

Port Said Guerrillas Fire On Small British Patrol

PORT SAID, Egypt (AP) — Egyptian guerrillas attacked a British patrol from a rooftop in Port Said's Arab quarter with a burst of machine-gun fire and a hail of hand grenades today.

The Egyptian underground has been growing more openly hostile as the day of the final British-French pullout nears. The occupation commanders have put their men on the alert for a final Egyptian show of defiance.

A barbed wire barricade was stretched around the Port Said dock area in preparation for the final withdrawal. Patrols have been strengthened. Troops were barred from streets except on essential duties. British tanks took positions around the harbor.

Dragging To End

Craven County Sheriff C. B. Berry today prepared to call off dragging operations in a search for two Pitt County men who disappeared on a Neuse River fishing trip last Thursday.

A spokesman for the sheriff said this morning that the dragging operations will be suspended because of the diminishing chances of recovering the bodies in that manner.

Intensive dragging operations have been underway since early Friday morning when Bonnie Lee Edwards and Coley Stanley of the Cox's Mill Section were reported missing by Edwards' brother, Craven County Deputy Sheriff Bruce G. Edwards.

Canadian Airliner And 62 Aboard Vanish In Storms

VANCOUVER, B.C. (AP) — A Trans-Canada Air Lines plane carrying 62 persons vanished during a violent windstorm over mountainous south central British Columbia last night and was believed to have crashed.

Potentially it was the worst commercial aviation disaster in Canadian history.

Although Trans-Canada still listed the four-engined North Star as only "overdue," the airline public relations director here, Al Carlson, said there was "absolutely no hope" the plane was still in the air.

According to the Royal Canadian Air Force, which planned to send "every available plane" into a massive search for the missing aircraft at dawn, the North Star would have exhausted its fuel supply at 1 a.m., PST.

In addition to the aerial search, a ground party was set to start out from Chilliwack, 65 miles east of Vancouver.

Four RCAF plane crisscrossed the Nor Star's route during the night without sighting a trace of the missing plane. The airline listed the plane as "overdue" at 11:15 p.m.

It carried 59 passengers and 3 crew.

The worst commercial air disaster in Canada occurred on April 8, 1954, when an RCAF training plane crashed into a TCA airliner in flight over Moose Jaw, Sask., killing 37 persons.

Among the passengers which boarded TCA's flight 810 at Vancouver last night were four members of the Saskatchewan team of the Western Interprovincial Football Union who were here for Saturday's East-West Shrine game.

The missing aircraft, a Canadian version of the DCA left Vancouver at 6 p.m. PST last night on a flight to eastern Canada but turned back at Hope, 125 miles east of here, when one engine failed.

At approximately 7 p.m. the pilot, Capt. Allan Clarke, 35, of Montreal, asked the Air Traffic Control Center here for permission to descend from 8,000 feet to a lower altitude.

That was the last radio contact with the plane, a tourist flight to Montreal with scheduled stops at Calgary, Regina, Winnipeg and Toronto.

Clinton School Peacefully Reopened As Trial Dates Set For Disturbers

CLINTON, Tenn. (AP)—Integrated Clinton High School reopened without a hitch today, with eight Negro students—four boys and four girls—walking together back to classes. One student planned to move away with his family.

Three police cars cruised the area briefly and then returned to their normal duties in this little eastern Tennessee city of 4,000. There was no indication of racial disturbances which caused authorities to close the school last Tuesday.

Students of both races appeared in jovial mood.

Authorities said about the normal number of white students also reported for the reopening, with approximately 800 students enrolled.

A few minutes after classes were resumed, trial dates were set for Jan. 28 in nearby Knoxville for 16 white men and women accused of racial violence which closed the integrated school.

Dates were set by Dist. Federal Judge Robert L. Taylor a few minutes after school reopened. No disturbances marked the reopening and eight negroes—four boys and four girls—joined a normal turnout of 583 white students.

Judge Taylor, who previously said he planned to set the trials within 10 days, agreed for the later date at the request of defense attorneys. The 14 men and two women, all at liberty under bond, are charged with violating Judge Taylor's injunction against interfering with orderly integration at the school.

Disturbances last Tuesday, including an attack on a white minister who accompanied the Negro students to school, closed the school. The 16 arrests followed within 24 hours.

No Juror Asked To Be Excused

Pitt County's Superior Court witnessed a rare occasion this morning.

Not a one of the 55 prospective jurors called for the one-week criminal term asked to be excused. Judge Chester R. Morris, however, excused one who pointed out that he had already served once this year.

Judge Morris excused H. T. Chapin, Jr., 113 North Elm Street, after commending him and other jurors for their willingness to serve.

Chapin had been a jury member during the January, 1956, term of Superior Court.

Other persons on the jury list include: Myrtle Abeyounis, Bethel; Alfred Anderson, Bethel; Jessie R. Baker, Route 1, Fountain; Mrs. R. L. Bell, Route 2, Farmville; James I. Referendum For Crop Quotas To Be Held Tuesday

The amount of corn acreage any farmer may include in the 1957 Soil Bank program will not be limited by the kind of program farmers approve in the corn referendum tomorrow, J. L. Willson, chairman of the Pitt County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee said today.

Dr. J. P. Malone gestures during a talk to nearly 50 World War I veterans yesterday at the Pitt County Court House. Dr. Malone, of Gastonia, was in Greenville to hold an organizational meeting for the North Carolina Department, Veterans of World War I of the USA, Inc. (Reflector Staff Photo).

Farmers will be voting on corn, as well as cotton and peanut marketing quotas tomorrow. Polls are scheduled to open at 8 a.m. and they will close at 7 p.m.

Organizational Meet Of World War I Vets

Apparently there has been some confusion about the 15-percent provision in connection with eligibility for price support under a corn base acreage program.

Nearly 50 World War I veterans assembled yesterday to participate in an organizational meeting of a local branch of Veterans of World War I of the USA.

"This provision is that, in order to be eligible for price support under a corn base acreage program, a farmer would have to comply with his farm corn base acreage and he also would have to put an acreage in the Soil Bank, either the corn Acreage Reserve or the Conservation Reserve or a combination, which was equal to at least 15 percent of his corn base acreage. He could put as much additional corn acreage in the Soil Bank as he wished, within the limits of the Soil Bank program; however, eligibility for price support would require that an acreage equal to 15 percent of his corn base acreage be put in the Soil Bank — either the corn Acreage Reserve or the Conservation Reserve.

The meeting, held in the Pitt County Court House, was under the direction of Dr. J. P. Malone of Gastonia, Junior Vice-Commander of the North Carolina Department of the national organization. Thirty-four white men and a dozen Negroes attended the meeting. Most of them paid a $3 membership fee to join the organization and get a barracks started in Pitt County.

Long Wait For Bar Decision In Gilliland Case

WARRENTON, N.C. (AP) — The committee conducting disbarment proceedings against attorney James D. Gilliland is not expected to make its recommendations to the State Bar Council before next April.

Three lawyers composing the committee concluded the hearing Saturday. They will hear oral arguments in the case at a date to be announced in Greensboro.

Gilliland came in for censure at his hometown after he gave counsel to alleged Communists during a congressional hearing in Charlotte earlier this year.

He is charged by the bar council with fraudulent and unethical conduct in matters having no connection with the Charlotte hearing.

Gilliland categorically denied Saturday statements by witnesses that he had obtained divorces for two couples on grounds of two years separation when he knew they had not been separated that long.

Asked if he had ever instructed witnesses to swear falsely in divorce cases, Gilliland replied, "I've never done any such thing as that."

He also denied he was a part owner of a collections firm which his secretary operated from his office. However, he said he had advanced about $1,000 to his secretary to operate the agency.

Gilliland was attorney for the agency. One of the charges is that he served as lawyer for a bankrupt wholesale grocery firm whose accounts receivable were sold to the agency.

State Sen. John Kerr Jr. of Warrenton, an attorney, told the investigating committee "Prior to the episode in Charlotte... Mr. Gilliland's reputation was good in this county."

Kerr said he found Gilliland "very reliable," and "I've never heard of him doing anything improper" as a lawyer.

But he added, "I think he is highly intemperate in his speech, and I think in some matters he has shown poor judgment."

"IN GOOD CONDITION" NEW YORK (AP)—Screen star Elizabeth Taylor, who underwent a five-hour operation last Saturday for a crushed spinal disc, has been described as in good condition.

President Calls On World To Note Ruthless Tyranny

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — President Eisenhower called on free people everywhere today — Human Rights Day — to take fresh note of Russian ruthlessness and never forget "what tyranny has done to our fellow man in Hungary."

"The recent outbreak of brutality in Hungary has moved free people everywhere to reactions of horror and revulsion. Our hearts are filled with sorrow. Our deepest sympathy goes out to the courageous, liberty-loving people of Hungary."

In observance of the day, there were plans for midday tolling of church bells all over America — and for prayers for the victims of Soviet oppression.

"The terror imposed upon Hungary," Eisenhower said in his statement, "repudiates and negates almost every article in the declaration of human rights."

"This year the free world has the most compelling reasons for observing human rights day with renewed awareness and resolution, but it has little cause to

"celebrate" that day. "The recent outbreak of brutality in Hungary has moved free people everywhere to reactions of horror and revulsion. Our hearts are filled with sorrow. Our deepest sympathy goes out to the courageous, liberty-loving people of Hungary."

Burned, Abandoned Auto Leads To Theft Arrests

A burned, abandoned car found alongside the road on N. C. 118 near Grifton Saturday led to the arrest of three men for the theft of 12 bags of soybeans.

The patrolman said that 12 bags of soybeans were stolen from the Ken Price farm, Grifton Rt. 1, on Nov. 23. He said the trio had admitted the theft and selling the beans to the New Bern Oil Co. for $62.

Under arrest on charges of larceny of soybeans are Jefferson Pugh, Jr., Grifton Rt. 1, Lyman McCotter, Grifton Rt. 1, and James Henry West, Vanceboro Rt. 1. All the men are Negroes. They are in jail under $200 bond each to be tried in Grifton Recorder's Court.

Highway Patrolman R. E. Tayloe said Pugh's car was found on the road Saturday. The car had caught fire Friday and was out of commission.

Tayloe said he identified the vehicle by its license and Grifton Constable Walter Joyner had information that the vehicle was involved in the soybean theft.

Tayloe said 12 empty bags and a tub were found in the abandoned auto. He said he and Constable Joyner talked to Pugh and that led to the arrests of West and McCotter.

"It denies the principle that no one shall be subjected to cruel, inhuman or degrading treatment."

"It denies that all are equal before the law and entitled to its equal protection."

Bonner Hails Ruritan Club

PACTOLUS — "You're to be congratulated that this club has joined with the state in making this community a better place to live."

Cost Estimated At $200 D. R. House, Jr., president of the Pactolus Ruritan Club, estimated the cost of the large sign at $200.

He pointed out that much of the work was done by club members and much of the material used in the sign was donated to the club.

The safety sign, erected by the Ruritan Club in the folk of the road at the intersection of N.C. Highways 30 and 23, depicts a map of Pactolus township. Colored dots will be placed on the map to indicate points where fatalities, serious accidents, and heavy property damage take place.

"I'm proud to be invited to participate in a program like this," Bonner told the club which gathered for the dedication. "It's wonderful to think that with this sign you have been successful in eliminating accidents on the highways."

"You've done so much and you've set an example for other communities."

"We were alarmed over the traffic death rate in our area and we decided to begin a project to see if we couldn't reduce it," House declared.

Last year, he pointed out, there were seven traffic fatalities in Pactolus township. This year to date "there hasn't been a serious accident in this area."

In connection with the safety project, the Ruritan Club has erected a safety suggestion box along the highway. A key to the locked box was turned over to Highway Patrolman James W. Boykin during Saturday's ceremonies. It will be the only key for opening the box.

'Short Sighted Policy' Says Speaker Of Teachers' Salaries

Delta Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma held its December dinner meeting in the dining hall of the Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church on Thursday evening with Mary Thomas Smith, president, presiding.

Speaker for the occasion was Mrs. Ethel Perkins Edwards, executive secretary of the North Carolina Education Association. Speaking on the topic, "What Delta Kappa Gamma Can Do To Implement the Legislative Program of 1957 Affecting Schools," Mrs. Edwards stressed the importance of first securing full information on the needs of the schools and on the proposed program of the United Forces of Education and then of helping to spread the information to the people of North Carolina.

"It is the people," said Mrs. Edwards, "who need most to learn the facts about the needs of the schools. It is the people who must learn the inability of North Carolina to keep teachers or to employ recent graduates in this state when neighboring states offer higher salaries."

"It is the people who must learn the necessity of influencing their legislators not only to approve appropriations but also to support such taxation program as can supply revenue to meet the appropriation."

She made vivid the need for better salaries for teachers by pointing out that 69 graduates from one North Carolina college last year accepted teaching positions in other states when North Carolina had invested $1200 in each one for a total of more than $80,000.

"It seems a short sighted policy," said Mrs. Edwards, "for the State to pay $80,000 to train young people and then not pay them enough to keep them in North Carolina."

Miss Eunice McGee brought an inspiring message on "Living Ideals." The speakers were presented by Mrs. Ellen Carroll, program chairman.

A liberal contribution was made to the fund collected by Delta Kappa Gamma to aid in providing scholarships for four young Korean teachers.

John he never got around to writing. Then he'll want to go off with his neighborhood friends and you will be lucky if you see him for meals.

John came home from college three days before Christmas, arriving just before dinner. There was great excitement in the Sherwood family, with hugs and kisses for Mom and the little kids and a good hand-shake for Dad. Mom had a bang-up good dinner, everything John liked best. There was talk and fun and lots of laughter, and it seemed just wonderful to have all the children together again around the family table. As they were finishing dessert, John had a phone call from Tom, his old high school buddy.

"Say, Dad, could I use the car a little while tonight?" asked John as he returned to the table.

"Why, yes, son. We are not going anywhere," said Dad.

John went off with Tom and didn't return until after all the family were in bed.

Next day John slept 'til noon, then went off to finish up his Christmas shopping, after consulting with Mom. That evening he had a date with Judy, and skipped out right after dinner.

"Say, Mom, do you need me around Christmas Eve?" he asked.

"Well, John, we were planning our traditional Christmas Eve party. Thought you'd like to be a part of it as always."

"Sure, Mom, I'll be here some of the time, but a bunch of us thought we'd go out singing carols."

"All right, but try and make our house one of your stops."

And so it went. John was full of his own affairs. He loved his family. He was delighted to be home. He'd put in a lot of time and thought on the presents he had for Mom, Dad and the children. He wrapped them all up himself with a lot of crazy gags on the packages—the way he always had done. Christmas morning he was very much on deck and no one could have asked for a warmer, friendlier family than the Sherwoods.

The rest of the week John was away much more than he was at home, but when he was home he and his parents had some wonderful talks about college, about his new friends, about a very cute girl he'd met.

Twice during that week the Sherwoods were asked out to dinner and each time they refused. Mrs. Sherwood explained to one old friend:

"You know, John is home this week and I just don't want to be out. Probably he won't be home and Bill and I will just sit at home by ourselves. I wouldn't for the world want John to know I'd refused a dinner party at your house, but at the same time I'd just like to be casually at home."

If the Sherwoods had acted abused, had let John know they were hurt that he didn't spend most of his time with them,

They're All Home For Christmas

By DOROTHY V. WHIPPLE, M.D. AP Newsfeatures

Do you have a child away at school who will come home for Christmas? If you do, doubtless you are looking forward with much anticipation to the reunion with your youngster, and probably he too is anxious to see you and all the family.

But watch your step, lest you spoil the holiday for your child and for yourself. Your child will not want to spend all or even most of his home time with you. He will want to hit home base and to probably he will have much to tell

30 Years Ago Today

December 10, 1926

The Greenville Patriots Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution was held Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. W. Higgs. Notwithstanding the inclement weather, many members were present. This being a tree planting program, Mrs. Herman Duncan read the poem "Trees" by Joyce Kilmer. A very interesting lesson, "The Origin of Our Flag," was then given by the flag chairman, Miss Jesse Moye. This was followed by the reading of Christmas greetings by Mrs. H. Frederick Jones. Miss Moye rendered a beautiful vocal selection, "The Star," by Rogers. At the conclusion of the meeting a delicious sweet course was served by Miss Helene Higgs and Mrs. H. H. Duncan.

Concert Yesterday Well-Attended

By GEORGE E. PERRY

It was really rewarding to see so large, so appreciative (and so respectfully quiet) an audience turn out yesterday afternoon for the annual fall concert by the East Carolina Orchestra. They heard a good program of good music, and attested to this fact with sincere and prolonged applause. No one there could help but be aware of the fact that the orchestra, under the direction of Dr. Kenneth Cuthbert, have made noticeable progress since their concert of last spring. The strings are more homogeneous, the woodwinds, better blended, and the horn choir is approaching the qualities which a conductor is wont to expect. But the greatest advance seemed to be in the brass section, especially the trumpets. In the past this section seemed to overbalance the rest of the choir; this year, however, they sounded through with tasteful clarity and without distasteful pungency. This is due in large to the excellent way in which Thomas Miller, first trumpet, handles his instrument. His tone is one which would do any major symphony proud.

It was equally rewarding to hear so capable a soloist as June Crews. It takes a great deal of voice to (in the words of Ann Russell) "blast its way over the top of 50 blowing and tooting musicians," but Miss Crews has the type of voice that can do just this. She has resonance, support (except occasionally at phrase-endings), good intonation, and remarkable diction. Her first number was the dramatic "Hear Ye Israel" from Mendelssohn's "Elijah"; this was capably handled, though somehow it seemed that the soloist wasn't quite at home with this type of aria. But when she left the oratorio school, and went into the operatic, her curvaceous and arched voice and her dramatic ability were given a better chance. From "The Pace, Pace, Mio Dio" from "Forza del Destino" by Verdi, while containing a couple of poorly-supported tones, was inspiringly sung. The many moods of the aria were nicely distinguishable, and the climactic B flat at the end was a thrilling conclusion to a well-earned climax. As an encore she sang Rachmaninoff's poignant "Silence of the Night," which was unfortunately marred by a couple slips of memory. On the whole, however, her performance was an artistic one, and at least she has the honor of being the first student vocalist to be soloist with the orchestra during one of its regular concerts.

The orchestral portion of the concert began with Richard Strauss' "Rosenkavalier Waltzes." The tone was a bit on the smallish side, but the number was notable for its intonation. The two Carmen Suites by Bizet were the other orchestral offerings. In the Prelude to Act I there was some good tremolo work in the string section, although the movement suffered slightly because the tempo was above that marked by the composer. In the Aragonaise, the rhythm section did some good work, and Dottie Jo James made the oboe sound good. The brass section's work in Les Toreadors was notable, as was the solo trumpet of Mr. Miller in the Toreadors' Song. The March of the Smugglers was appropriately stealthy, and in the Bohemian Dance the ending was duly exciting.

In the accompaniments to Miss Crews' songs, the orchestra displayed a well-controlled balance, supporting the voice well, but not overpowering it.

A word in defense of the orchestra is due at this time. I fear that too many people are prone to expect to hear tone in quality and quantity like that found in established-symphony orchestras. Please remember that whereas they have eighty members and over (some go up as high as 104), the East Carolina Orchestra has 49. The smaller number is due entirely to the half-sized string section, and it is this important section which makes an orchestra an orchestra. If this is borne in mind, one cannot help but find these orchestral concerts remarkable. I say this not in defense of the orchestra, but in explanation.

Another word must be said about the very timely and tasteful stage decorations, which with the carols with audience participation, gave the concert an air of festive anticipation.

Only Indifference Can Explain Lag

Disappointing results of the 1956 Greenville Community Chest fund campaign must be attributed to the indifference of many people toward important activities carried on by Community Chest agencies.

So far contributions to the Greenville Community Chest total $13,642.50, leaving $1,232.50 to be raised if the goal of $14,875 is to be realized for this year. The amount raised by the campaign is certainly not to be sneered at, for it is a sizeable sum. Yet the $13,642 will not meet the needs of the eight local agencies who look to the Community Chest from year to year for funds with which to carry out their programs. And these programs are vital to building a better community.

With proper appreciation for the outstanding work done by Community Chest agencies, Greenville

Today Marks Start Of Reflector's 63rd Year

Today marks the beginning of the 63rd year of publication of The Reflector as a daily newspaper. During these years we have endeavored daily to provide for the people of Pitt County the best possible local newspaper.

On this, the 62nd anniversary of the beginning of publication of a daily newspaper by The Reflector we are keenly aware of our own shortcomings and of the patronage and support of the people of Pitt County who have made possible the continued growth of The Reflector. We are grateful to our readers, our advertisers and the people of Pitt County generally whose unwavering support over the years has been a major factor in the service The Reflector has been able to render.

Over the period of more than six decades since the first tiny Daily Reflector appeared, it has been our goal not merely to keep pace with the progress in Pitt County, but to stay ahead of our time and in whatever measure possible help blaze the trail for better days for all the people of this county.

Today The Daily Reflector is a daily visitor in more than 7,200 homes in Pitt County. Through its printed word it reaches more people in Pitt than any other publication and in a large measure it has brought the people of this huge county closer together over the years. Never has it intentionally or wilfully wronged any person. Over the decades it has been the peoples' paper, laboring for the advancement of their interest. Its most prized possession has been the confidence and esteem of the people of Pitt County in their newspaper.

On this anniversary The Daily Reflector reiterates its dedication to the principles which have guided it through the decades: greater service to the people of Pitt County.

New Traffic Islands Promise More Safety

Orange-striped traffic islands have sprung up seemingly by the hundreds along highways in Pitt County within the past few months. They have caught the eye of thousands of motorists and in our estimation have contributed appreciably to highway safety.

These traffic islands at major highway intersections have done a great deal to help regulate the flow of traffic through these intersections. They have made it easier for motorists to abide by the rules of the highway and the fundamental rules of safety.

Not only at intersections, but likewise at stores, service stations and various other business establishments that line the highways of the county, these traffic islands have a great help in regulating the entrance and exit of vehicles into and out of the regular flow of highway traffic.

Over a period of time this simple device should prove a great help in curtailing traffic accidents involving vehicles entering or leaving more heavily traveled roads.

Some Consolation Out Of Flight Into Nowhere

"Wrong Way" Corrigan made it across the Atlantic, but we have a strong suspicion the Air Force Trainer out of Kinston wouldn't have been so lucky.

The erring pilot was fortunately intercepted 80 miles at sea, heading east when his course was supposed to be west on a night flight to Greensboro.

To say that the airplane's compass was at fault oversimplifies the obvious question. In brief, the fly-boy pulled a lulu of a "boo-boo".

Last week's aerial error offers some consolation to some motorists' lapses in finding themselves on the wrong road with a backseat driver to straighten them out. They can always remember (silently) the wonderful flight into nowhere by 2nd Lt. T. G. Womble.

should have little difficulty in meeting its Red Feather goal each year. The Reflector hopes the additional $1,232 needed to meet this year's goal will be realized before the end of this month.

If it is not, 1956 will mark the fourth consecutive year the goal has not been reached. On the basis of action taken by the Board of Directors of the local Community Chest, it will likewise mark the end of the Community Chest here as a fund-raising agency. Early this year the Board passed a resolution calling for dissolution of the Chest if the 1956 contributions fell below the goal.

While Greenville's Community Chest is not as broad in scope as United Funds in other cities of comparable size in the state, the amount raised for Red Feather agencies in Greenville appears out of line with those of other cities. Goldsboro, for example, has raised $107,000 this year for its United Fund. Kinston has raised 93 per cent of its goal of $71,450. Asheboro has raised $55,000, and Mount Airy $45,000 to cite a few.

Hundreds of local citizens put countless man-hours of effort behind the Community Chest campaign this year. It is certainly not their fault that the goal has not been realized. Indeed, these local citizens who worked so diligently on the Community Chest campaign are to be commended for their efforts.

The big question remains, however, will the additional $1,232.50 be contributed before the end of the year?

The Reflector appeals to local citizens who have not contributed to the Community Chest this year to do so during the next three weeks in order that the outstanding work of the various Community Chest agencies may be continued in our community.

Battleground Now A Historical Site

By LYNN NISBET
ALAMANCE — One of the newest of the officially recognized historic sites in North Carolina is Alamance Battleground. For that story, as the radio announcer says, we take you now to Burlington and Howard White.

There has been no split-second schedule to meet, but gradually the famed Alamance Battleground in Alamance County is taking shape to become one of the newest of the state's historical sites.

The 44 acres of land transferred to the state in 1952 now is unkept or serve as a dumping ground. Under the State Department of Archives and History, the Sam Tarleton and Norman Larson in the Historical Sites section, the battle ground now is clean, attractive, and is taking shape that not long ago only was in the blueprint stages.

The monument, moved nearer the center of the field two years ago, has been elevated, and the Alamance County DAR chapter has planted boxwoods around it. There is a parking area now available, as well as walkways to the monument and picnic tables.

A brief history of the battle itself has been engraved on an aluminum plaque and rests under an open shelter. The weeds have been erected on each highway side, as well as on new Highway 70 to call attention to the motorist.

All of this attention being given the site by the state, and prospects of further development, has brought a new life to historical-minded residents of the Alamance County area, and some observers see that there is an unlimited program that will unfold in years to come—simply because the battleground itself, after so many years resting in neglect, now is a part of the recognized and respected history of North Carolina and the nation.

Many people, and organizations, are being called in or are volunteering to become a part of this new era that has no goal of preparing for the future beyond the basic purpose of recognizing the past.

The Battle of Alamance story doesn't have to be told in detail in North Carolina. The Regulators, in 1771, took up their arms and generated the first open resistance to Governor Tryon and his administration of the colony under the Crown. The regulators, on Alamance Battleground, were defeated by Tryon and the militia, but no one can convince an Alamance County resident and countless supporters throughout the state and nation that this resistance didn't pave the way to the Declaration of Independence.

Now that the state had adopted a gradual development program, starting with the 1953 General Assembly, there are other plans nearing reality. Supporters of the project in Alamance now have proposed that they are willing to match a state appropriation to get a museum constructed on the site as soon as possible that could lead to thousands of visitors annually. The specific proposal from Alamance, endorsed by the Chamber of Commerce, asks that the 1957 General Assembly appropriate $14,000, and a fund-raising campaign within the county would provide the additional $14,000 judged needed to provide the museum. Citizens of Alamance feel that under this arrangement, the appropriation probably will come much quicker to enable the museum to be constructed. They also feel that a project of this type, while it will be under state ownership and control, should have some participation on the part of the home folk.

While a decision is awaited on this proposal, plans are not at a standstill.

Trustees of May Memorial Library in Burlington have established an Historical Section, with adequate space provided, that will bring together as much of the documentary history of the county as possible into one collection. Members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, starting in January, will give major assistance in collecting the documents and other material that now are owned by individual families. All documents relating to the Battle of Alamance, or the period in which it was fought, are expected to be transferred to the museum when it is available.

In the meantime, the battleground itself is not going unused. During the summer, there was a big increase noted in visitors, many of whom used the picnic tables and took pictures of the monument.

And a few weeks ago, the Alamance District of Boy Scouts of America, some 400 strong, held a weekend Camporee on the site. The Camporee provided a comparison with the progress of America, some parents pointed out.

Boy Scouts, in their uniforms, set in an open area by lantern light on their second night of camping. There was a bright moon shining across the battleground, silhouetting the monument.

And they heard a speaker tell the story. "It was on May 16, 1771," he told the Scouts, "that a group of men, some of them your ancestors, took up their arms on this very ground. They had no chance for victory, against an organized militia. But they showed that, as men of this nation have shown on many occasions since, that there is a commanding desire within every man to be free . . ."

Public Forum

To the Editor:

Dear Sir:

It seems a curious thing that the year which marks the breaking of all records for accidents by Pitt County drivers should also mark the advent of the Pitt County Safety Council. There is a terrible irony in the fact that during the very time when the Pitt County Safety Council is supposed to be making our roads safe, more people have died violently on these roads than ever before.

And although highways in other states and other counties in North Carolina have become safer because drivers are being punished the way they should be for driving recklessly, in Pitt County the highways have continued to become more and more dangerous, and when the year ends an all-time record for people killed and maimed will have been established.

What has the Pitt County Safety Council done about this shameful and dangerous condition of our roads? In September, amid much fanfare, the Council was started with a kick-off luncheon at a local restaurant. As far as I have been able to discover, all the Council has done in the intervening time is eat lunch once each month.

I was made a member of the Education Committee of the Council, at my request. This Committee has never met, to my knowledge; at least I have never been informed if such a meeting has taken place. I have tried to discover from officials of the Council who is chairman of this committee, in which I am very much interested, but so far this information has not been forthcoming.

As far as I have been able to discover, no other committee of the Council has taken any action whatever concerning the deplorable conditions now existing on our highways. In other words—unless I have neglected to look for information on it—hard enough—the Pitt County Safety Council has remained a completely dormant organization, despite the desperate need which the people of Pitt County have for Council-sponsored action. I suggest, therefore, that the Council be activated forthwith, and that it start doing something, now.

Sincerely yours,
Edgar W. Hirschberg

New Standard For Carpeting?

By ELMER ROESSNER
How many square feet are there in a square yard? Three? Nine? Twenty-seven?

The fact that many people fumble that question is one of the reasons the Carpet Institute is asking retailers to sell carpet by the square foot instead of by the square yard after January 1.

The Institute says, "The industry has found from research that many consumers in making their computations in square feet to square yards will divide by three instead of by nine."

Thus a person considering carpeting for a 9' by 12' room, and remembering that three feet make a yard, might figure that 36 yards of carpeting would be needed. Since that would make the cost almost prohibitive, the industry would have lost a customer.

SQUARE FEET ARE STANDARD

The other reasons for the change, as formally stated by the organization, are:

1. Room measurements in residential, commercial and all other buildings are expressed in terms of square feet.

2. Architects, builders, interior designers, interior decorators and consumers use the square foot as the basis for the expression of area measurement.

3. Other floorings and floor coverings use the square-foot unit as the standard of measurement.

4. Standard size rug units and Oriental rugs are described on the basis of feet.

There was probably another reason for the change, although it was not announced publicly. That is that carpet seems cheaper when priced by the square foot. Carpet at $122 a square foot, to the nonmathematical mind, at first glance seems cheaper than carpet at $10.95 a square yard. Actually, it is fractionally higher. Besides, the new pricing will make it possible to advertise carpets now selling at less than

$9 a square yard as "at less than $1 a square foot."

MANY DEALERS RELUCTANT
First reactions from dealers have not been entirely favorable. Some have indicated that they will not adopt the new pricing; others say they will wait to see what their competitors do.

One source of opposition is injured pride; dealers say they were not consulted. Some think the idea should have been tested in a single metropolitan area.

Still others dealers have come up with what appears to be a real defect in the square-foot plan. Carpeting normally comes in 9, 12 and 15-foot widths. A family considering carpeting for a 10-by-16-foot room would figure that it would need 160 square feet of carpeting. However, it would require 16 linear feet of carpeting 12 feet wide to cover the room, or 192 square feet. Until this was thoroughly understood, the family would be inclined to suspect the dealer was fudging.

Strength for the Day

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
OUR NATURES CAN BE CHANGED

When James A. Garfield was in his teens, he wrote these words: "I mean to make myself a man, and if I succeed in that, I shall succeed in everything else."

He was the son of a widow who took in washing to give her son an education. Immediately after Garfield had taken the oath as President of the United States, he turned about and kissed his mother whose sacrifice had given him the opportunity to succeed.

If young people only know how plastic their lives are and how easy it is for them to make out of themselves practically anything they want to become, there would be few failures in the world. The disposition of unregenerate old human nature is to respond to environment and take the broad easy-going highway which always leads down. There is not a person in whom this is not a tendency. Even Jesus was tempted, but the Heavenly Father perfected his nature and brought it to its full human maturity by means of these temptations.

Someone has said that an evil man is granite to God and wax to the devil, whereas a good man is wax in God's hands and granite to Satan. We are put here in the world to grow. God could bring us into the world mature and perfect beings if He wanted to do so, but there appears to be something else that He wants to do more, namely, to give us a chance to grow. For it is our privilege, among all the other creatures of the world, to grow souls as well as bodies.

Future For People In Florida

By ROBER W. BABSON
BABSON PARK, Mass. — This time of year I begin to think of the South. The birds are no longer here to wake me every morning but have gone to a warmer climate; and so I too hope to leave for the South fairly soon. Hence, if my good California friends will forgive me, I will this week devote my column to "The South." California does not now need to be boomed, it is already booming.

FLORIDA IDEAL FOR MANY PEOPLE

Florida holds a future both for itself and for you. Practically all of Florida is still growing in many directions. Light industries are finding the South more and more the ideal spot. Labor is somewhat cheaper and absenteeism is far less than in the North. People are healthier and seem happier in a climate like Florida.

In Florida's expanding economy there are plenty of jobs for people who are willing to work. There appears to be room for everyone. Certainly, the South is always looking for young people willing to learn some trade. The cattle and farming industries in Florida are growing. Builders and engineers are needed. In fact, most professional men can settle in the South today and have no difficulty finding work.

OLDER PEOPLE STILL FLOCKING SOUTH

Men and women still think of Florida as the ideal place to retire. Every year thousands go to Florida to do just this. Subsidizing retirement at 65 years of age has been one of the things people in the South. They know that living costs are cheaper there, and this will be especially true if the United States is going into a "cold cycle." After the North, it is a climate in which to sun and play outdoors. I do advise, however, that every Southern home provide artificial heat. Fuel bills are comparatively small and clothing is less expensive. No elaborate or expensive winter clothing is needed, although the women still want one little fur jacket! Rents are lower. One can build a very modern house that may be planned to make housekeeping light. People are finding it constantly harder to get servants and hence are using that money to go out to their local Country Club for some meals.

LONG-TERM FUTURE FOR ALL THE SOUTH

The constantly increasing population of the United States is bound to affect the population of Florida and other Southern states. Cities will grow there very quickly. Think of your own small town where you live and you can see for yourself that since the war there has been great growth all around you. Construction companies which you know as little concerns before the war have grown into very large operations. This will happen to many present-day small construction companies in the South as more and more year-round homes are built.

Most Southern cities will have to enlarge their airports to handle the traffic and also to make them safe for the jet age. All the South needs more parking space for cars. Taxes are low in Florida, which has no State income or inheritance tax, though it does have an "intangible" tax.

LAND AS AN INVESTMENT
After the next stock market crash people will recognize that good real estate, especially in an inflationary era, is the best investment. I have always advised buying a small piece of property on the outskirts of a small town and sitting tight. The town grows out to you. If you should sell acreage land, hold onto the mineral rights. Often a separate and very profitable sale can be made of these rights alone later on. The oil industry has yet to hit the big jackpot in Florida and the Southeast, but it is coming some day.

Florida and other Southern states will continue to attract tourists both winter and summer. Now that the airlines and hotels have special summer rates, the South has a whole new income undreamed of before. Remember Daytona Beach and its world-famous hard sand races. (Continued on Page 6)

Bridges May Cost Hawaii Its Statehood

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON—Harry Bridges' important role in paralyzing all coastal ports—the Atlantic, Gulf and Pacific harbors—with a longshoremen's strike will probably bar Hawaiian Islands and Alaska from gaining statehood at the January-July session of Congress next year.

Despite favorable recommendations for full participation in national and legislative affairs for these two territories in both Party platforms, and President Eisenhower's expected approval in his State of the Union message to Congress, political intrigue and Capitol Hill suspicion of radical labor control in Hawaii will probably bar both territories from admission to the Union.

ALASKAN DEMOCRATS Alaska has sent Democratic delegates to the House for many years, and it would presumably ship Democrats to the Senate and the House when and if granted statehood. With the Republican and Democratic membership and control of the Upper Chamber divided by only two votes—49-47—the entry of two Alaskan Democrats would give greater control to an Administration opposition.

So, Democrats have opposed Hawaiian admission, while Republicans have turned an icy shoulder to Alaska's application. The Democrats also objected to full Hawaiian representation because they thought, rightly or wrongly, that the islands' polyglot population would elect Civil Rights advocates to the American Congress.

HAWAIIAN ELECTIONS In the recent Hawaiian elections, Mrs. Betty Farrington, an Eisenhower Republican, was defeated by Jack Burns, a Democrat. Together with several other missionary families, the Farringtons thought that they controlled politics and economics in Hawaii.

Thus, in view of this political shift, it would seem that the Democratic objection to Hawaiian statehood had been removed. It is possible that they would gain four Senate seats, and four in the House, if these two territories were admitted to the Union at the next sessions. The Democrats could benefit from these votes on Capitol Hill and in the Electoral College.

RADICAL DEMOCRAT WON IN HAWAII However, the Democratic victor over Betty Farrington, who, incidentally, is one of Washington's most beautiful and delightful hostesses, was a radical Democrat—Jack Burns. His triumph is attributed to the support which he got from Harry Bridges' longshoremen's union and allied labor forces. Bridges is believed to control Hawaiian politics.

As a result, Democratic conservatives on Capitol Hill, as well as Republicans of similar stripe, have lost their ardor for admission of both Alaska and Hawaii.

The bipartisan suspicion, which will govern their vote and the Alaska-Hawaii applications for statehood, is that the islands might send to Congress not Republicans or Democrats, but Russian sympathizers.

OUR HARD-BOILED DIPLOMAT SENT TO LONDON In sending John Foster Dulles to next week's NATO meeting, President Eisenhower is serving notice on Sir Anthony Eden and French Premier Guy Mollet that he supports the State Department's condemnation of the Anglo-French-Israeli invasion of Egypt.

Our European Allies, who do not like Secretary Dulles, would have preferred that Undersecretary Herbert Hoover, Jr. represented the United States at this get-together. He is the State Department's authority on oil and Middle East problems, for he settled our petroleum difficulties with Mossadegh and other Arabian potentates. But Ike preferred to send Dulles, the hard-boiled diplomat, instead of young Hoover, the compromiser and conservative.

Clothing Needed For Local Relief

CLOTHING BANK—Mrs. S. L. Rowland, chairwoman of the Civic Affairs Committee of the Women of the Moose, is shown above as she gives clothes to a Pitt County family from the Moose clothing bank. The family lost their home and belongings in a fire recently. Mrs. Rowland asked that anyone having children's clothing from one to 16 years call 3669 for pick up. The clothing may also be left at College View Cleaners. She also pointed out the need for bed clothing. (Photo by Lee Rowland).

New Source Of Farmer Credit

Farmers have a new source of credit available to them. F. L. Little Jr., secretary-treasurer of the Greenville Production Credit Association said today.

"When the production credit associations were organized in 1933," Little said, "loans were made with a maturity not exceeding 12 months. Later, arrangements could be made to carry over a portion of a loan used for capital purposes if conditions warranted."

"In 1955 the PCAs began experimenting with capital purpose loans on an intermediate-term basis with maturities not to exceed three years."

"Effective Jan. 1 associations may make intermediate term loans with maturities not to exceed five years. These loans can be made for capital purposes such as purchasing machinery, purchasing land, development of pastures, fencing, buildings and building repairs and other purposes."

"The responsibility of making each loan is vested in the executive committee of the association, which has the responsibility of fixing the terms and conditions on which the loan is to be made."

Little stated that farmers who are looking for credit suited to their particular situation are invited to visit the Greenville Production Credit office to discuss the new type intermediate-term credit which will be available shortly.

PCA offices are located in Greenville and Snow Hill.

Winds Thwart Efforts To Curb Bif Forest Fire

TRYON, N.C. (AP)—A treacherous forest fire burned unabated in the mountains near here today as firefighters sought to control it despite strong winds.

More than 2,000 acres of woodland had burned last night on Big Warrior Mountain on U.S. 176 between Tryon and Saluda.

Weary firefighters attempted to contain the fire within fire lines, but persistent winds thwarted their efforts, blowing the fire past fire lines and breaks numerous times.

Heavy undergrowth and difficult mountainous terrain hampered the more than 100 firefighters.

Between 30 and 40 summer homes at the base of the mountain were threatened last night and one family of 11 was evacuated from their home to a motel for safety.

The 17-year-old wife of the gunman said her husband's parents lived at Salinas, Calif. She said she knew nothing of her husband's holdup activities.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Auctioneer Leo Proctor was going so strong that he almost sold his own coat.

Industry Takes Optimistic Look At Next Year

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP) — The big soothsaying guns are being trained today on the outlook for 1957.

Taking part in this seasonal outbreak of predictions of what to expect in the coming year are a pride of industrial lions, top men in oil, autos, steel, rails, building, textiles, farm implements, retail, aircraft, railroads, meat packing, insurance and banking.

Mostly they see good times continuing. But here and there are some who see a slowdown in their own industry. And the banker, in particular, sounds the note of caution.

An over-all view, and a most optimistic one, is taken by Carol M. Shanks, president of Prudential Insurance. His economists see the dollar value of all goods and services to be produced in the United States next year rising to a whopping 430 Billion, up nearly 20 Billion from the estimated Gross National Product for 1956. They see consumer spending rising by 10 Billion dollars next year from 1956's 265 Billion.

Roger M. Blough, U.S. Steel chairman, is "reasonably optimistic for the over-all economic outlook." He sees steel production at high level through the first six months of next year "come what may in international affairs."

The auto industry's big three see a better year dawning. Harlow H. Curtice, General Motors president, predicts Americans will buy 6½ million new cars in 1957, 10 per cent more than this year. L. L. Colbert, Chrysler president, says 1957 "approaches the potential of 1955 as one of the biggest years for the automobile industry." Henry Ford II, Ford president, agrees and looks ahead 10 years to see car ownership rising from the present 47 million to nearly 67 million and annual sales at 8½ million.

Near and long term views of the housing prospects vary sharply. Economist Miles L. Colean tells Architectural Forum, building magazine, that the next 10 years will see a 26 per cent expansion in building of new homes. But Joseph P. McMurray, New York State housing commissioner, says the 1957 rate of home building will be the lowest since 1949, unless the mortgage market improves.

Better days may be ahead for the ailing textile industry, too. W. Ray Bell, president of the Assn. of Cotton Textile Merchants of New York, sees a balance between supply and demand in the making after a long period of over supply.

Robert E. Gross, Lockheed Aircraft chairman, sees the industry's plane deliveries next year about the same as the current rate — 4½ billion dollars.

But a banker's caution colors the predictions of Henry C. Alexander, J. P. Morgan chairman. He sees nearly all general business indices pointing upward now. Then he looks at "the sharp worsening of international affairs" and ventures the guess "that the gravity of issues in-

The 156-year-old center part of the Capitol was given its 31st coat of paint this fall. Its regular painting every four years has been timed to coincide with the inauguration.

The younger, 100-year-old Senate and House wings of harder stone are washed every two years. The District of Columbia Fire Department did the job last month.

Congress appropriated $65,000 for the painting.

That money also face-lifted the lady atop the dome—the 19½-foot high bronze statue of freedom, she was recast entirely, repainted and given new platinum tips.

Damaged Plane Landed On Car

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—After it was over, weekend pilot Manning Rooks could "hardly believe it happened." And no wonder.

Caught aloft in a light plane with a damaged landing gear, Rooks had just brought his craft safely to earth by landing it with one wing atop a moving automobile.

It wasn't a lucky accident. It was planned that way, not by Rooks but by veteran flier Ed Hornbaker, from whose company Rooks had rented the plane.

Rooks, who has 160 hours of flying time, had taken off from Municipal Airport for a routine spin yesterday when the airport control tower radioed that his right landing gear was "dangling uselessly under the plane."

The crash crew at the airport was alerted and Rooks, 150 feet above, figured things "looked bad." He'd never made a crash landing.

On the ground, Hornbaker had an idea. Climbing into a hard top sedan with two other men, he drove out on the field.

The CAA told Rooks that Hornbaker would try to make the car act as wheels for the plane if Rooks could land with one wing on top of the auto.

Rooks made several passes at the runway to gauge speed and distance. On the fourth pass, he set the plane's left wheels on the runway and the right wing on top of the car. While Hornbaker drove, the car's other two occupants held the struts of the plane so it wouldn't slip off. Gently, Hornbaker applied the brakes and stopped.

"He's some guy," said Rooks of Hornbaker. "I'm just glad he thought of it."

Finally, if World War III should come, Central Florida should be a very safe place in which to live. It should escape bombing and also be sure of plenty of food and fuel.

Sprucing Up For Inaugural Show

WASHINGTON (AP) — The lady atop the Capitol dome has had her joints caulked.

The Capitol has been washed and painted.

The "Battle of Lake Erie" is back on its wall inside the Senate wing of the Capitol, the big painting having been cleaned and restored.

Things are taking shape for the Jan. 21 inauguration ceremony on the east steps of the Capitol.

Congress appropriated $215,000 for the necessary accountments to the Capitol and its grounds for the second inauguration of President Eisenhower. That includes a special roofed platform with

East Carolina Tops Catawba In Easy 94-68 Victory

Wilt The Still Makes Jayhawks Threat To Dons

By DON WEISS The Associated Press It looks as if those San Francisco Dons had better push that winning streak for all they're worth.

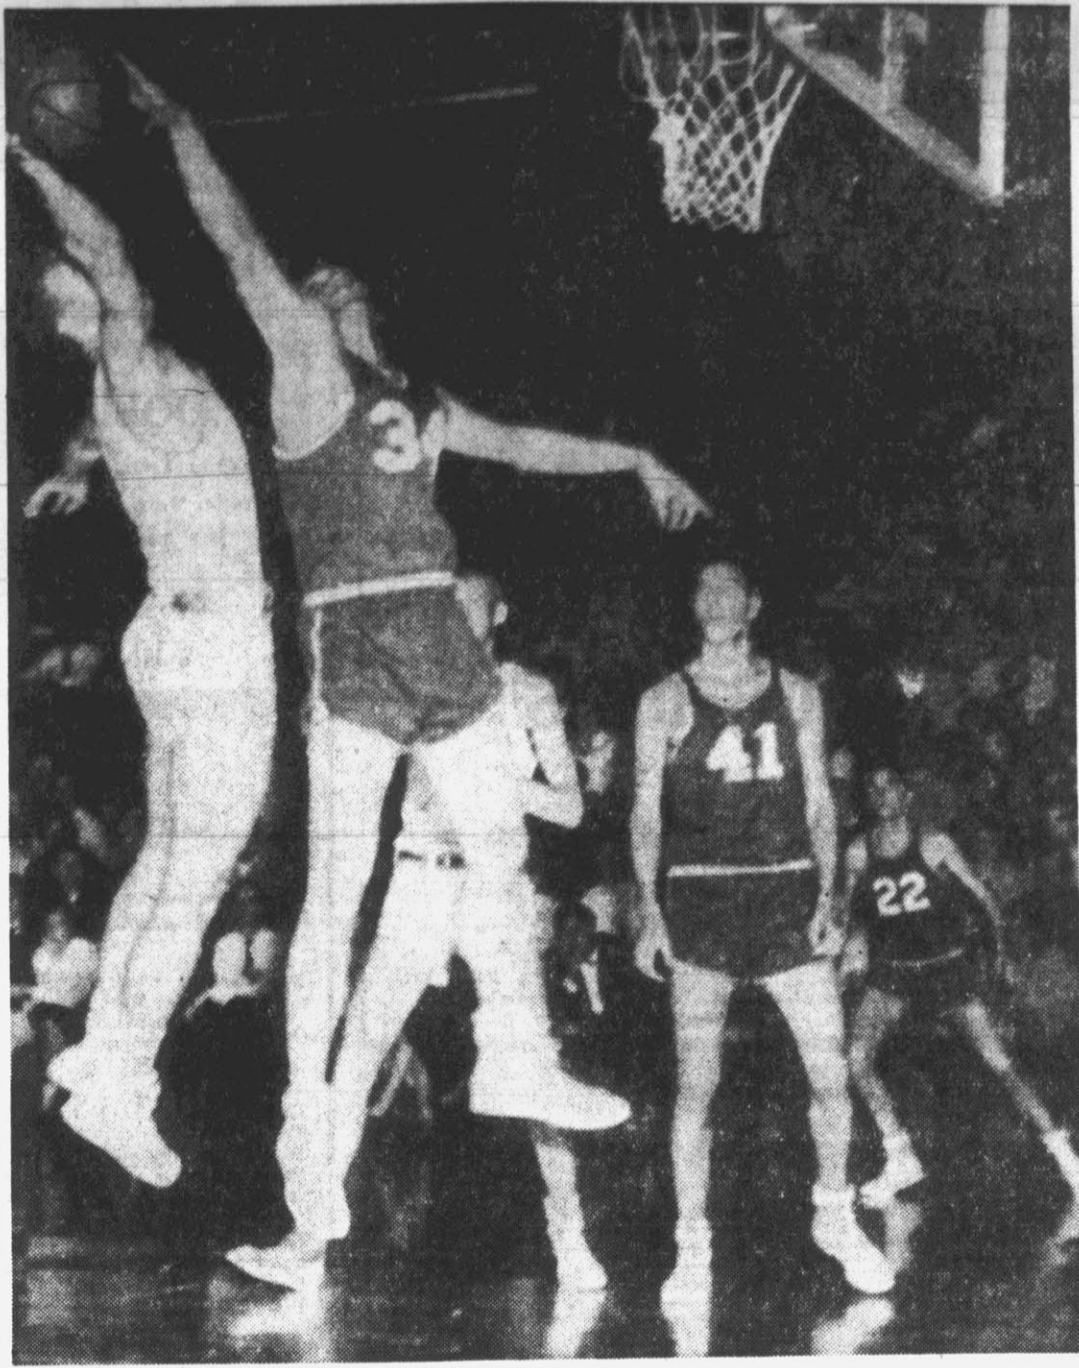

Wilt Chamberlain, probably one of the most sought after high school players in athletic annals, has been in two varsity games for the Jayhawks.

Elsewhere in college basketball, with few exceptions, the early weeks of the new season have indicated the old refrain of "next verse, same as the first."

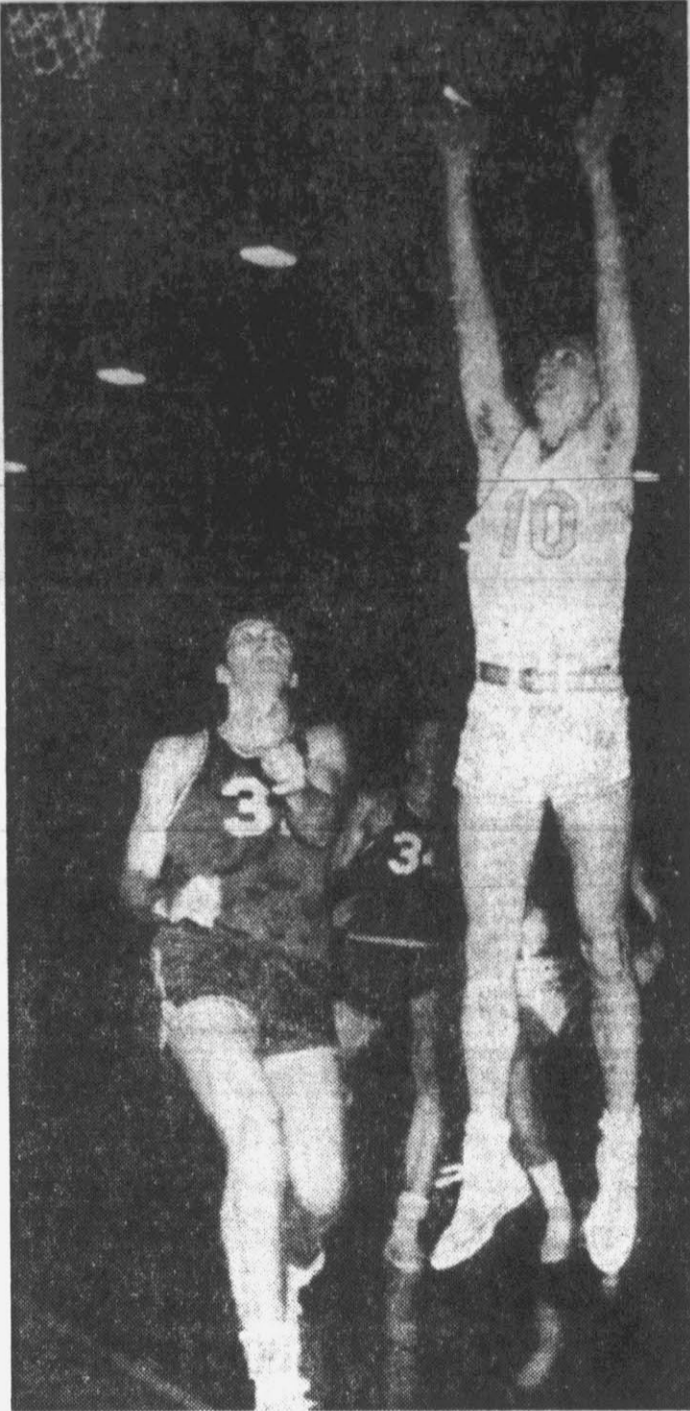

Niagara stopped a touted Seton Hall club 83-63, and Canisius stopped Louisville's three-game streak 76-74.

Belvoir Splits With Beargrass

Belvoir and Beargrass split a double-header last Friday night at Belvoir, with the home boys and the visiting girls claiming victories.

THIS ONE WAS BLOCKED—This jump shot by East Carolina's Nick Nichols (15) was blocked by Catawba's big Gene Fleming (34) in Saturday night's North State contest at Memorial Gymnasium.

TWO FOR SCRAP-IRON—Fred James (Scrap-Iron) James, veteran guard on the East Carolina outfit, jumps high to net two points in the Pirate's big win over Catawba Saturday night.

String Of Home Wins Reaches 50

By JIMMY ELLIS Reflector Sports Writer East Carolina College's basketball Pirates ran their home victory streak to 50 Saturday night.

Guard Charlie Adams and forward Don Harris paced the victory each taking a half to strut his stuff.

Nichols injured East Carolina played more than three-fourths of the game without starting forward Nick Nichols.

Rule Again As Tenpin Champs In All-Star Play CHICAGO (AP) — Thirty-year-old Don Carter, of St. Louis, and Marion Ladewig, of Grand Rapids, Mich., considered one of the greatest women tenpin players in the game.

Elon, which won the playoffs last season, makes its first conference appearance at home against Guilford Thursday.

Three other league games share top billing among the 19 games for North State teams this week. The features include East Carolina at High Point Wednesday night, and Lenoir Rhyne's wing-down east to play Atlantic Christian on Friday and East Carolina on Saturday.

This week's activity generally winds up high until after the holidays. Catawba, High Point and Lenoir Rhyne complete their pre-holiday schedules.

Only a smattering of nonconference contests are on schedule next week, plus appearances for Atlantic Christian and East Carolina in the Parris Island Holiday Tournament.

first few minutes. The Indians got the first point in the game and then saw East Carolina jump ahead, 6-1. Catawba kept pecking away, however, and finally caught up at 12-12.

Adams, with an uncanny ability from the free throw line and on long jump shots, put the Pirates in business. They led, 21-15, after ten minutes and then turned on the steam.

Catawba managed only four free throws in the last ten minutes of the first half. The Pirates, in the same amount of time, were burning the nets with 26. At the half, it was 47-19 and East Carolina was running subs in and out of the game almost constantly.

In the second half Catawba actually outscored the Pirates, 49-47, but the Indians were playing a great deal with ECC reserves.

Guards Sonny Clayton and Woody Helfrich did manage to salvage some personal glory, however, with 13 points apiece and forward Donnie Hunt popped in 12.

Perhaps the Indians' most outstanding accomplishment of the night was keeping the Pirates from hitting the 100 mark. The Bucs, egged on by the crowd, tried to make it but the Indians wouldn't go along.

Enough of a bad thing was enough. And 100 points would have been too much.

Tourney Dates Set By Ass'n CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP) — The Class AAA state high school basketball tournament will be held at Greensboro Feb. 28 through March 2.

The North Carolina High School Athletic Assn. meeting here Saturday announced that the Class A tournament will be held at Sanford March 14-16 and the Class A tournament will be held in Durham on the same dates.

GHS Host To AAA Rocky Mount Cagers Tomorrow

Greenville high school, in the midst of a rebuilding campaign this season, will play host to AAA Rocky Mount tomorrow night at the GHS gymnasium.

The game will be the second of the year of the G-Men, who were soundly thrashed by Goldsboro 77-47 last week on the home floor. Rocky Mount, having run into early-season difficulty against a rugged Class AA Kinston club and the Atlantic Christian College freshmen, are in somewhat, the same position that Greenville is faced with. The Black Birds lost the greater part of an excellent team last season, due to graduation, and Coach Bill Lundy has been using the early contests to form an effective combination out of the material he does have.

Greensies Weak After winning the 1955-56 North-eastern conference championship in a tie with Kinston Greenville gave up its first seven players to graduation. Only three members of the entire 1955-56 squad have returned to Farley's present outfit, and all three of them are practically inexperienced. Thus, the Phantom coach is in the process of shifting and searching for the right five.

Against Goldsboro last week, Farley used his entire bench after using Wayne Eldson, Edwin Wilkerson, Charlie Smith, Joe Wingate and Mack Roebuck as starters. His team played hard but was unable to match the swiftness of the AAA club.

Out of 12 candidates for the five starting positions, Coach Farley will probably stick to last week's initial quintet for the Rocky Mount tilt, with possible exceptions at center position.

The boys who played last week were Edwin Wilkerson, David Evans, Peanut Nunn, Charlie Smith, Billy Cox, Joe Wingate, Steve Noble, Mack Roebuck, Walker Allen, Bobby Edwards, Wayne Eldson, and John Wesley Hudson.

Should Be "Up" Rocky Mount should be "up" for the game Tuesday night, due to a 71-49 licking inflicted upon them last Friday by Kinston. The Black Birds will undoubtedly be seeking revenge against the first team they can get their hands on—which happens to be Greenville.

Expected to start for Lundy's Birds are Fred Fulcher and David Wood Evans at forwards, David Harper and Jackie Williams at guards and big Bobby Moore at center.

A junior varsity battle will open play at the gym at 6:00 and the varsity encounter will follow at 8:00.

Shrine Victory For Easterners

DURHAM (AP)—A strong team of Eastern high school stars staged 15-0 victory here Saturday over the West in the first Shriner's Youth Bowl game.

Rossie Barfield of Green County Training School scored the East's first touchdown in the opening quarter on a 21-yard run. Walter Browning of Ligon High in Raleigh set up the touchdown with a 64-yard run of an intercepted pass.

The Easterners scored in the third period when Browning plunged over from the two and then kicked the extra point. A second quarter safety completed the East's scoring.

Bulldogs Also Have Unbeaten Cage Five

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS East Carolina, with practically the same team that won the regular season basketball race last year in the North State Conference, is off to a good start toward repeating.

The Pirates have won both their league games, the latest 94-68 over Catawba Saturday night. Also undefeated in two league games is Atlantic Christian, weakened by graduation but able to call upon newcomer Jack Underwood and reserves from last season.

The Bulldogs edged Catawba 69-68 Friday night, and then showed they were beginning to jell by taking a 91-83 victory on the road from High Point.

Another club to watch is West-ern Carolina, which has won four of five games, including its only league start.

Mukden Again Hub Of China's Industrialization Bid

Editor's Note—A Canadian reporter, David Lancashire, has spent six weeks touring Red China—an area where U. S. reporters cannot travel because of State Department rulings. Lancashire traveled 5,500 miles and talked to farmers, factory workers, clerks and even a few capitalists. In this uncensored story, first of a series to appear this week, Lancashire tells of the industrial development of Manchuria and how life is lived there.

By DAVID LANCASHIRE
MUKDEN (Shenyang), China.
Mukden was developed and then given up in defeat by the Japanese. It was restored by the Russians when they occupied Manchuria after World War II. Today, back in Chinese hands, it is the hub of an industrialization program aimed at making Manchuria a world production center. Mines in Liaoning Province, and most of them are centered in Mukden and Anshan, two hours away. So many factories are now plugged into the city's power lines that public electricity is often cut off in the daytime.

There is no gaiety here. By 7 p.m. streets are empty except for workers on their way to night school. Social and family life is sacrificed to production, and even the cigarettes in Mukden are stamped with a little cog-wheel trademark.

It is a dreary city of almost 2½ million, with miles of walls and drab houses, forests of chimneys and acres of housing projects for the workers who tend the heavy production lines.

The residents live and think in terms of the factory. The model housing village outside the city, where 7,000 factory families live in new but squalid buildings, is peppered with posters and slogans. The factories are hung with banners urging workers to "increase your political consciousness as you increase production."

In the downtown district, a former department store houses an exhibition of unbelievable dullness. There are five floors of lathes, plows, bottled chemicals, sample cases of ballbearings and steel bars, drill presses and truck tires.

But the monotonous display draws 1,200 persons a day, the director said, and 4,000 or 5,000 on Sundays. A good percentage of the serious-faced visitors are women and tiny children, and high school students intently enjoying their one day off in the week.

The factory hand works a 48-hour week, and has hospitalization and housing supplied almost free by the state. There are no vacations, but seven days off a year for national holidays.

Wages run from about 33 yuan a month to 108 yuan for highly skilled men or women ($14 to $47). These are among the highest industrial salaries in China.

The usual workers' home is a one or two-room affair with leaky faucets, bare walls and no bathroom. Furniture—wooden beds with no mattresses, and straight-backed chairs—is often supplied by the factory. Kitchens have a small gas ring and a laundry tub. A family generally includes two or three children, plus in-laws.

Rent, however, is only $2 or $3 a month. And since night life is unknown in northeast China except for movies or dances at the factory canteens, there is nothing much but subsistence for a laborer to spend his money on. Most manage to bank a small amount.

Almost all the factories were built by the Japanese during their 14-year occupation. As the Japanese fled, they tried to leave the buildings and machinery in ruins.

The Russians who followed confiscated much of the workable machinery and shipped it to the Soviet Union. Since then, however, they have been pouring technical and financial aid back into the province. Many of the 205 projects to be aided by the U. S. S. R. during the first five-year plan are in this area.

All expansion of the factories and installation of machinery was planned by Russian technologists.

Crews of Chinese workers were sent to Russia to learn the intricacies of the machine age. Now directors of the plants say, the Chinese are capable of running things themselves. The Russians have for the most part gone home.

First Trip To China By Special AP Reporter

To most Americans, Red China is pretty much an unknown quantity. U. S. reporters are forbidden, under State Department regulations, from going there. Restrictions do not apply to Canadians, and recently The Associated Press signed up a Toronto reporter, David Lancashire, to tour the country.

The result is a series of articles which will begin Monday in this newspaper.

This is Lancashire's first trip to China, and he does not pretend to be an expert on the country. But he has traveled 5,500 miles through Communist-controlled land, and his eyes and ears—even his nose—have told him a lot.

"I expected to be accompanied day and night by government-supplied translators," he says. "I had trouble getting one most of the time."

"I talked to farmers, factory workers, salesmen and office clerks, young Communists and old peasants, capitalists and political prisoners.

"I expected to be presented with lists of prepared programs and be told this is where I should go. I never received even a suggestion. On the contrary, on arriving in a city I was asked where I wanted to go and who I wanted to see.

"Nevertheless, interviews were prearranged down to the last detail. Even the farmer knew two days beforehand that you were coming."

"Invariably, after asking to see a farm or factory, I was taken to a model example. But when I asked to see slums I was shown slums. On a street, I was permitted to enter the house I chose, and not a preselected one."

"My movements were of course restricted by my own inability to speak Chinese."

Besides writing his stories—all of which are uncensored—Lancashire took many pictures. Lancashire attended the University of Toronto, and then traveled in Europe as a freelance writer, musician, deckhand and teacher. He later worked on the Quebec Chronicle-Telegraph, Montreal Herald and Toronto Globe and Mail.

Producer Says Dealing With Stars Is Tough

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"The business of dealing with stars has gotten out of hand," says topnotch independent producer Stanley Kramer.

"The demands made for stars' services have become so terrific that I am thinking of giving up the practice of using stars and going back to what Elia Kazan is doing today—using newcomers and making them stars. It's the same thing I did with 'Champion' and 'Home of the Brave'."

"Home of the Brave," which he made in 1949 with a no-name cast, cost $350,000 and grossed 2½ million dollars in the domestic market. Kramer is now cutting "the Pride and the Passion," which he made in Spain at a cost of 3½ million dollars. His stars: Cary Grant, Frank Sinatra, Sophia Loren.

Kramer admitted that he had to make considerable concessions to acquire Messrs. Grant and Sinatra, two of the most sought-after stars. Both received huge salaries, and one drew a percentage of the take. (He didn't say which one; I'll guess Grant.)

But money is only the start in dealing with stars these days, he said. Contracts run into dozens of pages. Provisions must be made for special dressing rooms, individual makeup men, etc. even the film advertising gets special attention.

Kramer laid the blame for the star demands not with the players themselves but with their agents.

$426 Millions In Price Supports

WASHINGTON (AP)—Farm price support operations cost the government more than 100 million dollars a month for the four months ended Oct. 31.

The Agriculture Department put the figure yesterday at $426,245,685, compared with a net loss of $240,514,922 for the same period of 1955. For the fiscal year which ended June 30, the loss was computed at $974,767,365.

Committee Maps Nat'l Radiation Exposure Limits

By FRANK CARNEY
 WASHINGTON (AP) — Recommendations for what would be the first radiation exposure limits ever set up for the population as a whole have been drafted by a quasiofficial watchdog committee.

The same group, the National Committee on Radiation Protection, has also drafted recommendations for what would amount to new and sharply reduced limits on radiation exposure for the nation's half million workers in atomic and similar plants.

This was reported today by Dr. Lauriston S. Taylor, chairman of the committee and a National Bureau of Standards scientist, in a report prepared for delivery later this week to a meeting of the American Nuclear Society. He amplified in an interview.

Taylor said the intent of both actions is to assure that exposure to radiation from all sources — including atomic bomb fall-out, products of atomic energy plants, and medical and dental uses of X-rays — does not go beyond a point of "acceptable risk" from the genetic or hereditary standpoint.

The committee he heads is sponsored by the Bureau of Standards. It is made up of representatives of the Atomic Energy Commission, the Public Health Service, American Medical Assn. and other professional and industry groups. It has no regulatory power but its recommendations in the past have been widely followed.

The unit by which radiation is measured is the roentgen. Taylor said the new recommendations are:

1. For the population as a whole — a limitation of 10 million roentgens of man-made radiation — delivered to the reproductive organs — for every one million persons in the population from conception up to age 30.
2. That would mean an average limit of 10 per person. But Taylor stressed that individuals who might receive an amount in excess of that would not necessarily be exposed to any "significant" genetic hazard. Moreover, he said, not all radiation received by the body necessarily goes to the reproductive system — for example, in an X-ray examination of the teeth, less than one thousandth of the radiation used reaches the reproductive organs. He added that the dose delivered to the reproductive organs may range from none at all for a few types of radiation exposure to virtually 100 per cent for some other types.

2. For workers in atomic and other radiation-producing plants — a formula under which at no age would the total accumulated radiation dose to the reproductive organs be allowed to exceed the person's age, minus 18 multiplied by 5. Age 18 is the minimum for starting work in such plants. Under the formula, for example, a worker would be allowed no more than 60 roentgens up to age 30. Taylor told a reporter, "There is reason to believe that the new recommendations will be incorporated into safety regulations of the AEC, individual states and industries, and that any changes or limitations of operations deemed necessary to keep exposure of the population as a whole within the limits recommended will be made." Taylor said his committee believes that "reasonable testing of atomic weapons—that is, at the present rate of testing—could continue indefinitely" without exceeding the radiation limit recommended for the population as a whole.

Skid And Crash Fatal To 6 Girls

PATTERSON, N.Y. (AP) — Six young student nurses were killed last night when their car skidded out of control and smashed into a milk tank truck. The truck driver escaped injury.

The nurses, aged 19 and 20, were bound for the Harlem Valley State (Mental) Hospital at Wingdale, N.Y., near this Putnam County community, when their auto crashed on Route 22.

They were senior students at St. Mary's Hospital in Brooklyn, N.Y., and were en route to begin the third week of a 12-week training course in psychiatric nursing. The force of the crash, state police said, reduced the nurses' vehicle to a mass of tangled wreckage. Five died at the scene; the sixth en route to a hospital. Witnesses said the weather was clear although it had snowed earlier.

Frank Bollin of Poughkeepsie, N.Y., the truck driver, told authorities the nurses' car skidded out of control and veered toward his truck. He turned his vehicle up an embankment but the car smashed into the trailer.

Dr. Leo P. O'Donnell, director at Wingdale Hospital, identified the victims as: Consuelo Byrne, 20, of Staten Island; Sheila Roche, 19, of Blasdell, N.Y.; and Eileen Davis, 20, of Anne Callaghan, 20, Martha Santemma, 20, and Maxine Singleton, 19, all of Brooklyn.

Miss Roche died en route to the Danbury (Conn.) Hospital.

Late Lesson For Would-Be Driver

MILWAUKEE (AP) — William Borchardt took his wife Lillian for a driving lesson and both wound up in a hospital with painful but not too serious injuries.

They were hurt when the car left a roadway and struck a tree. Borchardt is 79, his wife is 75.

CHAPTER 33
When they reached Dover, Casson left Jean in the car while he searched the Lord for his quarry. There was no sign of Perry in any of the lounges. He went out into the glass-fronted lounge which faced the sea.

The beach was almost deserted. Then he saw Perry. The little man was sitting on his raincoat, his arms clasped around his legs, staring out to sea. By his side was a package wrapped up in white paper.

Casson collected Jean Shaw and took her into the glass lounge. He pointed to Perry.
"You see that man? He murdered Jim." Casson lit a cigarette and turned to order coffee. When he turned back again she was standing there, motionless, staring down at the beach.

"What is he doing?" she asked.
Casson smiled. "He is trying to remember if he made a mistake." "Did he?"
"No."
"Then why is he worrying?"

"He knows the police are after him. He does not understand how they have found him. He feels he is putting his head into a trap. He does not understand how there can be a trap. He is having a very unpleasant afternoon. Especially since he can't make up his mind whether there is a way of escape."

"Is there?"
"There are two. He can assume another identity and hide. He won't do that because he will feel that he is always being hunted and he will have to abandon his loot. The other way is for him to go back to London and face out whatever is coming to him. That is the safe and that is the fool-proof way. But he does not know it's fool-proof."

"What will he do?"
"Go back to London and face it out."
"But—why are we here, then?"
"In an hour or so he will have made up his mind to return. He will have restored some sort of confidence in himself. When he feels better, he will meet us together—as it were by accident he will meet us—and his new-found armor will be splintered at a stroke. I am the only friend he has got—or so he thinks. He does not know that I know you. In the one place which he has chosen as a haven of solitude, he meets me with the fiancée of the man he murdered. I defy any criminal to be proof against that."

She shivered.
"I think it's beastly," she said, looking away.
He did not bother to reply. He watched Perry. At last the little man got to his feet, brushed the sand from his trousers, and gathered up his raincoat. He stumbled up the beach, his shoes slipping in the sand.

"Come along," said Casson. "This is it." She followed him through the hall and out of the hotel. They stood behind a parked bus and watched him. He entered the Lord Warden. Casson gave him ten minutes. Then he and the girl followed.

Perry was sitting in a far corner of the lounge. He did not look round as they came in. Casson arranged the girl so that she sat with her back to Perry. He ordered tea. When she had poured out for them both, he took a piece of bread-and-butter and leaned back, twisting sideways in his chair so that he could see the blackmailer. Perry was staring out of the window.

"Good heavens!" said Casson. In a loud voice. "There's a friend of mine." He rose to his feet and stroled over.
Perry was putting down his cup as Casson approached. He glanced up and saw Casson. His mouth sagged open. The remainder of his tea slopped into the saucer.

"Hullo," Casson said heartily. "Taking a day by the sea, eh?"
Perry continued to stare at him.
"You must come and meet a friend of mine," Casson continued. "Come and join us."
Perry tried to refuse but he was hustled over to Casson's table. As they neared it, he felt Perry's body go rigid.

"Here we are," said Casson. "Let me introduce you, Mr. John Perry—Miss Jean Shaw."
"How do you do," she said, her voice steady. How indeed, thought Casson. He pushed Perry into a chair and waved to the waiter to bring another cup.

"Nice place this," he rattled on. "All those boats going to France and Belgium. Makes me want to get away from it all. What about you, Jean?"
"I prefer this country. In England you know exactly where you are. Don't you?"
He glanced at Perry. Perry was leaning back in his chair, scarcely breathing. He had gone a sallow, sick color. After a moment he forced himself to his feet.

"I beg your pardon," he muttered. "It must be the sun. If you'll excuse me."
Casson leaped to his feet.
"My dear chap, you're ill. You wait here, Jean. I'll take Mr. Perry out for a breath of air."
"No, thank you," said Perry. "No, thank you. Excuse me. I really must go." He almost forced Casson's hand from his arm and walked unsteadily out of the room. Casson sat down.

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK — Steels and motors continued to draw trading interest early this afternoon as the stock market widened its advance in active trading.

Key issues went ahead from fractions to around 2 points. Some gains went beyond this and there was an occasional loss.

Increasingly optimistic forecasts for the steel industry and its best customer, the auto manufacturers, bolstered prices, brokers said, and overall confidence was aided by the lessening of tensions in the Middle East.

Gains among pivotal steels went to as much as 5 for Youngstown while the motor group's advances were held generally within a point. Aircrafts and nonferrous metals also showed sizable gains.

Youngstown's — on a timed advance was related by Wall Street observers to the run-up of Bethlehem Steel last week following its stock split proposal. The two firms hope to merge despite government opposition and Youngstown has been the object of stock split rumors.

Republic Steel and Allegheny Ludlum were up around a point or so while U.S. Steel rose a major fraction. Lukens Steel eased a point after its recent gain.

Chrysler gained around a point. Ford a major fraction. General Motors and Studebaker - Packard were firm.

United Aircraft rose more than a point. Boeing and Douglas Aircraft gained fractionally. North American Aviation eased.

Revlon, Inc., admitted to trading, opened at 2 1/4 and shaded slightly in later dealings.

Leading rails were irregular. Small gains were made by Southern Railway and Southern Pacific, Pennsylvania and New York Central eased.

Lone Star Gas dropped 1/4 at 33 3/4 on a big block of 13,800 shares.

Gains of around a point or so were made by Hiram Walker, Shamoon, International Nickel, Kennecott, Anaconda, Zenith and Allied Chemical. Alcoa picked up around 2. Royal Dutch gained a major fraction. Gulf Oil was off a bit.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 40 cents to $182.00 with the industrials up 90 cents, the rails up 20 cents and the utilities unchanged.

Short Circuit Briefly Darkens Sections Of City

A short circuit of undetermined origin plunged several sections of Greenville into darkness for a short period last night.

Utilities Superintendent Leonard Bloxam said today two of the main feeder lines from the city's power plant burned down about 9 o'clock. Affected by the power failure were a small section in the eastern part of the city, part of the city north of Tar River, and an area of South Greenville west of Evans Streets. All circuits were restored last night, he added.

Bloxam said Utilities Commission crews this morning were repairing the burned down lines and attempting to determine the cause of trouble. "The wires shorted out and burned down, but right now we don't know why," the superintendent said.

Power circuits which burned down last night normally carry about one-fifth of the electricity load that supplies Greenville. Bloxam said Utilities Commission crews last night switched the areas affected by the power failure to other circuits to restore electricity temporarily.
