Merchant Board Drops Issue Of Half-Wednesday Closings Here

Move To Leave Wednesday Hours To Discretion Of Individual Businesses

Most Greenville business houses will remain open Wednesday afternoons for regular business as a result of action by the Board of Directors of the Greenville Merchants Association last night...

Last week's initial Wednesday afternoon closing of the year was not successful in that some of the business houses deemed it too early to begin a summer schedule...

Whether former Wednesday afternoon closing schedules effective from after Easter until the opening of the tobacco market will be observed this summer will be a matter for decision by the merchants without action or recommendation of the Merchants Association Board of Directors.

The controversial issue of closing hours and dates is not applicable only to Greenville, since the same situation has arisen in several cities in this and other areas of the state...

Hours and closing date recommendations were only one of the minor phases of the activities of the Merchants Association and the Directors expressed the opinion that the major work of the organization such as united Trade Promotions, Credit Bureau activities, Newcomer assistance, Employment assistance, Christmas Decorations and Children's Parade, Weekly Trade Bulletin and general aid and assistance to other Community activities and organizations should not be impeded by controversy arising over a single issue.

Other matters before the directors last night included: A request from the Greenville Council of Church women that business houses follow the usual custom of closing at 10:45 a. m. for World Day of Prayer services...

J. H. Blount, state director of the Merchants Association, reported on a recent meeting in Raleigh at which time George Esser, tax expert from the Institute of Government at Chapel Hill, explained the recent recommendation for tax revisions in this state. Blount urged a careful study of the tax proposals followed by letting representatives in the legislature know how the people of this area stood on the questions involved.

Trade Promotion Chairman Larry Averette reported a successful dollar day by the merchants last

Clean-Up Meet Slated Tonight

A Clean-Up-Paint-Up meeting is to be held in City Hall tonight at 7:30. The meeting is open to the public.

The group tonight will make plans for conducting a clean-up campaign within the city during April. It is being supported by the city's civic organizations and the City Council has voted $150 to be used in advertising the campaign.

County Red Cross Chairmen Discuss Campaign Program

A meeting of community and district chairmen for the 1957 Red Cross fund raising campaign was held Sunday afternoon at the home of County Chairman Mrs. Lillie Little.

The primary purposes of the meeting, according to reports from the county chairman, was to announce this year's quotas and to discuss possible plans of solicitation for the coming campaign.

Mrs. Little announced that the 1957 county-wide quota has been set at $7475.

Chairmen for the various communities and districts are as follows:

Saved... By ICC Railroad Ruling

MOREHEAD CITY, N. C. (AP)—Remember the old Western pictures where the cavalry arrived just in the nick of time when the Indians had the soldiers surrounded. That's the way it was here last night when news was received that the Interstate Commerce Commission had given the Southern Railway permission to acquire the Atlantic & East Carolina Railroad.

With the news came hope that the state would take another look at a survey of the state's port facilities made by a firm of New York transportation and terminal experts, James C. Buckley, Inc. The survey report said the port of Wilmington could expect far more commerce in future years than Morehead. It recommended more than 12 million dollars worth of improvements at Wilmington in the next six years, only $1,300,000 at Morehead.

Busy Legislative Week Is Starting

RALEIGH (AP)—Repercussions caused by a tobacco manufacturing process reached the halls of the General Assembly last night when Sen. Cutler Moore of Robeson introduced a bill to require the labeling of tobacco products, including whether they contain "homogenized or reconstituted tobacco."

The process, recently developed by manufacturers to use leaf material formerly classed as waste, has caused alarm among flue-cured tobacco growers. Leaders have asserted it will enable manufacturers to get 20 per cent more usable tobacco from a pound of leaf.

The Monday night session began what promises to be a busy legislative week.

House and Senate Finance and Appropriations committees, virtually the entire General Assembly membership, were scheduled to hear a discussion of tax revision proposals this afternoon.

The speaker was Brandon P. Hodges of Asheville, a former state treasurer and chairman of a study commission which recommended the tax changes. A major proposal would bring about a reduction of some eight million dollars annually in state revenues from the corporate income tax.

Both the governor and the Tax Study Commission chairman are advocates of boosting the state's economy by attracting new industries. The two men are not related.

Reorganization proposals urged by Gov. Hodges also are expected to be introduced this week. Sen. Claude Currie of Durham said he expects to introduce a bill to make changes in the State Highway Commission, including a reduction from 14 to 7 in the number of commissioners. Currie headed a study group which recommended the changes.

Rep. David Clark of Lincoln, chairman of the Commission on Reorganization of State Government, said he may introduce a bill this week to create a new state department of administration, consolidating fiscal agencies. Another measure to group house-keeping and staff functions in a division of general services also may be offered this week, Clark said.

The Senate Agriculture Committee will consider Sen. Moore's bill to put detailed labels on tobacco products.

Moore compared his measure to the Pure Food and Drug Act and said it would "put tobacco products which are consumed by humans under a similar law. If we are smoking homogenized tobacco, we should know what we are consuming, and if we are smoking stems and sweepings, we should know it," he asserted.

All were charged with breaking, entering and larceny of around $500 in merchandise from the Pachtolus store.

They are a part of a ring of 18 persons from Beaufort County who have been arrested for break-ins in Pitt, Beaufort and Martin Counties.

A roundup of the group began last week and ended early yesterday morning.

Greenville police also charged six members of the ring with breaking, entering and larceny of a local store. They were identified as: Earl A. Seggie, 31; Mary G. Battle, 17, 612 Purdie Street, Washington; William J. Wallace, 24, 308 W. Third St., Washington; Alfred L. Wrighton, 23, 425 Powles St., Washington; Mary Annie Smith, 21, 412-B Tyson St.; William Clark, 19, 317 W. Sixth St., Washington.

LIVED UP TO NAME PITTSBURGH (AP)—Edward G. Outlaw was held today on charges of robbing a service station.

for advance gifts would begin during the last week of February, with the residential solicitation to begin on March 1.

Mrs. Walter F. Taylor, Executive Secretary of the Pitt County Red Cross Chapter and Dr. Leo Jenkins, chairman for the county chapter also met with the group.

Mrs. Little stated this morning, "I am extremely pleased that these outstanding citizens have consented to give of their time and effort. With this list of chairmen working in behalf of the Red Cross, there is no doubt in my mind that the 1957 campaign will be a success."

It was announced that the drive

As a result, Gov. Hodges and the budget commission recommended more than three million dollars in improvements at Wilmington, none at Morehead. But then came news of the ICC action in giving Southern the right to acquire the A&EC which connects Morehead with the interior. "This," said Mayor George W. Dill happily, "makes the Buckley report and the budget as dated as last year's catalogue... The state should make another survey now."

Meanwhile, at Raleigh Gov. Hodges said that "if for any reason the Buckley report didn't give consideration to the possible acquisition of the A&EC by the Southern 'the state will give it every consideration.'"

Mayor Dill said the ICC decision "changes the whole traffic picture at our port."

The way also is open now for A. T. Leary, operating the Beaufort & Morehead Railroad, to press his application with the ICC for authority to lease the Marine tracks from the Defense Department. Leary wants to operate the line as a common carrier.

The Marine track, now run by government personnel and serving Camp Lejeune, runs through the Lejeune reservation to a connection with the Atlantic Coast Line at Jacksonville.

Flying Back

THOMASVILLE, Ga. (AP)—President Eisenhower flies back to Washington today to deal at closer range in new conferences with the tough problem of getting Israeli troops out of disputed territory.

Reportedly much concerned about the Mideast stalemate, the President decided late yesterday to cut short his southern Georgia vacation and return to the capital. He had planned until then, the White House said, to stay on here until Friday.

Eisenhower arranged to leave the plantation estate of his host, Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey, in the late morning and drive to Spence airfield at Moultrie, Ga., 85 miles north. Take-off aboard his private plane was scheduled for about noon.

Eisenhower was expected to arrive in Washington about 3 p. m.

The President set up a White House conference with Secretary of State Dulles as the first order of business on his return. They planned a fresh evaluation of the Mideast situation.

Ask N. J. Police To Check Story

SWANQUARTER, N. C. (AP)—North Carolina authorities say they have asked New Jersey state police to check into the reported reappearance of a dark-haired nurse who disappeared on a foggy night Feb. 9 from a yacht anchored near Ocracoke.

Sheriff C. J. Cahoon said Sunday night he was told by a sister of the nurse, that the missing woman had called her by telephone from Florida. But another sister declared that the call may have been a hoax.

Coast Guard and civilian agencies searched sea and shore for several days last week for some trace of Mrs. Mary Ann Scates, 33, of Trenton, N. J. She disappeared mysteriously from the yacht of her employer, Dr. James T. Dodge, 46-year-old general practitioner of Trenton.

The two, both estranged from their spouses, had been cruising for about a week in Southern waters. Dr. Dodge said he had retired about 8 p. m. the night of Feb. 9 leaving Mrs. Scates on deck.

The next morning, he told officers, she was not aboard. He suggested rough water might have pitched her overboard.

Dr. Dodge returned home after the search was officially ended. James Powell of Raleigh, director of the State Bureau of Investigation, said yesterday he had asked New Jersey state police to check on the latest report.

"At present," asserted Powell, "we don't know whether we have a crime committed in our jurisdiction or whether the parties involved are attempting to confuse or create some extraneous issues beyond our knowledge at the present time."

PROMISES FIGHT HONOLULU (AP)—Secretary of Interior Seaton arrived yesterday for a 10-day inspection visit to the Hawaiian Islands and declared President Eisenhower intends to make a fight during the current session of Congress for statehood for Hawaii and Alaska.

Sanctions Against Israel Postponed By U.S. Moves

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—With a General Assembly showdown on sanctions against Israel again postponed, U.S. representatives at the U.N. today pressed intensive efforts to find a solution to the Middle East deadlock.

Rapidly moving events centering on the Israeli-Egyptian dispute brought the successful U.S. move for putting off the Assembly debate until Thursday. It had been scheduled to resume today.

Linked with the U.S. move to delay Assembly action were: 1. The desire to give Israel more time to reconsider its stand against pulling its troops out of territory formerly controlled by Egypt.

2. Israeli Ambassador Abba Eban's hurried trip to Jerusalem today for consultations with his government.

3. President Eisenhower's decision to cut short his Georgia vacation and return to Washington for conferences on the problem.

4. Mounting U. S. congressional pressure against the move to invoke sanctions against Israel. Sources close to the U. S. delegation said the Americans wanted a chance to reappraise their position but it was not clear what the United States intends to take if Israel continues to refuse to get its troops out of the Gaza Strip and Egyptian territory along the Gulf of Aqaba coast.

The move for sanctions against Israel is led by the 27-nation Asian-African nation group, which declare that anything other than immediate and complete withdrawal of Israeli troops would reward aggression.

Slim Margin On Georgia Voting 'Impeachment'

ATLANTA (AP)—A resolution calling for impeachment of six justices of the U.S. Supreme Court has been passed by the Georgia House and sent to the Senate despite a member's protest that "we're making ourselves ridiculous before the world."

It was approved yesterday by a slim margin of four votes, with 57 members not voting. The roll call count was 107 to 33. A constitutional majority of 103 was necessary for passage.

The resolution, drafted by Atty. Gen. Eugene Cook, charged "high crimes and misdemeanors" to Chief Justice Earl Warren and Associate Justices Black, Douglas, Reed, Frankfurter and Clark.

Rep. Raymond Reed spoke out against what he called "a far-fetched resolution" based on "unreasonable, unfounded evidence."

"We're making ourselves ridiculous before the world," he said. "What better way could we serve the Communist press than to throw out such a resolution as this, based on unwarranted and unfounded charges."

The resolution made several charges based mainly on rulings in sedition and segregation cases. It would have the Georgia General Assembly declare that the six justices "are guilty of attempting to subvert the Constitution of the United States, and of high crimes and misdemeanors in office, and of giving aid or comfort to the enemies of the United States."

It also would ask other states to pass similar resolutions and call on the Georgia members of the U. S. House of Representatives to begin impeachment proceedings.

Colbert Hawkins, administration floor leader, speaking for the resolution, said, "The time has come when we in the South in our righteous indignation and under our right as free people should memorialize Congress and ask the impeachment of these members of the Supreme Court."

Asked why only six justices were named in the resolution, Rep. Charles Gowen explained that the sedition decision was a 6-3 decision and that the resolution was aimed against those six.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont) said today the United States "should take the lead" in seeking to place a United Nations emergency force on guard over the Gaza Strip and the Gulf of Aqaba.

Mansfield spoke out in an interview as efforts continued in Washington, the U. N. and Jerusalem to find some means of persuading Israel to withdraw her troops from those areas. Israel has tried vainly to get some form of advance guarantee against Egyptian attacks before pulling out her troops.

President Eisenhower cut short a Georgia vacation to fly back to Washington today. He summoned congressional leaders to a Wednesday morning conference at the White House on possible new moves to end the deadlock.

Southern had asked in 1954 for authority to control the A&EC and to operate the Marine line. When a hearing examiner recommended approval only of the A&EC proposal, Southern said it could not accept one without the other.

A three-man ICC division, acting for the commission, dismissed both proposals last August on grounds that the public interest would not permit both acquisitions. Southern then advised ICC it would, if necessary, settle for the A&EC only. The full 11-member commission approved this unanimously.

The ICC stipulated job protection for all A&EC employees and also directed Southern to maintain the operation of the new line "without discrimination" to any other railroad now using it as a connecting line.

Southern will pay $525,000 for all of the A&EC stock. The latter firm operates the Morehead City to Goldsboro line, under Carolina Railroad Co., which is principally owned by the State of North Carolina. The lease runs through the year 1994.

In Raleigh, N. C., Gov. Hodges had said before learning of the ICC ruling that prospects for development of the Morehead City port might brighten if Southern were authorized to take over the A&EC.

At Morehead City, Mayor George W. Dill described as "dated" a consulting firm's report that Wilmington can expect in the future to handle more commerce than Morehead City. Dill said the ICC decision "changes the whole traffic picture at our port. Now it will be open to the Midwest as far as Cincinnati."

Southern Railway Gets Clear Track For Control Of A&EC Railroad Line

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Southern Railway Co. has a clear track today to acquiring stock control of the Atlantic & East Carolina Railway, which operates 124 miles of track in eastern North Carolina.

The Interstate Commerce Commission yesterday issued the authorization for Southern, which earlier had given up a joint request for permission to lease and operate the adjacent 30-mile Marine Corps Railroad.

The way also is open now for A. T. Leary, operating the Beaufort & Morehead Railroad, to press his application with the ICC for authority to lease the Marine tracks from the Defense Department. Leary wants to operate the line as a common carrier.

The Marine track, now run by government personnel and serving Camp Lejeune, runs through the Lejeune reservation to a connection with the Atlantic Coast Line at Jacksonville.

Nickels For Know-How Referendum Approved

RALEIGH (AP)—Tar Heel farmers will decide in a referendum this year whether they want to continue assessing themselves 5 cents a ton on feed and fertilizer to promote agricultural research.

Authorization for the "Nickels for Know-How" referendum was given yesterday by the State Board of Agriculture.

In other action, the board: (1) recommended legislation to give added protection to buyers of tobacco seed and seed potatoes, (2) adopted regulations for sampling milk from farm bulk tanks for butterfat tests, and (3) endorsed the News and Observer farm income contest.

Date of the 1957 "Nickels for Know-How" referendum has not been set. This will mark the third time it has been held since enabling legislation was passed in 1951. In the two previous elections farmers voted overwhelmingly in favor of the assessment.

Under the law, the referendum must be held at three-year intervals.

A committee appointed by the board recommended changes in the seed law relating to tobacco seed. The changes are designed, it was stated, to insure correct identification of flue-cured tobacco varieties. One of the proposals would require that all tobacco varieties sold in the state be recorded with the commissioner of agriculture.

Another provision would authorize the commissioner to accept for recording only those varieties judged to be correctly identified by a tobacco seed committee.

The board's other legislative proposals are designed to facilitate more effective administration of a law requiring that all potatoes offered for sale as seed be certified U. S. No. 1.

Search Goes On For Bodies Of Fire Victims

WARRENTON, Mo. (AP)—Searchers dug into debris again today for more bodies of the 71 aged and infirm who perished Sunday in a fire near Leary, Fla. March 29, 1953.

Capt. C. R. Oliver of the state highway patrol listed three possible causes: a mechanical difficulty — possibly defective wiring or a gas line break, a careless smoker, or arson.

Oliver expressed belief the double-deck flooring of the home treated for years with oil and covered more recently with tarpaper and asphalt, fed the spreading flames.

Gov. James T. Blair, in a dramatic personal appeal before the Senate Public Health and Welfare Committee, asked the Legislature to act speedily on a bill to tighten Missouri's nursing home laws.

Police Recover Stolen Car Here

A 1950 automobile stolen from Linwood Hooks of Winterville Rt. 2 was recovered yesterday by Greenville police.

The auto, stolen from in front of a Winterville soda shop Saturday morning, was found abandoned on West 4th Street. Hooks was notified of the recovery and picked up his car yesterday afternoon.

Hodges Firm In Belief Teachers Should Look To Local Pay Source

Insists Budget Figure Is As High As North Carolina Can And Should Go

By LYNN NISBET The Reflector Bureau

RALEIGH—North Carolina pays school teachers more out of the State treasury than any neighboring State, and Governor Hodges believes more than any State in the union.

This in spite of the oft publicized 44th place in per capita income, and the fact that average salaries received by North Carolina teachers dropped from 28th place to 39th within the past decade.

Governor Hodges reiterated at his latest news conference that he does not think the 9.1 per cent raise proposed in the budget, or even the 16-plus per cent requested by the State Board of Education, is enough for teachers. He insisted that the budget figure was as high as the State can or should go. The balance should come from local sources.

He distributed a memorandum comparing North Carolina's per capita income, average teacher salaries, and the part paid by the State with data from five other States.

Mississippi has per capita income rating of $946, average teacher pay of $2,444, of which the State pays $1,626 or 66.5 per cent.

South Carolina has per capita income of $1,108, teacher pay of $2,990, of which the State pays $2,430 or 81.3 per cent.

Tennessee with income of $1,256 and teacher pay of $3,150, pays $2,133 or 67.7 per cent.

Virginia has per capita income of $1,535, a teacher pay schedule of $3,450 average, of which the State contributes $1,587 or 46 per cent.

West Virginia has $1,288 income, $3,424 teacher average, with the State putting up $2,317 or 67.7 per cent.

North Carolina with per capita income of $1,236, and average teacher pay of $3,291, pays from State funds $3,143 or 95.5 per cent of the total.

In other words, the local units in Virginia supplement State funds for teacher salaries almost $2,000 a year. Tennessee and West Virginia communities pay more than $1,000 for each teacher's salary, while in North Carolina the local contribution averages $148.

The Governor said he shares the concern over the plight of North Carolina schools and teachers, and deplores the loss of competent teachers to other States. He made it clear however that it is not the States which are getting the teachers, but the effort put forth by the school community.

He noted that whereas the average for all teachers in Virginia is $3,450, the starting salary in Fairfax county is $3,700, more than half of it from local funds.

The Governor said he feared the North Carolina scale would slip further down the comparative ladder, unless the communities assumed a larger share of the school costs. He said he knew this idea is not popular and might not get votes, but in his opinion it is a sound long range program and offers hope for better schools.

On the point of selective or merit raises as contrasted with a flat across the board plan, he said the non-teaching State employees were accustomed to the merit system and the plan could be applied there much easier than for teachers. He said it will be a group or class rating, rather than individual. For the long pull he wants a better qualifications rating for teachers, but confessed it would be difficult to put into effect right now.

Noting that teachers to be considered separate from State employees, while most other workers want equal consideration, the Governor said it is up to the General Assembly to determine how the problem will be approached.

Contract Disputes Still Block End Of Strike On Waterfronts

NEW YORK (AP)—Forty-five thousand striking dockworkers from Maine to Virginia remained idle today as disputes over contracts in Baltimore and Norfolk prevented a general back-to-work movement.

Union spokesmen were unable to predict an end to the costly pier tieup, now in its seventh day. The port-to-port situation was confused.

William V. Bradley, president of the International Longshoremen's Assn., appeared determined to withhold any general work resumption until contract agreements were reached in all ports from Portland, Maine, to Hampton Roads, Va.

Last night Bradley made a return to work today conditional on settlement of local contracts in Philadelphia, Baltimore and Norfolk by last midnight.

Agreements were not reached in either Baltimore or Norfolk, although a contract covering 6,000 longshoremen was hammered out early today in Philadelphia. Federal mediator John R. Murray said he expected the dockworkers back on the docks either tomorrow or Thursday. He said a complete agreement had been reached on "all major local and national issues."

A trade association spokesman said yesterday Baltimore employers would not increase their offer of welfare payments, permit an escalator clause on wages, accept a fifth paid holiday, or go along with coastwise bargaining.

Bradley's announcement last night on a conditional return to work today bound the Port of New York's 25,000 longshoremen to stay out on strike until contracts were settled in all ports.

Pleasant way to serve spinach: team it with corn and bacon!

Creamed Spinach and Corn
Crisp Bacon Sweet Potatoes
Cookies Beverages

CREAMED SPINACH AND CORN
Ingredients: 1 package (12 ounces) frozen chopped spinach, 1 can (12 ounces) whole-kernel corn, milk, 3 tablespoons butter or margarine, 3 tablespoons flour, salt, pepper, nutmeg.

Method: Cook spinach according to package directions; drain thoroughly. Drain corn; add enough milk to the corn liquid to make 1 1/2 cups. Melt butter in medium-sized skillet over low heat; stir in flour. Add milk mixture; cook and stir constantly over moderately low heat until bubbly and thickened. Add drained spinach and drained corn; mix and add salt and pepper to taste. Add nutmeg in minute amounts so you have enough of this spice to add a haunting rather than a pronounced flavor. Reheat gently. Makes 6 servings.

Note: If you want to use leftover chopped cooked spinach, you'll need 1-1/4 cups.

Mrs. David Parker Is Bridge Hostess

GRIFTON—Mrs. David Parker was bridge hostess on Friday night at her home here.

Early spring flowers, quince, jonquils and snapdragons made colorful decorations in the rooms in which the guests were received. The hostess served a congealed salad, sandwiches, cookies and coffee.

High scorers for the evening were Mesdames Clifton Jackson, Becky Worthington and H. P. Quinerly. The consolation went to Mrs. Johnie Smith.

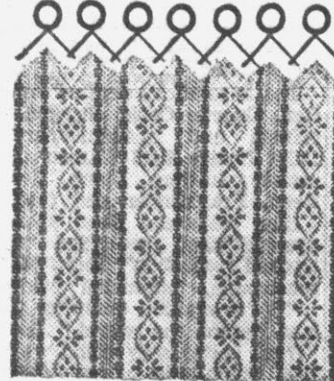

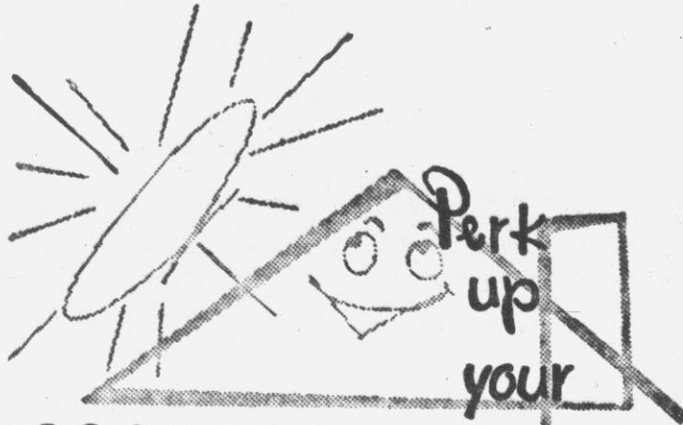

Others playing were Mesdames Conrad Hart, Wilbur Murphy, Albert Tyson, Walter Murphy, Tom Owens, Kenneth Talton, Robert Mewborn and Miss Ruth E. Smith.

Game Tournament Winners Announced

Winners at the recent game tournament sponsored by the Altrusa Club were Mrs. Cary Warren for making the highest score in bridge and Mr. R. D. Bass, in canasta. Mrs. Charles Howard drew the number that won the "grand prize"—a ham, wrapped and decorated as a Valentine.

The tournament was held in the home of the Altrusa president, Mrs. J. B. Spilman, on East Fifth Street.

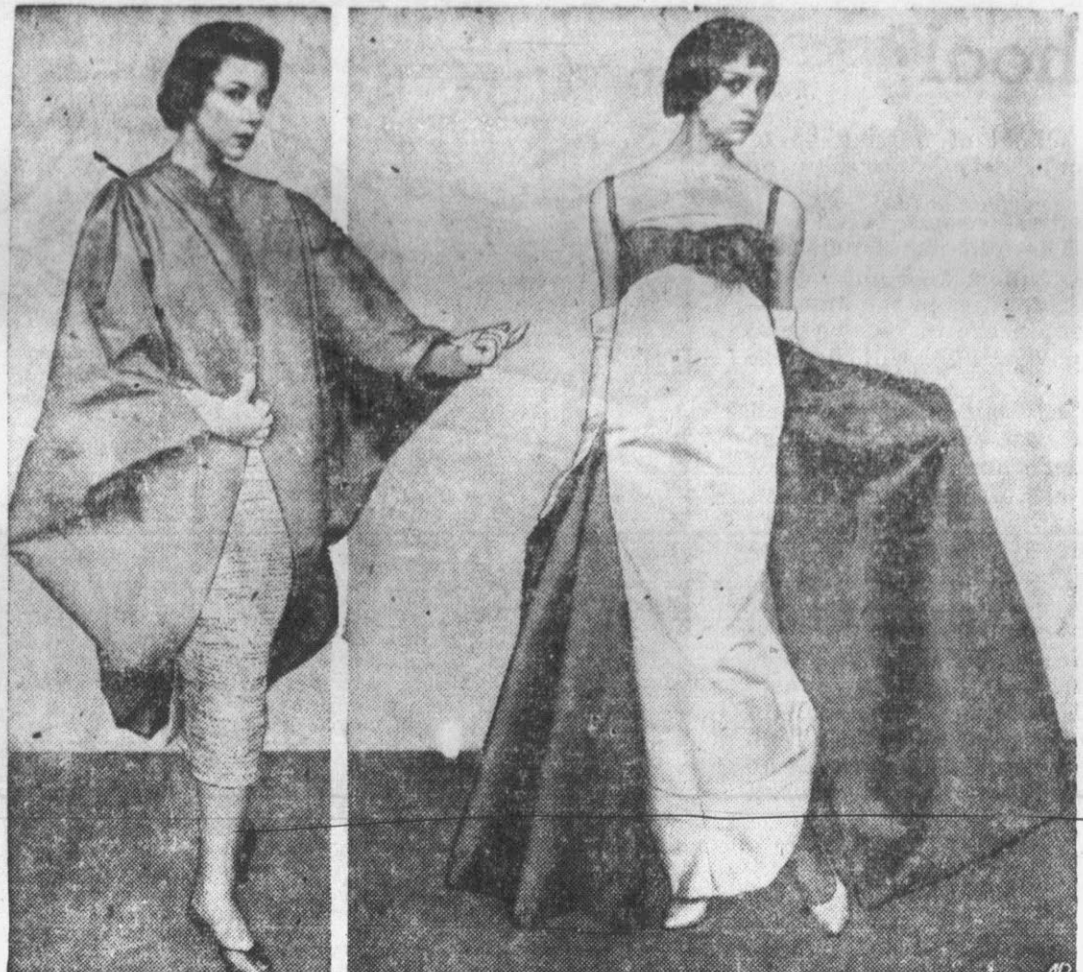

Valentine colors and designs were used throughout the rooms where the ten tables were set up and in the dessert course served soon after the guests arrived.

The hostess was assisted by Mrs. T. H. Boykin, Mrs. Cecil Bilbro and other Altrusa members.

Enthusiastic comments by guests and members indicated general agreement that the evening had been satisfying to everybody.

Department stores usually place their feminine wares on the left and masculine goods on the right. The reason is that women always turn left and men turn right. No one had been able to explain this.

Italy Shows Spring Fashions

GLAMOR IN MILAN... Here are two highlights from the spring fashion collection of Marucelli of Milan. Left, wide cape of beige faille over short evening dress of ivory organdie embroidered in beige and gold; right, long tubular white satin evening gown with wide blue Empire sash forming dramatic side panels.

ROME (AP)—Italian fashion designers in Rome, Florence and Milan are beating the drums this spring to steal the style spotlight from Paris.

With the growing importance of the Italian couture in international fashion, some industry leaders have adopted bandwagon tactics to attract the attention of American buyers and press. New silhouettes are given names worthy of the best efforts of Madison Avenue advertising tycoons—in Rome, the "vestal virgin" line, in Florence the strap-tease, in Milan the "cornucopia" silhouette.

Rome adopts the classic goddess theme, with intricately draped chiffons and statuesque satins. Florence features maximum exposure in casual clothes.

But classic or frivolous, the new Italian styles feature many innovations likely to show up in the American market come summer.

Spring Quarter Begins At ECC On February 27; Tests Set This Week

East Carolina College students will complete this week their final examinations for the winter quarter. The spring quarter will begin Wednesday, February 27.

Tests will be administered Thursday, Friday, and Saturday of this week in all courses offered during the winter quarter. Class work will be discontinued Monday and Tuesday, February 25-26, so that instructors may complete the correction of examination papers and the preparation of grades for permanent records in the office of the registrar.

Wednesday, February 27, will be devoted to registration and arrangement of schedules for the spring quarter. Undergraduate students may enroll in classes through March 5. Registrar Orval L. Phillips has announced.

Graduate students, as well as undergraduate students, enrolling only for late afternoon or Saturday classes, may complete registration at the Registrar's Office at any time before February 26. These students may also register between 8:30 a.m. and 3:30 p.m. February 27 or at the first class meeting held during the spring quarter.

East Carolina's spring enrollment is expected to be the largest for a similar period in the history of the college, Dr. Phillips said here today.

NOTICE

I hereby submit myself to the citizens of Ayden for your consideration as Judge of Recorder's Court. I have had many years of experience as a law enforcement officer in Ayden. 41 years as Chief of Police and 9 years as Justice of the Peace. I feel that I am competent to fill the office of Judge, otherwise I would not announce my candidacy.

During the many years that I have served Ayden and Pitt County, my motto has been, "To Protect the Weak and Innocent and Prosecute The Guilty, not Viciously, but in a fair and just manner."

If elected, I shall seek to continue to follow this motto.

Your consideration and support will be greatly appreciated.

Your Humble Servant,

30 Years Ago Mrs. Hadley On Program Today

Observance of the birthdays of George Washington and Rotary election of delegates to the 57th Rotary Conference at Wilmington next month, and completion of plans for the Inter-city Rotary meet to be held here in March, featured the program of last night's regular meeting of the Rotary Club. W. H. Dail and James T. Little were elected delegates to the Wilmington conference, while J. E. Winslow and S. T. White were chosen alternates. Next on the evening's program was L. A. Stroud, who delivered one of the series of talks by members on the subject, "Who and What I Am."

J. B. Kittrell made a short talk on Rotary and told of its beginning. The matter of location of the new bridge across the river here was discussed and a committee was appointed to go into the matter and report to the club if action on the club matter was desired. The Highway Commission, it is understood, at present is planning that the bridge should enter the city at the end of Greene Street, but there is some agitation that the location should be at the foot of Evans Street.

Cecil Cobbs Hosts At Supper, Bridge

GRIFTON—Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Cobbs were hosts at supper and bridge on Thursday night at their home on Queen Street. The Valentine motif was noted in decorations of red carnations, stock and red candles.

On arrival guests were served a chicken supper buffet style. Later bridge was played progressively with the high scores going to Mrs. L. L. Mewborn and M. B. Hodges for club members and Mrs. George C. Sugg for visitors. Others playing were Mr. Mewborn, Mrs. Hodges, Mrs. Robert Mewborn, Miss Bert Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Thurman Williams and Mr. and Mrs. W. I. Bissette.

Can A Plane Match The School?

North Carolina can fly higher by putting its money into more necessary items than a private plane for the governor's use.

From information coming down from Raleigh, the plane will cost somewhere in the neighborhood of $100,000. Then there will be the $9,000 a year salary of the pilot plus the upkeep and expense of operating the plane. That's a right big outlay, particularly when one considers the fact that regular airline service is available for out-of-state trips and that a National Guard plane is usually at the governor's disposal.

The outlay proposed for the private plane for the governor is about the same as the outlay which would be required to establish the state-supported school of nursing in Eastern North Carolina. If the legislature

Civilization Must Be A Rugged Experience

Zoologists have flipped over the birth (and survival, to date) of a baby gorilla in the Columbus, O. zoo.

It's a "first" for the wee beastie, and he's getting the deluxe care usually reserved for wealthier specimens of homo sapiens.

Special formula diet.
Incubator.
Psychological check-ups.
Frequent physical examinations.
Private ward, and a "nurse".

The zoo is sparing no expense or effort to make that baby gorilla a going concern. There's never been anything like this little fellow.

A conclusion is inevitable. If we are to assume a gorilla is born every day in the African jungles, and they thrive without incubators, psychologists, trained specialists and dietetic experts; and a baby gorilla can't survive in civilization without all these fringe benefits, then:

It follows that living conditions of "civilization" offer no primrose path, and demand a very hardy constitution which the mighty gorilla can't match.

Has anyone ever looked at a gorilla, or films of a gorilla in action, and considered it as delicate?

Taking A Look Into The Future

By ELMER ROESSNER

A new whoop-de-do of Congressional investigations is about to begin, according to Washington rumormongers.

One of the reasons for coming multiple investigations is the fact that Congress is operating on a four-party system: the Eisenhower Republican, the Isolatorist Republican, the Southern Democrats and the Northern Democrats.

The situation makes it easy to get support for authorization of probes and inquiries; there are almost always votes available for an investigation that will embarrass any of these factional parties.

At the moment, a series of investigations of various executive agencies is being made ready for the road; these will be followed by half a dozen others, possibly involving oil, gas, steel, paper and shipping industries.

BUDGET CUT LIKELY

Here are some more predictions of changes to affect business, based on analyses of developing trends:

A sharp cut in the federal budget is likely. Although economy was not an issue in the campaign, demands for a cut in the budget are snowballing and Congress is expected to chop. However, cuts won't be deep enough to permit a lowering of tax rates.

Shoe manufacturers will be next to demand protection from imports. High-style Italian shoes are catching on. While they have not yet cut deeply into American manufacturers' markets, the U.S. makers are getting nervous and are getting ready to ask for trade barriers.

Coal will cost more. Miners are due to get a pay raise in April and a 25-cent a ton price hike is probable.

You'll see more gold — in closets and bathrooms. It's gaining in popularity for accessories in those places and may be a big fad.

PRICE TRENDS UPPISH

Upholstery prices will move higher. Costs of dyes, yarns and labor are up.

Cocoa will cost less, but not candy. A world's record crop of cocoa is coming in and prices to choose, wouldn't the school of nursing be of much greater value to the people of the state than the private plane?

Eastern Carolina communities are now faced with a serious shortage of nurses. The number of nurses is insufficient to staff hospitals, clinics and physicians' offices in the area. As medical facilities in the area expand—as they must if the people are to receive adequate medical attention—the shortage will become more serious.

Nurses training is financially out of the question for many young women in the East because they have to go to the Piedmont or Western part of the state for their training. If a school is established in the East, more young women would be attracted to the nursing profession, and a new supply of nurses in an area where they are so desperately needed would be assured.

With a minimum of cost—about that of the proposed private plane—the state can establish a school of nursing in conjunction with East Carolina College and hospitals in this area. Eastern legislators should see that the proposed school of nursing receives a high priority now that the General Assembly is beginning to consider its appropriations for the next biennium. ....

Assets Of State Top $1.5 Billion

By LYNN NISBET

WORTH OF A STATE—What is the State of North Carolina worth? What would be a fair market price for all the tangible property owned by the State, and the tremendously greater intangible values?

The State Auditor's annual report lists tangible assets of the State at more than a billion and a half dollars. No estimate has ever been attempted on the intangibles, but the Advisory Budget Commission says the State is able to raise half a billion dollars a year for governmental purposes.

Neither the property inventory nor the taxing power includes values belonging to the same citizens, but with title vested in county and municipal governments rather than in the State.

The inventory breakdown shows current cash assets, money in bank or in readily convertible short time securities, in the amount of $403,241,963.37; securities held in trust for special funds, $225,105,844.75; loan to A&NC Railroad, $233,727.40. That gives total assets of $403,241,963.37.

Cash and investments in the sinking funds aggregate $22,518,585.98; investments in railroad stock $5,233,584.00; highways, buildings, real estate and such, $1,084,733,538.76. That adds up to a total of one billion, five hundred fifteen million, seven hundred twenty-seven thousand, six hundred seventy-three dollars and eleven cents. (Nobody cares much about the eleven cents except the accountants. They had to list the amount of the last penny.)

In addition to these general capital assets the State of North Carolina has $173 million on deposit with the Federal Government to pay unemployment benefits.

ACTUAL — The real value of State owned property is a great deal more than a billion and a half. That is a composite figure arrived at by adding investments and offsetting them with estimates for depreciation and obsolescence. Furthermore, there has never been a complete inventory of State owned lands.

The Budget Bureau compiled a statement last April showing 286,212 acres valued at $31,317,193. Footnotes reminded that this did not include highway rights of way, nor the unknown number of acres in marshlands owned by the State Board of Education.

The current Budget Book carries a list of State owned buildings and equipment at values estimated for insurance purposes. Again a footnote reminds

Other Editors Saying— Just Emphasis

(Washington Daily News)

Governor Hodges' speech to the joint session of the legislature contained many worthwhile objectives. But one which hit squarely between the eyes and which regularly gets so little attention was his mention of the fact that North Carolina is losing too many of our young people to other areas as they go out in life to make their livelihoods.

Nowhere in North Carolina is that condition felt more keenly than right here in the Pamlico area. We have said so many times that our youth is our greatest asset and our most precious possession. Yet we are not providing ample opportunities for the young people here at home.

If North Carolina is seeing and feeling the pinch as a state, then we can imagine how the areas worst hit, such as ours, are feeling the blow. It is not a case of the young people wanting to leave home. They'd rather stay at home if we offered opportunities. But we don't offer much. If a young fellow's father has a business, then the boy might come back and go into business with his father. Otherwise, he is almost forced to leave.

We've seen a shade of improvement in the past few years. Some industry has come into our midst, and this new industrial regime is employing some fine young people. We've made a small dent, but we have not offered any real solution as yet.

If we lose our greatest asset and our most precious possession to other people and other areas, we have lost more than that the $355,465,000 valuation does not include utilities or highways.

If the education board's marshlands and the highway commission rights of way were added to the land values, and if the buildings were carried at an equated investment-replacement value, the aggregate would greatly exceed the billion and a half dollar figure.

Even so, it is very doubtful that any man would pay that much for North Carolina and assume all the obligations and responsibilities which go along with the title.

RAILROADS — The State of North Carolina has over $5 million invested in railroad stocks, and despite complete flops of some ventures in which the State at times past ventured, the rail stock account shows a profit.

Biggest and most really sound investment is 30,002 shares in the North Carolina Railroad Company, purchased for $3,000,200 and now having a book value of $4,410,294. This is the line from Charlotte to Goldsboro now under lease to the Southern.

Next largest item is 12,666 shares in the Atlantic & North Carolina Railroad at a par value of $1,266,600 and a book value of $823,290.

Other rail investments in lines which have been absorbed or abandoned and for which no present book value is listed include: South Atlantic Transcontinental Railroad, $17,200; Statesville Air Line Railroad, $132,400; Elkin & Alleghany Railroad, $406,000; Mattamuskeet Railroad, $99,765; the W & Y Turnpike, $55,200; the W & J Turnpike, $63,810; Junaluska Turnpike $705.

All of these transportation company holdings amount to $5,041,830 at par value and the current value is $5,233,584.

TRAFFIC SAFETY — The Carolina Motor Club has been conducting a poll on public attitude toward highway safety proposals. From 35,000 questionnaires mailed out nearly 9,000 had been returned when the latest tabulation was made. Out of this number 76 per cent favored State financial aid for driver training courses in high schools; 61 per cent were willing to pay an extra dollar on the license tag to provide funds; 80 per cent favored limited mechanical inspection by licensed garages; 89 per cent would make prearranged racing on highways a felony instead of a misdemeanor; 87 per cent favored chemical tests for drunkenness; only 10 per cent favored and 90 per cent opposed the enabling act permitting cities and towns to charge up to $10 for a city tag.

But the blindest people, of course, are the ones who have eyes, but will not see. It's amazing how many people just shut their eyes tight and refuse to look facts in the face. Their failures? They were somebody else's fault. Their meanness? It is the righteous indignation that follows the stupidity and artful scheming of people of no truth or conscience. Their bad health? It's inherited, or due to the bad climate, or the result of an injury years ago, or the narrowing experience of having to live with a wife who is a shrew or a husband who is a tyrant. Look facts in the face, friend. Just stop and face them. Maybe you haven't faced them for a long time. Now's the time to get started seeing things as they really are. To be sure, the world is full of foolish people, and there are many bad and designing people hanging about. But the biggest fool we usually encounter is ourself. The devil who does us harm is not the red-skinned fellow with tall and cloven hoof, but the boy or gal we see from one to ten times a day in the mirror.

If you're born blind, that's bad; but if you have two good eyes and won't use them, that's unforgivable.

Driving--A Full Time Job

Police Chief S.G. Gibbs and I recently had a discussion on the number of accidents that took place on this city's streets in January.

During the course of our conversation Chief Gibbs made a statement that made a definite impression in my mind. He attributed the heavy accident rate to the fact that people fail to think of driving as "a full time job."

The full significance of what he said did not come to light until last Friday afternoon.

I was sitting at my desk looking out the window when I heard the ugly sound of the Rescue truck as it passed by on 4th Street. My camera, coat and note pad were hurriedly picked up on the way out.

I was a few minutes behind the truck that turned off to East 5th Street. By the time I arrived the little girl had already left on her way to the hospital. Still there was an automobile, its driver and a city policeman asking questions.

Very soon it came to light that the little girl, only seven-years-old, was not seriously hurt in the accident that happened just a few minutes before.

She had been playing on the street beside a crowded highway and evidently decided to go home or transfer her amusement site elsewhere. After making her decision she ran across the street directly into the path of an oncoming automobile.

The driver explained that he had seen the children playing and had reduced his speed considerably in the event something should happen. It did and he was prepared. Let's not think what would have happened had he not been driving "on a full time basis". . . . Death and another broken family in Pitt County!

At any rate, he saw the girl and skidded a few feet before hitting her, knocking her down. The driver was then able to stop the car before the wheels hit her as she lay on the curbing.

After talking to the driver who still showed effects of the ordeal, I went to the hospital to find out the condition of the injured child. Upon entering the door of the building I saw the mother standing at the end of the corridor. She was experiencing some anxious moments as the nurses were taking x-rays as a precautionary measure before releasing the little girl who at the moment for the first time realized the horrible mistake she almost made had it not been for the man who thought and signed down.

Now I am more than sure that Chief Gibbs was right—I saw proof as I followed the Rescue truck on its call.

Opinions In Brief

AMBRIDGE, PA., DAILY CITIZEN: "The recent death of Sevelon Brown, one of the nation's most distinguished newspapermen, recalls to mind his elevated view of the press as the great informer of public opinion . . . he said: 'We must have better, and yet better, newspapers—the force of public opinion—the greatest force in the civilized world today—is to be enlightened and given the vision to find the solution of problems that must be solved if civilization is to survive.' These words are a continuing challenge to newspapermen, and a measure of how highly this thoughtful man regarded the right of the people to know and to speak."

YORKTOWN, TEXAS, VIEW: "One of the most important bills to come before the new Congress will be that to abolish the federal control of the price of natural gas. This control never was fixed by law but was imposed by a decision of the Supreme Court."

PLATTSMOUTH, NEBR., JOURNAL: "The report of the Senate Investigations subcommittee made it obvious that too many Americans 'collaborated' with the enemy in Korea and China. . . . The solution of this problem seems to be in teaching and training Americans to understand and appreciate their country to a greater degree. This could be done in the schools, in the churches and in homes."

GREENFIELD, IND., DAILY REPORTER: "In a recent message to Congress . . . the President spoke of the Russians as despots, liars, cheats and imperialists. We're glad there will be no further confusion on that point. The very saying of the words, from such a source, will have a profound effect on world opinion, just as 'good old Joe' and the attributing of peaceful intent had a tendency to lull and confuse the world in the past."

Did We Forget Alaska?

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Did you know that Alaska is not only twice the size of Texas but also has an ice cube larger than Rhode Island?

The hunk of ice is the Malaspina Glacier near Cordova.

Alaskans are making a mighty pitch this year to get their territory admitted as the 49th member of the United States.

Here are a few things they think you should know about what they feel is "The land America has forgotten":

That Alaska, whose population increased from 72,524 in 1940 to more than 209,000 today, is growing faster than any state in the Union—percentage-wise.

That white settlers from the 48 states outnumber the Eskimos and other native tribes by eight to one.

That Alaska, purchased from Russia for $7,200,000 in 1867, has produced since then more than 600 million dollars in gold alone.

That although dubbed by early critics by such names as "Seward's Folly," "Icebergia," "Polaria," and "Walrusia," the Eskimo meaning of Alaska is "The Great Land."

That Alaska's land area is 90 times that of Hawaii and one fifth that of the continental United States.

That air-minded Alaska has a private plane for every 165 persons, a higher ratio than in any state.

That military expenditures in this northern barrier against Russia have exceeded a billion dollars since 1940.

That Alaskan citizens claim they pay the highest per capita federal tax under the American flag, but can't vote in U.S. presidential elections—nor do they have voting representation in Congress.

That the climate of Ketchikan in southern Alaska is much like that of Seattle. . . . Temperatures in Anchorage go over 85 degrees in summer and are not much colder in winter than parts of the Rocky Mountain States.

That the rich earth and 24-hour summer sunlight in Matanuska Valley, near Anchorage, grow 60-pound cabbages and strawberries as big as your fist.

That the world's largest carnivorous animals, the Kodiak brown bear and giant polar bear, are found there. They weigh up to a ton, measure 12 feet from snout to stubble-tail.

That mining is second to fishing as Alaska's most important industry, but the Navy petroleum reserves at Point Barrow on the ocean are among the richest undeveloped fields in the Western Hemisphere. More than five million acres south of the arctic circle are under lease to American oil companies.

That jaywalking moose evading wolves and deep snow are a problem on the Alaska railroad. Although electric shockers have been installed on the engines, 35 moose were run down on one trip from Fairbanks to Seward. The moose who die pedestrian deaths are contributed to hospitals.

That a $0 million dollar pulp paper mill recently went into production in Ketchikan, and two larger mills are planned at Juneau and Sitka.

That a heavy sleeper who really wants to get away from liquor can't do better than to move to Kotzebue, an Eskimo village on the Bering Sea, where the nights are six months long. There are four churches and the nearest bar is 100 miles away.

That the 1867 treaty with Russia provided Alaska's inhabitants would be "admitted to the enjoyment of all the rights, advantages and immunities of citizens of the United States. . . . 90 years later Alaskans are still fighting to obtain many of those promised rights.

That hundreds of Alaskan school children are bombarding President Eisenhower and Congress with postcard pictures of the territorial flower—the forget-me-not—to remind them that Alaska is "The Great Land," doesn't want to be forgotten that both major political parties favoring Alaska its long-sought equality as a state in the Union.

Strength For Today

By EARL L. DOUGLASS

USE YOUR EYES
There are fourteen million people in the world who cannot see. Some have been made blind by injuries. Most of them, however, were born blind.

But the blindest people, of course, are the ones who have eyes, but will not see. It's amazing how many people just shut their eyes tight and refuse to look facts in the face. Their failures? They were somebody else's fault. Their meanness? It is the righteous indignation that follows the stupidity and artful scheming of people of no truth or conscience. Their bad health? It's inherited, or due to the bad climate, or the result of an injury years ago, or the narrow-

Speaker Sam Orders Reform Check

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — Speaker Sam Rayburn has finally and exasperatedly ordered a thorough Congressional checkup on the Eisenhower Administration's alleged effort to repeal or modify New Deal-Fair Deal reforms by administrative decrees rather than by legislative action.

It is a challenge by the ablest and most influential Democrat on Capitol Hill to Ike's conservative and "big business" philosophy — to government by men instead of government by law.

The score of alphabetical and regulatory agencies created by F.D.R. are the heart of the controversy. When he expanded the Federal establishment so tremendously in his first four years, it was legally and physically necessary for Congress to grant broad and discretionary authority to these sprawling and independent units. They became virtually a fourth arm of the government.

AGENCIES UNDER F.D.R. Roosevelt staffed them with young and energetic reformers and liberals. Their rulings naturally jibed with his politico-economic philosophy. They were generally anti-business, pro-labor, pro-welfare state and pro-government operation of everything in sight.

Labor grew all-powerful under tutelage of the National Labor Relations Board. Management found itself in an official doehouse. The government became a competitor with and dictator over business and industry. Friendly political dynasties obtained favors, such as the Kaiser and Reynolds aluminum interests. Unfriendly families, such as the Mellons and duPonts, were prosecuted.

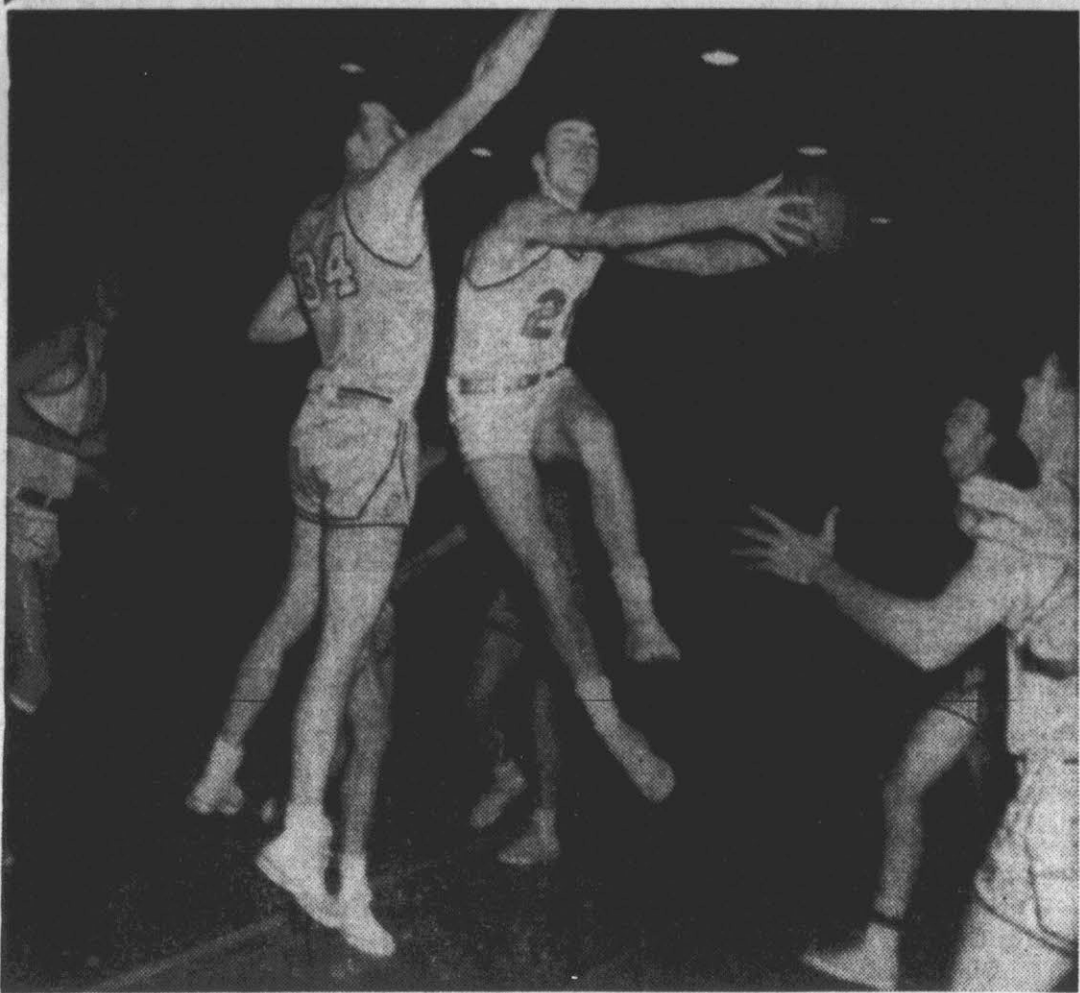

There was hardly any effective check on these agencies' actions. Appeals could be taken to the courts, but only under narrow restrictions. This safeguard from arbitrary and ideological decisions cost time and money. The only Congressional check consisted of cutting appropriations, and the Democrats controlled the purse strings. The alphabetical boys played high, wide and handsome with their new-found power.

EXAMPLES OF IKE'S POLICY
A few examples of the Eisenhower policy reversal suffice to explain the Speaker's wrath, which is further evidence by the fact that he rarely speaks from the House floor, as he did with his injunction to Harris. Under the Democrats, the FCC favored the Federal government, the states, co-ops and regional groups in handling out power licenses. Ike's FCC has been partial to private utilities. Federal Trade kept a close eye on prices, profits, business agreements and mergers, turning a regular flow of antitrust cases to the Department of Justice. Today, Democrats say that they simply draw their salary.

The SEC was a "Wall Street watchdog" under the chairmanship of Justice William O. Douglas and the late Jerome Frank. Its current critics contend that it has abdicated many of its regulatory responsibilities. The ICC and CAB are charged with favoring a few great railroad and commercial airline interests. More than partisan politics, Rayburn, lies behind Speaker other critics. He fears that the Administration's tendencies will lead to an unbalanced and dangerous concentration of industrial, financial and economic power in a few hands.

Bucs Rally To Whip Pfeiffer By 88-69

THEY PACKED THE BUCS—Charlie Adams (16) and Don Harris (21), a newly-found ECC one-two punch, combined efforts last night to chalk up 19 points each, in leading the Pirates to an 88-69 victory over visiting Pfeiffer in Memorial gymnasium. In the first shot, Adams is shown leaping between two Pfeiffer defenders to bucket a lay-up. RIGHT: Harris wiggles past Pfeiffer's Hashbrook (34) to toss in two points. Harris netted 17 in the first half and Adams collected 18 in the second half to keep the Pirates in front most of the way. (Reflector Sports Photos By Billy Arnold)

Behind 68-67 with 5:50 left in the game, East Carolina suddenly caught fire and forged ahead to topple the visiting Pfeiffer Panthers 88-69 last night, at Memorial Gymnasium.

The non-conference affair was a nip-and-tuck duel throughout three full quarters, until ECC's final burst within the last five minutes. Within that time, the Bucs bucketed seven field goals and a free throw, while Pfeiffer could manage only one point.

East Carolina showed flashes of the old, smooth-running, high-powered Pirate machine last night, that has flourished in Memorial Gymnasium for the past five years. For perhaps the first time this year, Coach Howard Porter's crew looked like the East Carolina Pirates.

Harris Is Here

All-Conference forward Don Harris, who paced the team with a 21-point average last season, but who has been in a terrible slump in 1956-57, finally returned to form last night. The Laurinburg senior chopped in 19 points to the teammate Charlie Adams and Pfeiffer's Bryant for top honors.

Harris netted 17 of his total 19 in the first half, as he paced the Bucs to a halftime lead of 49-42. Adams collected 18 of his 19 in the crucial second half, to give the Bucs a one-two punch that the Panthers could not cope with.

Nick Nichols, rangy 6-4 junior from Cary, added 15 to the Pirate total and Joe Plaster posted 12. Harold Ingram, who started at a guard position, plunked in seven and reserves Ike Riddick, Freddy James and Tim Smothers got seven, six and five respectively.

Hectic Final Period

Pfeiffer slapped down ECC's 49-42 halftime lead in a matter of minutes in the third quarter. Bryant, Biddy and Nuckles began to hit for the visitors, cutting the Buc lead to 52-50. Biddy then sank two free tosses to tie the score 52-52.

From that point on, the lead changed hands 12 times, never by more than two points. Center Joe Plaster dunked in six points during that crucial period to keep his club in the game, and did an outstanding job of rebounding. It was Plaster's goal that put the Bucs ahead for the last time, 69-68, with 5:50 remaining in the game.

After Plaster's goal, the Pirates went on a binge. Nick Nichols threw in two field goals, Charlie Adams added two more. Harold Ingram and Freddy James netted one each and Plaster contributed a free throw, to wrap it up, 88-69.

High Point Wednesday

The win last night pushed ECC's overall mark to 13-10. Their conference record remains 6-8.

Tomorrow night, Coach Howard Porter's clan closes out the Pirate home schedule with an important match with High Point. The Bucs lost to High Point early in the season.

After tomorrow night's tilt, only one game remains on the Pirate schedule, a North State scrap with Atlantic Christian, on February 23, at a site not yet decided.

Sore Hand Fails To Stop Pancho

DALLAS (AP)—Pancho Gonzales, having proven he can beat Australia's Ken Rosewall even with a sore right hand, was set today to resume his professional tennis duel with Rosewall in San Francisco.

Gonzales took a 9-4 lead in their 100-match series on the canvas-decked hardwood floor of Southern Methodist University Coliseum here last night.

Promoter Jack Kramer's troupe were to fly to San Francisco for tonight's match.

Gonzales shed a specially designed pad for his sore racket hand last night. But he said later the hand didn't bother him as he took the match 8-6, 5-7 and 6-4.

All-Stars Playing At Jamesville

The North Carolina State All-Stars will meet the Jamesville High School Gymnasium Monday night, February 25. Former stars of Big Four schools have combined their efforts and are enjoying a successful season, having defeated all-star teams throughout the state.

Admission for the contest will be 50c and $1. Gametime will be at 8:15. The host team is made up of former stars of highly successful Jamesville teams and has lost only one game this season.

DeMarco Loses To A Newcomer

NEW YORK (AP)—Stefan Redl, an unbeaten welter of German-Hungarian background, has moved into the main event class with a victory over Paddy DeMarco, former lightweight champ.

Redl, born in Hungary but raised in Stuttgart, Germany, came to America a year ago. He gave up his work as a carpenter to devote his time to a ring career. Between bouts he loads trucks for a Passaic, N. J., firm.

The import, winner of 12 straight, went 10 rounds for the first time last night at St. Nicholas Arena. He won going away on a unanimous ballot. Referee Larry Napp scored it 8-1-1, Judge Joe Eppy 7-3 and Judge Frank Fullam 6-4. The AP card was 8-2 for Redl who weighed 142 to DeMarco's 144½ pounds.

Claim's Pros Can't Pay Wilt His College 'Scale'

BOSTON (AP)—Wilt (The Stilt) Chamberlain, fabulous Kansas University sophomore, already is the center of a controversy about his professional basketball future.

Walter Brown, president of the Boston Celtics, said yesterday that no National Basketball Assn. team could pay Chamberlain "what he gets to go to college" and said, "He shouldn't be allowed to play in the NBA."

Fullmer Adds To Bank Account In Non-Title Fight

DENVER (AP)—Gene Fullmer added $8,400 to his bank account but little to his prestige as midweight boxing champion with a unanimous decision over Ernie Durando last night in a 10-round non-title fight.

Some of the 6,132 fans who paid a Denver record gate of $24,145 chimed in with boos and staccato handclaps in the late stages of the bout in Auditorium Arena.

Durando, 163, battle-scarred veteran of 66 pro fights since 1946, stayed on his feet all the way while soaking up every punch the 162-pound champion uncooked Durando shook up Fullmer only once, the seventh.

Referee Ray Keech scored it 50-45, Judge Joe Ullmer 50-42 and Judge Bob Sauer 50-41.

Fullmer, West Jordan, Utah, welder, received 40 per cent of the net gate, $21,001, after taxes. Durando, Bayonne, N.J., was paid $3,000.

Fight Fix Case To Jury Today

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Boxer Art Aragon's trial on felony fight fixing charges is expected to go to the jury today.

One of the principals in the trial is Dick Goldstein, an unranked welterweight who claims that Aragon offered him $500 to throw a fight scheduled Dec. 18 at San Antonio, Tex.

The 10-rounder was canceled the night of the bout when Aragon came down with a fever.

Aragon, the nation's third-ranking welterweight at the time the scheduled fight, has testified that it would have been silly for him to offer Goldstein a bribe because he could beat him easily.

Undefeated, But Troubles Are Not Over For UNC

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Unbeaten North Carolina's troubles are still ahead of her on the basketball court this season. But she can make sure she holds the Atlantic Coast Conference lead at the end of the regular season by beating North Carolina State in a home game tonight.

The Tar Heels, 20-0 over-all and ranked No. 1 nationally, have a 10-0 ACC mark. Closest in the conference is Maryland at 8-5, and if North Carolina wins tonight the Tarps cannot equal UNC's conference record this season.

A North Carolina win won't necessarily mean the conference championship. That's determined in the ACC tournament March 7-9 at Raleigh, where all eight conference teams take part.

State, on the rebound after a poor start, has won five of its last six games and stands 6-6 in the ACC, 13-9 over-all.

Other games tonight find third-place Duke at last-place Virginia and Furman of the Southern Conference at South Carolina. Citadel, also of the Southern Conference, entertains Newberry.

The standings were unchanged last night as Wake Forest, No. 4 in the ACC, stood off second-place Maryland 62-58. The tightly-played game was tied 17 times, and the biggest lead of the night was five points, that held by Maryland in the first half.

Duke And ECC Shared Honors

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP)—Duke and East Carolina won four first places each last night in the third annual University of North Carolina freshman invitational swimming championships.

Paul Wachendorfer set meet records in the 100-yard breaststroke at 1:07 and the 200-yard individual medley at 2:16.

Mike Williams of East Carolina won the 220 and 440 freestyle and Duke's Ed Eley was a double winner in the 100 and 200 backstroke.

Guard Ernie Wiggins had 17 points for Wake Forest, while teammates Jack Williams had 16, Jackie Murdock 13 and Jim Gilley 12.

Maryland's Jim Halleck sank 19 points, Nick Davis 14 and Bob O'Brien 13.

Maryland's conference record is 8-5 and over-all 13-8. Wake Forest, 7-5 in the ACC, is 17-6 over-all.

Tar Heels Still Ranked At Top

By BEN OLAN

The Associated Press

Undefeated North Carolina held fast to its lead in the Associated Press weekly college basketball poll today. But once-beaten Kansas is making a closer race of it.

Impressed by the Tar Heels' 20-0 record, 55 of the 89 sports writers and sportscasters who participated in the poll put UNC on top. North Carolina drew 806 points on the usual basis of 10 for first place, 9 for second, etc. Kansas collected 17 "firsts" and 756 points.

The Tar Heels fattened their victory total last week against Virginia 68-59 and Wake Forest 72-69. The Jayhawks who trailed North Carolina by 90 points in last week's poll, boosted their mark to 17-1 with a 76-56 triumph over Oklahoma last night.

The next four places remained the same. Kentucky was third with 474 points followed by Seattle, Bradley and Southern Methodist, Louisville, in seventh place, switched positions with UCLA.

Iowa State remained in the No. 9 spot while Vanderbilt, tied for 18th last week, moved into 10th place, replacing West Virginia.

Vanderbilt knocked off Tulane and Tennessee in last week's games, but lost to Kentucky 80-78 last night for a 15-5 record.

Rep. Bonner Explains Increased Leaf Acreage Bill

(Editor's Note: The following is an address made by Rep. Herbert C. Bonner of the First Congressional District to members of the House of Representatives in support of Mr. Bonner's bill which would authorize a 10 per cent increase in tobacco acreage allotments for 1957. The bill was introduced by Rep. Bonner last week.)

It was my intention to introduce in the Congress today a resolution directing the Secretary of Agriculture to increase the acreage allotment of flue-cured tobacco 10 per cent. Realizing a revision of the entire flue-cured tobacco program is necessary, I have today introduced a bill for that purpose.

This bill, if enacted into law, would do two things. First, it would authorize the Secretary of Agriculture to put into operation farm acreage and poundage allotments for most types of tobacco under certain conditions. For several years we have had a system of farm acreage allotments for most types of tobacco. In the case of flue-cured tobacco, and I believe the same is true for some other types, under the acreage allotment system, the incentive is to produce quantity rather than quality. This has been a major problem in my State for some time and it seems to be the consensus of most tobacco growers that the most effective way to encourage the production of the kind of tobacco that the market wants is the adoption of a system which would provide for poundage quotas along with the acreage allotments.

Second, this bill would authorize the Secretary of Agriculture to call a referendum among flue-cured tobacco growers within 30 days after its enactment if he determines that the anticipated reduction in poundage because of the adoption of the new system of allotments would warrant an increase in flue-cured tobacco acreage.

Since the Department of Agriculture announced on November 27, 1956, a national quota of 1172 million pounds, and 712,600 acres for flue-cured tobacco for 1957, several factors have appeared which will undoubtedly materially reduce the total production of flue-cured tobacco in 1957.

namely Coker 139, Coker 140 and Dixie Bright 244, would be reduced 50 per cent. In other words, the support price level for the above-named varieties will be 45 per cent of parity instead of 90 per cent of parity. Coupled with this announcement, meetings were held throughout the flue-cured area to acquaint growers with the fact that the above-named varieties would not carry the 90 per cent support prices.

As a consequence of this action by the Department of Agriculture and the publicity given to this action, there has been a drastic reduction in the planting of seed of the high yielding varieties. Be-estimates place the 1956 plantings of these varieties at 85 per cent of the total crop, while the estimate for 1957 is not over 5 per cent.

The switch from the high yielding varieties to other varieties will undoubtedly result in a 10 yield per acre for 1957. We believe that this factor alone will reduce the poundage at least 10 per cent.

Another factor which will result in a lower production for 1957 is the Soil Bank. It is now estimated that 6 per cent of tobacco acreage will be put in the Soil Bank.

more than 300 million pounds short of annual disappearance.

If we use the average production per acre for the five years 1951-55 inclusive, and multiply this figure by the allotted acre, the production would be 832 million pounds, after deducting 70 million pounds for the Soil Bank, which means a total production in 1957 of 862 million pounds, or 338 million pounds below normal annual requirements.

Throughout the years, exports of flue-cured tobacco have played an important part in the economy of the areas producing flue-cured tobacco. Over the past ten years, one dollar out of every three dollars received by growers from the sale of flue-cured tobacco has come from foreign countries. The production from one acre out of every three is shipped to and consumed in foreign countries.

These facts fully justify a 10 per cent increase in the acreage of flue-cured tobacco recently allotted for 1957. They represent developments which have taken place, in part, since the marketing quota for 1957 was determined late in 1956.

Another important point to be considered is the fact that during the past two years, especially during the past year, manufacturers in many foreign countries have held their purchases to a minimum in order to avoid purchasing leaf from the undesirable varieties.

As a result of this development, many of these foreign manufacturers are expecting and hoping to make larger purchases from the 1957 flue-cured crop since they will be assured that the 1957 crop will have but little of the undesirable varieties in it. If these foreign customers, by reason of the anticipated reduction in production, are not able to secure their requirements of U.S. flue-cured tobacco, they will look to other sources for their requirements. These export markets, once lost, are extremely difficult to regain.

Lions Schedule Speech Tourney Here Saturday

Greenville Lions have scheduled their Twelfth Annual High School Speech Tournament for next Saturday. All schools in Eastern North Carolina have been invited to send delegates to Greenville to participate in three rounds of original orations and declamations. The afternoon session will include a special Pitt County contest in original oratory to determine the outstanding speaker in the county.

Gold, silver and bronze medals will be awarded in each event. In addition, honorable mention certificates will be presented to runners-up. Medal winners last year included Greenville, Roxboro, Ayden, Raleigh, Richlands, Kinston and Vanceboro.

E. B. Starling, chairman of the Lions' Boys and Girls Committee, said today the 1957 contest is expected to be the largest and most successful to date.

ECC Choir Will Begin Annual Tour On Sunday

The East Carolina College Choir, an ensemble of sixty student vocalists, will begin its fourth annual tour February 24. Twenty concerts in North Carolina are scheduled for the period beginning February 24 and ending February 28.

The 1957 tour will take the choir to Asheville, Morganton, Lenoir, Hickory, Statesville, Lexington, Misenheimer, Albemarle and Asheville. The annual home concert is scheduled for Monday, March 11, at 8 p.m. in the Wright auditorium at East Carolina College.

Dr. Elwood Keister is director of the choir. Since joining the East Carolina faculty in 1953, he has taught voice and choral music at the college. During the summer months he serves as music director of "The Lost Colony," Paul Green's symphonic drama produced annually at Manteo, N.C.

Former Dean Of Senate Is Ailing

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—K. D. McKellar, 83, one-time dean of the U. S. Senate, was in "serious" condition at Methodist Hospital today after surgery to remove duodenal ulcers.

The operation was performed yesterday when the former senator went into shock from loss of blood through internal hemorrhaging. He was reported to have withstood two hours of surgery "remarkably well."

McKellar, beaten in a bid for an unprecedented seventh six-year term in the 1952 Tennessee Democratic primary, was admitted to the hospital Friday after fainting in his hotel suite.

Reconciled For Daughter's Sake

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Because their small daughter felt insecure with them apart, bandleader Buddy Rich, 39, and his wife, actress Marie Allison, 28, have reconciled. Rich and his wife each had filed divorce suit asking custody of the child, 2-year-old Cathy. The suits will be dismissed, they said yesterday.

"We're going to see if we can work out our problems like intelligent adults instead of children," Mrs. Rich said.

Cases Heard In City Police Court

By CHESTER WALSH
Judge Charles H. Whedbee disposed of 17 cases in Municipal Recorder's Court last Friday, nine of them involving violations of motor vehicle or traffic laws.

Frank Wilson, Negro, 407 Deck St., abandonment and non-support, six months, suspended on payment of $12 for support by noon of February 18, 1957, and then pay $12 a week for support beginning February 23, 1957. This cause was retained for further order. The judgment also provides that he shall not molest or harm his wife, Della J. Keel, Evans St. extension, prayer for judgment continued on payment of costs. Charlie L. Meeks, Stokes, 30 days, suspended on payment of court costs, and the judgment provides that Meeks shall not operate a motor vehicle on Sunday for the next 11 Sundays.

Alton R. Hopkins, Negro, Stokes, no operator's license, prayer for judgment continued and he is not to drive without a license. Jesse D. Haddock, Rt. 5, city, no operator's license, paid costs.

William E. Moore III, 210 Manhattan Ave., was not guilty of failure to keep proper lookout. Ralph Suggs, 531 Greene street, was found not guilty of assault with a deadly weapon and not guilty of abandonment and non-support.

Joseph E. Joyner, Rt. 2, city, paid $5 for failure to stop at a stop sign. Speeding: John I. Stepps, 1304 N. Washington St., costs. Charles E. Robinson, Rt. 5, city, prayer for judgment continued on payment of costs and he is not to drive for the next four Sundays. D. E. Brown, 1305 Ragsdale Rd., paid $10.

Leroy Spruill, Negro, 1714 S. Greene St., assault on a female, 30 days, suspended and he is not to molest or harm his sister and pay court costs. Drunk: Sylvester Vick Sr., rural point, $15; Marvin Tyson, two cases, paid $15 in each case. Harvey Bouxman, Brookline, Mass., speeding, 30 days, suspended on payment of $50, costs deducted, and he is not to drive for two weeks.

No Yardstick

BOONE, N. C. (AP)—A leader of North Carolina school principals says he and his colleagues "have no way of measuring" the ability of their teachers, and that there should not be a merit basis for raising the pay of North Carolina teachers.

A statement was issued yesterday by J. M. Storie, principal of Blowing Rock High School and chairman of the legislative committee, principals division of the North Carolina Education Assn.

Storie, speaking for the division, entered the position against the merit basis taken by Dr. Charles F. Carroll, state superintendent of public instruction.

A. P. Routh of Greensboro, president of the division, said that "we know of no available instrument that can be used to compare, evaluate and compensate school personnel."

CHAPTER 21

There was a little stir of recognition and excitement as Pearl Broni made her way down the courtroom aisle. She took the oath, smiled, sat down and looked about her.

The people in the courtroom exchanged pleased glances. Grady Barton took a deep breath.

"Miss Broni," said Judge Cowan, "will you tell the court where you were on the night of January seventh?"

"Why, Judge, you know where I was! I was sittin' out at Kopp's! The baby was sick, and Mr. Kopp had to go away. He asked me to come and stay the night — his wife ain't strong, you know."

"He called you and asked you to do those things?"

"Oh, yes, sir."

"Had you stayed with his grandchild before?"

"Yes, sir, two or three times since he got sick. Maybe as many as six times."

"How long was the baby ill?"

"Well, it began on Christmas Day, and he died on the seventh — that's two weeks, ain't it?"

"Could you tell us, in your own words, how the baby was ill? And the changes, if any, in his condition over those two weeks?"

"Oh, sure. Well — first it seemed like he had a cold. All choked up and breathin' hard. Real hard — and you could hear him all over the house. He spit up green stuff — an' that got worse. Some times there was blood. He wouldn't eat — not even when they gave him milk in a bottle — and he got thin. He couldn't sleep good on account of it bein' so hard to breathe. He was an awful sick baby. Mr. Kopp told me to rub his chest and give him syrup — an' we fixed a homemade croup kettie. Finally he brought a regular one from the store — so I know he was worried. He's a close man with a dime."

The magistrate pounded for silence, but the people went on laughing, with Mo Chronister shouting objections and the gavel pounding — and Kopp himself red-cheeked with anger.

"But he didn't call a doctor?"

"Oh, yes, sir, he did. On Christmas he called Dr. Barton, and the doctor wanted to take little Greg to Madison, and Kopp wouldn't. An' about a week later, Kopp had Doc Stone out, and he gave a prescription, but of course it didn't do no good. I kept beggin' Kopp to do what Dr. Barton said, but he jest told me to shut up. He's as stubborn a man as I ever knew!"

"Dr. Barton was worried, too. He kep' askin' me how the kid was doin' — and you could see him bein' sorry. He's a fine man, Dr. Barton is," Pearl said tenderly.

Here Mo intervened, and his objection was upheld.

"Now, Pearl," said Judge Cowan, "will you please tell the court about the night of January seventh? What happened? You were called out there, you said . . ."

"Kopp asked me to go. He came into town after me and said he might be away all night. He wanted me to come and stay with Gregory so his wife could rest."

"Go on, please. What happened?"

"Well, I don't rightly remember what time it was. It was well after supper, I'd washed up the dishes and all. Miz Kopp had gone to bed, when I saw that Gregory was worse. He had a convulsion-like. Got stiff and his back kinda bowed up. He didn't seem to be breathin' for as long as a minute at a time. And I got scared and phoned Dr. Barton and I told him to come out there, whether he wanted to or not, that he couldn't let a kid die. And he did come, too. Within half an hour . . ."

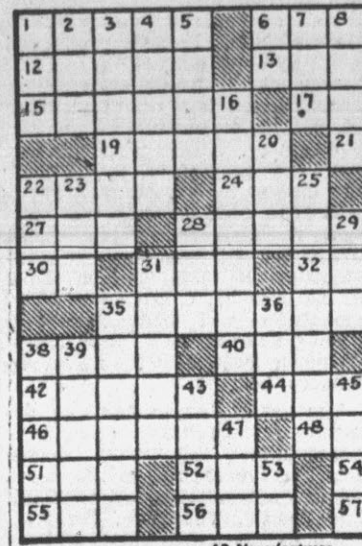

"Can you remember just what the doctor did?"

"I won't forget it to the last day I live," said Pearl solemnly.

He picked up the baby on the crib mattress and he brought the whole thing out to the dinin' room table. He had a little knife — a real little blade it had, don't think it would even peel a pu-lata — but he held it like it was another finger, and the kid strugglin' to get its breath, turning a funny dark color, and the doctor put his two fingers on his throat — Pearl demonstrated with the second and third finger of her left hand — and then he struck that little knife in with his right hand. He spread the cut with his other hand and he put in a piece of red tubing, and all of a sudden the kid breathed — whistlin' — like this — Her big mouth made a rhythmic, whistling sound.

Judge Cowan turned to Grady. "That was a tracheotomy, Dr. Barton?"

"What I did then, yes, sir."

"Had you," personally ever done that sort of operation before?"

Grady looked at him in amazement, then he laughed a little and shook his head. "I was admissions physician at a big city hospital, Judge Cowan, for several years. Since children get diphtheria and strep throat and swallow everything in reach, I would safely estimate that I have done, personally, as many as 250 tracheotomies."

"Were they all fatal?" asked Mo Chronister. "Or many of them?"

"No, sir. Some of the children died. As Gregory Kopp died. But not from the effects of the emergency surgery."

"That's your opinion."

"Yes, sir, it is. I might add, that given the same set of circumstances, I would repeat the exact medical procedure I used for the Kopp child. Though, another time, I would myself go to court to enforce medical care for the child early enough to save his life."

"As your dramatic tracheotomy did not do," said Mo.

"No, Mr. Chronister, it did not. There was so much lung congestion that I had to seek to remove the obstruction which, from the first had caused his trouble. I did find that obstruction — a quarter which the child had swallowed. There was extensive infection caused by its long presence: the lung and bronchi were completely involved — and the baby died. I'm sorry; I did what I could. Which is about all any doctor can do."

"It sure wasn't enough!" cried Kopp, jumping to his feet.

Order was restored, and Judge Cowan asked a few more questions of Pearl, defining the fact that the doctor now accused had been called to the house by a person delegated to be in charge of the sick child.

Then he turned to Mo Chronister. "I'd think this case could be dismissed as showing no evidence of malpractice — unless you are trying to prove that Dr. Barton went out to Kopp's farm with the intent of doing murder. In which case you'd have to establish his motive. Can you establish such a motive. Mr. Prosecuting Attorney?"

Mo's lips twitched, but he said nothing.

"No," said Judge Cowan silkily. "You cannot. Therefore, he turned to the magistrate. "Your Honor, I ask that this charge of criminal malpractice be dismissed for lack of supporting evidence."

The case was dismissed. The matter was to be dropped.

As for Kopp . . . Down on the sidewalk, as the doctor prepared to step into his car, Kopp's hand fell heavily upon Grady's shoulder.

"Just a minute, Doc," he rasped, his breath unpleasant in Grady's face. The doctor stepped back, his distaste evident. "I just want to tell you," said Kopp angrily, "that here and now I'm promisin' to run you out o' this town. And no smart lawyer's gonna stop me!"

How far can Kopp carry his threat? Continue Chapter 22 of "A Call for Dr. Barton tomorrow."

By CHARLES BISSETTE

It Takes Two

The other day I was surprised when a customer of long standing came in and asked to look at "an inexpensive box camera." I say surprised because this fellow already owns a very fine camera.

Turns out his reasons for wanting (and buying) a "second" camera were very good. First, he told me that more and more, two people in his family want to shoot pictures—at the same time.

Then, he said often when his camera is loaded with black-and-white film, he finds a subject that deserves color. The way he figures it, a lot of good pictures have been missed.

We think he's on the right track. And, we also believe that another camera will go a long way to help make photography an activity enjoyed by the whole family.

The clincher: Today you can pick up a versatile second (or first!) camera for a very modest outlay of cash. We have a number of Brownie and Kodak Cameras that will do the job very well. And they are perfect for beginners.

Drop in and let us help you select the "just-right" camera soon.

SERVED BY CAROLINA TELEPHONE

"On the double" well describes the rapid pace of Carolina Telephone and Telegraph Company in extending service to new customers in Rocky Mount during the past ten years. In 1946 there were 5,894 telephones in Rocky Mount. Today Carolina Telephone provides fast, dependable service to over 11,000 telephones in Rocky Mount.

To make all this possible, Carolina Telephone has increased its investment for plant and facilities in Rocky Mount from $597,429.00 in 1946 to $4,621,090.00 in 1956 . . . an increase of 673 per cent.

The telephone company's valued assets include the 200 men and women who live and serve in Rocky Mount. The annual payroll approaches half-million dollars. They, along with 1,900 other members of the company service team throughout Eastern Carolina give their finest efforts to build efficient and appreciated telephone service at the lowest possible cost.

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK — The stock market extended its losses slightly this afternoon in dull trading. Pivotal issues were down from fractions to around a point. A few losses were wider.

The market was irregular at the opening but a tendency toward the downside grew more pronounced and shifted the balance definitely lower.

Wall Street observers noted no unusual selling pressure and said the market was continuing its minor moves of yesterday in a readjustment after last week's sharp fall and rise.

The newest price cut in copper as well as some spiraling corporate news were factors tending to discourage buying.

Republic Aviation slid 3 points following news of its plan to drop 4,000 workers. Howe Sound Co. lost more than 2 as it slashed its dividend.

Aluminum Ltd. also dropped more than 2. Losses of around a point or more were taken by Amerasia, Gulf Oil, Du Pont, Chrysler, International Nickel, Kennecott Copper and Republic Steel.

Consolidated Natural Gas, International Telephone and Boeing bucked the trend with small gains. Montecatini Mining & Chemical Co., Italy's biggest firm in that field, was admitted to trading with 20 million American shares. It opened at 22 on 1,200 shares and later edged downward.

Repulsive Spray For Poor Dog

ASHLAND, Ky. (AP) — It shouldn't happen to a dog, but it did to Candy.

She was enjoying a midnight scratch when her owner, Mrs. Calvin Gearheart, reached for a can of flea spray and doused her thoroughly.

Around the room Candy went, but there was no escape from the odor.

Mrs. Gearheart finally discovered the can didn't contain flea spray but dog repellent.

Charges 'Theft' To Spur Police

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. (AP) — A San Anselmo mother says she filed a grand theft charge against her 14-year-old daughter only because she hopes police will find the girl sooner.

Mrs. Vernie Lyons, of 33 Hillcrest St., San Anselmo, filed the charge with the Marin County district attorney. She said the girl, Janet, disappeared Feb. 6 and that $250 was missing.

Janet vanished with two other teenagers.

Squad Of Canine Cops Is Helpful

BALTIMORE (AP) — Baltimore's squad of eight canine cops has been particularly helpful in coping with mob scenes.

Police sent to a pool hall recently took the dogs with them and moved in on the crowd milling around in front. One man shined 14 feet up a drain pipe and another scaled a cigarette machine and perched on top.

Scientist Says Can Reach Mars In But 400 Days

By VERN HAUGLAND
SAN DIEGO, Calif. — A designer of the Redstone and Jupiter ballistic missiles said today that an ion rocket could be built, with present knowledge, that could reach Mars in 400 days and return in about 320.

The designer, German-born Dr. Ernst Stuhlinger, said such a rocket would travel at speeds up to 98,400 miles an hour.

Stuhlinger told an astronautics symposium that an even faster space device, a photon rocket powered by light, has been proposed but at the moment is nothing more than a mathematical exercise.

"None of us can conceive a means of building it," he said.

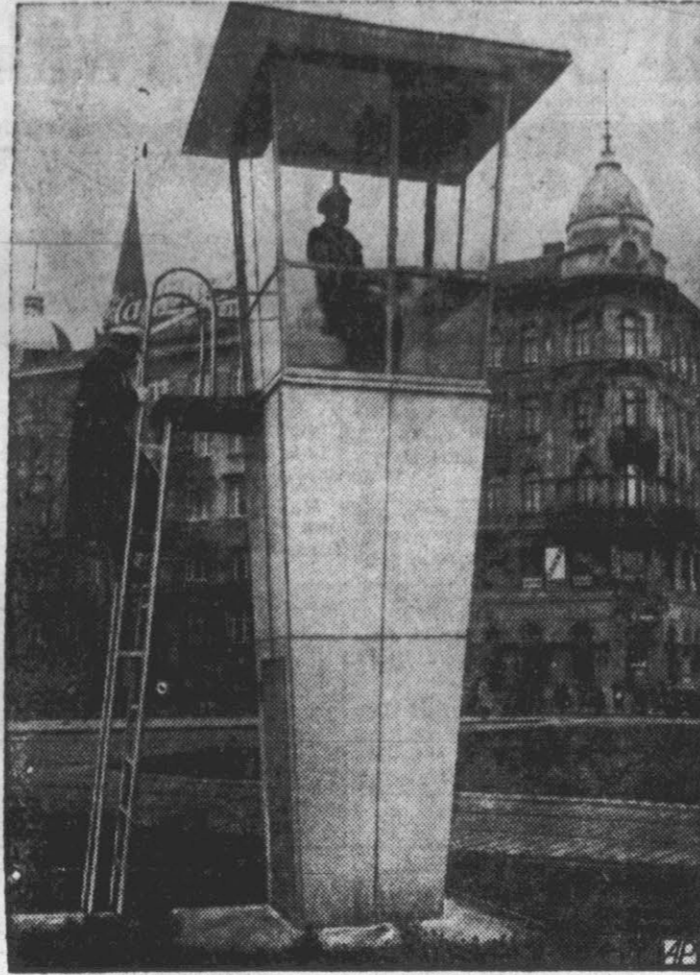

The symposium on problems of space flight, sponsored jointly by the Air Force Office of Scientific Research and the Convair Division of General Dynamics Corp., is being attended by more than 300 military and industry missile experts.

Stuhlinger is chief of the Guidance Control Research Section of the Guided Missile Development Group at the army's Redstone Arsenal, Huntsville, Ala.

He explained at a news conference that in an ion rocket the power source must produce energy with which to expel ions—atoms or molecules from which an electron has been stripped—in a stream to produce a thrust.

He said the ion rocket project currently under study would use a nuclear reactor as a power source, and would involve the heating to 160 degrees of two alkaline metals, rubidium and cesium, to produce a flow of vapor directed across a platinum surface. A part of the power output would be converted into electrical energy with which to accelerate and expel the ionized particles that propelled the rocket.

Stuhlinger said a 600-ton ion rocket with a 150-ton "pay load"—equipment, cargo or passengers—could go to Mars and back.

Merchant Board Refuse To Raise Mortgage Rates

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Veterans Committee looked to government sources today for GI home mortgage funds after refusing to raise the interest rate on veterans' loans to 5 per cent.

Overriding requests by the administration for the higher interest rate, the committee voted yesterday to continue the present 4 1/2 per cent rate and find other ways to provide GI home financing.

As one alternative, committee members turned to a study of proposals to authorize use of up to a billion dollars of National Service Life Insurance reserves held in trust for GI wartime policyholders. The NSLI trust fund now approximates six billion dollars.

Yesterday's action on the GI interest rate came as the committee approved a bill authorizing an additional 150 million dollars for direct home loans to veterans in rural and small-town areas where financing is not readily available. This bill also would provide for advance commitments to builders for government financing.

President Eisenhower last month asked Congress to hike the GI interest rate to make the loans more attractive to lenders, and thus prime the dwindling flow of available financing.

Chairman Teague (D-Tex.) of the Veterans Committee said the 5 per cent rate was turned down because it offered "no assurance it will provide mortgage money for the veterans."

"Veterans already are paying the equivalent of 5 per cent or more through discounts," he declared.

It is expected that amendments will be offered in the House to make 5 per cent FHA mortgages available to all veterans, but containing the lower down payment and longer maturity benefits now available under GI financing.

Church Men To Consider Future Building Plans

A special supper meeting of the men of St. James Methodist Church will be held tonight at 6:45 to discuss plans about when to build the next unit of the three-unit structure.

Rev. J. Malloy Owen III, pastor of the church, said the meeting tonight will provide opportunity for the men to express themselves concerning the most appropriate time to start building again.

Chairman of the Board Dr. E. W. Larkin said the rapid growth of the church and Sunday school has forced the building issue to the front in less than two years after completion of the present unit.

The Methodist Men's president, Graham S. Quinn, said no funds will be solicited at this meeting. Information concerning the financial condition of the four-year-old congregation will be available at the meeting.

WAC Plan For College Juniors

FT. McPHERSON, Ga. — With a look to the future for young college women, the Women's Army Corps has announced a program called "WAC Summer Training Program for College Juniors."

Here is how the program works: If selected for training, the young women will be sworn into the WAC Enlisted Reserve as a corporal, and called to active duty at the WAC Center, Fort McClellan, Alabama, for a 4-week period. For this time, she will receive $122.30 payable at the end of training. She will be furnished meals and first-class commercial round-trip transportation between home and the WAC Center. While in training she will have no expenses other than the personal items she wishes to purchase for herself. Clothing, meals, and housing are all furnished free.

After training the young woman will be given the opportunity of applying for a commission in the WAC during the senior college year.

Those young ladies who do not complete the course, or who, during their senior years in college, decide not to make application for Army commissioning as second lieutenants, WAC will be discharged from the U.S. Army Reserve.

Additional information may be obtained from the WAC Procurement Officer, Headquarters Third U.S. Army, Fort McPherson, Georgia.

Second Child Is Also A Victim

BERGAMO, Italy (AP) — Eleven days ago, little Marco Marchesini wandered out of his home and drowned in a nearby canal. Yesterday, Mrs. Marchesini locked Marco's 22-month-old sister Maria in the kitchen while she went about her house work. When she returned to the room, she found Maria had opened the garden door and wandered into the canal and drowned at the same spot as her brother.

Marriage Licenses

A 66-year-old Negro man and a 68-year-old Negro woman, both of Winterville, were among six couples that received marriage licenses last week from the Register of Deeds office.

Herbert B. Evans and Sudie Williams were one of the four Negro couples getting licenses. Others were Milton Taylor and Vermetine Banks, both of Kinston; Walter Carroll Jr., Bethel, and Rachel Juanita Greene, Stokes; and Lyman Earl Harper, Route 1, Winterville, and Adell Carman, Greenville.

White couples receiving licenses were Delmar Dean Von Wert, Lorain, Ohio, and Irma Joyce Johnson, Snow Hill; and James C. Tyner Jr., Ayden, and Constance Hope Bowen, Winterville.

Opposition To War On Pigeons

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State Sen. Robert R. Shaw, a State Republican, is sick and tired of the pigeons in the state capital yard.

He and his friends, Shaw told newsmen, are disturbed at the endless prospect of being "target for tonight"—every night.

He asked the Ohio legislature for a $1,500 appropriation to trap and destroy every pigeon indiscreet enough to set foot in the statehouse yard.

"The only opposition I have run into so far," Shaw quipped, "is from the dry cleaners."

Given No Choice

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. (AP) — H. A. Smart closed his restaurant in the Buchanan County Courthouse yesterday after the County Court ruled he must serve all races. Members of the court indicated several Negroes complained they had been refused service.

Bloodmobile Visits Ayden And Grifton This Month

Dr. Stephen R. Bartlett, Jr., chairman of the Pitt County Red Cross Bloodmobile program, announced today that the Red Cross Bloodmobile will be in Ayden February 21 from 12 until 6 p.m.

Jack Schrock, who will be serving as chairman for this visit, announces the following volunteers from the Ayden Woman's Club and individual volunteers: J. D. Dennis, Clyde Bright, Tom Whelless, Lyman McRoy, Elbert Davidson, Dr. Larry Alexander, and Dr. Clifton Davenport, of the Ayden Junior Chamber of Commerce; Mesdames Bess Eichorn, Gyn Gwyn, Laura Babbington, Martha Obernathy, Mary Miller, Linda Schrock, Betsy Blackwell, Jessie Curry, Becky Booth, Virginia Johnson, Minna Gagnon, Margaret Duke, Janice Whitaker, of the Woman's Club; and Nurses, Ruth Smith, Sue Winters, Christine Tripp, Belle Long and Lucille Jenkins.

On the following day, Dr. Bartlett also announced that the Bloodmobile will be in Grifton from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. with J. K. Waltenbaugh serving as chairman.

The Grifton chairman stated this morning that Mrs. R. H. Bates will serve as chairman of the Canteen, assisted by the women of the Service League.

The following people will serve as volunteers: nurses, Mrs. W. L. Johnson, Mrs. J. Rooley, Mrs. W. M. January, Mrs. F. B. Hines and Mrs. H. Waters; physicians of the town will take turns in covering this operation; other volunteers, messdames J. Groat, C. F. Schutte, J. R. Goolsby, J. H. Bass, J. J. King, R. H. Pace, H. A. Kress, C. E. Stone, L. O. Posey, W. I. McHallick, W. H. Gower, R. L. Denison, W. E. Johnson and T. W. Barnes.

Dr. Bartlett urges the citizens of Ayden and Grifton to donate to the Bloodmobile in order that Pitt County can meet its quota of 110 pints as each community. "In order that blood may be available when needed, we must meet our quota for each visit," the doctor stated.

Potential Industries
GOLDSBORO — Goldsboro's industrial department—has made "some very interesting" contacts with potential industries—particularly in the fields of poultry processing and garment manufacturing.

An official stated yesterday that contracts already have been established with food processors but added that the strongest prospect at present is a poultry processing firm.

Unusual Twist
SNOW HILL — Between $1,700 and $1,800 is missing from the sheriff's office, reluctant officials revealed yesterday. The money was first missed last Monday but information concerning the incident had been kept secret.

County Auditor George Edwards has stated that the money was apparently stolen during the afternoon of February 9. No clues as to who took the money have been revealed. The money was collected as costs of courts and fines.

Farmer Killed
WASHINGTON, N.C. — Lewis Turnage, well-known 60-year-old farmer of Bath, Rt. 1, was blown to death by a stick of dynamite while blasting stumps for a tobacco bed on his farm early yesterday.

A report from his home stated that the accident occurred when Turnage lit a stick of dynamite, went off to a safe distance and the dynamite failed to go off. He went back to the scene, picked up the stick of dynamite and it exploded in his hand, killing him immediately.

Man Bites Woman!
WILSON — A Wilson woman, Luell Barnes, told police that two men came to her house Sunday night and demanded a fish sandwich, and that one of the men bit her on the finger.

Who was arrested? Luell Barnes, why? When the "unknown man" bit her on the finger, she assaulted him with an unknown weapon.

Site Changed

Court of Honor chairman Charles H. Whedbee announced a change of the meeting site of the quarterly county-wide Boy Scout Court of Honor this morning.

Instead of meeting in the City Court Room as originally scheduled, the Court of Honor will take place in the County Court Room in the courthouse, Whedbee said. Meeting time has been set at 7:30 o'clock tonight.
