Mid East Issues Get Priority At Bermuda Parley

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER TUCKER'S TOWN, Bermuda (AP) — President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Macmillan assigned to priority to the Middle East crisis, including Suez and Egyptian-Israeli problems, at the opening of their formal negotiations today.

The session opened in the drawing room of the Mid-Ocean Club, where chiefs of the two governments met with advisers at a circular conference table.

Real start of the top-level quest for full-scale restoration of the British-American partnership in world affairs began at a three-hour dinner last night, however, when the President and Prime Minister and secretaries of state reviewed world issues.

As a result of that talk, the Middle East crisis was put first as a topic.

While no announcement was made, it seemed probable that second position for discussion would be Britain's plans for cutbacks in its worldwide military commitments.

American officials foresaw a possibility the United States may have to make new commitments of its own to keep the free world's military guard up.

A meshing of U.S. and British defense plans was assured a high place on the agenda, as was the tangle of urgent Middle East issues involving vital interests of both countries.

Diplomats said the President and Prime Minister, together with Secretary of State Dulles, Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd and other officials, probably would hold two meetings daily through Saturday.

The two government chiefs in statements made on their arrival yesterday both expressed confidence their Bermuda meeting would result in a strengthening of British-American cooperation in world affairs.

Their advisers agreed privately that this hope can be realized only if the two men can arrive at agreements or better understandings on some very tough and very practical problems.

The issue of Britain's military cutbacks is in this class. Macmillan came here determined to tell Eisenhower that because of sagging finances and economic pressure at home, Britain must retreat. The British feel there can be no change in that basic decision.

American officials said the U.S. government recognizes the gravity of Britain's plight but is worried about the effect of the planned cutbacks on the free world's defenses. They think Macmillan is prepared to negotiate the timing and extent of the reductions.

The United States, these officials said, so far has not been fully and officially informed of Britain's plans. Washington knows Britain in the next year will call home some 13,000 of the 80,000 men it has in West Germany, an announced plan.

Qualified informants said Britain also is planning to withdraw most of its 5,000 troops in South Korea, but the United States has not had official information of this, or of what will happen to British commitments in Hong Kong, Singapore, Malaya and Libya.

The Americans do not expect any early British cuts of importance in Cyprus, Malta and Gibraltar. But they want firm information from Macmillan covering all such plans.

The British government also has not announced the target of its reduction program. Informed speculation has been that it would like to bring annual defense costs down from 1 1/2 billion pounds ($4,200,000,000) to one billion.

Big Job Of Pruning Budget Request Faces Committee

RALEIGH (AP)—The Legislature's Joint Appropriations Committee faces a big pruning job on budget requests.

Through yesterday, state agencies and institutions had put in requests for additional appropriations of more than 45 million dollars above the amount recommended for the next biennium by the Advisory Budget Commission.

The committee was scheduled to hear this afternoon from Winston-Salem State Teachers College, the North Carolina Industrial Commission, the State Department of Agriculture, the Agricultural Experiment Station, and Cooperative Agriculture Extension Service.

Three days of budget hearings are set for next week and then the committee will buckle down to the job of trimming the requests.

Meanwhile, the North Carolina League of Municipalities was scheduled to present views of municipal officials on proposed state tax changes as hearings continued today before the Joint Finance Committee.

The committee, which began hearings Tuesday on the revenue bill, will hear from three associations next week. These include: Assn. of General Contractors, Tuesday; North Carolina Assn. of Beauticians, Wednesday, and North Carolina Assn. of Quality Restaurants, Thursday.

The groups are expected to speak on proposed changes in license taxes. The major change would place the tax on a gross receipts basis.

The Consolidated University of North Carolina put in a strong plea yesterday for increased appropriations of more than 1 1/2 million dollars during the next biennium to boost faculty salaries and buy more library books.

Consolidated University President William C. Friday asked for $804,065 the first year and $822,869 the second year of the biennium. This is above the amount recommended by the Advisory Budget Commission.

Friday said the additional funds are "urgently needed" to retain faculty members and to "maintain our excellent position in the academic world." He added, "a large number of professors recently have accepted positions in industry, government jobs and in other educational institutions at increased salaries."

The appropriations committee also received requests from: The Institute of Fisheries, $11,720 for the biennium; the North Carolina Orthopedic Hospital, $8,932, and the North Carolina Cancer Institute, $52,000.

Meanwhile, the Joint Finance Committee was asked yesterday by North Carolina life insurance companies to reduce their gross premiums tax rate.

Thousands Pay Final Homage To Pres. Magsaysay

MANILA (AP)—More than 125,000 persons had filed past the bier of President Ramon Magsaysay by midmorning today. The Filipino chief executive, killed in a plane crash Sunday, will be buried after a state funeral tomorrow.

Thousands more persons waited in the hot sun to walk past the flag-draped casket lying in state in the ceremonial hall of Malacanang palace.

The crowds were generally orderly. But a near-riot developed when the palace gates were closed temporarily. Two old women were trampled and injured seriously.

Magsaysay's vice president and successor, Carlos P. Garcia, said in an interview his administration "will work for close ties with the United States and continue the policy of friendship with America of our late President."

Beck notified the committee that "I recognize the authority" of the group to call him and that he would appear and "bring with me the records... without prejudice to my rights under the Constitution and the Bill of Rights."

While Beck agreed to produce his records, he did not say he would turn them over to the committee.

Church Census Slated March 31

A city-wide church census, slated for March 31, was announced today by the Greenville Ministerial Conference.

The census, to be held between 3 p.m. and 5 p.m., will include a survey of the white population. Protestant churches in Greenville will participate in the census which was planned by a Census Committee composed of the Rev. Mark Owens, chairman; the Rev. Rashie Kennedy; the Rev. C. C. Cribb; and the Rev. Leonard Topping.

The plans were approved Monday by the Greenville Ministerial Conference at its regular monthly meeting Monday.

Plans to be used this year are similar to those used for a 1955 census. Individual churches will name participating workers for assigned areas and the workers will have an instructional meeting at the First Presbyterian Church at 2:30 p.m. March 31.

The March 31 instructional period is the only one planned for participating workers and pastors.

Found Guilty Of Chain-Flogging

CHARLOTTE (AP)—Two Teamsters Union members, found guilty of chain-flogging two truck drivers, face sentence in Superior Court here today.

A jury yesterday convicted Torrence E. Correll on two counts of assault with a deadly weapon and Edgar A. Hill on one. The charges stemmed from a strike dispute at the North-South Trucking Lines lot here Feb. 8.

Testimony indicated Correll shot Paul Harding in the hand and hit him across the face with a length of chain. Hill chain-whipped Charles Melton, witnesses said.

Witnesses said a one-man picket at the trucking lot called Hill and Correll for protection after a car containing Melton, Harding and two men came to the lot.

Session Is Rough On Legislators

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—This, says Assemblyman Lloyd W. Lowrey, is the "toughest session ever."

"We shouldn't work so hard," he told the Assembly yesterday. "If we do, some of us won't be here at the end of the session."

Assemblyman Richard H. McCollister, majority floor leader, said the long hours are necessary to process the record number of bills.

Shortly after, bill No. 4,129 was introduced.

Probers Say Union Funds Bought New Car For Girlfriend

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate racketeers investigators said today Teamsters Union funds went to buy a new automobile for an organizer's friend.

Pierre Salinger, a staff investigator, testified to the Senate Rackets Probe Committee, that a check signed by Frank Brewster, chairman of the Western Conference of Teamsters, on the conference's funds was used to buy a car registered in the name of Mary James, Route 1, Bothell, Wash.

Salinger said he found out in a telephone interview with Miss James that the car was purchased for her in June 1954 for $3,115 by Terry McNulty, paid as a union organizer.

There has been previous testimony that McNulty, while carried on the conference's payroll as an organizer, devoted "considerable time to Brewster's horse racing stables."

Salinger said McNulty, also interviewed by committee investigators, claimed the price of the car was refunded in cash to the Western Conference. But Salinger said no such amount is shown as an incoming item on the conference's records.

Salinger said McNulty claimed he turned over the money to Gordon Lindey, former secretary-treasurer of the conference but now deceased.

Just before the hearings resumed, Brewster told newsmen he is willing to hand over his personal financial records to the committee.

When the senators asked yesterday for Brewster's financial records, the West Coast Teamsters boss said he wanted to consult his lawyer first.

Brewster told reporters that if the senators repeated their request he would supply the records.

"There is not much in them," he said, adding that they consist largely of his personal check books and some old receipts, mainly covering household expenses "and the like."

Brewster's boss, Union President Dave Beck, agreed yesterday to bring his own records before the Senate committee investigating labor-management activities.

He was ordered to appear next Tuesday for preliminary questioning.

Beck notified the committee that "I recognize the authority" of the group to call him and that he would appear and "bring with me the records... without prejudice to my rights under the Constitution and the Bill of Rights."

While Beck agreed to produce his records, he did not say he would turn them over to the committee.

The hearing, now in its fourth week, started out with testimony linking Teamsters officials with vice operations in Portland. Witnesses said the officials tried to "take over" law enforcement in the city.

While the rackets phase of the inquiry slipped into the background the committee dug deep into Brewster's operations — his racing stables, his investments, his use of union funds for non-union purposes. Brewster has said he plans to repay the union whatever he owes it.

Brewster was questioned at length about the dissolution of a racing stable he operated in partnership with George Newell, who for now, as an insurance broker, receives a $300,000 a year commission on union pension fund insurance contracts.

The committee asserted that Brewster "came out with a profit of $40,000, Newell, with a loss of $40,000," although a witness said Newell put up most of the money for operating expenses.

Brewster insisted that he and Newell still were negotiating a settlement and "I'll give him a note and it will be paid."

Brewster told about investing $47,000 of Western Conference of Teamsters union funds in purchase of Campbell soup stock and $46,000 in a Canadian gold mining stock.

He said seven teamsters officials and friends are paying for the Campbell's soup stock at $100 a month plus interest, while the union holds the stock.

He said the mining stock is held entirely by the union. It has declined about 50 per cent in value, Brewster said, but he was "sure" it eventually would show a profit.

Brewster said he and Beck have been getting about $6,000 a year each from a filling station they own jointly. He said it is across the street from the Teamsters Union building in Seattle, and is patronized by union-owned vehicles.

stitution so as to: (1) Increase House membership from 120 to 130; (2) provide that no county shall ever have more than two senators; (3) provide that a senator shall not represent more than four counties, and (4) create a legislative reapportionment commission which would be charged with the task of reapportioning after every census — thus taking the issue out of the Legislature.

Meanwhile, plans were announced for a public hearing next Wednesday on proposed "work release legislation" under which some first offender prisoners would be allowed to work at their regular jobs by day and return to prison at night.

Claims Spring Is Suicidal Season

DALLAS (AP)—A psychiatrist says more people kill themselves in the spring than in any other season.

Dr. Louis J. West, of Oklahoma City told the Southern Clinical Society that the symptoms of spring fever which bring a feeling of well-being to most persons have exactly the opposite effect on acutely depressed persons, making them feel more discouraged than ever.

He said suicides also increase during Christmas and other holiday seasons.

Unrest Grows In British Strike

LONDON (AP)—Britain's mounting industrial unrest threatened today to cripple the big transatlantic terminal port of Southampton.

Cabinet orders sending navy tugs to escort the liner Queen Mary out of the port in the early morning brought angry charges of strike breaking from 10,000 striking Southampton shipyard workers. Union leaders appealed to 2,000 dockers who deal directly with the operation of port traffic to join in a sympathy protest against the government intervention.

The shipyard workers claimed repairs on the 81,000-ton Queen Mary had not been finished when the nationwide shipyard strike began last Saturday. The walkout of 250,000 workmen idled 70 shipyards and stopped work on 300 ships under construction.

Crewmen aboard privately owned tugs refused to help move the New York-bound Queen Mary, and shore gangs declined to cast off her mooring lines. Cunard office workers handled the lines and six government tugs got her out of the harbor.

The big American liner United States slipped in and out of Southampton during the night before the sailing of the Queen Mary reached a showdown.

Robber Foiled By Baby Diaper

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Mrs. Rebina Hartung outwitted a robber by hiding $120 in her son's diaper.

She said the young thief forced his way into her apartment. She asked that he let her change her 7-month-old baby's diapers. He agreed, and she quickly switched the money from her budget envelope to the diapers.

The thief, who managed to find $31 Mrs. Hartung had hidden elsewhere, did not think of searching the child.

Nixon Flying Home After His 18,000-Mile Tour Of Africa

By JOHN SCALI TUNIS (AP)—Vice President Nixon was flying home today from his 22-day African tour with recommendations to increase U.S. economic and technical aid to countries on the African continent.

He also wants better personnel at American embassies, consulates and information offices.

French Justice Minister Francois Mitterand, France's representative at the program, left the stadium in a huff and flew back to Paris when he found Algerian national leader Ferhat Abbas seated nearby.

Egypt Expected Balk At Hammarskjold Plan

CAIRO (AP)—U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold flew into Cairo today for talks with President Nasser and other top Egyptian officials on the issues still threatening the Middle East with violence.

Egypt was expected to balk at the Jea Hammarskjold reportedly will make for an Egyptian-Israeli proclamation of nonbelligerency.

It was believed Hammarskjold would call for such pledges as a major curb against renewed warfare and that Israel would agree to go along. The Israelis have said all along they are ready to talk peace with their Arab neighbors.

The Arab allies of the 1948 Palestine War have refused to talk peace with the Israelis. They have used the continuing technical state of war as a basis for their economic boycott of Israel and their refusal to let Israeli ships use the Suez Canal and the Gulf of Aqaba. There appeared little hope Egypt would modify that position in the current talks with Hammarskjold.

The secretary general was smiling as he stepped from the plane that brought him on his fifth visit to Egypt in little more than a year. He declined to make any statement to reporters.

A U.N. press spokesman said he did not know whether Hammarskjold would visit the canal area and the Gaza Strip or how long he would remain in Egypt.

For the Gaza Strip, Hammarskjold was expected to try to work out a plan that would neutralize the Mediterranean coastal area militarily while leaving it under Egyptian administration. He will urge the stationing of UNEF troops along both sides of the border separating Gaza and Israel, a proposal Israel rejected previously in regard to its territory.

Although Egypt so far has not sent combat forces into Gaza, troops of the U.N. Emergency Force dismantled more of their positions inside the strip yesterday and moved to further reinforce their lines along the frontier.

Residents of the strip, mostly Arab refugees of the Palestine War, staged another celebration on the arrival of the first passenger train to reach Gaza City from Egypt since the end of the Israeli occupation two weeks ago.

Nasser met for two hours last night with his Cabinet on Egypt's position regarding the Suez Canal amid reports that he might agree to accept U.N. technical assistance after the canal is completely reopened. Nasser would not give up any control of the canal, but it was said he might agree to set aside a specific fund for maintenance and accept U.N. technical help in the operation of the water-to help them keep their individual identity in the face of mounting pressure to join rival blocs and federations.

Gurkin-Roberson Vows Said

Miss Georgia Alice Roberson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Judicious A. Roberson of Robersonville, and Robert Taylor Gurkin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Gurkin of Williamston, were united in a double ring ceremony Saturday at the Everetts Christian Church.

The Rev. Spencer Arnold of the Macedonia Christian Church, pastor of the groom, officiated. Music was presented by Mrs. Darrell Taylor of Everetts, pianist, and Mr. Bill Peel of Williamston, soloist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of chantilly lace over satin, designed with a fitted bodice and a V-neckline with narrow collar. The gown was embroidered in pearls and iridescent sequins. Her fingertip veil of silk illusion was attached to a coronet of seed pearls. She carried a white prayer book topped with a white orchid.

Miss Patricia Andrews of Robersonville was maid of honor. She wore a formal gown of pink tulle over taffeta, with a fitted bodice and very full skirt of continuous ruffles. She wore a matching half crown with a circular veil attached and carried cascades of pink roses.

The bridegroom's father was best man. Ushers were Zack Gurkin, Louis T. Gurkin, Clifford Griffin and Jimmie Reeves of Williamston. The ring bearer was Albert Grey Gurkin, brother of the groom.

The bride's mother wore a blue silk shantung two-piece dress with navy accessories and a white orchid. The bridegroom's mother wore a black dress with black and white accessories and a white orchid. The bride's maternal grandmother, Mrs. G. W. Bland of Robersonville, wore a navy dress with navy accessories and a corsage of white roses. The bridegroom's maternal grandmother, Mrs. B. B.

Ward of Williamston, wore a black suit with black accessories and a corsage of white roses.

Following the ceremony, the couple received in the vestibule of the church. For traveling the bride wore a pale blue wool suit and pink blouse, with navy accessories. She wore the orchid lifted from her prayer book.

After a wedding trip to New York, the couple will make their home in Williamston.

Cake Cutting

Friday night, after the Gurkin-Roberson rehearsal, which was directed by Mrs. John Henry Roberson, the parents of the groom entertained the wedding party and guests at the cake cutting in the Fellowship Hall of the Macedonia Christian Church.

The guests were greeted in the vestibule of the church by Mr. and Mrs. Senimon Lilley. They were directed by Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Ward to the Fellowship Hall which was decorated in a green and white motif. The centerpiece contained pale green and white carnations, flanked by candelabras of white tapers.

After the bride and groom cut the first slice from the wedding cake, the groom's mother, Mrs. Albert Gurkin, served the cake. The bride's mother, Mrs. Judicious Roberson, poured lime ice punch and directed the guests to salted nuts and mints.

Assisting with the serving were Mrs. Wheeler Manning and Mrs. Elmo Lilley of Williamston. The sister of the groom, Betty Lou Gurkin, presided over the register. Goodbyes were said by the bride and groom.

For the occasion the bride wore an ice blue lace and chiffon dress with a pink carnation corsage presented by the hostess. Approximately 125 guests were present.

Club Members Hear Dr. Frank

Dr. A. D. Frank was guest speaker for the Tuesday afternoon meeting of the Clio Book Club.

Mrs. Agnes Barrett, hostess at her home on East Eighth Street, had Dr. Elizabeth Utterback and Mrs. B. H. Standell as guests.

After a short business session Mrs. Dink James, president, turned the meeting over to the hostess who introduced Dr. Frank.

Dr. Frank, using current events as a topic, chose highway safety and public education as two local subjects of concern. He stated that according to previous records there will be more than 40,000 people killed in the United States this year, a larger number than was killed in all wars in which the country has engaged. He urged every member to do her part in demanding the enforcement of safety laws.

In public education, the speaker emphasized the fact that North Carolina needs more schools and teachers, which means higher salaries for teachers so they will remain in the state, and in the profession.

In the international picture, Dr. Frank discussed the death of President Ramon Magsaysay of the Philippines; the Cuban Revolution; and the big war question in the Middle East.

The hostess served a salad course to the guests after the program, and books were distributed.

FIRST AID PHILADELPHIA—Dr. Ernest Tillman strapped splints to the fractured leg of a pigeon which caught its foot in the revolving door of Nazareth Hospital.

Fruit punch, party sandwiches and individual cakes, miniatures of the "Raggedy Annabel," were served as a favor. Each guest was given a doll dressed by Mrs. Gower. Assisting in the afternoon's activities were Mrs. Eleanor Gower, Miss Louise Mewborn and Mrs. S. # Look, The 'Horse' Is Already Gone

Public and legislative debate over the question of reapportionment of the General Assembly on the basis of the 1950 census is following the line of closing the barn door after the horse is gone.

While proponents of "reapportionment now" will take a stand to the contrary, there appears little logic in re-distributing representation in the General Assembly on the basis of the 1950 census. Even if the legislature passes a reapportionment bill calling for House and Senate representation on the basis of the 1950 census, it will not go into effect until the 1959 legislative session. If the constitution of the state is to be followed, representation would have to be reapportioned again in 1961.

Reapportionment was the responsibility of the 1951 General Assembly. Since that legislative body failed to heed its responsibility, it does not follow that the responsibility went to each succeeding legislature. To set up representation of the 1959 legislature according to the 1950 census could be just as unfair as leaving representation as it was based on the 1940 census.

While the legislature is considering reapportionment, it should give careful consideration to proposals for limiting the number of members each county may have in the legislature, and for assuring each county minimum representation. While the changing popula-

Revising Table Of Taxed Items

By ELMER ROESSNER
The Internal Revenue Service is revising and enlarging its famous Bulletin "F." That's a booklet giving the official IRS idea of the useful life, for income tax purposes, of various items used in business.

For example, the current bulletin lets the life of a typewriter at 15 years. Therefore a business news columnist owning and using a $150 typewriter can deduct $10 depreciation each year for that period.

The IRS is inviting businessmen, accountants and others to submit recommendations for changes and additions. If you have any, send them to the IRS, Washington 25, D.C.

MISSSES CRUCIAL POINT
While the revision may be helpful to business, it will do nothing about the major depreciation and replacement problem that is draining capital from so many corporations. That is the inability to recover money enough for replacements under present tax laws.

Here is an example to show why many businesses complain: The ABZ company has a bit of equipment that cost it $1,000,000 in 1939. This equipment has a life expectancy of 20 years. Both the company and the IRS agree to that.

Under present laws, the company is allowed to deduct $50,000 a year from its gross profit as depreciations. There are some other formulas for deductions now permitted, but they would not apply here.

If the company is properly managed, that $50,000 is tucker away in a replacement fund. This fund may draw interest, but help produce other profits, but since both interest and profits from it are taxable, the total increase so far has been small. But by 1959 it will be $1,000,000 plus perhaps $200,000 gain after taxes.

THE BIG DRAIN
At that time, the equipment having worn out, the company will have to replace it. True, the firm will probably want a more modern, more efficient device, with hot and cold running light, automation and built-in coffee breaks.

But even if it wanted only to replace the equipment with equipment exactly like it, the cost would be — well, it's your guess. The chances are that the identical device would cost $4,000,000 today and, perhaps, $5,000,000 in 1959.

That would leave a deficit of $3,800,000. To get it, the company might sell stock, thereby reducing the present owners' equity. It might sell bonds or notes, thereby reducing profits by the amount of the interest charges.

Or it could take the money out of profits. But under present corporation tax laws, the company would have to earn about $5,000,000 before taxes to have $3,800,000 net.

CAUSE OF INFLATION
Under these conditions, the company — in fact all companies — are under compulsion, if not necessity, to increase their prices. If they have to boost gross profits $8,000,000 for every $1,000,000 of replacement costs, they have to keep on increasing prices. And higher prices, in turn, increase the amount needed when other companies have to replace equipment, plants, typewriters, etc.

This situation, therefore, constitutes a constant pressure of more inflation.

The Internal Revenue Service, of course, is not to blame for this situation. All it does is interpret and enforce the laws, and as far as depreciation deductions are concerned, it appears to be carrying out the will of Congress.

THIS NEWS MAY CURE NEW BUSINESS TRENDS

Ball points accounted for 84 per cent of pen sales last year, Thomas W. Casey, Paper Mate vp says. Many companies are reducing selling costs by getting salesmen to make more calls per day. Dun's Review and Modern Industry finds. The United States and its faithful ally Texas have developed a new dwarf crostobean; if interested, write Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, College Station, Texas. Texas, that is. Both TV production and retail sales in January fell below year ago levels, the manufacturers' association reports.

tion picture in North Carolina cannot be ignored, neither can the unchanging geographic situation of the state be ignored in providing for representation in the state's legislative body.

The 1957 General Assembly is in a position to make an important contribution to the state by re-appraising the matter of representation; it would be contributing little constructive to take the bull by the horns and reapportion legislative representation during the current session.

AAUW Scholarship Is A Laudable Endeavour

The scholarship for foreign study being offered this year by the Greenville Chapter of the American Association of University Women should make students at East Carolina College sit up and take notice.

It should make other organizations sit up and take notice also.

For several years now the local AAUW chapter has been putting away funds with the idea of making available a scholarship for foreign study to students at East Carolina. Within a few weeks the first recipient of this $650 scholarship will be announced. Next year, we assume, the junior or senior who receives the award will be studying in some foreign country. It will be an invaluable experience for the student, and in a small way will help promote better understanding between the United States and other countries.

The Greenville AAUW chapter is to be commended for this most worthwhile undertaking. By its example it may lead other similar groups to further their education either in this country or abroad.

Providing a young person with an opportunity to further his education is one of the most worthwhile endeavors any group can undertake.

'Ghost' Walked At Conference

By LYNN NISBET
GHOST — The ghost walked through the Public Utilities conference room when Sen. Calvin Graves' Judiciary Committee I was discussing legislative reapportionment.

It was an ugly ghost of a revitalized and powerful Republican party in control of North Carolina State government. There were some little ghosts trailing along, such as deprivation of citizens' right of appeal from arbitrary action of three men.

Sen. Spencer Bell of Mecklenburg identified the big ghost and viewed it with alarm. Sen. Luther Hamilton of Carteret identified the "civil rights" ghost, also with vocative fear of its frightening aspects.

Bills under discussion were those effectuating recommendations of a study commission headed by Dean Carroll Weathers of Wake Forest law school for a long range plan of distributing legislative membership on combined base of population and area by a permanent commission composed of the Lieutenant Governor, the Speaker of the House, the Secretary of State, the State Treasurer and the Attorney General.

The plan would be submitted to vote of the people in the 1958 portonment. He didn't stress the point, but said he just wanted it in the record that if this Legislature does not reapportion, that will constitute positive endorsement of the status quo.

AS IS — Despite the big two-sided Republican ghost, the smaller civil rights ghost, and the force of logic, chances are that there will be no material change in the existing method of apportioning legislative representation by the General Assembly itself — when and if that body gets around to doing it.

In face of constitutional requirement for reapportionment every ten years, North Carolina has sort of fallen into the habit of doing it every 20 years. It wasn't done in 1931, but was in 1941. It wasn't done after the 1950 census, so it may be expected after the 1960 population count.

Prospects are slim that the Legislature will cede its authority, which apparently is not susceptible to control, mandamus or review by any other agency. It is doubted that the pending bills will get out of committee, and even more doubtful they would gain approval on the floor.

Consensus among legislators is that if the constitutional amendments are submitted they have better than ever chance of adoption, because of the heavier voting power in the western half of the state and anticipated support by all Republicans.

strength is increasing fast in the western half of the state, and to give those counties larger representation will just as certainly turn the State government over to the hated Republicans.

Stated another way, the big counties contend that if they don't have reapportionment the Republicans will take over; the little counties — mostly in the East — say if there is reapportionment the Republicans will take over.

Meantime, the Republican contingent is watching the scrap with sly interest. "Looks like we're going to get control in a few years, no matter which side wins this argument," they say. The Republican legislators also are enjoying the publicity about the "fight" between Governor Hodges and State Chairman John Larkins.

LOGICIAN — Sen. James Hoyle of Lee, a legislative freshman, applied the rule of logic in defense of the past three sessions of the General Assembly against criticism for failure to reapportion membership.

The failure to act is itself an "act", he said. Therefore, failure to change the distribution of members constituted a positive act of confirming the existing apportionment. He didn't stress the point, but said he just wanted it in the record that if this Legislature does not reapportion, that will constitute positive endorsement of the status quo.

AS IS — Despite the big two-sided Republican ghost, the smaller civil rights ghost, and the force of logic, chances are that there will be no material change in the existing method of apportioning legislative representation by the General Assembly itself — when and if that body gets around to doing it.

Strength For Today

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
BEWARE OF CROWDING
We need hardly remind ourselves that we live in a crowded, preoccupied age. The school systems find that they can hardly teach in 12 grades the basic things of learning. We stick close to our work by day, and then in the evening, social and community activities crowd in upon us to say nothing of the problems of family life.

Our great danger amid such circumstances is that we will become so occupied that we miss some of life's most important items. There is a story in the Bible of a man who was given a prisoner to guard. And the narrative says, "While they servant was busy hither and thither, lo, he was gone."

This matter of being busy hither and thither plagues our generation especially. We cry out as did that ancient unfortunate, "While I was busy hither and thither, lo, some of the finest things of life have escaped me." It is hard to get to the place where we can really wrap our minds about this marvelous modern world of ours. It is so full of interest. Its miracles enchant us until we stand mute before their fascinating influence. If, at the end of the day, we have any time left, we read the paper and watch television.

Thus this crowded modern life — unless we are careful — may crowd out some of life's most precious values.

In Defense Of Marriage

Is the bachelor's life a merry one?

Colleague Everett Parker and eight of his cohorts have learned up in the past month to put on a concerted publicity effort to convince folks like me that the bachelor's life is, indeed, a glorious thing.

They have failed. I have been, in younger and more innocent days, a member of their club. Those thoughts and ideas were put aside, however, when I found out what living really was. I wouldn't trade my present status as a married man for all of their golfing days, hunting parties, self-cooked meals, club work and completely free moments.

In fact, I feel sorry for the whole lot of them. Contrary to what the general impression may be, marriage does not necessarily mean an end to all those things. On top of that, the happily married man (like me, thank you) has a little frosting to go with the cake. For instance, when I take my tired old self home in the evening there's always the little wife to greet me with a kiss and a kind word. That doesn't erase all the worries of the business of making a living, but it helps. Once past My Fair Gwen, there's my little shaggy-headed urchin grinning at me, waiting to be picked up so he can examine the pencils in my pocket and jabber about his own experience during the day. Of course, such activity might interfere with my reading at the moment but he goes to bed early and that leaves plenty of time for reading, listening to records and talking with a sympathetic helpmate.

There's none of this business, either, about having to cook my own meals or suffering through an endless round of "eating out." The chef in our little home is a pretty fair hand with cooking utensils and does a good job of managing family finances that I did a sorry job with before December 29, 1953.

Certainly, there are trials and tribulations in being a married man. There are certain curtailments of outside activities and a married person frankly isn't as free to move around as the bachelor is. Those curtailments have their compensations, however, and as a person who has lived on both sides of the nuptial fence I feel qualified to say that the compensations, in most cases, are better than the original activities.

Of course, if those boys want to remain bachelors, I certainly won't deny them the right to do so. I just think they're missing a lot of life.

That "lot" includes a multitude of things, but those little things add up. Bachelors, of course, wouldn't know about them but they can ask any old married man.

For instance, what married man will deny the pleasure that comes from having somebody else warm cold feet on a winter's night?

Other Editors Saying --- Underused Schools

(Greensboro Daily News)

Are our schools underbuilt, or are they seriously underused? Now that D. Hiden Ramsey, chairman of the State Board of Higher Education, has suggested Tar Heels consider using classrooms on a 12-month basis, the questions are very much in order.

While Mr. Ramsey confined his recommendation to colleges, The Daily News feels that consideration should be extended to the public school system as well. So a look at other states' experience is appropriate.

According to a U.S. News and World Report article, there is a growing demand, especially among businessmen, for a trial of year-round operation schools. All communities which have experimented with the 12-month school so far have abandoned it largely because of parental objections.

Family vacation habits are hard to change: Everybody likes Summer, and parents fear pupils in the family won't have vacations at the same time.

But where the plan was tried there were distinct savings. A Pennsylvania town, faced with a sudden rise in population and a need for 18 new classrooms, instituted the four-quarter system. Result: A total of $208,393 was saved in construction costs, debt service, state taxes on school bonds, fire insurance and operation of the rooms. Another Pennsylvania community put the idea into effect and found it reduced annual costs per pupil by as much as $40.30.

In Fairfield, Conn., the board of education saw summer-time education as a way to save tax money, but even after putting in air conditioning finally decided against it because of parental objections and administrative problems the plan would entail. The U.S. Office of Education today knows of no community where the plan is in use in elementary or high schools.

Colleges have had better luck, but they met with loud squawks at first. Since then they have found that it works without a hitch and give economical, year-round use of their buildings.

Among those who feel that a longer day as well as a longer year would make better use of school buildings is Dr. Walter H. Gaumnitz, secondary education specialist in the Office of Education. New countries have as short a school year as the United States and our three-month Summer vacation is exceptional. He adds:

"Administrators clamor for more and more classrooms, but they do little or nothing about putting the expensive facilities they have to maximum use. Students of education know full well that the present day school year and school day originated when only the few attended school for an effective period of time and when the amount of education sought for most youth was a small fraction of what it is today."

"Yet too many of them continue to follow traditional practices when all about us science is challenging the past and is daily changing our patterns of living. The questions may well be asked: Are our schools underbuilt, or are they seriously under-used?"

Federal Controls Now Face Union

By RAY TUCKER
WASHINGTON — The McClellan expose of the Teamster bosses' alleged corruption and contemptuous use of members' funds, as well as forthcoming revelations of similar misdeeds in other great labor organizations, means that the unions' management will be placed under the same kind of Federal controls that were imposed on business, industry, utilities and investment houses as a result of the Pecora, Hugo Black and Teapot Dome investigations 25 years ago.

Prospective legislation will not be aimed at the unions so much as at the labor hierarchy's secret and undemocratic control and power over millions of innocent and uninformed members. It will be designed to free millions of workers from the same sort of autocratic rule that Wall Street once exercised over the nation's economic system.

In view of the McClellan disclosures — and the Beck-Brewster-Hoffa affair — it is believed that the legislative crackdown will have general and popular support, especially among dues-paying members and their wives. Not even the most extreme pro-labor member of Congress, in Capitol Hill's opinion, will now dare to oppose the proposed reforms.

NO VOICE IN CONGRESS HEARD AGAINST INQUIRY
Not a single so-called "radical" member of House or Senate, including those from factory dominated states or districts, has dared to criticize the McClellan inquiry, or to defend its victims, George L. Meany, AFL-CIO president, is as seriously concerned as the lowliest and put-upon truck driver in the Beck-Brewster-Hoffa outfit.

Legislation now under discussion is designed to "democratize unions which have been conducted by their officers as secret societies and personally owned corporations. As planned, it will be hygienic rather than punitive insofar as the nation's workers are concerned. REMEDIAL MEASURES These remedial measures will propose Federal regulation of union funds, and their source and use, and require the same kind of public reports that banks and corporations must file. They will provide for annual elections, possibly supervised for honest voting and counting as the National Labor Relations Board now safeguards balloting on collective bargaining and union disputes in factories.

They will bar political use of members' dues, even when spent under the guise of "educational purposes. In fact, the McClellan developments may have a realistic effect on the Supreme Court's decision in the case involving the United Automobile Workers' role in the Michigan senatorial contest.

RESULTS THAT MAY FOLLOE EVIDENCE Constitutional experts in Congress insist that all these statutes can be justified under "that document's" "commerce clause," which has been interpreted — or "strained" — as many lawyers contend — to discipline business and industry. They could be incorporated in the Taft-Hartley Act, whose relatively restricted and feeble con-

Wider Taste In Food

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — The American husband has become the pioneer of the nation's changing food habits.

Papa is the new gay gourmet, the Marco Polo of the U.S. family dinner table.

"Husbands let their wives pick out the staple food items when they go supermarket shopping," said Harold Roth, president of the National Assn. of Specialty Foods Trade.

"But the men themselves are more adventurous. They like to explore the shelves for new and different food tidbits they can surprise their cronies and as snacks served during card games or at cocktail parties.

"Their new interest in different foods also is forcing their wives to pep up their menus. A husband no longer is profoundly grateful to come home to a dinner of beef and potatoes. After all, he can get that at a business lunch any day in the week."

This new male interest in a varied diet has spurred the fancy food industry from a prewar annual level of about 10 million dollars to nearly 50 million today, a potential market of 100 million within another decade.

An old-time grocer once drily defined a specialty food as "one that gathers dust." That is no longer true. Hundreds of unusual and exotic specialties now are stocked in more than 4,000 fancy food stores across America. Many supermarkets also feature them.

Typical specialty items: "kiss-proof garlic," imported pate de foie at $35 a pound, charcol sauce, mayonnaise in tubes like toothpaste, Japanese smoked oysters, canned kangaroo tail and sharkfin soups — even floral lillipops for the kids.

Roth believes this interest is a result of prosperity, wider travel, the fact that millions of American men have served overseas, and the desire to put more spice in the routine of suburban living.

But he is annoyed at pranksters who startle their cocktail guests by serving them, unwarned, rattlesnake meat, fried grasshoppers and fried worms.

"These things may have a limited circle of genuine admirers," he said, "but they offend the squeamish and make them afraid to try new dishes they might really like."

"We don't think it's funny at all." What is the food most enjoyed by Roth, who has tried thousands from all over the world? "I am leaving soon for a trip to Europe," he replied, "and I'm looking forward most to the smoked eels I'll get in Holland — they're so tasty and delicately flavored."

"And that's rather odd. I'll admit. For here I never even look at an eel."

Opinions In Brief

DUBLIN, GA., COURIER-HERALD: "The opponents of the American profit-and-loss system are advocates of some form of Socialism — whether it be the Soviet-type Communism, the Swedish-type 'Welfare State,' or the present English-style 'Conservative-Socialism.' The irony is that after 40 years of operation, the Soviet-type Communism has produced a living standard only one-tenth as high as ours; in the so-called Swedish 'Welfare State,' the living standard is about one-third as high as ours; and in England where 'nationalization of basic industries has operated 12 years, the living standard is not quite half as good as ours."

BONIFAY, FLA., ADVERTISER: "And there was the man who only took a drink to steady his nerves and who sometimes got so steady he couldn't move."

CORNELL, ILL., JOURNAL: "We owe a great deal to our Government. The question is, how are we ever going to get the money to pay it?"

Twisters Accompany Torrential Texas Rain

DALLAS (AP) — Torrential rains flooded streams and roads in central Texas yesterday and five tornadoes skipped across portions of the state without causing any major damage.

Thunderstorms continued to lash portions of south central Texas today, but the rain was tapering off in other areas.

A freak spring storm blanketed Dalhart in the Panhandle with 3 inches of snow and hail the size of "10¢" coins, pounded parts of the hill country in central Texas.

A father and son believed drowned when heavy rains caused streams to overflow later turn up safe as the water began receding. Pleasanton Arthur Lewis, 42, of Buda, Tex., 13 miles south of Austin, was trapped on the Williamson Creek bridge when floodwaters stalled his pickup truck. He got out of the vehicle and clung to a tree until an ambulance crew rescued him. His truck was washed away.

Some 8 or 10 miles east, his son Burton Lewis, 17, was having a similar experience. The boy was on a school bus returning from a track meet when it was caught in a terrific hail storm in Creedmoor, 12 miles southeast of Austin. Windows of the bus were knocked out and the engine stalled. Young Lewis borrowed a car to go for help and the vehicle stalled in high water on a bridge. He was forced to hang on to the bridge railing until help arrived.

Heavy rains also fell in north central Texas and along the Gulf Coast, which was lashed by a storm of hurricane force last weekend. Lighter rain fell in portions of the drought-seared range country of west Texas. A tornado dipped down at Giddings, destroyed two barns and overturned a house trailer. The other twisters were reported sighted at Big Spring, Stanton, Crane and Seminole in west Texas, but there was no property damage or injuries. Another unconfirmed twister was reported near Beeville in south Texas.

Ronald Christian, about 19, was killed and his wife was critically injured, when their car hit a culvert in Waxahachie during a heavy rain.

Austin got more than an inch of rain in 30 minutes.

The show will be broadcast "live" over a special statewide radio network and will be heard locally over radio station WGTC, 10 to 11 p.m. tonight.

Last year, Governor Hodges referred to the annual event as "The most famous of meetings in North Carolina." The lead-off star, Edgar Bergen, is no newcomer to the Tar Heel

Navy 'Information Team' Planning Visit College 2 Days Next Week

The Navy Recruiting and Officer Procurement Headquarters in Raleigh announced today that an Information Team of Naval Officers will be at East Carolina College on March 26-27. College officials have made arrangements for the team to be located in the Student Union during their visit.

The team will be made up of representatives of the various Navy Officer Programs, including Aviation Officer Candidate, OCS, and Wave Officer programs for college seniors.

A representative from the Naval Air Station, Atlanta, Ga. will present information concerning the Naval Aviation Cadet program for 2 year college men. Accompanying the team will be "Miss Cougar," a transonic Navy jet fighter plane. It will be on display in the area of the parking lot immediately in front of the Memorial Gymnasium.

The only difference between this jet and its operational counterpart is the fact that in "Miss Cougar," the turbo-jet engine can be viewed through a portion cut away from the tail assembly.

A ramp built around the aircraft will enable everyone to get a close view. Navy personnel will be on hand to explain some of the intricacies of the aircraft and to answer questions regarding the Navy's $90,000 Pilot Training Program.

The church is located four miles west of Greenville on the Falkland highway.

State, having appeared with Perry Como at this event in 1952. Bergen, with his wooden headed pals, of course, stars on TV's DO YOU TRUST YOUR WIFE? James Arness plays "Marshal Matt Dillon" on TV's western drama, GUN-SMOKE. And, Ben Alexander is well known as "Officer Frank Smith" on Chesterfield's famous DRAGNET.

The "L&M-Chesterfield All-Star Night" will originate from the Indoor Stadium of Duke University.

COMPARE

and you'll choose CHILEAN NITRATE OF SODA

Experience, they say, is the best teacher and 100 years of consistently satisfactory experience with Chilean Nitrate of Soda have demonstrated that there is nothing to compare with it for side-dressing cotton, corn and other summer crops. It is a rare, natural combination of nitrate nitrogen, sodium and minor elements. Where the soil is too acid; where potash is deficient or where the supply of available phosphate is low; where the crop needs quick help; or where one or more of the minor elements is lacking, Natural Chilean Soda has no equal among nitrogen fertilizers.

The side-dressing effectiveness of any nitrogen fertilizer depends very largely on its content of nitrate nitrogen. The nitrogen content of Chilean Soda is 100 per cent nitrate nitrogen and this, together with its rich sodium content and minor elements, accounts for its remarkable efficiency in the field.

Sodium adds a great deal of extra value to the product. It destroys soil acidity, substitutes for potash and calcium when necessary, increases the supply of available phosphate, and helps the plant gain the utmost benefit from the nitrogen. In addition, Chilean Soda contains small amounts of needed minor elements to protect against hidden plant-food deficiencies.

If you have any question about your nitrogen side-dressing program this year, we urge you to use Chilean Nitrate, if only in a small way to begin with, so that you can see the difference for yourself. We are confident you'll find it the most economical and satisfactory nitrate nitrogen fertilizer you ever used for side-dressing your crops.

Auto Makers Doing Better In Factories Than In Retail Level

By DAVID J. WILKIE
AP Automotive Editor
DETROIT (AP) — If assembly lines move according to present projections, the auto industry will build 610,000 cars this month. That will bring the January-March output to 1,822,000 units. Last year's first quarter brought 1,742,800 new car assemblies.

So the industry is doing better, at the factory level, than it did last year. But it also is running faster at the assembly line stage than it is at the retail level. Probably the traditional spring upsurge in new car demand will have little effect on first quarter statistics. However, it should make itself apparent before the end of the present month.

Because first quarter sales will be considerably below the indicated output there undoubtedly will be another increase in dealer inventories by March 31. Current indications are that on that date retail stocks may go above the 750,000 mark. On March 1 a year ago inventories reached the unprecedented total of more than 903,000 units.

ommed to bargaining with the new car retailer. Price concessions, in the form of discounts or higher trade-in allowances, will be sought just as long as the supply of new cars exceeds the demand.

N. C. Woman Is Home After Her Philippine Duty

NEW YORK — A North Carolina woman who has been on an assignment in the Philippines for a world-wide agency for the blind has returned to her home in Franklinton for the first time since she left for that country two years ago. Mrs. Jeannette Sills, Supervisor of Negro activities at the Rehabilitation Center for the Blind at Butner, has been on leave of absence from her state post while working in Manila for the American Foundation for Overseas Blind, an international agency for the sightless which also sponsors the world travels of Miss Helen Keller. A native of Raleigh, Mrs. Sills was sent to Manila by the Foundation in February, 1955, to serve as advisor to the Government of the Philippines in launching a new Government agency—the Office of Vocational Rehabilitation. Under her guidance, a modern new rehabilitation center for visually and other handicapped person has just been opened in Manila which is destined to serve as a showplace throughout the entire Far East. According to Foundation officials in New York, Mrs. Sills is the first Negro woman to be appointed to a post of this kind. APOB Field Director Eric T. Boulter stated that his organization had received several letters of commendation from Philippine Government officials praising Mrs. Sills' work in that nation and citing the instrumental role she has played in development of programs for the handicapped. Mrs. Sills is a graduate of Shaw University, Raleigh, and the Atlanta (Ga.) School of Social Work. She joined the North Carolina State Commission for the Blind in 1945, working under H.A. Wood, Executive Secretary. The Foundation learned of Mrs. Sills' thorough record she established throughout the state while serving with the Commission.

In Collision, But Speed Was Zero

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP)—The speed of two cars involved in a collision here was estimated officially at zero by a police report. One car was parked on a slight ramp and its emergency brake failed. It rolled into the other parked vehicle, causing an estimated $100 damage.

Steam Engines Serving Again

PRAIRIE DU CHIEN, Wis. (AP)—Folks hereabouts are hearing the lonely wail of steam engines again after an absence of several years. The Burlington Railroad put several of the old locomotives back in service temporarily because its diesel engines were needed for harvest hauling out west.

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP)—If this happens very often, they'll start laying off policemen in Albuquerque.

Officer Richard Morris was at up the stairs to his desk, the booking desk on the second floor of the police station early one Sunday morning. A man staggered through the front door and "I'm drunk — lock me up," the man demanded. He was, 'Morris did.

Some "wild price cutting" at the retail level is reported by the trade paper Automotive News in its current issue. The paper described this as an "ominous" note, but added it probably is due in part to the impatience of some dealers eager to get a sales boom started. It has been said in some industry sources that the mark-up from wholesale to "suggested" retail price is designedly of size that will permit some price discounting at the dealer level. Nobody yet has said, however, that "wild price cutting" may be expected to rule retail activities through the remainder of the current model year. Some experts who have followed the car makers' efforts to establish a more cordial relationship with their dealers, say a tighter control on factory output is more likely. Many of them suggest apprehension about possible tight governmental controls on the industry will dissuade the manufacturers from any runaway production program. However that may be, the car buying public has become accus-

Chicago Teen-Age Gangs Match Mobsters Of Past

CHICAGO (AP)—Teen-age gangs now are producing Chicago headlines of the same type the adult mobsters did in the past.

The headlines are over stories of crimes of violence—such as the recent slaying of a boy in a hammer attack and a man in a motel robbery.

"There's no use burying our heads in the sand," comments Walter Devereux, chief investigator of the Chicago Crime Commission. "This city is not safe to roam in and it's getting worse."

But the juvenile division of the Police Department says that, on the basis of the current rate, it doubts that the crime rate for 1957 will be much higher than 1956.

During 1956 there were 12,439 cases noted by the division. The statistics included: larceny of automobiles, 747; burglary, 614; robberies (mostly strong arm), 229.

The bulk of the others were in the minor class. The record shows that 4,845 of the complaints were handled by "station adjustment"—such things as quarreling, ringing doorbells and annoying the neighbors that got no farther than an area police station.

But there have been a number of instances of teen-age gang action. Such as these:

An elderly shoe repair man and five youths were viciously attacked by a gang of some 30 toughs, armed with bottles and knives, apparently without provocation. The victims were hospitalized.

Two gangs wrecked a restaurant in an outbreak of rivalry and when thrown out, later returned, fired a bullet through a window and wounded an innocent customer.

A gang preyed on high school pupils, extorting 50 cents to $2 weekly as protection money.

Another gang specialized in stealing automobile tires and during a one-year period stole $16,000 worth of tires besides committing five other burglaries.

Thirteen white toughs are reportedly under indictment for murder in the hammer slaying of Alvin Palmer, a Negro teenager who was attacked as he stood at a South Side bus stop.

Four other teen-agers have been indicted for murder in the fatal shooting of Charles Strycky, 48, during a robbery of his suburban Alsip motel.

And so the reports go, day after day.

Family Court officers report that since the first of the year they have been investigating an average of 374 juvenile crimes a month.

Relatively new to the teen-age crime picture is the rising role of delinquent girls. Family court officers report that a six-year survey shows an increase of 89 percent among the number of girls involved in juvenile crimes, compared with an increase of 54 percent for boys.

A crime official recently said: "The only people you can blame are their parents."

Another Rebuff For Lowering Voting Age

RALEIGH (AP)—Proponents will have to wait two more years—until the 1959 legislature—to make another attempt to lower the voting age in North Carolina from 21 to 18.

By a vote of 36-10, the Senate yesterday killed a bill calling for an amendment to the state constitution so as to reduce the voting age. The proposal has been beaten down in several previous legislatures.

Before burying the measure, the Senate heard a lively debate by its youngest member, Sen. Perry W. Martin, 29, of Northampton, and one of its older members, Sen. Luther Hamilton of Carteret, a retired former Superior Court judge.

Martin, who introduced the bill, argued that a youngster "old enough to fight is old enough to vote."

Hamilton declared that youngsters are "fickle and inconsistent" and not mature enough to vote.

Martin pointed out that under his bill the question of allowing youngsters to vote would be submitted to the people to decide under a constitutional amendment.

"The people are not always right," Hamilton remarked. Meanwhile, the House received a bill which would allow local school units to decide whether to keep their schools open on a year-round basis.

Rep. John Kerr of Warren, who introduced the measure, explained it would save money on the cost of building and expanding school facilities.

The proposal, Kerr said, would lessen the necessity for building more and more school houses to take care of what we are told is to be a virtual avalanche of increased public school enrollments in years ahead.

The House, meantime, took official note of the University of North Carolina's unbeaten basketball team. It passed and sent to the Senate a joint resolution wishing the Tar Heels "continued success" in their quest for the national basketball crown. The Tar Heels meet Michigan State Friday night at Kansas City in the semifinals of the National Collegiate Athletic Assn. tournament.

Car Recovered, But Wasn't Told

WHITTIER, Calif. (AP)—Aircraft worker Henry Wanda reported his car stolen last Labor Day in San Bernardino, Calif. Three days later it was recovered. Routine? Yes, except no one told Wanda. He finally went out and bought another car.

Then yesterday he received from San Bernardino County a $30 storage bill—for the missing auto.

Salt hasn't joined the parade of rising prices. The average price today is 7½ cents a pound, the same that it was in 1912.

French, Spanish Plays Staged By College Students

Eight brief dramatic skits, five in French and three in Spanish, will be presented tonight by students in the foreign languages department at East Carolina College.

The program will take place at 8 p.m. in the McGinnis auditorium on the campus and will be open to the public.

The production will be given under the joint sponsorship of the department of foreign languages and the East Carolina Playhouse, college dramatic club. Dr. Joseph Withey of the English department, faculty advisor of the Playhouse, is acting as consultant and coordinator.

As an added attraction on the program, a dramatic monolog written in Spanish by Raquel Cordeiro, student assistant in the department of foreign languages at East Carolina, Miss Cordeiro, whose home is Cordoba, Argentina, is attending the college here during the present school year under the sponsorship of the Institute of International Education, New York City.

United States entrants, with a total of 56 winners, have won the largest number of Nobel Prizes.

Want Steinbeck At Exposition

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Author John Steinbeck will be invited to assist in the formal opening program of the Oklahoma Semicentennial Exposition, June 14-17.

It was Steinbeck's story of Oklahoma families migrating to California during the depression that formed the background of his famous novel, "The Grapes of Wrath."

Exposition Director James C. Burse said officials wanted Steinbeck to visit here so he could get a look at the "new Oklahoma."

New Species Of Shrimp On Sale

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—A new, more expensive species of shrimp, called the royal red and having a flavor similar to lobster, went on sale here today.

The shrimp is the result of a year's research and exploration by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service in waters 1,000 or more feet deep 100 miles off Daytona Beach and St. Augustine.

Shrimp fishermen customarily work in depths no greater than 300 feet.

CHAPTER II

Lieutenant Schwaback saw that Jocelyn's face was pale and wan against the white pillowcase. Jocelyn dredged his strength and found a small smile. "Congratulations... Mr. Schwaback. It's your... troop."

The young lieutenant shook his head slowly. "It'll never be my troop, sir. Every order I'll ever give, they'll question and wonder if that's the way you'd give it."

"You're a... fool," Jocelyn said with surprising bitterness. "Get out. You're not... the man I thought you were."

Schwaback colored deeply, then whirled and hurried across the parade to his own quarters, his cheeks still burning. He could have taken Jocelyn's remark had not it been based upon a lifetime of remarks just like it.

His quarters were cold and damp and he spent fifteen minutes stoking up the fire to heat water for his bath and shave. Afterward he changed into clean, dry clothes. Rain made sad, sagging patterns on the windows as the daylight faded.

He sat at his desk and, taking Henrietta's letter from his pocket, read it again before attempting to answer it. For nearly an hour his pen scratched monotonously in the silence. To read his letter over he had to light the lamp. Fort Laramie, Wyo. Terr. April 22, 1867.

My Darling Henrietta: By God's chance I was a member of the patrol that met the mail stage a day's march east of the post, and thereby read your wonderful letter a day sooner. To view the matter in retrospect, I see now that if I had not been on this patrol, I might never have received it, as the stage station was under attack upon our arrival. One pauses to think at these times about how tenuous is the thread between loved ones during these uncertain times. I hasten to add that there was no danger involved for me, for the real campaign is many miles to the west, at Fort Phil Kearny, and it has always been my lot to be in the backwater of great events, rather than participating in them.

During the brief encounter, my commanding officer, whom I admire and revere as much as my father, was sorely wounded and I was compelled by necessity to dredge up my half-forgotten and ill-learned skills as a surgeon to save him. God was with me and the contract surgeon here assures me that he will make a speedy and noble recovery.

I have written to you before of this man, how like he is to my father, whom I worship, as you know, in spite of his great disappointment in me. There was great pain in my heart when I was forced to render surgical aid, for somehow it seemed that the pain I caused him was a pain against my father. They have the same eyes, you know, and many of the same mannerisms and attitudes. He is a great man, my commander. One feels small and insignificant beside him.

Know that I miss you, my dear, and wish to be with you, save that this duty binds me here. One finishes a job one starts; at least I've always wanted to do that. Just to see if I could. This land is not gentle enough for a man's wife, but it soon will be. Then we will be together; it is my fondest wish, for I love you dearly.

Bless my mother and dear sisters. Kiss them for me and give them my love. If you can, speak to my father and tell him that I am well.

Your most devoted, Emil

An hour later the rain stopped. He opened the door and stood there while he scanned the dark parade ground.

His idleness induced him to take up hat and cape. He crossed the muddy parade to the hospital and scraped his boots before entering Cove Butler's office. Butler was brewing a pot of coffee in a glass beaker. He turned his head quickly, then said, "You can stand some, can't you?"

"Thanks, yes," Schwaback said and toed a chair around. Butler poured into glass measuring cups and they drank the coffee without sugar or cream. "You've got a fine pair of hands there," Butler said dryly. "Take care of them. Better yet, give up the army and finish your medical studies."

"I like the army," Schwaback said.

"Sure, sure," Butler said. "Emil, look at me. Do you think I'm here because I want to be? Man, you've got the touch, the magic I'll never have. I examined Kincaid thoroughly. You did work with kitchen tools I couldn't duplicate here on the operating table. Are you going to throw that away?"

"Is this going to be a lecture, Cove?"

Butler finished his coffee. "Forget it. I'm a nosy man who doesn't know when to let up."

Knuckles gently rattled Butler's door and he opened it. An orderly stepped in, saw Schwaback and said, "The colonel's compliments, sir. He'd like to see you right away."

"Very well," He answered the trooper's salute, said his good night to Butler and went out.

Colonel Nelson Ashford fanned a pall of cigar smoke away from his face and said, "Sit down, Mr. Schwaback. How's the arm?"

"Fine, sir," Schwaback looked at the other officer, who was seated on Ashford's right. Major D'Arcy Davis was the regimental adjutant and acted like one, very prim, very definite, and occasionally very hard to get along with.

"Mr. Davis and I have been combining reports," Ashford said, "and our conclusions are indeed dismal. First, I'd like an opinion, Mr. Schwaback. Do you believe we've seen the last of Spotted Tail's Cheyennes?"

"No, sir. He took a licking, but I doubt he'll be inclined to forget it."

"Ah," Ashford said, as though immensely pleased. "How do you feel about being live bait, Mr. Schwaback?"

"Do you want me to engage him again, sir?"

"Well, you had such smashing success," Ashford said. "I was wondering if you could do it again. Mr. Schwaback, my command is mainly one of supply. That and keeping the Bozeman Road open to Wessels and his light at Kearny and Fort C.F. Smith. Quite obviously the hostiles mean to close this line by force." He paused to shroud his face in cigar smoke again. "Mr. Schwaback, I have an opening for an able first lieutenant of cavalry. To confirm this promotion only requires my signature. It's in my mind to recommend you for this rank. However, it will necessitate a change in assignment for you. If Spotted Tail is bothering the movement of reinforcements — and that's obviously it, for he never molests a dispatch rider — then I want you to take command of E Troop and march to Fort Kearny. Wessels needs that troop desperately, but more specifically, I need someone to give Spotted Tail another licking."

"I don't know what to say, sir," Schwaback said. "My seniority, sir; I haven't any!"

"But you have originality," Ashford said. "You've proved that."

"This is quite sudden, sir. Jocelyn..."

"Jocelyn's in the infirmary," Ashford snapped. "All right, Lieutenant, he took the news a bit ungracefully, but Jocelyn is not in command. I am." He got up from his desk and unrolled a large wall map. "At eight o'clock tomorrow morning you will pass through the palisade gates with your troop and march at the most expedient rate to Wessels' command. The quartermaster is now reading a civilian wagon train. Thirty wagons, Lieutenant, and I want them to get there."

"Yes, sir."

Ashford offered his hand. "Carry on, then. And remember, I want Spotted Tail engaged and drubbed good."

The card arrived with a batch of Christmas cards recently without a word of explanation about the delay.

The message wasn't too urgent, however. The card said merely: "Greetings."

It has been estimated that 200-900 gallons of water are used in the manufacture of a ton of rayon material.

VPI Baseballers Meet Pirate Nine Here Tomorrow Afternoon

By BILLY ARNOLD
Reflector Sports Editor
VPI, a Southern Conference baseball power, will clash with East Carolina's Pirates, here, tomorrow afternoon at 3:00, to start the 1957 season for both clubs.

On Saturday afternoon at the same time, the two clubs will tangle again, to finish up a two-day twin bill.

Coach Red Laird's Virginia team, always powerful in the Southern Conference, is reportedly full of hitting talent this year. Tomorrow's game will mark the first time the Tech nine has played on an East Carolina diamond.

Coach Jim Mallory's Pirates will be opening the season in search of their third consecutive North State Championship, and a victory against a strong Southern Conference power would help. Mallory has given reason to believe that his new Buccaneer outfit may be the best he has yet come up with at ECC. A win over VPI is not only possible but predicted by some. At present, odds favor the bigger VPI club, however.

ECC Starters
Though his starting lineup is not yet definite, Coach Mallory expects to start the following boys: Dean Robbins at first base, Gary Tryon at second, Jerry Stewart at shortstop, Bucky Reep at third base, Berney Stevens, Tommy Land and Joel Long in the outfield, Leonard Lilley on the mound and Doug Watts behind the plate.

Besides Lilley on the mound, Mallory stated earlier that he will probably use sophomore Ben Baker and freshman standout George Williams.

The above lineup includes only one senior, Berney Stevens.

Mallory told reporters early this week that he plans to shift his lineup quite a bit in the starting two games with VPI. He has a host of newcomers and several veterans making strong bids for almost every position on the team. He plans to use the two VPI contests, Friday and Saturday, and the two coming battles with the University of Delaware, on Monday and Tuesday, as testing grounds for these boys.

10 Pitchers
Some of the boys Mallory is most anxiously waiting to test under fire are his pitchers. He welcomes back six veterans who actually saw duty last year. These are Lilley, Baker, Charlie Russell, Mack McPherson, Mack Cherry, and Dave Harris. Besides these, there are newcomers George Williams, Tom Salter and Bruce Shelley. Bob Miller, a sophomore who was with the team in 1956, but who did not see much action, will also be on the roster. Of the 10, six are right-handed.

On the other end of the battery, Mallory will have three able catchers. Doug Watts, a veteran junior, is slated to open in tomorrow's game. With Watts will be another vet, senior Tink Bowen, to give the club added experience. Tommy Nance, a freshman from Greensboro, is most likely the only newcomer who will make the squad behind the plate.

Plenty Of Depth
Possessing probably more depth in his outfield and infield than at any time since he came to East Carolina four years ago, Mallory gives this as one of the reasons for his optimism this year. In the outfield, besides Stevens, Long and Land, there will be three fast, strong freshmen and a senior who will also see action.

Ray Pennington, the senior, will probably have the inside track in the reserve line. The freshmen, Ted Chappell of Hertford, Wally Cockrell of Falls Church, Va., and Pat Draughon of Clinton, are all top-notch prospects, according to Mallory.

In the infield, Mallory can look to Wade Nixon Jr. and Bob Lewis for reserve duty. Nixon is a transfer from Campbell College, where he slugged for an average of .302 last year. Lewis is a veteran sophomore.

Game time tomorrow afternoon—and for all ECC home games this spring—will be 3:00.

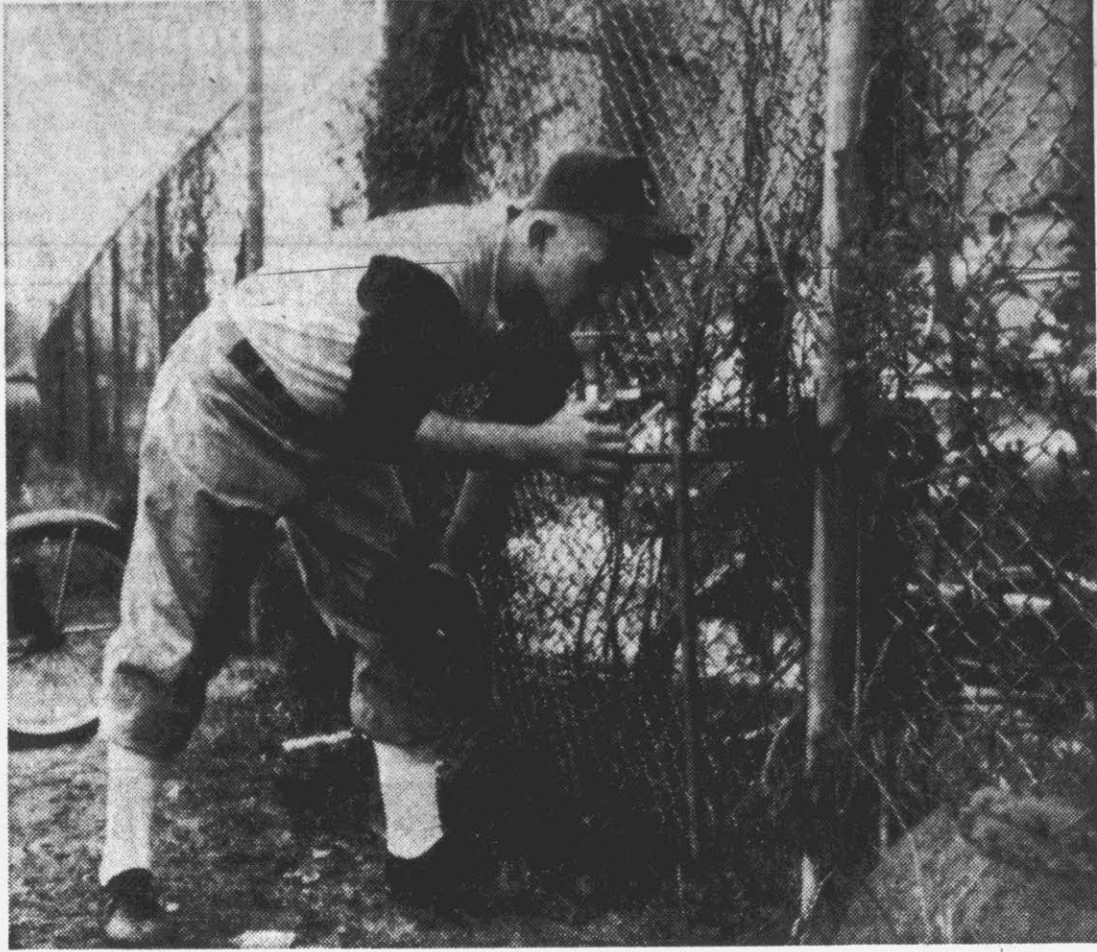

Caring Ball In Anti-Trust Fight

PITCHING TOMORROW—When East Carolina opens its 1957 season tomorrow against VPI at College Field, George Williams (above) will be one of the probable pitchers for the Bucs. A freshman from Camden, Williams was one of the state's most outstanding high school hurlers. His Camden club won four consecutive titles in four years, and Williams was their top pitcher for all four seasons. He is a fastballer.

Frick Summons Strategy Meet

BELLEAIR, Fla. (AP)—The men who rule baseball get together behind closed doors tomorrow to decide a line of policy against pending legislation which may define their game as a business and not a sport.

Commissioner Ford Frick called the extraordinary session at his spring headquarters earlier in the week. All 16 major league clubs will be represented along with American League President Will Harridge, National League President Warren Giles and Minor League President George Trautman.

No one was ready to comment on what action baseball may take, but Frick said he has "a plan I want to place before the owners. We'll just sit down with our lawyers and thresh it out."

Baseball, twice previously ruled a sport by the Supreme Court and not subject to antitrust laws, at present is confronted by three bills pending in Congress. Two of the bills—sponsored by Rep. Celler (D-NY), chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, and Rep. Hillings (R-Calif)—generally are defined as "unfavorable" to baseball.

The third, introduced by Rep. Keating (R-NY) would set up a "code of fair play" for sports, joining baseball, pro football and basketball in one category, rather than declaring them subject to monopoly laws.

The present controversy was set off with the Supreme Court's recent decision appraising pro football as a business.

Tourney Upsets May Be In Store

By TED MEIER
NEW YORK (AP)—Bradley and St. Bonaventure have been made the early favorites to win tonight's semifinals in the National Invitation basketball tourney, but there will be plenty of support for Temple and Memphis State.

This observer goes along with the minority and picks Temple over Bradley and Memphis State over St. Bonaventure.

Second-seeded Bradley is favored on the basis of its astounding 116-81 Madison Square Garden record—breaking a comeback against Xavier of Ohio Tuesday after being down 21 points at 38-17. The Bonnies get the nod because of their 85-68 trouncing of top-seeded Seattle Monday.

"After that performance by Bradley, I don't know how we can beat them," said Temple Coach Harry Litwack. "But we'll be on the floor."

That should be enough for anyone who watched the sick, poised Owl from Philadelphia whip Dayton 77-66 Tuesday. Litwack has a court wizard in junior southpaw Guy Rodgers, who inspires teammates Jay Norman and Mel Brodsky to great heights. They do not figure to collapse as Xavier did before a Bradley all-court press.

Pitt Athletic Meet Date Set

The annual Pitt County Athletic Meeting and Supper has been set for Monday, March 25, at 6 p.m. at the Silo Grill.

The coaches of the Pitt-County Conference schools and other representatives are urged to be present for the meeting. Officers for the Athletic committee for next year are to be elected at the meeting and other matters concerning the Conference athletic program will be studied.

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Promoter Hard Ragas today offered welterweight champion Carmen Basilio a $15,000 guarantee to meet lightweight contender Ralph Dupas in a non-title bout.

Ragas said the 10-round bout would be held either May 4 or May 20 between the welterweight titleholder from New York and Dupas, the eighth-ranked lightweight challenger from New Orleans.

UNC Games To Be Shown Here

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The championship game of the National Collegiate Basketball tournament Saturday night will be televised over a regional network.

WNCT (Channel 9) will carry both of North Carolina's games in the NCAA basketball playoffs in Kansas City Friday and Saturday nights.

Carolina's game with Michigan State Friday night will begin at 8:30. The Saturday night telecast time will depend on the outcome of Friday night's game. If Carolina wins, WNCT will carry the championship game at 10 p.m. Saturday. If Carolina loses, the television station will carry the consolation contest which will begin at 8 p.m. WNCT will not telecast either of the two games in which the Tar Heels will not be involved.

Ek Wall of WNCT said this morning that the station had exclusive rights for this area of the telecasts.

Arthur C. Lonborg, University of Kansas athletic director and chairman of the NCAA's basketball tournament committee, said the network will include Kansas City, Topeka and Wichita in Kansas, St. Joseph, Mo., and other cities in the general area. The network still was being put together at the time of the announcement.

Lonborg said the Michigan State-North Carolina semifinal game Friday night will be telecast on a Carolina network of four stations, with at least others expected to join it. There also is a possibility a Michigan network will be set up.

By JOHN CHANDLER
The Associated Press
It makes no difference to Brooklyn Manager Walt Alston whether they call him the Great Gutierrez or the Mighty Valdes. All Alston knows is that the skinny 6-3 Cuban with a smoking fast ball may be around Flatbush a lot longer than most people thought.

Rene Gutierrez y Valdes, who had a 22-8 record with Portland of the Pacific Coast League last season, displayed more of his classy hurling yesterday as the Dodgers edged the St. Louis Cardinals 2-1 in an 11-inning exhibition game at Vero Beach, Fla.

Rene added three more hits and scoreless innings in his second appearance as a Dodger. He walked two Cardinals, and another reached base on an error, but none got past first.

In his Brooklyn debut Sunday, Valdes came to the mound with the bases loaded and none out in the eighth against the Detroit Tigers. Five of the Tigers popped up and the sixth bounced back to the box as Valdes preserved a 3-2 Dodger victory.

Valdes is known in Latin America as the Great Gutierrez, which is his father's name. At Portland

It was the mighty Valdes, his mother's maiden name. Valdes is signed to a contract with Los Angeles, Brooklyn's new Coast League farm club, but if he keeps up this kind of pitching he could move to Ebbets Field. Elsewhere:

The Detroit Tigers, smarting under criticism of Manager Jack Tighe after losing 8 of 10 exhibitions, clubbed four Pittsburgh pitchers for 11 hits, including a two-run homer by Charley Lau, to defeat the Pirates 8-4.

Ed Bouche cracked a three-run homer and Bob Bowman got a solo round-tripper to provide the punch as the Philadelphia Phillies defeated the Washington Senators 6-4.

Don Larsen of the New York Yankees made his first appearance since his World Series perfect game and was battered soundly by the Cincinnati Redlegs, who won 20-6. He pitched three innings, gave up a homer to George Crowe, two triples, two doubles, a single and five runs. All told the Redlegs collected 25 hits.

The Boston Red Sox defeated the Chicago White Sox 9-4, scoring five times in the fourth inning.

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—City Magistrate C.W. Pensinger tempered justice with mercy for Arnold Sidman who got three traffic tickets rushing his injured daughter to the hospital. Sidman's daughter had mashed her fingers in a washing machine, says.

More Westerns Await The Television Screen

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—We're deep into the era of the Western on television. Many are here. More are coming.

The most recent is Tales of Wells Fargo (NBC-TV, Monday nights), based on activities of the Western express company. Dale Robertson stars as J. Hardie, a Wells Fargo agent, who presumably will get himself into and out of all kinds of scrapes for weeks on end.

All the familiar Western ingredients are here: the gun-slinging, the chase, the holdup at the pass, the clipped phrases, the beautiful horses. It's better than some Westerns, but no better than many others. Technically the first program was marred by airplane vapor trails in the Western sky above the lumbering stagecoach.

It's the fashion now to try to dignify the noun "Western" with the adjective "adult," apparently in the hope that persons who believe their interests are "mature" will be convinced that they are viewing something slightly significant. Psychologically convincing characterizations are attempted.

In the opening episode of Wells Fargo the villain was made at first to seem of extraordinary purity because he didn't drink whiskey and was shy with girls and bore the removal of a bullet from an arm bravely. But there was a piece of business in which he played cards with our hero Hardie—and it made Hardie suspicious. At the right moment Hardie had one bullet left and—bang! So the gold went through safely.

But let's not be superior about it. This is plain old-fashioned horse opera. You like it or you don't. You have a wrist that will turn a TV dial to it—or away from it. Speaking of Westerns pounds of luncheon meat—and a new portable radio.

Three Survey Groups See Good Return On Arms Aid

By RELMAN MORIN
 WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is getting a "good return" on the billions spent for military aid to non-Communist nations, three survey groups reported today.

However, the costs of the program are more likely to go up than down, said the report made public by a special Senate committee studying U.S. foreign aid. And there may have to be an increase in military manpower, it said.

The three groups evaluated the results of the military aid program in similar terms:

"A valuable deterrent to Communist expansion . . . To date, the investment of the United States in military aid programs has served materially to stabilize the free world and discourage aggression . . ."

The report was composed of findings by Columbia University's Institute of War and Peace Studies and by the Systems Analysis Corp. of Washington.

A five-man panel reviewed and commented on their findings. The panel was composed of Max Leva, former assistant secretary of defense; S. L. A. Marshall, military commentator for the Detroit News; and three retired officers, Adm. Robert B. Carney, Gen. Joseph T. McNarney and Maj. Gen. Gerald Higgins.

Since 1949, the report said, Congress has appropriated about 24 billion dollars for military aid, of which 16 billion has been spent. Military aid now accounts for some 62 per cent of all foreign aid funds. The rest goes mainly for economic aid and technical assistance.

"It is not always appreciated that about four fifths of military assistance funds are spent in the United States," the report said.

From the start of the program through 1955, it said, the United States delivered to allies and other countries about 40,000 tanks and combat vehicles, 1,200 naval craft, 40,000 pieces of artillery, 7,000 aircraft, two million small arms and automatic weapons, and unspecified "billions" of rounds of ammunition.

This armament went — and is still going — to 36 nations, the survey showed. It said that the North Atlantic Treaty Organization nations assume about 85 per cent of their own defense costs. The United States and Canada furnished funds for the remainder.

Reviewing results of the program, the reports stressed strengthening of Western Europe. One cited Iran specifically as a nation where "U. S. defense assistance can be rightfully credited with having substantially contributed to saving the country from Communist domination."

"It is possible," another passage said, that Communist China has "very large forces tied" down by the presence of strong Nationalist Chinese and South Korean forces — both bolstered by U. S. aid.

Forcing Red China to maintain a large military establishment may also be slowing the efforts at economic growth there, a survey said.

The report called for streamlining the method by which money is provided, so that arms can be delivered more swiftly.

Hoover Stresses Inflation Fear

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Former President Herbert Hoover said yesterday that taxpayers are "groaning" over the record government spending and he warned that inflation is the country's most serious threat.

Hoover, 82, said that if the public took some of the "special interest groups' pressure off Congress" the lawmakers would have a better chance to reduce the government's spending program.

"The purchasing power of the dollar is down every month," said Hoover in an interview.

Hoover is here for his customary bonefishing in the Florida Keys.

Typing Contest Winners Named

Winners in the annual district typewriting contest at East Carolina College have been announced by Alton Finch of the college business education faculty, contest chairman. Both team and individual awards were presented Tuesday night of this week, March 19, at a dinner in the North Dining Hall on the campus.

A total of 103 students in high schools of fourteen counties in the eastern section of the state competed in a series of tests held on the campus Tuesday afternoon. Sponsors of the event were the college department of business education and the campus chapters of Pi Omega Pi and the Future Business Leaders of America, student business organizations. Judges were faculty members of the college business education department.

Advanced typists from Martin County and beginning typists from Wilson County placed first for group performance. Runners-up among advanced county teams were Pitt, second, and Lenoir, third. Among beginning county teams, Martin won second place and Pitt, third.

Janette Lofton of Ayden received first honors for performance among advanced typists. She is a student in classes taught by Mrs. Guyla Clark.

Gary Bergeron of Farmville was judged winner among beginning typists. He is a member of Mrs. Beatrice Aycock's typing class.

Cancer Expert Notes 'Joker' In Smoke Study

By LEWIS GULICK
 WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal cancer specialist says there is a "joker" in the recently reported discovery of a cancer-causing ingredient in cigarette smoke. He said the cause-effect relationship is not yet established.

Dr. John R. Heller, director of the National Cancer Institute, gave that opinion to a House Appropriations subcommittee Feb. 19, in closed-door testimony made public today.

Dr. Heller was asked about a news story last month that Dr. Nguyenhoc Bui Hol, a French-educated Vietnamese working at the Currie Institute in Paris, had found an agent in cigarette smoke that invariably causes cancer in mice.

Dr. Heller said the Paris doctor "took a compound called 3-4-9-10 dibenzpyrene, and all the animals in which he injected this compound developed cancer."

"The joker in it, however, is that this compound was not obtained from cigarette smoke, but was a tar which was taken from a laboratory on the presumption that someone had previously identified this compound as being in tobacco tar.

"So, it is not a true expression of causation from given tobacco smoke."

"It is an important advance in the identification and characterization of a chemical, but it is not a direct association to given tobacco smoke."

Heller added that generally a definite "correlation" has been found between heavy smoking and frequency of cancer, but "we are not completely prepared to admit yet . . . a causal-effect relationship."

Dr. James A. Shannon, director of the National Institutes of Health, said federal units are conducting a board study which "we hope will settle for all time the association or nonassociation of tobacco smoking and cancer of the lung."

Unlikely To Give Ike 'Free Hand'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators Sparkman (D-Ala.) and Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) said today Congress is not likely to give President Eisenhower any freer hand in his new foreign aid program than he now has.

Administrative leaders have said that Eisenhower's forthcoming $4,400,000,000 foreign aid message will carry a request for greater flexibility in dispensing funds abroad to meet changing world conditions.

But Sparkman said he doesn't believe Congress is interested in giving the President any sizable "blank check."

"I assume he will get about the same kind of authority that he has under the current authorization," Sparkman said.

Eisenhower asked and obtained freedom from many restrictions in spending a special 200-million-dollar fund to help stabilize the Middle East. That authority continues until June 30. Eisenhower is expected to ask a similar 200-million-dollar Middle East fund for the coming year.

He also has discretionary use of a 100-million-dollar fund and the power to transfer up to 150 million dollars more to it.

Hickenlooper said that while Congress may provide equal flexible funds for the year beginning July 1, he does not look for any increase in authority.

Delicious-this penny-wise cheese dish!

Enjoy Coke with meals! You'll find the fixin's for this budget-boosting special at your grocer's!

American Rarebit—Here's a luscious mixture of tomato and cheese . . . a rare treat with ice-cold Coke. Just heat a can of undiluted tomato soup, stir in 1 cup grated cheese, 1 teaspoon grated onion and 1/4 teaspoon of Worcestershire sauce. Stir 'til melted and serve immediately over toast.

Souffles, omelets, bubbling grilled sandwiches . . . any dish that's made with cheese is made for Coke! The bright, bright taste, the extra zest of Coca-Cola, really perks up those meatless meals! Enjoy Coke with meals . . . a regular-size bottle of Coke contains fewer calories than half a grapefruit.

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market held within a narrow range with prices mixed early this afternoon.

Trading proceeded at a slow pace, held down partly by uncertainty over the outcome of Dag Hammarskjöld's talks with Egyptian President Nasser.

Aircraft scored the best gains, Boeing, Douglas and United Aircraft all moving up for major fractions. Chemicals were easy although air reduction went higher against the trend in this group.

Small gains and losses were posted in the steel, oil, metal and rubber divisions.

Rails acted a shade better than either industrials or utilities. The Milwaukee road gained 1/8 after directors declared four quarterly dividends totaling $1.50.

A little flurry of demand at the start got the market off on a higher level, but it soon retreated. It remained irregular and quiet throughout the morning.

Motors failed to respond to an estimate of increased output this week as compared with last. General Motors, Chrysler and Ford declined.

RALEIGH (AP)—(NCDA)—Hog markets today were mostly steady to 25 higher. Tops of 16.50 to 17.25 at Rocky Mount, Tarboro, Enfield, Wingate, Kenly, Bethel; 17.25 at Murfreesboro; 16.50 to 17.00 at Smithfield, Newton Grove, Kingston, Benson, New Bern, Nahantua, Pine Level; 16.00 to 17.00 at Hillsboro; 16.25 to 16.75 at Siler City, Mount Gilead; 17.00 at Castle Hayne; 16.50 at Rich Square, Fayetteville, Clinton, Lumberton, Shalotte, Spring Hope, Dunn, Mt. Olive, Clarkton, Whiteville, Elizabethton, Micro, Goldsboro, and Clayton.

To Pay $300 Or Go To Jail For Shooting Dog

A Pitt County man who shot a neighbor's dog was ordered this morning to make $300 restitution or go to jail for 12 months.

Jennis Wainwright, Route 1, Greenville, drew the sentence from Judge J. Paul Frizzelle who suspended the jail term upon condition that Wainwright make restitution to Mr. and Mrs. William Nelson. A jury found Wainwright guilty yesterday afternoon of shooting the dog, a hunting breed animal, on August 28, 1956.

Judge Frizzelle, presiding over a two-weeks term of Superior Court, also ordered Wainwright to pay costs of the action and remain of good behavior.

Testimony in the case, which occupied much of yesterday's session, showed that Wainwright killed the dog after it had visited his property. Judge Frizzelle, in returning his judgment, noted that the slain animal belonged to a childless couple who had made extensive efforts to see that the dog was properly cared for. He also told Wainwright that the presence of two female dogs on the Wainwright property was "an invitation for every dog within a mile radius to visit."

A nol pros was taken in a similar case against J. E. Wainwright, also of Route 1, Greenville, who was charged in the original warrant.

Solicitors Are Divided As To Full-Time Role

By JEAN REILLY
The Reflector Bureau

RALEIGH—Solicitor William H. Murdock of Durham told members of a Joint Committee on Courts and Judicial Districts that the elected office of solicitor is the "only job where a State office holder is a part-time employee."

Murdock was speaking in behalf of two Senate measures proposing the redistricting of solicitorial districts in North Carolina and raising the salaries of district solicitors, but limiting their law practice.

Speaking out in opposition to the measures was John J. Burney Jr. of Wilmington and Grady Stock of Charlotte.

Stock said that he felt solicitors had not been given time to make sufficient study of the bills. "We have 24 scheduled weeks of court here each year," Stock said, "and we need at least six weeks more."

"Including Gaston, we have 32 weeks of court with no mixed term. I'm not particularly opposed to the changes of districts made in the bill as we won't be affected, but I would like time for more study."

On the pay proposal, Stock asserted he would be willing to keep his same salary provided he could continue his private law practice. "The solicitor's job is an elective one," Stock said. "If in four years a man wasn't re-elected he'd have to start his practice all over again as if he were fresh out of law school. Personally, I think this is putting undue limitations on the solicitor."

Burney said that court should be run on a re-districting basis based on the number of weeks of the court term.

"I have four counties in my district," Burney said. "I know the other solicitors have their problems and I can't speak for them, but the solicitor needs time to maintain a contact with the people."

Burney said solicitors should be permitted to continue their practice if it dealt with civil cases.

"We don't consider the bill perfect as it is written," Murdock replied, "but we do consider it necessary and we'll ask the committee for such changes as we feel will be beneficial. We tried to work it out on the basis of the number of days the solicitor spends in court and that calls for one new district."

Horace Kornegay of Greensboro also expressed doubts that the bill as written was "the perfect solution."

"We're trying to give the remedy to the districts already so overburdened," Kornegay said. "It just couldn't be worked out without adding new districts."

The pay increase bill provides for an increase in annual salary of solicitors from $7,150 to $10,000 and raises expense allowance from $1,500 to $3,500, but prohibits their engaging in private law practice while in office.

Shannon also said his organization is preparing standard, to insure purity, safety and strength of live virus anti-polio vaccine, "if and when" it becomes available for use. The presently available Salk vaccine uses dead virus.

Kirkham said the two youths, who had abandoned one of Alexander's cars, were spotted by clerk Jim Kiefer of Mesa when they tried to cash a bad check. Magee and his companion whose name was withheld because of his age, were turned over to the FBI, both City.
