Greenville Man First Pitt Traffic Victim Of Year

DEATH CAR—The above vehicle went out of control and overturned on the Pactolus Highway about eight miles from Greenville late yesterday afternoon. Driver of the car B. C. Satterfield of 1703 E. Fourth St., Greenville was killed in the accident. (Reflector Staff Photo).

Car Overtakes, Local Man Killed; First '57 Fatality

PACTOLUS — A Greenville man, crushed under his overturning auto to near here late yesterday, became Pitt County's first highway fatality of 1957.

The dead man was identified by investigating patrolman J.B. Surles as Benton Calloway Satterfield, 70, of 1703 E. Fourth St.

Satterfield died almost instantly of a crushed skull when his car went off the highway, came back on and overturned several times.

Pt. Surless said Satterfield was over him.

Satterfield's 1956 auto was said to have struck a second car operated by Thomas Edward Gray, of Greenville Box 196 Rt. 5, Both Gray and Satterfield were said to have been headed west toward Greenville when the accident took place.

Surles quoted Gray as saying he was driving about 35 miles per hour. He felt a jolt, stopped his car and Satterfield's car came by and started turning over, the patrolman quoted Gray as saying.

Damage to Gray's car was set at $25. The accident occurred at 5:10 p.m. about eight miles east of Greenville. Surles said tire marks indicated the death car ran off on the left shoulder came back on the highway and then started rolling over. The vehicle rolled for 100 feet and came to a halt upright across the right lane of the road.

Satterfield's car was totally demolished.

The first traffic fatality of 1957 for Pitt County came 24 days after the New Year began.

Highway patrolmen have been conducting a campaign to reduce the accident toll during this year. In 1956 Pitt set a new record for highway deaths as 24 persons were killed in traffic accidents. That was far ahead of the old record of 18 killed in one year.

Funeral services for Satterfield will be held at the Wilkerson Chapel Saturday morning at nine o'clock conducted by the Rev. John Drake, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, assisted by the Rev. W.M. Howard, Jr., pastor of the Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church. Graveside services will be held in Mount Airy at four o'clock Saturday afternoon.

Satterfield, son of the late George A. and Elizabeth Calloway Satterfield, was a native of Mount Airy and attended Oak Ridge Institute. During World War One he was associated with the War Department and later served as chief accountant for the American Red Cross for about three years, part of that time being in Europe. Then he became associated with Sacony-Mobile Oil Company of New York as an accountant and was with them for 30 years, being retired in 1951. Since that time he had been living in Greenville where he served as the first chairman of the Red Cross Blood Bank. He was also active in

Governor Urges N. C. Take Lead In Nuclear-Use

RALEIGH (AP)—Gov. Hodges has called upon his recently appointed nuclear energy advisory committee to put North Carolina "on top of the heap" in nuclear advancement.

Hodges told the group at its first meeting yesterday, "There are great possibilities already existing in the state" that will help North Carolina push its atomic work. "What we want to do is to tie them together."

Rep. Carl T. Durham, chairman of the Joint Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy, suggested that this generation must think in terms of 100 to 200 years from now as nuclear plans are mapped out.

Durham said he was pleased to see groups such as the North Carolina committee taking steps toward further utilization of the atom for peace.

Dr. John E. Ivey of Atlanta, director of the Southern Regional Education Board, said the governors of the 16 Southern states have or will set up state advisory committees on atomic energy. The chairman of each will serve on a regional nuclear advisory council. Ivey said that with this organization, the Southern states will be able to advance on a regional basis.

Hodges listed several advantages which he said will help the state push its atomic work. These include: plans for four major power companies to erect a nuclear reactor for the generation of power; the North Carolina State College nuclear reactor; the research triangle, a program in which the scientific resources and personnel of Duke University, the University of North Carolina and State College are coordinated to attain certain goals; and the Institute of Statistics at State College and the University of North Carolina.

FBI Reveals 3 Arrested For Soviet Spy Ring Roles

NEW YORK (AP)—The FBI today cracked down on another alleged Russian spy ring, arresting a woman and two men. The agency hinted the roundup may involve others — including "Soviet officials."

Those taken into custody were identified as:

Jack Sobel, 53, a native of Lithuania who entered the United States in 1941 and became a naturalized citizen in 1947. He was termed a one-time boss of other Red agents, but was believed trying to flee the country.

Myra Sobel, 52, wife of Jack Sobel, a native of Russia who came to the United States a few days before her husband and also became a naturalized citizen.

Jacob Albam, 64, Lithuanian-born foreman of a Brooklyn tea and spice company, who entered the country in 1947 on a visitor's visa, married an American woman and has been seeking citizenship.

The three were taken to FBI headquarters here shortly before 8 a.m., the men in handcuffs.

FBI agents carried a quantity of paper boxes, contents of which were not disclosed, and a quantity of material described only as "papers."

Also brought in was a metal box, about a foot square and four inches high.

FBI men said the three would be arraigned later today.

The arrests were first disclosed in Washington by FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover.

The FBI announcement hinted that others may be involved, "including Soviet officials."

It said evidence against the arrested trio and others possibly involved, "including Soviet officials," will be presented to a New York grand jury.

Each of the three arrested today was charged with conspiracy to commit espionage, and also with conspiracy to act as a Soviet agent without registering with the secretary of state.

Hoover said the three were identified as a result of the FBI's scrutiny of the clandestine activities of Vassili Zubilin who reportedly once was a general in the NKVD — Soviet secret police. Zubilin, after serving as third secretary of the Soviet Embassy in Washington, returned to Russia in 1944.

Hoover said Sobel was picked up as he made plans to leave the country.

Previously, Hoover said, Sobel's attempts to leave had been blocked by failure to obtain a passport.

The FBI announcement said Sobel is a native of Lithuania who entered the United States in 1941 on a visa issued in Kobe, Japan, and became a naturalized citizen in 1947. The FBI said Sobel has long been involved in Soviet intelligence activity and at one time had under his supervision other Soviet agents in the United States.

Among those working under Sobel's direction, the FBI said, was Albam, also a native of Lithuania, who entered the United States originally in 1947 and who left a month after his marriage in 1948 to a citizen of the United States, thus facilitating his re-entry to the country. His 1951 application for citizenship has not been granted.

In addition to espionage conspiracy charges, Hoover said the Sobels and Albam also were charged with conspiring to act as agents of the Soviet government without notification to the secretary of state.

The complaint charged that on or about Aug. 15, 1956, Sobel sent letters to other agents of the Soviet Union.

Conviction under the espionage charges against the Sobels and Albam carries a penalty up to 10 years in prison and a fine of $10,000.

The charge of conspiracy to act as Soviet agents without registration carries a top penalty of five years and $10,000 fine.

Hinting at the likelihood more than the three persons are involved in the case, the FBI said evidence will be presented to a New York grand jury "pertaining to those arrested as well as others who might be involved in the espionage conspiracy, including Soviet officials."

The FBI said this is the first espionage conspiracy case developed since that of Julius and Ethel Rosenberg who were expected in New York on June 19, 1953.

A spokesman said there had been a few other cases of "technical" violation.

Eisenhower Mid-East Program Will Face Continued Senate Criticisms

WASHINGTON (AP)—Approved without major change by a House committee, President Eisenhower's program to forestall communism in the Middle East faced further attack today by critical Democratic senators.

The Senate Armed Services and Foreign Relations committees recalled Secretary of State Dulles for further questioning.

Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.) predicted the public hearings will continue "at least another two weeks."

He said they will "expose administration foreign policy failures in the Middle East that brought the present resolution to a head."

He said the committee will question most of the U.S. ambassadors stationed in the Middle East.

But Sen. Aiken (R-Vt.), like Humphrey a member of the Foreign Relations Committee, said the hearings have developed what appeared to be "a more or less concerted policy of harassment of the administration."

"I'm not averse to criticism and searching inquiry," he added, "but some of our members have gone beyond that point."

No such controversy arose in the House Foreign Affairs Committee, which voted 24-2 for Eisenhower's resolution last night after making only five minor changes. One other member voted "present" and five were absent. Individual votes were not announced.

The committee left intact provisions for the authority Eisenhower asked to use United States armed forces if necessary to halt Communist-controlled troops in the Middle East.

It voted to let him use up to 200 million dollars of available funds, and like amounts for the next two years, after specifying the money would be available for both military and economic aid in that area. The committee also put a June 30 deadline on use of the funds now available, but approved relaxation of most other restrictions. No one country could get more than 30 million dollars from present funds.

Other amendments call for semiannual reports to Congress, provide for all possible cooperation with the United Nations, and reserve to Congress the right to withdraw the authority by a concurrent resolution.

As the committee met today to draft a formal report on its action, Chairman Gordon (D-Ill.) called the results "a good bill."

The resolution is expected to move to the House floor for debate starting Tuesday. The committee decided to ask for a closed rule, under which no amendments could be offered from the floor.

Shortly before the committee acted yesterday, it received from former President Truman a statement suggesting that Congress "should help to fill the void" in administration plans which he described as "indefinite and incomplete."

He said he favored giving Eisenhower the authority asked for, but contended the administration "has revealed it actually has no definite plan of action in the Middle East."

Another Explosion In Middle East Feared

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Apprehensive after Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold's failure to get Israeli troops out of Egypt, U.N. diplomats cast about today for some way to avert a new Middle East explosion.

Forewarned that the report from Hammarskjold would spell out Israel's refusal to quit the critical Gaza and Aqaba Gulf areas without guarantees against Egyptian retaliation, Western diplomats studied a plan to empower the secretary general to deploy the U.N. force between Israel and Egypt.

The United States was reported to have advised Hammarskjold to send the emergency force into the Gaza Strip and the Sharm el Sheikh area until some more stable arrangement can be worked out.

The British also feel Hammarskjold has that authority.

Any move to station the U.N. forces in the two areas for any length of time appeared certain to run into furious opposition from Egypt, her Arab allies and probably the Soviet bloc.

Egyptian spokesmen have consistently maintained that the U.N. force must leave Egypt as soon as all invasion forces are out. Egyptian President Nasser was quoted as telling a group of Communist Chinese newsmen that any attempt by the Western Powers to "internationalize" Gaza and Egypt's Gulf of Aqaba coast "would lead to new trouble."

Hammarskjold has been trying for the past week to persuade Israel to get all her troops out of Egypt in response to repeated Assembly requests. He was said to have given up hope of success after Israeli Premier David Ben-Gurion served notice Israel's forces would not pull out without concrete assurances of protection against Arab attack.

The Israeli delegation reportedly spelled out its position even more clearly, telling Hammarskjold their government had no intention of withdrawing until assured free navigation of the Aqaba Gulf and a hand in the administration of Gaza.

The Israeli stand brought warnings in the Cairo press of possible military action if Israel does not pull out at once.

Egypt and a number of Asian-African nations began drumming up support for a resolution to impose stiff economic penalties — perhaps including a trade boycott — against Israel.

Many delegates felt such a drastic resolution would have trouble getting the required two-thirds majority in the 30-nation assembly.

New Pay Plan For Services Readied

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Times said today the Eisenhower administration is expected to send to Congress in March a plan to "revolutionize" the pay system for enlisted men in the armed services.

A Washington dispatch to the Times said that under the new pay plan — which has been dubbed the "Green Pasture" system — there would be higher pay for higher skills and rewards for performance.

The story also said, in part: "The plan provides for the eventual abandonment of the present system, which is based on length of service. Under the present system two sergeants — one a truck driver and the other an electronics mechanic who have equal time in grade — draw the same pay."

In the words of the experts who have drafted the new plan, men would be paid according to their "contribution" to the service and according to their "productivity."

The plan was worked out by the Defense Advisory Committee on Professional and Technical Compensation, which was appointed by Secretary of Defense Wilson last May to examine the military pay system and make recommendations. The committee is headed by Ralph J. Cordiner, president of the General Electric Co.

Because of the stature and experience of the Cordiner committee, it is expected that Wilson will approve its recommendations without major revision. The plan then would need approval by the Budget Bureau and President Eisenhower before going to Congress.

The committee is working to get its report, accompanied by a draft bill, to Wilson early in February, and it hopes the draft legislation will go to Congress in March.

Wilson and the officials he has brought into the Defense Department from industry have been dissatisfied with the military pay system.

Believes Soviet Troops Have Nuclear Weapons

BONN, Germany (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer said today he believes Russian troops just inside the Communist perimeter already are equipped with nuclear weapons.

The West German government leader was replying to a question at his semi-monthly news conference about Moscow's recent warning to the United States against equipping foreign bases with atomic-armed missiles.

Adenauer added, however, that if the Soviet warning was not merely propaganda it was a diplomatic gambit. He said it was directed only to the United States and added that NATO forces in Europe do not have nuclear weapons.

The Soviets charged Wednesday that the United States was establishing bases around the Soviet Union for atomic-armed guided missiles. It said plans called for equipping bases in Turkey, Iran, Japan, Okinawa, Alaska and Western Europe with the most modern weapons, including long-range missiles and atomic warheads.

The Russians said this raised the threat of a great new war and warned Turkey, Iran and Japan that if they permitted the launching of any of "these weapons of war" from their countries, Russia will answer with "blows delivered by the same weapons."

The United States has never disclosed whether atomic warheads or bombs are located at overseas bases.

Adenauer also got back in step publicly with his Western allies on the handling of thermonuclear weapons, saying they should be placed under international control.

The Chancellor also predicted that small atomic weapons would become conventional equipment for land armies "within a foreseeable time." The remarks obviously were intended to erase fears aroused by his call at his press conference Jan. 11 for a ban on thermonuclear weapons.

Adenauer's failure then to demand a system of control and inspection along with such a ban caused consternation in Washington. The German leader had sounded as if he was lining up with Moscow's perennial call for outlawing of atomic weapons by simple treaty agreements without any enforcement machinery.

Scott Probe Bill Submitted Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—Legislation by Sen. W. Kerr Scott (D-NC) was expected to be introduced in the Senate today to set up a committee to probe recent price increases in gasoline and fuel oil.

Scott said a bipartisan group of 18 other senators would join him in offering the resolution. It would establish a special committee of six senators to make a thorough study of the entire price structure of gasoline and fuel oil.

"If the recent (price) increases were justified, that is one thing," said Scott. "If they were not, the public ought to know it and Congress should take action to prevent such things in the future."

Union Leaders Debate Cooperation In Racket Probe

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Talk among AFL-CIO leaders attending winter meetings here pointed today to a rocky road immediately ahead for the year-old merged labor organization.

A squabble loomed among big AFL-CIO unions over whether organized labor should cooperate with a thorough-going investigation of alleged union racketeering shaping up in Congress.

A second point of probably conflict is a growing scrap among former AFL and former CIO unions in their age-old jurisdictional battle. AFL-CIO President George Meany is trying to iron this out by deep-rooted rivalries are smoldering.

A third factor pointing to strife is the approaching deadline next December for merging rival AFL and CIO state and local groups in the big industrial states. Only a score of the least industrialized states have completed mergers.

All three are explosive issues that could lead to possible withdrawal or suspension of some major unions from the AFL-CIO family.

The U.S. Senate is about to trigger off in Washington a probe of alleged union corruption. The Senate Investigations subcommittee headed by Sen. McClellan (D-Ark.) already has held a set of preliminary hearings at which several union officials refused to testify.

James B. Carey, president of the International Union of Electrical Workers and an AFL-CIO vice president, said he wants to take up with the AFL-CIO Executive Council next week the refusal of some union officials to testify before congressional committees.

"Our organization (the IUE) looks on racketeers in the labor movement in the same way it looks on those who are politically corrupt, like Communists," Carey told reporters. He said any IUE member refusing to testify would automatically face a union trial.

Carey also questioned whether Teamsters Union President Dave Beck should continue to sit as a member of the policy-making AFL-CIO Executive Council. He charged the teamsters have not been following the ethical practices principle of the AFL-CIO constitution.

Also, he expressed doubts that some other AFL-CIO council members should continue at their posts. He named Presidents Maurice Hutchinson of the carpenters, David Dubinsky of the ladies garment workers, and Richard Walsh of the stagehands.

Carey said these and some other AFL-CIO unions have failed to sign a no-raiding agreement. Signing the pact is a voluntary matter but Carey said that since the agreement is endorsed by the AFL-CIO constitution, guiding AFL-CIO officers should come only from unions adhering to AFL-CIO policy.

He blamed the nonsigning for blocking completion of AFL-CIO mergers at the state and local levels. The no-raid pact bars unions subscribing to it from seizing each others' members.

The IUE announced a new anti-racketeering code described by Carey as the most comprehensive union policing plan yet adopted by any union.

The code bars practically every possible abuse known in the labor movement on penalty of heavy fines or expulsion. Carey recommended it as a model set of rules for other AFL-CIO unions.

Howell Talks On Trip West

Jerry Howell gave an illustrated talk of his trip to the Pacific Northwest this past summer when the Round Table Book Club met with his mother, Mrs. W. W. Howell, Tuesday.

He used his colored slides to accompany the descriptions of this magnificent section of North America.

Also featured on the program was the review of Ovid Pierce's article on North Carolina which appears in the February issue of Holiday magazine.

Pierce is a faculty member at East Carolina College. Mrs. Horne reviewed the article.

Mrs. Howell's home on Rock Spring Road was decorated with arrangements of gladioli and snapdragons for the occasion.

Miss Eunice McGee assisted in serving refreshments.

Guests for the afternoon included Mrs. David Wade, Mrs. J. D. Aman and Miss Eunice McGee.

REAL GINGER COOKIES
Ingredients: 2 1/2 cups sifted flour, 1/2 teaspoon baking soda, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon, 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg, 1 1/2 teaspoons ginger, 1-3 cup butter or margarine, 1/2 cup sugar, 1/2 cup dark molasses, 1 egg.
Method: Sift together the flour, baking soda, salt, cinnamon, nutmeg and ginger. Cream butter and sugar; beat in molasses and egg vigorously and thoroughly. Beat in sifted dry ingredients until blended. Chill dough. Roll out one-quarter of the dough at a time on a prepared pastry cloth as thin as possible—1-8 to 1-16 inch thickness. Handle deftly because dough may stick if cloth is not floured well; use a stockinet cover, well floured, on rolling pin. Cut in desired shapes. Bake on greased cookie sheets in moderate (350 degrees) oven 8 to 10 minutes. Cookies do not spread so they may be placed fairly close together on baking sheet. Makes well over 100 cookies if cut very thin.

New Atomic Test Series Is Scheduled For This Spring

By ELTON C. FAY, AP Military Affairs Reporter
WASHINGTON (AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission is setting up a new series of atomic tests, presumably to include such defense weapons as nuclear antiaircraft missiles and artillery.

An AEC announcement last night gave no dates, but said the tests will begin late in the spring at the Nevada proving grounds west of Las Vegas. Four previous series of tests have been conducted there, the last in the spring of 1955.

The announcement said the new series will involve "low-yield nuclear tests."

This presumably means that the explosions will be not much more than 30 kilotons. A kiloton is the equivalent of the energy released in explosion of 1,000 tons of TNT.

The commission, obviously sensitive to concern over radiological fall-out from nuclear explosions, emphasized that "tests of high-yield devices are not conducted in Nevada." In general, a "high-yield" explosion is of H-bomb proportions, producing forces as high as 17 million tons of TNT. The AEC announcement of the new test series came only four days after the commission said, however, in the military's lexicon, that covers a wide range.

Two statements pointed out sharply the intention to give primary attention to tactical, rather than massive strategic-type weapons, in the 1957 series:

1. The comment by President Eisenhower, in his recent budget message, that during the new fiscal year "emphasis will be placed on weapons for tactical purposes."

2. The commission's statement last night that in the new series "development of weapons for defense against attack is a major objective."

The AEC did not spell out what it meant by "weapons for defense." However, in the military's lexicon, that covers a wide range. The smaller size A-bombs, dropped from jet fighter-bomber planes, can be used for defense to break up or prevent an enemy attack on friendly ground forces. The same is true of nuclear warheads for tactical range guided missiles.

And the Army's artillery is defensive, as well as offensive. The Army has three sizes of conventional artillery which can fire nuclear shells: the older 280-mm. cannon, the standard eight-inch rifle and the new 175-mm. gun. So far as is known the last two have not been fired with atomic shells.

The new series, to be called Operation Plumbob, is expected to include further tests of the nuclear antiaircraft system. The improved versions of the Army's original Nike antiaircraft guided missile are capable of mounting atomic warheads.

'Eyes In The Sky' Theme Carried Out By Members Of Cub Pack

Cub Scout Pack 330 of the Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church, carried out the theme "Eyes In The Sky" at their recent January meeting.

Members of Den I brought a model set of planets which were described by Den II. An eclipse was demonstrated by Cub members of Den III. Several charts were displayed by Den IV.

The attendance banner, won at each meeting by the Den having the largest number of relatives and visitors present, was won by Den III.

Awards were presented to the following Scouts: Charles Allen, Bobcat; Bobby Roberts, Wolf; Danny Joyner, Wolf and Wolf Gold Arrow; Alec Blalock, Bear; Clinton Joyner, Bear Gold Arrow; Kenneth Williams, Bear Silver Arrow; Mike Cavendish, Lion Gold and 2 Silver Arrows; and Eddie Utley, Webelos.

Eddie Utley graduated from Cub scouting into Boy Scouting, and was welcomed into Troop 30 by Scoutmaster Bill Goodson.

A neckerchief slide contest was one of the last things on the agenda for the meeting. Winners of the contest were as follows: first place, Kenneth Williams 2, Toby Cobb and Scotty Tabor; Second Place, Karl Cahoon, Rex Roberts, Danny Joyner and Clinton Joyner; and Third Place, Bill Proctor 2, Milton Hadley and Toby Cobb.

Second Nurse In Ether 'Prank' Is Also Fatality

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—Death yesterday claimed the second of two nurses who were severely burned in an ether explosion caused by a "prank." The latest fatality was Miss Charlotte Smith, 23.

Miss Kathlee Oehler, 19, of Frankfort, died Sunday of burns suffered in the incident at St. Joseph's Hospital Jan. 18.

Two registered nurses signed statements that each threw about a half-pint of ether at the students just before the fire, without knowing Miss Smith was smoking. Fire Chief Earl McDaniel said. He quoted them as saying ether-throwing was a nurses' "prank."

McDaniel said Margaret R. Donovan, 24, and Mary Frances Hutchinson, 26, both of Lexington, signed the statements.

No charges have been filed in the case.

Teacher Prefers No Baby-Sitting

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—Assemblyman Carlos Bee would permit a child to leave school at 14, or when he has finished the 8th grade.

Bee, a high school teacher, said on introducing the bill:

"The public schools should not be a baby-sitting agency for those students who are forced to go to school and are not willing to settle down."

Present law requires students to remain in school until they are 18 or graduate from high school.

YOUTHFUL PRICES
CARLSBAD, N.M. (AP)—Three juveniles were arrested yesterday selling stolen booze to other juveniles at sharply reduced prices. Good grade Scotch was going for $3 a fifth and gin at 75 cents a pint. The liquor was stolen from New Mexico Selling Co. here during a break-in. No charges were filed; pending action by juvenile authorities.

Shelby Chosen For Major Plant

SHELBY, N.C. (AP)—A new 20-million-dollar fiber glass plant of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co. apparently will be built in Shelby.

An order by the Federal Power Commission (FPC) in Washington yesterday more than doubled the city's natural gas allocation, with most of the increase specified for the new plant.

General Manager R. A. McLaughlin of the Fiber Glass Division of Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co. said he had not received official notice of the increase in the allocation.

"We're going to use Shelby as a job site and proceed with the engineering surveys," he said, if the order has been issued.

Natural gas supplied to Shelby by Transcontinental Pipeline Co. would be increased from 2,150,000 cubic feet daily to 5,951,000. More than 3,500,000 cubic feet of the increase is earmarked for the proposed plant which would employ 300 persons.

The city is expected to have to spend between $60,000 and $70,000 in changing its regular station gas allocation, for laying line to the pipe site and the plant regulator system.

Two sites, both under option to the company, are west of the city and allow service from two railroads, Southern and Seaboard. One site would require the city to spend about $50,000 to extend its water and sewer facilities. The company has held up its engineering surveys pending the FPC action. McLaughlin said it would take six months to complete the surveys before bids are let and another 15 months to complete construction.

Police Capture Two Boys After 100-MPH Pursuit

GRAPEVINE, Tex. (AP)—A couple of Fort Worth brothers who "just didn't want to be stopped" led police on a 100 m.p.h. car chase yesterday. It ended when the 1947 car the boys, 9 and 13 years old, were driving quit running.

"It's a miracle someone wasn't killed or hurt," said Highway Patrolman Dan Nowlin, who took part in the chase.

He said the boys covered a 45-mile stretch of busy road in the Dallas-Fort Worth area. They traveled at "fantastic speeds" through small towns, he said. He said the boys, Donald, 9, and Ronnie Walden, ran away from home in Fort Worth in their dad's car.

He said he and McKinney policeman Jack Sullivan were cruising three miles south of McKinney, 50 miles from Fort Worth, when they saw a "driverless" car speeding southwest.

"A little sandy-red head raised up over the steering wheel and looked at us as it passed," Nowlin said.

The officers gave chase and were hitting 100 miles an hour when they drew alongside the sedan which Ronnie was driving.

"He ran us off the road and kept going," Nowlin said. "The 9-year-old was navigating for his big brother. We could see his head bob up now and then. He would tell the driver how close we were and which way to swerve to drive us out. The big one drove like a professional race driver."

"We never stopped him," Nowlin said. "The engine quit running on that old car."

The boys were taken to police headquarters and were released to their parents. No charges will be filed, Nowlin said. "We just didn't want to be stopped."

Gov't Broadens Effort To Build Atomic Vessel

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government is broadening its efforts to develop a practical merchant ship run by atomic power.

It announced yesterday a long-range program aimed at producing nuclear power plants for "commercially competitive" merchant vessels.

The project will be run jointly by the Atomic Energy Commission and the Maritime Administration. Development contracts have been signed with six private firms. No target date was set.

The two agencies already are using a shorter-range program for construction of a working cargo-passenger ship, with hopes to finish it in three years. An AEC spokesman explained that the pioneer atomic-powered ship now being developed is not expected to be economically competitive with merchant craft driven by conventional fuels.

undisclosed buyer.

The figure is a million dollars more than was offered by a Los Angeles syndicate of art patrons, who wanted the pictures for the Los Angeles County Museum, said museum curators.

Jackson Hole, Wyoming was once a perfect hide-out for outlaws. But now it is peopled mostly by movie actors filming stories about the outlaws who have fled to safer regions.

Clothing can be taken to the Eighth Street Christian Church any time during the day, or it can be gathered together at the various churches and then taken to the Eighth Street Church.

One, Or A Multitude Of Drives?

Greenville stands at a crossroads, and it is going to have to make a decisive move in one direction or the other. It is going to have to decide how to handle the numerous drives and campaigns for funds which go on in the city almost every month in the year.

The course the community takes is important to every citizen.

Within the next 30 days directors of the Greenville Community Chest will decide whether that red feather organization will continue its annual fund-raising campaign for eight local agencies or cease its fund-raising activities.

Ten months ago directors of the Community Chest passed a resolution asserting that if the 1956 campaign for funds failed to reach its goal, the Chest would not undertake raising money for another year. The 1956 campaign fell short of its goal by $800, and this week directors delayed for 30 days final action on the question of continuing its operations.

While we shall not attempt here to predict what the Community Chest board of directors will do, several factors should be pointed out.

Should the Chest not engage in further fund-raising activities there are two alternatives open for the city. 1. The number of individual campaigns for funds will be increased by eight (the number of agencies represented by the Community Chest); or 2. Greenville must follow the example of other communities and form a real United Fund which will include all agencies that seek public contributions to support their activities.

It is evident that even with the present Community Chest organization, Greenville has too many individual campaigns for funds. We do not mean by that the total amount of money being sought each year is beyond the means of local citizens; but rather that the tremendous duplication of effort in one campaign after another is a great waste of manpower and certainly inconvenient to those who are approached month after month for gifts.

Consider the number of major local campaigns that come every year. In October there was the Community Chest effort followed by the campaign for funds to support the Mental Health Clinic. There followed the annual TB Christmas Seal sales. Now we are in the midst of the March of Dimes. Then, there are the Red Cross campaign, solicitations for the Heart Fund, Cancer Society, and Crippled Children's fund, to mention only a part of the list.

Most communities of comparable size throughout the state, and throughout the country for that matter, have found a way out of this campaign-after-campaign dilemma. Through the United Fund the vast majority of these individual agencies band together in one huge fund-raising effort. Is it impossible for Greenville to do the same thing?

It is no easy matter to organize and successfully operate a United Fund. Neither is it an impossible task as has been evidence in countless communities throughout the country.

Greenville now must choose its course. Either it must move into the avenue which will lead to a United Fund, or it faces an increased number of campaigns each year which mean more work, more solicitations and probably no more dollars in total donations.

It is our considered opinion that the community and the individual agencies which look to public support to carry on their work will be better off with a United Fund organization than with the present method of handling these campaigns.

Just A Suggestion, O King

Story Out Of Japan

By REILMAN MORIN
NEW YORK (AP) — Just 100 years ago at this time, an eager young man in Japan was brimming with excitement about a long voyage. He was going to the United States.

A little earlier, Commodore Perry had "opened" Japan — somewhat forcibly — ending its 250 years of self-imposed isolation from the rest of the country. After Perry, a treaty was written and relations with America began.

A century has passed now, 100 years of give and take, including a fearful war, and today the two countries are linked again. Superficially, no two people seem less alike. But underneath — well, here is the young man's story:

His name was Yukichi Fukuzawa and he was a man of wide-ranging curiosities. Everything interested him, the sciences, languages, government, manners, customs. He came to America in the first ship, built and navigated entirely by Japanese, to cross the Pacific.

How would they be received? The answer came quickly.

"They (the Americans) did everything for us," he wrote, "and they could not have done more."

He describes the lengths to which the people in San Francisco went to provide him with food comparable to their own diet and — "knowing our habits" — facilities for a Japanese-style bath. He used a charming Japanese expression —

"It was as if our host had put in the palm of his hand to see that we lacked nothing."

Adventure meets him at every turn. Ice even in summer, and floating in champagne, at that. Ladies present at receptions. Having learned to smoke, he lights a cigar but can't find an ash tray. "I put it in my pocket and presently my clothes were in flames."

In Washington, however, he finds something that tines in perfectly with his deepest sensibilities. The Japanese venerate their great men, and he is impressed with the statues of George Washington and the memorials of the Founding Fathers, now he feels completely at home.

But the forms of government in a democracy baffle him.

"It was told that this man and that man were 'enemies' in the House. But these 'enemies' were to be seen at the same table, eating and drinking with each other. It took me a long time before I could understand these separate and mysterious facts."

And to show how little the world has changed in 100 years, a Russian tried to persuade him to be a spy for Moscow!

The time came to go back to Japan. In San Francisco, meanwhile, their ship had undergone extensive repairs.

"When the ship was ready, and we were preparing to sail on the homeward voyage, we inquired how much we should have to pay for the repairs and other expenses. We were met with a kind smile, and were obliged to sail away with our obligations unpaid."

What was the result of all this? At home, Fukuzawa became one of the leaders — often at the risk of his life — in the struggle between those who feared and hated foreigners and the group advocating closer relations with the United States and the other Western nations. There is no way of knowing how many of his people he converted during his years of teaching and writing.

There are still more like him today on both sides of the Pacific, people who see the deep similarities, not the surface differences, between two races.

Bragging, But Result Hurts

By ELMER ROESSNER
The government is bragging about its crackdown in Eastman Kodak, but it isn't saying a word about how the crackdown makes things tougher for the millions of amateur color photographers.

The boast is contained in a leaflet on "How the Department of Justice Helps Small Business," newly issued by the Small Business Administration. It tells how the Antitrust Division deals with monopolists and how a small businessman can go about complaining if he feels he is a victim of illegal business pressure. The leaflet is free from the SBA, Washington 25, D.C.

It cites several cases to show how the division operates. The first citation is the action against Eastman — which, in a curious bit of shyness, the SBA does not name. Eastman had insisted on processing its own color film and this kept small businesses out of the processing field.

RESULTS OF CASE
The leaflet says, "By a consent decree the company was subsequently barred from including any charge for processing in its price for color film and was required to reduce its virtual 100 per cent share of color-film processing business to 50 per cent in five years." It was required also to license others to use its processing technology and to help them set up in competition.

The decree, the SBA adds, "opened up an entirely new field of business for processors, photo finishers and drugstores. Since the amateur color processing and printing business is estimated at about $100,000,000 a year and the use of color film is said to be increasing at the rate of 5 per cent each year, this judgment represents a sizable potential volume of business to the many firms which can not enter the field."

There is not a word about how this affects the public.
Before the decree, a photographer bought film and processed in one transaction. He paid for everything when he bought the film. After he shot it he mailed it to Eastman in a bag that came with the film and in a few days got back the finished work. Now, after buying and shooting the film, he must return to the store once to leave it for developing and again to get the finished work. He can arrange to use the mails instead, but must expect to pay more for such service.

OTHER FAULTS
One of the immediate results of the decree was to make film plus processing more expensive. The total of the two payments came to a dime more than the old Eastman single price.

Meanwhile, despite the government's statement, drug stores have benefited little if at all. Before the decree, they made a profit on each sale of film, and a neat little profit it was, too. Now they make a profit on the film and a commission on the developing work. For this the store must carry on two or three transactions instead of one. At first, where they could get a good commission arrangement, the stores could increase their profits slightly. But since then, Eastman ceased fixing retail prices of its products and price-cutting has trimmed the profits of drugstores and other film stations.

Some amateurs have complained that new processors do not do as good work as Eastman does. However, this should be cleared up, since Eastman is under orders to supply them with technical guidance.
In fact, eventually the independents may improve on Eastman, developing more natural colors, increasing sharpness and reducing costs. Meanwhile, the amateur is paying for it in extra costs and trouble.

DON'T GET MARRIED, DON'T FALL IN LOVE!
A mail-order house is offering imitation Amazon Jivaro shrunk-in heads that "look real, feel real." They are "made of soft skin-life pliable plastic with long black silky hair and nostril cords."

It suggests them as wedding and Valentine's Day gifts.

The United States Trademark Association also feels that the large number of trademark applications portends continued prosperity. It notes that courts have been kept busy by trademark cases in recent months.
The courts ruled that "You Maternity Shop" and "Maternally Yours" conflicted, as did "Art-Type" and "Arttype."

On the other hand, courts found no confusion between "Checker Rice Puffs" and "Rice Chex," that "Reddy Kilowatt" was not likely to be mistaken for "Willie Wirehand," or between "Intercontinental" agricultural machinery and "Continental" combustion engines.

Courts also held buyers would probably tell the difference between "Lipofax" vitamin product and "Timeofax" fungicide; between "Splurge" and "Squirt" soft drinks, between "Vit-A-Pep" and "Ful-O-Pep" poultry feeds, or between "Orthoflex" and "Orthotonic" mattresses and box springs. Judges may suspect the populace of being able to read.

The Patent Office itself ruled that "Babyluce" and "Bib" were not beyond the public's powers of distinction and that "Sailor Boy" and "Oh! Boy" syrups were not likely to be mixed up, even by landlubbers. It also decided most people could tell the difference between a "Pan American" airplane and a "Pan American" trailer.

However, the Patent Office held that "Robin Hood" flour could be confused with "Robin Hood" popcorn.

Concerned Over Trial Outcomes

By LYNN NISBET
TRAFFIC COURTS — Traffic officers have long been concerned about the small percentage of convictions obtained on original charges in trials of alleged violators, and the leniency of judges imposing sentences upon those convicted. They have been worried, too, about the wide variance in court costs charged in the numerous recorder and county courts.

State and private enterprise agencies devoted to promoting travel in North Carolina have been concerned about frequent charges of speed traps and apparent collusion between law enforcement officers and justices of the peace or recorder court judges. Almost every mail brings to some State office a complaint from an out of state motorist about mistreatment and excessive costs in traffic cases. Conceding that great majority of these complaints are without justification they strike an unpleasant note — and there is enough basis in fact to occasion concern on part of state boosters.

Recently a new angle has been injected into the overall situation. That is complaint on part of local traffic violators that they are being discriminated against in favor of outsiders. The complaint is based on the practice of accepting cash bond from motorists who live at distant points and letting them proceed on their way. If the bond is forfeited that is the end of the matter. Meantime, local violators are required to make appearance in court, in person or by attorney, and enter a plea. If convicted the fine and costs in most instances exceed the bond posted by the outsider. Because of the court cost factor the defendant is usually convicted, although many times on a lesser charge than set out in the original warrant. Effect of this practice is to let the outsider off lighter than the local resident.

CORRECTION — Several ways to correct this inequity are available. One is to stop the custom, but illegal practice of the arresting officer rather than a committing magistrate, set and collect the bond for an alleged traffic law violator. Whoever sets the bond the opinion seems unanimous that it ought to be high enough to make forfeiture less profitable than it is now.

There would be less inclination to forfeit bonds if judges and law enforcement officers gave due attention to the fact that bond forfeiture does not close the case. The bonded culprit is still liable to be re-arrested on a charge, brought into court and tried. If convicted, the same costs and fine will apply as if he had appeared in the first instance. In nearly every case of a forfeited bond the matter is marked off the books and the defendant is not bothered any more with that charge. So it often happens that the out of state offender is saved both money and inconvenience by being allowed to post and forfeit a small cash bond.

PAY-OFF — For a good many years the Governor of North Carolina has been called upon to present the achievement awards to newspaper folk at the annual midwinter N.C. Press Association Institute at Chapel Hill and Duke. All he has gotten out of it heretofore has been a free dinner. This year Governor Hodges got a little bit better pay-off.

After he had handed out the checks and certificates and plaques to editors, reporters and photographers, he was presented several large scrap books containing more than 100 copies of advertisements carried in state papers during the past year boosting North Carolina. Most of the advertisement texts dealt with his leadership in industrial promotion and recognition as the first salesman for North Carolina.

No. 1 — The first bill or resolution to be introduced in the 1957 General Assembly will be a retroactive measure authorizing the appointment of a joint committee which had already been appointed weeks ago and just completed its job.

Immediately after the Senate is organized and the presiding officer (most likely Sen. Claude Currie, of Durham) takes over the gavel he will recognize Sen. Lee Whitmire of Henderson. Sen. Whitmire will send SR 1, a resolution authorizing the appointment of a joint committee to arrange for the inauguration of Governor Luther Hodges, Lieutenant Governor Luther Barnhardt and other State officials. The resolution will provide for two senators and three representatives.

Actually, the committee was appointed weeks ago consisting of Sen. James M. Pymer of Wake and R. Lee Whitmire of Henderson. Reps. George Craig of Buncombe, Radford Powell of Rockingham and Philip Whitley of Wake.

SHORT TENURE — Senator Currie, who is scheduled to be permanent president pro tem of the Senate (funny business, that permanent pro tem), is expected to be elected president of the Senate at its opening session, pending the inauguration of the lieutenant governor, who is the constitutional president of the body. Luther Barnhardt will be sworn in at the next day, so the tenure of Senator Currie as president will be one of the shortest in history — a few minutes longer than 24 hours.

Claimant For Treasure

If anybody finds a pot of money under those trees which are now coming down along Evans St., leave it alone. It already belongs to somebody.

Evelyn Latham, who operates Merle Norman Studio near Five Points, has officially laid claim to any such fund. And she has valid grounds for the claim.

It seems that, on a dare, Evelyn paid a visit to a fortune teller some years ago. The soothsayer peered into the future.

"Aha," she said, "I see you work in a building under a tree."

"That's right," said Evelyn.

"Well under that tree is a pot of money," the fortune teller stated.

"it might be Confederate money."

So there it is. A bonafide claim to any money that might be found under that tree when workmen complete the job of taking it down.

Limbs have been removed and only the trunk remains standing. Evelyn is threatening to grab a shovel and begin digging as soon as city workmen uproot the stump.

So, all you fortune seekers, leave that money alone.

Emergency rooms at Pitt Memorial Hospital were full with victims of an accident the other night. In addition, other persons in need of attention were waiting in the hall.

On duty doctors, nurses and orderlies were all busy with the rush of emergency cases. At the height of the activity another doctor drove up with what appeared to be a seriously ill patient. He entered the emergency section and saw that all personnel were busy.

The doctor returned to his car lifted the woman patient in his arms and carried her to an empty hospital room.

He is obviously a man devoted to his profession.

Opinions In Brief

WASTED CLASSROOM SPACE

(The Daily Oklahoman)
There's better than an even chance that the present congress will authorize the expenditure of $3 billion to $6 billion in federal aid to education. The money would be used for construction although a federal commission already has reported there isn't a state in the union that really can't afford to build the schools it needs.

Maybe there wouldn't be such an apparent need for more buildings if classes were confined to such fundamentals as mathematics, physics and languages. How much present classroom space is devoted to finger painting and story telling?

HOW'S THAT AGAIN?

(The Florida Times-Union)
Miami Beach has decided it disapproves of the attire, or lack thereof, that some people have been wearing there. So policemen have been equipped with small printed cards to be handed out as they see fit, and they read as follows:

"The City of Miami Beach requests your cooperation in the observance of city ordinances which make it unlawful to appear in any public place in a bathing suit or other inadequate attire. This does not apply to beach or pool areas."

If you read that carefully, you can predict that some sightseers will be spending a lot of their time at beach or pool areas, where "inadequate attire" is clearly permitted by the above wording.

Other Editors Saying--- What Of Unification?

(Greensboro Daily News)
While the argument rages over what's going to happen to Stallings Air Base School at Kinston, some of the facts already brought to light leave us not merely confused but flabbergasted.

For instance there is this jumbled picture given in Washington dispatches:

"The basic reason for the proposal to close the school is that Stallings Air Base actually is owned by the Navy and is on lease to the Air Force on a 90-day contract basis."

The Air Force claims it would cost between one and a half and two million dollars to bring the base up to standard for the training operation, but is reluctant to spend that amount of money while the Navy has first claim on the base.

The Navy maintains that it needs the base for pre-mobilization training in connection with its Marine bases at Cherry Point and Camp Lejeune.

The question which immediately arises concerns what the American public has repeatedly been told about unification of the armed services and the co-operation, efficiency and saving which it was supposed to assure.

Audit May Bring $20 Million Refund

By RAY TUCKER
WASHINGTON — A confidential check of the finances of Pan American World Airways by the Audit Section of the Civil Aeronautics Board may result in recapture for the taxpayers of $20,000,000 from that firm in past, present and future subsidy overpayments. Smaller sums may be recovered from other commercial aviation companies.

Pan Am's powerful political and well-financed lobby at Washington is waging the most desperate backstage battle in its turbulent history to prevent CAB from approving the Audit Section's report. It also seeks to keep secret — in fact, to suppress — the report for fear of adverse Congressional reaction with respect to its demand for additional subsidies at the current session.

But CAB has already ordered Pan Am to show cause why it should not return $5,000,000 for alleged overpayments in 1954. It has made the same demand on Northwest Airlines in the amount of $1,700,000. Both actions are based on a two-year investigation by the audit agents.

GOVERNMENT MAY GET REFUND OF $75,000,000
The significance of the Audit Section's findings lies in the fact that this was the first complete check of Pan Am's finances since 1950. In view of the alleged $5,000,000 overpayment and the new audit's other revelations, aviation experts estimate that the full amount due the government might run as high as $75,000,000.

The prospective recapture of $20,000,000 applies to the year 1954, which was the last "open rate" year, and from October, 1956, into the future. The accounts for the period before 1954 as well as 1955 and the early part of 1956 cannot be reopened because they are what are known as "closed rate" years. As the two phrases imply a firm that rates subsidies cannot be investigated in a "closed rate" year, but only in an "open rate" year. If this whole period from 1950, when the last complete audit was made, could be rechecked, aviation experts estimate that the total repayment due might amount to between $50,000,000 and $75,000,000.

CAB could not make complete audits before 1954 because it did not have a sufficiently large staff. Moreover, Pan Am's luxury hotels — $20 a room — in Mexico, Central American and South America are partially owned by foreign corporations, although Pan Am did most of the actual financing. No audit has been made of possible diversion of subsidies to those enterprises, although Member of Congress have demanded an inventory.

INCREASED CAB'S STAFF Two years ago, however, increased over the lack of audits, several House-Senate Members provided sufficient funds to increase CAB's staff by 30 men. The Congressmen responsible were Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts, the late Senator Harley Kilgore of West Virginia, Senator Paul H. Douglas of Illinois, and Representative John J. Rooney of New York.

The current demand for recapture of these millions from Pan Am also involves its purchase of UMCA, an airline in Mexico. It is understood that the Audit Section's comments, in addition to its actual findings of financial indebtedness, are extremely critical of Pan Am's book-keeping methods.

Pan Am has suffered several setbacks on Capitol Hill in recent years, losing out at the last session in its demand for a $51,000,000 "windfall." For that reason, such important political figures as Samuel F. Pryor of Connecticut, a $40,000-a-year vice president, and William J. McEvoy, local lobbyist chief, hope to block favorable CAB action on the audit report, and to prevent its general publication.

QUIRK PRECLUDES FULL CHECK Due to a strange quirk in CAB regulations and judicial interpretations, the auditors cannot make a full check of Pan Am's financial operations. They can go over Pan Am's books only for 1954, the last "open rate" year, and for a period beginning last October. The reasons for CAB's lack of authority are too technical for explanation here.

But it is generally believed that, if a complete accounting could be made, the prospective return to the taxpayers would run between $50,000,000 and $75,000,000. Including other lines, it might go as high as $100,000,000.

Normally, these audits are not made public by CAB, although a Pan Am lobbyist at Washington has somehow obtained a copy — McEvoy. But now that the facts are published, Congress will undoubtedly demand the audit. It will need this interesting data when it takes up the question of more millions in subsidies for Juan Trippe's thriving airlines.

Needs That Jesus Meets—Temperance ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON By Alfred J. Buescher

A leper came to Jesus, worshipping Him, saying, 'Lord if Thou wilt, Thou canst make me clean.' Christ touched him, saying, 'I will, be thou clean,' and the leprosy was cleansed.

Needs That Jesus Meets—Temperance

CHRIST HEALS THE SICK AND FORGIVES A MAN HIS SINS

Scripture—Matthew 8:1-9:34.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL WHEN JESUS came down from the mountain after His teaching of the Christian way of life, multitudes followed Him. A leper who was compelled to cry, 'Unclean, unclean' if anyone approached him because of the contagious nature of the disease, came to Jesus and fell on his knees, worshipping Him, and saying, 'Lord, if Thou wilt, Thou canst make me clean.'

MEMORY VERSE

"Son be of good cheer; thy sins be forgiven thee."—Matthew 9:2.

ple took a ship to go to the other side of the sea. A terrible storm arose and the apostles were frightened. Jesus was sleeping, and as the waves engulfed the ship, the men awakened Him, begging Him to save them, or they would perish. He rebuked them as having very little faith.

Church To Begin Enlargement Work

Sunday an epoch in church history in Greenville will close when the congregation of Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church vacates their church building for an enlargement and renovation program. Sunday, March 10, 1957, the present home of the congregation was opened for worship and named for its most prominent layman, Governor Thomas J. Jarvis. During this half century the church has been enlarged to meet the needs of a large congregation. Construction has already begun on the expansion program which is estimated to cost more than a third of a million dollars and is scheduled to be completed by the end of 1957. It includes a chapel, a ladies parlor, and a sanctuary to seat 800 people. The new sanctuary will be carpeted throughout and will be furnished with new pews. A three-manual Tellers organ with forty ranks of pipes will be one of the best church organs in Eastern North Carolina.

Four Dead, Five Missing As Flames Sweep Building; Workers Panicked

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Fire flashed through a four-story brick loft building an hour before quitting time yesterday. Workers quaking panicked trying to flee the inferno.

There were 112 workers inside. Four are dead, 5 are missing and feared dead, and 31 injured, 9 of them critically.

Women, their hair and clothes blazing, piled from the building onto fire escapes.

One fire escape, supposed to lower to the ground, jammed, trapping the women against the opposite wall.

No one knew how the fire started.

Walter Myjak, one of the owners of a first-floor metal shop, said he heard a rumbling and opened the door of the elevator shaft.

"Red fire burst out at me," he said.

He tried to call the Fire Department but the phone was dead. He ran upstairs and kicked open a door to a dress-making shop.

He said he saw women jammed against an emergency door. They pounded frantically on the door, but in their panic forgot a lever had to be pushed to release the lock.

Forty-year-old Mrs. Josephine Nastri of North Haven said she saw her husband wrapped in flames on a fire escape after helping her and other women to safety. He was listed among the missing.

Thomas Dombroski was working in the yard near the building. "I heard some one yell 'Fire' and I ran to the office door," he said. "When I opened it the flames drove me away. Then I climbed on a car and some of the women jumped to me and I helped them to the ground."

Burned and suffering from shock and smoke inhalation, he was admitted to a hospital.

Fire Marshal Eugene Mulligan said "panic as much as anything else" accounted for the deaths.

More Citations In Union Probe

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman McClellan (D-Ark.) said today more citations charging contempt of Congress will follow that which his Senate Investigations subcommittee voted against Frank W. Brewster of Seattle.

Brewster is an international vice president of the teamsters union and president of the 11-state Western Conference of teamsters.

Brewster, called as a witness at a public hearing Saturday, refused to answer questions and contended the subcommittee had no authority to question him. The subcommittee was looking into alleged racketeering in labor unions.

Among other things, Brewster refused to say whether he had received $30,000 from the union in addition to his salary and whether union funds were used to pay for the maintenance and operation of his race horse stable.

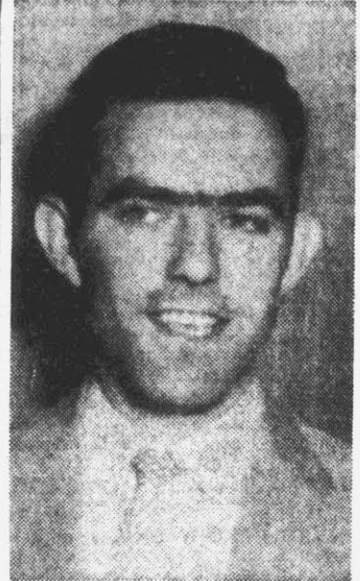

He also refused to produce union financial records the subcommittee had ordered him to bring.

McClellan called this "wilful contempt" and said he expects citations will be voted soon against some other officials of the union who refused to testify.

The subcommittee announced it had voted 5-0 in a closed door meeting yesterday to file the contempt charges against Brewster. The resolution citing him now goes to the Senate Government Operations Committee, which McClellan also heads, and then to the Senate for a final vote on whether to ask the Justice Department to prosecute.

The charge carries a possible penalty of a year in jail and a $1,000 fine.

Reflector staff writer Jimmy Ellis received an honorable mention in the North Carolina Press Association's 1956 feature writing contest.

The honorable mention was for an article which appeared in the August 23 edition of The Daily Reflector. Entitled "Fire And Burns In Wreck Forgotten; Tom Will Drive Again", the feature was an account of injuries received by Tom Denton, 807 Forbes Street; his recovery; and decision to return to his job as a truck driver. His story was one of 143 in the classification before the judges.

The award was the only one received by Reflector writers and announced by Governor Luther H. Hodges at a banquet last night in Chapel Hill. The banquet opened the North Carolina Press Association's meeting in Chapel Hill and Durham.

ECC Swimmers Have Gone Long Way In 3 Years

By JOHNNY HUDSON

It was only three years ago when Coach Ray Martinez came to the East Carolina campus in hopes of building a strong swimming team for ECC fans. The former La. State swim star had a tough job ahead, but took it with an optimistic attitude.

Coach Martinez started from scratch, and the first season ECC mermen entered into competition, capturing only one meet in ten starts. This did not discourage the Pirate head mentor as he had expected a rough initial season.

And rough his Buc turned out to be in 1955-56, as they swam to a 9-4 record. It was a big step for the ECC mermen, as all the victories were over strong opposition such as Clemson, Duke J.V.'s Citadel, Wofford, Washington and Lee, Davidson, and William and Mary. The four lone defeats were to N. C. State's nationally-ranked mermen twice, Clemson, and V.M.I., Southern Conference champions. The season was a big success with victories coming over Atlantic Coast Conference and Southern Conference foes.

With this progress, an even rougher schedule was set up for 1956-57 campaign. "We have a better squad this year, but chances are against a winning season due to an improved schedule," commented Martinez before the season started.

At this stage of the season, the young Bucs have left little to be desired, stacking up a 4-2-1 record. ECC lost their opener to the University of North Carolina, one of the top teams in the nation, but bounced back with victories over Davidson, Wofford, William and Mary, and a surprising upset of Southern Conference champions.

V.M.I. in the latter's pool. Included on the ECC record is a tie with the University of Georgia. The other loss was to Washington and Lee in a meet which produced several questionable disqualifications for Pirate swimmers.

East Carolina, under the leadership of Martinez, is gradually developing into a southern swim power. The Bucs resume action January 29 with a meet at V.P.I. and Wake Forest on the 29th. Then they host the Deacs in Memorial Pool on February 15.

One of the remarkable factors in the rise of ECC swimming is the small budget on which Martinez operates. No scholarships are given, which makes it hard for ECC to compete with Big Four and other schools. Last winter the East Carolina Aquatic Club along with the North Carolina High School Athletic Association co-sponsored an East Carolina Invitational High School Swim Meet. The top swim teams in the state were invited to ECC. A trophy was given by John Lautares, local merchant, to the winning school.

One of the main interests in this plan was to acquaint high school swimmers with the ECC campus and to show them the interest shown at ECC in swimming, in hopes of helping to influence some boys into coming to the school.

This plan showed some promise last winter as several members of the champion Greensboro club enrolled at the growing eastern campus.

This Saturday will mark the second annual ECC Invitational Swim Meet, and the top swim teams in the state including defending champions and once again favorites, the Whirlies of Greensboro, will be on hand.

Preliminaries begin Saturday morning at 10:00 with the finals staged at 2:30 in the afternoon. No admission is charged and everyone is cordially invited.

Pirate Varsity And Jayvees In Non-Loop Games

East Carolina cagers will be busy tonight and tomorrow night, as the Pirate varsity and Jayvees continue their schedules in non-loop games.

For the Jayvees, undefeated in five consecutive contests, it will mark their sixth game and their second meeting with Wilmington Junior College. This game will take place at the Junior school.

Coach Howard Porter's varsity cagers will journey to Belmont Abbey Saturday night for a non-loop game with the powerful Crusaders. It will mark the second meeting of the two clubs this season. East Carolina ousted off the Belmont outfit at Memorial gymnasium 64-61, earlier this year. This time, however, they will be ranked as underdogs to the strong western club. Predictions give Belmont Abbey a six-point edge.

HAIRCUTS FOR HEROES GO UP
MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Even the price of haircuts for heroes has gone up. A year ago at Hialeah it cost $8 to have a racer trimmed. This winter the horse barbers are getting $10 for removing the heavy growth of hair from thoroughbreds.

Seniors presented by Coach Boone included Ray Pennington, Greensboro; Tommy Waggoner, Dunn; Bobby Gay, Wilson; James Henderson, Portsmouth, Va.; Bill Helms, Monroe; Waverly Chesson, Washington, N.C.; Gary Mattocks, Southern Pines; Don Larimore, Winston-Salem; and Paul Popov, Kinston.

Dr. Jorgensen presided as toastmaster and Alumni Secretary James Butler spoke the invocation at the dinner held in East Cafeteria on the college campus.

Dr. Messick and Dr. Jorgensen spoke appreciation for the support of the college athletic program by press, radio and television.

Footballers Honored At Gridiron Dinner

Outstanding players and seniors on the 1956 football team of East Carolina College were honored at the annual gridiron dinner of the athletic department Thursday night.

Raymond Pennington, co-captain of the 1956 football squad, and Bobby Perry were awarded trophies, and the players and guests from the Pirates Club heard Dr. J. D. Messick, college president, in a brief address.

Following the dinner, members of the Pirates Club held a business meeting and set in motion plans for the election of officers and directors of the club.

Blames Disorder On Adult Fans

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—H. W. Emswiler, high school commissioner of athletics, today blamed adult fans for what he termed a "wave of discourtesy and disturbance sweeping over the state" at basketball games.

"From the standpoint of conduct, the situation is worse than it has ever been," Emswiler said. "I don't know the answer, and I don't know the cause.

"Perhaps the games provide an emotional outlet, or cause an emotional breakdown. Maybe it is caused by night game, with fans too closely packed into small playing arenas. Perhaps everyone is nervous because of the international situation. It may be a combination of all these, but a remedy must be found."

F. E. Lansche, Greenville dentist and donor of the Lansche trophy for the outstanding senior on the team, who in turn made the presentation to Pennington, and Coach Boone presented to Pennington the blocking trophy.

Dave Carson, secretary of the Kappa Upsilon chapter of Alpha Phi Omega, made presentation of the fraternity's trophy for the outstanding player by vote of the team to Bobby Perry, Dr. N. M. Jorgensen, director of athletics, accepted the trophy for Perry who entered military service at the end of last fall's football season.

In his address setting forth the traits essential for a good athlete, Dr. Messick said a player must have ability, talent, initiative, willingness, and alertness. These in combination help to spark "competition and combat on the athletic field and achievement in one's vocation or profession," President Messick emphasized.

Phants Are Host To New Bern At Memorial Gym

Having recovered from a mild attack of influenza that kept him out of school for several days and forced him to miss the Greenville-Kinston ball game, Coach Farley will be on hand tonight to greet New Bern at Memorial gymnasium.

The Bears, a Northeastern Conference team, will invade the ECC gymnasium tonight in search of an important loop victory and will also be looking for revenge. Greenville upset the Red-and-Black Bruins in New Bern earlier this year 49-48.

Coach J. F. Hockaday will bring an inexperienced team and a 2-4 record to the gymnasium. They topped Roanoke Rapids 64-49 Wednesday. Greenville, occupying the league's number three slot, has a 4-2 mark.

Coach Farley's team — in the capable hands of assistant Bob Howell — bowed to powerful Kinston Tuesday night 76-34. Their only other loop loss came in Washington. They have won against

New Bern, Jacksonville, Elizabeth City and Roanoke Rapids.

Wingate Still Out
First-string center Joe Wingate, who received burned hands in a recent gas explosion at his home, is not expected to be present tonight. His presence in the Greenville lineup will be uncertain for quite a while, it is reported.

Steve Noble, who alternates with Wingate at the pivot-post, missed the game with Kinston also, due to an illness. He may be back in at his position tonight. It is uncertain. If he is not, lanky Albert Crawford will handle pivot chores.

Farley is expected to continue his use of the two-platoon system of basketball that has brought his team four victories in tonight's game. It was the use of fresh reserves and the ability of his team to keep a running attack that helped top the Bears in the first encounter between New Bern and the Phants.

Expected to start are Mack Roebuck and Wayne Eidsun at guard positions. Forwards may be Peanut Nunn and Dick Evans. Nunn, a slender 6-2 performer, is leading the team in rebounds and is rapidly developing into a leader on the court.

The alternating team will probably include Wesley Hudson and Walker Allen at guards. Charlie Smith and Billy Cox at forwards. Nobles, if present, will be one of the centers. If not, Crawford will probably see full-time duty.

Greenies Favored
The Phantoms will be favored to defeat the visiting Bruins by seven points, tonight. Despite the loss of Wingate and the possible loss of Noble, predictors point to the improvement of the Green team as a whole—and to the comparative records of the two teams.

Greenville's Jayvees will be looking for a victory against the Baby Bears in the 6:30 preliminary contest this evening. New Bern defeated them badly at New Bern, and the G-Men have had a rough season throughout, posting only one loop win.

Expected to see action are Finch, Meekins, Bynum, Moye, Bilbro and Duff.

Chicod-Grifton Split Loop Game

Chicod and Grifton split two Pitt County Conference cage tilts last night at Chicod, with the Chicod girls and the Grifton boys victorious.

Chicod grabbed a narrow 49-46 win in the first game. A 16-point first period insured them the victory. Kates was high for the winners with 25 points. Reeves collected 20 for Grifton.

In the boys game, Grifton had a 16-point first period that pulled them through to a close 58-54 triumph. Irwin was high man for the night with 22 marks.

Expect Near 100 Entries At Invitational Meet Here

Second annual East Carolina High School Invitational Swim Meet will draw near 100 swimmers to East Carolina College on Saturday, January 26. Co-sponsors of the meet are the East Carolina College Aquatic Club and the North Carolina High School Athletic Association.

Some outstanding mermen of North Carolina high schools including Greensboro senior high, rated one of the top high school swimming teams in the nation, have been invited to attend and participate in the meet, according to ECC Head Swimming Coach Ray Martinez.

Last year the strong squad from Greensboro won the initial meet, as well as setting several pool records in Memorial Gymnasium. The Greensboro squad is regarded once more as favorites, with most of last year's team returning, headed by Randy Dobson and Dave Hanes. The Whirlies recently set a national record in the 340-medley relay.

Other school squads accepting the invitation include Chapel Hill, Durham, Myers Park of Charlotte, and Wilmington, with acceptances anticipated from a few other schools.

Qualifying trials for the meet get under way Saturday morning at 10 o'clock. Finals begin at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon. The Aquanymphs of East Carolina College present a demonstration of synchronized swimming at 2 o'clock, preceding the swimming meet.

A team trophy to be presented the winning team will be the gift of John Lautares, prominent businessman of Greenville.

Maxim Gives Away 10 Years And Nine Pounds

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Joey Maxim, former world's light heavyweight champion, will be giving away 10 years and about nine pounds tonight when the sly veteran tries to avoid the knockout punches of undefeated Eddie Machen, one of the top heavy-weight title contenders.

Machen, one of the youngsters who are shoving the old-timers aside in the heavyweight division, will be gunning for his 20th straight victory and his 15th knockout. The California Negro is 24 and local oddsmakers figure he is a 4-1 favorite to whip his 34-year-old opponent.

Maxim hopes to take advantage of his vast edge in experience, gained through 17 years in the ring and more than 300 professional and amateur bouts.

"Joey has trained hard for this one," said Jack Kearns, his manager. "He must have boxed 200 rounds and he's trimmed down to 185 pounds. And he has a world of experience back of him. Joey has fooled a lot of people before. I know he'll be able to handle this youngster."

NBC will broadcast and telecast at 10 p.m., EST.

Tabori Nervous On Indoor Debut

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Laszlo Tabori, sandy-haired and spindly-legged Hungarian runner, makes his American indoor mile debut tonight, still a little nervous about the short straightaways and sharp turns on the boards.

Tabori, who left his native land for the Melbourne Olympics and chose not to return because of the Communist oppression in Hungary, arrived here last night to take part in the 13th annual Philadelphia Inquirer Games.

A firm believer in rigid training, Tabori has been working out at the University of North Carolina, running almost four hours every day. He even planned a workout today before tonight's meet.

Tonight's events will be the second indoor appearance for Tabori. He finished second to Fred Dwyer in a two-mile contest in the Boston K. of C. games last Saturday night. He's hoping to do better than that tonight, since he prefers to run the shorter distance.

Tabori said he isn't shooting for a record in the Inquirer Mile. Like many European runners, he runs against the field, not against the clock.

However if his competitors, Big Ten mile champion Tee Wheeler, West Coast champ Bobby Seaman, Phil Coleman of the Chicago Track Club NYU's George King and Villanova's Johnny Koppl, really open up there's no telling what might happen.

It was that way in London. Tabori ran the mile in 3:59 against Chris Chataway and Brian Hewson in a race in which all three finished under 4 minutes.

Jackson Burns As Floyd Feted; Looks To June Bout

By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK (AP)—On the surface everything was sweet and peaceful at the annual dinner of the Boxing Writers Assn. last night. Heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson and sports columnist Frank Graham of the New York Journal-American received the main awards. Even Julius Helfand, chairman of the New York State Athletic Commission, was content just to hand Patterson the Edward J. Nell plaque as Fighter of the Year without putting the rap on anyone or anything.

But in a far corner of the grand ballroom of the Roosevelt Hotel, a tall, broad-shouldered fellow sat and burned.

"I'll get him the next time. I'll show him. I'll chop him up something awful. You wait and see."

The words came slowly at first, then in a torrent from Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson.

"He was my friend," said Tommy. "but he ain't any more. I'll get him in June. That's my next fight. Him and me for the title."

What was it that was upsetting him?

"I beat him the last time and he knows it," replied the Hurricane. "I made the fight. He didn't do nothing to me. He only fought a couple of seconds each round.

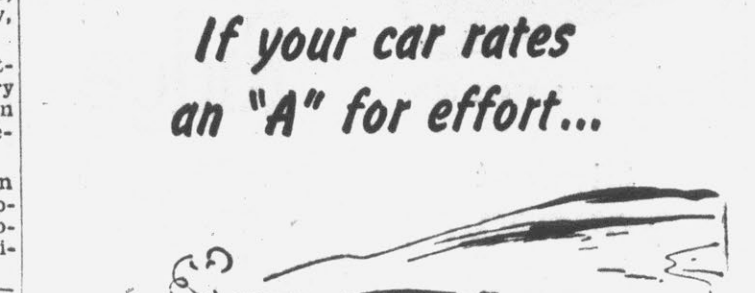

So he got the decision and he got to fight Archie Moore and he won the title. It should have been me. But I'll get him. He ain't my friend any more. I ain't been mad at anyone before but now I'm mad."

Patterson won a split decision over Jackson at Madison Square Garden last June 8 to earn the title. He then knocked out Moore in the fifth round Nov.

30 to succeed the retired Rocky Marciano as heavyweight champion.

A Patterson-Jackson title fight for June has not been made yet but everyone seems to think it will.

The Nell award is named in memory of the former Associated Press boxing writer who was killed in 1938 while serving as a war correspondent in Spain.

CHAPTER 36
At Chad's command his men dropped into a prone position.

The decks of the Red Nymph had been cleared of Indians.
Fire poured from rifles and deck guns.

The Indians drove in a wild rush directly at the soldiers, fifty or more abreast and close together.

For a terrible moment Chad wondered if his men would break. His gunners behind him could not fire
now. The Indians were too close.

The forty-odd men lacked the firm-ing power to break a charge like this. It was load and fire, load and fire; and Chad, thumbing shells into the cylinder of his revolver, felt the warm glow of admiration for his men. His men! Heroes, every one of them, whether they lived or died this day.

A big Indian was in front, Zack swore an oath. "It's Cut Lip! Cut him down!"

Then they were there, like a great ocean wave breaking against a shore. Chad emptied his gun, knocking two braves off their ponies, Cut Lip jabbed at him with his spear, and missed. No time to reload. There was a chaos of movement and sound all around him: struggling men and shouts and grunts and the shrill cries of mortally wounded men, plunging horses and spears seeking white-skinned bodies.

Chad was knocked down by a riderless horse. He got to his knees at Cut Lip rode at him again, painted face distorted with the fury of battle. Chad threw himself sideways. Mullyvane, coming in from somewhere, pulled Cut Lip off his horse.

Another brave swung low on his pony and drive his knife into Mullyvane's back. Chad, gripping his empty gun, regained his feet as Cut Lip rolled over. He drove the barrel downward across the warrior's head and Cut Lip, coming up off the ground, fell back and lay motionless.

The wild yelling changed in tone.
The charge rolled on, but it wasn't a charge now. The Indians were fleeing, quartering off to the north, utterly disorganized, and wanting only to get away. Chad, wiped a hand across his sweaty face, saw that a blue-clad figure was leading a dozen men from the boat toward them.

Zack, blood dripping from a slash down his cheek, pointed to Cut Lip. "That's what done it, Lootenant. They didn't have no bely for it after he went down."
Chad knelt beside Mullyvane. The big Irishman was dying, and he knew it. He was praying. Then he recognized Chad and his white lips died helping him. He was a soldier, a good one. There was no fear in Mullyvane. His hand slipped out of Chad's and he was gone.

Chad rose. Young Saunders was biting his lips to hold back his groans. Tolliver was dead. Anderson came toward Chad wearily.
"Half the men are dead or wounded, sir."

"We'll get the wounded men to the boat," Chad heard a man yell.
"Chad," and when he swung around he saw that the men from the boat were close and that the blue-clad figure he had seen leading them was Otto Grunwald.

Chad straightened to attention and saluted. "Lieutenant Endicott reporting, sir, acting commander of Fort Butterfield."

"Oh, for God's sake, Chad!" He ot to exploded. "At ease." He held out his hand. "I never saw a finer sight in my life than when you brought your boys down that hill.
We thought you were wiped out.
Newspapers have been full of it."

"No, sir," Chad said. "We stuck through the winter. The fort's all right."

"And lucky for us you did." Otto slapped him on the back. "We were just about cooked when you took a hand." He stopped and stared at Chad. "Did you say you were acting commander of Fort Butterfield?"

"Yes, sir, Colonel Randall died last March."

Dr. Joseph D. Franzoni, director of the Mental Health Service, spoke to the association members on phases of the clinic's work. He noted that the clinic now has a full staff of four and that patients from approximately 22 counties have been treated by members of the staff during the past year.

Dr. Fuller, chairman of the Education Committee, in his report stated that a speaker's bureau is being maintained and provides speakers on mental health topics to interested groups. He also reported on activities of his committee and methods used in reaching the public.

Treasurer David W. Hardee Jr. pointed out that 80 per cent of every dollar collected is used locally. His report also showed that the local mental health association has one of the largest paid memberships in North Carolina.

Retiring President Cobb highlighted progress being made by the State Mental Health Association in organizing a state office with a paid general secretary. He summarized activities and progress of the Pitt County association and extended thanks to committees and members for support and cooperation during the year. He particularly noted cooperation extended by East Carolina College.

Hardee was congratulated by the group upon his appointment as state representative on the National Mental Health Association's Board of Directors.

College Band Clinic Set For February 8-9

Student musicians from thirty high schools in the eastern counties of the state will attend the Eastern Division of the All-State Band Clinic at East Carolina College Friday and Saturday, Feb. 8-9, chairman Herbert L. Carter of the East Carolina faculty has announced.

With Herbert Fred of the University of North Carolina as director, the high school students will organize a 120-piece band on the campus here. After two days of instruction and rehearsal, the ensemble will appear Saturday night in a concert presented as chief event of the clinic. The program is scheduled for 8 p.m. in the Wright auditorium and will be open to the public.

Sectional meetings for performers on the various instruments of the band will include instruction, demonstrations, rehearsals, and lectures. Approximately twenty band directors and teachers of music in the state will conduct these sessions.

Daniel Bonade, world-renowned clarinetist, will attend the clinic as teacher and consultant. A graduate of the Paris Conservatory, he has been first clarinetist with the Philadelphia Orchestra and the Cleveland Symphony, and has toured with Toscanini. He is now professor of clarinet at the Juillard School of Music and is heard regularly on the Voice of Firestone program under Howard Barlow.

The East Carolina Concert Band, directed by Mr. Carter, will give a program in honor of clinic members Friday night, Feb. 8, in the McGinnis auditorium. James Parnell of the college faculty will be soloist with the group.

Members of the bands at East Carolina and the Greenville High School will act as hosts to visiting high school students and are now making plans for their entertainment.

Social events of the clinic will include a dance after Friday's concert. The East Carolina Collegians will provide music.

Daughters Miss School, Fathers Found Guilty

Fathers of two Grimesland High School students were found guilty yesterday of failing to require their daughters to attend school.

Charges were brought against Jack Rouse of Grimesland and Bennie C. Anderson of Grimesland, Route 1, by Welfare Department and school officials who said 15-year-old daughters of the two men had missed more than 60 per cent of their classes during the present school year. Testimony was presented by Grimesland Principal James E. Hudson and members of the school faculty.

Magistrate Luther Moore continued prayer for judgment against Rouse on conditions that his daughter returns to school immediately and that she has an acceptable school attendance record. Anderson, who entered a plea of not guilty, was found guilty and fined $10 and costs. Justice Moore said, however, that if Anderson produces a statement from his family physician showing that Anderson's daughter's condition is such that she cannot attend school and that she had not been physically able to attend school since October 23, 1956, then prayer for judgment will be continued.

Unusual Search

WASHINGTON, N. C. — The Washington Squadron of the N.C. Civil Air Patrol went on one of the most unusual searches in its history yesterday despite bad flying conditions.

It seems that a local concern lost a tractor and trailer somewhere between Washington and Hickory. The truck was several days overdue and it was feared that the driver may have hit ice or snow and gone over a steep embankment. The State Highway Patrol figured it would be easier to see the truck from the air. Note: The truck was not seen but the driver was safe, he left the truck at a truck stop.

Baby Needed Clothes

GOLDSBORO—The baby needed some clothes. So what did Daddy do about it? He armed himself with a hunting knife, went into a local store, stuck the knife in the back of operator Willard DuBois and made away with $105.70 from the store's cash register last Saturday night.

The Negro, Benjamin Roberson was caught Wednesday night and formerly charged with the robbery. Evidently the "baby" got the clothes for only a few dollars could be recovered by police officers.

Commerce Officers

AYDEN—Officers for 1957 were elected by the Board of Directors of the Ayden Chamber of Commerce at the Tuesday night meeting.

Billie Adams was elected president, Corey Stocks vice president and Hugh Allen treasurer.

800 Acres Less

AHOSKIE—Eight hundred acres less tobacco. That was the result of allotment notices sent out this week to 1,052 tobacco farmers in Hertford County.

The total allotments were for 3,210.96 acres as compared to 4,010.1 acres in 1956.

Processing Plant Plans

WILLIAMSTON—Stock sales for the food processing in Martin County are progressing toward the $60,000 mark with more than 200 persons having subscribed.

Officials stated yesterday that further plans would be made toward the perfecting of the organization when the subscriptions reached the $60,000 mark. It is generally felt that the food processing plant will go a long way toward supplementing the farmer's income in Martin County.

Problems Of N. C. Marketing

GREENSBORO — Dr. D. W. Colvard, dean of North Carolina State College's School of Agriculture, says agriculture in the state faces three major marketing problems.

Colvard, speaking to the closing meeting of the Farmers Cooperative Council of North Carolina here yesterday, listed the problems as:

1. Movement of commodities now in production into an organized marketing system.
2. Expansion of present markets and addition of new ones for North Carolina farm products.
3. Development of processing plants for products of the state's farms.
