Navy Tanker Sinks After Collision; 10 Men Missing

NEW CASTLE, Del. (AP)—A violent midships explosion tore a Navy tanker apart today in a collision with a freighter in the Delaware River early today. At least ten crew members of the tanker, including the captain and most of his deck officers, were missing. The captain of the freighter, the Elina II, reported several hours after the collision that all 23 members of his crew had been accounted for. The tanker, the Mission San Francisco, sank almost immediately in shallow wa-

Smiles Before Breakfast

Republican Congressman Patrick J. Hillings (right) of California and Democratic Senator A. S. (Mike) Monroney (second from right) of Oklahoma joined with Washington, D. C., news analyst Dr. John C. Two City Councilmen File For Re-Election To Posts

Two of Greenville's present City Councilmen filed for re-election to the city's governing body this morning. Mayor Pro-tem S. Eugene West and Councilman C. Wesley Harvey Jr. tossed their hats in the political ring by officially paying their $1 filing fee today. There are now four candidates for the five seats on the City Council. Voters will go to the polls May 7 to choose those who will serve on the Council for the next two years. Also to be elected is a city judge and a solicitor. In announcing his candidacy West said: "Being a member of the City Council has been a pleasure and an education to me for the past four years. I am very interested in future planning for our city and I certainly hope that plans are now working on can be carried through. If the citizens of Greenville so desire I will appreciate the opportunity to serve another term. We have a well qualified city manager to handle the affairs of Greenville and I have enjoyed my work with him since he accepted the job. I am still in favor of honest, efficient and impartial city government."

C. WESLEY HARVEY, JR.

Councilman Harvey stated: "It has certainly been an education to me to serve as a councilman. I have learned the workings of our city and I'm proud to have had this opportunity. My decisions have always been conscientious and I thought the best decisions at the time for the good of the city. I feel that much has been accomplished and I hope to see Greenville progress even more in the future. If I can help in this program I will be more than happy to give up my time and efforts to such a program." Harvey, 49, is owner of Cold Storage, Inc. He is a native of Greenville and attended Duke University. Harvey served three and one-half years in the army during World War II and prior to that time he was connected with a coal and ice business locally. In 1946 he became an official of Cold Storage, Inc. He has served as president of the Merchants Association. He is married to the former May Johnson Eure of Ayden and the Harveys have one daughter. They reside on E. Wright Rd. West is 43 years old. He is a member of the P. S. West Construction Co. He is married to the former Vivian Smith of Greenville and has been a resident of this city for the past ten years. The Wests reside at 1101 E. Tenth St. Each of the two candidates have served two terms on the Council. Each was elected to the first City Council to govern the city after Plan D form of government was approved and the old Board of Aldermen type government voted out. All the candidates have filed this week. The Rev. O. J. Rooke paid his filing fee last Monday. Yesterday Lester Turnage announced that he would be a candidate for election to the City Council. Deadline for filing is April 6.

Gaza Strip Now Under UN Flag As Israeli Withdraw

GAZA (AP)—The blue and white flag of the United Nations was raised over the Gaza Strip today, replacing the blue and white flag of Israel. All but a small contingent of Israeli soldiers left the troubled Mediterranean coastal area before dawn after 125 days of occupation. The rest will complete the withdrawal later today. Withdrawal moves also got under way in the Sharm el Sheikh area on the Gulf of Aqaba. Equipment and supplies for the small garrison there were loaded on ships and started back to Israel. The Israeli army said troops would be pulled out and administration of the area turned over to U. N. units tomorrow. The departure from Gaza of the victors in the October-November invasion went off without any major incidents reported. Some shots were heard in Gaza City during the early morning hours, but the cause of the firing was not immediately known. The withdrawing Israeli convoys were protected by armored patrol cars as they crossed into Israel. Norwegian soldiers of the U. N. Emergency Force set up a sentry post and barrier at 6 a. m. at the Israeli frontier, two miles from Gaza City on the northern end of the narrow strip. Israeli border guards again manned their own sentry posts, which had been abandoned after the Israeli push into Gaza and the Sinai Desert. Throughout the strip, Israeli and U. N. forces moved swiftly to accomplish the historic change-over, virtually completing it 15 hours before the 24-hour deadline set by the Israeli command. Advance elements of 2,600 U. N. troops moved into the strip at 7 p. m. from the Sinai Peninsula. Despite a drenching rain, their jeeps and trucks rapidly deployed the soldiers from Denmark, Norway, Sweden, India and Colombia over the 26-by-8-mile stretch of coastal land. By 4 a. m. the bulk of the Israeli troops had pulled out, leaving the U. N. in control. The telephone connection linking police headquarters in Jerusalem and Gaza City was broken. The withdrawing Israelis left behind them in prison some 300 suspected fedayeen (commando) raiders. Their fate was up to the U. N. command. The Israelis had said they seized Gaza to wipe out the bases for Arab raids into Israel. UNEF headquarters was established in the large police fort in Gaza City — built by the British during the Palestine mandate and used by the Egyptians and the Israelis in their occupation. Maj. Gen. Moshe Dayan, Israeli army chief of staff, was on hand in the main square to greet the first elements of the U. N. force. "Is everything going all right?" Dayan asked the U. N. unit commander, Danish Col. Carl Engholm. "Everything is going well," Engholm replied. "I wish you good luck," Dayan said. They shook hands and Dayan stepped into his army sedan and drove off. Other first contacts between the withdrawing Israelis and incoming U. N. units appeared cordial but formal. The Israelis imposed a strict curfew through the towns of the strip for the operation. Most of the Arab population remained indoors, peering through windows at the U. N. troops. A few shots were heard as the UNEF units reached Gaza City, but they were said to have been Israeli warnings fired into the air to keep residents off the streets. About 50 Arabs defied the curfew and gathered near Gaza's main square to shout: "Long live Nasser! Long live Nehru! Long live Arab unity! Down with the imperialists!" Knight was being held behind the massive walls of Central Prison in Raleigh, the sheriff added, and "I'm going to keep him up there until feeling kind of dies down" at Bailey. Knight was "very frank about it," the sheriff said. "We had several little clues pointing to him. We picked him up and brought him over here (to Nashville) and questioned him, and after checking his story and checking the measurements of his shoes and finding some blood in his clothes, he got straight with us about the whole thing." Coroner M. C. Guley said the 43-year-old mother of four sons died Tuesday of a neck wound apparently inflicted with a short knife. Her body, fully clothed except for shoes, was found near a Boy Scout Camp four miles southeast of Bailey. The family car was mired in mud about 25 yards away. Womble said Knight told him he had been feeding hogs in back of the Manning home. The sheriff said Knight told him he went to the house about 2 p. m. Tuesday and she let him come in. "He's not in the habit of driving a car but he did know how to drive," Womble related. "He took us over the route, and he drove a different way from what we thought he did."

Admits Slaying Housewife As She Resisted

NASHVILLE, N. C. (AP)—A deaf mute Negro said he had intended to have intercourse with a white woman told officers he killed her when she resisted his advances. Sheriff Glenn Womble said today. Womble said he obtained a full statement, by means of exchanging notes, from Johnnie D. Knight Jr., 29. Womble said Knight would be charged with murder in the slaying of Mrs. Myra Brown Manning of Bailey, whose body was found in a patch of woods Tuesday night. Knight was being held behind the massive walls of Central Prison in Raleigh, the sheriff added, and "I'm going to keep him up there until feeling kind of dies down" at Bailey. Knight was "very frank about it," the sheriff said. "We had several little clues pointing to him. Both Democrat And Republican See Good Prospects Of Peace For U. S.

By JIMMY ELIJS Reflector Staff Writer A Democratic Senator and a Republican Representative agreed this morning that America's prospects for peace are good. The two, Senator A. S. (Mike) Monroney of Oklahoma and Representative Patrick J. Hillings of California, were featured speakers at the morning session of East Carolina College's fourth annual World Affairs Institute. They were scheduled for another discussion this afternoon at 2 o'clock, a television program at 3:30 p. m., and a public forum at 7:30 p. m. The 7:30 program is open to the general public and will include a question and answer period featuring Senator Monroney and Representative Hillings. Senator Monroney told the East Carolina College student body that passage of the Eisenhower Doctrine for the Middle East gives the United States "a start on solving the dangerous situation that exists in that critical area." Representative Hillings, who represents the district in California which sent Vice-President Richard Nixon to the House of Representatives, said, "Our understanding of the need for moral leadership and the outstanding prestige of President Eisenhower are strong factors in America's position of bright outlook. "The Eisenhower Doctrine shows what strong and determined leadership can do," Senator Monroney said. "Releasing $200,000,000 fund for economic development should have a far greater impact than use of military forces and I am very glad that both houses dealt with the matter in a strong bipartisan way." While he praised release of the money for use in the Middle East, Monroney cautioned against "give-aways and handouts" in areas which need economic development. "We need to put a complete new look on foreign aid," he said, "and put our faith in such organizations as the World Bank. The people in these countries which need economic aid don't want handouts and we have no right to put the leaders in those countries in a position where it will appear they are stooges for the United States." Representative Hillings told the students that the only real threat to the world today is "the international Communist conspiracy." He pointed out that Communist activity started building after World War II but he also claimed, "The tide is turning. Two countries, Austria and Guatemala, have turned their backs on Communism and there have been none to succumb in recent years. The Russians have been forced to establish a 'new look' at their program." The representative also said, "We have recognized that the best way to keep peace is to convince the Communists they will lose World War III. We have the necessary 'hardware,' planes, ships and guns, and while it's expensive to maintain such military preparedness, it is better to pay in dollars than to pay in blood." He added, "We are understanding more and more the need for moral leadership and it's paying off." He cited the receptions being given Vice-President Nixon on his present African tour and the realization by more people in the world that the United States recognizes them "as individuals, with respect for their human dignity." One of the youngest men ever elected to the House and a member of the "new Republican" team established by President Eisenhower, Hillings paid tribute to the President as "the greatest secret weapon we have." He called for more use of the President's "great personal prestige and leadership" and cited the transformation of India's Prime Minister Nehru from a "suspicious man to one who is convinced of Eisenhower's sincerity" as proof that reactions to the President are "on the plus side for the United States." There was no show of partisan politics in the program for the students. Both speakers stuck closely to a general theme, based on personal experiences and other information available to them. Prior to the student assembly, however, Senator Monroney suggested that recognition of Middle East problems "a year earlier" could have "lessened tensions and avoided loss of certain friendships with Great Britain and France." He made the suggestion in response to a direct question from a newsman about Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and the manner in which the United States' role in the Middle East had been handled. Pursuing the question further, Senator Monroney said, "Bargaining power weighs heavily with the Arabs and we have lost a bargaining position by making Nasser believe the Suez Canal is indispensable. Use of pipe lines would have given us that bargaining power." He also said, "If we had pushed U. S. production and forced Saudi and the others to see what Nasser was doing to their oil industry, we would have been in a much better position." Asked about his faith in the United Nations, Senator Monroney said, "The United Nations is all we've got. There are increasing problems for the organization but in the long pull we can avoid World War III by backing the United Nations." In the student assembly, in response to a question from Moderator Dr. John C. Metcalfe, Washington, D. C., news analyst, the Senator said, "A U. N. police force is the best way to prevent an armed conflict. However, that Middle East force is only a semblance of a police force and it will stay only as long as Nasser and the Israelis will have it." Senator Monroney called for a stronger U. N. police force, claiming "It is a thousand times easier to prevent a war than to stop one and a policeman on the beat is pretty good insurance." Representative Hillings, who made a big hit with his young audience, strayed from his prescribed topic a couple of times to stress the importance of young people taking an active part in politics and government. "Our American way of life gives us a lot of privileges," he said, "but is also brings great responsibility. Young people must accept that responsibility because we have the world's best system of individual freedom, economic freedom and government. Anything we have to do to protect and preserve those things is worth the price." The two speakers and Dr. Metcalfe arrived in Greenville last night. They spent the night on the campus and will remain through this evening.

Bulletin

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House today passed and sent to President Eisenhower a resolution declaring the United States is willing to fight if necessary to resist Communist aggression in the Middle East.

Narrow Escape From Explosion

Two local men narrowly escaped serious injury yesterday when a compressor, from an old refrigerator thrown in the fire, exploded. The two, Leon Mann, 63-year-old Negro of 1316 Clark Street and Richard Wynn, 51-year-old Negro of 304 Boyd Avenue, were wrecking old refrigerator units behind the C. H. Edwards Hardware store when the explosion took place on Dickinson Avenue. Neither one of the men were injured and there was no property damage. The incident occurred at approximately 10:50 a. m.

Two Resolutions Will Be Before City Council

City Councilmen will consider two Chamber of Commerce resolutions tonight, one calling for relocation of U. S. Highway 13 through a portion of the city and the second concerning the Morehead City Port. The city's governing body will also be asked to approve changes in the city's charter and in the Recreation Commission's ordinance to bring those two documents up to date under the Plan D form of government. The city's governing body meets at 8 o'clock in the Council room at City Hall. The Chamber of Commerce has asked in a resolution that U. S. 13 be rerouted from West End Circle along N. C. 11 to the U. S. 264 bypass. From there the new highway would follow the bypass to the present U. S. 13 route. The Morehead City Port resolution asks that the Legislature consider larger appropriations for that port than originally recommended. Both resolutions have received the backing of the County Commissioners. In line with the upcoming Clean Up-Paint Up campaign the councilmen will be asked to amend the city's laws concerning throwing trash on the streets to provide a fine for violation of that law. They will also be asked to appropriate funds for the erection of waste receptacles in the city's business streets. Councilmen will consider a petition calling for the annexation of certain property between E. Tenth St. and Greene Springs Park into the city limits. They must authorize the City Clerk to advertise for the Municipal Election on May 7 and they will consider bids received today for a crawler type tractor. Also to be considered is the purchase of steel forms for pouring curb and gutter and a request for a taxi franchise.

Extra Funds For Two State Ports Requested

RALEIGH (AP)—The State Ports Authority has gone to bat for the Morehead City and Wilmington ports in an effort to get increased funds above the amount recommended by the Advisory Budget Commission. SPA Chairman Edwin Pate of Laurinburg asked the Joint Appropriations Committee yesterday to put back into the SPA budget for the next biennium $2,235,236 for permanent improvements, not recommended by the budget commission. Of this amount, $1,050,000 was proposed for a new warehouse and other improvements at Morehead City. Pate presented his request following a meeting of the ports authority. A ports survey which favored developments of the Wilmington facilities over those at Morehead City came in for considerable criticism. The survey by James C. Buckley, Inc., a consulting firm of New York City, was used by Gov. Hodges and the Advisory Budget Commission as a basis for recommendations. Pate said in his opinion the authority had not favored either port. He added, "We have looked at this from a statewide viewpoint." Morehead City's case is "more meritorious than ever," Pate said, because of prospects that the Southern Railway may take over the Atlantic & East Carolina Railroad from Morehead City to Goldsboro. Mayor George Dill of Morehead City said citizens in this area "have not been able to go along with the theory of a one - port economy for North Carolina." He assured the ports authority he wants no feud with Wilmington. Wilmington Mayor Dan Cameron declared his city wants to get "what it justly deserves," but not at the expense of Morehead City. He said, "We wish our sister port all the success in the world." Buckley told the group not to look at the controversy with the attitude of "a plague on both your houses." Such an attitude, he asserted, would "be fatal to the state." He said improvements at both ports were important and urged development at both Wilmington and Morehead City. The Appropriations Committee received only one other request for an increased appropriation. Tax research director James S. Currie asked for $23,646 for the biennium to hire an assistant director and a clerk. Meanwhile, other legislative highlights yesterday included: The Senate passed on third reading and sent to the House a bill which would allow State Highway Patrolmen to use unmarked cars in nabbing drag racers and other speeders. Rep. B. C. Brock of Davie introduced a bill to make statewide in its application a law giving county commissioners authority to create county courts. A recent court decision, Brock pointed out, has raised a question as to the constitutionality of the law because a majority of the state's 100 counties are exempted from its application.

Eamon de Valera Wins Irish Elections In Big Comeback

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP) — Eamon de Valera won control of the Irish Parliament today in a dramatic political comeback. This means the old fighter—now 74 and nearly blind—will replace John A. Costello as Ireland's prime minister after three years on the sidelines as opposition leader. His Fianna Fail party already had nailed down 71 seats—with prospects of gaining more. Four rebellious Sinn Feiners said they are going to boycott the Dail. This means De Valera has a working majority in the 147-seat legislature, since he can count on three—and perhaps four, members who ran as Independents in Tuesday's voting. The Fine Gael of former Premier John A. Costello again was running a slow second with 32 seats. Others elected included 10 Laborites, 1 Republican, 3 Farmers and 7 Independents. The American-born "Dev" three years ago refused to form a coalition government when his party won only 65 seats. Costello, a Dublin lawyer, patched together a several-party cabinet. He resigned when one faction pulled out over the worsening economic condition. One of the problems confronting De Valera, last surviving commander of the 1916 rebellion against the British, was the rising tide of militancy in the republic against British rule over the six counties of Northern Ireland. The old patriot now has condemned attempts to settle the partition dispute by violence. The Sinn Fein, political arm of the outlawed Irish Republican Army which favors force if necessary to unite North and South Ireland, captured four parliamentary seats in a surprising show of strength. The New Dail will meet March 20 to elect the new Prime Minister. De Valera again has rejected suggestions that he form a "national unity" coalition government.

Charter Members Honored At Club Meeting

Charter members of the Clio Book Club became honor guests at the bi-weekly meeting held at the home of Mrs. John Adams, 509 E. Fourth St. The hostess surprised members and guests with a celebration of the club's 20th anniversary.

Mrs. C. M. Jones, mother of the hostess, Mrs. Earl Westbrook of Dunn and Mrs. Milton Moye of Tarboro, sisters of the hostess, helped receive at the door before Mrs. Rose Fambrough, president, began the meeting.

During a brief business session, the following officers for 1957-1958 were elected: Mrs. Dink James, president; Mrs. W. J. Stell Jr., vice president; Mrs. Jack Gates, secretary; Mrs. Luther Moore, treasurer.

Mrs. Adams then introduced the program speaker, Dr. Elizabeth Utterback of the East Carolina faculty, who read an original sonnet in commemoration of the birthday celebration. A copy was given to each member.

Dr. Utterback discussed Eugene's autobiographical play, "Long Day's Journey Into Night." This somber play, written by a three-time Pulitzer prize winner, was dedicated to his wife, Carlotta, on their 12th anniversary, and was published posthumously.

The group was invited into the dining room where the club cake decorated in the Clio colors of purple and yellow was placed on an imported cut-work cloth with two small vases of hyacinths and jonquills on either side. Larger arrangements of jonquills were centered throughout the room.

Mrs. Jones and Mrs. Hugh Ragsdale assisted in serving a colorful salad plate.

Mrs. Adams gave each charter member present a token gift of remembrance.

Guests included Mrs. K. B. Pace, Mrs. Reid Perkins, Miss Eliza Moore, Mrs. Hugh Ragsdale, Mrs. Hoover Taft, Mrs. M. T. Simpson and Mrs. Luther Herring.

Mrs. H. C. Sug was hostess to the Literary Club on Tuesday at her home on E. Ninth Street. This department is being asked to sponsor the literary contest being held throughout the county schools this week and next.

Miss Mammie Jenkins had charge of the program. During a social chat, the hostess, assisted by Mrs. V. E. Wells, served delicious refreshments. Mrs. Wells and Mrs. V. E. Stator were guests for the afternoon.

The Wesley Philathea Class of Jarvis Memorial Sunday School met Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Frank Wilson on West Fifth Street, with about 50 members present.

Christian Church Women Meet

FARMVILLE—Eighteen members and visitors of the Loyal Woman's Class of the Christian Church met at the home of Mrs. F. A. Darden last Friday night. The home was decorated with a variety of spring flowers.

After the president, Mrs. C. L. Ivey, called the meeting to order, Mrs. L. E. Turnage presented the devotional. The singing of the first verse of "America" introduced the topic "The Life of George Washington," taken from "Book of Devotions" by Gladys C. Murrell.

Mrs. Louise Harris reported that sixteen get-well cards and eight sympathy cards had been sent out since the last meeting.

After a brief business meeting, Mrs. R. L. Corbett conducted a quiz program on the Bible and great missionaries in the world.

During the fellowship hour cherry tarts, salted nuts, cheese crackers in a hatchet design, and coffee were served.

Group 2 of the Christian Women's Fellowship met Monday night at the home of Mrs. W. A. Frost, with 14 members present.

Mrs. Lloyd Smith gave a very inspiring devotional using as her subject "At The Foot Of The Cross."

After a short business session, presided over by the chairman, Mrs. Ted Albritton, the program on "Hidden Answers" taken from "World Call" was discussed. The leader was Mrs. L. W. Allen.

During the social hour pecan pies with whipped cream, mints and coffee were served.

Group 3 of the C.W.F. met with Mrs. Louise Harris Monday night, with Mrs. Matthew Dail, leader, presiding.

Why Are People Over-Weight? Dr. Garrenton Asks Members

"Why are people overweight?" to eat a well-balanced diet and limit the amounts instead of using drugs or cutting out one particular food entirely. He added that losing weight should be done gradually, but it should be remembered that in order to maintain the desired weight a diet must be continued.

Dr. Garrenton listed some reasons why people over-eat. They were (1) boredom, (2) habit, (3) a lack of recognition, and (4) to be sociable. The meeting ended with a question and answer period.

The last meeting in the series of adult meetings will be held March 12 at 3:30 p.m. in the Home Economics Department. The topic will be "Let's Decorate Our Home" by Mrs. Johnson, interior decorator from Brown's Furniture Store. All adults are urged to attend.

Women Trustees Of University Visit Campus

The women members of the University of North Carolina Board of Trustees got a close look at campus life on a visit to Chapel Hill, earlier this week. During their two-day stay, they toured the campus, visiting various offices and departments. They also observed typical meetings of the Women's Residence Council, Women's Honor Council, the YWCA, and Independent Women's Council and were honored at a tea by the University Woman's Club.

World Day Prayer Plans

Mrs. J. L. Nolen, chairman of the World Day of Prayer program to be held at the Presbyterian Church Friday, March 8, at 3:30, announces that the following people will take part in the program. Mrs. Ed Davenport, leader; Mesdames Will Jones Jr. and Bruce Pope, readers; and the Rev. E. S. Coates. Mrs. Emily Walston will pair a group of boys and girls from the glee clubs to assist with the singing. Mrs. John B. Wright will be organist.

At the services an offering will be taken to support world-wide projects. The offering is allocated for interdenominational mission work through the Divisions of Home and Foreign Missions of the National Council of Churches.

Some of the projects include supporting the ministers in the United States, Alaska and Puerto Rico, religious activities for Indian students in government boarding schools, helping with work with agricultural migrants, assisting with education for Christian leadership and providing funds for the printing of Christian literature.

OES Elects New Officers

Mrs. Martha Forrest was elected worthy matron of Greenville Chapter 149, Order of the Eastern Star, last night at the regular meeting. J. Guy Forrest will serve with her as worthy patron. The other elected officers are: Mrs. Mary Ross, associate matron; Clarence Barnhill, associate patron; Miss Ayla Ray Taylor, secretary; Clifton Stokes, treasurer; Mrs. Edna Whitchard, conductress; Mrs. Louise Small, associate conductress. The time of installation and appointment of other officers will be announced later.

Mr. and Mrs. John Carrington presided over the meeting. Mrs. Carrington announced that yearly reports will be given at the next meeting.

Mrs. Mildred Kennedy solicited help for a family who lost everything in a fire. Members were asked to bring clothing, bed clothing, food or anything to Kennedy Furniture Store to aid this family. Pro-tem officers for the evening were Pattie Mizell, Edna Whitchard, Mildred Kennedy, Joseph Palmer and Blanche Jackson.

NC Federation Appoints Carr

Mrs. R. P. Rogers, President of District 15 of the North Carolina Federation of Women's Clubs announced today that Miss Mary Elizabeth Carr, President of the Junior Woman's Club in Farmville, would serve as chairman of a new promotion project accepted by the Federation in January at the Executive Board Meeting in Raleigh. This project is to begin this month.

The Savings Bonds Division has offered $100 for a "newspaper Clipping Service"—anything in the local papers about Savings Bonds on promotion of Bonds Sales. This is on a monthly basis report and will continue through 12 months. There is no clipping service in our state.

All clubs in the 15th district with local papers will work with Miss Carr on this project. Mrs. John S. Forrest of Hendersonville is serving as state chairman.

Music Club Hears American Song Program

The Greenville Music Club met on Monday evening, March 4, in the Music Hall at E.C.C. The program consisted of a group of American songs, rendered by students of Miss Drake. Mrs. Tolson, Mr. Perry and Mr. Carter of the E.C.C. Music Department. This American Music program was arranged by Mr. Perry.

The program was as follows: Ted Fountain, Jr.—"To a Wandering Iceberg," by McDowell; J. C. Dunn—"Passing Clouds," by McDowell.

Frances Johnson—"Etude in F-sharp Major," by McDowell. Don Griffin—"Lake at Evening," by Griffes.

Jane Winchester (and Mrs. Tolson)—"Scherzo," by Griffes. A Nominating Committee was elected to present a slate of officers for next year. On the Committee are Mr. Dan Vornholt, Chairman, Mrs. Chester Walsh and Mrs. C. Hearne.

Mrs. Estelle Striplin presented and led the "Hymn of the Month," which was "All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name." The hospitality committee consisted of Miss Ruth Lambie, Miss Mildred Southwick and Mrs. Anna De La Mater, who served delicious refreshments at the close of the meeting.

Hodges Entertain At Supper Party

GRIFTON — Mr. and Mrs. M.B. Hodges entertained on Friday night at their home on Highland Drive at a supper party. Throughout the home arrangements of early spring flowers were used. In the dining room the table was covered with a pale green cloth and held an arrangement of pink tulips and camellias. Tall green candles in silver holders graced the buffet.

A two course supper was served. Later bridge was played at three tables, the highest scores were made by Mrs. T.J. Williams, W.I. Bissette and Charles Stone; others playing were Mr. Williams, Mrs. Bissette, Mrs. Stone, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Cobb, Mr. and Mrs. L.L. Mewborn, Mr. and Mrs. H.P. Quinerly.

Puree drained canned or stewed dried apricots and use them as a filling between layers of sponge cake. Cover the cake with chocolate frosting for a delightful combination of flavors.

Engagement Announced

Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Frazier of Halfway Oregon, who are now spending the winter months at 419 1st Street, Yuma, Arizona, announce the engagement of their daughter, Glenda Jean, to Staff Sergeant, James Ray Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Smith of 1606 Myrtle Ave., Greenville, North Carolina. Sergeant Smith is now stationed at Vincent Air Force Base in Yuma, Arizona.

VFW Auxiliary Has Monthly Meet

GRIFTON — The VFW Post 4062 Woman's Auxiliary met in regular session on Thursday night at the VFW hut; the devotional was led by Mrs. Mary Herbert. The president, Mrs. John Condon, presided at the business session and heard various reports and mail call.

Mrs. Condon reminded all members of the importance of the next meeting as the election of officers will take place. This will be on March 14 at 7:30 Mrs. Elva Smith was welcomed as a new member. Mrs. Condon and Mrs. Earl Gladson were hostesses for the evening and served iced drinks and sandwiches.

Ayden Rotarians Entertain Ladies

AYDEN — The Ayden Rotary Club celebrated its annual ladies night on Friday evening when the Rotarians entertained at a three course turkey dinner which was served in the high school cafeteria.

Ladies attending the annual event were presented sterling silver ringed ash trays as favors. Dr. Wes Gooding acted as master of ceremonies and Bob Eason extended the welcome to the ladies to which Totary Ann Margaret Ormond responded. Ed Blair of Vanceboro, speaker for the evening, was introduced by Ayden's Mayor Corey Stokes.

An Unpopular Task Is Awaiting

Legislators and taxpayers alike in North Carolina already have begun to speculate on revenue which will be needed by the state during the next two years.

Before another week is over, legislators probably will be taking a much closer look at revenue estimates based on the recommendations of the Advisory Budget Commission. They'll also be taking a closer look at requests from agencies and institutions for appropriations over and above those recommended by the Commission.

Few legislators are anxious to undertake the unpopular task of increasing taxes. It is only natural therefore, that they will be looking more closely at revenue estimates and trying to determine how to meet all the needs without hitting the average citizen where it hurts most—in the pocketbook.

For the current biennium revenues of the state will exceed estimates of two years ago by about $40 million. While that is a whopping surplus in terms of dollars, it is by no means the highest in recent history for North Carolina. In nine of the past 11 years, legislators have found that revenue from the state's tax structure has exceeded estimates. The surpluses have ranged from $2.5 million to $57 million. In only two years have collections failed to meet the estimates; one year collections were $3.5 million short and another year they were $6.6 short of estimates.

Legislators In Restless Mood

By LYNN NISBET

UNREST — There isn't quite enough going on to justify calling it turmoil, but the membership of the General Assembly is extremely restless. One old-timer said it reminded him of a bunch of cattle milling around, and needing only one to break out and start a stampede.

Hopes that had been held by some in position of leadership, but so far without much actual leadership demonstrated, that the situation would "jell" this week were dissipated when Governor Hodges announced abandonment of budget recommendations on salaries.

The announcement caught most of the administration lieutenants by surprise—and left them with a "let down" feeling. An ex-foot-ball player put this feeling in these words: "We were scrimmaging trying to hold the line. When we got a little breathing space we looked around and found the captain had taken the ball and walked over to the side lines."

Rumors floating around the capitol that the Governor's action came at request of Sen. Joe Eagles, chairman of the Appropriations Committee, did not help the morale of other administration backers.

What effect all this may have on other phases of Governor Hodges reorganization program is problematical. There is obviously less enthusiasm on part of friendly legislators to stick their necks out. That attitude is especially noticeable with respect to the highway reorganization. The Governor has intimated that he may not insist upon a seven-man commission, although he still is determined to make the commission a policy-making rather than an administrative board. Advocates of continuing the division plan and keeping close contact between the people and the commissioners are encouraged by recent developments.

PRECEDENT — The Judiciary Committees of the General Assembly are greatly concerned about dangerous precedents which might be set in innocent local bills.

Take the case of the bill before House J-1, validating action of the Gaston county commissioners diverting $203,000 of debt service funds to build an agricultural center. Rep. Max Childers, author of the bill, explained that the building had been constructed and that it was proving popular with Gaston folks. He added that Gaston county is in good fiscal condition and the money was not needed in the debt service fund.

No protest had come from bond holders, that the county attorney had raised the point that perhaps the commissioners exceeded authority in such transfer of debt service money. There is a constitutional ban against using sinking funds for any purpose other than to pay the public

Is the revenue estimate of the Commission for the coming biennium high, low, or right on the button?

It will be a couple of years before anyone can answer that question accurately. The fact remains, however, that the collective legislative opinion of the revenue estimate, plus the legislative opinion concerning expenditures for the next two years, will in a large measure determine what if any tax increases will have to be made during this session.

Historic Sites Make For Tourist Dollars

Unlike many other Eastern Counties, rich in history, Beaufort County has taken a step to tap this source of tourist wealth which has been so long neglected in a large part of North Carolina.

Recently the Beaufort County Commissioners voted to appropriate $10,000 from its ABC funds for a two-year period to help restore three colonial sites in historic Bath. The county is also eyeing prospects of a similar amount of money from state coffers to aid in the restoration program.

While many people frown on the outlay of public funds for such purposes, restoration of colonial sites in the old town of Bath could attract thousands upon thousands of tourist dollars to Bath and Beaufort County every year. Handled properly the $10,000 expenditure approved by the County Commissioners could mark the beginning of Bath's transition to a prime tourist attraction.

North Carolinians are aware that the tourist industry is already one of the largest single sources of revenue in the state. While the coastal area capitalizes every year on a part of the tourist business, the bulk of the dollars from out-of-state visitors are left in the West. Most Tar Heels also are aware that more tourist dollars could be snared in North Carolina if points of historic interest were restored and exploited on a much broader scale than is now the case. Thousands of tourists who now rush through the state on their treks north or south could be enticed to linger longer to enjoy what North Carolina has to offer.

Rich in history and natural beauty, Bath has the potential to become a major tourist attraction. With its appropriation, Beaufort County is taking a major step which can lead to Bath's acquiring its proper place among the historic attractions in North Carolina.

Rock 'n' Roll Is Big Business

By ELMER ROESSNER

People who denounce rock 'n' roll may not be subversive, but they are attacking one of the great props of the American economy. They are almost as bad as those who belittle Wall Street, pie for breakfast or the Republican Party. If they don't like rock 'n' roll, why don't they go back where they came from?

Rock 'n' roll is big business—bigger than Geritol, bigger than trading stamps, bigger than selling gelatin counters to people who want to charge off vacations as business expenses on income tax returns.

Rock 'n' roll keeps scores of factories busy. It keeps thousands of people employed, ergo, thousands of children from starving. It creates vast numbers of sales, probably running around a billion dollars a year.

One of the biggest contributions to the economy is the increase in sales of phonograph records. They run about 1,000,000 units a week, less a few returns insisted upon by parents, the squares!

This fantastic demand for records keeps thousands of musicians, singers, technicians and factory hands in jobs. The craze has steadied employment of innumerable disk jockeys and increased the revenue their programs bring in. The price of hound dogs has gone up 46 per cent.

Rock 'n' roll has given Hollywood a new lease on life. It was not generally known, but television competition had hit Hollywood so severely there was talk of ceding it back to Mexico. Then the movies discovered rock 'n' roll and began to produce rock 'n' roll films. New hits emerged, new heroes were created and the movies are in the money again. One, two, one TWO! THEATERS, SOFT GOODS

This, in turn, brought prosperity to the movie theaters again, a prosperity only slightly lessened because rockers 'n' rollers crack floorboards and beat up seats. On February 31, Secretary of Agriculture Benson called for doubling popcorn plantings, to keep movie theaters supplied during rock 'n' roll shows.

All this was only a beginning. There's a line of Elvis furniture. Factories are working overtime to write with the wrong hand. To everybody's amazement, the oldsters learned more quickly than the youngsters. This led the Professor to declare, "We have discovered that mature people can learn practically anything they want to. In every mental function, they are thoroughly plastic and teachable. In fact the learning ability of older people is very nearly as great as the learning ability of young people at the highly favorable ages of 17, 18, and 19."

turning out lapel buttons proclaiming affection for various exponents. There's an outpouring of sweaters and shirts bearing the names of stars; almost every drug-store now serve rock 'n' roll sundae; there are rock 'n' roll wards in many hospitals. Some boy babies have been named Rock but, up to press time, no girls, have been christened Roll or Rola.

There is almost nothing manufactured that hasn't been given a rock 'n' roll label or, if not that, at least a rock 'n' roll beat. One, two, let's roll around young love 'till broad day LIGHT! Dozens of bands and orchestras, unable to cope with complicated music like "Capriccio Espagnolo" or "Happy Birthday," are making good livings beating out rock 'n' roll. One, two, one TWO! Magazine article writers, dry for months, are turning out dozens of think pieces on the art. They haven't had it so good since Coue.

EVERYBODY IN THE ACT Clergymen who used to face empty pews now fill them with sermons on such as, "Would you want your daughter to marry a rock 'n' roller?" Even editorial writers, having long disposed of the man-eating and lady-eating sharks, have a new theme.

Look, cousins, let's get this straight: If rock 'n' roll is prohibited on Friday, by Monday 100,000 people will be out of work, by Tuesday retail sales will be down $2,000,000 and by Wednesday we'll be in a depression that will curl your hair. Anybody who is against rock 'n' roll is against home, mother, prosperity and the U.S. Marines. AN AWFUL LOT OF BUNNING TO STAY IN THE SAME PLAG Twenty-five years ago we built an open hearth plant at a cost of $10,000,000 and during those years we recovered—through this process of depreciation—the $10,000,000 we spent for it. But to replace that open hearth plant today would cost us $64,000,000. Now where do we get the other $54,000,000.

The answer, of course, is that we must get it out of our so-called profits—or profits after taxes. But to get $54,000,000 before taxes.—Roger M. Blough, chairman of the Board, U.S. Steel.

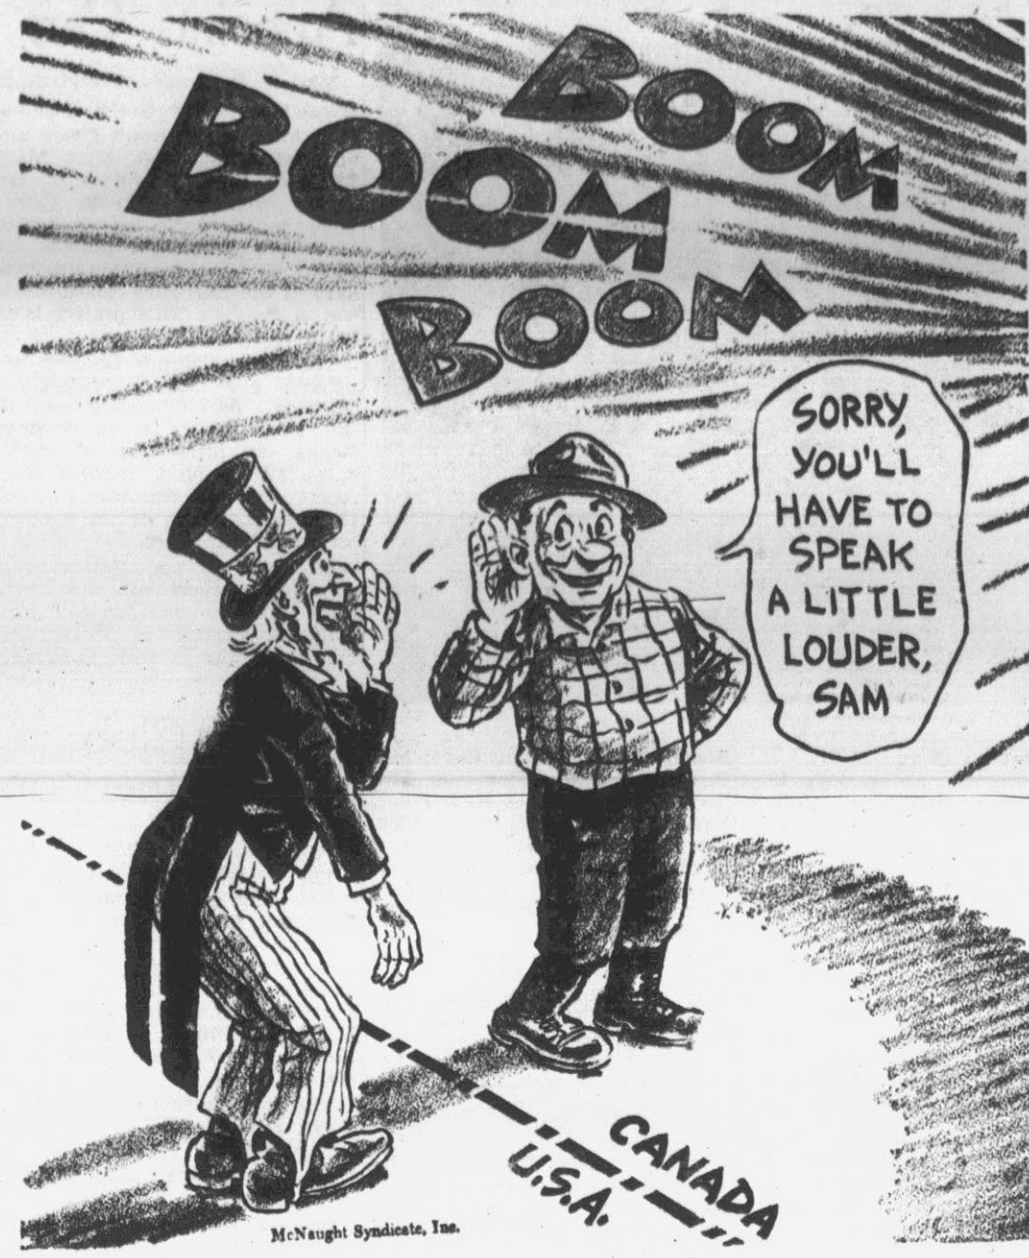

Strength For Today

By EARL L. DOUGLASS RESIST THE SHELF.

There is a disposition today to chuck the oldsters up on the shelf. In past generations we had the spectacle of doddering old infirmities holding on to jobs long after they were capable of handling them. But today we find hale, hearty and experienced men compelled to retire before there appears to be any real reason for their doing so.

If you retire early enough, just remember that you have a delightful period of learning before you. Prof. Thorndike of Columbia University discovered by a series of tests that older people really learn better than the young people. One of his most ingenious tests involved the ability to learn

Where The Money Goes

There is always a predominate question in everyone's mind. Where does my money go when I donate to a national campaign? No doubt that question has arisen many times and will during the month of March. The Red Cross is presently conducting its yearly campaign throughout the nation, North Carolina and Pitt County.

In a recent conversation with Dick Greene, who is serving as the 1957 city chairman for the Red Cross drive, some interesting and informative facts were brought to light.

Last year more than 2,000,000 volunteer workers turned dollars donated into deeds in 3,700 Red Cross chapters across the nation through the 10 service programs of the Red Cross.

These 10 service programs included disaster, blood, services to the armed forces, water safety, Junior Red Cross, community services and International services. This impressive list is certainly something to think about as we consider giving or not giving.

The city chairman said that they will provide for: financial assistance to servicemen for emergency medical and hospital care when an illness strikes one of their families back home.

transmittal of emergency and welfare messages to relieve the anxiety of servicemen and their families.

assistance for the travel expenses of servicemen called home because of family emergencies.

assistance to disaster stricken families during emergency and rehabilitation periods. This includes food, clothing, shelter, medical care, household furniture, repair or rebuilding of homes, etc., to meet disaster caused needs beyond their own resources. Assistance is in the form of a gift—not a loan.

first aid training to enable persons to give emergency care to the injured and prevent crippling accidents.

water safety training ... the goal — "every American a swimmer and every swimmer a life-saver."

Other Editors Saying-- The Anxious Seat

Greenville (Miss.) Delta Democrat-Times

If sales of the new tranquilizing drugs are any indication, the entire nation is sitting on the anxious seat. Doctors are beginning to be alarmed at the American people's rush to buy these "anti-worry" pills.

There is no doubt that the new drugs have been a great help in treating certain types of patients in mental hospitals. Doctors find their quieting action valuable for patients suffering abnormal anxiety—that is, when the drugs are taken under proper supervision.

Unfortunately, the drugs aren't always taken under proper conditions or for sufficient reason. People for whom the drugs have been prescribed are handing them out to their friends as if they were as harmless as aspirin. There are rumors of large "black market" peddling of the tranquilizers without prescription, contrary to regulations of the Food and Drug Administration.

Like many other valuable drugs, tranquilizers are not harmless. Their action in the body has only been partially established. For instance, it is known that they quiet a noisy overactive person without destroying his contact with reality. But mental faculties are somewhat dulled and abilities are impaired.

There have been cases of dangerous side effects such as disturbed sense of balance, nausea, stupor, tremors, swelling and even collapse of blood vessels. They can make mental depression even deeper, and suicides have been reported as an aftermath.

This is bad enough but there is perhaps an even greater danger. The anti-worry pill boom reflects a widespread tendency to try to find peace of mind through easy formulas. Normal anxiety is not undesirable. It is an emotional signal, warning us of a danger requiring our attention. If we dull anxiety we can also dull incentive. What will happen to a nation drifting peacefully along in a haze of happiness pills?

The healthy individual, the healthy nation must be alert to existing problems, must work through anxiety to achieve progress.

Opinions In Brief

MILBANK, S. D. HERALD ADVANCE: "A recent issue of AFL-CIO News proudly boasts of the effectiveness of a 'Committee on Struck Goods' ... Every American who feels as we do that a man has the right to work regardless of union membership or non-membership — and who opposes the use of boycotts in labor disputes—should join in protesting this blatant mis-use of Big Labor's monopoly powers."

AZTEC, N. M., INDEPENDENT-REVIEW: "Maybe if we ignored the civilized peoples of the earth like we do the uncivilized people we would have no more trouble with the civilized than we do with the uncivilized."

HARMONY, MINN., NEWS: "Hear about the careless hunter who climbed through a fence with his gun cocked? The Lena (ILL.) Star reports he is survived by his wife, three children and a pheasant."

Maintain Heavy Schedule The boys pay only $3 a month tuition. They have a chance to learn trades that pay high wages. Where most high schools have 30 periods a week, Don Bosco Tech requires 45 periods, including 15 in the shops that line the attractive campus. In its second year the school is offering courses in auto mechanics, cabinet and pattern making, machine shop, photo offset printing and metallurgy. Father Penna said half the day, or three hours, is spent in developing skills of the hands, the other half in developing the brain. The four-year course includes four years of English, three of history and one of business administration.

"We hope to develop the mechanical man and the intellectual man at the same time and develop his character, too," said Cardinal McIntyre.

Demos Convinced 'Deck Is Stacked'

By RAY TUCKER WASHINGTON — The Democrats' amazingly sharp attack on the Eisenhower Administration in the Middle East debate, including even the popular President himself, is based on their conviction that the media of mass communication—the press, magazines, radio, television—are generally pro-Republican and strongly pro-Eisenhower.

F. D. R. and Harry S. Truman, although both owed a great deal of their political success to favorable publicity, frequently indulged in their indictment. They seemed to revel in running feuds with individual newspapers and newsmen, as well as with their associates on the air and screen.

Until recently, Adlai E. Stevenson eschewed this kind of criticism. He has been on unusually friendly terms with news, radio and television representatives, and they liked the sparkle of his personality. But lately he has succumbed to the Democratic virus, assailing the press and the other avenues of publicity as prejudiced against the Democrats.

MOST CRITICAL OPPOSITION SPOKESMAN But the most critical opposition spokesman, as well as the man largely responsible for the new strategy, is National Chairman Paul M. Butler. He has persuaded his followers, especially the ultra-liberal faction on Capitol Hill, that they must direct daily accusations like himself as the GOP's only asset.

Their speeches, he points out, will be recorded in the press, on the air and on TV, regardless of editorial policy. He grants that.

The underlying strategy for the 1958 and 1960 campaigns will be to depict the Administration and the Republican Party, especially the President and Secretary Dulles, as "prisoners of big business."

The Truman-Stevenson-Butler cohorts in the Senate—Morse, O'Mahoney, Humphrey, Kefauver—have emphasized the theme in charging that the Middle East Doctrine is based on a desire to protect vast American oil investments and profits in that area.

LETTER TO "DEAR FELLOW DEMOCRATS" In a current letter to "Dear Fellow Democrats," as published in the widely distributed Democratic Digest, Chairman Butler reveals the reasons behind this new and unprecedented attack on Ike. He sings this song of woe with respect to publicity:

"Communication is the big job facing the Democratic Party. We lose elections when we fail in that job ... The basic means of communicating — reaching the people — are the press, TV and radio, magazines and word of mouth. Let's take a look at each one."

"The big city press is pro-Republican. With a few exceptions, the best we can look for from the big papers is a fair presentation of the news, and a strong editorial argument against the Democrats and in favor of the Republicans. And the fact that the President is a Republican, and that Presidents make Page One news, gives the GOP an edge even in the fair papers. School With A Goal

SAN GABRIEL, Calif., — In 1963 an Italian Catholic priest, Don Bosco, made this observation:

"The dangers that loom over the nations are tremendous unless the labor problem is solved in a Christian spirit. The problems of the future will be solved best when the employer and the working man work in harmony and sympathy."

It was Don Bosco's idea that education of the working classes would be a way to help solve such problems.

The Catholic Church took Bosco's idea seriously.

Today there are Don Bosco technical training schools in 57 nations. They are dedicated to the Italian saint's idea that men who are going to become workmen should be trained to be well rounded citizens.

One of the newest has been established near here on a 20-acre site. It was proposed and sponsored by James Francis Cardinal McIntyre, head of the Catholic Church in southern California. Already one million dollars has been spent to acquire the site and build shops and classrooms. Eventually the school will represent an investment of some $2,395,000.

Answer to a Challenge When the school was being planned the cardinal said: "Today, industry, labor and the community are faced with the disappearance of the trained, highly skilled craftsman; the man who is trained to be both a skilled, well-grounded craftsman and an integrated, well-adjusted citizen."

"To maintain the availability of this highly desirable craftsman-citizen is the great challenge facing industry, labor and the community today."

The school opened its doors in September of 1955.

Now in its second year, there are 400 southern California boys attending this unusual educational institution. Cardinal McIntyre said that when the school is completed and the program fully developed there will be 1,000 boys at Don Bosco Tech.

The school accepts boys of all faiths and races. It is operated by the Salesian Fathers and Brothers, a Catholic order founded by Don Bosco. The Rev. Father Felix J. Penna, an ex-New Yorker, is the principal.

"Any boy with an IQ of at least 100 who's willing to take the gaff can get in our school," said Father Penna. "It's on a first come, first served basis, without regard to color, race or creed."

"We had to turn away 200 boys this year," said Father Penna. "Some have to come on three buses—get up at 6 a.m. They love their work — both in the shops and classrooms."

"We put all our emphasis on human relations," he said, "and thus these youngsters are being trained as potential foremen and supervisors to fill in the cultural gap between management and labor."

Maintain Heavy Schedule

The boys pay only $3 a month tuition. They have a chance to learn trades that pay high wages. Where most high schools have 30 periods a week, Don Bosco Tech requires 45 periods, including 15 in the shops that line the attractive campus. In its second year the school is offering courses in auto mechanics, cabinet and pattern making, machine shop, photo offset printing and metallurgy. Father Penna said half the day, or three hours, is spent in developing skills of the hands, the other half in developing the brain. The four-year course includes four years of English, three of history and one of business administration.

"We hope to develop the mechanical man and the intellectual man at the same time and develop his character, too," said Cardinal McIntyre.

College Choir To Give Concert Here Monday

The East Carolina Choir, an ensemble of sixty student vocalists, will present its annual home concert Monday. The program, scheduled for 8 p. m. in the Wright auditorium, will be open to the public and is expected to attract a large audience.

Selections for the entertainment will include sacred music, contemporary compositions, folk songs, modern arrangements, and novelties.

"Ye Are Not of the Flesh" by Bach, one of the great composer's finest works, will open the program. Among other numbers will be "Holy Radiant Light" by the modern composer, Randall Thompson; four selections by Brahms and "The Creation" by Tom Scott, folk songs; "Lover" by Richard Rodgers and "That Old Black Magic" by Arlen, popular modern songs.

The East Carolina Choir is composed of sixty men and women students at the college. All members are carefully chosen through auditions held last fall.

They sing under the direction of Dr. Elwood Keister of the East Carolina department of music. He is a former member of the famed Robert Shaw Chorale and the Columbus, Ohio, Philharmonic Symphony. During the summer he is music director of "The Lost Colony," Paul Green's symphonic drama which is annually presented at Manteo, N. C.

The Choir has just completed its fourth annual tour. In the western part of North Carolina, the group sang for audiences in Asheville, Morganton, Lenoir, Hickory, Statesville, Lexington, Misenheimer, Albemarle, and Asheville.

Invited, But Not Going To Event

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A new slendertizing salon celebrated its opening by inviting members of several women's groups to come and look things over and maybe slim down a bit if need be.

One invitation went to the president of the Abraham Lincoln High School PTA, who replied: "I could undoubtedly take off a little weight to advantage, but I can't attend the opening, and what's more, I'm sure you wouldn't want me to." The reply was signed: Mr. James D. Cameron Jr.

Saved Her Life, Is Marrying Girl

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP)—New York waiter John Vall saved a girl's life last July when the Andrea Doria sank. Sunday he'll marry her.

She is Melanie Ansuini, 19, who was on her way from Perugia, Italy, to make her home here with her parents and two brothers.

She lost her grip while sliding down a rope into a lifeboat and was knocked unconscious. Vall, 28, jumped into the water and held her up 20 minutes until another lifeboat came by.

Vall, who has been to Italy "looking for a girl to marry," asked Melanie to write.

She did.

Young President Of Elon College Is Announced

OAK HILL, W. Va. (AP)—Dr. Shirley Donnelly's library not only includes a history of the state's 55 counties, but the chronicles are housed in a little building that contains a stone from every county in the state.

DR. J. E. DANIELEY

ELON COLLEGE, N. C. (AP)—Dr. James Earl Danieley, 32, who graduated from Elon College only 11 years ago, will become one of the youngest college presidents in the country when he succeeds retiring President L. E. Smith here July 1.

Thad Eure of Raleigh, chairman of the college's trustees and North Carolina's secretary of state yesterday announced Dr. Danieley's election and Dr. Smith's retirement.

Dr. Smith, who requested permission to retire after 26 years as head of the Christian Church college, will become president emeritus. He and his wife plan to move to Virginia Beach, Va., at the end of the school year.

The college, founded in 1889, first was located at Hill Point, four miles west of Burlington. Later it was moved here.

Dr. Danieley was born July 28, 1924 on Rt. 4, Burlington. He was graduated from Altamahaw-Ossipee High School in 1941 and from Elon College in 1945. He now is on a year's leave of absence as Elon's dean.

He earned his M.A. degree in Educational Administration from the University of North Carolina, where in 1954 he also received his Ph.D. degree in organic chemistry.

He is not a licensed minister, but for one year was acting minister of the United Church in Chapel Hill, and served six months as acting minister of Haw River Congregational Christian Church.

Scholarship Won By GHS Student

Angus MacLean Duff, a member of the Senior Class at Greenville High School, has won a Morehead Scholarship for study at the University of North Carolina.

The scholarship, valued at more than $5,000 over a four-year period, is one of 32 awarded by John Motley Morehead. Announcement of the awards was made last night at a meeting in Chapel Hill.

Duff is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Erskine Duff of 807 East Third Street. He will enter UNC in September and plans to major in medicine. To win the award, he had to receive recommendations from a Pitt County selection committee in December, and a district selection committee in January.

During his four years at Greenville High School, Duff has played a major role in nearly every phase of student activity. He lettered in football and basketball four years and has won three monograms in baseball.

He was valedictorian of his freshman class, has been a member of the student government association for three years and is presently chairman of the student government's Building Improvement Committee. He also represented the organization at the State Student Council Congress in Wilmington this year, and is advertising manager of the yearbook, Tau.

Angus was treasurer of his sophomore class and has twice won state Science Fair awards. He is a member of the Episcopal Church, is president of the Episcopal youth fellowship and is president of the Acolytes Guild of the church. He is an Eagle Scout, has received Scouting God and Country Award, attended Philmont Scout Ranch in New Mexico and the World Jamboree of Scouts in Canada in 1955.

Stabbed In Heart By Rib Growth

DARBY, Pa. (AP)—An 11-year-old boy is recovering after being stabbed in the heart by a spur-like growth on one of his own ribs.

Officials at Fitzgerald Mercy Hospital here said the lad, Douglas Kles, will be sent home today or tomorrow.

Surgeons removed the growth and sewed up five ribs it had torn in his heart. Douglas was taken to the hospital Feb. 13 in a state of shock. Doctors found his left chest filled with blood and siphoned out more than four pints. Transfusions replaced the blood.

Medical men associated with the case said it was the first time they had heard of heart wounds caused by a malfunction of the body.

Confident Approval Of Civil Rights Bill 'Soon'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Hennings (D-Mo) said today he is confident a Senate Judiciary subcommittee he heads will approve a "meaningful" civil rights bill "very soon."

The subcommittee ended its public hearings on the proposed legislation two days ago, a deadline previously set over the opposition witnesses be heard, either by the subcommittee or the full committee.

The subcommittee's hearing record is being kept open until noon tomorrow for submission of statements. Hennings said he would call a closed meeting "as soon as possible" to act on the legislation, but it set no date.

In its hearings, which began Feb. 14, the subcommittee considered the Eisenhower administration's civil rights program as well as separate measures introduced by Hennings and others.

The administration proposals would empower the attorney general to seek injunctions to enforce voting and other civil rights, create a presidential commission to investigate complaints of civil rights violations, and establish a civil rights division in the Justice Department.

Southern foes of the proposals argue the legislation would permit "government by injunction" and would infringe on states rights.

In the House, a judiciary subcommittee has approved a bill patterned to the administration program. The full committee may act on it next week.

Highway Organization Plan Undergoes Surgery

By LYNN NISBET and Jean Reilly (The Reflector Bureau) RALEIGH — Governor Hodges plan for reorganizing the highway commission underwent major surgery in both House and Senate committee, with the Senate doctors cutting a little deeper. Amendments adopted by both committees included provision that the seven commissioners should be appointed from different areas of the state, with specific territory assigned to each commissioner. They also stripped the proposed Director of Highways of a lot of the power which the original bill conferred upon him and transferred them to the full commission. Further provision approved by both committees require meetings of the commission at least once each year at points east of Raleigh, between Raleigh and Hickory and west of Hickory. Purpose of that amendment was to combat objections that the original bill did not afford opportunity for the people to get their ideas before the commission. It was stated at both committee meetings that the Governor and the reorganization study commission, which sponsored the original bill agreed to these amendments. Members of the study group and Alex McMahon of the Institute of Government, who worked closely with the study commission, appeared at both committees to discuss provisions of the bill, McMahon dwelt upon the Virginia plan as a guide, but not a definite pattern, for the original North Carolina bill.

It is expected that the House bill, which was acted upon by the Committee on State Government, will be re-referred to the Roads Committee for purpose of a joint hearing with the Senate Roads group, which also approved the official amendments and one more. Sen. Calvin Graves of Forsyth offered an amendment which was adopted deleting the entire section pertaining to political activity of highway personnel. That point was not raised in the House group officially, but Rep. John Kerr of Warren got a laugh when he queried McMahon about it. The Institute of Government man had several times referred to the "Byrd bill" in Virginia. Kerr asked

Whale Happier In Larger Tank

PALOS VERDES ESTATES, Calif. (AP)—Mabel, the sunburned whale, is happy instead of sulky today.

The 1,500-pound mammal, captured recently off Santa Catalina Island, had been brooding in a tank at Marineland of the Pacific. Seems the tank was too shallow and Mabel's dorsal fin stuck up in the breeze and the sun. Attendants tried to soothe the sunburned fin with a zinc oxide ointment and they draped it with a burlap bag. But Mabel evidently was pretty uncomfortable. She sulked, and wouldn't eat.

The general manager, William F. Monahan, finally decided to move Mabel into the oceanarium's biggest tank, a 500,000-gallon oval job deep enough for her to submerge her sunburned fin. The moving yesterday was quite an operation. Mabel was maneuvered onto a cradle of mattresses on a raft. The raft was trucked to the big pool. Mabel was hoisted 50 feet, then dunked into her giant bathtub.

Aquarist Dave Brown gave her an injection of vitamin B12, then a shot of a cocaine derivative to calm her down. Later he steered her around the pool a few times for orientation purposes. Presently Mabel blew. It seemed to be a cheerful spray. "She's definitely a much happier whale," said Brown.

Reports New Method Of Easing Late Cancer Pain

By RENNIE TAYLOR AP Science Reporter HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—A method of relieving pain in dying cancer patients without the use of narcotics or brain operations was announced by two Texas medical researchers. The procedure requires the injection of a small amount of pure alcohol in the spinal cord. A single treatment can banish pain for three to six months, said Dr. Richard C. Hay and Dr. William Derrick of the M. D. Anderson Hospital here.

Dr. Hay and Dr. Derrick described the results of 81 cases to the 11th annual Symposium on Fundamental Cancer Research. The meeting is sponsored by the hospital and the medical branch of the University of Texas. Intractable pain is one of the worst features of the final stage of cancer. Narcotics relieve the agony for a while but eventually the patient becomes so tolerant of the drugs that they do little good. The alcohol treatment was effective in all but five of the cases, the physicians said.

Pinpointing the target in the spinal cord is the most difficult part of the procedure, which takes about an hour. The alcohol has to be confined to a little area in the channel which carries the sensory nerve from the brain to the affected part of the body. It has to be kept away from nearby nerves which control the muscles. It works by drying out a section of the nerve, in effect making a disconnection. In time the nerve is regenerated and the pain may recur but additional injections can be given, the researchers reported.

WAR-DETERRENT? LOS ANGELES (AP)—There would be no threat of World War III, says Edward Courmand, if Russian women used more perfume. His reasoning: more perfume on Russian women would keep the minds of Russian men on something aside from guns. Courmand is a New York perfume importer.

Found A 'Home' In Rest Rooms

NEW YORK (AP)—Seven ladies have been advised they definitely have been on the wrong track by making their home in the Pennsylvania Station rest room.

The women, age 45 to 72, were rounded up yesterday in the ladies' lounge and brought before Magistrate Jack L. Nicoll. They all listed their belongings in paper bags.

Said Nicoll: "This is the most unusual thing I've ever seen—seven women hoboing in Pennsylvania Station."

Mrs. Dora Peck, 72, who had $224 cash on her, tried to explain. The lounge was a rather pleasant place to live, she said, and there was the fun of seeing new faces all the time.

The ladies had a routine, she said, that went mostly like this: sleeping, midnight to 6 a.m.; breakfast, window shopping, perhaps a try at getting a job, a nap in the lounge if the weather was bad.

"What about your bathing?" asked the magistrate. "We have to go to a public bath or to a hotel for a day or two," said Mrs. Peck.

Nicoll turned Mrs. Peck over to the City Welfare Department. She said she received a pension of $100 a month.

The magistrate suspended charges of loitering against Mrs. Peck and four of the other ladies. Judged innocent of the loitering charge was a Mrs. St. John, 60, and Mrs. Lena Onorato, 59.

Mrs. Onorato promised she would rent a room in the future. "I've only lived there two weeks," she said, producing two bank books showing a total of $1,410.

"You have more money in the bank than the court has," Nicoll commented.

Personal Touch Saving Her Job

MASON, Mich. (AP)—Ingham County supervisors decided against installing an automatic switchboard in the courthouse after the phone company advised them their veteran operator was irreplaceable.

"We would make money on the deal, but you folks would never be satisfied," Sam Adcock, Michigan Bell representative, said.

The operator, Mrs. Isabelle Whyte, also serves as an information service.

ed him if he got that anti-political activity section from the Byrd bill. McMahon said the answer would have to be an emphatic "No." It came from suggestions of the study commission and was lifted almost bodily from previous statutes about paroles commission, probation and prison personnel. In the Senate committee Sen. John C. McBee of Mitchell, oldest member of the Legislature, who served on the first real State highway commission by appointment of Governor Cameron Morrison in 1921, amused his colleagues by his wise crack. When they were talking about political activity he quipped: Mr. Chairman, I'm the only Republican here, so don't hold anything back. Just do as you please. The amended provisions for area residence of commissioners, for assigned responsibility as to territory and curtailment of power of the director of highways, represent major concessions on part of the Governor. Whether he will accept the deletion of the non-political activity requirement is not certain. Influential legislators have been quoted as saying they would never support a bill singling out highway personnel from other State employees on that point.

Proposed New Corn And Feed Grain Subsidies Appear Nearing Stalemate

By R. L. LIVINGSTONE
WASHINGTON (AP)—Proposals for new corn and feed grain subsidies appeared headed today for a stalemate in the House.

As the House prepared to start final voting late in the day on rival proposals, a widening split among farm state members lessened chances of agreement on any immediate program of help for the Corn Belt.

Uncertainties over the cost of new farm price props, and resentment among city members over more farm spending, made passage of the legislation even more doubtful.

Rep. Smith (D-Va.), chairman of the powerful House Rules Committee, called on the House during debate yesterday to reject a bill backed by Agriculture Committee Democrats for expanded soil bank benefits to growers of corn and other feed grains.

Under the present 750-million-dollar soil bank program, farmers are paid for voluntarily retiring some of their land from production of crops in surplus supply.

The Democratic plan, among other things, would extend the program to growers of feed grains.

Smith said the taxpayers are aroused over the size of the budget, and that responsibility for cutting expenditures rests "right here in the House."

Rep. Delaney, New York Democrat, told newsmen soil bank payments represented "money down the drain," and added, "I don't see how any city person in good conscience can vote for the soil bank."

In yesterday's debate, Chairman Cooley (D-NC) of the Agriculture Committee said Secretary of Agriculture Benson "gave away" 179 million dollars in soil bank payments to corn farmers to cut plantings.

"But instead of reducing production, he had the greatest production in the history of America," Cooley declared.

Republicans called the Democratic bill a "monstrosity" and a "raid on the United States Treasury." They contended it would cost from 500 million to a billion dollars, and predicted President Eisenhower would veto it, if it is passed.

Rep. Poague (D-Tex.), who with Cooley sponsored the bill, estimated its top cost at 400 million dollars.

The Democratic proposal would give farmers in the commercial corn area a planting allotment of 43,200,000 acres, plus an additional 7,800,000 acres to be placed in the soil bank at payments of $10 to $50 an acre.

It also would pay subsidies to all other farmers for placing in the soil bank an equivalent percentage of their acreage diverted from price-supported crops to feed grains.

For farmers with no price-supported crops, and who are not now eligible for soil bank payments, the Democratic proposal would provide a flat payment of $15 an acre for all land taken out of feed grain production.

Republicans were backing a bill by Rep. Andresen (R-Minn.) that would support at 75 per cent of parity — a price standard deemed fair to farmers in relation to their costs.

Corn farmers also would be eligible under this bill for subsidies for placing 15 per cent of their cropland in the soil bank.

Soil bank cost of the Andresen bill presumably would not exceed the 217 million dollars already earmarked for corn payments this year.

If Congress fails to pass legislation designed to cut corn production through use of the soil bank, corn growers will have their national allotment cut to around 37 million acres this year for price support prices.

Allege Attempts To 'Ruin' Firm
CHARLOTTE (AP)—The Teamsters Union and six motor freight lines whose workers it represents are defendants in a $250,000 damage suit which alleges they tried to destroy a non-unionized trucking firm's business.

North-South Lines of Charlotte filed suit yesterday against the union, Associated Transport, Akers Motor Lines, Carolina Freight Carriers, Hennis Freight Lines, Miller Motor Express and Mason & Dixon Lines.

The plaintiff charges that, in accord with a contract between the union and the six firms, the defendants have refused since last September to receive from, or deliver to North-South any interchange freight.

The union has picketed North-South since September. A. L. Gunter, Teamster organizer, said 19 of 21 of the firm's employees signed up with the union and that the company then refused a request for a union election.

W. D. Yarborough, North-South's manager, said none of his employees ever told him they wanted a union. The firm's suit alleges that the Teamsters tried to "put pressure" on North-South to force employees to join the union.

A contract between Teamsters Local 71 and the six co-defendant firms, which went into effect last September, specifies that "the union and its members . . . reserve the right to refuse to handle goods from or to any firm or truck which is engaged . . . in any controversy with this or any other union."

Russia Accuses Sweden As Real Spy-Smuggler

STOCKHOLM (AP)—The Soviet Union has accused Sweden of smuggling spies into Russia in cooperation with U.S. intelligence services. Sweden branded the charges as absurd.

Russia delivered a note to the Swedish Foreign Office yesterday claiming the Soviets have caught 14 of the alleged spies, tried them and given them undisclosed sentences. Pravda, Izvestia, and the Moscow radio publicized the case extensively today.

The broadcast claimed this was what happened:

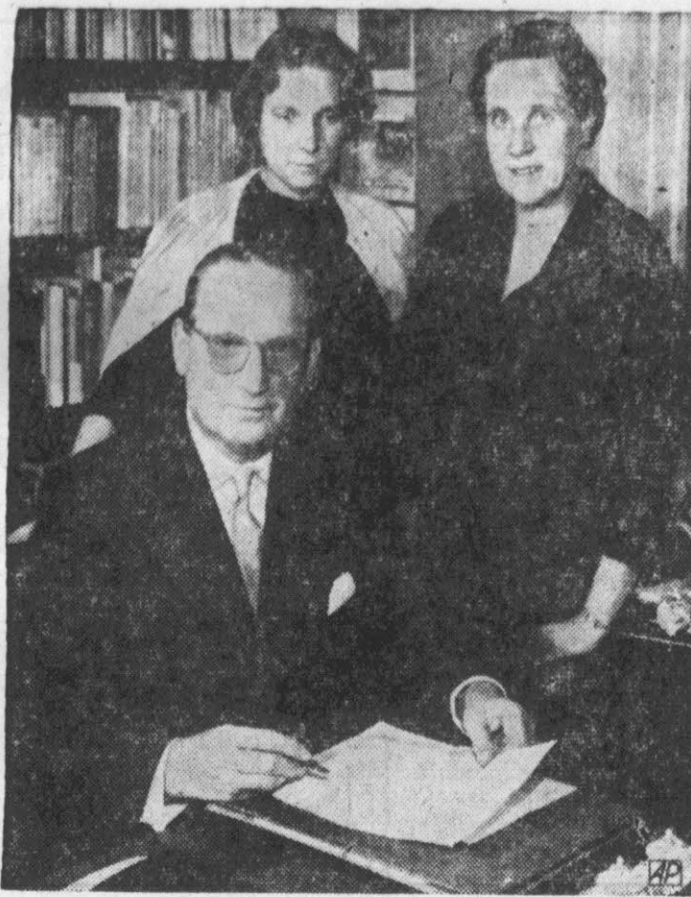

Alleged spies were recruited in Sweden by a "Capt. Anderson of the Swedish intelligence service and the American resident Valdim, with the assistance of the ringleaders of the so-called Estonian National Council." After being trained secretly for several months in Stockholm, the men were turned over to "a special crew of sailors" to be smuggled into Soviet territory.

All the spies were instructed by the Stockholm intelligence center to organize groups of gangsters, to collect secret information, to set up hideouts on the Baltic shore where other spies smuggled into the U.S.S.R. could put up.

The broadcast claimed that Swedish and U.S. intelligence agencies have been "in contact" for several years in connection with spy smuggling.

The Swedish Foreign Office said the Soviet charge "falls of its own absurdity."

Diplomats in Stockholm believe the Soviet charge may have a double significance—part of a crackdown on restless peoples of the subjugated Baltic states of Estonia, Lithuania and Latvia, and

Street Names Getting Longer

CHICAGO (AP)—Street names are getting longer.

A survey of 971 typical street names has been made to determine what is happening to street signs and their designs.

Today's average street name has almost seven letters, but the average is held down by such old-time

The higher average is due to the suburbanite's desire for a quaint or exclusive sounding street like Wyldhaven, Frost Woods, Briar Cliff, Trestle and Magnolia.

Divergent Conclusions Are Offered On Aid Abroad

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON — You pay your money and you take your choice.

Bunches of people have been turned loose to study foreign aid. You could have predicted the result: they're coming up with different answers. The reason is simple: the country itself has varying opinions on foreign aid.

One report has just been made by a seven-man commission appointed by President Eisenhower. A stream of reports is coming from the 11 organizations and 10 individuals assigned to the study by a Senate committee.

The report from the President's commission—headed by Benjamin F. Fairless, steel executive—looks far less thorough than the others, and less thought through.

One thing all the groups have in common: they agree foreign aid in general must be continued. The big difference is on how to do it.

The Fairless group, some of whose members went around the world to make their study which has been going on since last September, put a big emphasis on the role of private American investment abroad.

It probably put too much emphasis on it as a replacement for United States government help to countries in need.

The President's commission has a tendency to speak in broad generalities, stating broad principles, although an examination of details would have been more instructive.

For example: It says investment abroad by private American capital is "far more desirable than investment by government." And no doubt it might be a way of relieving the drain on American taxpayers.

But would it work? One of the Senate committee groups— from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology—in its report recognized the role American private capital can play in helping other countries.

But it said, "Private foreign investment... cannot be expected to carry a major share of an assistance program."

Both the President's commission and the MIT group suggested that American investors overseas be given some help or protection by this government: for instance, in tax relief or against seizure of their property.

The President's commission runs around the block on the question: Are loans better than outright grants to countries whose ability to pay is questionable? But it wants grants cut way down.

MIT was more direct, simply saying that in some cases loans should be made, in others, grants. There are a number of detailed differences in the thinking of the two groups.

In the end, since Congress is the one which has the final say on money for foreign aid, the Senate committee's studies will probably be more influential than that of the President's commission.

One thing seems certain from all the reports released so far: this country will probably be giving foreign aid for a long time.

13-Year-Old Is C-of-C Member

WEST SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)— Danny Morris, 13, lays claim to being the youngest chamber of commerce member in the world.

The youngster, who operates a snack bar, was recently signed by the West Sacramento district chamber. His parents have their own restaurant in nearby Sacramento, but help him out when he has to go to school.

Alabama Mob Stones Car And Threatens Integration Advocate

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — A white man who has publicly advocated integration of the races was threatened and his car stoned by an angry crowd of white persons at Birmingham's Terminal Station yesterday.

Lamar Weaver, a steelworker, had gone to the station to see a Negro minister and his wife off on a trip. He later was fined in Traffic Court on a charge of reckless driving, resulting from his efforts to flee the angry crowd.

Weaver sat with the Negro couple in a white waiting room until a large crowd of white persons assembled. Police ordered Weaver and others having no business in the station to leave. The Rev. F. L. Shuttlesworth and his wife left Birmingham by train for Atlanta. Shuttlesworth previously had said he intended to sit in the station's white waiting room.

Contrary to an Interstate Commerce Commission ruling banning separate waiting rooms for white persons and Negroes, two separate waiting rooms are maintained at the Terminal Station.

One is designated "for white and interstate passengers," and Negroes have been barred from it in the past. The other is maintained for use of Negro passengers. The Shuttlesworths were in the waiting room for about 1 1/4 hours, under a heavy police guard. Weaver was followed by more than a score of shouting white men, most of them cursing him, when he left the station.

He reached his car unharmed and prepared to drive away when some of the crowd rocked it back and forth, apparently attempting to overturn it. The car was stoned, some of its windows were broken. Weaver backed into a parked car and drove through a red traffic light leaving the scene. He drove to police headquarters and asked for an immediate trial, explaining he planned to leave Birmingham.

City Judge Oliver B. Hall fined him $25 and court costs on a charge of reckless driving.

Shuttlesworth was the leader of mass violations of the city's bus segregation ordinance last December, when 21 Negroes were arrested. They have asked a federal court ruling that the ordinance is unconstitutional, and an injunction restraining police from enforcing them.

The incident yesterday apparently was a planned attack on the traditional segregation of races at the train station.

Treasury Chief Still Confident Can Cut Budget

DETROIT (AP)—Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey says he is confident substantial cuts can be made in President Eisenhower's new 72-billion-dollar budget.

But, he told a Republican fundraising dinner last night, the cuts would have to come from changes in programs by Congress.

"We have asked Congress to cooperate with us," Humphrey said. "It is doing so in its actions on appropriations bills."

He said while some savings can always be made by "ferreting out waste, extravagance and duplication, the really substantial reductions in government spending can come only from changes in programs by new decisions of Congress."

Humphrey's views, however, were at variance with Budget Director J. C. Brundage. Brundage said in Washington that he saw little hope for substantial cuts in federal spending for at least two years.

He told the House Appropriations Committee there was little likelihood that next year's budget would be "less than between 70 billion and 72 billion dollars."

Humphrey said a cut in federal spending would "help hold down the rising cost of living" and "lead the way toward another tax cut."

He said while "the final decision is the decision of Congress," since its appropriations determine how much the government shall spend and how it shall spend it, "basically it is the job of the American people" to cut government expenditures.

"It is with the people—at the thousands of crossroads over the nation — that the pressures for spending begin," he said.

VICTIM OF VANDALS
SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Golden Gate Park botanical experts are agast at the sight of their prize rhododendron almost destroyed by vandals. Chief Nurseryman Jack Spring said the plant — a rare falconeria — would take 5 to 10 years to recover, if it does at all.

See how the regular use of Chilean Soda corrects acidity and maintains favorable pH (left). Fertilizer used at right contained no sodium.

COMPARE and you'll choose CHILEAN NITRATE OF SODA

Because it's a natural fertilizer, and everybody knows a natural fertilizer is an extra good fertilizer. Extra good for crops and for the land, too; not just for today, but for the years ahead as well. Chilean Soda is a rare, natural combination of nitrate nitrogen, sodium and minor elements. Its extra values distinguish it from other nitrogen fertilizers, account for its remarkable efficiency, for its beneficial effect upon soil fertility and the production of fine crops.

The effectiveness of a nitrogen fertilizer for top-dressing and side-dressing depends almost directly on the proportion of nitrate nitrogen it contains. In Chilean Soda, the nitrogen is 100 per cent fast-acting nitrate—ready to work as soon as you apply it, rain or shine. But that's not all. Chilean Soda has sodium and minor elements, too. Sodium destroys soil acidity, substitutes for potash and calcium when necessary, increases the efficiency of nitrogen and helps plants make better use of other plant foods.

Where the soil is too acid; where potash is deficient or where the available phosphate supply is low; where the crop needs quick help; or where one or more of the minor elements is lacking, Natural Chilean Soda has no equal.

Experience, they say, is the best teacher, and 100 years of consistently satisfactory experience with Natural Chilean Soda have demonstrated that there is nothing to compare with it for your top-dressing and side-dressing requirements. If you have any questions, we urge you to try it, if only in a small way to begin with, and see the difference—for yourself. You'll find it is the most economical and efficient nitrate nitrogen fertilizer you ever used.

States Face Record Budget This Year, Hunt New Revenue Sources

By DAVID C. BEEDER
The Associated Press

It's costing record sums of money to oil the wheels of state government and lawmakers are casting around for new tax sources. Record budgets are nothing new. They've been increasing steadily since the end of World War II.

Increased government activity is one reason, but inflation is the main factor. With state governments trying to do more things than they have the money to do, lawmakers are where to send the tax bill.

An Associated Press survey shows higher salaries for teachers and state employees, highway programs and welfare projects are the major reasons behind it.

Increased state spending. In all of these cases, the mounting cost of living is in the background.

Highest state budgets are those proposed in heavily populated Illinois, New York and California.

Illinois is expected to pass a budget calling for spending of two billion dollars for 1957-59.

Two years ago, the Illinois Legislature appropriated a record $1,736,000,000. The increases are due to expected higher appropriations for schools, mental institutions and salary boosts for state employees.

Increases in Illinois and other states also result from the massive federal highway program. States must match part of the federal funds.

Like many states, the hard facts on the Illinois budget are as yet unavailable. Republican Gov. William G. Stratton won't have it ready for presentation until April. A sales tax increase is expected.

In New York, Gov. Averell Harriman already has sent a record $1,617,400,000 budget to the Legislature for the next biennium. Schools, inflation and expanded state programs were cited by Harriman as reasons for the increase from last year's $1,441,800,000 budget.

Gov. Goodwin J. Knight attributes a record-high $1,947,964,933 California budget proposal to the "inexorable demands of growth." Knight's budget request exceeds the state's previous budget by more than 119 million dollars. Seventy millions of the increase, to be used for additional school aid, would come from a cigarette and beer tax increase recommended by Knight.

In New Hampshire, Gov. Lane Dwinell handed lawmakers a record 155-million-dollar budget request. Dwinell has asked for re-enactment of a $5 "head tax" on all residents between the ages of 21 and 70 to help foot the bill. New Hampshire is one of the few states without either a sales tax or an income tax.

Some big boosts in state budgets have been proposed in fast-growing Western states.

Washington state officials say increases in the record $1,106,769,111 budget request are needed to meet higher pay demands of state employees and teachers and the requirements of a rapidly growing population. The proposed budget is up almost 39 million dollars.

The cost of government would go up more than 120 million dollars in Oregon if a record state budget of $741,654,533 is approved.

Record high budgets also have been advanced by governors in Idaho, Wyoming, Colorado, Oklahoma, Utah, Montana, Nevada and North and South Dakota.

Wisconsin's proposed 343-million dollar budget needs 47 million dollars in new revenue before it will balance. Indiana's financial outlook has been described by some observers as a "crisis."

Indiana Gov. Harold W. Handley, GOP factional foe of outgoing Gov. George N. Craig, has called "fantastic" Craig's proposed 790-million-dollar request.

Both Indiana and Wisconsin are expected to enact increases in state income tax.

In most states the budget story is the same: all-time high expenditures are planned to meet steadily increasing needs of government.

Outlook for future state budgets: more record breakers.

Buy, Returns Flower Garden

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The auctioneer's gavel went down the last time yesterday on a tiny lot being sold for back taxes, and with the sale went the flower garden of David Badger, a 60-year-old blind deaf mute.

Or so it seemed for a moment. Then realtor Benjamin Prager Jr. learned of the blind man who six years ago turned the vacant, rubble-strewn lot into a flower garden. Prager handed the lot over to the blind man's friends whom he had just outbid.

Now Badger can look forward to the coming of spring and the scent of growing flowers again.

In New Hampshire, Gov. Lane Dwinell handed lawmakers a record 155-million-dollar budget request. Rode Bus Into Wrong Service

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Sgt. Henry D. Patterson's "welcome" talk to 20 new arrivals at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot here was repeatedly interrupted by a waving arm. Patterson was forced to acknowledge the persistent recruit. "Sir," shouted the recruit, "I'm supposed to be in the Navy!" Stunned, Patterson checked the roster and found that 18 of the 20 men were all prospective sailors. They had boarded the wrong bus at the airport.

Drivers Used To Be Really Curbed

CHEHALIS, Wash. (AP)—Nelle Roundtree brought a 1921 driver's permit to the State Patrol office. Thirty miles an hour was the top speed automobiles could legally go in the state at that time. It was 20 miles in towns and cities. It was only 12 miles at street and railway crossings, and while passing schools. The permit was just something she wanted to show patrolmen. She didn't ask to have it renewed.

SWINGS A BROOM PRESNO, Calif. (AP)—When Mrs. Katie Kinzel returned home she heard someone inside. She armed herself with a broom; waited at the back door. When a strange youth walked out, she "hit him a good one on the head." He fled before she could swing again. Later she found her house ransacked and a wristwatch stolen.

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market turned irregular early this afternoon after making initial gains.

The market seemed to be on the way towards its fifth straight daily rise when some of the gains began fading and losses began cropping up.

The declines became somewhat sharper following reports of President Eisenhower's news conference where he said he is trying to slow down the rate of government spending.

Leading steels and motors were mostly lower or unchanged while aircrafts showed some fairly sharp losses. Industrials and utilities were down on average but rails were ahead.

Boeing and United Aircraft both dropped well over a point.

Chrysler was down about a point after yesterday's run-up of 3 1/2 as the day's most active stock. General Motors lost a major fraction. Ford eased.

Bethlehem Steel was a fractional loser. U.S. Steel and Youngstown backed away slightly.

Aluminum Ltd. was down well over a point. Amerada dropped about a point.

Fairbanks, Morse, beset by a proxy fight, traded at a gain of around 2.

Oils with big holdings in the Middle East were improved now that the Israeli withdrawal from Egyptian points was being completed. Gulf Oil was up around a point and Royal Dutch a fraction.

Other gains were made by Baltimore & Ohio, American Telephone, United Air Lines, Kennecott, U.S. Rubber, Zenith and U.S. Gypsum.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was unchanged at $174.50 with the industrials down 20 cents, the rails up 40 cents and the utilities down 10 cents.

Home Damaged By Fire Here

Fire damaged the residence of a prominent author here yesterday.

Firemen were called to the residence of O. B. Pierce, who is a member of the East Carolina College faculty, when a chair caught fire. The Fire Department reported that the chair and floor were damaged by the flames and there was smoke damage to the residence.

The call came around 11:30 a.m.

Piano Audition Winners Named

Pianists H. Kay Bowen of Duke University and Marjorie Still of Hillsboro have just been announced as winners in state auditions held at East Carolina College during the weekend. The event was sponsored by the North Carolina Federation of Music Clubs.

George E. Perry of the East Carolina department of music, chairman of state student auditions for the federation, stated that Miss Bowen won first place and Miss Still, second place in competition here. Miss Bowen is a pupil of Loren Withers of Duke University; and Miss Still, of Dr. Jan Schinhan of the University of North Carolina.

Each of the talented student pianists won also a scholarship given for outstanding performance. The $150 Federation scholarship went to Miss Bowen. Miss Still received a $100 scholarship given by Mrs. W.B. Bellows of Wilmington and Mr. Perry.

Judges in the auditions held at East Carolina were Christopher Giles of the faculty at Wake Forest, Winston-Salem; Don Perry of the St. Mary's College faculty, Raleigh; and Mrs. Gloria Keister, Greenville.

Some 515 Pupils At Convention

DR. W. E. MARSHALL

AYDEN.—Some 515 delegates from 41 Beta Clubs are attending the Northeastern Beta Convention at the high school here today. Brownie Harrington, president of the Northeastern district is presiding over the day's sessions, assisted by Judy Highsmith, vice-president of the group. Secretary is Anna Stallings of Ahoskie.

This morning delegates registered and the group conducted routine business along with entertainment.

During the day Dr. W. E. Marshall of East Carolina College addressed the convention. Highlight of the afternoon session was the election of Beta officers for the 1957-58 year. After the business sessions the delegates attended a social hour in the Ayden High School gymnasium.

The call came around 11:30 a.m.

Ask Postpone British Payment

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress has been asked to approve postponement by Britain of up to seven annual payments on billions of dollars in loans from the United States.

A few hours after President Eisenhower sent the request to Capitol Hill yesterday, the Canadian government announced in Ottawa it will allow Britain to defer payments for a similar period on a Canadian loan of $1,180,000,000.

Also attending the meeting is Dr. Bessie McNeil of East Carolina College. Dr. McNeil is chairman of the North Carolina Family Life Council.

Chief Nurse At Raleigh Sessions

Miss Julia Fisher, chief nurse at the Pitt County Health Department, is in Raleigh this afternoon attending a meeting of key organizations and agencies in North Carolina in the area of family life. Miss Fisher is representing the State Nurse's Association.

The meeting has been designed to permit delegates to share policies and programs in family life activities.

Also attending the meeting is Dr. Bessie McNeil of East Carolina College. Dr. McNeil is chairman of the North Carolina Family Life Council.

VITAL INFORMATION PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Caskie Sunnett, author and member of the Curtis Publishing Co. staff, said he thought nothing special of a recent request for a copy of "What to Wear and Where," a magazine fashion book, until he spotted the return address: No. 10-6670-2, Ohio State Penitentiary, Columbus.

Another Pedestrian Injured In Accident Last Night

Soothes Victims Of Over-Parking

MEDIA, Pa. (AP)—After listening to the excuses and expostulations of hundreds of car drivers, Police Chief Gunnar H. Jorgensen hit upon this way of improving his department's public relations:

When a motorist pays his fine, he receives in addition to a thank you, a small brown envelope with a message and a little gadget. The message says: "We know that most parking meter violations are the result of an oversight or forgetfulness, and are not committed deliberately." with a bit more of the same, intended to win over the offender.

Accompanying this express of good will is a plastic park-o-meter, about the size of a half dollar, with a stationary hour dial, a minute hand, and a marker that enables the motorist to set it for the exact moment his meter time expires.

Two accidents were reported on city streets by Greenville police today.

The first was reported at 9:45 a.m. involving an automobile and an unidentified truck that failed to stop after the collision.

Lee Roy Nichols of Greenville Rt. 1 was the driver of the 1954 vehicle that was struck by the hit-and-run truck. Damages were estimated at $250 by investigating police officers.

According to reports there were no personal injuries. An investigation is currently being conducted. Damages were estimated at $650 in a two-car collision which occurred at 10:15 this morning.

Involved in the accident were Ruth D. Carlyn of 200 Cotanche Street, driving a 1949 vehicle and

A Negro pedestrian suffered painful injuries last night when struck by an automobile at the intersection of Dickinson Avenue and Wade Street.

The injured man, Robert Harrington, 47-year-old Negro of 708 Fleming Street, received a broken leg and head injuries. Harrington was taken to Pitt Memorial Hospital and admitted for treatment shortly after the incident.

Ralph Williams Johnson, 17-year-old youth of 1106 Fleming Street, was identified by police as the driver of the 1956 vehicle that struck the pedestrian.

According to reports from investigating police officers, Harrington, in crossing Dickinson Avenue, walked into the path of oncoming traffic.

It was stated this morning that no arrests have been made. Investigation is incomplete.

Submitting bids for the tractor were Gregory Poole Equipment Co. of New Bern which bid $15,438 less two per cent discount for cash; E. F. Cravan Equipment Co. with a bid of $16,690 less two per cent for cash; and N.C. Equipment Co. with a bid of $15,443.31.

The bids will be considered by the City Council when it meets tonight.

The Junior and Senior Ladies Auxiliaries of Sycamore Hill Baptist Church will meet Sunday at 5 o'clock with Mrs. Emma Kincaid at the church in a service of fellowship.

SAFETY COUNCIL MEET

The Pitt County Safety Council will meet tonight at the East Carolina gym at 7:30 for a water safety demonstration meeting.

Dorothy Ann Fulcher of 212 Lewis Street, driving a 1952 automobile.

The 1949 Carlyn vehicle was damaged to the extent of $150 while damages on the 1952 automobile were estimated at $500. There were no personal injuries.

Police charged the Fulcher with failure to yield the right of way.

Three Bids For City Tractor Said Received

Three bids were received this morning for a crawler-type tractor for the Public Works Department. City Manager Leonard Bloxam said today.

The tractor will be complete with a front end loader, a bulldozer blade and a back hoe. Some $15,500 was approved in a recent bond issue for purchase of the tractor.

Submitting bids for the tractor were Gregory Poole Equipment Co. of New Bern which bid $15,438 less two per cent discount for cash; E. F. Cravan Equipment Co. with a bid of $16,690 less two per cent for cash; and N.C. Equipment Co. with a bid of $15,443.31.

The bids will be considered by the City Council when it meets tonight.

DIES IN GEORGIA

L. Z. Fleming, brother of R. V. Fleming, 1909 East Fourth street, Greenville, died last night at his home at Atlanta, Ga. Funeral services were held Thursday in Atlanta. Surviving in addition to his brother are his wife and a son and a sister, Mrs. Ella Parker of Pinetops.

Eastern Carolina News Briefs

Will Reach Peak WILMINGTON — It has been predicted by at least two persons at the meeting of the General Committee of the Wilmington Azalea Festival that the flowers would reach their peak of perfection in time for the festival dates, March 28-31. President W. G. Broadfoot, Jr., said "I'll stick my neck out with that prediction—unless of course, we have a killing frost."

City Parks and Recreation Director Arnold Peterson also went along with Broadfoot's look at the future. He said there are sufficient plants which are still in the budding stage which will not bloom until the Festival. He also said the cold weather would hold back the blooms.

Enrollment Up KINSTON — The enrollment picture in the six city schools was a little brighter this week, despite the inclement weather experienced in this area in the past two days, a general survey indicated Wednesday.

Principals reported daily average attendance has increased considerably over the past two weeks when an influenza epidemic took a heavy toll among the over 5,000 students enrolled in city schools.

More Breakins WILSON — Two more breakins were reported in Wilson last night. Thieves struck at Carolina Builders, 109 South Lodge street, and the Rulane Gas Company, Highway 301.

Court Frowns On Keeping Kids In Lieu Of Payment CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP)—Mrs. Rosalia Flores, a baby sitter who decided to keep the kids in lieu of payment, was reprimanded in court yesterday.

"You can't hold a mortgage on human flesh," Dist. Court Judge Cullen W. Briggs told her.

He ordered the children, Diane, 2, and Enrique, 5 months, returned to their mother Mrs. Armando Gomez.

Mrs. Gomez, whose husband is in the Army, testified she employed Mrs. Flores to keep her children for $15 a week while she worked. She said she paid the fee the first week. But, he said, she lost her job the second week and when she went to get her children, she told Mrs. Flores she would pay her later.

She said Mrs. Flores refused to give up the children without payment.

Mrs. Flores didn't take the stand, but a record that Mrs. Gomez's testimony was correct.

South. The take was small at each place. At Rulane, thieves broke into a warehouse and broke open a coke machine and candy machine and took an undetermined amount of cash. At Carolina Builders, fifty pennies and an undetermined amount of other cash was taken from a drink machine. The two breakins in Wilson Tuesday night brought the total to four in the past week.

Four New Families GOLDSBORO — At least four new families have joined the Nahunta Community since the Boosters Club began its campaign to put new life in the veins of a section being evacuated by many small farmers.

The new families, all Goldsboro workers, have moved into unoccupied tenant houses. Booster H.G. Beard said yesterday. Beard also reported that two lost have been sold and appointments have been made to negotiate the sale of others. At present total number of lots on the sale block has reach 60.

To Expand GOLDSBORO — Expansions of the Boys' Club program is slated to start next month, Jack Hussey, new director of the Wayne County Boys' club told the club directors Tuesday night.

The first step to enlarge the club's summer program will be a spring training program for the 300 to 500 youngsters expected to play in the Little Tar Heel and pony Baseball Leagues. He said the training in the game's fundamentals will be done during afternoon sessions scheduled to start in April and continue through the remainder of school. The leagues will be formed after the school term ends in June. Hussey also stated that he hoped to enlarge the swimming program and to conduct a summer camp.

Colored News The Zion Travelers will sing at Fleming's Chapel Church Saturday night at 7:30, sponsored by Miss Annie Mae Fleming.

The Bachelorettes Social Club will meet at the home of Mrs. Jessie Mae Brown, 14th street, tonight at 8 o'clock.

HER BABY HAS LOST HER HEAD!—If you were a little girl and your favorite baby doll had just lost her head, you'd probably cry, too. That's what 3-year-old Donna Louise Zeiner of Pottstown, Pa., is about to do after running over her doll with a toy fire truck. Donna picked up the pieces, put them on a table—and then realized the full extent of her tragedy. A member of the family with a camera recorded the scene. (AP Wirephoto).
