Drastic Overhaul Of State Highway Affairs Proposed

RALEIGH (AP)—A complete overhaul of the State Highway Commission recommended by a study group authorized by the last Legislature, has won the hearty endorsement of Gov. Hodges.

The study commission reported yesterday that the changes it suggested would assure a state-wide approach to road building and maintenance in North Carolina. His recommendations will be submitted to the Legislature which meets in February.

The present "somewhat multiple-unit operation is not for the best interest of the state as a whole," the study commission headed by State Sen. Claude Currie of Durham, said.

The report recommended that highway affairs be placed in the hands of a seven-member commission to develop "over-all policies" and an executive director of highways to carry out the policies.

This would replace the present 15-member commission composed of 14 part-time division commissioners and a full-time chairman.

The study commission also proposed stronger emphasis on state-wide and long-range planning, placing the highway legal staff under the attorney general's office, a thorough reorganization of the highway staff, expansion of public information activity, and a ban on political activity by highway officials and workers.

The Currie commission noted that some of its recommendations, particularly in the field of financial control, are similar to changes adopted by the Highway Commission recently as a result of a study by a Chicago accounting firm.

The report by Haskins & Sells, the accounting firm, "dovetails very nicely with our own." It predicted that adoption of its own report would not adversely affect the budgetary accounting and reporting procedures outlined by Haskins & Sells.

A statement by Gov. Hodges in releasing the study commission report said its recommendations, together with those of Haskins & Sells, "should put the Highway Department in excellent shape and on the same basis as other state departments."

Under the present system, the Currie commission said, the 14 highway divisions of the state often operate "independently and sometimes in competition with each other." A smaller body whose members would not be appointed to represent geographic areas could work better to meet "the needs of the state as a whole," the report said.

A chairman of the commission would be designated by the governor. Present administrative duties carried out by the chairman would be shifted to the director, who would be "a career official" appointed by the governor.

This would separate policy-making and policy execution functions, the report pointed out. Other recommendations included:

- 1. Creation of an operations department to carry out the policies.

Safe Broken Open And Robbed

Thieves Take Safe From Grain Mill, Ripped It Open

Using a company truck, thieves last night hauled off a safe from the GE Grain Mill on N. Greene St., ripped it open and made off with more than $200.

Chief of Police S. G. Gibbs said the robbers entered the grain mill's office sometime during the night. They rolled the safe out the door of the building and apparently loaded it on one of the grain mill trucks.

They then drove the truck to the Highway Commission gravel pit off the Belvoir Highway where the safe was dumped to the ground and broken open.

The robbers apparently used some instrument to pry the safe open. The company's papers and some checks were left scattered about the scene.

Most of the papers were believed to have been recovered and only the money was missing. The safe was found by employees of the company and deputy sheriffs who were searching the area for the truck after the robbery was discovered. The truck was not damaged.

Police were called this morning about 7:50, Chief Gibbs said. Officials of the grain mill told police that the loss was not covered by insurance.

Greenville police, assisted by the County Sheriff's Department, are continuing their investigation of the robbery today.

Nixon, Austrian Leaders Meet On Refugee Problem

VIENNA (AP)—Vice President Nixon met with Chancellor Julius Raab and most of the Austrian Cabinet for an hour and a half today, discussing hard facts and figures of the problem created by 140,000 Hungarian refugees.

Nixon is seeking first-hand information to guide President Eisenhower and Congress in dealing with the aftermath of the Hungarian revolution.

Although Nixon and members of his small party declined to discuss the meeting with the Austrian leaders, authoritative sources have disclosed that the Australian government will have spent more than seven million dollars caring for refugees by Jan. 1. This does not include spending by provincial and local governments or private donations.

The Austrians hope the United States will help pay the bill, as well as take more of the refugees off their hands.

As Nixon started the second day of his study, newly arrived refugees reported they had experienced "great difficulties" in reaching the border area.

Only 688 Hungarians crossed into Austria during the night, compared with 1,000 or more nightly earlier this week. The refugees said that strict checks were being made on Hungarian trains and that most of those who sought to quit the country had to hitchhike or walk to the border.

The Hungarian government of Soviet-supported Premier Janos Kadar announced yesterday that entry into the frontier zone would be limited to persons with special identity cards.

Nixon hurried from his meeting with government officials to a makeshift home for 424 refugees in a four-story Vienna schoolhouse. After shaking hands all around and chatting with many of the refugees, he visited Interior Minister Oskar Helmer, recuperating from a minor operation in a hospital, watched U.S. immigration officers interview a Hungarian family preparing to go to the United States, and visited the office of the International Committee for European Migration where refugees are processed and assigned to planes and trains for transportation to the United States and other countries.

Nixon was to leave for Salzburg tonight for a look at refugee camps in that area and then proceed to Munich tomorrow. There he will visit the "Safe Haven" operations base from which the U.S. Air Force is flying refugees to the United States.

The vice president is expected to start his own flight back to the United States Sunday morning.

In addition to the information he is collecting, Nixon with his visit is boosting the morale of many refugees who were becoming afraid they were about to be forgotten by the West.

Austria and the refugees have watched with concern as the flow of Hungarians to asylums elsewhere in the free world has slowed leaving in this little country more than 70,000 of the 150,000 who have entered since the anti-Soviet Hungarian revolt flared.

No Commitment On Airport Sum

Spokesmen for Kinston this week unofficially declined to recommend that Kinston and Lenoir County give financial support to the proposed Mid-East Carolina Airport.

Members of the Executive Committee of the area airport group met with the aviation committee of the Kinston Chamber of Commerce Wednesday night to explain the status of the application for federal funds the area airport has filed with Civil Aeronautics Administration.

Executive Committee Chairman W. W. Speight of Greenville said today: "Our understanding is that Kinston is maintaining the same position it has heretofore, that based on the present status no outright commitment could be given the Mid-East group, but the door is still open. In fact we were told it was felt the idea could be sold to people of Kinston and that the people would certainly be interested in sectional and area development an would consider further support for Mid-East any time it is presented."

Yesterday members of the Executive Committee met in Raleigh with the department of Conservation and Development to discuss the status of the Mid-East application for CAA funds. "We have received no indication from CAA as to whether Mid-East or Rocky Mount would receive matching funds," Speight commented, "but we should receive final work from CAA by January 15."

The office of director of prisons be abolished and the department's executive and administrative powers be invested in a full-time commissioner of prisons appointed by the governor for a four-year term.

The Prison Advisory Council be abolished and regulatory and policy-forming powers of the department be placed in the hands of a state prisons commission.

The "responsibilities of the State Highway and Public Works Commission respecting prisoners" be limited to employing "male prisoners for road work and purchasing prison products meeting standard specifications and reasonable requirements of the commission."

The governor, in endorsing the report, said the prisons should be separated from the Highway Commission because "they will be more efficient and will cost the state less money in the long run."

He also stated, "Prisons and their cost belong to the whole people and not to the Highway Department. They should be made self-sustaining as rapidly as possible."

The separated Prison Department have complete jurisdiction over prisons but none over any other part of the correctional process.

Cases Remain

At least 73 of the Welfare Department's Christmas opportunity cases remain to be taken.

Caseworker Dorothy Bolton of the department the number remained after Greenville's Service League asked for 32 of the cases on the opportunity list.

Thus far, 365 cases have been taken by individuals, civic and church groups and other organizations.

In an effort to help place the needy families Miss Bolton said she would remain in the Welfare Department this afternoon and tomorrow morning from 8:30 a.m. until 1 p.m. Persons interested in providing Christmas for any of the groups can do so by contacting Miss Bolton and obtaining details.

A majority of the remaining opportunities are Negro families, Miss Bolton said.

Miss Lorimer, East Carolina Student Marry

BURLINGTON—In a formal ceremony last evening at 8 o'clock at Macedonia Lutheran Church, Miss Marian Rhyne Lorimer became the bride of Virgil Wilton Lane, II, Dr. J. L. Norris, pastor of the church where the bride is a member, officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Lorimer of this city and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Wilton Lane, also of Burlington.

Mrs. Richard Thomas, organist, rendered the following numbers: "When Thou Art Near" by Bach, "Prayer of Notre Dame" by Boellman, "O Perfect Love" by Barbry and "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring" by Bach.

Mrs. Thomas also accompanied 26 members of the Front Street Methodist Church Choir, who sang "Entreat Me Not To Leave Thee" by Gounod and "The Lord's Prayer" by Malotte, with William Kirkpatrick as soloist.

Mr. Lorimer gave his daughter's hand in marriage and she had her sister, Miss Nancy Lorimer, as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Robert Hines Vaughn of Winston-Salem, sister of the bridegroom, Misses June Faulconer, Anne Marie Carlyle, Millie Mayton, Sue Harper, Mrs. Bascom Moore and Mrs. Larry Poster, all of Burlington.

Mr. Lane served as best man for his son and in the usher group were Lt. William H. Lorimer of Pinecastle, Fla., brother of the bride, Robert Hines Vaughn of Winston-Salem; Louis Blakey, Bill Martin, Gregg Heritage, Saunders Moore, Larry Smith and Charles Strange, all of Burlington. Robert Elder Lane, young brother of the bridegroom, escorted Mrs. Lane.

The bride's dress was fashioned of Skinner's parchment satin. The tightly-fitted bodice featured an Elizabethan neckline, outlined with re-embroidered Alencon lace, and long sleeves. The very full skirt was trimmed in panels of the re-embroidered Alencon lace and ended in a cathedral train. Her cathedral length veil of imported illusion was attached to a cap of re-embroidered Alencon lace with small medallions of lace on blusher. The bride carried an imported heirloom handkerchief, a gift of Mrs. C. J. Hickey, and her flowers were a cascade of white orchids, entwined with French mulline and tied with velvet tubing.

The maid of honor and bridesmaids wore floor length gowns of ivory crystal satin, identical in design. The accent was on the back of the dress, which formed a panel of contrasting satin with bustle back. They wore hats of gold satin discs, with small rhinestone trimmed veils. The honor attendant carried an arm bouquet of cavalier roses, entwined with smaller French mulline and tied with loops of fall rainbow ribbon. The bridesmaids carried cascade bouquets of some flowers.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Lorimer chose a floor length dress of chiffon over taffeta in Prevanche blue. The bridegroom's mother was attired in a floor length dress of flesh chiffon. Both mothers carried corsages of a white orchid with gold throat.

For an unannounced wedding trip, the bride changed to a two-piece suit of imported bouffis tweed. A white ascot tie at the throat and a white hat completed the outfit. Her other accessories were black suede.

Mrs. Lane was graduated from Williams High School and attended Elon College, where she completed the one-year commercial course. She then transferred to East Carolina College, Greenville, where she studied primary education. She has been receptionist and assistant at the June Faulconer School of the Dance here.

Mr. Lane graduated from Burlington High School and attended the University of North Carolina during his freshman year. He has spent the last three years at East Carolina College, Greenville, where he will receive a degree in business education. He is a member of Phi Omega Phi, honorary business fraternity.

The newlyweds plan to make their home in Greenville until Mr. Lane receives his degree in August. They will reside in the College View Apartments here.

Following the ceremony, the bride's parents entertained wedding guests at a reception at Almance Country Club.

Three Entertain At Yule Dance

Miss Joann Eagles, Miss LaVerne Eatmon and Miss Pat Morton entertained at a Christmas dance last evening held at the Greenville Moose Lodge.

Invited guests were some 200 high school friends. Dancing under a massive ball of mistletoe was enjoyed from 8 to 11:30 p.m.

The hostesses and their dates greeted guests.

The refreshment table was laid with a white cloth and held a centerpiece of a silvered limb and single candle showered with snow and encircled with pine and holly balls. At either end of the table crystal punch bowls encircled with greenery were placed out of which red and green Christmas punch was poured.

Red candles banked in greenery completed the table decorations.

Miss Eatmon and Miss Morton poured. Assisting in serving red and green sandwiches and other party accompaniments were the hostesses' mothers, Mrs. Donald Eatmon, Mrs. W. C. Eagles and Mrs. Luther Morton.

The Season For Realistic Dreaming

The Christmas season is, many times, a period for a little honest dreaming.

Children do it, thinking about Santa Claus. Adults do it, thinking about the times they thought about Santa Claus. Business firms do it, thinking about the year which is ending and the year which is coming up.

The "in-between" people do it, too. Young adults, who have passed the Santa stage and who are looking forward to business associations, frequently use the holiday periods to sound out prospects in their home towns. They have an opportunity to see older people they don't see at any other time in the year and, regardless of the rush of the time, take the time to talk about "the chances" of coming back home to make their living.

Too often, dreams of young adults are shattered during these holiday periods. They come home to find the older folks content with one-crop farms, half-hearted industrial efforts and a willingness to believe "what was good for your old man is good enough for you."

This year, Pitt County and, indeed, all of Eastern

North Carolina would do well to turn its dreaming on every level to a very serious plane. We have lost, and will continue to lose, too many young people who are not content with a "status quo" or a feeble effort at progress.

The slow-down of activity in the next few days will be a good time to think which must be done to compensate for growing agricultural losses. We must learn to think in ways of good for everyone because with our present economy the welfare of the individual is the welfare of the group.

There must be a new consideration for methods to replace agricultural jobs that will be lost. There must be serious and concerted effort to develop Eastern North Carolina's industrial potential. There must be a realization that Eastern North Carolina has to be opened up to the rest of the world through an expansion of air traffic. There must be a firm facing of fact that offers no promise—a promise that can be created by prudent, unselfish thoughts and actions of older and more experienced persons.

Good things can come from honest dreaming. And honest dreaming in Eastern North Carolina must include concrete idea production. We really have very little choice in the matter.

Can We Count Our Dead And Still Be Proud?

Word from the State Department of Motor Vehicles shows that North Carolina has a good chance to wind up this year with the smallest number of traffic fatalities in years.

It's a sorry thing to say that Pitt County is one of the few counties in the state which have not helped the overall record. Pitt, perhaps, is in a class by itself with its record-breaking total of 24.

While there is certainly room for sympathy for victims and other persons directly involved in the deaths, the Pitt County record for 1956 is one that should cause a general feeling of disgust. There is no way to explain, or even excuse, the accidents.

It is hard to understand how Pitt County could have 24 traffic fatalities in one year. The county is not hampered by a poor network of roads. It does not have either a North-South or East-West highway that carries especially heavy volumes of traffic except during holiday periods. The Highway Patrol has done a competent job of policing the roads and slowing down the highway pace.

The only thing left is simply carelessness on the part of drivers and victims.

There has been a great deal said about highway and traffic safety. There has been a great deal of pious nodding and agreeing. There has been a great deal of talk. It's about time drivers and pedestrians came down off their pedestals and realized it could happen to them anytime they take a chance with their automobile and walking habits.

North Carolina has reason to be proud of its statewide record. There is room for improvement but, still, room for pride.

Pitt County has nothing to be proud of. And there's plenty of room for improvement.

The Youngsters Set A Christmas Example

If the unselfish spirit exhibited by Greenville School children at this season is reflected by adults of the community, no one will want during this Christmas season.

It is a tribute to the children of the city schools that they decided this year to deny themselves presents and instead of giving to each other in classroom parties to give to Hungarian relief. In classrooms throughout the Greenville school system Christmas trees were laden clothing, toys, money and other gifts earmarked for children of Hungary.

How many times this was repeated by school children throughout this nation, we have no way of knowing. We are sure, however, that thousands upon thousands of youngsters in the United States this year have denied themselves at least one present in an effort to make the season a little more joyful for the unfortunate youngsters of a ravaged land far away.

The example set by the youngsters is in the true spirit of Christmas giving. It is one which might well be followed by adults of every community to help make this Christmas brighter for less fortunate citizens in our midst.

State Sovereignty Was Crux Of Plea

By LYNN NISBET
STATE RIGHTS — The burden of the presentation made by State officials to the congressional delegation this week was a plea for restoration of State sovereignty. In some areas there was responsibility in cooperative ventures, particularly by increased appropriations.

In others, and this was especially true in agriculture, there appeared general satisfaction with the existing cooperative arrangement. Statements by Commissioner L. Y. Ballentine and Dean D. W. Colvard indicated there are upwards of a hundred working agreements between State and Federal agencies in agricultural research, marketing, disease and pest control. These cooperative projects have proved to be among the most practical and beneficial types of agricultural program, said Ballentine. Suggestions for improvement were made, but for most part the cooperative projects are working well.

Larger Federal appropriations are needed for an expanded Civil Defense program, for public health and welfare, for greater protection against hurricanes, and in the fields of library service and school buildings. In nearly every instance it was pointed out that control of these services should remain in or be restored to the States.

Encroachment of Federal authority upon State rights was most evident in proposed legislation affecting regulation of banks, building and loan associations, insurance companies, and policies of revenue collection, purchase and sale of surplus property, and restrictions upon Federal highway and school building money.

BANKING — It is rudimentary that power over the handling of money implies large control of the habits of a people. Banks, building and loan associations and insurance companies are the depositories of accumulated savings and the source of credit for present and future needs.

State bank supervisory authorities are deeply concerned about proposed changes in the banking code, which would deprive the States of essential control, by permitting National banks to operate trust departments without a State license and without giving bond.

Other legislation would remove supervision of building and loan associations from the State Insurance Department and place them under the Federal Home Loan Bank.

Banking Commissioner William Jones and Insurance Commissioner Charlie Gold urged the congressmen to oppose these and support measures for State regulation of financial institutions.

Gold also would like to have insurance agents doing business on military and other federal reservations required to obtain State licenses. Presently the State has no regulatory authority over such business. This has given rise to confusion and misunderstanding in efforts to collect on policies, especially damages resulting from accidents involving automobiles operated by military personnel.

(Another area in which there is constant friction between State and military is enforcement of hunting and fishing laws. Military officers contend they do not require State licenses to hunt on Federal reservations. Consequences are not as serious as in the insurance field, where human safety is a major factor, but Wildlife Resources enforcement agents would like to see the rules tightened.)

CAMEL'S NOSE — Dave Holton, director of purchase and contract, fears that the Federal government is using "camel-back" retreading rubber as a sort of camel's nose to get under the tax tent. The State and all other local governments generally are exempt from Federal sales and excise taxes. But the Feds have ruled that the State must pay the 3 cent per pound tax on retreading rubber. The amount is small, the principle is bad, and the precedent might be dangerous, says Holton.

The Tarheel purchasing agent also thinks the State should be able to purchase government surplus property on equal terms with private industry. Now in many instances the State can borrow equipment but cannot buy it.

RAMIFICATIONS — The foregoing are only a few of the multiple instances in which Federal and State governments jointly participate. Presentations made at the conference with members of Congress disclosed many about which only the directly agencies had previous knowledge.

Spokesmen for both Raleigh and Washington officials were enthusiastic in praise of the conference idea, originated by Governor Hodges. They agreed that all parties have a better understanding of the complex problems of government, and will be able to work together more efficiently than in the past.

One State man said after the conference he had a lot more sympathy for some of his fellow workers. He had felt that he was having more trouble with Federal agencies than anybody but found his situation was relatively easy.

Latest gadget to come my way: a plastic toothpick, complete with its own case. The advertising gimmick was handed to me on the street by Tige Gardner. You pull the cap out of the little tube and there is your own personal tooth pick. And its permanent.

Life magazine has come out this week with a special edition on the American woman. Would you believe it? Not a really first class sexy photograph in the whole issue. Oh well.

Bootleggers just aren't the hardy type that they once were as photos in yesterday's Reflector showed. Once upon a time the manufacturers of the illegal booze set up their stills in the open woods. Neither wind nor rain nor snow deterred their operations. Today? ABC officers found one early Thursday morning set up and ready to operate in a tobacco barn. Got to have a roof over their heads now.

Greenville, stranded for weeks with practically no means of outside public transportation, should see buses pulling into its Union Bus Station today. The long bus strike has been settled and the bus drivers are scheduled to return to work.

Probably the dearest spot in town at present is the East Carolina College campus, vacant now as its many students return to their homes for the holidays.

Pitt County patrolmen are handing out cards to motorists during the holidays which read: "Please help us to help you get home safely for Christmas. North Carolina State Highway Patrol."

Notebook On Life

A Boomlet Atop Nat'l Boom

By HAL BOYLE
MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Leaves from a suburban notebook: Florida today is one of the states enjoying a boomlet on top of the general American boom.

It is growing so fast they may soon have to pave the Everglades and turn them into a parking lot.

You can always tell when times are good here where every other resident seems to be in the real estate business, at least on a part-time basis. The natives quit swapping land back and forth for practice and get busy selling it to new settlers.

Actually, however, they seem to go through the tortures of the damned when they do finally part with a parcel of property they have held for any length of time. As one man put it: "You hate to let go of something when you feel that if you just hold it for another 5 or 10 years you will get maybe triple the present price."

Tourists are now streaming in at the rate of 10,000 a day, and various sources estimate that between 3,000 and 4,000 new families are settling permanently in the state each month.

This accounts for the present Florida version of the Oklahoma land rush.

The phrase you hear most often is "if only had . . ." It expresses someone's regret over being asleep when opportunity hammered on the door like thunder, then passed on, perhaps never to return.

This is the usual version:

Strength for the Day

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
CROWDS AND INDIVIDUALS
Massification!

You will not, of course, find this word in the dictionary. It is an invented word, but it has a profound meaning.

Massification is the name for all those tendencies which lead us to think as a crowd rather than as individuals. Massification lies behind all movements to make people form to prevailing social customs. It even haunts the field of scholarship, causing the authorities in certain branches of knowledge to stand in the way of progress by opposing the new truth. Every boy and girl in high school knows the power of massification. It is a malady which attains epidemic proportions on practically every college campus. The business world suffers from it also. And, as it said in sorrow, the Christian Church is not entirely able to withstand the ravages of this malady.

The Bible makes it plain that we are above all else individuals. We come into the world alone—unless we are twins—and we die alone. Regardless of the help given by the Bible and the Church, we must all, as individuals, come to a satisfactory understanding with God if we are to enter Heaven.

Flee massification as you would flee any other plague. Strive to be a conscientious individual even though it means getting new friends or a new job. You cannot afford to have your destiny determined by others.

Tight Money Policy Remains In Favor

By RAY TUCKER
WASHINGTON — The Eisenhower Administration has rejected demands that it abandon its "tight money" policy, based on higher interest rates to borrow-ers, because of its economic advisers' year-end forecasts that 1957 will be "moderately prosperous," and possibly as booming a period as 1956.

The principal concern at the Treasury and in Federal Reserve circles is still inflation. Although prices of heavy and consumer goods, especially food, are expected to increase by two or three per cent, accompanying wage boosts will provide buyers with cash and credit to offset increased costs. Where wages are not tied to the cost of living index, as they are in many industries, the unions will demand faster pay envelopes.

The money managers at Washington would prefer that people save more and spend less, although not too much less, for fear that business will become stagnant. Giving banks under Reserve jurisdiction the right to raise interest payments was an inducement in this direction. It is counted on to help to check any spending spree, as will its pending spree.

MONETARY LID NECESSARY
Hiking the rediscount rate was designed simultaneously to prevent business and industry from overexpansion and overproduction, although it has not had as full an impact as anticipated.

In fact, the upward trend continues Secretary Humphrey and Federal Reserve Chairman William McC. Martin, Jr., that the monetary lid must be kept on.

Current plans for new plant and equipment, already at record highs, call for an increase next year to more than $40 billion. The figure will go even higher, if Secretary Humphrey grants tax concessions in the form of "fast write-offs." Business loans have also shown an increase in recent weeks.

Consumer credit and time borrowings are increasing, although more slowly as consumers fill luxury and semiluxury needs.

On November 6, the voters were asked to pass on bond issues totaling $2.6 billion, and they approved $2.4 billion for schools, roads, water and sewage systems, hospitals, libraries, city halls and courthouses—all nonproductive items.

It is this spirit of "hang the expense" which worries Washington, especially as interest on bonds is skyrocketing. A Virginia county recently had to pay 4.74 per cent for school money, an amazing figure.

Weakness In Selling Technique

By ELMER ROESSNER
A group of graduate students of New York University's School of Retailing has been dropping in on six big New York stores to buy advertised goods.

If it's fun shopping with other people's money, they must have had a good time. The stores themselves put up the cash. There was only one drawback as far as the student shoppers were concerned—the stores drew back the articles purchased when the experiment ended.

The shopping was part of a study directed by Dr. T. D. Ellsworth and Mrs. Katherine S. Mitchell of the N.Y.U. faculty. In all, 150 purchases were made, ranging from 41 cents to $41.15.

The principal conclusion: There is a grave lack of coordination among advertising, display and selling departments that is causing a loss of sales.

The researchers observed: "All too frequently the customer has to sell herself, in spite of the advertisement that has drawn her into the store and the salesperson who has been employed to serve her."

SELLING EFFORTS WEAK

The students ignored clearance sales and shopped only for other advertised merchandise within 48 hours after the ads appeared. They found four of every five salespersons courteous, and nine of ten informed about the advertised items. But 62 per cent of the salespersons did not encourage shoppers to handle the merchandise, 54 did not mention specific merchandise features in the advertisement, and 67 per cent did not volunteer information about the merchandise.

The student-shoppers found four of five salespersons were able to answer questions about the articles and to overcome objections raised. But only 10 per cent suggested additional items and only 3 per cent tried to interest the shoppers in more expensive goods.

Sixty-three per cent of the salespersons failed to count the change in front of customers, but 85 per cent did suggest that the customer carry her purchases home.

DISPLAYS, ADS DON'T JIBE

In general, stores did not display advertised articles in their street windows, nor did they display them elsewhere than in the departments in which they were on sale.

In these displays, two of every five items were shown in full range of color and size, and four of every five items carried informative signs. But in one instance of five, the merchandise was not in adequate supply. Many advertised colors, sizes and styles were not in stock.

The survey was completed before the Christmas rush, so that can't be blamed for the fact that selling and display departments didn't seem to understand what advertising departments were doing.

The conclusions concern only six stores in New York. However, random experience indicates that comparable situations exist in most shopping areas around the country.

OFF-BEAT ITEMS IN BUSINESS NEWS

The Internal Revenue Service has ruled that persons buying pearls or precious or semiprecious stones for investment must pay the retail excise tax. Since the jewels must rise 10 per cent before the investor breaks even, this seems to make jewels a poor short-term investment. . . . Arner Co., Buffalo, has developed a machine with a mechanical thumb to press caps on plastic vials for drugs. . . . Although Swedes pay $1.50 a pound for coffee, they drink more per person than any country in the world. Americans are second. . . . The average industrial worker earned the price of a pair of nylons in 47 minutes in 1951; today he can do it in 27 minutes, the National Industrial Conference Board figures. Two items take more work: potatoes, from 19 to 26 minutes for 10 pounds, and haircuts, from 40 to 43 minutes. . . . The Small Business Administration seeks a manufacturer interested in producing foam plastic pads impregnated with a tooth cleanser. Chewing a pad cleans the teeth. . . . A grain elevator with a flexible glass fiber roof that rests on the grain itself is being built at Maumee, Ohio, by Cargill, Inc.

There are always a few sad notes in the merry music of any community's booming prosperity. Thriving Miami, now bustling its seams all over, is no exception.

Its metropolitan area has an average suicide rate of about one a day. Many are among the ailing elderly, who sought out a sunny Fountain of Youth too late in life for a cure. . . .

Northerners who have the idea of finding peace and plenty by buying a small Florida fruit or vegetable farm were warned in a recent newspaper editorial here that the hazards are high in such small-scale ventures.

Farming and fruit raising have become big business here, following the same trend of such operations in most states. And Florida raises more than enough vegetables to supply its markets.

If a man seeks independence on five acres here, the best crop he can plant for a quick profit seems to be a housing project or some apartment houses.

and precise moment. Representative Wright Patman, Texas Democrat, has launched his periodical attack on the Humphrey-Martin policy, and he has been joined by Governor Averell Harriman of New York. They charge that the Administration's program hurts the "little businessmen," and favors the big banks and industrialists.

CHARGE MONOPOLISTIC TENDENCY They insist that it also has a monopolistic tendency, in that large corporations can obtain funds or use their own reserves, while smaller units cannot afford the higher borrowing charges. But it is doubtful if they will gain general support on Capitol Hill from Democrats or Republicans, barring a serious and unexpected downturn. Humphrey and Martin argue that, despite the higher cost of money, runaway inflation's effect on everybody from a corner baker to a Wall Street banker, would be even more disastrous. As hard-boiled men, they favor hard rather than "cheap" money.

Other Editors Are Saying..
Divorce Mill Charge Unjustified

(Goldsboro News-Argus)

In the stress and strain of argument all of us are given to a hasty use of words upon occasions.

That apparently is what happened in the hearing of disbarment charges against James D. Gilliland, Warrenton lawyer. Don A. Walser of Lexington, chairman of the three-man committee from the State Bar Association holding the hearings, used the words "divorce mill" in referring to the Nash County Recorder's court. Two divorces granted by the Nash Recorder's court figured in charges against Gilliland.

Newspaper accounts, growing out of the charges have said that the term "divorce mill" also might be used in describing other county courts which are legally authorized to grant divorces. We do not think this is substantiated by the record.

The county courts which have authority under legislative action are under the same rules and regulations concerning divorces as the Superior Courts. It is said in the puny effort to make the 10 county courts granting marriage separation look like "divorce mills" that they make it easier for one party in the divorce proceedings to keep the action from the knowledge of the other. That does not seem to be the case. Summons by publication is permitted equally in cases in the county courts as in the Superior Courts.

At least one county court granting divorces requires a personal summons. Another judge of a county court authorized to grant divorces quite reasonably, we feel, argued that personal summonses were not a requirement under the divorce statutes and he felt he would be exceeding his authority in so requiring.

Before the redistricting of the state, some counties had superior court sessions only twice a year. Hence parties entitled under law to divorces in these counties might have to wait six months or so after they had complied with the two-year-separation requirement and hence were entitled to divorce before they could obtain such decrees in their own counties. Hence some divorces came forward from such counties to counties which allow their local courts to grant separation and divorce.

It has not been indicated or even implied that the county courts in any sense violate the law of the state in handling any divorce action. Due process seems to be followed strictly. As long as that is the case, use of the term "divorce mill" to apply to the local courts is unjustified.

Old Grads Of GHS Home For Holidays

BY MARTHA JANE PIERCE
 Greenville High School Reporter
 School closed for the holidays Wednesday afternoon with a Christmas assembly sponsored by the senior class as a closing note. During the assembly baskets of food were presented to the two janitors and the two maids. A present was also presented to Mamie Ruth Brady, school secretary.

Many of Greenville High's former students are home for the holidays. From Woman's College of the University of North Carolina have come Betsy Karsnak, Sharon Wilfong, Norma Basnight, Lois Simmons and Mary Will Long. Fick Arthur, Donald Patrick and Sylvia Bonner have returned from Carolina.

MARTHA

Billy Barbra has returned from Fork Union Military Academy; Harold Edwards, Mickey West, and Ray Gardner are home from North Carolina State. Pete Eaton and Sue Tucker arrived home from Duke University. Bob Thompson and Sally Beard arrived home from Wake Forest's new campus in Winston-Salem.

Other students who have returned home are Betty Ann Jones from Johnson-Wills School of Nursing in Richmond Va., Lella Davenport from Meredith College, Susie Pope and Olive Morrell from the Medical College of Virginia, Betty Sugg, Rex Nursing School. Joe Taft, Billy Dunn, and Sara Adams from Campbell College. Charles Rumley came home from Immanuel College in Franklin Springs Georgia.

The arrival date for the long awaited new high school has been set for the last of March. The new high school will have sixteen regular classrooms and eight laboratories. A sound proof band room, band dressing and practice room, a director's office, a large cafeteria, and a concession stand will be included in the new school.

The gymnasium will be a great improvement over the one the Greenville Pantoms are forced to use at this time. The new gym will have four hundred permanent seats and eleven hundred folding bleachers. Showers for boys, girls, and visiting teams will be located behind the gym. The new gym will also be used for assemblies until the new auditorium can be built.

The senior high trio, Anne Parkinson, Elizabeth White, and Mully Bowden, presented a program of Christmas music at the Greenville Rotary Club December 3. Following the musical program, Junius H. Rose, superintendent of city schools, paid tribute to Miss Ona Shnidler for her work with Greenville High School for over 25 years.

High salesmen for the annual sale of ads for the Tau were Jo Rooke and Jeanne Moye. Their sales amounted to $159. The senior class made a profit of approximately $319 on the sales.

Lois Brown, senior, was elected corresponding secretary of the Future Nurses Club. Betsy Whedbee, Mildred Coleman and Martha Lee Moye composed the committee in charge of changing the club's constitution.

The junior and senior cheerleaders also made changes in their constitution in their meeting November 27. Changes were made in the constitutions after the Student Council checked all club constitutions to see if they contained all of the necessary information.

Carmen Is Puzzled By 'Cheesecake'

By BOB THOMAS
 HOLLYWOOD — There's one thing that puzzles Spanish star Carmen Sevilla about America: Why do the photographers always ask her to cross her legs and lift her skirt?

Of course, this is no mystery to cheesecake-conscious Americans, especially when the subject is as beautiful and shapely (33-22-36) as Carmen. But she can't understand it.

"In Spain, we do not have anything like that," she said through an interpreter. "The censors would not allow it, so the photographers do not even ask. But here!"

She told of one session in New York when a photographer kept raising her skirt line. When he turned his back, she would lower it. This turned into a tug-of-war, and Carmen was the victor. Unlike certain Italian stars, she prefers not to expose her physical assets, unless the scene she is playing calls for it. She prefers to get by on her acting talent.

I don't know about her acting, but on the basis of beauty she could be the first Hollywood star to come from Spain. She is chestnut-haired with deep, dark eyes and a classical face. She is shy about her knowledge of English, which consists largely of "How are you?" "Some milk please" and "Goodbye." But in her native tongue she shows flashes of Latin fire.

Carmen, 25, is here to dub dialogue (she speaks it phonetically) for her first American film, "Flamenco," which was filmed largely in Spain. Would she like to stay?

"To stay, no," she said. "I could never leave Spain for long, all my family is there. But I would like very much to come here often and make pictures. Everyone has been so kind to me. They have made it very comfortable for me."

East Is East And West Is West . . . Twain Have Met

CHARLOTTE (AP) — East is East, and West is West, and evidently the twain have met.

Fried grasshoppers, long a delicacy of the mysterious Orient, are going like hot cakes in the gourmet shop of a Charlotte department store. And in case you don't relish grasshoppers, canned worms and snails are available.

Since the canned grasshoppers went on sale six weeks ago, the store has sold 400 cans. Israel Mossman, manager of the shop, says lots of people buy them for a lark, but come back for more because they like them.

The grasshoppers and worms are fried in deep fat and come out crunchy. Add a bit of salt. They are eaten as an appetizer or hors d'oeuvre. Some say the worms taste like overaged pop corn.

New Tax Rates

GREENSBORO — P. K. Sanders, District Director of Internal Revenue, reminded employers today that new Social Security tax rates will go into effect January 1, 1957.

"This reminder is issued," Sanders said, "at this time because the Internal Revenue Service is now in the process of mailing new instruction pamphlets to employers. However, employers are to continue withholding and paying these taxes at the old rate through December, 1956."

Winter Arrives This Afternoon

CHICAGO (AP)—Winter arrives at 4 p.m. EST today and the weatherman has compiled some facts to set people straight about the day. For example, you're wrong if you think the sun rises later and sets earlier in the United States today than on any other day of the year. That happens only at the Arctic Circle. The time of sunrise and sunset varies with the latitude in a belt from New York westward through Cleveland, Detroit, Chicago, Denver and Portland, Ore., the earliest sunset occurs about Dec. 8 and the latest sunrise about Jan. 4. In Miami, Fla., the earliest sunset occurs about Dec. 1 and the latest sunrise about Jan. 12. However, when both sunrise and sunset are taken into account the least amount of daylight does occur about Dec. 21. But the least amount of daylight doesn't mean that a seasonal warmup is ahead. For the central United States, the average coldest weather doesn't come until late January. It seems that the amount of heat lost through radiation at night stays ahead of the amount of heat received from the sun in the daytime until a balance is attained by the longer days in late January. So keep the overcoat handy.

No Inclination To Try Chicken

BLOOMSBURG, Pa. (AP)—Bears of this north central Pennsylvania region must have lost their taste for meat, reports district game protector M.E. Hagenbuch. Hagenbuch said a bear broke the window of a chicken house, crawled inside and ate all of the feed meat in the poultry feeders. Not a chicken was touched. There are two small tropical forest areas in the United States, southern Florida and southeastern Texas.

Close Secrecy Marks Missile Test Activity

WASHINGTON (AP)—Military officials continue to cloak their missile test operations in official secrecy — although the test center on Florida's populous east coast is open to public view from the sea. Secrecy obscures even nonsecret work at Patrick Air Force Base, site of the armed forces missile test center.

It is known that three months ago technicians fired a test type of the projected Jupiter intermediate range ballistic missile (IRBM). This Army missile appears to have shot up more than 600 miles and to have flown more than 3,000 miles into the South Atlantic.

The Pentagon still declines to acknowledge such a test was conducted.

The Defense Department refused to permit advance notice of the recent test firing of a standard Viking rocket similar to the first-stage engine planned for launching the projected earth satellites. Newsmen, in requesting permission to go to the base for such a test firing, cited an earlier government statement that the satellite project, a purely scientific effort, would not be encumbered by military security. The explanation for the refusal was that other military test equipment was on the base.

The missile test center is heavily protected on land by fences and armed guards. But most of its area is in plain sight from a beach across a narrow strip of water. And civilian-operated boats are free to sail close to shore, where launching equipment and missiles are in easy camera range.

Security officials say the test firings are supposed to be conducted without preliminary publicity. But for safety reasons, boats and aircraft are warned away from the launching area and down-range path several hours before firings. This is an unintended invitation to sightseers.

One reason for locating the test center in this heavily populated area is the fact that the Caribbean Lands, over which the outgoing missiles pass, provide ideal sites for instrument recording stations.

UN Assembly Is Cleaning Up For Holiday Respite

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—The U.N. General Assembly worked doggedly today to clean up business for the Christmas holidays. The 80-nation body pressed ahead with its current Middle East debate, interrupted last night by the visit of India's Prime Minister Nehru.

The Assembly began two months late because of the U.S. election and has been delayed repeatedly by emergency sessions on the Hungarian and Middle East crises. France brought the Middle East question before the Assembly again last night, again raising charges that Egypt is mistreating French nationals. French Delegate V. G. D'Estaing spoke out despite a report from a British spokesman that both Britain and France had received assurances regarding the treatment of their nationals in Egypt and that the situation appeared easier.

D'Estaing brought up evidence which he contended knocked down Egypt's denial that French citizens were being mistreated.

D'Estaing charged that French nationals had been beaten and imprisoned in Egypt, their property sequestered and their personal belongings seized. He said some were forced to leave the country after they had been reduced to poverty. Replying to Egyptian charges, D'Estaing declared no permanent restrictions had been placed on the return to Egypt of Egyptian nationals residing in France. About 100 such request had been granted, he added. D'Estaing urged Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold again to see that Egypt observes international law in its treatment of French citizens. Egypt has accused both the British and French of subjecting Egyptians to severe measures in their countries. Both sides have denied the other's charges. The play with the longest run on Broadway is "Life With Father" with 3,224 performances. Second is "Tobacco Road" with 3,182 performances and third is "Abie's Irish Rose" with 2,327 performances.

SAIEED'S

Books & Stuff

By DR. ED HIRSHBERG
We have another accomplishment of a North Carolinian to call to your attention this week, before extending the Greetings of the Season. Archibald Henderson, now 79 years old, was a professor of Mathematics at UNC until his retirement in 1948. He has just come out with a new book on George Bernard Shaw, despite the Mathematics, called "G.B.S.: Man of the Century," which is being hailed by the critics as one of the best biographies of the Sage ever written.

Mr. Henderson also is the author of "G.B.S.: Man of the Century," which is being hailed by the critics as one of the best biographies of the Sage ever written.

Local Futures—and Present
Speaking of Shaw, his comedy about a speech teacher who makes a cockney trollop into a beautiful and cultured debutante, "Pygmalion," will be put on by the College Theatre at E.C.C. in the latter part of January. It will be a rare production indeed, since the rights to its production have been withdrawn in order to make room for the musical "My Fair Lady," based on "Pygmalion" and currently wowing large audiences on Broadway. . . . Also coming in January is the annual visit of the Grass Roots Opera Company, bringing to the McGinnis Auditorium boards a popular operatic comedy, "The Secret Marriage," which will be terrific, if the performances we've seen of the Grass Roots group are any indication of what this one will be like. . . . And right now in the Sheppard Memorial Library are some lovely Christmas exhibitions and displays, plus an art exhibit on the second floor of great Christmas paintings—well worth your time to go and see. . . .

Pickwick Christmas
We always like to read something Christmas this time of year, and here's our Greeting to you of the Season—from Charles Dickens' "Pickwick Papers," which we always look at around now—from the "Good-Humoured Christmas Chapter"—one of the immortal accounts of Christmas cheer in all English Literature. "And numerous indeed are the hearts to which Christmas brings a brief season of happiness and enjoyment. How many families, whose members have been dispersed and scattered far and wide, are then reunited and meet once again in that happy state of companionship and mutual goodwill, which is a source of such warm and unalloyed delight, and one so incompatible with the cares and sorrows of the world, that the religious belief of the most civilized nations, and the rude traditions of the roughest savages, alike number it among the first joys of a future condition of existence, provided for the best and happiest. How many old recollections, and how many dormant sympathies, does Christmas time awaken! That's all about Christmas—from Charles Dickens. And from us . . . Merry Christmas, and Happy Holidays. . . .

Today's Review
Mrs. James Poindexter contributes today's comments about a first novel written by the young daughter of a well-known North Carolinian who is in the newspaper business. . . .

CALEB MY SON. By Lucy Daniels. Philadelphia: J. B. Lippincott & Co., 1956.
"Caleb My Son," written only to tell the "story of human people caught in a heart-rending struggle" as the author claims, does seem to have avoided support or criticism of any cause. For that reason, it can, possibly, be enjoyed by readers who hold entirely different views on the subject of segregation from the author's. There is much good writing in this small novel. The reader does not lose interest from beginning to end of the story. At times it is even hard to believe that this was written long enough ago to be now a published book—it is so timely. The problem of racial standing runs through every strand of the story of a Negro family living through the many difficulties involved in the everyday lives of its several members. The problem is not over-simplified—the author seems to have an idea of its complexities. The youngest child in the family, Saul, is a particularly successful part of the story. He cannot understand, but admires the daring of his hero, Caleb, who strikes out against the written and unwritten laws governing the relations between Negroes and whites. It is Saul who makes the home real—the room shared with Caleb, the porch steps where he waited so often for Caleb's return, the bleak window where he waited and wondered where his father had gone, what he was doing that fatal night which ended the book. Miss Daniels has sympathy and compassion for her characters, but she seems too young and inexperienced a writer to "step over the fence" into the lives of other people, and especially of those of a race that has been set apart from her own people throughout her whole experience. Her characters, set upon their path in the story, do not seem to be consistent—she does not know what they would do. There is too much explaining by the author instead of proof by action and words. The dialogue is at times excellent—at times ridiculous, as when he Negro school principal and his teacher have a conversation in dialect as thick as field hands' talking. She is still more conscious of race than she is of individuals and their lives. But how can one criticize such a brave writer? It is daring enough to probe into the lives of other people in easy situations, but she has tried to do it for a people who have learned to show a certain face to their white neighbors, and in a situation that is perhaps beyond even a compassionate imagination's scope. Young Motorist Hit The Jackpot
CASPER, Wyo. (AP)—A 17-year-old Casper youth arrested by police may have missed violating a few traffic laws—but not many. They said before the youth's car collided with another, he (1) ran from police, (2) drove the wrong direction on a one-way street, (3) drove with headlights out, (4) was speeding, (5) failed to give right-of-way and (6) made an illegal left turn.

Thumb Hazard On The Highway
BROOKFIELD, Mo. (AP)—Add occupational hazards to hitchhike to his home in Kinloch, Mo., stood a bit too close to the highway, he told state troopers. A car came along and whacked his outstretched thumb, bruising it so severely he had to have it treated. He caught the next bus home. More than 5 million of the 23 million bicycles in the United States are ridden by adults, says the Bicycle Institute of America.

Flight Training At State College

RALEIGH—North Carolina State College has been named as one of 40 colleges in the country to participate in a new Army ROTC flight training program. Under the program about 400 senior ROTC students will be given pilot training this school year. The flight instruction is expected to get under way about February, according to Colonel Thomas G. Keithly chief of the North Carolina Military District in Raleigh.

Applicants at N. C. State will receive flight aptitude tests and physical examinations shortly after the first of the year, Colonel Keithly said. Successful applicants will receive four months of flight instruction at an approved civilian flying school. The program of instruction will include 35 hours of ground instruction and 35 hours of flight instruction in light aircraft. Following call to active duty the students will receive additional training at the Army aviation school at Ft. Rucker, Alabama.

Colonel Keithly said the six colleges in the Third Army area have been allotted 58 students in this year's program. Quota for individual colleges will be determined by the number of qualified applicants. In addition to N. C. State, other colleges in the Southeast to participate in the program include Auburn, University of Florida, University of Tennessee, The Citadel and Georgia Institute of Technology. Present plans call for the Army to train about 800 pilots during the 1957-58 school year through the ROTC program.

The Word Became Flesh

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—John 1:1-18; Luke 2:1-20.

God sent a man to earth whose name was John. When he had grown to manhood he preached that he was the forerunner of Christ Jesus, the only begotten Son of God.

Joseph of Nazareth took his espoused wife, Mary, to Bethlehem to be taxed. There was no room for them in the inn, but in a manger Mary gave birth to a Son.

Shepherds tending their flocks in the fields were startled by a light from heaven. An angel told them not to fear, for a Babe was born in Bethlehem who was Christ the Lord.

The shepherds left their flocks and went to Bethlehem. There they found the Babe, wrapped in swaddling clothes, and they knelt down and worshiped Him. MEMORY VERSE—Luke 2:11.

The Word Became Flesh

JOHN THE BAPTIST FORETELLS THE COMING OF JESUS CHRIST, THE SAVIOR

Scripture—John 1:1-18; Luke 2:1-20.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL THE FIRST part of today's lesson may not be made quite clear to the younger members of a Sunday school, but the older ones may be led to see that John the Baptist came to prophesy the coming of Christ, and to explain Him as the bringer of light to the world, and to discuss the words of St. John the Apostle.

place where prophets had foretold that the Messiah would be born, lived a carpenter by the name of Joseph whose wife was Mary. The two made the toilsome journey to the "city of David," the line from which Joseph came, to pay their tax. The inn was full, and the only place they could find to spend the night was a stable, a crude place. There, in that humble place, Mary gave birth to a beautiful Baby Boy, and "she wrapped Him in swaddling clothes and laid Him in a manger."

"All things were made by Him; and without Him was not any thing made that was made. "In Him was life; and the life was the light of men, and the light shineth in darkness; and the darkness comprehended it not. "There was a man sent from God, whose name was John. The same came for a witness, to bear witness of the Light, that all men through Him might believe." John the Baptist was not the

Now there were shepherds in fields that night keeping watch over their sheep. Suddenly a great light shone upon them, coming from heaven, and it frightened them. "And lo, the angel of the Lord came upon them, and the glory of the Lord shone round about them. "And the angel said unto them, Fear not; for, behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people.

Light, but was sent to bear witness of that Light—Jesus, who was the true Light, "which lighteth every man that cometh into the world. He was in the world, and the world was made by Him, and the world knew Him not. He came unto His own, and His own received Him not."

"For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord." They would know the Babe because they would find Him wrapped in swaddling clothes and lying in a manger. Then a heavenly host was with the angel praising God and saying, "Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, goodwill toward men."

There is enough material in those words of St. John's to give material for questions and discussion with the older young people, and for the teacher. The lovely Christmas story of the birth of Christ, is always one of the joys of the season. St. Luke is the only one who tells of the annunciation, Mary's visit after it to her cousin Elizabeth, mother of John the Baptist, and the circumstances of John's birth, childhood and emergence from the wilderness to proclaim the coming of Christ.

When the angels went away, the shepherds left their flocks and went to Bethlehem, where they found the Heavenly Babe, and knelt in worship. Then they told everyone they met about the wonders they had witnessed, and all wondered. The shepherds returned to their flocks, glorifying and "praising God for all the things they had heard and seen."

Caesar Augustus, the Roman emperor, declared a tax to be collected in the city of one's lineage. Now at the town of Nazareth, 90 miles north of Bethlehem, the

ACC Defeats Bucs 71-68 In Second Round Of Tournament

East Carolina To Meet Piedmont This Afternoon

By BILLY ARNOLD
Reflector Sports Editor
PARRIS ISLAND, S.C.—Atlantic Christian edged East Carolina, 71-68, yesterday afternoon in the semi-final rounds of the Parris Island Invitational Tournament.

tournament play. They were defeated by Rollins and the Parris Island Marines.
After today's game, the Bucs will observe the Christmas holidays. Their next game will be a January 4 tilt with Belmont Abbey, at Greenville.

Widgones, Underwood
For the Pirates last night, it was just a case of too much Widgones and Underwood—and a slight overdose of Marley.

Hard To Pick Classic Winner

RALEIGH (AP) — Trying to pick the favorite in the Dixie Classic basketball tournament here Dec. 27-29 is a tough chore.
Four teams in the field of eight are closely grouped when it comes to picking a favorite. Another team, North Carolina State, must be listed as a dark horse by virtue of its Dixie Classic record.

With East Carolina's Don Harris and Nick Nichols coming through in the opening minutes of the fourth period, the Greenville team whittled the Bulldog lead to but a few points. With 25 seconds left in the game, a jump shot by guard Charlie Adams cut the score to 69-68. ACC guard Darwin Williams was fouled, however, and his two free tosses made it 71-68, the final.

Experiments
Coach Howard Porter continued his weird experiments within the Pirate framework, as before during the first game using varied and untried formations. Regular guard Freddy James, who did not start yesterday, was shifted to a forward slot during the time he was in the game. The Fox used two regular second-string performers in the starting lineup to further complicate matters. Forwards were Don Harris and Nick Nichols.

Ratings May Be 'Kiss Of Death'

By DON WEISS
The Associated Press
It's beginning to look as if a place of honor in the national college basketball rankings is more a kiss of death than a pat on the back.

Continuing the trend of a week that began with San Francisco's first loss in two years, 10th-rated Kansas State was spilled last night by Minnesota, two members of the Associated Press poll's second 10 were beaten, and even North Carolina, No. 3, had the scare of its life before finally struggling to its sixth straight victory.

The North Carolina Tar Heels, playing at Madison Square Garden, wound up a 64-59 winner over so-so New York University, but only after Bob Cunningham and reserve Joe Quibb had rushed to the rescue of the Carolina ace, Len Rosenbluth, who was held without a field goal for the first 30 minutes and wound up with only nine points.

Minnesota also sprung a couple of unsuspecting players to hand K-State its first loss after four wins, 80-72. Buck Lindsley, with a five-point average, scored 21, and George Hanson added 18 to overbalance a 33-point show by State's Jack Parr.

Alabama, rated 17th, was handed a 73-50 shelling by unranked Wake Forest, and La Salle, also unranked in the rankings, cost North Carolina State (19) its third loss 83-76.

St. Bonaventure, regularly among the best in the East, lost its first in four 64-63 to Iona (N.Y.) on an over-the-head shot by Joe Bernardi with 10 seconds to play. Indiana, an easy winner over La Salle earlier in the week, was beaten by Villanova 79-69. Nebraska, which dumped strong Purdue from the unbeaten list a couple days ago, needed Don Smith's one-handed midcourt with three seconds left to nip much-beaten Texas Tech 67-66.

There were, of course, a few signs of normalcy, back home after road losses to St. Louis and Wichita, burst into a 30-6 lead and with all regulars hitting double figures, walloped Abilene Christian 81-41.

South Carolina, which carried North Carolina into overtime before losing last Saturday, defeated Georgia Tech 90-63 behind a 37-point job by Grady Wallace. Bradley, trailing 18-6 at one point, overcame Wisconsin 74-62, and Oklahoma City, tied for 15th in the AP ratings, got a school record of 43 points from Hubert Reed in a 91-74 decision over San Jose State.

Parris Island Title Will Be Decided Tonight

PARRIS ISLAND, S.C. (AP)—West Virginia Tech and Erskine tangle here tonight for this year's Marine Christmas invitational basketball tournament title.

The high flying Tech quintet has scored 107 points in each of its first two games. Last night it triumphed 107-104 over Parris Island.

As in its initial win over Rollins, Tech relied chiefly on the shooting wizardry of forward Ken Hammond.

Last night Hammond scored 44 points, giving him a total of 86 for the two games.

Erskine was hard pressed as it won in overtime, 75-73, over Stetson.

High scorers for Erskine were Eddie Rice and Dick Harben with 23 and 23 points respectively.

Rice sparked the winning surge by tossing in 12 points in the last three minutes of play.

Stetson and Parris Island meet in the other night game.

Afternoon action had Atlantic Christian against Rollins, and East Carolina against Piedmont.

Yesterday, Atlantic Christian beat East Carolina, 71-68, and Piedmont bowed to Rollins, 84-58.

Cage Teams Split Two Games To End Action

Ayden and Benvenue split two games at Ayden, Wednesday night, in the final county game before the Christmas holidays. The games were neither Pitt County or Coastal County affairs.

Benvenue took the girls game by one point in a down-to-the-wire battle. Chewing scored 14 to take high honors for the winners. Sutton collected 17 for Ayden.

Ayden's boys ran rough-shod over the Benvenue males in the second game, 54-26. Halftime score was 28-7. Lindy Dunn and Tommy Edwards led the Ayden attack.

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Art Aragon, third ranked welterweight, was suspended indefinitely by Texas Boxing Commissioner H. B. Morgan yesterday on charges of trying to fix a fight.

Fuentes Upsets Kid Gavilan In Ten Round Tilt

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Underdog Ramon Fuentes kept up a biting attack to upset former World Welterweight Champion Kid Gavilan of Cuba in a split 10-round decision at Olympic Auditorium last night.

Odds on a Gavilan victory were 2 1/2 to 1 just before the fight. Referee Tommy Hart and Judge Frankie Van both turned in cards favoring Fuentes by a score of 96-85. Judge Mushy Callahan had it Gavilan 93-92.

Fuentes, a 31-year-old ex-graviddigger from Los Angeles, earned his margin in the seventh when he got over three jolting rights to the head of the ex-champ, followed by a wide, stinging left hook, slight fever.

Morgan said both fighters took the detector tests arranged by San Antonio police.

stein, a boxing buddy of Aragon. Both men are from Los Angeles. Under rules of the National Boxing Assn. both men are automatically suspended in all states except New York.

The suspension came after both men had taken lie detector tests. Morgan said, "I concluded that between the two about the fight it was understood that Goldstein was to go down and Aragon was to win."

Morgan said that conversations concerning Goldstein taking a "dive" in the third round were first held in Los Angeles.

"It's another case of a big-time fighter not wanting to take a chance of being whipped by a little-time fighter," Morgan said. Goldstein testified in a hearing Wednesday that he was offered $500 and threatened with death if he didn't take a "dive"—fake losing the fight—in the third round.

The scheduled bout Tuesday was called off when a State Boxing Commission doctor said Aragon had a reddened throat and a slight fever.

Morgan said both fighters took the detector tests arranged by San Antonio police.

Iron Curtain Reports Reveal Unrest

By WARREN ROGERS JR.
WASHINGTON (AP)—Communist leaders in Russia and her satellites are described in reports collected here as fighting widespread Iron Curtain unrest with a combination of economic handouts and police state tyranny. These reports, most of them published although some are unconfirmed, have been appearing ever since the October revolt in Hungary. Mostly they are about student opposition to Communist doctrine and restrictions. Some tell of demonstrations and strikes by workers. What they all add up to is a matter of speculation. American and other diplomats studying them caution against laying too much emphasis on their meaning. Perhaps, they say, cracks are showing in the once-monolithic Soviet system. But they add that does not mean the Soviet system is collapsing from Moscow to East Germany.

Such reports presumably lie behind two statements this month by dissimilar figures:

1. Allen Dulles, chief of the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency, told a Princeton, N.J., audience Dec. 12 that "we have well-substantiated reports that the students are becoming 'restive' inside Russia."
2. India's Prime Minister Nehru said here Wednesday that education of the Soviet people is a big factor in curiosity and questioning which he said are causing a "fundamental" change and leading to eventual "liberalization and democratization" of the Soviet government.

The satellite regimes, apparently on cue from Moscow, attacked unrest by precautionary moves and concessions, according to the reports.
This was said to have brought tighter security, more patrols and arrests, stepped-up propaganda about "spies" and, in the case of Rumanian students, more homework to keep them out of mischief.

The concessions reported included improved pensions in all the satellites, price cuts in Albania and Czechoslovakia and wage increases in Albania, Bulgaria, Hungary and Rumania.

In most cases of reports of unrest, the Communist papers provided a tipoff by publishing stories condemning the incidents. These reports, country-by-country, include:

Russia — Demands by students at Moscow University that a second political party be created. An outcry among political students at Moscow conservatory when a professor refused to discuss Soviet military intervention in Hungary. A walkout of 200 students from a Moscow lecture when the lecturer refused to discuss Soviet policy toward Hungary.

Romania — Arrests of students failed to explain mass absence from classes. Homework piled on students. A market place demonstration against the food shortages.

Poland — Demonstrations at a half-dozen cities. Banning of Polish newspapers for export to other satellite countries.

East Germany — A near riot of Dresden youths. Demonstrations by East Berlin and Leipzig students.

Bulgaria — Regime warned of "secret enemies" in the country, and of "dissident elements." Students refused to attend political classes.

Albania — Strikes and demonstrations in a number of places. Lithuania — Signs demanding "Russians go home."

Czechoslovakia — Some panic buying reported at the end of October. Party leaders talked about "reactionaries and enemies" in the country.

Western officials recalled that in the three big satellite outbreaks — East Germany in mid-1953 and Poland and Hungary this year — patterns were similar. In each case, demonstrations permitted by the regime apparently to permit some letting off of steam got out of hand and jittery local police fired on the demonstrators.

Officials said they doubted the Communists would make the same mistake again. They said demonstrations probably would no longer be allowed.

Community Intends To Keep Private Streets

By GENE HANDSAKER
LOS ANGELES (AP)—Ever hear of a community without public streets?

One whose residents drive in at gates where guards turn others away with "Sorry, these are private roads"? Or at other gates which property owners open electronically by slipping a card into a slot?

Such a place is exclusive Rolling Hills on the Palos Verdes Peninsula south of here — four square miles of eucalyptus-shaded, ranch-type homes which soon may become the nation's first private city.

Many of its residents, seeing threats to their card-in-the-slot privacy, want to incorporate.

If incorporation wins in the election slated for next Jan. 8 they say the gates of the new municipality definitely will stay closed to all but residents. And, as now, there will be no stores or shops, no business. Even government will be minimized.

Rolling Hills' 1,200 well-heeled residents think their privacy is worth fighting for.

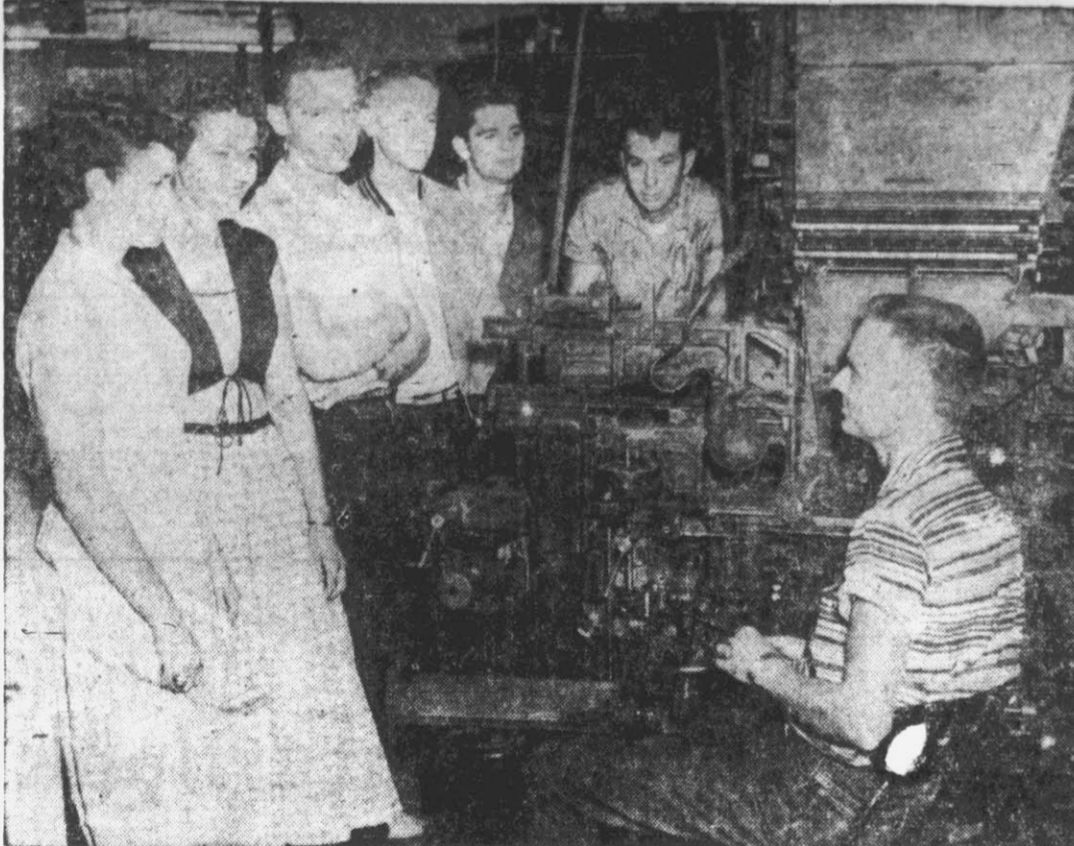

Their children play in relative safety along shady lanes. Sixty per cent of the families own horses. Riding trails thread the area, which overlooks the ocean and the metropolis, with its sea of nighttime lights.

There is elbow room—most lots are an acre to several acres. Most of all there is freedom from smog and screeching, bumper-to-bumper traffic.

But there has been disturbing talk of being annexed by the neighboring industrial city of Torrance, or by some subdivision which might get incorporation fever.

The spearhead of incorporation, Atty. Owen F. Goodman, believes that incorporation would strengthen the community's legal position for maintaining its privacy.

Municipal services — police and fire protection, health services, tax collection, etc., would be contracted for with the county, which now provides them in return for taxes.

AT PRINTING SCHOOL—These seven young men and women are students at the Roy Parker School of Printing at Chowan College, Murfreesboro. They are shown at one of the 10 typesetting machines at the school. The girls are students in a Teletypewriter perforator class; the men are linotype students. Jobs on newspaper will be waiting for them when they complete their courses because the school of printing has been unable to meet the demand of publishers for its graduates. Four Convicted Of Violating Security Law

In Magistrate Luther D. Moore's Court Thursday, he found four Greenville Negro defendants guilty of violating the Employment Security Law in connection with false reports made by them regarding wages earned during the weeks for which they filed for unemployment insurance.

Employment Security Commission Deputy C. A. Dees of New Bern was the prosecuting witness.

The magistrate continued prayer for judgment on condition that the following defendants each pay $9.50 court costs: Melvin L. Davis, 25, of 1718 South Pitt Street; Robert King, 46, of 1003 Broad Street; James Moore, 29, of 1108 Taylor Street; and George Smith, Jr., 25, of 1723 South Pitt Street.

All claimants convicted on such charges are not eligible to file for a year and are required to refund to the Employment Security Commission all unemployment benefits drawn after the first false report.

Their Yard Has Stranger's Tomb

BON AIR, Va. (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. John A. Ahern Jr. have a rather unusual yard decoration — a tomb.

They discovered the tomb under weeds after they had bought the property several years ago. On the stone is inscribed the name of Anderson Edwards, born March 26, 1785, and died July 11, 1864.

The Aherns have decided to leave the tomb where it is, just a few yards from their front door. "It's a grand conversation piece," says Mrs. Ahern. "We've become very fond of Mr. Edwards."

The sun that never sets

FOR YEARS, movie makers have relied on the powerful carbon arc to light their motion picture studio sets. It gives them brilliant, man-made "sunlight" for use when and where it is needed.

Recently, Union Carbide—a pioneer in carbon-arc lighting—perfected a new yellow flame carbon arc for use in color photography. It gives off a perfectly balanced light which brings out true colors on today's sensitive film. This development has been recognized by the award of an "Oscar," symbol of highest achievement in the motion picture industry.

But the carbon arc is not limited to studio lighting alone. Its intense beam is also used to project the tiny picture on the film to the breathtaking realism and depth you see on theatre screens.

Many more uses of this amazing light have been developed—duplicating the effect of sunlight on new paint and textile colors . . . or analyzing the basic composition of a great many different materials. The scientists of Union Carbide will continue their research efforts to find new and better ways to make carbon serve all of us.

Montgomery's Bus Boycott Ends, No Disruptive Note

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—Racial segregation ended on city buses in Montgomery today, bringing to a dramatic close a pattern in public transportation dating back for many years.

The first reported incident of actual race mixing on the buses came shortly before 7 a.m., nearly two hours after the buses started their early morning runs.

Two Negroes were seated in front seats on a Highland Avenue bus when it pulled into the Court Square stop downtown. A middle-aged white man in working clothes boarded the bus and took a seat by himself behind the Negroes. Negro minister who led the bus

Previously, Negroes sat to the rear.

The white man made no comment as he boarded the bus.

Later in the morning, a well-dressed Negro boarded a bus at the Court Square stop and sat in front of a white man. There was no visible reaction.

On a third bus as it pulled into the stop, a white man and a white woman were seated behind a young Negro. The white man got off and five white women boarded the bus, all taking seats behind the Negro.

ed until today to return to the buses.

One of the first Negro passengers on the buses left downtown Montgomery at the start of their runs today was 64-year-old Joe Thomas, a pressroom employee of the Montgomery Advertiser who said he has walked two and a half miles home from work each morning since the boycott started.

Thomas was the only passenger on the bus.

Drivers were notified last night that segregation was ended.

The Negroes ended their boycott one year and 16 days after it began.

President Sends Season's Wishes To All The World

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower, who wished a "truly merry Christmas to everyone throughout the world" last night, arranged to extend more personal greetings today to White House staff members.

In keeping with an annual custom, he and Mrs. Eisenhower planned to greet some 600 employees and staff members in the East Room of the White House.

In previous years, they have presented each one with a reproduction of a painting done by Eisenhower.

The President's merry Christmas wish, in which he said Mrs. Eisenhower shared, was extended at the annual tree-lighting ceremony "to everyone here, in the nation, and throughout the world."

His brief talk was carried to the nation by radio and television and beamed around the world by the Voice of America.

About 7,500 persons, some of them notables and many of them children, were on hand as the President said that "we see the vision of a better world." In the light of Christmas, he said, the "dark curtains of the world are drawn aside."

He said the American people are rallying in true Christmas spirit to meet the needs of the people in revolt-torn Hungary, and he continued:

"Even more important, there are particularly manifested during this season those spiritual qualities of freedom and honor and neighborliness and good will—great virtues that make all peoples one."

"Through them, and the faith in them we see how men can live together in peace; for one glorious moment we sense progress toward that aspiration of every religious faith—'peace on earth, good will to men.'"

Sailors Roughing It . . . Like GIs

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (AP)—The sailors at Redstone Arsenal are roughing it. They're having to "live like GIs."

They are the 20 sailors attached to the Army ballistic missile agency. They came to Redstone directly from sea duty, and take it from them, this Army life is strictly for the soldiers, or somebody else. But not for GIs.

The Navy men are living with the GIs in barracks. They seem to have the most trouble in making their beds.

"It takes about two minutes to fold our blankets aboard ship," said one dejected sailor. "But it takes us about 15 minutes to make a GI bunk correctly."

And when it comes to policing the barracks and grounds—well, you just don't rake leaves aboard ship.

Coal is now being shipped by barge from Kentucky to Florida, a distance of 1,600 miles.

Drivers Enter Perilous Period

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

American motorists wheeled into the long, perilous Christmas weekend today.

The National Safety Council figured that 45 million automobiles will be on the streets and roads at one time or another during the four-day holiday period, and that they will roll up a total of seven billion miles of travel.

The council has estimated that traffic accidents will cost a record 660 lives unless drivers and pedestrians employ "unprecedented" caution.

The holiday period, for fatality counting purposes, begins at 6 p.m. local time tonight and ends at midnight Tuesday.

Heavy home-for-Christmas travel, winter driving conditions, holiday drinking and a minimum of daylight add up to a maximum exposure to danger.

Police were ready for their challenging task. Many states marshaled all available troopers for highway patrol duty. Some of them have shifted officers from desk jobs to road assignments.

The prime targets are speeders and drunks.

Abandoned Tots Recovering; But Mother Is Held

MOUNT AIRY, N.C. (AP)—Two small children found in a two-room shack near here were reported in good health today while their 20-year-old mother awaited a Dec. 31 hearing on a charge of abandonment.

Dep. Sheriff E. L. Quesberry said when he arrived at the shack both children, aged 3 1/2 and 17 months, were asleep. "I first thought they were dead. One of the boys was blue and when I felt his head, it was cold like a dead person."

The children were found Sunday and the mother, Mrs. Bertha Hardy, arrested the following day. Her husband, Otis Hardy, whom she married earlier this year, is serving an eight-month term on the roads for violation of prohibition laws, officers said.

Hardy's two daughters, aged 7 and 9, by a previous marriage, apparently were taken from the shack earlier Sunday by relatives.

Mrs. Hardy's children were being cared for in a licensed boarding home.

Thomas Edison used only short stub pencils that would fit lying down in his right hand vest pocket.

Missing Man Is Found In Creek

NEW BERN, N.C. (AP)—The body of Raymond Koonce, 54, missing since he left on a fishing trip 10 days ago, was found floating in Swift Creek about two miles from Vanceboro yesterday.

Officers said Koonce apparently fell from a skiff he was using to recover his own boat which had overturned earlier.

Do-It-Yourself Liberation Is Not Exactly Dulles' Old Idea

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles' idea of liberation for the Russian satellites — after talking for four years about their liberation—comes down to a do-it-yourself policy.

This is cold comfort, but hardly news, for the Iron Curtain countries which want to shake loose from Russia and may have hoped for military help from the United States once they started a revolt. If this is what they thought, they got their disillusionment when the Hungarians did revolt and got nothing but moral support from the United States. In his news conference this week Dulles seemed even to dilute the moral support.

He said he would rather see the satellites get their independence through peaceful "evolutionary" means.

Asked if this country felt that what happened between Russia and the satellites was strictly a

CATLIN'S INDIANS RIDE AGAIN

George Catlin's Indians are back in fashion. A hundred years ago his paintings were nationally known. They had been produced, more than 1,000 of them, right among the wild tribesmen. Like nothing else, they brought, and still bring, the red man to vivid life in his every day activities. They were exhibited widely in this country and abroad, reproduced in heavy volumes.

A self-trained, Pennsylvania-born artist, Catlin devoted his life to "the production of a literal and graphic delineation of the living manners, customs and character of an interesting people who are rapidly passing away from the face of the earth."

Sometimes referred to as the "Audubon of the Indians," he was the first white artist known to have painted the warlike, buffalo-hunting Sioux and Blackfoot. When he died in 1872, his prophecy on the destiny of the Indians had largely come to pass. And soon his own paintings lay mouldering in museums, and were objects of no particular interest.

A few years ago, however, the Smithsonian Institute in Washington and the American Museum of Natural History in New York began to notice a change. There was a demand for these works. Today this is more true than ever. They are constantly lending out the famous oils for exhibition purposes. Some of them are reproduced here.

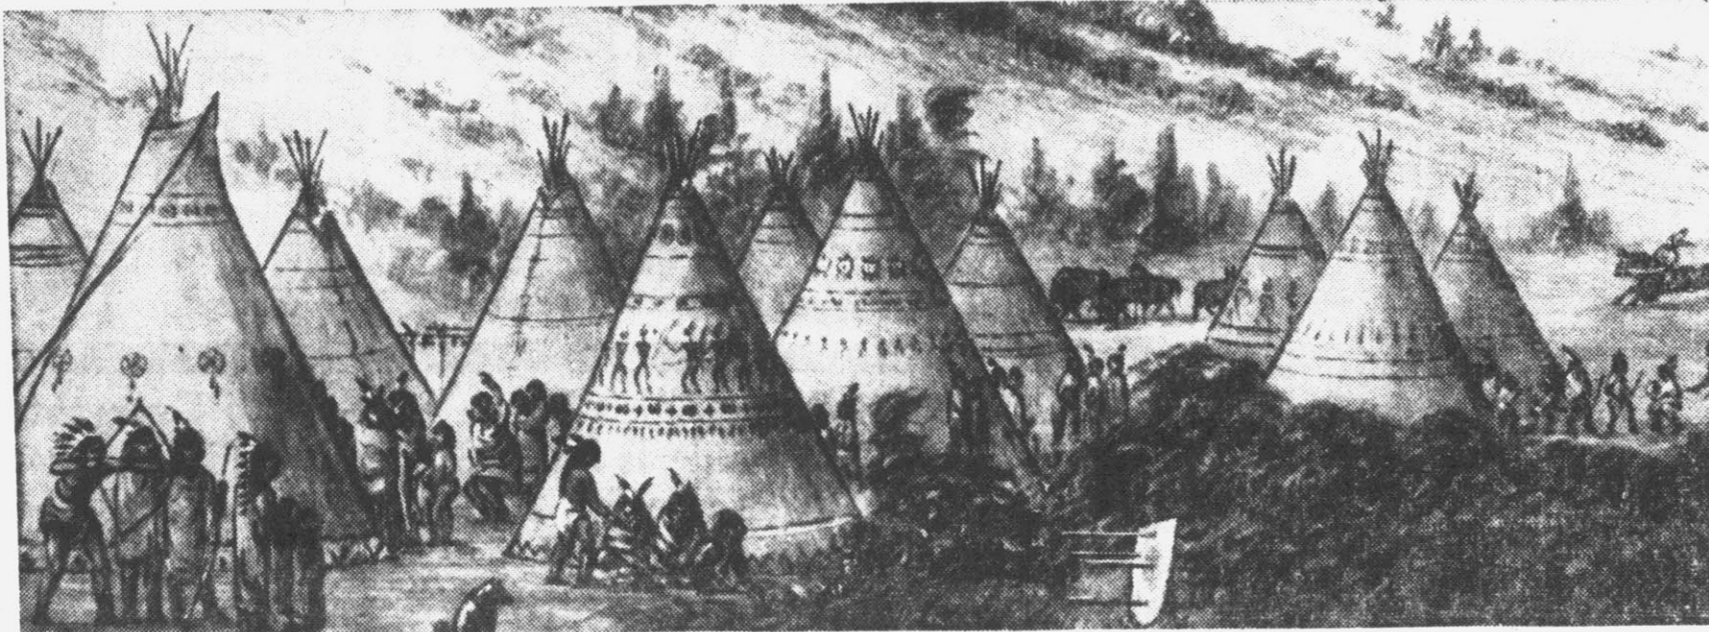

Buffalo hunting was a subject Catlin depicted frequently on canvas. A Sioux warrior closes in on a formidable buffalo bull.

Oil portrait of George Catlin, against an Indian background, was painted by William Henry Fisk in 1848 when Catlin was 52 years old.

A Mandan village in what is now North Dakota. Catlin was first outsider to record the tribal ceremonies of the Mandans.

An Ojibway village of skin tents. The Ojibways, also called the Chippeways, inhabited shores of Lake Huron and Lake Superior.

Fearing encroaching civilization, war chief Tucee led Cherokees from Georgia to Oklahoma area. Painted by Catlin in 1836.

Ba-da-ah-chon-du or "He who jumps over everyone," a Crow Indian whose hair was eight feet long when Catlin painted him.

Famous Seminole chief Osceola was painted while imprisoned by U. S. He died five days after Catlin saw him. It's one of Catlin's best known works.

Stock And Market Reports

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA)—N.C. fryers and broilers weak and unsettled, few farm sales at 15 to 16, no f.o.b. plant sales reported; Raleigh eggs steady, A large 38 to 40; Asheville eggs unsettled, A large 36 to 38, mostly 37; Charlotte eggs steady, A large 38.

NEW YORK (AP) — A flurry of buying pushed a sluggish stock market to the upside early this afternoon.

Leading stocks in various groups made gains of fractions to more than a point.

Gains were wider among some steel issues.

The upward spurt brought a dash of Christmas shopping to Wall Street which has been lackluster in recent sessions because of the impending four-day holiday and the establishment of year-end positions for tax purposes.

Lukens Steel bounced up 7 points after losing 5 yesterday while Youngstown rose well over 2.

Today, because of the exchange's four-day delivery rule, is the last day on which profits can be taken in the regular way for recording in 1956 income taxes.

After tomorrow a profit may be recorded only if a security is sold for cash.

U.S. Steel and Bethlehem each rose around a point and Detroit Steel resumed to gain with a fraction.

Gains of well over a point were scored by Douglas Aircraft, Kennecott Copper, Aluminum Ltd. and Westinghouse.

Motors, rubbers, nonferrous metals and chemicals were generally higher. Airline issues were firm.

Chrysler gained around a point while Ford and General Motors gained fractions.

Anaconda, Phelps Dodge and Alcoa all were up around a point while International Nickel scored a fractional advance.

Allied Chemical and Union Carbide were ahead around a point. Among other chemicals, American Cyanamid, Dow Chemical and Du Pont advanced fractionally.

The pattern among leading rails was irregularly high with gains by Santa Fe, New York Central, Southern Railway and Southern Pacific, and losses by Chesapeake and Ohio and Baltimore and Ohio.

Goodyear, Goodrich and U. S. Rubber were all ahead slightly.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 60 cents to $179.40 with the industrials up $1.10, the rails up 40 cents and the utilities up 10 cents.

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA)—Hog markets were steady to 25 higher today. Tops of 16.25 to 16.75 at Smithfield; 16.50 at Clinton, Fayetteville, Mount Olive, Elizabethtown and Micro; 16.00 to 16.50 at Tarboro, Enfield and Bethel; 15.75 to 16.50 at Rocky Mount; 15.50 to 16.00 at New Bern, Benson and Nahulla; 16.25 at Rich Square, Lumberton, Shallotte, Dunn, Newton Grove, Bailey, Blackmans Crossroads, Whiteville, Spring Hope, and Clarkton; 16.00 at Wintale; 15.75 at Kenly, Siler City and Mount Gilead.

Nehru Finishes Six-Day Visit; Going To Canada

NEW YORK (AP) — India's Prime Minister Nehru ends his six-day American visit today as he bears off — still convinced that collective security pacts will not preserve world peace.

Tonight a Royal Canadian Air Force plane will fly Nehru to Ottawa for weekend conferences with Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent.

Nehru made the most of his brief New York visit yesterday with a triple-barreled round of speeches. All of them were in support of the theme that a positive but peaceful approach could solve the problems of Hungary and the Middle East hostilities "without too great difficulties."

In a speech last night at an informal gathering of United Nations General Assembly delegates and in a speech before the private, nonpartisan American Assn. for the United Nations, Nehru lashed out at the concept of military pacts and alliances.

It was an indication that any effort President Eisenhower or Secretary of State Dulles may have to make to convince Nehru of the need for such pacts had failed.

Nehru told a distinguished audience at the Carnegie Endowment Center, near the U. N., that the prestige of the United States had shot up all over the world because of "certain attitudes" it had taken in regard to the military intervention of Britain and France in Egypt.

He told his news conference he believes the General Assembly will be able to wind up its work by June. The Legislature will convene in February instead of in January as in past years.

Hodges predicted the tax duty report, the Highway Commission report and prisons separation report will be approved basically by the legislators.

The governor said that seven reports on reorganization of state government have been made and three more are yet to come. He said bills covering these recommendations are expected to be introduced early in the session and he sees no reason why they won't be given approval since the commission studying the reorganization was created by the General Assembly.

Although the proposed changes in the state's tax structure will reduce revenue, it will not cut down on the needs of state departments, plus a pay raise for state employees and teachers, Hodges said.

"If we were not in a sound financial position," he said, the changes would not have been advocated.

Hodges emphasized that this does not imply an across-the-board pay raise. He added, "It does imply a general raise."

Dr. Watters expressed appreciation for the report.

Surviving are his wife, two daughters: Mrs. Larry E. Mitchell and Mrs. Robert E. Acker of Vanceboro; four grandchildren; three brothers: Willie and Zeb Vance Koonce of Bath, and Henry Koonce of Swansboro; and two sisters: Mrs. Tobe Anderson of Greenville and Mrs. Jesse Spear of Ayden.

Funeral services will be held at the Wilkerson Chapel Saturday at 2 p.m. by his pastor, Rev. Horace Quigley. Burial will be in Oakdale Cemetery in Washington. The body will arrive in Greenville Saturday morning.

Mr. Mills, son of Leslie E. and Ivey McLawhorn Mills of Vanceboro, attended the Farm Life School. He entered the Army in August, 1955, and had served in Japan. Since October, he had been stationed at Fort Campbell, Ky., and was on leave for the Christmas holidays.

Surviving are his parents; a brother, Creed Mills of the home; three half-sisters, Mrs. Joyce Whitford of New Bern, Mrs. Frances Peoples of Bridgeton, and Mrs. Joanne Chandler of F. Bragg and his grandparents, Mrs. Sam Mills and Mr. and Mrs. Joe McLawhorn, of Vanceboro.

Bloodmobile Fails Meet Quota Here

Despite a special appeal from the Civil Defense Administration, Greenville's contributions to the Bloodmobile fell short of its assigned quota yesterday.

Seventy-seven pints of blood were collected during the six-hour stop of the Bloodmobile at Jarvis Memorial Church. Assigned quota for the visit was 110 pints with a 25-pint request added by the Civil Defense authorities.

According to Dr. J. L. Watters, blood program chairman for the Pitt County Chapter of the American Red Cross, the total "was not too bad for this time of year."

"However," he added, "we'll have to do better later on." Next visit of the Bloodmobile to Greenville is scheduled to be sometime in February but the exact date and place have not been announced.

There were 99 visitors, 30 of them for the first time, to the Bloodmobile yesterday but 22 of them were rejected for physical reasons.

Seventeen pints of the total were set aside as replacement units for blood used here and other hospital to Dick Green, chairman of the sponsoring Jaycee solicitation committee, and to D. D. Garrett, Negro solicitation leaders. He also paid tributes to doctors Harriet Wooten, James Smith, D. B. Armstrong, D. L. Moore and W. H. Pott for their help in checking prospective donors and to Mrs. W. H. Bost, Mrs. Polly Little and members of the Service League for operation of the canteen.

Coffee distributed to the donors was given by Ed Ratcliffe of A&P, Dr. Watters said.

Hodges Hopeful Of Brief Session

RALEIGH (AP) — Despite the problems and proposed changes in state government facing the 1957 General Assembly, Gov. Hodges said today he is optimistic that the session will not be long.

He told his news conference he believes the General Assembly will be able to wind up its work by June. The Legislature will convene in February instead of in January as in past years.

Hodges predicted the tax duty report, the Highway Commission report and prisons separation report will be approved basically by the legislators.

3. Creation of an accounting branch headed by a controller approved by the director with approval of the governor. It would develop accounting and cost systems "to provide a basis for proper financial management of the state's highway operations." The Highway Department would be subject to an annual "business-type audit."

4. "Serious study" to improvement of personnel policies.

5. Restrictions on political activity by officials and workers. This would include prohibitions against running for office, managing a campaign, engaging in partisan political activity while on duty, soliciting money for political purposes, and use of threatened use of position or state supplies for political purposes.

6. Consultation with boards of county commissioners in planning for work on secondary roads. Standards for work would be set by the commission, but county commissioners would have opportunity to make written recommendations.

7. Support of prison operations with highway funds "only to the extent that prison labor performs a real service." Prison operations "in excess of the fair value received" should be supported from the state's general fund, the report said.

Final Activities Of Suez Exodus Are Proceeding

PORT SAID, Egypt (AP) — The last two items of unfinished business before departure of British-French forces apparently were cleaned up today.

These were an exchange of prisoners and an announcement that the British salvage fleet will stay at Port Said to help clear the way for traffic through the Suez Canal.

The British - French handed over 386 Egyptian prisoners of war to the U.N. force shortly after noon today. The Egyptians surrendered 450 British civilians to U.N. troops, who conducted them by train into the buffer zone near El Cap, south of Port Said.

Vice Adm. L. F. Durnford Slater, commander of the British-French naval task force, announced last night that hundreds of the 1,100 men of the British salvage fleet had volunteered to continue work under the U.N. flag and U.N. protection.

(There was no immediate indication from Cairo as to how the Egyptian government would receive this arrangement. The previous position has been that the Egyptian government did not object to U.N. use of the ships and equipment, but opposed use of the crews.)

Gen. Hugh Stockwell, commander of the British - French forces, expressed delight at the two items of business concluded.

"Very good progress, very good progress," he said after the last Egyptian prisoner departed.

Squared A Debt Of Thirty Years

An anonymous Greenville citizen today squared an old debt of $3, which apparently has been on his mind at least 30 years.

J. F. Bowen, local businessman, received in this morning's mail a letter in which three one-dollar bills were enclosed.

The letter read: "Enclosed you will find $3.00. I owed your father's store this amount. Yours truly, A Customer."

Bowen's father, the late W. A. Bowen, operated W. A. Bowen's Department Store in Greenville from mid-1890s until 1927, the year in which he died.

The plain envelope containing the $3 and the typewritten letter bore a Greenville postmark dated yesterday.

CLOSED 3 DAYS Sheppard Memorial Library will be closed Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday in observance of the Christmas holidays, according to Miss Elizabeth Copeland, librarian. She adds the library will re-open at the usual hour on Thursday.

Dollar is a word which came from "thaler", a town known as Thal in Bohemia. A legitimate coin made in that town was the origin of the "dollar." The first use of the word was about 1518.
