Jaycees Honor Dr. Aldridge As 'Young Man Of Year' For 1956

By ALVIN TAYLOR Reflector City Editor A civic-minded dentist was honored by the Jaycees last night as Greenville's Young Man of the Year.

Dr. M. W. Aldridge was presented the club's Distinguished Service Award at the annual Bosses' Night for his service to the community during 1956.

He became the eleventh person to receive the coveted award since the first was presented in 1946. Marshall Spears, National Director of the U. S. Junior Chamber of Commerce, read an impressive list of accomplishments of Dr. Aldridge. It included being president of the Lions Club during 1956 and immediate past president of the Jaycees.

Town Stunned As FBI Nabs 'Pastor'

ELMDALE, Kan. — Calvin Laskey had revived the Elmdale Christian Church and more than tripled its membership in the nine months he was pastor, but today he's in jail.

The FBI said his record showed he'd been convicted 26 times on felony charges. Sheriff Francis Towle said Laskey himself acknowledged he had been in prison most of the past 20 years.

Elmdale is flabbergasted. "He was the best preacher we ever had," said Miss Carrie Wood, 88, and a lifelong resident of this little town (population 130) in the Flint Hills of southeast Kansas.

Laskey pleaded guilty Monday to a charge of illegally marrying a couple Dec. 2. He was sentenced to six months in jail.

Rep. Bonner Introducing Bill Authorizing New Referendum

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Rep. Herbert C. Bonner said this morning he would introduce a bill in Congress today authorizing the secretary of agriculture to call a referendum among flue cured tobacco growers within 30 days of the enactment of a poundage acreage allotment system.

Coupled with the proposed new allotment system would be a maximum 10 per cent increase in allotments. Bonner said he had been assured by Rep. Harold D. Cooley that there will be immediate hearings by the Tobacco Subcommittee on the bill.

The committee is headed by Rep. Abbot of Virginia. The First Congressional District representative said it is expected that tobacco for export will be in short supply this year.

problem in my state for some time and it seems to be the consensus of most tobacco growers that the most effective way to encourage the production of the kind of tobacco that the market wants is to adopt a system which would provide poundage quotas along with acreage allotment.

Modified Resolution On Middle East Is Cleared

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Democratic revision of President Eisenhower's Middle East resolution had tentative administration approval today.

Though Senate action and further House consideration still are necessary, Eisenhower appeared assured of strong congressional backing for military and economic steps to resist Communist inroads there if necessary.

The Senate Foreign Relations and Armed Services committees sharply revised one key section of the resolution by a 15-13 party line vote.

In Thomasville, Ga., White House press secretary James C. Hagerty said the revision "calls for a little further study" by both Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles, with whom the vacationing President talked by phone.

Brownell Says Civil Rights Bill Aim Is To Hit Mass-Disenfranchisement

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Brownell said today the administration's civil rights program would give the federal government power to deal effectively with what he called "mass disenfranchisement of Negroes."

Brownell emphasized protection of the right to vote in testimony marking the start of hearings by a Senate Judiciary subcommittee on the administration's program and other civil rights measures.

A House Judiciary subcommittee continued its hearings with further testimony from officials of Southern states who have contended generally that the proposals would be an unwarranted extension of federal power.

As the Senate hearings began, it developed that Sen. Eastland (D-Miss.), chairman of the full Judiciary Committee, has appointed a committee lawyer, Robert Young, to act as counsel for opponents of the bills.

Young came to today's opening hearing with 30 typed pages of questions to fire at Brownell.

Brownell told the senators the administration has offered a "middle-of-the-road program."

One part of the program would give the attorney general authority to go into federal courts to seek injunctions to protect voters against being illegally kept from the polls.

In support of this, Brownell said there were situations in Louisiana and North Carolina last year in which "the proposed legislation would have been of great assistance in protecting the right to vote."

Hopes Raised For Dock Strike End

NEW YORK (AP) — Optimistic statements by both sides have raised hopes for speedy settlement of the dock strike idling ports from Maine to Virginia.

Spokesmen for union and management emerged from bargaining sessions last night in a more cheerful mood.

"With any reasonableness on the part of the union we can reach a contract tomorrow (today)," said Alexander Chopin, chairman of the New York Shipping Assn., the employers group.

"I feel more optimistic, in view of all that happened during the day, that the matters outstanding will be resolved shortly," said Louis Waldman, counsel for the independent International Longshoremen's Assn.

Reject Demand

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. Steering Committee today rejected a Soviet demand for a General Assembly debate on the Eisenhower Middle East doctrine and other U.S. "aggressive actions."

Despite the declared willingness of the United States to have the Soviet complaint aired, the 16-nation committee decided against the proposed debate 8-6.

Those voting against insertion of the Soviet complaint were Italy, France, Dominican Republic, Nationalist China, Denmark, Peru, Turkey and El Salvador. Voting for it were the United States, Britain, India, Egypt, Russia and Czechoslovakia.

Pakistan abstained. The other member, Assembly President Prince Wan Waihayakon of Thailand, did not vote.

Dollar Day Event Brings Out Shoppers

A triple lure of bargain prices, free parking, and fair weather packed Dollar Day shoppers in Greenville's business district this morning.

Long before the bargain-offering stores opened their doors for business most of the free parking spaces in the business district and four municipal parking lots were filled.

A steady stream of traffic in and out of the business area forced many shoppers to park in close-in residential areas.

Despite the amount of traffic, Police Chief S. G. Gibbs, said it was moving smoothly. No extra men have been added to traffic details for the day, the chief said.

Lines in front of some doors formed long before opening hours. The crowds were orderly and kept sidewalks open for pedestrian traffic which was heavier than the automobile traffic.

A considerable number of shoppers from outside Greenville were spotted in crowds this morning. Other towns represented included Ayden, Bethel, Winterville, Smithfield, Washington, Grimesland, Griffith, Vanceboro, Farmville, Robersonville and Walstonburg. The one-day, semi-annual event attracted mostly women to the business district but there were many men observed in the crowds.

Liberal discounts by Greenville merchants were widely advertised and most of the participating stores had nearly every item of inventory offered at special prices.

Typical of the crowds which gathered for Greenville's semi-annual Dollar Day was this one. Many other stores also had large groups of shoppers waiting for openings. (Reflector Staff Photo).

Moose Lodge Plans Dance

The Greenville Moose Lodge has announced plans for a dance at the Moose Temple February 16 from 9 p.m. to midnight. All Moose members may bring out-of-county guests, prospective members and their wives or dates, the invitation reads. Music will be furnished by "The Melodiers."

Bride-Elect Feted At Dinner Party

The new home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Carver in Williamston was thrown en suite when they entertained for their niece, Miss Janice Tucker, bride-elect of Grimesland.

Auxiliary tables were placed in the living room and dining room to seat their 12 guests, who found their places marked with bridal place cards tied with lily of the valley and white ribbons.

The honoree was remembered with a pink and white corsage and a gift from the hosts.

Books Presented Children's Ward

Miss Chandler Talks To WSCS

GRIFTON — Miss Mamie Chandler, deaconess and Methodist Student Center director at East Carolina College, talked on full time Christian service at the Monday night meeting of the WSCS.

Miss Chandler told of her work and a number of incidents of interest to the group, showing that recruitment of young people for full time religious work is rewarding in its accomplishment.

The Rev. Ralph Epps, pastor of the church, gave the devotional and introduced the speaker.

Mrs. J. C. Hooten presided. Following circle reports and other routine business, the Johnnie Gardner Circle served refreshments.

Lighted candles on the table covered with a red cloth and silver hearts carried out the Valentine motif. Red camellias were used as the center arrangement.

Mrs. Becky Worthington served fruit punch and guests served themselves to nuts, date bars and other accompaniments. Serving with Mrs. Worthington on the refreshment committee were Mrs. D. B. Furrer, Mrs. Douglas Boone and Mrs. Cecil Cobb.

AAUW Plans Dinner Meet

The Greenville Branch of the American Association of University Women has announced plans for a dinner meeting Monday at 6 p.m.

The event will take place in the Sunday School Building of Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church.

Dr. Bessie McNeil, chairman of the International Relations Committee, has planned for Mrs. Iona Berry, Dean of Women at Brevard College, to be guest speaker for the dinner meeting.

Mrs. Berry attended the Congress of International Federation of University Women in Paris, France last summer.

Missions Program Theme For Circle

FOUNTAIN — Observing the February theme on missions, Mrs. E. C. Newton talked on Taiwan, the "beautiful island," at a meeting of Circle I of Fountain Presbyterian Church Monday afternoon.

She gave a brief history of the island, telling about the work and lives of the people, and then talked on the missionary work in progress there.

Mrs. Carter Smith, circle chairman, gave the Bible study on "Our Goal."

Mrs. E. C. Newton was hostess. After the program, she served refreshments to the nine members and one visitor present.

Program On Rugs, Fabrics Of Today

Mrs. J. T. Clark Jr. presented the program on "Fabrics and Rugs Of Today" when Mrs. Clifton Edwards Jr. entertained the Cosmos Book Club February 5.

Facts about the material used in the restoration of Williamsburg opened her speech. She also talked on uses for handblocked linens, orlons, cottons, jutes and pure Irish linen and gave examples.

In conclusion she displayed samples of the new rugs, including woollens, tweeds and nylons.

Mrs. Joe Smith Jr. presided over the meeting.

Speaker Gives Grooming Tips

Tuesday afternoon approximately twenty-five ladies gathered in the Home Economics Department of Bethel High School to hear a discussion on "Tips for Staying Young and Pretty" by Mrs. Lime Latham from Greenville.

Mrs. Latham compared the skin with a flower and then gave the following steps in improving it: cleansing, stimulating and lubricating.

The ladies were served coffee, cheese chips and walnut clusters, when they arrived, by the hostesses, Shirley Whitehurst, Alice Faye McKeel and Laurel Thigpin.

Mrs. Lucille T. Mayo urged the group present to attend the meeting on February 19 in the Home Economics Department at 3:30.

At this meeting, Miss Delphia Rawls, a Virginia Electric Power Company demonstrator, will demonstrate "Novelties from the Freezer." This program will include freezing of cakes, pies, French fries and other foods.

Mrs. Mayo and the student teachers, Miss June Goldston and Miss Bettie Dameron, have invited all of the adults of the community to this series of meetings.

Scout Plans Made By Club

Plans for the Girl Scout birthday party and the annual cookie sale were made at the Brownie Leaders Club meeting Tuesday morning.

Mrs. R. R. Ross presided over the monthly meeting held at the home of Mrs. J. Knott Proctor on Fifth Street. Some twelve leaders attended.

Departing from precedent this year, it was decided that the birthday parties on March 16 will be held in the individual schools.

Mrs. S. M. Crisp, Juliette Lowe chairman, talked to the club on objectives of the birthday events, explaining that pennies brought by Brownies to the party go into the world friendship fund. Traditionally the scouts have brought a penny for each year of their age to this event.

Orders for the Girl Scout Cookie Sale will be taken the first week in March, it was announced. The sale, itself, will take place the week of March 11 to coincide with the birthday celebration of the Girl Scouts founder.

Miss Patrick Is Hostess To Club

GRIFTON—Miss Hazel Patrick was hostess to members of her contract club on Thursday night at the home of Mrs. J. L. Quinerly. In the living room, where the guests were received, seasonal decorations were used.

Three tables were placed for the game and prior to these a supper in two courses was served.

High score prizes went to Mrs. Thurman Williams, Miss Bert Johnson and Mrs. Johnnie Smith. Others playing were Mesdames Dewey Wall, H. P. Quinerly, Jack Chapman, Alton Chapman, L. D. McCotter, Robert Mewborn, L. L. Mewborn, Jack Tucker and Miss Marie Chapman.

Wilson Club Slates Hooked Rug Exhibit

WILSON—The Wilson Woman's Club has announced it will stage a hooked rug exhibit at the clubhouse on Broad Street February 21-22.

Hand-hooked rugs, many of them antiques, will be on display from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. February 21 and from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. February 22.

Mrs. J. M. Daniel Jr., an expert in the art, will give demonstrations each day at the exhibit. Interesting patterns will be shown from New England and different sections of the South.

A Secretary Defined

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor

What is a secretary? Well, of course everybody knows she is what makes the wheels of big business go round, the essential ingredient of industry, the indispensable girl.

But the National Secretaries Assn. 222 W. 11th St., Kansas City, Mo., comes up with more detailed definitions in a new booklet, "Calling Professional Secretaries." This is the first of a series of brochures planned by the association, after being flooded with requests. It costs 5 cents.

Here's how the association describes a secretary: "An executive assistant who works directly with rather than for an executive . . . who knows how to work with people . . . who knows the answers to company problems . . . protects her employer from interruptions . . . and has complete mastery of office skills."

The brochure outlines the rewards of a secretarial career, includes an aptitude quiz and gives advice on how to prepare for a top secretarial job.

Meanwhile, various other organizations are delving into the virtues and faults of the all-American secretary. Editors of the Bureau of Business Practice, for instance, have been gathering up gripes from bosses, including:

- Not correcting the boss' errors.
- Gossiping about the boss' personal affairs or business deals.
- Lack of planning.
- Disappearing without letting the boss know when she will be back.
- Calling the boss by his first name in front of strangers.
- Clock watching.
- Complaining about the office decor.
- Interrupting an important conference for a trivial question.
- Using the office telephone to conduct a complicated personal social life.

Still another facet of secretarial careers is explored in a free booklet put out by Office Temporaries, Inc., 39 Cortlandt St., New York City, an organization which specializes in part-time work for housewives and retired career girls. This one describes the advantages of temporary or part-time jobs for housewives — one idea often mentioned as a solution for the national secretarial shortage.

Church Women Note YWA Anniversary

FOUNTAIN—The fiftieth anniversary of YWA was observed as the program theme when the Fountain Baptist Missionary Society met Monday afternoon.

Mrs. L. P. Yelverton and Mrs. S. L. Dilda reviewed the five ideals and dedications of the Young Women's Auxiliary. Mrs. F. L. Eagles presented the meditation, closing with a prayer.

A tableau, presenting pictures of Annie Armstrong, Ann Judson and Grace McBride, travelers to the first Southwide YWA Camp in 1924 and the anniversary celebration of YWA in 1947, was given by Mrs. Yelverton, Mrs. Bennie Tugwell and Mrs. Jack Speight. Mrs. Yelverton concluded the program by giving the Golden Outlook for YWA.

After a short business session the hostess, Mrs. F. D. Turnage, served coffee and cookies to 14 members.

Miss Mary Warren was hostess to the members of her bridge club Wednesday afternoon having as honor guest her sister, Mrs. George Sharpe of Burlington. Spring flowers were used as decorations. The hostess, assisted by Mrs. Bruce Warren, served a tempting salad course.

Mr. Mari P. Moore of Bethel has moved his family to this city. He has purchased a residence on the corner of Reade and Eleventh Streets.

Recent Bride Is Feted At Shower

Honoring Mrs. Grigg Tyson, a recent bride, Mrs. Earl Denton and Mrs. Forbes Allen entertained at a bridal shower at the Denton home Saturday evening.

Mrs. Denton greeted guests at the door and Mrs. Verma Dickerson led the group in several contests and games. Prizes went to Mrs. John Flanagan and Mrs. Sam Hobgood.

After the recreation, bridal gifts were showered on the honoree who opened and displayed them.

The hostesses served chicken salad on lettuce, pickles, potato chips, olives and coffee.

The honored guest and her mother, Mrs. Hobgood, were presented corsages. There were some 25 present for this occasion.

Paul Bradley Talks To Club

GRIFTON—Paul Bradley of the Grifton High School Agriculture Department spoke to the Hoe and Hope Garden Club Thursday afternoon when it met with Mrs. F. L. Cox on McRae Street.

He talked on soil conservation methods.

Also on the program was an informal talk on bluebirds. Twenty bluebird houses have been ordered for immediate use by club members.

Mrs. John Worthy, president, was in charge of the business session during which a nominating committee composed of Mrs. Ed Bright, Mrs. Ed Owens and Mrs. Douglass Boone was named.

The committee will make its report at the club's March meeting.

Arrangements of red camellias were used as decorations in the Cox home on McRae Street. The hostess served light refreshments following the meeting.

The club, on its next meeting date, will take a trip to the Hillcrest Nursery.

Add peanut butter to canned cream of tomato soup for a new and interesting soup treat.

Ballards X Roads News

"And who is he that will harm you, if ye be followers of that which is good," was the text used by the Rev. James A. Evans at the Piney Grove Baptist Church Sunday morning. The emphasis of this message was on "Zeal in Bringing the Lost to Christ." Responsive reading was from parts of Timothy, Mathew, and John. The Choir sang a special selection.

Attendance at the worship service and at Sunday school have been exceptional during the months of January and February even though the weather has been rainy and cold most every Sunday.

The Supt., H.P. Tyson, asked that an attendance of 200 be present at Sunday School the past Sunday and there were 211 present. At the worship service the Church auditorium was filled to capacity.

The Lucy Wischart Circle met Monday evening at the home of Mrs. James Blanchard near Maury in Greene Co.

The Women's Auxiliary will meet Friday evening at 7:45 at the home of Mrs. Raymond Tyson on highway 264. All members are invited to be present and visitors are all ways welcome.

Recent visitors in the home of Mrs. Mamie R. Holoway were Mr. Mrs. Tommie Sugg.

Mrs. Wilbur Gray Barber entered N.C. Memorial Hospital in Chapel Hill Monday for major surgery.

Mr. and Mrs. John Flanagan and daughter Laura accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Worrel of Rocky Mt. spent Sunday with relatives in Plymouth.

Enroute to Clinton last Thursday, Mr. and Mrs. Jasper Jones of the Ballards Community were painfully in an automobile accident at Faison about nine miles from Clinton. Their little grandson who was with them received a broken ankle.

Clifton Harris Jr. and his brother James spent the weekend with relatives at New Bern.

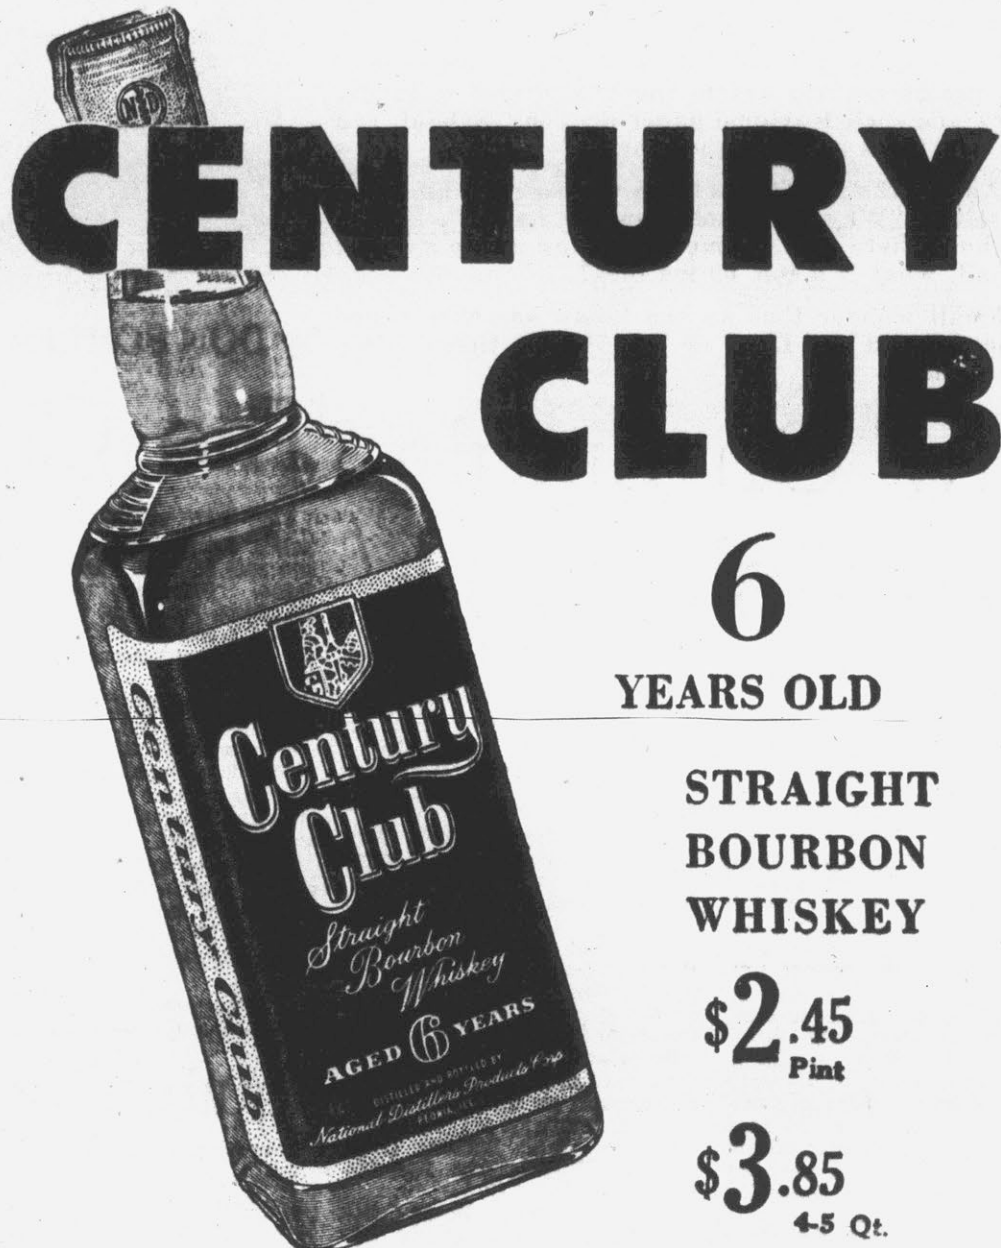

CONSTIPATED? New laxative discovery un-locks bowel blocks without gag, bloot or gripe

Constipation is caused by what doctors call a "thrifty" colon that, instead of retaining moisture as it should, does the opposite: robs the colon of so much moisture that its contents become dehydrated, so dry that they block the bowel; so shrunken that they fail to excite or stimulate the urge to purge that propels and expels waste from your body.

To regain normal regularity, the dry, shrunken, constipating contents of your colon which now block your bowel must be re-moistened. Second, bulk must be brought to your colon to S-T-R-E-T-C-H STIMULATE it to action; to a normal urge to purge.

And, of all laxatives, only COLONAD, the amazing new laxative discovery possesses COLONAD's great moisturizing capacity, plus COLONAD's stretch-stimulating bulk. So effective it relieves even chronic constipation overnight, COLONAD is yet so smooth, so gentle it has proved safe even for women in critical stages of pregnancy. Superior to old style bulk, salt or drug laxatives, COLONAD neither gags, bloats nor grips; won't interfere with absorption of vitamins and other valuable food nutrients; in clinical tests, did not cause rash or other reactions.

It's a physiological fact: Exercise tones your body! And COLONAD exercises your colon to tone it against constipation, overnight! Get COLONAD, in easy-to-take tablet form at any drug counter, today! Only 98c for the 60 tablet package, brings positive relief at less than 2c per tablet.

"It's Upside Down", Cried Alice

A story:

Once upon a time there was a city in the fabled Land of Ttip. It was a notable city, looked upon as a center of learning and health.

Like all other cities in Ttip (and the rest of the world), there persisted in this particular center of health and learning a disease which affected the toes... the victims usually came in time to lose a part of a toe, a whole toe, maybe several toes. Some citizens had no toes of their own, and were wearing cleverly-fashioned artificial toes.

In time a magic potion was made known, which if judiciously applied in the public baths would stop, or reduce, the ravages of this unwholesome disease.

The Learned men hailed it; the men of Medicine hailed it; scientists who were looked upon as leaders in the field of health all over the world agreed that the city in the Land of Ttip had found a good thing.

But within the city there were a few who disputed these things. They were not recognized leaders in the field of health. They were not recognized leaders in the field of knowledge. In fact, there is some question as to what fields they were acknowledged as leaders.

One, who was aged and with but two toes left, said "this is clearly against the public interest". Another, nodding, said "this magic portion is labeled poison and by the very meaning of the word (see Webster) is deadly. Someone is going to kill off the good people of this city in the Land of Ttip."

To magnify the voice of their protests, this group paraded the streets with paper dragons; and though these dragons were only of paper and had no entrails, they did have frightening faces. So frightening, in fact, that when the chiefs called for a show of hands on adoption of the magic potion, some of the multitudes had been pervaded by doubt. Verily, only a few hands were counted; and the results were inconclusive.

So the chieftains debated among themselves.

Quoth one, "it is but a small matter. To lose a toe or several toes is of small consequence." And he clacked his ten wooden toes on the tile paving.

"But we should think of our young people and the future," said another, "other cities, many of them, have adopted this magic potion and it may well be that having all ten toes someday be the mode".

Yet another of them counseled thus: "When we asked for a show of hands there were few who heeded. It is not for us to rule, but to obey the wishes of those who have chosen us as their spokesmen. We sought from the city a mandate, and too many people were preoccupied with their businesses and their pleasures. Plainly it is not for us to decide."

So the plan was abandoned.

When the news spread to the marketplaces and watering holes there was dismay. The men of Medicine burned their feathers, rattles and masks, and cried in one voice "Our words were unheeded, so therefore go now and ask those unskilled ones whom you did heed to take our places."

The men of Science also agreed. "Our lifetimes of study are as nothing before those who talk so loudly and parade such fearsome paper dragons. Behold, you have new faces in your laboratories."

Among the multitudes there were some who asked themselves, "Why did I not show my hand?". But on the whole, there was not much rippling in the stream; after all, what is a toe, or ten toes?

Small wonder that no one today has ever heard of that city in the Land of Ttip where these things came to pass.

A Dog Bit Our Tracy

By HAL BOYLE
ANDROS TOWN, Bahamas (AP)—Looking back on a splendid two-week vacation here, I wondered as we flew away what we would remember most about it.

The food that put extra pounds on us, the fish that got away, the goombay music that makes calypso seem pale, the friendly natives, the yachts we admired but had no desire to own, the nights, the sun, sand, surf and tan?

No, none. I've seen the most memorable things was the fact a dog bit our daughter.

After people get a certain age what happens to them isn't really quite as important as what happens to younger people they are interested in.

Since Tracy Ann came to our house to stay at the age of five weeks, we have cruised or flown her south four winter vacations in a row. When you have children of your own, perhaps you can go away and have a good time without them. But when a child adopts you, you dare not leave her behind. She might adopt someone else.

On three previous cruises I had successfully managed to keep her from throwing herself overboard trying to catch flying fish.

But now, with her growing on four, I felt it was time for her to learn life has its bumps as well as milk bottles, and perhaps I relaxed a bit.

We were strolling along, keeping out of the gravity bombing range of the coconut palms and feeling sorry for all our friends suffering the wintry rigors of New York City.

I saw ahead a black and white terrier standing guard at the green edge where the turf of his master's home touched the road. The dog was named Amos.

Sometimes you can sense the hidden temper of a dog by his posture as you can that of a strange person, and I called sharply to Tracy, "Stay away from the doggie!"

But she has her own mind about love. If a grownup asks her for a sign of affection, she tenses and grows coy. Yet she really has a blind faith that all things on earth love her. And, since few wise dogs court strange children, she goes all out for them herself.

She will run up and hug any strange animal from a turtle to a Great Dane. She's scared of elephants. They're too big and nosy—like grownups.

A native came by and I turned to ask him a question, and in that second Tracy gallops to Amos and reached out her arms and— "Yipe!" The deed was done. Tracy reeled back yelling and holding one arm. Amos backed toward his house, nervous, uncertain, tail down.

A newly arrived British doctor, a veteran of the Tunisian campaign, who undoubtedly had seen worse wounds, swabbed Tracy's purple bruise and bandaged it as she sobbed. "He's a bad dog!" My wife couldn't understand why neither I nor the doctor got excited.

"The dog may have rabies," she insisted. She couldn't understand my viewpoint, which was that Amos had a pretty clear defense. He hadn't nipped Tracy until she stepped off the road onto his boss' grass and grabbed at him. You can't fault anybody for loyalty.

"What if you end up with a rabid child?" asked Frances. I do suspect I have one. For the very next day when we were out walking we saw Amos, some distance from home. As he started to erouch away, Tracy tried to run up and throw her arms around him again.

"Don't you know he's a bad dog?" I asked, holding her. "He is not a bad doggie. Amos is a good doggie," she said, and then as my grip tightened on her and I refused to let her flung a second bite from Amos, she flung at me: "You're a bad man!"

I wanted then to let her go and see if her stubborn love could win Amos. But I looked from her to Amos, and I knew I couldn't be sure. So I held Tracy, warm and struggling and crying, "Let me go," and felt for the first time really the lonely responsibility of a parent trying to do his duty against the will of his child.

And was Tracy wrong? Only Amos really knows.

An Analysis Of Revenue Source

By ELMER ROESSNER
Of total American income, $31 of every $100 comes from manufacturing, according to a new study appearing in the Department of Commerce's Survey of Current Business.

The study also shows that each $100 in income, $16.87 comes from wholesale and retail trade and $11.65 from government and governmental enterprises.

The other sources of each $100 in income, based on figures for the first nine months of 1956, are given as:

- Agriculture, forestry, fisheries — $4.60
- Mining — $1.80
- Contract construction — $5.37
- Finance, insurance, real estate — $9.09
- Transportation — $5.00
- Communications and utilities — $3.63
- Services — $10.21
- Rest of world — $0.69

The last item refers to income from investments and exports abroad.

INCOME RISING

The study shows that income was at an annual rate of $339 billion in the first three quarters of 1956. That compares with $302.1 billion in 1955, $293.3 billion in 1954 and $284 billion in 1953.

The largest gain since 1954 was in manufacturing, from $89.6 billion to $105.1 billion. With a single exception, all the other categories showed approximately the same gains, ranging from 10 to 20 per cent. The single exception was agriculture, forestry and fisheries, down from $16.7 billion in 1954 to $15.9 billion in the latest period. The decline in farm prices was largely responsible.

The figures given include income from corporate as well as other sources. A separate table charts corporate profits before taxes in major industries. These show a somewhat erratic pattern at, however, a high level.

Corporate profits of all industries in 1956 were $37 billion. They dropped to $33.2 billion in 1954, shot up to $47.2 billion in 1955. While the figure is not cited in the Commerce study, the Council of Economic Advisers has estimated 1956 corporate profits at $43.4 billion.

DURABLE GOODS GAIN

The Commerce figures indicate a gain in corporate profits in the nondurable goods field at the expense of those in the durable goods field. Durables, generally speaking, are products that last, such as autos, furniture and appliances; nondurables are those purchased to use up, such as clothing.

During the first nine months of 1955, corporate profits in durable goods manufacturing were $10.8 billion. During the first nine months of 1956, they were $10.3 billion.

At the same time, nondurable goods profits rose from $7.1 billion to $7.6 billion. Part of the shift was caused by the lag in sales of autos — our most important durable. However, the change illustrates the old maxim: When income remains fairly constant, sales of durables rise when sales of nondurables fall. And vice versa.

WAY TO ESCAPE TAX OUTLAY

Owners of corporations are twice taxed: once on corporate profits and again when they take what's left as dividends.

If a corporation is owned by a small group, there's a way to escape, one tax authority points out. It consists of splitting the corporation into a corporation and a partnership, with the same owners in both cases. The partnership can operate the real estate, handle sales, do the packaging, etc. And if it should so happen that thereafter the corporation makes very little money but that the partnership gets all the profits, the owners will double their incomes.

The tax law makes connivers of us all.

Opinions In Brief

"Free enterprise is the term which we use most frequently in describing our economic system, but surely the term 'responsible enterprise' would be equally accurate." — B. B. Jennings, board chairman of Seconny Mobil Oil Co.

"Since newspapers beyond all others know how treacherous words can be, all newspapers will sympathize with that Ohio paper that recently published the fact that a more or less prominent lady of the community was being held in the city jail for a sanitary examination." Ah, those treacherous words! All of us have made countless mistakes, and no man ever born ever used all his words correctly." — The Daily Oklahoman.

"General concern is a lovely thing, but concern for something in particular accomplishes more. An over-all interest is commendable, but specific interest teaches better." — Theodore A. Gill.

By LYNN NISBET
SHORT BALLOT — Several local bills have been introduced in the Legislature affecting the election of county and municipal officers and containing the proviso that no ballot is valid unless it has a vote for some candidate for every office vacancy. In other words, if there are five commissioner to be elected, a ballot marked for only one or four candidates would not be counted.

The laudable purpose of this type legislation is to prevent "single shot" voting for factional favorites. If there are three officers to be elected out of a field of four or more, a single vote would give the favorite a distinct advantage. The single shot device has been used many times to boost the rating of specially favored but perhaps generally undesirable candidates.

However obnoxious the practice might be, and however often it might result in election of minority favorites, there remains the basic question whether the statutes should require a voter to mark his ballot for three or four persons whom he thinks unfit for the office in order to have his ballot counted for the one or two he thinks eminently qualified.

There is no law requiring any citizen to vote. An increasing number of people think there should be, and that any election in which less than a third of the eligible voters participate should be declared null and void. But since there is no requirement to vote, should there be a law requiring citizens to vote for undersirable in order to help elect officials they want?

This type of legislation first showed up about six years ago and was more or less frankly designed to prevent bloc Negro voting single-shotting municipal candidates.

REORGANIZATION — Oldtimers smiled at one sentence in Governor Hodges' speech Monday night. "North Carolina seems to have adopted a policy of gradual and continual reorganization of its State government, which was begun by the Reorganization Commission created in 1953 and continued by the Commission created in 1955," said the Governor.

The gradual and continual reorganization had been in progress many years before Governor Hodges came to preside over the 1953 session. In most instances, the procedure was the establishment of a new department to which was transferred functions of others, although sometimes it was simply transferring from one to another. The process began more than 40 years ago and has gained momentum since World War I. To list a few of the major

The Curtain-Call Crowd

They were admiring Billy Arnold's artistry which depicted two cats in close harmony a la feline. Somebody suggested "Schlienz, you ought to give Arnold a credit-line for that"; and the chorus of assent was unanimous.

So the weekend was spent ruminating about credit-lines, and it worked out to this: one credit line wasn't enough. An amazing number of skilled workers stand between writers' cramp and the public.

Credit-lines are those few seconds of screen footage that tell who really did the work on a movie or TV show. They also, in books, indicate the source material and inspirational personalities. Most printed pictures indicate the person who took the picture, or the source... like AP Photo, or Reflector Staff Photo; those are credit-lines.

One could write a column all day and all night, and it wouldn't do a bit of good if the copy didn't go to (and now come the credit-lines):

Other Editors Saying-- Youth And Fitness

(The Asheville Citizen)

Life begins at 40! For this we have new authorities, one being Mr. John B. Kelly of Philadelphia who was U.S. director of physical fitness during World War II and is, incidentally, also known as Princess Caroline's grandfather.

These kind folk, all filled with knowledge in the field of physical fitness as well as being physically fit themselves, say that a person over 40 today is probably stronger and better off physically than his own children.

Why this state of affairs, so encouraging to re-treads? Well, it seems that today walking is not favorably regarded as a means of locomotion by the youngsters. Also they park in front of the TV set when they are not in school instead of romping outdoors.

But the older generation walked to and from school, and spent its afternoons and all day Saturday rescuing the neighborhood from Apaches or made the day hideous with well-meaning imitations of the call of Tarzan of the Apes.

Those famous Six Exercises that many a youngster, unfortunately, is unable to do, are considered good measures of physical fitness. And many an adult, treading on the heels of middle age, can break down to the living room floor and whip through the same exercises.

Of course, Dad may have a memory of a certain drill sergeant who had firm ideas about exercises, which up until now Junior lacks.

Let's take that about a person of 40 being in better physical condition than a youngster over again; it sounds good from here. Ah, youth.

With the page form filled, Tommy Galloway prepares a matrix of the page and takes the matrix to the press room, where after more preparation it is used as a mold and Galloway casts a heavy metal page (a process known as stereotyping). Pressman Frank Browder insures the page is affixed in its proper place, inspects the machinery and punches the button that makes the press roll.

The newspaper (carrying these paragraphs) is counted, sorted and distributed by the circulation department to the reader by carriers (too numerous to list), the post office and retail outlets.

And, before enjoying the luxury of seeing a column in print, there are a host of others who sell advertising, provide news, pictures, features, newsprint, wire, electricity... name any field, and they're involved.

Giving credit where credit is due seems easy, but more people than one ordinarily assumes are behind this column.

Credit-lines? Brethren, take a bow.

Strength For Today

MAN OF PATIENCE

Patience is one of the hardest virtues in the world to cultivate — or to capture in the first place for that matter. It sometimes takes more stark courage to wait out an issue than to barge right in and start slugfing.

Abraham Lincoln is a great world figure, and if you will examine his career you will discover that with all his good qualities, patience appeared to get him more triumphs than any other. He could endure the misunderstanding of his Cabinet. He could see his homely countenance caricatured and jeered in public press. He could appoint generals, see them fail, dismiss them with kind assurances of his regard and then appoint others who sometimes proved even more inept than their predecessors.

Lincoln was a great writer of clear, colorful English. He was a spiritual genius. But his talents lay rather in the field of administration. He often faltered in the conduct of the war. He made many mistakes, and no one saw them more clearly than he did. But his patience was the cement of his personality. He could wait and he could wait patiently. He could trust the rightness of an issue to get it through somehow in the end. He could meet curses with a smile. He could be friends with his enemies.

A big heart and a big capacity for patience! These qualities raised the man to greatness. They always do.

U. S. Is Held Responsible For Israel

By RAY TUCKER
WASHINGTON — A nasty political problem has been tossed into the hands of President Eisenhower and Secretary Dulles as a result of the world belief that only American influence and pressure can persuade Israel to withdraw from the Gaza strip and Gulf of Aqaba, in accord with numerous United Nations demands.

It is almost dolorously that Dulles concedes that, if necessary for a solution of the Suez crisis, this country might have to employ economic sanctions against Tel Aviv. Such action to starve out the stricken little republic, he appreciates, would provoke an emotional storm at home and throughout the Jewish community everywhere, and raise up powerful enemies among elements once friendly to Ike.

HOLD U. S. RESPONSIBLE FOR ISRAEL But all the key nations and important personalities involved in the Middle East controversy seem to hold the United States responsible for Israel's existence and current defiance of the U.N. Colonel Gai biterly on the subject of American aid and sympathy for Palestine.

On his visit to Washington, King Saud expressed the view that only Uncle Sam could talk turkey to Premier Ben Gurion. In view of their loss of prestige in the Middle East because of their attack on Egypt, both Britain and France insist that we assume the role of interventionist. They have thrown up their hands, or rather, washed their hands of the task.

Dag Hammarskjold, United Nations Secretary General, has urged his American contacts to take the lead in obtaining Israeli compliance with the world organization's repeated pleas for a less unbending attitude at Tel Aviv. The latest critical resolution in the U. N. was opposed only by Israel and France.

ARABS EYE TEL AVIV GIFTS FROM HERE There is no justification for criticism of Washington's policy toward Israel, in official opinion. Indeed, Eisenhower has made enemies because he has tried to offset Harry S. Truman's special favoritism toward Israel. He has, according to the Zionist viewpoint, leaned toward the Arabs in refusing to sell arms to Tel Aviv.

But the Arabians do not distinguish between official administration assistance and the gifts which flow to Israel year after year from Zionist friends and sympathizers. Without these contributions, they believe that the new state could not exist, and certainly not be able to defeat them in the 1947 and 1956 engagements.

In fact, without private American financial help, Israel would not have a viable economy. It is estimated that the discrepancy between exports and imports amounts to about $200,000,000 annually on the red side. The imbalance is made up in part by $70,000,000 of German reparations, which the U. S. and Britain induced Bonn to pay.

NASSER'S DEDUCTION Part of the remainder comes from more than $10,000,000 in American contributions and the purchase of Israeli bonds, which is an annual asset. Israel's friends in other countries make up the balance of the yearly debt.

As evidence of Arabian bitterness and blame of the U.S., Nasser frequently notes that Internal Revenue permits American contributors to deduct this money on their income tax report. He regards that as indirect but official Government support.

In view of other nations' defiance of the U. N. resolutions, the proposal to punish Tel Aviv embarrasses Dulles. Moscow, for instance, laughed at the demand for a U. N. investigation of the Hungarian massacre. Nehru refuses to hold a plebiscite in Kashmir, in accord with old U. N. requests. And Egypt has been permitted to blockade the Suez Canal to Israeli shipping, again in disregard of U. N. insistence to the contrary.

First Troop To Receive Charter On Scout Sunday

Boy Scout Troop 398 received its charter last Sunday. "This presentation is the first ever made in Pitt County on Boy Scout Sunday," stated John Behr, Pitt District Scout Supervisor who presented the charter to the group. This new unit was formed at the Red Oak Church and is being sponsored by the Men's Bible Class. Troop 398 is the first scouting unit formed by the Red Oak Church in its 85-year history. Edgar Denton has been appointed Scoutmaster and Bill Forbes heads the institutional committee. The newly formed troop which informally received their charter prior to Sunday's ceremonies recently won the Gold Cup at the First District meeting held in Greenville. During the charter ceremony the scouts and their sponsors attended as a group.

Ground-Breaking Planned Sunday

A ground-breaking ceremony will be held at Pleasant Acres Free Will Baptist Church Saturday at 2:30 p.m. The church, located four miles east of New Bern on the Morehead Highway, had its beginning July 29, 1956 as a mission. On November 1, it was organized into a church with the Rev. T.O. Terry as pastor. It has some 50 members.

NOTICE To Automobile Owners

This is to notify you that every resident motor vehicle operated in the City of Greenville is required to register their automobile and truck and purchase a city auto license tag from the city clerk by FEBRUARY 15, 1957. If not purchased by FEBRUARY 16, 1957, the city code and state law states that you will be guilty of a misdemeanor and will be cited to City Recorder's Court.

COMPARE

This is an extreme example of soil acidity resulting from continuous use of ammonia nitrogen without lime. Regular use of Chilean helps correct acidity, maintains favorable pH.

and you'll choose CHILEAN NITRATE OF SODA

More than anything else, when spring growth begins, small grain needs an ample supply of fast-acting nitrate nitrogen. And that means Chilean Nitrate of Soda. The nitrogen in it is 100 per cent nitrate nitrogen—fast-acting and ready to help the hungry crop through its most difficult period and push it ahead.

More than 100 years of consistently satisfactory experience with Natural Chilean Soda have demonstrated that there is nothing to compare with it for top-dressing small grain. It is a rare natural combination of nitrate nitrogen, sodium and minor elements. The nitrogen is 100 per cent nitrate nitrogen—ready to work, rain or shine, as soon as it's applied. This is especially important because at top-dressing time every moment counts. There is nothing like nitrate nitrogen for a small grain crop—and there is no source of nitrate nitrogen that can compare with Natural Chilean Soda.

Then, there's the sodium and minor elements. Sodium, particularly, adds much to the value and effectiveness of Chilean Soda. It conserves the supplies of magnesium, potash and calcium in the soil and substitutes for calcium and potash, if necessary. It increases the supply of available phosphate. Every ton of Chilean contains sodium equivalent to 650 pounds of commercial limestone to destroy soil acidity and correct acid-forming effects of ammonia nitrogen. This explains why regular, systematic use of Chilean Soda helps so much to maintain a favorable pH level for the production of top yields of top-quality crops.

If you have any question about the top-dressing for your small grain crop this year, we urge you to try Natural Chilean Soda, if only in a small way to begin with, and see the difference for yourself. You'll find it is the most economical and satisfactory nitrate nitrogen fertilizer you can buy for top-dressing your small grain crops.

Come try the BIG BUY
(You can boss this Buick Special for little more than the price of a smaller car!)

ONE LOOK at that price figure and you'll know that—again in 1957—if you can afford a new car you can afford a Buick.

And look what you get for so little extra money. You get the most completely new Buick in years. Not just brand new in styling and brand new in body design.

But new in features that make this the dream car of the year to drive.

You get brand-new performance because the engine is literally new from the crankshaft up.

You get a brand-new instant response because we engineered brand-new torque into Variable Pitch Dynaflo.*

And to give you the new sure-footed safety of a lower center of gravity—we built a brand-new frame—which lowers the car, but keeps the headroom, legroom and footroom that a big car should have.

Fact is, there are more than 150 other chassis changes in this '57 Buick—waiting for you to try them. Do that soon—at your Buick dealer's.

*New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflo is the only Dynaflo Buick build today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century—optional at modest extra cost on the Special.

East Carolina Edges Past Catawba By 72-71 Margin

Tight Game From Start To Windup

CATAWBA—East Carolina improved its North State Conference standing last night, here, squeaking out a 72-71 victory over Catawba.

The ball game was a tight one from start to finish, with neither team gaining a real advantage. East Carolina's biggest margin was five points; Catawba, at one time, held a four-point advantage. Half-time score was 33-32 in favor of the Bucs.

to make it 72-70. They added a free toss but were unable to catch the Bucs before the final buzzer sounded.

Helfrich Got 39
Catawba's Woody Helfrich was high scorer for the night, with 39 big points. It was Helfrich who kept the Indians in the game when East Carolina's five-point lead looked as if it would cause the Pirates to move out. He whacked it down.

ECC's Joe Plaster, who played the game with three stitches in his tongue, hit for 26 points, to lead the Pirates. It was his best scoring night of the season. Nick Nichols, a forward, added 14.

Play was rough on both sides in last night's battle. Both teams fouled recklessly and ECC lost two starters via the foul route. Guy Mendenhall and Tim Smothers, both guards, went out before the final buzzer.

The win boosts East Carolina's conference record to 6-7 and their overall mark to 12-9.

East Carolina plays host to Elon in Memorial Gym Saturday night for another conference tiff.

'Took The Rap' To Teach Youth

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—The father of a 13-year-old boy forfeited his driving privileges for six months rather than have his son believe he could grow up ignoring the law.

Carl Ray Heysler pleaded guilty in Quarterly Court to drunken driving. He was fined $100 and his driver's license suspended for six months.

Defense Attorney Robert Zollinger said Heysler decided to plead guilty when he heard his son say, "My dad is going to beat this charge in court."

Heysler said "I'd rather lose my license and pay a $100 fine than have my boy grow up thinking he can disobey the law."

Try This Tomato Surprise! Scoop out insides of a plump tomato. Then sprinkle the inside with a thin layer of Sterling Salt. Invert tomato shell and drain. Salt draws out the excess moisture, leaves shell firm. Fill with cottage cheese, or mixed cottage cheese and sour cream. Garnish and serve. You add extra zest and sparkle to any dish with Sterling Salt's pure, snow-white "sparks of flavor." Plain or Iodized. Damp proof.

Smith Misses Chance, Brown Ready For Rivals

By JACK HAND
MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—If Joe Brown really wants to be a "fighting champion," the woods are full of lightweight yapping at his heels. One contender, Wallace (Bud) Smith, was scratched permanently from the 135-pound sweepstakes after last night's dreary effort against Brown in their Miami Beach Auditorium rematch. Completely outclassed, the sluggish ex-champ was sliced up and stopped, an 11th-round technical knockout victim.

Things got so tough for Smith that his handler, Adolph Ritacco, begged Dr. Alexander Robbins of the Miami Beach City Commission to stop it. The doctor obliged by halting operations between the 10th and 11th. Under Miami Beach rules, it went as an 11th-round TKO.

Kenny Lane, the southpaw from Muskegon, Mich., with the red hot winning streak, is the probable opponent for Brown in a spring match. The target date is May 24 and the probable site Miami. It is doubtful if Brown, a 30-year-old fancy dancer from New Orleans with a fine left hand, ever will have any easier defense than he did last night. Smith, who lost the championship to Brown on a split decision Aug. 24 when Brown broke his right hand, never had a chance.

Again Rebuffed On Moreland, State College Seeks Hold Its Own Hearing

RALEIGH (AP)—North Carolina State College, rebuffed by the Atlantic Coast Conference in its petitions for a rehearing of the Jackie Moreland basketball recruiting case, sought today to hold its own hearing in the matter.

It was disclosed yesterday that the ACC faculty committee has marked the case closed after re-affirming that State was guilty of offering Moreland a 5-year unrestricted scholarship and $80 for transportation to Raleigh.

The ACC reduced from $5,000 to $2,500 the fine it imposed on State.

The NCAA placed State on probation for four years for alleged violations in recruiting Moreland, an honor student and former basketball ace at Minden, La., high school. Moreland dropped out of State College recently and announced he was entering Louisiana Tech.

Dr. Carey H. Bostian, college chancellor, said he was writing "all of those principal witnesses whose names were given to us by the NCAA" asking them to appear at a hearing in Louisiana on or about Feb. 23. The hearing, he said, would be before a committee representing State College.

"I'm asking them to confront the individuals who have been charged with the violations of NCAA and ACC rules," he declared.

Bostian issued a lengthy statement along with the findings of the ACC on its investigation. The faculty committee met in Greensboro Sunday and ACC Commissioner Jim Weaver mailed the findings to Bostian.

In its ruling, the faculty committee said the ACC will not sponsor an open hearing in the case as State had requested. It pointed out the ACC does not have authority to subpoena witnesses for an open hearing.

The ACC reported that its probe "revealed confirmation of the original admissions by Moreland" that he had been promised certain additional inducements by representatives of State College.

Moreland later repudiated the statements, the ACC said. The report added that "details of the confirmation are available" to State College "on a confidential basis."

Under such a proposal, Bostian pointed out, "individuals of our staff who are accused of the violations may not go with us so that we can review the file together, giving me an opportunity to question them directly on its contents."

Bostian said, "We are deeply disappointed with the failure of the faculty chairmen to conduct the complete and full investigation in this case, on all charges, which we had urgently requested them to do."

The NCAA had charged that the college offered Moreland cash grants and the promise of a 7-year medical scholarship for his girl friend.

Clippers Win 14 In Row At Home

CHARLOTTE (AP)—Charlotte's league-leading Clippers won their 14th consecutive home game last night by downing Washington 9-3 in an Eastern Hockey League game.

The win also was Charlotte's 12th in a row over the Lions. Gerry Sullivan scored two goals for the Clips.

Twenty penalties were assessed, with John Brophy of Charlotte and Steve Kuzma of Washington being put out of the game for fighting.

NEAC Sets Tourney Pairings, Discuss Re-Districting Move

JACKSONVILLE — At an important meeting of the Northeastern Athletic Conference, here, last night, the official conference standings were released, pairings for the loop tournament were selected, and talk pertaining to re-districting was heard.

After much debate, pairings for the NEAC tournament, to be held at ECC's Memorial Gymnasium beginning Thursday, February 21, were decided upon. Those pairings will not be released by the conference until Saturday.

Re-Districting
Much talk during the past few weeks in high school athletic circles, has been devoted to the question of re-districting. This talk has been created by a 32-man committee, appointed by the state high school athletic association, to look into the possibility of changing the status of schools.

It has been suggested that each plateau of high school ball, Class A, AA and AAA should be determined by school enrollment only and that conferences should be handled on the same basis. There has been further talk of creating a Class AAAA, to accommodate the state's largest schools.

The reason for the current worry over classification and conference membership is based on the tremendous growth of some schools. For instance, according to some figures, the difference between school enrollment in the Northeastern Conference (to name one) is as much as 200 in some cases. Schools of lower enrollment, say 300, cannot compete with effectiveness against schools with enrollment of as much as 500.

It was rumored that New Bern and Kinston, the NEAC's two largest schools, were planning to move up into Class AAA ball. This rumor was killed last night, when representatives of both schools stated flatly that they intended to remain in the Northeastern Conference and Class AA ball.

Measure Discussed
A measure was discussed which put forth the idea that the whole high school situation be re-classified, according to enrollment. The measure stated that schools be ranked as follows: enrollment of 100-150 to be Class AA; enrollment of 151-300 to be Class AAA; enrollment of 301-600 to be Class AAAA; enrollment above 600 to be Class AAAA.

The above classification would put all Northeastern Conference teams in the Class AAA bracket. No decisions were made.

O. E. Dowd, of Greenville, suggested that the NCEAC schools are represented in a minor sport, such as track, wrestling or golf, that a trophy be awarded. The suggestion was voted upon and passed. Kinston's Frank Mock's suggestion that individual trophies be given was also agreed upon. Next meeting of the conference is slated for April 10, at Kinston. Listed below are the official Northeastern Conference standings:

—ELIZABETH SEIFERT'S NEW NOVEL—
A Call for Doctor Barton

Through sheer dread of it, Grady Barton's imagination built up the police court session to such an extent that the actual event seemed like an anticlimax. For Mo Chronister showed up the next morning, sober and seemingly regretful. Yes, he conceded readily, he had been drunk. And yes, sure, he'd side-swiped the doctor's car. "Those things happen, you know, Judge? Didn't you ever get your busy wheels tangled up with another guy's, comin' home from a dance?" The judge cracked in admission of his own youthful folly. Mo gracefully paid his fine, cracked a few more jokes, wittily and charmingly with the clerk—then he turned to Grady, his hand outstretched. At the minute, Grady's hands were busy with the scarf which he was adjusting.

"It's all right, No," he said almost indifferently. "I've been living in a big city, where one automatically calls the police in the event of an accident." Now he smiled and extended his hand. Some what warily, Mo took it. As Grady went around him and down the stairs to the street, Mo Chronister stood looking at the hand which Grady had shaken—when he wanted to.

But, for all of Mo's charm that morning, and his gracious acceptance of the penalty for his folly.

a red Mackinaw, with a shotgun on his shoulder and a setter dog at his heels. A smile flicked about his lips.

"I ain't got a lot of time," said Kopp loudly. "Gotta drive forty mile this evening to jack up a man on a mortgage payment. They hunt you up when they want to borrow the money, but I got to run 'em down to get my earmin's back. Guess you know what that is, Doc."

"I'm afraid not," said Grady courteously.

"I wondered, Doc," said Kopp, his small eyes searching Grady's face. "If—sense the kid ain't chocked to death yet on the grain o' corn you thought he's swallowed, maybe you'd be willin' to give me a perscription for some cough medicine?"

Grady shook his head. "I'd not prescribe without seeing the child again—and I am sure that I still advise you to take him to Madison for examination."

As he spoke, he braced himself against the anger to be expected at his persistence, but a glance showed a conciliatory smile upon Kopp's face. "Now, listen, Doc," he said with a show of reasonableness. "you could be wrong, couldnt you?"

"Yes," said Grady at once. "I surely could be. The examination at Madison might prove that, but I'll say that I'd much rather have it prove me wrong, than you."

Now the anger rose to the surface, nasty and sneering. "D'you know what I think about you, Doc?"

"I'd be interested."

"I think you're too big for your britches, young man! You think you're real smart because you worked in the city. You think country folks don't know nuthin! Well, I think you'd a-better stayed in the city you had no right to come here to work."

"Mr. Kopp," said Grady, as patient as a man could be. "I shouldn't have to remind you that you were one of the men here in the Hollies who particularly asked me to come to your community and practice."

"I know I was," said Kopp, heavily. "And there, Doc, I'll grant you, I made a big mistake!"

Grady's face remained impassively courteous and interested. "How is the child?" he asked in a firm voice.

Kopp frowned. "Oh, like I say, he has a cold—wheezy, you know. Guess there's nuthin to worry about. But maybe some medicine would let him sleep a little easier. It's hung on for a long time."

"You say his parents have been here?"

"Yeah. A week ago."

"Weren't they worried about him?"

"Ah, no! They know kids get colds—like I say, they's nuthin to worry about."

Grady stepped back to regard this man—as lumbering and awkward as a black bear, his mean little eyes, his strength which was that of muscle and bluster and insult. Months ago, Grady had thought he would like to fight Oren Kopp. Now he knew differently. His gloved fingers tipped his hat. "I hope you are right," he said quietly, and he walked firmly down the street. Kopp, he was thinking, had all the components of an old-time melodrama villain. He foreclosed mortgages and neglected children and—yes!—and abused his wife. Grady did not smile. In deciding what made up a villain, those old-time playwrights had known what to portray.

During the afternoon, the day grew colder. By nine o'clock that night a man, snug in his warm home, could rightly grumble at a phone call that might take him out into the frosty night. Grady so grumbled when he got up to answer his ringing telephone.

It was Pearl calling, and at the sound of her voice the doctor's back straightened, and his head went up alertly.

She was out at Kopp's, she said, and the baby was sick. "Will you come out here quick as you can, Doc?"

"Is Mr. Kopp there?"

"No, that's why they asked me. Oh, Doc, come on! He's chokin'—and he looks bad!"

"Peal . . ."

"You can't let him die, Doc!" She was sobbing.

No, Grady could not let a child die. He'd go out, and once there, he would make the necessary decisions.

What can Doctor Barton do for the dying baby? Read Chapter 18 in this newspaper tomorrow . . .

when its men reached the field, the moonshiner was lying on his back exhausted and offered no resistance to arrest.

PARTING OF WAYS
DENVER (AP)—Five-year-old Mark Farmer tumbled off the garage roof at his home. His mother, Mrs. Bert Farmer, running to his rescue, fell and broke her arm. Mark, not badly hurt, went to one hospital, mother to another.

COAST GUARD CHASE
Miami, Fla. (AP)—In prohibition days the Coast Guard chased rum-runners with fast boats. But yesterday a Coast Guard officer ran a moonshiner ragged with a helicopter when he spied the man fleeing through a field, a sheriff's posse in pursuit.

Cmdr. Norman Horton spotted smoke from a still. Wherever the fleeing moonshiner turned, Horton lowered the whirly-bird into his path. Each time, the fugitive veered off in another direction. The sheriff's office reported that

Mixed Reaction To Closing Hours

Yesterday afternoon was the first Wednesday that the Greenville stores observed the new noon closing that the board of directors of the Merchants Association recommended. Previously Greenville merchants remained open all day on Wednesday until after Easter.

This new plan, which was voted upon several weeks ago, stated that beginning February 13 all Greenville merchants would close at noon on Wednesday except for the three Wednesdays prior to Easter.

This plan received an overwhelming majority of votes. All of the members of the Merchants Association but 18 voted to observe the new closing dates.

"But one of the dime stores advised that they would remain open and one of the dry goods stores announced they would be open Wednesday afternoon," stated Jimmy Harris, president of the Merchants Association.

"We were hoping that all would abide by the majority decision," he further commented.

All of the banks, jewelry stores, and gift and fabric shops did observe the new closing dates yesterday afternoon. The Utilities office and the City Clerk's office also were closed at noon. The two men's clothing stores and children's stores also had closed signs in their windows.

A large majority of the furniture stores, shoe stores, and insurance offices also were closed.

The Hardware stores on Dickson Avenue were open yesterday due to an agreement. They observe the Saturday afternoon closing while the other hardware stores in the city will be closed on Wednesday afternoon.

All of the dime stores remained open for business yesterday and a large number of the clothing and department stores continued with business as usual.

Drug stores, bakeries, and restaurants had the usual Wednesday afternoon business.

Several merchants felt that some of the stores closed in order to prepare for the Dollar Day sales today. Other believed that more merchants would be closed next Wednesday afternoon. Many of the stores have decided to wait until after Easter to observe Wednesday afternoon closing.

William Hill Horne Funeral Set Friday

William Hill Horne, 71, died at his home in Greenville at 12:55 Wednesday afternoon following three years' illness.

Funeral services will be held at St. Paul's Episcopal Church at 11 a.m. Friday by the rector, Rev. John Drake, assisted by Rev. William M. Howard Jr., pastor of Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church. Burial will be in Cherry Hill Cemetery.

Mr. Horne, son of the late William H. and Rosamond Hoover Horne, was born and reared in Greenville and attended the Greenville Academy under Professor Ragsdale. He then attended the University of Maryland and received a degree in pharmacy. After being employed as a pharmacist in Rocky Mount and Jacksonville, he returned to Greenville in 1920 and operated a drug store here until his retirement in 1952.

He was a member of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, was a lay reader in the church, and for many years was a member of the choir. He was a member of the Greenville Masonic Lodge, No. 284, and was a past-master of the lodge. He also was a member of Greenville Chapter, Royal Arch Masons, and was past high priest, a member of Bethlehem Commandery and past commander, past grand com-

OPEN HOUSE

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Orval Hafen, Utah State Senate president, says that when Warden Marshall Graham asked inmates of the State Prison how they would like to celebrate Graham's anniversary as warden the prisoners replied "Let's have an open house."

Speaks Friday

Brig.-Gen. Edward A. Montgomery, (above) Commanding General Cherry Point Air Station and commander, Marine Corps air bases, will be the speaker at the Greenville Kiwanis Club's supper meeting Friday night at 6:30.

Dr. F. E. Lansche, Greenville, commanding officer of Composite Company 6-26, will have charge of the program.

General Montgomery, a native of Augusta, Ga., graduated from the U. S. Naval Academy in 1930. He has served in England, China and participated in World War II in the South Pacific.

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK — The stock market continued its rally early this afternoon but prices were not as strong as in earlier dealings. Leading issues were up from fractions to around a point with a few stocks ahead of that range. There were a few losers.

The market was up from the start and the initial rush of buying put the high-speed ticker tape two minutes behind the rate of trading.

But the jam-up was over in four minutes. Turnover continued at a fairly brisk pace.

In Wall Street the rise was regarded as a continuation of the sharp break Monday, and the Tuesday dip. The reduced prices attracted buyers, it was said, and the background of business news was a mixed one, with no immediate impact on the market.

Steels and aircrafts were the favorites but the rally was general affecting most major divisions.

In earlier transactions, the pivotal issues were up as much as 2 points or so. As prices settled below that range in quieter trading some brokers said that with the pileup of overnight orders out of the way the market was undergoing a test of its immediate trend.

Lukens Steel remained ahead around 2. General Dynamics, Boeing, and United Aircraft were all up a point or more. Bethlehem and Republic Steel, however, were ahead only by fractions while U.S. Steel was off a fraction after an earlier gain.

General Motors and Chrysler were heavily traded with each up a major fraction.

Mack Trucks, American Telephone, Joy Manufacturing and Goodyear were all up around a point. Du Pont added around 2 and Gulf Oil more than a point. Leading rails were mostly higher. Kennecott, U.S. Rubber and Youngstown took losses.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 80 cents to $171.10 with the Industrials up $1.10, the rails up 40 cents and the utilities up 30 cents.

RALEIGH — (NCDA) North Carolina Fryers and broilers weak and unsettled. Farm price 18 to 19 mostly 18; no f.o.b. sales reported.

Raleigh eggs steady. A large 35 to 36; Durham eggs steady. A large 34 to 36; Asheville eggs unsettled. A large 33 to 34; Charlotte eggs steady. A large 34.

RALEIGH — (NCDA) Hog markets were 25 to mostly 50 cents lower. Tops of 16.00 to 16.75 in Bethel, Tarboro, Enfield and Rocky Mount; 16.00 to 16.50 in Winston, New Bern, Benson, Pine Level and Nahant; 16.00 in Rich Square, Fayetteville, Clinton, Lumberton, Micro, Smithfield, Newton Grove, Mount Olive, Castle Hayne, Elizabethtown, Goldsboro, Kenly, Shallotte, Dunn, Bailey, Whiteville, Siler City, Spring Hope, Clarkton, Wingate and Mount Gilead. 15.75 at Tabor City.

Forum Will Talk Education Bills

Education legislation will be the topic for discussion on the WNCN public affairs forum Friday at 1:15 p.m.

O. E. Dowd, principal of Greenville High School, Dr. Earl Trevathan, pediatrician, and Dr. Edgar Hirschberg of East Carolina College will be the panelists.

Mrs. Robert Forney will be the moderator due to the illness of W. E. Debnam.

Last week, Dr. James Poindexter substituted as a panelist for Judge Charles Whedbee who was called away on an emergency.

The program is sponsored by the Greenville League of Women Voters.

Woodmen Hold Meet Tonight

BETHEL — Woodmen of the World Camp No. 1071 will hold a regular meeting tonight at 7:30. Plans will be made for the district meeting to be held here in March. Finance Secretary W. A. Dunning announced.

The Woodmen are sponsoring a teen age dance at the Woodmen Hall Saturday night at 7:30. A small admission fee will be charged. The public is invited.

Pactolus Club Hears Cullifer

PACTOLUS — At the Pactolus Ruritan Club's recent supper meeting, Ernest Cullifer of the Pinetown Ruritan Club described the proposed plan for establishing a produce market at Washington this year if enough farmers sign up for a sufficient number of acres to be planted to cucumbers and pepper. He said this would provide some extra money to the farmers to supplement their income for the year. He reminded the Ruritan members of the reduction of tobacco acreage. Carmon Wallace, also a Pinetown Ruritan member, accompanied Cullifer here.

Brown Mayo of Falkland presented a humorous program.

W. R. Wynne was welcomed as a new member and Burney Baker was recognized as the Ruritan lieutenant-governor for the year.

The meeting was held at the Community Building. President Noel Lee presided. The women of the Parent-Teacher Association served the supper.

Visitors Welcomed

OPEN HOUSE—Vernon Priddy is shown above passing out free refreshments to Exchange Club President J. H. Moye, right, and Fred Forbes yesterday afternoon at the Greenville Police Department. Open house was staged by the Exchange Club from 9:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. and from 1:30 p.m. to 4:00 p.m. in conjunction with National Crime Prevention Week. Free refreshments were passed out to visitors and tours were conducted through the police department with the cooperation of Chief of Police S. G. Gibbs. (Reflector Staff Photo).

Pactolus Store Reports Break-In

PACTOLUS—Several cartons of cigarettes and a quantity of merchandise was reported missing from Davenport's Store here this morning after the building was entered last night.

Sheriff Ruel W. Tyson said the robbers pulled boards off a broken window to enter the building.

SMOKE, NO FIRE

A portable heater filled the armory with smoke yesterday afternoon, bringing firemen to the scene. The pot was carried outside. No damage resulted.

'Resplendent' Recital By Two Music Majors

By GEORGE E. PERRY

Occasionally there comes a time when one seems unable to find words to express the outcome of a recital or concert. Such was the case last evening when June Crews, soprano, and Ralph Chason, clarinetist, gave an outstanding evening of music. One expects to floridly laud professional artists after an appearance, but it is a rare occasion when the performance of two Senior Music Majors reaches the peak which was attained last evening.

It was more than an outstanding recital; it was a resplendent one, and in several ways, but principally because of the calibre of the music, and the way it was performed. Miss Crews opened the program with "With Verdure Clad" by Haydn. In this one, first, as often the case with a first number, that the singer was "getting the feel of things," so she tread somewhat cautiously throughout the difficulties at hand. In "The Omnipotence" by Schubert, however, she let her dramatic voice loose in vocal flight. It is a big number, and Miss Crews sang it in a big manner, thrillingly emphasizing the high A.

Her next group contained two numbers from Schumann's song-cycle, "Frauenlieben und Leben." Here, momentarily, she left the dramatic in favor of the lyric. They demanded less volume which permitted her to concentrate on some beautiful tonal work. "Depuis le Jour" from "Louise" by Charpentier was her operatic number, and here was Miss Crews vocally and visually radiant. One could see in her face what she was singing about! The contour of the number was remarkable, beginning and ending pianissimo, with some beautifully turned phrases and a full high B in the middle.

Her last group, made of American numbers, were each gems. She put her entire self into "Music I Heard With You" by Hageman; her voice soared in Sacco's "Rapunzel"; it contained unshed tears in "Tell Me, Oh Blue Blue Sky" by Giannini; and she concluded dramatically with Ronald's "Prelude."

And all the way through one could not help but be aware of Miss Crews' ingratiating personality. Her breath control was good, practically throughout, and her tone rich and opulent. Occasionally there was too much brilliance, but time and training will take care of this.

She was assisted at the piano by Martha Sue Pond, who did a good job of supporting the singer. She played her best in "Rapunzel" and "The Omnipotence," and the success of "Depuis le jour" was in no small way due to the artistic way she began and concluded the number—quietly, and with great tonal consideration.

Mr. Chason's excellent choice of selections were two extended numbers. First he performed the Bach Sonata in E flat, transcribed from the original for flute. One could not help but wish that Bach had had the clarinet for which to write, for his pure style would have been wonderful on this instrument, which is essentially an instrument of tonal purity. But the number adapted itself so well for clarinet that one wasn't too aware of the fact that it was a transcription. Mr. Chason's interpretation and rendition were strictly Baroque. Any sonata for two instruments, however, does not place the piano in the role of accompanying device. They are pretty much on equal basis, and in last evening's performance Miss Joan McKenzie collaborated artistically. Her work was clean, and in good combination with the clarinet.

His second offering was the Mozart Quintet for Clarinet and Strings, K. 581. Not since the concert by the Griller Quartet in January of 1956 has any chamber music been heard around here, and it was indeed a treat. No one can write for the clarinet like Mozart, and in combination with a string quartet, the result was chamber music in its truest form. Here again Mr. Chason handled his instrument with precision, his opalescent tone complimenting the music and bringing its iridescent beauty to light. He was ably assisted by Mr. Don Hayes and Frances Hillburn, violins, Dr. Elwood Kessler, viola, and Janelle Lovette, cello. To have a string quartet resident on the campus for the first time since I can remember is in itself something to be proud of.

It was an ambitious recital, not like in Shakespeare where 'vaulting ambition o'erleaps itself,' but rather one in which ambitious music was thoughtfully performed. Certainly, there were flaws. Mr. Chason's clarinet squeaked once, and a few of Miss Crews' tones weren't as polished as she'd have liked them. But all in all the evening was one which did both performers and the Department of Music proud.
