Saud Declines

DUNN, N.C. (AP)—Southern fried chicken apparently was not enough of a lure for the wealthy king of Saudi Arabia, who has declined an invitation for a whirling here, sponsored by the Dunn Chamber of Commerce.

King Ibn Saud, who is in this country to confer on Middle East doings with President Eisenhower, telegraphed his reply yesterday to George Mitchell, manager of the Chamber of Commerce. It said:

"Thank you so much for your kind invitation. No time is available." The telegram was signed, "Saud."

Mitchell expressed disappointment, saying he had received a lot of favorable mail about the invitation.

"Man," exclaimed Mitchell, "we sure would have given the king a big welcome. We would have made the old boy feel at home."

TV Tower Buckles, 4 Killed

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Four men working 700 feet above the ground were hurled to their deaths yesterday when a nearly completed, giant television tower buckled and crumbled.

The tower broke in the middle and both sections collapsed in a heavily populated residential area but miraculously did not strike any houses.

The new 1,262-foot broadcasting tower, which was to have been 1,379 feet when topped with the antenna, was being built for station WSM-TV by the John P. Beasley Construction Co. of Muskogee, Okla.

The four dead, workers for the construction company, were identified as:

Donald Ward Kinnan, 25, Tucson, Ariz.; George Presler, 33, Union City, Tenn.; Ray H. Maxwell, 33, Jacksonville, Fla.; and Robert Lee Kishner, 30, California, Mo.

Harold O'Neal, 29, of Booneville, N.Y., a fifth steelworker, was treated for shock. O'Neal had just climbed down from the tower and was inside the transmitter station. Officials of the construction firm were at a loss to explain the collapse. A new type steel alloy, known as T-1, which officials said was supposed to be three times as strong as regular steel, was being used in the tower.

Theories that the vibrations from a jet plane passing overhead or high winds had collapsed the tower were discounted by the officials.

"I've never seen anything like it and I've been in the business for 34 years," said G. A. Wallenstrom, of Syracuse, N.Y., general electric corp. engineer present at the crash.

"We are going to try and find out what caused the tower to fall," he said. "I'm going to do everything I can, but I don't have much hope."

One of the fatally injured workers, Kinnan, was interviewed by a reporter for the Nashville Tennessean a week ago. At that time he said, "I would not drive a race car. Too dangerous. My job's safe because I know what I'm doing. Besides, more people get killed stepping off curbs than in my line of work."

Six Punished For Panty Raid

WINSTON-SALEM (AP)—A panty raid at Wake Forest has resulted in punishment for six students, four men and two girls.

The school announced yesterday that two men students have been suspended for the Jan. 9 raid. Two coeds were placed on probation and two other male students placed on probation. The names of the students were not announced.

The two men were placed on probation for attempting to use an electronic device to find out what went on at a closed meeting of a student committee investigating the raid.

The student committee referred its findings to the Men's Council which recommended that two male students be warned for their part in the raid. The faculty executive committee overrode that recommendation and suspended them.

Premier Nikolai Bulganin, Dep. Premier A. I. Mikoyan and President Klement Voroshilov, three members of the Presidium of the Communist party Central Committee, attended the opening of the colorful Soviet of Nationalities in the Kremlin's Chamber of the Supreme Soviet.

Communist party secretary Nikita S. Khrushchev was there, along with Dep. Premiers Georgi Malenkov, V. M. Molotov, L. M. Kaganovich, M. G. Pervukhin and M. Z. Saburov; and Mikhail A. Suslov, a party secretary and theoretician; and Alexei I. Kirilenko, first secretary of the Ukrainian Community party.

Festive Air At Capitol City On Inaugural Eve

RALEIGH (AP)—This capital city had taken on a festive air today on the eve of a two-day program highlighting the inauguration of Gov. Hodges and nine other state officials Thursday.

Bunting and flags adorned the Capitol and downtown streets. Legislators were getting set for the start of the General Assembly tomorrow. Most of the lawmakers will assemble in the Capitol tonight for Democratic caucus to nominate officers.

The two-day inaugural program gets under way tomorrow with the convening of the Legislature. The House and Senate will hold brief formal sessions during which members will be sworn in. The House is expected to elect veteran Rep. J. K. Doughton of Alleghany speaker. The Senate will elect its president pro tem. Sen. Claude Currie of Durham is a leading contender for the post.

The House and Senate will convene in joint session Thursday in Raleigh's Memorial Auditorium for inaugural ceremonies for Gov. Hodges and other elected state officials. Following the oath-taking, Hodges will deliver his inaugural address.

Lt. Gov.-elect Luther Barnhardt, who will preside over the Senate, was expected to arrive today.

Doughton, a member of the Advisory Budget Commission, was on the legislative scene yesterday. He expressed the hope that the House can get organized in "a reasonably short time" so "we can get down to work diligently." He said it will be several days before he is ready to announce his House committee assignments.

"It would be nice," he added, "if the Legislature could complete its work in 90 days, but he expects the session to run somewhat longer than that."

Tax matters, he said, are the most important issues confronting the Legislature. He added, "We have not had any material changes in our tax structure since 1935, and a number of changes have been proposed" by the State Tax Study Commission.

It was Doughton's "wild, rough guess" that the Legislature will provide a pay raise "in the neighborhood of 10 per cent" for teachers and state employees.

Doughton said, "It is very doubtful whether North Carolina can continue its present level of expenditures without some additional sources of revenue." Rather than increasing taxes, he said, "I'm thinking of new taxpayers, and in that connection I'm thinking primarily of industry."

"We've got to have more new people and new sources of revenue to tax, as I see it."

2 New Closing Dates Approved

Directors of the Greenville Merchants Association this morning approved two new closing dates for 1957 in addition to regular closing days observed by local merchants.

The two new closing dates are Easter Monday and Labor Day. Other closing days that will be observed are: July 4, Thanksgiving, two days for Christmas, and New Years Day.

Wednesday afternoon closing will become effective February 13, with exception of the three Wednesdays prior to Easter—April 3, 10, and 17. This is a new arrangement.

Previously, Greenville merchants remained open all day on Wednesday until after Easter. The hours to remain open for Christmas will be determined at the October Board Meeting.

Of the 251 members of the Association, a total of 233 signed ballots expressing their wishes for days of non-operation for the year 1957 and New Years Day 1958. The results showed an overwhelming majority of the merchants wished to close on the days recommended by the Board of Directors.

President J. L. Harris urged that all members make every effort to follow the recommendations of the Board.

Rules Officer's Warrant Invalid

LEXINGTON, N.C. (AP)—Judge Joe H. Leonard ruled yesterday in Davidson County that a warrant signed by a policeman is invalid. The verdict freed a Lexington man who had been charged with a violation of a beer law.

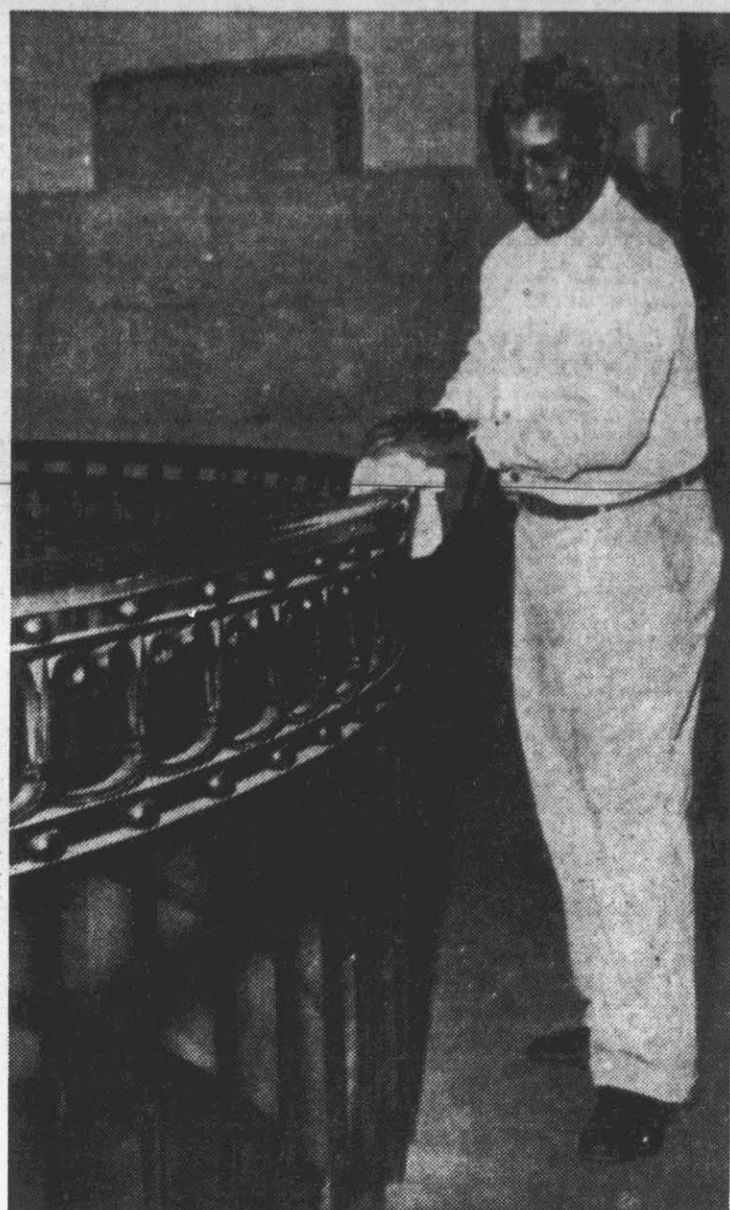

Under a special legislative act, policemen here for many months have signed warrants. The State Constitution specifies that warrants may be issued only by officers of the judiciary. Solicitor Ross Craver said it might become necessary to appoint an assistant clerk of court or a justice of the peace to issue warrants at night when the clerk's office or justice of the peace offices are closed.

Judge J. A. Rousseau ruled recently in Superior Court at High Point that warrants issued by police desk sergeants were void.

Special Meeting For Pitt Board

Pitt County Commissioners will hold a special meeting at 8 p.m. February 15 to open bids for modernizing electrical service in the Court House and jail.

Commissioners will also name county representatives to an area industrial development group at the same meeting. Greenville City Manager Leonard Bloxam, chairman of an 11-member Pitt County Industrial Committee, requested the appointments yesterday morning.

Decision for the special meeting was made during the afternoon session of yesterday's regular monthly meeting of the commissioners.

Electrical work in the Court House will include installation of underground conduits and wiring to the new secondary power supply manhole proposed for construction by the Greenville Utilities Commission. The work will also include panels, switches and wiring necessary to provide new electrical service for the Court House and jail.

Appointments to the nine-county area development group will include two men to sit on the area group's board of directors and five others to serve on committees. Bloxam asked yesterday that the 11-member local industrial committee be made no specific request about the committee members other than that they be "qualified" persons.

Other business transacted yesterday afternoon included:

1. Approval of investment of $500,000 of county funds in 90-day U. S. Treasury notes. The sum includes $100,000 obtained through the sale of Bethel School Bonds.

2. Approval of March 26 as the date for a special school board election for the Chocod School District. Voters will pass on a question of $60,000 for use in modernizing and extending facilities at Chocod School. New registration for the election was also approved with registration books to be open each day from March 2 through March 16 with March 23 reserved as challenge day. Polling place for the election will be Chocod School.

3. Approval of a peddler's license for George W. Harris Jr., a totally disabled veteran of Winterville. Harris was also exempted from poll tax.

4. Discussion of additional office space for various county and state agencies. There were no final decisions made as a result of the discussion.

Required 12 Men To Remove One 400-Pounder

RUTHERFORDTON, N.C. (AP)—Twelve stretcherbearers were required last night to bring out an unconscious, 400-pound man injured when an automobile broke loose down a mountainside and crashed into a tree.

A. C. Gladden, a Gastonia painter, said the car's brake line broke and he was unable to stop the vehicle. It knocked into several saplings before crashing into a large tree in its 200-foot dash. The impact threw out Sam Dow, 400-pound Gastonia justice of the peace, and injured Gladden slightly. Gladden walked two miles to a farmhouse and summoned aid.

Twelve men struggled for some time in bringing Dow up to the highway. Dow was taken to Rutherford Hospital but later was transferred to Gaston Memorial Hospital at Gastonia. Hospital reports today said Dow had recovered consciousness.

Judge Says Only Application Will Fully Test Laws

DURHAM (AP)—Federal Judge Johnson J. Hayes says North Carolina's segregation laws will not be fully tested until and unless an individual Negro applies for and is denied reassignment to a particular white school under the state's pupil assignment law.

Judge Hayes granted the request yesterday of a group of Negro lawyers to delay trial of segregation suits involving schools in Person County and in Chapel Hill. He said no school suits now pending federal courts squarely face the segregation issue in the state.

He added that he would like to see that "all the issues are involved," not just "technicalities."

The Negro lawyers asked that the Person and Chapel Hill suits be postponed until after the Supreme Court rules on a McDowell County case in which Negro students seek to enter a white school.

The 4th Circuit Appeals Court ruled in November that the plaintiffs in the McDowell case had not exhausted their administrative remedies on the state level, and refused to order a federal district judge to continue with the case.

ICC Gives Southern Rails Rate Increase

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Interstate Commerce Commission today authorized Southern Railroads to increase their freight rates by 5 per cent.

The grant was made in response to a petition for an emergency hike of 7 per cent filed last November in connection with wage increases.

Most of the Southern lines told the ICC yesterday that the 7 per cent figure itself was insufficient to meet increased operating costs and maintain an adequate return. These carriers said they needed an overall 15 per cent rate hike, estimated to yield about 170 million dollars a year in additional revenue.

The Southern Railway System, one of the largest in the South, and the Piedmont—Northern Railroad, operating in the Carolinas, declined to join in the 15 per cent petition. Southern Railway President Harry A. DeButts issued a statement in which he said his company felt that large rate increases reduce income by driving business to competitive forms of transportation.

In making the 5 per cent grant, the ICC authorized the Southern Railroads to make it effective on 15 days notice to the public.

All of the nation's carriers requested the 7 per cent emergency rate hike in November. The commission in late December authorized such an increase in Eastern territory, but limited the hike to 5 per cent in the West and also put a 5 per cent increase limit on shipments moving from one to another of the three territories.

The Eastern railroads are now asking for an additional 15 per cent increase and those in the West are seeking an additional 17 per cent.

The Southern rate increase order stipulates number of "hold-downs" for specific commodities.

The increase on sand and gravel is limited to 3 per cent. The commission said increases on fresh fruits, vegetables, melons, nuts, canned goods and millwork may not exceed 7 cents for 100 pounds. The increase on cotton is limited to 8 cents per 100 pounds and on lumber and sugar to 6 cents.

The ICC said the hike on lignite must not exceed 5 cents per ton and on coal and coke 10 cents per ton. The increases on potash are limited to 50 cents per ton and on phosphate rock and salt to 30 cents per ton.

Examine Plans For 2 Schools

Preliminary plans for additions to two Negro units in the county school system were examined by the Pitt County Board of Education yesterday.

The proposed construction involves expansion of Robinson Union School in Winterville and South Ayden School. The Winterville addition will include ten classrooms, toilets, office and heating plant space, and a combination gymnasium and auditorium. The South Ayden expansion will include eight classrooms, toilets, and a combination gymnasium-auditorium.

No action was taken on the plans by board members who were told that architects are now working on final plans for the new construction.

The plans were introduced at the regular monthly meeting of the board.

Inventory of equipment, trucks and materials at the county's school garage was presented by foreman William O. Price. The inventory noted that the county's property at the Winterville garage is valued at $34,493.60, as of January 1, 1957.

The board approved Mrs. Elizabeth Glasgow Wilson as replacement for Mrs. Elizabeth Hodges Finch who has resigned as science teacher at Belvoir-Falkland High School. Mrs. Finch has resigned.

In other action concerning teachers, the board approved an extension until February 28 of the leave granted to Mrs. Maude Harris of Stokes. It was noted that Mrs. Harris recently underwent surgery and that regulations require that leaves be granted for 20-day periods with additional periods to be approved as they come up.

The board also noted the death Sunday of Mrs. Celia Turnage.

Edgecombe Man Dies By Gun

An Edgecombe County man, scheduled for trial in Pitt County Court on a charge of drunken driving and operating a vehicle on the wrong side of the road, was reported to have been found dead this morning, apparently a suicide victim.

The man was identified as Vonnie Lee Dixon, 33, of Tarboro Rt. 3. Edgecombe County Sheriff Tom Barden reported that Dixon lived about three miles from Tarboro. He was found on a dirt road about a mile from his home.

Dixon died from a 22 bullet, the sheriff reported. The Edgecombe County man was on parole, it was reported.

He was due to be tried on the charges before Pitt County Court Judge Dink James today. The warrant was signed by Highway Patrolman J. B. Surles.

Butler Speaks At WCTU Meet

The WCTU held its February meeting at the home of Mrs. G. B. W. Hadley with fifteen members and four visitors present.

James Butler spoke to the group informally about alcohol beverages. Mr. Butler stated "we are waging a battle," and urged members not to get weary in well-doing "for in due season we shall reap."

He reminded members the State Legislature would meet this week but he was doubtful if the matter of alcoholic beverages would be presented. He announced the religious fellowship meeting that was to be held at the college this week with outstanding speakers.

The group signed cards to be sent to two sick members. Memorial flowers for Frances Willard will be put in different churches the fourth Sunday in February.

The Union gave a needy family clothes and money. Miss Jennie Conington gave the devotion in closing.

After the hostess served hot speed tea, sandwiches and cookies, the meeting was adjourned to meet the first Friday night in March.

Figures Point To Problems For Pitt

As Pitt County contemplates its need for a tax supported industrial development program, it has to look no further than its relative standing among the counties of the state. The outlook is unmistakable. Either Pitt goes to work to build on its industrial potential or it will drift into the eddies and backwash of North Carolina's economic growth.

Will the people of this county be satisfied with anything less than riding on the crest of the economic wave which is swelling throughout North Carolina?

Here's the picture in a few paragraphs:

In 1954 (latest year for which figures are available) Pitt County ranked 48th among the 100 counties of the state in the number of people employed in manufacturing. That year there were 1,965 people employed in manufacturing in Pitt, two per cent or only 45 more people than were employed in manufacturing here seven years earlier.

While the total gain throughout the state in manufacturing employees during that seven year period was 12.5 per cent, there were some remarkable gains in several counties around Pitt. Lenoir County showed a 86.5 per cent gain in manufacturing employees to 4,235; Nash County 30.3 per cent increase to 3,906; Edgecombe County 53.5 per cent to 2,446; Beaufort County 25.9 per cent to 1,098; and Craven County 64.9 per cent to 1,862.

Also during the same period Wayne County lost 14.8 per cent of its manufacturing employees, but still ranked in 43rd place, and Wilson County showed a gain of only two-tenths of one per cent but held 40th place among the counties of the state.

How does Pitt County's growth in manufacturing employment compare with that of the 41 counties "east of Raleigh" and "east of Rockingham" for the seven-year period?

The percentage gain in these 41 eastern counties as a whole for the seven year period was 18.5 per cent compared with Pitt's gain of only 2.3 per cent.

Most local people recognize the need for greater industrial development in Pitt County. Just how badly that development is needed is indicated to some degree by these comparative figures. We might also take into consideration the drastic reductions in tobacco acreage in the past few years which cuts into the basic farm income in Pitt County.

Pitt County, if its to maintain its relative economic position in North Carolina, must boost its number of industrial jobs and thereby boost its industrial payroll and the per capita income of its people.

Through an adequate industrial development program Pitt County can improve its economy by attracting industries from other areas and likewise by intensifying efforts to create home grown industries. Industries in both these categories could fit hand-in-glove with the agricultural economy of the county.

Pitt County needs the tax-supported industrial development organization which will be provided for in a bill before the General Assembly. But Pitt cannot have this organization unless citizens of the county go to the polls and vote for the measure when the special referendum is called.

Our Legislators Have A Tough Job Ahead

For the next couple of months North Carolina's legislators will be snowed under with hundreds of measures of importance to all the people of this state. They must carefully consider and weigh the merits of each proposal against the needs of the people, and seek to resolve each matter in the best interest of the citizens of North Carolina.

It is no small task these men are asked to do. The burden of responsibility may be lifted somewhat, though made more complicated, by the fact they have free access to the thinking and opinions of the people in their respective communities.

At the outset of this legislative session, members of the General Assembly and other citizens throughout the state should consider the more important matters among the hundreds which must be considered. They should attribute to these matters a priority in keeping with their importance to the state.

Adequate provisions must be made to assure North Carolina's children educational opportunities better than they now have. This involves teachers pay which will attract and keep good teachers in the classrooms, and afford youngsters adequate physical facilities in which to attend classes. It also must mean additional facilities, increased salaries and provisions for more personnel on the college level in the state's educational system.

While providing for the education of the state's youth, provision must be made to assure these youngsters better opportunities for making a living in their home state after they finish their formal education. In part, this will be done through revamping and modernizing the antiquated tax structure now in effect in this state. A modern tax structure to meet the needs of modern times will be a major factor in the development of this state.

Not to be overlooked is the alarming traffic toll which annually sweeps highways throughout the state. Every reasonable measure possible must be approved by the legislature to furnish tools and means by which this toll can be reduced.

Long, hard weeks of intensive work lie ahead for these legislators who must give the best that is in them to their task if they are to look back a few months from now on a legislative session which has made lasting contributions to the betterment of citizens of this state.

Cities, Towns See Tax Relief

By LYNN NISBET

CITY TAXES — Cities and towns represented in the membership of the North Carolina League of Municipalities favor the principles proposed in the report of the tax study commission. They see hope of substantial immediate relief if the specific recommendations are adopted. At the same time city officials recognize that enactment of all these proposals will not solve their permanent problems.

A digest of the tax commission report prepared by John T. Morrisey, general counsel for the League, notes that the change in bank taxation will cost the municipalities about $272,000 a year, while the proposed change in distribution of the intangibles tax will add some $650,000 to total municipal revenue. Also abolition of Schedule B privilege levies and substitution of an occupational tax and permissive increase in the price of city automobile tags will help local treasuries. He points out, however, that in many respects the few proposals actually restrict rather than enlarge the taxing power of municipalities.

The recognition of the financial plight of municipalities by a State administration is without precedent, he says, and is gratifying. He surmises that the permissive authority granted will require more responsible municipal leadership and will tend to upgrade the level of local government.

But — the specific recommendations offer palliatives, not a cure, for the basic ailment of municipal financing. The real need is for a continuing study of local government financing, with special attention to ad valorem taxes — which must be the main revenue source for most of the cities and towns.

PUBLIC HEARINGS — Most of the predictions for a short session of the Legislature are based on the hope that less time than usual will be consumed in public hearings by committees. Veteran legislators and long time observers of the scene regard this as wishful thinking.

It must be admitted that a lot of time is wasted at these public hearings, especially when the issues involved have emotional overtones, such as juvenile delinquency, revision of divorce laws, liquor control, Sunday movies and others. Questions of this kind are more often decided on opinion and prejudice than on facts.

Hearings on local bills affecting corporate limits of municipalities, the number and method of electing county commissioners and similar questions often degenerate into the airing of bitter personal feuds. Many times it would be much better not to have the public hearing at all. Several men who are prospective leaders in the next Legislature have suggested that the hearings on appropriations might be curtailed. None has yet gone far enough to suggest that a tax bill should be written into law without full opportunity for the people who will have to pay the taxes to be heard.

Public hearings before legislative committees is a tradition in North Carolina. It is more than a tradition. The right for the people to be heard is written into the constitution.

Sec. 23 of the Declaration of Rights, the first article of the constitution provides: "The people of the State ought not to be taxed, or made subject to the payment of any impost or duty without the consent of themselves, or their representatives in the General Assembly, freely given."

Legislators might construe that to mean they had a right to levy any tax or appropriate tax money without bothering to find out what the people want. There's another constitutional provision, GUARANTEED — The right of the people to be heard on taxes and appropriation and any other matter is guaranteed in Sec. 25 of that same Declaration of Rights, which reads:

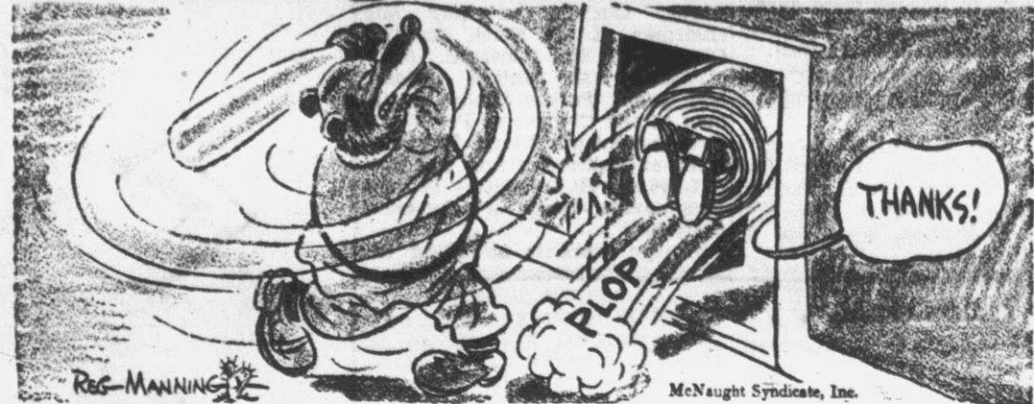

"The people have a right to assemble together to consult for their common good, to instruct their representatives, and to apply to the Legislature for redress of grievances. But secret political societies are dangerous to the liberties of a free people, and should not be tolerated."

Here is explicit guaranty that any citizen may present his ideas to the General Assembly, and implicit assurance that the presentation and any action taken on it will be in public.

However much the administration, the budget group that prepared the money bills and members of the various study commissions that sponsor legislation might resent questioning by the people of their complete wisdom, it is difficult to see how the General Assembly as a whole or by committees, can abandon public hearings without violating these constitutional guarantees.

INITIATIVE — It seems quite likely that a subtle change in policy may be followed this year. The burden of watching for bills and requesting hearings on them may be placed upon the people interested to greater degree than in the past. Instead of advance announcement as to when hearings will be held on certain matters, the committees may wait until there is specific demand for a hearing. That policy will violate no inherent rights, and might save a lot of time.

A Knock Is A Boost

By JIMMY ELLIS

Early Preview Of Spring

Spring, and its gentle weather, isn't here yet.

But yesterday was certainly one of the first heartbeats of an embryo season that still has a couple of months to wait before it can be born.

There was a warm breeze that knocked on the windows of the cars, begging to come inside. The sun had a brightness that coaxed dark glasses out of an inside pocket. And the frogs in the low ground near the river warmed up their rusty voices, croaking a message of new life coming to the river bank.

Today is a cold and slightly miserable day. Yesterday's shirt sleeves are hidden beneath jackets and raincoats. And the warm weather's sidewalk squatters have moved to inside quarters, where they can talk about the weather without being in it.

The mothers who walked in the yard with the neighborhood youngsters are inside the house today — fussing over the stove that was turned off yesterday. And the man who dreamed of an eight-pound bass in Tar River turns his back, in an effort to concentrate on the hard, cold facts of making a living.

The young man's fancy, turning ever so slightly with the out-of-season prod from nature, has skidded on the roads that turned cold over night. Only the young woman, to whom warmth and newness are everything, is unchanged, for her way of life is not changed by the weather.

There are some who will, of necessity, change from day to day with the weather. But they will remember in a secret place the many things whispered by yesterday's gentle warmth. They will remember in the cold days we have left the bold bird's song, the brave new grass, and the feeling of newness in a tired world of winter.

For them, yesterday was a time for beginning again.

Other Editors Saying--- Strength Federal Aid To Education For Today

(Washington Daily News)

If the individual states should get federal financial aid for their schools, it would be a high price for the states to pay if the federal government should encroach upon the right of the states to run their own schools. Federal aid without federal control is the proper goal, and we believe it is the only sensible goal. If the federal government is going to tell the states how to run their schools, what they can do and cannot do, and issue certain regulations, then the states will find themselves in a position of having lost the rights which have been inherent for a long time.

If the federal government tries to bar funds from states where segregation is still practiced, it will not only kill the needed help for North Carolina and other Southern states, but it will doom the bill for all American states.

Two years ago when the bill for education came up in congress, Adam Clayton Powell tackled an amendment barring funds where segregation was practiced. His amendment spelled doom for the bill. It is understood that he plans to do the same thing this time. And again, if he does, the doom will be sealed. Such a bill with the amendment will not pass the senate where Southern senators will invoke the right to filibuster.

President Eisenhower's bill would allot $2,220,000,000 for federal aid to the states. In North Carolina, if we understand correctly, each two dollars of federal funds would be matched with one dollar of state funds. North Carolina would get about $14,500,000 each year for four years.

We need help badly in North Carolina. Our schools are overcrowded and we need more facilities. So many of our counties in North Carolina right now hardly know which way to turn in their efforts to solve the serious crisis which has arisen. But if the price we must pay means that federal control comes with federal aid, then that price is too high.

And of course, if Representative Powell backs on his amendment against the entire bill is doomed. In that case those needing help so much will get nothing from the federal government. And Representative Powell again will find himself in a position of having been instrumental in hurting children of all races. He will not help the colored race by such an amendment, particularly in view of the fact that he will sound the death knell for the bill.

We can try hard, but we cannot appreciate his thinking. He would deny all children just to get a racial amendment attached. He knows full well what will happen too. He saw it happen

Pendulum Swinging To Liberals

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON The most striking phenomenon at Washington in the last few weeks has been the sharp shift of the pendulum of power from the conservative to the liberal faction in the Eisenhower Administration. Singlehandedly, L. B. Nichols, director of the Republican Party, is dragging the Republican Party to slightly left of center, as F.D.R. did with the Democrats during the 1933-35 recovery era.

Eisenhower has supplanted conservatives with men of his own viewpoint, from State and other policy-making departments to the chairmanship of the Republican National Committee. He has turned from conservative advisers within the Cabinet and on Capitol Hill to men more favorable to his ideas for "modernizing" the GOP.

The transformation has affected major policies in the domestic and foreign fields. It is reflected in his "welfare state" budget of $37.8 billion, which exceeds Roosevelt-Truman goals and expenditures. It lies behind Attorney General Brownell's plan to throw the Federal government's authority, wherever possible, behind movements to implement a Civil Rights program. LIBERALISM REFLECTED IN FOREIGN AID DEMANDS It shows up in the $5 billion Ike has asked for foreign economic aid. This is a far larger sum than such once influential officials as Treasury Secretary Humphrey and Herbert Hoover, Jr., former Undersecretary of State, thought necessary or advisable.

It breaks out again in the $5 billion which the White House seeks for subsidies, parity payments and soil bank advances to the farmers. Here again, the President is far more generous than Secretary Ezra Taft Benson considers essential. The tight-fisted Mormon believes that less "pampering" of agriculture will enable it to stand on its own feet.

Whereas many associates believe that it is Uncle Sam's task to curb the public appetite for Federal funds, Ike says that the public will get "what it demands" and, as he thinks, "what it deserves."

EISENHOWER'S CHANGED ATTITUDE Most significantly, the changeover appears in Ike's attitude toward financial and economic questions. Despite official efforts to reconcile their expressed views, the President has broken with Secretary Humphrey's philosophy and with that of Arthur Burns, former head of the White House Economic Advisory Committee.

When a slight recession developed in 1954, there were demands within the Administration and in Congress for a pump-priming operation. But Humphrey and Burns insisted that the economy would right itself without emergency action. They maintained that the principal danger was inflation, and they supported the Federal Reserve's tight money program. Humphrey even opposed deficit spending to ward off a depression.

But Ike and Burns' successor, Raymond Saulnier, now question the Humphrey-Burns caution. The President says he will do anything the Constitution permits to prevent an economic crisis. In his 1957 report, Saulnier said that continued tight money might jeopardize Ike's plans for school construction, home building and highway expansion. His ideas are reminiscent of J. Edgar Hoover's days.

MITCHELL'S SYMPATHY FOR UNIONS In every other field, Ike has moved leftward. At Interior, Fred A. Seaton has a broader outlook on natural resources use than his predecessor.

Safe Test On Wax

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN
A guided missile, the Army's Bumper V, was launched in our living room the other night without damage to the ceiling or complaint from the neighbors. It took off with a low whining swoosh that mounted to a steady roar as it climbed 250 miles high at a speed of 5,150 miles per hour. The floors quivered a bit and the walls vibrated, but there were no adverse effects.

The vicious thrills of White Sands proving grounds came into our home through the generosity of the U.S. Army and the General Electric Co., which recorded the event on a 45-speed record for the benefit of hi-fi fans. The Army makes no charge for the record. Now no house party need be a dud for the want of a little excitement. Nothing livens up a gathering like a high altitude missile launching.

Auto Moans in Hi-Fi

Or, if your guests are less military minded, perhaps they might want to listen to the unmuffled moans of foreign racing cars whipping around a championship course at Sebring, Fla. "Sports Cars in Hi-Fi," a Riverside recording, faithfully preserves the combustion noises of strutting Jaguars and Ferraris. The record has proven so successful that Riverside is planning several sequels.

All sorts of noises have become popular in the parlor since the high fidelity rage began sweeping the country.

Under the Audio Rarities label you can hear Hitler's speeches interspersed with the marching songs of his storm troopers on a record called "Hitler's Inferno," a living historical document that is a moving reminder of man's insanity to man. Caedmon Records, which specializes in recording the spoken word, offers a wide variety ranging from Gertrude Stein and T.S. Eliot reading their works to architect Frank Lloyd Wright dissecting himself, his work and the world around him.

Radio actor Nelson Olmstead, on a Vantage label, provides a spine tingling evening with recitations of famous ghost stories and the tales of Edgar Allan Poe, including the background sounds of a real thumping heart for "The Telltale Heart."

Through the miracle or menace of hi-fi you can now hear real Congo drums, a world champion whistler, a bull fight band on location in the arena, complete minstrel shows with time-tattered jokes (sample: "Is it true you haven't spoken to your wife in 10 years?" "Yes, I didn't want to interrupt her.") and all sorts of outlandish people playing outlandish instruments in outlandish places.

Sound for the sake of sound is playing havoc with municipal anti-noise campaigns all over the country since hi-fi connoisseurs began making their needs known to the recording companies.

Other liberals mobilized by Ike are Christian A. Herter as Undersecretary of State, Professor Arthur Larson as head of the United States Information Service, and General Alfred M. Gruenther. Gruenther now heads the Red Cross, but he may eventually step into the Cabinet in place of Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson, another ultra-conservative.

NEW GROUP OF CONGRESSIONAL ADVISERS Finally, Ike has a new circle of Congressional advisers. He no longer relies on such leaders as Senate Minority Leader William F. Knowland, Senator Styles Bridges, President Pro Tem of the Senate, or Representative Charles A. Halleck of Indiana. He listens to men more sympathetic to his second-term effort to make the GOP more responsive to national needs and to international changes.

East Carolina JV's Whip Edwards Military, 86-73

East Carolina's Jayvees notched their ninth straight victory of the season last night, trouncing a visiting Edwards Military Institute club 86-73.

Rated to top Coach Pete Meadows' Military force by only a smattering of points, the Pirates rode the coattails of lanky Tim Smothers to a 13-point win. The 6-5, 210-pound sophomore center threw in 33 points to lead all scorers and was a big rebounder for the host team.

Hoops, Jump Shots
Smothers kept a steady stream of shots pouring into the ECC total throughout the game, beginning early in the first quarter. Playing about the pivot spot, he scored most of his tallies on either wide, sweeping hook shots or a jump-shot from the foul circle. Nothing EMI had could stop him and his accuracy from the floor was extremely good.

Dennis O'Brien and Wallace Lewis, guard and forward respectively, added 12 points each to the Pirates total. Ike Riddick and Connie Hoffman dubbed in 8 each. Others scoring were Waddell Solomon, Roy Dennis and Maurice Everett.

Early EMI Lead
Edwards Military Institute's Blue and White quintet drew first blood with two free tosses, then sank a field goal to run up a 4-0 lead in the first minute of play. This turned out to be their only lead during the whole game. The Baby Blues soon chopped the lead to pieces and went on to take as much as a 12-point advantage midway in the first period. By halftime, the score was 51-42 in favor of the hosts.

EMI employed a fast-break style of play throughout the first half and actually controlled the ball most of the time. Their rebounding was slightly better than the Pirates' and their defensive work kept them in possession of the ball better than half of the time.

Pirate accuracy from the floor, however, made up for lack of possession. On practically every play, when the Blues had possession, they could get no more than one or two shots before losing the ball. They managed to keep ahead by not missing those shots.

Bucs Move On

Shortly after the second half began, EMI cut down the margin to 55-50, as Caydets Holland and Collins paced the scoring. But Smothers and crew came back strong and moved ahead again, as much as 12 points.

Coach Earl Smith used substitutes freely in the final minutes of the game, after his starters had racked up a substantial lead. The final score was 86-73.

Thursday night, Coach Smith's quintet will go after their 10th consecutive victory against the Atlantic Christian Jayvees, in a preliminary to the big ECC-ACC encounter.

Afraid To Reveal Mantle's Salary

NEW YORK (AP)—Mickey Mantle is off and running toward the $100,000 salary level and may wind up the highest paid player in baseball history.

At the age of 25 when most young men are building the first steps of a career, the blond slugger from Commerce, Okla., has just signed a new contract calling for the biggest raise any Yankee ever got in one year.

All concerned are afraid to give out the salary figure. They figure it isn't good policy to announce that Mickey is getting more than Yogi Berra or that Yogi is getting more than Mickey.

The baseball writers, however, have established by various means that Mantle's salary is between $55,000 and $60,000, probably $60,000. Earlier the same system produced a $38,000 estimate for Berra but now that has been raised a couple of thousand.

Dan Topping, Yankee co-owner, refused to answer a question comparing the two top salaries on the club. He did hint, however, that Berra might be a shade out front in a joking reference to Yogi's mythical job as "assistant manager."

"Whatever they both make, they deserve it," said Topping. "Of course, Yogi as assistant manager has to get a little extra."

George Weiss, Yankee general manager, told newsmen that Mantle's new contract represented the biggest one-year raise since he had been connected with the Yankees and probably for all time. As Mantle reportedly got $32,500 last year, the raise ran between 70 per cent and 80 per cent.

Mantle earned a boost by leading the American League with 52 homers, a .353 batting average and 130 runs batted in. Unanimous choice for the most valuable player in the league, Mickey has spent the winter, touring the banquet circuit to pick up assorted awards.

East Carolina's Track And Field Schedule Ready

Coach J. O. Miller's East Carolina track and field team has begun going through its paces at the college practice field this week.

Last year, behind the leadership of Injun Jim Henderson and Bobby Perry, the tracksters copped the North State championship and performed well against some of the South's top track and field teams. Perry has been lost to the service, but Henderson and an experienced crew of veterans return to work this season.

The 1957 track schedule was announced today and several top-flight meets have been slated for the ECC team. The schedule is as follows:

Feb. 9 — Duke University and North Carolina State Indoor Informal (optional) at Raleigh.
Feb. 16 — University of North Carolina and N. C. State Indoor Informal (optional) at Raleigh.
Feb. 23 — Amateur Athletic Union Indoor Invitational (optional) at Raleigh.

March 23 — University of Richmond at Richmond, Va.
March 29 — Hampden-Sidney College at Hampden-Sidney, Va.

April 17 — Newport-News Apprentice and William & Mary Division Triangular at Norfolk, Va.
April 30 — North Carolina State (night) at Raleigh.
May 11 — North State Conference Championship at Burlington, N.C.
May 18 — Amateur Athletic Union Invitational (night) at Raleigh.

Miami U. Gets N. C. Footballer

HENDERSONVILLE, N. C. (AP)—Fullback Bob Elliott of Hendersonville High School will enter the University of Miami this fall, he announced yesterday.

Coach Andy Gustafson of Miami added that he considered the 200-pound Elliott one of the South's prize catches. Elliott gained over 4,000 yards in three years at Hendersonville, was named on several all-state selections and was honorable mention for the Wigwam Wisemen's prep All-American and All-Southern team.

Both will be eligible to play when they have completed 24 hours of work at Newberry. That could be done during the semester just starting and in summer school by taking six subjects now and two during summer school.

Turbeville quarterbacked one of Clemson's two units last fall and in the Jan. 1 Orange Bowl game at Miami.

Cato is from Kershaw.

Newberry College Enrolls Former Clemson Players

NEWBERRY, S. C. (AP)—Clemson reserve quarterback Horace Turbeville and freshman guard Earl Cato have left Clemson and enrolled at Newberry College here.

Turbeville said he felt he could complete his education "better at Newberry," a Lutheran college, than at the state-supported agricultural and mechanical college.

"You can't make a living playing football," he said.

Paul Richards Complains Colleges Are Bidding Too

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Some colleges are the chief rivals of big league baseball clubs in bidding for prep stars, says Paul Richards, manager-general manager of the Baltimore Orioles.

"The so-called amateur colleges—and you can quote that—give us our biggest competition in signing players," Richards said. "Certain colleges, if they go after an athlete, will outbid you for certain, unless you're inclined to give him a bonus."

Richard's blast came while he was in St. Louis Sunday to take part in signing an 18-year-old star high school athlete to a Baltimore contract.

College baseball coaches recently passed a rule prohibiting their players from talking to big league scouts. The ruling came after the major leagues knocked out an agreement not to sign college athletes after their freshman year or until they became 21.

"Schools in the Pacific Coast Conference, Big Ten and the South have been cited for various violations other ones haven't been caught, so what right have they to criticize organized ball?" Richards asked.

He mentioned no school names but said a university and not a rival major league team provided the main competition for Baltimore in signing Bert Barth, 6-3, 210-pound Beaumont high school graduate.

Barth received no bonus, Scout Del Wilber said.

McGuire's Team Still Clings To Top Of Standings

By MIKE RATHET
The Associated Press

Frank McGuire's North Carolina precessionists seem to have found a comfortable home at the top of the Associated Press basketball poll—and they refuse to give it up.

As a result of last week's action, Kansas nudged North Carolina a little, but was unable to dislodge it.

North Carolina, only major unbeaten in the country, made it 16-0 with a 77-54 walloping of weak Western Carolina this past week. The Jayhawks, now 13-1, and Wilt (The Still) Chamberlain defeated a more formidable opponent in Iowa State 75-64.

The sports writers and broadcasters voting in the poll awarded North Carolina 53 first-place votes and 871 points while the Jayhawks closed in with 22 first and 773 points, on the basis of 10 points for each first-place vote, 9 for second, etc.

The other teams in the top 10 received quite a shuffling.

Kentucky moved into the No. 3 position, displacing Louisville, which dropped all the way to sixth after its 81-78 loss to Memphis State. Southern Methodist jumped over UCLA into fourth as the Bruins maintained fifth. Seattle, Bradley, Iowa State and Wake Forest round out the top quintet.

Wake Forest, winner of three Atlantic Coast Conference tests, became the long newcomer in the top 10 while Illinois took its place at No. 15, dropping from seventh after its loss to Purdue.

The top 10, with first-place votes in parentheses:

1. North Carolina (53) 871

2. Kansas (22) 773

3. Kentucky (2) 539

4. SMU (1) 465

5. UCLA (2) 372

6. Louisville (1) 355

7. Seattle (1) 279

8. Bradley (1) 206

9. Iowa State 162

10. Wake Forest (1) 125

The second 10 in order:

West Virginia, Ohio State, Oklahoma City, Canisius, Illinois, Memphis State, Purdue, Vanderbilt, California and Idaho State.

Terps And UNC Steal Spotlight

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Maryland Terrapins, who prefer to play their close-knit defensive game on their home grounds, entertain the North Carolina Tar Heels tonight in a headliner Atlantic Coast Conference basketball game.

Maryland has beaten every other ACC team this season except North Carolina, winning most of them at home, and dropped its only game with UNC 70-61 early in the season.

The Terrapins, headed by Jim Hallock, John Nacinick and Bob O'Brien, will be facing the nation's top-ranked team, which bolstered its strength last week. Bob Young, 6-6 center-forward, has returned to the squad after absence since last year caused by scholastic difficulties and disciplinary matters.

Young's return helps balance the loss of sophomore Billy Hathaway, due to scholastic troubles, and of Tony Radovich, whose term of eligibility has expired.

Duke, playing its last regular scheduled nonconference game, is at home to Pittsburgh's Panthers. Pitt's young club, with a 10-7 season record, is headed by guard Don Hennon, who is averaging more than 19 points a game in three seasons from Pitt.

Virginia, which lost to North Carolina State 80-63 last week at Portsmouth, Va., plays a rematch with the Wolfpack at Raleigh. Both squads have losing records in the ACC, but N.C. State has made up on outsiders to boost its over-all mark to 10-8. Virginia is 4-11 for the season.

All ACC teams were idle last night.

Furman's Paladins get a chance tonight to ease the traffic jam that's developed around their place in the Southern Conference.

If the Paladins can beat Richmond in the Richmond Arena, they'll virtually clinch the No. 3 position for themselves. If they don't, the traffic jam will get a lot worse before it gets any better.

Furman, after its 80-78 victory over William and Mary last night, is the sole occupant of third place with a 6-3 league record. Richmond and Virginia Tech are tied for fourth at 5-4. Should Richmond surprise the Paladins tonight, and Virginia Tech prevail in its game against George Washington on the GW court, there'll be a three-way tie for third tomorrow.

Furman has just two more conference games after tonight, both on its home court. The first is against Richmond Feb. 13, the second against The Citadel, 3-6 in the standings, on Feb. 16.

Baseball Meeting Wednesday Night

The Greenville Recreation Department has announced that all boys, ages 13, 14 and 15, who wish to play baseball this summer should be present at an important meeting at the City Hall, Wednesday night, at 7:00.

Interested boys should bring one or both parents or an adult to sponsor them. Plans are to participate in the Teen-er baseball program this year, instead of Pony League Ball, it has been stated.

President Reportedly Plans Retain Stassen

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower reportedly plans to keep Harold E. Stassen as his disarmament assistant despite some GOP demands for his retirement. The subject came up at a recent White House conference attended by members of Congress.

The President was represented as having said, with something akin to amusement, that Stassen seemed to have a tendency to put his political foot in his mouth. This was an evident allusion to Stassen's political attacks on Vice President Nixon.

Eisenhower was reported to have added, however, that Stassen was doing a dedicated job in the disarmament field, a job he implied that not just anyone could step into and carry on with as much success.

Some members of Congress interpreted this as indicating Eisenhower believes that Nixon—whom he has praised highly—is capable of taking care of himself in any political jousting.

Stassen stirred up something of a tempest within the GOP by saying recently that the Republicans would have won control of Congress if former Gov. Christian Herter of Massachusetts had replaced Nixon as Eisenhower's running mate.

Rep. Simpson of Pennsylvania, chairman of the Republican Congressional Campaign Committee, responded by accusing Stassen of "performing a calculated disservice to the Republican party."

Rep. Scherer (R-Ohio) wrote H. Meade Alcorn Jr., new GOP national chairman, that Stassen's statement was "obviously the beginning of another dump-Nixon move for 1960."

Stassen tried unsuccessfully last summer to substitute Herter for Nixon on the ticket. But Herter declined and Stassen eventually supported Nixon.

In some quarters, Eisenhower's support for Stassen was interpreted as indicating that he plans no changes in top-level advisers.

Postmaster General Summerfield, the only Cabinet member whose job requires confirmation at the beginning of a second presidential term, won unanimous approval from the Senate yesterday.

Abandonment Is Charged Parents

LITTLETON, N. C. (AP) — The estranged parents of three of four Negro children who died last week after eating home canned blackberries and fish roe are facing trial on abandonment charges.

Police Chief M. L. Pinnell said Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland Faulcon were released under $300 bond pending trial in Recorder's Court Feb. 12. The mother is charged with abandoning the children and the father is accused of abandonment and nonsupport.

They were arrested on warrants sworn out by Pinnell, who said Faulcon had been away from home for three years. At the time of the deaths, the mother, Maxine, was in New York seeking employment, the officer said.

The Faulcon children had been left with Mrs. Faulcon's sister, Katherine Taylor, mother in law, in legitimate births, officers said.

Health authorities still haven't determined definitely what caused the deaths of the three Faulcon children and one of the Taylor children. The four had eaten home canned blackberries and fish roe. The youngest child died last Wednesday night and the other three on Thursday.

Dr. R. P. Young, county health officer, said, "This could have been poisoning, or it could have been chemical poisoning."

Nixon Planning Trip To Africa

WASHINGTON (AP)—Vice President Nixon is reported planning a trip to Africa next month to attend ceremonies commemorating Britain's granting of independence to the Gold Coast.

Nixon would make the flying visit as the personal representative of President Eisenhower to demonstrate America's interest in promoting independence for colonial peoples.

Informed officials said the White House would announce the trip within the next few days. The vice president already has made ceremonial visits to Asia and Central America. More recently he went to Austria to study the Hungarian refugee problem.

Nixon may stop off at several other American countries. But he wants to avoid the troubled Middle East lest it interfere with United Nations negotiations for peace in the region.

The Gold Coast is to be granted full independence within the British Commonwealth March 6. The name of the new nation will be Ghana. To celebrate the day, nearly every country in the world has been invited to send high-ranking representatives.

Sheds Light On Roach Remedy

Jacksonville, Fla. (AP)—Police Sgt. Steve Torda Jr. claims he has a remedy for roaches — keep the lights on.

Torda said the lights in the basement at police headquarters have been burning three years and the roaches don't come in — not even to lick the glue off envelopes, which roaches dearly love.

It's cheaper than insecticides, Torda said.

Robbed Safe In View Of Public

PATERSON, N. J. (AP)—Thieves broke open a safe standing in the well-lit showroom of an auto agency.

According to police, the safe-crackers must have worked undisturbed in the glaring showroom of Streelman-Nash, Inc., for at least half an hour in full view of passers-by. They got $463.

Deer Took Run Around Tracks

REVERE, Mass. (AP)—The residents of Revere were treated yesterday to the sight of deer taking a few practice turns around the Suffolk Downs horse track and later around the Wonderland dog track.

The tracks were fast and the deer easily crossed the finish lines far ahead of the pursuing conservation officer and police.

Conservation and police officers finally roped the deer behind a gas station.

They said the deer apparently came out of the woods in search of food.

Capture A Lion At His Window

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Householder Louis Tange called the police, announcing that a lion was looking in his kitchen window.

Two policemen, naturally a bit skeptical, arrived and found it was a lion — a 40-pound, 15-week-old cub. The law took the beast to a cage in an animal shelter where it growled indignantly.

Presently the owner, Donald Fuller, arrived to claim "Leopold." He said he had the cub up for sale and on display in a cage in his front yard Sunday. Somebody let Leopold out.

FIRE GOATS
ESCONDIDO, Calif. (AP)—The Chamber of Commerce proposed to San Diego County's supervisors that goats be herded to eat firebreaks in hill and mountain areas where brush and forest fires sometimes cause heavy damage. The chamber said the goats would pay for their keep with milk, meat and manure.

ELIZABETH SEIFERT'S NEW NOVEL
A Call for Doctor Barton
© 1956 by Elizabeth Seifert. Reprinted by permission of the publisher, Dodd, Mead & Co. Distributed by King Features Syndicate.

SYNOPSIS
Doctor Grady Barton, on vacation from a large hospital in Chicago, stops for gas at the small town of Green Holly, Wisconsin, and runs into an emergency. Frank Seddens, long-time resident of the town, is stricken with a high blood pressure attack at the station and Grady comes to his aid. Seddens is impressed with the young doctor's ability and asks him to consider a practice in the town, which is without a doctor. It is a tempting offer — Grady is tired of the hospital routine and wants a general practice. Besides, his wife, Gisela, is divorcing him and he wants to "get away" and start a new life. Grady returns to Chicago and his job as an admissions physician. He is unhappy with the duty because of the amount of paper work involved. After a few days, Grady receives from Seddens an invitation to be interviewed by the town committee. At the meeting at the Seddens home, prejudiced, aggressive man called Kopp says that the doctor of their choice should be a settled man with a family. Grady replies hastily: "I am married. Grady accepts the position and starts practicing in his new office.

CHAPTER 9
On Saturday morning, Grady watched a sign painter neatly print his name in gold leaf upon the glass of the clinic window, and below it the hour: when he might be found in the office. Morning, ten to twelve, afternoons, three to five. No office hours on Thursday afternoons and on Sundays.

On that Saturday, Grady had a half-dozen office visitors, and went out on two house calls. He set up a bookkeeping system and began a case file. He took stock of his supplies, and wrote an order to a supply house.

That evening he ate dinner at the hotel in Neighbors, being over there on a call, and drove home in a drizzly rain. The house was warm and pleasant. He changed into some slacks and a pull-on sweater and piled some reading beside his leather armchair. He had, that day, received his license to practice as a resident of Wisconsin and a bulletin from the state society.

At ten he began to think about a glass of milk and a sandwich. He was still reading, at ten-thirty when his door bell jangled. He snapped on the porch light and opened the door. His caller was a uniformed policeman, and the patrol car stood at the curb. "Got a drunk and disorderly, Doc," said the policeman. His name was Stone — Obie — Grady had already met him. Green Holly had three men on its police force and worked in co-operation with the larger force at Neighbors, when the occasion demanded that.

"Is your man hurt?" The sleeper officer nodded and shrugged, his face and eyes knowing. So Grady unlocked the office door, turned on the lights and crossed the pavement to assist the single policeman with his "D. and D."

Like a sack of old clothes, they dragged the rumpled, incoherent man across the walk to the clinic door and through it. "Fix him up — good as you can, Doc —" panted Obie Stone. "It's the prosecuting attorney — he gets a bit warlike when he drinks. Tonight he got himself socked in the eye."

"And how!" said Grady, busy with the man's cut and swollen cheek. Somebody had really hung one on Mo Chronister.

Toll Road Income Beats Schedule

BOULDER, Colo. (AP) — Revenue from Colorado's first modern toll road, the Denver-Boulder turnpike, has passed the two million dollar mark two years ahead of schedule. Engineers estimated the road, opened Jan. 21, 1952, would collect two million dollars by November 1954 but revenue has already surpassed that figure. The toll is 25 cents an automobile for the 18-mile route.

Colonel Booked For Theft Of Polio Drive Box

BRONSON, Fla. (AP) — An Air Force officer, termed "the meanest thief of the year" by Levy County Sheriff J. W. Turner, was booked for petty larceny Saturday in connection with the theft of a March of Dimes container. He was listed as Lt. Col. Dwight T. Robinson, 40, whose papers indicated he is assigned to duty in Washington, D. C. Turner said Robinson is a native of Punchutla, La. Robinson is accused of stealing a newspaper and the March of Dimes container from a service station near Otter Creek. Moments before he had charged gasoline, using a government courtesy card. The station operator, Mrs. Mac Hodge, telephoned the sheriff's office. Robinson was stopped 12 miles away. The money container, Turner said, "was on the seat beside him."

Soliciting Funds For Court Fight

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Door-to-door solicitations were underway today in an effort to raise a $60,000 legal defense fund for white persons arrested on warrants signed by Negro pro-integration leaders. The "Alabama segregation defense fund" drive began with passing out of collection buckets. An expected 100 solicitors will each approach 1,000 persons in Montgomery and adjoining counties, fund spokesman Jack Brock said. Seven white men were arrested last week on charges of taking part in violence following the end of city bus segregation in Montgomery six weeks ago.

gency call," he told the young mother. He was putting rolls of gauze, a bottle of saline solution, some tetanus toxoid into his open bag. "Would you please tell the others in the waiting room? I may be back in an hour if they want to wait." He changed his white coat for his windbreaker, explaining what the emergency was. A burned child — over at Neighbors — at the edge of town. "I can stay here for an hour, offered the young mother — her name was Ball, and from that minute Grady considered her his friend. "I'll tell people who come or call."

PICTURE TALK
By CHARLES BISSETTE
How Come?
A friend of ours wants to know how come newlyweds always seem to end up with half a dozen coffee-makers, three toasters, and five silver cigarette lighters. Perhaps he's exaggerating. Still, you probably noticed, too, that there's a lot of duplication in wedding gifts. Which brings us to another question: How about a camera for a wedding present? A camera is one of the few gifts that the couple can use even before they set up housekeeping. It's a gift that they can take on the honeymoon. And they'll reap lots of enjoyment from a camera for a long, long time. An excellent choice, for example, is the Kodak Brownie Movie Camera, 1-27. It's priced at just $29.95. (Suggestion: Take a few rolls at the wedding reception and then present the camera to the lucky couple!)

We have a great variety of other cameras to choose from, all capable of making fine pictures. And the prices start as low as $9.95 for the Brownie Holiday Flash outfit that comes complete with camera, flashholder, film, bulbs and batteries! Come in and look around. We're sure you'll find just what you want for the occasion. And, if you don't have a wedding coming up, remember that Valentine's Day is almost here. A camera makes a wonderful gift for one you love.

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK (AP)—A sinking spell clipped prices in an already declining market early this afternoon.

Key stocks lost from fractions to around 2 points.

The decline was general, with few pivotal issues able to resist the trend.

A combination of reports in financial circles and elsewhere tended to create a more pessimistic atmosphere in Wall Street, according to observers. They noted a continued trend away from speculative stocks to more "defensive" securities and a prevailing uncertainty.

The market was lower from the start with trading moderate. Then prices were pared on increased turnover, doubling some of the early losses. The selling wave lost its momentum but there was no recovery in prices.

Fractional losses among leading steels were widely extended in later transactions. Over-all trading was active as the session progressed.

Youngstown, Lukens and Bethlehem were each down around 2 points. U. S. Steel was off more than a point, Republic Steel a major fraction.

As the copper price situation remained soft, Kennecott was down around 3. International Nickel declined well beyond a point. Anaconda dropped a fraction.

Smaller losses were taken by leading rails. Illinois Central, New York Central, Baltimore & Ohio and Chesapeake & Ohio declined fractionally.

Gulf Oil bucked the market with the gain of a major fraction. Royal Dutch, Texas Co. and Standard Oil (New Jersey) declined slightly.

American Telephone showed little change. Consolidated Natural Gas rose a fraction.

Losses of a point or so were taken by General Tire & Rubber, Ford, Chrysler, Douglas Aircraft, United Aircraft, Zenith, Du Pont, Johns-Manville and Glenn L. Martin.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was down $1.20 to $174.70 with the industrials down $2.30, the rails down 8 cents and the utilities unchanged.

Youth Dies Of Wreck Injuries

AYDEN—Joe Fountain Weathering 18-year-old youth of Ayden, R. I., died yesterday afternoon at 5:10 as a result of injuries received in a single-car wreck in Greene County on Sunday afternoon. He had been in critical condition since being admitted to Pitt Memorial Hospital, suffering from a fractured hip, head injuries and a possible crushed chest.

The Ayden resident was the only occupant of the 1954 car that crashed into a tree on the Edwards Bridge-Suffield Road at about 6:45 p.m. Sunday.

Funeral services will be held at Britt's Funeral Chapel in Ayden Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock by the Rev. Hubert Burrell, Free Will Baptist minister of Pinetops. Interment will follow in the Ayden Cemetery.

Surviving are his mother, Mrs. Eva Eason of Alexandria, Va., and a brother, Bobby J. Weathering, who also lives with his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bur-ton of Ayden, R. I.; his maternal grandmother, Mrs. Joe McLawhorn of Ayden and his paternal grandmother, Mrs. Lucy Weathering of Winterville.

He was a member of the Little Creek Free Will Baptist Church of Greene County.

Tobacco Stabilization Corp. To Hold Meeting Tuesday Morning

A Flue-Cured Tobacco Cooperative Stabilization Corp. meeting is to be held in the County Court House tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock.

Officials of Stabilization Corp. along with other agricultural leaders will be present to discuss points of interest concerning the tobacco program. L. T. Weeks, general manager of the cooperative, said the meetings are "most important at this time" and he urged as many tobacco growers as possible to attend.
