Miss Josephine Hoover, Mr. Lewis Wed

The marriage of Miss Mary Josephine Hoover of Greenville and Blake Covington Lewis Jr. of Washington, N. C. took place in a private ceremony Saturday at 4:00 o'clock with the Rev. H. Hartwell Campbell officiating at the double ring rites in Youth Chapel, Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church.

The bride is music director and featured personality at the local television station, and the daughter of Mrs. Glady M. Hoover of Batesburg, S. C. and the late Mr. Hoover.

She received her education at Peace Junior College, Raleigh, Wesleyan Conservatory and School of Fine Arts in Mason, Ga. and later did graduate work with Edwin Hughes and Bernice Frost at Columbia University.

Mr. Lewis, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Lewis of Washington, N. C., is a graduate of the Washington High School and took special courses in camera work before becoming assistant production manager at TV Station WITN, Washington.

After a Florida wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis will make their home in Washington.

The Saturday wedding took place before an improvised setting of banked greenery accented by white gladioli and candlelight.

Music was played by Mrs. Imergine Norwood, and Bill Norwood was soloist. His selection was "I Love You Truly."

Escorted and given in marriage by her brother, Vincent E. Hoover of Fort Jackson, S. C., the bride wore an afternoon wedding dress of blue lace and satin sheath. Her small afternoon hat was of blue satin which matched her slippers and she carried a colonial nosegay of palmer violets and orchids.

Misses Nancy Wike and Lucia Hutchinson were maids of honor. Miss Wike wore an afternoon dress of blue velvet and Miss Hutchinson's afternoon dress was of grey silks. Both carried nosegays of violets and roses.

Blake C. Lewis was his son's best man. Groomsmen were Sandy Pfoutz of WITN and Eugene Hodges of WNCT.

Ushers for the wedding were Frank Boman Lewis, the bridegroom's brother of Washington, and Elbert Peel of Williamston.

For the ceremony Mrs. Vincent E. Hoover, the bride's sister-in-law, wore a brocaded pink satin dress, using pink accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

Mrs. Lewis, the bridegroom's mother, chose a rose beige taffeta, marked by black accessories and a corsage of yellow roses.

Later in the afternoon the bride traveled in a brown cashmere suit with ivory satin and pearl trim, brown suede accessories and an orchid corsage.

Friday night prior to the wedding, Mr. and Mrs. Blake Lewis Sr., parents of the bridegroom, entertained with a rehearsal party and cake cutting event at their home in Washington.

Let's Retain That UN Police Force

Despite long weeks of tense waiting and feverish negotiation, hours of darkness and moments when it appeared catastrophe could not be avoided, the United Nations has again succeeded in restoring peace in a world of strife.

Though the world is by no means "out of the woods" in the difficult Middle East crisis, tension has eased since the newly formed U. N. police force took up positions in Egypt. Now British troops have begun large scale withdrawals from the positions they occupied in Egypt. Israeli troops likewise have pulled back to allow the Police Force to take up positions between belligerents.

It is not unlikely that months will be required to

Additional Regulation On Boating Necessary

Information being compiled on pleasure boating by the House Committee under the chairmanship of Congressman Herbert C. Bonner points with increasing certainty that additional common sense regulations are needed for the protection of the estimated 28 million Americans who are boat enthusiasts.

The number of pleasure boats in the United States today is slightly under six million. By comparison there were only 15,000 pleasure boats in use in the country in 1904 and even in 1947 there were less than half the number of pleasure craft there are today. During the current year alone the number of pleasure boats afloat on inland and coastal waters has risen by 434,000.

As the number of pleasure boats has risen, the number of inexperienced people handling these boats has likewise increased. The result has been a sharp upturn in boating accidents throughout the country.

Although the Coast Guard has rigid safety regulations for pleasure craft of sufficient size to require registration, there are unfortunately few regulations which pertain to outboard craft that today make up something like two-thirds of the total number of pleasure boats. In most of the boating accidents these smaller outboards are involved.

Despite the fact that most boating enthusiasts are reluctant for their favorite form of recreation to be encumbered with Coast Guard regulations, a large percentage of them recognize the need for additional regulations, a large percentage of them recognize the need for additional regulations for their own protection as well as the protection of the other millions of people who take to the water on holidays and weekends.

The work being done by Congressman Bonner's committee is in the interest of the already large and still growing clan of those who enjoy pleasure boating. With the information being compiled in hearings throughout the country, the committee should be able to come up with some common sense proposals which will make pleasure boating a safer form of recreation for all concerned.

Childish Tantrum Has Gone Into The Big-Time

There's nothing like a little food-throwing and dish-smashing demonstration in a university's dining hall to earn attention. It's so refreshingly different from the old hum-drum procedures of obtaining remedial action at an institution of higher learning.

One is left to wonder what those bad-tempered prodigies have been learning. Anarchy?

Not content with their childish tantrum, University of Michigan students rocked automobiles and threw snowballs at those stuffy old police who just wanted to maintain a little law and order.

There may have been 400, there may have been 1500 involved. Estimates vary. It would be in error to tar the whole student body or all students with the same brush applicable to the participants in that disgraceful display Sunday night at Ann Arbor.

Quo vadis? little buddies.

A Trade That Is Not Expendable In Britain

When a young British fire-eater needs a petrol ration card to stay in business, you know the gasoline-rationers are dead-serious in their conservation efforts.

True enough, the quantity of volatile fuel required by the young lady in question is not earth-shaking. And it could have all been a press-agent's dream. But the underlings of Great Britain's Ministry of Fuel and Power quite properly had the applicant's formal request forwarded through channels.

Only a tumblerful of gasoline is required for each performance; though it should be remembered that if the fire-eater's star is in the ascendancy, tumblers full of gasoline can add up pretty fast.

Anyway, when the checkreins of rationing are imposed, it is good to know that fire-eaters are not expendable.

iron out differences which have arisen in the Middle East. There is every possibility of new complications arising in that theatre of the globe which again may bring the world to the brink of World War III. Notwithstanding those possibilities, the United Nations has risen to new heights as a force for peace in the eyes of many people in many countries.

The police force which has now occupied strategic positions in Egypt should become a permanent part of the U. N. organization. It will be expensive to maintain, but it offers an instrument for peace which heretofore has not been available on a moment's notice. Made up of personnel from a number of the smaller nations of the world rather than any of the major powers, the Police Force may in future years fill the breach between sectional flare-ups and world conflagration time after time.

Once the situation in the Middle East has eased sufficiently to allow withdrawal of the U. N. force there, the force should not be disbanded and forgotten. No one knows at what moment it may be needed again in some part of the world. Many valuable days—any of which could have brought disaster to the world—were lost between the time the U. N. made its decision to form the police force and the time the force was actually at the scene of conflict. Under other circumstances such a delay could mean the difference between isolated fighting and another world war.

Now that the U. N. is organizing its police force, it should be maintained as a permanent auxiliary to stamp out fires before they engulf the world.

Taking No Chances On Oath Of Office

By LYNN NISBET
NO CHANCE — Judge Raymond Mallard decided to take a new oath of office as Superior Court judge rather than take a chance on having his judicial actions invalidated by a technicality. Judge Mallard is one of eleven judges appointed last year by Governor Hodges when the number of judicial districts was increased.

The executive appointment holds only until the next general election. It has been held that the election process is completed only when the secretary of state issues a certificate of election following canvass of the vote by the State Board of Elections. The voting was held on November 6, the canvass was made on November 27 and the certificates of election were mailed out from the secretary of state's office on December 3.

Upon receipt of the certificate of the two justices of the Supreme Court, the other ten judges of the Superior Court and the two solicitors who have been appointed for unexpired terms, took the oaths of office. Judge Mallard did not wait for the certificate. When he read that the board of elections had confirmed his election he went before the clerk of the court in Chatham county, where he was holding court, early last Wednesday morning, November 28, and took oath for continued service as judge.

The situation of the judges appointed under the 1955 act is unusual. Although the appointments were original, and the recent election the first at which the people had voted upon these judges, actually they are serving an unexpired portion of a full term. The act specified that the terms of the judges should begin on January 1, 1955, and continue for eight years—although the offices were not authorized until after and the appointments not made until July 1.

ONE OATH — Because of the unexpired term feature, it will not be necessary for any of the judges to take another oath of office until January 1, 1963. In that respect they are the same position as Chief Justice Wallace Winborne and Associate Justice William B. Rodman Jr., each of whom was appointed for an unexpired term. Same is true of Solicitor May in the second district and Solicitor Braswell in the ninth. The solicitors have years to serve of the terms to which their predecessors were elected.

CERTIFICATES — Secretary of State Thad Eure mailed certificates to the two justices of the Supreme Court, the other ten judges of the Superior Court and the two solicitors who have been appointed for unexpired terms, took the oaths of office. Judge Mallard did not wait for the certificate. When he read that the board of elections had confirmed his election he went before the clerk of the court in Chatham county, where he was holding court, early last Wednesday morning, November 28, and took oath for continued service as judge.

Santa Can't Miss This Miss

Little Jenele Jane Roberts of Fisher, Ill. doesn't know it but, despite the fact that she won't be home for Christmas, Santa will know where to leave her Christmas gifts.

Santa will find Jenele because her seven-year-old aunt, Carol Jane Roberts of Greenville thought enough of her one-year-old niece to write the jolly gent from the North Pole and inform him that Jenele would be spending Christmas in Greenville.

For Jenele's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Roberts will be visiting Roberts' parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. H. Roberts of 301 Woodlawn Ave. and, of course, his sister Carol Jane. When Carol Jane heard that her brother and her new niece would be in Greenville she was afraid that Santa would not be able to find the little girl on Christmas Eve.

So Carol Ann got out her pencil and paper and composed a letter to St. Nick.

"Dear Santa," she writes, carefully printing big letters on lined paper. "I have a little niece. Her name is Jenele Jane. She is one year old. She is a girl. Her daddy is Rodney Roberts and her mama is Nina Roberts. They live in Fisher, Illinois. They are going to spend Christmas with us in Greenville. Be sure to bring her some nice presents. Bring her presents to Greenville. She will hang her stocking up at our house. It will be a little stocking. Please fill it up. Love, Carol Jane Roberts."

Carol Jane carefully sealed the letter in an envelope, addressed it to Santa at the North Pole and sent it on its way.

And so, Jenele, though you won't be in Illinois, old Santa will remember you on Christmas. Your thoughtful young aunt has arranged for that.

Notebook On Life

They Didn't Follow Dreams

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Don't worry too much if your teen-age children can't decide what they want to be—or appear set on some goal you believe impossible.

Surveys of famous people show that few actually followed the career of their first choice. Most abandoned a youthful dream, and won renown or wealth later in a widely different field.

Think how differently the world would be if everybody stuck to his first dream.

Adolf Hitler might be a noted landscape painter. Harry S. Truman would be known as a Medal of Honor winner instead of the most vocal former occupant of the White House. Dwight D. Eisenhower, as he originally intended, might be running a battleship instead of the U.S. government. Winston Churchill's novels might be selling almost as well as those of Mickey Spillane.

The truth is that the man who decides early in life what he wants to be—and sticks to that decision—is likely to be less well known than the one who changes his mind.

Since 1953 Ed Murrow has interviewed some 218 celebrities on his CBS-TV network show, "Person to Person." One of the questions he asks most often—and the one celebrities seem most intrigued with—is, "What did you originally want to be?"

Some of the answers are highly surprising. If they had achieved their first dreams instead of jettisoning them:

Joe Louis wouldn't owe Uncle Sam more than any boxer in history. He'd be blowing trumpet in a top jazz band, just like his hero, Louis "Satchmo" Armstrong.

Imogene Coca would be a psychiatrist, playwright, or author. She never did want to be just one thing.

Groucho Marx and evangelist Billy Graham would be farmers. Vaughn Monroe and Gloria Swanson would be opera singers and actress Janet Leigh would be teaching music therapy.

Archbishop Cushing of Boston would be a concert violinist, and Liberace would be an undertaker the profession his father hoped he'd follow.

Hotelman Conrad Hilton would be a banker, oilman Clint Murchison would be the biggest cattleman in America. He still can be, if he wants to.

Wally Cox would be a playwright, comedian Sid Caesar "another Albert Einstein," Debbie Reynolds a gym teacher, and designer Adrian a zoo keeper.

Actor Steward Granger and singer Nanette Fabray would be doctors. Oscar Hammerstein and singer Tony Martin, lawyers.

Martha Raye would be a serious actress like Ethel Barrymore, singer Patti Page a locomotive engineer (her dad was a railroad man), actress Jean Simmons a dancing teacher, comedian Phil Silvers a clarinetist.

Columnist Drew Pearson would have been a diplomat.

One of the oddest dreams of all: Marilyn Monroe said she wanted to be a cover girl on "The Ladies' Home Journal."

What does all this prove? Merely that it pays to know when to let go of a dream—and get a better one.

Strength for the Day

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
PLOWSHARES
AND PRUNINGHOOKS

Both the prophets Isaiah and Micah speak of beating swords into plowshares and spears into pruninghooks. People very often forget, however, that the prophet Joel (3:10) put it the other way about. He speaks of beating plowshares into swords and pruninghooks into spears. "Prepare war," cried Joel. "Let the weak say, I am strong. Put ye in the sickle; for the harvest is ripe; come, tread ye; for the wine press is full, the vats overflow; for their wickedness is great."

We live today in the spirit of Joel, but our hope is justified that swords will become plowshares and spears will become pruninghooks, because religion is dynamic and when it begins to operate in false systems men have built up something to be and to happen. Slavery, totalitarianism, vice and national corruption have in the past so often appeared permanently established that any prospect of getting rid of them seemed a hopeless dream. Slavery has almost vanished from the earth. Totalitarianism is being fought today with intelligence and vigor. The moral ideals of humanity improve with the passing of time.

Most of us may never live to see the elimination of war, but that elimination will finally come. Isaiah and Micah will triumph over Joel—plowshares and pruninghooks over swords and spears.

Political Apologies Filling The Scene

By RAY TUCKER
WASHINGTON Political apologies are flying around these days over newspaper reports of corporations' contributions to the Republican Party in the recent campaign. The allegedly erroneous articles and editorials based thereupon were inspired by an official release of a Senate Subcommittee which investigated political money.

Many Washington dispatches said that associations with corporate and GOP connections had contributed heavily to that Party. While giving nothing or a pittance to the Democrats. Altogether, there were 14 such groups, and their contributions amounted to $32,300 to the Republicans and $3,900 to the Democrats.

MUST BE INDIVIDUAL CONTRIBUTIONS Officials of many of these incorporated units have been demanding retractions for newspaper listing of them as political contributors. They point out that they cannot make such gifts without violating the Federal Corrupt Practices Act, although their members may kick in as individuals.

The newspapers have no quarrels over the alleged misrepresentation. For the Senate Subcommittee, which is headed by Senator Albert C. Gore, Tennessee Democrat, placed undue and greater emphasis on "group giving" than it did on the individual factor. As a further indication of a political motive, the misleading report was made public on November 2, four days before the election.

Finally, these "liquors" are not designed to "show up" or "smear" parties or politicians. They are conducted in order to reveal the need for revision of Federal election laws, and there was no reason for a pre-election release of the findings, or of seemingly loaded data.

DECEPTIVE CONCLUSIONS Here, for instance, is the deceptive conclusion of Exhibit 10 of the Gore document. The heading reads: "Campaign contributions of $500 or over belonging to various groups." It continues:

"The purpose of this exhibit is to disclose what contributions, if any, have been made to the 1956 campaign by officials of some 14 groups. In some organizations (which are named), few large donations were detected, whereas in other groups (which are listed) a much larger number of donations were found. On the following pages the names of the 14 groups appear, and opposite each will be found a summary of our findings."

EMPHASIS ON GROUPS It is true that the tag end of the report lists the contributions as they have been made by members and officials. But throughout the report the major emphasis is on

Pay & See TV Fight At Climax

By ELMER ROESSNER
The battle over pay-as-you-see television may be near a turning point. Washington reports indicate the Federal Communications Commission is about to make a decision, perhaps to permit pay-see telecasting in a test area to see what happens.

There are three major contenders for pay-see tee-vee rights. The most active at the moment is Skiatron; the others are Zenith and Paramount-Telemeter.

Under the Skiatron plan, a set owner would attach a decoding device to his set. Each month he would get a program card. When he wishes to see a pay telecast, he would tune in the pay program, put the card in the decoder and push a button. The program would come in as clearly as a local free telecast; without the card and decoder the picture would be scrambled. The card would show what programs had been tuned in, hence what the set-owner owes.

OTHER METHODS

Zenith devised Phonovision, a system by which sets would be hooked up to phono wires. When a set owner wished to see a pay program he would dial a number and the program would appear on his set. The charges would be on his phone bill. Zenith engineers are reported to have developed two other systems for pay-see tee-vee.

The Telemeter system involves the attachment of coin boxes to television sets. Putting the appropriate number of coins in would unscramble the pay-see picture. Under all of these systems, regular programs could be received just as they are now.

These systems were first developed six or more years ago and during all that time the FCC commissioners have tried to make up their mind—not to accept any, but to test them.

True, they have been subjected to a lot of arguments pro and con, and, presumably, to political pressure. It might have been a mistake, for example, to have taken favorable action just before the last or, for that matter, any other election.

TWO SIDES TO QUESTION

The principal opponents of pay-see are existing stations and movie exhibitors and theater-owners. The con arguments: Pay-see television would cut theater attendance and realty values, thus injuring a large group to the benefit of a nebulous pay-see industry. By taking away part of regular TV audiences, it would cut advertising revenues of existing telecasters, forcing them to lower the quality of their shows. Thus it would cripple the industry just when it needs revenue to grow, and it would result in poorer shows for those who could not afford to pay.

The pro arguments: Paid television would enable viewers to see first-run movies, Broadway plays, complete operas, educational and cultural programs, sports contests now kept off television, and other outstanding programs not now on television. Paid and free television can both exist side by side.

For six years now the arguments have been batted around. During all this time, the FCC has refused to permit full-scale tests of any system. And while some proponents have taken public opinion surveys (all indicating an impressive public demand for optional pay programs), the government has made no scientific attempt to find out what the people want. Maybe, despite polls, they don't really want to pay.

Now, at long last, it looks as if the Commission is about to try to find out how pay-see will work in a limited area.

THREE NEW BOOKS FOR BUSINESS READERS

Among new books of possible value to business executives are: "The Resurgent Years," by George Sweet, Gibb and Evelyn H. Knowlton, 754 pages, $7.50, by Harper. This is the history of Standard Oil of New Jersey from 1911 to 1927, being the second of a three-volume account.

"Pop, Monsieur," by Ruth Chilver Rosen; a 140-page book printed on recipe cards and boxed, $1.50 by Rich; D. Rosen Associates, New York; recipes requiring French champagne.

"Twenty-Eighth Annual Boston Conference on Distribution," the text of addresses made during this economists' field day last October; 102 pages, $4.25, by Boston Retail Trade Board.

"groups." In reporting on gifts by wealthy people connected with great corporations, who gave $387,750 to the GOP and $49,250 to the Democrats, Exhibit 11 does not stress that these were personal offerings.

The heading reads: "Contributions of eight selected families." Oddly, only one Democratic "group"—the Lehmanns—is listed.

COPS-AND-ROBBERS SEMANTICS The report, which was prepared by Alexander Heard, political science professor of the University of North Carolina, indulges in cops-and-robbers semantics. The findings "disclosed" instead of "showing" who made what contributions and to whom. Donations were "detected," not "discovered" or "reported" or "ascertained."

Thus, it would seem that if apologies and corrections are due, they should be forthcoming from Senator Gore's Subcommittee.

California Agriculture Turns To Japan For New Labor Pool

By WAYNE HARBERT
SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—California agriculturists, faced with the possibility their Mexican labor pool south of the Rio Grande may dry up, have reached across the Pacific for help from Japan.

State officials said today more than 500 Japanese men are working in California's vegetable fields and orchards, with the possibility they can stay as long as three years and go home with a million yen each. That's about $2,000.

Mexico informed the United States last winter its own agricultural and public works development would cut down the number of farm laborers who could come north.

Arrangements were made to bring in not more than 1,000 Japanese workers. The first plane load of 62 landed here in September.

By January, said Edward F. Hayes, chief of the farm placement for the State Employment Department, there will be about 800.

A college graduate and aspiring poet from Hokkaido in the first contingent went to work in an Oxnard celery field.

"So far it is much like home," Isao Yasuda, 26, was quoted by an interpreter.

But with this principal difference: "At home men work in the field from dawn to dark. Here they keep track of hours worked."

Hayes said the Japanese are "very hard and conscientious workers."

California had an autumn peak of about 105,000 Mexicans working on the land. It wasn't much of a fall-off from last year.

Just how many Mexicans return next year, Hayes said, will help determine how many Japanese will be sought. He doesn't expect the Japanese ever to come in the same numbers as the Mexicans.

The Japanese, like the Mexicans, are guaranteed the same pay given Americans for doing the same work. They get at least $2.50 cents an hour for cultivating in Monterey County, for example, and $1.25 an hour for knocking down and picking up Sacramento Valley almonds. All are prohibited from working in packing houses or processing plants.

Mother Of 12 Found Drowned

LENOIR, N.C. (AP)—The body of a 47-year-old mother of 12, missing since Friday, was recovered from the Rhodiss Lake in Caldwell County yesterday.

Volunteer searchers found the body of Mrs. Ivey Saunders, floating on the water near Castle Bridge where a cab driver had taken her last Friday. The cab driver told police he believed the woman intended to commit suicide when he did not find her upon returning as directed by his passenger.

The husband, Ivey Saunders, told police his wife had been in ill health and often mentioned suicide.

Dr. William Hopper, coroner, ordered an autopsy.

Eleven of her 12 children are living.

Badly Scared By Frozen Lion

LANDER, Wyo. (AP)—Bartender Jack Clark had just opened the tavern where he works. He looked up and there was mountain lion, crouched as if to spring. Friends report Clark scaled the side of a cooler cabinet, backward. Then the jokesters entered and rescued Clark. Then he learned the mountain lion had been shot by hunters, frozen into an upright position and placed in the bar during the night.

Facts On Indian Life To Poland

PHOENI, Ariz. (AP)—Mayor Jack Williams has sent a letter to a 14-year-old Polish boy, assuring him that American Indians are "not locked up in prisons and camps."

The letter was in reply to one written by Jach Ladislaw, a schoolboy in Lodz, a central Poland city of about 500,000 population. Jach asked if "it is true what they are saying and writing in our papers" about the status of American Indians.

Williams wrote that Indians have a choice of living on reservations set aside for them by the Federal government or anywhere in the United States, and that reservation Indians have their own police, laws and economic system.

The youngster's letter, translated by a Polish-born Phoenix resident, read in part: "I am interested in the living conditions of the peoples which are under your care and I am anxious to know if there are still wild Indians in your state, and if they are locked up in prisons and camps like our papers and books and films show..."

Mayor Williams said he will send Jach a year's subscription to Arizona Highways magazine and also have a 14-year-old Indian boy write to Jach and "tell him the truth about American Indians."

Draws Sentence And Disbarred

WILMINGTON, N.C. (AP)—Wilmington lawyer Walton Burkholder has been sentenced to five to seven years for embezzling and disbarred.

Judge William J. Bundy ordered him disbarred and told him to surrender his license to the State Bar Assn. after the lawyer pleaded guilty to taking $2,580 in 1951 when he was acting as a court-appointed commissioner to convey title to real estate.

"This thing you have done has been a body blow to the profession of which you are a part," said the judge.

Wandering Deer Provide Dinner

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Two deer who wandered into town will provide dinner for the children at Kosair Crippled Children Hospital and the Children's Hospital today.

The deer, a buck and a doe, were captured by police and dog pound agents. However, both died shortly after they were caught in nets and taken to the city dog pound.

It was thought the deer died of exhaustion after being chased by dogs before being captured.

LINCHOCO, Va. (AP)—A 72-year-old retired miner and his 17-year-old bride were found shot to death in their three-room home here last night, victims of murder and suicide, police reported.

Dr. N. C. Ratliff, Dickeson County medical examiner, said the woman was shot twice with a 12-gauge shotgun. The man was killed with a rifle.

The victims were James Monroe Wilborn and his wife Dorothy. Police said relatives said the pair had quarreled about another man before the shootings. Wilborn is survived by three sisters, Mrs. Queen Utley, Charlotte, N.C.; Mrs. S. J. Carpenter and Mrs. Ila Ayles, both of Statesville, N.C., and two brothers, Frank Wilborn of Statesville and Charles Wilborn of Huntersville, N.C.

World War I Veterans Rally Set Here Sunday

Dr. J. Phillip Malone, Junior Vice Commander of the North Carolina Department, Veterans of World War I of the U.S.A., Inc. will be the chief speaker at a rally of all World War I veterans in Pitt and surrounding counties, Sunday afternoon, at 2:30 o'clock in the Pitt County Courthouse here in Greenville. Dr. Malone is an outstanding authority on veterans affairs and is currently heading the 1957 membership campaign for the Veterans of World War I of the U.S.A., Inc.

The Veterans of World War I of the U.S.A., Inc. was founded about four years ago, and since that time have expended their operations into 45 states and territories with over 725 local Barracks. North Carolina among one of the newest Departments was instituted on March 25, this year, and today there are 34 Barracks in the state.

Dr. J. P. MALONE

Headquarters of the National Organization is located in Washington, D. C., and by convention mandate they are pressing in the Congress for a more liberal hospital and medical care program for its veterans who are now averaging 63 years of age. They are also seeking for themselves and their widows a pension, based upon the same principle and amounts as that now accorded the Spanish-American War veterans.

Dr. Malone, stated today, that countless thousands of World War I veterans are dependent upon relatives for sustenance, many others are finding it difficult to compete in the present day labor market. The time has come when something should be done for the "Forgotten generations of aging veterans" he added.

All World War I veterans in Pitt and surrounding counties are urged to attend the Sunday afternoon meeting here in Greenville.

Sympathetic Reaction To Britain's Debt Problems

WASHINGTON (AP)—Great Britain's plea for permission to pass up payment of nearly $2 billion dollars due this country at year's end drew promises of sympathetic consideration from some key senators today.

The reaction at the State Department was similar, but officials indicated the Eisenhower administration will ask Congress to rule on the British request. Doubt was expressed that the executive agencies had authority to take final action.

Congress does not convene until Jan. 3. The payment is due Dec. 31, but it appeared that the question would be left hanging fire until Congress has had time to consider it.

The London appeal, coming on the heels of British-French invasion of Egypt, in effect amounted to a request to this country to share the cost of that U.S.-opposed venture.

Britain's chancellor of the exchequer, Harold Macmillan, told Parliament yesterday his country's gold and dollar reserves have shrunk. He said the request to the United States was a step essential to protect the stability of the British pound sterling and save it from devaluation which would have repercussions around the world.

Found Guilty Of Refusal To Take Induction Oath

CHARLOTTE (AP)—A 24-year-old Winston-Salem man was found guilty yesterday of refusing to be inducted into the armed forces in Federal Court here.

Judge Wilson Warlick ruled that Richard Eugene Meredith violated federal law when he refused to take the oath of induction here June 13. Meredith said he is a conscientious objector.

The defendant, a member of Jehovah's Witnesses, a religious sect in which all members are considered ministers of the gospel, claimed exemption on grounds he is a minister.

Employed at the Western Electric Co. plant at Winston-Salem as a maker of defense goods, he testified he did not object to war production because he had no control over their use.

In his opinion, Judge Warlick cited testimony that Meredith had been offered a transfer to a different plant not engaged in military work at poorer pay, but that Meredith kept his job producing military items.

Sheriff Fights To Keep His Jail

CAMDEN, N.J. (AP) — Camden County Sheriff Martin Segal has gone to court in an effort to acquire jurisdiction over his jail.

Segal asked the state Superior Court to remove control of the jail from the all-Democratic County Board of Freeholders, which removed it from the sheriff's office just before Segal was sworn in Nov. 13.

Segal, a Republican, says the transfer was a "political grab." He succeeded Democrat J. James Hainesworth, who recommended the change to the board.

Santa's Helpers Resume Beards

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Some of Santa's street-corner helpers are going back to beards after trying clean shaves. The kids griped.

The Volunteers of America, which employ the helpers, said it abandoned its beards because they were wearing out. It went for the clean shave after trying masks, which frightened small children.

But the clean shave brought an uproar from older children. The volunteers decided to buy better beards.

Pier Explosion Puzzling Police

NEW YORK (AP)—Puzzled police and fire officials probed the blackened skeleton of a Brooklyn pier again today in hope of learning what sparked Monday's mysterious fire and blast.

Army bomb experts and the city fire commissioner expressed doubt yesterday that known cargo on the pier powered the tremendous explosion.

The blast shattered windows for miles around. It blew a gaping crater 75 by 150 feet in the heavy concrete floor of the pier.

Ma. William Vallassa, a 1st Army ordnance officer, peered into the crater and commented that the strength of the blast equaled that of two 4,000-pound World War II blockbuster bombs.

Fire Commissioner Edward F. Cavanaugh Jr. said he was "certain" the known cargo on the pier could not have produced the blast. The cargo included highly combustible paint, lacquer, rubber cement, chemicals, fuels, petroleum naphtha, powered resin, alcohol and other materials.

"Something unknown to the steamship company or to the dock workers must have been on that pier," said Cavanaugh. "It is within the realm of possibility, if not probability, that there could have been in the cargo at that point some substance or shipment that was fraudulently and deceitfully marked as something else that was going out of the country."

Cavanaugh estimated damage at 15 million dollars.

The pier was checked with Geiger counters but no unusual radioactivity was found.

FBI agents were also looking into the disaster.

Proper Welcome For Mayflower

BOSTON (AP) — Only Indians greeted Mayflower when she sailed into Plymouth Bay in 1620 and Massachusetts State Rep. John A. Armstrong wants to make sure the same doesn't happen to Mayflower II when she arrives next spring.

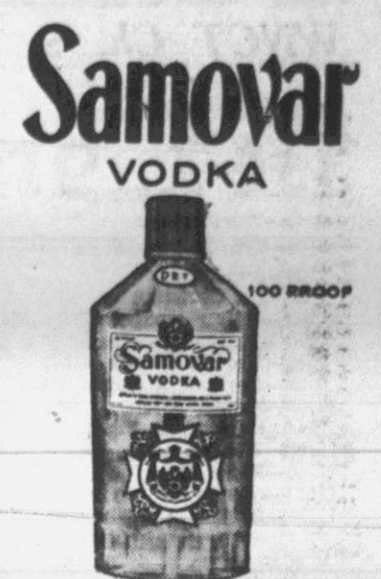

Armstrong (R-Plymouth) filed a resolution in the State House to set up a special committee of legislators to arrange proper official greetings for the new vessel when it arrives from England.

Fall Fatal For Elizabeth Citian

ELIZABETH CITY, N.C. (AP) — An Elizabeth City businessman, Ervin Midgett, 50, drowned in the Cashie River in Bertie County yesterday when he fell from a ferry.

Police said Midgett was sitting on the ferry rail taking pictures when he toppled into the river. The body was soon recovered.

Goldsboro Crushes Phantoms 77-47 In Opening Tilt

Quakes Take 4-3 Green Lead For Easy Win

By JIMMY ELLIS
Reflector Sports Writer
Greenville High School's basketball Phantoms, short on height and experience, were equally shy of points last night in losing their season's opener to Goldsboro by a 77-47 score.

The Eastern AAA Conference Earthquakes were in trouble only in the early stages of the game when they couldn't make a shot. The Phantoms at one point in the opening minutes held a 4-3 lead but Goldsboro got hot and swept to a 21-6 lead at the end of the first quarter.

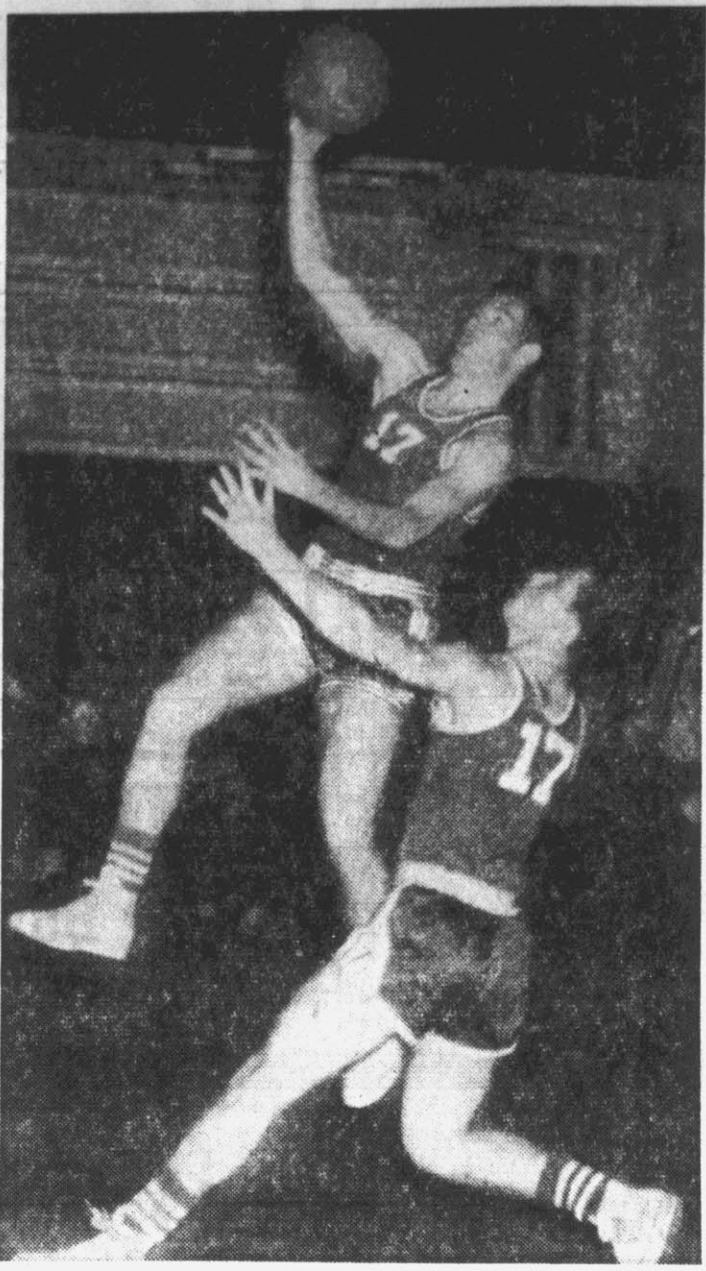

The Goldsboro margin was extended to 42-19 at the half mostly on the work of guard Dorsett Clement. Clement scored 16 points in the game, 14 of them in the first half.

In the second half, Clement's running mate at guard, Jerry Ellis, took over and wound up with 17 points for scoring honors in the game. Both of the guards capitalized on driving abilities.

Walker Allen, Steve Nobles and Charles Smith shared Greenville's scoring honors with six points apiece.

Box score table with columns: Player, FG, FT, PF, TP. Includes players like Moore, Aycock, Mason, Wiggins, Bizzell, Ward, Clement, Herring, Ellis, Nassonhill, Totals, and Greenville players like Wilkerson, Evans, Nunn, Smith, Cox, Wingate, Nobles, Roubuck, Allen, Edwards, Eldson, Hudson.

Score by quarters: Goldsboro 21 21 16 19-77, Greenville 6 13 14 14-47. Officials: Helmer and Bailey.

SMITH GETS TWO—Greenville forward Charlie Smith managed to collect two points for the G-Men last night on this layup, as Goldsboro's Dorsett Clement moves in to stop the play. Greenville, completely outclassed by the AAA Quakes, went down to defeat 77-47 in their 1956-57 opener. (Reflector Photo by Billy Arnold).

GHS Has 5 On All-Conference

Greenville high school, which posted a dismal 2-4-1 football season, placed five men on the All-Northeastern Conference football squad, two of them making the first unit.

Billy Sermons, the Phant 165 pound fullback, was chosen for the second consecutive season as one of the league's best backs. Edwin Wilkerson, an end, also was selected as a first unit performer.

Receiving honorable mentions were tackle Angus Duff, guard Kelly Barnhill and center Wade Jordan.

Washington winner of the conference championship and runner-up to Canton in the State title race, dominated the selections, as

Hornung Wins Heisman Trophy

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Paul Hornung, the one bright spot in Notre Dame's most disastrous football season, yesterday was awarded the Heisman Trophy as the nation's outstanding college football player of 1956.

Hornung's first reaction to receiving the trophy established in 1935 in honor of famed Coach John W. Heisman and awarded by the Downtown Athletic Club of New York, was to give credit to his teammates and coaches.

"I am grateful to Terry Brennan and his coaching staff and to the team as a whole—they deserve credit for making it possible for me to have a chance for such an award," said Hornung.

Three Goldsboro boys, Glenn Mason, Bobby O'Daniel and Larry Ward, had eight points apiece. Score by quarters: Goldsboro 26 4 16 7-53, Greenville 4 7 10 3-24.

ECC Here

East Carolina's basketball team opens its home season tonight, playing host to the McCrary Eagles at Memorial Gymnasium. The game begins at 8:00. ECC's 48-game home-court win streak will be at stakes against the non-conference semi-pro club.

Quake Matmen Defeat Phants

Goldsboro made a clean sweep of its athletic visit to Greenville yesterday by edging the Phantoms, 21-20, in the first wrestling match of the year for both teams. Decisions by two Goldsboro wrestlers in the last three matches gave the Earthquakes their edge. Jimmy Parker and Fred Parker gained the judge's nod over Greenville's Dean Roach and Charles Staton for six points that barely edged Wayne Pollard's five-point fall victory over Goldsboro's Clemmie Twiford in the heavyweight match.

Summary: Wise (Go) defeated Moore in 95-pound exhibition. 103 pounds: Arthur (Gv) defeated Hales, 3-0. 112 pounds: Taylor (Gv) drew with Bunn, 2-2. 120 pounds: Edwards (Go) defeated Ruffin, 3-0. 127 pounds: Davis (Go) pinned Powell, 5-0. 133 pounds: Squires (Gv) pinned Bryan, 5-0. 138 pounds: Roberts (Gv) pinned Henderson, 5-0. 145 pounds: Farmer (Go) pinned Mallison, 5-0. 154 pounds: J. East Carolina's Bob Perry Drafted By Armed Services

The East Carolina football forces received a severe jolt today when head coach Jack Boone announced that halfback Bobby Perry had been drafted into the armed services.

Perry, a rising senior next year, started his football days here at Greenville high school in 1950-53. The scabback led the Phantoms to second place in the strong Northeastern AA conference during his senior year. The Greenville native collected All-Conference and All-Eastern honors, along with All-State laurels on several selections.

The young halfback was also the first representative that Greenville sent to Charlotte for the annual Shrine Bowl game. He also played in the East-West All-Star game at Greensboro. Bobby was sought after by many schools before finally choosing ECC as the place to continue his football.

Perry's freshman year provided little opportunity for him to gain stardom, as he only saw limited action. During the following winter practice, the determined 165 pounder was very impressive and took over a starting role his sophomore year. Bobby is quick to agree that this past season was his best despite the bad record hung up by the Pirates. The speedster was the leading runner, totaling 307 on the ground, which just edged out running mate James Speight, who had 305. The hard-working junior also led in total offense with 439 yards. His 132 yards in pass receiving was also tops in this field. Bobby proved to be a double threat as he took a hand in punting, too, by boasting a 36.0 average.

Bob was the workhorse in the Pirate backfield, carrying the ball 58 times, and was also the leader in pass interceptions.

Perry turned in his most outstanding run against the University of Richmond in ECC's final encounter. He broke off-tackle, then cut back to the middle, outrunning the entire Richmond team for a 78 yard touchdown jaunt. The effort by Perry gave ECC a short-lived lead as the Spiders came back to win. A dependable performer Perry led ECC in a losing cause against Appalachian in another fine performance. He picked up a total of 59 yards on the ground and had a 58-yard touchdown run called back due to penalties.

In an interview, the Greenville star had no comment, but it was apparent that he didn't like the decision. Coach Jack Boone also had little to say about losing his star halfback. It will go into the record books as just another jinx for the 1956 football team which had its share of bad luck.

According To European Scoring, U.S. Now Trails Russia In Olympic Games

MELBOURNE (AP)—George Breen of Buffalo cracked the world record for the 1,500-meter free style in a qualifying heat today as U.S. swimmers tried to keep pace with Russia's powerful fringe-spot point machine in the race for the unofficial Olympic team title.

Russia outscored the Yanks for the day 68-48 1/2. The United States retained the over-all lead, under the American point system, but by only a 20-point margin, 538 1/2-518 1/2.

Under the European scoring system, Russia took the lead 451-445 1/2. The European system awards seven points for a first, the American system awards 10 points.

Breen bettered the 17:59.5 record held by Australia's Murray Rose with a 17:52.9 clocking, but was the only Yank to qualify for Friday's final in the event.

The U.S. scored a grand slam in the women's 100-meter butterfly final with Shelley Mann of Arlington, Va., winning the gold medal in 4:11 flat.

Another Yank girl, Carin Cone of Ridgewood, N.J., shared an Olympic record with a 1:12.9 clocking in the 100-meter backstroke, but the gold medal went to Britain's Judy Grinham.

Women swimmers tried on Olympic records like spring hats in the 400-meter free style. The record was cracked five times, advanced to the soccer final against Yugoslavia.

American entries couldn't get through the semifinals of the individual sabre fencing competition. And all five surviving Yanks were eliminated in the third round of Greco-Roman wrestling tournament.

In an important sidelight to the Olympics, U.S. Consul General Gerald Warner said the United States "would look with favor" on any pleas for political asylum from any athlete at the games. And a number of Hungarians admitted they were considering such a move.

Soviet women won the team gymnastics title and picked up a pair of individual gold medals. The United States was last.

Romania and Canada took the final two gold medals in shooting, but Russia was an easy team winner for the seven events.

Russia smacked the Americans 3-1 in water polo and also advanced to the soccer final against Yugoslavia.

Machen Looking For Title Shot

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—Favorite Eddie Machen is looking for a victory over Jimmy Sumnerlin tonight to move him closer to a crack at Floyd Patterson's newly won heavyweight crown. Jim Norris and his International Boxing Club have suggested it might be a good idea to have the 24-year-old Machen meet Hurricane Jackson to determine a heavyweight contender. Sumnerlin hasn't figured in the discussion. Cus D'Amato, Patterson's manager, has indicated that he likes the idea of a bout with Jackson but that he would accept whatever bout Norris promoted—provided it wasn't too soon. Indications are that Patterson won't defend his title until June at the earliest.

CHAPTER 29

The outing of Casson and Perry to the West End was a macabre one. While they walked up and down the streets of Mayfair, looking in shop windows, Casson felt that he was alien to the people who walked the same pavements. He imagined they knew that he was looking at clocks in the company of a murderer.

Casson laughed at the folly of his thoughts, laughed out loud. "What's up?" Perry asked. Casson gestured.

"You see all these people. How little they know of each other. One might be a millionaire and another a criminal. You just don't know what the next person is like. They might as well be in separate universes."

Perry glanced at him.

"Yes," he said.

They walked up the Burlington Arcade. Perry scrutinized the clocks and looked at their tags.

"They're expensive," he commented. "I shall wait until I see what there is in the sales."

"There's another shop in Knightsbridge," Casson suggested. "Let's stroll along and see."

The two men walked through St. James's Square into St. James's Street, and Perry turned up the street toward Piccadilly.

The journey was a nightmare to Casson. At any moment he might meet a friend coming out of one of the clubs, and the chance mention of his real name would finish him with Perry. His spirits lightened as they crossed Jermy Street, but fell again when Perry insisted on standing in front of White's Club.

"Very nice," said Perry, gazing at the splendid facade. "I suppose all the persons in there are very rich? Do you have to have a lot of money to join?"

"No, exactly," said Casson.

"I should like to belong to such a place," said Perry boldly. Casson was so startled that he could not reply. As they walked on, his mind became occupied with this new aspect of Perry. He had never thought the little man's ambitions were social as well as acquisitive. To blackmail, and in the end kill, for snobbery was a repulsive comment on the human mind.

Casson bought all the afternoon papers. The Standard carried a story of the arrest of a safe-breaking gang. He held the paper out to Perry and indicated the headline.

"You see," he said. "They always get caught. I never understand why criminals do it. They always make some mistake."

Perry read the article, standing stiffly in the middle of the pavement.

"You only read about the ones who get caught," he remarked. "I expect there are some who get away with it, the clever ones."

"Never," Casson replied emphatically.

"There must be exceptions?"

"No, I'll tell you why. They lose control. The loss control while they are doing their crime. That is to say, they lose clarity of thought. They make a slip. They forget about it. And the police get them. You know?"

Perry stopped and stared at Casson.

"I don't know anything about it," he said. "Crime doesn't interest me."

Here we are, thought Casson, spinning our fishing-nets of lies. And Perry must have had something to drink with Macfarlane on the night when he killed him. He couldn't have been sure of his clarity during the murder.

They walked in silence. Casson broke it by commenting on the architecture of the buildings which they passed but Perry did not reply. He seemed absorbed in his thoughts. When they got to Knightsbridge he said he had done enough for the day, mumbled goodbye, and disappeared down the steps of the underground.

Humming a tune, Casson watched him go. He went into a call-box and telephoned Strutt.

"I've got him quaking," Casson said when the Superintendent came on the phone. "You can try your dramatic society."

"Good boy," Strutt answered. "I'll tell them to turn the heat on tonight."

"Too early," Casson objected.

"Let him simmer down and regain confidence. Give him twenty-four hours. He'll be feeling better tomorrow. When he's got a bit of balance back we can undo it again."

Casson dozed the next morning and afternoon. But at last darkness seeped along the street and a church clock struck eleven. He sat on for half an hour. Then he let himself out of the house, crossed Bickersteth Street, and stationed himself a few paces round the corner from No. 51.

He did not need to stand there long. At ten to twelve he heard the tread of a policeman, approaching at standard pace. The footsteps stopped. There was a repeated cough. Casson moved forward and peered round the corner.

Under the lamplight was the blue uniform. An innocent, rather pink, face was fixed regarding the roof of Perry's house. It was the younger of the two uniformed constables whom he had met at the Chiswick Station—Police Constable Bentley.

The constable moved to the door of No. 51. After the heavy rat-tat on the knocker, Casson heard the scrape of a withdrawn bolt.

"Very sorry, sir," said Constable Bentley. "Thought I saw a man on your roof. Thought it might be a burglar. Have you heard anything, sir?"

"No," said Perry. "Nothing at all."

"Think I'd better just have a look, sir."

"I assure you, Officer, that I'm perfectly safe," Perry insisted.

"No one is ever perfectly safe," Bentley replied heartily. "Besides, sir, if there were a burglar, which I think there is, you wouldn't want to keep me out of your house, would you? You'd be compounding a felony."

The door creaked slightly as it opened, then slammed shut. The street returned to silence. Then the door creaked again.

"Much obliged to you, sir," said Constable Bentley. "Glad there was nothing. You've got some fine stuff there, sir, if I may say so. You want to take care of that. Must be worth a lot, I dare say. Tell you what, Mr. Perry, I'll tell the lads, and they'll keep an eye on the house."

"That's quit," all right, Officer," Perry broke in. "Please don't trouble to keep an eye on the house."

Early Soil Test Strongly Urged By County Agent

County Agent Sam C. Winchester urged farmers to take soil samples immediately and send them to the Soil Testing Division of the North Carolina Department of Agriculture.

"With the spring planting season only a few months away there will be a rush at the Soil Testing Division," Winchester pointed out. "Samples sent in now can be processed and fertilizer recommendations mailed back within 10 days to two weeks, he said, which means that the farmers will receive the report in plenty of time to use it as a guide in purchasing fertilizer and lime."

"Farmers in Pitt County can save quite a few dollars in their purchase of lime and fertilizer," farming operations simply by making a wise decision in their purchase of lime and fertilizer," he said. "And with soil testing provided a free service there is no need for a farmer to purchase these materials without knowing what is needed on each of his fields."

"Soil testing is the key to more economical crop production. It is a very simple matter to have soils tested here in North Carolina." Because it means so much to dollar-wise to every farmer in the county, Winchester urged each to sample his fields without further delay.

Materials for the job can be obtained free of charge at the County Agent's office, the ASC or the SCS offices, or from local vocational agriculture teachers.

"Remember," Winchester said, "Don't guess. Have a soil test now."

MELBOURNE (AP)—Hungarian Olympic athletes pondering the dream of political freedom away from their revolution-torn homeland received a helpful offer to night from America.

"The United States would look with favor," said American Consul General Gerald Warner in Melbourne, "on any pleas for political asylum from any Olympic Games athletes — Hungarian or otherwise."

This statement came dramatically as many of the great names in Hungary's sports history faced a fateful 48 hours of their lives. For them this was a heart-tearing time of decision—to return to

Mr. and Mrs. T.M. Clark and children, Barbara, Carolyn, Jimmie and Jerry of Newport news, Va. were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Alton Moore Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben H. Owens spent Sunday in Bath visiting Mr. Owens' sister, Mrs. Maggie Proctor, and Mr. Owens' niece, Mrs. Wilber Bunch and Mr. Bunch.

Mrs. Calvin Baker spent Sunday afternoon with her daughter, Mrs. Zell Smith, and Mr. Smith of Walstonburg, R.F.D.

Franklin Lewis of Richmond, Va. was a weekend guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. B.F. Lewis.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Nichols and children Joan and Shirley of Garner were guests of his mother, Mrs. Mattie Nichols, Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Eloise Bushman spent the weekend in Tarboro visiting Mr. and Mrs. H.L. Liles.

Mrs. Jennie Johnson and daughter of Wilson were guests of Mrs. Claude Johnson Sunday.

Mrs. Roy Eason was a dinner hostess Tuesday November 27 honoring her husband, Roy Eason, and her sister, Mrs. Harwood Beason of Fountain, on their birthday. The event took place at Mr. and Mrs. Eason's home in Macclesfield. Guests included Mrs. L.R. Bell, Mrs. Sim Weisner, Mr. and Mrs. Benny Bell of Fountain and Mrs. Dock Hardison of Farmville.

Tuesday night the Women of Fountain Presbyterian Church held their regular monthly meeting. Since Mrs. C.L. Owens, program chairman, was to have her program, "Stewardship In The Family," at the Ingathering Service Thursday night, only a business meeting was held. The president, Mrs. J.L. Peele, presided and names committees to serve a fellowship supper on Thursday night. The minutes were read by Mrs. Hardy Johnson. Mrs. J.L. Dozier gave the treasurer's report.

Members of these organizations who are serving on the committee appointed to frame a constitution for the new inter-fraternity council are Robert L. Jones, Raleigh, and James E. Kinston DuPont Plant Payroll In Eight Figures

KINSTON - The Du Pont Company spent $10,666,000 in the Kinston area last year for payrolls and purchases for its "Dacron" polyester fiber plant and $2,657,000 elsewhere in North Carolina, W.E. Gladding, plant manager, announced today.

Mr. Gladding disclosed the results of the company's annual economic survey as follows: Wages and salaries purchased from 177 Kinston businesses for the local plant amounted to $298,000.

Du Pont employees working at other locations in the Tar Heel State received $1,172,000 in wages and salaries.

Six other Du Pont plants in nearby Tennessee and South Carolina spent $942,000 in this state for purchases from North Carolina suppliers.

Excluded from the totals, Mr. Gladding pointed out, were purchases made in the area for other Du Pont plants. Du Pont has 70 plants located throughout the country.

In addition to the hundreds of tons of supplies needed to run the plant around the clock, purchasing lists contained such items as dice, fishing reels and plastic baby bottles. While these items may be considered a far cry from necessary supplies, each had its serious function. Plastic baby bottles were used as laboratory containers, fishing reels were used as thread guides in manufacturing "Dacron", and dice were used to warn against gambling with safety.

Jury Foreman Waived Evidence

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) - Traffic Judge James Demopolos often had wondered if other people agreed with his verdicts. So he summoned an impromptu six-man "jury" to hear evidence against a man charged with drunken driving.

The six, chosen at random from persons in the court room, agreed unanimously that the defendant was guilty. He was fined $40.

Five minutes later the foreman of the "jury" stood before Demopolos to answer the same charges. "You can dispense with the testimony," said the man. "I'm guilty." He too was fined $40.

Clearance Given Big Paper Mill

RALEIGH (AP) - The Union Bag-Camp Paper Corp., which has announced plans for a 30-million-dollar paper mill near New Bern, got clearance from the State Stream Sanitation Committee yesterday.

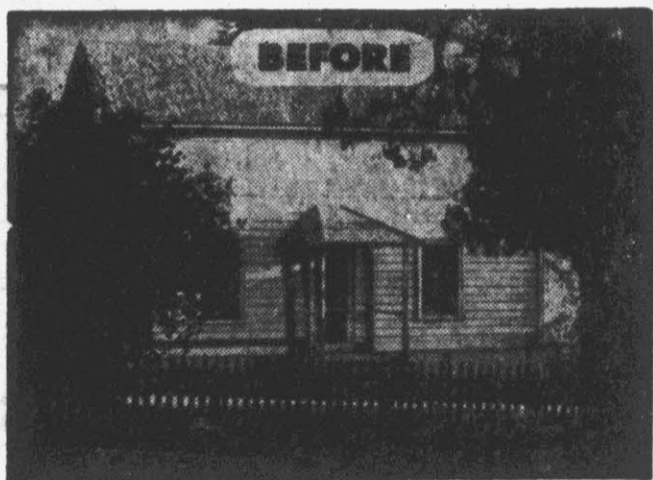

The committee gave its tentative approval to the company's plan for handling wastes from the mill which would be dumped into the Neuse River.

Last August the company announced it had options of 4,500 acres in the Tuscarora section, about 12 miles northwest of New Bern. It said it planned to build a kraft paper mill that would cost upwards of 50 million dollars.

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK — Initial stock market gains were extended in quiet trading early this afternoon. Leading issues advanced from fractions to around 2 points or so. Bigger gains were made by some specialties and there was a scattering of small losses. Brokers said the market may be poised for a traditional year-end rise but cautioned that news events could switch the market either way. Reports of an increase in the nation's personal income and record electric power consumption bolstered confidence, they said, as did prospects for quieter conditions in the Middle East. Pivotal steels again moved ahead after yesterday's profit-taking, oils continued to gain and motors were steady. Youngstown Sheet & Tube improved its early advance, adding more than 2 U. S. Steel and Bethlehem each gained around a point and Republic Steel a fraction. Lukens Steel resumed its sensational upward progress with a rise of 5. Gulf Oil and Royal Dutch were up about 2 apiece on the better Middle East prospects. Texas Co. rose a major fraction. Chrysler and Ford edged ahead slightly while Studebaker-Packard and General Motors showed little change. Rails were spotty despite the esimate of better net income in October over a year ago. Illinois Central and Southern Railway eased while Chesapeake & Ohio and Baltimore & Ohio were up fractions. Some irregularity also appeared in nonferrous metals with International Nickel up more than a point, Anaconda steady and American Smelting down a major fraction. Leading aircrafts again advanced in a body. Boeing, Douglas, United Aircraft and North American Aviation were all up around a point or better while Glenn L. Martin steadied after yesterday's decline as the most active stock. Other gainers were International Paper, Union Carbide, Du Pont, Eastern Air Lines, U. S. Gypsum, Johns-Manville and Allied Chemical. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 50 cents to $177.90 with the industrial up $1.40, the rails down 10 cents and the utilities down 10 cents.

He said the appointment of the committee was an outgrowth of recommendations made by the Southern Governors Conference several months ago. Hodges named W. D. Carmichael Jr., of Chapel Hill, University of North Carolina vice president, general chairman of the committee. The committee was broken down into five subcommittees which will act as advisors on the state's courses of action in the fields of: agriculture, Education and research, industry and labor, medicine and public health, and power.

Costly Damage In Auto Collision
Approximately $1,000 damage was done to a 1956 model automobile in a collision at the intersection of Raleigh and Chestnut Sts. yesterday afternoon. Driver of the car, Oliver J. Bundy of Mt. Olive Rt. 4, received facial lacerations and a cut on the finger in the accident. The second vehicle involved in the crash was operated by Alfred Lee Moye, Negro, of 1711 McEllan St. Damage to the truck operated by Moye was estimated at $80. Investigating was Ptl. John L. Kerr. No charges were placed.

Turnabout Use For Center Lane
DETROIT (AP)—A way to eliminate catch-as-catch-can use of the middle lane on three-lane highways has come from the Auto Club of Michigan. It would give the middle lane to drivers moving one way for several miles, then to drivers in the opposite direction for several miles. Painted lines would designate when the change takes place. The auto club thinks the plan would cut head-on crashes.

S. C. Woman Is Ordered To Face Robbery Charges
CHARLOTTE (AP)—A South Carolina woman has been ordered returned to Mecklenburg County to face armed robbery charges. The woman, Mrs. Dora Jane Yazel of Rock Hill, who admitted engaging a Negro man to help her hold up a Pineville service station-grocery, was ordered returned by Judge J. C. Rudisill. The blonde had been released to South Carolina authorities Sept. 6 after a psychiatrist testified she was mentally ill. However, after a month in the South Carolina State Hospital another psychiatrist said she was not mentally ill. Tommy Miller, the Negro companion, was convicted Sept. 12 of armed robbery and sentenced to 7 to 10 years. He testified that Mrs. Yazel picked him up on the pretense of wanting him to do yard work. He said she pulled a pistol and forced him to help in the robbery. The pair took $400 from Wriston Yandle, Aug. 17. He told police a white woman and a Negro man threw snuff in his eyes and bound him.

Turkey Shoot To Begin Thursday

Funeral services will be conducted at the Wilkerson Chapel at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon by the Rev. James S. Clegg Jr., pastor of the Tranters Creek Christian Church, and burial will be in the Little Family Cemetery at the home. Mr. Little, son of the late William and Harriet May Little, was born and spent all his life in the Pactolus Community. For the past several years he had lived with Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Beachum near Pactolus at his old homeplace. He was a member of the Terra Coia Christian Church in Beaufort County. Surviving are a number of nieces and nephews.

LACKED EXPERIENCE
SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Sixteen of 20 applicants for licenses as professional horseshoers failed to pass the state exam. It seems horseshoers aren't getting enough practice these days, the Illinois Horseshoers Examining Committee soberly declares.

Asks Support Of School Officials
DURHAM (AP)—The state legislative chairman of the North Carolina Education Assn. has urged school superintendents to put their full weight behind the State Board of Education's 1957-58 budget requests. A. C. Dawson last night urged the action at the winter meeting here of the division of school superintendents. He said that the board's requests were "directed primarily at the most important problem facing the schools—the shortage of qualified teachers." The chairman declared: "The significant thing about the board's request is that, for once, all education forces are behind this budget."

Pupils Launch Savings Drive
AYDEN—The Ayden chapter of the Future Business Leaders of America launched its savings campaign Tuesday with sales of $49.85. Each Tuesday has been set aside as "stamp day" in the school so that students can purchase U. S. Savings Stamps and Bonds. The program is not a money-making venture for the club but has been integrated into the regular learning process of the various classes. Honor awards were presented Mrs. Frances Everson's 11th grade, Mrs. LaRue Evans' eighth grade and Mrs. Berkeley Rutledge's first grade for having highest sales in their departments.
