Bridegroom 74, His Bride Is 18

Luthern Stephenson, 74 years old, holds his 18-year-old bride, the former Betty Joyce Brewer, in his lap after their marriage in Atlanta Tuesday. Stephenson says he met Betty Joyce "under a Chinaberry tree in the backyard." He calls her "the choice of the world." Each had been married once before. (AP Wirephoto).

Teamster Union Vice President Quickly Posts Bond After FBI Bribery Arrest

WASHINGTON (AP)—James R. Hoffa, reputed to be the real power in the giant Teamsters Union, was arrested last night on a charge of trying to bribe a lawyer to feed him secrets from the Senate investigation into labor racketeering. He quickly posted $25,000 bond and was released pending a hearing March 28.

WASHINGTON (AP)—William Langley, Multnomah County, Portland, district attorney, today invoked the Fifth Amendment in refusing to answer questions before the Senate committee investigating rackets.

McClellan said in a statement: "The information came to us more than a month ago that Mr. Hoffa was undertaking to plant some on the committee's staff to represent him, to give him information, to keep him informed of the committee's plans and of any information the committee might obtain or possess that would be of interest to him."

Messick presented requests for $437,192 for maintenance and $157,000 for capital improvements before recommendations by the Advisory Budget Commission.

District Attorney Declines Answer Probing Questions

WASHINGTON (AP)—William Langley, Multnomah County, Portland, district attorney, today invoked the Fifth Amendment in refusing to answer questions before the Senate committee investigating rackets.

McClellan named Miami lawyer Hyman I. Fischbach as the man who first contacted Cheasty and allegedly sought to induce him to spy on the committee's investigations of Hoffa, and turn over documents to Hoffa.

Growers Will Be Heard Next Week On System Of Controls

WASHINGTON (AP)—Tobacco growers will get a chance to express their opinions on acreage-poundage controls at a series of hearings beginning week after next.

He said that more funds for the purchase of books and the employment of librarians are needed since the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools has informed him that East Carolina is marginal in these respects. He pointed out that the college stands second among state-supported educational institutions in circulation of books.

St. Patrick Is Theme Of Dinner-Dance

St. Patrick's Day was the theme of the Jay-C-ette supper dance at the Moose Lodge last night. Shamrocks were used on the tables and on the place cards with green candles and small arrangements of jonquils decorating the banquet tables.

Bill Norwood and "the trio" played for the dance and informal social hour following the supper.

Mrs. Max Joyner, chairman of the annual husbands' party had a committee of five assisting her: Mrs. Richard Briley, Mrs. Bill Taylor, Mrs. Brooks Beddingfield, Mrs. W. M. Aldridge, and Mrs. Jim Boykin.

At a business session held before the supper, Mrs. C. E. Williams, chairman of the nominating committee, presented the following slate-of-officers for the coming year: president, Mrs. W. M. Aldridge; vice-president, Mrs. Pete West; recording secretary, Mrs. Floyd Rowe; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Milton Williamson; reporter, Mrs. Roy Hardee; directors, Mrs. Frank Dail, Mrs. W. M. Scales, Mrs. Richard Briley, Mrs. Max Joyner.

The group voted to work with the service league on the Red Cross drive. Mrs. Floyd Rowe volunteered to be chairman of the Jay-C-ette participation unit.

Brookgreen Has Guest Speaker

Mrs. Annie Lee Hardee was hostess to the Brookgreen Garden Club when it met Wednesday morning.

Mrs. A. C. Ruffin, president, presided at the meeting which highlighted the program speaker, Mr. John Barnhill. Mr. Barnhill used camellias for his flower topic. He pointed out they are natives of the Orient and first grew in damp forests of China, Japan, and Korea. They are shallow-rooted and require much moisture; and an acid soil. He presented each person with a bloom from his own garden.

Members were urged to attend the Camellia show at the Woman's Club on Friday and to be present at the program hour to hear Mr. Barnhill lecture on grafting camellias.

It was reported the clean-up assignment of area two had been completed.

Year's Officers Are Elected And Final Plans Made For Fair

Election of next year's officers and final plans for the Spring Fair were the principal items of business of the Tuesday morning meeting of the Lakewood Pines Garden Club at the home of Mrs. W. J. Stell, on the Ayden Highway.

With Mrs. R. P. Heller presiding, members unanimously approved the slate of officers presented by Mrs. H. R. Billica, chairman of the nominating committee. Next year's officers will be Mrs. W. A. Wright, president; Mrs. N. C. Pierce, vice-president; Mrs. L. O. Crawford, secretary; and Mrs. J. E. Waltz, treasurer. New officers will take office in June.

Friday, April 12, is the date for the Spring Fair, and Mrs. Raymond Lowe, Fair chairman, asked all members to indicate what items of food, needlework, and toys they have made or intend to make to sell.

The food booth, Mrs. Lowe said, will not only sell cookies, cakes, cup cakes, candy, preserves, pickles, but will also provide drinks, refreshments and sandwiches for visitors to the Fair. Children will find a merry-go-round to entertain them while their mothers shop for Easter gifts, and a special effort is being made to provide inexpensive items in all categories so that the children may buy gifts for their parents.

Mrs. Robert Forney, in charge of the needlework and novelties, listed a few of the gift items to be offered for sale—a menagerie of Dacron-stuffed animals, including donkeys, horses, monkeys, giraffes, elephants, and "hound-dogs"; and, for Easter, chicks and bunnies; colorful "activity" aprons; for boys as well as girls, with special pockets filled with crayons and round-edge scissors; hand-dressed dolls as well as handmade "Ginny" doll clothes. The feature attraction of the toy booth will again be wooden hobby horses.

Mrs. H. R. Billica, chairman of the garden booth, asked all members to notify her in advance of the plant material they will be contributing. She indicated that there will be even more annual seedlings, perennial plants, and shrubs for sale this year than last.

Mrs. Heller announced that fifteen dish gardens prepared by members of the Lakewood Pines Garden Club have been delivered to Pitt County Hospital in cooperation with the Service League project.

It was voted to indicate to the district director that the Lakewood Pines Club would be in favor of joining a garden club council if one were formed by the five clubs in the Greenville area. The purpose of the council would be to discuss common problems and to co-operate on large-scale projects and programs of interest to all clubs.

"Staging a Flower Show" was the topic of a brief program presented by Mrs. Heller, president of the club. She discussed the requirements for standard indoor and outdoor shows and stressed the fact that even a small show can be very satisfying, interesting and educational. Any show requires a great deal of advance work and planning, she pointed out. Club members indicated in formal discussion that they might be interested in having a flower show as a major project in the next year or so.

W.S.C.S. Gives Party For Mrs. White

The W.S.C.S. of the Bell Arthur Methodist Church met in the home of Mrs. W. L. White last Friday evening at 7:30. A large group was present including members and several visitors.

The meeting began with a hymn. After the scripture reading, a prayer was led by Mrs. Charlie Sutton. Mrs. B. L. Bateman, program leader, discussed the topic "The Church and Mental Health." Mr. Horne stressed the fact that today's electrical appliances are the homemaker's best friend because they are labor savers. At the close of his talk he gave the cost of operating many of the appliances in the home.

Refreshments were served by Miss Mary Kittrell, and the lucky prize was won by Mrs. A. M. Mumford.

Every person who attended the meeting was given a loaf of bread from People's Bakery.

Those present were Mrs. Ronald Carroll, Mrs. Vernon Cox, Mrs. J. O. Edwards, Mrs. L. H. Ellis, Mrs. R. V. Hall, Mrs. J. H. Mobley, Mrs. A. M. Mumford, Mrs. J. D. McArthur, Mrs. J. L. Rollins, Mrs. Charles Runkle, Mrs. H. D. Weaver, and Miss Annie Whitford.

Miss Alya Ray Taylor announced that the last meeting for this year will be conducted by Mrs. Floyd Hendrix, Tuesday afternoon, March 19, at 3:15 in the Home Economics cottage. The subject will be "How to Make Dried Flowers."

Women In The Church

By MARY FOWLER
 Miss Gertrude Chandler, 71-year-old Congregational Christian missionary, is now back in India to continue a program of social work in the mountains of Kodakanal, Madurai District, South India. There she has already served 47 years under the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions. Miss Chandler was officially retired from missionary service in 1956. But the people of Kodakanal urged her to return to help them through her organized program of medical, educational, social and religious services, and she paid her own travel to India in order to do so. Miss Chandler's parents and grandparents were also missionaries in Madurai, though she was born in Auburndale, Mass.

Puerto Rican Methodists, at their recent annual conference session, ordained the first woman minister, laid the cornerstone for an $80,000 new church and reported gains in membership, Sunday school enrollment and giving. Together with six men ordained as elders, Mrs. Julia Torres Fernandez was ordained a deacon by Bishop Fred P. Corson, of Philadelphia. She was the first woman ordained in the history of Puerto Rican Methodism. A junior high school supervisor in Ponce, Puerto Rico's second largest city, Mrs. Fernandez has been an active Methodist 30 years, president of the conference Woman's Society of Christian Service, and a supply preacher.

The call of the National Y.W.C.A. and the National Y.M.C.A. for funds for relief of Hungarian refugees has been generously answered by local associations and from 28 foreign countries, says Y.W.C.A. vice-president, Mrs. John B. Henneman, of New York. But she adds a note that sounded also by church relief agencies: "The story of the refugees is an old one and a permanent one. When a new refugee crisis arises we naturally feel an inner urge to give any help we can. May we, during this crisis, also remember those who for varying numbers of years have been waiting in refugee camps in Europe and the Middle East, as well as other parts of the world, and who have no opportunity to find a place where they can build a new and normal life. These must not continue to remain 'forgotten people.'"

Tips On Home Decorating Given

BETHEL—"Let's Decorate Our Home" was the subject of Mrs. Johnson's talk and discussion at the home economics adult meeting in the Bethel high school home economics department. Mrs. Lucille Mayo, the home economics teacher, Mrs. Betty S. Turner and Miss Janet Heath, student teachers, were hostesses for the sixteen who attended the meeting.

The ladies were served doughnuts and hot coffee by Alice Faye McKeel upon arriving.

Mrs. Mayo thanked the ladies for coming to the series of six adult meetings which have been held this year. She continued by saying that we were glad to have Mrs. Johnson an interior decorator with Brown Furniture Company in Greenville with us today.

Mrs. Johnson said interior decorating is her specialty and she hoped that she could be of help in giving advice or assistance with decoration problems.

In order to have a realistic picture there were carpets, colors of paints, an fabrics on display. Just as we consider the color, the cut and the fit of a garment, so should we also consider the color, cut and fit when we decorate a room.

Color is a girl's best friend, because it can be used to appear to add height, width, and breadth to a room and therefore fool the eye. The use of fortanzen fibers in drapery material, and the characteristics of fiber glass materials were pointed out. Mrs. Johnson continued her talk by saying there was no one "good" drapery material. Drapery material should be chosen for a particular use and because it is well liked.

When decorating your own home, you should work from the floor up. In other words choose the color of the floor covering, the walls, and the curtains. Monochromatic colors should be selected for the larger pieces of furniture, such as the sofa and easy chairs, with the center of interest being found in the pillows or fire-side chairs by the use of bright vivid colors.

As you decorate your home consider the suitability and the serviceability of each item for well made plans should be thought of as your long range plans in decorating your home.

Mrs. Johnson closed the meeting with a discussion period.

A Former French-Type Cowboy Is Latest In Paris Designing

GUY LAROCHE... Newest sensation of the Paris couture tries out the effect of a diamond clip to highlight an important trend of his new collection, the turban skirt.

By NADEANE WALKER
PARIS, (AP)—A former French-type cowboy, Guy Laroche, is the latest sensation of Paris fashion designing.

Laroche, who opened his own house this year after eight years preparation in France and three in the United States, came by his "cowpunching" accidentally.

When doctors ordered him to take a year in the country, he spent the time caring for the cattle of his cousin, a big livestock dealer. The young designer says: "I got up at two or three o'clock every morning to take the cattle to market and I loved it."

His opening this year was a resounding success and almost overnight he was hailed as the newest, handsomest and one of the youngest among the successful designers.

Handsome Bachelor
 A 33-year-old bachelor, he is slender, hazel-eyed, of medium height, with wavy chestnut hair and a real Charles Boyer accent. He likes gay social parties, skiing and fast sports cars.

In the often-cuttthroat Paris fashion business, Laroche got off to a happy start. Such giants as Dior and Dresses sent flowers and compliments. Hardened fashion experts applauded warmly. Since then, his life has been a round of interviews, television shows for France and America, fashion showings and more interviews.

So far, he is handling success as smoothly as he handles his business. Interviewers find him easily accessible with no waiting. Sitting in one of the gilded chairs of his new salon, Laroche spreads his hands and says:

"Somehow I don't feel its really happening to me."

Too young to be in the French army during the war, young Guy started selling free-lance fashion sketches and designing hats and handbags. A salesgirl for Jean Dresse introduced him to the boss, who offered him a job.

Success Story
 He spent eight years with Dresse, then decided to go to New York. With nothing but self-confidence in hand, he arrived in America to spend three years free-lancing and learning "how Americans dress and how manufacturers work." He designed collections for Jack Sarnoff, Seymour Fox and others, and then, a few months ago, decided he was ready to come back to Paris and launch his own salon.

"I did it all in 2 1/2 months," he claims proudly. "I designed the collection, assembled my staff, decorated the salon — everything."

Laroche will visit New York — "which I love" — this spring. His first collection, of 70 models, is selling for about 30 per cent less than other fashion houses.

Hotel Housekeeping Expert Says You Can Keep Him Home

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer
 Does your home have male appeal?
 You don't know what that is? Mrs. Estelle Wright Bobbs — who as a hotel housekeeper specializes in catering to men of all types, including movie stars like Bing Crosby, Cary Grant, Frank Sinatra, John Kerr and others — is happy to explain:

"Women worry too much about how their homes look instead of how comfortable they are. It's easy to tell that men are fussier than they seem when they are away from home. Then a man is likely to have no qualms about asking for a room with a different color scheme or decor — sometimes because it reminds him too much of home."

Mrs. Bobbs speaks as an expert, having been executive housekeeper at the Hotel Westbury in New York for 12 years, and in hotels in Cleveland, Chicago, Pittsburgh, San Francisco before that.

COMFORTS OF HOME: Actor John Kerr pens a note at the hotel where executive housekeeper Mrs. Estelle Wright Bobbs has spent 12 years making sure customers are pleased with their rooms.

Favorite Colors
 "Men do not like anything gaudy," she says, "although they love color. Red, gray, dark green, yellow are favorites. Most men abhor peach, dislike pink. They all like comfortable chairs, good reading lamps, a table for odd articles such as their alarm clock, cuff links, a magazine. They enjoy having their bed turned down, and having robe, pajamas and slippers left out, and a handkerchief put in the pocket of tomorrow's suit."

They frequently complain of home color schemes when confronted with one they like, Mrs. Bobbs says. One big gripe seems to be that they are not consulted about the home decor. All they do is pay the bills. She thinks men may leave home because it is badly furnished.

Mrs. Bobbs, who is in charge of decorating 420 rooms, says it is not difficult to please a man and still keep charm in a room so that women may enjoy it. She has learned that over the years fulfilling their little requests that sometimes make the room look cozier than before.

Two Chairs for Bing
 Bing, she says, is easy to make happy with two big comfortable chairs. Cary likes his room furnished in period style, more like a study to remind him of home. Mrs. Bobbs has on occasion played valet to Frank Sinatra, ironing his suit in an emergency. "He likes to make sure the shoulders are well-rounded," she says, illustrating that men are fussy about the little things.

Mrs. Bobbs' incidental information about male comforts includes these tidbits:

If a man sleeps alone he enjoys a large double bed. If he is married he prefers twin beds. He likes a separate light over his own bed. He enjoys masculine sized soap, big enough to handle, towels that are huge (even if he throws them on the floor when he's finished using them). He likes to be sure he has a convenient place to plug in his electric razor, a good-sized mirror for shaving. He likes a mirror in the bedroom too so that he won't have to dress in the bathroom. He also likes separate compartments for his furnishings — shirts, ties, etc., and he gets very annoyed if a dresser drawer sticks. In short, men do not want to be bothered with little difficulties.

Actor John Kerr is the exception almost to the twin-bed-for-married-men rules. He says: "Mrs. Bobbs always makes sure I get the largest bed in the Westbury when I visit there with my wife. She also makes sure I get king-size bath towels."

If you still can't figure out what your man wants in the way of decor, there's a simple way to find out, suggests Mrs. Bobbs: Just ask him.

Bulky Budgets Are Here To Stay

That House resolution, calling on the President to point out where the Administration's budget could be substantially cut, sounds like a futile and desperate gesture.

By the act of presenting that proposed budget to the nation at large, Mr. Eisenhower gave it his tacit blessing.

If A Chimp Can Do It...Is Art 'Art'?

If the world of art has received a near-fatal setback, blame it on a chimpanzee named Betsy.

As all the world now knows, Betsy's paintings have sold for as high as $50, and the market for her work is picking up.

Betsy is only seven years old, which is rather young in our circles for husband-buying; but any seven-year-old who has the art world in a tizzy is just precocious enough to probably have a husband in mind.

The simian talent for painting abstracts of a quality to hang with other abstract works rather corroborates the feelings of a number of people, that abstracts and primitives are questionable "schools" or fields of artistic value.

Betsy's upsetting the artistic applecart isn't the first such eye-opener.

About a year ago a "painting" won some sort of honor in England; only it turned out to be a canvas on which the artist cleaned his brushes, and a baby's derriere accidentally plunked down in the middle of the still-wet paint.

Of such things is art? Oh woe!

Is Too Much In Savings Today

By ELMER ROESSNER
Americans may be saving too much of their income.

Last year they saved 5 or 7 cents of every dollar of disposable income, depending on whether you accept the Federal Home Loan Board or the Department of Commerce.

This strange difference in government statistics results from variations in approach. The FHLEB adds the increases in savings accounts in banks, savings and loan associations, credit unions and the Postal Savings System, plus holdings in government savings bonds and rise in insurance reserves.

Commerce calculates the total personal income, subtracts taxes and spending, and assumes the remainder is savings.

Meanwhile, the rate of savings appears to have increased somewhat since last year.

The difference in the two calculations is $6.9 billion, but what's that much in Washington? RATE RISING

At the moment, consumers are buying fewer autos, houses, television sets and various other durables than a year ago.

Murphy, president of the Home Loan Bank of New York, told stockholders the other day that the country is experiencing "a mild variety of a buyers' strike," caused by prices that have been pushed ahead just far enough to make consumers do without, buy something else or just wait and see.

WHAT SPENDING WOULD DO
Let's suppose that consumers decided to save 2 cents less out of every dollar of income. That would reduce the rate of saving to 3 or 5 cents out of each dollar, depending on which series of statistics you prefer.

With income now running around $300 billion a year after taxes, that would mean an increased spending of $6 billion a year.

Capital formation, naturally, would be that much less. Banks, insurance companies and other institutions would have less to lend for plant expansion, business development and new homes.

On the other hand, $6 billion more in sales each year would create new jobs which, in turn, would increase income and buying power.

It would stimulate manufacturing and, indeed, would be a tremendous shot in the arm for the entire economy.

Remarks by the Secretary of the Treasury, and the President's seeming attitude toward that budget, leave little doubt in anyone's mind that the huge sums involved are as little enjoyed in the White House as they are on Capitol Hill, or anywhere else.

The whole picture bears an aura of frustration. On the one hand we have an avowedly economy-minded administration and on the other a spending plan that dwarfs the imagination.

Nobody relishes it. Then the President allows as how Congress is perfectly free to trim the budget as it sees fit... which is one way of saying "I don't like it, but I bet you can't do any better without doing more harm than good."

At first the idea may have looked pretty good to our lawmakers, but it must have worried them, too. So they passed the buck right back: "show us where", they said.

How could he? So it's all back where it started. The taxpayer is left with the realization that only a piecemeal show of less spending can be really expected.

We fear the days of the Big Budget are here to stay until the well runs dry. The many little forces for spending outweigh the advocates of Spartan rule. Those who urge economies also have their pet spending schemes; and the old practice of "you scratch my back and I'll scratch yours" is just too much temptation.

The country is rich. Dazzlingly rich. And the hard truth is that it has to be rich to meet the demands of the times.

While we are firm in the belief there are luxuries which could be deleted for each Federal agency, department and office, there is little likelihood such deletions will be made.

Two few people are sufficiently interested to really fight for them.

PRISONERS — The bill establishing an independent prison department, separate from the highway commission, and setting up improved methods of handling prisoners hit the legislative mill this week.

REVOCATION — The House Judiciary 2 committee spent more than an hour discussing whether the revocation or suspension of a driver's license is an administrative or a judicial function, whether it is withdrawal of a privilege for protection of the public, or a penalty for violating the law.

Rep. Marcellus Buchanan of Jackson, sponsor of a bill to give judges discretionary power to suspend or revoke, contended that loss of driving license is punishment. Col. Ed Scheidt, director of motor vehicles, whose department now has sole revocation authority, contended it was solely withdrawal of a privilege, which is an administrative function.

At the end of the hour the committee decided to defer action for two weeks in order to let members decide whether the judge or the police department should revoke a driving license.

"HATCH ACT" — The biggest "little bill" of the session showed up in the Senate when Senators Calvine Graves of Forsyth, Richard Morgan of Cleveland and Robert Long of Person sent up SB 113. The body of the bill is short and simple. It reads:

"No person employed by the State of North Carolina or by any of its agencies, departments, institutions, boards or commissions shall be permitted to use his position to influence elections or the political action of any person."

The bill provides for no enforcement or penalty for violation. It makes no exceptions for any employees. That leaves open the question of whether elective officials, such as the Governor, the Attorney General, members of the Council of State and members of the General Assembly are included.

Common usage would remain against all appointed personnel from the level of heads of important departments down to the lowliest janitor or scrub woman in a prison camp or correctional school.

It certainly would apply to the secretary and administrative assistant in the Governor's office, to the president of the University and to every school teacher and every institutional garbage handler. (And it must be remembered that a garbage collector by offering or denying good service may be able "to use his position to influence elections" even more than a college professor.)

Personal contributions to a political campaign, or solicitation of contributions from others if not accompanied by definite or implicit threat of reprisals for failure to comply, probably could not be construed as using the position for influence.

Strength For Today

By EARL L. DOUGLASS

VALU OF DISSENT
A senior professor remarked in a recent address that he found divinity students rather resentful of the Biblical teaching that they should not conform themselves to the world.

Many people do not realize the extent to which conformity has become the rallying cry of modern education. The main idea of modern education is to lead the student to be a good neighbor. And this certainly is a necessary and commendable ideal.

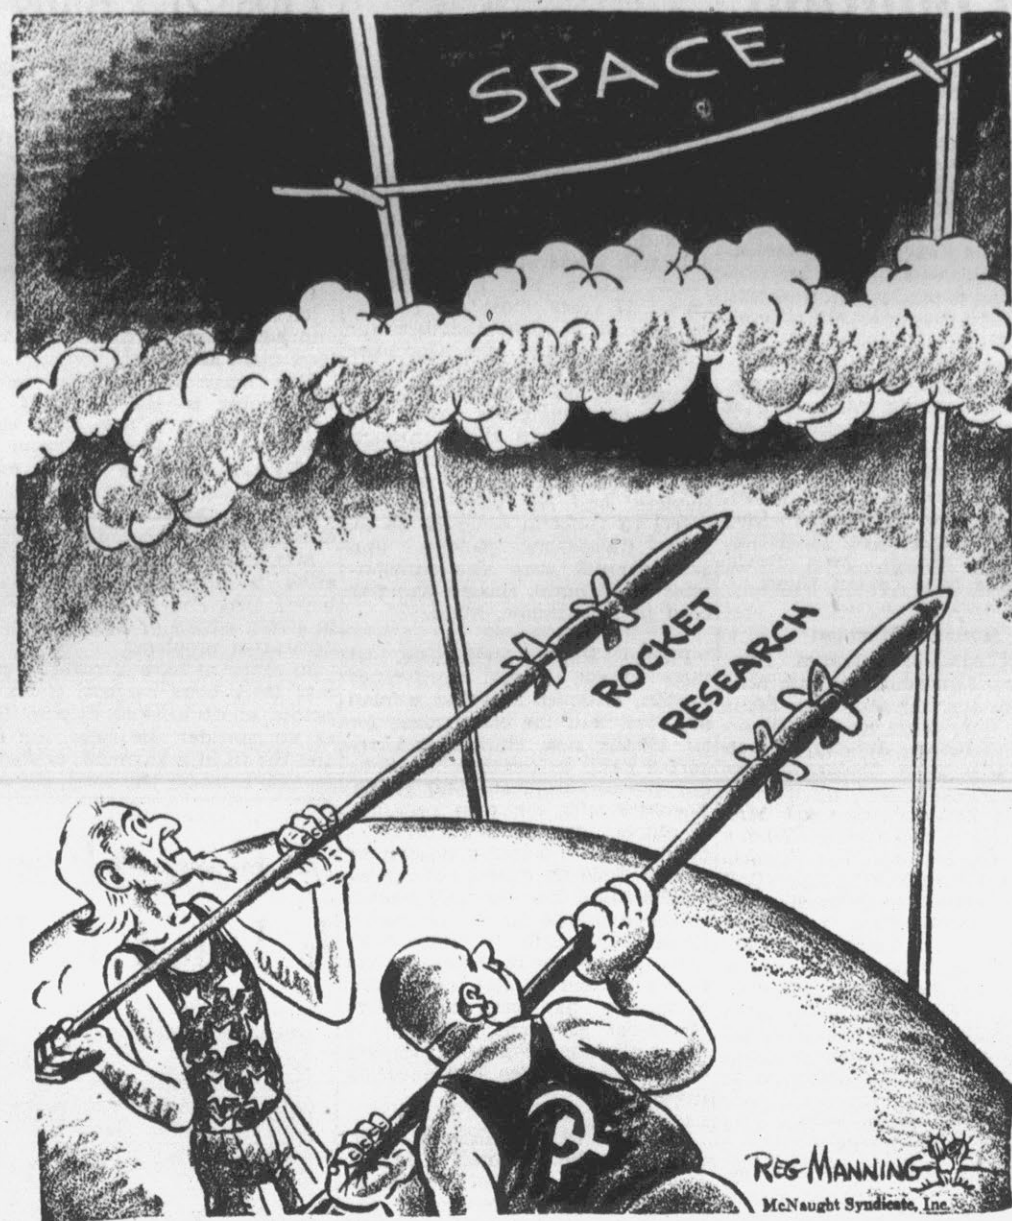

But great progress in world affairs has been made more often by dissent than by conformity. The Old Testament prophets were all dissenters. Jesus was a dissenter that the conformists succeeded in putting Him on the cross. Both St.

Paul and St. Peter suffered martyrdom because they refused to conform to the requirements of pagan civilization. Columbus, Galileo, Copernicus, Pasteur served humanity by refusing to conform. The Pilgrim Fathers were such extreme dissenters that they could not go on living even with their own co-religionists.

We are to love our neighbors as ourselves. That is a divine command. Good neighborliness is greatly needed in this modern world. But gallant dissent is needed also. Everyone who would lead a life dominated by conscience and religious faith must set himself against the crowd.

"Love not the world," said the Apostle John, "neither the things that are in the world. If any man love the world, the love of the Father is not in him."

Vaulting Contest

A License For Resting

We live on one of those streets that run down to Tar River; and with the passage of time that dirty little stream has come to mean something more than just a flow of befouled water seeking a ready exit.

I've seen others to whom the Tar was a nice place to go and "get away from it all."

Kids, for example. In summer months you'll nearly always find some paddling a flat-bottomed skiff around; and then there are adults who shuffle their way down to the banks, drop a line in the water, sit back and dream. On the banks, it's "fishing"; but to any practical person this is just dreaming in a great big way.

Once on a lazy afternoon I stood on the river bank and practiced casting with a new reel. The sluggish current, the shade, the quiet... all made me feel a long way from cares. The sun shone bright on the yellow midstream water, and on the other side an old man gently eased his little boat along, occasionally pausing to try for fish beneath an overhanging bush. We waved.

And in the minds of both, I'm sure, was the unspoken thought "he's wasting his time."

Because in fact, catching fish along this particular stretch of the river is not easy with a hookless spoon; nor does one go looking for fish... they have to come to you.

Sometimes a stray catfish or incautious carp is snared by a long-waiting hook. Doors slam and kids run to see for themselves when one of these successful bank-fishing characters walks back up the street homeward bound. There is a day well spent; thinking, talking, resting... and most enviable of rewards, a fish or two.

Once in a while one reads of the Wildlife people "stocking" this part of the Tar with fingerling. But those small fish never seem to grow up in this neck of the woods. Either they die of contaminated water or they're smart enough to find a better living elsewhere.

So the local natives must be content with the scavengers, and just plain resting.

In other counties it's probably different. There are places where a person can drop a hook in the water and seriously try for a mess of perch or a big bass. But it just isn't done down at the end of my street.

Where the legislators (who are working for the "worm bill") are bound to run into trouble, lies in differentiating between people whose fishing is secondary to other considerations, and people to whom all other considerations are secondary to fishing.

Everybody is willing to concede that the Wildlife folks need more money to spend on fish; and one way to get it is to require licenses for everybody who drops a baited hook in public waters. But it doesn't add up (down our way) to buying a license for the sake of sitting at a fish cat or carp looking for a hooking.

(And, for the record, there never has been much stream-stocking with carp and catfish; as a general thing they're frowned upon.)

I suspect there's quite a number of people for whom sitting on the Tar's banks, with an old cane pole, comprises a pastime far beyond the value of a license. But my own sense of values is outraged at the thought of their having to pay for that simplest of pleasures.

Put a new tax on cigarettes, on beer, on cosmetics... but leave those people sitting in contemplative peace.

all their years been treated by the state as red-headed step children. Or shall we say as "displaced and second rate citizens."

Look at the figures for yourself. The state all these years has allowed an appropriation per capita for students at East Carolina and at Boone and Cullowhee which is distinctly less than the student per capita allowed for the Greater University of North Carolina units or other institutions.

In more recent years, East Carolina has won some advances in allocations for instruction and for facilities. But this comes not from any great change of heart among those who make the decisions. It comes from the arduous and determined fight which Dr. John D. Messick, president of East Carolina for the past 10 years, has made. He has helped open eyes as to what great potential can be provided if East Carolina is enabled to serve as it should serve.

When East Carolina celebrates its 100th birthday, it should turn back to the events and record of today in amazement that we had progressed no farther than we had for the college.

If the pitifully poor East Carolina agricultural land is to be lifted in income, it can be done only through education, quality education.

The state must realize this and act accordingly. The state must come to understand and to act on the principle that the students of all our colleges shall be fed but of the same spoon.

Only when this is done will the college be able to measure up to the needs of its clientele.

It is only since World War II that East Carolina has begun to serve in the extent and depth which it should serve.

At its Golden Anniversary date it is well that North Carolina face the facts. North Carolina has not done right by its colleges, established primarily to train teachers. The current report of the Board of Higher Education remarks that teacher training colleges have not fully measured up.

Maybe so. But they have for and half would be devoted to cutting taxes. Resolution 170 has no mandatory effect. It merely expresses Congressional sentiment. But if shoved to the floor by Rules it will set the stage for an economy debate and demonstration that should shatter Administration complacency.

RESULT OF POSTELECTION SURVEY Resolution 170 has an interesting background. It resulted from a confidential, postelection survey conducted by a Republican Task Force under the supervision of Representative John H. Ray of New York. It disclosed that the voters' principal concern and grievance were high taxes, new spending proposals and the lack of a sense of thrift at Washington.

The report, which filled three thick volumes, revealed that foreign problems, including the Suez Canal crisis, the Middle East Doctrine and even the thought of an atomic war, were secondary. The discovery shocked the Republican leadership, including the Policy Committees of House and Senate. It led even Joseph W. Martin, Jr., and Senator Styles Bridges, White House friends, to speak out for economy.

The resultant resolution was embraced by every member of Rules, regardless of party. Witnesses waiting to testify on its behalf were not even heard because of the committee's obvious disapproval. Representative Hiestand did not get a chance to read or explain the origin given here.

DEMOCRATS NOT OPTIMISTIC ON BUDGET CUTTING
The shift in sentiment is significant because even the idea of a $65 billion ceiling was greeted with skepticism when it was first discussed in the corridors.

"Cutting the budget by even $5 billion just isn't going to be done," declared the realistic Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas.

A fellow-Texasan, Senate Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson, reacted similarly. In a colloquy with Senator Harry F. Byrd of Virginia, who demands at least a $5 billion slash, Johnson said that "I am not optimistic about the results."

SENATOR JOHNSON'S EXPLANATION Johnson explained the reasons for his want of faith. Lurching with a fellow-Senator a few days ago, the Texas said that he had suggested the feasibility of a small percentage cut—4, 5 or 6 per cent—in every appropriation bill.

"Yes," the other replied, "I agree wholeheartedly with you, provided you exceed the cost of defense. We must build a strong national defense."

Johnson then tried the idea on another colleague, who was a member of the Appropriations Committee. He answered: "I will be happy to do so. I want to see the budget reduced, provided that you except the public works bill."

Curiously, national defense, foreign aid and public works, which is known as the "pork barrel bill," are the very areas of heaviest spending. And it is against alleged extravagance in these fields that Resolution 170 is aimed.

Built A Ship Of Oak

By ALVIN STEINKOPT
BRICKHAM, England (AP) — Stuart A. Upham, a weather-beaten man who believes in wood and canvas, is the builder of Mayflower II. She is a lady, Upham insists, a strong little ship which will duplicate this spring the voyage across the Atlantic made by the Pilgrim Fathers in 1620.

Mayflower II is in her essentials — looks, size and straining ropes — a copy of the sailing ship in which the Pilgrims ventured to the new world. The new vessel is a gift of the British people to the people of the United States.

Upham and about 35 craftsmen have been working for about a year and a half. Upham sizes up the ship taking final form and says with affection gleaming in his eyes:

"A proper wooden ship is the most beautiful thing man ever created."

And what's the beginning of a good wooden ship?

"The acorn, of course," said Upham. "It's honest oak that we need to withstand the corrosion of salt water, and the battering of the sea."

Upham prowls the Devon and Cornwall countryside, looking for likely trees. They ought to be about 200 years old, and they do not have to be straight and stately. A sturdy, gnarled and twisted oak gladdens his heart, because a wooden ship needs bits and pieces of strange shapes.

"We can bend wood in the steam bath," said Upham. "But then the tiny fibers which constitute the wood are twisted out of their natural shape a little, and we lose something in strength and durability. But if that twist grows naturally the wood comes into my ship in just the form it wants to be, and there's nothing like timber to appreciate good treatment."

Mayflower II is a ship of fine appearance, but not built with beauty as a first consideration. It is a faithful copy, and the first Mayflower was a practical merchantman, a 180-ton freighter which hauled wine from the Mediterranean ports before the Pilgrims chartered her.

"Mayflower II is not grand as a schooner, or sleek as a yacht, but a very presentable craft," said Upham. "She's a bark, that's what she is. We put very emphasis we could into making this a rugged ship, and she will stand up to storms."

"Mayflower II is a live ship, daintily balanced and full of spirit. When we launched her last September, she slid down into the water eagerly, and then danced on the waves as if she were a ping pong ball. Then we pulled her back into the dry dock. It's her bouidour, where we are dressing her to go calling overseas."

"But she's been a headache. We've never built a 17th Century ship. We had excellent designs from A. Baker, the American naval architect, but we had to feel our way along, rediscovering many of the old techniques."

Upham, who is 49, will sail to America with his ship. In his youth he sailed some of his company's fishing vessels out of Brixham.

"So I know a few tricks on a sailing ship," he said. "There is this business of fresh water, for instance. We'll sail with what we need, and there will be no distilling. But I have learned that the way to conserve water is to provide only a very small hand pump on the tanks. So our new Pilgrims will have to work hard to get a cup of water, and won't be wasting any."

Opinions In Brief

"The most formidable weapon against errors of every kind is reason. I have never used any other and I trust I never shall." —(Thomas Paine)

"We wonder what would happen if some shrewd politician were to ask, 'Where is all this large public clamor for bigger spending? We suspect he would find that, like the Emperor's clothes, it was never there at all.'" —(Wall Street Journal)

Sharp Revolt Against Ike's Budget

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — The sharpest and most serious revolt yet against the Eisenhower budget has broken out behind the doors of one of the most influential political and legislative groups on Capitol Hill — the House Rules Committee. Besides consisting of responsible veterans of both parties, almost every piece of legislation must receive this body's approval before it can even be considered on the floor.

The bipartisan and indignant attack was provoked during consideration of House Resolution 170, which was dismissed as "ridiculous" and "damn foolishness" when it was proposed by Representative Edgar W. Hiestand of California, with the backing of 65 Republicans. It would record Congress as favoring maximum expenditures of $65 billion, or almost $7 billion less than Ike has asked for 1958.

Under its provisions, half of the saving would be used to reduce the $273 billion public debt, and half would be devoted to cutting taxes. Resolution 170 has no mandatory effect. It merely expresses Congressional sentiment. But if shoved to the floor by Rules it will set the stage for an economy debate and demonstration that should shatter Administration complacency.

Nixon's Flight Forced Back By Faulty Engine

TRIPOLI, Libya (AP)—The U. S. Air Force plane bringing Vice President Nixon to Libya was forced to return to Khartoum to meet King Idris of Libya were shelved temporarily. He may fly on directly to Tripoli for a visit to the American Wheelus Air Base after the engine has been repaired or may change his plans further.

Before leaving Khartoum, Nixon said Sudan has not decided yet whether to support President Eisenhower's Middle East doctrine. Sudanese Premier Abdullah Khalil expressed interest in obtaining U. S. aid, principally for improving the country's roads and water supply. Nixon added that the Sudan's decision on the Eisenhower Doctrine will be made after Special White House Ambassador James Richards comes here next month to explain its details.

Nixon conferred with other Sudanese leaders, who reportedly want American aid to support the country's economy. One government spokesman declined to discuss the possibility of such a request but said that any American aid "must be made without any conditions which infringe on Su-

Alumni Groups Schedule Events

To celebrate the Golden Anniversary of the founding of the East Carolina College in 1907, alumni in four areas of the state are staging this month dinner meetings in Burlington, Charlotte, Raleigh, and Wilmington.

The Burlington meeting, held Wednesday of this week, opened the series. Other dinners are scheduled for Charlotte, Saturday, March 16; Raleigh, Monday, March 18; and Wilmington, Friday, March 22.

James W. Butler, alumni secretary at the college, and Baxter Ridenhour of Durham, president of the East Carolina Alumni Association, were speakers at Burlington. Alumni from Burlington, Greensboro, Durham, and towns nearby attended the dinner in the Alhambra Hotel.

President John D. Messick of East Carolina will address alumni at the Raleigh meeting. The dinner will be held in the College Union on the campus of State College.

Alumni from the South Piedmont counties of the state have been invited to the dinner in Charlotte. The Wilmington meeting, scheduled to take place during the annual convention there of the North Carolina Education Association, is expected to be attended by alumni from all parts of the state. Butler and Ridenhour will be present for both events.

Plans are now being made for other meetings of alumni chapters this spring in Kenansville; Wilson; Roper; New Bern; Norfolk; and Richmond, Va.; and Washington, D.C., Butler has announced.

ECC Orchestra To Perform For Program Series

The East Carolina Orchestra, directed by Dr. Kenneth N. Cuthbert of the East Carolina College department of music, began Tuesday of this week a series of programs presented for the entertainment of school children in Greenville and Pitt County.

Pupils in county schools gathered in the Wright auditorium on the campus Tuesday afternoon to hear the program by the ensemble.

The East Carolina Orchestra will appear Friday morning of this week in a program for students at the Greenville High School. The group will play at the school assembly, beginning at 8:50 a.m.

That afternoon pupils in Greenville city schools will be guests at a program in the Wright auditorium. The concert will take place at 1:30 p.m.

The orchestra will conclude a week-long series of programs Sunday, March 17, when members will appear on a televised program. The concert, to be presented on the

"Let's Go to College" weekly feature sponsored by East Carolina, will be broadcast over the facilities of WNCN of Greenville, Channel 9, at 1:30 p.m.

Fear 20 Dead

MANCHESTER, England (AP)—A Ciscount airliner crashed on landing near here today, plowed through three houses and burst into flames. All 20 persons aboard the aircraft were believed to have perished.

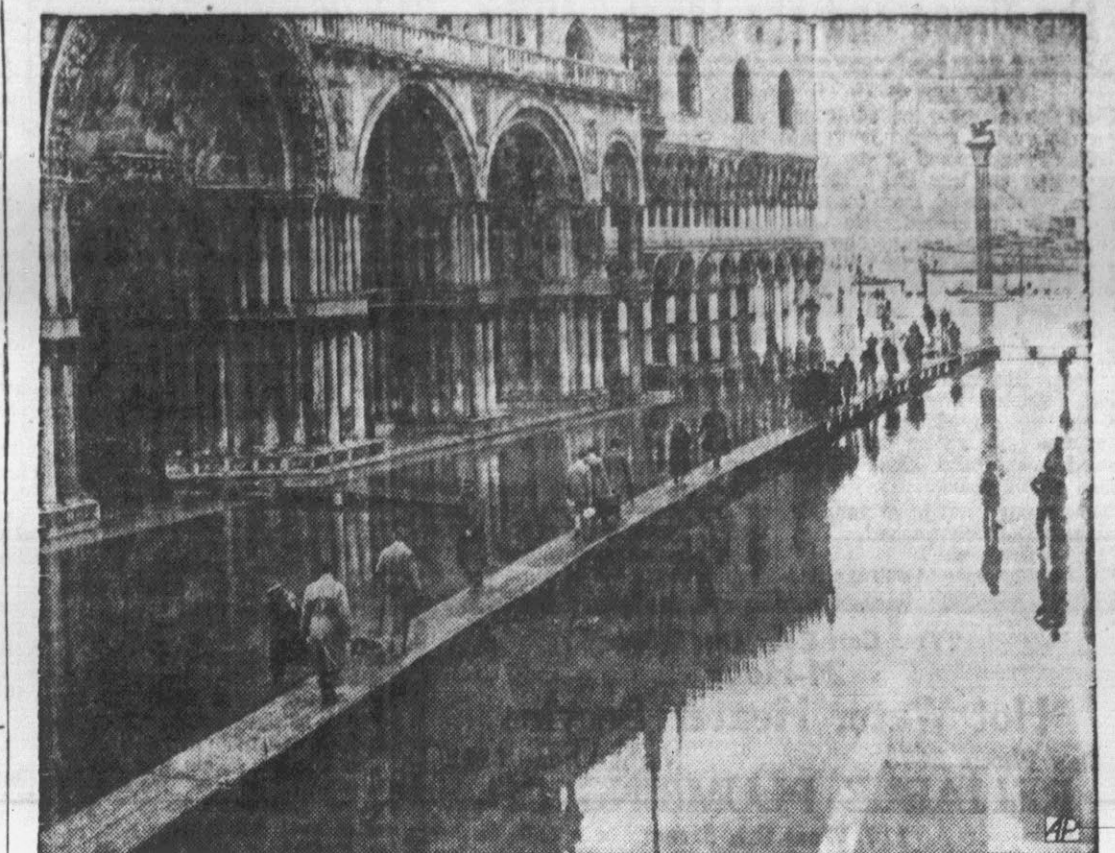

A spokesman at Lancashire police headquarters said:

"As far as we know there are no survivors. We have had none reported and from what we have heard it seems very unlikely that there could be any."

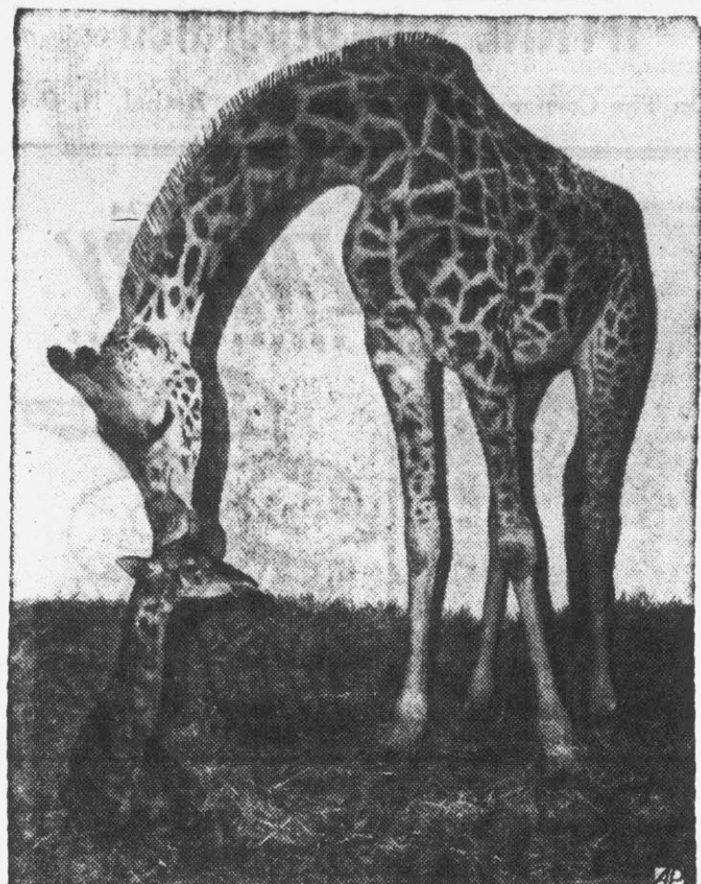

"The plane apparently overshot the runway while coming into land and hit houses on a council estate (a suburban housing project). There were people inside the houses but we don't know how many."

The big ship, powered by four turboprop engines, was arriving from Amsterdam when it crashed. It belonged to British European Airways.

CHAPTER 5
Emil Schwabacker looked around as a disheveled second lieutenant of Infantry appeared in the doorway letting out into the back. He was very young and, from his manner, very frightened. He saw Jocelyn and the solitary shoulder bar and came to a flaccid attention. "Lieutenant Eastwood, sir." He stopped talking and stared blankly.

Eastwood was tall, a little over six feet. His hair was a dirty blond, ruffled now, for he had lost his kept somewhere. His eyes were blue and watery and strain showed sharp and clear in the planes of his cheeks.

"How many men have you, Mr. Eastwood?" Jocelyn asked.

"No — none, sir."

Fires of temper and outrage flared in Jocelyn's eyes. "Mr. Eastwood, no officer ever loses all of his command!" Then he saw that Eastwood had, or someone had. "Mr. Schwabacker, see what you can do for the wounded officer." His hot glance condemned Eastwood. "Stay out of the way, that's an order!"

He had turned to Sergeant McGruger. "Man the openings with three squads; they'll come in after us. Finnegan, see what you can do for the wounded. There's laudanum in my saddlebag. Detail several men to fetch water and rationals of the pack mules. We'll be here for a while."

The troopers took their places by the slots cut into the walls. They thrust the snouts of their carbines through and waited for the hostiles to close again. The rising moan from the rear of the house, coupled with Lieutenant Eastwood's impatient presence, reminded Schwabacker of his duty and he went through the door and down a narrow hallway. In the end room a man lay on the bed, his eyes sunken and pain-dulled. His cheeks were without color and his right arm was swathed in blood cloth, the elbow hopelessly shattered.

The woman whipped her head around as Schwabacker entered. She said, "God, can't you do something?"

The man was an officer, a captain of Infantry. Schwabacker peeled back the shredded sleeve and made a minute examination. The soft lead ball had done terrible damage, for the arm was half amputated.

He stood up and looked from the woman to Lieutenant Eastwood. "That arm has to come off," he said. "When did this happen?"

"Yesterday afternoon," Eastwood said. "A mile from here. Why did it have to happen? That's what I want to know — why?"

"For some things there are no answers," Schwabacker said and went to the door. "Corporal Linahan, on the double here!" He turned back to the woman. "Your husband, madam?"

She nodded. "This was his first assignment on the frontier. He wanted action so badly." Tears spilled over her bottom lids, tearing streaks in the dirt on her cheeks.

Accident Costs Run Very High

BOSTON — The average person has no conception of what accident costs.

According to the Institute for Safer Living of the American Mutual Liability Insurance Company, the total for all accidents in the United States last year was 10 billion 800 million dollars.

This figure is equal to the new income of the 135 largest railroads, utilities and corporations in the country.

It exceeds the total expenditure of the U.S. Navy for 1955.

It would have clothed every man, woman and child in the nation in 1956.

It would have built 1,000,000 new single family homes, figuring the average cost at $10,600.

It would build 300,000 class A new schoolrooms which would provide facilities for an additional nine million youngsters.

It is enough to build a new merchant fleet with 209 ships the size of the Queen Mary.

It is enough to provide all three shots of Salk vaccine for every person in the world.

It is equal to the total number of dollars in social security benefits paid in 1953, 1954 and 1955.

It represents sufficient funds to construct 2,000 new 300-bed hospitals.

Cases Heard In City Police Court

By CHESTER WALSH
In Municipal Recorder's Court last Monday, Judge Charles H. Whedbee disposed of 20 cases, 12 of them — all Negroes — involving possession of non-tax paid whiskey.

Possession of non-tax paid whiskey: Willie Lee Fleming, 409-A Deck St., not guilty; Jennie Fleming, same address, 30 days in jail, suspended, and she is not to possess any intoxicating beverage. Bessie Wilson, 703 Green St., 30 days, suspended on payment of $25, costs deducted, probation 12 months and not possess intoxicating beverage. Leroy J. Knight, 1309 W. Third St., 60 days on roads, appealed. Guy Boyd, Jr., 621 Benton Ave., 30 days, suspended on payment of $50, costs deducted, and not to possess an intoxicating beverage for 12 months. Guy Boyd, Jr., was not guilty of driving after his license was revoked.

Possession of non-tax paid liquor for sale: Marie Langley, 1118 Clark St., not guilty. Bruce Reddick, 307 First St., $25 costs deducted. Amos C. Lumford, Winterville, 30 days, suspended on payment of $40, costs deducted.

Possession of non-tax paid liquor for sale: Lillie Cobb, 519-A McKinley St., six months in prison, suspended on payment of $50, costs deducted. She was placed on probation 12 months, and she is to behave and not possess intoxicant of any kind. Verna Mae Langley, failed to appear, capias issued for her. Thomas C. O'Neal, 106 Reade St., failed to appear, capias issued for him.

Roosevelt Carmon, Negro, 105 Washington St., assault with deadly weapon with intent to kill, six months, suspended on payment of costs. The judgment provides that he shall not be in the company or have anything to do with Hazel Mayo for two years.

Thomas G. Bradshaw, Oceana, Va., reckless driving, $25 costs deducted. For driving drunk the court gave Bradshaw 90 days on the roads, suspended on payment of $100 and costs. He is not to operate a motor vehicle for 12 months, and the court recommended that his privilege to drive be withheld for 12 months.

Margaret Perry, 1602 Woodlawn Ave., paid $5 for not stopping at a stop sign.

Bernard A. Sandick, 607 Oak St., paid $4 for not having a license tag.

Roosevelt Carmon, 105 Washington St., assault on a female, six months on the roads, suspended on payment of costs, and he is not to harm or be in the company of Hazel Mayo for two years.

Bennie Lee Eubanks, Rt. 3, city, speeding, prayer for judgment continued on condition that he not drive for the next six Sundays and pay $25, costs deducted.

RECEIVING STOLEN GOODS
CHEYENNE, Wyo. (AP)—Cheyenne police suspected Dale R. Fisher, 29, of stealing $90 but they couldn't find the evidence until they looked in his artificial leg.

Oil May Be Key To Riches Of Yet Undeveloped Yemen

By WILTON WYNN
HOEIDAH, Yemen (AP) — An American oil company may become the key to unlocking the hidden riches of the kingdom of Yemen, one of the world's most isolated countries.

Located in southwest Arabia along the Red Sea, Yemen is potentially rich in agriculture and minerals. Because of its isolation and lack of development capital, however, the country has remained undeveloped and its people deep in poverty. Yemen has no real roads, no modern seaport, and is sadly lacking in technical skills.

A big step toward tapping its own resources was made late in 1955, when the Imam Ahmed, King of Yemen, signed an exploration agreement with an American oil company. Walter Gabler, head of the Yemeni Development Corp. as the company now is named, signed the agreement and began exploration in the high plateau of central Yemen.

SIGNS FAVORABLE
There are encouraging signs of oil in Yemen, but it is still unknown whether deposits exist in commercial quantities.

Yemen's territory is adjacent to Saudi Arabia, where an American oil company long ago struck it rich. The Yemen government is praying it will be as lucky as the Saudis, who now receive 230 million dollars yearly from oil.

If the oil experiment is successful, it will almost certainly lead to development in other fields. All over Yemen are signs of mineral wealth. Already, the Yemenites operate a primitive "steel industry" of their own. Every gentleman in Yemen wears a dagger whose steel blade is forged from Yemenite iron.

No exact analysis of Yemen's mineral wealth can be made, however, until teams of experts can get into the country and survey it.

As for agriculture, Yemen already is the richest area in the Arabian peninsula. Yemenites are among the world's best mountain farmers. They build beautiful rock terraces on the mountain slopes to prevent erosion.

RESOURCEFUL FARMERS
When necessary, they move

YEMENITE LONGSHOREMEN—At Hoeidah, Yemen's main seaport, cargo handling is primitive. Goods first are transferred from large dhows to smaller boats, which are beached in shallow water. Porters then wade through the surf to complete the unloading.

rich soil from one place to another to grow crops in a congenial climate. Near Sukhna, farmers carry soil from the steaming hot coastal plain to a point on the rocky mountain slopes where climate and water are adequate for coffee production.

Yemen's highlands get abundant summer rains, and the whole area abounds in underground water resources. Experiments in growing citrus fruits, cotton, and wheat have been highly successful. Yemen's mocha coffee is world famous. The country provides food for the British-controlled Aden protectorates to the south.

Yemen's highlands have an almost perfect climate, the heat of the tropical sun mitigated by the altitude and summer rains.

Variety Of Meats At Tempting Prices

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The housewife searching for the main in the nation's supermarkets and neighborhood grocery stores this weekend will find a variety of meats offered at tempting prices.

Those with an eye on the calendar and a sentimental soft spot for Ireland will find corn beef featured in many stores. Most stores stock both the boneless and less-expensive bone-in cuts as main dishes for the Sunday dinner March 17.

The wholesale meat market was reported tighter this week, although it was believed to be only a temporary situation. One source said the chains were paying 2½ cents a pound more than last week.

It's not surprising then to find fish and chicken widely featured. The chickens are designed for frying, roasting or stewing, while the fish varieties include scallops, whiting, cod, haddock, shad and shad roe, halibut, salmon and tuna.

Beef and pork are the most frequently mentioned specialties among the regular meats, with chuck roast of beef and pork loin both getting a big play.

Dry beans, which are reported plentiful this year, can lend variety to Lenten menus as bean soup, chili con carne or casseroles of baked beans. Beans also can be used with milk, eggs and cheese in casserole dishes.

At the vegetable counters feebly lettuce from western fields, eastern storage potatoes and old cabbage and topped beets all are rated as outstanding buys. New green cabbage from Florida and the new Florida potatoes gradually are getting cheaper, although the latter still are only in moderate supply. Pascal celery, mostly from California, Arizona and Florida, also is sliding down the price scale.

Other vegetables which look on the telephone. Being a "nerve-like good buys in most places are broccoli, yellow onions, eggplant, chicory, escarole, kale, collards, carrots, radishes and green beans. The last-named, however, show a wide range in quality and condition, so housewives are advised by produce men to shop carefully.

Baldwin, Rome, Cortland, Delicious and McIntosh apples which have been kept in controlled atmosphere storage are available in increasing supplies at this time of year. High quality and good condition apples are selected for this special storage treatment, in which the apple's respiration is controlled so that the ripening process is slowed down.

Oranges, lemons, grapefruit and tangerines also are good fruit buys this week, along with several varieties of pears from Oregon. Empress grapes, however, are growing more expensive as their season wanes.

Recalls When Jail Held 247

LOGAN, W. Va. (AP)—Charlie Blas, retiring after 24 years as county jailer, figured his most vivid memory was a weekend in 1937 when 247 persons were jailed. It was so crowded that 58 men had to be put in the bullpen together. That meant standing room only—and frequent fights.

"The skirmishes kept by officers and myself busy trying to maintain a semblance of order," Blas recalled.

INTO PLOUGHSHARES
BALTIMORE (AP)—An assortment of 350 guns, 200 knives and a collection of jimmies, chisels and axes collected by Baltimore policemen were on their way to the steel industry today. Formerly used for crime, they will be melted into scrap by the Bethlehem Steel Co. here.

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Radio station WPEN is running a contest with the first prize a trip to Venice.

The station supplies a beginning—"I want to go to Venice because x x x"—and the contestant takes it from there.

The other day WPEN said it received this entry from a contestant: "While my husband was in the service his letters from Venice were the most romantic. I want to get him back there."

Translated: It's An Old Saying

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The translation service of the Federal Trade Bureau here got the answer for an advertising firm.

The company wanted a Latin inscription for a trophy cup for the winner of the firm's golf outing.

The Latin turned out to be: "Eheu, Pueri, Sic Pila Saltit." Or, a familiar phrase in the advertising world: "Well, boys, that's the way the ball bounces."

Four Sentenced For Fort Bragg Battery Thefts

RALEIGH (AP)—Four men, including two owners of a junk dealing firm at Fayetteville, were fined and given suspended prison sentences yesterday on charges of stealing more than $10,000 worth of batteries from Ft. Bragg.

Harold Kenneth Cohen and John Hays Green, partners in the Cohen and Green Salvage Co., were fined $3,000 each in federal court and sentenced to 18 months, suspended for two years.

Also sentenced in connection with the thefts were Daniel Archie McCormick and Henry Clay Geddie, employees of the firm. McCormick was fined $2,000 and sentenced to 18 months, suspended for two years. Geddie, a Negro, was given a similar suspended sentence and fined $1,000.

Several character witnesses described Cohen and Green as generous workers for charity in Fayetteville.

Judge Don Gilliam called it "the most amazing criminal case I have experienced on the bench."

All of the men pleaded guilty. According to the court papers, the indictments involved fraud against the government, conspiracy, theft of government property, crime on a reservation, and larceny.

"BI agent Robert M. Stevenson told the court the men carried out the thefts through illegal bidding methods and fraudulent weighing schemes in obtaining $10,561.84 worth of batteries from the property disposal branch of corps at Ft. Bragg. The batteries were obtained, according to testimony, to be sold on the lead market.

James R. Nance of Fayetteville, attorney for Cohen, told the court Cohen would pay all of the fines and that full restitution had been made to the government.

Progress Note: Not One Horse

SAN MARCOS, Tex. (AP)—In 1916 the first automobile in these parts chugged its way up to College Hill with a student for Southwest Texas State Teachers College.

At that time there were less than 400 students, many of whom tied their horses in a grove of trees down the hill.

This year 2,200 students are enrolled and 1,170 of them own their own cars. Not a single horse was registered.

Testing Vaccine For Virus Colds

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A vaccine against virus-produced colds is being tested on 10,000 soldiers, says Maj. Gen. James P. Cooney, deputy surgeon general of the Army. "On the first 300 recruits, the vaccine showed a 90 per cent efficiency," Cooney told an alumni convention of the College of Medical Evangelists.

The vaccine is being developed, he said, in an effort to knock out a specific virus that affects 8 out of 10 recruits each winter. If the tests prove successful, he added, the vaccine will be made available to civilians.

FLOWING VELVET

This modern flowing formula has helped countless women—just like you—who had despaired of a dry, prematurely aging skin.

Jacqueline Cochran has found a whole new answer to the dry skin problem and its main cause, the dehydration of the sub-surface tissues. After years of research, she discovered Hydrolin, a new ingredient that, for the first time, can and does transfer beneficial moisture into the deep tissues of the skin. Thanks to exclusive Hydrolin, blended with other rich components, Jacqueline Cochran created an entirely new kind of 3-way beauty formula.

Unique Flowing Velvet acts 3-ways:
It furnishes moisture that actually sinks into your skin.
It provides necessary oils for essential lubrication.
It maintains the normal balance of oils and moisture.

One touch mirrors the beautiful change! Tiny lines soften, years seem to melt away. Use Flowing Velvet day and night. It's hormone-free, greaseless, won't smear your make-up or smudge your pillow.

Our specially trained Jacqueline Cochran expert will be happy to show you what just a few drops of richly concentrated Flowing Velvet will actually do for your skin.

Death Rate For Many Fields Saw Major Drop

NEW YORK, N.Y. — All-time low death rates were recorded in 1956 for tuberculosis, maternity, the childhood diseases, suicide, and homicide, the statisticians of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company report on the basis of the experience among the company's industrial policyholders.

In addition, the poliomyelitis death rate among these insured dropped to half that for 1955 — or to only 3 per 100,000. This reduction in mortality paralleled the drop in the number of cases of the disease reported in the general population of the United States. In 1956 there were 15,400 such cases reported in the country, a 47 percent decrease from the 29,270 cases in 1955. The statisticians credit the immunization program for part of this decrease.

Mortality from all causes among industrial policyholders continued at the record low level of the two preceding years. The death rate for all ages combined was 6.2 per 1,000 in each of the last three years, compared with 6.5 in each of the three years 1951-53.

Since 1911 the death rate in this group has been reduced about one-half, the statisticians point out; and when allowance is made for the increase in the average age of these persons, the improvement is about two thirds.

The cardiovascular-renal diseases accounted for a little over half the total deaths among the industrial policyholders in 1956. Second in rank were cancer and allied conditions, responsible for slightly more than one-fifth of the deaths. Accidents ranked third, and these three causes of death added together accounted for four-fifths of all the deaths.

Mortality from the cardiovascular-renal diseases in 1956 was about the same as in 1955, the rates being 328.6 and 327.7 per 100,000 policyholders, respectively. The diseases of the coronary arteries, with a death rate of 108.0 per 100,000 in 1956, likewise showed no appreciable change from the year before.

The death rate from cancer (all forms) was 128.7 per 100,000 policyholders, compared with 128.2 in 1955; for respiratory cancer, it rose from 16.5 to 17.5 per 100,000. The death rate from diabetes was almost identical in the two years, as was that from pneumonia.

Tuberculosis mortality fell to the all-time low of 7.1 per 100,000 a reduction of about 10 percent from the year before and of 80 percent in a decade. Currently the disease accounts for little more than one percent of the total mortality, as contrasted with 18 percent in 1911.

The death rate from the principal communicable diseases of childhood — measles, scarlet fever, whooping cough, and diphtheria — recorded a new low of .2 per 100,000 policyholders. These four diseases were a serious threat to the lives of children less than two generations ago.

Mortality incidental to pregnancy and childbirth decreased to a record low of 9 per 100,000 policyholders in 1956; this is particularly significant with the number of births reaching an all-time high in the United States.

Accident fatalities among the Metropolitan's industrial policyholders increased slightly between 1955 and 1956 — from 35.1 to 35.6 per 100,000 — the statisticians added, while the suicide and homicide rates established new lows of 5.6 and 2.4 per 100,000, respectively.

1,600 Quality Chicks Go To 16 4-H Club Members

By JAMES M. GOODE
Negro Pitt County Agent

During the week 1,600 quality chicks of the Parmenter Red strain were distributed to 16 different boys and girls enrolled in 4-H Club work in Pitt County.

This 4-H poultry chain was started in 1955 and has been expanding each year to different 4-Hers. It is the responsibility of each 4-H'er participating to use recommended practices in growing out their chicks to pullets in 5 1/2 months. Also each 4-H'er receiving 100 chicks will return to the county agent's office in September 12 pullets from their project. The 197 pullets from the 16 4-H projects will be entered in a county poultry show and sale. Money from the auction sale will be used to purchase chicks for other 4-Hers in 1958.

4-Hers receiving 100 chicks during the week were: Gloria Jean Monk, Willie Olds and William Parker, Nichols 4-H Club; Bobby Allen, Ayden; Carolyn Patrick and Dorothy Allen, Grifton; Charles Smith, Walter Yarrell and Carlis Hemby, Cherry Lane; Erwin Sprull and Bobby Hardy, Bethel; Arthur Daniel and Lillie P. Hardy, Sally Branch; Joyce Dupree and Marjorie Randolph, Falkland; Bettie Carr and Eleanor Dixon, Fountain.

The poultry chain was sponsored last year by the Greenville Chamber of Commerce.

A local 4-H big chain which was established in 1955 by business and civic concerns of Greenville and sponsored by the Greenville Chamber of Commerce is again being operated in 1957. During the week six registered girls of the Hampshire breed and one registered boar were placed in the Cherry Lane community.

The purpose of the pig chain is to promote interest in livestock by assisting interested boys and girls in securing foundation stock at reasonable cost and to provide of sound production practices by requesting the club members participating to fulfill all production and management requirements under the supervision of agricultural agents. Boys and girls receiving registered Hampshire gilts during the week are: Tyrone Hopkins and Stettinus Hemby, Cherry Lane 4-H Club; Marion Hooks and Louise Langley, Grimesland; Erwin Sprull and Jessie Taft, Bethel.

On March 20, eight registered gilts of the Yorkshire breed will be placed in a 4-H chain, with boys and girls participating from the Haddock's community. This chain is being sponsored by the Sears Roebuck Foundation.

"Much emphasis this year is being placed on producing the family food supply, which means that we are not only hoping for the best production out of special chain members but that 4-Hers in general, along with adult, will go all out in the production of the family food supply. Remember, to keep good records in all of your projects, whether they be 4-H or adults. We as farm agents would appreciate all the assistance we can get from leaders, teachers, parents and high school students on helping the Junior 4-H members with filling out their record books. Always keep in mind that regardless of what the project might be, records are important to tell the story as to whether you are doing, is successful or a failure."

Would Exempt Church Suppers

By JEAN REILLY
(The Reflector Bureau)

RALEIGH, March 14—An amendment exempting the operation of picnics, box lunches, camp meetings, and suppers given by religious, charitable, or civic organizations from increasing controls of revised Public Health laws was submitted by Senator Robert H. Cowen of Martin at a committee meeting.

The amendment was attached to Senate Bill 20 which provides for compulsory health inspection and issuance of permits to such establishments as State fairs and carnivals operating under a period of one week.

Under the same bill the State Board of Health cannot issue the permit without making inspection of the premises and determining that the sanitary facilities required by blue-book rules made by the Board, not by the General Assembly, have been fully met. Sponsors of the bill, which was prepared by the Institute of Government upon request of the State Board of Health and introduced by Senator Dave Rose of Wayne and Representative Raynor Woodard of Northampton, respective chairmen of the Committees on Public Health, evidently expected some opposition because a good part of the text deals with the right of Board of Health Representatives to enter upon the premises and make the inspections required, with severe penalties imposed for resistance to their activities.

Didn't Want To Disillusion Kids

ONEONTA, N. Y. (AP) — At his own request, the obituary of Harmon Chaplain, 74, omitted a major activity he had performed annually in this community.

He didn't want the children who had met him in his year-end role to be disillusioned, said the white-haired, white-bearded Chaplain shortly before he died a few days ago.

Voter Had To Prove Liveliness

DECATUR, Ill. (AP)—A live voter is better than a dead one, but J. Ross Patterson had to prove he was alive before he could vote.

Patterson was challenged as an unregistered voter. Investigation revealed a J.R. Patterson of his former precinct in Springfield, Ill., had died.

Ross produced witnesses to prove he was not the dead man and was allowed to vote.

Growing Confusion As To Action On Record Budget

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — No budget in recent years has caused as much confusion as the one President Eisenhower handed Congress 57 days ago. He asked for almost 72 billion dollars, a record for peacetime.

What follows is a quick rundown on the confusion that spread after Eisenhower sent his budget to Congress Jan. 16:

Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey at a Jan. 16 news conference indicated this was the tightest budget the administration could offer. He said:

"I don't think there is anything in sight at the moment that can be done better than is now proposed in this budget but I think we ought to improve it as time goes on."

Almost immediately he made a second statement which seemed, and still seems, contradictory: "I think there are a lot of places in this budget that can be cut."

This immediately raised two questions:

1. If this was such a tight budget, as he said, how could it be cut?
2. But, if he thinks it can be cut, why didn't the administration do it?

Several times since Jan. 16 Humphrey has said cuts could be made but never — although asked by newsmen and Congress — has said where.

It's extraordinary for a Cabinet officer to say a President's budget can be cut the moment it reaches Congress, and Eisenhower was asked about it at his news conference Jan. 23.

He said there was no difference of opinion between him and Humphrey but he added that, if members of Congress can make cuts, "it is their duty to do so."

This added nothing to anyone's understanding, since everybody knows Congress has the duty to cut the budget, if it can. It was about as informative as saying a policeman can arrest people.

Either because of the size of the budget or because Humphrey stimulated them into hoping cuts can be made, businessmen and others have been flooding Congress with demands for reductions. Eisenhower is aware of this.

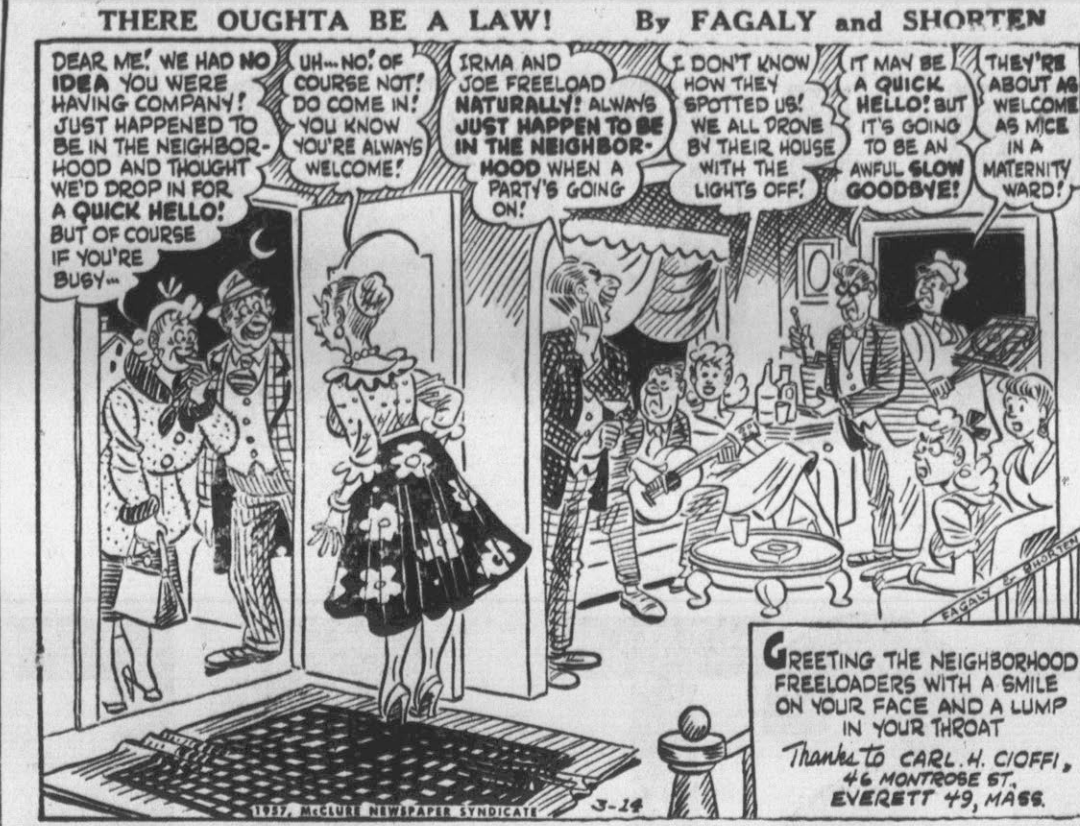

The demands are coming from Congress too, and particularly from Eisenhower's own Republicans. At his March 7 news conference, Eisenhower showed signs of backing away, suggesting some of the programs he asked money for might be slowed down.

Meanwhile, Percival Brundage, the budget director and therefore the one man who should know more than anyone else about what went into the budget, made a statement:

He said he sees little hope for substantial cuts in spending for at least two years.

Things got so whacky that the Democrats in the House — no doubt for political reasons — pulled a switch by asking Eisenhower to tell them where cuts could be made, thus trying to shift responsibility from Congress back to the administration.

At his news conference yesterday Eisenhower said he had never asked Congress to cut the budget. But he repeated: If Congress could cut, it should cut.

Series Of Forums Set By BSU For Quarter

Members of the Baptist Student Union at East Carolina College have announced a series of weekly forums scheduled to be held on Mondays at 5:30 p.m. throughout the spring quarter at the Baptist Student Union on East Eighth Street. Discussion at a majority of the meetings will deal with vocations open to the college student.

Opening the series, a panel of speakers from the college will present various aspects of teaching as a vocation next Monday, March 18.

Speakers and their topics will include Dr. Eva Williamson of the education department, the public school teacher; Dr. Lucile Turner, director of the English department, the college and university teacher; and Joan Ashley of Winterville, president of the college Future Teachers of America, "Why I Plan to Teach."

Other forum topics include "Church Related Work," with members of the Chowan College Baptist student union in charge, March 25; "Homemaking," with the Rev. James W. Ray of the Ridge Road Baptist Church of Raleigh, as speaker April 1; "Law and Medicine," April 29; and "Business, Trades, and Public Relation," May 6.

The BSU and Wesley Foundation of Pembroke College will give the program April 8.

An Easter drama "He Was Able" will be presented April 15 under the direction of Loretta Walters, freshman from Monroe. Discussion of vacation Bible school workshops will be the topic of the May 13 forum.

May-December Vows A 'Trait'

ATLANTA (AP) — A couple who "met under the chinaberry tree in the backyard about six months ago," are married now. The groom, Luther Stephenson, is 74 years old; the bride, Joyce, is 18.

Joyce's mother, Mrs. W. A. Brewer, said "it runs in the family. My husband was 59 when I married him and I was 19. We had five children and a wonderful life."

Time Lopped Off Prison Term Of Drill Instructor

PARRIS ISLAND, S. C. (AP) — A Marine drill instructor, convicted by court-martial last week of illegally touching recruits under his command here, yesterday got two-months lopped off his prison sentence.

A special court-martial sentenced Cpl. William R. Walsh, of Lynchburg, N. J., to three months in prison, reduction in rank to private, and a fine of $40 a month for three months.

Lt. Col. Oscar F. Peatross, Raleigh, N. C., convening authority of Walsh's court-martial ordered reduction of the prison sentence to 30 days, the Marine Corps public information office here said.

Other provisions of the sentence remained effective.

The sentence could be further reduced or thrown out altogether by Maj. Gen. Homer L. Litzenberg, base commander, who has not completed his review of the court-martial.

No Prohibition As To Her Arm

OLYMPIA, Wash. (AP) — Washington state law rules out "hugging drivers." But there's apparently a loophole.

In a legal opinion, Atty. Gen. Don Eastvold said a young man can't drive with his arm around a girl.

Conviction calls for mandatory suspension of one's driver's license, Eastvold pointed out. Also, before the license can be reinstated, proof must be offered of the driver's financial responsibility.

But, —and here's the loophole — there was nothing said that would prohibit a young lady from putting HER arm around the driver, as long as he held both hands on the steering wheel.

Democrats Set Sights On Seven Seats In Senate

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Democratic Senatorial Campaign Committee today set its sights on victories in seven states next year in forecasting the Democrats will tighten their control of the Senate.

Chairman Smathers of Florida predicted in a statement that the Democrats will boost by from four to seven seats their present 49-47 margin.

The forecast contrasted with previous predictions by Chairman Schoepel (Kan.) of the Republican Senatorial Campaign Committee that the GOP will take over the Senate by a margin of one or two votes in the 1958 elections.

Smathers said the Democrats have their best chances to oust Republican senators from Maryland, New York, California, New Jersey, Arizona, West Virginia and Maine.

Republican strategists have indicated they believe their best hopes of unseating Senate Democrats lie in races in New Mexico, Rhode Island, Missouri and Washington state.

Smathers said Republican candidates are going to have to run next year without much benefit from President Eisenhower's popularity—a note that some GOP members also have sounded.

Smathers noted that of 32 Senate seats to be contested next year, 21 now are held by Republicans and 11 by Democrats. He said five of those Democratic seats are in the South and "the remaining six seats also appear sufficiently secure."

Played Again, On Field Of Former Triumphs

LEAD ALL-STARS—Former East Carolina great Sonny Russell and Nick Nichols are shown above in action during the game between the Greenville All-Stars and the N. C. State All-Stars played last night in the ECC gymnasium. Nichols was high scorer for the local team with 20 points, followed by Russell with 17 points. The State team won the benefit contest handily, 90-70, before a large crowd. (Reflector Staff Photos).

Local All-Stars Fall, 90-70, To Dazzling Play Of State Cagers

The Greenville All-Stars did accomplish one feat against the N. C. State All-Stars in their benefit contest staged last night in the East Carolina College Gymnasium. They scored first and it only took them 33 seconds to amass the two points.

From that point on the hometown crowd had little to applaud but the sharp playmaking of the State All-Stars who put on a dazzling display of basketball to soundly trounce the local team, 90-70.

Vic Molodet, 5-11 star on last year's State quintet, was the contest's high scorer with 23 points, most of which came on hook shots and jump shots from close in. He was followed by All-American Ron Shavlik who used his height to a definite advantage, dropping 23 points to lead his team to their 21st straight victory.

For the Greenville All-Stars, Nick Nichols led the way with 20 points, all coming from long one-hand push shots from outside the tight defense set up by the visitors. Former ECC great Sonny Russell hit for 17 points for runner-up honors in scoring. The only other player in the lineup to hit double figures was Guy Mendenhall who hit for 11 points.

After the home team scored the first basket, the State team missed four shots but finally tied the game on a two-pointer by forward Lou Dickman. Russell put the Greenville team ahead again with a jump shot but Shavlik countered with a shot from close in. The 4-4 tie was broken by scrappy little Ike Riddick who dropped the second of two free throws when fouled by Joe Belmont.

This was the last lead that the locals enjoyed. Behind 5-4 the State quintet put on the steam for the next seven minutes outscoring the home team 27-10 to take a 31-15 lead with a little over nine minutes left to play in the first half.

Superior height, experience and ability proved to be dominant factors in the State surge. Led by two tall men, 6-8 Shavlik and 6-7 Bob Speight, the visitors completely controlled the backboard, the Greenville five, in most cases, getting only one shot at the basket.

The sizable crowd was treated to an excellent show of ball handling and playmaking by the little guards Molodet and Duke's former great Joe Belmont. Several times their clever ball handling completely fooled the Greenville defense, allowing their teammates to break under the basket for easy two-pointers.

After the surge by the Hensley five, the game was never close. The final score was as close as the points could be counted in favor of the home team.

The halftime score was 51-26, with Molodet, Shavlik and Belmont leading the way with 14, 13 and 10 points respectively. Russell led the way during the first

Bigger Crop Of 'Rhubarb' Seen

By JACK HAND

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—It's a warm July night at Comiskey Park on Chicago's South Side. Minnie Minoso is up with the bases full, two out and the score tied in the last of the ninth. Don Larsen of the hated Yankees zips a fast ball through the strike zone and the plate-crowding Minoso is nicked on the arm.

Imagine the fans' stormy reaction when the plate umpire gives the "strike three" sign and motions for a new supply of baseballs for the extra innings.

That is the way it is going to be this summer, a season that may produce the highest rhubarb crop since Ty Cobb left the game. Cal Hubbard, supervisor of umpires in the American League, has been visiting dugouts, before the exhibition games, briefing the managers, coaches and players about the rule changes that are in effect this year.

"Most of the fans don't even know the new rules were adopted," Hubbard said. "Some of the players don't know too much about them either. I've told the umpires to be extra tough down here in the spring games to warn everybody what to expect."

"The new rule says if a ball is in the strike zone when it touches the batter, it shall be called a strike, whether or not the batter tried to avoid the ball. 'It doesn't say so in the rules but we have agreed to interpret it that the ball shall be dead after it hits a man in a case like that. Otherwise you'd have all kinds of arguments about interference and obstruction.'"

Hubbard said the rule he expects to give batters the most trouble is the one that reads, "A batter shall not leave his position in the batter's box after the pitcher comes to a set position or starts his windup. If the pitcher pitches, the umpire shall call 'ball' or 'strike' as the case may be."

"This means just what it says," Hubbard warned. "No more of this fiddling around to wipe an imaginary bug out of the eye or hitch up the belt while the pitcher waits."

Giants Of The Court Back In NCAA Play Friday Night

By ORLO ROBERTSON

The Associated Press
The big boys of college basketball stepped aside again today as the lesser lights went about the task of reducing the field to two in the NCAA Small College Tournament at Evansville, Ind., and to four in the NAIA competition at Kansas City.

Tomorrow the giants of the court will be back in action in double-headers at Philadelphia, Lexington, Ky., Dallas and Corvallis, Ore., in the NCAA Major College Championship. Winners meet Saturday to determine the four teams which enter the semifinals and finals March 22-23 at Kansas City.

Here's now the small colleges will square off in the NCAA affair tonight:

Mt. St. Mary's, Emmitsburg, Md., vs. Kentucky Wesleyan, Wheaton vs. Los Angeles State. The championship game will be played tomorrow night.

At Kansas City, where play started Monday with 32 teams, the field in the NAIA Tournament will be reduced to four with these games:

Pacific Lutheran vs. Texas Southern.
Hamline vs. Eastern Illinois.
Western Illinois vs. Tennessee State.

Southeastern Oklahoma vs. Youngstown.
The semifinals will be played tomorrow night and the finals Saturday night.

Wheaton rolled up the highest score of the four small college NCAA games yesterday. The Crusaders eliminated South Dakota 90-50.

But Mt. St. Mary's of Emmitsburg, Md., also looked impressive in downing Rider of New Jersey 86-66 with Jack Sullivan, the nation's third highest small college scorer, tallying 39 points.

Los Angeles State came from behind in the final two minutes to nip San Diego State 57-55. Kentucky Wesleyan downed the University of Buffalo 72-68.

Six of the seeded teams remained in the NAIA competition. The only break in the seeded ranks yesterday came when Portland (No. 5) dropped an 87-70 decision to Tennessee State.

Meet Today

Greenville high school tracksters opened their 1957 cinder season here this afternoon against Northeastern Conference foes, New Bern and Elizabeth City.

The match, a triangular, was held at Guy Smith Stadium track and was counted as a regular Northeastern Conference event.

Greenville was rated to cope top honors. The Phantoms are the defending Northeastern loop champions.

Braves' Rookie Hard Hit, But Haney Likes Him

BRADENTON, Fla. (AP)—Milwaukee Braves rookie left-hander Juan Pizarro was blasted by the powerful Cincinnati Redlegs yesterday, but the events apparently didn't hurt his standing with Manager Fred Haney.

"I don't care if they'd have gotten a thousand runs off him," Haney said. "I liked him very much. He showed me a good curve, a good change and variations of stuff. I thought he did remarkably well considering this was his first time out there. I'm awfully glad he's on our club."

The 20-year-old Puerto Rican, who starred for Jacksonville in the Sally League last year, entered the game in the sixth and set the Redlegs down in order for two innings. But they belted him for seven hits and five runs in the eighth and went on to an 11-4 victory.

Asheboro, Ramseur And Hot Springs Win 1956 Finer Carolina Contest

RALEIGH (AP)—Asheboro, Ramseur and Hot Springs will receive cash prizes of $1,000 each for being named first place winners in the 1956 "Finer Carolina" contest.

The winners were announced yesterday by Louis V. Sutton, president of Carolina Power & Light Co., which sponsors the contest. It marked the fourth consecutive year Asheboro has won top place in the larger population class. Ramseur was first last year, and second the year before.

Hot Springs won in the small class by establishing a 13-room medical clinic and procuring a practicing physician, the community's first in several years.

In all, $67,750 in prize money will be distributed. Contest rules require that it be put back into community improvements.

In addition to the top winners, 25 other towns in North Carolina and South Carolina served by CP&L shared in the cash prizes and honorable mention awards.

Roxboro, Spruce Pine and Harrells won second place prizes of $500 each. Third place winners of $250 each are: Sanford, Wallace and Norlina.

In a new, special project class, Swannanoa, Black Mountain and Clinton won first place and will receive $250 each. Farmer, Rowland and Wadesboro were second.

Sutton said that scrapbooks submitted to the judges reflected "a gratifying urge for civic improvements." He added the company will continue sponsorship of the community development and improvement contest for the sixth consecutive season.

Girl Scouts' theme for their 1957 birthday is "Girl Scouting is a Family Affair".

Business Leader Warns Of Legislation To Curb Union

By NORMAN WALKER
WASHINGTON (AP)—A top business organization leader said today Senate rackets disclosures may lead to "corrective legislation" against labor such as followed certain industry "sins" in the 1920s.

John S. Coleman, president of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, said "I am asking labor — as a friend — if it believes it can escape from a similar fate unless it sweeps its own house?"

Coleman said in remarks prepared for the Chamber's National Labor Relations Conference the general public seldom understands some of industry's regular complaints against unions for secondary boycotts and union "monopoly" tendencies.

"But today, there is a difference," he said. "Everyone understands the testimony which is now unfolding before the Senate committee (investigating racketeering practices)."

"Much as I regret that innocent representatives of labor should be tarred with the brush of the guilty, it is only a matter of fact that everyone understands the language of pinball racketeering, call-house arrangements and dickers between public officials and labor chieftains."

Coleman said he recalled "with no embarrassment whatsoever" that some management men in the 1920s "misused their power" and "undermined" confidence in the very institution of business itself.

"The result was that business, as an institution, became the target of legislation that was not only designed to be corrective of management abuses but in some cases was actually punitive in its application to those who had committed no crime of any kind."

Death Sentence Handed Down In Throat-Slashing

TAYLORSVILLE, N. C. (AP)—Judge Frank Armstrong yesterday sentenced a roving Negro cotton picker to death for slashing a white housewife's throat here during a burglary.

The judge set May 31 for the execution of Ross McAfee, alias J. C. Adams, 39, of Meridian, Miss.

But he directed McAfee's court-appointed attorneys to file an appeal to the State Supreme Court.

An all-male jury, which contained two Negroes, yesterday found McAfee guilty of first-degree burglary without recommendation of mercy, making the death sentence mandatory. McAfee also was found guilty of attempted rape and assault with intent to kill Mrs. Glenn Waugh, 17, a high school senior.

The defense offered no evidence but pleaded for the jury to consider McAfee's statement that he had been drinking on the night of the assault, Jan. 31.

Danish Physicist First Winner Of Atoms Award

NEW YORK (AP)—Danish atomic physicist Niels Bohr is the winner of the first $75,000 atoms for peace award set up as a memorial to Henry and Edsel Ford.

The award to Bohr, 71, was announced yesterday by James R. Killian Jr., chairman of the trustees of Atoms for Peace, Inc., a nonprofit corporation financed by the Ford Motor Co. Fund.

Bohr won the Nobel Prize in physics in 1922. Since 1920 he has been director of the Institute of Theoretical Physics.

Killian released a telegram sent to the board by President Eisenhower, which said in part: "Seldom has a man dedicated himself more singlemindedly to the search of knowledge for the benefit of mankind than has Professor Bohr in his half century as a scientist and teacher."

Girl Scout Week, March 10-16, will be celebrated by nearly 3 million girls and adults.

Assembly's Liveliest Debate Seen Coming On Bill To Lower Voting Age

RALEIGH (AP)—One of the liveliest debates of the 1957 session is expected on the Senate floor next Wednesday when it considers a bill to lower the voting age from 21 to 18.

Based on expressions in the Senate Election Laws Committee, however, the measure faces slim chance of surviving the Senate test.

The bill was placed on the Senate calendar for Wednesday after the committee reported it out yesterday "without prejudice." This means the committee made no recommendation for or against the bill.

Sen. John Dawson of Lenoir, a member of the State Board of elections, said he wanted a chance to study the proposal more.

Sen. Lumsford Crew of Halifax offered the motion, seconded by Sen. C. V. Henkel of Iredell, that the bill be allowed to go to the floor for action. Henkel first wanted to kill the bill in committee. He told the committee it had been his observation "these youngsters just don't have politically mature judgment, sometimes even at the age of 21." Crew said he was inclined to oppose the measure.

Sen. Perry Martin of Northampton, 28, who introduced the bill, said Secretary of State Thad Eure argued in support of it. Martin declared there's a lot of merit to it, old saying, "Those who are old enough to fight are old enough to vote." Permitting a youngster to vote just as he is getting out of high school, Martin argued, would keep up his interest in government.

Eure said that in Georgia and Kentucky, voting by 18-year-olds had worked well.

Meanwhile, the House and Senate received a flock of new bills in one of the busiest days of the session. Other developments included:

Rep. James A. Speight of Bertie launched a new approach in his long campaign to find a way to top off welfare payments to mothers for the support of illegitimate children. Speight was turned down in two previous legislative terms. He offered a resolution yesterday calling on the Tar Heel members of Congress to use their influence to secure a federal investigation of the problem. Federal funds no into the welfare programs. Speight also sent up a bill to amend the present law's definition of a dependent child to exclude the "illegitimate child of a physically fit mother."

A bill introduced by Rep. Ashley Murphy of Pender would tighten regulation of tobacco seed. Under the bill, a tobacco seed committee would be created to rule on the identification of tobacco seed. The commissioner of agriculture would refuse to record for sale any variety not passed on by the committee.

Sen. Avery Hightower of Anson offered a bill which would allow a deduction of up to $600 for funeral expenses in figuring income taxes.

Rep. Joe Fowler of Surry, whose home town of Mount Airy was the scene of a tragic school fire recently, introduced three bills designed to tighten fire regulations in schools.

Republican Rep. Ed Gavin of Randolph offered a resolution calling for a commission to study revision of the State Constitution, which he said has become "a notice podge" and "disjointed" as the state has grown.

For some unexplained reason, Florida has a new songbird. It is the flame-orange and black-spotted breasted oriole which settled near Miami. Previously these birds were seen only in Mexico and Central America.

SPORT TO STUDY—Hamilton Richardson, America's first ranked tennis player, pauses at his studies in Oxford, Eng., where he is completing his residence as a Rhodes Scholar.

Strongly Oppose Graduated Class Pay Increase

By LYNN NISBET
The Reflector Bureau

RALEIGH—Contrary to implications in a news story sent out from this bureau earlier in the week, the leaders and the members of the State Employees Association and the State Highway Employees Association are vigorously opposed to the plan proposed by Governor Hodges and the Personnel Department for graduated class pay raises.

Within half an hour after the story appeared in print the responsible officials of the employee associations—Clifton Beckwith and Otis Banks—called in person to say they had never agreed to any suggestion other than that embodied in resolutions of their respective groups in formal convention—insistence upon an across-the-board increase of 15% for every employee.

At his news conference Monday Governor Hodges and Personnel Director John McDevitt presented the graduated class schedule. The Governor said that the plan has been submitted to the leaders of the two employee associations.

Your reporter understood the Governor to say that they accepted the formula, although not entirely satisfied with it or with the amounts of raises. Subsequent check with other reporters attending the conference disclosed they got the same impression. Direct quotes were not used.

Beckwith and Banks made it very clear that they have not and so far as they can ascertain no authorized spokesmen for their groups, have made even tentative concessions away from the flat across the board plan of pay raises.

Officers Held At Bay By Defenders Of Dog

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP)—Two armed dogcatchers and a dozen policemen were held at bay more than an hour yesterday by two 14-year-old youths who said one of the dogcatchers tried to kill their pet.

Juvenile officer John Kaiser, speaking through a portable loud-speaker, finally persuaded them to give up and surrender a .22-caliber rifle.

The boys holed up in a brushy area. Residents said bullets bounced off their house intermittently for about an hour.

The boys, identified by police as Robert Garcia and Charles Layman, both 14, were jailed and charged with assault to murder and discharging firearms inside the city limits.

Dogcatchers Irving Brown and Otis O'Callahan said they were called to the area to pick up a different dog, and O'Callahan said he was going to check the boy's dog for tags when it bit him.

He said he fired his pistol to frighten it and the boys grabbed the animal and ran after a brief tussle.

Police said they got a .22 rifle at one of the youth's homes. Neighbors heard them threatening to kill the dogcatchers and called police, they said.

"Officers chased them into the brushy area and fired into the air. The youths fired at the dogcatchers, police said. No one was hit in the exchange.

Dogcatchers are deputized as special policemen and are allowed to carry guns, officers explained.

Asian-African Bloc Growing Into A Strong Factor In United Nations

By MAX HARRELSON
UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. — (AP) — One of the most significant developments in the United Nations is the emergence of the Asian-African bloc as a powerful, closely-knit operating unit.

This comparative newcomer is not only the United Nations' largest organized bloc — or group, as its members prefer to call it — but it also is the most active and the most influential.

It includes 27 countries, one-third of the 80 U. N. members. When it presents a solid front, as it often does, it can play a decisive role on any world issue. During the Middle East crisis, the group has acted as a unit consistently.

Likely to Expand

The Asian-African group furthermore is the only U. N. bloc which has any prospect for immediate expansion.

The 20-nation Latin American group, once the largest in the United Nations, has not increased its membership since the world organization was formed with 51 members.

The other major group — the nine-member Soviet bloc — added four new members in 1955, but the admission of any new Communist countries does not appear imminent, although there are several candidates. These include Outer Mongolia, North Korea, North Viet Nam and Red China.

The Asian-African group is expected to get one new member in September — the new country of Ghana in West Africa. Other prospective members in the near future are Nigeria, Somaliland Malaya.

While the Latin American and Soviet blocs have been active since the beginning of the United Nations, the Asian-African group was non-existent as an organized unit until after the Bandung Conference in 1955. The Arabs had met informally with a few Asian countries as early as 1950, but the actual organization of a bloc — with a monthly rotating chairmanship — is a comparatively recent development.

Originally the group had only 17 members, but it added six in 1955 and four more in 1956.

Nationalist China and Israel, although meeting geographic requirements, are not members of the Asian-African bloc. They were au-tomatically excluded since neither had been present at Bandung and attendance there was made a condition for membership in the group.

Reds Consistent

The Soviet bloc is the only one which always votes as a unit. Both the Latin American and Asian-African groups seek to agree on major issues, but each member is free to vote as it chooses.

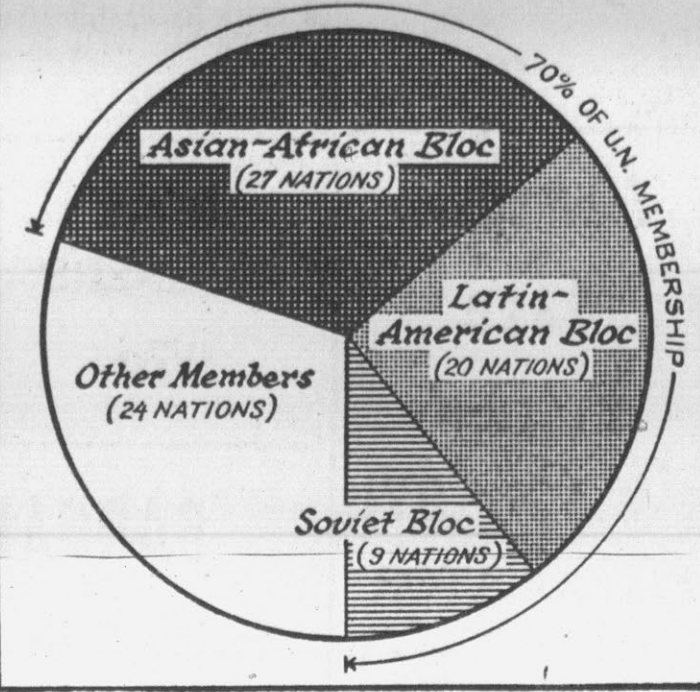

On some issues, particularly so-called Cold War questions, the Asian-African group is split with some supporting the West and some abstaining. Only now and then does the Soviet bloc gain any affirmative support from the group.

The Asian-African, on the other hand, usually get the support of the Communists and the Latin Americans on colonial issues. And this presents a combination which is giving the colonial powers a bad time in the United Nations.

One big group of U. N. members still remains unorganized — the non-Communist countries of Europe. Occasionally, these meet informally — as do the British Commonwealth countries and other small groups — but they have no formal arrangements or organization.

The United States also remains outside any bloc.

Peppy Rooster Is Family Pet With Aura Of Fame

CAMDEN, N. J. (AP)—Meet Pip, the peppy, perky, pecking rooster that is reputed to be the prize pet perhaps in all Jersey.

He belongs to Mr. and Mrs. Casper Zoppel, of nearby Stratford, who got him when he was only a tiny yellow puff, a casual premium given out with some purchases.

The Zoppels took a fancy to him and started his education. Now Pip is described as "amazing." His owners say that he perches on a special red leather seat and dines off a flowered dish on hamburger spread over crackers; that he walks—nothing so primitive as hopping — up the stairs, that he squares visitors to and from the house; and that if he likes you he unties your shoe laces.

"He's a doll," says Mrs. Zoppel.

Charles Van Doren Came Up With Right Answers

By CHARLES MERCER
NEW YORK (AP)—Before he was tripped by a relatively easy question, Charles Van Doren made some difficult decisions and came up with the right answers on the quiz program Twenty-One.

Now Van Doren has made the most difficult of many decisions—and come up with the right answer. He's turning down the easy money. He will continue to teach at Columbia University and to work for his doctorate in English literature. He is going to write what he wants to write.

Ever since Van Doren, 31, began winning money on the quiz program, he began winning the esteem and literally the affection of television viewers. He became, as they say, the hottest personality on television in this winter season. Profitable offers inundated him. They have increased since he was defeated Monday evening by Mrs. Vivienne Neering when he failed to remember that Baudouin is the King of Belgium. There are offers to deliver lectures in all parts of the country, offers to make recordings, to endorse an amazing array of commercial products, to make guest appearances on all kinds of TV programs.

Somebody wants him to start his own television quiz program and somebody else wants him to go to Hollywood. There was a $50,000 screen offer. (That was an easy decision; he turned it down on the telephone. Being a "personality," Van Doren learned, can be a trying experience.

Very wisely he obtained an agent to handle these complex affairs. Now, says his representative at Music Corp. of America, he "will do nothing that is inconsistent with his career." As of this writing he has turned down every offer—except one. He will appear on NBC radio's Conversation, that excellent program which returns to the air March 21 for a regular Thursday evening series.

For one who earns $4,200 a year as a teacher, it is not easy to turn down offers of thousands of dollars. One might say, "But look at all the money he won on Twenty-One. Actually, his take-home winnings after taxes are unofficially estimated at only $38,000 of the $129,000 he won.

The point is that Van Doren is not trying to trade on his name as a popular quiz contestant. He is going ahead, rather, to make his own name as a teacher and writer.

Scarcely anyone remembers who won a quiz contest a year ago. But a writer and teacher liked Charles' father, Mark Van Doren, has an honored and lasting place in the life of America.

The strongest argument for conserving water is the simplest: there is no substitute for water.

ASKS DEFINITION

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP)—A Maryland legislator says a new definition of states rights is needed in the U. S. Constitution. State Sen. John-Clarence North has asked the Maryland General Assembly to call on Congress to write a new amendment spelling out "in clear and unmistakable words, positive guides for the interpretation of the constitution."

West European Export Market Is Drying Up

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP)—The rich vein of export markets that some American manufacturers mined in West Europe at the end of the war is running thin.

Germans and other Western Europeans—fitted out with American machinery and machine tools under the Marshall Plan and other aid programs—today are making more than ever of these capital goods for themselves.

The industrial boom over there has made them self-reliant, although there is still a market for many things the United States makes best and only currency restrictions hold down the demand for American consumer goods.

American tool makers complain that the lower European wage scales put U.S. manufacturers at a disadvantage—not only in Europe but in the world markets where both compete, such as Latin America. Lower prices, easier credit terms and a driving sales campaign have helped Europeans sell their stuff abroad.

But total exports of U.S. goods to Europe, including farm commodities and industrial raw materials such as oil and coal, continue to rise. And as a group the Western European nations are still America's top market.

U.S. government figures put exports in general to Europe last year at nearly 6½ billion dollars, one fourth higher than in 1955.

European dependencies took another 687 million dollars worth, a gain of 28 per cent.

Canada is the second biggest market—and the largest for a single nation—with U.S. exports to it totaling more than four billion.

Latin-American countries took 3½ billion dollars worth of our manufactured goods, farm products and industrial materials.

Total American exports to the world markets continue high—the Census Bureau reports that this January they were 32 per cent higher than in the previous year.

Farm exports in the seven months from July 1 to Jan. 31 were up 45 per cent in dollar value from the like period in the preceding year, and up 51 per cent in quantity.

Duty-Bound, But Regretted Task
LOS ANGELES (AP)—Motorcycle officer G. P. Jacob says he's sorry, but he had to give Abraham Graff a citation for jaywalking.

Graff paid a $5 fine, but he has no hard feelings toward Jacob. "He's a gentleman," said Graff. "I know I did wrong."

Graff was on the way to a movie, his chief diversion since his retirement, when he received the citation.

"You're a nice fellow," said Jacob as he wrote out the citation. He then walked with Graff to the movie and paid his admission.

SNOWED UNDER
KANSAS CITY (AP)—Kansas City voters yesterday snowed under a proposal for a 1 per cent municipal earnings tax.

The unofficial count showed 80,233 votes against the charter amendment necessary to enact the tax, 20,841 for it.

About 22.3 per cent of all families in the Federal District of Mexico City—which corresponds to the District of Columbia in Washington, D.C.—have television sets.

Actor Stewart Has A Trait Of Integrity

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Most of Hollywood—and the rest of the nation—was surprised when President Eisenhower recently nominated James Stewart to be a brigadier general in the Air Force Reserve.

Even his coworkers weren't aware that Stewart had remained active in the Air Force, in which he rose from private to squadron commander in World War II.

That is typical of Stewart. He has refused to capitalize on his military career for publicity purposes. (Oddly, his nomination was announced the same week his new film about a flight pioneer was opening in New York. But Stewart had nothing to do with the timing.)

He will, in fact, make no utterance that isn't in keeping with his quiet dignity. Probably it is this integrity both on the screen and off that has made him one of the most popular film stars in the world—and perhaps the highest paid.

His generalship prompts a fresh look at James Stewart of 1957, a mature, sober citizen who still seems boyish despite his halting but sincere— he answered graying, thinning hair. He will be 49 May 20. In usual fashion—a barrage of questions at his Beverly Hills home:

Q—You've had offers to run for important offices in Pennsylvania and California. Why haven't you entered politics?

A—I don't think I'm equipped.

Q—How do you pick your scripts?

A—Well, I read just about everything that comes along. That's all I have time to read, in fact. Every once in a while you come across something that hits you as worth taking a chance on. I've talked to moviegoers from Chile to Japan and the thing that seems tremendously important to all of them is getting an emotional experience from films. Love, hate, fear, greed, etc. Those are the things we should deal in. I don't think we're in business just to spread the American way of life. If our pictures are good, that's enough to win us friends.

Q—Are there any boring things about your business?

A—Damn few, I'll tell you that.

Q—Are you as rich as people say you are?

A—That depends on how rich they say.

Q—They claim you're very well fixed.

A—After long pause Yes, I'm well fixed. I'm a wealthy man.

Q—What gives you the most satisfaction in your business?

A—Going into a role and giving it all the know-how that I have accumulated in 22 or 23 years in this business.

Seeks Some Bit Of Recognition

ALAMEDA, Calif. (AP)—Rear Adm. George J. Dufek newly arrived from Antarctica, is "determined to get some sort of recognition for the men who build the bases and the men who winter in" on Operation Deep Freeze.

Dufek commanded the forces that worked through the South Polar region's summer constructing seven widely scattered bases for a four-year scientific study project.

"The men who built the bases, and the men who winter in deserve recognition," Dufek said in an interview today.

"A medal? Yes. And something more! Exemption from income tax during their polar time, perhaps. Or double-time toward retirement.

"I'm going to try to get them something!" Dufek's force included 3,000 men, 12 ships and 40 aircraft. The base construction job, he said, "would have been an accomplishment of considerable magnitude, even in a temperate, civilized land. The area in which we worked is larger than the United States."

The United States, Russia and seven other nations have built antarctic bases for observations during the International Geophysical Year officially starting July 1.

"At our bases, when we moved out a few weeks ago, 291 American scientists and military support personnel moved in," Dufek said.

"They will winter in down there, cut off except by radio."

Would Trade 3 Flags For Ship

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP)—Count Don Jose M. de Arelliza, Spanish ambassador to the United States, has what he thinks is a good idea: Why doesn't the U. S. Naval Academy swap its treasured USS Reina Mercedes for three tattered American flags now in Spain.

The Reina is a Spanish cruiser captured in the Spanish-American War and used by the academy as bachelor officers' quarters. The flags were captured by Spain in the same war.

Academy officials had no comment.

Bugs Enlisted In Crucial War Against U.S. Crop Destroyers

By JACK LEFLER

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (AP)—A "Battle of the Bugs"—with the nation's food supply at stake—is being fought in fields and orchards across the country.

Agricultural scientists are pitting "good bugs" against "bad bugs" to preserve the balance of nature and achieve permanent control of innumerable species of mites, nematodes and insects which inflict millions of dollars in damage each year on vast and valuable acreages.

The battle sends entomological explorers roaming the world seeking natural enemies of plant pests which have become established in this country.

Most of the pests were imported inadvertently into the United States in shipments from other countries.

Unbathed here by their natural enemies, these pests flourished and threatened to wipe out crops.

Headquarters in California

The University of California's Citrus Experiment Station at Riverside is headquarters in the fight against insects, fungi and virus.

Its bug hunters are constantly seeking species that can be thrown in as reinforcements in the unceasing battle.

To attain biological control, beneficial insects have been brought in from such far places as Japan, China, Australia, Hawaii, Argentina, England, Austria and the Netherlands.

Billions of these insects are being mass-produced in rearing rooms at the Experiment Station. Then they are released to do their work in the fields.

There are two main categories of beneficial insects—predators and parasites.

Predators feed on pests, flying or moving from one colony to another. An example of the predator is the ladybug, which eats approximately 50,000 aphids in a lifetime.

Parasites are hatched within a colony of pests. Young parasites

"United Nations reports show that world population is rising 10 per cent a decade. If there is any hope of keeping up with the new food demands of some 80,000 births, it must come by keeping ahead in agricultural research, as we are attempting to do."

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK — The stock market's recent advance wilted under profit-taking early this afternoon, leaving prices narrowly mixed.

Leading issues showed gains or losses running from fractions to around a point.

Turnover was quiet and there was no apparent pressure in any particular groups.

The market was higher and fairly active at the opening in a continuation of yesterday's rise but the pace soon slowed and prices fell away gradually.

Shell Transport & Trading, which made its exchange debut yesterday and immediately became the most active stock, held the spotlight again today. It dropped around a point in active dealings.

Royal Dutch, with which Shell Transport shares control of the Royal Dutch-Shell group, lost a fraction.

Gulf Oil retained a gain of about a point as did Douglas Aircraft and Goodrich.

Smaller gains were scored by American Telephone, Standard Oil (New Jersey), Chesapeake & Ohio, U.S. Gypsum, National Distillers, International Paper, du Pont and Youngstown Sheet.

Steady to slightly higher were International Paper, Montgomery Ward, Illinois Central, Baltimore & Ohio, Loew's, Paramount and Radio Corp.

U.S. Steel dropped a fraction and Bethlehem was easy. Chrysler took a small loss. Ford backed away slightly and American Motors was firm.

Caterpillar was off about a point. Southern Pacific was down a fraction. New York Central, Pennsylvania Railroad and Santa Fe showed little change. Kennecott lost a fraction.

CHICAGO (USDA) — Saleable hogs 8,000; market slow through midsection; later and closing trade fairly active, butchers uneven, but generally 15 to 25 lower; least decline on weights 240 lb and heavier; sows slow, steady to 25 lower; fair shipping demand; 2-3 190-200 lb butchers 17.00-17.40; several lots 1-3 mostly 1-2 190-230 lb 17.50-17.75; around 150 head mostly 1 200-220 lb 17.75; No. 2 270-290 lb relatively scarce 16.75-17.00; with a few lots mostly 3 300-375 lb 16.25-16.75; larger lots 1-3 375-550 lb sows 15.00-16.00; few

Liner, Freighter Collide; Unhurt

LONDON — The Dutch passenger ship Waterman and the Italian freighter Merit collided in the Atlantic early today but the Waterman radioed they were not damaged seriously and did not require assistance.

"Proceed on your way," the 9,117-ton Waterman messaged to ships in the vicinity.

The Dutch ship was en route from Rotterdam to Halifax, N. S., and New York. Her owners in Amsterdam said she had 812 passengers aboard, including 312 Hungarian refugees bound for Canada and 450 Dutch emigrants for Canada and the United States.

Dirkzwager's Shipping Agency in Rotterdam said the Waterman messaged she had a hole above her waterline at the stern and was returning to Rotterdam.

"All well on board and weather conditions satisfactory," the message said.

The Waterman said the collision occurred about 600 miles southwest of the southern tip of Ireland. The 455-foot Dutch ship was built in 1945 and is operated by the Holland-America Line. The 7,174-ton Merit sails out of Genoa.

Recruit Claims He Was Struck

PARRIS ISLAND, S. C. — This Marine training depot announced today that Pvt. David L. Porter, 19, of Hartford, Vt., alleges he was pummeled last night by a Marine officer.

Medical examination showed minor face bruises which did not require treatment and Porter remains on duty in his battalion, the Marines said.

First Lt. William D. Conroy, USMC, 26, of Queens, New York City, "is alleged to be the offender in this incident," the Parris Island Public Information Office said.

Conroy had been suspended Feb. 9 from his duty as supervisory officer of platoon 399 of which Porter was a member.

Conroy has been temporarily serving in a headquarters service company.

The First Recruit Training Battalion commander has ordered a formal investigation.

Pvt. Porter has completed recruit training and was awaiting transfer to Camp Lejeune for advanced training.

"Further information will be available when the investigation is completed, the PIO said.

Porter was one of several complaining witnesses against Cpl. W. R. Walsh of Lyndhurst, N.J., in whose court-martial sentence of last week was reduced yesterday by his commanding colonel.

Porter's father made known his son's complaint, attracting national publicity to the incident. Young Porter claimed Walsh struck him. The court found Walsh guilty of "touching" recruits.

Warehouse At Lexington Burns

LEXINGTON, N. C. — Dixie Furniture Co. began an inventory today to determine the amount of loss in the fire which destroyed a warehouse here yesterday.

The firm, which employs about 1,200 workers, suspended operation until new supplies could be brought in to replace those consumed in the blaze.

The fire, of undetermined origin, broke out shortly after the lunch period and within minutes engulfed the warehouse. Flames shot hundreds of feet into the air and smoke covered the downtown area.

Firemen and hundreds of workers battled the blaze, saving an adjoining warehouse and the main plant.

Have Electronic Traffic Answer

NEW YORK — Manufacturers of a new electronic and radar system claim the device will easily handle the most complex traffic situations at crowded airports.

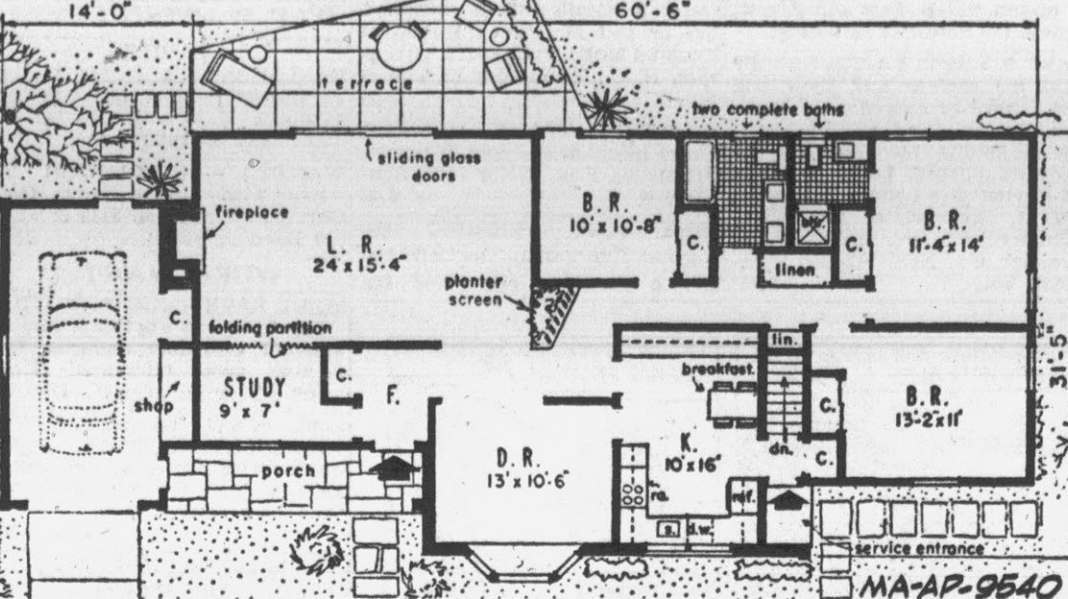

The International Telephone & Telegraph Co. said it provides airport control towers with "practically instantaneous data on planes in flight," and simultaneously exchanges data and messages with pilots.

Missile Tester

MISSILE TESTER — A new 120-foot-high steel tower is tilted at Oakland, Calif., before disassembly and transfer to Florida base for testing and servicing guided missiles.

HOMES FOR AMERICANS

A COLONIAL exterior has been wrapped around a modern interior arrangement in this three-bedroom, two-bath home with a central gable wing. The tie-in of the garage doors with porch lengthens apparent size of the structure. Outdoor living is aided by large rear terrace overlooked by sliding glass doors of living room. The plan is M4AP-9540, by Rudolph A. Matern, 90-04 161st St., Jamaica, New York. The house, excluding garage and porch, covers 1,661 square feet.

Ceiling Affects Only 3 Counties

RALEIGH — A $9 ceiling established yesterday on tobacco hail insurance in North Carolina will affect only three counties this season — Rockingham, Wake and Surry.

State Insurance Commissioner Charles Gold said he was setting the $9 ceiling per $100 coverage "in order to prevent premiums from rising above the purchasing ability of the public."

Under Gold's decision, the rate in Wake and Rockingham will be 50 cents higher per $100 coverage than in 1956. In Surry, it will be $1 lower.

Rates in other counties will range downward to as little as 83 cents. "By establishing a ceiling," Gold said, "it is not meant... that in the event abnormal losses occur throughout the state that it should remain pegged at the rate set in this decision."

Gold approved other county rate changes proposed by the North Carolina Rating Bureau. Rate increases of 50 cents go into effect for Harnett, Madison, Moore, Cumberland, Person, Stokes and Warren; 75 cents for Gates, and $1 for Johnston and Vance. The change means decreases of 50 cents for Anson, Brunswick, Caswell, Chatham, Davidson, Duplin, Greene, Lenoir, Martin, Orange, Pitt, Randolph, Washington and Wilkes, and $1 for Edgecombe.

At least 12.5 million girls and women have belonged to the Girl Scouts since the organization was founded 45 years ago.

Major Tremor

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Coast and Geodetic Survey today reported another "violent" earthquake in the Aleutian Island chain.

The survey said it was the seventh major quake in a series that began last Saturday in the area.

Today's disturbance first was recorded on the survey's seismograph at 9:57 a.m. and was "still going strong" about an hour later, the survey reported.

Capt. Elliott Roberts, head of the survey's division of geophysics, estimated the actual earthquake might have started 10 minutes earlier, since it takes the shock waves that long to reach Washington.

He said the recording needle was swinging so violently it had to be stopped.

Columbia University's observatory at Palisades, N. Y., also recorded today's quake and described it almost as big as one last Saturday that set off a tidal wave in the Pacific.

First To Die Of Polio After All 3 Salk Shots

NEW YORK — The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis says a New Mexico boy is the first child positively known to have died of polio after three Salk vaccine shots.

The youngster, Tommy Mohr, Albuquerque, died last January. A foundation spokesman said the boy apparently was a rare individual upon whom the vaccine had no effect.

The spokesman said that doctors in Johns Hopkins Hospital at Baltimore confirmed that Tommy's death was due to polio. He said the youngster received his third shot four months before he contracted the disease and this ruled out any chance that he had become infected by the vaccine.

In three other cases reported of children dying of polio after vaccination, the foundation said, investigation showed the following:

One victim had not been vaccinated; a second died of another disease; and in the third case there had been no autopsy and thus no way to firmly determine that the victim had polio.

Cypriot Hanged For Having Gun

...COSIA, Cyprus — The British colonial government today hanged Evaroras Pallikarides, 18, for possessing a gun.

He was the ninth Greek Cypriot hanged in the current rebellion against British rule and the first executed for possessing firearms, banned by emergency regulations imposed two years ago. Eight other Cypriots were put to death last year for killings.

Bank Debits Up In N. C. Cities

CHARLOTTE — Bank debits in eight North Carolina cities registered gains in February compared with the same month a year ago, figures released today by the Federal Reserve Bank show.

Bank debits—the value of checks written by individuals and businesses against their checking accounts—are regarded as significant barometers of the business activity of an area.

Raleigh, boasting a 15 per cent increase over a year ago, led the North Carolina cities in percentage gains. Raleigh debits jumped from $201,311,000 to $232,382,000.

Other cities, their February, 1957, total: February, 1956, total, and per cent of increase are: Greensboro, $167,756,000; $147,384,000; 14. Kinston, $23,584,000; $21,120,000; 12. Wilmington, $49,904,000; $48,257,000; 3. Durham, $83,551,000; $82,074,000; 2. Charlotte, $420,681,000; $420,223,000; 0. Asheville, $69,197,000; $69,161,000; 0. Cities showing a decrease were: Winston - Salem, $179,751,000; $183,312,000; -2. Wilson, $19,623,000; $20,037,000; -2.

The nine-city total showed an increase of four per cent over February, 1956.

Arrest Man On Larceny Count

GREENVILLE — Police arrested a 49-year-old Negro man of Greenville, R. 1 on charges of larceny yesterday morning.

Kater Williams was arrested shortly after 8 a.m. and charged with larceny of electric wire, valued at $12. The theft occurred at Van's Hardware on North Greene Street.

According to reports the electric wire belonged to Dick Williams who issued a complaint to the police department.

Ekberg Decided To Hurry Home

MALMOE, Sweden — Nobody was more surprised than the folks when busy Swedish actress Anita Ekberg decided to come home from the film festival in Rio de Janeiro.

Liss Ekberg left the Brazilian capital unexpectedly yesterday, before the feature premiere of the film festival there.

One Rio paper said her flight was the aftermath of a "serious dispute" with her British husband Anthony Steel. Steel said there'd been no fight, that his wife hurried to Sweden because of sickness in the family.

Anita's mother said the actress' grandmother has been suffering from heart disease — for six months.

"We have not cabled and asked Anita to come home," Mrs. Ekberg said. "My husband and I knew nothing of her homecoming until we read about it in the paper this morning."

Eastern Carolina News Briefs

LITTLE ARGUMENT
WILMINGTON — Thirty days on the county farm was the reward received by a 48-year-old Wilmington man who was convicted of hitting his crippled girl friend over the head with her crutch.

According to police, his victim claimed that Charles Dixon had also robbed her of $15.80. Dixon admitted striking the girl, but denied stealing the money. He said it was his to begin with and an argument had started over the money.

OLD GYM BURNS
LAGRANGE — Fire from an undetermined origin late Tuesday burned the old gymnasium at Moss Hill School to the ground, doing an estimated $5,000 damage.

The principal of Moss Hill school said the building was being used as a physical education building for elementary grades and by Boy Scouts. It had been replaced by a more modern building last year. The fire alarm was turned in to firemen at 6:30 p.m. and they did not return to their stations until two and one-half hours later. No one was injured.

BEAUFORT NCEA OFFICERS
WASHINGTON, N. C. — Joseph A. Windley, principal of Pantego High School, was elected president of the Beaufort County Education Association at a meeting held at Chocowinity High School this week.

Mrs. Vera G. Oden of Bath High School was elected vice-president.

FAVORS MORE PAY
BAYBORO — The Pamlico County Board of Education passed a resolution favoring more pay for teachers, while in session last week. Copies of the resolution have been forwarded to State Representatives Ned Delamar, Edward L. Owens and Robert H. Cowan.

A. H. Hattell, superintendent of county schools, has sent a letter to each of the representatives praising them for the stand they have taken on education in the present session of the General Assembly.

High — Myrtle Carowan of Pantego was elected to serve as secretary-treasurer.

PREPARE THEMSELVES
WILSON — Fifty-four Atlantic Christian College seniors are now practicing teaching in 18 eastern North Carolina schools in preparation for launching their public school teaching careers after graduation in June.

C. G. Constantine, director of teacher training at ACC, said yesterday that the 54 students currently practicing teaching bring to 70 the total number of ACC seniors who will complete this year's requirement of the college this year. The other 16 students completed the practice teaching requirements in the fall semester, it was pointed out.
