Pedestrian Hit By Car And Dies

FATALITY—Pictured above is the automobile operated by Lonza Hall last Saturday night at the time of the accident at the corner of 5th Street and McKinley Avenue. The death of Emily Spell Jenkins was the second fatality in Pitt County this year. (Reflector Staff Photo).

An elderly Negro pedestrian was killed on the city streets Saturday night. The fatality was the second in Pitt since January 1. A local resident, B. C. Satterfield, was the first accident victim this year, suffering fatal injuries in an automobile accident on the Packlow highway on January 24.

was identified as the driver of the automobile that reportedly struck the pedestrian as she was in the process of crossing Fifth Street. Police state that Hall's automobile was traveling east on West Fifth Street at the time of the accident. Hall was released under a $1,000 bond pending a coroner's inquest to be held tomorrow night at 7:30 in the city courtroom.

Premier Ben-Gurion Gives Final Orders For Full Withdrawal Of Israeli Army

JERUSALEM (AP)—Premier David Ben-Gurion gave the final orders today for immediate withdrawal of Israeli troops from the Gaza Strip and Gulf of Aqaba coast.

A government spokesman announced Ben-Gurion instructed Dayan to invite Burns to a meeting this afternoon to discuss measures necessary to carry out the withdrawal of forces in accordance with the statement by the foreign minister, Mrs. Golda Meir.

resulted in instructions from Ben-Gurion to Ambassador Abba Eban to seek "clarifications" of the assurances given by the United States.

American position had been received from the United States, and that Ben-Gurion had been in talks with most Cabinet members.

JERUSALEM (AP)—Bitter demonstrations erupted in Jerusalem tonight soon after Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion ordered withdrawal of Israeli troops from Egypt.

The official said Israel also is ready to withdraw her civilian officials from the Gaza Strip. The announcement was made in advance of an appearance by Ben-Gurion before the Israeli Knesset tonight at which the grizzled Premier was slated to reaffirm Israel's decision to pull out of the disputed areas, trusting to the United States and the United Nations for protection against a renewal of Egyptian shooting.

A government spokesman said Dayan has already cabled Burns to arrange the meeting. Withdrawal could get under way this week. The announcement was made to newsmen at midday as Ben-Gurion was engaged in nonstop conferences with leaders of political parties, including the leaders of the two parties in his coalition which threatened to quit over the withdrawal issue.

The sequence of events in the Jewish capital since Friday's announcement in the United Nations was this: The Israel Cabinet met Saturday and Sunday to reconsider the withdrawal announcement because of a statement to the United Nations by American Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge. Some government chiefs were angered at Lodge's comment that the future of the Gaza Strip should be worked out within the framework of the 1949 armistice agreement.

Gov. Hodges Gives Ground On State Employee, Teacher Pay Raise Issue

RALEIGH (AP)—Gov. Hodges today gave ground on the issue of pay increases for teachers and state employees.

raises recommended for teachers were not adequate, and I have said so publicly," said Hodges in a statement read to the newsmen.

Asked if he had a specific figure to suggest for the pay raise, Hodges said, "No, I haven't."

budget Commission recommended a merit pay system, but he felt the "people's attention ought to be called" to the need of developing such a system.

At his news conference the governor said, "I feel that during this session of the General Assembly we will have to recognize the short-term necessity of raising teacher and state employees' pay beyond the point recommended by the Advisory Budget Commission and myself."

Hodges said that in his insistence that local governments should take over more of the burden of school support he had been thinking of a "long-range program."

He said he felt the state should "take a look at the whole thing" and find out what the individual counties can afford to pay. Then, he said, the state should provide a good minimum program for all the school children in the state with the counties supplementing the state program to the best of their ability.

Hodges indicated that his idea of local governments bearing more of the burden of school support as a long-range proposition had not changed.

The governor added, "Just how we will do this and where the money is to come from and what subsequent adjustments will have to be made is not clear at this time."

"However, I will gladly take the lead in helping solve the problem."

The budget proposed by Gov. Hodges and the Budget Commission recommends a 9.1 per cent pay increase for the teachers and 8 per cent for the state employees.

He declared that "to say the schools should be the same for all the people is to make a foolish statement" and the policy of looking to the state for all the money for teachers' pay except 4 1/2 per cent is "suicidal" in the long run.

Set To Approve Ike's Resolution

WASHINGTON (AP)—With overwhelming passage seemingly assured, the Senate delayed voting and set today aside for further debate on President Eisenhower's Middle East resolution.

Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas plans to seek a vote tomorrow.

The resolution would make available military and economic assistance to Middle East nations and state U. S. readiness to use armed force if necessary to resist Communist aggression. It cleared a major hurdle Saturday.

Responding to an urgent appeal from President Eisenhower, the Senate defeated 59-23 a proposal to deny him the 200 million dollars he asked in emergency foreign aid spending authority to deal with the troubled area.

Approval of the amendment, Eisenhower said, would suggest abroad that "our country wants only to wage peace in terms of war."

Sen. Jackson (D-Wash.) suggested last night that the administration now "take a new, hard look at our forces-in-being and at our defense budget."

Japanese Report Signs Indicative Of Atomic Blast

TOKYO (AP)—Two Japanese weather posts today picked up abnormal air pressure waves "strong enough to indicate a nuclear explosion," the Central Meteorological Board reported.

Word from Jerusalem was that Premier David Ben-Gurion and a majority of his Cabinet were reconciled to going ahead with the withdrawal despite considerable opposition from both government allies and opponents.

Although two of the five government coalition parties said they opposed withdrawal, it was believed in Jerusalem a majority of the Knesset (Parliament) would endorse a troop pullout.

relations between Ghana and the United States. We particularly examined the trend of the future and the impact these policies will have not only in Africa but the entire international situation.

Seventeen other weather posts had no abnormal readings. Virtually all of the stations in the past have registered similar pressure waves and earth shock waves as well when atom or hydrogen weapon tests have been conducted by the Soviet Union or the United States.

It Takes Months Of Sewing For Mardi Gras Kings And Queens

MARDI GRAS QUEEN... Joy Somerville, 16, inspects gown for royal role in Mardi Gras.

ROYAL DRESSMAKER... Marie Louise Gatipon (foreground) and two of her assistants, Frances Blondo and Agnes Turner, put finishing touches on cape to be worn by Mardi Gras King.

By ED TUNSTALL
NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Sixteen-year-old Joy Somerville, shapely and sequin-studded, paraded enchantingly into the roving spotlights at a New Orleans Mardi Gras ball.

Thunderous applause from thousands of spectators exploded in the jammed Municipal Auditorium.

Nobody applauded knowingly for Marie Louise Gatipon, sitting unnoticed in a darkened box. But it was she who fashioned the fabulous gown that sheathed the bewitching Miss Somerville.

Miss Somerville spent less than four hours in the gown. Mrs. Gatipon labored six months on the Krewe of Carrollton's costumes.

Her bank account gained little from the months of work and she took the applause while standing in the background.

Why does she do it?

looks grandmother of six whose All the headaches and long hours are forgotten as the Krewe stages its grand march around the auditorium with Mrs. Gatipon trying to quiet her nerves in a darkened box seat.

There is a fierce rivalry among the Krewes — the costumers — for lavishness of the costumes. And there's a good deal of pride in work involved.

"In making a bid," Mrs. Gatipon says, "I try to figure as closely as possible how much material will be involved. I want the Krewe to be satisfied, but my own pride is just as important. I won't let a costume go until I think it's perfect."

Her life just isn't her own from the first of August to mid-February, she says. The average work day runs close to 14 hours most days, and she's seen many times when she's worked around the clock as the deadline nears. And from February to August she worried about next year's ball.

"It gets pretty hectic, but there's nothing like Mardi Gras. You have to live it, and be a part of it to understand. For the last five years, I've been telling myself I'm going to quit, but I just can't do it."

Honeymoon Delayed For Television Show

HOLLYWOOD — Newlywed Linda Darnell says that her honeymoon will have to wait — at least until after she has finished work on a television show.

The actress and airline pilot Merle Roy (Robbie) Robertson were married yesterday in the Flier's Chapel of the Mission Inn in Riverside.

Miss Darnell, 33, was previously wed to motion picture cameraman Peverell Marley and brewery executive Philip Liebman. Robertson, 39, was a bachelor.

Last Rites Held For Mrs. Henry Lewis

Mrs. Dillie Williams Lewis, 77, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Tump Adams, near Black Jack Saturday night at 10:30. She suffered a cerebral hemorrhage on Friday and had been critically ill since that time.

Funeral services were held at the Black Jack Free Will Baptist Church at three o'clock Monday afternoon by the pastor, the Rev. Floyd Cherry, assisted by the Rev. J. C. Griffin of New Bern, a former pastor. Burial was in the Williams family cemetery nearby.

Mrs. Lewis, daughter of the late Robert and Louisa Dixon, spent most of her life in the Black Jack community. She was married to Johnnie D. Williams in 1900, and he died in 1925. She was married to Henry Lewis of near Vanceboro in 1931, and he died in 1952. She was a member of the Black Jack Free Will Baptist Church.

Surviving are three sons, Charlie G. Williams of Shelmerdine, J. D. Williams of Norfolk, Va., and Robert Lester Williams of Havelock two daughters, Mrs. Tump Adams and Mrs. Clemmie Harley of Virginia Beach; 13 grandchildren; four great grandchildren; four step-sons, Eugene Lewis of Boston, Mass., Ellis Lewis of Washington, N.C., and Rufus and James Lewis of Vanceboro; and two step-daughters, Mrs. Cecil Williams of Miami, Fla. and Mrs. Janie Lancaster of Greenville.

Male Critics Will Learn

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor

The next time your husband or nearest male critic makes fun of your silly shoes, you might tell him that the world's biggest shoe manufacturer says men soon will be wearing buckled shoes, and may even rival women in foot fashions.

The predictor comes from Walton Maxey Jarman, a Baptist deacon's son from Tennessee, who has made a small Nashville shoe factory into a giant corporation which now turns out most of the country's shoes in all price brackets.

Jarman also is the man who bought Tiffany's.

Over a luncheon table the other day Jarman expounded his ideas on diamonds and shoes.

"We just sort of picked up Tiffany's in a package deal," he drawled. "It came along with a string of women's specialty shops. Interesting place. Never specialized much in diamonds before, but I'm learning quite a bit about them. Funny thing, the women in the family seem to take more interest in the jewelry business than the shoe business."

The "package deal" took place when Jarman's company, General Shoe Corp., recently bought the Hoving Corp., which includes Bonwit-Teller and Tiffany's in New York and six other women's specialty shops in other parts of the country.

About men's shoe fashions of today and tomorrow —

"Well, you can laugh if you want to, but the hottest thing in men's shoe styles right now is the 'My Fair Lady' look. David Evans designed a line of men's shoes all in this general feeling, with longer, more pointed toes. One of them is a slip-on style called Lancia.

"Wouldn't surprise me a bit to see men wearing buckles on their shoes soon. Men like fashion too, though it takes them longer to admit it. But our Founding Fathers wore buckled shoes, and nobody could call them sissies."

ON THE HOUSE

By DAVID G. BAREUTHER, AP Real Estate Editor

AP Newsfeatures
A LADY has a complaint.
 "Why is it," she writes, "that whenever you talk about home repair projects, you direct your remarks to what you call the family handyman? I don't mean you alone. I mean everybody (at least all men) who write about these things. Maybe there are some men who fix and make things around the house, but as far as I am concerned, and my friends agree with me, it's the women who are the do-it-yourselfers. I decided a long time ago, and so did my friends, that it's a lot easier to fix something than to keep waiting for the men of the house to do it at their convenience."

Motivating Force
 That's what the lady said—in part. And she enclosed a clipping to back up her argument. The brief item told about a survey undertaken by the research department of a company that manufactures plywood. The results of the survey show that 79 per cent of the do-it-yourself projects are initiated by women. It showed further that, once the projects are decided on, women do the actual work 41 per cent of the time, and men do it 37 per cent of the time, with the remaining 22 per cent being family endeavors.

 In other words, the husband who became a hero when he changed a faucet washer is passe. The wife either fixes the faucet herself or shows her husband how to do it.
 From now on, when we refer to handymen, we really will mean handywomen.

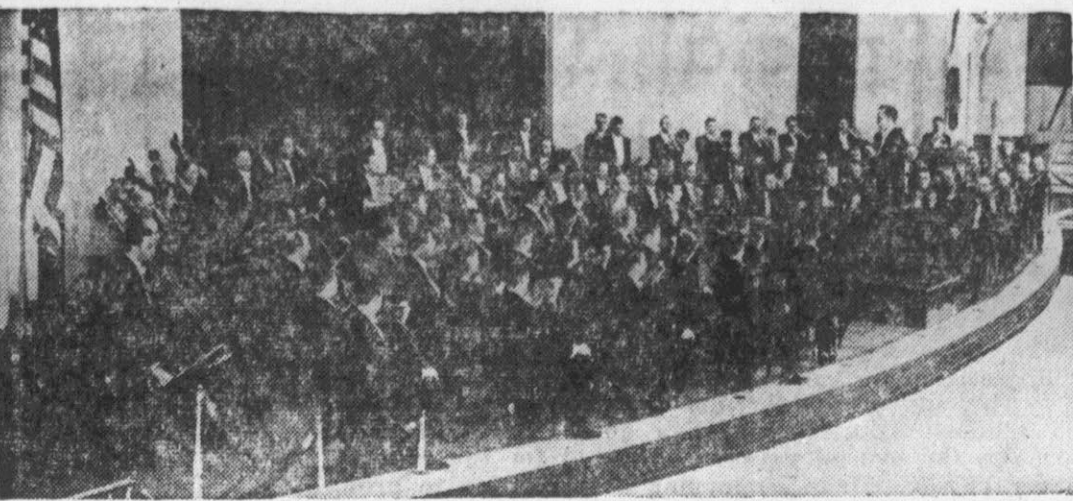

The Department of Inquiry
 Question: We have what we consider a fine house except for one thing. It is unbearably hot during the night in the summer months. We've read about attic fans and how they help to cool a house. Could you tell us whether they are practical?
 Answer: You have not given enough particulars about the kind of attic, the design and size of the house and many other factors that determine, to a degree, how effectively an attic fan will work. Generally, an attic fan, of the proper size and properly installed, can do much towards cooling an entire house during the night. The principle is this: the warm air in the lower part of the house rises naturally. It is sucked in by the fan and driven out of the attic. The warm air is displaced by cooler night air, making more satisfactory sleeping conditions. It might not seem that this process would take place quickly enough to make any appreciable difference in the temperature, but the proper attic fan can change the air in the average-size house once every minute or two minutes.

 Question: I have a set of outdoor wicker furniture which I plan to paint in another month or two. I remember that the last time I did it, I had a difficult time getting the bristles of the brush into all the openings. I'd like to try my hand at spraying this time, but don't want to buy expensive equipment. Will the small sprayers do the job properly?
 Follow Instructions
 Answer: For that kind of work, the small, inexpensive sprayers will be fully satisfactory. Be sure to follow the manufacturer's instructions on how to thin the paint, as too thick a mixture will cause clogging and too thin a mixture will cause the paint to run. Do the spraying outdoors and keep the furniture on a covered bench or table while spraying. If a chair, for instance, is sprayed while it is resting on the ground, the air pressure from the sprayer will disturb the dust on the ground and spoil the result.

'Dream' Housing To Lure Nurses
 NEW YORK (AP)—Montefiore Hospital, bothered by an inability to recruit night nurses, yesterday opened a $400,000 low-rent "dream house" apartment building to especially attract them.
 "Most hospitals have very little trouble getting nurses for work in the day," explained Mrs. Elizabeth Staats, director of nursing at the Bronx hospital, "but it's very difficult to get night nurses."
 Twenty-nine of the 40 apartments have been reserved for night nurses, who will pay $35 monthly rent.

Question: One of the projects I have scheduled for the spring is the construction of an outdoor fireplace of concrete and mortar. How soon after it is finished can it be used?
 Answer: You should wait at least two or three weeks. The longer the better. If a fire is started in the fireplace too soon, the heat will dry out the concrete and mortar before it is properly cured. In addition to waiting two or three weeks, be sure to keep the concrete damp during that period. Wet it down at least once a day.

By CHESTER WALSH
 Judge Charles H. Whedbee disposed of the heaviest docket of this year last Friday when he and Solicitor Eli Bloom tried 41 cases, 17 of them involving failure to have city license tags on their motor vehicles.

The following defendants each paid $4 for violating the city license tag ordinance: George W. Spain, Negro, 109 Washington St.; Willie Laughinghouse, Negro, 609 Vanderbilt St.; L. A. Reeves, 1800 Forest Hills (two cases combined); Jack D. Gargis, 903-A Colonial Ave.; Paul J. Donaldson, 1407 Washington St.; Elmer Dail, 1300 Broad Street; Willie D. Harper, Negro, 1505 W. Fifth St., was not guilty; Floyd C. Nichols, 1300 Evans St.; W. A. Dunn, 1802 E. Sixth St.; Asa S. Waters, 2817 Jackson Dr., was not guilty; Frances C. Thomas, 407 Meade St.; Clarence R. Sumerell, 803 Willow St.; Evelyn S. Ward, Ragsdale Road, Greenville; Ledyard E. Ross, 200 Liberty St.; Sally E. Lewis, 2610 Jackson Drive; Alice Hamley, 1510 Ward St.

No Operator's license: Willie J. Knight, Negro, not guilty; Thurman F. Harrison, 148 W. Gum Road, capias issued when he failed to appear in court; Mary Kelly, 532 Evans St., costs; James Battle, Negro, 913 Imperial St., costs.

Malcolm A. Campbell, Rocky Mount, paid $5 for not stopping at a stop sign; Lester F. Johnson, Berkeley Road, city, $5.
 Drunk: Jesse Lee Perkins, Negro, capias issued when he failed to appear in court; Carl Wilson, Negro, 1715 S. Pitt St., 30 days, suspended on payment of $12.40 and remain away from Carolina Produce Company.

George Taft, Rt. 2, city, Negro, disorderly conduct, 30 days, suspended on payment of costs. The judgment also provides that he is to behave for two years and not harm Alexander Thomas. For assault with a deadly weapon, Judge Whedbee gave Taft 60 days on the roads, sentence to run concurrently, suspended on payment of $25, costs deducted. He is to remain in good behavior two years and not harm or molest Alexander Thomas.

Willie J. Knight, Negro, was not guilty of driving after his license was revoked.
 Thad Atkinson, Negro, 1304 Mill St., prosecuting witness did not testify and the court taxed the prosecuting witness with court costs for malicious and frivolous prosecution.

Billy Joe Roberts, 1121 Evans St., reckless driving, 30 days, suspended on payment of $25, costs deducted, and he is not to drive for two weeks from date of trial. Roberts paid costs for passing at an intersection.
 Jesse McCarthy, Negro, 501 Arthur St., was not guilty of assault with a deadly weapon.
 Karl B. Dickerson, 1306 Myrtle Ave., worthless check, paid check and costs.

Nathaniel C. Corbett, Negro, 804-B Bancroft St., $10.
 L. J. Rosen, Clifton, N. J., paid costs for speeding, and $5 for failure to stop at a stop sign.
 Ada E. Loyd, Negro, 1208 Davenport St., costs.
 Andrew J. Keel, assault on a female, 14 days in county jail.
 No chauffeur's license: Carlton L. Adams, Rt. 2, city, and Charles Creddie, Negro, each paid costs.

From Out Of The Sky, Fell Ice

VALLEY STREAM, N.Y. (AP)—Roy Kellett told police he heard a resounding crash as he walked to his car after leaving the night shift at the Long Island Water Co. He found the roof caved in by a big chunk of ice.
 Police speculated it fell from an airplane that had become iced while flying at high altitude.

Would Set Up Fund To Protect Wreck Victims

DURHAM (AP)—Drivers in North Carolina would be protected against uninsured motorists under legislation that Reps. Watts Hill Jr., Durham, and Clifton Blue, Aberdeen, expect to introduce into the General Assembly.
 Hill says the proposed bill would achieve the same goal sought by Rep. Walter Jones of Pitt County in his compulsory liability insurance bill.
 The proposal by Hill and Blue would require all uninsured drivers to pay an extra $8 fee when they buy their state auto licenses each year. The money would be used to set up a state fund to be used to protect motorists suffering personal or property damage from the uninsured drivers.
 Under the proposal, the uninsured motorist would then owe the state the amount of the judgment, which would be set by court.
 Hill said yesterday, "Our approach offers more protection than compulsory liability insurance."

Dream' Housing To Lure Nurses

NEW YORK (AP)—Montefiore Hospital, bothered by an inability to recruit night nurses, yesterday opened a $400,000 low-rent "dream house" apartment building to especially attract them.
 "Most hospitals have very little trouble getting nurses for work in the day," explained Mrs. Elizabeth Staats, director of nursing at the Bronx hospital, "but it's very difficult to get night nurses."
 Twenty-nine of the 40 apartments have been reserved for night nurses, who will pay $35 monthly rent.

Should N. C. Levy A Special Tax?

Driver education is desperately needed in every high school in North Carolina as a part of the regular school curriculum. Through such a course young drivers learn at the outset of their driving experience the safe, best way to drive.

Records show clearly that young drivers who have received driver training in connection with their school work have far fewer accidents than their counterparts who are not taught the proper way to drive. Records show so clearly the advantages of driver training among teen-agers that insurance companies offer reduced rates for teen-agers who have had driver training.

With some 60,000 youngsters in North Carolina coming of driving age every year, the state should take steps to provide driver training as a part of every high school curriculum. No other single measure has greater potential in promoting highway safety.

But should the state levy a special tax on a particular item in order to support such a part of the educational program for its public school students?

Would such a step not be setting a poor precedent which could adversely affect the program of public education in North Carolina?

It is just as essential that North Carolina teach its youth how to live in this age of highway travel as it is for the state to teach them the use of the English language, mathematics and other basic courses now offered in public schools. We have accepted these fundamentals of education as necessary to the child's welfare. The state does not levy a special tax on particular items to provide funds for teaching English in the schools. It does not levy a special tax on particular items to provide funds for offering math, bookkeeping or science courses. It does not levy a special tax on particular items to provide for teaching foreign languages in the public schools.

The cost of providing these courses are accepted as a part of the cost of giving the youngsters the kind of education which will equip them for taking their place as responsible citizens in society.

Why then, should the state levy a special tax on a particular item to provide funds for driver education courses in the high schools of the state?

The cost of providing driver education in the public schools of North Carolina should be defrayed through the overall revenue collected for the school program rather than by levying a special tax to provide money earmarked for teaching that particular course.

Exceptions To The Rules Can End Rules

What is the value of a regulation if it is to be disregarded rather than complied with?

Greenville's present subdivision ordinance was approved by the official planning group and adopted by the City Council after months of careful study by both bodies. Its purpose is to set minimum requirements for new sections of the city in keeping with good planning.

If exceptions are made to subdivision regulations as a matter of course, Greenville will have a difficult problem on its hands a few years from now. There can be no assurance of the kind of orderly growth the city needs and the subdivision ordinance visualizes.

The Planning-Zoning Commission of Greenville has a responsibility to see that regulations governing new subdivisions are complied with by developments which are being made. At the same time the Planning-Zoning Commission and other city officials have a responsibility to see that uniform policies are followed in considering new areas so that developers will know what to expect and will know how to plan new developments.

Too Small For Any Employes

By ELMER ROESSNER

The Moron — the electronic brain in Census headquarters at Suitland, Md. — has been given another charge of statistics and has uttered some new facts about American business.

For instance: The 1954 business census turned up 1,721,650 retail establishments, of which 1,124,040 had payrolls.

Government warriors, in and out of Congress, sometimes talk of small businesses as those having less than 500 employes.

The Census figures indicate there might also be a subclassification, ultra-small business.

That would take in the 597,610 retail establishments without a single employe: the papa-and-mama stores, and do-it-yourself partnerships, the single entrepreneur handling all the pumps at a gas station, and the fellows with their offices in their hats or their keisters. A keister is a suitcase from which goods are sold, often mounted on tripes, or a tripod.

BIG SEGMENT OF BUSINESS

The Moron calculates that the establishments with payrolls made sales of $138 billion in 1954. Total retail sales for the year came to $170 billion.

Therefore — according to fifth-grade arithmetic, not the Moron — those no-employe stores made an average of $20,000 in sales that year. Whether that was a good living or not depended, of course, on the margin.

You'd probably guess that the larger number of these no-employe businesses were refreshment, news and cigar stands or delicatessens. If you did, you were wrong. Those categories are far down the list.

The largest number of these ultra-small establishments were groceries — 136,472. Next were eating places, except refreshment stands, 39,022. There were 6,110 refreshment stands. Third were dry goods and general merchandise stores, 31,860. There were 28,474 drinking places, 26,024 furniture and home furnishings establishments and 21,914 shoe stores.

There were 12,768 appliance, radio and television stores and almost the same number, 12,730 candy stores. Other counts were: fuel and ice dealers, 10,084; hardware stores, 9,592; liquor stores, 9,314; nonfranchised auto dealers, 8,786; jewelers, 8,718; and meat markets, 7,930.

NO DEPARTMENT STORES

There were 7,800 general stores and all other categories were less than 7,500. There were only 3,576 no-employe newsstands, 2,798 cigar stands and 3,072 delicatessens. There were no department stores without employes —not a surprising development. However, this was the only category without at least a few go-it-alone operators. The category with the smallest count was luggage and leather goods stores, 490.

As previously reported, there were 64,000 nonstore retailers, mostly in the door-to-door field, and 718 no-employe mail order establishments.

While these figures are of 1954, despite failures and mergers since then, new businesses have probably kept the total much the same.

So there are probably some 600,000 persons in retailing today who know no boss — save their customers, the tax collectors and their wives.

ODDS, ENDS AND CURIOS IN BUSINESS NEWS

Bloodroot, senega, mandrake and balsam copaiba have all recently risen in price and myrrh and labdanum gums are in tight supply. All are used in drugs.

The Voice of America has launched a series of worldwide radio and television programs telling how small businesses operate in America. . . . The spotted alfalfa aphid has crossed the Mississippi in its sweep east and appeared for the first time in more states last year. The U.S. Department of Agriculture reports in alarm.

The New York Electrical Workers' Round Table had been working for months promoting National Electrical Week, when a guest speaker started off by declaring, "This is National Electrical Week." The speaker then thanked his audience for their "round of indifference."

NEWS YOU MAY USE IN MANAGEMENT

Investment opportunities in five Central American countries are described in a new 273-page government handbook, "Investment in Central America," $1.50 from Department of Commerce field offices. A new "Retailers' Excise Tax Guide" has been published by the National Retail Dry Goods Association, 100 W. 31st St., New York 1, at $7.50.

A wealth of statistical data from the 1954 Census of Business, valuable in planning marketing campaigns, is now coming off government presses. There's too much for listing here, but Commerce Department and Small Business Administration field offices, as well as many public libraries and chambers of commerce, have copies for inspection. A new edition of "How To Make More Money with Your Direct Mail," by Edward N. Mayer, Jr., has been published by Printers' Ink, Pleasantville, N.Y.

In the background thinking of every member of the Joint Appropriations Committee is the question of school teacher and State employe salaries. Those items have not been reached directly, although their shadow falls across every line of the budget book. Without the big amount required for salaries, and with only the smaller departments having been heard, the committee has pleas for almost a million dollars increase over budget recommendations.

By LYNN NISBET

TOTAL PICTURE — Rep. John W. Umstead Jr. of Orange does not love the school teachers any less, but he loves the little kids who are mentally deficient more.

He told a group of teachers the other day that so long as he was on a board that is responsible for the allocation formula for corporate income taxes. Many of them also still believe that the proposed changes offer relief to big rich folks at the expense of little people.

Experienced legislators, comparing this with former years, agreed that on the money bills and some incidental matters the 1957 session is well ahead of 1955, but behind earlier legislatures. They further agreed that sentiment has not "jelled" as much as they had hoped.

Chief accomplishment was in identifying the main sources of support and opposition for the administration program. It was further conceded that the budget folks will have great difficulty in holding the line at their suggestions for salary raises. Sentiment is crystallizing for increases ranging from 10 per cent to 16 per cent, or a compromise figure between employes requests and budget recommendations.

REORGANIZATION — Similar conditions prevail with respect to the highway reorganization bill. Appraisal of sentiment is more difficult here. Very few members have avowed open opposition. Many have damned the proposals with faint praise, and others have commented that "It is a good bill in the main, but—" And they do not fill in the blank represented by the dash.

Proponents of the measure insist when asked about it that they believe the bill will be enacted essentially as written. On matters of this kind it is hard to combat the influence of the administration without vigorous and specific opposition. Up to now nobody has shown any desire to lead an all-out fight against the bill.

What we should do is not to deny judgment but to try to avoid it. And there is only one way to do that — and we all know the way.

Committees having the several reorganization bills in hand have not acted upon any of them. The meetings to date have been for informal discussion in order to give committee members as full comprehension as possible of the import of the proposals.

For that reason it is not possible to appraise sentiment for or against the new schemes.

Comedians Really Unhappy (Says Writer)

By Roger W. Babson

Teacher Pay Is Tax Relief Chances Slim

By ROGER W. BABSON

BABSON PARK, Mass. Total taxes for the year, including Federal, State and Local Taxes, will amount to more than $100,000,000 for 170,000,000 people. There is very little possibility of relief from Federal or City Taxes. On the other hand, if we would really put up a fight, we should be able to keep down State and Local Taxes. State Taxes amount to about $90 an individual. They range from a low of about $50 in New Jersey (where city taxes are relatively high) to a top of around $135 in the State of Washington (where city taxes are especially low).

More than thirty states have income taxes or sales taxes, or both. The states also get a big amount from automobile taxes, with cuts on alcohol and tobacco taxes. Unfortunately, most states are careless in their expenditures because their money comes so easily.

As a result, total state debts have increased almost fivefold during the last ten years, — from about $2 1/2 billion to over $11 billion. Now there is a row on as to who should pay for the new schools. School costs are really the responsibility of the cities and counties, but they are being passed on to the states, which in turn are trying to hand them over to the Federal Government.

WHAT ABOUT TEACHERS' SALARIES?

It is generally agreed that cities, towns, and counties should pay teachers' salaries. It is unfair to believe that pressure for higher teachers' salaries is coming from the teachers themselves. Almost all good school teachers could get more money in industry, department stores, or offices, but they are sticking by their teaching from loyalty and because they have shorter hours and longer vacations.

This means that the cut in school costs must come from a change in the curriculum or in school building maintenance, and especially in the high interest on building costs. This latter is particularly important now, when it is so difficult for municipalities to sell their bonds.

THE FUNDAMENTAL QUESTION

When discussing taxes for schools, we should avoid talking only about saving money. We must remember the old adage, "penny wise — pound foolish." If I felt that luxurious schools produced better students, I would be the last to criticize the present craze for "bigger and better" school buildings. From my careful observation, however, I am sure such school buildings do not produce better and more efficient students. Schools were so crowded in my youth that we were obliged to have three grades in each classroom. Furthermore we had two sessions — morning and afternoon — and no bus to take us to school! I really believe these rough conditions were a good part of our education.

Talking with students, I do not find much objection to having the schools used more or the curriculum made more practical. They welcome the use of television and radio. It is the teachers who complain about longer hours a day and working eleven months. The State Legislatures are also responsible for passing various laws regulating teachers' professional requirements and sanitary conditions in schools. These laws are actively promoted by P.T.A.'s, as well as by professional men and tradesmen who have interests at stake. Increased State Taxes are due not only to cost of luxury building, but also to all these laws.

Things You'd Learn

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

That the odds are you are right-eyed as well as right-handed. . . . The right eye dominates the vision of 60 per cent of us, the left eye is the boss for 25 per cent. The remaining 15 per cent have ambidextrous eyeballs and are "switch lookers."

That Hippocrates, the "Father of Medicine," treated eye ailments by prescribing a restricted diet . . . and not foot baths!

That spectacles were first introduced in the year 1300, and their inventor is unknown. Bifocals were invented by a Philadelphia printer and proverb maker called Ben Franklin.

That it is no wonder a baby cries at the first sight of its father. . . . Until its vision becomes coordinated, the infant sees its old man upside down and with each eye separately — enough to frighten any child.

That if you are head of a family of four and have an annual income of $5,000, every time the U.S. cost of living index goes up a point — say from 118 to 119 — it costs you $34 a year.

That young actors have used everything from whipped cream to theatrical makeup to make their hair look gray for elderly roles. . . . But black-haired Richard Torrig, baritone "The Most Happy Fella," believes he is the first to age his locks with a liquid white shoe dressing.

That Rep. Victor L. Anfuso (D-NY) has introduced a bill in Congress to allow parents a special tax exemption of up to $1,000 for expenses incurred in sending their children to college.

That at the University of Missouri the nuptial vow is now more popular than the fraternity pledge. . . . One out of every five students is married.

That when the nations of the world take up the question of territorial rights on the moon, the United States will have a legal claim. . . . In 1946 it became the first country on earth to establish radar contact with the lunar satellite.

That of the 171 pensioned former municipal employes of New York City who live abroad, 101 are in Ireland.

That if you go on the wagon you can still use your cocktail shaker — to shake up pancake mix batter.

That if you need a leech in a hurry to remove the discoloration of black eye, there is a firm in Long Island City that will sell you a dozen of the clinging little fellows for a dollar. . . . You discard after use. . . . There isn't much of a market for used leeches.

That if the human race continues to increase at the present rate in 5,000 years the population would weigh as much as the earth itself.

That chairs originally were used only by exalted persons such as kings and priests, and commoners and slaves sat on the floor or on stools and benches. . . . At least a fourth of mankind still takes the load off its feet by squatting, rather than sitting.

That some anthropologists, who say the body can hold 1,000 steady postural positions, believe prolonged chair-sitting is one of civilized man's greatest physical errors.

That Queen Elizabeth of England and Gypsy Rose Lee have a common interest. . . . fishing.

That the late Albert von Tiller, who wrote, "Take Me Out to the Ball Game," never saw a ball game until 1920, 28 years after his song became a hit.

That it was Benjamin Disraeli who observed, "If every man were straightforward in his opinions there would be no conversation."

Panama And The Suez Difficulty

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — Administration and Congressional concern for the future of the Panama Canal underlies official reluctance to furnish Israel with firm guarantees for passage through the Suez Canal and the Gulf of Aqaba. Washington prefers to obtain these rights through negotiation with Egypt and the other Arabian states involved — Jordan and Saudi Arabia.

Freedom of navigation through the world's strategic waterways — the Suez Canal, the Dardanelles and the Panama Canal — is now affirmed in formal treaties accepted by the principal countries concerned. No single nation has ever agreed or dared to uphold such a far-reaching right in remote sectors because of the international perplexities and controversies.

To place the Suez Canal and the Gulf of Aqaba under United Nations jurisdiction, diplomatic experts believe, would raise the same danger and threat to the Panama Canal. It would undoubtedly precipitate Russian and Egyptian demands that the U.N. assume jurisdiction over our key waterway.

OUR PERPETUAL LEASE OF PANAMA ZONE Anti-American elements in Central and South America have insisted for years that the United States release or modify its control over the Panama Canal Zone, which we now administer under a perpetual lease. They did succeed in forcing us to abandon 134 air and other bases outside the Zone, although Pentagon experts regard them as necessary for defense of this vital area. Russia has frequently included Panama as one of our encircling "bases of aggression."

peril to the Panama Canal throws a new and more baleful light on Alger Hiss' performance while in the State Department, as recently described here. He gave the Russians and the anti-American bloc in the U.N. the pretext, plausible but invalid, for demanding its internationalization or placing it under U.N. supervision.

When the Governor of the Panama Canal Zone, an American official, has his annual report to the State Department in 1946, Hiss quickly forwarded it to the U.N. under provision of the U.N. Charter which he helped write. It provided that U.N. members holding trusteeships over "occupied countries" must report annually on their administration. Hiss sought to make the Zone a U.N. as well as a U.S. responsibility.

SPRUILLE BRADEN'S PROTEST Spruille Braden, then Assistant Secretary for Latin-American affairs, did not learn of Hiss' action until he read of it in the newspapers. He protested indignantly to Dean Acheson. Ricardo J. Alfaro, then Panama Foreign Minister and chairman of its U.N. delegation, arose before the trusteeship committee to declare that Panama retained full sovereignty over the Zone, and to demand correction of the Hiss viewpoint. The British voiced concern lest the Hiss statement jeopardize its hold on Gibraltar, which Spain seeks to recover.

SCRAP OF PAPER TO U.S. Panama authorities at State inform the writer that the Eisenhower Administration does not recognize the legality of the Hiss action. It regards the document as "only a scrap of paper," especially in view of his subsequent trial and conviction.

But in view of Moscow's deliberate and palpable misrepresentation of every American declaration and policy, the report and the Middle East crisis make a handy peg on which to hang future demands for internationalization for the Panama Zone and Canal. U.S. intervention in Arabian waters without a treaty might plunge the Canal into even deeper international controversy.

GHS 'Twirp' Week Saw A Slow Start

By MARTHA JANE PIERCE
 Greenville High School Reporter
 Twirp Season, or the civilized version of Sadie Hawkins Day, began in Greenville High School last Monday. It ends Saturday and from all outward appearances got off to a very slow start. If this was held for the same purpose as Dogpatch races, it seems like most of the Greenville High School girls would be behind in the first lap. Some of the girls finally found enough courage to ask a boy for a date.

Rules were drawn up by a committee composed of Godfrey Oakley, Cynthia Cranford, Catherine Moore, Howard Garner and Martha Pierce. It was hoped that Twirp Season would encourage better manners on the part of students.

Thursday ten members of the Future Nurses Club took a trip to the Duke School of Nursing. The girls toured the school.

Nancy Ann Hoot, senior, will be Greenville High School's candidate for the Angier B. Duke Scholarship. Twenty girls from each of the eastern, western and central sections of the state will compete for the scholarship. Five from each section will take the final test and a scholarship will be awarded to one girl from each section.

From the semifinals the sixty girls will have an interview with a Representative of Duke University. Anus Duff and Jerry Howell are the boy finalists from Greenville.

From the reactions of the students it could be said that the assembly on dancing February 22 was one of the most enjoyable assemblies held in Greenville High in a long time. Dancing teachers Marie Wallace and Mrs. Ramona Vanortwick acted as discussion leaders and answered questions submitted from the student body. A panel consisting of Roy Martin, Bob Bilbro, Betty Evans, Elizabeth White, Dan Wilkerson and Alf Forbes asked the questions and gave demonstrations.

Lib Rogers and Chuck Shearin, an East Carolina College student, gave examples of some of the old and modern dances.

The citizenship committee is working on plans for an honor code for Greenville High School. Bob Bilbro and Godfrey Oakley are serving as co-chairmen of the special committee. Other committee members are JoAnna Rooke, Mary Ann Bryant, Stuart Bost, Billy Cox, Grayson Waldrop, Mildred Coleman, Martha Pierce and Roy Martin.

The purpose of this committee is to determine the value of an honor code in Greenville High School. Different phases of codes in other high schools have been reported to the Student Council Association.

Lois Brown, senior, was chosen from the junior and senior home rooms to represent Greenville High in the Azalea Festival in Wilmington March 29-31. She was selected from thirteen nominees.

The Greenville High School glee club presented a concert Friday night. The program included varied types of music. Members of the glee club who entered the contest in Durham Feb. 23 were Anne Parkinson, Elizabeth White and Milly Bowden, trio; Carolyn Briley, Patsy Jones and Laura Guranus, trio; soloists were Ronnie Dail, Ronnie Finch, Carol Riddle, Patsy Jones, Anne Parkinson, Ann Marshall Allen and Rose Moye.

In the past couple of weeks several Greenville High students have made trips to Richmond, Va. Jo-

Anna Rooke went to Richmond February 8. Anne Parkinson was in Richmond the weekend of February 16. Iona Jones, Mickey Sumrell, Stuart Savage and Iona's family went to Richmond the same weekend to bring Betty Ann Jones, a student at Johnson-Willis School of Nursing, home for a visit.

Tax Break For Teachers Sought

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress is being asked to give the million schoolteachers in this country a better break on their income tax.

Some congressmen — like Rep. Jenkins (R-Ohio) of the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee — are responding sympathetically.

Teachers want to deduct expenses of going to summer school to improve their professional ability.

Jenkins has introduced a bill to permit it.

An indignant Chicago teacher, Mrs. Adah Maurer, wrote Rep. O'Hara (D-Ill.).

"Teachers are bitter over businessmen being able to entertain customers in the Stork Club and deduct the fun."

At the same time, she said, "we sit in stuffy lecture halls absorbing Plato, psychology and human dynamics, also for the purpose of increasing our income, and can't deduct the fun!"

"Not only is not fair, it is an indictment of our American value system."

According to Ernest Giddings, legislative official of the National Education Assn., the Internal Revenue Service sometimes does permit these tuition expenses to be deducted.

What Giddings cannot figure out, he said, is that the deductions are disallowed whenever the teacher gets a better job of his or her added education.

"In fact," he said, "if the summer school training even enhances the teacher's professional reputation he cannot have a deduction."

Notes And News Of Winterville Students

By SANDRA HUNSUCKER
 Winterville School Reporter
 Janice Worthington was hostess at a party held Friday night after the ball game. Guests included basketball players, coaches, cheerleaders and their dates.

A former Winterville High School student, Geraldine Mills of Plymouth, won the Homemakers of America Contest held recently at Plymouth High School. She made the highest score on a written examination taken by girls in the Plymouth Senior Class.

Invitations to the Junior-Senior were written Thursday night by Barbara Evans, Dorothy Evans, Sandra Hunsucker and Daphne Little. The session was held at Daphne's home.

A number of religious selections were played by the Winterville High School Band at the Sunday night services of Reedy Branch Church.

The band is now practicing for the annual band concert of the Winterville-Ayden Band. The concert will be held in the Winterville High School Auditorium on March 15 at 7:30 p.m.

Sue Buckham of Washington, N. C. spent last weekend with Willie Jean McLawnhorn.

The Senior Class of Piney Grove Church held a social here at Nancy Sue Crawford's home recently. Among the W. H. S. students who attended were Jo Ann Hathaway, Daphne Little, Philip Joyner, Louella Mills and Corbett Joyner.

Winterville Y. W. A. members were hostesses at the regional Y. W. A. conference last Sunday at the Missionary Baptist Church. After the program, a social hour was held in the recreation room.

Two contests have been entered by students in shorthand classes. Results of the contests, the Esterbrook-Gregg Shorthand Contest and the Order of Gregg Artists, have not been announced.

Four East Carolina College Seniors are doing their student teaching at Winterville High School this quarter. Dorothy Branch is in the Science Department, Thomas Gray is in the Physical Education Department, and James Nobles and Julia Rivenbark are in the Commercial Department.

Seventeen girls and 12 boys from Winterville have been selected to sing in the chorus at the Annual Pitt County Music Festival which will be held at East Carolina College.

Girls who have been selected include Doris Crawley, Carolyn Evans, Betty Jean Mobley, Pat Hoyle, Janice Worthington, Margaret Case, Faye Stocks, Clara Ambrose, Barbara Ann Evans, Alice Waters, Dorothy Evans, Rachel Stox, Barbara Manning, Connie Lynn, Janet Allen, Barbara L. Evans and Sandra Hunsucker.

Boys include George Jackson, Moye Waters, Tommy Day, Mack Worthington, Jimmy Runkle, Thomas McLawnhorn, Boyce Cox, Richard Gorman, Tommy Oglesby, William Crawley and Charles Branch.

A series of adult meetings is being held in the Home Economics cottage after school. Four of the six planned meetings have already been held.

On February 26, Mrs. Lime Latham gave "Tips For Staying Young" to approximately 15 ladies. The next meeting is scheduled for March 7. Mrs. Robert Tunnell will give a demonstration on how to make a home more beautiful through wise selection of furniture.

First-year Home Economics students have been studying a unit on Housing. Members of the class were divided into committees for their reports and the various groups came up with novel ways of putting their ideas across. Two of the more successful ventures were in the forms of a TV program and a famous homemaking magazine.

A large crowd of high school students gathered at the community building Friday night to honor Leon Forlines on his birthday. Activities during the evening included dancing and the usual refreshments.

Gen. MacArthur Defeats Virus

Missile Power Shown To Public

WHITE SANDS PROVING GROUND, N. M. (AP) — In its most complete missile show yet performed, the Army yesterday unveiled the striking power of its batteries of guided missiles.

Under the eyes of television cameras, missiles plastered mountain-side miles away, demolished tanks and sped upward seeking theoretical enemy planes.

Three Nike plane killers were used, plus a towering Corporal, two Honest John surface-to-surface missiles, two racing Little Johns and a ground-hugging Dart antitank missile. There were no new missiles.

Save Your Vision Week Proclaimed

SAVE YOUR VISION WEEK—Dr. Kenneth L. Quiggins, Mayor W. L. Whedbee and Dr. Sam T. White II look over a proclamation dedicating Save Your Vision Week. The proclamation was signed by the mayor. The special week will be observed March 3-9. (Reflector Staff Photo).

Pitt County optometrists will join with others throughout the state in the observance of "Save Your Vision Week" March 3-9.

Mayor W. L. Whedbee proclaimed the special week yesterday.

"Adequate Vision for School Achievement" is the slogan of the 1957 observance in honor of the centennial of the National Education Association.

This year is also the Golden Anniversary year of the North Carolina State Optometric Society. Optometrists from Greenville and nearby towns will appear before Parent-Teacher Associations and other groups during the week to explain the connection between "Eyes and Learning."

The area Save Your Vision Week Committee is composed of Drs. Sam T. White, II, Kenneth L. Quiggins and Stephen Sudor.

The mayor's proclamation read: "Whereas the teachers of our children are this year observing the centennial of the National Education Association and

"Whereas adequate vision is a primary requirement for children to achieve in school and obtain full benefit of the talent and time of teachers and

"Whereas our teachers and their organization merit all the honor consideration that appreciative parents and other citizens can give them,

"Therefore be it resolved that I, the mayor of Greenville, North Carolina, do hereby proclaim

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery

Finds Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain—without surgery.

In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual retraction (shrinkage) took place.

Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne)—discovery of a world-famous research institute.

This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation H. At your druggist. Money back guarantee.

Ayden Basketballers Sweep Pitt County Tournament

Ayden's high school eagles made a clean sweep of the Pitt County Conference Tournament Saturday night, copping both the boys and girls championships in twin surprise victories.

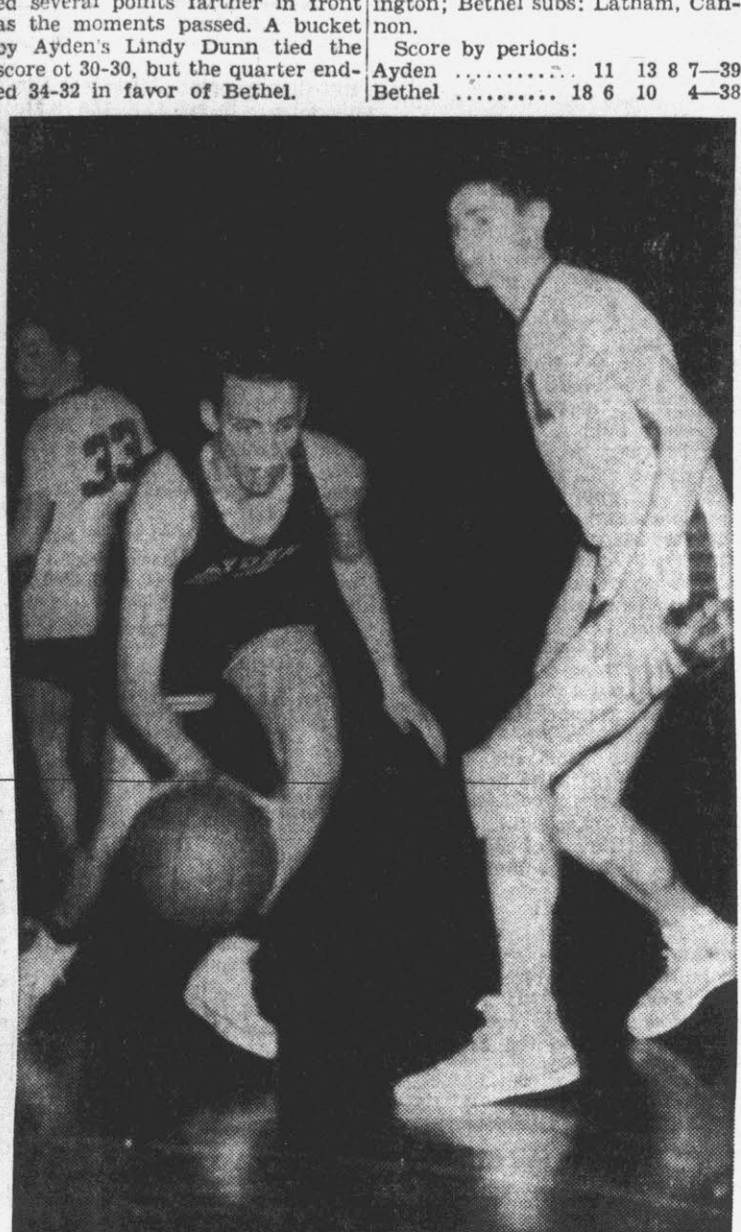

The Ayden girls upset a favored Winterville crew 52-43 in the first game of the night and the boys eked out a narrow win over mighty Bethel, 39-38, in the tournament's final match.

In the third period, Ayden continued to plunk in 12 points, while Winterville's output was cut to five. Dorothy Evans paced the Winterville club to 12 more in the final stanza, but Ayden added 13 to still outdo them. It ended 52-43.

The final period was a low-scoring one. Ayden accounted for seven points, while Bethel contributed only four. Ronnie Tripp sunk a field goal to tie the game again at 36-36 with less than five minutes remaining.

Helen Long of the winning Ayden team hooks a pass over the head of a Winterville defender in the finals of girls' action in the County Tournament Saturday night. Ayden won the girls' championship by a 63-48 score.

Fast dribbling by Lindy Dunn of the Ayden Tornadoes held to set up a scoring play for the new county champions. Dunn had an important role in the Ayden victory over Bethel, regular season winners in the county conference. (Reflector Sports Photos).

Ayden's Burt Tripp cuts down one of the nets in East Carolina College's gym after the Tornadoes had defeated Bethel for the Pitt County Conference championship. Ayden won the game, 39-38.

Rosenbluth And Wallace Paced Voting For All-ACC Cage Team

RALEIGH (AP) — Lennie Rosenbluth, who led North Carolina to an undefeated 24-0 regular season, and high-scoring Grady Wallace of South Carolina were unanimous choices on the All-Atlantic Coast Conference basketball team announced today by the Atlantic Coast Sports Writers Assn.

Williams had a close squeeze over Bob O'Brien of Maryland. Williams collected 166 points, six more than O'Brien. O'Brien actually drew more first team votes than Williams, 17 to 14.

William's, Rosenbluth and Murdock are repeaters from the 1956 All-ACC team picked by the writers' association. This is the second time this season these three have been honored by the ACSWA.

District NAIA Playoffs Slated

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Two districts of the National Assn. of Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA) will hold playoffs in North Carolina this week starting tomorrow night at Elon College.

Some of the more pessimistic may have thought Western Carolina was going to make the finals an old, sad story for Lenoir Rhyne. The Catamounts, whose guard Harry Pryor scored 18 points, pushed into a 10-point lead in the first half before the Bears got their first basket.

Lenoir Rhyne Beats Jinks, Writes New North State Tourney Records

LEXINGTON, N. C. (AP)—Lenoir Rhyne, which dominated North State Conference basketball this season from the first days of autumn, rolled over a four-year-old jinx and a couple of pages from the record book in capturing its third tournament championship.

In the second half, with Wells guarded closely, Cornwell opened up to spark the Bears' rally. Lenoir Rhyne jumped to a 44-38 lead and never was headed thereafter. Cornwell finished with 22 points to lead both teams in scoring.

Missing Child Is Found Dead In Vacant House

BELLMAWR, N.J. (AP) — The search for tiny Mary Jane Barker ended in a closet of a vacant ranch house yesterday where a playmate found the huddled body of the pretty, blonde child.

Six-year-old Maria Fietta, visiting the newly built house of her aunt, playfully threw open a closet door. Her puppy, which had disappeared along with Mary Jane last Monday, bounded out, alive and frisky. On the floor lay 4-year-old Mary Jane, her blonde tresses covered by the hood of her jacket.

A medical authority connected with the investigation — he declined to be identified — said in his opinion the child probably died of fright and starvation after being trapped in the cold darkness with the black spaniel puppy. A preliminary autopsy indicated Mary Jane had eaten nothing since she drank a glass of chocolate milk shortly before she vanished about 10:30 a.m. last Monday.

Edward Garrity, Bellmawr police chief, said his men had thoroughly checked the brick, one-story home the day after Mr. and Mrs. Frank Barker reported their daughter missing. He said there were no marks of violence apparent on the child's body but he offered the opinion she had been taken to the house recently.

County authorities declined to make any official statements.

Camden County Coroner Robert J. Blake said the child's vital organs would be sent to Trenton for tests at the New Jersey police laboratory. The dog was sent to a veterinarian to determine how long it had gone without food.

Mary Jane was found only two blocks from her home, and only 50 feet from where Mrs. Mary Fietta last saw her playing with the puppy.

Police told this story: Maria went with her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Pat Vecchia, to visit the ranch house the Vecchias expect to move into shortly. Maria entered the master bedroom and, with childish curiosity, she pulled open the closet door. Out leaped the puppy. Maria screamed to her aunt, who rushed in and saw the little body huddled in the corner.

Police sought the answers to a number of puzzling questions: Why didn't the dog bark or make some sort of noise when searchers poked noisily about the house? Did anyone look in the closet where the body was found? Investigators believe Mary Jane was alive when she entered the closet.

Will Re-Occupy Ice Island 'T3'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force said today it plans to reoccupy this week the floating ice island in the arctic it calls T3.

The Air Force also soon will establish a new floating post on the ice pack north of Alaska, some 700 miles west of T3.

The two positions, within 525 miles of the North Pole, will be used for scientific observations during the 18-month International Geophysical Year starting July 1.

T3, also known as Fletcher's Island, drafts in a counter clockwise direction around the pole at the rate of about a mile and a half a day. It moves westward along the Canadian coast into the Beaufort Sea, across the pole and back to the area of Ellesmere Island.

The other station, on ice only 10 to 12 feet thick, will accommodate 10 Air Force support personnel and 10 scientists, led by Maurice Davidson, from Columbia University's Lamont Geological Observatory. The island will be serviced by Air Force units in Alaska.

Fletcher's Island will be served from Thule Air Base in Greenland. It is 4 1/2 miles wide and 9 miles long, and the ice averages about 150 feet in thickness.

The island was occupied from March 1952 until May 1954, and in 1955 from June until September. Used for weather observations, it was abandoned when it drifted into areas served by more permanent stations.

The Air Force will fly in 14 36-foot house trailers for use as laboratories as well as housing quarters on T3. Fifteen airmen, all volunteers, will be stationed there.

Maj. Willie Knudson from 8th Air Force headquarters at Westover Air Force Base, Mass., will head the T3 military group. The scientific leader there will be Norman Goldstein of the Air Force Geophysical Research Directorate at Cambridge, Mass.

In addition to weather studies, the scientists will measure the current flow, temperature and salinity of the ocean water at various depths, and will study the ocean bottom and marine life.

Changes In Faculty At Belvoir-Falkland

By ANNE HARRIS
Belvoir - Falkland Reporter

A number of faculty changes have taken place at Belvoir-Falkland during the past couple of weeks.

Mrs. Evelyn Finch resigned as Science teacher and was replaced by Mrs. Elizabeth Wilson. Another change occurred in the Elementary Department when Mrs. Betty Credle resigned as fourth grade teacher. She was replaced by Mrs. Pat James, wife of our Agriculture teacher.

Practice teachers who left at the end of the quarters were Jay B. Nichols and Ann Sauls, Business Department, and Lem Cox, Physical Education Department. They have been replaced by Marshall Bains, physical Education Department; Arthur Bodkin, Social Studies Department; and Sybil Wilson and Mr. Carr, Business Department.

Beta Club members met at activity period last week to discuss plans for the Beta Club's District Convention at Ayden March 7.

One of the biggest (and most humorous) events at BFGHS this year took place February 22 when a Woman's Wedding was sponsored by the Belvoir P.T.A. Members of the cast were Julius Parker, Roy Jones, Willie Hill, Oscar Norville, Autry Hamill, Dennis Manning, Howard Garris, Roy Stancill, Frank Corbette, Will Tyson, Gene Tucker, David Moore, Ozzie Wilson, Eugene James, Joe Moore, J. B. Waters, Donald Woodson, J. D. Harrington, Richard Manning, Milton Elks, Atlas Woodson, Leonard Little, Marvin Deans, Marshall Joyner, Willard Wooten and O. H. Forrest.

Future Farmers of America sponsored an open dance on February 23 in the Falkland Community Building. Approximately 60 teenagers attended the dance which was chaperoned by Eugene James, club sponsor.

Sociology Class members have completed a series of six films and panel discussions held during assembly periods the last three weeks. The meetings were requested by the school committee which stated that teen-agers should and could have more of their questions about dating and marriage answered through such discussions.

'Calm' Until He Saw Fire Site

WENATCHEE, Wash. (AP) — Fireman Marvin Strop calmly took a fire alarm call from an excited woman.

He quickly sounded the alarm for the fire truck dash to 1236 8th St.

Then he recognized the address. "Hey!" he exclaimed. "That's my house."

The voice on the telephone had been his wife's.

Strop and other firemen handled the emergency quickly. It was a burning pan of grease. The only damage was from smoke.

Two Lawmakers Among Speakers On ECC Program

Principal speakers at East Carolina College in a week of special programs marking the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of the college March 8, 1907, include Sen. A. S. Monmoney, Democrat of Oklahoma, and Congressman Patrick J. Hillings, Republican, California, who will appear Thursday, March 7, at a World Affairs Institute; and Dr. Henry H. Hill, president of George Peabody College, Nashville, Tenn., who will make the Founder's Day address Friday, March 8.

The program of events for the Golden Anniversary Celebration has been announced by East Carolina President John D. Messick. Included will be a concert by the National Symphony orchestra Tuesday, March 5, at 8 p.m. in the Wright auditorium and two televised Founders Day programs, the first scheduled for March 3 at 1:30 p.m. over Channel 9 and the second for March 10 at 1:30 p.m. over Channel 7.

Monmoney and Hillings will discuss "Prospects for Peace" at morning, afternoon, and night meetings Thursday. Their talks will emphasize the economic, military, and diplomatic outlook in the United States and other nations today. John C. Metcalf, noted Washington news analyst, will act as moderator.

Programs for the institute will include a general assembly at 9 a.m. in the Wright auditorium, an informal discussion at 2 p.m. in the Y Hut, a television program over Channel 9 at 3:30 p.m., and a forum at 7:30 p.m. in the Austin auditorium. The public is invited to attend.

The March 8 Golden Anniversary program will begin at 10:45 in the Wright building with an academic procession of East Carolina faculty members and of representatives of many colleges and universities in this country.

Dr. Hill's topic will be "A Modern Educational Renaissance." He will be introduced by Dr. J. Harris Parks of Raleigh, Director of Higher Education in North Carolina.

President Messick will welcome guests; and the Rev. Alexander Livesay, rector of the Havelock Episcopal Church and an alumnus of East Carolina, will give the invocation.

A program of music will include selections by the East Carolina Orchestra, the East Carolina College Choir, and a chorus of high school students from Ayden, Greenville, Kingston, New Bern, and Washington.

Dedication of East Carolina's newest building, named in honor of the late R.M. Garrett of Greenville, for many years a member of the college Board of Trustees, will take place Friday at 2 p.m. A portrait of Mr. Garrett, presented by members of his family, will be unveiled and accepted for the college by Arthur L. Tyler of Rocky Mount, chairman of the Board of Trustees.

Social events Friday will include a luncheon; a tea for students, faculty members, and visitors on the campus; and a dinner with members of several Greenville civic clubs as hosts.

ECC Orchestra To Perform Here March 12, 15

GREENVILLE, N.C. — The East Carolina College Orchestra under the direction of Dr. Kenneth N. Cuthbert, director of the department of music at the college, will perform at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday, March 12, in the Wright auditorium on the college campus for children in the Pitt County schools.

The same program will be performed March 15 for the pupils in the Greenville city schools at Wright Auditorium at 1:30 p.m. and in the Greenville High School auditorium at 8:45 a.m. This program will, also, feature the Greenville High School chorus under the direction of Miss Olga Shindler, choral director of Greenville High School.

The chief number will be "Peter and the Wolf" by Prokofieff, narrated by August Laube of Greenville. Included also will be selections from "Carmen" and compositions by Richard Strauss and Ferde Grofe.

ABC Men Also Extinguish Fires

ABC officers have a little bit of the fire fighter in their blood after this weekend.

The officers visited 1118-A Clark St. during the weekend and Marie Langley, Negro, apparently poured a quantity of bootleg liquor in a stove. A portion of the illegal booze dripped on the floor. The floor caught fire along with some clothing.

The officers extinguished the blaze and arrested the Langley woman for possession of non-tax-paid liquor.

Also located during the weekend was 35 gallons of non-tax paid liquor at 1503 Railroad St. Officers found six cases of booze in a trap about 16 feet long in the back yard. The trap was covered with two pieces of 8 by 12 inch lumber. Officer J.M. Ward reported. The liquor was contained in 70 half gallon jars.

Carlisle Smith, Negro, was arrested for possession of the liquor. ABC officers also arrested Matthew Parker, Negro, of the Bell Arthur section for possession of one gallon of bootleg whiskey and Bruce Riddick, Negro, of 207 First St. for possession of illegal booze.

Judge Concurrs, The Deceased Was Ungenerous

LONDON (AP) — Walter Howe, 84, bet on the horses twice in his life. Each time, back in the boom days of '29, he put up a shilling (14 cents) and lost it. He gave up betting after that.

But Mrs. Howe, who died in 1956 after 60 years of marriage, didn't forget. She said in her will that her husband had admitted "squandering" his money on those two bets in 1929, and that he would therefore get only 100 pounds ($280) out of her 3,000-pound ($8,400) estate.

"If I left any more he would only waste it," she wrote, willing the rest to charity.

Howe came to court yesterday to ask for a bigger share of the money. He said it was his earnings that his wife had saved and anyway he had never gambled in his life except for those two bets.

The judge agreed Mrs. Howe "was a mean, ungenerous woman." He ruled that Howe should have a life income from the estate and could keep the house he had bought in his wife's name.

Rich Township Has Only Symbolic Tax

HOLLAND TOWNSHIP, N. J. (AP) — If there's a heaven on earth for the poor struggling taxpayer, this rural township on the Delaware River is it.

It's a tax paradise where every day that the sun rises, $1,000 pours into the municipal treasury — enough to give every inhabitant $250 a year. And not one cent comes from residents of this Hunterdon County farmland.

In fact Holland Township is so rich, it levies a tiny tax just to keep the inhabitants in practice and justify the tax collector's job.

When the Township Council meets at today's budget hearing, it will report a surplus of over a million dollars.

All this comes from the little known state gross receipts tax levied on the township's richest member — the giant Holland generating station of the New Jersey Power and Light Co.

Last year alone the tax brought in $377,054 for the township's 1,500 residents.

There are no gold rush spending splurges here, however. Residents prefer to let the money go to their pocketbooks rather than their heads.

So the Council spends it on new roads — $142,280 worth in the last three years — or schools. Some $187,500 will be turned over this year to the Board of Education, saving it the trouble of raising its own funds. Last year the school board voted a substantial building addition.

The one tax the township does levy is for its share of the county tax. The rate for that, $1.80 per $100 of assessed valuation, is the lowest in the state.

The gross receipts tax is levied against properties of utility companies. Real and personal property of the companies is taxed and the receipts divided among the municipalities in proportion to the amount of company property within their borders.

HERB SEIFERT'S NEW NOVEL
"Il for Doctor Barton"

Elizabeth Seifert. Reprinted by permission of the publisher, Head & Co. Distributed by King Features Syndicate.

CHAPTER 32
Grady Barton snatched a plastic cloth from the kitchen table, and spread it atop Mrs. Schmieder's own soft bed. He helped get the burdened woman out of her heavy coat, he took off her shoes.
"This here's a Doc," announced Pearl Broni at his shoulder.
Grady straightened and stepped to a place against the wall. Dr. Tomyanovic came in and the two men looked at each other. They could hear Mrs. Schmieder advising the anguished father to stay in the living room. "I got two docs stayin' with me," she comforted him. "Your wife'll be fine."
And still her "two docs" stared at each other, beginning to realize the horror of their position. They could not, they must not touch the woman upon the bed. To save a life, almost anyone could have helped deliver her child. A policeman, the druggist, Pearl or Mrs. Schmieder. But not Grady Barton, M.D. Not Dr. Stanley Tomyanovic, D.P.
"Pearl!" said Grady in a loud voice. "I'll tell you and Mrs. Schmieder exactly what to do."
"But, Doc, you're here, and—" "I'm here, and I'll help you. Now, do what I say, and it will be all right."
He did what he could. And things were all right. It was a routine delivery, though accompanied by considerable pain.
But finally, at ten o'clock, the baby was safely born. Pearl took charge of the infant, while Mrs. Schmieder, still following Grady's directions cared for the mother. As a final act, Grady carried the woman upstairs to his own room and bed; he would, he said, move to the motel down the street for the night.
He talked to the father, particularly instructing him as to the registration of the baby's birth.
"But can't you tend to that, Doc?" asked the excited young man.
"No. I didn't deliver the child. It was done under emergency conditions — but the birth has to be registered. And, if I were you, I'd move them on to the hospital tomorrow. By ambulance."

ly goggles.
He waited for Mo Chronister to state his business. Beside him, Joe Perry looked distressed.
All down the aisles of the big room, machines were being shut off and men stood still, listening.
"As Prosecuting Attorney, Grady," Joe was endeavoring to explain, "I had to let him—"
"It's all right, Joe. I understand. What is it now, Mo?"
"This time, it seems, Doc, that in spite of your license being revoked, you not only delivered a baby, you had the unmitigated nerve to bring the patient to your own bedroom to do it. Guess you didn't figure on the father's registering the kid's birth so quick."
"Oh, Lord, thought Grady, could that fool guy have put my name down as attending doctor? He should have waited — the hospital would have made out the certificate — an emergency birth—"
A red haze began to swirl through Grady's mind.
... amounts to an illegal operation. "Mo was saying, 'Seems you're everything, Barton, from a phillandering liar to a dishonest doctor...'
Grady took a step toward him. Mo took a step back.
Grady looked around. Joe Perry face was clay-colored. All the workmen were leaning forward.
"If you'll step outside, Mr. Chronister," said Grady tightly, "I'll get this matter straightened out for you. If you won't step outside, you can give me an apology here and now. Because you know the exact circumstances of that baby's birth — and any little detail that isn't known, I'm ready to knock into you."
"I guess with all these witnesses, I can afford to beat your ears off, Doc," said Mo, swaggering toward the wide doors which a half-dozen men sprang to open.
It was not raining, but the stone chips of the driveway were dark with last night's rain. Mo took off his gaudy raincoat and his suit coat; Grady handed his mask to one of the workmen.
A circle was immediately formed by the factory men, Joe Perry among them. Faces appeared at the windows of the second floor — quiet faces, watchful, neither friendly nor unfriendly — just ready to see these two men fight out the quarrel which all knew had been building between them throughout the winter.
"I hate to do this to you, Doc," said Mo, swinging his doubled fist at Grady's chin.
But the gleaming red head had jerked back; the fist fanned air, and Grady came in with a left hook which sent Mo back on his heels. Then Mo would have grappled, but Grady put his two hands on his shoulders and pushed him away, coming in again with a swift right jab and another uppercut.
Blood began to run down Mo Chronister's chin. Angered at the taste of it, he bored in, by sheer weight knocking the breath from Grady's lungs. He stepped back, circling, watching, his face still, his hands ready. Mo, fists flailing, was beginning to talk, to shout, to threaten. Grady watched for his chance.
The better man is sometimes bettered. Who comes out best is revealed in Chapter 33 tomorrow.

Unaccounted For Following Fire

ST. JOSEPH Mo. 6p — Police and firemen are trying to find a trace of Walter Haber, 67, the only one unaccounted for after fire destroyed the Jerome Hotel and an adjoining restaurant in downtown St. Joseph yesterday morning.
Forty-five persons escaped from the hotel in their night clothes. An elevator operator said he thought Haber was in his room. Cause of the fire remained undetermined and there was no immediate estimate of the loss.

HONEY HELPS

GENEVA, N. Y. 6p — The New York State Agriculture Experiment Station says that a tablespoon or two of honey will make a drunken person sober. The sugars in the honey cause a chemical breakdown in the alcohol in the system. The same treatment may be helpful in routing a hangover, the station reports.

Model T Comes With TV Model

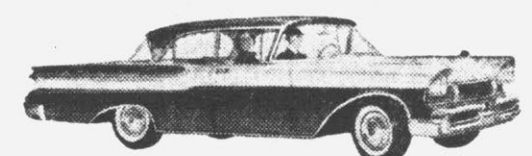

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP) — When Henry Ford made his Model A he probably never dreamed it would be equipped with television but it has in Hollywood.
Jesse James, 20, is a parking attendant at a night spot. He needed some way to while away the long night hours. So he installed a $115 television set in his Model A Ford, vintage 1928, for which he paid only $5.
James put the TV in the trunk of the car. He hooks it up to the parking lot floodlight system. Now he can pull up an easy chair, open the trunk and watch the late, late show.
"Of course I have to get up once in a while to park a car or two," he said, "but I try to do that during the commercials."

Without lifting a bag, without handling high-pressure equipment, you can feed your crops all the nitrogen they need for big profitable yields. A simple tractor spray rig enables you to feed URAN Nitrogen to 100 to 200 acres of crops per day.
- 2. Quick-acting, long-lasting URAN supplies nitrate, urea and ammonia nitrogen in an ideal combination to feed your crops well from planting time until a profitable crop is matured.
- 3. Easy to apply any time, in spray or dribble top-dressing or side-dressing, or added to irrigation water, you can feed URAN Nitrogen to your crops any time they need it.
- 4. Helps build big yields at low cost. ARCADIAN URAN spreads so easily to boost crop yields that your cost per pound applied on the ground is low for the results you get. It pays to buy URAN Nitrogen Fertilizer Solution.

Stock And Market Reports

ket made a general advance in fairly active trading early this afternoon.

Key stocks were up from fractions to a point or so.

The advance was seen by brokers as a continuation of the rally late Friday on news that Israel had agreed to withdraw from the Gaza Strip and the Gulf of Aqaba.

Steels were up moderately despite reports of further easing of demand in the industry. Coppers were up, although it was reported that buying of the red metal was still cautious.

Gulf Oil was ahead around a point but Royal Dutch showed little change. Standard Oil (New Jersey) was a 1-point gainer. Texaco and Sinclair were firm to higher. Amerada, a big domestic producer, was up more than 2.

Allegheny Ludlum picked up well over a point and Lukens Steel established a 1-point gain. U.S. Steel, Republic Steel and Youngstown rose fractionally while Bethlehem was steady.

Republic Aviation and General Dynamics were ahead fractions. United Aircraft lost about a point. Boeing eased and Douglas was steady.

Leading rails were mostly higher or up by small fractions. The gainers included Southern Railway.

Chrysler picked up a major fraction and General Motors was firm. American Telephone climbed a point. Westinghouse Electric, Kennecott and American Cyanamid were other 1-point gainers. High-priced International Business Machines added 5.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 40 cents to $173.30 with the industrials up 50 cents, the rails up 10 cents and the industrials up 20 cents.

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA)—North Carolina poultry markets: fryers and broilers unsettled, farm price 20 to 21, mostly 20, no f.o.b. sales reported.

Raleigh eggs steady. A large 33-35; Durham eggs steady. A large 33-35; Asheville eggs steady. A large 33; Charlotte eggs steady. A large 32.

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA) Hogs prices steady to 25 higher. Tops of 16.50 to 17.25 at Tarboro and Enfield; 16.25 to 17.00 at Rocky Mount, Wingeate and Bethel; 15.75 to 17.00 at Hillsboro; 16.25 to 16.75 at Kinston, New Bern, Benson, Pine Level and Nahant; 16.50 at Lumberton, Smithfield, Newton Grove, Mount Olive, Castle Hayne, Shalotte, Dunn, Spring Hope, Balford, Clarkton and Whiteville; 16.25 at Rich Square, Fayetteville, Micro, Clinton, Elizabethtown, Siler City, Clayton, Mount Gilead, Kenly, Goldsboro and Tabor City.

Two Arrested On Larceny Count; Radio Is Stolen

Local police arrested John Henry Edwards, 35-year-old Negro of Green Street and James D. Cross, 46-year-old Negro of 1012 Fleming Street over the weekend on charges of larceny.

The two men were charged with stealing approximately $75 worth of pipe from the Williams Plumbing Company here. Owner C. E. Williams filed the complaint Saturday morning.

Louis Roehr of 302 East Broad Street, Bethlehem, Pennsylvania reported to police Sunday morning a larceny case involving a short-wave radio.

According to reports the radio, valued at $550, was stolen from a Ercoupe airplane parked in the hangar at the Greenville Airport. Roehr states that the theft occurred sometime between February 2 and March 3.

The Greenville police are conducting an investigation.

Two Injured In Auto Collision Near Winterville

A two-car collision occurred Saturday morning at 11:15 on the Old May Road, two miles out of Winterville.

Involved in the accident were Mrs. Veima Hart of Deland, Florida and Mrs. Charles V. Wilkerson of 1042 East Rock Spring Road. Mrs. Hart was charged with failure to yield the right of way and failure to stop for a stop sign.

Two persons received personal injury. Mrs. Wilkerson suffered from broken ribs and was admitted to Pitt Memorial Hospital shortly after 12 o'clock while Mrs. Hart suffered lacerations of the head and a sprained back.

The investigating officer, Patrolman Dick Taylor, stated this morning that damages were estimated at $1,200 to the 1956 vehicle being operated by Mrs. Wilkerson and $700 to the 1951 automobile driven by Mrs. Hart.

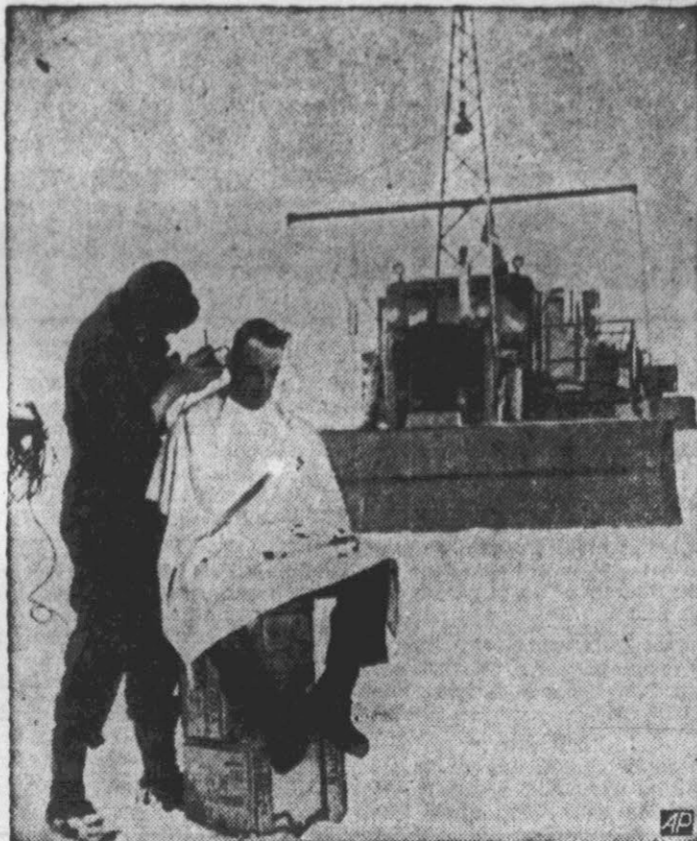

There are about 220,300 miles of railway lines in the United States.

Honor Pupils Listed At Stokes-Pactolus

By ANNETTE HUDSON
Stokes-Pactolus Reporter
Honor Roll and Principal's List students at Stokes-Pactolus School were named for the six-week marking period which ended recently.

Honor Roll students include: Fourth grade: Kathy Hardison, Martha McKinney, Jill Warren, Mike Clark, Blaney Parker, and William Jenkins.

Fifth grade: L. E. Bullock, Shirley Meeks, Diane Whitehurst, Elaine Buck, Dwight Bullock, and Dennis Alexander.

Sixth grade: Ella Grace Stokes, Judy Warren, Rosalyn Fleming, Jennie K. Forbes, Franklin Congleton, Judy Taylor and Celia Wynne.

Tenth grade: Faye Page and Shirley Whitehurst.

Eleventh grade: Sylvia Nelson.

Twelfth grade: Aiva Chauncey, Mary Erna Hawkins, Patsy James, and Nannette Whitehurst.

Principal's List students include: Fourth grade: Jean Heath, Carol House and Latha Harrell.

Fifth grade: Steve Whitehurst, Faye Taylor, Carlton Meeks, Roy Whitchard, Tracy Barnhill, Enda Malloy, J. D. Joyner, Clifton Butler, Sylvia Jones, Jeannette Farmer, Larry McKee and Becky Whitehurst.

Sixth grade: Carroll Fleming, Dickie Leggett and Billy Roebuck.

Seventh grade: Phyllis Barnhill, Linda Warren, Judy Heath and Edith Briley.

Eighth grade: Carl Heath, Joel Jenkins, Edith Nelson and Mary Nelson.

Ninth grade: Rosalie Tripp and Johnny Laughlin.

Tenth grade: James Curtis, Coy Buck, Nancy Stocks and Linda Johnson.

Eleventh grade: Joyce Cherry, Frances Toler and Annette Hudson.

Twelfth grade: Billy Tripp and Cynthia Parker.

The first eight grades spent an hour in the auditorium on February 22, watching the sixth grade's chapel program. A talent show, a skit and a fashion show were included.

Talent show participants include Rosalyn Fleming, Ella Grace Stokes, Judy Taylor, Jean Fleming, Judy Bullock, Billy Roebuck, Dickie Leggett, Ann Wallace, Frankie Lamb, Celia Wynne, Franklin Congleton, and Jennie Forbes.

The fashion show included demonstrations on types of clothes to wear on different occasions. The boys' skit, entitled "It's a Gift," was a mimic of girls' activities.

Science students have just completed a study unit on weather. A spring unit in which plants will be studied is being planned.

Third-year Home Economics students gave a fashion show last Tuesday. The girls modeled lightweight spring suits they have been making in class.

suggested to benefit the "health and comfort" of the children. The facts are that the graduates today need to be made tougher, rather than softer. This is the way to cut costs, reduce taxes, and graduate better students.

Although the automobile has given the state and counties more income, yet it has vastly increased the expenses for roads, police protection, and parking facilities. This last is becoming a most important question. Good downtown parking facilities must be provided to enable retailers to continue prosperous. However, parents not only believe that the city should provide parking facilities for their automobiles but also parking facilities for their children!

I believe the present school system is luxurious and expensive because of the desire of parents for places to park their children while they are at club meetings or out working. I therefore forecast a complete revolution in school construction, in school maintenance, in the number of teachers required, and in the school curriculum.

Yvonne Moving Up Into Better Movies

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — It's a big jump from queen of the sex-and-sand epics to Clark Gable's costar, but Yvonne de Carlo has made it.

The Vancouver (B.C.) vamp is now playing opposite the King in "Band of Angels." A year ago, folks would have said it couldn't happen. But that was a year ago.

Yvonne herself realizes the change in her career. She has always been realistic and down-to-earth.

"It has been a combination of circumstances," she said. "For one thing, there was 'The 10 Commandments.' And at the same time, I changed agents."

Changing agents is a popular pastime with the stars who want action in their careers. In Yvonne's case, it worked. Her new agent was also Gable's and he was seeking a costar for "Band of Angels."

But a berth with Gable would not have been possible except for the DeMille epic. Yvonne was cast as the wife of Moses and surprises everyone. The film featured some pretty horrendous acting, and Yvonne's calm, workmanlike job stood out brilliantly.

Yvonne's success may also be due to the fact that she is a better performer than she was in the days when she presided over Universal's desert dramas.

"They didn't even give me a chance to do anything important over there," she remarked. "And I wasn't too selective when I got out. I loved to travel, and when somebody said there was a picture I could do in Timbuktu, I'd start packing my bag."

Eventually she settled down, married stunt man Bob Morgan and had a baby son, Bruce. She also settled down to improving her dramatic abilities.

A week of prayer is being observed this week, leading up to Quarterly Conference, at Holy Trinity Church on Douglas avenue. The public is invited.

Mount Hermon Lodge No. 35, Free and Accepted Masons, Greenville, has issued the following notice to its members: "The week beginning March 4 has been designated as 'Paint Up-Clean Up Week' by our lodge. Each member who can paint is asked to be at the lodge hall at 6:30 p.m. Monday with your paint brush. If you cannot paint, come anyhow. There will be something for you to do. Lonnie Anderson, master, and William M. Myers, secretary."

York Memorial Church will have a special conference at the church Tuesday night at 8 o'clock.

Household of Ruth No. 310 will meet at the Knights of Pythias hall on Albemarle avenue Tuesday night at 8 o'clock. Important business is to be considered.

The Greenville City Barbers Club will meet at Mr. T. J. White's place, 600 South Pitt street, Tuesday night at 8 o'clock.

The Spiritual Singers will present a program of songs at Fleming Street School next Sunday night at 7:30. An entertaining program has been arranged and the public is invited. A nominal admission fee will be charged.

Edgar Barnes Post No. 222, American Legion, will meet tonight at 8 o'clock at Norfolk's Tea Room on West Fifth street. C. C. McGlone is post commander.

The "Living With Teenagers" study group will have its last meeting tonight in the homemaking department of C. M. Eppes High School at 7:30. Adults and a group of teenagers will discuss together problems that affect living happily in the home and the community. All parents and interested persons are invited to attend. A clothing construction class will be organized at C. M. Eppes High School on March 11, at 7:30 in the homemaking department. There will be no charge for this course. Miss Erma C. Staplefoote, homemaking teacher, stated.

TO DISCUSS BILL
WASHINGTON, N.C. — A mass meeting of farmers to discuss the Bonner tobacco bill and other farm matters has been called for Thursday night, March 7 in Washington.

Fred Royster of Henderson, president of the Bright Belt Tobacco Warehouse Association, will be present to discuss the proposed Bonner bill with the farmers. Under terms of Bonner's bill the Department of Agriculture would be authorized to hold a referendum immediately to allow farmers the opportunity of deciding whether or not they want to increase tobacco acreage by 10 percent. Acreage was cut 20 percent last December.

IN SIX MONTHS
GOLDSBORO — Eighty-one Wayne County children were treated for poisoning during the last six months of last year, a survey by Dr. Arthur S. Chesson, Wayne County Health office, showed Saturday.

Three died.

One doctor alone reported 15 cases of children drinking or eating poisons. Kerosene and medicines left where children could reach them dominated the list of causes. Two of the known deaths were from children eating rat poison. The other was from arsenic stored in a mayonnaise jar.

RELEASE WORKERS
CHERRY POINT — A 17-cent-an-hour pay raise for "blue collar" industrial workers at the Marine Corps Air Station at Cherry Point, has resulted in releasing an estimated 42 workers from the payrolls by March 22.

The pay raise, which was deemed necessary to keep abreast of the prevailing wage scale of the eastern North Carolina area, coupled with no increase with the overall budget was deemed the cause for the releasing of the 42 workers.
