Appropriations And Tax Bills To Meet Record Budget Introduced

RALEIGH (AP)—Appropriations and tax bills to write into law the largest budget in state history were introduced in the Senate and House today.

The appropriations and tax measures, drafted by Gov. Hodges and the Advisory Budget Commission, provide for state spending totaling 690 1/2 million dollars during the next two fiscal years and a series of tax revisions recommended by the State Tax Study Commission.

to provide operating funds for state agencies, institutions and the public schools, and one providing for 42 1/2 million dollars in permanent improvements at state institutions — were introduced in the House by Rep. Carl Venters of Onslow.

Other changes would replace the present "hodgepodge" system of levying business license taxes with a new law, turn over to cities and counties all of the proceeds from the intangibles tax which the state now shares, give cities authority to levy a tax of up to $10 on every person earning salaries or wages in a city, and give cities authority to levy a license tax of up to $10 on automobiles.

million the second year. Collections this year are estimated at 236 1/2 million. At the end of this fiscal year, the general fund surplus is expected to total nearly 60 million. This will make it possible to take care of the 42 1/2-million-dollar permanent improvement program and also contribute 17 million toward the operating budget for 1957-59.

Many Changes Offered For State Government

RALEIGH (AP)—North Carolina's state government would undergo many changes and a host of new measures would be enacted under a broad legislative program outlined last night by Gov. Hodges.

Hodges described the program as "one of many facets and of far-reaching conclusions." In his biennial message before a joint session of the House and Senate, Hodges called for revision of the state's tax structure, reorganization of the Highway Commission, separations of the Prisons Department from the Highway Commission, enactment of a state minimum wage law, passage of highway safety legislation, reappointment of the Legislature, and elimination of the absentee ballot in general elections.

Concerning the segregation issue, Hodges said that thanks to the "wisdom" of the Legislature in enacting the school assignment law and the Pearsall plan, "North Carolina has to date dealt well with this problem."

Taxes — He described the tax program as "another tool in our efforts to raise the per capita income of North Carolinians." The only way to do this, he asserted, is to raise the income of the bulk of the people through developing the state. The proposal to amend the corporate income tax laws, Hodges said, "is not a 'give-away' program" but would "remove certain unfair aspects" from the state's taxes on industry.

After outlining his program and recommendations, Hodges told the legislators, "These are things which I believe are necessary for the people" and for the state. Describing the State Constitution as "old and outmoded," Hodges called for the creation of a study commission to recommend constitutional changes to the next Legislature.

Public education — "We should provide a good minimum on an equal basis for all children in our 100 counties. . . We must have a long - time goal of state leadership and support supplemented by funds from local sources to build the kind of school system we ought to have. . . In the event that while you are in session federal funds for school construction are made available to the states, we shall make appropriate recommendations to you. If congressional action should come after you have adjourned, it is possible that a special session may have to be called to take care of the important problem."

Highway and highway administration — Reorganization of the Highway Commission, Hodges declared, would place the Highway Department under budgetary control and assure that road construction "will be on a statewide basis" while giving county commissioners more voice in secondary road matters. Under the recommendations of a study commission, the 15 - member Highway Commission would be replaced with a seven-member body.

MOSCOW (AP)—Foreign Minister Dmitri Shepilov today proposed a mutual hands-off program in the Middle East, provided the Western Big Three abandons its military bases.

He also urged creation of a state department of administration, which would perform functions now handled by the Budget Bureau, the Division of Purchase and Contract and the Department of Public Buildings and Grounds. It also would handle other functions such as long-range planning. The Department was proposed by the Commission on Reorganization of State Government.

Prison separation—"As a matter of logic, there is no basis for continuing the prison system under the Highway Commission." He said the budget submitted to the Legislature "includes appropriations to accomplish separation."

Welfare, health and hospitals—Hodges said new laws are needed to fill gaps in the welfare program. He added, "I hope such legislation will include methods to help control welfare payments to mothers of illegitimate children."

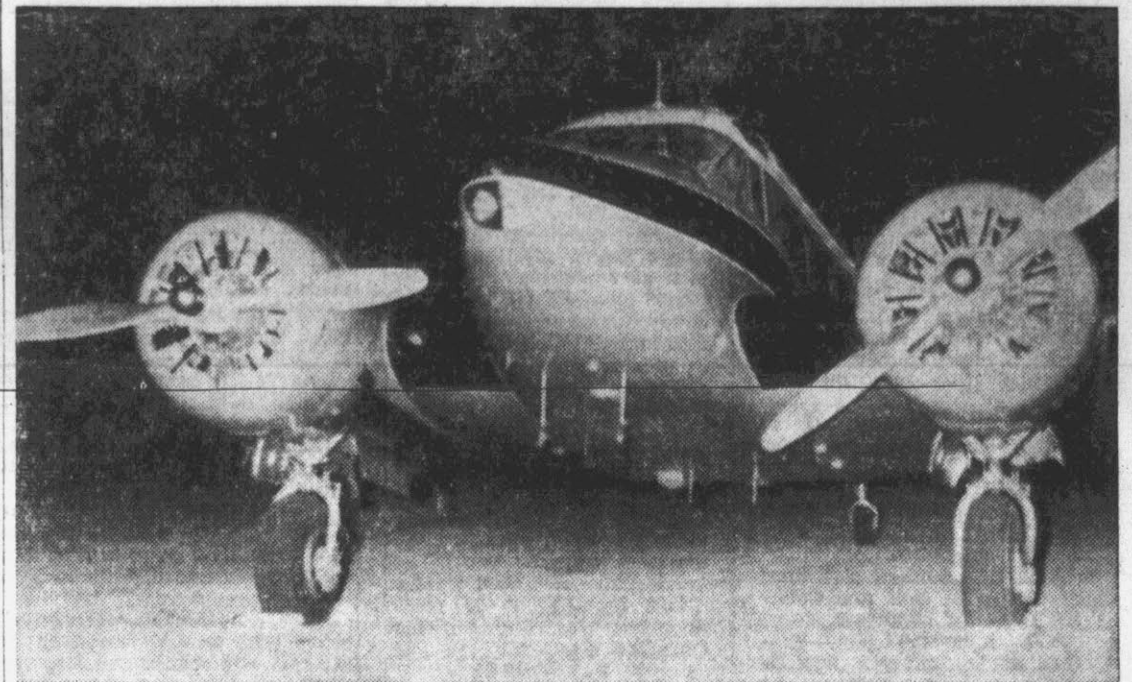

proposal in the first foreign policy speech of the Supreme Soviet's current semiannual session. He also told the Soviet Parliament that his government still believes "war is not fatalistically inevitable." He declared that peaceful coexistence between communism and Western capitalism is still "the cornerstone of the foreign policy of the Soviet state."

Preparing For 'Blind Sale' Here Starting Thursday

BLIND SALE—Miss Jeannie Manning, Pitt case worker for the blind and Miss Sydne Cox, home industries counselor for the N. C. Commission for the Blind, demonstrate articles to be sold Thursday and Friday before the television camera. The sale will be held at Lautares Bros. Jewelers in Greenville February 15 and 15. Merchandise to be sold will include such items as chairs, stools, brooms, baskets, rugs, spreads, aprons, dolls and leather belts and purses. All profits from the articles sold will be given to the blind persons who made the articles. (Reflector Staff Photo).

Late Arrival Required Some Help

This twin-engine aircraft landed at the City-County Airport last night after Civil Air Patrol members had lined their cars along a runway. The plane, which had about six occupants, got down safely. It was the second landing made in the past two weeks with the help of the Civil Air Patrol members.

Cars, Trucks Light Way For Another Night Visitor

A first-class feud appeared to be in the making today over the condition of lights at the City-County Airport.

It was stirred up again last night when members of the Civil Air Patrol lighted one of the airport's nine-mile runways to permit a private plane to land after dark. It was the second time in two weeks that CAP members had lined cars and trucks along the runway to permit an after-dark landing. On January 28, an Air Force plane landed after circling the field until the vehicles could be placed.

Neither last night's landing nor the landing two weeks ago was classed as an "emergency." The CAP is wondering just what would happen if they run into a situation when they don't have as much time as they've had in the two latest incidents.

Russians Offer Hands-Off Plan In Middle East

MOSCOW (AP)—Foreign Minister Dmitri Shepilov today proposed a mutual hands-off program in the Middle East, provided the Western Big Three abandons its military bases.

Shepilov told the Supreme Soviet, Russia's Parliament, that the Kremlin government had transmitted such a six-point proposal in notes handed last night to the ambassadors of the United States, Britain and France.

He said in effect that the Soviet Union is ready to stop sending arms to the Middle East if the Western powers will do likewise. He said the most urgent Middle East question now was "the complete withdrawal of Israeli troops from Egyptian territory."

Dollar Day Set In City Thursday

Dollar Day is Thursday. This one-day semi-annual shopping event was announced today by the Merchants Association, which sponsors Dollar Day in the city.

Administration of justice — "I hope you will give" careful study to a report by the Youth Service Commission recommending creation of a state-supported system of domestic relations courts. "Excessive and uneven workloads and problems of conflicting interests facing our 'part - time' Superior Court solicitors should be dealt with. We cannot expect efficient law enforcement if the state's lawyers are forced to handle the state's cases while trying to carry on private law practice."

Not Convinced U.S. Can Save Asian Neutrals

TOKYO (AP)—The head of President Eisenhower's Citizens' Committee on Foreign Aid said today a world tour had failed to convince him that U.S. money can save the uncommitted portion of Asia from communism.

The field is equipped with facilities to permit night landings but the CAP says they don't work. W.T. Kyzer, secretary-treasurer of the Airport Commission, says the lights worked the last time they were checked and can be operated if airport personnel are notified before 5 p.m. on the day after-dark landings are contemplated.

Kyzer explained that switches controlling the lights are in a vault which is kept locked. "There is a control panel in the tower but vandals won't let us keep a local on the tower. There, we have to keep the controls in the vault."

Program Liked By Lawmakers

RALEIGH (AP)—Reaction from several legislators indicates the General Assembly will go along with Gov. Hodges on many of the proposals in the broad program he outlined last night.

Rep. Phil Whitley of Wake said the message was "magnificent," adding, "My inclinations are to support most of this program."

Charges 5 Men With Robbery

An Ayden man has signed warrants charging five Lenoir County men with assault and robbery. Edison Pierce, 50, of Ayden signed the warrants yesterday accusing the five of assaulting him and then robbing him of more than $8. Sheriff Ruel W. Tyson reported today.

The sheriff identified the five as David Tillman, 21 of the Hugo section of Lenoir County; Billy Wilcox, 19, Kinston; Dalton R. Harris, 18, Kinston; Billy Lynn, Kinston; Gene Moyer, 19, Kinston.

Banquet Fetes Chapter Mothers

The Winterville Chapter of the Future Homemakers of America honored chapter mothers last night with a banquet in the school lunchroom.

Decorations for the Mother-Daughter event, an annual affair, featured a Valentine motif.

The FHA Emblem occupied a prominent place back of the speaker's table surrounded by a large heart of red net.

Table decorations, programs and favors for mothers and other guests were all in the shape of hearts to carry out the banquet theme, "Mother, We Give Our Hearts To You."

Speaker for the evening was Mrs. Ruel W. Tyson of Greenville. Her topic was "Understanding Through Love."

She declared "Too many mothers are too busy lying for their families rather than with them." The speaker paid high tribute to the mothers for attending the event planned for them and to their daughters for honoring them in such a manner.

Mrs. Tyson entreated the FHA members to try to live even more closely by the purposes of their organization and focused particular attention on two stated purposes: "To promote a growing appreciation of the joys and satisfactions of homemaking and to work for good-home and family life for all."

"A true homemaker's goal is not a salary received for her services but the joy and satisfaction of having a family living happily together," Mrs. Tyson declared.

Mrs. Ruel W. Tyson, center, was guest speaker last night for the Winterville FHA Chapter's annual banquet honoring mothers. Shown with her, left to right, are Miss Betty Jean Mobley, who introduced her, and Miss Janice Worthington, chapter president. Some 160 chapter members and guests attended the event.

Changes Noted In Way Of Life

FARMVILLE—Mrs. H. D. Moyer presented the program at the regular meeting of the Christian Women's Fellowship Monday afternoon, using the topic "The Woman Next Door."

Mrs. Moyer brought out three changes taking place today that should be taken into account in thinking of the evangelistic potential and responsibility of the church: first, population changes; second, an increased number of wives employed outside the home; and the increasing number of women who live alone.

Following this presentation the entire group entered into a discussion on what can be done in the local church to meet these challenges.

Mrs. Lloyd Smith conducted the devotional service from Romans 12. The doxology was sung as a prayer of dedication of the offering.

The business session was presided over by Mrs. T. M. Whitehurst, Fellowship president. She appointed committees to arrange for the Brotherhood supper on February 21.

The meeting was closed with the Fellowship benediction.

Mrs. G. R. Gurganus was elected president of the WSCS of Bell Arthur Methodist Church in a meeting held Friday night.

The election was held following Mrs. W. L. White's resignation. The evening's program was on the topic "Those Who Serve." Taking part were Mrs. Richard Baker and Mrs. Charlie Sutton.

The discussion pointed out the urgent need for young people to serve in the community. Each member was challenged by the speakers to accept this responsibility by encouraging the young people of the church to act.

Mrs. White read Scripture and prayed to open the meeting.

She presided over the business session during which minutes were read and the roll called. The treasurer's report was given by Mrs. B. L. Bateman.

Announcement was made that Thursday night Mr. Goldston from Louisburg College would be the guest speaker. His topic will be "Paul's Letters To The Church."

The hostess served pimento-cheese sandwiches, salted peanuts, Valentine cookies, candy and soft drinks at the meeting's close.

The Biggest Inflation Key Of All

Concerned with the threat of further inflation, President Eisenhower has made a number of suggestions to various segments of country's economic family. He has, however, failed to emphasize the one spot in which more than anything else can be done to curb further inflation.

He has failed to call on Congress or the other members of the administration to trim the record peace time budget he has recommended for the next fiscal year.

President Eisenhower did tell Congress it was the duty of that body to trim the budget if they could find ways of doing so without hampering the country's safety or its government's operation. That came as sort of a passing remark after the administration's spending proposals had been laid before Congress.

The federal government is by far the biggest business in the United States. Its spending is a major factor in the American economy from year to year. If the government is to spend billions upon billions more during the next fiscal year than it has spent in this year, there seems little hope that the inflation spiral will not continue. Big business and organized labor may be able to do some small things to help curb the downward trend of the dollar's value, but how much they can do is determined to a large extent by Uncle Sam's spending program.

In addition to calling on other lesser segments of big business to do something about inflation, President Eisenhower might also put more pressure on the biggest business—the government—to do more than it is doing to curb inflation. And we do not mean curbing inflation by harsher controls on prices, wages and things of that sort. The government can do a great deal to curb inflation by bringing its proposed budget for the next fiscal year down to a more realistic figure.

Older Drivers Could Stand Lessons, Too

The program of safety instruction being conducted by the Highway Patrol for county school children is a wonderful idea.

It brings the problems of driving and the results of bad driving squarely before the group that causes traffic law enforcement personnel the most trouble. The program sets forth in no uncertain terms what is expected of young drivers and what can happen if young people misbehave with a car.

The program could be carried one step farther, however. Adult drivers, with their years of experience, could successfully implement the work of the Highway Patrol by giving young folks an example to match and a goal to reach.

Last year, Bloody Pitt rolled up its worst highway fatality record in history. Twenty-four people were killed in 285 accidents that also brought serious injury to 109 other persons. Most of the dead and seriously injured were older, more experienced drivers.

Safety education is not something that can be limited to a classroom or auditorium. The real proof of the program is an increased attention to traffic laws, a willingness to give up a right-of-way in a tight spot and a constant recognition of the dangers of driving and walking on the highways.

Adult drivers can do their part in the program, by example and discussion of their own experiences with young people in the family and neighborhood. After all, highway safety is everybody's business.

Big Boomtime For Two Cities

By ELMER ROESSNER

Wilmington, Del., and Nashville, Tenn., are the booming markets in the country if the Federal Reserve Board's statistics on department store sales are a good index.

Sales in those two metropolitan areas last year were 9 per cent higher than in 1955, according to the final report on the year, now available. Sales this January were also substantially higher than in January, 1956.

Three metropolitan areas showed gains of 8 per cent: Reading, Pa., Wheeling, W. Va., Steubenville, Ohio, and Duluth-Superior.

Those with 7 per cent gains were: New York-Northeastern New Jersey, Milwaukee, Topeka, and Sacramento, Calif.

Six per cent up were Springfield, Mass., Newark, N.J., Washington, D.C., and Fort Worth, up 5 per cent; Suburban Boston, Cambridge, Mass., Scranton, Pa., Columbus, Erie, Pittsburgh, Birmingham, Jacksonville, Chicago, Little Rock, Memphis, Minneapolis and suburbs, St. Paul, San Diego, and New Orleans.

DOWNTOWNS SUFFER

All other trading areas listed showed gains equal to the national average, 4 per cent, or less.

The three downtown shopping areas listed pointed up the trend to suburban shopping. Downtown Boston showed no gain, but Suburban Boston showed a 5 per cent rise. Downtown Washington showed a decline of 3 per cent, but Metropolitan Washington, including downtown, showed an aggregate rise of 6 per cent. Downtown Los Angeles had a 4 per cent drop, while Westside Los Angeles was up 1 per cent.

There were few minus marks. With the percentage of decline, they were Providence, 2; Springfield, Ohio, 1; Augusta, 1; Kansas City, 2, and San Antonio 1.

Those areas showing neither gain or loss were Lowell, Mass., Wilkes-Barre - Hazleton, Lexington, Ky., St. Joseph, Mo., Joplin, Mo., Dallas, Oakland, Calif., and Portland, Ore.

By Federal Reserve districts, New York, Atlanta and Minneapolis lead with 6 per cent gains. Richmond, Chicago, St. Louis and San Francisco scored 5 per cent rises; Philadelphia and Cleveland were up 4 per cent; Dallas was up 3 per cent, and the Boston and Kansas City districts were up 2 per cent.

GAINS SLOWING UP

Department store sales since the first of the year have shown approximately 2 per cent increases over the same 1956 period. However, possibly due to storms retarding sales this year, or slowing them a year ago, some wide variations have appeared. Sales in Lancaster, Pa., in the week ended January 26, and in Cambridge, Mass., in the week ended January 5, were up 46 per cent.

Sales in Trenton, N.J., were up 30 per cent in the week ended January 19, but down 28 per cent in the previous week. In the Wheeling - Steubenville area, sales were down 12 per cent in the week ended January 5, up 35 per cent the next week, up 18 per cent in the week ended January 5, up 35 per cent the next week, up 18 per cent the following week, and then leveled off. Sales in Columbus were down 21 per cent in the week ended January 19 and up 26 per cent the next week. Memphis showed a 36 per cent jump in the week ended January 26, and Nashville showed a 30 per cent the same week.

Slowly Listing Public Lands

By LYNN NISBET

PUBLIC LANDS — John A. Pritchett, chairman of the land committee of the State Board of Education, said his group is making progress in obtaining an inventory of State owned lands. They have been working on it for three or four years.

The constitution vests title to marsh and swamp lands in tracts of 2000 acres or more in the State Board of Education. Also title and three lands by action of streams and tides. The aggregate acreage runs into big figures. Much of it has never been surveyed, and nobody knows how much or where it is.

Besides this marginal area, there is a lot of other land owned by the government. A recent bulletin of the Department of Conservation and Development reports more than a million and a half acres of land in 33 parks and forests, as follows: 12 State and three National parks, one State and four National forests, seven State and four National Historic sites, two State wildlife management areas. In addition to these larger tracts there are 15 roadside parks extending beyond rights of way, and many thousands of acres in highway rights of way.

Most of the marginal lands owned by the Board of Education has never been on the tax books, and until recent years had little real value. A good part of the park and forest lands, as well as the large areas occupied by military installations, was valued when purchased by the government and removed from the taxable lists.

VALUABLE — Higher prices for lumber and pulpwood and improved methods of getting trees out of the swamps have greatly enhanced the value of State owned marshlands. It is now worthwhile to have the lands surveyed and inventoried.

Pritchett's committee has made substantial progress in co-operation with the Attorney General and special locally employed attorneys in identifying acreage. If the proposed new Department of Administration in State government recommended by the reorganization study commission of property management, it will take over the responsibility of locating State lands. The complete file and records of the education board will be turned over to it. If the new department is not activated, the education committee will continue its efforts to establish an accurate inventory of lands belonging to the board.

ADVERTISING — When the Board of Conservation and Development meets in Kinston early in April one of the things it will decide will be what advertising agency will handle the North Carolina for the next two years. When the State advertising program was initiated 20 years ago there wasn't an agency in the state equipped to handle it. The Atlanta firm of Eastman-Scott & Company was employed, and functioned for ten years. For the past seven years the account has been handled by Bennett Advertising Company in High Point. Now there are several other Tarheel agencies capable of doing the job and a number of national firms with offices in North Carolina. The committee at the Kinston meeting will consider any agency which maintains a permanent office in this state. At first the account wasn't worth much to an agency. It has grown to where it is worthwhile, and competition is expected to be keen at Kinston.

NO FLAG — An eagle-eyed scout for this department discovered what he said was a rather serious oversight in the protocol and folder of the inaugural parade last week. The special flag of the Governor of North Carolina was not displayed on the car in which Governor Hodges rode or anywhere else.

United States flags were all over the place, as were regulation North Carolina State flags. Nearly every military unit in the parade had its own special color, company or regimental color. There was no special flag for the Governor's car. Absence of that special flag occasioned a series of telephone calls to National Guard officers, diplomatic protocol authorities and others.

Net result of these calls is that nobody contacted knows what the Governor's flag looks like, or even whether there is an "official" flag for the chief executive.

When the Governor flies in a National Guard plane he carries the rank of a four-star general. When he rides in the State owned car assigned for his use, it carries license plate No. 1 and is embossed with the Great Seal of North Carolina.

Several people who recall, more or less vaguely, having seen a Governor's flag remember it as displaying the Great Seal in blue on a white background, or white on a blue background, they aren't sure which. So far as your reporter can discover there is no statutory provision for a Governor's flag. The protocol authorities say if there is one it must have been adopted by some former chief executive for decorative purposes and does not have any special significance.

Strength For Today

By EARL L. DOUGLASS

DO IT NOW in the Bible which should stick in the mind of every believing Christian and greatly influence the procedure of his life. This is the verse: "Now is the accepted time; behold, now is the day of salvation."

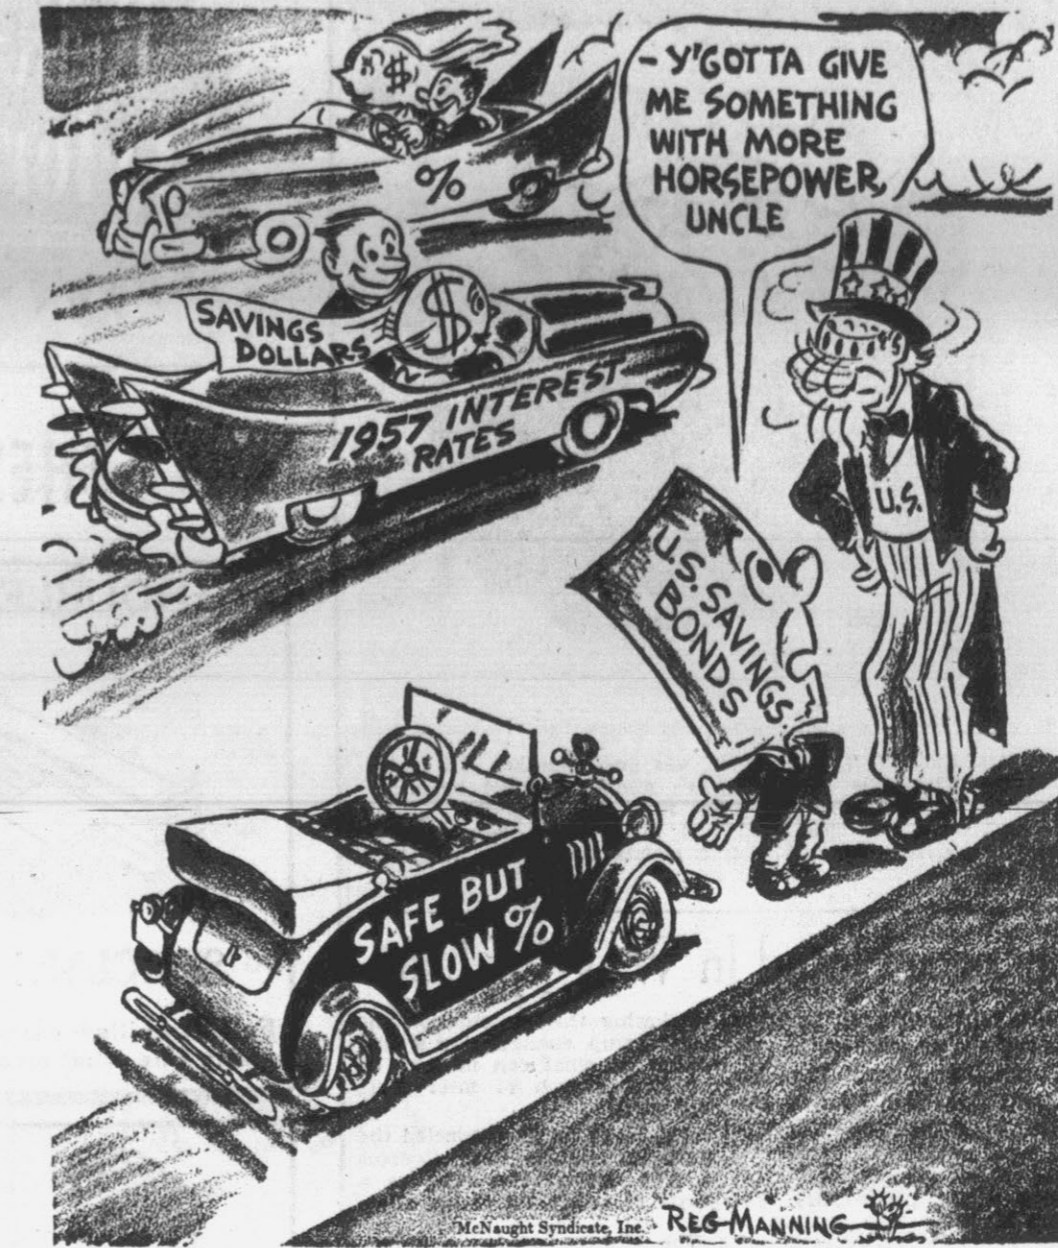

Many of life's tragedies result from putting off day after day, something that needs to be done, refusing to face an issue which eventually must be faced, declining the responsibility of some duty which is truly ours.

There is a very compelling aspect to the whole of human life. We do not create it and we play only a minor part of its management and fulfillment. If we neglect to do our duty or to take advantage of certain opportunities, or to speak for the truth when truth needs our defense, then the circumstances of life begin to pile up and to bear down upon us. If we would hand- le the issues of life as they arise, undoubtedly a majority of our problems would be quickly and effectively solved. Great overwhelming events sometimes take place in the life of individuals and, as it were, blow them to pieces. But most people who come to the end of their lives dissatisfied and unhappy, can attribute their failure to the fact that they have not handled situations as they arise.

So here is the good word from the Bible: "Now is the accepted time; behold, now is the day of salvation." (II Cor. 6:2)

If I'm Gonna Be Popular-

by ALVIN TAYLOR

Their After-Dark Hours

Being happy and single I've often wondered what happened to the married men after 7:30 at night. They're all around all day and then as night falls they just disappear.

Well a married woman explained it at the City Council meeting the other night. A delegation of dentists and other citizens appeared before the city fathers to urge them to act immediately on the issue of fluoridating the city water supply.

Among them was Mrs. Cravan Hughes, who speaking as a young mother, urged the councilmen to vote in favor of fluoridation.

"I'm sure other mothers feel the same way," she declared, "and others would have been here but there were several meetings going on tonight and their husbands just didn't get home in time to baby sit."

That brought down the house and explained to me what happens to husbands after dark.

Dr. M.B. Massey also spoke in favor of fluoridation at the meeting. He told the one about the little boy who rushed into the doctor's office to have a tooth pulled.

"Doc," he said, "I want a tooth pulled in a hurry. I want to get back out to play ball so if you'll do it right away I'll appreciate it."

The dentist, pleased to see the child so eager to have a tooth pulled, told the youngster to go right in to the operating room and have a seat. "Well it's not me," said the boy. "It's him." With that he pulled a scared youngster through the door of the office.

Remember that gas explosion which blew off two manhole covers at Second and Jarvis Sts. a couple weeks ago?

The best explanation at the time was that perhaps a car rode over one of the covers and caused a spark that set off the escaping gas.

That and other theories didn't satisfy City Manager Leonard Bloxam. He began an investigation to determine the cause. It developed that some boys smelled the gas via a catch basin and they decided to drop a match in the hole to see if it would burn. It did and the gas explosion resulted.

Luckily the youngsters weren't hurt.

Will any action be taken? "No," says Bloxam. "I guess I've done things just as bad when I was a boy."

Other Editors Saying--- Program With Vision

(Wilson Times)
Governor Hodges, in his inaugural address, pledged his best efforts to "Raising the standard of living for the people of this state."

And he has made much progress toward this goal. Governor Hodges has had two years as Governor before he took office in his own right. During this time he has made extensive plans.

North Carolina faces no crisis, as it did in the Eshinghaus administration. This courageous Governor advocated the sales tax in order to save the public schools.

But North Carolina must meet the challenge of the day, and go forward in industrial development or there will be a crisis to face. This is what Governor Hodges realizes. And he is going to make sure that no opportunities are overlooked or left undeveloped.

In line with this thinking, the Governor has made his plans for the legislature. And this session will be one of the most important in the state's history. This is true because of the dynamic leadership the state now has in Governor Hodges.

The legislature faces many problems of stupendous importance. Heading the list is the recommended tax changes, designed to bring about a more equitable tax structure and put this state in a favorable position to compete for industry.

Highway reorganization. This cuts to the core of the present political set-up where the commissioner's job is a political plum. The revision plans call for the election of the commissioners on the at-large basis and reduction in number. Also the prison administration will be divorced from the highway commission.

Then the reapportionment plan where representation is based on the population basis. Education must have the full support and consideration of the lawmakers. Pay increases have already been granted the state's official family. Now the next of kin must be considered. And the speed with which the legislature raised the pay of the Council of State guarantees increases for the teachers and other state employees.

There is the important question of highway safety, segregation issue and other items of interest which will demand legislative attention.

Governor Hodges has anticipated the most important question. These have been studied by commissions that are now ready to present their recommendations.

This will save much time. But all forecasts point to a long session. For there is much work to be done.

And Governor Hodges has a program and a plan for progress. He is not going to allow self interest groups to prevent the development and advancement of this great state.

The captain of the ship of state is a dedicated man.

Opinions In Brief

"One of the greatest barriers to the accumulation of capital is high taxes. In turn, high taxes are the result of the public demand for more and more government services. Farmers have been as guilty as other folks in their demands for the subsidies and protection that big government brings." (Chas. B. Shuman, president of American Farm Bureau Federation.)

"Socialism has failed here (in Britain). They nationalized the steel industry, coal mines, railroads and the health service. All these lost money. Wages didn't go up. Profits went down. There were strikes. And the Socialist managers were as tough as any old-fashioned capitalist manufacturer's group—more so, believe me." (Victor Riesel, labor columnist)

DILLON, S.C., HERALD: "The television giveaway programs get bigger and bigger. Successful contestants get richer and richer. Perhaps one of these days we'll be able to get the Secretary of the Treasury on such a program and pay off the national debt."

NAPLES, TEXAS, MONITOR: "A country newspaper is nothing more or less than a reflection of the town it serves."

Gold In Old Andros

By HAL BOYLE
ANDROS TOWN, Bahamas (AP) — There is gold in the storied earth of legend haunted Andros, a mystery shrouded island as large as the rest of the Bahamian group put together.

But what kind of gold? The romanticists say that buried somewhere in the 1400-square miles of Andros is treasure that today would be worth $25 million or more—loot hidden by Sir Henry Morgan and other pirates in the heyday of the Spanish Main.

The realists say the real gold of Andros is in its real estate—and in its climate, which they say will in time turn the island into another gold coast rivaling Florida.

The romanticists still turn up from time to time, poring over old treasure maps, still seeking the jewels and doubloons supposed to be hidden by absent minded pirates. Unfortunately, even if they did come across loot left behind by ancient freebooters, by law they must turn it over to the Bahamian government, which doesn't believe in "finders keepers."

A leading realist is Dr. Axel L. Wenner-Gren, the Swedish industrialist. He is one of a number of financiers for several nations who are pouring millions of dollars of fresh capital into development projects throughout the Bahamas.

To top inducements: the islands have no real personal income or inheritance taxes.

Wouldn't you like to spend your retirement years on a sunshine island where it never snows? . . . where native household help is cheap and plentiful? . . . where you can enjoy wonderful beaches and some of the world's finest fishing? . . . where the income tax man knocketh never at your flower-covered pastel cottage? . . . where, when you pass on, you can hand down your fortune intact to your grateful children instead of having to fork over the biggest wad to the government?

Well, whether you are this kind of person or not, the idea holds potential appeal to thousands of wealthy citizens who dwell in heavily taxed lands.

Even leaving out the question of taxes, Dr. Wenner-Gren and other industrialists feel many people with a pocketful of scratch yearn for an island paradise home.

Dr. Wenner-Gren has bought 100,000 acres on Andros Island bordering Fresh Creek (this is the only island in the Bahamas with fresh water streams), and is engaged in turning it into a gigantic resort colony.

Eventually his dream city, Andros Town, will be laced with canals — a semi-Venice, a second Fort Lauderdale.

He isn't a man who believes in half-way measures. In three years he has thrown up in this former wilderness site an abortive British government post-war farming project — a beautiful yacht club, a luxurious hotel, the Lighthouse Club complete with lighthouse guaranteed to be haunted.

He had dredged a canal that will take the largest yachts, built a private beach started a 10,000-acre farm, flown in a dozen milk cows (local joke: each quart of milk they produce still costs $10). This month his men completed a 4,400-foot landing strip, putting the island only an hour away from Florida by direct flight.

The luxury leisure of Andros Town has already drawn scores of international social figures and such celebrities in other fields as Eleanor Holm, Faye Emerson, Danny Kaye, and Ted Williams, the noted home run fisherman.

Estimates of the money Dr. Wenner-Gren has spent on the project so far range between 4 and 17 million dollars.

Only with the sale of hundreds of building sites and the erection of homes on them can the project, however, hope to pay off.

Andros has seen the flowering and withering of many splendid visionary enterprises over the last 250 years that were to bring it lasting prosperity. All failed. There are many Bahamians who feel that Swedish industrialist will fail too.

Proposal To Unify States' Interest

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — A movement to obtain Northern and Western support and understanding for the South's anti-segregation attitude has been proposed by numerous newspapers and members of Congress from Dixie. It actually amounts to an appeal from the Supreme Court's famous decision to the people and their elected Representatives to State Legislatures.

Jack Kilpatrick, editor of the News-Leader at Richmond, Va., has urged this "grass roots" maneuver. It was Kilpatrick who first suggested that Southern states adopt "interposition" resolutions in protest against the Supreme Court's rulings with respect to schools and transportation.

Eight Southern states have officially adopted that course, and Texas and Tennessee are expected to do so at current legislative sessions. The "interposition" declarations range from Alabama's proposed use of force to mild protest in North Carolina. SUPREME COURT'S OVERRIDING OF STATE SOVEREIGNTY IN commenting favorably on the Kilpatrick plan to invade other sections, an editorial in the Shreveport (La.) Times says:

"Mr. Kilpatrick points out that virtually every State Legislature outside the South meets this year. He urged that Southern states send delegations from their Legislatures to appear before the Legislatures of non-Southern states and convince them that the real fight now is to preserve their states rights, and not merely the South's segregation."

The Supreme Court's overriding of State sovereignty in other than racial matters may lead to a more sympathetic response to the South's difficulties. It has stirred criticism in legal and judicial circles as well as among affected politicians. SEVERAL STATES' LAWS INVALIDATED As recently noted here, the Supreme Court has invalidated several states' laws against Communists and handlers of drugs and below-standard foods on the ground that Federal statutes cover these same subjects. Referring to this confused situation, the Shreveport Times editorial says:

"Nevada's Legislature meets shortly. It is very zealous over its right as a state to have public and legalized gambling on an unlimited scale even though 47 other states think it is wrong. Wouldn't it be well for Southern states to send a delegation to the Nevada Legislature to point out that a Court which upset state-established segregation on moral and sociological grounds certainly could upset state-established gambling on the same grounds?"

"Virtually every state in the Union has some special state right of peculiar value to itself which could be subjected to the same attack that the present Supreme Court has unleashed on the most important state right of the South. But most of them don't know it, and no one is making any concerted effort to tell them."

SOUTHERN SPOKESMEN NOT HOPEFUL Southern spokesmen on and off Capitol Hill note regretfully that wherever local and state laws against desegregation have been heard in Federal courts, they have been declared unconstitutional. And it is accepted that the same way Court would hold the Supreme Court would hold the same way. If it is asked to pass on legislation enacted under the philosophy of "interposition" even though it was championed by the redoubtable Thomas Jefferson in his day.

Although retiring Justice Stanley Reed is a Kentuckian and generally regarded as a conservative, he voted against an all-white primary system and segregation on transportation facilities. And the man to be named by President Eisenhower as his successor is likely to side with the Warren majority on these questions.

Heart Cookies Are Delightful And Thrifty

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor
How about filling the cookie jar with Valentines? These heart-shaped cookies are fine to serve the family, from small fry to grandpa. We like them in the morning with a glass of milk or a good hot cup of tea. They're not very sweet or rich but they have a crisp texture and a delicate honey-spice flavor that are pleasing. The ready-to-eat whole bran cereal in the cookies adds to the crunchiness—and it is thrifty to use, too.

VALENTINE WAFERS

Ingredients: 2 cups sifted flour, 1 teaspoon baking soda, 1/2 teaspoon ground cinnamon, 1-4 teaspoon ground cloves, 1-4 teaspoon ground allspice, 1/2 cup butter or margarine, 1/2 cup honey, 1/2 cup whole bran cereal.

Method: Sift together the flour, baking soda, cinnamon, cloves and allspice. Cream butter and honey. Crush bran slightly; you can do this by running a rolling pin back and forth over the bran two or three times. Add crushed bran and sifted flour mixture to creamed mixture; mix thoroughly. Chill. Roll out a small portion of the dough at one time very thin—less than 1-16 inch if possible. Use a prepared pastry cloth with a stockinet-covered floured rolling pin. Cut out cookies with floured heart-shaped cookie cutter. Place cookies a couple of inches apart on buttered baking sheets. Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven 8 to 10 minutes—depending on size of cookies. Remove to racks with spatula. Cool. Store in a tightly covered container and cookies will retain their crispness well. Makes 7 1/2 dozen very thin crisp cookies, using small (1 1/2 inch) heart-shaped cookie cutter.

RECIPE NOTE
These Valentine Wafers are made with no other sweetening than honey. Recent research by the U. S. Department of Agriculture shows that substituting honey for all or part of the sugar in some baked goods may improve their color, flavor and texture. In chewy cookies, such as fruit bars and brownies, honey was used to replace over half of the usual amount of sugar called for; the opinion of researchers was that the honey used in these specific recipes achieved a particularly desirable result.

MY FAIR LADY MENU
At the beginning of the Edwardian era, a famous writer added a delightful chapter called "Some Studies of Color in Family Dinners" to one of her cook books. Her "Pink Dinner" might be fun to serve this Valentine Day. We've omitted the soup on the original menu because it is Cream of Beet and a salad of beets is also included.

- Boiled Salmon
- Potatoes Fried Whole
- Tomato Souffle
- Beet and Celery Salad
- Strawberry Sponge
- Pink-and-White Cake
- Crackers and Cheese
- Coffee

VALENTINE COOKIES are favored by whole family, from small fry to grandpa.

Mrs. Little Is Shower Honoree

ROBERSONVILLE—Mrs. Roy Lee Vanderford, Mrs. Alton Croom, Mrs. James Jenkins and Miss Ethel Taylor honored Mrs. James Elias Little at a miscellaneous floating shower given at the Vanderford home Friday evening.

Miss Taylor and the honoree, the former Miss Eunice Matthews, welcomed the guests at the door. Mrs. Vanderford invited friends into the dining room where the table was covered with lace, spread over a green cloth. This was centered with a large arrangement of carnations, pompons, baby's breath and fern flanked by candlesticks holding lighted white tapers to carry out the green and white color scheme.

Mrs. Jenkins served iced drinks while pimento-cheese sandwiches, potato chips, pickles and mints were served buffet style.

Mrs. Croom received in the gift room and Miss Taylor presided at the register. The hostesses presented the bride of January 17 china in her chosen pattern, a piece of crystal in her selected design and a white carnation corsage.

Invitation To White House Occasions Pride, Frustration

By JANE EADS
WASHINGTON—Most folks are exceedingly proud to be invited to the White House. Some look their engraved invitations in vaults for their grandchildren to see. Some frame them and hang them on their wall for everyone to see.

An invitation to the White House is like a royal command. Illness, absence from town or a death in the family are about the only excuses a person is supposed to give for not attending.

A bid to the White House is supposed to supersede all other invitations. That's why local hostesses await announcement of the official list of dinners and receptions before making plans for their own shindigs.

In recent years, however, more and more people stay away, and not for the reasons given above. Though illness or absence from town may be the cause given, the ones who stay away from the receptions are chiefly those who've been there many times before and find the whole routine an ordeal, especially the long wait in the reception line.

When the people are finally ushered into the Blue Room to be received by the President and First Lady, the meeting is usually perfunctory and fleeting. Then they inch their way into the state dining room, where the mob is usually crushing, the punch unspiced and the refreshments light to say the least.

One society reporter, Betty Beale of the Washington Evening Star, offered a suggestion several seasons ago. She thought it would be a good idea to have the President and First Lady stand in the East Room by the entrance to the adjoining Green Room where everybody could observe them 10 minutes or more before shaking hands.

"The Eisenhowers could relax during their mid-reception break in the Green Room, and the Blue and Red Rooms could help relieve the jam in the dining room," she suggested.

Cabinet members and their wives always accompany the presidential pair down the marble staircase from their private suite on the second floor.

They are about the only ones who get a chance to really visit with the hosts. And only the highest-ranking guests, who are the first to reach the East Room, get a good look at the hosts as they proceed to their places in the receiving line.

Little-Matthews Nuptials Held

ROBERSONVILLE—Miss Eunice Matthews and James Elias Little were united in marriage on January 17 at the home of her sister, Mrs. Roy Lee Vanderford, on Highway 64.

The Rev. Willis Wilson, Free Will Baptist minister of Stokes, officiated.

The bride wore a beige dress with brown accessories.

She is the daughter of Frank Harrison Matthews of Robersonville and the late Mrs. P. H. Matthews. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Elias Little of Stokes.

The bridal couple are making their home with Mrs. John Powell on Second Street following a short wedding trip.

Book Club Hears Talk On Safety

ROBERSONVILLE—A talk on South Carolina, the Palmetto State, highlighted the meeting last Tuesday afternoon of the Book Lovers' Club.

Mrs. Mayo Little presented the program and was also club hostess.

She touched on the early life in comparison with the present and informed the group that North Carolina's neighbor state has several unique distinctions.

The speaker gave many facts of interest about Charleston and Columbia, the largest cities. Although neither has a very large population, both are important centers of industry, she said.

The hostess served sandwiches, congealed salad, salted nuts and tea to the thirteen members.

Next meeting will be with Mrs. C. Abram Roberson.

N. C. Composers Are Discussed For Club

ROBERSONVILLE—Friday afternoon the MacDonald Music Club met at the home of Mrs. Mayo Little on Main Street.

The hostess was the program leader for this date and her subject was "North Carolina Composers."

Although she touched briefly on a few writers of music, she featured Hermene Warlick Eichorn of Greensboro and Honeymoon Hills.

Part of the afternoon was spent practicing the three numbers which will be sung as a chorus at the state federation meeting in April.

Mrs. Little served a sweet course to the large group.

Days Of Free Polio Shots Seemingly Nearing An End

The days of free polio vaccine are apparently limited. Lack of action by federal officials to request congressional appropriations to purchase additional stores of Salk vaccine indicates that federal health authorities apparently feel they've done their part in the polio inoculation program. At least, that's the way the State Board of Health has interpreted the situation.

Dr. Walter C. Humbert, Director of the Pitt County Health Department, said today that he had been notified by the State Board that President Eisenhower has not requested any funds to continue the free vaccine program. The State Board also said that the Surgeon General won't ask for any money because federal officials feel that by June 30 the government will have made free vaccine available to age groups with the highest susceptibility to polio. That means federal health authorities believe federal subsidy of the program is no longer needed.

Dr. Humbert has advised parents of children at least three months old who have not had polio shots to have them given as soon as possible.

"If the shots are started now, it will mean that the children can take advantage of the free federal vaccine by getting shots completed by July 1," Dr. Humbert said. He added, "However, parents with infants shouldn't deny their children vaccine for whooping cough and diphtheria just to get the polio shots. The whooping cough and diphtheria shots are more important to an infant."

The Health Department is still operating its system of clinics for polio inoculations in addition to the school visits being made by a special nurse. Clinics at the Health Department are conducted each Monday and Wednesday afternoon. Farmville clinics are held each Monday and Thursday, afternoon. Children of school age are not eligible to receive shots at the clinic because of the program being conducted in the schools.

Beginning March 1, Dr. Humbert said the Health Department would expand its polio inoculation program. Clinics have been scheduled for Bethel on second Friday afternoons in March, April, May and June. Clinics will be held in Grifton on second Monday afternoons during the same months.

Dr. Humbert also said that beginning March 1, an adequate supply of federal vaccine will be available for private physicians to use on patients under 20. Vaccine supplied by federal agencies to private physicians is administered by the physicians without any charge for the vaccine.

The communication from the State Board of Health to Dr. Humbert also said that age limits for use of the federal vaccine are still birth and 19 years. Expectant mothers are also eligible to receive the free shots. Dr. Humbert said that adults older than 19 who desire shots can obtain them from private physicians who now have access to commercial supplies of the vaccine.

Search Sea And Shore For Missing Woman

OCRAOKE (AP)—A physician whose pretty nurse disappeared from his anchored yacht waited anxiously today to see whether searchers could find any trace of her.

Hyde County Sheriff C. J. Cahoon and a State Board of Investigation agent were at the Coast Guard station here to press an investigation.

Brisk winds and choppy seas delayed a scheduled sea search but Coast Guardsmen hoped to get one or more boats out later in the day if the weather permitted.

Dr. James T. Dodge, 45, general practitioner of Trenton, N.J., said he thought high waves might have thrown her off the yacht's deck while he was asleep below decks.

Dr. Dodge and Mrs. Mary Ann Scales, 33, of Bordenstown, N.J., his nurse for 12 years, had been on a Southern cruise for about a week "to get away from his practice." He said the 34-foot craft Mary N. II ran aground near here about 6:30 p.m. Saturday and after they floated it they anchored in a channel because of poor visibility.

The doctor said he went below to sleep at about 8 p.m. but "Mrs. Scales said she wasn't sleepy and was going to sit up for awhile," he related. When he awoke the next morning, he added, she was gone. Her shoes were under the yacht's steering wheel.

"She might have looked at the anchor chain in the wind and been pitched off," Dodge suggested.

The Weather Bureau and Coast Guard reports noted that seas were choppy that night, it was foggy and the wind was 20 miles an hour.

Meanwhile, spouses of both the physician and nurse said their marriages were breaking up. At Mercersville, N. J., Mrs. Dodge said she left her husband last May because of the nurse.

The nurse's husband Eugene, a Trenton, N. J., automobile brake shop employee, said he had filed suit for divorce on grounds of desertion. He has been caring for their two daughters, Janice Marie, 6, and Phyllis Jean, 14.

The Dodgers also have two daughters, Barbara, 9, and Judy 17.

Newcomer Named New Pie Queen

YORK, Pa. (AP)—A 16-year-old German refugee girl is the new cherry pie baking queen of Pennsylvania — and she had never baked a cherry pie before last Christmas.

The winner, Heidi Nicky, who now lives at Littlestown, Pa., said she baked a cherry pie every day from Christmas until Jan. 24, when she captured the Adams County championship.

Heidi won the state title over the weekend, beating 13 county champions. Now she's an automatic candidate for the national cherry pie making competition in Chicago later this month.

Job Applicant Is Travelling Man

NEW PORT, Ky. (AP)—A Louisville man not only sends in the briefest possible application for a job — but he apparently does a lot of travelling too.

William Wurth sent a postcard applying for the job of city manager here when the post became vacant.

Later he sent a formal application and followed that with another postcard — this one from Kingsport, Tenn.

City commissioners heard from him again — by telegram from Washington reminding he's still interested.

Communist Party Decides Today On Policy Decisions

By JAMES DEVLIN
NEW YORK (AP)—The American Communist party decides today whether it will do its own interpreting of Marxist-Leninist principles or take Moscow's version.

The party, meanwhile, voted at its convention to move its headquarters from New York to Chicago within a year. It said this would place the leadership nearer farm and industrial areas and help link labor and Negro movements.

In the same session, it adopted a resolution accusing its leaders of having committed "left-sectarian" mistakes that led to isolation of the party.

"Left-sectarianism" is a Communist term identified with bureaucratic and rigid adherence to the Moscow line.

During the party today was another resolution calling for self-determination by the American Communists in interpreting the principles to guide them.

"These principles," the resolution said, "the Communist party of the United States interprets and applies, and strives to develop further, in accordance with the requirements of the American class struggle and democratic traditions."

It said the party must distinguish better between those additions to Marxist theory which are valid for all countries and those which "reflect exclusively certain unique features of one or another country."

"Likewise, the Communist party will have to be bolder in re-examining certain Marxist-Leninist theories which, while valid in a past period, may have become outdated and rendered obsolete by new historical developments," it said.

"For example, we as well as other Marxist parties have already discarded as obsolete the thesis that war is inevitable under imperialism.

"We have also recognized as in-

'Heart Puzzle' Offered Schools

CHAPEL HILL — A new teaching aid, "The Heart Puzzle," designed for upper elementary grades and junior high school classes, reinforces the teacher and the textbook in explaining how the blood circulates through the heart.

Teachers may obtain copies of the puzzle from local chapters of the North Carolina Heart Association, or from state headquarters in Chapel Hill. The puzzle, printed in three colors, shows a large diagram of the heart, including the chambers, the valves, the great veins, the aorta and pulmonary artery.

Red and blue arrows are to be detached from a gummed, perforated sheet, and then pasted into the proper heart chambers, arteries and veins, to show the blood flow through the heart.

Red arrows indicate freshly oxygenated blood and blue arrows mean venous blood. Drawings illustrating the size of animals' hearts — from a mouse to a giraffe — complete the heart puzzle.

A guide for teachers, suggesting possible classroom uses of the new teaching tool, accompanies the puzzle. It is felt that the new makes clear the course of circulation in a form children will find entertaining.

correct the concept of inevitable violent proletarian revolution, recognizing the possibility in our country of a peaceful, constitutional transition to socialism."

Lenin had projected the thesis that war was inevitable under imperialism. Stalin held that violent revolution was inevitable.

The resolution adopted yesterday on "nature of the errors" said:

"These left-sectarian mistakes are the main reason for the unprecedented degree to which it was possible for big business and its political representatives to isolate the party.

"To end its isolation and expand its mass work, the main task of the party today is to overcome completely the influence of left-sectarian estimates, policies and tactics in all fields of work."

As an example of mistakes, it said "left-led Negro organizations were often (under the weight of our insistence) heavily burdened with 'special pleadings' in behalf of the general program of the left."

It said that as a result the organizations departed from programs and methods which "masses of Negro people were prepared to support."

This was the final day of the four-day convention, the first held by the party in seven years. The credentials committee said there were 298 delegates and 28 alternates attending.

Green Hair Has Its Advocates

DALLAS (AP)—"Honey, run down to the drugstore and get me some light green hair rinse. I'm out and I want to wear my new green dress tonight."

That's one of the things husbands will face if the Texas Assn. of American Beauty Culturists has its way.

Just by way of demonstration, pretty Peg Murphree of Dallas had her hair changed from lavender to bright copper yesterday.

Some 5,000 beauty operators and manufacturers attended the convention where hair stylists are presenting the latest in cutting and coloring.

"A lady's hair color is as important a part of her makeup as rouge, or lipstick or any clothing accessories," said Duane Slater, Minneapolis stylist. "If her hair is not the right color, she simply is not beautifully dressed."

Colors, he said, will be selected to accent a woman's eyes and skin tones, and often to go especially with her fanciest outfits.

Slater ruled out long hair as an absolute 1957 "no."

The 1957 look, Slater said, will accent wide swirls of curls from the ears up, with the hair falling close to the cheeks on the sides, and brushed up in the back. "No hair in the back will be visible from the front," he explained.

Telephone Company Plans To Begin $13 Million Expansion Plan For '57

TARBORO — A $13,000,000 expansion program is scheduled to be undertaken during 1957 by Carolina Telephone and Telegraph Company. This was disclosed today by L. W. Hill, president of the company, who stated that this year's program will be on approximately the same level as the one accomplished during 1956. The 1956 program was the largest ever undertaken by the company.

"To meet the continually increasing demand for telephone service in Eastern North Carolina during the past five years, the company had undertaken expansion programs involving gross expenditures of approximately $42 million," Hill stated.

OUTSIDE PLANT EXPANSION
Largest single block of the 1957 program is earmarked for construction of additional outside plant. This outside plant involves poles, cables, wires and other facilities that are extended in both urban and rural areas to provide new and increased telephone service. Over 265 major construction projects are scheduled throughout various areas of the company during the year.

1957 RURAL PROGRAM
During 1957, as was the case last year, considerable emphasis will be placed on the company's rural telephone development program. Some $2½ million is scheduled for this rural development. This year's rural program is a continuation of the 1956 program which resulted in a net gain of approximately 6,000 rural telephones. Over 100 rural projects are slated to be undertaken by the company in its 41-county operating territory during the year.

CENTRAL OFFICE EQUIPMENT
Second largest block of the total 1957 program will be used for the purchase and installation of additional local dial and long distance equipment in various central offices. Either local or long distance equipment additions are scheduled to be made during the year in approximately one-half of the company's 111 exchanges.

In many exchanges, installation of additional equipment will result in conversion of those exchanges to the two letter and five digit system.

em of numbering. Called the two-five numbering plan, this system is the first step toward eventual long distance dialing by subscribers.

Also included in the company's 1957 expansion program is construction of a $1,500,000 microwave system between Rocky Mount and Fayetteville. This system is expected to be placed in service during the mid-part of the year and will provide a main communications artery to route long distance calls to and from Eastern North Carolina.

TELEPHONE STATION ACTIVITY
Approximately $2½ million has been allocated for purchase and installation of telephone instruments and related wiring in homes and businesses throughout its territory.

Carolina Telephone and Telegraph Company broke all previous records during 1956 when it had a net gain of over 12,000 telephones. "We hope to gain more than that during the coming year," President Hill stated.

LAND AND BUILDINGS
Rounding out the company's program for 1957 will be allocation of approximately $1½ million for land purchases, construction of new buildings and building additions and purchase of necessary work equipment.

"A total of 17 new buildings or additions to existing buildings will be constructed during the year. Largest expenditures for buildings or building additions will be made in Kinston, Rocky Mount and Weldon although many other such projects will result in considerable expenditures," the telephone company president stated.

Budget Would Provide A Plane

RALEIGH — The new state budget calls for an appropriation of $109,109 to purchase an airplane for the use of Gov. Hodges and other state officials.

Hodges told his news conference yesterday that in his position as governor, "this office rather resisted" the request for an airplane, which grew out of a study by the Budget Bureau.

Hodges said, however, that looking at it "objectively" he agrees with the need for a plane. It would prove valuable, he said, in the campaign to attract industry by flying industrial prospects to inspect possible sites.

The 1957-58 budget presented to the General Assembly last night also calls for an appropriation of $24,520 for operation of the twin-engine, six-passenger plane. The appropriation would include $9,000 to hire a pilot. The plane would be housed in the National Guard hangar at the Raleigh-Durham airport.

Hodges, who has done more flying than any other governor in the state's history, uses a National Guard plane on most of his trips. The plane, however, is kept at Charlotte and must be flown to Raleigh and back to Charlotte when the governor's trip is completed.

In addition, special permission must be obtained from National Guard officials in Washington when Mrs. Hodges or any other women are transported in the Guard plane.

Slashed 3 Sons, Killed Herself

WOOD RIVER, Ill. — Mrs. Norman Robertson, 25, who had been under psychiatric treatment, slashed the throats of her three little boys yesterday and killed herself.

Helen Andrews, Mrs. Robertson's 12-year-old sister, discovered the tragedy when she stopped on the way home from school to play with her nephews.

The father, 33-year-old vocational guidance counselor for a social agency in St. Louis, said his wife was a patient at a mental hospital for four weeks after the youngest boy, Mark, was born six months ago.

The other boys were David, 4, and Eric, 3. All died.

Pitt Is Assigned New Patrolmen

It was announced today by the State Highway Patrol that two new patrolmen have been assigned to Pitt County, bring the local unit up to full strength.

The new patrolmen are H.R. Winslow and W.K. Chapman. Chapman will be assigned to Bethel and Winslow will remain in Greenville.

At the present time, both men are working with the five county patrolmen. They were sworn in on February 1. In a short time the two will be assigned to the North Carolina Highway Patrol training school at Chapel Hill for three months of training.

A Good Question To Stir Up Talk

DENVER — When time hangs heavy and you want to enliven a group discussion, try this one: If a man flies around the world in 45 hours and 19 minutes, yet watches the sun rise and set three times in that period, is he two or three days older?

Mal. Gen. Archie J. Old Jr., Air Force commander, confesses that's got him a little puzzled. And he has reason to mull it over because he led the three Air Force B52 jet bombers making a nonstop flight around the globe last month.

Experts Devalue Art 'Treasure'

LONDON — British art experts agreed today that a 16th Century painting previously valued at 60,000 pounds—$108,000—is just a good copy worth about 50 pounds.

The painting, formerly attributed to Hans Holbein the younger, has been one of the star attractions at the current Royal Academy show of portraiture. It is a portrait of William Warham, former Archbishop of Canterbury, and has been hanging in Lambeth Palace for some 300 years. It is owned by the church commissioners, business administrators for the Church of England.

Debunking of the portrait was started by a London art dealer who spotted flaws in the painting and flew to Paris to check on a similar work in the Louvre. "The one in the Louvre is undoubtedly the work of Holbein," the art dealer said. "The church commissioners' picture is a poor and worthless painting, a copy made by some unknown artist."

David Piper, a member of the committee which selected the paintings for the Academy exhibition, said he now agreed with Koester.

Another art expert, John F. Reeve, said he also agreed with Koester's findings.

A spokesman for the church commissioners said that the painting would continue to hang in Lambeth Palace.

Preschool Day Set Feb. 28 At St. Raphael's

Principal S.M. Barbara announced today that plans are being carried out to conduct Preschool Day at the Saint Raphael Catholic School on Thursday February 28.

The primary purpose for the Preschool day is to register local boys and girls who are planning to enter the Nursery, Kindergarten and grammar school next year. It has been requested by the principal that parents accompany their children on this day. The program will begin at 9 a.m.

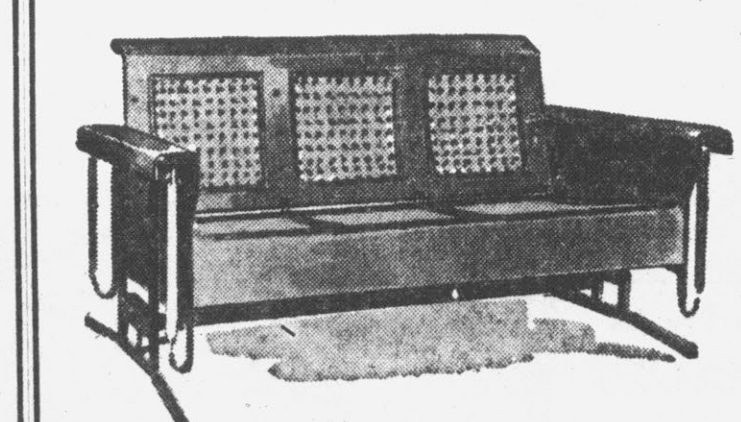

It was also announced that a doctor and a health department nurse would be present for the purpose of giving physical check-ups and making recommendations for the correction of physical defects which may be found. Immunizations will be offered for Diphtheria, Whooping Cough and Smallpox.

HER PARADE RIDE DREW PROTESTS:—Mrs. Jo Ann Mashburn appeared from out of rowher in scanty costume, hopped on a float uninvited, and rode in the Gasparilla Festival parade at Tampa, Fla. Strong protests came from the mothers of six school girls who rode other floats in dainty evening gowns. Festival officials thereupon recalled that Mrs. Mashburn also rode uninvited in the 1952 Gasparilla parade. And so they have issued solemn decree that she must be tossed out if she appears in any parades in the future. (AP Wirephoto).

CAMDEN, N. J. — Where to park was Gwen Love's daily problem when she went to work in a downtown law office. Then she noticed a 12-foot-wide vacant lot about a block away. It turned out the lot was owned by the city and was for sale. Miss Love bought it for $75, put a fence and gate around it and now parks leisurely.

Govm't Flood Insurance Is Still Not Available

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government-sponsored flood insurance, on the lawbooks for six months, still is not available to aid in the latest flood disasters.

And it may be late spring or early summer — past some of the peak flood seasons in many areas — before any policies are written.

Holding things up at the moment is a 100-million-dollar appropriation awaiting congressional action.

"When we get the money, we'll be in operation," says Commissioner Frank J. Meistrick, in charge of the Federal Flood Indemnity Administration.

The government took on the experiment of underwriting flood insurance after disastrous 1955-56 floods in the Northeast because no private insurance companies were willing to take the risk.

The biggest problem in launching the program has been to determine a schedule of rates for the 37 states classed as flood areas.

The rates are ready now though still a secret.

Flood policies will be handled through 150,000 private insurance agents and brokers. Between 1,500 and 4,000 insurance companies will set for the government on a "set-fee" or cost reimbursement basis.

The government will pay the agents' fees and also absorb 40 per cent of the cost of the policy. The rates will vary according to the risk of flood damage.

The government is authorized to write five billion dollars worth of insurance, with a maximum of $250,000 for any one person and a top of $10,000 for any private dwelling. The law is geared primarily to aid the small businessman and small home owner and also provides for loan contracts to help cover flood losses.

Sailors' Union Elects President

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Morris Weisberger is the new head of the powerful Sailors Union of the Pacific, replacing the late Harry Lundeborg.

Weisberger, 49, the union's agent for the port of New York since 1938, was elected by unanimous vote of 1,500 members crowded into the union's headquarters here.

Lundeborg, long-time foe of West Coast longshore leader Harry Bridges, died Jan. 28.

BOND ISSUE CHECK—City Clerk H. H. Duncan above hands over a check for the $275,000 in bonds recently issued by the City of Greenville to Charlotte Mills, office worker in the clerk's office. The check is to be posted and the money deposited to be used for certain capital improvements approved by the voters. (Reflector Staff Photo).

Big Fish Fry

HATTERAS — The "world's biggest salt water fish fry" will again be the top attraction at the third annual Dare Coast Pirates Jamboree. This was decided yesterday at a meeting of Hatteras residents who were completing plans for the big annual event.

Last year Governor and Mrs. Hodges attended Jamboree events and they have been invited to top guest list this year. The jamboree will begin Friday, April 26, on the day following dedication of William B. Umstead Bridge spanning Croatan Sound.

TARBORO — George Spain extension agronomy specialist with N.C. State College will speak at the last in a series of meetings on profit from soy beans by increasing yields.

The Edgemont county agent, J.C. Powell said yesterday, "We think, now that tobacco and peanut allotments have been reduced, that there is a definite need to consider additional sources of income. The long term outlook for both peanuts and tobacco is not too bright. Every farmer should begin now to consider additional ideas and possibilities for his farm."

Company Expands
ROCKY MOUNT — A $13,000,000 expansion program is scheduled to be undertaken during 1957 by Carolina Telephone and Telegraph Company. This was disclosed yesterday by L.W. Hill, president of the company, who stated that this year's program will be on approximately the same level as the one accomplished during 1956. The 1956 program was the largest ever undertaken by the company.

"To meet the continually increasing demand for telephone service in eastern North Carolina during the past five years, the company had undertaken expansion programs involving gross expenditures of approximately $42 million," Hill stated.

Pickles!

AHOSKIE — With the bite of a 20 per cent tobacco cut and a generally tight farm economy hitting farmers in the Roanoke-Chowan, a pickle firm has announced plans for a 200-acre increase in contracting for cucumbers in this section.

Last year the company contracted for about 500 acres. One of the plant managers stated that contracting with farmers was to begin this week and that he expects to get about 700 acres in cucumbers. This would mean from $80,000 to $90,000 in the pockets of the farmers, he pointed out.

KINSTON — Speaking on "The Church's Role in the Brotherhood of Man," Dr. A. Funnell Bailey of Richmond, Va., Sunday evening opened the second annual Institute on Human Relations with a challenging appeal for all people to look not at racial and other differences but put their trust in God in these days of change and tension.

The final program will be at 8 p.m. tonight featuring an address by Dr. Harry Golden of Charlotte, author, editor and lecturer whose topic will be "Global Aspects of Brotherhood."

Scott Calls For Two-Way Plan Of Leaf Control

RALEIGH (AP) — U.S. Sen. W. Kerr Scott has called for a combined system of acreage-pounding controls on tobacco in an effort to solve the current tobacco problems.

Scott declared last night, "Unless some far-reaching steps are taken in the very near future, the entire tobacco price support program will be in very grave danger."

The Tar Heel senator spoke at a banquet session of the farm credit conference being held at North Carolina State College by the North Carolina Bankers Assn. Charles N. Sheppard, member of the board of governors of the Federal Reserve System, was one of the speakers at the closing conference session today. Scott told the bankers and farm representatives that a combination system of acreage-pounding controls not only would insure a closer balance between supply and demand but, "The farmers who overproduced would be the ones who would take the acreage reductions."

Such a program, Scott said, "carries with a built-in system of crop insurance." He added that under the program, each farmer would be assigned a base acreage allotment and a poundage quota. The acreage allotments would be assigned as they are under the present program. Poundage quotas would be computed from the production history of each farmer.

"Today we are allotting tobacco in acres," Scott asserted, "but we always have and always will sell it at market time by the pound. Until we find a system that will control production in terms of pounds, then we are missing the core of the problem."

He added that in recent years "we have sacrificed a great deal of quality" in efforts to increase tobacco yields per acre. "The time has come when it is suicide not to control quality as well as quantity."

At Washington, Rep. Watts (D-Ky) said careful study should be given to Scott's proposal. Watts, who represents the nation's largest burley tobacco producing area, said many growers favor the change, but that many others oppose any shift from the present system.

Watts recommended that any legislation to change the allotment system include provisions for a vote by growers on whether the change should be made effective.

Composer Feels Jazz 'Dead End'

BALTIMORE (AP) — Composer Norman Dello Joio says "there is no future for jazz." The composer said he once had earned a living playing jazz. "I found it very dull after a while," he added. He said the purveyors of progressive jazz have "uncovered nothing new." "Those things were done in modern music years ago," he said.

'Blunt End Of The Bargain'

TAKE THAT, MR. ROEBUCK—Mack Roebuck, who will be in Greenville's starting lineup tonight when Jacksonville invades the GHS gymnasium, caught the blunt end of the bargain in the above photo of an earlier GHS-Jacksonville match. Going up for a lay-up shot, he was panged on the head by an unidentified Card behind. He made his free tosses, however, and the Phants won that one 57-56. It should be close tonight.

G-Men Will Be Shooting For 7th Win In 9 Contests

Greenville high school tonight plays host to Jacksonville in their final game of the season before the return match against arch-foe Kinston. Tonight's encounter, being played at GHS gymnasium, will find the Phantoms shooting for their seventh victory in nine games. Their mark at present is 6-2. They will go to Kinston Friday night for the final match of the year, and their biggest game. Jacksonville, fighting to stay out of the cellar, will come to Greenville tonight, hungry for a victory. They just missed defeating the Phants in their first meeting at Jacksonville. Greenville whipped them soundly in three full quarters, only to eke out a close 57-56 win after the Cardinals chopped up their lead. This time they'll be out for blood. Coach Boley Farley, who feels that his 1956-57 G-Men have definitely been a better club than expected, is expected to finish tonight's contest as the winning coach. At the first of the season, the Phants were in a rebuilding stage and were not given much of a chance to hit the 500 mark. Their 6-2 mark has netted the third place in the conference at the current time and still gives them a chance to finish as high as second, depending upon how the rest of the week's games turn out. Also, there is the chance that the locals could take the Northeastern Conference Tournament title, which would make them the league's number one team. They are not out of the running by any means, although it seems fairly certain that undefeated Kinston will snatch the loop crown. Farley has been using a newly-developed two-plate system to a decided advantage this season, to make up for the loss of All-Stater Ike Riddick and five other top-notch stars, who zoomed last year's GHS aggregation to a regular-season Northeastern championship tie with Kinston. The two-plate features two complete quintets that alternate throughout each game, keeping a fresh unit in action all the way. Expected to start as a unit tonight, will be Peanut Nunn and Charlie Smith at forwards, Mack Roebuck and Walker Allen at guards and Steve Noble at center. The alternating group will probably be Billy Cox and Dick Evans at forwards, Wesley Hudson and Bobby Edwards at guards and Al Crawford at center. A jayvee game is slated to open action at 6:30, with the varsity game beginning at 8:00.

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP)—Michael Anderson could well say he was just about the whole show when his junior high school basketball team won a 13-8 game last night. Michael led his team in scoring with six of its 13 points. And he tied for top scoring honors for the losers by getting two of their eight points. At the start of the second half Michael got confused and tipped in a basket for the losers.

ECC Swimmers Stand Out At Chapel Hill Collegiate Swimming Meet Held Monday

By BILLY ARNOLD
Reflector Sports Editor
CHAPEL HILL—East Carolina's high-flying varsity swimmers cruised through the North Carolina Collegiate Championships last night, here, turning in one of their best performances of the season and taking an unofficial second place in the meet. Competing against Big Four members North Carolina, Duke and N. C. State (two of which are nationally-recognized powers), East Carolina swimmers placed in every meet. No team points were kept by scorers, since the match was scored on individual performances, however, ECC claimed second place to Carolina in the unofficial tallies. There were heats for each event and each club was allowed to enter three men per event. This made it a heat of 12. There are only six scoring places available, which cuts the odds tremendously. East Carolina placed within the six on each and every trial. Coach Raymond Martinez, ECC mentor, stated this morning that "every man on our club scored. We did very well against some of the top competition in the country." Places East Carolina's top candidate for All-America honors, Bob Sawyer, grabbed the only first place in the match that was not taken by Carolina or State. He nabbed top honors in his specialty, the 200 backstroke. Martinez said of this: "Only one man in the South can defeat Bob in the 200 backstroke. That is Carolina's All-America Charlie Krepp (who did not perform last night). Krepp is a senior, which means that Sawyer will be in a class by himself next year." Sawyer is a sophomore. Probably East Carolina's biggest upset in the match was the work of Kenny Midyette, who took second place in the diving events. Carolina's top three divers have, for the past three seasons, finished one, two, three in the North Carolina Collegiate match. Midyette moved in and finished only 10 points behind the top slot and was 15 points better than the number three man. Others The Bucs also took third in the freestyle relay, with Sawyer, Harold McKee, Dick Denton and Jim Meads competing. Ted Gartman and Sid Oliver also came in fourth and fifth in the 200 yard fly event. Jack Koerberling grabbed fourth in the 200 yard breaststroke and second in the 100 breaststroke.

Jim Meads placed in the 100 yard freestyle. Glenn Dyer nabbed sixth honors in diving. McKee placed third in the 440 freestyle and fourth in the 200 freestyle and teammate Mike Williamson took fifth and sixth places in the same trial. Meads scored again with fifth in the 50 yard freestyle. Sawyer came through to capture second in the 100 yard breaststroke, an event he has not been working in before. Gartman finished with sixth in the 100 yard butterfly. Success For the Pirates, who have only enjoyed swimming as a varsity sport for three seasons now, it was a successful match. Since the beginning of the sport in 1954 under Martinez, the Pirates have become a much-respected power in the South. Their unofficial second place in the Collegiate events here last night boosted their status even more. Carolina, ranked fifth in the nation at the first of the season would have finished first, had team scores been official. The rest of the teams would have ended in this order: East Carolina, N. C. State and Duke. Martinez was quite pleased with his club this morning. He pointed out that most of his boys are still freshmen, sophomores and juniors, and with this season barely finished, he is looking to the future. Wake Forest Canceled He also stated today that the final match of the season for his swimmers, scheduled against Wake Forest in the ECC gym pool, has been canceled by the Baptists. It is not altogether surprising. ECC trounced the Demon Deacons 53-23 earlier at Winston-Salem, breaking nine pool records in the process. The final Buc record for the season was 7-3-1. Their seven victories came against the top Atlantic Coast and Southern Conference teams. They tied the University of Georgia.

Invaders

East Carolina's cagers are preparing to invade Catawba tomorrow night for an important North State Conference battle. The Bucs will be trying to improve their 5-7 loop mark. Catawba, whom the Pirates have already defeated once, are resting next to the bottom of the league, with a 2-10 record. Coach Howard Porter has been working extensively with his guards and center positions this week and the lineup is uncertain at those spots. Nick Nichols and Don Harris are sure bets for forward slots. Game time is 8:00 at the Catawba gym.

Carson To Join Coaching Staff

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP)—Leon (Bud) Carson, defensive tailback for the University of North Carolina in 1948-51, will join the Tar Heel coaching staff next Saturday. Coach Jim Tatum has announced. Carson replaced Eddie Teague, who resigned recently to become head coach at the Citadel. Carson, 26, is a native of Freeport, Pa., and for the past three years has coached high school sports at Scottsdale, Pa. After his graduation from North Carolina in 1952, he joined the Marines and played two seasons on the Quantico team.

Tar Heels Retain Top Poll Ranking

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Unbeaten North Carolina may be leaving Coach Frank McGuire limp of late with those near defeats, but the faith of the nation's sportswriters and sportscasters is as strong as ever—retaining the Tar Heels as the No. 1 team in this week's Associated Press college basketball poll. Despite a couple of scares last week—65-61 in double overtime against Maryland and 75-73 over Duke—North Carolina piled up almost 100 points more than runner-up Kansas and third-place Kentucky. The Tar Heels (19-0 today) gathered 56 first-place votes in the balloting, judged on games through last Saturday. Kansas (14-1) gained 16 first-place votes, while Kentucky (now 17-4) jured three firsts. Rankings are based on a point system counting 10 points for a first-place vote, 9 for a second, etc. Southern Methodist and UCLA skidded down a couple of notches after upsets last week—making room for Seattle and Bradley—both of whom gained surprisingly strong support to move up to fourth and fifth, respectively, after being placed seventh and eighth a week ago. SMU (16-3) slipped from fourth to sixth. UCLA, its 23-game winning streak in the Pacific Coast Conference halted decisively by Washington, dropped from fifth to seventh with a 16-2 record. Louisville, beaten twice last week, fell from sixth to eighth. Iowa State is ninth and West Virginia 10th. The top 10, with first-place votes in parentheses: 1. North Carolina (56) 887 2. Kansas (16) 797 3. Kentucky (3) 596 4. Seattle (5) 401 5. Bradley (5) 377 6. Southern Methodist 327 7. UCLA 303 8. Louisville (1) 257 9. Iowa State 200 10. West Virginia (4) 188 The second 10, in order: Wake Forest, California, Oklahoma City, Canisius, West Virginia Tech, Illinois, Duke, Vanderbilt and Indiana, tie, and St. Louis. Phillips Named To Times' Staff Bruce Phillips has been named sports editor of The Raleigh Times, succeeding Jack Williams who will become sports director of The Durham Morning Herald. Phillips was sports editor on the Daily Reflector for several years while a student at East Carolina College. He was also sports editor on the college newspaper.

For Nail-Biters' Atlantic Coast Conference Always Has Its Worries

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

For the fan who takes his basketball with nail-biting seriousness, there is no conference like the Atlantic Coast Conference. Something new to worry about all the time.

The Jackie Moreland recruiting case has almost faded away. North Carolina State's difficulties with player parking fines and studies happened ages ago—more than a week. And although North Carolina's nationally top-ranked Tar Heels continue to live hard, they don't hold the center of the stage this week.

The big yellow spot is focused now on lanky Grady Wallace of South Carolina, who jumped into the No. 1 individual scoring place during the weekend. The 6-4 senior forward from Mare Creek, Ky., whose 30.2 points per game average is only a shade better than that of Wilt Chamberlain of Kansas or Columbia's Chet Forte, has a chance to better it tonight at Clemson.

Wallace is the third major college scoring tital from a South Carolina college in as many seasons. Frank Selvy of Furman rolled up 2,538 points before he finished school in 1955 and Darrell Floyd of Furman got 2,281 through last season. Both Selvy and Floyd were among the national leaders, too, in average points per game, and had Wallace transferred to South Carolina sooner he might be pushing for the 2,000-point club as well. Wallace was working on his all-round sterling game at Pikeville (Ky.) Junior College before transferring.

In other games tonight, Duke's Blue Devils are at North Carolina State, and Virginia, the latest ACC team to throw a scare into North Carolina plays at Maryland.

The Cavaliers, playing loose and easy, ran up a 30-26 halftime lead last night on their home court. Herb Busch, who had 20 points for the night, led the way in the first half. But the Tar Heels, who will have ulcers as big as basketballs if things keep up this way, again came back in the second half. Guard Tommy Kearns, scoring all of his 15 points in the last half, put North Carolina in front 37-36 three minutes after intermission. Virginia fell back from then on, and lost 68-59.

Lennie Rosenbluth had 23 points and Pete Brennan 10 as North Carolina won its 19th of the season without a loss. For Virginia, Bill Miller had 12 points and Bobby Hardy and Jerry Cooper 10 each.

A game on tonight's card for Southern Conference teams sends Davidson to Wofford for a match that won't count in the conference standings. Davidson has a 5-16 over-all record. In last night's only Southern Conference game, Richmond put four players in double figures to trounce The Citadel 7-54 and move back into contention for third place with a 7-5 conference record. Freshman Fred Hynson led the Spiders with 13 points. Ray Peschel and Warren Mitchell added 12 apiece and little Phil Morris had 10. Teddy Weeks led

The Citadel with 24 points. The Citadel's loss dropped the Bulldogs to a 4-8 conference mark. They slowed the action down and led at halftime 23-24. But a late outburst by Hynson, who got 11 points in the last 10 minutes, ended Richmond's break. The game opened after intermission and win going away.

Bud Now Knows Buddies, Friends

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Since losing his lightweight title, Wallace (Bud) Smith separates his buddies and friends into "so-called buddies" and "so-called friends."

"A fellow sees a lot of changes in people," Smith said yesterday after his final boxing workout for Wednesday's title rematch with Joe Brown.

Smith sat in a cubbyhole dressing room at the 5th Street Gym, wiping the sweat off his body while reporters asked questions and took notes.

As Smith has lost his title, and dropped four fights in a row, they asked about his condition. They wanted to know if the odds of 8-1 and 4-1 against him accurately reflected the facts.

When a fighter's career starts running down-grade, the first thing they blame are the legs. The real tipoff is how the legs respond under back-up pressure. Smith answered it this way: "I can go back as good as I can go forward."

Smith's poor 1956 record and his six-month layoff since dropping the championship to Brown Aug. 24 at New Orleans have been blamed on "domestic problems."

ACC Findings In Bostian's Hands

RALEIGH (AP)—A letter reporting Atlantic Coast Conference findings in the Jackie Moreland case reached Dr. Carey Bostian, North Carolina State College chancellor, today.

ACC faculty chairman met at Greensboro Sunday and received a report by ACC Commissioner Jim Weaver on his investigation into the Moreland matter.

The letter, containing the findings of the faculty chairman, was mailed by Weaver yesterday. Dr. Bostian said he would study it before making it public along with a statement. He said it likely would be "late this afternoon" before the letter and statement are released.

State has been placed on a four-year probation by the National Collegiate Athletic Assn. on charges of offering excessive aid in recruiting Moreland, Minden, La., basketball star. The ACC declared Moreland ineligible to play at State and fined the college $5,000. Moreland left State last week and enrolled at Louisiana Tech.

Bostian said its athletic officials involved have denied the charges. He requested the investigation which Weaver made.

The fighter didn't want to discuss these publicly but he admitted they had weighed heavily on his mind.

Smith said he had been trying to improve his right hand but admitted, "They always associate me with my left."

About the fight with Brown, the ex-champ said, "I'm going to try to win every round so there will be no argument. I don't want to say the wrong thing but I thought our last fight could have gone either way."

Aragon Denies He Offered $500 To Take 'Dive'

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Art Aragon, Los Angeles welterweight, denied on the witness stand yesterday that he offered boxer Dick Goldstein $500 to "take a dive" in a fight scheduled for San Antonio Tex., last Dec. 18.

Aragon is being tried on fight fixing charges on Goldstein's complaint that the "Golden Boy" offered him the money to "go down in the fourth and stay down."

Aragon had a different version yesterday. He said that Goldstein had asked him to throw his punches so he would get cut up because he was planning to visit his family in Seattle over the Christmas holidays.

"I told him that was entirely up to him," said Aragon, "that if he got knocked down in the first, or fourth, or fifth rounds, 'Don't be a hero, stay down and don't get up.'"

Aragon said he had told the same thing to many other fighters because "I don't like to hurt fighters."

The bout never came off. Aragon withdrew from the fight on the grounds that he had a fever. Aragon testified that he was the third ranked welterweight in 1956 and Goldstein was an unranked fighter. He said that he and Goldstein were friends and that he had lent Goldstein $800, including $174 plane fare to San Antonio for the Dec. 18 bout.

He said that impromptu fist-cuffs between him and Goldstein in Los Angeles and in a San Antonio hotel were phony fights staged for the publicity.

Aragon denied testimony of Mrs. Sylvia Lierman, 23, a divorcee friend of Goldstein, that he told Goldstein in a car in Los Angeles Dec. 13, "Remember, kid, there's $500 in it for you in the third round."

He said he did not see Mrs. Lierman that day and that the three of them were never together in a car.

There were three visiting teams here, Saturday, competing against Greenville bowlers. The Kinston Women's All-Stars defeated the locals by eight points; the Greenville Carolina Dairy topped the Kinston All-Star men by 236 pins, and the Green second team topped the Kinston second by 114 pins.

Four Expected Footballers Lost

CHAPEL HILL, N. C. (AP)—Coach Jim Tatum announced yesterday that four expected candidates for the University of North Carolina football team have been lost because of scholastic troubles.

The four include two starters from last season—center Ronnie Hoes, junior from Durvee, Pa., and senior fullback Wally Vale of Ellersboro, Va. Others are sophomores Red Mueller of Iselin, N. J., and Jack Menahan of Bala-Cynwyd, Pa., both guards.

Winter drills were opened yesterday with about 90 candidates reporting.

UN Sanction Against Israel Would Display Organization's Weakness

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News United WASHINGTON — The United States will be revealing its weakness at the very moment it tries to demonstrate its strength.

It will be confessing publicly what has been obvious — that it has power only against the small nations but not against the big ones such as Russia, which has ignored U. N. demands that it withdraw troops from Hungary.

Further, the U. N. will be admitting, despite its high moral tone, that it follows a policy of sheer expediency whenever it sees fit. Yet, if the U. N. can't back its recommendations with pressure, it's just a debating society.

Israel has refused to obey the U. N. call to quit Egyptian territory until it is guaranteed: (1) against raids by Egyptians and (2) against further Egyptian blockading of the Suez Canal against Israeli shipping.

The United States is up to its neck in this mess. It is a friend of Israel, which it helped create in 1948, a fact the Arabs have never forgotten. At the same time it wants to be friendly to the Arabs to win them over.

But the Arab pot will boil and have an excuse for boiling so long as Israelis remain on Egyptian territory, thus further fouling up the United States' hopes for dealing with the Arabs.

There's more than that. The United States wants Israel to pull back so Egyptian President Nasser will have one less excuse for refusing to negotiate some agreement to keep the Suez Canal open to Western shipping.

Yet this is like buying a pig in a poke. Nasser, keeping quiet, has promised nothing.

In Israel's case the United States did two things in the U. N.: it voted for Israel to quit Egypt, and then voted for a proposal which might seem, but wasn't really, the kind of guarantee Israel wanted against Egyptian attacks.

This was a resolution which said U. N. troops might occupy a strip of land between Egypt and Israel — but didn't say they would — in order to keep the countries from each other's throats. It left the arrangements to be worked out.

That was the hitch. Israel argued this loosely worded resolution meant nothing since it didn't say Nasser had to agree to the resolution.

When the tables were reversed in 1951 — when the U. N. told Egypt to stop blockading Israeli shipping from the Suez Canal and Egypt ignored the U. N. — the world organization did nothing to back up its demands.

Why? The U. N. didn't find it convenient to do so. Except for the damage done to Israel by the blockade, there was no bad situation in the Middle East and the U. N. apparently didn't want to upset the peaceful appeacart.

It may be argued that the U. N. does turn its wrath on the big powers too: it called on Britain and France to stop their invasion of Egypt. And they did.

But it can hardly be argued they did so out of pressure from the U. N. itself. Russia was threatening to move against them. And their ally, the United States, not only didn't back them up but joined up with those opposing them. This week the Arabs may try to force a U. N. showdown on Israel by calling for sanctions. This will put the United States on the spot.

But any small nation which goes along with a U. N. vote of sanctions against Israel will be giving that organization, particularly the big powers, a green light and a precedent for the same action against itself later.

Language Abuse Being Accepted

CHAPEL HILL — The English language just ain't as good as some folks would like for it to be. And seems it's gettin' worse, what with much-used, grammatically wrong words being accepted as part of the tongue.

That, anyway, is the opinion of Dr. Dorrance White, Iowa professor now teaching in the Classics Department at the University of North Carolina.

He told a Junior Classical League delegation here Saturday that a much-needed, more perfected speech "will result from the study of Latin grammar."

"Such phrases as 'He acted like he was crazy', or 'He ain't such a bad guy', will someday be considered good English," he said, adding: "I'm glad I'm going to die before that happens."

Dr. White asserted that a dictionary "must serve as a guide for better speech and not merely as a source for recording a language."

But now, Dr. White asked, could a dictionary serve as a guide for better speech and at the same time list grammatically incorrect words used in a language?

"I am going to suggest that such words found in the dictionary be italicized to indicate the barbarism or incorrectness of them."

He explained that these "expressions" are not "the hillbilly or Elvis Presley type, but those which land in the dictionary after being batted around the public for a while."

And the trouble is, he said, "many people are accepting these 'expressions' as correct. It is bad, but nevertheless it is coming into vogue."

Money-Seekers Usually Find Only Ulcers

CHICAGO (AP) — Pity the executive. Although he lives plushly, he frequently changes jobs — often under pressure — and walks a tight rope between success and failure. To be a success, he must work more for love than money, says Lon D. Barton, 50, president of a clearing house for executives. His employment agency furnishes executive talent to industry throughout the country.

"If he works for money only, the executive is headed for trouble with his stomach and early retirement," says Barton. "If he works for love of his job and the people around him, the money will come and he'll live happier."

Placing young executive talent in key spots at the rate of 5,000 a year, Barton's staff of 60 experts has seen executives come and go, rise and fall.

Today the demand is for industrial executives with experience in the engineering fields — mechanical, electrical and aeronautic.

If they have specialized in sales, production or engineering design and rated in the upper half of their college class, it's a good bet that they'll land a job paying $10,000 a year within 2 1/2 years from the time they graduate.

The man specializing in sales will have a much better chance of entering top management because 80 per cent of the executives arrived by this route.

Barton says an executive doesn't become a "big shot" until he reaches the $15,000 to $20,000-a-year bracket. But only 10 of 15,000 per year jobs are worth taking because frequently the company offering it does not possess stature in its industry.

Barton's agency rates the company hiring the executives as well as the employe looking for a job. The firms are rated on their caliber and ability to add to a man's value in the executive field.

The average executive changes jobs every four or five years. "The men who get ahead the fastest, change jobs when a better opportunity presents itself," Barton said.

Changing jobs also can be fatal to a man's career if he doesn't watch his step. As he moves up in the salary bracket, his prestige can diminish, because the companies he joins from job to job also slide lower and lower in caliber.

First Challenge Of USW Leadership

Any Dead Rats Are Appreciated

GASTONIA, N.C. (AP) — R. M. Schiele, Boy Scout executive of the Piedmont Council, has issued a request to the folks hereabouts. He would like any dead rats, mice, small owls, small snakes.

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Members of the United Steelworkers elect a president today. For the first time in the union's 20-year history, the leadership is challenged.

The issue: dues. Running against President David J. McDonald is a Pittsburgh district steelworker opposed to a hike in dues from $3 to $5 monthly. He is Donald C. Rarick, 37, who works at the nearby Irvin works of U. S. Steel Corp.

USW members also are voting for other top officers, including district directors. In only a few instances are there any opponents for the slate led by McDonald, who succeeded to the presidency after the death in 1952 of Philip Murray.

Howard R. Hague of Pittsburgh has no opposition for his job as vice president.

However, Secretary-Treasurer I. W. Abel of Pittsburgh is opposed by William Klug of Milwaukee, Wis. Klug is a member of Rarick's "Dues Protest Committee."

The committee was formed after a USW convention last fall hiked the dues. Rarick claimed there was no roll call vote. McDonald said the vote was fair and the raise stood.

The same convention hiked McDonald's pay $10,000 a year to its present level of $50,000. Salaries of the vice president and secretary-treasurer went from $26,000 to $35,000 annually.

Rarick says he wants those salary increases rescinded, along with lowering the dues.

Rarick has campaigned throughout the country. He has claimed he was offered as much as $250,000 and a "good job" with the union if he withdrew.

Rarick never identified who reportedly made him the money offer but he said, on several occasions, that McDonald offered him a good job.

McDonald said Rarick has "a fantastic imagination" and he said Rarick's statements were "plain unmitigated lies."

McDonald never mentioned Rarick's name in the campaign. During the past few weeks he has spoken to several regional USW meetings throughout the country, lauding the USW and explaining its goals in the future.

There are some 2,700 USW locals scattered throughout the United States and Canada. It is expected the official results will not be available for several weeks.

Failed To Deter Return Of Exiles

WARSAW (AP) — The leader of the Communist guerrillas in the Greek Civil War has tried but apparently failed to prevent Greek exiles in Poland from returning home.

Greek diplomats and Polish Communist sources say Gen. Markos Vafiadis — long thought dead or in a Soviet prison or mental institution — showed up in Poland over Christmas and urged groups of exiles to remain where they are "until you can return with me as a political force."

About 15,000 Greeks came to Poland for asylum after failure of the 1949 Communist insurrection. Officials say about 500 families have applied to go home.

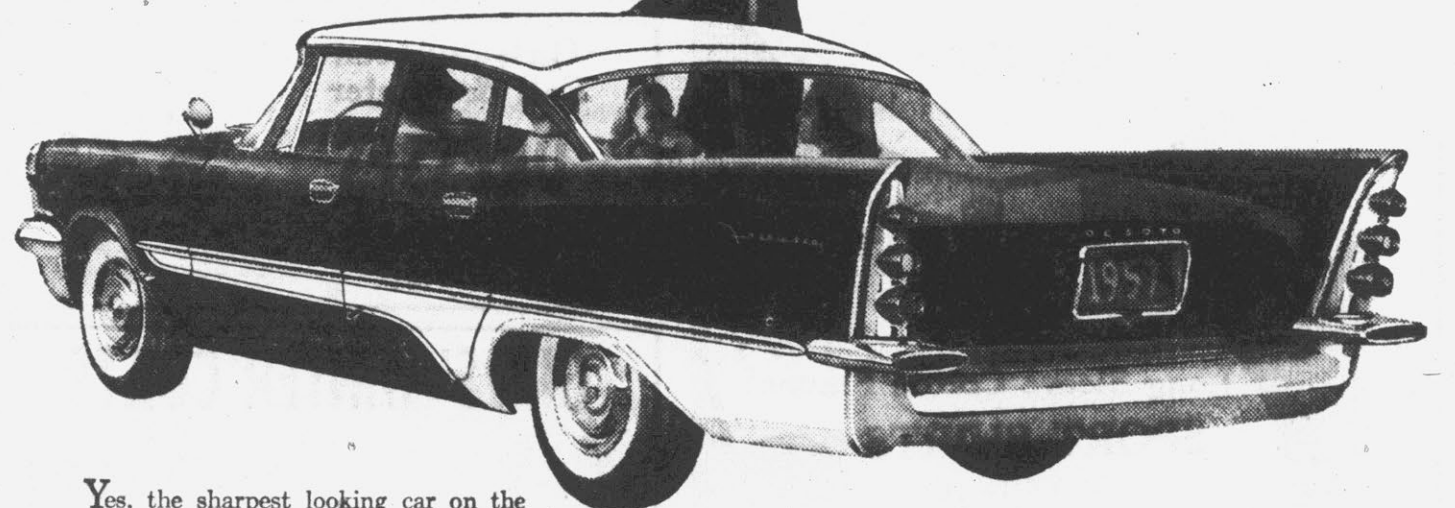

The new Communist government that took over last October is reported cooperating with Greek legion officials to arrange their repatriation.

Markos, premier and war minister of the Greek Communist rebel government, was reported purged in 1949 because of a defeatist attitude. The Greek government said he was believed executed.

He disappeared from sight during the next eight years.

Greek sources said he addressed meetings in Wroclaw and other towns in west Poland where there are Greek colonies.

Some Stocks Go Up As Others Keep Slipping

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—One of the fascinating things about the stock market that even on days when the price index is heading for the cellar there always are some stocks making new highs.

And in years like 1956 when the averages end up pretty much where they started there will be stocks making as much as 300 per cent gains in price and others slipping by as much as 85 per cent.

The trick is to be able to guess ahead of time which stock is going to do which. Few — and no newspapermen know — have that knack. But hindsight can be interesting and perhaps helpful.

Lukens Steel had the biggest percentage of rise in 1956—305.3 per cent. Consolidated Retail Stores had the largest percentage drop—85.6 per cent.

The Exchange, magazine of the New York Stock Exchange, names today 20 stocks that rose the most percentage-wise and the 20 that dropped the most. Then it plays the old game of seeing how an investor would have fared if his foresight were as good as his hindsight.

If at the end of 1955 he had bought 10 shares of each of the 20 stocks that scored the largest percentage price advances in 1956, it would have cost him about $11,000. In 12 months the value of his stocks would have risen to around $19,600, a gain of 78 per cent.

If another investor had bought 10 shares each of the 20 common stocks that had the poorest showing percentage-wise last year, it would have cost him $4,191 at the end of 1955. At the end of 1956 he could have sold them for $2,164, a drop of 48 per cent in market value. In neither case are commissions and taxes included in the figuring.

ROAD RE-ROUTED—A multi-million dollar highway route has been shifted to avoid disturbing the lone grave of a Confederate soldier in Decatur, Ga., but the new road will run right smack over the site of Mrs. Tommie E. Lane's home (left). Mrs. Lane gazes at the tombstone after leaving the Highway Commission's decision to shift surveyed route of the Atlanta-Augusta highway just 12 feet to dodge the grave. Said she: "For years we have tried to get this thing (the grave) moved out of our front yard. We have even offered a plot of ground close by for it. Now they are moving us and leaving the grave." Lawrence Peaden Rites Set Wednesday

Funeral services for Lawrence Earl Peaden, 26, will be held at the Wilkerson Chapel Wednesday at 3:30 p.m. and burial will be in Greenwood Cemetery. Rev. E. C. Thornburg, pastor of Meadowbrook Presbyterian Church, assisted by Capt. B. T. Lewis of the Salvation Army, will conduct the services. Mr. Peaden died Sunday night enroute to a Goldsboro hospital from injuries received in an automobile accident near Goldsboro.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Joan Peaden; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Peaden of Greenville; two brothers, James R. Peaden of Fayetteville and Cpl. Hugh O. Peaden of the army, now stationed in Thornburg, pastor of Meadowbrook Presbyterian Church, assisted by Capt. B. T. Lewis of the Salvation Army, will conduct the services. Story Of An Old Lincoln Picture Re-Told Again

By JOHN B. KNOX

BOSTON (AP)—Abraham Lincoln, worried and war-torn, carried a chair out of the White House one morning a month before his assassination and posed for a picture to please his young son "Tad."

The 92-year-old first print of that picture — by a Waltham, Mass., photographer — is a new addition to Boston University's big collection of Lincolniana. The tale of how it was made adds an intimate human paragraph to the story of Lincoln as a father.

The picture, with two other new Lincoln collection additions, are displayed for the first time by the university's Cheney Library in observance of the anniversary of Lincoln's birth. One of the additions is a photograph of Boston Corbett, autographed shortly after Corbett shot the assassin of Lincoln, John Wilkes Booth. The other is an album with autographs of Lincoln which some of his associates sold to help raise money at an Iowa fair in 1864 for sick and wounded soldiers.

From the donor of the memoirs, Dean Emeritus Melvin M. Johnson of the B. U. Law School, come the stories of how the Lincoln picture happened to be made, of the autograph album, how the Corbett picture was made, and the role Johnson's father played in connection with all three.

The father, Byron Berkeley Johnson, obtained the autographs of Lincoln, John Hay and others for the album, one of various items collected for sale at the fair in Iowa. Entered in the volume is a memorandum recording that the fair raised $18,451 for Civil War veterans. When the album came up for auction, the elder Johnson himself bid it in and it remained in his possession until he died in 1915.

Johnson played an active role in making possible the photograph which Henry P. Warren of Waltham, Mass., made of Lincoln in March 1865, one of the President's last portraits.

Johnson, rejected for war service because of a heart condition, had obtained an assignment with the War Department. Photographer Warren, eager for a chance to make a picture of Lincoln, approached Johnson, a native of Massachusetts, for help and advice.

At that time, young "Tad" Lincoln went out each morning to ride his pony and one day Johnson suggested to the boy that Warren would take his picture with the pony.

Delighted with the idea, "Tad" posed. Then Warren told the boy he would make him a present of the picture he had just taken if "Tad" would ask his father to pose.

The President must have listened with sympathy to the plea of the boy, for soon he came out gaunt in his traditional blackface portrayed beneath a tangled suit—carrying a chair. That of hair conveys its own story of the martyred President's weariness. Boston Corbett personally gave his picture to Johnson, who had introduced Corbett to Secretary of War Stanton and thus helped Corbett collect his share of the reward for Booth's apprehension. The photograph was taken by a Civil War photographer.

TRIPLE-ACTION RESERVE POWER!
Simply edge the accelerator beyond the 1/2 mark and you "call out the reserve." The J-2 Rocket then operates on three dual carburetors! J-2 is available now at a modest extra cost. Try it!

It's the most exciting engine development since the first Rocket was launched! Engineers have dreamed for years of an engine that combined exceptional horsepower and torque potential with outstanding fuel economy in normal operation. And today, Olds has it in the new J-2 Rocket. You'll find it's like two engines under the hood!

In your day-to-day driving, you enjoy the smooth, alert action of the Rocket—with the fuel economy of dual-jet carburetors and a 10-to-1 compression ratio. But to meet the exceptional driving situation, just open the accelerator beyond the 1/2 point and two additional carburetors automatically jet into action. There's an instant boost in torque and power. You'll appreciate the immediate response as another Olds contribution to your pleasure and safety at the wheel!

Poor Start For Future Driver

CHESTERFIELD, Utah (AP)—Melvin North may have trouble getting a driver's license after what happened.

Seated beside his sleeping father Melvin turned the key on, which started the car, yanked the automatic transmission into the drive position and fell on the gas pedal as the car rolled ahead, knocked another car off a jack — with owner underneath — and into a utility pole 50 feet ahead.

Five owner of the other car, Elmer W. Ray, 25, escaped with a cut forehead. Melvin's father awoke unhurt. Melvin got a bruised lip — from the accident, not his father.

Though there's plenty of time, two-year-old Melvin already has a traffic violation record which could look bad when he applies for a license.

The word "meander," which means a winding, non-direct course, comes from the winding Meander River in Turkey.

A Call for Doctor Barton

CHAPTER 15

The day after Christmas, Grady Barton was depressed and worried. It showed in his face, though he exerted every effort to keep his voice and manner free of his mood.

After he had eaten his lunch and made a couple of house calls, he decided that he had a free hour before office hours and would do well to get some exercise in the open air.

As he had become his habit, he cut across the side street to the Cowan yard and whistled for Candy. The dog came lumbering, an ecstatic grin above his whiskers. The day was clear and cold, and in the direct sun the snow was dissolving into watery sponges. Grady struck off toward the hills, the dog ahead of him, woofing and sniffing in a fine imitation of a hunting dog.

Grady glanced at his watch, ready to follow his usual practice of walking for half the time available and allowing the rest for the return trip. He was disappointed that June Cowan had not popped out of the house.

Soon little ice balls weighed Candy's whiskers, and he came twice to his friend to have a ball of snow dug from his foot pads. "Really rugged, you are!" Grady laughed.

Candy licked his face, then with a nip of recognition and a wild waving of tail and ears, he bounded away toward a distant red figure — Grady followed him as gladly, if not so swiftly.

"A lady needs a little time to get into her snowsuit," June informed him when he came within hearing. "You two just ran out on me!"

"You could have waved your hand from your tower window," she glanced up, laughing. "So I could. What'd I do? Get here in time for the return trip?"

"Within five minutes," said Grady, warmly pleased that his habit had become familiar to this girl. She looked half her age in that red suit and cap; her cheeks were scarlet, curls peeked from the tight hood, and her eyes were sparkling blue.

She regarded him as critically. "I don't think," he was saying, "that I properly made my manners on leaving your house yesterday, June. But I do want you to know how much I appreciated being asked for Christmas dinner. And of course I was sorry to be called away."

She nodded, her eyes still intent on his face. "Is something worrying you, Grady?"

For a minute he didn't answer her, and she walked along beside him, not speaking further.

"I'm not much of a poker player," he said then.

"I don't suppose I could help you, but—" Her mitten lay upon his coat sleeve. "I'd do what I could."

He paused, standing for a minute to gaze out across the hills and the fields — at the snow and the trees.

Then, without looking at his watch, he touched June's elbow and they turned back toward town, Candy close at their heels.

"Maybe you can help me, June," he said slowly. "You're right — I do have a problem. And while of course it is not my custom to discuss cases, I find that I need some light thrown on the personalities concerned in this particular case."

Then, concisely, impersonally, much as he might have stated a case to a class of medical students, he told of the problem which had arisen the night before. He described the Kopp grandchild, the symptoms, voiced his own opinion that there was some foreign body obstructing the bronchus, and he detailed the signs of a developing infection; he told of the family diagnosis of croup. Finally he stated his professional position.

"I don't feel that I should accept a lay diagnosis and act upon it, but of course there is that baby — completely dependent upon the judgment — and the mistakes — of its elders."

"No wonder you're worried!" cried June. "Kopp is a character! He's ignorant, and he's mean!"

"Yes, yes, he is. And if I had him alone to deal with, I'd let his ignorance finish him off. But what should I do about that baby? Not two years old — and helpless?"

She was warmly sympathetic. Grady was definitely in a spot! And she was sensible. "Could it be croup, Grady?"

He looked at her, then nodded. "Yes, it could be."

"You specifically told him what you thought should be done?"

"Oh, yes!"

"But you're helpless to make him do anything about your own diagnosis, maybe we'd better just hope awful hard that they're right and you're wrong."

"If hoping is all I'm asked to do," he agreed, "I couldn't treat that child for croup, I'm afraid."

"You won't get a chance, will you?"

"No, Kopp assured me of that. But, June, at least half of this worry-load I'm carrying is regret that I should have made a personal enemy so soon."

"Oh, Kopp!"

"You called him ignorant and mean, and that combination makes a dangerous enemy. But — if I could have my druthers, I'd rather not have enemies of any kind here in the Hollies. I'd like to be able to stay here and do good work and have people like me."

"But, goodness, Grady — I should have handled things differently. Yes."

"I don't see how you could. In

History Proves A Good TV Story Background

By CHARLES MERCER
NEW YORK (AP) — While history is not always a popular school subject, it is providing the background for three television programs which are very popular with the young in heart of all ages.

They are Buccaneers (CBS-TV), Saturday nights, Robin Hood (CBS-TV) Monday nights and Sir Lancelot (NBC-TV) Monday nights. All are filmed in England by Sapphire Films, Inc.

Why are the programs produced in England? In the words of Peggy Phillips, story editor: "You can't build an English castle in an American back yard and make it look like anything but a thing built in an American back yard. It's preferable to rent a genuine castle."

It is interesting, however, that a majority of the scripts are now being written by Americans. Miss Phillips, an American, is here now collecting writers. The producers feel that American writers have a better understanding of American story interests.

"The hardest thing for a British writer to do," says Miss Phillips, "is to get that opening hook that snares and holds an audience. British writers are strong on character and historical relationships and atmosphere while Americans concentrate more on conflicts between characters. The British pace is more leisurely because the whole method of their craft is cumulative."

The producers plan two new programs. One, tentatively entitled The Highwayman series, will concern one of the first police detection agencies in history, the famous Bow Street Runners of the 18th century. Another, to be filmed in Italy, will be based on Florence during the Renaissance.

Rabies Control Clinics Slated

The Health Department's Rabies Control program includes clinics scheduled for the remainder of the week at the following places:

- Tuesday: 3:30 p.m. to 5 p.m., Farmville City Hall.
- Wednesday: 1-2, Red Oak Church; 2:15-3:30, Ballard's Crossroads; 3:45-5 Langs Crossroads.
- Thursday: 1-2, Odell Haddock's Store; 2:15-3:15, Calico; 3:30-5, Chieod.
- Saturday: 9-12 a.m., Farmer's Warehouse.

All dogs in the county must be vaccinated, according to Health Department Director Dr. Walter C. Humbert. Vaccination fees at the clinics will be $1 per dog. The clinics are conducted by Health Department personnel and cooperating licensed veterinarians.

Agers to avoid single dating. The youngsters also agreed to limit phone calls to a "reasonable" 15 to 20 minutes, return at an agreed time from dates and sleep 10 hours a night if they are seventh graders, 9 1/2 hours if in the eighth grade.

Propose Code Of Student Conduct

CEDAR GROVE, N. J. (AP) — Seventh and eighth graders at the grammar school here have proposed a "code of teenage behavior" in hopes of avoiding "obvious supervision" by parents.

The code bans dungeares, except on gym dates, ends dances by 10:30 p.m. and advises teenagers to avoid single dating.

The youngsters also agreed to limit phone calls to a "reasonable" 15 to 20 minutes, return at an agreed time from dates and sleep 10 hours a night if they are seventh graders, 9 1/2 hours if in the eighth grade.

Her pretty face was thoughtful. They walked for a hundred yards, automatically skirting the puddles. By then they had reached the edge of town and the corner where it would be "handiest" to part and go their separate ways.

For another minute they stood at this point before Grady said, "Bye, and thanks — it always helps to talk to you."

Through Pearl, Grady was able to keep close tab on the baby. The big blonde girl came in almost daily to clean for Grady and had earlier established the habit of reporting to the doctor on the health and general behavior of the children for whom she "sat."

As early as the day after Christmas, she said, she had been called out to Kopp's to stay with a grandchild who had a cold, and the grand mother wasn't well enough to attend him day and night without some relief.

"Is he getting any better? Brady asked Pearl.

"The baby isn't doin' much good, Doc," she said. "He's still all choked up and don't eat good..."

Doctor Barton tangles fingers with an unfriendly rival as Chapter 16 continues tomorrow in this newspaper.

PICTURE TALK

By CHARLES BISSETTE

Help Dr. Spock!
I don't think the good Doctor missed much in his book on baby care, but still parents stop in to ask me questions like these:

Q: I can't set up flood lights everytime a baby does something cute—how can I take his picture indoors?

A: Use flash! It's easy—and you get good pictures in black and white—or color. Chances are your present camera can be equipped for flash. Or, if not, you can get a genuine Kodak-made flash camera for as little as $4.95, flashholder $3.20.

Q: My little girl is shy—how can I get her to pose naturally?

A: Shy or "ham"—the way to get your child's personality to show in pictures is, give her something to do. Feed the doll. Read a story to the dog. Water the geranium. Blow a BIG bubble. Whatever it is—keep her mind off the camera and your picture will be childhood at its best!

Q: LOOK at these snapshots we took—you can't even see the baby!

A: When you take the picture, move up close with a Kodak Close-up Attachment (just $1.95 for most cameras) and you'll see every eyelash!

Any more questions? Bring 'em in—we like to help!

"Yes, it could be."

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market staged a limited rally from yesterday's sharp break, leaving prices slightly higher, early this afternoon.

Pivotal issues were up from fractions to around a point or so. The high-speed ticker tape fell behind the pace of trading on two occasions today, the first when there was a continuation of yesterday's sell-off—the worse since October 1955—and the second when prices improved.

On the rally, prices recovered over a range of 2 points or so for key stocks but as the pace slowed some of the best gains were trimmed. Wall Street observers said a "technical rally" of the kind seen today was in the cards as buyers bought at drastically reduced prices. But they theorized that the market, having crashed below the resistance point represented by the 1956 lows, was in for a decline in future sessions until it established a new support level from which to mount a comeback. The industrials and rails were the chief gainers today. But utilities were mixed with a lower tendency, in a reversal of their generally upward trend while the rest of the market was falling this year.

A roposed 2-for-1 stock split helped Virginian Railway which was up more than 2. Chesapeake & Ohio rose around a point. Smaller gains were scored by New York Central, Santa Fe and Pennsylvania. But Illinois Central was off around a point.

U.S. Steel, Bethlehem and Youngstown all retained gains of a major fraction. Chrysler stayed ahead about a point but General Motors eased slightly. Other stocks which held gains of about a point or so were Sinclair, Eastern Air Lines and Boeing. At the peak of today's rally there were many more.

Du Pont turned a small gain to a fractional loss as prices fell below their best. Still ahead were Johns-Manville, Gulf Oil, Loew's, Douglas Aircraft, Anacosta, Phelps Dodge, and Allied Chemical. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 40 cents to $169.30 with the industrials up 90 cents, the rails up 60 cents and the utilities down 10 cents.

Slate Of Projects Adopted For C-of-C Effort

Chamber of Commerce committees will work for a county-wide industrial organization, support the Mideast Airport Authority and plan for additional agricultural income, among the dozens of projects adopted by the Chamber's Board of Directors last night.

The board adopted the slate of projects proposed by the Program and Public Relations Committee. Included in the projects for the Civic and Public Affairs Committee is the endorsement and promotion of a "one time contribution" plan for support of community activities.

The Commerce and Trade Committee will have under its jurisdiction a "Welcome to Greenville Week" for East Carolina College students and personnel and they will also develop plans for cooperation with the college on its Golden Anniversary plans. Among projects approved for the Education Committee are the promotion of a nurses training program for ECC and promotion of the establishment of an area Technical Institute.

The Chamber's Industrial Committee will undertake a total of nine projects this year. Included are plans to publish and distribute industrial and distribution briefs on Greenville compiled from economic surveys to be made by the Chamber along with supporting a county-wide industrial organization.

The Legislation and National Affairs Committee will urge the city to request legislation to permit zoning one mile beyond the city limit to promote the orderly growth of areas which may come into the city.

The Program and Public Relations Committee will publish and distribute a "Guide to Greenville" with a classified membership roster and it will compile a new illustrated pamphlet on the city.

Among Transportation and Communications projects are plans to promote re-establishment of water transportation on Tar River and to help Mideast Airport Authority get adequate air service for the area.

Agricultural Committee members will work on projects to (1) increase agricultural income, including a program to use excess acreages resulting from a cut in tobacco crops, (2) boost the Pitt County Fair and (3) encourage production of poultry production to supply the Robersonville plant.

The board last night also approved the Chamber's annual budget. Approval in principle of a more equitable form for taxing industry was given by the board so as to put the state on a more competitive position with other states.

Chamber Manager Willard T. Kyzer was authorized to attend the annual meeting of the Southern Association of Chamber of Commerce Executives in Charleston, S. C. in March. The board accepted the offer of the Pitt County Board of Realtors to cooperate with the Chamber's Industrial Committee in industrial development and they also accepted that group's recommendations that a member of the Board of Realtors be appointed to the Industrial Committee.

Unanimous View In Recommending Salary Program

RALEIGH (AP)—Gov. Hodges says he and the Advisory Budget Commission were unanimous in recommending that salary increases for state employees and school teachers not be "across the board."

Hodges told his news conference yesterday that in setting proposed teacher salary increases, the State Board of Education would be urged "to do more at the beginning" in order to attract new teachers and to "set up rewards for merit."

"Merit," he said, is "an awfully scary word in the teaching profession." Teacher organizations have spoken out against pay increases on a basis other than straight across the board. Hodges said the state budget recommended for the next biennium is "the best prepared budget the state ever put out."

C.A.P. MEETS TONIGHT
The Greenville Squadron of the Civil Air Patrol will meet at the airport tonight at 8 o'clock. Capt. Walter Bunch, squadron commander, invites all cadets, seniors, and friends of the C.A.P. to attend.

Talk Plans For New Building

The Greenville Recreation Commission held its monthly meeting last night with the primary issue being centered around the discussion of floor plans for the proposed activities building to be conducted at South Greenville Park. After lengthy discussion on the floor plan submitted by the architect, the commission's building committee agreed to approve the plan as soon as minor changes are made.

The construction of this building is being made possible by funds acquired by the commission in last fall's bond election. A recreation official stated this morning that detail plans drawn up by the architect George Shoe of Greenville will be submitted to the building committee for approval at the March meeting. Construction will begin in the near future, he added.

To be located near the South Greenville School on the corner of Howell and Skinner Streets, the unit will measure 56 by 62 feet. Included in the plans will be a club room and a game room. There will also be folding doors in order that another room might be set up to accommodate special meetings and events.

The existing toilet facilities at the park will be incorporated into the new building plans it was also announced.

Woman Files Theft Complaint

A theft was reported to Greenville police by Sadie R. Heath of Ayden yesterday.

According to police reports the woman stated that someone took a billfold from her pocketbook last Saturday night in the National Guard Armory containing approximately $111 in bills and change. The theft was not discovered until she returned home later that evening. Local police are conducting an investigation.

According to reports Pierce stated that he left his car parked for only five minutes or so. The incident occurred around 12 noon.
