Atomic Reactor Core 'Exploded'

LOS ALAMOS, N. M. — The AEC said today the core of a test atomic power reactor exploded during testing on Feb. 12. No one was injured, but the power unit was destroyed.

The reactor core—in essence a stripped down model of a power reactor—was, because of its "naked" nature, whimsically dubbed "the Godiva."

It consisted of a sphere of uranium 235 about 6 1/2 inches in diameter suspended on a tripod.

The AEC announcement said no damage was done to the building "and radiation contamination has been removed by standard cleaning methods."

The uranium core itself did not explode. Pieces of the core "flew apart" under pressure of heat from an increased chain reaction which the AEC said was caused by a "malfunction of special test equipment."

The uranium sphere consisted of six pieces in three sections. Screws holding the sections together couldn't withstand the strain of the reactor heat and gave way, scattering pieces of the sphere for "several feet" around the room housing the Godiva.

"Godiva"—a so-called "unclad" or critical assembly—was first built in 1951 for experiments with what the AEC called "critical" or "delayed" neutrons.

One spokesman who declined to be quoted by name compared the destruction of the reactor unit to "what happens when you hold a hot glass under cold water."

"Because the Godiva was not especially designed for the heavy demands for 'prompt burst' service irradiations which had been made on it, another unshielded assembly had already been designed which will accommodate either delayed or prompt critical experiments," the AEC said.

This new unit will have a wider range "and additional protective features desirable for repeated 'prompt burst' operations."

Gunners were especially watchful at the monument to Sandor Petoefi, the poet whose appeal "Hungarians, arise!" touched off the 1948 revolution. It was here, too, that demonstrators rallied when the anti-Soviet revolt broke out last October.

A policeman was in every doorway along the boulevard near the National Museum, from the steps of which the young Petoefi declaimed his poem. The museum was the scene of fierce fighting last fall.

For days the Communist regime has taken precautions against a new outbreak on this day, and has arrested many Hungarians on charges of suspicion of hiding arms. There were more arrests today, among them two intellectual leaders, the Rev. Janos Damjan, Calvinist theologian; and Prof. Istvan Benedek, a psychologist.

Although some Russian troops and armored cars were on patrol and guard, security for the most part was in the hands of blue-uniformed Hungarian police, khaki-clad militiamen and the new workers' guards in blue denim.

Government and party officials, led by Premier Janos Kadar, laid wreaths at the statue of Lajos Kossuth, the leader of the 1848 revolt.

Budapest's shabby streets showed a little less animation than usual. Only school children were given a holiday, and nearly everyone else seemed to be at work.

Reds Alert For Strife In Hungary

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP)—Communist police and militia clamped a rigid guard on strategic centers and national shrines today as Hungary observed its big patriotic day, the 10th anniversary of the 1848 revolt against Austria.

Council Unanimously Approves Fluoridation At Long Hearing

Sidelights

Members of the medical and dental profession in Greenville turned out in force last night to attend the hearing on fluoridation. Approximately 30 doctors and dentists were on hand in the city courtroom. The Medical and Dental Society adjourned its monthly meeting early last night in order that its members could be on hand for the hearing at 8 o'clock. With the exception of a few physicians who received calls during the meeting, they stayed through the three-hour session.

Eleven witnesses took the stand last night to speak in favor of fluoridation while six witnesses took the stand against the measure. Included in the witnesses favoring the matter were five physicians, three dentists and three laymen. One chiropractor and five laymen spoke in opposition to the measure.

Mayor W. H. Whedbee set the stage for the hearing which made it appear almost like a court scene. In the city courtroom, Mayor Whedbee took the large judge's chair behind the bench and directed witnesses in turn to the witness chair on his left. Other members of the Council sat to the left of the witness chair in jurist-like fashion. Adding to the courtroom appearance was the presence of two uniformed police officers who took their seats to the right of the bar, the place customarily occupied by two police officers.

A scattering of women were among approximately 80 citizens who attended the meeting. Ten women were in the audience. Three of them took the witness stand to voice their opinion on fluoridation.

Dr. Walter C. Humbert, favoring fluoridation, and Dr. George P. Harvey, chiropractor, opposing fluoridation, consumed more time in presenting their respective arguments than any other speaker. Dr. Harvey presented his testimony in 34 minutes and Dr. Humbert took two minutes less as the initial witness in favor of fluoridation.

He pointed out that the matter had been put to a vote of the people and the majority voted in favor of fluoridation of the water.

"And, judging from the size of the audience here tonight favoring same, and the number of letters, cards and telephone calls that I have received, I sincerely believe that the majority of our citizens are in favor of fluoridation," he declared.

Blizzards Howling In Midwest States

Minnesota and two in Iowa. Rain, sleet and snow spread across wide areas.

Strong northerly winds whipped the heavy snow into huge drifts and visibility was cut to zero in some places. Wind gusts up to 70 m.p.h. lashed areas in Iowa and Minnesota yesterday as the storm rolled across the upper Mississippi Valley.

Travel was curtailed and in many places halted. Telephone and power service was disrupted and schools were closed. At least a dozen small towns in northwest Iowa were isolated when communications were knocked out. Similar conditions were reported in other parts of the storm belt.

About 300 of the 500 persons attending a high school district basketball tournament at Rolfe, Iowa, were forced to spend the night in the school gymnasium because of snow-blocked and icy highways.

Snow measured up to 6 inches in sections of Minnesota and Iowa and blizzard conditions continued for parts of Minnesota and North Dakota.

The storm headed into the upper Great Lakes region, cold air spread across most of the central part of the country. Temperatures were more than 30 degrees lower than 24 hours earlier in many places and were far below freezing in the storm zone.

The cold air dipped as far south as Oklahoma. Chicago felt the sting of the icy air as the mercury dropped from a high of 71 yesterday to below freezing this morning. The framework of a bill will be mapped setting up a program.

Put To Vote

He pointed out that the matter had been put to a vote of the people and the majority voted in favor of fluoridation of the water.

"And, judging from the size of the audience here tonight favoring same, and the number of letters, cards and telephone calls that I have received, I sincerely believe that the majority of our citizens are in favor of fluoridation," he declared.

Collins said, prior to making the motion that he was personally opposed to fluoridation, but "I was elected to represent the majority of the people, and not to do anything for myself personally or individually."

President Now Cruising South

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH EN ROUTE WITH EISENHOWER

President Eisenhower, relaxing and seeking to spruce up his health, cruised south along the Atlantic coast today toward the warm waters off Florida.

The President sailed from Norfolk, Va. aboard the Navy guided missile cruiser Canberra last night on a leisurely six-day voyage to Bermuda. He will arrive there Wednesday afternoon, for talks with British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan.

He decided on the sea trip in a move to shake a stubborn cough, a head cold and an ear ailment which have been bothering him for some time.

White House press secretary James C. Hagerty, aboard the Canberra, reported by radio last night to newsmen traveling on escorting destroyers that Eisenhower had retired about 9 p.m. after spending a quiet evening with members of his staff.

Hagerty said the President was "feeling fine" and that the Canberra's course for today would be due south along the Atlantic coast.

The schedule called for Eisenhower to arrive off the coast at Daytona Beach, Fla., about 4 p.m. and to continue to and probably beyond the Miami area. Hagerty said there was no plan for Eisenhower to go ashore at any time during his cruise.

Teamster Union Leader Swears No Plot Involved

WASHINGTON (AP)—Frank W. Brewster, West Coast Teamsters boss, swore today his union never planned to engage in racketeering or to control law enforcement in Portland, Ore.

Brewster, chairman of the Western Conference of Teamsters, testified at the Senate committee's hearings on charges that he and some other Teamster bigwigs conspired to take over the Portland underworld.

Reading from a prepared statement, Brewster said: "As to the alleged conspiracy on the part of the Teamsters or any official or employee thereof to engage in any racket in Portland in connivance with any public official of that city, I will make the following categorical statements under oath:

"1. I know of no conspiracy or plan or effort on the part of the Teamsters or any official or employee thereof to engage in any racket in the city of Portland or elsewhere in collaboration with any public official or anyone else.

"2. I know of no conspiracy or plan or effort on the part of the Teamsters or any official or employee thereof to gain control of the law enforcement agencies of the City of Portland, the State of Oregon, or of any official of said city or state. Our sole interest there is the same as in every state, that is, to elect officials who are not anti-labor and who will oppose so-called right-to-work laws.

"3. I have never authorized Elkins, Maloney or McLaughlin, directly or indirectly to represent the Teamsters or myself in Portland or anywhere else on any matter.

"4. I have never authorized anyone directly or indirectly, to engage in any racket on behalf of the Teamsters or myself in Portland or anywhere else."

"5. I have never authorized anyone directly or indirectly, to engage in any racket on behalf of the Teamsters or myself in Portland or anywhere else."

Thousands Greet Touring Nixons

TRIPOLI (AP)—Vice President Nixon went handshaking through Tripoli today and attracted up to 10,000 persons.

While Air Force mechanics worked to repair his plane, Nixon shook hands with hundreds of Libyans and then lunched with Prime Minister Mustafa ben Halim.

The Libyan government's efforts to combat what is regarded as alarming Egyptian influence, especially in schools, was reported to be one of the prime topics of discussion.

The committee will begin holding public hearings on the proposed changes in the tax laws next Wednesday afternoon. Rep. B. T. Falls Jr. of Cleveland, House Finance chairman, announced that taxpayers who want to be heard should contact the House and Senate Finance chairmen or Revenue Commissioner Eugene Shaw.

On Tuesday the Finance members will sit in on the session of the Appropriations Committee to hear the Board of Education present its budget requests.

Time For Decisions Near On Appropriations

RALEIGH (AP)—The time for decisions is drawing nearer for the Legislature's Joint Appropriations Committee, which yesterday wound up its third week of hearings on the appropriations bill for the next biennium.

Two weeks of hearings remain, with the State Board of Education scheduled to outline its budget requests next Tuesday. The state's biggest appropriation goes for operation of the public schools.

The Appropriations Committee, already faced with a big job of paring requests for increased appropriations, will wind up hearings on Thursday, March 23. Then the members will buckle down to the job of reaching a decision on the appropriations bill for the next two fiscal years.

The Joint Finance Committee yesterday wound up a series of explanations on proposed tax revisions recommended by a special tax study commission. The

Council Schedules Meet To Study Charter-Change

The Council will hold a special meeting next Tuesday night at 8 p.m. to consider proposed changes in the city charter.

City fathers had proposed to change the terms of office for councilmen in the revision so that all councilmen would not be elected the same year. The charter is being revised to bring it up to date under the Plan D form of government.

Councilmen met for a short while prior to last night's fluoridation public hearing. It was at that time that they set the special meeting.

Mayor W. L. Whedbee last night read a letter of resignation from the Planning-Zoning Board from Thomas W. Rivers, local engineer.

The councilmen voted to delay action on the resignation and ask Rivers to re-consider.

Child Gains Friends In Nursery School

By DOROTHY V. WHIPPLE, M.D.
AP Newsfeatures

"My wife has nothing to do but take care of Philip and the house. She even has a car of her own and she and the boy can go wherever they want. But what do you think she wants now? She wants to put the boy in a nursery school."

Mr. Caddy was having lunch with some men from the office and he went on:

"There is just no pleasing some women. Schools are okay, I suppose, for kids whose mothers have to work, but my wife doesn't have to go out and earn money. Why can't she be satisfied to do her job, instead of palming it off on some school?"

Philip was three and a half. He was a healthy, robust little fellow. The Caddys lived in a suburb where there were no young children. He had every imaginable toy and a big backyard with a swing and a sandbox. He and his mother spent their day together. His mother was seldom out of his sight. He "helped" her with the housework in the morning, then they would go outdoors together. Phil was not content to play in the sandbox unless mother was close by to admire his cakes and his tunnels.

Mama's Boy

Phil was very much a mama's boy. Even when they went over to a friend's house Phil stuck pretty close to mother's knee and couldn't be induced to run outside and play with another child.

When a child is a baby all he needs is mother. He needs his physical requirements taken care of. When he is sufficiently grown up to walk and talk he still needs mostly a warm friendly adult to keep him safe and occupied. But the time comes when no adult no matter how perfect can supply all a child's needs.

Children need other children of about the same age. They need to learn the give and take of their

It was announced Mrs. Pittman Hines and Mrs. Durwood Lawrence are delegates to the auxiliary convention to be held in Ormondsville.

Mrs. Guy Corbett was program chairman and Mrs. Moye gave the Bible study. A salad plate was served at the close of the program. Rev. and Mrs. Walter Reynolds will have the next auxiliary meeting.

Mrs. Burnette Has Evangelism Talk

FOUNTAIN—Monday afternoon, March 11, Circle No. 1 of the Fountain Presbyterian Church met with Mrs. Jimmy Sutton in her home.

Mrs. Hardy Johnson, circle leader, gave the Bible study. Her subject was "Nationalism vs. Internationalism." In her discussion on Jesus' teaching regarding nationalism, she emphasized the importance of our responsibility as citizens to our own country and to all nations. She closed her discussion with a prayer.

Mrs. Paule Burnette gave a talk on "Evangelism," bringing out ways in which individuals can help in winning people to Christ.

The hostess served refreshments to the members present.

New Fabrics Miraculous--- But They Need Special Care

By EDWARD S. KITCH

CHICAGO (AP)—Those miracle fabrics should be handled with care.

A manufacturer says cold water washing and moderate drying heat are necessary to prevent permanent damage.

A panel studying the handling of garments made of man-made fibers has found the most favorable temperature for washing synthetics was 60 degrees, although some can withstand 100 to 120-degree water.

A report submitted by Dr. R. W. Peterson at a meeting of the Textile Research Institute points out that the most harmful variable is spinning the fabrics while they are warm or hot in a drier.

According to the research team, heat activates the fiber molecules and places them in a mobil state.

If the fibers are compressed by rapid spinning while warm, the fabric forms deep creases, which become set in the fabric upon cooling.

The recommended drier temperature is about 170 degrees. Light loads require a buffer material such as a towel.

Over the past 10 years, increased production of older man-made fibers and a newer series of synthetics have won a lion's share of the textile market.

U.S. Department of Commerce reports show that the world output of man-made fibers has grown to five billion pounds a year.

Kinds of Fibers

The department also has classified man-made fibers according to their basic raw material. They are:

1. Cellulosic fibers made from wood pulp and cotton linters (rayon and acetate).

2. Protein fibers made from corn, peanuts and milk (zein and casein fibers such as Vicara).

3. Mineral fibers made from sand and limestone and soda ash (glass fibers).

4. Synthetic fibers made from petroleum and coal byproducts (nylon, acrylic, polyester, polyethylene and vinyl chloride).

Their manufacture includes three steps:

1. Chemical action or heat transforms the raw material into a viscous solution.

2. Fine streams are formed by forcing the solution through fine holes in a spinneret.

3. These streams harden in a space of a few feet and become solid filaments and then they are twisted and wound on bobbins to form thread.

While these fabrics have many attributes such as high tensile strength, durability and resistance to mildew, they have the drawback of a tendency to electricitate by static.

Static electricity is lessened when the synthetics are blended with natural fibers. It is much less of a problem in synthetic fibers with a flat weave. This problem often is overcome with an anti-static compound or metal thread interspersed in the fabric to act as a "ground." But an effective anti-static method is yet to be devised.

Despite these hydrophobic—low absorption features—and the thermoplastic characteristics, many of the synthetics can be machine washed and made ready for wear without ironing.

In The End Everybody Will Win

By approving fluoridation of Greenville's water supply, the City Council has taken another positive and progressive step for the betterment of the city and its people.

This Is No Time To Hinder Safety Work

In a period when North Carolina's highway safety problems are becoming more acute, the state must take every practical measure to encourage rather than discourage safe driving.

The state can ill afford to let down the bars of its highway safety program. If the traffic problem is to be coped with effectively, the positive legislation which has been presented this year must be written into law. The number of automobiles on the state's highways is increasing every year. In spite of the road building program, the state's highways are becoming more congested and travel more hazardous.

This is no time to lessen the penalties for drunken driving as has been proposed in one piece of legislation. It is no time to deny the Highway Patrol the use of unmarked patrol cars. It is no time to balk at chemical tests for those accused of drunken driving.

It is no time to take a passive attitude toward legislation which would enable enforcement officers and the courts to deal more effectively with drag racers. Neither is it the time for the legislators to ignore the need for driver education in the public schools of the state.

In short, the legislature during this session has an exceptional opportunity to bolster in many ways the state's highway safety program. The attitude of the legislature toward the mass of bills pertaining to highway regulations will in a large measure set the pattern for the state's highway safety program during the next two years.

It was not an easy task for the Councilmen to make up their minds. It was no hasty decision on their part. More than a year has been spent in intensive study of the question by the Council and local citizens. During that period views for and against the proposal were aired completely as should be the case in a matter of this sort.

In spite of the fact there has been a sharp cleavage between those favoring fluoridation and those opposed to it for Greenville, there are no "losers" as a result of last night's action by the Council. Every citizen of Greenville will gain benefits by the fluoridated water supply which will afford youngsters of this city better teeth and resulting better health in years to come.

Citizens on both sides of the question have presented their views over a long period of months with sincerity and conviction. Each group and each individual has been seeking to lead the city in the course which he conscientiously thought was in the best interest of all the citizens. There is certainly no cause for bitterness on the part of any citizen because of the controversial character of the question or the result which has now been accomplished by the Council.

The Reflector is elated that the Council elected to take this positive, progressive step which has the full endorsement of members of the medical and dental profession. We are grateful that these men took time from their busy routines to apprise not only the Council but also the people of Greenville of the merits of fluoridation. Had it not been for their earnest efforts, this important step would have been postponed probably for years in Greenville.

We are likewise grateful that the Councilmen—in spite of conflicting individual feelings on the part of some members—saw fit to give fluoridation unanimous approval because they felt the overwhelming majority of local citizens favored the step.

The issue has now been resolved. We look with anticipation to the day when local citizens will begin to accrue the benefits which a fluoridated water supply will bring.

Seven Points In Selling Success Committee Is Fairly Satisfied

By ELMER ROESSNER

There are seven things in common to most companies that are successful in selling their product, according to Charles L. Lapp, professor of marketing, University of Washington. Of two companies with similar products, plants and capital resources, one often plunges far ahead of the other. In fact, one may prosper while the other fails. Dr. Lapp, who has examined the selling operations of many companies, says he has found trends toward these methods in those most successful.

1. Finding the proper mix of personal selling, advertising, sales promotion and publicity. It is not how much is spent on those four activities but the proportions that are spent on each one that makes the greatest sales impact.

2. Organizing and allocating manpower to obtain the greatest return for money and effort expended. Forward-looking companies have balanced their boards of directors by putting marketing experts there to sit with tax, financial and legal experts.

3. Applying scientific tools to obtain facts on which to make decisions. One important tool is distribution cost analysis, by which profits made by product or product line, customer type, channel of distribution and sizes of orders can be determined. Thus a company can concentrate on the most profitable products among the most responsive customers through the most profitable channels (wholesalers, franchised dealers, etc.) and push the product in the most profitable order size, whether it be single units, dozens or car-load lots.

4. Forecasting sales by considering what the industry will sell, competitive actions, business conditions and effects of changes in policies, and then adjusting these interacting factors to realistic profit objectives.

5. Maintaining sales forces at peak effectiveness by summer recruiting, hiring older men, hiring women, and employing young men who will return after service in the armed forces.

6. Training salesmen so they will be able to evaluate their own techniques, discipline themselves and be self-starting. This training must be viewed as an investment rather than as an expense.

7. Building the entire marketing program around a sales budget. All other activities must be geared to the potentials of the sales organization.

"The marketing manager of today must be able to look in two directions at once," Dr. Lapp said. "He must keep watching current results while at the same time he must be looking into the future for which he is continually creating ideas."

If you have a new product, you'd better pick a name for it fast. There are only 350 names left, according to the designing firm of Lippincott and Margulies. Its package design department rounded up several thousand names for a consumer product intended to appeal to both men and women.

After eliminating those that sounded too feminine, too masculine, too obscure and too ordinary, there were less than a thousand left. Then after names that wouldn't look good on a package were eliminated, there were only 350, of which one was chosen.

So now there's only 349. OUR OWN GALLIMAUFREY OF BUSINESS NEWS
The average auto at normal urban driving speeds generates enough heat to keep a 24-room house at 70 degrees in zero weather, according to Olin Mathieson engineers. There are 300 individually priced model autos on the market this year, War's Automotive Reports figures. Peddlers have been getting rich selling "ricks" of fire wood at cord prices. Ricks are usually half a cord.

By LYNN NISBET

ELECTIONS — The Senate committee on elections is pretty well satisfied with the present method of naming county boards of education, and the minimum age of 21 for voting. County boards of education now are named by the General Assembly. In most counties they are nominated in primaries, but the nominations are not legally binding upon the Legislature. Four counties have special acts providing for the election of the boards of education in November, in the same manner and with the same finality as county commissioners are elected. These counties are Caswell, Forsyth, Nash and Transylvania.

Sen. William Cobb of Burke sought to have his county included in the election group. He told the committee that it was not a partisan issue, that Democrats and Republicans alike approved it. Cobb was the only Republican on the committee, one of three in the Senate, and the elder Democrats thought they smelled a mouse somewhere.

Such stalwarts as John Dawson, C.V. Henkel and Kelly Bennett pleaded for maintaining the uniform system of education administration. Uniformity has been disregarded in many of the new school laws transferring much authority to counties.

The justification for appointment of school boards by the General Assembly and for filling vacancies by the State Board of Education lies in the fact that the State puts up most of the money for the operation of the schools.

It is quite likely that as more authority and more financial responsibility is turned back to the counties, pressure for local election of county boards will increase.

VOTING AGE — The commission reported without prejudice the bill for 18-year voting, despite a fervent plea by Sen. Perry Martin, its author, supported by Secretary of State Thad Eure. The noncommittal report was a distinct concession to the popularity of the youngest member of the body. The oldsters were all ready to give an overdose of sleeping pills.

The same men who had turned down the Dobb local bill because they feared its partisan implications, did not heed Senator Martin's plea that reducing the voting age would stimulate interest in the Democratic party. Secretary Eure repeated appeals he has made many times before for teen age voting privileges. He pointed out that the bill would not in any way affect any person who is now 21. Before it could be ratified by the people and made effective, all who are now 18 would be 21 and entitled to vote anyway.

ROAD BILL — By the time this is read the highway reorganization bill will be well on its way to final enactment into law. As it came out of the House committee Wednesday it was a greatly modified version of the bill sponsored by Governor Hodges and the study commission.

The number of highway commissioners will be reduced from 15 to seven, and the top administrative responsibility is vested in a director, employed by the commission with approval of the Governor, instead of in the chairman. Amendments changed the final authority from the director to the full commission, leaving the director with less power than the present law confers upon the chairman.

TONED DOWN — Other changes in the original require that commissioners be appointed from different areas of the state, that they be assigned specific geographic territory for contact with the people, that meetings be held at different places throughout the state and that the commission shall designate one or more of its members to hear petitions and complaints from the people.

The ban against political activity of highway personnel, which was a cardinal point in the original bill, was deleted in the committee. Governor Hodges was quoted as agreeing to all the amendments except that removing the political ban.

The highway reorganization plan differs from the existing plan chiefly in the fewer number of commissioners. Changes in administrative practices heretofore made by the present commission in accounting, chain of command and improved public relations remedied many of the matters about which complaint had been registered.

Requirement for regional meetings of citizens with the commissioners, along with the requirement that criteria established for the construction and location of secondary roads must be made a public record, will bring administration of the highway department closer to the people. These amendments satisfied most of the opponents of the original bill, which tended to take administration further from the folks and concentrate it in one Director of Highways stationed at Raleigh.

By EARL L. DOUGLASS — STILL MUCH LACK OF MERCY
A man who experienced for 3½ years the misery of a Japanese labor camp for war prisoners told recently in the Japanese address that the Buddhists of Thailand, among whom they lived, paid no attention to their misery. Buddhism is a religion which emphasizes mercy, yet the Buddhist priests and believers passed by the misery of these unfortunate men day after day and did not even cast a glance in their direction. However, said the erstwhile prisoner, when their camp was located nearby Christian villages—and there were quite a few in Thailand—the people did everything in their power to help these unfortunate men. Some of these native Christians were put to death by the Japanese for such attempts. It was extremely dangerous under the conditions then prevalent to aid a prisoner.

One of the most stark and incredible realities of humanity throughout the world to the sufferings of their fellows. It is only the Christian world which seems touched by human infirmities. Through the United Nations, the influence of mercy and helpfulness is being adopted as a world-wide policy. Still Communism rears its menacing fist against everything that threatens its power. But mercy which springs from a loving heart touched by the hand of God is gradually winning out against the indifference of mankind.

Having Himself A Ball?

By JIMMY ELLIS

Those 'Extras' Get One

A sage I met one time said it wasn't a man's regular work that killed him; it was the extra things he did to make his regular work look better.

That boy, unknown to posterity, spoke a truthfulness.

This week, for instance, every member of the staff here at The Daily Reflector has been up to his ears trying to round up and prepare stories for the annual farm edition. Those stories involve a considerable amount of extra work but the regular routine of publishing a paper every day can't be set aside for the special stories.

On top of that, Don Schlenz has been entertaining himself by preparing applications for the N.W. Ayer Cup, an award presented for make-up and lay-out. He had to round up the best-looking issue of the March 5 edition that he could find.

Alvin Taylor and I look on an extra chore for ourselves in preparing a booklet containing materials pertaining to mental health. The booklet included everything we had published during 1956—and that meant searching every edition issued during the year, noting mental health articles, clipping them from special file editions, arranging them in the booklet and getting the whole affair in the mail.

Don's little project, and the one involving Alvin and me, came to a climax yesterday. Don finished his work, found a box big enough for his papers and applications, and went tripping over the Post Office. Alvin was not far behind him, delayed a few minutes by a call to the main office of the North Carolina Mental Health Association to tell the folks our booklet was on the way.

There really wasn't much opportunity to relax although the two big projects were out of the way. There was still the little matter of preparing for today's paper and trying to get the rest of the farm edition stories. We finally quit for the day although all the work we needed to do wasn't finished.

This morning, with sleep still plaguing our eyes and only the prospect of it being pay-day to cheer us, we came back to work. I started clearing away some of the mess created by preparing the booklet on mental health materials. The first thing I put my hands on was the biggest single mental health article we published last year.

How the thing got overlooked is beyond me. I felt especially bad, considering that I wrote it, but there it was.

We dropped everything else to get that article in the mail to the mental health headquarters. As soon as it was in the Post Office a telephone call went to Raleigh to let the folks there know it was on the way and that we would appreciate it if they'd see that it got in its proper place in the booklet.

The whole business took nearly a half-hour out of an already overworked morning.

I don't know whether I'll recover or not.

Other Editors Saying-Significant Proposals

(The Kinston Free Press)

TWO SIGNIFICANT PROPOSALS
There are two measures now before the General Assembly which will have far-reaching effect on the entire State if they are enacted into law. The first is Governor Hodges' proposal to establish a state minimum wage of 75 cents an hour, and the other has to do with plans to separate the Prisons Department from the State Highway Commission.

The minimum wage proposal is 20 cents an hour higher than the 55-cent minimum advance in 1955 and which did not gain passage. Whether it will be passed now, with Governor Hodges' backing remains to be seen. It certainly will come nearer gaining general acceptance than the similar measure offered by Rep. Jack Love of Mecklenburg County, which calls for one dollar minimum—the same as the federal minimum.

The prisons measure would make for full-time attention to the matter of rehabilitation of criminals. It would permit the working of non-felons during day time in certain accepted activities, and the retention of these prisoners in their cells at night. If this proposal passes it will mean that prisoners may be used for many things, including the protection and preservation of the State's forest resources. This plan, along with an expanded probation program, is aimed at helping solve the problem of crowding caused by the thousands of short-term prisoners in State's prisons and institutions.

Both measures have a great deal of support. The prisons bill has the backing of the State's judiciary and many citizens have long felt the urgent need of a separate agency for the whole prisons program. The minimum wage measure is more likely to encounter stiff opposition from the smaller industries in the State which would face an immediate adjustment to the new wage scale. This opposition has prevented passage of such a measure in the past.

Under the present approach to the matter, with the Governor's backing, the 75-cent measure is conceded a fair chance of passage. Of the two minimum wage bills before the Assembly it certainly would more nearly fit North Carolina's needs than would the Love measure.

BLOW THAT HORN, LOUIE
(The Atlanta Journal)
Man, they let them have it with a stick of dynamite when Louie Armstrong was performing in Knoxville Tuesday night. But Louie played right on to his segregated audience.

"Man, the horn don't know anything about it," said the great trumpeter about racial troubles. He announced he and the horn would go right on with their Southern tour, which includes engagements in Athens and Atlanta.

Louie and his horn have been around the world as good-will ambassadors of this happy land. But it was here that the lunatic fringe greeted him with a bouquet of dynamite.

You gotta hand it to the man, men. The way he took it can't be capitalized by either the NAACP or the Citizens Councils. Art for art's sake, Louie. Man, you and your horn make a lot of folks look sad.

Her omission of Kennedy is regarded as surprising, for the 49-year-old Bay Stater is one of the most discussed, promising and refreshing men on Capitol Hill, according to his colleagues. He barely missed out on the Vice Presidential nomination last year, which was a lucky break for him. SENATOR KENNEDY RATED AS LIBERAL. The convention support of so many Southern delegates seems to negate the suspicion that his religion is an insuperable handicap. Moreover, it is believed that the bigotry which so disgraced the Hoover-Smith clash in 1928 has burned out.

WASHINGTON — As usual, Eleanor Roosevelt has roared the Democratic appeal again this time by listing her favorites among prospective candidates for the 1960 Presidential nomination. Few politicians and influential leaders on Capitol Hill agree with her choices.

Mrs. Roosevelt, who is still the Party's great lady and a popular figure, omitted two names which are always mentioned in professional speculation. They are Senator John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts and Senate Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas. In fact, none of her group comes from below the Mason and Dixon Line.

Naturally, she left out twice-beaten Adlai E. Stevenson and his running mate, Senator Estes Kefauver of Tennessee. Another forgotten man in her calculation is Governor Averell Harriman of New York, presumably because he will be 68 years old in 1960. But he and Kefauver are expected to try again for the top honor.

Kennedy suffers none of the collateral liabilities that hurt "AI" even among those who recognized the New Yorker's administrative and executive talents—a Tammany background, a brown derby, a pre-marriage demand for prohibition repeal, and an affected rather than a natural East Side accent. A World War II hero, Kennedy is the son of a distinguished and wealthy Bostonian, former Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy.

The Massachusetts Senator is rated as a liberal, but no radical. In his recent Life article, although severely critical of his Party, he advocated no basic principles that would offend economic conservatives of either Party. Although he assailed what he regards as a lack of firm Administration policy in the Middle East, he voted for the Eisenhower Doctrine, which the business and financial interests in his area support.

Lives With Her Art

By W. G. ROGERS

NEW YORK (AP) — For our idea of the way Mexico and Mexicans look, many of us have to thank an American woman who began crossing over the Rio Grande to paint the exotic land and people just 25 years ago.

She is Doris Rosenthal. She has just had one of her frequent exhibitions at the Midtown Galleries of pictures of Indian boys and girls, young men and women, old white walls, great clusters of fruit and heaps of vegetables, children in school, bare feet, round faces, shiny white teeth, streaming black hair.

Miss Rosenthal went to Mexico for the first time on the first of her two Guggenheim fellowships. The White-haired artist says her interest in these distant, colorful people first was aroused many years ago:

"I remember as a child thinking of Indians, and imagining Indians, the way most of our youngsters do, or used to do."

"Playing Indian" may not have done much for the rest of us but it has in effect got Miss Rosenthal's familiar pictures into some of the best collections in this country and abroad, and some of the largest museums: the Metropolitan and the Museum of Modern Art here, and institutions in Toledo, Rochester, San Diego and Colorado Springs.

Specialty

The Indians in Mexico have been to Miss Rosenthal what the inhabitants of Tahiti were to Gauguin, and the visitors to Coney Island were to Reginald Marsh. They have become as much her specialty as the birds become to Audubon, and the holy men in the Bible to Fred Nagler.

They have been so much her specialty, in fact, that like Gauguin, she has decided to cast her lot among them:

"I'm going to live there forever!" she says.

She has been making her home in this city, but she wants peace and quiet. Though she used to teach here, and has lived here for years, she is moving lock stock and barrel, via station wagon, to an acre of land she has bought in Oaxaca, a city of some 50,000 which is the capital of the state of Oaxaca. It is some distance south of Mexico City.

"I'm going to live a fuller life there," she promises herself.

"I like those simple, primitive people. I like them because they are dignified, sympathetic, and warm. They are not clothes horses. I don't like clothes myself. In fact, after the 8 or 10 years I have spent there, they are no longer Indians to me. I've changed. I'm the Indian."

Will it be cheaper? "It keeps getting more expensive," she acknowledges, and blames part of it on the influx of thousands of her fellow countrymen.

"My acre, with a 10-foot wall around it, a small house, and the modest additions I intend to make will cost me what it cost me for a place to live in this city. Food is a little cheaper, though not so good. Servants are really very cheap."

Burro, Boat, Bus
Miss Rosenthal has traveled everywhere there. She has made her painting trips by burro—"never by mule or overy burro"—"simply beautiful, simply incredibly uncomfortable"—by little narrow-gauge trains, by auto, plane and bus—"buses by night now are good, but by day they deafen you with their endless loud speakers spewing out music and commercials."

She will do her own cooking to make sure she catches no germ. She can remember when she even had to boil bottled water, but now things have improved.

She travels with a plentiful supply of thin sketching paper, pastels and chalk, and composes her oils when she gets back to her studio. A painter can't get models there, she says, he can only get friends; but if he takes the pains to mingle with people on their terms, he can find wonderfully rich graphic materials.

Eleanor Again 'Rocks The Boat'

By RAY TUCKER
WASHINGTON — As usual, Eleanor Roosevelt has roared the Democratic appeal again this time by listing her favorites among prospective candidates for the 1960 Presidential nomination. Few politicians and influential leaders on Capitol Hill agree with her choices.

Mrs. Roosevelt, who is still the Party's great lady and a popular figure, omitted two names which are always mentioned in professional speculation. They are Senator John F. A World War II hero, Kennedy is the son of a distinguished and wealthy Bostonian, former Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy.

The Massachusetts Senator is rated as a liberal, but no radical. In his recent Life article, although severely critical of his Party, he advocated no basic principles that would offend economic conservatives of either Party. Although he assailed what he regards as a lack of firm Administration policy in the Middle East, he voted for the Eisenhower Doctrine, which the business and financial interests in his area support.

BAY STATER'S COLLEAGUES RECOGNIZED HIS ABILITY
Kennedy might appeal to the elements of the electorate which the Democrats must recapture—namely, the mass urban vote. Although city folk have shown a Democratic trend in local and state elections, they plumped for Ike in 1952 and 1956, and the White House is making every effort to hold them for Nixon or some other nominee in 1960.

Kennedy's colleagues recognized his ability when they named him chairman of a committee to select and honor our five great Senators. He was a "natural" because of his historical vantage, "Profiles in Courage."

Senator Johnson has gained stature and friends from the balanced leadership he has given the Senate Democrats, especially in view of the politico-economic differences between the Morse, Humphrey and the Byrd-Russell factions. Indeed, largely inspired by Eleanor's guesses, there is quiet talk of a Johnson-Kennedy ticket, or a Kennedy-Johnson slate, a Texas-Massachusetts combination would assuredly have a comprehensive appeal, with the further note of novelty.

Strength For Today

By EARL L. DOUGLASS — STILL MUCH LACK OF MERCY
A man who experienced for 3½ years the misery of a Japanese labor camp for war prisoners told recently in the Japanese address that the Buddhists of Thailand, among whom they lived, paid no attention to their misery. Buddhism is a religion which emphasizes mercy, yet the Buddhist priests and believers passed by the misery of these unfortunate men day after day and did not even cast a glance in their direction. However, said the erstwhile prisoner, when their camp was located nearby Christian villages—and there were quite a few in Thailand—the people did everything in their power to help these unfortunate men. Some of these native Christians

The Authority of Jesus

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Matthew 21:12-22:46.

Jesus went into the temple and threw out all those who sold and bought in the court, and the money-changers, saying that they made the house of God a den of thieves.

The chief priests were angry with Jesus, and at hearing children crying, "Hosanna to the Son of David." Jesus quoted scripture: "Out of the mouth of babes and sucklings Thou hast perfected praise."

Jesus preached and healed in the temple. The rulers asked by what authority He did these things? He asked if John's baptism was from heaven? Refusing to answer Him, Christ did not enlighten them.

Realizing that Jesus' parables were directed at them, the temple rulers would have laid hands on Him, but were afraid of the people. MEMORY VERSE—Matthew 7:28, 29.

The Authority of Jesus

THE CHIEF PRIESTS AND ELDERS QUESTION CHRIST ABOUT HIS POWERS

Scripture—Matthew 21:12-22:46.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

JESUS was in Jerusalem where the events of today's lesson took place. He has come to face His enemies whom He knows will never rest until they have taken His life.

"And Jesus went into the temple, and cast out all them that sold and bought in the temple, and overthrew the tables of the money-changers, and the seats of them that sold doves, and said unto them, 'It is written, My house shall be called the house of prayer; but ye have made it a den of thieves.'"

The temple was built upon a hill, "and surrounded by an enclosed space, which seems to have been about 600 feet square. The larger outer court with its great wall and inner colonnades was lower down the hill, and into this, as more remote from the sacred house and the altar" Gentiles were allowed to enter.

Jewish traders there sold animals to be used for sacrifice, money-changers changed money brought by foreign Jews into Jewish money, which were the only coins allowed to be put into the temple treasury. So it was

His teaching and healing? Today when a man or woman—a stranger to us—comes to our door asking us to give money for a certain cause, we should ask to see the credentials such a person has, to be sure the money is to reach the leaders of the "drive," as we call it, and be used for the good cause claimed by our visitor. In other words, we ask, "by whose authority are you collecting this money?"

Jesus' answer was a question for the Pharisees and elders to answer: "The baptism of John, whence was it? From heaven, or of men?" That had the questioners stopped. If they said, from heaven, they reasoned, "He will say unto us, why did ye not believe him? Of men: we fear the people; for all hold John as a prophet."

So they told Jesus, "We can not tell," to which He answered: "Neither tell I you by what authority I do these things."

Jesus then told a parable of a man who had two sons. To the first he said: "Son, go work to-day in my vineyard." The son said he would not, but related and went to work. Then the man told his second son to go and do that the court became a place of bargaining and wrangling, with all the bustle and confusion inseparable from such activities. In driving these people out Jesus told them why He drove them from the temple.

"And the blind and the lame came to Him in the temple, and He healed them." When the chief priests and scribes saw this and heard children's voices crying in the temple, "Hosannah to the Son of David!" they grew angry, asking Christ if He heard what they were saying? Jesus' answer was: "Yea; have ye never read out of the mouths of babes and sucklings, Thou hast perfected praise?"

Jesus then went to the town of Bethany where Mary, Martha and Lazarus lived, and lodged with them. Going back to Jerusalem, Christ began to preach in the temple, and the chief priests and elders of the people asked Him by what authority He did. the work, and he said he would, but didn't go. Which son, Jesus asked, did the will of his father? The first, of course, was the answer. And Jesus said that publicans and sinners would enter the kingdom of God before the seemingly devout men, for those had not believed on John, who "came in the way of righteousness," but was rejected by them.

Jesus also told another parable of some wicked husbandmen who rented a vineyard from the man who owned and planted it. When the fruit was ripe for gathering the husbandmen beat the servants the owner sent to take the fruit, and when he sent his son they killed him.

The Pharisees and chief priests heard these parables, and knew that Jesus meant them when he referred to the evil men, and they were very angry. They would have seized Jesus if they had dared, but they feared the people who thought He was a prophet.

Kidnaped Tot Is Found Drownd

DETROIT (AP)—Three-year-old Patricia Tiernan, who was kidnaped from her home in Pontiac yesterday, was found drowned last night in a bathtub at a small hotel in Detroit.

Police said they found the body after following directions given by a teen-age baby sitter who was picked up for loitering near the Southern Michigan Prison at Jackson.

State police in Jackson arrested Madeline Allred, 18, of Pontiac, after a prison guard reported he saw her run out of the prison lobby and hide under a car in the parking lot.

State troopers Roger Rivard and Donald Kirt said Miss Allred was undergoing routine questioning when suddenly she blurted out: "But I did kill a baby down in Detroit today. I held her under water for two hours."

The troopers quoted her as saying, "I always had an urge to kill people." Then, she said, she gave the room number of a hotel in Detroit where Patricia's body could be found.

As police in Jackson questioned Miss Allred, they heard over the police radio that she was wanted as the baby sitter who had disappeared with Patricia from the home of the child's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Tiernan of Pontiac.

Miss Allred had been employed as a baby sitter for the past three weeks by the Tiernans. Police quoted her as saying she was released from a state mental hospital in July of last year.

Patricia and the baby sitter were reported missing by a neighbor who had entered the Tiernan apartment and found the Tiernans' 11-month-old baby alone. The Tiernans were away at work.

Police quoted Miss Allred as saying that after drowning Patricia she left Detroit for Jackson to visit a brother serving a term at the state prison for burglary.

Miss Allred was taken to the Jackson County Jail, where she was held on an open charge for Detroit police.

Ruritan Club Host To Basketball Team

By ANNETTE HUDSON

Stokes-Pactolus School Reporter

On Wednesday night March 8, the Stokes Ruritan Club presented the ball players with a turkey supper. The meal was served by the Ruritan's wives in the school lunchroom. After the meal, the ball players were presented with their letters and bars. Susie Mae James won the trophy for being the most valuable girl player. No boy's award was presented.

After the meal the ball players went to the gym and spent the rest of the evening dancing.

We are glad to welcome to Stokes-Pactolus three new practice teachers. They are: Miss Taylor, who will teach typing II and shorthand, Mr. Long, who will teach typing I and general business, and Mr. Hasty, the physical education and health teacher. They will take over these departments this week.

Mrs. Musslewhite's seventh grade and Mrs. Barrier's eighth grade are making preparations for a field day which will be held on May 3.

The physical education class has just finished a study of tumbling. At the end of this study each student had to make a tumbling notebook. Mrs. Baker, the county supervisor selected Mary Nelson's notebook to be taken to Raleigh to the Physical Education Department to show what some of the school's in Pitt County are doing in physical education.

DURING 1956

Enough telephones (about 1/2 in rural areas) to serve a good size county were added throughout Eastern Carolina by hard working members of the Carolina Telephone team during 1956. By the end of the year they had brought the total served by your telephone company to nearly 145,000 telephones. This rapid growth should continue during 1957. For our huge expansion program to serve Eastern North Carolina is expected to continue at an accelerated pace.

No Estimate On Cotton Planting

WASHINGTON (AP)—When the Agriculture Department reports next Monday on farmers' spring crop planting plans, nothing will be said about cotton.

Since 1924, the department has been prohibited by law from making cotton planting and production estimates before Aug. 1 of each year. It asked Congress early in the session to repeal this prohibition, but as yet no action has been taken.

The bar against such estimates for cotton was put through Congress by Southern lawmakers who contended such forecasts were more beneficial to cotton traders and manufacturers than to growers.

The department, which had hoped to get the law changed this year, says farmers themselves might be helped if they knew before planting time what growers as a whole planned to do. Some, it says, might be influenced by such information to make beneficial adjustments in their individual operations.

Crops for which planting estimates will be given are wheat, corn, oats, barley, flaxseed, rice, sorghums, potatoes, sweet potatoes, tobacco, dry beans and peas, soybeans, peanuts, hay and sugar beets.

Head-On Crash Leaves 3 Dead

CHESTER, S.C. (AP)—A head-on collision of two cars has left three dead and one person critically injured.

The accident, on State Rt. 321 between Wigginsboro and Blackstock yesterday, killed Bobby Jo Beam, 17, of Gastonia, N.C.; Robert L. Beam, 61, also of Gastonia; and Dewitt Robinson, a 40-year-old Negro, of Charlotte.

In critical condition at the Fairfield County Hospital in Wigginsboro was Billy E. Johnson, about 35, of Columbia.

Police said that Robert Beam and Johnson were both passengers in an automobile driven by the younger Beam. Robinson was alone in the other car, officers said.

Police and airline officials at Los Angeles held the same theory about the call received here by TWA. It was from a pay booth, police said.

Airliners Again Are Searched

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Eight airliners were searched at Los Angeles last night, four at Dallas and one at Wichita Falls, Tex., after anonymous bomb warnings.

The searches turned up nothing. A Trans-World Airlines Constellation, 20 minutes out of Los Angeles on an eastbound flight, was called back to Lockheed terminal and searched. The inspection was extended to even other TWA planes about to take off.

Police and airline workers made similar hunts on four Braniff planes at Dallas. A Braniff Convair en route from Dallas to Amarillo was grounded at Wichita Falls for an hour for a check through the plane and its mail and baggage.

J. E. Miller, executive vice president, said at Dallas the anonymous telephone warning received by Braniff apparently was a prank.

Yale Couldn't Stop Rosenbluth

All the Yale men couldn't stop Len! That's the story of North Carolina's 90-74 victory over Yale in the first round of the NCAA eastern regional basketball playoffs in New York's Madison Square Garden. It was the Tar Heels' 28th consecutive victory. Len Rosenbluth (10), North Carolina's All-America forward, kept the Yale men in a dither. These four sequence pictures show Len as he twists, spins, and gets off a shot despite the close guarding of Yale's Ed Robinson (15). Rosenbluth was his team's high scorer in the game with 29 points. Five NL Southpaws Taken For Rough Ride Yesterday

By SHELDON SAKOWITZ, Pendleton. Podres was the losing pitcher as Milwaukee won 12-9. In two innings he yielded five hits and issued three bases on balls. Once again Mizell's wildness led to his downfall. Boston scored all four runs off him in the first inning to blank St. Louis 4-0. The big speed-baller, who had a 14-14 record last season, walked four men and failed to get a batter out. He gave up an infield hit, but only two runs were earned due to Ken Boyer's error. Minner fractured his neck in mid-June when he slipped in the shower of his hotel room. The Cubs released him at the end of the season. The Pirates signed him as a free agent and agreed to give him a tryout, although he was not placed on their roster. In his spring debut, Cincinnati sent five runs across the plate in the first inning before he could retire a batter. They went on to hand Pittsburgh its first setback after five exhibition victories 7-4. Cullum played with Cincinnati in 1955 and was traded to the Cards, who then dealt him to Chicago after the 1956 season. The 5-8 lefty pitched three innings of relief in the Cubs' 9-3 defeat at the hands of Cleveland in 13 innings. Taking over in the fourth inning, he was touched for five runs, allowing at least one run in each of the frames. Elsewhere: Jim Rivera and Jim Landis each slammed a pair of homers as the White Sox trimmed the Senators 12-7. Gil McDougald's triple and Tony Kubek's single gave the Yanks a 3-2 triumph over the Tigers in 10 innings; and Bobby Morgan's homer—his second of the game—in the ninth inning enabled the Phils to edge Kansas City 7-6.

Kinston Reaches Semifinal Round

SANFORD, N. C. (AP)—Kinston's leading champion Red Devils won a step nearer another state Class AA basketball title today, but the road ahead appears rocky indeed. The Red Devils almost had to work overtime here yesterday to get past a scrappy Hildebran team 66-65 to enter tonight's semifinals round of the annual tournament against a lanky bunch of West-erners from the Clyde A. Ervin school in Bu.ombe County. Joining these two teams in the semifinals were Tri-City (Leaksville-Spray-Draper), which defeated Clinton 72-42, and East Mecklenburg of Charlotte, which handed Chapel Hill its first loss of the season, 54-50. Ervin advanced with an easy 53-45 win over Rockingham. In this afternoon's consolation games, Hildebran plays Rockingham and Chapel Hill meets Clinton. The semifinals night double-header stacks up this way: Kinston vs Clyde A. Ervin at 7:30 and East Mecklenburg vs Tri-City at 9. Kinston didn't have anything like a safe lead at any time in its game with Hildebran. It managed a 5-point lead three minutes to go, but Hildebran got four of those points back and Kinston was freezing the ball desperately at the whistle. East Mecklenburg provided the only upset when Carlisle Davenport pumped in a field goal and David Landon followed with two free throws in the last minute to send Chapel Hill to its first loss of the season. Mecklenburg, in suburban Charlotte, had trailed most of the way, but Chapel Hill never could get a safe margin after trailing by 27-29 at the half. In the Ervin-Rockingham game, the Mountaineers employed a fast break and the excellent rebounding of center Horace Medford to hold a sizable lead throughout. The same was the case in the Tri-City-Clinton game, where the rangy winners used Eggleston's scoring and backboard work as a bridge to win easily. Ahead 29-18 at the half, Tri-City never let up and Clinton simply couldn't muster the scoring strength to compete.

Possibility Looms NCAA High-Scoring Is At An End

By HUGH FULLERTON JR. The Associated Press. Virtually all the scoring records for the NCAA Basketball Tournament were set in the past three years, but the big question as 16 NCAA contenders moved into four regional tournament tonight was whether this scoring trend might be reversed. There have been a couple of signs. The San Francisco Dons, 1955-56 champions, got their best results by playing solid defensive basketball and holding their shots until they counted. Two of this year's first-round winners, Canisius and Idaho State, did virtually the same thing as they beat West Virginia and Hardin-Simmons with scores in the 60s. Canisius likely will try to keep control when it meets unbeaten North Carolina tonight, rather than take chances on letting Len Rosenbluth and his mates get their shots. Some of the others may use similar tactics if they decide it's futile to run against such teams as Kansas, Kentucky, St. Louis and Notre Dame. The results could be just the opposite, since all 16 teams have shown that on occasion they can collect large robs of points. Meanwhile, in the NCAA Small College Tournament at Evansville Ind., Kentucky Wesleyan and Wheaton gained the finals to be played tonight. Kentucky Wesleyan blasted Mt. St. Mary's (Md) 99-81, coming from behind with 28 points in the first nine minutes of the second half. Wheaton led all the way to beat Los Angeles State 71-53. In the NAIA Tournament at Kansas City, top-seeded Pacific Lutheran meets Tennessee State and Eastern Illinois plays Southeastern Oklahoma. The finals will be Saturday night. Pacific Lutheran eliminated Texas Southern 91-72, Tennessee State went ahead in the final minutes to down Western Illinois 90-88. Eastern Illinois ousted Hamline, three-time champion, 88-83, and Southeastern Oklahoma took care of second-seeded Youngstown 69-65. Here's the lineup for the four regional major college NCAA playoffs tonight that will qualify four teams for the final rounds at Kansas City March 22-23. At Philadelphia, North Carolina,

Cadill, Chestnut Are Rated 'Even'

NEW YORK (AP)—Having fought almost to a draw the first time, featherweight contenders Gilly Cadill and Ike Chestnut are rated even for their return bout at Madison Square Garden tonight. Cadill, a 25-year-old ex-GI from Los Angeles, finished strong to nose out the 26-year-old New Yorker by one point at Houston, Tex., last Oct. 30. "That was a big point for me," said Cadill. "I wasn't going too good and was even thinking of quitting the ring. The fight with Chestnut was the test. It was one of the toughest of my career. He hit me with a hook in the first round and buckled my knees but I fought it off and won. That fight showed I still belonged with the leading featherweights. In my next fight, I beat Miguel Berrios. If I beat Chestnut again maybe they'll let me in the elimination tournament. After all, I beat Chestnut and Berrios and Chestnut stopped Carmelo Costa." Berrios and Costa, two of the four 126-pounders selected for the tournament to succeed retired Sandy Saddler, meet at the Garden next Friday. The other two are France's Cherif Hamia and Nigeria's Hogan Kid Bassey. Chestnut, of course, is anxious for revenge. He figures that if he can even the score with Cadill he might stand a chance of getting one of the first cracks at the new champion.

Ageless Jimmy Only One Stroke Off The Pace

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Aging, ageless Jimmy Demaret stepped up to his ball, stroked it firmly and gave a little leap of joy as it fell into the cup for an eagle. Still sporting the broad smile and the brightly colored golfing garb that have been Demaret trademarks for years, he then turned in his first-round score in the St. Petersburg Open—a 67. That left the 46-year-old Texan, now playing out of Kiamasha, Lake, N. Y., only one stroke off the pace starting today's second round in the $12,500, 72-hole event. Two lads young enough to be Demaret's sons were out front with 5-under-par 66s—Gene Littler, 26, Singing Hills, Calif., and Bill Casper Jr., 25, Bonita, Calif. Demaret's three victories in the Masters have been matched only by Sam Snead.

Pre-School Clinics Slated To Begin Here March 29

Miss Julia Fisher, Pitt Co. Health Dept. supervising nurse, reminded the preschool clinics offer an opportunity for parents to register their children for school, to have a physical check-up, and begin necessary immunizations if they have not already been completed.

She further emphasized that "The law requires evidence of protection against diphtheria, small pox, and whooping cough before entrance to school. We are also recommending that school children complete their polio immunizations before school starts in the fall." Children must also have their birth certificates with them when they register and if they don't have them they may secure them at the court house of the county in which the child was born, and securing the necessary papers from the register of deeds.

It is understood that children who have missed a clinic may attend a registration period offered at another school.

Below is the preschool clinic schedule for the Greenville City Schools:

Meeting Monday In Policy Inquiry

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark) said today a special Senate subcommittee will meet Monday to lay the groundwork for an inquiry into what he called "foreign policy mistakes" in the Middle East.

Fulbright is chairman of a six-member group authorized by the Senate Foreign Relations and Armed Services Committees to set the stage for a study covering U. S. policies in the Middle East extending back to January, 1946.

Deputy Undersecretary of State Robert Murphy, Asst. Secretary William Rounree and Bernard Noble, chief of the department's Historical Division, were called to Monday's closed-door session.

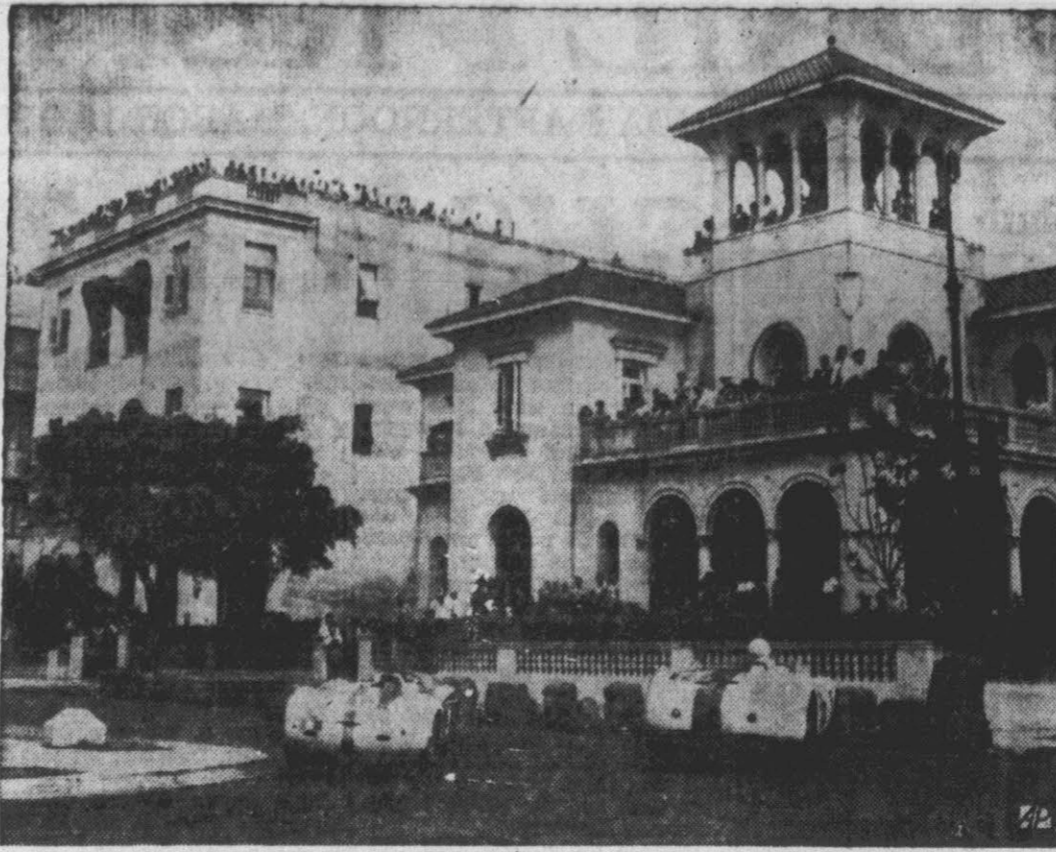

They are to present a progress report on work now under way to supply the committee's request for a chronological, documented report on events contributing significantly to the crisis that led to the Israeli-British-French invasion of Egypt and the Suez Canal zone.

At Republican insistence, the inquiry was broadened to cover events which took place during the Democratic administration of President Truman.

Fulbright has attributed strained relations with the British and French to "mistakes in judgment" by Secretary of State Dulles and the Eisenhower administration.

Some Artists Objecting To Chimp Competitor

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—Berkeley artists battled to a clamorous draw last night on the issue of exhibiting the artistic creations of Betsy, Baltimore's finger-painting chimpanzee.

The only thing settled was a decision to take a look at the ape's handiwork, or footwork. A painting will be flown out from the Baltimore Zoo for critical inspection at a meeting next Wednesday.

The idea of exhibiting Betsy's painting was broached Monday by Nora Hampton, director of the annual sidewalk art show just outside the University of California campus June 28. Miss Hampton had read that Betsy's paintings have been selling for $25 to $50 per canvas.

way: "We are unalterably opposed to, and cannot tolerate, and owe the public an apology for the idea of putting local artists in competition with a chimpanzee which is what Betsy is."

Others said well, what the heck, it was the American way to give Betsy her chance.

Advised that a sample of Betsy's work was forthcoming, the 65 artists voted that the question be left up to a six-member jury after a close inspection of the handiwork, or footwork, on canvas.

Last night, before a standing-room-only crowd at Berkeley Women's City Club, artist Lorraine Crawford sized it up this way:

"No chimpanzee," he added. "is going to make a monkey out of me."

Charles Modecke, San Francisco Bay area abstractionist, expressed indignation and said he

Murderer Given Death Sentence

HIGH POINT, N.C. (AP) — Julius Bunton, 21-year-old Bennettsville, S.C. Negro convicted of first-degree murder in the robbery-slaying of a High Point cab driver, was sentenced to die in the gas chamber here last night.

A jury deliberated more than 2½ hours before returning guilty verdicts against Bunton and his partner, John Kollock Jr., 21, also of Bennettsville. Kollock was sentenced to life imprisonment by Guilford Superior Court Judge Hubert E. Olive.

Lawyers for both men filed notice of appeal. Judge Olive set Bunton's execution for April 26. The two were charged in the slaying of Clifford W. Phillips, who was found shot to death on the outskirts of High Point Jan. 5. Bunton and Kollock were arrested in Bennettsville later.

Officers testified the two admitted the robbery-slaying and that Kollock led them to a spot outside the city where a .38 caliber pistol, believed to have been the death weapon, was found.

Testimony indicated Bunton was the trigger man and planned the robbery. The jury recommended mercy for Kollock.

Books & Stuff

By DR. ED HIRSHBERG

Literary event of next week will be the arrival of Jonathan Williams of Highlands, N. C., publisher of what we in the trade call "avant garde" books. What he does is publish the kind of poetry that is so far in advance of the times—and possibly so superior—that no other publishers will touch it, so his is a life of trial and trouble, though he seems to have survived so far. Anyway, he's making a tour of the South and West, prepared to talk about modern poetry and exhibit his books, and he'll be here next Friday, the 22nd.

That afternoon, at 3 o'clock, he'll give a reading of modern poems in the Recreational Reading Room of the Joyner Library at E. C. C., and everybody is welcome to come. That evening, at 8 p. m., in the same place, he'll discuss publishing and modern poetry in general, with Faculty people and anyone else who is interested. Saturday morning, beginning at 9:30, he'll stage an exhibit of his avant-garde publications in the lobby of the library, and again, all are welcome. His visit is being sponsored by the Library Club at as 1897 reflected "nothing but the lack of promise of outstanding achievement." The author maintains that the strength of family traditions, realistic teaching of the children, a stern code of honor, morality, and responsibility, and above everything the admonition to lead happy and useful lives surmounted temporary adversities.

Capital and industry did not come readily to the southern states after the Civil War. However, the Cokers did not sit idly by wringing their hands and awaiting a revival of economic life. They promoted railroads and cotton mills during the post-Reconstruction era. After repeated failures they devised processes for the manufacture of paper from the pulp of pine trees that grew all across South Carolina; this was the first such industry in the South. After patient experimentation David Coker successfully bred improved strains of cotton seed and broadened his ac-

Dispute Partly Ties Up Works

GARY, Ind. — The U. S. Steel Co. proceeded with a partial shutdown of its huge Gary works today because of the idling of 3,000 men in a dispute over a split work week.

A spokesman for United Steelworkers said the men were sent home after protesting the layoff of three workers. A company spokesman said they walked out.

The company spokesman said inactivity in the Merchants Division, where 3,000 are employed, would cause a layoff of about 8,000 more workers.

The billet mill and the 40-inch blooming mill were being closed, and closing of two open hearths was to follow. The latter operation requires two days.

A split work week is five days which are not consecutive. Oris Thomas, chairman of the Grievance committee of the USW Local 1014, said plant operations have been below the level at which the company-union contract permits the use of the split week.

Thomas said U. S. Steel introduced the split week about two weeks ago. He said it deprives about 2 per cent of the plant's 20,000 workers of overtime and incentive performance possibilities, because Saturday is a relatively slow day.

Thomas said union members voted yesterday to stay off the job under present conditions.

"There can be no discussion of grievances except under normal working conditions," a company spokesman said.

In Greenville, the "people of Union Carbide" include the men and women of National Carbon Company.

MASONRY WALLS made of brick, stone, or concrete have long stood the test of time. But today, they can be made even better with a coating of silicone water repellents. These amazing materials prevent damaging rainwater from entering the countless tiny pores or openings in masonry structures.

When the water freezes after penetrating, it can cause spalling—cracks off small pieces. And, if it seeps all the way through to the inside of a building, paint peels... woodwork warps... plaster stains and cracks.

Now, silicone water repellents provide the answer. Brushed or sprayed on the surface, they line—not seal—the pores in masonry. Even heavy rain driven by hurricane winds cannot break through this invisible raincoat... yet, because the pores are not sealed, moisture from within can evaporate freely.

The people of Union Carbide produce silicones for other uses, too... automobile and furniture polishes, lubricants, electrical insulation, and new rubber-like products... all of which help bring more and better things for all of us.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market continued to lose ground steadily early this afternoon but a few issues moved to the upside.

Aside from these, the general range of losses went from fractions to around a point with copers exceeding this.

News that Phelps Dodge, the country's second biggest copper producer, is cutting production further was depressing to stocks of the industry.

Budget cuts announced by the administration and a continued feeling that the Middle East situation was not yet resolved were dampening factors, brokers said. Kennecott Copper dropped around 2 and Phelps Dodge more than a point. Anaconda and American Smelting lost fractions. International Nickel fell around a point.

Signs of a possible reversal of trend were seen in the motors division as Chrysler and Ford were both in active demand and fractionally higher. Allied Chemical improved an early fractional gain to beyond a point.

Gulf Oil and Royal Dutch were steady to higher. Gains also were shown by Southern Railway, Eastern Air Lines, Johns-Manville, Goodrich, Caterpillar, Zenith, Du Pont and Consolidated Natural Gas.

But the prevailing tone was on the downside. U.S. Steel, American Telephone and Standard Oil (New Jersey) were all fractionally lower, as were International Paper, Texas Co., Consolidated Edison and Union Carbide. Goodyear and Seaboard Railroad were off around a point.

Foremost Dairies dropped 1/4 at 16 1/2 on a large block of 8,800 shares. Schering and Parke Davis showed some activity and were fractionally higher.

Hold Institute Of Gov't For Ten Counties

Commissioners, attorneys and accountants from ten Eastern North Carolina counties are meeting today in the Pitt County Court House.

Alex McMahon of the Institute of Government is conducting the meeting for the county officials. It is one of eight such get-togethers planned by the Institute of Government to discuss problems common to county officials throughout the state.

Discussion this morning included responsibility of boards of commissioners in constructing and repairing county buildings, particularly jails; authority of boards to make contracts, with special emphasis on conflict-of-interest laws and requirements for competitive bidding; legislation pending before the 1957 General Assembly affecting county government, particularly tax law changes being launched a drive which is intended to put the American flag in front of every business house, every school and every public building in Greenville.

Mrs. Kenneth Brown, junior vice-president of the auxiliary and chairman of the group's special Flag Committee, kicked the drive off by selling a flag to City Manager Leonard Bloxam yesterday. Bloxam bought the flag for use in front of the City Hall.

Mrs. Brown told the City Manager that last November 11, Veterans Day, only five flags were displayed other than those on government buildings. "This was a small quantity discount will pay for postage and other expenses involved in handling the flags."

Bloxam said that the city would assist the auxiliary in the drive by clearing sidewalk holes for flag staffs. "In cases where the holes have been covered by new cement, the city will see that new holes are provided. We are as anxious as the auxiliary to see that flags are displayed on appropriate occasions," the City Manager added.

In addition to selling the four-by-six flags, Mrs. Brown said the auxiliary intends to place copies of a booklet, "Etiquette of the Stars and Stripes," in every classroom in Greenville and will also place several copies in each of the libraries in the city.

The CSPS announced its 33rd annual awards to student newspapers and magazines yesterday. The medalist rating meant that Greenville High School had received top honors in its classification. The ratings in each classification range from medalist for top honors and from first through fourth places.

"Green Lights" was entered in the "printed newspapers, senior high schools of 301 to 500" division. The "East Carolinian" was entered in the "printed newspapers, senior college-university" classification.

The VFW Auxiliary has officially launched a drive which is intended to put the American flag in front of every business house, every school and every public building in Greenville.

Mrs. Kenneth Brown, junior vice-president of the auxiliary and chairman of the group's special Flag Committee, kicked the drive off by selling a flag to City Manager Leonard Bloxam yesterday. Bloxam bought the flag for use in front of the City Hall.

Mrs. Brown told the City Manager that last November 11, Veterans Day, only five flags were displayed other than those on government buildings. "This was a small quantity discount will pay for postage and other expenses involved in handling the flags."

Bloxam said that the city would assist the auxiliary in the drive by clearing sidewalk holes for flag staffs. "In cases where the holes have been covered by new cement, the city will see that new holes are provided. We are as anxious as the auxiliary to see that flags are displayed on appropriate occasions," the City Manager added.

In addition to selling the four-by-six flags, Mrs. Brown said the auxiliary intends to place copies of a booklet, "Etiquette of the Stars and Stripes," in every classroom in Greenville and will also place several copies in each of the libraries in the city.

The Greenville City Barbers' club will meet tonight at 8 o'clock at Mr. Thomas B. White's.

Made to Order
WILSON — Thieves were accommodated unintentionally Wednesday around midnight by a Wilson firm. They used a company blowtorch to open the safe at Faulkner Neon Company and remove $365.

Chief A. A. Privette said the thieves entered by walking through the rear entrance, which wasn't locked, rolled the safe to a room without windows, and proceeded with their task.

Friends Watch Drowning
HILLSBORO — Two colored men stood by, apparently too frightened to help, while a 37-year-old Cedar Grove Negro epileptic drowned in shallow water yesterday. The drowning was ruled accidental.

Robert Corbett was said to have been walking along beside a small creek with Cornelius Franklin, 18, when he suffered an attack and fell into the water. Franklin told officers he was scared and ran to get his brother-in-law who lived nearby. When the two returned, the officers were trying to raise his head out of the water, and they stood watching him, too scared to help him get his head above the one-foot depth of water into which he had fallen.

To Reopen Plant
WILLIAMSTON — Plans, climaxed weeks of negotiation, are going forward this week for reopening the plywood manufacturing plant on the Roanoke River in Williamston, it was unofficially but reliably learned yesterday morning. Few details could be learned immediately but it is felt that the plant will be back in operation the latter part of this or early next month.

The sale, according to reliable reports, was confirmed by the Boston office of the Atlas Plywood Corporation over the telephone. Further confirmation was to follow by telegram from the New York office. It is proposed to re-employ most if not all of the old operating personnel, many of whom have been unable to find work since the plant closed.

Political Front Quiet
WILSON — City Clerk Troy T. Lynn can't remember an election year when several candidates hadn't filed by this time for the city commissioner or mayor contests. Nevertheless, Wilson's political front is quiet, at least on the surface. There may be some behind the scenes maneuvering going on, but if there is the public doesn't know it. Thus far, there has been only one indication of a change on the municipal lawmaking body. James E. Ellis II announced that he would not seek reelection to the council seat he has held four years.

New President
WASHINGTON, N. C. — Ed Mann, businessman and civic leader, was installed Wednesday night as the new president of the Washington Chamber of Commerce. Other officers elected and installed were John Leach, First Vice-president, Swanson Graves, Jr., Second Vice-president, Roland Modlin, Treasurer and W. P. Van Hoy, Manager.

Two resolutions were passed at the meeting, one being in favor of shoplifting legislation in the N. C. General Assembly to protect merchants from shoplifters and expressing opposition to the Budget Revenue Bill of 1957. The other resolution was in favor of lighting the airport runways in Washington as a safety measure.

Is That So?
TRENTON — The North Carolina citizenship of a witness was being established in Jones County Superior Court yesterday through a series of questions while the man was on the stand.

"Have you resided in North Carolina during the past year?" he was asked.

"Yes, sir," came the reply. "I lived in North Carolina all my life except for a time I stayed down in Onslow County."

"The court, through no deliberation, ruled the witness a citizen of the state."
