Bill Hiking Teacher Scale Is Introduced

RALEIGH (AP)—A group of House members joined today in introducing a bill to provide school teachers with pay increases averaging 19.31 per cent.

Gov. Hodges and the Advisory Budget Commission have recommended pay increases for teachers averaging 9.1 per cent in addition to their regular pay increment for experience.

Teachers with other types of certificates would receive increases averaging 19.31 per cent. Part of the increase would come from paying the teachers for an additional week of school.

Israel Insists On U. N. Safeguards

JERUSALEM (AP)—Israel has declared she will call her last invasion forces home if U. N. troops are stationed along the Egyptian coast of the Gulf of Aqaba and Egypt is barred from the Gaza Strip.

restoration of the status quo in the (Gaza) strip. Israeli troops still are occupying the Gaza Strip on the Mediterranean and the Sharm el Sheikh area at the entrance to the Gulf of Aqaba after seizing both in their October-November invasion of Egypt.

Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion emphasized those conditions in a speech to Parliament last night rejecting President Eisenhower's latest appeal for an immediate withdrawal of Israeli troops behind the 1949 Palestine armistice lines.

The Gaza Strip, historically a part of Palestine, had been held by Egypt since the 1949 armistice. Egyptian guns on two islands in the Tiran Straits controlling the Gulf of Aqaba kept Israeli ships out of that passage from the Red Sea to southern Israel.

Ben-Gurion said Israel is seeking further negotiations to reach an understanding with the United Nations and the United States. This appeared designed in part to hold off U. N. action on Arab demands for sanctions against Israel.

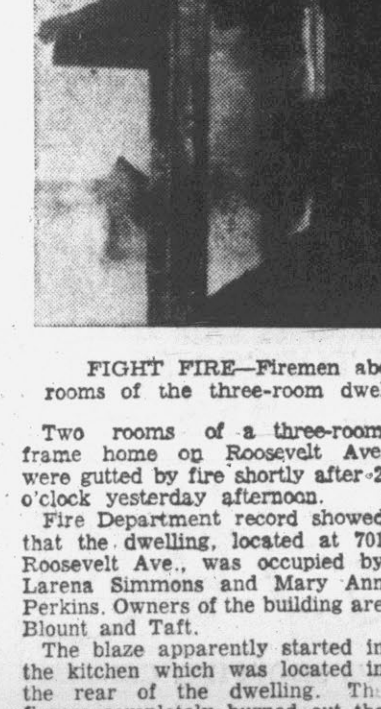

The government of Israel considers it essential that the United Nations Emergency Force should be stationed on the coast of the Straits to safeguard freedom of navigation of Israeli shipping until peace is concluded with Egypt, or until some other reliable and effective arrangement is made to this end.

In his speech to Parliament which was broadcast to the nation, Ben-Gurion said "Israel dare not unconditionally abandon the defense of her rights" in the Gulf of Aqaba and "will not submit to

Fire Damages 2 Rooms In Local Home

FIGHT FIRE—Firemen above pour water into a burning dwelling on Roosevelt Ave. Two rooms of the three-room dwelling were burned out yesterday afternoon. (Reflector Staff Photo).

Two rooms of a three-room frame home on Roosevelt Ave. were gutted by fire shortly after 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Fire Department record showed that the dwelling, located at 701 Roosevelt Ave., was occupied by Larena Simmons and Mary Ann Perkins. Owners of the building are Blount and Tatt.

Still See Need For Area Air Facility

TALKING OVER CAA DECISION—W. W. Speight, (right) of Greenville, chairman of the Mid-Eastern Area Airport Authority, points to the map as he discusses CAA's rejection of Mid-East's application for funds with Dave Whitcher, member of the Authority's publicity committee.

Keen Disappointment, But Air Facility Hope Lives

There was keen disappointment in Pitt County today at the decision of the Civil Aeronautics Authority which by-passed the Mid-Eastern Area Airport Authority and approved matching funds for a new Rocky Mount airport to be located to serve Wilson and Rocky Mount.

build a joint airport to serve most of Eastern North Carolina. "I feel CAA has overlooked its own announced policy in refusing to grant the request of Mid-East for matching funds. The construction of an airport to serve the whole area is in complete accordance with the plans and policies of CAA. If the award had been made on merit we feel the petition of Mid-East Carolina Airport Authority would have been accepted."

approach to the situation was a local approach and the CAA's decision is an answer to a local problem still leaving an area problem to be answered. The transportation situation has not been alleviated. I feel that nothing was done for Eastern North Carolina as far as air service is concerned."

Ed Davenport, vice-chairman of the Mid-Eastern Area Airport Authority and president of the Farmville Chamber of Commerce, commented, "I am most disappointed. Rocky Mount's maximum speed permitted." Whitley explained such a race might occur "if somebody drove up behind you and said, 'I'll race you to the county line.'"

Under the Whitley bill, conviction of felony racing would carry a penalty of revocation of driver's license for one year and a fine of not less than $100 or a prison term of not more than three years. Misdemeanor racing would be punished by a fine of not less than $50 or not more than two years in prison.

CAA Rules 'Too Large A Section'

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Civil Aeronautics Administration (CAA) has concluded the Mid-Eastern (N.C.) Airport Authority proposed to serve "too large a section" to justify funds for a new airport it proposed for the eastern part of the state.

CAA officials here have sent this information to the regional office of CAA in Fort Worth, Tex., along with the information that the Kinston, N.C., Airport service by Piedmont Airlines should continue at the existing airport.

Member Cities Not 'Giving Up'

Member cities in the Mid-Eastern Area Airport Authority appeared today determined not to give up hope for a central facility for this section in spite of a CAA ruling which rejected Mid-East's petition for matching federal funds for airport construction.

port. A spokesman for the Chamber of Commerce there said any air service which is obtained by Goldsboro will be transferred to the central facility at such time as it is constructed.

Rocky Mount In Rocky Mount, victors in the fight for funds before CAA, leaders in the airport movement were said to be expecting a CAA committee in the near future to look into proposed sites for the new Rocky Mount airport.

From Wilson, Shelby Cullom, Wilson's representative on the Mid-Eastern Area Airport Authority, told Chairman Speight that Wilson will still continue to be interested in the establishment of a central airport to serve the area.

Mrs. Spilman Reviews Book

Mrs. J. B. Spilman gave a book review when Mrs. B. W. Moseley and Mrs. Bancroft Moseley were joint hostesses to the End of the Century Club at 1 o'clock Tuesday. The home with its festive tables, spring flowers and soft lights gave an added welcome to members and guests coming in from a downpour of rain. A three course luncheon was served. Following the luncheon, the president called the meeting to order and presided over the business session. Mrs. Bancroft Moseley was then called on for the program. Mrs. Moseley presented Mrs. Spilman, club member, who gave a review of "No Wives In The Mansie," a story of life as a minister's wife. After the program books were exchanged and the club adjourned. Guests for this meeting were Mrs. A. M. Moseley, Mrs. Edwin B. Josey of Wilmington, Mrs. Thomas Davis, Mrs. Lottie Butner, Mrs. Wesley Harvey and Miss Elizabeth Copeland.

Mrs. Duncan Talks On Life Of J. J. Penney

Mrs. H. H. Duncan spoke on the life of James Cash Penney Jr. when Mrs. D. L. Moore entertained members of the Round Table Book Club Tuesday afternoon at her home on East Fifth Street. Following the business session, the president, Mrs. Royce Hunsucker, turned the meeting over to the program chairman, Mrs. Daniel Taylor, who presented Mrs. Duncan. J. C. Penney, as he is better known, was born in 1876 in Hamilton, Mo., the son of a minister. He is a man of sterling character and a most successful merchant. Mrs. Duncan told the club. The first Penney store was opened in August, 1902 and consisted of one room and an attic. This first store and several to follow were called "The Golden Rule Store" and later changed to J. C. Penney Stores. Today, there are over 1600 J. C. Penney stores spread out in every state of the union, the speaker noted. Following Mrs. Duncan's talk, the hostess served a salad course with coffee. Mrs. Percy B. Upchurch was a guest of the club.

Bloxam Speaks To Delphians

Mrs. Thomas Sellers was hostess to the Delphian Book Club Tuesday afternoon at her home on the Falkland Highway. Leonard Bloxam, city manager, was guest speaker.

During the business meeting the club voted unanimously to stand behind fluoridation for Greenville. A motion was also made and carried to give an azalea to the Sheppard Memorial Library in memory of the late Major Thomas Sellers. After finishing with the business the president, Mrs. John Howard, turned the meeting over to the hostess, who introduced Mr. Bloxam.

Mr. Bloxam stated that the tasks of a city manager are many and that there is never a dull moment. He discussed the different departments and the work of each.

Mr. Bloxam complimented the heads of the departments on the fine work they are doing. He feels that each is doing a good job and the departments are well organized.

At the conclusion of Mr. Bloxam's talk the members and guests, Mrs. Joseph Gilbert and Mr. Bloxam, enjoyed a social hour. For the occasion the hostess carried out the George Washington motif. The refreshment table was covered with a red table cloth and draped with red, white and blue ribbon. Tiny American flags were used throughout the room.

For her coffee table Mrs. Sellers used a low bowl of red carnations, white snapdragons and blue iris. Mrs. Bob Messner and Mrs. Paul A. Scott Jr. assisted the hostess in serving chicken salad in pastry shells, assorted sandwiches, stuffed dates, nuts and miniature cream puffs.

FORUM LEADERS: Mrs. Hubert Humphrey (left), wife of the Minnesota senator, and Mrs. John Sparkman, wife of the senator from Alabama, are chairman and vice chairman respectively of the Democratic Congressional Wives' Forum. The forum is a discussion group that keeps wives informed on current issues.

Wives Keep Informed

By JANE EADS
 WASHINGTON—While their husbands are minding the nation's business on Capitol Hill, many congressional wives are taking time out from homemaking and social chores to keep themselves thoroughly informed on national affairs.

They want to be able to discuss intelligently the issues about which they are most frequently asked. To achieve this, some 55 Democratic wives gather once a month for an all day forum, barely taking time out for a bite of lunch. The "workshop," as they call it, is open to all Democratic wives. There are no dues. So that members may speak frankly, sessions are off the record.

Organized in 1954 by Mrs. Katie Louchheim, vice chairman of the Democratic Congressional Wives Forum breaks up into three groups, each with its own study subject and discussion leader and perhaps a guest speaker. The groups join for the afternoon meeting. Campaign techniques, the cost of living, the H-bomb, reciprocal trade, TV makeup and how to make a speech are representative of the subjects taken up. Mrs. Hubert Humphrey, wife of the Minnesota senator, is new chairman of the forum. Mrs. John Sparkman, wife of the Alabama senator, is vice chairman.

Petite, blue-eyed Muriel Humphrey, who wears her prematurely silvered-hair in a becoming page-boy, is one of the town's most popular official wives and the mother of four. Nancy, 18, interested in a nursing career, graduates from high school in Bethesda, Md., this June and plans to enter the University of Minnesota. Hubert Jr., 14, better known as "Skipper," attends junior high and is the one most interested in politics. The others are Bobby, 12, and Douglas, 9. "I think the wives' forum is one of the most interesting activities in which I have taken part in Washington," Mrs. Humphrey told me. "We've all gained many benefits. We've become better acquainted with each other and with the problems of each other's districts, as well as gaining a better understanding of what our husbands are trying to do."

The wives of Reps. W. F. Norrell (Ark) and Clarence Cannon (Mo) are treasurer and assistant treasurer. The wives of Reps. Omar Burleson (Tex), Alme Forand (RI), Clair Engle (Calif), Lee Metcalf (Mont), Frank M. Clark (Pa), John D. Dingell (Mich) and D. R. Mathews (Fla) and the wife of Sen. Strom Thurmond (SC) are committee members.

Music School Slated

Home Agent Lillie Little said this morning a District Music Training School will be held in Tarboro Wednesday at the Hilmer

Country Club. The session is designed particularly for music leaders in the home demonstration clubs but others interested in helping with club and choir music will be welcomed, she said.

Club Observes Hubby Night

Husbands Night was observed by the St. John's Home Demonstration Club at its February meeting held Monday night.

The community building was the scene of the meeting and was decorated for the occasion with a George Washington's Birthday motif.

The refreshment table was laid with a red cloth and held a cherry tree in the center.

Refreshments consisting of punch and cookies also observed the night's theme. Mrs. Sam McLawhorn, Mrs. Herman Harris and Mrs. Annie Manning, hostesses, served.

Demonstration topic for the evening was "American Families in 1957," a program on various kinds of insurance offered to the public today.

Mrs. Lillie Little and Sam Winchester, home and farm agents, presented the discussion, Mr. Winchester explaining in detail the Social Security program.

A fashion show with the husbands modeling the ladies' hats highlighted the entertainment period led by Mrs. F. D. Taylor. Twenty were present. Devotional was given by Mrs. Sam McLawhorn.

30 Years Ago Today

February 22, 1927
 Washington—President Coolidge today vetoed the McNary-Haugen farm relief bill. The President said "The chief objection to the bill is that it would not benefit the farmer. Whatever may be the temporary influence in the arbitrary interference, no one can deny that in the long run prices will be governed by supply and demand. To expect to increase prices and then to maintain them at a higher level by means of a plan which of necessity increase production while decreasing consumption is to fly in the face of an economic law as well established as any law in nature. Experience shows that high prices in any given year mean greater acreage the next year."

February Meet Fetes Husbands

Members of the Bethel Home Demonstration Club entertained their husbands and guests at a covered dish supper in the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. C. James for their February meeting.

The home was decorated with native flowers and shrubs.

Mr. and Mrs. James welcomed guests. The Rev. Carlos Womack, Methodist minister, gave the invocation. Mrs. W. R. Bullock invited guests to the dining room where a buffet supper was served. The table was covered with a white linen cloth and centered with an arrangement of red carnations flanked by silver candelabra holding burning tapers.

Miss Lois Jones and C. J. Goodman presented the program on "Your Life Insurance."

W. K. Whichard, social security representative from Greenville, was introduced by Mrs. W. R. Bullock. He discussed several phases of the Social Security program. Other special guests attending in addition to members' husbands were Mr. and Mrs. Whichard, Mr.

and Mrs. Goodman, Alton Ray James, of Greenville; Mr. and Mrs. Bob Martin, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Gurganus Sr., the Rev. and Mrs. Womack and Mr. and Mrs. Roy M. James, of Bethel.

Shower Fetes Annette Dunn

Miss Annette Dunn, whose marriage to Lee Reynolds of Marion, N. C. will take place Saturday in Memorial Baptist Church, was honored at a shower Tuesday night.

Hostesses for the occasion were Mrs. W. H. Tripp and Mrs. Lissie Harris.

The Tripp home on Colonial Avenue was decorated throughout with spring flowers. Upon arrival the honored guest was presented a corsage of red camellias.

Guests were received at the door by Mrs. C. W. Dunn, mother of the bride-elect. They were then invited into the dining room where they were served punch, party cakes and sandwiches.

Later they were invited into the gift room where the bridal gifts were displayed.

Goodbyes were said by Mrs. Tripp at the door.

Local White Shrine Holds Monthly Meet

The Greenville White Shrine held its February meeting recently in the Fred Stokes Dining Room of the Masonic Lodge.

A Valentine motif was carried out for the social hour.

The meeting was opened in ritualistic form, the American Flag presented and allegiance pledged.

A short business meeting followed.

Mrs. Hilda Laughinghouse and Mrs. Bertha Branch were hostesses for the monthly meeting.

By DR. ED HIRSHBERG
This Column never has been famous for late news flashes, so this week we're proud to be able to tell you that we have a Scoop: Jonathan Williams is coming to town, Williams—just in case you didn't know—is a publisher of avant-garde books up in Highlands, N. C., and he is making a tour of the South and West, taking his books with him. Through Dr. Mildred Southwick, who sponsors the Library Club at East Carolina, he's been invited to visit the College, and he'll be here on March 22-23, all going well. His tour was given national prominence in this week's Times Book Review, incidentally—so Greenville will be seeing quite a celebrity, bookishly speaking, and we'll try to keep you posted on where and when he'll be giving his programs. . . .

Literary Controversy

A bitter battle of the critics has been raging in the Saturday Review over the Saturday Review panning John Ciardi gave Ann Morrow Lindbergh's new book, "The Unicorn and Other Poems," in the January 12 issue of SR. He called it "an offensively bad book—inert, jingling, slovenly, illiterate even," among other things, precipitating a stampede of letters in Mrs. Lindbergh's defense, no doubt delighting the editor of SR to no end, since such a big fuss over a book of poetry hasn't been made since the brouhaha about Pound's "Pisan Cantos" a decade or so ago. Anyway, we haven't read "The Unicorn" so can't say anything about it. But we do feel that Mr. Ciardi, who is himself a poet of substantial and established quality, certainly wouldn't have been as critical as he was if he didn't have good reason to be, and that he should be given the right to say, as a critic, exactly what he wants to say—which is what he did. This—though he wasn't very sweet about it—is Freedom of Speech, and if you don't have that, is there much else worth having? . . . his Column will welcome opinions on this matter, so lay on, MacDuff. . . .

More Poems

Speaking of poetry, this might just as well be Poetry Week in the presses—we've counted no less than seven new issues of books of poems, by Kenneth Fearing, Edith Johnson, Gerta Kennedy, Lenore G. Marshall, Marcella Miller duPont, Neil Weiss and Robert Fitzgerald. Most of them we've never heard of before, but the fact that the publishers are printing books of poems at all is to us a wonderful thing, and we hope they keep it up. As Kenneth Rexroth wrote in his review of some of the writers we mention above, the more people get into the habit of reading poems the more likely it will be that they will start liking the good ones along with the bad—and more and more people will start reading poetry again. . . .

Apathy

We were unhappy to hear that the remainder in the series of lectures on Religion in the various phases of life is being cancelled because of lack of interest on the part of students and faculty at East Carolina. The first two, on Science and Religion, and on Medicine and Religion, were in our opinion among the most worthwhile programs to be presented hereabouts, and we think it shameful that such projects as these must languish in a college community. . . .

THE FOUNTAIN OVERFLOWS.

By Rebecca West. New York: The Viking Press, 1956. A Literary Guild Book.
Some one has compared Rebecca West's new novel "The Fountain Overflows" to one of Dickens. There are similarities—a rich assemblage of characters, several of them with Dickensian names, an astounding wealth of detail, a carefully planned setting so that the people are seen against the England of their day. The book itself is written in the first person—as so many of Dickens' are. There are no doubt other ways in which the two writers are alike. But the chief difference to me lies in the fact that the people in Miss West's book really live, whereas Dickens' folk always seem exaggerated.

There is something quaint about the Aubrey family. One of the characters remarks about the writer father and musician mother, "I don't think either your Papa or Mama have the slightest idea about half the things that go on in this wicked world." They are ingenious geniuses, you might say—refreshing but altogether convincing—so much like some professors' families that we have known. We expect writers and musicians to be slightly peculiar—otherwise they're rather disappointing.

It is impossible for me to say what the book means; it poses many problems, all interesting, but none of the problems is exactly resolved, and I don't think that matters. The book was a delight to read, and it was fun to share the experience of the gifted

Aubrey family as seen through the eyes of Rose, one of the daughters. Touches of humor are frequent enough to give the book warmth. Little glimpses of Edwardian days in England are fascinating, the author's insight into the mind of a girl growing up is very keen, and the book proves again that writing does not have to be morbid, lurid, or sensational in order to be good. There is a quiet charm about Miss West's writing that brings to mind the books of Trollope and Jane Austen, as well as Dickens. She is an author who has stopped long enough to look at a flower, so that she can describe it to perfection—she has paused amid the preoccupations of living so that she can create an imaginary world.

Greenville F. W. B. Announcements

Those who attended Sunday school at the Greenville Free Will Baptist Church have been very faithful during February. May we make this Sunday the largest and most effective of the Sundays of the month.

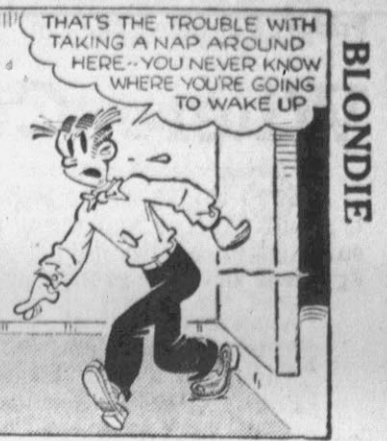

At 11 a.m. worship the choir will sing the anthem "The Holy Spirit" by E. J. Lorenz. The pastor's sermon topic will be "Glad To See The Lord" (John 20:20). There will be a group from the church that will go to the County Home for a service at 3 p.m. The Leagues will meet at 6:30 p.m. under the direction of Mark Case. At the 7:30 p.m. worship the Believers will sing the hymn "May God Depend On You?" Mr. Raymond Gaskins, a licensed minister from Ayden, will bring the message. Mr. Gaskins is an able and consecrated Bible preacher. Rev. Crawford will be the evangelist for a revival at the First Free Will Baptist Church in Tarboro Sunday night through Saturday night, March 2-4.

Monday 7:30 p.m. the Woman's Auxiliary will meet at the church for an important service.

Tuesday evening at 7:30 the Young Girls Chorus will meet for a rehearsal under the direction of Mrs. Lou Nelson.

Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. all evangelism classes will meet in the church auditorium where a special missionary service will be held. Rev. Daniel Merkh will be present for this missionary service for the entire church. Rev. and Mrs. Merkh will leave October 1 for language school in Switzerland, and then on to Africa. Bro. Merkh has a set of colored slides showing the people, conditions and challenge of the Bondovok Circle Area, Ivory Coast, Africa.

Thursday at 7:00 p.m. the Chorus will meet for a rehearsal under the direction of Miss Mattie Lou Harris; the Junior Choir will meet the same hour, directed by Mrs. Pauline Tucker. At 8:00 p.m.

The Senior Choir will meet under the direction of Mr. William Lloyd Saturday, February 23, at 7:30 p.m. Youth for Christ services will be held at Bethany Free Will Baptist Church.

Grace F. W. B. Announcements

A missionary service will be conducted during the regular morning worship period Sunday morning, A young man, Rev. Dan Merkh, will be the speaker of the hour. Rev. Merkh is a graduate of Free Will Baptist Bible College and has been serving as Director of Christian Education of the Edgemont, Free Will Baptist Church in Durham, N. C. Recently he has answered God's call to the Ivory Coast of Africa to open up a new mission. Everyone is extended a cordial invitation to come and enjoy this service with us.

The Sunday School begins at 9:45 with Mr. Jimmie Spain, superintendent, in charge. There are classes for every age group including the nursery.

At 6:30 Sunday evening the Free Will Baptist League meets at the church. All Christians are urged to take part in this training service.

The evangelistic service begins at 7:30. Mr. Howard Whitaker will lead the singing in the absence of the director of music. The pastor, Rev. Rashie Kennedy, will bring the evening message.

On Monday evening at 7:30 the Women's Auxiliary meets at the church for their regular monthly meeting. Each member is urged to be present.

Each member of the church is being asked to take part in the visitation program sponsored by the Sunday School preceding the revival which begins March 3, with Rev. Oliver B. Greene as evangelist.

The midweek prayer service will be conducted Wednesday evening at the church. During this same period the Good News Club meets. At 8:15 the choir meets for rehearsal.

Rites Saturday For Mrs. Pennie Gardner

FOUNTAIN—Mrs. Pennie Gardner, 68, died Thursday morning in Pitt Memorial Hospital in Greenville.

Surviving are one daughter, Mrs. J. R. Hinson of Fountain; two sons, Heber and A. L. Tyson of Fountain; three brothers, J. S. Lilly of Raleigh, Herman of Fountain and Thad Lilly of Baltimore, Md.; and three sisters, Mrs. James Wooten of Raleigh, Mrs. J. L. Jefferson of Rocky Mount.

Funeral services will be held Saturday at 3 p.m. at Otter Creek Free Will Baptist Church. Burial will be in Queen Ann Cemetery in Fountain. Rev. C. D. Hamilton, Rev. L. B. Manning and Rev. W. S. Hart will officiate.

Christian Science Society

How spiritual understanding of God as divine Mind opens the way to greater abilities and opportunities will be brought out at Christian Science services Sunday.

Readings in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Mind" will include the following from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy (123:14): "A knowledge of the Science of being develops the latent abilities and possibilities of man. It extends the atmosphere of thought, giving mortals access to broader and higher realms. It raises the thinker into his native air of insight and perspicacity."
The Golden Text is from Romans (12:2): "Be not conformed to this world; but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect, will of God."

PLANTATION TOURS

GEORGETOWN, B. C.—The annual Plantation Tours here this year will be held March 26, 27 and 28. The plantations on these tours are open to the public at no other time, as they are privately owned.

Where Can They Otherwise Go?

Such things as the Salk vaccine, smallpox vaccine, typhoid vaccine and other preventive medicines to insure better health have the endorsement and encouragement of such groups as:

- American Medical Association,
  - American Academy of Pediatrics,
  - American Public Health Association,
  - Public Health Service, Department of Health, Education and Welfare,
  - North Carolina State Board of Health,
  - Pitt County Medical and Dental Society.
- These safeguards to health are recognized by the public as a whole, not by a few, to be necessary or highly desirable.

These same men and organizations who are dedicated to the cause of better health have also given their stamp of approval to adding, when necessary, fluoride to drinking water as a good health measure. Joined with them in the endorsement of fluoridation are such other prominent groups as:

- American Association of Public Health Dentists,
- American Dental Association,
- Commission on Chronic Illness,
- National Research Council,
- North Carolina Dental Society.

The question before Greenville's City Council is not whether they "believe" in fluoridation, or whether a highly vocal group does not "believe" in fluoridation. The Councilmen are faced with the simple decision of accepting the opinion of the most advanced leadership in the field of health which says fluoridation of municipal water supplies is desirable.

Is any local individual or group which has opposed fluoridation of Greenville's water supply as qualified to speak authoritatively on the subject as the above-named groups?

If in matters of public health the Council is to disregard the advice of doctors, where can they otherwise go for counsel?

A Price Tag Prepared For Simple Pleasures

Is North Carolina to place a dollars and cents price tag on all the simple pleasures of life?

The cane-pole-worm-fishermen of the state who spend countless hours on a creek bank a short distance from home enjoy one of the few remaining pastimes the state hasn't taxed. Now, for the third time, pressure is being brought for the legislature to enact a "worm" bill.

Maybe it will bring the state an extra $240,000 a year. Maybe it will put the worm fishermen on a par with other sportsmen in supporting financially the state's store of fish and game. But is the money involved worth depriving thousands of citizens the one form of recreation they cherish above all others?

Walk along the banks of a creek or river any warm, sunny day, summer or winter. Count the number of people along the banks, leaning against old trees, cane poles propped under roots with lines and corks swaying in the gentle current. Here and there a fish, perhaps. But mostly they are passing the hours just fishing and meditating—not catching—until long afternoon shadows herald the approach of night.

Worm fishing is a part of the Tar Heel heritage passed down from generation to generation which the state has no right to take away from the people.

Raise the license fee on hunting if necessary. Raise the license fee for fishing with fancy rods, reels and mechanical baits, if more funds must be had to preserve the state's store of wildlife.

But put a tax on the incomparable pastime of worm fishing?

Never!

General Need For Industries

By LYNN NISBET

MORALE — Charles H. Jenkins, business and civic leader operating in a dozen northeastern counties, was among the 500 or more persons attending the Industrial Development Conference in Raleigh this week. As a member of the commerce and industry committee of the Board of Conservation and Development he was one of the sponsors of the conference.

His primary interest was in the development of industry in his own area. He is concerned almost as much about the probable psychological effect on the morale of the people as about the economic impact of the tobacco acreage reduction. Hundreds of people in his area, he said, who are willing to work cannot find jobs either on or off the farms.

It does no good to remind the farm owners and workers and other business men that they should have known a condition like this was inevitable, and should have prepared for it. The fact is they did not, and the plight of some people is almost desperate.

Plans for an area development program and strenuous efforts by individual communities to attract industrial payrolls may not be effectuated in time to relieve the immediate economic problem. But they are helping to boost morale by holding out hope for better conditions later.

The presence of more than 500 people, when a maximum of 400 had been expected at the statewide conference, coming from the Outer Banks and the Georgia and Tennessee borders and all points between, proves that the desire for industrial development is not limited to any part of the state. It prevails all over. There may be this slight difference: In the East industrial payrolls are necessary for survival; in other sections additional payrolls are desirable for higher standards of living.

ORANGE LIGHT — Among the happiest people seen around Capitol Square this week are those from the mid-eastern part of the state, especially between Morehead City and Goldsboro. Those same folks were mighty blue last week when the report of a port survey made by a Yankee engineering firm, seemed to relegate the Morehead City port to secondary or tertiary status and recommended extensive development of the Wilmington port. The blue weekend was followed by a report that the port survey was in error and that the Morehead City port was to be developed.

Rep. Bowman said it is interesting to drive slowly along the swamp road and watch the deer and bears, which had never seen a highway or an automobile, stare at the passing traffic.

Strength For Today

By EARL L. DOUGLASS

BE CAREFUL—OR PERISH

What will it be like a hundred years from now? Would you like to live on and see, or perhaps come back? Our eyes would probably pop, as would the eyes of our eighteenth-century ancestors, if they could peep into today.

Certainly in these latter days, realization has always surpassed anticipation. Seventy years ago a well-known physicist made the prediction that electricity might some day be used to light houses. Fifty years ago in a Paris restaurant, a waiter pointed to Count Zeppelin and whispered to a diner: "Look at him! That crazy man wants to fly."

Electric lights were installed in the White House shortly after the turn of the century. The phonograph was invented in 1877, motion pictures in 1893, radio in 1895. In 1926 appeared the first motion picture with spoken dialogue. In 1939 penicillin was discovered. In 1934 Enrico Fermi smashed the atom with slow neutrons. In 1945 the atom bomb was completed and used.

Where are we headed for? Probably this spurt of scientific invention will die down a fast, as did the genius for painting and musical composition. But we will have established a mighty empire before that takes place. Let us learn how to control it, else we perish.

It's Still Not Clear

Hurry-Up Call To Serve

Brooks Beddingfield, who operates Beddingfield's Pharmacy, found himself a man with a cause rather suddenly Tuesday night.

Beddingfield attended a Jaycee Board of Directors meeting that afternoon which lasted until midnight. Then he went home to sleep only to find a telephone call waiting.

He was being nominated as president of Greenville's Clean Up-Paint Up council, he was told, and the election was to be held that night at 7:30. That meant Beddingfield had only about 30 minutes to rush to the meeting. He arrived a few minutes late and within a few minutes after he arrived he had been nominated as president and elected to that position.

Before the evening was over Beddingfield took over the meeting from Mrs. J. H. B. Moore, Garden Club president who presided over the organizational meeting.

"I was in the dark," Beddingfield said of the quick election afterwards.

However he rolled up his sleeves and began the big job of organizing the Clean Up-Paint Up campaign. Committee chairmen are now being named, he said, and they and the committee members they choose will be named at the next meeting of the group which is to be held next week.

The Clean Up-Paint Up movement was spearheaded by the Greenville Garden Club which called last Tuesday's meeting. However, with the formation of a council to head the planned clean up of the city, all civic organizations are expected to take part. Plans are to conduct the Clean Up-Paint Up campaign sometime during April. City Councilmen have already voiced their approval of the project and they have backed up that approval with a $150 appropriation to be used for advertising the clean up campaign.

Politics is warming up locally and rumors are beginning to make the rounds as to who will be seeking positions on the City Council in the May election. So far none of the five present councilmen have announced their plans for the coming election.

Those considering entering or remaining in politics still have some time before they have to make a final decision. The deadline for filing will be April 6.

Other Editors Saying--Termite Of Civilization

(Wilson Times)

The dangers of inflation are being taken directly to the people. And if it is stopped it will be by the people. For only through a constitutional amendment can the Byrd, Bridgers amendment become law.

Inflation and what it is stealing from the people, daily, was presented to the public in concentrated form Sunday over TV station WNCN at 2 p. m. It was a public service presentation, in the full meaning of this overworked expression.

For inflation is the greatest danger this country faces today, greater than communism. When inflation is allowed to go unchecked it is curbed through dictatorships. This was proven in Germany and in China.

And the greatest offender is the federal government. The present budget submitted to Congress, by President Eisenhower is the largest peace time budget in the history of this nation. The president calls for curbs on inflation, even hinting that it may be necessary to step in with controls.

But controls are not the answer. The answer is to be found in the budget, next to defense, is interest the government is paying on the 275 billion national debt. This debt is larger than the combined debts of all the other nations of the world.

You hear it said that we owe it to ourselves. And we do. But this debt has shrunk the value of your life's saving to half what they would be if inflation had not devalued the dollar 50 percent.

The example of the amount of the national debt given in the program was startling to say the least. For if you could visualize a stack of 1000 dollar bills, 40 miles high, higher than any airplane can reach, you would have the national debt.

Senator Harry Byrd and Senator Styles Bridgers are sponsoring a bill in Congress that would make it mandatory to balance the budget every year, unless an emergency existed. And war is considered a national emergency. This is little to ask of any people. Why should the budget be balanced each year, under normal conditions? You cannot live without balancing your budget and government is you.

The national debt has steadily increased for the last 25 years. In other countries that have followed the inflation policy, or printing more money to retire bonds, disaster was the end result. And to stop inflation dictatorship had to be established. At least that was what happened.

Now if the public responds, and becomes conscious of the great danger at hand today, it will take a minimum of four years to get the constitutional amendment should not be necessary. But it is. For Congress will not act.

In time of war or peace the budget goes up. For every person figures that he is giving a little more than he is getting. But if you ever want a reduction in taxes, inflation must be curbed.

So the grass roots movement is a good one. The people must become aroused. Then Congress will act. And if you sit down and figure out what inflation has already done to your savings, what it is doing to pension plans, to your life insurance and to the very foundation of democracy, you will insist that federal spending be curbed.

As the program says inflation is the thief that has never been caught. Worse than no effort is being made to catch him. For the federal government is the worst offender.

Israeli Dream Port

By ROBERT TUCKMAN
TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — Hanch Nenner, the energetic mayor of Eilat, usually starts off the day asking his secretary, "What's the population today?" His town is growing so fast he can't keep up with it.

Since November, when Israel forces broke an 8-year Egyptian blockade of the Gulf of Aqaba, the tiny port has doubled its population of 850 and soon is expected to reach 2,000.

By any comparison it still is tiny. But Israel is making big plans and pinning high hopes on Eilat's future. Israelis envision it as a great shipping and commercial gateway to east Africa and Asia. They see it also as major terminal of a projected overland route across Israel that would be at least a partial alternative to the Suez Canal.

Eilat lies at the head of the Gulf of Aqaba on the southernmost tip of Israel. It is Israel's only access to the deep-water gulf which flows into the Red Sea 100 miles to the south. Israel owns only a six-mile stretch of shoreline around Eilat. Along the rest of the shoreline are Jordan and Saudi Arabia on the east and Egypt on the west.

For Israelis, Eilat's future depends on free navigation of the Gulf of Aqaba for their ships and the vessels of other nations.

For that reason, the Israelis are desperately determined to "keep open their newly won 'Gateway to the East' with its potentially rich trade with east Africa and Asia.

And for the same reason Israel, for the time being at least, is defying the United Nations by refusing to withdraw from the southern tip of Egypt's Sinai Peninsula which commands the narrow strait between the Red Sea and the Gulf of Aqaba.

To protect its access, Israel set up a naval command at Eilat soon after the November Sinai campaign. She sent two navy frigates from Haifa on the Mediterranean around the Cape of Good Hope to take up their station at Eilat and at the same time sent overland by truck several torpedo boats and landing craft which now are in Eilat harbor.

Last week the Interior Ministry established the port of Eilat and Eilat airfield as official frontier posts for entry and exit from Israel. In recent weeks eight merchant vessels have docked at Eilat, which before November was almost completely idle.

The present port facility consists of one concrete jetty, built several years ago, capable of handling ships up to 4,000 tons. The development program calls for improving the jetty to provide berthing space for three vessels at the same time up to 10,000 tons in size and dockside equipment for the mechanical loading and discharge of bulk cargo such as grain, phosphates and potash.

The closing of the Suez Canal and the simultaneous opening of Israeli shipping of the Gulf of Aqaba accentuated Eilat's potential importance as an alternative to the canal and the route around the Cape of Good Hope as well as an outlet for Israel's products and a possible new route for the supply of oil in Western Europe.

The new Negev pipeline which starts at Eilat and runs to Beer-sheva in central Israel is nearing completion. This is an eight-inch pipeline intended to carry oil for Israel's own needs. It will carry 800,000 tons annually, or about half Israel's annual consumption.

A proposed larger pipeline from Eilat to Haifa or another outlet on Israel's Mediterranean coast is shaping up as an alternative to Suez as a means of supplying some Mideast oil to Western Europe.

This project already is in the blueprint stage and negotiations are under way for French financing. It is planned as a 32-inch pipeline capable of carrying 20 to 25 million tons of oil annually and is expected to take two years to build.

Council in the May election. So far none of the five present councilmen have announced their plans for the coming election.

'Hair Curlers' Irked By Recent Jibes

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — The depression "hair curlers" at Washington have become provoked and alarmed over growing conservative criticism of the "swollen Eisenhower budget" and jibes that the Administration has "gone New Dealish." They murmur, although privately, that the friendly but suspicious critics are biting the hand that made them prosperous and freed them from Democratic competition, controls and crackdowns.

Although Secretary Humphrey now regrets his "hair curling" remark, and seeks to make amends by restoring public confidence, the current efforts to repair the damage are being made by lower-level but responsible economists. They are holding secret seminars all over the Capitol with businessmen and newspapermen.

Their alarm derives from the recent display of Wall Street jitters, where blue chip stocks dropped sharply after expressions of concern by Humphrey and Herbert Hoover. Officialdom has also been shaken by the prospect that its fears may be reflected in cutbacks in industrial expansion plans, curtailment of purchasing power and general stagnation.

WASHINGTON'S WAILING RESENTED Ironically, it is F.D.R.'s "economic royalists" who resent Washington's wailing most bitterly, even as they condemn the Administration for so-called "extravagance" and for expanding Roosevelt-Truman services and reforms. In recent statements, such Republican institutions as the United States Chamber of Commerce and the National Association of Manufacturers have indulged in this kind of criticism.

But the most devastating indictment came from a business and financial magazine edited by a former Eisenhower economic adviser and a man once mentioned as a possible Cabinet member. It scoffed at talk of a "depression," and taunted Ike, Humphrey, Hoover and Weeks for their contradictory comments on the current and future state of the country's economy.

It concluded with the biting remark to the effect that "too many jawbones are rattling" at Washington for the nation's good. In view of the source of this criticism, this is "politico-economic heresy."

SOOTHING ANALYSES OF BUDGET Here are a few of the belated and second-thought soothing analyses of the $71.8-billion budget and the Administration's trends now being distributed by official spokesmen who must be nameless.

Although the budget is the highest in peacetime annals, it is balanced, and inflation rarely occurs under such conditions. The Government expects to spend less than it receives in revenue. Gross national income has risen by 12.5 per cent. Federal spending by only 11 per cent in two years.

Population has increased by 11,000,000 in two years, with no sign of a letdown. The labor force has grown by almost 4,000,000 with constantly increasing wages and savings, and with a minimum of unemployment. Although Ike has reduced the number of employees, the cost has been boosted by salary increases granted by Congress.

HEAVIER DEMAND FOR PUBLIC SERVICES Although the demand for public services has become heavier, they were, of necessity, neglected during World War II and the Korean conflict — roads, schools, hospitals, research of all kinds. The expanding population and changing social and economic conditions, according to this viewpoint, require greater and more expensive government efforts to ameliorate the new strains and burdens on its citizens.

The Communist menace and our major Allies' military inadequacies get the principal blame for peak expenditures. Push-but-not-warfare and weapons grow more costly day by day. National accounts for more than 60 per cent of the budget. Paying for past wars alone — there are 22,000,000 living veterans — exceeds the total of Hoover's budget, as does the interest on the national debt. Both are about $7 billion.

IKE FROWNS at "NEW DEALER" CHARGE Ike resents especially the charge that he has become a "New Dealer." He insists at every opportunity that he hates and repudiates that philosophy, with its excess of Federal regulation, centralization, controls, one-sided dictation over labor and management, stirring class against class for partisan purposes.

But he will, under the banner of "modern Republicanism" commit the government to Abraham Lincoln's broad policy — namely, to do for the people's welfare what they cannot do for themselves.

Signs of the Times

When Jesus was told that John the Baptist was dead, He took ship to a desert place. Multitudes followed Him and He healed the sick. When evening came all were hungry, but Christ fed them all with five loaves of bread and two fishes.

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Scripture—14:1—16:12.

By Alfred J. Buescher

The disciples took a ship, but Jesus went into a mountain to pray. A heavy storm arose and tossed the ship about. When Jesus came to the shore He walked on the water to the ship. When He came aboard the water quieted.

The scribes and Pharisees found fault with Jesus' disciples because they did not observe the Jewish law. Jesus called them hypocrites, saying, "This people draweth unto Me (God) with their mouth and lips, but their heart is far from Me."

The Pharisees and Sadducees came to Jesus asking for a sign from heaven. Jesus said to them: "O ye hypocrites, ye can discern the face of the sky, but ye can not discern the signs of the times?" MEMORY VERSE—Matthew 16:2

Signs of the Times

CHRIST PERFORMS FOUR MIRACLES AND REPROVES HYPOCRITES

Scripture—Matthew 14:1—16:12.

BY NEWMAN CAMPBELL

OUR LESSON begins by telling how Herod had heard of the fame of Jesus, and was frightened because he thought the murdered John the Baptist had come back to haunt him. Herod had been afraid to slay John because he knew that he had many disciples who thought he was a prophet.

John had rebuked Herod for putting away his own lawful wife and living with Herodias, his brother's wife. He had arrested John and kept him in prison.

However, Herodias' daughter danced before him on his birthday, and in a mad moment he had promised her that he would give her anything she asked for. Her vindictive mother told her to ask for the head of John, and although Herod was sorry (and afraid) to kill John, he felt he could not go back on his promise made before his court. So John the Baptist, last of the great prophets of Israel, was beheaded.

If the Man of whom Herod had heard was indeed the ghost of John come to haunt him he knew he would die for his wickedness.

When Jesus heard of John's death he entered a ship and went to a desert spot. He had no time to mourn in solitude, however, for multitudes of people followed Him on foot, and He healed their sick. As it grew late in the day water, Jesus said, "Come," and Peter started, but lost faith in his ability and would have sunk but Jesus caught him, chiding, "O thou of little faith, wherefore didst thou doubt?"

The wind ceased when Jesus entered the ship, and the disciples worshipped Him, saying, "Of a truth Thou art the Son of God."

After all the miracles He had wrought, and all His teaching, these men who had been His constant companions, at last were convinced that He was indeed the Son of God!

His rebuke to the scribes and Pharisees who complained that the disciples did not obey the Jewish ritual of ceremoniously washing their hands before eating, is a lesson to all of us who profess the faith. These same men who were so punctilious about washing of hands, refused to care for their aged parents, as God commanded them, claiming that the money belonged to God.

"Ye hypocrites, well did Isaiah prophesy of you, saying, This people draweth nigh unto Me with their mouth, and honoreth Me with their lips, but their heart is far from Me." And Christ added: "Not that which goeth into the mouth defileth a man; but that which cometh out of the mouth."

We must mention briefly the woman of Canaan who begged Christ to heal her daughter who was vexed with a devil. At first Jesus did not answer her and the disciples called to Him to send her away, but, as she pleaded and showed her faith, He relented and healed the daughter. On another occasion, in the wilderness, Jesus fed a multitude whose sick He had healed, with seven loaves and a few little fishes after a three days' fast.

Pharisees and Sadducees asked Jesus for a sign from heaven, and He rebuked them by telling them that they could tell the morrow's weather by looking at the sky, knowing that if the sky was red in the evening, it was likely to be fair on the morrow; but a red sky in the morning usually predicted bad weather, but they could not recognize the signs of the times.

They were wealthy and educated men, but they could not realize that toward which their country was drifting—that in 40 years their city would be in ruins and Israel would be scattered to the far corners of the earth for years and years.

Are we more wise today? Men are dying for freedom from Godless domination, as Christ died for all of us. O, let us teach our children and young people to practice brotherhood and the Risen Christ, and have faith in Him that justice and freedom shall eventually prevail.

Kinston And Greenville Meet In NEAC Play Tonight

Kinston and Greenville, the defending Northeastern Conference co-champions, battle tonight in the second round of the league's tournament, and Washington and New Bern will also be on the card.

The Washington-New Bern contest is slated to begin at 7:30. The Kinston - Greenville match will start at 9:00.

It will be the first appearance in tournament play for the Red Devils. Ranked first in the conference by virtue of a 12-0 regular-season record, they received a bye for last night's first round play.

First Round Action

In the first round play last night, all the favored teams were out, but not without a fight. New Bern toppled Roanoke Rapids in the opening game, 57-45, without much of a real struggle. Greenville's favored Phantoms had to come from behind to defeat Elizabeth City, 62-58, in the second tilt of the night. Washington, after trailing Jacksonville throughout most of the game, finally awoke to eke out a narrow 61-50 advantage to round out the night's play.

The three games gave local fans and visitors a good look at Northeastern Conference brands of ball, including fast break and possession, and also produced several outstanding individual stars.

Following are brief re-caps of the contests last night:

New Bern - Roanoke Rapids

New Bern's Bears opened the first game with a quick lead over Roanoke Rapids and maintained it throughout the contest. Playing a fast-moving style of ball, sparked by guards Robert Gillikin and Jon Burwell, Coach Hockaday's Bears ran up an opening 8-2 lead and stayed ahead by about seven or eight points throughout.

Individual stars for the winners were the two afore mentioned guards, Gene Worthington, who netted 14 points, and Dick Quick, who added 16.

In the final quarter, after taking a 28-17 halftime advantage, New Bern broke away to amass a total of 21 big points. That final assault broke the back of the Yellow Jackets and secured the most lopsided score of the night, 57-45, for New Bern.

Greenville - Elizabeth City

The second game of the night was perhaps the closest affair of the first round. Elizabeth City moved to a rapid 4-0 lead and then progressed to 17-6 over the favored Phantoms. With Pete Fearing and Melvin Hooker pacing them, EC then made it 20-13.

Greenville's Dick Evans and his mates then started hitting in the second period. By halftime, it was tied 27-27.

The Yellow Jackets forged back ahead in the third quarter, 49-43 and went into the final period with a slight lead. Evans, Peanut Nunn and Steve Noble then began to hit for the locals and the Phantoms took over the lead with only four minutes remaining. It ended 62-58.

Washington - Jacksonville

Washington, the number two team in the loop, rated to defeat Jacksonville easily, around their hands full with the Cards in the final tilt of the evening.

The Cardinals fashioned an early

6-2 lead and held on to it throughout most of the first period. The second period was nip-and-tuck, with both teams taking frequent one-point leads, then losing them.

In the final period, Washington's Ward Marslander and Jim Silverthorne began clicking for the Pam Pack and soon pushed their cluo ahead by a good margin. They finally won out, 61-50, when a fast-break spree broke the game open.

Saxton Says He Will Revert To Old Boxing Style

CLEVELAND (AP)—Welterweight champion Carmen Basilio's slugging edge makes him a strong favorite to solve Johnny Saxton's hit-and-run style in their third title fight tonight.

Assured by Basilio that his once-damaged right has completely healed, most boxing men are picking the 29-year-old left hooker from Canastota, N.Y., Saxton is a 13-5 underdog.

Saxton says he will revert to his old boxing style that earned him a questionable but unanimous decision at Chicago last March 14. When he tried to stand and slug with Basilio in their Sept. 12 rematch at Syracuse, N.Y., he was cut up and stopped in nine rounds.

"I'm going to box him this time," said Saxton after he completed training. "If they want to box, let them. I've got to think about Johnny Saxton."

Basilio said it won't make any difference what Saxton does because he will be ready for anything. He insists he is in the best condition of his 68-bout career.

The fighters will cut into the $60,000 radio-TV fee and also will share the estimated $100,000 gate receipts with 30 per cent going to each man. Each could get about $43,000.

Neither boxer has been in action since their September brawl although they have been training hard.

Basilio owns a 49-12-7 record in a career dating back to 1948. He has knocked out 23 men and never was stopped. Saxton's record is 53-5-2 for 60 starts with 21 knockouts.

NBC will broadcast and telecast at 10 p.m. EST.

Greenville Wrestler Moves Up Into Semi-Finals Of State Championships

BURLINGTON—Louis Arthur of Greenville has moved into the semi-finals of the North Carolina High School Wrestling Championships, being held here.

Arthur decidedon Maretz of Appalachian High School in the opening round of the 103-pound division yesterday. Judges gave Arthur the match by a 4-1 score. The Greenville wrestler will compete in a semi-final match this afternoon.

Three other Greenville wrestlers were eliminated in opening rounds yesterday. Pete Taylor was bounced from the 120-pound class after being decided by Johnson of Asheboro. Jesse Powell was dropped from the 127-pound competition by Levy of Greensboro and Charles Roberts of Greenville went out of the 138-pound class after a fall in 1:30 of the third period. Roberts was eliminated by Critcher of Appalachian.

Twelve high schools are competing in the championship rounds. Asheboro went into the semi-finals with high team total of 15 points, two better than runner-up Goldsboro's 13. Greenville is tied for tenth place with one point, a total also held by Cramerton and Boyden of Salisbury.

High Point, which is tied for fourth place with ten points, is coached by a former East Carolina Tech 59

O'Malley Betting On Los Angeles

VERO BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Los Angeles will have major league baseball "no later than 1960," so says Brooklyn Dodger President Walter F. O'Malley, one of baseball's better poker players currently dueling with the New York civic officialdom.

The pot: a new stadium in Flatbush for the National League champions.

O'Malley predicted big league ball — not necessarily Dodger variety — for Los Angeles after yesterday's announcement of Brooklyn's purchase from the Chicago Cubs of the Los Angeles ball park and franchise in the Pacific Coast League.

O'Malley said the Dodgers presently plan to operate the Los Angeles team in the PCL. But he indicated again that the Dodgers may move out of Brooklyn.

"The Dodgers will play in a new park in 1960," he said, adding, "If not Brooklyn, then somewhere else."

New Gambling Scandal Said Brewing In Iowa

By TED MEIER
The Associated Press

Is a new gambling scandal brewing in college basketball? The Des Moines (Iowa) Register said last night that a referee was suspected of helping put over betting coups.

The official was not named, neither were the games he worked, but the story vividly recalled the gambling revelations that rocked the sport in 1951 and earlier in 1945. Then players on many top teams, notably CCNY's 1950 national collegiate and NIT champions, were involved.

While it has been generally recognized that betting on college games has increased the last several years, no players were reported involved in a betting coup the Register said occurred last week.

The Register said that Minneapolis gamblers were suspicious of the unnamed official because "they suspect him of assisting in betting coups by using his whistle to control the point spread—the number of points by which a game is decided. A sudden last minute spurge of betting on a game last week was mentioned—a spurge in which the bettors are said to have made a killing."

At least two Iowa schools received telephone calls recently from Minneapolis, the Register said, asking whether the official was scheduled to work a game.

Six Minneapolis men recently were indicted by a federal grand jury in Minneapolis after an investigation of an alleged Midwest gambling syndicate.

Some 35 players from not only CCNY, but Long Island University, New York University, Manhattan, Bradley, Toledo and Kentucky were involved in the 1951 revelation of fixed games.

Back in January, 1945, five members of the Brooklyn College team disclosed they had accepted a bribe to throw a game with Akron in Boston. The disclosures came the day before the game and it was immediately cancelled.

Buc Baseball Slated To Open On Mar. 22

The 1957 baseball schedule of East Carolina College, opening March 22, includes games with an Atlantic Coast Conference team, one Southern Conference team, a non-conference opponent, and most of the North State Conference teams.

The baseball card was announced today by Dr. N. M. Jorgensen, ECC athletic director.

Coach Jim Mallory's North State Conference champions of 1955 and 1956 are setting another championship for the loop as their objective this Spring. Call for candidates for the team was made several days ago.

The baseball Pirates open the 1957 season with Virginia Polytechnic Institute in Greenville, playing this Southern Conference club on March 22 and 23. North Carolina State, of the Atlantic Coast Conference, plays the Pirates in Greenville on May 3.

The University of Delaware plays a two-day stand in Greenville on March 25 and 26. The first North State Conference date is with Atlantic Christian College, also in Greenville, on Friday, April 5.

The full schedule for the baseball season:

March 22 and 23, VPI, home; March 25 and 26, Delaware, home; April 5, ACC, home; April 6, Elon College, Elon; April 8 and 9, Western Carolina, Cullowhee; April 10, High Point, High Point; April 15 and 16, Appalachian, home; April 20, Guilford College, Guilford; April 22, Catawba, Salisbury; April 24, ACC, Wilson; April 26, High Point, home; May 3, N. C. State, home; May 4, Catawba, home; May 10, Elon, home; May 11, Guilford, home.

Pirates Playing ACC Saturday

East Carolina's Pirates round out their 1956-57 basketball season Saturday night against Atlantic Christian, at the Armory in Rocky Mount.

The game will be a North State Conference affair and the Bucs will be trying to improve a 6-9 loop record.

In an earlier meeting between the two clubs, ACC whipped Coach Howard Porter's crew on the ECC home court floor, 76-67. Guard Billy Widgeon was high scorer for the Bulldogs with 29 points. John Marley, 7-foot center, added 21 and Jack Underwood contributed 14. Top scorers for ECC in that game were Nick Nichols, Charlie Adams and Joe Plaster.

Expected to start for ECC Saturday night will be Adams and Guy Mendenhall at guards, Nichols and Don Harris at forwards, and Plaster at center.

Game time will be at 8:00.

Two Newcomers On ECC 1957 Football Schedule

The 1957 football schedule of East Carolina College, released today by Dr. N. M. Jorgensen, director of athletics, includes Davidson College and Presbyterian College of South Carolina, two newcomers to the schedule.

The gridiron schedule includes two Southern Conference teams, Davidson and the University of Richmond.

The Bucs open the season with the University of Richmond in Portsmouth, Va., Saturday, Sept. 14, playing for the first time in the home town of Head Football Coach Jack Boone.

Davidson's first appearance in College Stadium will be the first home game for Pirate fans. Bill Dole, football boss at Davidson,

Aragon's Boxing Future In Doubt

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Ring officials say Art Aragon's boxing future is "very doubtful" following his conviction on a felony fighting charge.

The 29-year-old "Golden Boy" was found guilty yesterday of offering another Los Angeles welterweight, Dick Goldstein, $500 to throw a fight scheduled for Dec. 18 at San Antonio, Tex.

The California Athletic Commission said Aragon's 1957 boxing license would not be issued.

Aragon, third-ranking welterweight at the time of his arrest, stared blankly when the verdict was read aloud in the packed courtroom.

Change In Hollywood Seen By A Returnee

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD — Has Hollywood changed? Listen to Oscar Homolka if you don't think so. The distinguished character actor is back in the movie town for his first stay in almost 10 years. "I would hardly recognize the place," he commented.

the studio people decided it wasn't big enough, and they got me a bigger place. "They had a press reception for me with 500 people. And I got the same treatment when I went to Hollywood. It was fabulous." That sort of lavishness is gone today, he observed, along with some other things. "Hollywood lacks the stars that it had in those days," he sighed. "I mean the fabulous stars of the Garbo era. Today there is no mystery, no excitement about the stars. There is too much emphasis on domesticity. "Take the example of the Lucille Ball baby. When she had it, the whole world was in on it. Where is the glamor?" Gone, he added, are the parties of yesteryear — the fun affairs where stars could kick off their shoes and enjoy themselves. "Nowadays there seem to be big parties or none at all," he said. "And none of the guests seem to enjoy themselves. They are too busy looking around to see who is there." He remarked that there appeared to be a new kind of Hollywoodian these days, the arty type that used to hang around Greenwich Village. Homolka is here to do a couple of Matinee Theater shows on NBC — an Ibsen and a Tennessee Williams.

Budapest is the largest city in Hungary and is situated on both banks of the Danube River, Buda on one side and Pest on the other.

Dignitaries At Ladies Night Banquet

"In order for one to get the most out of life, he must learn to live where he is and to live with what he has," stated Rev. L. C. Varen, guest speaker at the annual Ladies Night banquet staged by the Ayden Improved Order of Red Men.

The Farmville Methodist minister spoke to the more than 100 men and women present on the subject of "Knowing How To Live." The meeting was held in the Ayden Community Building.

The ladies were given corsages and the men Valentine boutonnieres upon arrival to commence the banquet. All guests were welcomed by the Master of Ceremonies, Gene McLawhorn, with the response being given by Mrs. Ruth Dall. Following the invocation delivered by the Rev. Varen, a delicious chicken barbecue dinner was served to the Redmen and their guests.

Price On Head Of Any Bomber

MOBILE, Ala. — The city commission has taken another step to try to prevent further racial incidents.

It offered a $500 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of persons responsible for bombings or cross burnings on private property.

An ordinance was recently adopted specifically outlawing cross burnings. The bombing of occupied dwellings is punishable by death under state law.

Urges Women In Texas Militia

AUSTIN, Tex. — A bill has been introduced in the state legislature to allow women in the Texas militia.

The sponsor, Rep. Bill Hallowell, said the effect of the measure will be to allow female nurses and other authorized female personnel between 18 and 41 to enlist in the Texas National Guard. Passage of this bill would mean they could be enlisted, commissioned and promoted by the governor just like other national guardsmen.

IZABETH SEIFERT'S NEW NOVEL
Call for Doctor Barton
 by Elizabeth Seifert. Reprinted by permission of the publisher, Dodd, Mead & Co. Distributed by King Features Syndicate.

CHAPTER 24
 "No use getting everyone excited," said Grady Barton. "They could be honeymooners. But I noticed when I got out Julia's bags that her things were marked with different initials from his."
 "That was enough for Mo Chronister. In rising panic, he was on his feet. "Got to stop those pictures," he said in a choked voice as he ran out of the dining room. Within five minutes he came back, even more wild-eyed than when he left. "Papers wouldn't listen to me," he told Grady excitedly. "Actually laughed when I reminded 'em I was prosecuting attorney."
 "I suppose news is news," said Grady quietly.
 "Yeah, but 'is kind . . . What we going' to do, Doc? We'll be the laughing stock of the county."
 "I don't see that we can do anything," Grady began.
 "Well, I sure will try!" Mo went to the head table and asked Reynolds and Julia if they would please step into the lobby for a minute. Thinking this part of the stunt they agreed, Julia taking her coffee cup with her and laughing as she walked the length of the long room.
 With the door firmly closed upon them, Mo turned to face the assembled Lions and Lionesses. Before this, Grady Barton had noticed that Mo Chronister's face could look much the same whether he laughed with humor or grinned with malicious intent. In both cases, his lips drew back from his strong white teeth, his cheeks were furrowed deeply with lines which bracketed that smiling mouth and his blue eyes shone.
 "Gentlemen," he said solemnly, "we're in trouble."
 A stir of interest, and questioning concern, rippled around the room.
 Mo nodded portentously. "Just luck we didn't run into trouble the two years before when you pulled this trick. Tonight, look like we've had it. And I just hope that we can hush the thing up, get those two out of town without . . . Why, a little precaution, Barton, like getting the patrol to check would have avoided all this embarrassment!" Grady sat quietly, his face immobile, his fingers turning the stem of his water glass.

 "What's happened?" asked a dozen voices at once. "What's wrong?"
 Mo undertook to answer. "You got any proof those two are man and wife? You got any proof the name's even Reynolds? I tell you, the committee should've been more careful. Yes, and the president should've appointed his committees more carefully. Crazy business, just bringin' anyone in here, without some kind of check."
 "Tourist court romances—could be criminals on the lam for all we know—certainly this couple isn't what we'd like to think they are, and I move here and now that Dr. Barton go out and tell 'em we made a mistake—tell 'em anything, just so we get rid of 'em."
 Grady stood up, but it was Norvell Lee who said, "You tell 'em, Mo. You were the one to take the Reynolds over from the patrol; you accepted them, you made them welcome. Yes, and you introduced them to the president as the chosen guests."
 He turned to that president. "Am I right?"
 He was right. The club knew Mo. The club was unanimous in thinking that he should be the one to straighten out this matter.
 As all this developed, Grady had been dropping short comments into Fred's ear. Now he said, "A simple question would do it."
 She laughed and pressed his arm.
 Well . . . Mo finally agreed, he guessed he could go out and . . . "Bring them in here," called Norvell Lee. "When you get through with them, we probably will owe them some sort of an apology."
 So a somewhat puzzled Julia and Fred were admitted to the dining room, and a red-faced, angry-seeming Mo Chronister made a clumsy attempt at an explanation and apology for the Lions Club. He had, he said, no wish to embarrass Julia and Fred—if the whole thing rested on him, as a private individual, he's let 'em stay and be entertained, whatever their status.
 But after all they were a national organization with a reputation to uphold. The whole trouble began with the committee, he said, their plans had not been well made, and they'd managed to foul the whole thing up. Of course the element of surprise was important, but they should have asked for some sort of identification. They hadn't, and now well, he only hoped the Reynolds understood? And no offense?
 Fred Reynolds looked more and more bewildered.
 "As well he might," murmured Grady to Julia when she noted this.
 It was Julia who took over their reply, stepping forward, one hand tugging at her earring, the other reaching back for Fred's hand. "I don't completely understand what your trouble is, Mr. Chronister," she said with dignity. "It's pretty clear though that there's been some mistake about choosing us, and of course we're sorry. We liked getting into this party because, you see, we had only this weekend for our honeymoon, and we don't have any money. We were trying to keep where we were a secret, but we couldn't go far enough to be safe."
 "You see, Fred is a university professor—associate—and I'm a student. A senior. And the student body—well, we tried to keep our trip a secret from their idea of a joke. It began to look as if your stunt were going to give us a memorable honeymoon, but—well whatever it is, we're sorry about as if a mistake there has been."
 She released Fred's hand, and unpinned the orchid, regretfully held it toward the stunned and befuddled Mo.
 His lips moved, but no sound came. June and Grady, Norvell and Ruth and Virginia smiled, and then began to laugh.

 Finally Mo's voice came, through in a strange squeak. "You're married?"
 "Of course we're married!" shouted Fred, beginning not to like all this horseplay. "At nine o'clock this morning. And in a church!"
 "That's what you wanted, wasn't it?" asked Julia sweetly. "A married couple?"
 "Yes," agreed the dazed Mo Chronister. "Guess you're everything we wanted. Only I still might find a whipping boy if he flashed around on Grady. "Doc, you told me . . ."
 His words were lost in a mighty roar of laughter. The whole club was laughing, loudly, boomerily, continuously. Doc had framed Mo, and good! This was going to be a very big evening.
 It was, too.
 With Julia telling how careful they had been not to look like new-lweds, "We stopped at the first filling station and I changed out of my pretty suit, sacrificed my flowers . . ."
 But big evening though it was, and one long to be remembered, Mo was not soon going to forgive the man responsible for all this laughter at his expense. Grady knew that he'd done nothing to assure Mo's friendliness. The man was not the sort to accept this sort of beating.
 Tomorrow: Chronister becomes an ally of Grady's No. 1 enemy. Read Chapter 25 in this newspaper.

DURHAM — Duke University Hospital will be the site for a meeting of state occupational therapists February 23.
 Plans and final arrangements for the meeting have been formulated by therapists from Duke Hospital and the Veterans Administration Hospital in Durham.
 Purpose of the meeting is to exchange ideas in the field of occupational therapy and to discuss possible formation of a state organization.
 All practicing therapists of North Carolina are invited to attend. Meeting time is 1:00 p.m. at Duke Hospital.

DISCLOSE RECORD Business Volume

Occidental Life Insurance Company of North Carolina sold the largest volume of new business in its 50-year history last year, according to a report by C.D. Tunstall, general agent for the company.
 The report followed an annual stockholder meeting at Raleigh last week. Stockholders were informed that company assets had increased by 3 million dollars during the year and policyholder reserves by 2.5 million dollars.
 Tunstall, of Greenville, said Occidental plans a program of continued expansion in its present territories during the coming year.
 Growth is expensive. California's state government expenditures increased from 300 million to $1,800,000,000 since 1941.

Over Ninety Entries For Annual Masonic Banquet Monday

Ninety-one students from nine North and South Carolina high schools have entered the Greenville Lions Club's Twelfth Annual Speech Contest which will be held tomorrow at Greenville High School.

High schools entering teams in the tournament include those in the Kinston, Grimesland, Ayden, Chidoc, Durham, Raleigh, Roxboro, Lancaster, S. C., and the host Greenville school. Roxboro, with 17 entries, has the largest team entered with Raleigh next with 13. Lancaster will send 12 students to the contest, Greenville, Durham, Kinston and Ayden will have ten entries each.

Activity in the contest will begin tonight at 7 o'clock with a two-hour practice round for contestants. Regular competition will begin at 9:45 a.m. tomorrow with the first preliminary round. Round two will begin at 11:10 and the championship round will begin at 1:45 p.m.

Divisions for the contest will include an unlimited original oratory contest, a limited original oratory contest, and declamations. The limited original oratory division will require participants to write and speak a tribute to any character in American history with a time limit of five minutes. The limited division is not open to high school seniors and students who have had high school debate experience or students who have been in an interscholastic speech contest which determined a winner.

The unlimited original oratory division will permit any high school student to write a speech to speak for six minutes on any topic the speaker chooses.

The third division, declamations, will permit any type speech by any author on any subject chosen by the participant.

In addition to the regular divisions, Contest Chairman R. B. Stirling has announced that there will be a special championship round in original oratory for Pitt County schools. Participants in the special division will compete in two morning rounds and move into the championship round with participants in the regular divisions.

Three or more medals will be awarded in each division, including the special Pitt County original oratory division.

Stirling, who is coach of Greenville High School's speech teams, is conducting the contest as chairman of the Lions Club's Speech Contest Committee. He is being assisted by other members of the Lions Club and the high school staff and faculty.

Greenville students in the contest include Betty Derrick, Ann Briley, Brenda Harris, Goldis Stirling, Gwen Johnson, Lawrence Behr, Joyce Sutton, Ann Green, Martha Moye, and Cathryn Ratcliffe.

The Pitt County original oratory division is expected to include all ten of Greenville's entries, four from Chidoc, ten from Ayden, and five from Grimesland.

UNLUCKY HAUL

TEMPLE, Tex. (AP)—If two-dollar bills are unlucky as some superstitious people say, then the thief who robbed Sherman Loving is in for some bad times. He stole four from Loving, along with 29 Silver Dollars.

The Republic of Panama was born Nov. 5, 1903, and was formally recognized by the United States the next day.

60,000 Miles

GROTON, Conn. (AP)—The nuclear submarine Nautilus traveled 60,000 miles on a lump of uranium "smaller than a light bulb," her builders said today.

The submarine, the nation's first atomic-powered vessel, soon will be refueled for the first time since she started out on her journey Jan. 17, 1955.

Youths Confess Armed Thefts

TARBORO, N.C. (AP)—Officers here said today two young white men admitted staging armed robberies in North Carolina, West Virginia and Tennessee last week.

The pair implicated a third youth, who was being sought by police. Edgemcombe County Sheriff Tom P. Bardin identified the pair as Donald W. Spain, 20, and Donald W. Williams, 22, both of Rocky Mount. Bardin said they named James Davis Nelms, 20, also of Rocky Mount, as the third member of the gang.

Bardin said the pair admitted robbing a rural store near here of $200 Feb. 14, a rural storekeeper of $39 near Richmond, W. Va., last Sunday night and a rural store of $1,900 near Milan, Tenn., Monday night.

Spain and Williams returned to Rocky Mount yesterday after leaving Nelms at a bus station in Florence, S.C., they said.

The pair turned themselves in to Rocky Mount police, telling the officers: "We heard you were looking for us. Who's going to identify us?"

After the West Virginia robbery, officers arrived at a hotel just as the three men checked out. The officers said they got the license number of Spain's car as it left the hotel parking lot.

Investigation in Rocky Mount disclosed that the three had been seen together last Friday afternoon but had been absent since then.

Under questioning late yesterday, Spain and Williams admitted the three robberies, the sheriff said, and also admitted robbing another rural store in Edgemcombe County Feb. 7.

Last night officers recovered $638 when the pair said they hid it in a frozen ham at the home of a relative.

Spain and Williams told police they threw three pistols into a creek in Nash County yesterday and dunked the robbery clothing into a water-filled sand pit in Nash County.

CLEAN SWEEP
MOUNDSVILLE, W. Va. (AP)—Harry Hall of Spencer, working out a $20 fine for drunkenness by sweeping city streets, swept his way right out of town the first day on the job.

Neither Hall nor the broom have been seen since.

Tract Given For Use Of College

FAYETTEVILLE, N.C. (AP)—A 700-acre tract five miles north of here was presented to the Methodist College, Inc., yesterday for the erection of a proposed four-year church-sponsored college.

Franklin S. Clark, president of the Fayetteville College Foundation, presented Methodist Bishop Paul N. Garber a branch of long leaf pine symbolizing the exchange of property titles.

The foundation raised more than two million dollars in gifts and pledges to bring the proposed college to the area.

Under questioning late yesterday, Spain and Williams admitted the three robberies, the sheriff said, and also admitted robbing another rural store in Edgemcombe County Feb. 7.

Bronze Memento Of A Revolution

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—A young Hungarian refugee has given an bronze memento of his country's revolt against Russian oppression to the man who sponsored his stay here.

John Zsitway, 21, as a mark of gratitude, gave Al J. Schneider a piece of bronze chipped from the heart of Joseph Stalin's statue in Budapest. The statue was destroyed during the height of the rebellion.

Schneider secured homes and work for Zsitway and two other refugees who arrived here recently.

Starting Off On The Wrong Foot

DALLAS (AP)—Most men would agree Federal Judge T. Whitfield Davidson started a couple of brand new citizens off on the wrong foot.

"In the old countries, women were taught to love, honor and obey their husbands. Well, in this country I assure you the men do most of the obeying," the 80-year-old jurist said at a naturalization hearing.

Mrs. Setusko Kanda Hertman of Japan and Barbara Mae Teague of England, the new citizens, nodded approvingly.

WAILING INFLUENCE
PINEVILLE, W. Va. (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Ray Eldridge Hicks, perhaps influenced by the lusty wail of their new baby, have christened him Elvis Presley Hicks.

The Sunrise Usher Board of Corner Stone Baptist Church will meet at the home of Mrs. Lillian Jones on Nash street Sunday at 4:30 p.m.

Christian Church Announcements

On Sunday morning the Disciples of Christ in the United States will close their observance of the Week of Compassion. During this week they have considered prayerfully the needy and the suffering around the world and have considered it a privilege to share with them of our abundance. The members of the Sunday school and church are requested to complete their offering for this worthy cause at the service Sunday morning.

A nursery has been established for infants during Sunday school and church in the Sunday school annex. A reliable woman will be on hand from 9:45 to 12:00 noon on Sundays to care for the tiny ones. Mrs. S. L. McCarty will be in charge.

The youth meetings of the church will be at 5:00 and 6:00 o'clock Sunday evening. The Chi Rho group will meet at 5:00 and the high school group at 6:00. James B. Mallory, coach at the college, will be leading the group Sunday evening.

The church bulletin has carried for eight consecutive weeks a different rule for proper religious worship. This week the ninth rule is: "When the service has ended, in Christian friendliness I speak to those whom I know and also to those who are strangers to me."

At the service Sunday morning the choir will sing the anthem entitled "My God and I" by Sergio and the pastor has announced to preach on the theme "The Christian Religion Claims The Whole Man."

Tears Don't Help
CURRITUCK — Tears flowed freely in recorder's court, but they didn't soften the judgment of the judge who sentenced William Ralph James of Norfolk, 24-year-old carpenter, to three months in each of two charges of larceny of batteries from motor vehicles.

To run consecutively, the sentences were suspended upon payment of $25 and costs in each case with probation for two years in each case. Although James begged to be allowed to go to Norfolk to raise the money and wept as he told the court his wife was due to go to the hospital that day for the birth of their second child, the judge refused him freedom, put him in jail and gave him two days to raise the fine money.

Wreck
KINSTON—A State Highway Patrol car was involved in a collision near Kinston last night with Louis Tyson of Ayden Rt. 2. No injuries were reported.

Patrolman C. Earl Edwards was the driver of the new patrol car that was struck by Tyson who reportedly ran through a stop sign. Tyson's car wound up in a ditch, and the patrol car came to a halt a short distance from the scene of the accident. No charges were filed.

Food Processing Plant
WILLIAMSTON — President George Corey of the Williamston Chamber of Commerce announced yesterday that $80,000 of a $100,000 goal already has been raised to give reality to the proposed Martindale Foods Inc.

Corey also stated at the meeting of industry boosters that the plant might possibly be in operation by August. The plant will process yams grown in Martin and adjoining counties. Funds for operating capital may be borrowed from the Business Development Corp., organized with the backing of Gov. Hodges to encourage local industries.

DSAs Awards
ROCKY MOUNT—Distinguished service awards for 1956 were presented to four men of the Nash-Edgemcombe county area Wednesday night at a Junior Chamber of Commerce dinner in Rocky Mount.

Recipients for their communities were the Rev. Joe Brooks, Rocky Mount; Dr. John L. Whaley, Tarboro physician; John E. Davenport, attorney of Nashville; and Woodrow Warren, Spring Hope businessman.

Lie Detector's Friend
SNOW HILL—Charges of robbery against a 47-year-old Greene County Negro have been dropped by SBI and Snow Hill officials after his alibi that he did not participate in the $11,000 robbery of Joe Hayes was substantiated by a lie detector.

"Them folks can say what they wants to about lying machines."
