Israel Agrees To Withdraw Army; UN Spurs Work

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Israel's agreement to pull its troops out of Egypt spurred efforts today to rush a U. N. force to the area to police the shaky Middle East cease-fire.

Hamarskjold said he regarded Egyptian agreement to the establishment of the U. N. command as acceptance of the force. But as nations volunteered contributions, he asked Egypt if each nationality was acceptable.

Secretary General Dag Hamarskjold hinted that the first units of the U. N. force would reach Egypt "very shortly."

Informal sources said plans call for getting two teams of about 40 men each on the scene as soon as possible, and to follow up with a final force expected to number from 2,500 to 5,000 men or more.

One Seat To Win For Demo Control

WASHINGTON (AP)—Democrats were within one seat today of carrying their present House voting strength into the new Congress, with prospects of adding most of the five races still undecided.

In the Senate, they enter the 85th Congress with the same 49-47 margin over Republicans they held in the present Congress.

Democrats led in four of the five House contests still hanging from Tuesday's election. Their final margin may have to await official canvasses later this month.

But even without these, the Democrats were assured of at least 231 seats — 13 more than they need for control.

Democratic candidates led in the Missouri 11th — Rep. Morgan Moulder (D); George H. Miller (R).

Nebraska 3rd — Rep. Robert D. Harrison (R); Lawrence Brock (D).

Washington 4th — Rep. Hal Holmes (R); Frank Leroux (D).

The Democrats came out on top in two other close contests decided late yesterday.

Kentucky 7th — Rep. Carl D. Perkins (D); Scott Craft (R).

Missouri 11th — Rep. Morgan Moulder (D); George H. Miller (R).

Nebraska 3rd — Rep. Robert D. Harrison (R); Lawrence Brock (D).

Washington 4th — Rep. Hal Holmes (R); Frank Leroux (D).

Pitt Election Returns Certified

CERTIFY RESULTS—Although unofficial results of Tuesday's election were known Tuesday night, the official results were certified by the County Board of Elections yesterday.

Surplus

ELIZABETH CITY (AP) — What to do with some 15 or more new justices of the peace—all but one of whom might be considered surplus—concerned Elizabeth City township today.

County elections officials announced the office would be filled by write-in vote. It surely was. More than 15 names were written in, and a check of the township books showed that the township can have as many as 39 peace justices.

Elections officials, to whom the law is the law, announced that all write-ins who qualified would be sworn in today.

They will relieve Drs. Allen Stoddard of Bethel and C. W. Larkin. The two delegates elected were Drs. G. G. Dixon of Ayden and A. M. Munford of Winterville.

Other business included a scientific program on low-back pain by Dr. John Wooten. Discussion was held on the causes of the ailment and its treatment.

One more meeting of the Society will take place before the new officers are installed, announced Dr. Hoot. "Ladies Night" will be held during the second week of next month. All doctors' wives are invited to attend the social function.

Marine To Head Truce Observers

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—U. N. Secretary General Dag Hamarskjold has appointed Col. Byron V. Leary of the U. S. Marine Corps to head U. N. truce observers in Palestine.

He named him acting chief of staff of the U. N. Truce Supervision Organization to serve in place of Canadian Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns.

Hamarskjold, meanwhile, telegraphed Burns to confirm his appointment as chief of staff of the U. N. Command for the emergency international force due in Egypt.

proved a report of the committee on standards made by Dr. W. C. Pressly of Peace Junior College. The report recommended that Belmont Abbey College and Pfeiffer College be accredited as four-year colleges next year.

The conference of church-related colleges elected Dr. C. J. Eitzenpohl, Davidson College, president. Miss Hazel Mottrision, registrar at Flora Macdonald College was named to head the registrars and admission officers.

Name Committee To Assist Appeal For Airport Land

By ALVIN TAYLOR Mayor W. L. Wneebec last night appointed a committee to work with National Guardsmen on their request for land at the airport to be used for a drill field and motor pool.

The committee was named after National Guard Lt. Col. Guy Langston appeared before the city fathers to request that five acres of land be leased to the National Guard.

Langston said the State is planning to decentralize its motor equipment and Greenville has a good chance of getting the area motor pool if land is available.

It would mean the addition of two full time men locally and would raise the payroll of the county guard units from approximately $80,000 per year to around $90,000 per year.

Mayor Wneebec appointed Councilmen J. A. Collins, S. E. West and Wesley Harvey to the city's committee.

The committee will work with the National Guard representatives and report back next month.

Off-Street Parking Councilmen deferred action on an off-street parking ordinance which came up for a public hearing last night.

The ordinance should apply in certain portions of the present business area.

The councilmen agreed to discuss the matter before the next regular meeting of the council and to call for a new public hearing on the matter.

The city fathers zoned a portion of Bancroft Ave. recently taken into the city as residential.

A public hearing was set for Dec. 13 on a proposal to establish set back lines on Boyd Ave. and Tyson St. from Fifth St. to Dickinson Ave.

It is proposed that the set backs be 50 feet from the center line, thus establishing a 100 foot right of way.

Councilmen granted a tax franchise to Burnett Hembrey Crawford. They restricted parking on the west side of Holly St. between Fourth and Fifth.

Accuse Rhee Of Planning Attack

TOKYO (AP)—Communist North Korea today accused South Korean President Syngman Rhee of planning an invasion northward.

It called a session of the Korean Armistice Commission and was expected also to charge territorial violation.

The commission session, set for Saturday, took on added significance because of South Korea's cancellation of military leaves and mounting Red charges that South Korea wants to drive north across the armistice line.

The joint Allied-Red truce parley was expected to dwell on charges and countercharges arising from Wednesday's first aerial clash since the Korean War.

South Korea claims two Russian built MIGs attacked two of its fighters off the west coast, south of the armistice line. One South Korean plane was listed as missing.

North Korea's Pyongyang radio admitted the Communists shot down one "United Nations command" plane. It said its MIGs fired in self-defense after they were attacked over North Korean soil.

Pyongyang radio accused Rhee of stating that after the U. S. presidential election a military action would be launched against North Korea. The vice speaker of the South Korean Assembly had told Seoul newsmen that Rhee said "we could not sit tight" after the American voting.

He said the President demanded an anti-Communist defense line along the Yalu River, the North Korean-Chinese border.

Singing McGuire Sisters Robbed NEW YORK (AP)—Two of the singing McGuire sisters have reported their Manhattan apartment was looted of $40,000 in valuables—including furs, jewelry, clothing, a TV set and refrigerator.

The thieves even took rugs and drapes worth $1,250 and $1,000 worth of silverware, police were told by Dorothy and Phyllis McGuire. The third sister, Chris, is married and lives elsewhere.

The burglary took place Wednesday night while the sisters were watching the Arthur Godfrey TV show.

MONDAY HOLIDAY Monday will be observed as Veterans Day as a legal holiday at the City Hall, by banks, state offices and the postoffice. County offices will not observe the day as a holiday.

Bitter Struggle For Budapest Resumes; Russia Stands Firm

By WILLIAM L. RYAN VIENNA (AP)—Bitter new street fighting broke out in Budapest today and the Russian-supported Hungarian government ordered new measures to combat the doggedly resisting rebels.

Russia served notice she would brook no interference from the outside world in her fight to crush Hungary's bid for freedom.

Reports from refugees crossing the Austrian frontier said a general strike still is in force and the nation's railway system is paralyzed.

Lack of coal, shortage of electric power, lack of clothing and a severe food shortage are heading the country toward more chaos.

Neither Soviet troops nor the government they installed seemed able to keep the situation from worsening.

Reports reaching Vienna said freedom fighters appeared to be maintaining a firm position in the ruined old castle at Buda, overlooking the capital, and several other strong points throughout the city.

Two more of the city's best hotels—the Royal and the Continental—went up in flames. Heavy rebel fire prevented the brigades from getting near the blazing buildings, Budapest radio said.

The pro-Red government broadcast warnings that new battle groups—labeled R-groups—are being formed to combat "brigands and plunderers" in the old Danube region.

The rebels raided a state-owned store and carried off 5,000 radio sets, apparently to supply the capital with means to get news from the outside.

A Hungarian student said he saw several truckloads of Hungarian soldiers carrying the red, white and green "free" Hungarian flag and speeding toward Budapest.

Individual Soviet tanks were being attacked by civilians even in small villages, the student said. He added that he saw several abandoned armored cars.

Other reports reaching Vienna from Budapest said that all rebels who surrendered arms were executed instantly by the Russians in the city Rakosi Square.

A decree ordered officers and soldiers of the regular Hungarian army to remain inside their barracks.

The official radio admitted insurgents under cover of darkness had plundered Budapest's western railway station and ransacked trains. Earlier the radio had claimed Soviet troops occupied all Budapest's railway depots. Red broadcasts spoke of "armed persons" and "armed gangs."

Russia's warning against intervention from beyond the Iron Curtain came in a reply from Premier Bulganin to President Eisenhower's note asking that Russian soldiers be pulled out of Hungary.

Bulganin, quoted by Moscow radio, said the question of a Soviet withdrawal "comes completely and entirely under the competence of the Hungarian and Soviet governments."

Bulganin's note seemed to spell continued failure for U. N. efforts to secure the Russian troops withdrawal and the entry into Hungary of a team of U. N. observers, both demanded in a General Assembly resolution last weekend.

'We Want Action'

NEW YORK (AP)—Chanting "We want action," some 12,000 Hungarian sympathizers gathered in Madison Square Garden last night to protest Soviet military intervention in Hungary.

The crowd roared with approval when told of President Eisenhower's decision to admit immediately 5,000 Hungarian refugees to the United States.

Speakers at the rally included New York Gov. Averell Harriman, Sen. Clifford Case (R-N.J.), magazine publisher Henry R. Luce and Miss Anna Kethly, minister of state in the Soviet-ousted Hungarian government of Premier Imre Nagy.

Miss Kethly was cheered wildly during her speech, translated by an interpreter, until she said the Hungarian revolution was "not intended to be the beginning of a new war but the beginning of the often-mentioned coexistence."

The word "coexistence" touched off a chorus of booing, but observers believed the disapproval stemmed from a misinterpretation of the word as used by the English translator.

Case, urging the U. S. government to battle any attempt to halt the flow of relief supplies to Hungary, added: "It is inconceivable that we should acquiesce in Russia's callous blockade of such assistance."

Harriman, former U. S. ambassador to Russia, attacked the Soviet's armed intervention which exposed, he said, "the criminality that lurks behind the new smile on the face of the Kremlin."

Messages were read from President Eisenhower and former President Herbert Hoover.

The rally was part of the committee's emergency appeal for one million dollars to aid the Hungarian people.

The rally, sponsored by the International Rescue Committee, was supported by some 50 patriotic, religious and refugee groups.

After the demonstration some 500 youths, mostly college students, gathered outside the Soviet United Nations delegation headquarters on Park Avenue.

Some of the youths carried signs reading: "Stop lying . . . We want action, not words . . . Murderers go home."

So Far As Is Known, Soviet Air Force Not Yet 'Poised'

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Pentagon, alert to the recent shifting of Soviet forces behind the Iron Curtain, so far has discovered no sign of any movement of the Red's long-range air force into position where it could attack North America.

Such an ominous move would overshadow general nuclear war. And in these trigger-tense days, the United States is being ultra-cautious about making any shifts of its own Strategic Air Command units that might be misunderstood by the Kremlin.

In discussing the Russian long-range force, which now consists of medium and heavy bombers by the hundreds, one informed Pentagon officer said today that "so far as we know they are not poised."

He hastened to add that the United States didn't know a Japanese carrier force was en route in 1941 until bombs hit Pearl Harbor. But he made it plain that the devices of intelligence now are somewhat more reliable.

The Russian leaders, of course, might try to invade Western Europe—if they were so inclined—without using atomic weapons, thus inducing the Western powers to abstain also from nuclear explosives.

If American strategy makers could learn the real reason for the Russian troop movements, they own planning would be easier. They are giving full attention to the possibility that Russian concern about new uprisings among the satellites, not any thought of war against the west, is back of the shifting of powerful army forces.

One Pentagon officer, talking about the prospect of outbreaks in Communist-controlled East Germany, Poland or Czechoslovakia, commented that the Russians have reason to know better than anyone else the fighting capabilities of those people.

This, then, could be the chief reason for Soviet deployment of up to 10 divisions in the area of the Polish border and a score or more divisions in East Germany, he reasoned.

A Joint Chiefs of Staff spokesman disclosed on Wednesday that because of uncertainty about the basis for Soviet troop movements, the Russian talk about intervention in the Middle East fighting and other manifestations of tension, U. S. commanders have been instructed to take certain precautionary steps.

One of them was to call off a routine training maneuver by naval forces and instead assemble the big carriers, cruisers, destroyers and other warships at sea off the Virginia coast.

Andrews Pays, Settling Accounts With County

Former Pitt Tax Collector Henry L. Andrews made financial settlement with Pitt County yesterday afternoon for alleged shortages in his office, turning over to the county two checks totaling $9,144.05.

Andrews gave the county a cashier's check for $8,850, the amount specified by the Board of Commissioners for settlement of alleged shortages in Andrews' office. He also gave the county a personal check for $294.05 for net differences in settling current accounts of the office.

Papers to non-suit the civil action instituted by the county against Andrews were being drawn today and it is understood that they are to be signed tomorrow by Judge William J. Bundy. The non-suit papers will in effect cancel the civil action the county filed against Andrews October 30 alleging that he "willfully and fraudulently withheld" from the county "substantial sums" of money received by him as tax collector.

The financial settlement yesterday was in accordance with an agreement signed Tuesday night by Andrews and W. Jasper Smith, chairman of the Board of Commissioners. After a three-hour special meeting of the County Commissioners. The agreement specified that Andrews would withdraw in three days pay to the county $8,850 "in full payment and settlement of all amounts due to Pitt County" resulting from shortages occurring in the tax collector's office of Pitt County.

The settlement agreement likewise specified that Andrews was to pay to the county an unspecified amount representing "current balances" due from the tax levies, schedule B taxes, drainage collections and all accounts shall be brought currently to date. Special Auditor D. R. Hollowell said Andrews' check for $294.05 represented the amount due on these current accounts.

Andrews served as tax collector and assistant tax collector of Pitt County for 25 years prior to his suspension late in the afternoon of October 30 when the civil action was brought by the county. After the settlement agreement was signed Tuesday night the Board of Commissioners accepted Andrews' resignation from his post of assistant tax supervisor and assistant tax collector for the county. He had submitted his resignation on October 30.

Dr. Purks Attempts Deflating N. C. College Enrollment Claims

WINSTON-SALEM (AP)—Dr. J. Harris Purks, director of the State Board of Higher Education, attempted to deflate what he called some colleges' padded enrollment figures here yesterday and declared the board does not think North Carolina needs more colleges now.

Dr. Purks, speaking at a symposium as the North Carolina College Conference opened its annual meeting, said the board believes a restudy of college functions and programs is needed. This should emphasize a coordinated system of higher education, he added.

He declared that college enrollment figures are padded when they include "all the housewives who take flower arrangement courses."

Meeting in conjunction with the conference were the North Carolina Conference of Church-Related Colleges, and the North Carolina Assn. of Collegiate Registrars and Admissions Officers, both of which closed yesterday.

Symposium members disagreeing with Dr. Purks on enrollment figures included Dr. W. H. Plemons, president of Appalachian State Teachers College. He estimated that the college's enrollment will double by 1970 and 60 per cent more teachers will be needed. And Roy W. Armstrong, director of admissions at the University of North Carolina, estimated a jump of some 40 per cent in the number of North Carolinians of college age by 1970.

The conference delegates approved a report of the committee on standards made by Dr. W. C. Pressly of Peace Junior College. The report recommended that Belmont Abbey College and Pfeiffer College be accredited as four-year colleges next year. Montreat College and Mount Olive Junior College were rejected for accreditation as four and two-year colleges, respectively.

The committee on standards was authorized to investigate revision of standards and to make its report to the conference executive committee.

The conference of church-related colleges elected Dr. C. J. Eitzenpohl, Davidson College, president. Miss Hazel Mottrision, registrar at Flora Macdonald College was named to head the registrars and admission officers.

The hostess welcomed each member and the following guests: Mrs. J. A. Jones of Kinston, Mrs. E. K. Fisher and Mrs. W. Chester Harris.

The president, Mrs. E. W. Harvey, presided over the business session during which time plans were made for sending homemade cookies to the hospital at Camp Lejeune in December. Mrs. P. E. Wells will serve as chairman of committee in charge of arrangements.

It was announced that this chapter won the city honor award for achievements at the state convention at Hickory, October 12.

Mrs. J. L. Fleming presented the speaker for the afternoon, Mrs. J. A. Jones, 1st vice president of the State U. D. C.

After explaining the duties of her office Mrs. Jones related the highlights of the U. D. C. State convention at Hickory. She said Mrs. Henry Stevens of North Carolina is slated to be the next national president. North Carolina has furnished more national presidents than any other state, she noted.

Mrs. Fleming then presented Mrs. Fisher who is an artist and also a poet. She gave some of her original poems, explaining how she came to write each poem.

The group was then invited to the dining room for refreshments. On the table was an unique centerpiece, a replica of General Lee on his horse, "Traveler".

The hostess assisted by her daughter, Mrs. J. L. Winstead, Mrs. E. W. Harvey, and Mrs. J. B. Spilman served a salad course, sandwiches, fingers, potato chips, and coffee.

30 Years Ago Today

November 9, 1926

The Greenville graded schools were chartered by the Legislature February 19, 1903 and school was opened October, 1903. The first board of trustees had fourteen members as follows: Charles Cobb, J. E. Nobles, W. L. Brown, E. B. Ficklen, J. L. Little, F. C. Harding, W. B. Wilson, J. R. Moore, Thomas J. Jarvis, M. A. Allen, R. J. Cobb, G. E. Harris, D. S. Spain, W. J. Bagwell. Thomas J. Jarvis was the first chairman of the board and G. E. Harris was the first secretary. W. B. Dove, who later became Secretary of State for South Carolina, was the first superintendent of schools. Ten thousand dollars in bonds were issued for the payment of the Evans Street school building; however, the building cost $12,112 so the money was borrowed to make up the difference.

NO DISHWASHING NEEDED... Storing leftovers on paper plates cuts down dishwashing time during holiday season.

Holiday Wifesaing Tips

AP NEWSFEATS
HOLIDAYS ARE FUN, but they're hard on Mom.

The dishes that pile up after Thanksgiving dinner, pre-Christmas parties and the snacks of young fry home for the holidays can keep Mom with her hands in the sink from morning to night, unless some smart advance planning is done.

As any homemaker knows, snacks and icebox leftovers can dirty up more dishes than a regular meal. And so many have found that a supply of paper plates and containers lightens the dishwashing load amazingly.

If leftovers are stored in paper containers or on paper plates, there's no dishwashing to do after the refrigerator is raided. Paper plates also come in handy for chopping vegetables, fruits and nuts for holiday meals, for catching the drip from stirring spoons, for dozens of kitchen chores which otherwise would result in a sink full of dirty dishes.

And it's a wise mother who trains her children to reach for a paper plate instead of a china one when they rush to the kitchen for after-school snacks.

Fifteen From City Attend Plymouth Meeting

Fifteen members of the Greenville Junior and Senior Woman's Clubs attended the district meeting of the North Carolina Federation of Women's Clubs in Plymouth yesterday.

The Greenville Senior Woman's Club was presented the attendance award on the basis of mileage.

Awards for the most attractive handbooks went to the Plymouth Junior Woman's Club and the Columbia Woman's Club.

Mrs. R. P. Rogers of Greenville, president of District 15, presided over the meeting held in the Plymouth Methodist Church.

Hostess clubs were the Plymouth Woman's Club, the Thursday Afternoon Literary Club and the Plymouth Junior Woman's Club.

Greetings were brought from each of the hostess clubs by their presidents.

Mrs. Aubrey Mauney, president of the North Carolina Federation of Women's Clubs, delivered an address on the clubs' themes for the year, "Knowledge Is Power" and "Let Us Be Large In Thought and Deed."

Also featured on the program was an address by Mrs. James M. Harper Jr., second vice president of the North Carolina Federation of Women's Clubs.

Her talk—in a humorous vein—was of an inspirational nature, challenging members to better effectiveness. She made specific suggestions for improving club work.

Miss Marjorie Yokley, third vice president of the North Carolina Federation of Women's Clubs, was also present to make a short talk on state projects.

Reports from the various club presidents of the district were heard describing their main projects for the year.

Mrs. Rogers reported on the number of meetings she has attended since assuming office.

Members were reminded of the national convention to be held in Asheville June 2. This marks the first occasion North Carolina has played host to this group.

Announcement was also made of the State Federation Convention to be held in High Point April 3-4.

Following the morning session, a two-course luncheon was served in the church educational building last night.

Mrs. Wilson Gives Program At Elmhurst Garden Club Meet

Mrs. Howard Wilson, program chairman, gave a talk on bulbs when the Elmhurst Garden Club met last night.

"There is no other group of flowering plants that give more satisfaction than the so-called spring flowering bulbs," she said.

Among these are the well-known daffodils, tulips, hyacinths, bulbous iris and crocus.

The speaker gave tips on planting bulbs, suggesting that October and early November are the best months. She pointed out they should be planted in soil that has been dug and thoroughly pulverized to a depth of at least 12 inches.

"Don't plant them too shallow," she urged. "If you do, they will come up too soon. Plant them at least one inch deeper than directions say," she suggested.

Mrs. Wilson also gave suggestions on fertilizers, controlling disease, digging and storing bulbs.

Mrs. James Gruke, president, presided over the meeting held at the home of Mrs. Robert S. Masten on Overlook Drive.

Mrs. Wilson reported that on December 4, Mrs. J. B. A. Daught-ridge would be here to give a program on Christmas arrangements.

Mrs. Richard Worsley, conservation chairman, gave a report on the wild flowers not to be picked.

Mrs. James Tucker, exhibits chairman, had several camellias shown by the club members and several African violets for the club to see and comment on.

Members voted to close the membership drive after tonight. The club will be limited to thirty members.

Special guest for the meeting was Mrs. Sam H. Mitchell. Mrs. Mitchell was instrumental in getting the new club organized.

Fall flowers were used in decorations for the meeting. After the program, club members enjoyed a social hour when the hostess served homemade cookies and cakes.

Twenty-one were present.

Even Pitt's Vote Is Not GOP-Proof

Results of Tuesday's general election should open the eyes of Democratic leaders on the state and local levels who have taken for granted that North Carolina will continue indefinitely to be a one-party state in the Democratic fold.

Out of more than a million votes cast, Stevenson carried North Carolina by less than a 25,000 vote majority, more than a third of which came from Pitt County. Not as surprising, but of equal significance is the fact that the Republican state ticket received about half the number of votes that the Democratic state ticket did.

The fact that North Carolinians have definitely changed their voting habit on the national ticket leads to the conclusion that with concentrated efforts on the part of the Republican party a great many Tar Heels could be enticed to change their voting habits on the state ticket. After that it might be possible to change the voting habits of many Tar Heels on local tickets as well.

In short, the day of a one-party system in North Carolina may fast be disappearing. We do not mean that we anticipate any Republican candidates capturing state offices in North Carolina in the next few years, but it is quite clear the day may not be far off when a Democratic nomination in North Carolina may not be tantamount to election as has been the case for an half century.

In addition to the state, we might look at the voting in Pitt County, one of the most formidable Democratic strongholds in North Carolina. On Pitt County's registration books there are the names of only 215 registered Republicans. In spite of that fact each Republican candidate for state office received more than 800 votes in Tuesday balloting.

Is that indicative of a change of the voting habit of people even in Pitt County, or is President Eisenhower's extreme popularity responsible for this much-higher-than-usual vote for the Republican state ticket in this county?

Whatever the reason, it appears now that the Republicans are making sufficient inroads into the Democratic hold on North Carolina to shake the complacency of the Democratic party in this state.

Extravagances And Their Consequence

(Lynn Nisbet, regular contributor of this column, is recuperating nicely from injuries received in an automobile accident. Now in Rex Hospital at Raleigh, his work is being carried on by C.A. Upchurch, Jr. and various guest columnists. Today's columnist Jack Riley, member, State Board of Water Commissioners.)

RALEIGH — Ever since the creation of the Board of Water Commissioners last year, Mr. Nisbet has shown a special interest in its work. As a member of the board, I have discussed it with him frequently and believe that he intended eventually to devote a column or more to it. Therefore, I feel it is appropriate to use his space to discuss water.

Two centuries ago, our forefathers settled a land blessed by rich soil and abundant water. They could never have envisioned our extravagance and its consequences today.

Our pioneer forefathers never dreamed our uses of water would grow as they have. Although the average person drinks only a half-gallon of water a day, it takes about 150 gallons per person per day for bathing, washing clothes, watering the lawn and meeting other daily needs. By 1970, the average is expected to climb to 200 gallons per day, and our population is expected to increase by 25 per cent!

Industrial uses are growing even faster. It is estimated that combined industrial and municipal uses now average 1,100 gallons per person per day!

Seven years ago, the largest city in America faced a water famine. New Yorkers had to cut down on bathing, rinsing dishes and washing cars. They were fined for leaky taps. Again last year, New York was short on water.

Many streams are contaminated by human sewage and industrial wastes. Many are laden with mud from the uplands, rich topsoil we need for raising food. Ground water levels are said to be falling everywhere. Many cities are drilling deeper and deeper wells every year. Numerous large cities are in trouble waterwise — Chicago, Los Angeles, Philadelphia, Miami, Baltimore, Atlantic City, Mobile.

Salt in Dallas' city water has prompted many Texans there to buy spring water delivered in cartons — at 50 cents a gallon! Water, like most necessities, grows costlier every day. We don't expect ever to pay Dallas prices, but the longer we wait, the more it will cost. Until the average city wakes up and realizes that in time, it is likely to wake up wanting.

One need now point to far-away places. North Carolina has similar troubles. The water-worried list would include Greensboro, High Point, Winston-Salem, Thomasville, Wilson, Burlington, Henderson, Wilkesboro and numerous others. In fact, recent water shortages were reported to the board by 36 of 140 towns.

Water, like most necessities, grows costlier every day. We don't expect ever to pay Dallas prices, but the longer we wait, the more it will cost. Until the average city wakes up and realizes that in time, it is likely to wake up wanting.

Nothing can be accomplished for the good of this area by division. And this is forcefully shown in the fight now going on between Rocky Mount and the Mid-East airport commission to obtain funds from the CAA.

The Mid-East was set up to bring air service to this area. Now Rocky Mount is working for an airport for that city so the fight that has been brewing under cover is out in the open. It was aired at the meeting of the Department of Conservation and Development which was held in Raleigh on Monday.

Only one project will be eligible for CAA funds. And as the two groups were warned, bickering between the two factions could destroy the projects. Amos F. Kearns, of High Point, a member of the board, urged the groups "not to make the same kind of mistake" that was made by Winston-Salem, Greensboro and High Point, some years ago. These cities refused to unite in a single effort and their over zealous civic pride has worked to the detriment of all three.

using ground water sources and 50 of 110 using surface water. During three recent summers, Raleigh faced acute shortages, and at times imposed restrictions on water use.

What is being done about it? The answer is, far too little and often too late.

At least 23 separate Federal agencies deal with some aspect of water. The state, county and local groups are equally numerous. Sometimes authorities overlap, sometimes jurisdiction falls short. One city purifies polluted river water, then dumps it back as sewage for the next city downstream to purify again. One industry processes its water supply only to fill it with new wastes which the next industry downstream must remove. If all cities and industries properly disposed of their wastes, our streams could be restored to the beautiful, fish-filled rivers our forefathers found. It is estimated our water actually would cost less than it does today.

Philip Wylie, a nationally known writer who has pleaded for water conservation for 30 years, says: "We put the Army in charge of flood control — and forbid it to deal with the source of floods. We 'reclaim' land at costs that would break America's biggest business concerns in a year. We turn over the management of a basic resource to amateurs." Results tend to support his charges.

North Carolina legislators have recognized our problem and made some start toward their solution. A State Stream Sanitation Committee has been working diligently for pollution abatement in North Carolina since 1951. The first Board of Water Commissioners was appointed last year by Governor Hodges, who said: "Our philosophy should be one of sharing an abundance — not a shortage — of water."

Communities that wait are finding it costlier and costlier to catch up with their water needs. Communities which followed long-range planning to meet their water needs are discovering that the investment is paying dividends.

With the current accent on industrial development, water needs are getting fresh attention. One of the first questions asked by a prospector for an industrial site concerns the quantity and quality of the available water supply.

With an average annual rainfall of almost 50 inches, North Carolina has an abundance of water. The problem is distribution throughout the year. With alternating floods and dry seasons, the picture becomes one of "feast and famine." The answer is obvious; to level off supply, the excess must be retained and saved against the seasons of minimum supply.

"Save up for a rainy day," went a very wise admonition. In the case of water, North Carolina needs to "save up for the day that is not rainy."

gain a tremendous advantage if she is able to obtain CAA funds and kill the area airport. It will give Rocky Mount the edge in industrial development in the East. And that is what Rocky Mount wants.

But there is unity in the Mid-East airport authority. And this unity is backed up by action and letters of authority from the governing bodies of Goldsboro, Wilson, Greenville and many of the smaller towns. Then the counties of Wayne, Pitt, Greene, and Wilson have given the necessary backing to the project.

Rocky Mount is insisting on going it alone. This attitude has kept air service out of this section. For every city could do what Rocky Mount is doing now. But they are not, for it is recognized that the time has come to stick together, if anything is to be accomplished.

Lessons To Be Learned In The Andrews Case

Swift settlement of the alleged shortages in accounts of former tax collector Henry L. Andrews is in our opinion in the best interest of all parties in the matter.

It is not the place of The Reflector to render judgement on the conflicting allegations of shortages and fraud by the county and the denial of Mr. Andrews that he committed any of the offenses charged him by the county.

There are, however, as in any bitter experience, lessons which should be learned by the county.

Once the matter was placed in the hands of the County Commissioners it was brought swiftly to a settlement considering the serious ramifications involved in all such situations. We cannot help feel, however, that the county officials who initiated the action should have first apprised the full board of County Commissioners of the action which was proposed. After all, it is ultimately the responsibility of the County Commissioners to resolve such matters no matter how serious or how complicated. By virtue of their position of responsibility, it seems to us the Commissioners should have had a hand in charting the course of action as well as resolving the difficulty.

The fact that discrepancies in the records which appeared in the special check had not been detected in the annual audits over a period of years suggests that flaws in the auditing system of the county should be corrected not only for the protection of the county but for the protection of its employees as well.

Now that the matter has been settled, we trust in the future the county will profit from the unpleasant experience.

Use Of Small Nations' Troops Is Wise Course

The small nation's police force being assembled by the United Nations to preserve a cease fire in the Middle East crisis holds promise of isolating—at least for the moment—the disturbance which threatens to engulf the world in another conflict.

It was a wise move to place the responsibility for police action upon the shoulders of the small nations rather than either the United States or Russia or any other of the principal powers. A move by either the United States or Russia in the Middle East now would in all probability increase rather than lessen the possibility of spreading the conflict.

Drawing a police force from a number of smaller nations will tend to stabilize the situation and bring international pressure of a broader scope upon Egypt, France, Britain and Israel. At the same time such a force could prove a major factor in preventing Russian intervention in the Middle East affair even in the face of its intention of affording Egypt with "volunteers" with which to wage battle.

While the Middle East situation still threatens world peace, the United Nations has started on the road which will make it a real instrument for dealing with aggression and armed conflict wherever it appears. Its success is dealing with the current Middle East crisis will determine its course for the future.

Downtown Fighting Is Back

By ELMER ROESSNER Despite the phenomenal growth of shopping centers and suburban branches, "downtown" is fighting back all over the country and is giving a good account of itself, too.

Here is a round-up of promotions by downtown merchants, compiled from reports to the National Retail Dry Goods Association:

Chicago — One hundred twenty-five retailers joined for a two-day State Street carnival. Buildings and light poles were festooned and balloons, gifts, meals, hotel rooms, theater tickets and other prizes awarded to shoppers.

Lansing, Mich. — A two-day "Good Old-Fashioned Bargain Days" event has been made an annual promotion, with barker in front of stores, grab bags, contests and a breakfast on the state capital lawn for sales personnel.

Youngstown, O. — Merchants offered bond prizes for the best four-line "downtown shopping jingle" to the tune of "Yankee Doodle."

Endicott, N.Y. — A month of "shopportunity days" has become an annual event. During the month, 20 cents of "bogus money" was given with each dollar purchase and this script could be applied to purchases made on two specified days.

San Jose, Calif. — During dollar days, 500 gilded table tennis balls, stuffed with $1 and $5 bills, were showered from a helicopter. In a similar promotion in Fresno, Calif., balls were stuffed with coupons worth from $1 to $65, redeemable in merchandise at participating stores.

Charlotte, N.C. — During three-day promotion, tickets were given to all shoppers, whether they bought or not; at a televised drawing, a two weeks trip for two in Europe and other prizes were awarded.

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — Twenty retailers offered a total of $2,000 in awards on "Downtown Prize Day"; 75,000 shoppers registered.

Asbury Park, N.J. — During "Courtesy Week," 14 shoppers graded salespersons on courtesy. High scorers got bonds as prizes. Miami, Ill., merchants staged a "Miss Contest."

Oklahoma City — Free movies for children were offered by merchants to boost "Downtown Family Day." Children accompanied by adults also rode buses for a nickel.

DEFY THE JINX Elmira, N.Y. — Retailers joined for a "Lucky Reflector the Thirteenth" promotion, with most prizes at 13 cents. $13, $5, $13.13, etc. There were also 99-cent radios and $1 television sets.

Quincy, Mass. — Salespersons were dressed in historic costumes and 40,000 wooden nickels put in circulation during a "Historic Quincy Festival Week." Old-fashioned window displays were arranged and some old-fashioned prices charged; there was also a beauty contest, band concerts, games and events at historic sites.

Santa Barbara, Calif. — Prizes were awarded students for best written comments on window displays.

Hundreds of other cities, downtown retailers have been putting on promotions to draw shoppers to their districts. Better parking, cut-rate parking, free inbound bus rides, morning coffee, treasure hunts and contests, contests and contests have been — and are being — held from one end of the country to the other. Imaginative and enthusiastic.

The Lord's Requirements

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Micah 4: 6.

The prophet Micah foretold that eventually the house of the Lord would be built on a mountain, and people from many nations would come to it to worship and learn God's will.

Micah also prophesied that the Lord would rebuke the strong nations so that there would be no more wars. Men would "beat their swords into plowshares, and their spears into pruning hooks."

Then the Lord said, every man would sit under his own vine and fig tree for none would make him afraid. All people would walk in the name of God, "For the Lord of hosts hath spoken it."

The Lord our God has told us what is good, Micah wrote. We are to be just; to love mercy, and "to walk humbly with our God."

The Lord's Requirements NOT BURNT OFFERINGS, BUT JUSTICE, MERCY AND HUMBLENESS

Scripture—Micah 4: 6.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL MICAH from whose book today's lesson is taken, was one of the lesser prophets. He lived at the time of that greatest of all prophets, Isaiah. He was a countryman coming from an obscure village in the lowlands of Judah, and his small book may have been written somewhere between 726 and 701 B.C. Nevertheless his words are quoted frequently and are familiar to all Bible lovers. The first three chapters of Micah are primarily given to denunciations of the sins of his time. Rich nobles, worldly priests and greedy aristocrats were the objects of his wrath. Judges were not just and accepted bribes; the rich oppressed the poor. It was a commercial and money loving age, and Micah, knowing this, tried to bring his people back to God. We today are not free from these sins. Too many make a fetish of money and are not always ethical in their means of gaining it. Bribes are taken in our day too, we read in our newspapers. For this reason Micah's words will have meaning for us, too. What does God require of us? We all know in our hearts what is good. Why don't we practice it? In the chapters assigned to our lesson, however, Micah saw hope in the future. "But, in the last days it shall come to pass, that the mountain of the house of the Lord shall be established in the top of the mountains, and it shall be exalted above the hills; and people shall flow unto it. "And many nations shall come, and say, Come, let us go to the mountain of the Lord, and to the house of the God of Jacob; and He will teach us of His ways, and we will walk in His paths; for the law shall go forth of Zion, and the word of the Lord from Jerusalem." The Lord shall rebuke the strong nations so that they "shall beat their swords into plowshares, and their spears into pruning hooks." Bill Will Limit Britain Imposing Death Sentence

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Eden's government published today its bill to limit the imposition of the death penalty in homicide cases.

The measure would restrict the hangman's noose to five classes of killings described as "capital murders" and for repeated murders.

The bill, to be introduced in the House of Commons, represents an attempt by the government to effect a compromise between those groups in Britain demanding abolition of capital punishment and those who want no change.

Capital murders are defined as those committed in the course of furtherance of theft, in resisting or avoiding arrest and in escaping from legal custody as well as the killing of police and prison officers and persons assisting them and killings by shooting or the use of explosives. When two or more persons are involved in a killing coming within these categories, the bill provides that capital punishment shall apply only to the person who did the actual killing.

Autonomy Issue Before Churches

WINSTON-SALEM (AP)—The burning issue of autonomy of Baptist churches is expected to be brought before the North Carolina State Baptist Convention opening here Tuesday.

No official place has been set aside for the issue on the program but Dr. James Bulman of East Spencer, publications secretary for the Committee for Baptist Church Autonomy, said yesterday he will ask for the floor to discuss the matter.

Bulman said the convention will be asked to consider three matters pertaining to autonomy.

One concerns the State Supreme Court decision in the North Rocky Mount Baptist Church case two years ago; another testimony given by Baptist leaders during the case; and the third funds used in the case.

A faction of the North Rocky Mount church voted to follow its minister in withdrawing from the Southern and State Baptist conventions. A wrangle within the membership developed over church property and a second faction took the case to court. The State Supreme Court ruled in favor of the second group.

Bulman's committee contends that the court action violated the basic principles of Baptist religion. "We want the convention to discuss the significance of the court decision and to declare whether it goes along with the decision taking autonomy away from the local church," he said.

"We want the convention to face the testimony given by certain prominent Baptist leaders" during the case, he added, and whether state convention funds were used in the case.

N. C. Fatalities Reversing Trend

RALEIGH (AP)—Contrary to a national trend, traffic fatalities in North Carolina this year are running 5 per cent below last year, reported today.

The reduction was attributed to the fact that there was a big decline during October. For the month, fatalities totaled 86, compared with 137 for the same month last year.

Past experience indicates November and December are particularly hazardous for highway deaths. Motor Vehicles Commission

WINSTON-SALEM (AP)—The burning issue of autonomy of Baptist churches is expected to be brought before the North Carolina State Baptist Convention opening here Tuesday.

No official place has been set aside for the issue on the program but Dr. James Bulman of East Spencer, publications secretary for the Committee for Baptist Church Autonomy, said yesterday he will ask for the floor to discuss the matter.

Bulman said the convention will be asked to consider three matters pertaining to autonomy.

One concerns the State Supreme Court decision in the North Rocky Mount Baptist Church case two years ago; another testimony given by Baptist leaders during the case; and the third funds used in the case.

Bill Will Limit Britain Imposing Death Sentence

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Eden's government published today its bill to limit the imposition of the death penalty in homicide cases.

The measure would restrict the hangman's noose to five classes of killings described as "capital murders" and for repeated murders.

The bill, to be introduced in the House of Commons, represents an attempt by the government to effect a compromise between those groups in Britain demanding abolition of capital punishment and those who want no change.

Capital murders are defined as those committed in the course of furtherance of theft, in resisting or avoiding arrest and in escaping from legal custody as well as the killing of police and prison officers and persons assisting them and killings by shooting or the use of explosives. When two or more persons are involved in a killing coming within these categories, the bill provides that capital punishment shall apply only to the person who did the actual killing.

Hobbling Around In School Classrooms

By MARTHA JANE PIERCE
Greenville High School
Hobble Hobble. No, it's not left-over Halloween, but what seems to be a new fad around Greenville High, Ann Moore and Nancy Hoot have become the center of attraction with their crutches. Ann Moore recently had her foot operated on and Nancy Hoot broke her leg in an accident with her horse. Francis Smith can also be seen hobbling around as a result of a broken toe.

Faye Hardee, Anne Parkinson, JoAnne Parks, Jean Waters, Naomi Gibbs, Joyce Sutton, and Ann Marshall Allen dropped in on Jones Monday night after the High School Hi-Lites program to help her celebrate her seventeenth birthday. The group enjoyed ice cream and cake.

Dot Davis, Martha Moyer, and Jean Moyer went to the game in Wilson Friday night and stayed for the weekend. Dot was staying with her aunt and uncle, the Rev. and Mrs. R. Murphy Williams. Martha and Jean visited Carol Meadows, sophomore. The girls went to the high school dance Friday night and Martha, Jean, and Carol left Saturday to see Duke play Georgia Tech.

A large crowd of Greenville students turned out for the Wilson-Greenville game. After the game some of the boys and girls stopped by Mary French Haves for dancing. They were Kelly Barnhill, Mack Roebuck, Bobby Edwards, Ralph Johnson, Edmund Ruffin, Billy Boyd Cox, Judy Jolly, Beverly Dunn, Frances Clark, Lois Tunnel, and Jane Perkins.

Milly Bowden, Florence Norman, and Ray Lane traveled over to Kingston Friday night to see Washington play Kingston.

The Greenville High School Parents Teachers Association will have their first meeting of this year next Wednesday night, November 14. All of the high school parents are urged to attend.

Autonomy Issue Before Churches

WINSTON-SALEM (AP)—The burning issue of autonomy of Baptist churches is expected to be brought before the North Carolina State Baptist Convention opening here Tuesday.

No official place has been set aside for the issue on the program but Dr. James Bulman of East Spencer, publications secretary for the Committee for Baptist Church Autonomy, said yesterday he will ask for the floor to discuss the matter.

Bulman said the convention will be asked to consider three matters pertaining to autonomy.

One concerns the State Supreme Court decision in the North Rocky Mount Baptist Church case two years ago; another testimony given by Baptist leaders during the case; and the third funds used in the case.

A faction of the North Rocky Mount church voted to follow its minister in withdrawing from the Southern and State Baptist conventions. A wrangle within the membership developed over church property and a second faction took the case to court. The State Supreme Court ruled in favor of the second group.

Bulman's committee contends that the court action violated the basic principles of Baptist religion. "We want the convention to discuss the significance of the court decision and to declare whether it goes along with the decision taking autonomy away from the local church," he said

THEY CAN BLOCK, TOO—Under the newly-installed double wing formation, used for the first time this season last week against Wilson, Greenville's G-Men have been able to move the ball better. Under that system the Green backs showed up well both as blockers and runners. Above, backs Billy Sermons (20) and Mack Roebuck (10) are shown polishing off two would-be Wilson tacklers last week, as Robert Howell cracks inside tackle for a first down. Tonight's Game Will Affect Green Ranking

When Greenville high school takes to the field tonight against an evenly-matched Roanoke Rapids ball club, it will mark the end of their 1956 grid season. Coach Guy Lewis, whose chargers have managed to win only two games, will have the Phantoms up for this final game for a very important reason: the loser of tonight's contest will fall into the Northeastern conference's sixth slot, with the winner taking a slight advantage in the number five position. In a pre-season poll of the loop's coaches, Greenville was ranked the last place outfit. In the first two games, it seemed certain that the locals would prove the ratings wrong, for they played fine ball against a tough AAA Goldsboro team and defeated Jacksonville a Northeastern club. Jacksonville, however, didn't measure up this season. They have not won a game in conference play and are now resting deep in the cellar. Both Greenville and Roanoke Rapids have a single win in conference play and will need tonight's victory to save face somewhat. As expected, Washington, undefeated in Northeastern circles, has walked away with almost a certain grip on the title. New Bern, ranked in the top three, has suffered a defeat and a tie. The tie came with Washington and is the Pam Pack's only blemish this year. Kinston, though inexperienced, has not done badly. Elizabeth City, a dark horse, has come through to upset Kinston and New Bern, but is not a threat in the championship race. The lineup for the Phants tonight will have Mack Roebuck, Billy Sermons, Charlie Smith, Johnny Arnold, and Robert Howell in the backfield; Wade Jordan, Edwin Wilkerson, Billy Cox, Roy Martin, Billy Brown, Kelly Barnhill and Angus Duff in the line. The contest will begin tonight at 8:00 at College Stadium.

Jap Pitcher Is Responsible For Dodger Victory

TOKYO (AP)—A Japanese pitcher refused to obey an order and opened the way for an 11th inning outburst that pushed across a run and gave the Brooklyn Dodgers a 5-4 victory over the Yomiuri Giants today. The Giants' manager ordered pitcher Takehiko Bessho to walk Jackie Robinson, Dodger third baseman, in the top of the 11th. The pitcher refused and Robinson smashed a double that drove in Junior Gilliam from second with the winning run. "He shouldn't do such a thing," Manager Nobuyasu Mizuhara said bitterly of his pitcher after the game. "I instructed him to walk Robinson intentionally but he insisted on going with Robinson." With two Dodgers out in the 11th, the walk would have put men on first and second and set up a forceout at any base. The victory gave the Dodgers a 11-4 record on their exhibition tour of Japan, with one tie game. Rookie Jim Gentile, who struck out three times yesterday, slammed a home run in the second inning to put the Dodgers ahead. It was his eighth home run of the tour.

Duke-Navy Tilt Rated Real Test

Two football teams which their coaches say have come of age will get a chance to show their maturity Saturday when Navy invades Durham for a prime inter-sectional battle with Duke. After the nation's No. 2 team, Georgia Tech, edged by Duke last week 7-0, Blue Devil Coach Bill Murray remarked that his team apparently had hit its stride. Navy Coach Eddie Ederlitz called the Middies' 33-7 rout of Notre Dame "the best game Navy has played in a long while." The game is shaping up as a slam-bang battle. Navy ranks No. 1 nationally in defense having given up only 101.8 yards per game. In total offense the Middies are No. 2 and in passing offense rate No. 6. But Murray says he plans no changes in his attack. A sophomore studded backfield has averaged 257.9 yards per game for the Blue Devils and last week rolled up 216 yards on the ground to only 173 for the Yellow Jackets. In the Atlantic Coast Conference, Duke ranks last in pass defense. Murray, eyeing Navy's No. 6 passing ranking, has worked the Blue Devils long and hard on that phase of the game. Ironically, Duke is No. 1 in pass interceptions in the ACC having picked off 15, or almost one in every five, tossed by opponents. Defense against the Navy air attack was stressed yesterday while the Middies held a short, light scrimmage. Wake Forest, the only other ACC team to face an outside foe Saturday, worked on defenses against VPI's split-T attack yesterday. The Deacons play the Gobblers in Blacksburg. Three conference games will keep the others busy. Maryland and Clemson, which play at College Park, each stressed pass defense in workouts yesterday. Maryland, fearful of more injuries, held a non-contact practice for the second straight day while Clemson also staged a dummy drill. It was light work for North Carolina's Tar Heels who invade Virginia. Coach Jim Tatum said the entire team would be at top strength for the game. Virginia, meanwhile, held a brief scrimmage stressing offense. Virginia Coach Ben Martin said his team should be at its top physical peak.

Colonials Seeking Revenge This Week

George Washington's Colonials will have twin incentives for victory tonight when they tangle with the Richmond Spiders at same old Griffith Stadium in a Southern Conference football game. First of all, the Colonials want to prove to themselves they're a better team than they showed in a 14-0 loss to West Virginia last week—a loss in which they gained a mere 23 yards aground. Then there's the motif of revenge. Richmond, a comparative

Belvoir Loses Opening Games

Belvoir opened its basketball season Wednesday night by playing host to a non-Pitt County Conference club, South Edgemore, in a boys-girls doubleheader. The visiting team won both the boys game (43-35) and the girls contest (30-24). In the opener, Parker paced the girls, but was not able to spark the home team to a victory. She was high scorer for the losers with 10 points. Dunn, of South Edgemore, was the night's top point-getter, with 13. It ended 30-24. In the boys ball game, South Edgemore took a one-point lead in the first period and held it throughout the contest, finally winning by eight points, 43-35. Belvoir's Harris collected 14 points but was second high scorer to South Edgemore's Parker, who netted 16. Score by periods: Girls Game South Edgemore 6 5 9 10-30 Belvoir 3 8 11 2-24 Boys Game South Edgemore 8 11 11 13-43 Belvoir 7 9 14 5-35 A Big Ten record set in 1902 still holds: It was a football score: Michigan 107, Iowa 0.

Michigan, Iowa To Tangle For Cameras Today

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—A band of Michigan Wolverines, still hopeful of a Rose Bowl trip despite a pair of Big Ten setbacks, tangle tomorrow in a grudge match. Ray Eliot's Fighting Illini have turned back the Wolverines five times in the last six years, and Michigan teams coached by Bennie Oosterbaan have won only three out of eight from Illinois. Last season, little-known Bob Mitchell came out of nowhere to lead Illinois to a 25-6 upset victory. That loss, coupled with a final game defeat by Ohio State, kept the Wolverines out of the Rose Bowl. "We always have a rough time against Illinois," said Oosterbaan. "I don't know whether they point for our game more than any other, but it seems like they always play their finest against us." The Michigan team has been hard hit by injuries. Sparkplug halfback Terry Barr may see action but a slow-healing ankle injury will keep him from playing at top speed. A couple of second-string line-men, Gerry Marciniak and Willie Smith, have been sidelined with injuries and Marciniak will sit this one out. Smith may see limited action. Defeats by Michigan State and Minnesota leave Michigan with but a slim chance of getting into the Pasadena classic. But the Wolverines showed they could come back under pressure in last Saturday's drama-packed 17-14 victory over Iowa. They scored 14 points in the final two periods while holding the Hawks without a score.

Seixas Arrives In Sydney Today

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—America's big tennis hope for the Davis Cup challenge round, Vic Seixas, flew into Sydney by Stratoclipper from the United States today. Seixas, 33, is making his sixth trip to Australia. He said he did not know "how the Davis Cup lineup is going to work out, as I have not seen Bill Talbert (U.S. team captain) in a month." "I also don't know who I will play in the doubles against Australia—that is, if we beat India in the interzone final at Perth," he said. "We are the underdogs this time and we will have to do a lot of experimenting to get out the best team." "But being underdog is not a bad position to be in."

Tomorrow Is Big Day For College Gridiron Honors

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press
The Rose, Orange, Cotton and Sugar bowls stage their semifinals tomorrow as college football enters the stretch run for post-season bids, conference titles and All America recognition. Virtually every section has a game which could be ranked the day's No. 1. But the choicest, perhaps, will be at Atlanta, Ga., where Georgia Tech, ranked second in this week's Associated Press poll, meets Tennessee, rated No. 3. It's a battle of unbeaten and the Southeastern Conference crown rides on this one — with both winner and loser likely to wind up in a New Year's Day bowl game (Sugar and Cotton), however. That's no taffy pull: sixth-ranked Minnesota and Iowa have in Minneapolis either. This one's for the Big Ten's berth in the Rose Bowl. It will be the national TV game of the day. At Palo Alto, Calif., Stanford and Oregon State meet in a game that could decide the other Rose Bowl entry as the Pacific Coast Conference host. The Orange Bowl tickets probably can be printed tomorrow night. Colorado plays Missouri at Columbia, Mo., to name the Big Seven's representative to the Miami classic, while Clemson can pad its already fat bid as the Atlantic Coast Conference entry by beating Maryland. And at Dallas, fifth-ranked Texas A&M and Southern Methodist play for what could be a giant step toward the Southwest Conference title and the league's host entry to the Cotton Bowl. The Aggies, however, have to shake NCAA probationary action to make it should they take the crown. All of which pushes most members of the top 10 into unaccustomed roles as lesser lights. Oklahoma, No. 1, casts the shadow of a 36-game winning streak over 19-10 Iowa State. Michigan State, No. 5, plays Purdue; Ohio State, No. 7, meets Indiana; Syracuse, No. 9, tries Holy Cross; and Miami (Fla.), No. 8, is idle. In games tonight, it's Richmond at George Washington in a Southern Conference scrap; and South Oregon at Hawaii. Georgia Tech, with a 12-game unbeaten streak that includes last year's 7-7 tie by Tennessee, definitely will have George Volkert running at right half against the Vols. After missing last week's 7-0 chiller against Duke because of a leg injury, Volkert impressed Coach Bobby Dodd so much in yesterday's drill he "may even start." Tailback Johnny Majors is Tennessee's big man, a 5-10 ball of fire who plays as though he invented the pass-run option. With Ohio State and Michigan State ineligible for the Rose Bowl, Minnesota could virtually mail its first trip to the Pasadena classic by defeating Iowa. The Gophers are unbeaten but once-tied (0-0 by Northwestern), while Iowa, still in on the bowl battle, has lost only to Michigan. It's Minnesota's Bobby Cox against Hawkeye Kenny Floen, a pair of quarterbacks.

Politics In Olympics Have 'Stunned' Some

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP)—Officials of the Olympic Games said today they are "stunned" and "bitterly disappointed" that politics are creeping in to spoil the great sports spectacle. Commenting on recurring withdrawals from the games, the latest being Switzerland, W. S. Kent-Hughes, chairman of the organizing committee, said: "Politics are a matter for the government. Sports should be something apart and should set an example for friendliness among nations. "These Olympics should set a shining light for warring nations and show that men can compete on the fields in friendly rivalry. You cannot win a man in the jaw." The executive officer of the games, Lt. Gen. Sir William Bridgeford, said he is sorry to see countries, especially small countries, "swayed from the great Olympic ideal by politics." "This is a bitter disappointment to us naturally, since we have made such exhaustive preparations and sought to hold the games in the true Olympic spirit," he added. The president of the U.S. Olympic Committee, Kenneth Wilson, said: "I would like to see all nations reconsider their action and come back into the games as an example to the rest of the world that men can live and play beside each other in peace," he declared. In addition to Switzerland, other countries to withdraw are Spain, the Netherlands, Iraq, Red China and Egypt.

Annual Buddy Poppy Sale Set Saturday

Tomorrow the annual Buddy Poppy Sale will be conducted in Greenville and Pitt County by the Veterans of Foreign Wars and Ladies Auxiliary. Mrs. H. L. Vincent, chairman stated that the sale is one of the organization's most important programs of the year. The proceeds of the sale enables the group to carry on its work to aid the needy and disabled veterans and their families in this community; to provide gifts, services and entertainment at the Veterans Hospitals; to support the V. F. W. National Home for widows and orphans of deceased or disabled veterans; and income for the disabled veterans for assembling poppies.

Among the services given locally by the Veterans of Foreign Wars and Ladies Auxiliary from proceeds of the Buddy Poppy Sale last year are food, fuel, clothing and medical attention to several needy veterans and their families. Aid has been given the surviving members of a veteran's family when he and his child was killed in an accident leaving the family without immediate income. Food and room was provided for two sick veterans stranded in Greenville. Christmas was made brighter for several children in a needy family. The utility bill was paid for a family without adequate income. Assistance was given a veteran to enable him to complete his college work.

In the organization's hospital program, a birthday party was sponsored at the Veterans Hospital in Fayetteville with each veteran being remembered with a gift. "It was heartwarming to see the smile on these veterans' faces when they were assured that they had not been forgotten," Mrs. Vincent commented. "Many of these men had been in the hospitals for a long time, and are still paying the price for the freedom we enjoy today. Many gave limbs, others their eyesight and others are helpless paraplegics. A picnic was given for the mentally disturbed veterans at the VA Hospital in Durham.

"Many of us forget but these men are living examples of the sacrifices made for our protection," Mrs. Vincent remarked.

In 1925 the Veterans of Foreign Wars recognized the need for a home for the orphans and widows of deceased and disabled veterans. The modest beginning was one farm house and 640 acres of land in Eaton Rapids, Michigan. A building program was begun and to this day has not stopped. Individual state departments within the V. F. W. assumed the obligations of building new homes. Today each of the homes at Eaton Rapids is named for the state that supplied the money to build it. The North Carolina Cottage was completed and dedicated in 1954. There are 13 N. C. Children currently in the V. F. W. National Home. The children live in family type houses with a housemother.

Part of the money collected in this Buddy Poppy sale goes toward the support of this National Home.

In many hospitals throughout our nation, there are veterans who assemble the bright little red flower of remembrance. Each veteran is paid for making the poppy. This gives him a little income to provide personal needs as well as receiving beneficial rehabilitation therapy.

Keeping An Eye On Oil Supplies

LONDON (AP) — Western Europe kept a wary watch on its oil stocks today in preparation for possible sharp cuts in Middle East supplies if the Suez Canal stays blocked to world shipping.

Some oil experts predicted Europe will have to start leaning heavily on reserves next week while awaiting the reopening of the canal and the arrival of tankers making the long and more costly voyage round the Cape of Good Hope from the Middle East fields.

In governmental actions, British motorists were urged to cut gasoline consumption by 2 gallons in 10. Prime Minister Eden's government told garages they would get 10 per cent less fuel from today.

Industry also was told fuel oil supplies would be reduced by 10 per cent.

In France, motorists were told that beginning Saturday midnight all private cars will be restricted to the counties in which they are registered. Fuel oil will be allocated to major users on the basis of 70 to 80 per cent of last year's consumption.

Denmark took the strongest action. Its government ordered oil companies to reduce deliveries to consumers by 2 per cent. Fuel oil cuts also were ordered.

Turkey Shoot To Be Held Tonight

BETHEL—The Lions Club Turkey Shoot, which was rained out last night, will be held tonight. The turkey shoot is to be held at the high school. It will begin at 7:30.

Record Level

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government reported today that earnings of factory production workers reached a record level in October as nationwide employment rose and unemployment declined.

Weekly factory earnings rose by 61 cents over the September record to a new mark of $82.01. Hourly pay, having averaged $2 in September, forged ahead to $2.02 in October.

Weekly working hours declined slightly to 40.6 in October after a slight rise in September. The Labor Department said the 1956 October work week was about half an hour shorter than in October last year.

The over-all employment and unemployment figures for October had been announced last week.

Cub Injured In Rescue Service

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Mrs. Roger Erickson, a cub scout den mother, asked cub Bob Jenkins, 9, to help her find her son after a meeting.

Bob spotted Roger Jr., 5, in the middle of the street. He ran out, snatched the boy and pushed him to safety, then was struck by an auto.

Bob, youngest of nine children of Mr. and Mrs. Myron Jenkins, was in good condition with a fractured arm.

Cost 50 Cents To Sell His Calf

BURLINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Stanley Clifford, dairy farm operator, thinks it would have been cheaper if he just hadn't sold that Jersey bull calf.

Clifford sent the calf to a nearby sales barn to be auctioned off and the calf was sold.

However, Clifford got a bill for hauling the calf to the barn and for the sales barn's commission. He wound up owing 50 cents.

Had To Count His Penny Fine

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Benny Bowen walked into municipal court carrying a 40-pound sack of pennies to pay a $58 traffic fine.

At the payment window was Judge Donald R. Wright, who had found Bowen, 21, guilty of speeding and drag racing.

"We're not going to count those pennies — you are," Judge Wright told Bowen.

Several hours later, Bowen paid up with the pennies neatly counted in envelopes.

As a rule, you need to add a quarter teaspoon of salt to a medium white sauce made with a cup of milk.

Balloonists Rest After High Ride

RAPID CITY, S. D. (AP) — With a record ascension of more than 14 miles to their credit, two Navy balloonists rested here today after a descent to earth a lot faster than they had anticipated.

Commanders Malcolm D. Ross, 37, and Morton L. Lewis, 43, both of Washington, D. C., riding a gondola attached to a 128-foot helium balloon, reached 76,000 feet yesterday over the broken land of South Dakota and Nebraska.

They reached that height 2 hours and 50 minutes after they started upward from a natural bowl in the Black Hills near Rapid City. From that same natural bowl another balloon had soared 72,395 feet in 1935 to set the previous record.

Up at 76,000 feet, the two men later said, "It was dark as night." They sipped some coffee and radioed their height back to earth. Then they started down.

The first 20,000 feet found things going as scheduled at 1,000 feet a minute drop.

But then something happened—Ross and Lewis said they didn't know what — and their fall rate shot up.

"We are calm, cool, collected. We think we will stay with the balloon as long as we can," they radioed.

Out went oxygen and radio gear to lighten the gondola. Still the balloon went down fast.

They were drifting southeast over Nebraska's northwest cattle range country. That is an area of sandhills, soft pasture land and what range people call natural blowouts.

It was into one of these natural blowouts — a sort of bowl with soft bottom and rough hill edges — that the gondola settled and Ross and Lewis, hardly shaken, stepped out.

They were near Brownlee, Neb., about 140 miles from their take-off point and had been in the air a little over four hours.

Shortly after Ross and Lewis landed, range pilot Don Higgins, operator of a flying service at Ainsworth, Neb., set his light plane down along-side the gondola and hopped out.

"Hi, did you bring some coffee?" Ross and Lewis cried out. "They were cheerful but serious and a little chilly before rangeher Loren Boyer's wife rushed over some coffee from her house about two miles away," Higgins related.

 "My Sister Eileen" will be the stellar event of the coming week's activities. It's being put on for two nights only, Monday and Tuesday, the 12th and 13th, at McGinnis Auditorium, and we can guarantee that it will be a good show. Lucia Hutchinson—"Miss Lucia" of TV fame—and Lois Garren, a regular member of the "Lost Colony" cast and a real pro actor, will play the female leads, Ruth and Eileen. Dr. Lou L'Abate is available for (4) healthy kittens, all in search of a home.

And the Dogs
 Not that next week is National Dog Week, but, just to be fair about it, we'll at least call your attention to a big book about dogs that's coming out on November 15. It's called "Treasury of the Dog," by Ralph L. Woods, and is a collection of stories, legends, poems, essays, quotations, episodes and incidents, all about dogs. Containing material by such authors as Robert Benchley, Ring Lardner, Matthew Arnold—a little misplaced, but a dog-lover—Dorothy Parker, Alexander Woolcott, and the French novelist, Colette, the book also supplies information on how to buy a dog, dog shows, sporting dogs, non-sporting dogs—we thought they were all pretty good sports, but still—working dogs, and even lap dogs. We still like cats better, doggone it.

Recent selections from two book clubs are reviewed below. "No Time For Sargents" is a Fireside Theatre choice, and "The Wreck of the Mary Deare" is the Literary Guild's offering for November. . . .

NO TIME FOR SARGENTS, a play adapted by Ira Levin from the book by Mac Hyman. New York: Random House, 1956. Five-side Theatre Edition.

 To the public "No Time For Sargents" is buffoonery at its best. But to himself, Will Stockdale, the hero, is completely serious. Will tells his hometown of Greenville, U.S.A., how he won his medal. He begins at the beginning where he and his father have an argument over the reasons why he has to go into the Army. He was a draft dodger because his father had burned up the notices.

There follows a series of events that are thoroughly enjoyed by those who have seen the play. Will and Whitledge, Benjamin B. become fast friends in the Air Force. Ben wants to be in the Infantry. Will intends to help him, but they almost wreck the air and the Force before they succeed. As rear gunners they attempt to help their pilots locate land marks. The confusion is priceless. After an explosion they bail out and are really lost on the ground.

To describe the end of the play might spoil it for the reader or the viewer. In the New York production, Andy Griffith makes a perfect Will Stockdale and Roddy McDowall as Ben Whitledge matches him in ludicrous comedy. If you have heard Griffith, you can read his long hilariously drawn into the play and enjoy it.

THE WRECK OF THE MARY DEARE

By Hammond Innes. New York: Alfred Knopf, 1956. A Literary Guild Book.
 In order to receive the maximum impact from "The Wreck of the Mary Deare," it is recommended that the reader ensconce himself before a crackling fire on a bitterly cold night. If it could be arranged, a few ice-encrusted limbs scraping together just outside would enhance the security within.

To this reader, who has developed a neutral attitude toward sea stories in general, this mystery with a background of pounding surf against rocks, lost ships and missing persons was an intense and thrilling experience. Poe, himself, could not have built up greater suspense. It is said that the author has not had great knowledge of the sea, but he has such skill as a story teller that this fact is not apparent.

"The Wreck of the Mary Deare" is certain to give you an evening of pleasurable excitement, with an ending quite as unexpected as the beginning.

Error Increased Building's Cost

DETROIT (AP)—An architect's error has added more than $15 million dollars to the cost of Detroit's new convention hall-exhibits building, Mayor Albert Cobo said.

He said an estimate by an architectural firm last April put the cost at $42,548,000. But a recent estimate hiked the figure to $49,441,000.

Cobo said a $2,245,000 blunder resulted from underestimating the amount of steel needed by at least 2,000 tons. A reevaluation of labor costs added another $3,775,000. A rise in steel prices due to the steel strike sent the cost still higher.

Construction is already under way on the mammoth building. It is to be part of the ambitious civic center development on the Detroit river front.

Buffalo Has 5th Auto Collision

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP)—Ole Joe, renegade buffalo, has survived his fifth automobile collision in five years and he's little the worse for wear.

The 1,800-pound bull pays no attention to automobile traffic. He inflicted $300 damage on a territorial police patrol car near Big Delta, 100 miles south of here.

One car hit Joe at high speed and was almost demolished. Old Joe was ailing for a time. He's one of a herd of buffalo ranging the Big Delta country.

Capra Believes Movies Should Devote Money To Big Pictures

By BOB THOMAS
 HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"It seems to me the answer to the movie business' problems is bigger pictures. The studios should take what it costs to make six or eight cheap pictures and put that into one big one. Give Audiences what they can't get on TV."

This was the view of Frank Capra, one of the all-time great creators of films. He has an unusual perspective because he has been absent from the industry for four years.

"All I hear from picture people is gloom," he observed. "It's so thick you can cut it with a knife. The last time I remember it like this was in 1941. That was when Hollywood had lost the foreign market and the studios were about ready to quit."

"Then the war came, of course, and the floodgates opened. Producers could send out six or eight reels of anything and make money."

Capra, who made "It Happened One Night," "Lost Horizon," "You Can't Take It With You" and other classics, is returning to his old stamping grounds, Columbia, for a remake of "Lady For a Day" was a good picture, and a couple of generations have come along since I made it in 1932." He hopes to get Shirley Booth to play the role created by the late May Robson.

What has he been doing for the last four years?
 "I've been up to my elbows in work," he explained.

His work has consisted of creating four one-hour TV shows on science for the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. The first one, about the sun, will be seen Nov. 19 on CBS. The others, which concern cosmic rays, weather and the blood system, will appear at three-month intervals.

"I had decided to take a year off and do nothing but travel and relax," Capra recalled. "I had been working hard for 20 years, in pictures and the Army. I thought I would drop out of the picture business for a while and let them decide what size screen they wanted."

"Then they came to me with this project. I guess they figured I was good for it because I was a Caltech graduate. I must say it intrigued me. I have always considered myself a half-baked teacher. It presented a challenge to try to make a science show that was also entertaining."

He was given a free hand on expense. Each will cost a whopping $300,000. Capra said it was a labor of love for him: "They put up the money and I put up the time."

Rising Defense Budgets Expected By Industry

SEA ISLAND, Ga. (AP)—Industry leaders have been advised to expect rising military budgets and no substantial cut in U.S. military forces until 1960 or longer.

Asst. Secretary of Defense Carter L. Burgess presented this outlook to the Commerce Department's Business Advisory Council meeting here with government officials.

Burgess appealed to the council, whose 165 members include the heads of many of the country's greatest corporations, for support in the Pentagon's effort to obtain and hold the hard core of technician-soldiers needed in modern warfare.

Burgess warned that defense costs probably will continue to mount for some time. The Defense Department assumes, he said, that the country's total production "will continue to grow, and defense will remain about 10 percent of the total." National production now is estimated at an annual rate of 414 billion dollars a year, and is rising.

He brushed aside reports that Washington's "new look" at the defense program might result in a sizable cut in the number of men in uniform.

The "military force strength may be subject to a very limited downward adjustment by the end of 1958," accompanied by a modest buildup of the armed forces, he said.

But the current review of the military establishment, in connection with preparation of the fiscal 1958 budget to be sent to Congress by President Eisenhower in January, will result in "no cut in the combat forces that I know of."

Burgess added.
 He indicated the Pentagon will not be interested in proposals for ending the draft — as proposed for study by defeated Democratic nominee Adlai Stevenson — until an alternative idea is presented for meeting military manpower needs.

One of the basic assumptions "which underlie future manpower directions until 1960 and beyond," Burgess said, is that selective service and the draft will remain an essential national insurance policy."

Heroes Convene In Florida City

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP)—The cool-headed corporal pulled safety pins from mortar shells and used them for hand grenades. He also used a lot of other ammo in killing 40 Germans while protecting his comrades.

That chap, who then was 23, was Charles E. (Commando) Kelly. His bravery in covering his unit's withdrawal near Altavilla, Italy, in World War II won him the medal of honor. It was the highest award his nation could give him.

Kelly today joins scores of other holders of this coveted award at the first meeting of the Medal of Honor Society. The society meets here for five days.

Week May See Ocean Survivor Out Of Hospital

SOUTHPORT, N.C. (AP)—Douglas Wilson Sessoms, the 20-year-old Laurinburg tree surgeon who was adrift in the Atlantic for 12 days in an open motorboat, should be able to leave a hospital here to return home within a week.

Sessoms was picked up Wednesday by the SS Hess Petrel 125 miles east of the Georgia-South Carolina border.

Sessoms was without food for nine of the 12 days. When brought to the hospital here yesterday, he was burned almost black by sun and wind, his feet were swollen and bleached from long immersion in salt water which shipped into the 14-foot boat and his body was covered with small sores caused by exposure to salt water.

After an examination, Dr. Norman Honstein said, "The boy is made of steel. He is in very fine condition considering what he has been through. If no complications set in he should be out of the hospital in about a week."

Sessoms said he and his companion, J. Eddie Boone, 34, also of Laurinburg, had three cans of pork and beans and two soft drinks when they went adrift after their motor stalled. The beans were eaten within three days.

Sessoms said Boone died on the third day and that he pushed his companion into the water two days later "after the odor got too strong."

Sessoms told an uncle, Willie Sessoms, that sharks had knocked loose planks on the boat and that the homemade craft was about to sink when rescue arrived.

SYNOPSIS
Casson Duker, a well-to-do amateur detective, is intrigued when Henry Lockyer, a stolid banker, tells him he had been blackmailed by an ordinary looking little man named Bagot who threatened to ruin his reputation. Bagot promises not to bother him again. One thing distinguishes the insignificant Bagot: He paused to admire a piece of Roman sculpture in Lockyer's house. Casson thinks this interest may trap him. Casson goes to his friend, George Strutt, a police superintendent, for help. Strutt becomes interested in the case. Later, Casson meets another friend, Nigel Willington, an antique dealer, and asks him to check his sales records of Roman sculpture for possible leads. Meanwhile, Strutt has dug up a similar case from the police files—the Greenhaugh case, in which the blackmailer called himself Martin. On a visit to Willington's, Casson sees a man answering Bagot's description buy two bronze statuettes. He follows him to his home in Bickersteth Street.

CHAPTER 8
Casson went back down Bickersteth Street. He could not bear to leave it. As he passed No. 50—the house on the corner of the intersection opposite to Bagot's—a middle-aged woman came out. Her dark hair, raven black, was gathered severely into a bun. Over her hair she wore a shapeless gray hat. She carried two shopping bags.
Casson asked her if she could let him a room for a week or two. He exerted all his charm and, as he did so, he noticed that she must have been handsome when she was young, with black hair above a pale ivory skin.
He explained that he was an author; that he was seeking a peaceful place in which to begin his book on Victorian London, a book in which would figure Bickersteth Street and its surroundings. At this glib recital in a voice which Casson knew by long experience how to modulate and manage to the fullness of its scale, her suspicion began to vanish. Grudgingly she admitted that her next-door neighbor, Mrs. Gunn of No. 48, had a room for rent as her boy had gone off to do his military service. Mrs. Gunn might be able to accommodate him. Then she passed on her way down the street.

PAR TIME 26 MIN. AP Newsfeatures 11-9 find some place to which Bagot was likely to have gone.

He found three public houses within easy walking distance. Bagot might have gone to any of these. Or he might have taken a stroll along the Mall. Casson hoped that it was a pub. That would make introduction easier.
When darkness had come down he took his suitcase and went to Mount Street. He left a note for his housekeeper, saying that he would be away for some days, and packed a camera tripod, a telephoto lens, a lens hood, and some developing material.
The next morning he was up, shaved and dressed, by eight o'clock, and Mrs. Gunn when she came in at nine, commented with pleased surprise on his early habits. Writing gentlemen, she thought, never left their beds before eleven. He replied that his only eccentricity was that he preferred not to have his room done before lunch-time, trusting that this would give him at least four hours solitude in which to take photographs. As soon as she had gone he set up the Leica on its tripod, fixed on the telephoto lens, and sighted it. It would as yet be too early to need a hood. That could wait until the sun was up.
Bagot came out of his house precisely at nine-thirty. Casson managed to get two photographs before he moved off down the street. Casson did not bother to follow him, wishing to plot Bagot's daily routine before showing himself.
At a quarter to eleven Bagot returned. From his shopping bag projected some groceries and a roll of newspapers.
He was not seen again for the rest of the day; not until early evening, when he left his house at six o'clock, punctual once more. This time, as on the previous evening, he walked towards the Mall.
Casson gave him a few minutes. Then went out himself. He felt that he must find the pub in which Bagot drank: if, indeed, he did go to a pub.

Bagot was not in the nearest, the Larkrise. Nor was he in the Duke of Northumberland farther down. Therefore it must be the Shieley Arms. A glance at his wrist-watch told Casson that he had only five minutes to go before Bagot was due to leave and return home—that is, if he followed a definite routine, and on that hope Casson was gambling for the future.

Russian People Told One Side
MOSCOW (AP)—The Russian man in the street is convinced the Soviet military action in Hungary was a heroic campaign to eradicate a threatened return of Hitlerite fascism.
The Communist party newspaper Pravda today devoted nearly three columns to the new general Assembly's cease-fire demand in the Suez Canal crisis. But it allocated only a single line of its six-page edition to mention of U.N. discussion of Soviet aggression in Hungary.
The paper published a report from Prague giving "eyewitness" accounts of "crimes committed by anti-revolutionary forces in Hungary."
Russian authorities have used the battle for the Suez Canal to depict the Soviet Union as a protective big brother of the downtrodden—especially in the Middle East and Asia.
The Kremlin's big problem now is to erase from the minds of people elsewhere in the world the memory of Soviet intervention in Hungary.
An ingenious stabilizing device on British channel steamers, sailing between England and France, overcomes wave motion and, usually, seasickness.

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK—An early stock market advance faded today and the price trend was irregularly lower in early afternoon.

Leading issues fell from fractions to around 2 points while gains among pivotal stocks ranged to about a point or so.

Trading became quiet after a higher and active opening. Air-crafts made good gains in heavy turnover at the start but then backed away slightly.

Some oils with big interests in the Middle East made initial gains, then lost ground.

For a while it looked like a resumption of the rallying tendency shown late yesterday when news from the Middle East became more encouraging. But traders were showing a typical reluctance to commit themselves before the weekend in view of the shaky international situation.

Gulf Oil was down around 2 points and Royal Dutch erased an initial gain of 1/4 and was trading about a point to the bad. Standard Oil (New Jersey) was off a major fraction but Texas Co. was steady.

U.S. Steel, which was up 3/4 on a big opening block, clung to a small fractional gain. Youngstown Sheet & Tube eased.

General Motors, although selling ex-dividend, was firm. Goodyear, also ex-dividend, was up around a point. Goodrich was another 1-point gainer.

Shading their early gains, Douglas and United Aircraft still kept advances close to a point. Boeing and Glenn I. Martin were firm.

Leading rails showed a spotty picture. Southern Railway and Chesapeake & Ohio showed slight gains. Santa Fe and New York Central inched downward.

Kennecott Copper dropped around a point. Anaconda a major fraction. Westinghouse Electric and General Electric backed down around 2.

General Precision Instrument was up about a point while Zenith

Senator-Elect Lausche Keeps Independent Air

COLUMBUS, Ohio—Big, 60-year-old Sen. - elect Frank J. Lausche will carry with him to Washington next January a solid reputation for independence.

Capitol Hill also will find he is aloof.

Lausche is the son of Slovenian immigrant parents, had a difficult and impoverished youth after his father's death, played professional baseball but abandoned that career for the study of law and fought his way to the top of the state's political heap at 48.

He has stood at the top of the heap — alone — since 1944. Critics within his own party have hit hard at his "long wall" tendencies on grounds he has ignored the party organization to the detriment of other candidates. A popular saying in Lausche's own tight little camp: "Everybody is against Lausche except the voters."

The critics became louder and bolder after Lausche admitted publicly that he voted in 1950 for "Mr. Republican" — the late Sen. Robert A. Taft — and after he began a couple of years ago to express open admiration for President Eisenhower.

Cases Heard In Superior Court

Pitt County Superior Court Judge George M. Fountain passed sentence on three young Negro boys, who were convicted of robbery, in yesterday's session of court.

Each received a six-months suspended sentence upon payment of the costs. They were placed on probation for a period of three years and instructed not to drink any intoxicating beverage for that period. They were identified as Irvin Williams Jr., Bonnie Wilkins and Levy James Manning.

Willie Wilson, 35, Greenville, Route 5, charged with driving drunk, received a 30-day suspended sentence upon payment of a $100 fine and costs. Another charge of interfering with an officer in the performance of duty was not pressed.

Eddie Hardison, Grimesland, Route 1, failure to yield the right-of-way, 30 days suspended upon payment of a $200 restitution fee and court costs.

Elbert W. Moyer, worthless check, 30 days suspended upon payment of a $50 restitution fee and court costs.

Clarence Tripp, 34, Greenville, Route 3, driving drunk and driving carelessly and recklessly. Judgment: three months suspended upon payment of a $100 fine and costs and remain of good behavior for two years, on the drunk driving charge. Driving carelessly and recklessly — non-suit.

The following two cases were not pressed: Samuel Short, Negro, 21, 804 Vanderbilt Lane, assault on female; and Hubert Jones, 42, Ayden, driving drunk.

Commend City's Fire Dept. For Recent Labors

The city fathers last night commended the Fire Department for the job done in fighting three major fires within recent weeks.

Councilman S. E. West made the motion of "respect and admiration to the Fire Department for the jobs done in fighting the fires."

He said they deserved high praise for their work.

City Manager Leonard Bloxam said that he himself, had been a member of a volunteer fire department in the past and "I don't believe I've ever seen a crew do a better job."

The motion was passed unanimously by the councilmen.

The evening service begins one hour later than the League which starts at 6:30. There is always good singing of Gospel songs and choruses. The pastor will bring the message.

The Good News Clubs meet Monday and Tuesday afternoons at 3:45, also on Wednesday evening at 7:30. All the boys and girls are urged to attend.
