Uncertainties Indicate Brake On N. C. Water Resources Activity

RALEIGH (AP) — Uncertainty as to the state's future role in water resources has brought "a state of confusion" to administration of water problems...

The commission also asserted that "duplication of responsibilities" among present agencies has caused confusion.

It recommended a curtailment of duties given the Board of Water Commissioners created by the 1955 Legislature...

The report on conservation and development of water resources was one of two released today by the commission.

The other was concerned with food and related inspectional activities. It stated that functions of the State Board of Health and the State Department of Agriculture overlap in a number of areas of food inspection.

The commission said the functions should be divided, with those relating primarily to sanitation and health placed under the health board and those relating primarily to marketing, purity of products, protection against adulteration, etc., assigned to the agriculture department.

A report dealing with building regulation and inspection and another on occupational licensing boards were released yesterday.

The commission's recommendations will go to Gov. Hodges and the 1957 General Assembly.

On water resources, the commission recommended:

1. That the Board of Water Commissioners function mainly as an advisory group "on what the state's future role in the water resources area should be."

2. That responsibilities of the Department of Conservation and Development for planning and making recommendations on water policy be transferred to the Board of Water Commissioners.

3. That the water boards responsibilities for research and informational activities be transferred to the C&D Department.

4. That the Stream Sanitation Committee continue as an independent unit of the State Board of Health...

Before the state's future role in the water resources area can be determined, the commission said, "additional factual data must be gathered: a sound and practical water program must be prepared and the public must be informed."

The research on water resources can better be handled by the C&D department, the report said. However, it asserted that the C&D department "has not been fulfilling its responsibility for making recommendations and plans for promoting the more profitable use of existing water supplies."

Had it done so, "the agricultural interests of the state would not have felt the need for or secured the establishment of the present Board of Water Commissioners," the report said.

The report on building regulation and inspection recommended that the Building Code Council be enlarged from five to nine members. The council would have primary responsibility for recommending changes in the state's building laws and for enforcement.

The commission said there are 25 independent licensing boards which control entry into professions and occupations in North Carolina. It recommended detailed reports be filed annually by each board with the secretary of state. The reports would show the number of persons applying for examinations, taking the tests, passing, failing, and obtaining licenses.

Carolina Coach, a part of the National Trailways Bus System, has routes in a five-state area. Its operations are concentrated in the northeastern part of this state, where it is the only major bus line in some areas.

At the start of the strike, the State Utilities Commission authorized other carriers to operate over Carolina Coach routes for the duration of the strike. Several bus lines took advantage of the emergency authority, which will expire with the end of the strike.

Main issues in the strike were a pay increase and overtime compensation.

RALEIGH (AP) — Carolina Coach Co. expects to be operating "as normal" tomorrow morning, John H. Thomas, company vice president, said today.

The strike has been in effect six weeks. Settlement of the strike would return to work some 300 drivers and put Carolina Coach's fleet of 200 buses back in operation in time for the Christmas holiday rush.

Both Eisenhower And Nehru Claim 'Understanding'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Nehru said today their talks here had confirmed a "broad area of agreement" between India and the United States in world affairs.

The two national leaders summed up the results of Nehru's four-day visit here in a final communique issued at the White House.

Simultaneously Nehru himself, at National Airport before taking off on the first leg of his trip home, said the talks with Eisenhower had strengthened Indian-American "bonds of friendship and understanding."

The statement from the White House said Eisenhower and Nehru had gained "greater understanding" of each other's policy. It added that this would promote their efforts to achieve international peace and friendship.

Eisenhower and Nehru held their last conversation at the Indian Embassy last night. Eisenhower was Nehru's dinner guest there and they talked together for more than an hour.

Today Nehru headed for a round of meetings with United Nations officials and American friends in New York, after which he will spend a weekend in Canada. Eisenhower's personal plane was put at his disposal for the trip.

The joint statement preserved the official cloak of secrecy which has surrounded the talks from their beginning Sunday.

Nonetheless, high U.S. officials familiar with the issues taken up, said that the conferences had been very successful from the American viewpoint.

Andau, Austria (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon visited this village only two miles from the Hungarian border today to view at first hand the condition of Hungarian refugees.

The village is one of the principal stations on the route used by nearly 140,000 Hungarians in their freedom flight from communism's iron suppression.

In a village dance hall he found hundreds of refugees—some getting their soup from a kitchen in the middle of the floor, others lying on straw around the edges.

The dance hall is one of the first reception centers for refugees after they cross the border. The village has a population of about 1,500. Many of the villagers have put up refugees in their homes.

Nixon tasted the soup and said it was good. He spoke to and shook hands with dozens of Hungarians.

One of them was a young man of 20 with no legs and only one arm. He told the vice president he had to leave Budapest because he had distributed anti-Communist leaflets. The boy had dragged himself 12 miles to reach the border.

Nixon told him: "I have seen many examples of courage in the war, but nothing to equal yours."

A cheer greeted Nixon and some of the refugees shouted: "Long live American-Hungarian friendship."

In a short speech, the vice president conveyed to the refugees the greetings of the season. He promised that those who went to the United States would get a hearty welcome.

He had learned how to say "hello" and "Merry Christmas" in Hungarian and used the expressions often in speaking to children. He had his picture taken many times.

Leaving the dance hall, Nixon tramped through the muddy street shaking the hands of Hungarians and asking them what they wanted to do. He visited the village school where many rooms were crowded with refugee families with children.

He then drove to Eisenstadt, the point where refugees are collected for transport to the interior and other countries. He had lunch with the governor of Burgenland, Johann Wagner.

In a toast to the governor, Nixon said: "It has been a memorable day for us... we have seen the suffering of the Burgenlanders in aiding the oppressed."

The vice president's convoy of 13 cars was cheered by Austrians and Hungarians along the road.

Eight new directors have been elected to the Chamber of Commerce's Board of Directors by members of the organization.

The new members announced yesterday by the chamber's Elections Committee are: Percy R. Cox, Cox Armature Works; Edward C. Harris, Home Builders Supply; Kenneth G. Hite, James and Hite, attorneys; George Lautares, Lautares Bros. Jewelers; J. H. Moye, vice president, Guaranty Bank and Trust Co.; Frank P. Preissie, assistant manager in charge, National Carbon Co.; Clarence Tugwell, secretary, First Federal Savings and Loan Assn.; Richard K. Worsley, CPA, Worsley and Worsley.

The group was elected from a field of 16 candidates on a ballot which had been submitted to Chamber of Commerce members for their vote.

The Elections Committee announced the results after it met and canvassed the votes Tuesday night. Members of the committee are: L. E. Ward, chairman; C. L. Lupton and Holly VanDyke.

The balloting was conducted by mail among the entire membership of the chamber. Approximately 185 ballots were received by the Elections Committee.

That represents around 50 per cent of the total membership of the organization.

One-third of the 24-man Board of Directors was replaced with new members in the election. The eight men will take office Feb. 1, 1957 and their terms will run until Jan. 31, 1960. The new group will meet with the old board on Jan. 14 and following the disposal of business by the old board that night the new board will organize and elect officers.

Corn And Cotton Still Top Crops

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department said today that 1956 farm crops had a total value of $18,973,732,000, a slight gain from the $18,575,494,000 at which 1955 crops were valued.

These figures do not include the value of livestock and livestock products.

Corn easily held its traditional spot as the top money crop. It was valued at $4,571,274,000 this year, compared with $4,360,633,000 for the 1955 crop.

Cotton, including cottonseed, was second with a value of $2,444,053,000 compared with $2,648,293,000 last year. Hay was third at $2,302,100,000 compared with $2,342,230,000 last year.

In determining the value of a crop, the department multiplies the production by the estimated average price farmers received for it.

Supper Party Fetes Card Club
GRIFTON—Mrs. L. D. McCotter entertained Thursday night at a supper party for members of her contract club and invited guests to number sixteen.

At 7:15 when they assembled at "Helen's" for supper, covers were laid at three tables which were decorated with greenery, poinsettia and lighted red candles in crystal holders. A fried chicken supper followed by individual lemon pies was enjoyed.

After supper bridge was played at the McCotter home on Highland Drive. In the living room where the guests were entertained arrangements of red gladioli made the decorations. Tallies were of the Christmas design.

Mrs. L. L. Mewborn and Mrs. Thurman Williams were high scorers among the club members and Mrs. Cecil Cobb for visitors.

Miss Rogerson Has Birthday Dance

ROBERSONVILLE—Mrs. Wiley B. Rogerson honored her daughter, Miss Betty Ann, with a dance Saturday from 8 o'clock until 11 in the Grammar School Cafeteria. The room was decorated with a Christmas tree and a life-size Santa Claus with his reindeer. The table was centered with a three-tiered white cake inscribed "Happy Birthday, Betty Ann." The 16 candles and the small trees in each corner carried out the green and red color scheme. Greenery and clusters of glass balls completed the table decorations.

The refreshments included potato chips, sand tarts, fancy holiday cookies, green mints, salted nuts and punch.

Miss Rogerson received many gifts from approximately 100 guests.

Christmas Show Hailed Success

The Christmas show which the Greenville Garden Club held last Saturday and Sunday was well attended by interested people from Farmville, Grifton, Kinston, Bethel, Rocky Mount and Wilmington. It was reported this morning.

Mrs. Vance Perkins, chairman, said today that she, Mrs. Tige Gardner and Mrs. Lynwood Worthington wished to thank the chairman of all committees and each garden club member who helped to make the show a success for their cooperation.

Proceeds from the show will be spent for the beautification of Greenville.

The club has as its projects Elm Street Park, Sheppard Memorial Library and Green Springs Park.

Flank steak should be broiled no more than 5 to 8 minutes on each side and it should be placed about 3 inches from high heat. The meat must be sliced in thin diagonal pieces if it is to be tender when tasted.

Farmers Must Heed Or Take A Loss

Flue-cured tobacco producers apparently will pay dearly in 1957 if they insist on growing varieties of leaf which Department of Agriculture have branded as undesirable under present market demands.

So far as the flue-cured tobacco regions are concerned, the USDA decree slashing supports on varieties 139, 140 and 244 means that farmers must either sharply curtail or eliminate altogether their production of these varieties or suffer considerable economic loss when the 1957 marketing season rolls around. The Department of Agriculture has flatly said supports of all grades of tobacco from these varieties will be slashed in half for next year.

For the farmer it means he can produce these varieties and receive half the support price he did this year, or produce other varieties and receive substantially higher support prices grade for grade for his crop. When it gets down to brass tacks, the Department of Agriculture leaves the farmer little choice.

Price supports for tobacco have been a major factor in keeping the farmer's return from his crop at a reasonable level. Fluctuations in the average price for crops of tobacco in recent years have closely paralleled fluctuations in support prices for various grades.

We do not intend here to debate the fairness of the decree by the Department of Agriculture. Suffice it to say that the Department has determined it will offer adequate support prices only for the types of tobacco which are in demand in both domestic and world markets. To be realistic, support prices must reflect the demand for various grades and types of tobacco. To realize the most from their crop, farmers must endeavor to produce the kind of tobacco buyers need for both domestic and foreign consumption.

The planting of varieties other than 139, 140 and 244 is not in itself sufficient to assure the production of tobacco with the heavier body and aroma that purchasers now want most. Growers must modify cultivation practices which in recent years have been bent toward producing as many pounds of tobacco per acre as possible, and at the same time producing a light, mild leaf which the companies demanded a few years ago.

While the Department's action against specified varieties has not set well with many farmers, it must be recognized that in the production of tobacco as in the production of any other commodity, demands of the consumers in a large measure must govern the quality and type of the product.

If American tobacco growers are to maintain their share of both the domestic and world markets, they have no choice but to the kind of leaf which is needed.

Construction Figures Show City's Growth

Greenville's continued growth is evidenced in part at least by the fact that 1956 will see the second highest year in history so far as new construction in the city is concerned.

Though the total value of structures for which building permits have been issued this year may fall a quarter million dollars short of last year's all-time record of $2,720,000, 1956 must still be regarded as a year of significant progress.

In viewing the value of building permits issued by the city so far this year, we must not overlook the fact that tighter money and higher interest rates have adversely affected new construction throughout the nation. Particularly is this true in the case of new homes. Had money for the construction of new homes been as readily available throughout 1956 as it was in 1955, there is reason to believe the total value of new construction in Greenville this year would have surpassed even the 1955 record.

During the first 11 months of this year permits have been issued for construction of 95 dwellings and 10 duplex units. In 1955 permits were issued for a total of 177 dwellings and 23 duplex units. Combined, these figures mean that during the past 23 months dwelling units have been provided for an additional 305 families in Greenville. These homes and apartments would not have been provided had there not been a demand for them.

The construction barometer to Greenville's growth has shown during the past 11 months the same healthy trend which has been evident for almost 10 years now. The fact that construction for which building permits have been issued by the city both this year and last year surpasses the former record set in 1950 when construction totaled slightly less than $2 million is indicative of a higher level of steady growth for Greenville.

An Antiquated System Needs Early Repairs

In capitals of the 48 states Monday men and women went through the formality of casting the electoral votes of their respective states for president and vice president. It brought to mind once more the antiquated system by which the American electoral college functions.

President Eisenhower received 457 electoral votes representing the total vote of 41 states. Democratic Candidate Adlai Stevenson received 74 electoral votes representing the seven states in which he received a majority of the popular vote. In the electoral college vote—which actually elects the president—Mr. Eisenhower received 86 per cent of the total vote while Mr. Stevenson received only 14 per cent of the vote.

By way of contrast, voters throughout the nation gave the President 58 per cent of the popular vote while the Democratic candidate received 42 per cent of the popular vote. In all fairness the electoral college should more accurately reflect by its vote the popular vote of the American people.

The system by which all electoral votes of each state are cast for the candidate who receives a majority in that state does not give proper voice to those voters who find themselves in the minority in their own state in a presidential election. Frankly we can see no reason why the electoral college system should not be altered to permit a split of the electoral vote from each state in accordance with the percentage of the popular vote received by each presidential candidate.

Before the coming session of Congress adjourns, definite measures should be taken to modernize the antiquated electoral college is still in use in this nation.

Further Evidence N. C. Licking TB

By LYNN NISBET
LICKING T.B. — Further evidence that North Carolina is gaining ground in its war on tuberculosis is found in the activities report of the State Sanatoria system for the last fiscal year. The number of patients in the hospitals at end of the year was 1,694, compared with 1,733 the next preceding period. The average length of stay of patients was 246 days, reduced from 255 the year before, and 317 for the 1953-54 period.

Of the maximum capacity of 2,100 beds in the four hospitals, 2,012 were in use last year, as follows:
N.C. Sanatorium at McCain, 766; Eastern N.C. Sanatorium at Wilson, 623; Western N.C. Sanatorium at Black Mountain, 505; Gravelly Sanatorium at Chapel Hill, 98. That leaves a margin of 87 unoccupied beds at Eastern Sanatorium in case they should be needed.

The availability of beds in the State institutions made it possible during the past year to abandon State support of county institutions. Mecklenburg and Wake continue operation of county sanatoria but without aid from the State.

Despite the fact that majority of patients in the institutions pay no part of the cost of treatment, the per diem cost in North Carolina is lower than in most other states. The American Hospital Association lists average per diem cost at $10.08 for the whole country, $7.20 in the South Atlantic area. The North Carolina cost was $6.73.

In addition to treatment of patients in the hospitals, the outpatient service included interpretation of 96,226 X-rays, and some type of treatment for more than 7,000 persons for county institutions.

HOLIDAY TENSION — Testimony of many witnesses is that the week before Christmas in 1956 is setting new records for high tension and strained nerves, with corresponding reduced emphasis on the spiritual significance of the season.

Retail merchants, and information is that other communities have comparable experiences are putting forth greater effort than ever before to sell merchandise. Stores have been kept open more nights, resully or the usual pleasantries with which they greet customers. And customers approach Christmas shopping as a necessary unpleasant chore instead of an opportunity to make somebody happy.

The invisible dollar mark seems more important than the green ribbon on the Christmas package. The clanging of cash registers almost drowns out the music of the beloved old Christmas carols.

But—beside the distraught customer across the counter from the weary sales person, there is a star-eyed child believes in Santa Claus. Forcing its way through the harsh clamor of the cash registers comes the music of the carols. Even if it does come through a loud speaker from a mechanical recorder it has the power to soothe the troubled breast, as such music has done through all the centuries.

The blatant glare of neon lights proclaiming merchandise on sale for cash or credit cannot quite blot out the stars for those who want to see them.

The Christmas spirit is so pervasive it can cut through these modern tensions and afford, amid all the tenseness of the marketplace and the battle field, to bring something of the peace for which mankind valiantly strives.

NOT TALKING — The Democratic presidential electors who gathered in Raleigh Monday to cast the official North Carolina vote for Stevenson and Kefauver mostly felt their party had really won the election even though it lost the Presidency.

By increasing majorities in both Houses of the Congress and adding four or five Governors, they felt the Democrats had one very well.

John G. Clark of Pitt, one of the electors at large and chairman of the meeting, proudly told about the vote in his county. It gave Stevenson the biggest numerical majority of any county in the whole country. Bill Burgwin of Northampton boasted that the second congressional district gave the Democrats their largest majority, and Greene county led in percentage votes though fewer in number than Pitt.

Watson Brame of Wilkes, eighth district elector, wasn't talking. His county as usual will be represented in the next General Assembly by Republicans in both the House and the Senate. He and Mrs. Stella Spencer of Caldwell, ninth district, were the only electors with that "tarnish" on their counties. Both have Democratic congressmen.

Fred B. Helms of Mecklenburg, elector at large, and Sheldon M. Roper of Lincoln, tenth district elector, had to confess their district still has a Republican in Congress and both their counties went for Eisenhower.

should have thy consideration.
6. Thou shalt not neglect thy Church. Its Christmas services are planned to help spiritualize the Christmas season for thee, thy Child and thy household.

7. Thou shalt not neglect the needy. Let thy bountiful blessings be shared with the many who will go hungry and shiver with cold unless thou art generous in their time of want.

8. Thou shalt be as a little child art thou ready to enter into Christ Child; not until thou hast become in spirit even as a little child art thou ready to enter into the kingdom of heaven.

9. Thou shalt prepare thy soul for Christmas. For verily most of us spend much time and money getting gifts ready, but few seconds in preparing our souls.

10. Thou shalt give thy heart to Christ. Let thy Christmas list have Christ at the top and thy heart as thy gift. For in so doing thou art as the Wise Men of Old and verily thou shalt find thyself born again on Christmas Day.

To See As Others See Us

Another one of "those things" found its way to my desk: a one shilling pamphlet entitled "Eisenhower's America notes on a Journey by a special correspondent of The Times", published in the latter part of November.

Curiously as to how others see us, an American trait—I understand, prompted early attention as to what the Briton had to say in his thirty pages. His, or her, impressions seemed more favorable than many Americans might display. Certainly kinder, in many ways, than the word picture of irresponsible world columnist Hal Boyle paints today.

"Some readers" says The Times, "have asked whether it is not Mr. Stevenson's America also. Of course it is. One of the main points in the series of articles The Times has published this week has been the homogeneity of the way of life and aspirations of the American people. Amidst great diversity of environment, of race, and of resources, there is a national will which expresses itself in the term "the American way of life." This is a very real thing, not merely embracing material conveniences and comforts but also embodying a powerful idea."

"To much of the news and other information which comes out of the United States deals with the political or the trivial. Such activities do not add up to probably more than one percent of the driving force or achievements of the American nation."

Our Britisher saw something of the South, the East, the Midwest and the West. The elements of space and speed provided passages of amazement. The blessing of Plenty, to the extent of surplus; the over-all drive for Change and Improvement; and the writer remarks that "the thing that strikes one about America enterprise of almost any kind is its humanity and good humor. Drive is the heart of the game: everyone shares in the results."

As to our attitude toward China, the reader is told there seems to be no thinking at all. "Where China is concerned, most Americans' minds seem not so much closed as benumbed." Towards Britain... a mixture of faith, impatience, affection and ignorance. About peace... preserving the peace at almost any cost dominates ordinary American thinking."

The observations wind up with a sort of benediction. "Meanwhile the United States of America, working out its dream, blunders beneficently on. Of all nations, its history has a higher proportion of greatness than of baseness; of all people, its motives are the least suspect. Its errors have been, and are, many. Its instincts have been, and are, magnificently right."

Playground Of Flaunted $$$

By HAL BOYLE
MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Money talks everywhere in America today. But here the big dollar counts a mighty hollow.

You have to be stone deaf not to hear it, or color blind not to see it in this platinum playground of Florida's Gold Coast.

The "expense account rich" who prefer to live quietly in their own hometowns so the neighbors won't get jealous like to flaunt their wealth in public here.

But in a way it's hard to do. One man's Cadillac is about as long as another man's. A wife can wear only so many minks on her back without smothering. "The only way the rich can impress each other here," said one longtime student of the foibles of the well-to-do "is at charitable functions. One big shot gets up and says, 'I'll contribute $5,000,' and another big shot puts him in his place by saying, 'Put me down for 10 grand.'"

But the quickest way for a stranger to attract attention here is either to stroll down the street nude—or with a portrait of Salmon P. Chase plastered on his forehead.

Who is Salmon P. Chase? Well, look in your wallet, and pull out the first $10,000 bill you come across. The guy portrayed on it is Salmon P. Chase, who was Abe Lincoln's secretary of the treasury.

Some 1,750,000 people visit Miami Beach every year, and millions more wonder what it is really like.

In all India there is but one Taj Mahal. In Miami Beach there is a Taj Mahal or a reasonable facsimile on nearly every corner.

Each is a hotel with ocean front rooms renting for $40 a day up during the winter season and suites for $100 a day up. A famous couple during a two-week stay in a flossy penthouse ran up a bill of $6,000—more than a lot of people spend on laundry.

Strength for the Day

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
ON BEING READY TO RECEIVE

Stories have been told for generations of people who were converted to a devout Christian faith by chance circumstances.

There is a famous story of the Bibles which some generations ago became distributed among the Koreans because a ship carrying Bibles, and the agent of a Bible distributing society, were wrecked and cast on the Korean shore. The agent was killed, but the Bibles which had been translated into Chinese, found their way into many Korean homes and prepared the population for the later arrival of Christian missionaries.

It was by the chance reading of a Bible that Jerry McAuley, the river pirate and one of the most wanted criminals of his day, was converted to become a profound Christian influence in his generation. Another man read one of Moody's sermons in a newspaper which had been used to wrap up a package, and in far-away Australia his conversion resulted.

Also there is a story of a wagon, in the old days, filled with Bibles, and one Bible fell off and the man who picked it up and studied it found new life as a result.

The lives of the saints convince us that God works in mysterious ways to achieve his purposes. Through an infinite number of channels, God's grace is brought into our hearts. The important thing is that our hearts be prepared to receive this grace.

How And Why U. S. Avoided Maneuver

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON President Eisenhower has neatly side-stepped an Anglo-French maneuver to transform the North Atlantic Council into a world super-government in which the United States would forfeit freedom of action and suffer a partial loss of sovereignty. It is a diplomatic trap born of the Egyptian debacle, in Washington's opinion.

The proposal, which was advanced at the recent Paris meeting of the Council, stemmed directly from the three powers' disagreement over the invasion of Egypt. The basic idea behind it was that the NATO nations would agree in secret and in advance on major policies of a political, economic and military nature, and thereby avoid future clashes.

In Eisenhower's viewpoint, it was an attempt to commit the United States to support of the British and French colonial policies in the Middle East, the Mediterranean and North Africa. Had he acquiesced, it would have amounted to a repudiation and retreat from his condemnation of the use of force in the Suez crisis.

ANGLO-FRENCH PROPOSALS PITFALLS Beside infringing upon American sovereignty, the proposal would have agitated many friendly nations. As Secretary Dulles pointed out, whereas the United States has alliances and pacts with 44 nations, only 13 of them are members of NATO. And many fiercely oppose the Anglo-French viewpoint on colonial problems.

An Eisenhower acceptance of the idea would have undone a great deal of the good expected to flow from his foreign policy. Should we back England in the Cyprus dispute, for instance, we would alienate Turkey and Greece. If we agree to support the stern French attitude toward Algeria, we would throw away the Arabian sympathy we have won by our stance on Suez.

Should we back Portugal's claim to the Goa province in India, we would affront such an important friend as Nehru. A NATO NATIONS AND RED

Biggest Battles In Congress

One of the biggest and most bitter battles in the early days of the new Congress will be over interest rates.

"Cheaper money" will be a rallying cry of many diverse interests.

Interest rates are now high because the Federal Reserve Board raised the rediscount rate, the rate at which banks borrow money from the Federal Reserve System. This has worked to increase all rates.

The Federal Reserve's purpose is to check inflation. As interest rates go up, people are tempted to save more and spend less; business tends to postpone spending for new plants and buying for inventory.

An overwhelming majority of economists agree that raising interest rates tightens the money supply and is therefore anti-inflationary. Prices have continued to rise since the Federal Reserve boosted the rate. The economists' answer is simply that they would have gone up even faster and further if the brake had not been applied.

OPPOSITION BREWING There are many elements in the economy who are violently opposed to higher rates and are clamoring for a return to "cheap money." Among them are:

Debtors: Everyone who owes money would benefit from lower interest. Even families owing money on 4 per cent, 30-year mortgages stand to benefit; if they were forced to refinance right now they'd have to agree to 5 or 6 per cent for the next 30 years.

Installment buyers: Interest rates and carrying charges on installment purchases have not yet been sharply raised, although lengths of contracts have been shortened considerably. However, if high interest rates continue, it is certain that installment add-ons will be sharply increased. It is also likely that some retailers will charge interest on charge accounts unpaid after 30 days. Merchants must charge more for credit because they are paying more to finance it.

MANY BUSINESSES HIT Small businesses: Small firms are finding higher interest burdensome. In addition, every time a small business is denied a loan—whatever the reason, even gross mismanagement—it is tempted to blame the Federal Reserve.

Unprofitable businesses: Higher rates hurt big businesses, too, if they are not operating profitably. However, they are of little importance to profitable corporations. As Elliott V. Bell, publisher of Business Week, recently pointed out, "Since interest paid is a tax-deductible expense, a prime rate of 4 per cent costs the borrower less than 2 per cent. Even a rate of 8 or 9 per cent would cost the large corporations after taxes less than municipalities are now paying for money to build schools."

Contractors: Home building and public works are being cut back because families and governments hesitate to pay today's rates.

Local politicians: Higher rates are making it more costly to build schools, monuments and other structures to which they can point with pride.

Taxpayers: Higher rates are making it more expensive to carry Federal, state and local governmental debts, hence more money will have to be taken from taxpayers.

THE BENEFICIARIES People and banks who have large amounts of capital to lend, and people who can save, are immediate beneficiaries of higher interest rates. And if higher rates can check inflation, then every American will gain in the long run. If inflation is checked, then the dollar will not so the way of the pound, the lira, the French franc, the Chilean peso and the Imperial German mark.

Meanwhile, cheap-money blazes show signs of form in both the Senate and the House. Subcommittee hearings of the Joint Economic Committee disclosed some violent Congressional opposition to higher interest rates.

Congress, it should be noted, cannot lower the rate by law. It can force the Federal Reserve to act, however, by taking away some of its powers or simply by threatening to.

It would have given the Council's members the right to interfere in our relations with the S. th American Republics, which are now in such turmoil as to concern here and abroad.

DOMESTIC POLITICS INFLUENCED Ike Domestic politics also influenced the Eisenhower-Dulles rejection. Congress would have looked upon the Council's intrusion in our business with the same suspicion directed toward Roosevelt-Truman agreements at Yalta or Potsdam.

It would have revived a strident spirit of nationalism, and assured passage of the Bicker Amendment limiting the President's authority in foreign affairs.

In short, despite our ties with our European Allies, the United States reserves full freedom of action at all times and in all places. As a benevolent neutral, the U.S. can exert greater force and pressure for world peace and order, as it has in the Middle East, than if it joined a world super-government.

Greenville's Younger Set Steps Out In Gay Holiday Mood

SWIRLING SKIRTS—Swirling skirts and youthful figures beat time to music at the Greenville Moose Lodge last night where Marie's School of Dance had its annual Christmas event. In the traditional grand march were children from the entire school ranging in age from three years through high school age. Leading the figure were Anne Wallace and Dickie Leggett. Refreshment tables were laid in green and gold with the punch table made festive with a silver and red motif. Individual tables held center arrangements of multi-colored balloons banked with holly and brightly colored balls. Receiving line for the event included Mrs. Roy McKeethan, Mrs. Jack Wallace and Chuck Sheaton. (Photo by S. L. Rowland).

Yule Party Fetes Bridge Club

AYDEN—In a festive holiday setting, members of the Friday Afternoon Bridge Club were entertained at their annual Christmas party Thursday afternoon by Mrs. Robert Johnson.

For the occasion, the spacious living and dining rooms were decorated throughout with Yuletide decorations.

Upon entering the house the guests were welcomed by the hostess. They found their places at tables arranged in the living room marked with individual Christmas corsages—made of shining colored balls and red bells, pine cones and miniature Santa Clauses tied with red ribbon.

The mantel was banked in the center with an arrangement of silver sprays entwined around pink tapers, small silver sprays forming interesting touches at either end.

On the buffet low candlesticks holding white tapers with assorted shining balls were arranged. A large brilliantly lighted Santa Claus added the festive look at this Yuletide season.

During the game ice cold Coca-Cola and potato chips were served.

At the conclusion of progressions Mrs. Guy Taylor, club member, was given lotion for high scorer, Mrs. William Everett received a copper silent butler for second high and Mrs. T. G. Worthington was presented note paper as guest high.

Gifts were exchanged among the guests.

Judge's Refusal To Order Immediate Dallas Integration Will Be Appealed

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—A federal judge's refusal to order immediate integration of Dallas public schools will be appealed.

W. J. Durham, attorney for the parents of 19 Negro children who filed the suit, announced the planned appeal yesterday after U. S. Dist. Judge William H. Atwell gave his decision.

Meanwhile, Dr. Edwin L. Rippey, president of the school board, said, "The board is naturally pleased with the decision of the court and will continue to work in good faith with the people of Dallas of all races to the end that the interest of their children will be best served."

Judge Atwell said he dismissed the case "in order that the school board may have ample time, as it appears to be doing, to work out this problem."

The 67-year-old jurist, a federal judge 34 years, recalled in giving his decision that the Supreme Court had left it up to lower courts to carry out its public school desegregation decision. He also said:

"I believe it will be seen that the court based its decision on no law but rather on what the court regarded as more authoritative, modern psychological knowledge than existed at the time that the now discarded doctrine of equal facilities was initiated. It will be recalled that in 1952, Mr. Justice (Felix) Frankfurter of the U. S. Supreme Court said it is not competent to take judicial notice of 'claims of social scientists.' He declined to elaborate on his decision, saying, 'it would not be proper.'"

Judge Atwell gave his decision after a 2½-hour rehearing of a suit started Sept. 5, 1955, in which the parents sought to gain admittance of their children to white schools. He ruled then that the Dallas schools need not integrate immediately, but did so without hearing testimony. The U. S. 5th Circuit Court of Appeals at New Orleans sent the case back and ordered him to hear it on its merits.

Yesterday Judge Atwell said the policy of separate but equal schools in Texas was based on a state constitutional provision and had been in effect for a long time. He noted that there was no complaint about the competency of teachers or of school facilities.

"Furthermore, the suggestion of the Supreme Court that the involved parties should studiously and carefully seek to integrate seems to have been attempted here; but so far has not succeeded; but it has not been abandoned by the school authorities," he said.

"I think that the testimony shows completely that the school authorities here in charge of this independent school district are certainly doing their best to comply with the ruling of the Supreme Court of the United States. And that court, it will be recalled, left it up to the school authorities and the local courts to further this integration process."

The Supreme Court on May 17, 1954 declared that race segregation in public schools is unconstitutional. On May 31, 1955, the court directed that school segregation be ended "as soon as practicable" but set no deadline. It said "lower courts may find that additional time is necessary to carry out the ruling in an effective manner" and placed upon defendants the burden of showing that such time is necessary.

Britain's Cyprus Offer Rejected

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—Leaders of Cyprus' Greek majority and Turkish minority both have firmly rejected Britain's offer of a new constitution to give the rebellious island Mediterranean island limited self-rule.

The offer has, however, opened the way for a resumption of talks between Britain and Archbishop Makarios, exiled leader of the island's Greek Cypriots.

Cyprus' Greek-roigin residents, about four fifths of the 500,000 population, insist that Makarios is the only person with whom Britain can negotiate.

Britain deported the high Greek Orthodox churchman to the Seychelle Islands in the Indian Ocean last March, charging him with directing the campaign of violence waged since 1954 the EOKA underground. Makarios was the leader of the Greek-Cypriot drive for independence of Cyprus and eventual union with Greece.

Two British representatives meet with the archbishop today to explain Britain's new proposal for a constitution.

Colonial Secretary Alan Lennox-Boyd, announcing the offer in the House of Commons in London, emphasized that the talks with Makarios were to be "consultations" and not "negotiations." There was speculation that the new British proposals and the talks with Makarios might be opening a way for his release. British leaders have said he can

Sparkman Urges A 'Reappraisal'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala.) today called for a "reappraisal" of American foreign policy in the light of developments behind the Iron Curtain and in the Middle East.

Sparkman, a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said he thinks it inevitable that congressional groups will ask "a lot of questions" about the Eisenhower administration's course in the international field.

"I don't look for any formal investigation of our international policies," he said in an interview. "But there should be a reappraisal of where we stand. I have no doubt there should be a reappraisal of where we stand. I have no doubt that the administration itself is doing some reappraisal."

"It has made mistakes in the past. But I am not so much concerned with what already has happened as with where we are going from here. I think the administration's reliance on the United Nations in the Middle Eastern crisis was all to the good and I'd like to know more about what it intends to do in that field in the future."

Homeless Have Christmas Tree

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The owner of a little delicatessen in a crowded part of downtown Philadelphia bought one of the biggest trees he could find, set it up on a patch of ground alongside the store, and decorated it beautifully.

Then among the ornaments, the lights and silver, he placed a sign: "This tree is for all people who are homeless or who have no Christmas tree of their own."

Few Like Judge Atwell On Bench

By ROBERT E. FORD

DALLAS (AP)—They don't make judges like William Hawley Atwell any more.

And not many judges make legal decisions like Judge Atwell any more either. Not on school segregation questions, they don't, since the Supreme Court spoke.

The federal judge yesterday handed down a decision that probably set ears burning on the Supreme Court bench.

He said that in making the famous public school segregation ruling the justices didn't decide the case according to law. They decided it, he said, on the basis of what he called "modern psychological knowledge."

His thinking followed that of some Southern leaders who have contended all along that the Supreme Court, in declaring public school segregation unconstitutional based its decisions not on the law but on sociology.

In effect, he ruled that Dallas need not integrate its schools, at least not immediately. He said he did so "in order that the school board may have ample time, as it appears to be doing, to work

Refugees Given Closer Screening

WASHINGTON (AP)—Immigration authorities said today Hungarians being admitted to this country under the emergency refugee program are being subjected to "more of a security screening" than regular visa applicants.

One official expressed confidence the various security steps would prevent Communists from slipping into the United States under the guise of refugees.

President Eisenhower has ordered the admission of 21,500 Hungarians who fled their Soviet-occupied homeland into Austria.

Permanent visas already have been granted to 6,500 under the Refugee Relief Act, which is due to expire at the end of the year. Another 15,000 refugees are due for admission under special "parole" granted by Atty. Gen. Brownell.

Officials said the latter are being checked in Austria. They will be screened anew before getting permanent residence visas.

Congressional action probably will be necessary before refugees in the parole category can be granted permanent residence visas. Any parolee who violates American law before getting such a visa is subject to deportation.

Plays It Straight This Christmas

LAWRENCEVILLE, Ill. (AP)—Mary Christmas, a schoolteacher, says she has just about exhausted ways of making her Christmas greetings different, so she's mailing plain Christmas cards this year.

In 1953 Miss Christmas mailed autographed photos as greetings. With her name that was all that was necessary.

"I'm playing it straight this year," she said. "Old-fashioned Christmas cards are the best after all."

Until early December 1942, he had not missed a day on the bench because of illness. Then he went to Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minn., for a stomach operation.

Four weeks later he stepped to the bench and declared:

Promotion Tax On Electricity

PLYMOUTH, Wis. (AP)—Residents of this small east-central Wisconsin community have agreed to an additional 50-cents a month charge on their electric meters to pay for industrial promotion.

Mayor Howard Fischer said "We had a lot of inquiries from firms about locating in Plymouth but had nothing to nail down the deals with."

The extra 50 cents, $1 for commercial users, will be collected by the local electric utility. The plan was in a referendum, 1,309 to 597.

Protection For Land-Clearers

GOLDSBORO, N.C. — A federal marshal, armed with a court writ, was scheduled to arrive here today to help workers proceed with clearing land adjacent to Seymour Johnson Air Base runways.

The writ was issued by U.S. Dist. Atty. Julian T. Gaskill in Raleigh yesterday after he received reports that threats from disgruntled property owners had halted the work. Gaskill identified the landowners as Jack Herring, J. B. Herring and G. S. Davis.

Gaskill said he had received second-hand reports that shotguns were brandished in the incident which ended tree cutting and removal of other obstructions on the land.

However, J. Faison Thompson, attorney for some of the property owners, said he knew of no threats of violence by his clients. "There must have been a mistake," he said.

The government has obtained an easement to remove obstructions on the property lying near the runways which are used by jet aircraft. Compensation to be paid the property owners has not been determined.

Sarah's Fall Had Historic Results

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. (AP) — Except for an accident, this city's name might well have been Sarahville, says Dr. Thomas Cary Johnson Jr., University of Virginia history professor.

Dr. Johnson says Sarah Lennox, niece of George III, then King of England, decided to set her cap for the monarch. She arranged for "Farmer George" to observe her raking leaves, carrying milk pails and performing other bucolic chores. The accident came when she fell from a cherry tree—and from the King's favor. George married Charlotte of Mecklenburg, and this Virginia town was named in honor of her.

Crew's Petition

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—Christmas presents have been passed up by the men on the carrier Coral Sea, now serving with the U. S. 6th Fleet in the Mediterranean, fleet headquarters reports.

All hands aboard the big carrier usually vote themselves a gift from the ship's recreation fund. The gifts average about $3 each.

This year the men signed a petition asking their skipper, Capt. J. A. Jaap, to send the money usually spent on gifts to the President's relief for Hungary fund.

Capt. Jaap messaged that a check for $7,500 will be in the mail today.

Jaap said he would like to send the bulky petition along with the check, but it seemed impractical. The petition was signed by every man aboard.

Shanghai's Port Is Barely Active

By DAVID LANCASHIRE

SHANGHAI—The great port of Shanghai once loaded 30 ships a day with silk, Chinese tea, narcotics—anything that would bring a price.

Now it handles perhaps 50 ships a month.

Restrictive action by Chinese Nationalists has stranded Shanghai's waterfront—but it has developed Tientsin and northern cities into major seaports. Chaing Kai-shek's strength does not extend that far.

Empty docks and crumbling jetties line Shanghai's Whangpoo riverbank. A few blockade runners with half-empty holds are moored next to vacant warehouses. But most of the trade is coastal, handled by big seafaring junks with Picasso doves painted on their sides.

German, Scandinavian, Dutch, British and Japanese ships still carry on a picayune China trade, but none carry full cargo. The trip is a dangerous one. The British freighters are emblazoned with their sides for identification in the Formosa Strait.

The Chinese Foreign Trade Department maintains that exports have picked up 265 per cent since 1930, but the empty docks are enough evidence to show the figure is a doctored one.

"There were 400 ships in Shanghai in the first eight months of this year," a shipping man said. "And not one of them carried a full load in or out."

Shanghai still has traces of its international past. In streets off Edward VII Avenue, now named Nanking Road, are faintly painted shop signs reading "Cleaners," "Dress Shops," "Coiffure," now covered by Chinese characters.

Some of the apartment buildings, better built and better designed than any in China, have their English or French names over the doors.

Careless Money Handling Fined

SUNBURY, Pa. (AP)—Mel Weisbeck, of Buffalo, N. Y., was fined $21 and costs in Union County court here for "literally throwing money around."

Patrolman Albert Hess said he arrested the Bucknell University student because he said the youth threw several pennies at a lighted sign and broke the glass tubes.

'Reminder' Of An Anniversary

EUREKA, Calif. (AP)—Humboldt County had a minor earthquake yesterday as it neared its annual disaster day, Dec. 21.

On Dec. 21, 1934, a multimillion-dollar earthquake struck Eureka and the surrounding area.

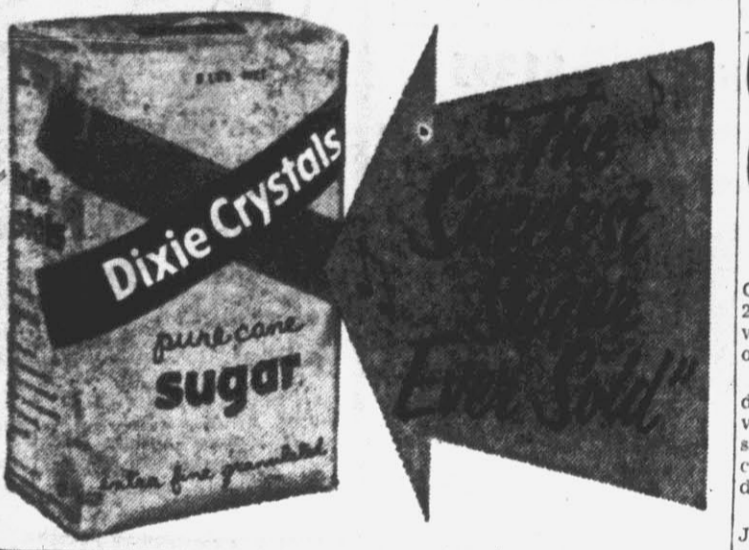

Dec. 21, 1935, saw the start of disastrous floods which swept Humboldt County last Christmas.

Hardly Bother To Report Loss

WAUSAU, Wis. (AP)—Lost or stolen bicycles laying unclaimed at police headquarters for weeks at a time are a sign of a new attitude by youth toward such possessions, says Chief of Police Everett Gleason.

"There was a time when a youngster ran all the way to the police station when his bicycle was missing," said Gleason. "Today they apparently get their bicycles with so little difficulty they don't bother to report their losses."

SILENT RIVER

By WAYNE ROBERTS

SYNOPSIS

Lieutenant Chad Eudicot, a Civil War veteran, is asked when he is to be discharged from the Army to establish an Army Post in hostile Dakota Territory. For he must leave his fiancée, Elizabeth Tipton, daughter of General Tipton, and postpone their marriage for at least a year. At a farewell party in his honor, Chad warns Alvin Siner, a wealthy trader and his rival for Elizabeth, to respect their engagement or he will kill him when he returns. Also attending the party is Major Otto Grundwald and his fiancée, Myra. Myra was in love with Siner. Elizabeth makes a final plea to Chad that if he marries her, she can accompany him on the assignment, but he refuses, saying it will be too dangerous. After the party Myra meets Siner and although she knows he prefers Elizabeth, she helps him plot against Chad. Meanwhile, Chad sails up the treacherous Missouri River with an infantry company commanded by Colonel Randall, who is bringing his beautiful Spanish wife, Isabella. Chad doubts Randall's ability as a leader.

CHAPTER 6

Chad understood how it was with the scouts. They kept their jobs as long as they felt like it. When they failed to get along with any of the officers, they moved on. Consequently their attitude was one of equality with men and officers alike and they recognized the rank. They were specialists, highly trained, and so vital to the welfare of the troops that they were indispensable. They knew it, so did the officers.

"I fought in the war," Chad said, "so I've been around a little with this man's army, but I've got into something new this time. What kind of country is it upriver?"

"Big," Zack tongue-tied his cuds of tobacco into his cheek. "Mighty big. She's a grand one, too, once you get to know her."

"What's it like around Fort Blaine?"

"'Bout the same as here. Purely flat. Some breaks in her, though."

"Indians?"

"A few. Twenty thousand Sioux, they do say. Ain't real happy 'bout this river travel, neither. The Sioux ain't. They figger the country's gettin' too crowded. I don't blame 'em, not none."

"Room for all up here, isn't there, Zack?"

"Not for white and Injuns, there ain't. The brownskins figger the whole works is their huntin' ground. Might not come back to a spot for a year or so, but when they do, they don't want the same run off." Zack scowled at the scout's bitterness, working through him. "Blas't it, Lieutenant, I Injuns was here first."

Chad was silent for a moment, understanding how Zack felt. The scout loved this country. He saw beauty here that escaped Chad. In many ways he was as primitive in his desires as the Indians themselves.

To change the subject, Chad asked, "Th... ver like this all the way up?"

"Gets more nery," Zack answered. "Twister and narrow-er, too."

"Slower?"

"Sure is."

"Don't see how the Molly could float on much less. What'll we do carry her?"

"No, sir. These critters float on a heavy dew."

That evening, Chad took out his letter to Elizabeth and filled two more pages, telling her about the Molly McClain. He dipped his pen again and wrote, "I love you. We have so little time in one short life, it's wrong for us to be apart. Think of me often, Lib. He laid the letter away, not sure he was right in putting his feelings down on paper that way. He stepped outside for a breath of air, deciding he would leave it.

He gripped the rail, staring at the stars with its thin moon and a brightness he had never seen in St. Louis. Was he thinking of him? In spite of himself, he could not forget that Alvin Siner might be with her at this very moment.

"Good evening, Lieutenant," a woman said.

He made a slow turn, looking at Mrs. Randall before he looked at her. He had seen her only a few times since he had come aboard at St. Louis, but it was not a voice a man would ever forget once he had heard it, soft and expressive and filled with a melody he had never noticed in any other woman's voice.

He said, "Good evening, Mrs. Randall."

She stood close to him, the thin light on her face. She was young, probably no older than Chad, and breath-takingly beautiful. The two officers with seventy men. We must work together, you and I, or we'll fail, and that is something I'm sure neither of us wants."

"No, sir," Chad said.

She said, "You are in love, aren't you, Lieutenant?"

"How did you know?"

She laughed softly. "It's something a woman feels. There are so many kinds of love. Like the play love our scout Cubberly has for Alice M. Queen. And your kind, which lies so deeply inside you that it frightens you and cannot be really expressed in words."

She passed, turning her face from him. "And there's the real, possessive love that takes and takes and is never fully satisfied."

Colonel Randall came toward them along the deck, calling, "Isabella!"

"I'm coming, darling. I just stepped out for a stroll."

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The city engineering department here has capitulated to women's fashions and ordered 500 new manhole covers with holes too small to catch the heels of feminine shoes. New covers will be 1/2 inch across. The old ones were an inch in diameter. The decision to buy them followed a lawsuit brought by a woman who said she fell when her heel caught in one of the oldstyle covers.

Bucs Bow To Stetson 76-70, Facing ACC Today

Porter Experimenting With Pirate Lineups

By BILLY ARNOLD
Reflector Sports Editor
PARRIS ISLAND — Stetson's Hatters eliminated East Carolina from championship contention in the Parris Island Tourney yesterday afternoon, dropping the Pirates 76-70 in the tournament's opening contest of play.

The Florida outfit, paced by huge 6-7 forward Frank Siskovic, eased ahead of Coach Howard Porter's crew in the late minutes of the first quarter by a 15-7 margin and held the lead throughout the game. Siskovic, a Stetson import from Ohio, singled the nets for 26 points and played well under the boards for the winners. ECC tied the score twice at 17-17 and 53-53.

East Carolina's Nick Nichols, playing with a damaged shoulder, performed one of his most outstanding games since coming to the Greenville school. He pumped in 28 points and also worked well under the baskets, along with center Guy Mendenhall. He was high scorer for the game, and, in fact, was high scorer for the entire first round of play. The 6-4 Buccaneer forward hails from Leaksville, N. C.

To Meet ACC
The Greenville outfit was to have faced another North State conference for this afternoon at one o'clock, in the consolation game, Atlantic Christian, the Pirates' most ferocious foe in the conference rivalries, also suffered defeat yesterday in the first round competition. Erskine, of South Carolina, dumped the Bulldogs by an 81-74 mark.

Generally regarded the two teams to beat in North State competition early this season, ECC and ACC have had a rough road to travel in their first two or three loop battles. Both have been defeated by Lenoir Rhyne back home, and ECC has lost to High Point.

Conference eyes are always focused on these two clubs when they face each other, for it may give some indication as to how they will stack up in overall North State play. Though today's game will not count in conference standings, the outcome may be extremely important for the above reason.

Pirates Experimenting
Coach Howard Porter, who, in the past has always used such non-conference games as the Parris Island tourney to experiment with different combinations and plays, has already done so again this year. The day before the Tourney play began, the Bucs went to Pfeiffer and defeated them 86-80, with Porter using several variations in his lineup.

He has been using substitutes freely in the non-league tilts, experimenting with newcomer Wallace Lewis, along with Harold Ingram, Marion Hales and Tim Smothers. In the Pfeiffer game, Nichols did not play full time and regular guard Freddy James did not play at all.

It is possible that Porter planned to continue his shifting antics today against ACC. It is also possible that the East Carolina team will have a different setup when it returns to Memorial gymnasium after the holidays.

Coach Porter's starters for the Stetson game yesterday came as a complete surprise. Don Harris and Lewis were opening forwards, Tim Smothers and Marion Hales were initial guards and Guy Mendenhall opened at center. Only two of the above are regulars.

Tech Rated To Cop Tournament

PARRIS ISLAND, S. C. (AP) — The Parris Island Christmas Invitational Basketball Tournament entered its second round today with a high-scoring West Virginia Tech quieted tabbed as the favorite.

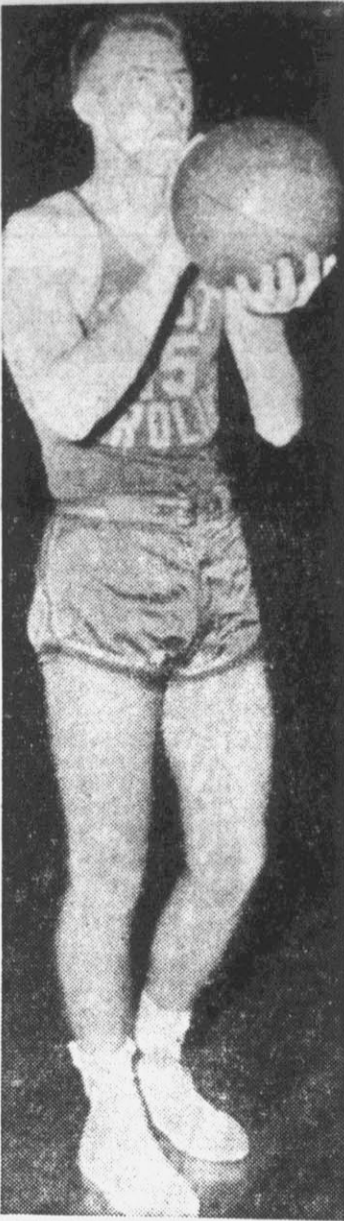

Last night, Tech turned on the power to down Rollins, 107-78. Forward Ken Hammond led the way for Tech with 42 points.

Tech opponent tonight will be Parris Island, who toppled Piedmont in its first round, 100-63. Erskine and Stetson, yesterday's other two winners, meet in an other night game.

Center Frank Siskovic's 26 points led Stetson to a 76-70 win over East Carolina. The game's high scorer, however, was Nick Nichols of East Carolina with 28 points.

Erskine beat Atlantic Christian, 81-74, in a fourth game. Erskine's attack was led by forward Eddie Rice with 26 points and guard Noel Karr with 24.

High Scorer

NICHOLS—ECC's Nick Nichols netted 28 points yesterday to take high honors for the first round of the Parris Island Tourney, even though the Bucs lost to Stetson.

Sisler To Have Job Of Teaching Pirates To Hit

PITTSBURGH (AP)—George Sisler, 63-year-old member of Baseball's Hall of Fame whose hitting feats have become a legend in his lifetime, has taken a full-time job of trying to improve the hitting of the Pittsburgh Pirates.

General Manager Joe L. Brown yesterday appointed Sisler to the rather unique post of "special adviser" to Field Manager Bobby Bragan.

Sisler, who has been chief of Pirate scouts since 1950, will travel with the club and attend every home game. He'll sit in the stands and try to pick out the individual flaws of the players.

Two years ago San Francisco's Dons came quietly out of the West and took college basketball by storm. Now this season's club, doomed from the start, is on the last leg of a dreary trip through the Midwest, facing a rebuilding job for the future.

After adding five victories to the year-streak built by the graduated Bill Russell & Co. for an all-time winning record of 60, the Dons now have lost three in a row, the last two in collegiate competition.

Western Kentucky, ranked 20th in this week's Associated Press poll with a 3-1 record, tumbled the second-ranked Dons 61-57 last night.

On Monday, Illinois had put an official end to the winning record with a 62-53 thumping, although the Dons also had been beaten Saturday at Chicago. That defeat, however, was an unofficial "exhibition" setback by the U.S. Olympic champions — who included Russell and K. C. Jones, also an ex-Don.

The balance of power seems to have shifted on a conference basis as well. The Big 10, with Iowa, Illinois and Indiana; the Southeastern, with Kentucky and Alabama, and the Atlantic Coast, with North Carolina State and North Carolina, have been the powerhouses of recent years. But now only Illinois, Kentucky and North Carolina appear among the apparent rulers.

The Big 7, meanwhile, looks to be back in business. Kansas, with Wilt the Stilt, is No. 1, and the conference also has unbeaten in Nebraska and Iowa State, and has a once-beaten darkhorse in Missouri.

Mizzou made it four in a row last night with a 59-52 job on Oregon. The Tigers lost their opener to Purdue by two points.

In the tournament picture, Wake Forest repeated as the Carrousel Classic champ by defeating Auburn 58-48 with Florida topping St. Joseph's (Pa.) 86-72 for third.

The Quantico Marines bopped Hampden-Sydney 109-68 and Mt. St. Mary's (Md.) trimmed Belmont Abbey 103-81 to gain tonight's final in the Quantico tourney.

In conference play, Columbia won its sixth in a row by winning its Ivy League opener from Dartmouth 78-68. In another Ivy game, Harvard cut loose for 53 points in the second half to whip Brown 92-47.

A hook shot by Lee Marshall in the final 30 seconds gave Washington & Lee a 64-63 Southern Conference victory over George Washington.

South Carolina was an easy mark for Tennessee, 94-81. Vanderbilt trounced New Mexico 81-59

Wake Forest Wins Tournament Again

By KEN ALYTA
CHARLOTTE (AP) — Wake Forest's Deacons, following their pattern of a year ago, rallied from a so-so start to win the Carrousel Basketball Classic for the second time.

Their 58-48 finals victory over Auburn last night recalled last year's performance when they entered the tournament with an unimpressive 1-3 record and swept three games. This week they began play with 2-2 mark and went all the way. The loss of forward Jack Williams, No. 1 scorer and rebounder, with a knee injury for the last two games made their assignment more difficult.

They trailed Auburn 23-22 at the half, but with Auburn going 12 minutes and 20 seconds without a basket at the start of the second half, the Deacons got their big chance and they didn't muck it.

Florida canched third place with an 86-72 rout of St. Joseph's of Philadelphia; Muhlenberg mauled Clemson for the consolation (fifth place) honor, 88-65, and Colgate spilled Davidson, 82-71, for seventh place.

Jack Murdock and Ernie Wiggins, Wake Forest's fine pair of guards, got some important help from center Jim Gilley and soph forward Dickie Odum.

Murdock and Gilley hit 16 points each, Wiggins 12 and Odum, 8, including three clutch baskets in a row early in the second half to pull the club back into the game.

Bob Emrick, Florida's center and captain, was the spark in the Gators' victory over St. Joseph's. He bagged 30 points, hitting 10 of 13 from the floor and 10 of 11 fouls.

The Floridians, beaten only once in seven games, lead from the fourth minute on as St. Joseph's, pre-tournament favorite, was woefully flat after two high-powered efforts here.

Guard Joe Hobbs tossed in 18 points, his lowest total in three games here, to back up Emerick's fine effort. Newsmen named Hobbs the tournament's outstanding player.

Kurt Engelbert's 23 points was the high for the losing Hawks. Muhlenberg's victory over Clemson in the consolation final saw the Pennsylvanians go ahead for keeps at 9-8, but it wasn't until the last half was 11 minutes gone that Clemson finally dropped out of contention. Three men collected enough points for the Mules to outscore Clemson, center Dennis Roth hitting 24, Clint Jeffries 22 and his guard running mate Bill Smith adding 20.

Vince Yockel's 18 led Clemson whose reserves, four of them sophomores, played the last nine minutes.

Colgate snapped a four-game losing streak while extending Davidson's to seven in taking the seventh place game. Center Jack Nichols led the Raiders with 22 points and 15 rebounds. Davidson had come up to a 69-all tie with five minutes left, but made only two points after that. Bill Allen broke the tie with two Colgate hops and Nichols nailed it down with the last nine points.

Davidson. Dave Hollingsworth's 27 led Davidson. The all-tournament team selected by newsmen, included, besides Hobbs, Jack Nichols of Colgate, Jack Murdock of Wake Forest, Rex Frederick of Auburn and Muhlenberg's Bob Gall.

Girl Confirms Suspicions In Moreland Case

RALEIGH (AP) — A 17-year-old Louisiana coed has confirmed NCAA charges that a North Carolina State College representative offered her a seven-year medical scholarship, the Raleigh News and Observer said today.

The scholarship allegedly was offered in efforts to recruit basketball star Jackie Moreland.

The morning paper said Miss Betty Clara Rhea, in a telephone interview from her home in Minden, La., said the offer was made by "Mr. Willis Casey."

Casey, assistant athletic director at State, was mentioned in charges resulting in a four-year suspension by the NCAA. The Atlantic Coast Conference also imposed stiff penalties.

Miss Rhea said, "Jackie and I talked with Mr. Casey, Mr. Bubas and Mr. Stewart at the Washington-Youree Hotel in Shreveport, La., on Aug. 31. Mr. Casey offered to get me the medical scholarship. There was no mention of what school I would go to."

Implicated along with Casey in ACC charges, supporting part of the NCAA case against State, was Vic Bubas, assistant basketball coach at State. Harry Stewart is secretary of the Wolfpack Club, a student organization.

Miss Rhea, Moreland's girlfriend, said she declined the scholarship offer "because I wouldn't take anything I had to go to medical school, my parents can send me."

She said she told an NCAA representative about the matter. "There was nothing in writing. I told him I wouldn't give him anything in writing," she said.

"I'm sick of the whole thing," she added. "It has become a stinky subject around here."

Red China's Doctors Mix Ancient And New 'Cures'

By DAVID LANCASTER
PEIPING (P)—Is your circulation a little sluggish? Got that tired, rundown feeling? Then take the bones from a tiger, grind up fine and eat.

Got the sniffles? Munch a pill made from a ground-up centipede. Your aching back? Well, dried beetles are an excellent pain killer.

Doctors in Communist China, these remedies — taken from Chinese medical journals written before the birth of Christ — actually work. In Peiping the traditionalist doctors who use the remedies are taking business away from Western-trained medics.

"The Chinese physicians have been practicing 3,000 years, but this is the first time they have ever had a hospital of their own," said Dr. Wei Chang-ming, director of the Hospital of Chinese Medicine.

"Most of our patients have already been treated in Western-method hospitals and have come out unscathed. We take them in here, and the percentage of successful cures is really quite amazing."

The hospital, with tiling Chinese roofs and flower-filled courtyards, is set in a block of Chinese summer houses built during the Ming Dynasty 500 years ago.

Its offices and diagnosis rooms are filled with glass-fronted bookcases containing medical textbooks thousands of years old, printed in flowing Chinese script on rice paper. They contain herbal recipes and general remedies which clash with practically every principle of modern medicine.

Dr. Wei is a Western-style surgeon, trained in a Japanese college. Here he serves strictly in an administrative capacity, while the traditionalists do the practicing.

"We have 13 Western doctors on the staff here, and 51 traditional men," he said. "But the Westerners' job is only diagnosis, and sometimes they take X-rays. Consultations are held between the two schools, but the traditionalists do the work."

Chinese medicine men have been practicing in villages and in the back streets of cities for centuries. They use knowledge handed down from father to son, but are unaware of the reasons behind their cures.

"A traditional doctor can do many things an orthodox man can't. But he has no theoretical knowledge at all," Dr. Wei said.

"Now the Communists have decided that Chinese medicine should be developed even further. Since 1950, almost all the hospitals in Peiping have established traditional clinics, and Western and ancient doctors are exchanging information."

Dr. Tang Chun-san is a 65-year-old practitioner of the old system. He observed:

"Foreigners are inclined to consider us as quacks. That's ridiculous. It takes us longer to learn traditional medicine than a Western doctor spends in school."

"I myself studied for 11 years under our village doctor 40 years ago and had to memorize about 3,000 prescriptions. Now that we have been recognized, I'm a teacher myself. I have a couple of disciples who follow me around and watch me while I work."

At the moment, Dr. Tang was working on a patient suffering from nervous exhaustion. He had been disoriented by a Western hospital around the corner. The doctor was giving the resigned-looking man a rubdown.

"For neu-sthenia, the Westerners give a patient medicine and make him sleep it off," said Dr. Tang. "Here, we use massage."

"A few weeks ago, a patient in one of the Western hospitals was due to have his leg cut off. It was paralyzed. We don't believe in amputation."

"We brought the man in here and treated him for a few days with herbs. He's up and walking around now — not walking very well, but he has both legs."

Aside from the use of medicines made from tiger bones and tiger urine, dried bugs, frog powder, powdered deer horns and dehy-draged snakes, about the strangest practice is acupuncture, the science of needle treatment.

By pricking the patient with long, springy needles, the medicine men say they have succeeded in curing deafness, paralysis, nervous disorders, and have even achieved a certain amount of success with polio.

"But most of our work is done with herbs," said Dr. Tang. "We even have herbs that will cure a broken bone."

"Most Western medicine is founded on theory learned from autopsies. We don't believe in cutting up our ancestors, and besides, a dead organ is not necessarily the same thing as a live one."

In other Peiping hospitals, a patient is given a choice of technique. The diagnosis of the two teams is often the same, the Westerners working with their school knowledge and the traditionalists measuring heartbeat rhythms with a method developed in the Tang Dynasty.

"We had a man from Pakistan in here not long ago," said director Wei. "He had been in and out of modern hospitals all over the world for the past 30 years, but the internal disorders persisted."

"I took a look at him and could not do a thing. The traditionalists took over and cured him in a matter of days."

He paused, then added: "Amazing."

Retailers Say Christmas Trade Has Hit Stride

NEW YORK (AP) — "Christmas business," says a big New York retailer, "has been pretty awful. But it's coming to life now."

A leading Washington merchant, who had kept his fingers crossed during most of December, reports a sudden buying spurt last Friday and Saturday followed by "very strong" sales this week.

He says: "We think this shopping season will end up with a bang, not only locally but all over the country."

This sudden switch in retailer sentiment was disclosed in an Associated Press survey of Christmas shopping trends in 25 major cities. Up until last week, many merchants were despondent. Now some are beginning to smile again.

"It will be a good Christmas," says a department store executive in Pittsburgh. "Nothing can stop that."

Optimists who figure there might still be a good chance of beating last year's record buying binge are comparing the 1956 shopping pattern with 1951. Then as now, Christmas came after rather than before the fourth weekend in December, creating the illusion in many people's minds that they had more time to shop.

Merchants recall that Christmas sales in 1951 lagged during most of the season but that a sudden surge of buying in the final week swept retailers' shelves clean. Now, they contend, there are signs that 1956 may be repeated.

Consensus among retailers is that total Christmas sales will set new records but the gains over 1955 will be slight.

W. G. Austin, manager of the Kansas City Merchants Assn., states: "We can't possibly recover what has been lost so far this year. But I think the Christmas season is going to end up one per cent over last year."

In Chicago, W. T. White, general manager of Wieboldt's, asserts: "We have every reason to believe this year's sales will make or break the sales levels of last year." A spokesman for Goldblatt's cautiously adds: "It all depends on the weather."

Declines are looked for in the Pacific Northwest, where sagging demand for lumber has depressed wages and heavy snows have snarled traffic. Portland, Ore., merchants say business is off about 5 per cent. In Seattle, where a heavy snowstorm was preceded by a bus strike, earlier hopes for a 3 to 8 per cent increase have been tossed aside.

Newspaper strikes have cut into Christmas sales in Kansas City and Cleveland.

Boston retailers are counting on an 11th hour spending spree, with credit figuring prominently as a sales tool.

Richmond, Va., stores complain that high costs are eating into profits. Texas merchants expect profits to be lower this season despite a 3 per cent gain in sales. Philadelphia's big John Wanamaker store says its sales should be up 3 to 5 per cent. Gimbel's and Macy's in New York balk at giving percentage figures. Macy's says only that "the final score isn't in yet." Gimbel's, however, reports "tremendous gains" over last year for its big new suburban branch in the Yonkers, N.Y., Cross County Shopping Center.

Farmer Can Tell A City Woman

CHISHOLM, Tex. (AP) — Farmer Sam Baker says there's something about country living that makes hogs and women more wholesome.

A hog that's been "penned up in town and fed on loose garbage and stuff," he explains, will be "flabby and soft."

"It's the same with women," Baker says. "You can tell a cornfed girl from one that's been pampered in town. She's got more color and get up about her."

FATHER IS A FRESHMAN CASPER, Wyo. (AP) — Papa is an underclassman here.

George Adams, 43, is a freshman majoring in general engineering at Casper College. His 19-year-old daughter, Carol, is a sophomore at the school.

ECC Entrance Test Sites For Term Disclosed

East Carolina College has announced a complete list of centers throughout the state where entrance tests for the 1957-58 term will be administered. Results of the examinations will be used in helping to clear admission of students to the college.

The tests will include a psychological test; an English test, including a test in reading comprehension; and a mathematics test, according to Dr. Hazel Taylor of the department of psychology, director of testing at East Carolina. Members of the college faculty will be in charge of the testing program in the various centers where the examinations will be administered, she said.

Testing will cover four and a half hours, divided into two periods extending from 9:30 a.m. to noon and from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m.

Those who plan to enroll as freshmen at East Carolina during the 1957-58 term must take the entrance examinations. President John D. Messick of the college has announced. Any high school senior who is already planning to enter East Carolina or who may decide later to attend the college here, he stated, should take the tests as early as possible because of limitations of dormitory and classroom facilities.

Arrangements for taking the examinations should be made at least ten days in advance. Each person should notify the principal of the school in which he is enrolled as a student. The principal will handle all details of making arrangements with the college.

The dates and places where students wishing to enter East Carolina may take the tests are as follows:

- January 19—Austin Auditorium, East Carolina College; January 26—Plymouth High School; February 2—Roanoke Rapids High School and Elizabeth City High School; February 16—Needham Broughton High School in Raleigh, Albemarle High School, and Senior High School in Greensboro; February 23—Jacksonville High School and Elizabethtown High School; April 27—Austin Auditorium, East Carolina College; and June 3—Austin Auditorium, East Carolina College.

Some Divergence In Twin Careers

HUDSONVILLE, Mich. (AP) — The parallel careers of twin physicians have diverged slightly now that the two have joined the armed forces. Dr. Robert D. Visscher is in the Navy. His twin, Dr. Harrison C. Visscher, is in the Army.

Both were noted athletes and scholars in high school and college; they attended medical school together and each married his college sweetheart. They each have one child. And both entered private practice as associates of other physicians prior to going into service.

Even Prisoner Checked His Gun

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — A highway patrolman, bringing in a prisoner for drunk driving, stopped at the desk to check his gun. It's a rule that officers can't take their pistols near the jail where prisoners might grab them.

As the patrolman slipped his pistol on the desk, the prisoner slipped it into his pocket and brought out his own gun.

"Here," he said, "you better take mine, too."

Police were so embarrassed they refused to give out the name of either the patrolman or his prisoner.

Handy Place For Any Thief, Too

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — Leroy Johnson figured his cabin next door to the Rabbit Creek Inn was a good place to keep his liquor supply.

It was. It made a handy place for burglars to break in and steal three cases of gin, three cases of whisky and an uncounted supply of wine, Johnson reported to territorial police.

RECOGNIZED ABILITY
WATERTOWN, Wis. (AP) — Gerald L. Mead knows a capable jurist when he sees one.

Mead was fined $35 and costs by Justice of the Peace Charles Payant on a traffic charge. Then Mead engaged Payant to represent him in a case involving another traffic charge in nearby Oconomowoc.

ON THE HOUSE

By DAVID G. BAREUTHER, AP Real Estate Editor

The most popular type of house is something worth knowing about whether you plan to build, buy or sell. For many years the one-story, so-called ranch style has been way out in front of the more economical two-story house. Today split-level structures stand virtually side-by-side with one-story ranchers.

Just about the same number of people show interest in split-levels as in ranch houses. The difference in popularity is only three in 1,000 in favor of the one-story home.

This is based on an analysis of 383,260 inquiries to newspapers mer window style — and fully 24 per cent more popular than two-story dwellings.

However, thousands of families are interested in each of the four types. All types are being built in volume. So no matter how many stories you like, you are not out of step with everybody.

When the women held their housing congress in Washington last Spring, they set off a little bombshell among architects and builders. The 103 housewives said, among other things, they preferred one-story houses with front living rooms and rear kitchens. Apparently that congress represented a fair cross-section of opinion.

Analysis of the 383,260 newspaper readers' inquiries shows front living rooms are 20.7 per cent more popular than rear living rooms. Preferences are not so strong when it comes to kitchen location. House plans with kitchens at the back of the house showed only 7 1/2 per cent more popularity than plans with kitchens facing the front yard.

The fact that these differences in popularity are not greater, indicates that everybody does not agree, by a long shot. Also none of these studies takes into consideration individual site characteristics. People building on city lots may be more or less obliged to choose front living rooms and rear kitchens. Families building on rural acreage may have more choice in planning a house to exploit certain views, exposures for sun and shade, prevailing winds and land contour.

A growing appreciation of the importance of orienting a house — turning it at a slight angle from sun and wind — obviously will bring further changes in opinion regarding front vs. rear living rooms and kitchens. When you know what big sums you can cut off your heating bills or air conditioning operation merely by proper orientation, you are not apt to plan a house arbitrarily lined up with the road, unless archaic codes compel it.

But all big changes take place gradually. Even though cottages always were popular, the spread of the ranch house exceeded all expectations. This type called for more land, more foundation, more roof and more heat than the two-story home. It could boast of eliminating stair-climbing. Now stair-climbing seems to be making a comeback in split levels. And in many sections of the country two-story homes are gaining in favor.

However, for every 760 two-story houses built, there apparently will be 1,000 new ranch houses, 887 split levels and 920 Cape Codders or other 1 1/2 story models.

Markets To Have Good Buys For Holiday Dinner

The tradition Christmas turkey to be carried triumphantly to the family dinner table next Tuesday will cost the housewife about as much money as she shelled out last month for a Thanksgiving bird.

And that is a bit of good news for the shoppers, since this year's turkey prices are running four or five cents a pound less than the 1955 figures. In the New York area it means 47 cents a pound for the smaller sizes and 43 cents in the 18 to 24-pound category.

Hams also are winning favor as the main attraction on Christmas Day, and nearly every supermarket will be featuring hams alongside their turkeys. One chain spokesman also noted that ham has come to be the best seller of all for New Year's Day.

A few chains apparently will attempt to get their customers in a festive mood this weekend by featuring sirloin and porterhouse steaks at prices as much as 14 cents a pound below a week ago. In other sections, however, steaks were marked up 4 to 6 cents.

Lamb was 4 to 6 cents a pound cheaper in some places, where it was the feature for weekend dinners. Veal was slightly higher in scattered areas, while roast beef was both up and down.

Eggs, too, moved irregularly in price, but lower wholesale prices this week should mean a drop at the retail level shortly. This would be a break for mothers with children home from school over the holidays.

The Department of Agriculture expects eggs to be somewhat more numerous, and therefore cheaper, during the first half of 1957. The department figures the nation's flock will be about as large as in 1956, but that it probably will produce at a faster rate.

Potatoes and onions remained an outstanding buy at virtually all vegetable counters. In many sections, however, the supply of old cabbage produced from nearby fields during the fall months is getting light, and the new cabbage from Arizona and Texas is not yet plentiful enough to be rated any more than a good buy.

Both Western and nearby carrots are good buys, along with such greens and kale and collards, lettuce and green squash from Southern fields. Spinach, tomatoes and cauliflower and corn are moderately priced in most places.

Celery, especially the large size, is reported more expensive this week, which is usually the case around Thanksgiving and Christmas. Presumably this stems from the housewife's desire to give holiday meals a little something extra market men say.

Anything extra in the way of fruit will probably be the Florida citrus such as oranges, grapefruit and tangerines, all of which can dress up a fruit bowl color-wise. In addition, they're outstanding buys. So are California lemons. Good limes, on the other hand, are scarce this week after being almost a glut on the market for months.

Some varieties of apples also are good buys, especially if they're a little ripe and the storekeeper wants to move them. Grapes are reported lower this week, while avocados — a Christmas delicacy in some quarters — are said to be higher.

PTA Meet Heard Gritton Glee Club

BY BARBARA TAYLOR
Gritton School Reporter

Tuesday night at the PTA meeting Mrs. Alma Buck's Glee Club presented their annual Christmas Concert.

The program was opened by the members of the chorus marching down the aisle single file holding lighted candles and singing "O Come All Ye Faithful". They were dressed in evening clothes and the array of colors lent a true Christmas spirit to the scene. After the chorus had assembled on the stage they rendered arrangements of the following songs: "Peace", "Rise Up Shepherd and Follow", "Go Tell It On The Mountain", "Sing This Blessed Morn'", "Star of the East", "Silent Night", "While Shepherds Watched", "Birthdays of a King", and the audience joined in singing the song scene was portrayed by members scene was portrayed by members of the fifth grade. After the program Mrs. Buck entertained the group with refreshments.

Following the singing Mrs. June Carson's third year band members gave their rendition of several Christmas tunes and marches. The majorettes gave a performance with other members of the band.

Highlights of the Christmas season for the teen-agers will be a dance which will be held Wednesday night at the school gym. The usual skirts and sweaters and jeans will be cast aside for the frilly party dresses and skirts and ties. This will be the scene for the hometown college students to see their former school mates. The more energetic persons will be seen "decking the gym with boughs of holly" Wednesday afternoon after school is dismissed in preparation for the big event.

Assembly was held Friday morning. The Junior English class had charge of the program. In keeping with the holiday season Lou Raye Mewborn read the traditional Christmas Story. This was followed by selections read by Judy Hart, "Is there a Santa Claus?", Emily Nelson, "A Letter to Santa", and Kathleen Jones read her short story she composed in English this year, "Three Letters to Santa". Following this program nominations were heard for Students of the Month. Voting will be done later during the week by secret ballot.

The cheerleaders have been holding practice every day lately. They have been working on new yells and altering their old ones. Helping cheer their teams to victory this year are Lou Raye Mewborn, Pat Buck, Frances Davis, Barbara Lane, Nancy Smith, Linda Koon, Sally Mewborn, Esther Coward, and Emily Nelson.

Mr. Hunter, of the Hunter Publishing Company, was at school Thursday to take pictures for the school annual. Not much work was done throughout the day as everyone was hurrying around changing clothes for the different pictures. This is one step nearer the completion of our yearbook.

As Much As 15 Days Leave For Holiday Enlistees

Anyone enlisting in the U. S. Air Force during the period December 18, to December 31, 1956, will be given as much as 15 days leave according to S-Sgt. N. G. Dean, local Air Force recruiter.

This Christmas leave will enable persons to enlist in the Air Force and spend the Christmas holiday at home while receiving full pay. Sgt. Dean was also informed by Headquarters, Technical Training Air Force, that enlistees receiving Christmas leaves will be granted leave upon completion of basic or technical training, even though they might not have sufficient accrued leave at the time.

The Air Force Recruiting Office, located at Post Office, Greenville, N. C., will be closed for four days during the Christmas holiday season. Closing upon completion of normal duty hours on Saturday, December 22 in observance of the holiday, the office will re-open again on Wednesday, December 26. The office will also be closed on New Year's Day.

Panel Of Three Are On Program

Two Greenville attorneys and a faculty member at East Carolina College will be panel members on Friday's televised discussion of U. S. foreign affairs, the League of Women Voters announced today.

Sam Underwood, Dr. Robert Lee Humber and Dr. John Bennett will appear on the program which will begin at 1:15 on WNCT. The television station's news commentator, W. E. Debnam, will act as moderator.

The program is intended as a discussion of foreign developments and their effect on present and future action by the United States. The discussion follows Debnam's regular newscast and will include comments on news items which he mentions in his own program.

President Taft presented the Aero Club of America medals to the Wright Brothers at the White House in 1909 for the invention of the first successful airplane.

Mr. Farmer

Let us take care of your custom slaughtering of hogs and cattle. We are equipped to dress them every day Monday through Friday.

Why use the old method of Hog Killing when we can handle them much easier for you.

Your hogs are weighed at our place and ready for you to take back home the same day or we can chill them over night for you. They are marked with a number so you will be sure to get your own hogs and cattle back.

Claims 'Voodoo' Broke Up Home

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Voodoo rites helped break up the marriage of the onetime "Singing Sweethearts of Radio," according to Mrs. Victoria M. Kelvin, 32.

She charged cruelty yesterday in her divorce action against John Kelvin, 50, and said that he stuck pins in dolls named after her relatives. She said he tried to induce their daughter Kathleen, now 6, to believe in voodoo by teaching her to stick pins in the dolls.

Wed in 1944, the couple separated in 1953. Kelvin gave up music and became an attorney in New York City.

He is contesting the divorce.

Australia's population, it is estimated, will be 9,450,000 by the end of June 30, 1957.

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK — Aircraft and some motion picture stocks rose against the trend of a slightly bearish market early this afternoon. Small price changes were the general rule for most pivotal stocks.

The market was mixed at the start but then gradually fell off on an average.

Volume was a shade lower than yesterday. Observers in financial circles said the market was still under the influence of year-end tax-loss selling and switching of stocks preparatory to the long Christmas weekend.

No outstanding news bore on the general market tone.

Jones & Laughlin fell about a point while Rotary was up over a point on news that the former planned to acquire Rotary through an exchange of four of its common shares for each five of Rotary.

Lukens Steel continued its wide movements, today dropping around four, paring an early loss of 5 1/2. Yesterday the stock hit a new high before closing with a net loss of 3 1/2.

The bigger steel firms were ragged, U.S. Steel and Bethlehem dropping fractions while Republic rose a bit.

In the aircraft group, Boeing, Douglas and United all posted fractional gains.

Loews advanced a major fraction on the possibility of a proxy fight. Twentieth Century - Fox gained around a point but Paramount eased.

Most leading rail shares showed small declines but Baltimore & Ohio was ahead.

General Motors, Chrysler and Ford all showed small declines.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was down 40 cents to $173.49 with the industrials off 70 cents, the rails off

Screams Halted Robbery Effort

ALBEMARLE, N.C. — Two screaming women tellers caused a frail ex-convict to abandon an attempted robbery of a building and loan association office here yesterday.

Held in jail here pending charge by the FBI was Leroy Shadrick, 32, a Harlan, Ky., native who was captured moments after the robbery attempt by an off-duty fireman who picked up the man's discarded weapon and held him at bay until police arrived.

Police said Shadrick entered the Home Builders Assn. and flashed a 12-gauge sawed off shotgun at two tellers, Mrs. Juanita Helms and Mrs. Harry Cook. Both women screamed and Shadrick ran out the front door, throwing down his weapon.

Pete Furr, an off-duty fireman attracted by the screams, picked up the gunman's discarded shotgun and gave chase. He captured Shadrick and held him for police.

Ray J. Abbaticchio, agent in charge of the Charlotte FBI office, said the man would be charged with violation of the bank robbery statute.

Shadrick told police he was released from the Federal Penitentiary at Lewisburg, Pa., only last Thursday after serving time for income tax fraud.

The 102-pound gunman said his home is in Shelton, W.Va.

ROAD BLOCKS — HELENA, Mont. (AP) — Montana's highway patrol chief says unprecedented highway road blocks will be set up to catch drinking drivers in the holiday season. Highway deaths are at a record 259 this year.

ROBERTSONVILLE — Edwin Dixon, certified public accountant, who was recently appointed a comptroller for the State Highway Commission, will assume his duties January 1. He succeeds Sam Smith of Raleigh, who retires as the commission's chief auditor.

Dixon is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Dixon, graduate of the University of North Carolina. He received his license in Texas. Since returning to North Carolina he has been an analyst in the State Budget Bureau. Dixon served two years in the armed forces. He and his wife, the former Miss Billie Walker of Jackson, Miss., have two children.

NEW BRIDGE AND FERRIES TO HELP — A new three million dollar bridge and three new ferry boats will help speed the tourist on his way next summer in the Dare County Coastal area.

The Croatan Sound bridge, which will be dedicated next April and named in honor of the late Gov. William B. Umstead, will be opened to limited traffic this weekend.

Bids for the purchase of the new ferries were approved yesterday by Highway Commission Chairman A. H. Graham and other highway officials. They will be bigger and faster than any now owned by the state.

Barbour Boat Works of New Bern was the successful bidder. Two of the boats will cost $145,000 each and the third will cost $139,000. The first two will be delivered not later than June 30, in time for the summer tourist influx. The third is scheduled for delivery before Aug. 15. The three probably will be used at Oregon Inlet.

In addition, Graham said the commission has accepted a low bid of $171,430 by the Norfolk shipbuilding and Drydock Co. to overhaul and repair four old ferry boats.

The three new ferries will be named for Gov. Hodges, chairman Graham, and First Division Highway Commissioner Emmett Winslow.

Tobacco Barn Is Hiding Place For A Bootleg Still

What ABC officers found when they stuck their heads in the door of a tobacco barn located in the Red Oak section wasn't tobacco. It was a 200-gallon submarine-type distillery all ready to begin turning out Christmas liquor.

The illegal unit was located about two miles from Greenville near the U. S. 264 bypass shortly after midnight last night.

The unit was complete with copper cap and coil. Also found along with the still were six metal barrels containing 300 gallons of mash. The distillery included a 50-gallon cooler and it was heated by an oil burner.

The officers destroyed the still with axes during the early morning hours. Also confiscated and destroyed were six cases of half-gallon fruit jars.

ABC Officer J. M. Ward said the distillery was hot when the raiding party arrived at the scene. However, the entire unit had only recently been constructed and it had never been operated, Ward said. "It had been fired up to check for leaks," he pointed out.

No one was at the distillery site when the officers arrived at the scene and no arrests were made.

Yesterday shortly before noon two Pitt Deputies, Cecil Crandell and N. H. Byrd, located a distillery in a wooded area near the county home. The officers were investigating another case at the time. They called in ABC officers who destroyed a 50-gallon drum type unit with copper coil. The unit included a 50-gallon cooler and two 50-gallon fermenters. No mash was found at the scene.

Life Magazine Editor Offers Her Apologies

A Life magazine editor has apologized to Robert Lee Humber of Greenville for incorrectly identifying him as Richard Lee Humber in a recent article on North Carolina's art museum.

The local man, a father of the museum, was featured in an article which the national picture magazine recently carried on the North Carolina art museum. However, he was incorrectly identified in the copy accompanying the article.

Dr. Humber received a letter from Dorothy Seiberling, art editor for the magazine, expressing her apologies for the error. Miss Seiberling reported that she was familiar with Dr. Humber's first name but she was in Mexico at the time the article appeared.

She said the mistake would be rectified in the magazine's Letters column.

Missing

George Raymond Worthington (above), 16-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Worthington, has been reported missing from home since last Sunday. He is 5 feet, 7 inches tall, and weighs about 130 pounds. His parents say the youth liked to ride, and had been worried about a bridle he misplaced at a local stable, but which was later found. Any person knowing the boy's whereabouts is asked to telephone the Pitt County Sheriff's office.

Going Home Traffic Jam

East Carolina College students beginning their Christmas holiday period yesterday caused a minor traffic jam around Wright Circle and on adjacent streets. The scene wasn't unusual, however, for schools throughout the county. There were long lines of cars at almost every school as students began the holiday period which will last until December 31 for county school students and January 2 for city school and college students. Pitt ABC Board Gets Check For Losses To Fire

J. W. Joyner, chairman of Pitt County's ABC Board, this morning received a check for $9,811.47 to cover stock losses in a fire which destroyed the Griffon ABC store last week.

The check was presented to Joyner by Maynard Royster of Hartford Fire Insurance Agency's staff adjuster. Royster told Joyner that quick settlement of the claim was made possible by the ABC Board's inventory system which Royster termed "the most complete perpetual inventory I have ever seen."

Joyner said the board is negotiating for construction of a new building to house the Griffon store, fifth largest in the nine-store county system. At the present time, the store is operating in temporary quarters across the street from its old location.

The claim for the stock loss was handled by H. A. White and Sons, Greenville insurance agency and representative of the Hartford Company.
