Charges Report Suez - Clearance Is Finally Begun

Seeks Sabotage Integration Of District Schools

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Wier (D-Minn.) said today a House subcommittee recommendation to restore racial segregation in District of Columbia schools was an attempt to "sabotage" public school integration.

"From the beginning I charged it would be an attempt to sabotage the school system," he told reporters.

"Now the report bears out as factual my charges that the subcommittee was trying to prove integration was not working and was trying to prevent it from working in the future."

Wier is a member of the House District of Columbia Committee, a subcommittee of which yesterday declared the District's two-year integration program had "seriously damaged" the District school system.

With a majority of Southerners under the chairmanship of Rep. James C. Davis (D-Ga.), the subcommittee listed its findings in a lengthy report critical of the District's integration efforts, and concluding:

"Therefore, we recommend that racially separate public schools be re-established for the education of white and Negro pupils in the District of Columbia and that such schools be maintained on a completely separate and equal basis."

That recommendation was added to the report by the four-man Southern majority — Davis, Rep. John Bell Williams (R-Miss.), Rep. Joe T. Brody (R-Va.) and Rep. Woodrow W. Jones (D-N.C.).

In separate interviews at their respective homes they differed widely on how and whether it could be accomplished.

Both Davis and Williams said it could be done through a simple order of the local school board which originally ordered integration shortly after the U. S. Supreme Court ruled in 1954 that racial segregation of public schools was unconstitutional.

Jones said the only way he knew was by action of Congress, but he conceded that the Supreme Court would "strike such legislation down."

Brody said such things as aptitude tests, adjustment of school boundaries and selection of courses based on the student's ability could provide "a higher degree of segregation."

In the district, he said, "there seems to have been forced integration" rather than a ban on segregation.

Two other subcommittee members, Rep. DeWitt S. Hyde (R-Md.) and Rep. A. L. Miller (R-Neb.) refused to sign the report and called the recommendation unconstitutional.

Miller and Hyde, while rejecting the majority recommendation, found some portions of the report "factual" and "acceptable." However, they criticized the subcommittee majority for its "headline" approach to the problem, and suggested "a more objective approach will uncover some good things in the educational and social life of District schools."

To that, subcommittee counsel William E. Gerber replied in Memphis, Tenn., that the minority report was made "for political purposes only."

He quoted Hyde as saying in a private subcommittee meeting that he felt the report was correct, but that "for political purposes" he could not afford to sign it and might have to file a minority report "to protect himself."

Suez - Clearance Is Finally Begun

SUEZ, Egypt (AP)—A United Nations salvage team today began the job of clearing major obstructions from the southern entrance to the blocked Suez Canal.

The salvage work had been expected to start yesterday. Aides of U. S. Lt. Gen. Raymond A. Wheeler, in charge of the canal project for the U. N. arrived in Suez with instructions to launch the operation immediately. But an official of the Egyptian Suez Canal Authority said no orders to start the work had been received from his headquarters at Ismailia, half way up the canal.

Sunken ships, damaged bridges and other debris still litter the channel, wreckage of the Suez fighting that lasted only six days nearly two months ago. Clearing them out is expected to be a long and complicated operation.

The only previous work done to open the canal consists of limited operations by three British and French vessels in the Port Said area and removal of some mines by the Egyptians. Although Britain and France have pulled their invasion forces out of Egypt, the Egyptians authorized some British salvage vessels to complete the work they had started in Port Said.

Egypt originally said the salvage work could not proceed until the Israelis quit Egyptian soil, but Thursday agreed to permit clearing of the southern end.

At United Nations headquarters in New York, the Egyptian mission charged that about 2,150 Arabs were put to death in and around the Gaza Strip after Israeli forces invaded Egyptian-held territory Oct. 29. Israel denied the charge.

Wilson To Serve Greene County

Greene County, which withdrew a request to Pitt County for an area health department early this month, will begin receiving contract public health service from the Wilson County Health Department today.

Greene had asked Pitt County for the area department when it learned that Wayne County would terminate its service to the county. Greene later withdrew the request when a committee determined that it would cost the county too much money to meet standards outlined by Pitt County.

Announcement that Wilson County would provide temporary service was made yesterday by Dr. J. L. Campbell, Wilson health officer, and George Edwards, Greene County Auditor. Wilson will provide the same service Wayne had provided for the past 10 years but Dr. Campbell said it would be a temporary arrangement until Greene County can make some other arrangements.

Soon after Greene withdrew its request for an area health department, county officials began a search for a physician who would split his time between private practice and the health department. Edwards has estimated that such

Three Newsmen In Red China To Lose Passports

WASHINGTON (AP)—Three American newsmen who entered Red China to report on the revolution there have had their passports revoked, except for travel back to the United States. They also may face legal action by the government.

The State Department yesterday announced the moves against William D. Worley, a Negro reporter for the Baltimore Afro-American, and a Look magazine team—reporter Edmund Stevens and photographer Phillip Harrington.

It accused them of misusing their passports by going into Communist China where travel by Americans is banned under U. S. government policy. Newsmen of other nations face no such restrictions by their governments.

Worley entered Communist China through Hong Kong last Monday. Stevens and Harrington were reported to have reached Peiping from Moscow last Wednesday.

Many Observing Holiday Tuesday

State, county and city offices and the banks and postoffice and many business places in Greenville will be closed next Tuesday—New Year's Day—a legal holiday.

The Merchants Association had recommended that the members close New Year's Day, and indications today were that with few exceptions, the holiday will be generally observed here.

Many stores will take their annual inventory Tuesday.

Both Tired

Eight-year-old Joseph Klingensmith and his Boxer, "Joy," spent most of Christmas Day romping about the house. Late that night, Joseph's father, found the two of them fast asleep and took this picture. The father, James Klingensmith, is chief photographer for the Pittsburgh Post Gazette. He said he took three flash pictures—with this one the best—and Joseph and the dog didn't as much as blink. (AP Wirephoto).

Woman Charged In Strange Death

A Belhaven Negro woman has been arrested on a charge of manslaughter as the result of the death of a Farmville woman on Nov. 26.

The arrested woman was identified as Delzora Pittetford 60. She was released from Pitt County Jail this morning after posting a $1,500 bond for appearance at a preliminary hearing on the charge.

The hearing will be held before Magistrate C. A. Lilly of Farmville Jan. 2 at 3 p. m.

The Pittetford woman is accused of giving drugs to Eva Harris, Negro, of Cotton St., Farmville, which resulted in the Harris woman's death.

Farmville Chief of Police L. T. Lucas said today that the skin had blistered and peeled off the Harris woman's body at the time of her death on Nov. 26. Practically all the skin from the neck down was gone from the body, the chief said. She was found by relatives.

Sheriff Ruel W. Tyson said the Pittetford woman was arrested yesterday afternoon by Beaufort County Deputy Floyd Lupton. The arrest resulted after officers searched her Belhaven home.

Tennessee Miss Is Cotton Maid

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—The new Maid of Cotton, the lovely blonde daughter of an Air Force general, gave full credit to the potency of her rabbit's foot today.

"Oh, I kept it in my purse," said Helen Landon, 20, merrily. "I was tempted to take it out and hold it in my hand but I told myself, 'Helen, you're not that superstitious.'"

The University of Tennessee co-ed won the title last night over 22 other Cotton Belt beauties entered in the nation's most decorative beauty contest.

She's the daughter of Mrs. Louise Landon, Huntington, Tenn., and Maj. Gen. T. H. Landon, commanding general of the U. S. Air Force in the Caribbean.

The 1957 maid, radiant despite a nerve-wracking night, is a junior at the University of Tennessee where she would have her next quarter if the judges hadn't intervened.

She leaves Sunday for New York to be outfitted with a flossy wardrobe of cotton whipped up by fashion's top designers. Then, after schooling in the arts of modeling, comes a six-month tour of the United States and Europe.

Contest judges named Jo Ann Deason, 22, Enoree, S. C., as first alternate maid and Sally Wade, 20, Kenton, Tenn., second. The outgoing maid is Pat Cowden, Cotton's new "ambassador" stands 5 feet 8 1/2 and weighs 124. In addition to her finery and the tour, the prizes include a sporty convertible.

Enforcing Middle East Peace Studied

By WARREN ROGERS JR. WASHINGTON (AP)—The Eisenhower administration tested the wind of congressional and public reaction today to a double-barreled idea for keeping Middle East peace with military pressure and vast economic aid.

Secretary of State Dulles, who worked out the idea, was ready to unveil it officially with President Eisenhower at a New Year's Day conference with Democratic and Republican leaders of Congress at the White House.

Meanwhile the suggestion was allowed to "leak" to some newsmen. In that way, the administration hoped it would not come as a complete surprise to the legislators on Tuesday and the public would be prepared for possible new U. S. policy moves in the troubled Middle East.

Purpose of the idea — still too tenuous to be called a proposal — was understood to be primarily this: to put Russia on notice that any Middle East aggression would not go unchallenged.

Russia since the time of the czars has coveted the Middle East's warm water ports. Now the area's vast oil resources are an added lure. With British and French prestige waning in the Middle East, new and bolder Soviet economic and military intrusions are expected.

Britain and France have been urging the United States to step into the power vacuum before Russia does.

Eisenhower was reported ready to throw the full force of his office into a vigorous appeal to the congressional leaders to back this idea.

Specific standby authority, similar to that voted him to deal with the Formosa crisis in early 1955, the use of U. S. troops in the Middle East if he deemed it necessary.

A far-reaching economic aid program for the Middle East, perhaps totaling as much as a half-billion dollars. This would go to both Israel and the Arab countries on assurances from them that they would end their bitter rivalry.

Although Eisenhower is reported strongly in favor of Dulles' idea, it is possible he would decide not to press it if the congressional leaders give it a cold reception.

Initial congressional reaction, somewhat slow in appearing, seemed cool.

Europe Stirred By Ike's Trial Balloon

LONDON (AP)—Reports that President Eisenhower may seek congressional authority for standby powers to use American troops in the Middle East if necessary caused a stir in Britain today.

Washington stories detailing the reports—and Monday's conference between Secretary of State Dulles and U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld—were given prominent page one display.

"Ike gets ready to use troops," headlined the Conservative Daily Sketch.

"Ike may seek 'war' powers," said the pro-Labor Daily Mirror. "There was no official British comment. The Times, however, was skeptical of the reports. It said in a story from Washington that the reports may have been deliberately inspired as a trial balloon and added:

"Such a move will be a complete reversal—indeed a repudiation—of the administration's new policy of putting all its eggs in the United Nations basket. . . .

"Moreover the implied threat of resorting to force would be an almost farcical commentary on Washington's stern measures to foil the military action taken (in Egypt) by Britain and France." The Conservative Daily Telegraph speculated that both Eisenhower and Dulles want to extend the American defense perimeter to include the Middle East.

New Fires Menace Homes In Area Of Santa Monica

MALIBU, Calif. (AP)—Just as a change in winds gave firemen hope of control soon over the third disastrous brush fire to strike this area since Wednesday, another broke out down the coast at Palos Verdes Estates.

The new fire, however, was controlled in a few hours after burning about 200 acres. The scene is approximately 25 miles via highway but is actually directly across Santa Monica Bay from the fires that have plagued this area.

Like the earlier ones, the Palos Verdes blaze also was in a section dotted with expensive homes. Singer Dorothy Kirsten and concert violinist Joseph Sziget were among those living in the immediate area.

Fire fighters still were hoping for control soon over the third fire in Santa Monica Mountains. State officials and firemen of two counties — Los Angeles and Ventura—made this tally of fire's rampage in the brush-covered mountains:

Destroyed—65 homes. Burned brush and timber—27,000 acres.

The three fires in brief: One whipped through Lake Sherwood yesterday, burning a half dozen homes in a matter of minutes, sending wildlife swimming for their lives in the lake, and scorching the area's fire station.

Another sudden blaze flared up near Malibu Thursday night, burning homes a few hundred yards from the Pacific Coast Highway, and twice forcing deputies to start evacuating the sheriff's substitution.

The biggest of them all, a 26,500-acre burn at Zuma Beach, north of here, where seven beach-front mansions were destroyed by flames which leapt across the four-lane coast highway.

Fierce desert winds, the scourge crews along miles of firelines, dwindled early today. For the first time in almost a week a moist sea breeze drifted across the mountains.

Encouraged by the change, Deputy State Forester James K. Mace said he believed the Lake Sherwood fire could be controlled by early tomorrow and the Malibu blaze snubbed under so tame today.

The Zuma fire was brought under control during the night. Gov. Goodwin Knight yesterday in Sacramento certified to President Eisenhower that an emergency existed in the Malibu area of Los Angeles County. He requested federal assistance.

Fire officials were concentrating on controlling the Malibu blaze yesterday when, according to Mace, the Lake Sherwood area "just blew up."

Flames started a half mile from the lake community of nearly 100 homes early yesterday afternoon. The cause has not been determined, but the possibility of arson is being investigated.

Near Lake Sherwood the flames menaced Hidden Valley, where George Brent, Eve Arden and Alan Ladd have big ranches. A wind shift saved them.

Tiny 'Explorer' Started A Fire

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—Michael Tyler, 3, did a little exploring in a closet at his home. To see better, he lighted a candle.

The flame ignited clothing in the closet. Michael got out — fast — and hid under a bed. His mother, Mrs. B. K. Tyler, smelled smoke and extinguished the flames. Brothers and sisters pulled Michael from his refuge.

Gunshots, Beating In New Outburst Of Violence In Dixie

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS A Negro woman was shot in both legs while riding an integrated city bus at Montgomery, Ala., and a high school hand director was beaten by hooded men near Camden, S. C. in new outbursts of racial violence in the Deep South.

Mrs. Rosa Jordan, 22, Montgomery, was the first victim of gunfire in the spreading Southern outburst over segregation on city buses. She was reported in fair condition in a Montgomery hospital.

Other white and Negro passengers escaped injury and were taken to police headquarters for questioning. Police said some passengers huddled on the floor in fear of further violence during the trip to headquarters.

When the bus resumed its run it was fired on again, but no one was injured in the second attack. As a safety precaution, Police Commissioner Clyde Sellers ordered all city bus runs halted for the night.

The shooting was the most serious incident in the Alabama capital since city buses were integrated under federal court order eight days ago. On Wednesday two buses were struck by shots but there were no injuries.

Guy Hutchins, 52, Camden High School band director, described from his hospital bed how a band of hooded men tied him to a tree and beat him with a board after he stopped to change a tire Thursday night 15 miles north of Camden. He was returning from a television appearance at Charlotte, N. C., at the time.

Hutchins said a car full of hooded men pulled up behind him just as he finished changing the tire and he yelled he didn't need any help. The next thing I knew, men were bursting over me. They immediately slapped a hood of burlap over my head."

The former conductor of symphony orchestras at Spartanburg, S. C. and Charlotte said the men told him they were administering the beating because he had spoken for racial integration before a

December Betrothal Announcements Reveal Coming Nuptials

Young Moderns

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

"What's wrong with young people who like rock 'n roll?" asks Hollywood's handsome 17-year-old Sal Mineo, nominated last year for the academy award—and one of the nicest boys in the cinema world.

"What's all the fuss about? Why do people think it makes kids bad?" Sal asks. "And why didn't they feel that way about dances my Mom did, like Black Bottom and Varsity Drag?"

Kids need to release their energies, and dancing is one way to do it, says Sal. Besides they enjoy the "rock 'n roll" beat. "Glenn Miller," he says, "had the same beat in some of his records such as 'Pennsylvania 6-5-0-0,' perfect for rock 'n roll." On the other hand, Sal can Lindy to some of the new rock 'n roll music, he says.

He knows nice kids who like rock 'n roll and some who are not so nice. But that would be the same with anything, he says. He has two sets of friends—on the coast where he works and in the Bronx, N. Y. where he lives. The character is the same, says brown-eyed Sal, only the situation is different.

It makes no difference whether he falls for an East or West girl, he says, as long as she has personality, is neat, nicely coiffed and dressed properly for the occasion. She should have a sense of humor and enjoy being with a group, too.

"I've taken out beautiful girls," he says, "who just couldn't mix with a group. On the other hand I've taken out girls who aren't even pretty but are lots of fun. I prefer their company."

He doesn't go steady. Kids who do, he says, need to be because they can't talk to their parents, so must talk their problems over with someone they consider loyal to them. It would be unfair anyway for him to go steady, he says, because he can't devote much time to a girl right now. He'd chuck his Hollywood career if it interfered with family life. Says he:

MISS NANCY KAREN EDWARDS is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Edwards of Stanburg, who announce her engagement to the Rev. Robert Gentry Harris, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Harris of Ayden. The wedding date will be announced later.

MISS HANNAH DIXON PROCTOR is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Knott Proctor of Greenville, who announce her engagement to John Wallis McInnis, son of Mr. and Mrs. John McInnis of Chicago, Ill. A June wedding is planned.

MISS JANICE TUCKER is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Tucker of Grimesland, who announce her engagement to John Hilary Phelps, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Phelps of Greenville. The wedding will be February 24.

Name It Gals And It's Yours

Dear girls: If you would like a kitchenette, vanity table or bottle warmer built into your next automobile, just write to Harley J. Earl, vice president in charge of styling, General Motors, Detroit, Mich.

The affable, 6-foot-4 dean of motor car design, who has been dubbed "Mr. Automobile," says all he wants to know is what the ladies want in an automobile and, by gum, he'll give it to them. In New York for the opening of the automobile show, Earl relaxed for a few minutes and chatted about recent discoveries in his business.

"I've designed more than 30 million cars," said he, "and it wasn't until a couple of years ago that I realized how much I could learn from women. This was at a shindig in New York, where about 300 newspaperwomen from all over the country were present. I invited them to fire questions at me, and boy, did they fire! I never had to answer so many things so fast in my life."

"Since then, I've been listening to the remarks women make about their cars, and a lot of the changes in the 1957 automobiles are the result of this listening."

Earl spoke with admiration of the women designers now on the staff of each of the General Motors cars. Said he:

"We have one woman doing interior design for each of the cars, along with four men. Well, did you ever see a girl with four brothers? She bosses them all. It's the same way in our plant. These girls think of all kinds of things that never occur to men, and they get them through too."

Talent Parade Is Highlight When Miss Starling Entertains

Highlight of Goldis Starling's party December 22 was a floor-show which featured teenagers in a variety of talent acts.

The guest list numbered 60. She entertained at the Eastern Pines Community Building.

Greeting guests were Leo Starling, Miss Starling and her mother, Mrs. Robert B. Starling. Decorations included a Christmas tree, glowing candles and original seasonal arrangements. To this scene was added an open fire, giving its warm greeting.

Norfleet Felton served as master of ceremonies. He introduced a parade of talent which included music, art and dance and ranged from the serious to the comic.

Bunny Overton accompanied Millie Overton as she sang "Oh Holy Night" and "Someone To Watch Over Me."

Goldis Starling did a skit called "The Variety Show," in which she played the piano, pantomimed a singer, tap danced, gave an imitation of a man and drew chalk pictures at an easel.

Jeanette Taylor, Bobbie Newman, Carole Wilkerson and Frances Cozart did a costumed Charleston dance, lending originality and skill.

Ann Green performed a comic skit dressed like a World War II veteran. She was assisted by Rett Everett and Leo Starling.

Lee Lang Harrell, Elizabeth White, Margaret Ann Harrell and Martha Lee Moye reminded the group of the Radio City Music Hall Rockettes as they performed a tap dance.

A comic skit called "The Mouth-er Family" was given by Leo Starling.

Dwight Batts touched a serious note as he sang "I Walked With God." Bunny Overton was the piano accompanist.

A modern jazz ballet was performed by Lib Rogers.

Joyce Lee Jackson sang "Walking In The Rain" and "Singing The Blues." Mrs. Kenneth Jackson was her accompanist.

"Romance In Curbside Corners" was the final attraction of the show. Taking part were Billy Goodwin, Sara Smiley, Tommy Henderson, Buddy Murray and Ann Green.

Mrs. B. L. Tyson led games and entertained the group with accordion music.

The refreshment table featured a Yule motif. Pouring red Christmas punch was Miss Smiley. Yule cookies, fruit cake, candy and nuts were also enjoyed.

Members of the Pickwick Book Club entertained their husbands last evening at a holiday dinner party held at the Greenville Golf and Country Club.

Decorations featured a New Year's motif. A festive air was created for the occasion by multi-colored balloons and streamers suspended from overhead lights.

The long dinner table was centered with a colorful cloth around which balloons were clustered. Showers of confetti and holiday noisemakers completed the table decorations.

Twenty-eight members and husbands were present for the three course dinner which featured barbecued chicken as the main course.

Following dinner the group enjoyed games.

Prexy's Granddaughter Steals Show At Exhibition

By ANNETTE DAVIS
(For Jane Eads)

WASHINGTON—Seven-year-old Barbara Anne Eisenhower stole the show from her famous grandmother at a combination art exhibit and symphony concert.

Blonde, blue-eyed Barbara, daughter of Major and Mrs. John Eisenhower, was one of 16 young ladies who posed beside their portraits while 3,800 school children passed in review.

The exhibit of pictures, painted by local artist Mrs. Jewel D. Grantham, who specializes in children's portraits, preceded a concert for young people by the National Symphony Orchestra.

Barbara wore the same blue and white dress and short white gloves as in the picture. Occasionally she leaned over to whisper to Patricia and Julie Nixon, daughters of Vice President and Mrs. Richard Nixon, whose portraits also were on review.

Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower, with her mother, Mrs. John Doud, and daughter-in-law, Mrs. John Eisenhower, arrived ahead of the students to look at the paintings and meet the young models.

"Not only are the portraits lovely," admired the First Lady, "but the models are all good looking too."

Both Mrs. Nixon and Mrs. John Eisenhower had carefully combed their daughters' hair before allowing them to take their seats in the spotlight.

Almost none of the children recognized Barbara Anne Eisenhower or the Nixon children as they walked by the portraits. But Kathy McKinnell, an alert fifth grader, spotting Barbara, leaned over the rope and asked, "How do you like being Ike Eisenhower's granddaughter?"

Barbara replied: "It's OK. He's very nice."

According to the portraitist, Barbara is something of a painter herself. During her sittings, Mrs. Grantham said, Barbara showed her two pictures she had painted to give to President Eisenhower. One was of Humpty Dumpty, the other showed the Eisenhowers in the family car setting out on a trip.

Barbara is in the second grade at St. Agnes Episcopal School in Alexandria, Va., where her teacher says she is a "very good student."

Last year she was known to her classmates as Anne, but this year she has asked them to call her Barbara.

Butterscotch Biscuits

Ingredients: 2 cups sifted flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1-4 cup shortening, 3-4 cup (about) milk, 1-3 cup butter or margarine, 3-4 cup firmly packed dark brown sugar, cup sliced Brazil nuts.

Method: Sift together the flour, baking powder and salt. Cut in shortening until fine. Stir in just enough of the milk to make a firm dough. Turn out on lightly floured board or prepared pastry cloth; knead with floured fingers about 1/2 minute. Roll dough into rectangle about 8 by 12 inches. Cream butter and sugar; spread over dough. Roll lengthwise as tightly as possible, cut into 24 one-half inch crosswise slices. Place biscuits, cut side down, in 24 muffin wells—each about two inches across top. Press nuts into sugar mixture on top of biscuits. Bake in hot (400 degrees) oven about 20 minutes. Remove from pan at once; if any nuts fall off, stick back on sticky bottoms of biscuits. Serve hot or cold, sticky sides up. Makes 24 biscuits.

Warnings That Can't Be Ignored

A little more than a year ago Tobacco Associates Inc., an agency which promotes export sales of flue-cured tobacco, urged farmers to select carefully seed for their 1956 tobacco crop. The organization pointed out that foreign purchasers of American grown flue-cured leaf were shying away because of the large quantities of tobacco which lacked aroma and flavor they looked for.

That was in December, 1955. What subsequently happened to the tobacco crop which has been so recently marketed is fresh in the memory of all who live in tobacco producing regions. Growers to a great extent did not heed the warning to produce tobacco which contained more body, flavor and aroma that was desired not only by foreign purchasers, but by domestic manufacturers as well. Results were lower prices and declining demand for light, slick tobaccos and an increase in demand and prices for heavier tobacco. Following that came the announcement from the Department of Agriculture that for 1957 support prices on certain varieties of leaf would be slashed in half grade for grade because they lacked the qualities which were in demand.

Before the announcement of the slash in support prices there were indications that large numbers of farmers intended to plant the questionable varieties in 1957 in spite of the marketing conditions which came to light in 1956. Since the USDA announcement, however, few indeed are the farmers who are still considering planting the varieties blacklisted by the Department of Agriculture.

Varieties themselves are not the only matter which is of importance this year. Cultivation practices, according to extension specialists and farmers as well, are of major importance in producing the quality tobacco which is now in greatest demand.

By its drastic price support action, the Department of Agriculture has practically forced growers to abandon undesirable varieties of tobacco. The better cultivation practices, however, the grower must impose upon himself and discipline himself to follow.

It is apparent that this tobacco region, if it is to minimize the effects of the further acreage reduction already announced for 1957, must produce in the greatest quantity possible the kind of tobacco which is in greatest demand and which will bring the highest price.

Though warning signals went unheeded to a large extent a year ago, farmers can ill afford to ignore the more urgent signals which now have been heeded.

One Field In Which Local Govm't Shines

With local governments constantly inclined to look to state and federal coffers for funds with which to finance local programs of various kinds, it is refreshing to note that in North Carolina local governments furnish 74 per cent of the money for public health work.

Practically all the counties of the state furnish some sort of public health program for its people. The vast majority of them are full-time programs, but some few of the counties still operate part-time programs in conjunction with neighboring counties. Be that as it may, public health programs in the state have come a long way in recent years. Tuberculosis and other diseases which once took a heavy toll among the people of North Carolina have been brought under control largely through the public health and allied programs. Other communicable diseases which formerly claimed many lives annually have been removed as chief killers among the people of the state.

To a large extent this work has been done through finances provided by local taxpayers through local governments. The one and one-half million dollars which the state and federal governments pump into public health programs in North Carolina annually cannot be discounted. On the other hand, cities and counties have not insisted that higher levels of government assume a major portion of the responsibility for financing public health programs. Local governments have pushed forward their public health programs on their own.

In this era when more and more financial responsibility is being assumed by centralized government, it is encouraging to see there are fields of service in which local governments continue to maintain autonomy by not getting too entangled in state and federal purse strings.

UN Has Long Ways To Go In Mid-East Work

There is a long tough road before the United Nations before it settles matters in Egypt and the Middle East and eases the tensions from that quarter which keeps all the world on edge.

The UN and its police force has effectively brought about the departure of British and French troops which invaded Egypt in the Suez area. Under auspices of the United Nations work has begun on clearing the important canal which is the lifeline of Western Europe and a vital artery of world trade. The part of the job which still lies before the UN, however, will be much more difficult and of equal if not greater importance than ending the fighting in Egypt.

It is now the responsibility of the UN and its member nations to see that peace is maintained and that free access to the Suez canal is guaranteed to all nations. Egypt's dictator Nasser is stronger in his own land and probably in some international circles now than he was before the British-French invasion. His bold act which brought about the fighting probably has given him a greater sense of power than he had before. While the taste of victory lingers, he may be more difficult for the UN to deal with than he was the British and French before they turned to force of arms.

The United Nations must not back down before Nasser or any of his threats. Through every means at its disposal—including its newly formed police force—the United Nations must see that the vital canal serves the purpose for which it was intended and to which it has been dedicated.

Research Triangle Publicity At Issue

By LYNN NISBET
REACTION — The contrasting attitudes of cloistered scientists and go-getter business men is illustrated by different reactions to publicity about the Research Triangle and the newly formed company to develop nuclear energy.

Some of the scientists protested that the chamber of commerce booster type publicity lowered the dignity of their undertakings. Being essentially perfectionists and purists, they felt that results of research tests should be more definite before any publicity is given the project. There were a few complaints that the folks who prepared the recent C&D publication on the Research Triangle did not know what they were talking about.

On the other side of the laboratory door, the business men are convinced of the effective pulling power of the publicity. One big electronics firm with several plants in North Carolina has used the booklet in its recruitment campaign among engineering students at leading colleges and universities throughout the country. Demands have been so heavy for this purpose the first printing of the booklet is almost exhausted and requests are being rationed.

OPTIMISTIC — Ed Kirk, assistant director of C&D, and Al Grant, chief of the industrial promotion section, at different times voiced the same note of optimism about prospects for 1957. Competition from other states is strong, but there are signs that some of the snags — such as tax exemption, free factory sites and other concessions to new industry — are becoming less effective. Stable industry is manifesting greater interest in the North Carolina idea, which is basically that we want new business to become well fledged citizens of the community, paying its own way as established industries have done, but not expected to contribute more than its share to maintenance of government and social services.

IN THE MIDDLE — The Raleigh newspapers got caught in the middle the other day and let the radio be the other day and let the radio be the other day and let the radio be the other day.

Top management of the publishing company was ready to announce some important changes in the news staff of the News and Observer and the Times. Sam Rakan, long time managing editor of N&O, was promoted to executive editor of both papers.

Woodrow Price, star capital square reporter of N&O, was moved up to managing editor. Only way the staff members of both papers could learn about these changes before the story broke for the public was to have a meeting between shifts — after the Times had been printed for the day and before the N&O came out next morning.

Frank Daniels, president and publisher of the papers, called such a meeting and made the announcement in mid-afternoon Thursday. Result was radio "scooped" the story before either paper had a chance at it. That perhaps means nothing to the average listeners or readers, but the afternoon and morning papers and radio reporters, who scrap all the time for news "breaks" and releases, got a big kick out of the situation — especially the radio fellows.

CLEAN-UP — From the time they reported back for work after the Christmas holiday until New Year's Eve most State employees have been busy cleaning out files, discarding "dead" stuff and storing other material for future reference. Come Wednesday morning, the offices will be ready to move into action for the new year's business.

There is one notable exception to this interim clean-up activity. That is in the office of Secretary of State Thad Eure. Year end changes in the charters and corporate structure of thousands of business firms have kept the staff there busier than bees in clover time. Throughout the holiday period somebody from the office went to the post-office two or three times every day to clear the mailbox. Thad Eure, Max Abernethy and all the girls in the office have been waging an almost losing battle against the cumulation of mail — because it is still coming in about as fast as they can work it.

Despite the fact that many of the transactions now being recorded will have to be revised in July, the 1955 act is changed, there are more amendments and revisions to corporate charters than usual.

Other Editors Are Saying.. Amazing Growth Of Economy

(The Asheville Times)
"What a Country!" is the happy title of a feature article in Fortune. It has to do primarily with the ever-changing American market and consumer spending. As everyone knows, this spending has increased at a great rate. It was $200 billion in 1950, and this year it will come to $242 billion. In 1960 it is expected to reach $282 billion (in terms of constant 1956 dollars). Family cash income, after taxes, now averages $5,400—the projected 1960 figure is $6,000.

But this increase is not all of the story of "What a Country!" by any means. Equally impressive is a change in direction of the spending — toward what is called "spend better." The vast majority of American consumers are no longer content with minimum standards, but demand the abundance, quality, and style that used to differentiate the good life from ordinary living. The typical consumer is getting more and more demanding—because he can afford to be.

This is changing the old concepts of "saturated" markets. As an example, the Fortune article says that the electric iron market has been considered more than 90 per cent "saturated" for 25 years. Yet more and more irons are sold than in much greater quantity than the replacement factor alone demands. This is becoming true of all manner of commodities.

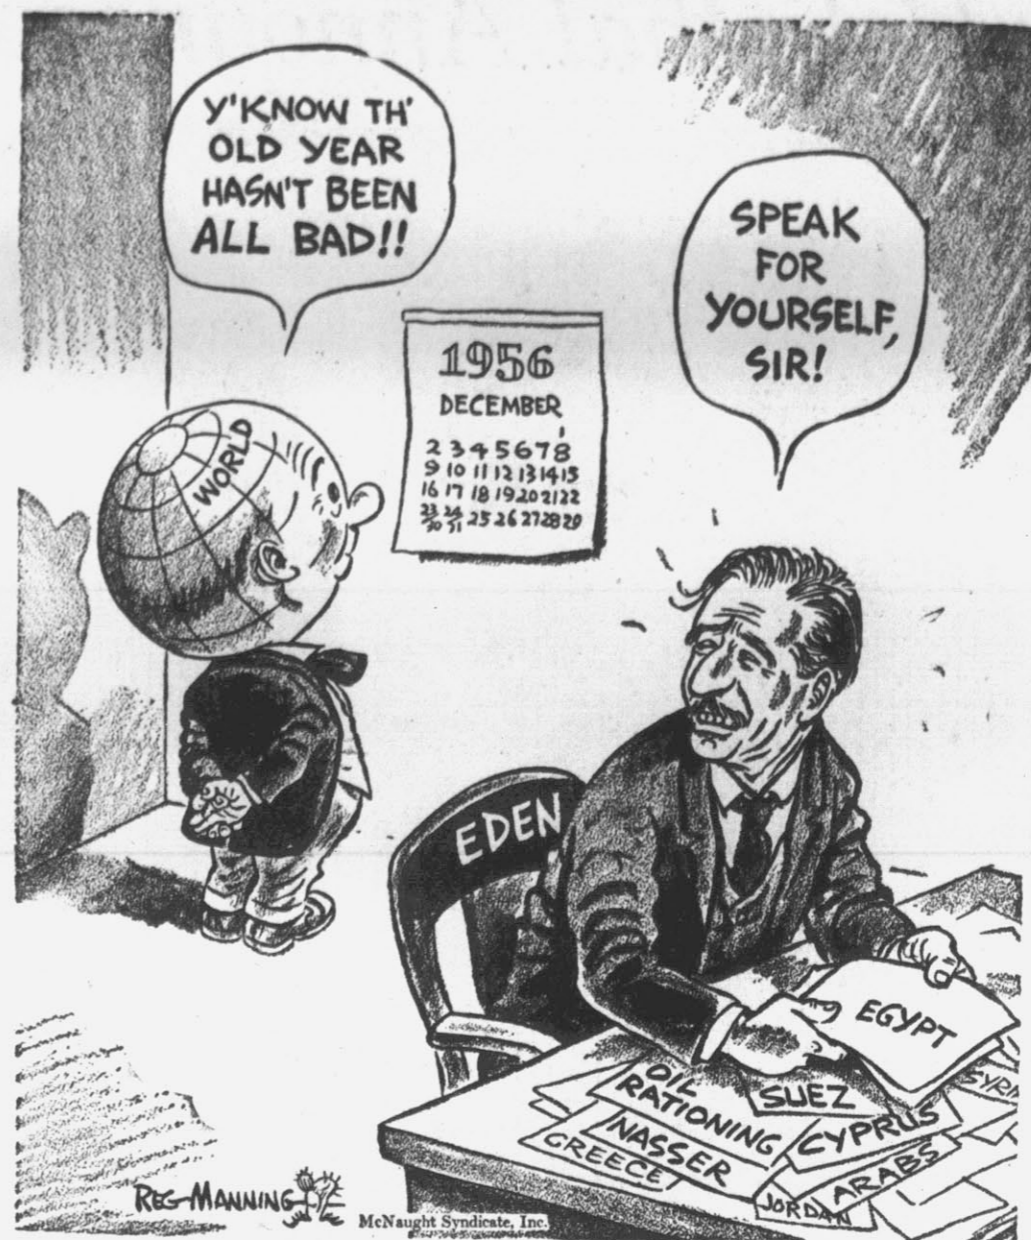

As part and parcel of the trend, a new kind of competition has appeared and becomes a powerful force. It is inter-industry competition and was relatively unimportant in past times. On this point the Fortune article says:

"The new auto competes with that vacation in Florida, the desire to move from a three-bedroom house to a four-bedroom house competes with the urge to buy a bigger power boat next spring, and in countless smaller decisions every day there is competition between better-quality food and better-quality clothes, more high-fi records and the new camera, etc."

This advanced state of discretionary spending has led economists astray. For example, when auto sales sagged badly last spring some felt that the economy as a whole was due for a hard blow. But that did not happen—because people spent the money for other things, and total spending remained high.

All this, of course, does not mean that the American economy is nothing but sweetness and light, without a problem or a built-in light, without a problem or a built-in danger. But it does show that the economy has grown almost beyond the wildest expectations—and that the fruits of it, as demonstrated by material living standards, are more widely shared than at any time the modern world has known.

Point Of View

By JIMMY ELLIS

To Ease The Yuletide Pangs

It's always a difficult thing to slow down from the rush of Christmas.

The difficulty comes especially hard to some folks because most of their rushing has been of mental varieties. They don't actually get out and hustle through the crowds but, rather, hear so much about it from a few friends that it just becomes fashionable to work up a good lather.

Today, four days after Christmas, there isn't a lot of hustle-bustle on the streets. But there certainly is a lot of wheel-spinning by folks who went through Christmas Day too quickly.

The tragedy of the whole affair is that by the time you get relaxed mentally and physically it's time to get all worked up for New Year's Eve.

Personally, I think it would be a good idea to declare a 10-day holiday period from work from about December 24 through January 2. Everybody could go crazy together on December 26 and not have to worry about going back to the job the next morning.

My Mother is having her annual upside-down fit. It is tradition in the Ellis clan to have home-made Christmas cakes and home-made Christmas goodies. That means Mother does some special cooking in addition to the regular job of feeding the small army that is the Ellis Clan.

The annual period of strain is caused by four birthdays jumping with Christmas. One brother has a birthday on December 13, another has one on December 25 (Christmas Day), my father has a birthday on December 26 and another brother has a birthday on January 1. To carry things little bit farther, a fourth brother has a birthday January 15. In years past, each birthday has been honored with a particular kind of cake. Daddy's, for instance, is a coconut-pineapple job and he refuses to accept anything else. The others are not quite as finicky but the different varieties of cakes are looked-for each year.

Mother claims she's going to quit. Too much strain, or something, trying to keep everybody happy.

Other members of the family, naturally, claim the custom should be continued. They look at it as compensation for being denied the pleasure of having a birthday completely separated from any other special occasion.

Personally, I'm considering changing my birthday to Confederate Memorial Day. Nobody pays any attention to it anymore except the UDC.

And that's a fine bunch of ladies to celebrate with.

Blues-Singer In The Bullring

By JACK RUTLEDGE
MEXICO CITY (AP) — Jan Welles, a red-headed, blues-singing beauty from Pittsburgh, is forsaking night clubs for the bullrings of Mexico.

Jan has been singing for 10 years, and several months ago was an Arthur Godfrey Talent Scout show winner. She sang on Godfrey's shows for three weeks, then returned to night club work. But a seven-year urge to become a bullfighter got the best of her when Carlos Arruzza, considered by many as one of the world's all-time top bullfighters, offered to train and back her in her career.

She will join Bette Ford, also of Pennsylvania, and Pat McCormack of Texas in the field of American girls in this dangerous sport.

Jan is training six hours a day now, and hopes to be ready for a public premiere in a few months. She gets up at 5:30 a.m. daily, works out in the Plaza Mexico, the world's largest bullring, and later plays jai alai to strengthen her right arm to handle the sword.

She also practices with small bulls at Arruzza's ranch near the capital, and hopes to move there for daily workouts. Arruzza is now retired, but fights occasionally.

Jan, a trim 26-24-36, has a big advantage; she's used to appearing before crowds. Several American hopefuls have done well in practice, but have folded before the crowds of 60,000 to 70,000 which turn out for the big fights.

"This is going to be news to my parents," she said, "and also to Mr. Godfrey — I mentioned it to him, but he thought I was joking."

Jan's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Walls — her real name is June Walls — who live in Pittsburgh, Pa.

Jan has appeared in many of the top U.S. night clubs, and in Canada, Cuba, Haiti and Mexico. She has made several records for Unique, including Please Don't Go" to which she wrote the lyrics. She has a new contract with Mercury records, and will cut her first song after she

Strength for the Day

By EARL L. DOUGLASS GREATEST KIND OF WISHING
The New Testament uses a number of Greek words meaning "to pray." The one used most frequently, however, is a word which means "to wish forward."

The Greek language is so significant because of the accuracy and subtlety with which it expresses meanings. Prayer means to ask; it means to beseech; it also means to wish—to wish forward.

The average person probably prays timorously. It would appear presumptuous to ask God for too much. Yet, if we can imagine the Bible ridiculing an idea, it ridicules such an idea as this. Jesus especially urged his followers to pray for great things and many things. We are like guests eating the tiniest bits of food because it would seem to presume on the hospitality of the host if we ate more. And the host keeps urging us to eat bountifully.

Prayer, among other things, is wishing forward. To descend to slangy idiom, we certainly have nothing to lose by asking for much. We have God's assurance that He wants to give us much. Why be hesitant? Why be afraid?

"Ask," cries Jesus, "and ye shall receive; seek and ye shall find; knock and it shall be opened unto you."

Ask little and you will get little. Take God at His word and you will know the richness of His bounty. Wish! Wish for great things! Wish forward!

Gas And Oil And Blood Denote Holidays

By WILLIAM J. CONWAY
CHICAGO (AP)—Gas and oil and blood.

Those three vital fluids are associated with the operation of our automobiles these days.

They spilled on highways during the Christmas weekend, when 706 Americans were killed and an estimated 24,000 others were injured in thousands of traffic accidents.

The National Safety Council now predicts 490 fatalities during the New Year celebration. That would be a record for that holiday weekend. The Christmas total was an all-time high for any holiday period.

To a newsman who has been counting the dead, in season, for 15 years, the most disturbing thing about it is this: The abiding feeling that bumper harvests of bodies are inevitable.

The experts make the forecasts. And, holiday after holiday, the victims fulfill them.

J.O. Musick, general manager of the Texas Safety Assn., made this comment on the holiday season's huge toll:

"If a man from outer space happened to pick up one of our newspapers Wednesday, he might conclude that the approved way of celebrating the coming of a new year in the United States is with sacrificial highway suicide."

Texas had 47 motor vehicle fatalities during the Christmas period. It ranked third, behind Illinois with 56 and California with 73.

A veteran police officer, Bernard R. Caldwell, California's highway patrol commissioner, described his state's yuletide carnage as "the most useless, extravagant dissipation of life I've ever seen."

More Americans perished on the streets and roads during the Christmas holiday than in many major disasters, such as the San Francisco earthquake and fire, with 452 dead; the 1937 Ohio-Mississippi River floods, with 360; the Texas City explosions, with 512.

Why the heavy toll? Officials suggested many reasons, but the one cited most often was speed. The State Division of Traffic Safety found that the most common of several causes in Illinois was driving too fast for road conditions. Gov. William G. Stratton's office summed it up as:

"Too much horsepower, too much bad weather, too much speed."

Chicago's traffic chief, Philip McGuire, reported that drinking was the prime cause in 9 of 12 fatal auto accidents there.

"Carelessness and high speed were the big factors," said Col. James R. Smith, commander of the state highway patrol in North Carolina, where 30 died. "Apparently a lot of people just let down and didn't pay much attention to safety warnings."

Musick, Texas Safety executive, said drinking drivers and speeding bulked large in the grim accident picture.

An NSC spokesman listed underlying factors as:

1. The "extra" day. Most Christmas observances since World War II have lasted one, two or three days.
2. Heavy travel, estimated at a total of seven billion miles, as a result of the almost universal urge to go home for Christmas.
3. Weather that in much of the country was bad enough sleet, rain, light snow to slick roads but not bad enough to compel slow motoring.
4. Drinkings.

What can be done?

A Year Of Records In Business

By ELMER ROESSNER
This has been a year for setting records — big, almost incredible records.

No new high was set in housing construction; total starts are around 1,100,000 units, 200,000 fewer than in 1950. There was no new record in auto production; about 6,000,000 passenger cars were turned out, compared with about 8,000,000 last year. And there were dips in other industries. But on the whole, it was a remarkable, supercharged year.

The total output of goods and services, when finally tallied, will be found to be more than $410 billion for the year, $20 billion over 1955.

Total personal income is around $241 billion, another record. Of this, more than $20 billion has been saved for one more record. Farm income, however, is about $33.5 billion, a little more than last year but several billion under 1951, 1952 and 1953.

NO PROFIT RECORD
While corporate profits in many companies and a few industries set new highs, corporate profits on the whole were less than in 1950 and 1955. Expenditures for new plants and equipment set a new mark at $35, up a good $6 billion from the previous high last year.

The population — right now about 169,480,000 — set a new high, but that happens every year. However, more people had jobs, which is not quite as regular a phenomenon. As of now, about 65,000,000 have jobs, but the number is slightly shrinking as temporary holiday employees are being laid off.

Consumer prices are now at their highest, being about 118 per cent of the 1947-49 average. Consumers owe more than ever, too. Total consumer credit outstanding at the start of November was $40.2 billion and, with Christmas credit buying, is probably over $41 billion today.

NEW INDUSTRIAL RECORDS
New high marks were set in many industries.

Vending machines sold $2 billion worth of goods for the first time, says Robert Z. Greene, president of Rowe Manufacturing Co., a pioneer in the field.

Toy sales set a new mark of $1.5 billion, according to Gilbert G. Southwick, of Plainfield, N.J., president of the Toy Manufacturers of the U.S.A.

Americans ate more meat, but in total and per stomach, the American Meat Institute reports. Total consumption this year will figure to 163.5 pounds per person, topping the previous record of 163.3 pounds — set in 1908.

Automatic washer sales are topping refrigerator sales for the first time, Judson S. Sayre, Norge president, said in an industry estimate.

Total consumption of plastics made this the biggest year for that industry, reports George C. Miller, Bakelite president.

Consumption of wine is at a new high, too — almost 1 gallon per person, compared with 0.51 gallons prewar and 0.83 gallons in 1951, according to Franz W. Sichel, president of Fromm and Sichel, a big wine distributor.

Government figures indicate that consumption of beer and whiskey has been heading toward a new high, with New Year's Eve to come.

Three hics and a hooray for 1956!

DELIVERING CHECK DATES PAYMENT

Individuals and businesses on a cash basis can deduct expenses paid by checks on December 31 and not cashed until the following year — unless there is an agreement that the check will not be cashed until a later date.

A dentist paid for some supplies with a check dated December 31 and, as is not unusual in the dental supply business, the check was not cashed until six weeks later. The Internal Revenue Service said the expense was not properly deductible until the next year, but the U.S. Tax Court held that delivery of the check constituted payment, and that the expense was deductible in the year the check was delivered.

Some safety men say they have the know-how, but they must have the backing of civic leaders and the full cooperation of the public.

Safety effort is split into three general categories — engineering, such as providing safe roads and safe cars, enforcement and education.

Education at times has had remarkable results. During the Christmas holiday period in North Dakota, for instance, no traffic deaths were reported. The superintendent of that state's highway patrol, Clark Monroe, credited the Perfect Performance to safety messages published by newspapers and broadcast by radio and TV stations for 10 days before the holiday period began.

Until virtually all the Drivers accept the responsibility, many state officials are going to rely on what they regard as their best, day-in-any-day-out weapon — enforcement of the traffic laws.

Some of the states again will put all available troopers on road patrol duty during the week-end that starts today.

CIVIL DEFENSE underground control center for Portland, Ore., is dedicated at the site on the outskirts of the city. Center is equipped with heavy electric entrance doors with photo-electric alarm and closed-circuit TV control of personnel entering, air locks and radiological decontamination facilities, electric generators, a private radio station, air filter and ventilation system, telephone, press and Conclrad facilities, and space for civil defense and other emergency offices. In addition, the $667,000 structure includes space for weather and radiological specialists, and living facilities. Inset shows arch construction of control center. If nuclear bombs ever rain down upon the great cities of the world, one city above all others will be able to say that it was prepared.

That city is Stockholm, Sweden, where civil defense planning and money and advanced rock engineering have created vast futuristic, comfortable shelters under 40 to 75 feet of solid granite.

In a peacetime 1,000-car underground garage, 20,000 of the city's citizens could survive all but a close nuclear hit in a self-sufficient setting of good lighting, filtered air, and ample food and water.

Tremendous blast pressures would be kept out by triple electrically-operated reinforced concrete steel doors and an ingenious maze of blind passageways off the entrance ramps to help dissipate pressure, according to Dr. Walo von Greyerz, a Swedish civil defense official.

In smaller shelters scattered about Stockholm, and other Swedish cities, other tens of thousands could survive in underground dual-purpose structures designed for civil defense and used in peacetime as theaters, recreation halls and factories.

Where the shelters have commercial value, as in the underground parking garage, a private company holds a 30-year lease in return for paying 40 per cent of the construction cost.

Sweden now has shelter for 1,200,000 of its 7,000,000 people. Large numbers of the remainder of the population live in remote areas requiring little shelter. Two thousand more shelters of all kinds are being built each year to accommodate an additional 130,000 people.

Sweden's long-range civil defense program includes 150 large shelters for 600,000 people who would have to remain on vital jobs in metropolitan areas.

So successful has Sweden become in tunneling vast caverns in granite for only 25 per cent more than the cost of surface construction that many peace-time factories are now being built underground.

Swedes, accustomed to long hours of winter darkness, actually prefer working underground, says Dr. Von Greyerz, Swedish civil defense medical director who recently visited the United States. They like the air conditioning and actually have a higher production rate, he says.

Less spectacular but vitally important is the Swedish home shelter program. Since 1938, every multiple-family house has had gas-proof basement shelters capable of protecting occupants should the building collapse. A 1945 law further strengthened and modified these shelters, although they are still conceded inadequate against nuclear weapons.

Sweden's geographic position forces it to rely more on instantly-available shelter and less on evacuation than American civil defense. That is because Sweden would have only a few minutes warning of attack. Nevertheless, Sweden plans a strategic evacuation of the non-productive third of its population whenever the world situation warrants it.

ATOMIC DEER
LOS ALAMOS, N. M. (AP)—The Isaac Walton League has been painting white deer on many of the roads in and around this atomic laboratory community. The idea is to alert residents and visitors of the chance of deer-car collisions. There are 25 to 30 deer killed each year in this way in Los Alamos or nearby, the State Game Department said.

Will Drop Nuclear Design Which Failed On 'Seawolf'

By ELTON FAY
WASHINGTON (AP)—When the Navy began moving into nuclear propulsion development six years ago it announced several types of reactors would be built and tested to decide which were best.

It started its work with submarines. The first nuclear submarine was the Nautilus. It was highly successful. The second was the Seawolf. It was a flop. No more power plants like the one installed in that sub will be used.

What is the difference between the two types of power plants, developed under the Navy and the Atomic Energy Commission? Why has the Nautilus been able to log more than 30,000 miles of operation? Why hasn't the Seawolf moved from its pier?

Both power systems operate by using the heat generated in a reactor by controlled nuclear fission to produce steam to drive a turbine which turns the propellers of a submarine.

Two Systems
There is this difference, however: In the Nautilus the heat energy from the atomic firebox is transferred to the steam-producing unit by passing water through the firebox and then through the steam-generating unit. The heat of the pressurized flow of water is transferred, through the walls of pipes, to the steam-generating unit. The steam so generated spins the turbine. In the heat exchanger, radioactivity is not passed on, but remains in the shielded section of the power plant.

In the Seawolf propulsion system, the heat exchange medium is liquid sodium metal. To keep the sodium flowing through the heat exchange system, a magnetic "pump" is used. A field of electricity is created by wires wrapped around the pump. The sodium is drawn through by the magnetic action of the field.

In theory, the sodium system should be more efficient. The material is a better conductor of heat than water. The pumping system is far smaller, much simpler in operation than the big pressure pumps used for water.

However, when the Seawolf's reactor was started up and run for some time the Navy says it discovered that the chemical reaction of the sodium worked into the pipes, resulting in cracks.

The Navy announced several weeks ago that it "hoped" to send the Seawolf out on sea trials in January. However, since then there has been a growing belief that a new heat transfer system will have to be installed in the Seawolf.

In addition to the Nautilus and Seawolf, the Navy has seven other atomic powered submarines in its active building program. Authority has been requested for construction of six more.

Fitz Hugh Pate, 77, died at his home in the Lane's Chapel community, near Vanceboro, at 12:15 a. m. Saturday. He had been in declining health for a year. Grave-side services will be held at the Gaskins Cemetery, near Vanceboro, Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

County Jail Had 9 For Christmas

Nine persons remained in Pitt County Jail during the Christmas holidays, Deputy Sheriff Loyd Manning said this morning.

Six persons were locked up and there were three trustees, Manning noted.

All but three of the nine have been released from jail now, the deputy pointed out.

The prisoners ate well Christmas. There was turkey and all the trimmings plus candy and nuts for the jail inmates.

For those who remain through New Year's day there will be no special fare at mealtime. The county jail prisoners on that day will eat the regularly-planned meal.

Manning said that only one person was locked up in the county jail for drunkenness during the holidays.

Youths Charged With Break-Ins

Two Negro youths have been placed under arrest on charges of breaking, entering and larceny as the result of the robbery of two stores on Taylor St. Christmas Eve night.

The two were identified by Sheriff Ruel W. Tyson as David Lee Taylor, 17, 901 Legion St., and Frank Carr, 17, 900 N. Railroad St. Carr has been released under $200 bond.

Both waived hearing before a justice of the peace, Sheriff Tyson said.

The arrests were made by Deputy Duke Andrews and a portion of the stolen goods was recovered.

Firm Observes Its Anniversary

Employees of the Greenville Packing Company noted the 45th anniversary of the firm's operations in this community at the annual year-end dinner and holiday party.

J. N. Williams Sr., founder and president of the business, reviewed the growth of the firm's operations in meat processing. Known locally for many years as Williams and Waldrep, later the firm was J. N. and J. L. Williams prior to the organization under the present name, Mr. Williams pointed out.

Livestock marketing, meat processing sausage and frankfurter manufacturing now provide employment for around 25 persons and the firm distributes its products throughout a wide area of Eastern North Carolina, Williams said.

An inspirational message was delivered by James W. Butler and a program of vocal music was provided by the Rev. J. D. Jayroe and his family of Vanceboro. Bonus checks were distributed by Williams and gifts were presented during the program which was directed by Mrs. Stella Joyce, office manager of the packing company.

Another Uprising Hits Republic Of Indonesia

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—Word of an uprising on Celebes Island was received here today. Celebes is at the opposite end of the Indonesian island republic from Sumatra where rebellious army factions already are defying Jakarta's rule.

Unlike the bloodless coup on Sumatra, informed sources said the Celebes incident was a violent demonstration that left thousands of homes burned to the ground.

Details were sketchy, but there was no indication the Celebes rebels had attempted to seize power, or that the uprising was connected with the Sumatra crisis that already has jarred the government of Premier Ali Sastroamidjojo. Through the eight years of Indonesia's independence there have been isolated rebellions staged by fanatic religious groups wanting to set up separate states and other groups opposed to the Jakarta government.

Informants said the Celebes rebels—members of a "defenders of justice" movement that tried in 1950 to set up an independent Celebes state—struck Thursday at Kabean in South Celebes.

The informants said 3,713 buildings in Kabean, including 21 schools, were burned and that fires were set in 10 neighboring villages.

There was no report of any deaths.

The Celebes islanders, mostly Christians, long have pressed for more local autonomy—one of the demands of the army officers who have seized the government machinery in North and Central Sumatra. Most of Indonesia is Moslem. Celebes is the third largest of the 3,000-odd Indonesian islands and Sumatra the second largest.

Some Celebes islanders have expressed open sympathy with last week's army-led revolt in Sumatra.

On the central government political front, Sastroamidjojo got some much needed backing in his fight to retain power.

County Jail Had 9 For Christmas

Nine persons remained in Pitt County Jail during the Christmas holidays, Deputy Sheriff Loyd Manning said this morning.

Six persons were locked up and there were three trustees, Manning noted.

All but three of the nine have been released from jail now, the deputy pointed out.

The prisoners ate well Christmas. There was turkey and all the trimmings plus candy and nuts for the jail inmates.

For those who remain through New Year's day there will be no special fare at mealtime. The county jail prisoners on that day will eat the regularly-planned meal.

Manning said that only one person was locked up in the county jail for drunkenness during the holidays.

Storm Forces Liner's Return

PARIS (AP)—The French liner announced today that its 50,000-ton liner Liberté had been damaged in an Atlantic storm while en route to New York and was returning to France.

A spokesman for the Compagnie Generale Transatlantique said one of the Liberté's cargo hatches was stove in and three loading cranes were carried away.

The liner sailed two days ago from Le Havre with 393 passen-

Money Bag Will Scream For Help
LONDON (AP)—A British inventor says he has come up with a money bag that screams for two hours if it sets in the wrong hands. If that isn't enough, the money container also cuts loose with a stream of tear gas after waiting for two minutes.

Harry Adler, 64, the inventor, said trained messenger can control the bag by means of secret catches.

"But once out of his hands," he added "the slightest movement sets off the alarm."

That goes on for two hours unless stopped by a special key.

Both waived hearing before a justice of the peace, Sheriff Tyson said.

The arrests were made by Deputy Duke Andrews and a portion of the stolen goods was recovered.

BIRMINGHAM, England. (AP)—A tidal wave of vinegar got the housewives of Tower Road in a pickle last night.

A 20-foot high vat at a factory burst and poured 45,000 gallons of vinegar down the road.

Housewives manned their brooms and sought to sweep back the onrushing flood. They tried to barricade their houses with carpets piled at the doors.

But, said Mrs. Doris Jenney, who lives near the pickle works, soon the vinegar began bubbling up through drains and squirted all over the place.

Firemen finally diverted the river of vinegar and began pumping out cellars.

The Reflector's Camera Looks Back Over 1956 News

Three major warehouse fires, still unsolved, destroyed the warehouses, tobacco, and farm machinery after the tobacco-selling season opened. The New Enterprise, Dixie and Old Empire warehouses were completely destroyed in the blazes, all of which happened late at night and demanded every piece of equipment and all the members of Greenville's Fire Department.

Greenville's new North-South by-pass was carried a long way toward completion in the past 12 months. This new bridge spans Tar River west of the present bridge and is expected to be opened to traffic in the early spring. The by-pass will carry traffic on highways U. S. 13 and N. C. 11 west of Greenville.

Ayden placed into operation this year a new 300,000 gallon capacity water tank. The new structure replaces an antiquated structure back of the Town Hall which will continue to be used for emergencies. Normal functions of Ayden's water department are being handled with the new tank which is a storage place for water drawn from two municipal wells.

It has been said that a single good picture is worth a thousand words.

That may be true, but neither pictures nor words will adequately express the life of Pitt County since last January 1. In that time, Pitt County has been a growing thing. That growth has had to struggle with adversity but out of the role Pitt County has to play for its own future, a new awareness of changes which must inevitably come, and a recognition of shortcomings which must be eliminated.

The past year was a big one in and for Pitt County.

There were many news-worthy events, most of which were caught in some phase by Reflector staff photographers. The resulting pictures were not, in themselves, news but they did help to portray important events in the lives of citizens in Pitt County.

It is impossible to reprint all the pictures that were made. It is equally impossible to portray in any pictures and group of pictures the full scope of news which pictures represent.

The full effect of the county's bloody and shameful record of traffic fatalities cannot be expressed with a book of pictures. Neither can the new construction, the progressive attitudes, the everyday sadness and joy, the long hours of work for a better community, the eternal struggle for a better life simply portrayals of highlights of the events which they do depict by every person in Pitt County, 1956. They by no means represent all the highlights and all the facets preserved on pieces of film.

An epidemic of paralytic polio in the summer sent large numbers of children to special polio inoculation clinics throughout the county. Despite the large numbers of children who got shots, there are very few in the county who have received the recommended total of three shots and there are still many children who have not received even a first shot of the Salk vaccine.

September was a big month for Democrats in Eastern North Carolina. House Speaker Sam Rayburn (left) was the main speaker at a Democratic Rally held on the campus of East Carolina College. "Mr. Democrat" attracted 1,100 Democrats to the rally which netted the party nearly $15,000 and the largest margin of victory in any of North Carolina's 100 counties in November's general election.

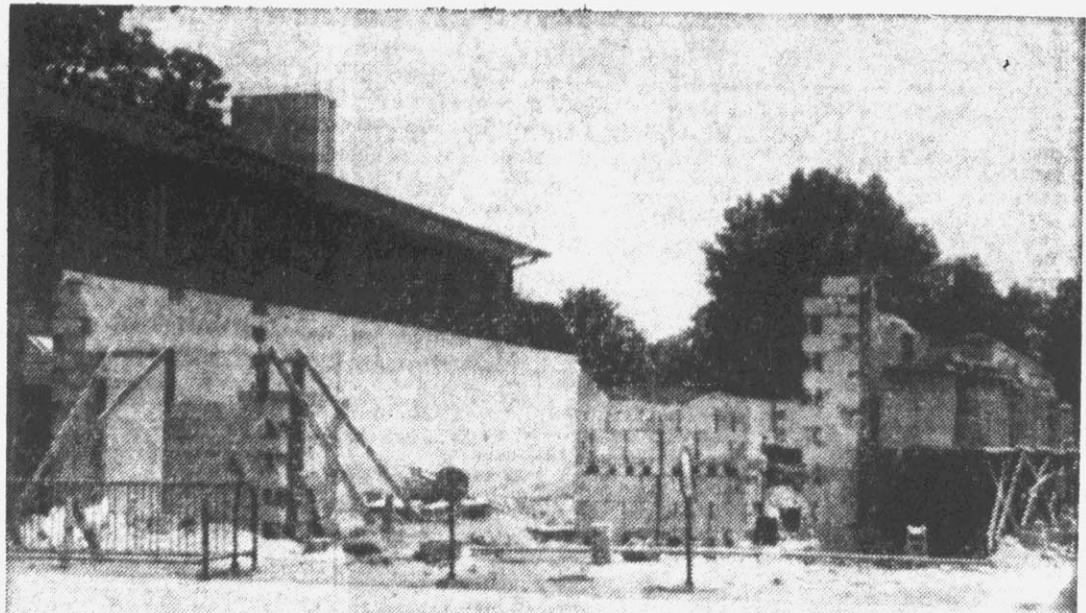

Typical of the aftermath of traffic accidents which took 24 lives in the county this year was this twisted mass of wreckage—all that remained of a sports car after it hit a freight train near Farmville. The highway death toll set a new record for the county, eclipsing the previous high of 18.

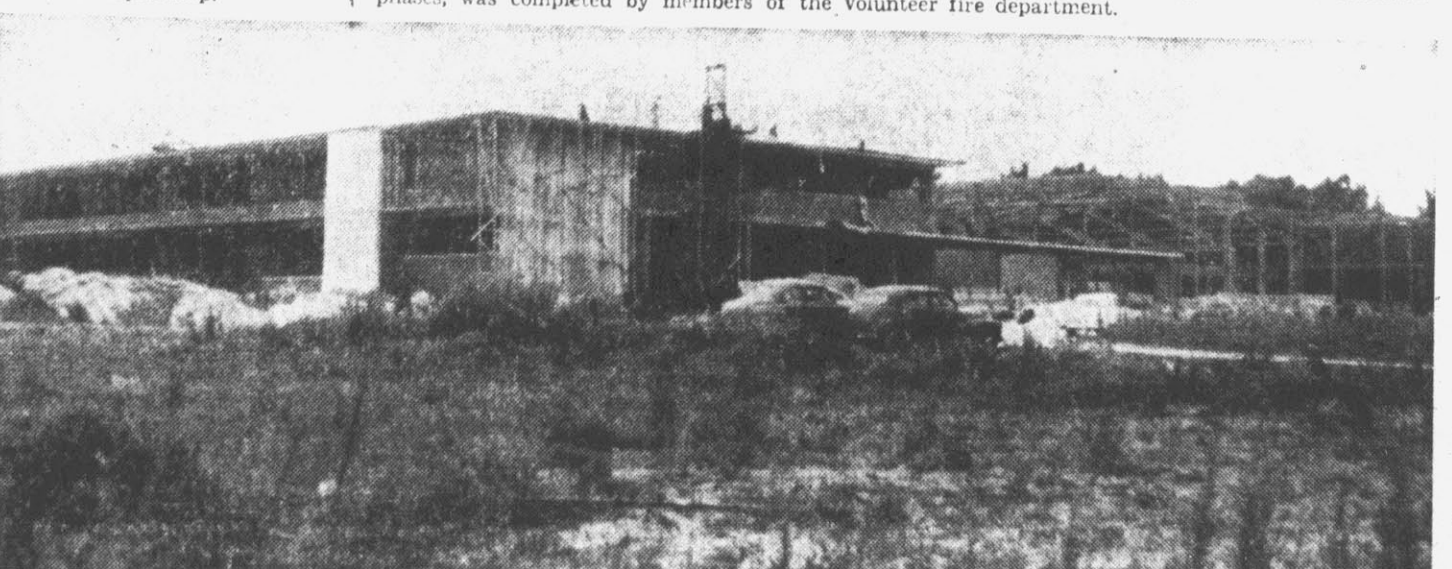

Among the highlights of sports activities in the county during the year was the women's golf championship at the Greenville Golf and Country Club. Mrs. A. J. White, Jr. (left) defeated Mrs. E. W. Larkin, Jr. (right) for the championship.

One of the most publicized local trials in years involved former Assistant Negro Farm Agent Tammadge T. Mitchell, 39. In a dramatic moment in the trial, Mitchell changed his plea from "not guilty" to "guilty of second-degree murder" and was sentenced to 25-to-30 years in prison.

Community improvement projects in Pitt County took many forms during 1956. Farmville citizens began construction of a new fire house in the summer and expect to move into it early in 1957. The project is being constructed largely with donated funds, although the Town of Farmville made a substantial allocation for the job. Most of the work, except for more technical phases, was completed by members of the volunteer fire department.

Although not completed when originally expected, Greenville's new high school will be available next year to help relieve congestion in the city school system. The new building, modern in every respect, is being constructed in Meadowbrook and will include facilities for senior high school students.

Carolina, Wake Forest To Battle For Classic Crown

Duke, State Seeking Consolation Prize

By ALLEN ALEXANDER
 RALEIGH (AP) — North Carolina's tournament-hardened Wake Forest in the Dixie Classic finals tonight while Utah, which blitzed West Virginia, 83-66, last night in the tournament's major upset, meets DePaul in the consolation bracket finals.

Milton Kane, with 22 points, and Curtis Jensen with 18, led Utah in its bowl.

North Carolina, ranked second best in the nation in the latest Associated Press poll, whipped ninth-ranked Duke, 87-71, last night behind the 32-point shooting of All America candidate Lennie Rosenbluth, the play-making little Tommy Kearns, and the backboard control of Pete Brennan.

Wake Forest, winner of the recent Carrousel Tournament in Charlotte, outthrust defending Classic champion N.C. State yesterday afternoon 73-66, for the Deacons' first victory over the Wolfpack in 10 games.

Wake Forest, which now has won seven straight, last defeated the Wolfpack in the 1953 Classic. Utah, passing the Classic's classiest team, found the range and outthrust fourth-ranked West Virginia, 83-66, in a stunning upset. Before the Mountaineers knew what hit them, the Ute's held a 50-31 halftime lead. Hot Rod Hundley and his Mountaineer mates never had a chance to gain their poise and get going. The Hot Rod led his team with 16 points.

Duke and State tangle for third place at 7:30 p.m., with the championship match following at 9:30. For the second straight time yesterday's games were played before afternoon crowds of 12,000 and a night time sellout of 12,400, making the two-day total attendance 48,800 and virtually assuring that the 1955 three-day record attendance of 68,000 in Reynolds Coliseum will be broken today.

Participating teams are assured of about $7,500 each since they get 10 per cent of the net gate. They also get their expenses. Wake Forest showed deadly accuracy at the free throw line and excellent ball-handling against State. The Deacons were six points behind the defending Classic champions at the half.

Fireballer Feller Quitting Baseball

CLEVELAND (AP) — Bob Feller, a big name in baseball for as long as a lot of fans can remember, won't appear on the Cleveland Indians roster anymore.

The onetime fireball pitcher announced yesterday that he is quitting baseball as an active player to spend more time at his insurance business and other interests.

Thus, a success story that stretched through two decades of the sports world came to a reasonably happy end. Feller's retirement is of his own choosing and he leaves prosperous and respected.

His career was not without its low spots. As early as 1937, a year after he joined Cleveland as an Iowa farmboy with a right arm that could make a baseball sizzle, a poll of baseball writers picked him as one of the flops of the year.

Now 38, an old man by athletic standards, Feller grew up in a lot of ways. From a kid who burned and sulked when he considered fans and scribes unreasonable, Feller became a smoothie who talked easily about his setbacks as well as his triumphs.

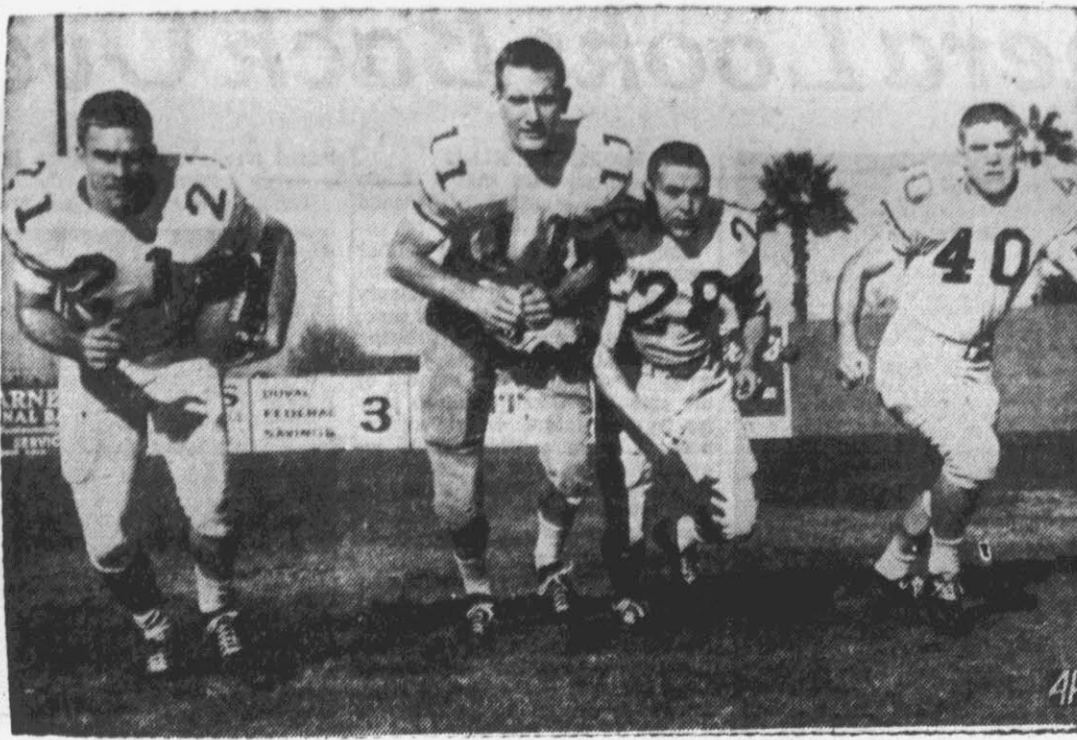

pitching, too. Three years in the Navy during the second World War took the edge off his speed. But the batters looking for a fat one soon found themselves biting on a new repertoire of curves and sliders.

Feller's record is a cinch to earn him a spot in baseball's Hall of Fame. His 266 victories include three no-hitters, a record shared by the late Cy Young and Larry Corcoran. His old nickname of the "Strikeout King" is borne out by another major league record, 18 strikeouts in one nine-inning game.

Once one of the highest paid men in baseball — at his peak he got around $80,000 — Feller has been an outspoken guardian of the rights of players as a whole. His gripes against the system range from salaries to rigid contracts which Feller believes restrict the players unfairly to one team.

As a retired player, Feller will have to give up his post as a player representative in the American League. He will continue as president of the new Major League Players Assn. and as a member of the Major League pension committee.

Football Makes Final Bow With Big Weekend Games

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
 The big postseason college football weekend got under way today with three major attractions. At Jacksonville, Fla., Georgia Tech and Pitt met in the Gator Bowl. The Blue-Gray game was slated for Montgomery, Ala., and the East-West Shrine game was on tap in San Francisco.

On Tuesday, seven more bowl games will be played — the Rose, Sugar, Cotton, Orange (the big four), Sun, Tangerine and Prairie View.

Tech was a 7½ point favorite over Pitt in the Gator Bowl. The game will be telecast and broadcast by CBS starting at 2 p.m. EST.

The East was rated a 6-point over the West in the Shrine game. The West has won 14 games in the series and the East 13. Four ended in ties. The game will be broadcast and telecast by NBC starting at 4:45 p.m. EST.

The South was a 6-point choice in the Blue-Gray game. The game will be broadcast and telecast by NBC starting at 1:45 p.m. EST.

Here is the New Year's Day lineup:
 ROSE BOWL at Pasadena, Calif. — Oregon State (7-2-1) vs. Iowa (8-1-0).
 SUGAR BOWL at New Orleans — Tennessee 10-0-0 vs. Baylor (8-2-0).
 COTTON BOWL at Dallas — Syracuse (7-1-0) vs. Texas Christian 7-3-0.

ORANGE BOWL at Miami — Colorado 7-2-1 vs. Clemson (7-1-2).
 SUN BOWL at El Paso, Tex. — George Washington (7-1-1) vs. Texas Western (9-1-0).

TANGERINE BOWL at Orlando, Fla. — West Texas (7-2) vs. Mississippi Southern (7-1-1).
 PRAIRIE VIEW BOWL at Houston — Texas Southern 8-1 vs. Prairie View A and M (4-5-1).

Hornung May Miss Big East-West Contest

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A swollen right elbow threatened to keep East quarterback Paul Hornung of Notre Dame out of today's East-West Shrine football game for crippled children. But the East ruled a slight favorite.

Hornung was slated to resume heat treatments early today. The kickoff was scheduled for 2 p.m. (PST). The game was to be nationally televised — NBC at 1:45 p.m. (PST).

Reporting with the injury at the East's Santa Clara University training camp, Hornung said yesterday: "If I had to play a football game tonight, I couldn't make it." Hornung's alternate is Milton Plum of Penn State. The opposing quarterback is Stanford's John Brodie. Brodie and Hornung are professional draft choices.

Los Angeles sports banquet Thursday night.

On his return, Hornung reported to East trainer Henry "Smitty" Schmidt of Santa Clara. X-rays showed Hornung's arm had no breaks. Schmidt treated the elbow until late last night with diathermy and whirlpool baths.

The East, coached by 28-year-old Terry Brennan of Notre Dame, went into the game favored by perhaps as much as a touchdown. But Buck Shaw of the Air Force Academy, head man for the West, hoped to offset the big East line with the throwing of Brodie and the running Southern California's fleet Jon Arnett.

East teams have won the past two years, but in the series the West holds a 14-13 edge with four ties. Since the game's inception in 1925, more than 2½ million dollars have been earned for the Shrine Hospital for Crippled Children here.

Vasquez Makes Hit With Crowd In Rosi Triumph

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Baby Vasquez, the clever, hard-hitting Mexican lightweight champion, made a big hit with American boxing fans on television last night when he stopped Paolo Rosi, the quick-knocked Italian from the Bronx, on a technical knockout in the seventh round.

The scheduled 10-round battle in Miami's Biscayne Arena was a humdinger from start to finish. The two eager fighters stood toe to toe and slugged it out, and the crowd roared its approval.

One minute and 55 seconds after the start of the seventh, Referee Mike Kaplan called time, steered Rosi to his corner, and called for a boxing commission doctor to examine bleeding cuts over both the Italian's eyes.

The doctor took a quick look at the two clean slashes and ordered the fight stopped. Vasquez himself was bleeding freely from a gashed ear.

It was Rosi's first defeat this year after three straight victories and only his fourth loss in 27 starts. He had been established as an 8-5 choice to beat Vasquez and make a strong bid for a place among the top 10 of the lightweight division.

Vasquez now has won 46 fights against 12 defeats. A crowd of 1,129 paid a gross gate of $1,968 to see the fight, which was televised and broadcast nationally by NBC. Vasquez weighed 135, Rosi 134½.

Streak May Be Snapped Today

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Bobby Dodd, the nation's foremost football bowl coach, looked a little wistful as his favored Georgia Tech team prepared to tackle powerful Pittsburgh in today's Gator Bowl game.

Regardless of the outcome, Dodd had reason to suspect that Tech's amazing string of six bowl appearances had stretched to the breaking point.

"We at Tech would like very much to win this one," he said. "It would give us six bowl victories in six seasons, a record that should stand for a long, long time. Then, too, this could be our last bowl trip for a year or two. We lose 19 men off this squad and 16 of them are on our first two units."

Coach Johnny Michelson and his Pitt Panthers were just as anxious to shatter another Dodd record. In seven previous bowl games under Dodd, Tech has never lost.

Phants Resume Season Wednesday Against New Bern

AGAINST GOLDSBORO, the Greenville Phantoms had plenty of height problems. They lost two to the Quakes and two more to Rocky Mount in Pre-Christmas play. Above, newcomer Wesley Hudson tries a jump shot over the head of a taller Goldsboro player. New Bern will also be a problem to the G-Men in the height department.

STEVE NOBLE—The tallest man on the Green club, 6-3 Steve Noble (driving above against Goldsboro), will be Greenville's biggest opponent to New Bern height. He, Joe Wingate and Albert Crawford, Phantom centers, will handle the majority of rebound work against the Bears, Wednesday night, at New Bern. In the last Phant game before the holidays, Nobles scored 15 points against Goldsboro. He has a 6.5 average for four games. (Reflector Photos).

G-Men Rated 10-Point Underdogs To New Bern

 Greenville high school, well-rested from two weeks of holiday, will resume its basketball competition Wednesday night, January 2, at the New Bern high school gym, in a Northeastern Conference game.

The game will mark the opening of the Phantoms' actual conference schedule. They have played four contests thus far all against AAA opponents, and have gone down in defeat in all four tilts.

Coach Boley Farley's crew opened against Goldsboro on December 4. Since that time, they have met Goldsboro again and met Rocky Mount twice. Their loss margin has verged around the 20-point mark for the four games.

New Bern Tall
 Though very little is known about the 1956-57 New Bern quintet, it is reported that the Bears will send a tall, rangy club against the Phants Wednesday night. The school has built a reputation in the past several seasons as an outfit that always manages to find more big men than most of the other Northeastern conference teams. Last season, the Bears presented a team with plenty of height and speed and deception—however they had their difficulties. This season, the height is back and a bit of experience has been added.

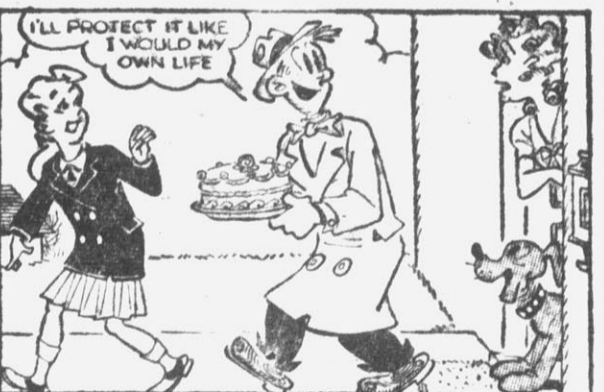

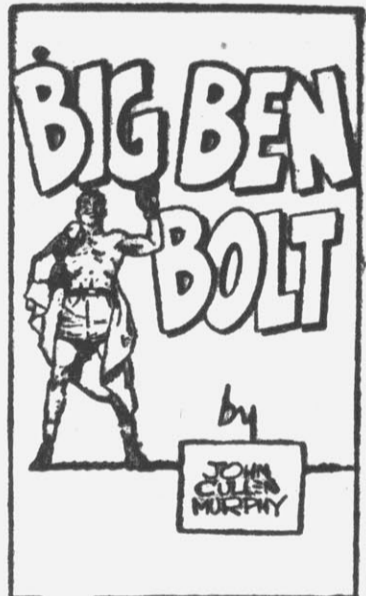

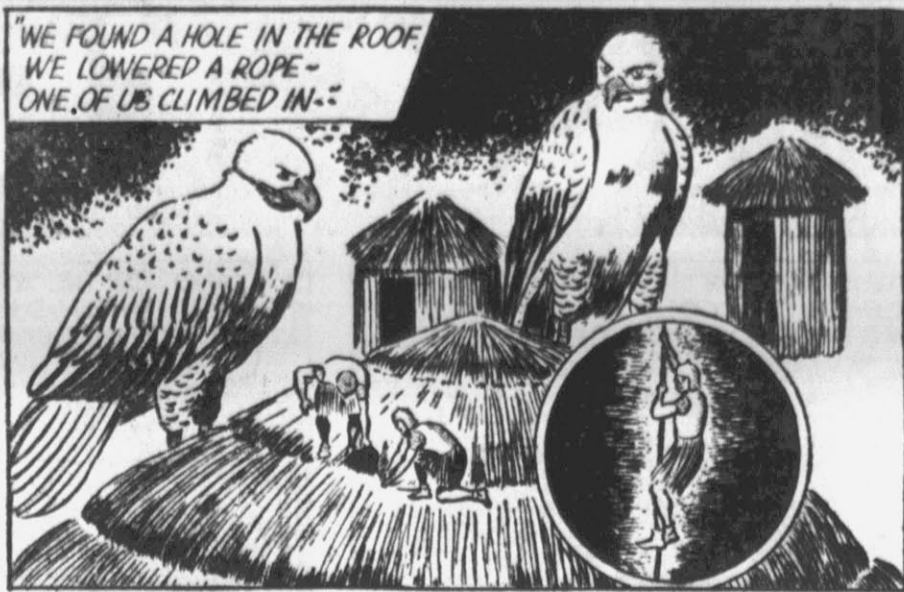

Coach Boley Farley is regarded one of the state's most capable mentors and has, for the past 18 years provided GHS with some outstanding athletes and hoop clubs. With this in mind, the 1956-57 crew, weak, inexperienced and lacking in height, is nevertheless seeking another Northeastern conference championship.

Only three or four men remain on the team who have seen action before as varsity players. Wayne Eidson, Mack Roebuck, Charlie Smith and Joe Wingate saw limited duty as reserves on the powerful 1955-56 squad. Due to the power and ability of the first five performers on that club, however, reserves were used only sparingly.

The four boys named above have been playing regularly on the Phant first unit thus far, but no positions are "sewed up," according to Farley. He has substituted quite freely in all four of the games thus far. Newcomers Steve Noble, Albert Crawford, Wesley Hudson, Bob Bilbro, Bobby Edwards, Walker Allen and Steve Wilkerson have been used just as frequently as their more experienced teammates.

Farley has been searching for the right combination regardless of height and experience. In four games, he has been unable to come up with anything powerful enough to produce a victory—but there is hope. Both Farley and his boys think that Greenville is better than the first four scores indicate, and they will be out to prove it—starting Wednesday at New Bern.

Five Persons Die As 2 Pittsburgh Cars Crash

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Five Pittsburgh residents, including four teenagers, were killed last night in a near head-on collision of two autos on a snow-covered, slippery highway in Baldwin Borough about four miles from midtown. The tragedy was among the first to be reported on the nation's highways as the New Year's holiday period began. And it was the worst accident reported anywhere in the nation since 6 p.m. local time yesterday. "Just how the wreck happened may never be known," said police Lt. Charles Colosi. He added, however, that one car may have skidded after rounding a slight curve and crashed into the other vehicle.

Stanley F. Puchalski, 31, was the lone occupant of one machine. Like the occupants of the second car he was thrown out of his machine. He died instantly. The driver of the car carrying the teen-agers was identified by Colosi as Alfred Daugherty, 18. Killed with him were Dorothy Salmon, and Mary Alice Healey, both 18, and Barbara Hines, 17. The lone survivor of the Daugherty machine was Harry J. Haney, 18. "He's in serious condition from shock and can't say just what happened," Colosi said.

Scouts' Harvest Will Pay Costs WAUKAU, Wis. (AP) — The harvest from an acre of round will finance a Boy Scout's trip to the scouts' national jamboree at Valley Forge, Pa., next summer. Rudolph Freund is providing the acre for scouts of Waukau and Omro, who intend to plant either sweet corn or cucumbers. Whoever is chosen to attend the encampment will have his expenses paid by proceeds of the one-acre plot.

Unanswered Questions Of 1956 Still To Be Answered

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—This was truly an extraordinary year: it not only raised some of the biggest unanswered questions since World War II but forced hundreds of millions of people to re-examine their thinking.

The questions how for answers—answers which may change the history of mankind, for they cover most of the main areas of the earth—the West, Middle Europe, the Middle East and Asia.

The Russians lost more ground in world opinion in 1956 than in any year since the Bolshevik Revolution of 1917. The biggest of all the unanswered questions of the year is: What will the Russians do in 1957?

Their massacre of the revolting Hungarians compelled people everywhere—non-Communists and Communists with illusions—to recognize that the basic Russian foreign policy is old-style colonialism.

The Kremlin's new appearance of good fellowship was proved to be a cover for an essentially cannibalistic policy.

The revolts in Poland and Hungary showed the iron grip of Russia could be loosened, if not broken, and that the captive people after 11 years of exposure and indoctrination, loathe communism.

These disasters for Russia had their roots in the relaxed policy which the Kremlin announced in February.

Now these questions arise: Will the Kremlin scrap that policy and revert to the iron rule of Stalin? Would anything it did now stop the break-up of its empire? What will the West do to help such a break-up? No answer to any of these is visible yet.

At the beginning of 1956 the Western alliance, particularly among the United States, Britain and France—was solid, based on a policy of staying armed to block Russian expansion.

Before year's end the alliance was shaken by the British-French attack on Egypt and the United States' reaction. This country not only disapproved but led the United Nations into pressuring Britain and France to withdraw from Egypt.

That break, creating distrust on both sides in the alliance, is not fully healed. It probably will be. The main enemy is still Russia. The Allies weaken themselves by splitting up. Britain and France can hardly turn to Russia.

The 1957 questions for the West ern Allies: Will they work together closely again? How will they handle Russia and the problems they face in the Middle East, especially the problem of Egyptian President Nasser.

The unanswered questions about the Middle East: Will Nasser talk business? Will war break out there again? How much progress can the Russians make? What can be done to keep the Middle East away from Russia?

In Asia all through 1956 the Red Chinese followed a mild policy. India's Nehru, the neutralist, had his eyes opened by the Russian performance in Hungary. Will this shove him and the other non-Communist Asians toward the West? Or will Nehru and his friends try to play it down the middle as before?

Holidays Saw GHS Students Partying

By MARTHA JANE PIERCE
Greenville High School Reporter
With school out and time on their hands the Greenville High students took advantage of their free time and had get-togethers of all kinds.

Patricia Morton, Laverne Easton and Joanne Eagles started things off with a semi-formal dance December 20.

Goldis Starling entertained December 21 with a dance and a floor show in the Eastern Star Community Building. Featured in the floor show were Milly Overton, Dwight Batts, who sang, and Martha Lee Moye, Elizabeth White, Margaret Harrell, and Lee Lang Harrell danced for the group. Goldis Starling and Anne Greene did skits for the group. Mrs. Tyson played an accordion and led the guests in some dances and some games.

The college set were entertained Friday night with open houses given by Pick Arthur and Don Conley and by Sally Beard.

Carolyn Briley had open house December 21.

Nancy Hoot and a group of girls exchanged gifts at the Country Club Sunday night and then went to Nancy's house where she had open house. Christmas Eve Clara Payne Crawford had open house for her friends.

On December 22 twenty-seven of last year's graduating class had a Christmas supper at Respos-James'. The girls were Sally Beard, Jane Berryman, Sylvia Bonner, Martha Ann Branch, Gayle Clapp, Lelia Davenport, Rosemary Eagles, Sarah Ewell, Helen Forbes, Jo Hendrix, Dorning Jenkins, Cathryn Johnson, Betsy Karnsak, Nell Lee, and Olive Morrill.

Others who attended were Margaret Moye, Dora Pierce, Susie Pope, Ann Rooke, Sylvia Satterthwaite, Lois Simmons, Margaret Stokes, Sarah Upchurch, Lois Ann

Uncle Sam May Have Loosened 'Tight' Money

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP)—In denying a fast tax writeoff for new steel mills, Uncle Sam may have let some of the steam out of the business expansion program that is making money so tight.

At the same time he may have put more steam into the pressure for still higher prices.

These apparent cross-purpose trends come about this way:

Some steel companies say they now will defer or reconsider part of their program to build more steel-making capacity. Others say they will go on building but must have higher prices to pay for it.

And if steel prices go up again, as now seems likely, that will work through other industries as it did last summer and fall and build up pressure for higher prices all along the line.

The steel industry had asked tax concessions through a fast depreciation allowance for the proposed new facilities, totaling nearly 2½ billion dollars. Washington refused this Wednesday.

If the building programs are halted or delayed, this may also affect plans of other industries—if for no other reason than by delays in getting structural steel.

This would ease somewhat the big program for industrial expansion or stretch it over more months and years than first planned. Washington has estimated that the expansion boom will hit a new peak in the months just ahead.

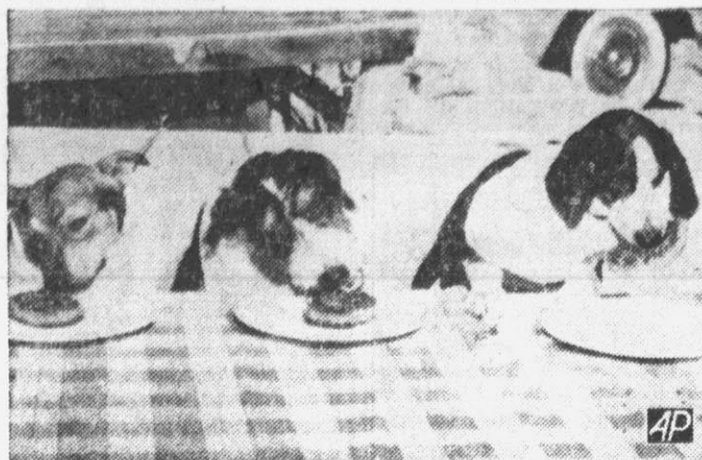

Even before the steel tax decision, however, there had been a few signs of slowdown in the big building programs that had strained the financial markets.

The steel companies aren't likely to give up their fight for new tax rules governing depreciation.

Their central argument about depreciation allowances is that they are no longer realistic. They say the cost of replacing old steel mills is now so much higher than when the mills were first built that they should be allowed more liberal allowances in writing off that it should be figured on a replacement basis rather than on the basis of original cost.

MOVIE ROLES SAVE DOOMED DOGS—Three mongrel dogs—Sam, Sylvester, and Clyde—were awaiting death in the gas chamber at the city pound in Tucson, Ariz. Just then, Columbia Pictures sent out a call for three dogs of mixed ancestry for use in a movie being filmed in Tucson. Sam, Sylvester and Clyde were chosen. And for a day, they dined (bottom) in the grand manner of Hollywood. Sylvester was a hit in the movie, and the producers are going to take him to Hollywood. Sam and Clyde did not go back to the gas chamber and have been given new leases on life. (AP Wirephoto).

Husband, Wife Debut As Team

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Next Friday, Ida Lupino and Howard Duff will bravely debut in a new TV show that is a light-hearted spoof of their own lives.

The show is called "Mr. Adams and Eve" and it takes over for "Crusader" Friday night on CBS.

The Duffs are type-cast as a couple of film stars, and they will be accused of having some of their antics taken from life. Some are.

"It's sort of a satire of ourselves," Duff explained between takes.

For instance, Ida's mother, an extraordinary woman, will be portrayed by Lee Patrick. Ida told some stories about her mother.

How she sent Ida a note from Las Vegas with the comment: "You look very good, dear, for a woman your age." How she replied to a magazine writer who coyly asked for her favorite actress: "Why, Barbara Stanwyck, of course."

"We're happy as clams," Ida

Plenty Of Food, Shelter On Hand

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—In case it's any consolation to you when hunting a place to sleep, Florida has 1,396 hotels, 5,414 motels and 11,938 rooming houses which altogether can house 687,676 persons.

Or, if you're hungry:

The state has 14,556 restaurants (3,100 in Miami's Dade County); a cooking device that can "broast" (broil-roast) a chicken in five minutes or a fish in three and a "radar range" that can cook a steak in 15 to 20 seconds.

WATCH THAT LEFT DOG!—Held by his mother, Mrs. Elmer Gray, Bloomington, Ill., eight-month-old Mike clenches his left fist and stares fixedly at Dr. W. J. Board, director McLean County Health Department, who administers a shot at immunization center. (AP Wirephoto).
