis Hardee, Elizabeth Smith, Zarelda Walston, Jean Owens, Geraldine Little and Gail Bailey.

Boys tapped for the Key Club were: Cecil Modlin, David Braxton, Joe Flake, Will Jones, Durwood Little, Garry Bergeron, Richard Dunn, George Thomas, Johnny Thorne, and Gene Gray.

Homecoming at Farmville High School was a gala event. A ballgame between Farmville Red Devils and Vanceboro Red Raiders started the events. A dance following, sponsored by the Future Business Leaders of America, held in the school gym.

Christine Allen, homecoming queen for 1955, crowned Eleanor Newton, representative of the junior class, "Homecoming Queen." Bonnie Kay Allen, a freshman, was crowned by George Cannon, homecoming king for 1955, as "Homecoming King."

Other candidates were: Zarelda Walston and Robert Killebrew, representatives of the senior class; Johnny Dixon, junior class selection; Pat Ansley and Ronnie Lee Corbett, sophomores representatives; and Kay Allen, freshman selection.
