Pet Shop Blaze Sees Toll Among Fish, Animals

BY ALVIN TAYLOR Reflector City Editor

Valuable tropical fish, rare birds, a monkey and other animals were killed last night when fire broke out in Bill and Joe's Pet Shop on Albemarle Ave.

Dense smoke which resulted from the blaze was the cause of the death of the fish and animals. Firemen, who were called to the scene shortly before 11 o'clock last night, fought the blaze as dogs barked, ponies whinnied and monkeys chattered.

New Life Breathed Into Plan For Area Airport At Saturday Meet

New life was breathed into efforts to provide Eastern Carolina with an area airport Saturday as Rocky Mount invited participants in the old Eastern Carolina Airport Authority to cooperate in building an area facility with CAA funds provided for a new Rocky Mount airport.

A new alignment of counties and towns was considered as airport representatives of five municipalities and four counties gathered for a meeting. Greenville, Farmville and Pitt County were among the local government units represented at the meeting called by the Rocky Mount Airport Authority.

Speight said this morning that nothing definite was resolved at the Saturday afternoon meeting "except to resolve that the communities do want to cooperate" in building an area airport. "We all hope that we can locate a site that will be feasible and fairly centrally located and a site that will be approved by CAA to serve the area."

A special meeting of the Pitt-Greenville Airport Commission was called Friday afternoon after the invitation to the Rocky Mount meeting was received. Local representatives were authorized to attend the meeting in Rocky Mount and go forward with negotiations for a new alignment on an area airport.

Speight added that he will meet in the near future with officials of CAA and other representatives to determine if a central site can be located that all the nine local governments can join in financing to provide a modern air facility to serve the new area.

Speight said today he has no immediate plans for calling a meeting of the Mid-East Airport Authority of which he is chairman. Mid-East was vying with Rocky Mount for funds from CAA with which to construct a new airport in this area.

efforts for an area airport in Eastern North Carolina back where they were four years ago when the defunct Eastern Carolina Airport Authority was killed for lack of participation by Nash and Wilson Counties. If the proposed new alliance of local government units, the area included in the new plan will be exactly the same as that proposed under the Eastern Carolina Airport Authority Act passed by the 1953 legislature.

At Saturday's meeting Speight was asked to draw an amendment to the old ECAA act which would make financial participation by local government units in building the airport permissive rather than mandatory. Under the original act, the effort had to be abandoned if any local government specified in the act failed to live up to its portion of the financial responsibility. The act has not been repealed by the legislature although it has lain dormant for the past four years.

Under the proposals made at the meeting, the new airport site would be located in Edgecombe County, but the exact site was not pinpointed. Speight said today he has no immediate plans for calling a meeting of the Mid-East Airport Authority of which he is chairman. Mid-East was vying with Rocky Mount for funds from CAA with which to construct a new airport in this area.

Last Suez Obstacle Raised Formal Opening Awaited

CAIRO — A U. N. salvage team today raised the sunken tug Edgar Bonnet, the last obstacle to passage of 10,000-ton ships through the Suez Canal.

The 84-ton tug was to be towed away during the next several days but there was no official word yet when Egypt will open the 103-mile waterway to 10,000-ton ships. It carried about 75 per cent of the canal's normal traffic before it was blocked during the invasion last fall.

The 146-ton Egyptian frigate Abukir still partially blocks the southern entrance to the canal, but the 10,000-tonners can skirt this obstacle. U. N. officials have said the Abukir should be cleared by April 10 and that the waterway will then be open to all ships that formerly used it.

U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld's mission to Cairo meanwhile, neared its end amid indications Egypt would make some concessions on operation of the canal. But the outlook on the disputed Gaza Strip remained dark.

The Egyptian Middle East News Agency said Hammarskjöld and President Nasser had reached an understanding on the future of the canal. A spokesman for the secretary general warned that the report should be "treated with caution." He said the U. N. official was in no position to make any formal agreement with Egypt since he was only the "bearer of good offices" and not a party to the canal dispute.

At the same time, informed Arab sources said Egypt was unwilling to sign any pact keeping the U. N. Emergency Force on the demarcation line unless Israel agrees to stationing of UNEF troops on her side of the frontier. Egypt is also demanding that Israel quit the El Aja demilitarized zone, between the Egyptian Sinai Desert and Israel's Negev, as provided in the 1949 armistice. Israel is expected to refuse both Egyptian conditions.

Diplomatic sources believe Nasser may have convinced Hammarskjöld Egypt's still secret plan for operating the canal is consistent with the six principles endorsed by the U. N. Security Council last October.

These principles include unrestricted transit through the canal for ships of all nations, respect for Egypt's sovereignty, insulation of the canal from national politics, agreement between Egypt and canal users on tolls and charges, a fair portion of revenue for canal development and arbitration of disputes.

Secret Accords On Key World Issues Indicated

TUCKER'S TOWN, Bermuda — Eisenhower and Macmillan promised to support U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld and his mission to Cairo.

After the windup of the Big Two's four-day meeting, informants said a number of solid written understandings lay hidden behind the generalities of their joint 800-word communique.

In their 11-point statement, Eisenhower and Macmillan yesterday announced the United States will supply "certain guided missiles" to help hard-up Britain streamline its defenses in the atomic age.

They also offered to swap limited observer facilities with Russia at future nuclear weapon tests — tests which they promised to restrain to lessen the risks of causing genetic damage as a result of radioactive fall-out.

Eisenhower also pledged U. S. cooperation with the military committee of the Baghdad Pact. Eisenhower and Macmillan promised to support U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld and his mission to Cairo.

Macmillan told a news conference the talks had been a "great success" because "we've reached a number of conclusions on some large issues. We've tidied up a lot of points, and we've set in motion methods of better cooperation on questions still unresolved."

Informants said the Briton's guarded reference could be taken to mean:

1. Eisenhower and Macmillan signed understandings on ways of handling jointly certain international problems. These presumably include American readiness to give or lend-lease missiles to British-American willingness to join in easing Allied bars on nonstrategic trade with Red China and the formulation of an international convention to safeguard freedom of oil pipelines.

Heavy Blizzard Continues Rage

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The worst spring blizzard in 30 years continued to rage in the Midwest today, paralyzing transportation and crippling communications in many sections of eight states.

One major train, carrying 400 passengers, and an estimated 7,500 highway travelers were reported stranded but none were believed in danger.

Four deaths were attributed to the storm. The train was the Union Pacific's City of St. Louis, westbound from St. Louis to Los Angeles. It was mired in drifts ranging up to 18 feet near Winona, Kan., about 50 miles from the Colorado line. Snowplows were expected to reach it about noon today.

Another train, the Rock Island's eastbound Golden State Limited, carrying 92 passengers, was reached by rescue parties early today and all aboard taken to Meade, Kan. The train had been snowbound by drifts up to 15 feet between Meade and Plains, Kan., since Sunday. Six coaches of the train were reported covered completely by snow.

The Weather Bureau at Kansas City reported the storm was causing high winds and heavy snows this morning in northern Missouri and southern Iowa as it moved toward Illinois and Indiana. Snow also was still falling in parts of Oklahoma, Kansas and Nebraska. Conditions had eased somewhat in Colorado, New Mexico and Texas.

Forecasts for more heavy snow were in effect from northeastern Kansas and neighboring sections of Nebraska eastward into parts of lower Michigan and Indiana. Accumulations of from eight to 10 inches were predicted for parts of Iowa, Nebraska and Missouri with generally lesser amounts expected over affected portions of Kansas, Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin and lower Michigan. North central Indiana had freezing rain and snow.

The snow belt was fringed to the south by rain. Despite the immediate hardships resulting from the three-day storm, farmers welcomed the moisture. In some areas it was sufficient to bring expressions of belief that the prolonged drought had been broken.

Temperatures were not severe — generally only a few degrees below freezing — thus minimizing changes that serious injury would be suffered by marooned travelers. Estimates of stranded motorists included 1,800 in New Mexico, 1,600 in Colorado, 1,200 in Kansas, 1,000 in Texas, and uncounted hundreds in Nebraska and Iowa.

Omaha was choked by 14 inches of snow and the fall continued this morning in the teeth of a 39-mile-an-hour wind. Lincoln, 60 miles southwest, had a similar situation. Schools in both cities were closed and some business houses failed to open.

There was 14 inches of snow in the Council Bluffs, Iowa, area, and more falling.

Parliaments of the six countries will have to ratify the pacts. Even enthusiastic supporters estimate it will take 12 to 17 years to readjust national economies so that the goods can flow unhindered.

The plan also calls for a unified tariff system on imports from outside the six-nation area. The ministers reached final agreement on the two treaties and supplementary documents at Paris six weeks ago. The pacts are to go into operation as soon as the market and the atomic pool can be started working.

Under the common market treaty the 160 million people of the six countries will form an economic union, gradually eliminating customs barriers and trade quotas.

Euratom is a separate pact to set up a supranational authority to pool resources for the development and exploitation of atomic energy for peaceful uses.

Heart Attack Fatal In Truck Accident

BETHEL — A Robersonville man, found dead after the truck which he was driving overturned near here, apparently died of a heart attack, Coroner Griffin H. Rouse said.

He was identified as Jolnnie Henry James, 70.

James was said to be a horse trader and he was enroute to South Carolina with several mules on a truck, according to reports.

The vehicle apparently ran off the side of the road. It struck several fence posts and rolled over on its side. The accident occurred on a dirt road leading from N. C. 11 to U. S. 64.

Two mules in the truck broke loose when the truck overturned. Persons reaching the scene cut the halter to free another animal. A doctor examined the dead man

Legislative Pause To Honor N.C. 'Mother Of Year'

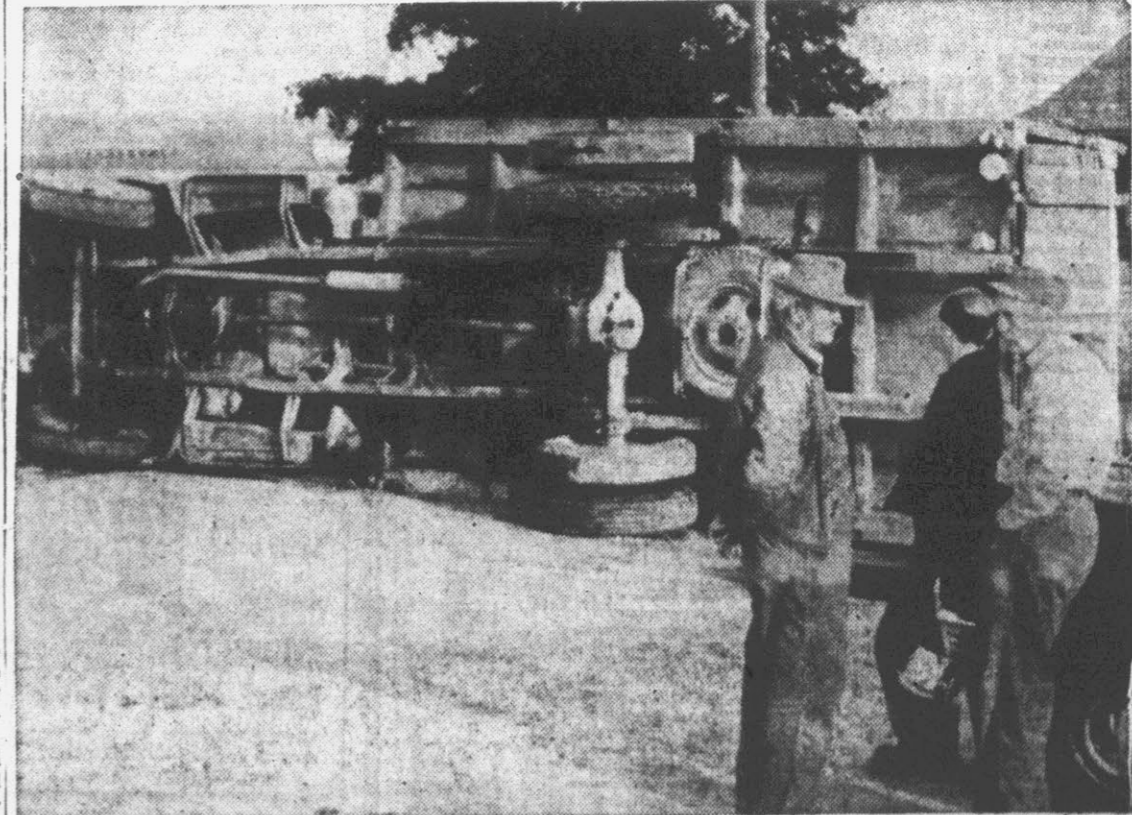

RALEIGH — Busy Tar Heel legislators will pause tonight to pay tribute to the 1857 North Carolina "Mother of the Year."

Gov. Hodges will present a certificate of award to the woman selected for the honor. The ceremonies slated for the Hall of the House will include all 14 women nominated for the award, which goes to the Tar Heel mother named to represent the state in the national competition.

More controversial subjects will be in the spotlight tomorrow, with a committee vote on legislative reapportionment and a hearing on a raise requests for school teachers and state employees. Senate Judiciary 1 Committee will decide the fate of measures to carry out recommendations of a commission which studied the issue of reapportionment. Amendments to the state constitution would be required to set up a permanent body to make changes in General Assembly membership, based on population shifts, after each census.

A hearing on the measures last week stirred up spirited debate before the committee. The Joint Appropriations Committee has set Raleigh's big Memorial Auditorium for a hearing

Talented Mrs. Adams Leads An Active Life

By JANE EADS
WASHINGTON—Like many wives of top government officials, with a crammed schedule of official and social engagements, Mrs. Sherman Adams still manages to devote a good share of her time to her family, her private interests and her hobbies.

The gentle-mannered, alert wife of the President's top assistant admits she probably has her fingers in more pies than she should, but she is blessed with an energy, enthusiasm and efficiency of which her New England forbears would be proud. Besides, she says, "it's fun to be busy."

Currently, she is wearing many hats. She's publicity chairman of an exhibit of needlework, designed and executed for the Washington Cathedral by a group of nationally prominent women, to be held April 13 through 25. She helped organize and is vice chairman of the Washington Cathedral Needlepoint Committee sponsoring the project.

She has designed an enchanting needlepoint cushion for the bench in the Cathedral bride's waiting room, as well as kneelers for the Bethlehem Chapel, and has encouraged a group of White House wives to come to her home every Monday to work on other needlepoint. Among these are the wives of Brig. Gen. A. J. Goodpaster, White House staff secretary; Murray Snyder, assistant secretary of defense; Harold Stassen, special assistant to the President, and L. Arthur Minnich Jr., assistant staff secretary.

Mrs. Adams, a member of the Congressional Club since her husband served a term in the House before becoming governor of New Hampshire, is a member of its program committee.

GEOGRAPHIC TABLE: Mrs. Sherman Adams, wife of the presidential assistant, shows a striking coffee table in her Washington home. The table, designed by Mrs. Adams, charts the route and points up highlights of a recent trip abroad.

In the studio she fixed up in her home, a handsomely remodeled barn and mill, the stone part of which dates back about 150 years, she has invited a group of friends to share painting lessons once or twice a week.

Mrs. Stassen and Mrs. Snyder are in the group along with Mrs. Carlos Romulo, wife of the Philippine Ambassador, Mrs. Percival F. Brundage, wife of the budget director, and Mrs. Robert Madison. Many of the paintings in her home are her copies of masterpieces in the National Gallery, done to "learn techniques." Original art also adorns and gives personality to her home, like the tiles topping her coffee table.

trained leadership. She further stated that the ideal aspect of education could be referred to as 2c and 2u—calm, confidence, unhurried, and unworried.

Mrs. Carroll speaking realistically suggested that the parents should get behind their children and see that things are done. "We must have a place for our child to study, and see that he does study," she explained.

"God has given different individuals different personalities, and we cannot make all children into the same pattern," she noted.

Here's one of the best salad tricks of the year. And it all came about because one recipe borrows from another.

This is how it started. Know that salad, probably originating in California, that includes garlic-flavored croutons? The crunchy tidbits are delicious but it takes some time to dice the bread for them and then brown it in oil.

So one day when we had tossed a batch of those bite-sized shredded rice cereal squares in butter and seasoned them with garlic powder to serve as a first-course snibble, we held back. Instead we tossed them into a salad. Our eaters liked the innovation and we've been using them this way ever since.

The rice tidbits are particularly delicious in a salad made up of romaine, fresh young spinach leaves, thinly sliced radishes and blue cheese tossed with a dressing of oil, vinegar, salt, pepper and paprika. They're also good in a salad of greens, cucumber, scallions (green onions) and green pepper with blue cheese and an oil-vinegar dressing. If you want to serve tomatoes with these salads, offer them as a separate accompaniment.

1957 TOSSED SALAD

Ingredients: 2 quarts romaine (packed down well), 1 pint torn spinach leaves (packed down lightly), 1 cup thinly sliced radishes, 1-8 pound (1-4 cup firmly-packed) blue cheese, 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, 1 cup bite-sized shredded-rice cereal squares, garlic powder, French dressing, salt, pepper.

Method: Have romaine and young fresh spinach washed, dried and crisped in the refrigerator before tearing into pieces of a size that can be picked up easily with a fork. Turn romaine and spinach into a big salad bowl. There should be just enough spinach to give a dark green accent to the lighter colored romaine leaves. Sprinkle with radishes and finely-cut blue cheese. Cover tightly and refrigerate until serving time. Melt butter in an 8-inch skillet over low heat; add shredded rice squares and brown, stirring often. Sprinkle cereal with garlic powder to taste; cool. Toss the salad with the French dressing, just before serving, adding salt and pep-

LENTEN SALAD NOTES

Blue cheese helps add protein to Lenten salads. Here are some ways you might like to use it.

1. Slice hard-cooked eggs and serve with blue cheese blended with French dressing.
2. Blend cream cheese and blue cheese and use as a stuffing for celery wedges. Serve on greens with French dressing as a salad.
3. Slice tomatoes into halves and cut a small wedge out of the center of each; fill cavities with blended cream cheese and blue cheese. Serve on crisp greens with French dressing.
4. Serve orange sections, onion rings and salad greens finely-cut blue cheese and an oil-vinegar dressing.

Jr. Woman's Club Hear Bloxam On Utilities

"Utilities Rates and Their Effects on the Community" was the topic of the program presented to the Junior Woman's Club last Wednesday evening. Mr. Leonard P. Bloxam, superintendent of Greenville Utilities, was guest speaker.

Mr. Bloxam began his talk by saying his topic received more comment and reason for discussion than anyone he knew; the average consumer is not conscious of the amount of electricity he is using. He stated the only way to analyze rates is to make comparisons. A survey of the surrounding towns has been made and the difference in rates is very small. Numerous industries have been contacted and our industrial rates have not had any effect on their locating in Greenville.

"We should be proud of our Utilities operation," Mr. Bloxam continued. "A Utilities Commission owned by the community is one to be enjoyed. Profits of the utilities are used for purposes of municipal operation, therefore helping reduce general tax. Citizens of Greenville for the past 22 years have not been asked to support the Greenville Utilities through tax or bond issue. We have been fortunate to carry on the needs of a growing and progressive community out of reserve.

"It should be a sense of satisfaction to the community to know we have funds in reserve to apply on the installation of a sewage disposal that will have to be built between the present time and 1961. Therefore, we hope this will be a reality without any additional burden to the community."

He informed the group that the Greenville operation has been recognized by the Federal Power Corp. as one of the best operations for size in 48 states.

Mrs. Karl Andersen, chairman of Public Affairs, introduced the guest speaker. The president, Mrs. R. D. Harrington Jr., presided.

Mrs. Hoyt Narton and Mrs. Jim Bond were elected delegates to attend the N. C. Federation of Women's Club Convention to be held in High Point April 2nd and 3rd.

Mrs. Pat Gruke and Mrs. Dot Gurganus were welcomed into the club as new members. Guests for the evening were Mrs. Jean Camp and Mrs. Maude Harrelson.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Cornelius Boon and Mrs. Carl H. Ramsaur.

Revival Services At FWB Church

The public is cordially invited to attend each one of these services.

Women In The Church

Delegates to the biennial convention of the Union of Orthodox Jewish congregations in America opposed the instituting of "mixed pews" in its synagogues. A resolution pointed out that traditional Jewish law requires the separation of men and women in the synagogue.

Marking eighty years of service to church, country and community is the Girls' Friendly Society, U. S. A., the girls' organization sponsored in the United States by the Protestant Episcopal Church. Highlight of the anniversary year, whose theme is "It's caring that counts," will come with the triennial meeting of the GFS National Assembly, to be attended by members and leaders from all over the United States, and the meeting of the GFS World Council, to be attended by representatives of branches in twenty-five countries. Both meetings will take place from June 28 to July 1 at Seash Lawrence College, Bronxville, N. Y.

Dr. Raymond B. Blakney, retiring president of Olivet College, Olivet, Michigan, has been elected president of Orinda Childs Pierce College for Girls at Elleniko, Athens, Greece, a school with 550 students, founded in 1923 by the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions (Congregational, Boston). Dr. Blakney will take up his new duties in September, succeeding Miss Helen R. H. Nichol, president of Pierce College since 1949.

Miss Marjorie Brasfield of Birmingham, Ala., has been chosen "Miss Methodist Student Nurse" in a nation-wide contest, it has been announced by officials of the Church's Board of Hospitals and Homes. The 20-year-old nurse is a senior in Carraway Methodist Hospital School of Nursing, Birmingham. She was chosen from a field of candidates from the 52 schools of nursing affiliated with Methodist hospitals throughout the United States. Purpose of the contest was "to select a student nurse who will be representative of the caliber of young persons who follow Christian vocation in a church-related institution."

Baked Fish Makes Lenten Meal

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Recent requests for a fish dish elegant enough to serve to guests inspired the testing of the following recipe. It calls for a whole fish to be stuffed with a savory mixture of bread crumbs, shrimp, olive oil, onion and other seasonings. The fish looks sumptuous when arranged on a platter with a garnish of lemon and extra shrimp plus any suitable vegetables you have on hand—cucumber or carrot slices, water cress or parsley.

BAKED FISH—with a Lenten stuffing of shrimp and bread crumbs.

Because this recipe is of Spanish origin, the stuffing calls for olive oil—an ingredient Spaniards use with a lavish hand. Then during baking the fish is brushed a few times with a mixture of the oil and lemon juice.

Spaniards usually eat their main meal in the middle of the day, and so this baked stuffed fish would probably appear at noon on one of their menus. Serve it sometime for a Sunday one o'clock dinner as a change from the usual roast meat or poultry. Or serve it for supper during Lent or on a Friday any time of the year. The recipe from which this one was adapted suggested sea bream as the fish. We used a beautiful striped bass; you may, of course, substitute any locally available fish suitable for baking. Just make sure it is fresh and firm. And we beg you not to have the fish decapitated at the fish market; it looks most elegant—when it is brought to the table for carving—with both the head and the tail left on.

If you want a real Spanish way of presenting the baked fish on its platter, ignore our previous garnishing suggestion. Instead surround the two long sides of the fish with pale yellow-green escarole leaves; insert a feathery frond of dill or fennel into the baked fish's mouth so part of the spray shows; arrange strips of scarlet pimiento on top of the fish.

STUFFED FISH MATADOR

Ingredients: One 3 1/2 pound whole fish, 1/2 pound shrimp, 1/2 cup olive oil, 1 medium-sized onion (finely chopped), 1-3 cup finely chopped celery, 1 clove garlic (minced), 1 cup fine dry bread crumbs, 1-4 cup finely chopped green pepper, 1-4 cup minced parsley, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 1-8 teaspoon pepper, 1-4 teaspoon dried crumbled thyme, 1-4 teaspoon nutmeg, lemon juice, extra olive oil, garnishes.

Method: Have fish market clean fish and remove back bone and as many of the other bones as possible; have head and tail left on. Cook shrimp, shell and de-vein. Dice shrimp fairly fine—there should be 1 cup lightly packed. Heat olive oil in 9- or 10-inch skillet over low heat; add shrimp, onion, celery and garlic; cook, stirring occasionally, until onion is transparent. Stir in bread crumbs, green pepper, parsley, salt, pepper, thyme and nutmeg. (Taste and add more salt if necessary.) Lay fish open flat. Spread stuffing over inside of fish; if there seems too much, stuff the head with some of it. With a large, darning needle and heavy white thread (or ordinary white nylon thread) sew up fish. Line bottom and sides of a baking pan with foil; a medium-sized rectangular roasting pan is fine. Rub foil with olive oil. Arrange fish on foil in pan. Mix a little lemon juice and olive oil together; brush fish with it. Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven 40 minutes or until fish flakes easily. Dribble fish with oil-lemon juice mixture occasionally. Foil may be used to help lift fish from pan to platter; remove foil; wipe platter clean. Garnish with lemon slices or wedges, cucumber or carrot slices and cooked shrimp if desired. Makes 4 large servings; if a half-pound of cooked shrimp is used for the garnish, you can count on having enough fish for 6 servings.

A Lot Of Fat Needs Trimming

With the President and Congress passing the budget-cutting buck back and forth without either doing much about it, some newsmen on the Washington scene have been going through the budget item by item and pointing up a lot of fat that might well be trimmed.

It will take a lot of cutting to make a dent in the $71.8 billions the administration proposes to spend in the coming fiscal year, but every $100,000 that is cut from the budget by Congress means that much less taxpayers will have to turn over to Uncle Sam.

Those who have thumbed through the budget have questioned such items as $300,000 to provide ammunition, trophies and travel expenses to civilian members of some 3,000 rifle clubs throughout the country; $70,000 annually for a hearing board that held only 23 days of hearings; and increase of a million dollars in the "miscellaneous items" in contingent expenses of the House of Representatives.

The list could continue for pages, but these examples suffice to point up the need for eliminating the waste and non-essential spending which is being done year after year by the federal government. In spite of assertions that the 1958 spending proposals have been put into a "tight budget" there is obviously still a lot of fat which could be squeezed out if members of Congress and the administration would make a real effort to do so.

Taxpayers throughout the country expect to bear the cost of operating the largest and most expensive government in the world. They are resigned to the fact that it costs a great deal of money, and the money must come from their pockets. At the same time they look to their representatives in Congress, individually and collectively to see that the waste of millions of tax dollars every year is curbed.

Big government and big spending must go hand in hand. But big waste which is now going on in the federal government can be eliminated if Congress is willing to take the bull by the horns and see that it is.

Good Small Loan Law Badly Needed In N.C.

North Carolina needs a "poor man's small loan law."

Whether the 1957 General Assembly will be able to enact an adequate law remains to be seen, but there can be no question about the need.

In past years small loan concerns have grown fat off the business of affording small loans to individuals which were paid back along with exorbitant fees, charges, insurance payments and other "extras" in addition to interest. So long as the legislature offers no better solution, this pattern of operation will continue. Poor and often ignorant people are forced to turn to the small loan outfits for extra cash when they are in a bind. While the greater risk involved in these loans justifies an interest rate higher than that charged by banks on conventional loans, they do not justify the absurdly high charges which are often attached.

Rep. Tom White of Kinston says he will place before the General Assembly a "poor man's small loan law". We trust his proposed bill will fulfill the need of a large segment of North Carolina's population by affording them places to borrow money and at the same time protect them from the exploitation to which they have been subjected for years.

The small loan situation which now exists in North Carolina demands reform legislation. We trust the legislature has the courage and wisdom to enact a reform bill which will alter the situation which now exists.

Seasonal Resort Town's Trouble

By LYNN NISBET
LINVILLE — Linville has become a sort of symbol or example of the troubles which a small resort town may run up against. Long a popular summer resort and golf center, the little village nestled at the foot of Grandfather Mountain, has not had a functioning municipal government for many years.

The town was incorporated in 1891, seventeen years before Avery county was formed, as a municipality in Mitchell county. At that time there were big ideas for a railroad connecting the town with Tennessee. Instead of a bustling business center the community became a quiet resort, with a golf course that attracted world champions and summer residents.

A few weeks ago Rep. Jim Hughes of Avery county introduced a bill reactivating the town charter with many of its 1891 provisions—but eliminating authority over railroads. Reason given for reactivating the municipal government was to establish eligibility for Powell funds to improve streets.

Trouble developed when large property owners and taxpayers who maintain summer homes there but vote somewhere else protested. It was brought out at committee hearings that the "permanent" voting population is less than 150, the summer vacation time population between 600 and 700. Non-voters own most of the real estate, pay most of the taxes, but would have no voice in municipal government. Naturally they are against the plan for reactivating the charter.

Majority of the property owners are North Carolinians, resident in other counties and senatorial districts, whose representatives in the General Assembly have considerably larger aggregate voting strength than does the Avery delegation.

TYPICAL — Conditions are not exactly the same but there is enough similarity to use Linville as a type of the seasonal resort community. The need for some type of municipal government authority is recognized, and in many instances the problem involves the issue of taxation without representation.

In order to assure stable government without violating the principle of representation, char-

Don't All Jump At Once

By Roger W. Babson

Rising Population Impact

BABSON PARK, Mass. — In 1950, our U.S. population was about 150,000,000. Today we are 170,000,000 strong and the prospect is that our rapid expansion in numbers will continue. The 20,000,000 more Americans added since 1950 are equivalent to twice the present population of the six New England states!

TREMENDOUS GROWTH AHEAD
I am told that a baby is born in this country every eight seconds, and that, if present rates of increase continue, we could well have a population of 220,000,000 by 1975. This huge gain means that demand prospects for our products are good. Each new birth, each immigrant, and each person living a longer life than had previously been considered normal, adds to the potential demand that American manufacturers and merchants can attempt to satisfy.

This growth in population far exceeds earlier predictions. I well remember the experts telling us in the depression days of the thirties that the U.S. population would hit a peak — probably around 1980 — and then decline. As I recall it, they thought that peak might be around 154,000,000 — a mark we actually passed about five years ago!

WHAT ABOUT OUR LABOR FORCE?

The current boom in people is the result of an unexpectedly high birth rate and a steadily declining mortality. Modern medicine conquers many of the diseases which in the past have cut life short. Thus the area of our greatest population gain is among the very young and among our senior citizens. The adults who form the labor force are a decreasing segment of the total population. That being the case, we should be more concerned about labor-management relations in future years. I forecast that labor-force growth may continue to lag the total population rise to an increasing degree during the next twenty years. This widening gap will create problems for management except as the automatic factory becomes a factor in the situation. This is especially true if too small a proportion of the labor force possesses the scientific and engineering skills required to keep us abreast of technological developments.

Instead of paying too much attention to the expensive frills of education (as we do now), we need to encourage high school boys and girls to become scientists, chemists, and engineers, as well as economists, business managers, merchants and teachers. We ought to find out whether our schools are actually doing the type of educational job that needs to be done. If we do not mend our ways in this respect, we shall pay dearly in coming years for our foolishness.

WILL MORE PEOPLE MEAN MORE SALES?

Growth in population suggests a rising demand for products and services. However, we should not be too quick to assume that this increase will always be translated into actual buying power. Much will depend on the economic conditions during the years ahead.

More people will not necessarily mean more sales if the government does not curb its spending. Such spending makes for highly progressive taxes which undermine profits and cripple business incentive. Neither will more people mean more sales unless we are able to adjust as a nation to the vast changes which are ahead. I have in mind the further development of atomic power, automation, speed-

Other Editors Saying --- 'Incredibly Stupid'

(Rocky Mount Telegram)
When a pro-Ike Republican publisher, such as John S. Knight, takes the hit off the administration as he did in an address recently in Charlotte it is properly front-page news.

Mr. Knight, who publishes a string of powerful metropolitan newspapers across the nation, charged the administration with "incredibly stupid diplomacy" in the Middle East. "In my estimation," he said, "the handling of the situation was badly bungled."

The verdict gets no argument from us. And, we doubt that it will get any from history either. When, in the long and melancholy record of blundering American diplomacy, was there ever such a catalogue of mischief and folly as we have witnessed during the past few months in the Middle East?

Consider this:
1. The United States, anxious to appease Egypt's Dictator Nasser and his Arab pals, pressured Britain into withdrawing its military forces from the Suez without any safeguards to international commerce.

2. When Nasser, playing both ends against the middle, cottoned up to the Communists and ordered Red arms and aid, Secretary Dulles withdrew promised American aid on the Egyptian Aswan Dam in such an insulting manner that it gave Nasser an excuse to seize the canal. (This was not the last time the administration was to go back on its word.)

3. When Britain and France mobilized to resist this breach of international law the administration repeatedly promised to cooperate in strong measures against Nasser. Each time Washington backed down.

4. When Britain and France, convinced that American appeasement and duplicity played only into Nasser's hands, invaded Egypt along with Israel in November, America sided with the Communists against its old (and only) real allies.

5. Determined to placate Nasser and the oil-rich Arabs at all costs, the administration subsequently "pressured" Israel into abandoning strategic areas she had won along her border with mis-leading promises which were taken back almost before the broadcasts could reach the Middle East.

Our oil-laden State Department has been proceeding on the smug assumption that Israel, not Egypt, is the aggressor in the Middle East. Until this shocking hypocrisy is corrected, we can expect nothing but more of the "incredibly stupid diplomacy" of which Publisher Knight complains.

Magsaysay Loss Is Blow To U.S.

By RAY TUCKER
WASHINGTON The death of Ramon Magsaysay, pro-American Philippines President, has brought needed recognition of the fact that the temporarily quiescent Far East presents as many and as difficult problems for Washington as the boiling Middle East.

It exposes our far-flung commitments and establishments to Russo-Chinese aggression and subversion in this important sector of the "cold war."

Magsaysay had pacified the Philippines by suppressing the Communist-supported Huk guerrillas, but he had not built the promised democratic society that led them to lay down their arms. The wealthy landowners had resisted his program for redistribution and ownership of farming acres. Only his forceful personality had kept his corrupt and cynical followers, including high officials, in hand.

DEMOCRATIC DREAMS RESTED IN LATE PRESIDENT
Our grant of freedom had not made us beloved among the backward natives, to whom it was only an unappreciated slogan.

Nor have a few years of independence transformed the islands into an "American show window" in the Far Pacific, as we expected and boasted. The great hope for fulfilling these bright and democratic dreams rested in Magsaysay alone.

Carlos P. Garcia, Magsaysay's successor as Vice President, shared the dead statesman's views, but he lacks vigor and color, two essential assets in Filipino politics. Far more appealing to the islanders' psychology is Claro Recto, Magsaysay's bitter enemy. He favors weaker ties with the United States and closer connections with Russia and Red China.

Carlos P. Romulo, Philippine Ambassador to the United Nations, is reluctant to run. He prefers the comforts and the glamor of the American and world stage, where he has been a theatrical figure for so many years. And due to his prolonged absence from the domestic scene, it is extremely doubtful if he could be elected.

ROHLEN AS AMBASSADOR TO PHILIPPINES

In this connection, there has been considerable criticism of the transfer of Ambassador Charles E. Bohlen from Moscow to Manila. It is argued that the Russian-speaking expert on Communism is far more valuable in his former post. The fact is that Bohlen's new assignment results from the realization that we need our top Soviet specialist at the Philippine outpost, where he may observe and report on Communist conspiracies from Seoul to Singapore.

Shortly before his death, Magsaysay had expressed his concern over Communist encroachments in this vast area. He had also indicated that he was not wholly satisfied with our diplomatic and political representations in various important positions.

He had his own qualms. Responding to popular and political pressure, he had complained over the issue of American legal rights to military, naval and air bases. Businessmen and industrialists, including the large Chinese interests, demanded more trade with Russia and Red China.

Eva Is Taking It Easy

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — The only time Eva Bartok acts like a Hungarian actress is when people tell her in surprise, "Why, you don't act at all like a Hungarian actress."

That remark causes the slender, dark-eyed star, who was born in Budapest, to blow up a real temperamental storm. "One Hollywood writer said I was very unusual Hungarian actress because I wasn't blonde, didn't mangle the English language, and was quiet," she fumed.

"What did they expect me to do — break up all the studio furniture?"

Miss Bartok, who twinkles brightly in the European celluloid sky, recently completed her first American film — an M.G.M. opus called "Ten Thousand Bedrooms" in which she stars with Dean Martin.

"It is a nice clean comedy and has nothing to do with bedrooms," she said. All she did was act in the picture. Somebody else gave it the title.

Miss Bartok, although she came here to make a single picture, has signed up for another, and is contemplating a TV series that will inevitably be known as "Forever Eva," and tell the story of a young Hungarian girl's struggles in this country.

Eva hopes that meanwhile she can clear up the misconception that Hungarians are a madcap, harem-scum bunch of footloose Bohemians.

She feels that this slander on her people has been given currency by playwright Ferenc Molnar's jest that, "Anyone who has a Hungarian for a friend, doesn't need an enemy."

"Molnar shouldn't have said that," she remarked. "Anyway, it is just his version of an old Hungarian joke about Romanians, which every Hungarian schoolchild knows."

"We have another schoolyard joke about what is the difference between Romanian and a Czechoslovak. The answer is that each of them would agree to sell his mother — but only the Romanian would make delivery."

Asked to define the actual virtues and defects of Hungarians, Eva, who is not a British subject, said: "People are individuals, and I hate to generalize. But most Hungarians are generous, talented, love foreigners, and have a good sense of humor. But because they have known long hardship their jokes are wry — it is a gallows humor."

"Oh, the bad side, Hungarians, during the war, are inclined to be sophisticated and cynical and sometimes are a bit — how do you say it — two-faced? But this is because of Hungary's geographical position. They must say things that will please her neighbors on all sides."

Eva, who is intense and brooding, is suspicious of quick success and believes one must always fight hard to find his place.

"After going to London in 1948," she said, "I had to wait two years before I could get a work permit, and five more years before I got a real part in a good play."

She likes to read, listen to music, paint, swim and ski. "But I don't like to go to prize fights or bullfights," she continued. "I don't like violence of any kind, and I don't like gambling, because it seems to me it consists mostly of trading little lies back and forth."

"You can see that makes me an outcast in modern society," she has no opinions about American men because, as she pointed out, all she has met is Hollywood men and she isn't sure they are typical.

"I think Hollywood women are more intelligent than Hollywood men," she said, smiling, "and they tell me Hollywood men are spoiled, because too many women make over them."

"I'm an old-fashioned myself. I think the man should show the initiative — at least at the start. I spent five months in Hollywood as a bachelor girl, and my name wasn't linked with anyone. Not even one romance!"

"Don't you think for this I deserve at least an Oscar?"

Prediction On Business Trends

By ELMER ROESSNER
Every week this department analyzes business trends, sifts inside information and weaves confidential reports to come up with predictions for business. Here are more:

No small-business tax relief this year. Proponents, at the moment, are generating all the pressure they can but the opposition is too strong. Stumbling blocks: real relief would cut tax collections too much; any scheme to help small business would also benefit big companies.

Copper prices will weaken further. Fabricators' orders are down and production is being cut. Purchasing agents, sure of their position, are insisting on further concessions.

An old cigarette will appear in a new package. Red and white will be used along with the gold that has characterized one brand so long.

TO SHORE UP HOUSING
Sharp action will be taken to stimulate home building. Starts have dropped more than expected, far under the million-a-year rate the government was counting on as a minimum. There's been a flurry of conferences in Congressional and Administration circles, with many in a "do something, do anything!" state of mind. There are a dozen plans; the chief difficulty is getting agreement on one good one.

More executives will get overtime. At present, employers need not pay overtime to "executives" getting more than $5 a week, or administrative and professional employees getting more than $75. The Wage-Hour Division has been working on new schedules and they are certain to be higher, requiring employers to pay overtime or raise wages of many white-collar workers.

Gasoline to order is coming. Sun Oil has been working on a system whereby motorists can get the octane they want by automatic blending of several ratings. If accepted, other oil companies will be forced to offer similar choices. Drivers may be able to say, "Fill 'er up with 43 per cent 85 octane, 49 per cent 95 and 8 per cent 120!"

More steel workers will be laid off. Orders are lagging. January-March output may not even equal first-quarter production last year. However, the industry is counting on an upturn before summer.

MORE FRINGE BENEFITS SOUGHT
Labor will ask higher health and pension benefits this year. Lags in steel, copper and housing, reported above, and in autos and several other lines are making leaders more cautious about stiff wage demands, but they will use the situation to press for more fringe benefits. If unemployment rises in the durables industries, there will be a new wave of demands for guaranteed annual wage plans.

You'll see more foreign cars
There's a strong tendency this year for legislators to refer new tax proposals to voters' referendum. Commerce Clearing House says... Foreign demand for American tobacco has been falling off. January exports were 30,000,000 pounds; 16,000,000 less than a year ago... Japan exported 750,000 cameras to the U.S. last year; Germany 250,000. However, the German cameras averaged 10 times the price of the Japanese... Since mid-1955, rates on borrowed money have risen more for big business than for small ones, the Chicago Federal Reserve Bank says. Many small businessmen won't believe it... Savings and loan associations say they got more than half the increase in direct savings during the past three years... Lead pencil manufacturers, one of the few American industries without a week or a day, have decided to do something about it. The last week in next February will be the world's first "Pencil Week." With a queen, no doubt.

Strength For Today

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
THE TREES CLAP THEIR HANDS

Stanley Jones says that the morning after he was converted he walked out into the world and thought he had never looked upon its beauties before. The trees clapped their hands and all nature was a tingle with joy and beauty. For the first time he knew that the earth was his. He had inherited it.

In one of the most beautiful chapters in the Bible (Isaiah 55), the promise is made, "If ye shall go out with joy, and be led forth with peace: the mountains and the hills shall break forth before you into singing; and all the trees of the field shall clap their hands."

Religious joy is a very real thing for those who experience it. Some people never know anything about it throughout the whole of their lives. Either they are too well satisfied with the world as it is, or have lost hope and grown bitter, or they are satisfied to gorge themselves on the husks of lesser joys. But when God performs his miracle of spiritual regeneration by touching with his finger tips the soul of a man who wants to enter into the larger life, then the world and all its inhabitants suddenly take on a new aspect. The Old Testament writer, Isaiah, described this by saying that the mountains and hills, under such circumstances, break into singing and all the trees of the field clap their hands.

What is that pervasive impulse within us which makes us perfectly content to live within the circle of a few narrow interests, when the vast universe of God beckons us with eager hands?

Career Of Helping Blind Started Amid Heartbreak

By JOE BRADIS
PITTSBURGH (AP) — One day almost eight years ago an elated young college instructor stood in a hospital corridor and gently tapped his fingers on the window of the nursery. He was admiring his new-born twin sons.

Three months later he learned they had been born blind.

The shock almost drove Dr. Alton G. Kloss and his wife to despair. But instead of despairing he embarked on a career devoted to helping sightless youngsters.

Today Dr. Kloss is superintendent of the Western Pennsylvania School for Blind Children, serving 31 counties of western Pennsylvania. It is one of six such private schools in the country.

One of his sons, Eric, is a pupil at the institution. His other son, Alan, is blind and also cannot speak, a result of brain cells damaged at birth. He can walk only a little.

"Well, we can't brood," says Dr. Kloss. "One thing sure it has made us more understanding of other individuals."

Dr. Kloss was director of placement and admissions at Thiel College in Greenville, Pa., when doctors told the parents their twin sons would never see.

New Start

He quit his job and spent the next year in research on education of the blind.

In August of 1950 he became superintendent at Western Pennsylvania.

At the time the school had one main building, a gym, kindergarten, industrial arts and teachers' cottage and the superintendent's residence. Most of the buildings were in a deplorable condition. The equipment was worn out and inadequate.

In six years under Dr. Kloss' direction, the school has undergone a two-million-dollar renovation. It now provides board and education without charge for 180 blind children and has a staff of 100 teachers and employees. Next summer a new $850,000 kindergarten will be opened.

Children are admitted at the age of 4. Except in unusual circumstances they don't leave until they are 15 or older.

"But they enter the world poised and self-confident with hopes for the future," says Dr. Kloss.

Alumni include lawyers, ministers, shippers, chiropractors, salesmen, social workers, drill press operators, teachers, X-ray developers and shoe repairmen, even auto mechanics.

Asked if children ever get into fist fights or other arguments, or if they avoid conflict, Dr. Kloss explained:

"They are normal, healthy children. They all have a basic drive. If they didn't they would be sick. There is no essential difference between educating the blind child and the sighted child."

Lots of Recreation

The school provides eight years of elementary school and four years of high school, plus many recreational activities.

Students are given every opportunity to mingle with the sighted world at concerts, radio stations, operas, theaters and sports events.

ler transport, and other new manufacturing and marketing techniques. Mere bigness in numbers are in potential resources will not assure our prosperity. Hence, my repeated emphasis on the need for more realistic training of our children.

ARE THERE TOO MANY PEOPLE?

Our rapid population growth scares some folks. They fear we cannot produce enough food for all these people. I do not share those fears. We have learned during and since World War II how to step up our crop yields to levels not dreamed of a generation ago. We now have food and feed surpluses. Irrigation and phosphate can produce miracles.

Surely more people in future years may well solve our current farm problem of overproduction. In fact, I forecast that the time is not far distant when we shall be eager to increase our farm output. We will step up our crop yields to new record highs through an intelligent use of irrigation and fertilizer and other soil and crop builders. I am optimistic about the future of American farmers.

sylvania derives its income from state appropriation, from a limited endowment fund and contributions from interested individuals and groups.

The school has become Dr. Kloss' home and workshop. He works 10 to 16 hours a day — sometimes longer. In addition to the twin boys he has one daughter, 9-year-old Joyce. At 44, he is a gentle, intelligent man with a large supply of enthusiasm.

But sometimes the ordeal of watching the busy, exploring hands of blind youngsters gliding over flowers or probing thousands of dots in a braille book becomes too much even for Dr. Kloss to bear.

"Occasionally I have to get away from it all," he says. "So I throw my khakis in a suitcase and drive off to the forest."

"A couple of days alone hiking and seeing the wonders of nature makes me think that we sighted have a lot to be thankful for."

"So I get in my car and head back to school, saying to myself over and over — 'how lucky I am.' After that it is all work again — no looking back. You can't run away from reality."

Dividend Going To Landowners

STILLWATER, Okla. — Some 45,000 persons who own a small parcel of Oklahoma land have a dividend coming.

The Redman Land Co., which sold two square-inch plots of ground as souvenirs for $2 each, received a check for $812 from the State Highway Department. The money is in payment for right of way along U. S. 231 — near Ada, Okla. and represents about 10 percent of the one-acre plot which the company sold in small chunks.

Firm officials figure the right of way payment comes to about 15 one-thousandths of one cent for each of the 45,000 landowners.

Hornel Elopes

LOS ANGELES — George A. Hornel II, heir to a packing house fortune and his second wife, Kim Wadsworth, 20, North Hollywood, are back after eloping to Las Vegas.

The marriage was performed Saturday. Hornel, 28, was divorced in 1954 from actress Leslie Caron.

In the year 1800 the average work week consisted of 84 hours in contrast to the 40-hour-week today.

Pirates Show Sharp Hitting, Hurling In Double Victory Over VPI Baseballers

By BILLY ARNOLD
Reflector Sports Editor

In a sheer display of hitting and hurling power, East Carolina whipped a visiting Virginia Polytechnic Institute club twice Saturday at College Field, 11-4 and 3-1, to open their 1957 baseball season.

The victories over the Southern Conference outfit marked the Pirates' 11th straight triumph. Their current win streak began last year.

It was the first time a Southern Conference club had visited the East Carolina field.

Plenty Of Power

In the first contest, Coach Jim Mallory's defending North State Conference champions, displayed plenty of power at the plate, several outstanding defensive maneuvers and a troop of pitchers.

The Bucs collected 14 base hits, while VPI managed to nab 7 against three different Pirate pitchers. The first game was a nine inning affair.

Leonard Lilley, a veteran right-hander, began on the mound for the locals. Bobby Wulfenden started for VPI.

East Carolina erupted for a fast four runs in the first inning on hits by Gary Treon, Berny Stevens and Dean Robbins and Tommy Land. Robbins' double accounted for two of those early runs.

Coach Mallory substituted left-hander Ben Baker for Lilley in the fourth inning. VPI rallied against him and tied the score 4-4.

With the bases loaded and two outs, Mallory then sent in freshman right-hander George Williams of Camden.

Williams fanned the next batter to get out of the hole. Later in the inning, Williams singled over shortstop to bring in Tink Bowen with what proved to be the winning run of the game. He gave up only two hits in five and 1-3 innings, and was perhaps the game's most outstanding single performer.

Tough At Plate

Collecting hits for the Bucs in that first encounter were Jerry Stewart (2), Gary Treon (1), Tommy Land (1), Berny Stevens (1), Dean Robbins (2), Joel Long (2), Bucky Reep (1), Tink Bowen (2), George Williams (2).

Robbins collected the club's only extra-base knock, a double.

East Carolina continued to be tough at the plate in the nightcap. It was freshman catcher Tommy Nance's home run with two aboard in the second inning that proved victory for the locals.

The Pirates raked up only two hits in the second game, but it was still their batting that accounted for the victory. Winning pitcher for the Greenville club was Mack McPherson, a veteran. May was the loser.

East Carolina met the University of Delaware here this afternoon and will tangle with them again tomorrow in the second game of a two-day series, unless rain forced the postponement of today's match. Should today's game be rained out, a double-header will be on tap tomorrow, more than likely.

Bored With The Game, Kids Found Other Interest

GET OFF MY BACK!—During the Saturday double-header between East Carolina and VPI, at College Field, a couple of ambitious youngsters decided to investigate the Pirate baseball team. After roaming about the bench for several innings, they converged upon Bob Miller, ECC pitcher who had been joking with them earlier, and began to delve beneath his warmup jacket. East Carolina copped both games from the visiting Southern Conference power, 11-4 and 3-1. They meet the University of Delaware here today and tomorrow. (Reflector Photo by Billy Arnold).

Bell Pealed

WAKE FOREST, N. C. (AP) For 10 these many years, the bell in the administration building at Wake Forest College rang out to signal a Wake Forest athletic victory.

After the college moved to Winston-Salem, students of the Southeastern Baptist Seminary kept the tradition alive by ringing the bell here to signal a Wake Forest victory.

Saturday night the bell pealed out again, but this time it was ringing to signal a victory by Wake Forest's ancient rival—North Carolina—in the NCAA basketball tourney at Kansas City.

Two Linemen Will Captain Deacons

WINSTON-SALEM (AP)—Two first string linemen will serve as captains of the Wake Forest football team next season.

George Johnson, a 225-pound tackle from Wilmington, and Eddie Moore, a 195-pound center from Charlotte, were elected here Saturday by the seven senior let-temen on the squad.

Tar Heels Defeated Percentages And Odds In Kansas City Triumph

By SKIPPER PATRICK
KANSAS CITY (AP)—The North Carolina Tar Heels defied the percentages and odds to win their first NCAA basketball championship by beating the Kansas Jayhawks 54-53 in a triple-overtime Saturday night.

Playing before a jam-packed crowd of 10,500, most of them pro-Kansas, Coach Frank McGuire's Tar Heels stretched their one-season all-victory record to 32 games. A night earlier they had gone three extra five-minute sessions in beating Michigan State 74-70 in the semi-finals.

The final game of the NCAA's 18th tournament was a championship test between teams rated No. 1 and No. 2 in the Associated Press poll of sportswriters and sportscasters. And it finished according to the script.

A brief scuffle in the second overtime involving two or three players and both coaches enlivened the proceedings.

The title was decided with six seconds remaining in the third overtime when Joe Quigg, a 6-9 junior from Brooklyn, N.Y., made two free throws. Kansas had the last shot, but Quigg blocked that one to insure the Tar Heel victory.

North Carolina played the three overtimes without the services of All America Lennie Rosenbluth, who fouled out with 1:45 remaining in regulation time. His team trailed them by one point, 43-44.

It was tied 46-46 after the first 40 minutes, 48-48 after the first overtime and again 48-48 after the second extra session.

Wilt Chamberlain, Kansas All America who was voted the most valuable player of the tournament, was the games' leading scorer with 23 points. Rosenbluth had 20.

The San Francisco Dons, chamions the last two years, defeated Michigan State 67-60 for third place.

Kansas wiped out an early 12-point North Carolina lead but then blew a 5-point advantage with only minutes remaining.

The Tar Heels, who relied on ball control to slow down Chamberlain and the Kansas fast break, got a 4-point lead in the last overtime but let it melt away as the Jayhawks took over at 53-52 with 31 seconds remaining.

Chamberlain edged Rosenbluth by two votes for the most valu-

Conquerors Bask In Glow Of Nat'l Championship

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP)—The conquering heroes of the University of North Carolina basketball team, wearing the crown of national champions, today basked in the glow of home campus adulation.

Fans who agonized through the three overtimes the Tar Heels needed to defeat Kansas, 54-53, in the NCAA tournament finals turned out to welcome the jantny crew back to campus.

The tumultuous reception at the Raleigh-Durham airport upset plans for a formal welcoming ceremony. UNC Chancellor Robert B. House had a speech prepared, but in the crush of a crowd estimated at 10,000 to 15,000, he had no chance to deliver it.

Gov. Luther Hodges, winging in a half hour after the team's arrival, had warm praise for his alma mater's undefeated cage squad.

The state's first national basketball champions, said the governor, brought credit to North Carolina "not only from the fact that they played well but for their sportsmanship."

Happy admirers besieged the Tar Heel players and rode them off the airport ramp on their shoulders. The first raised aloft was Joe Quigg, the cool player who put in the pair of free throws which gave North Carolina its national crown.

All America Lennie Rosenbluth of the Tar Heel team and Coach Frank McGuire missed the welcoming party. Both remained in Kansas City for tonight's East-West all-star game.

Like the home folks who followed the game by radio and television, Gov. Hodges said he "died a thousand times" during the pulse stopping finals. He said he clung to a haltime victory prediction and never gave up hope.

The tense battle with Kansas was a copy of the semifinals match with Michigan State, which gave North Carolina fans a case of nerves before the Tar Heels won, 74-70, in a third overtime.

The march to the national championship gave North Carolina a season record of 32 wins with no defeats.

Poise and control were the factors which carried North Carolina through what appeared to be certain defeat at stages in the match with Kansas.

Asst. Coach Buck Freeman said the Tar Heels used shots from outside in the game's early stages to draw Wilt Chamberlain, 7-foot Kansas star, out from under the basket. When the outside shots began connecting, explained Freeman, Kansas dropped its zone defense and switched to man-to-man.

With the towering Chamberlain out from under the basket, it was "easier for us — although it took us three extra periods," Freeman added.

Locals Take Four Wrestling Titles

The Greenville Athletic Club came up with four champions in Carolina's AAU Wrestling Championships Friday and Saturday at Boone.

Greenville winners were in the 115, 123, 137 and 167-pound classes. Bike Grandstaff, 1956 Olympic Trials champion, won the 115-pound class with a pin; Fry took the 123-pound title with a decision; Bob Tugwell won the 137-pound class with a pin; and Bill Tugwell won the 167-pound class with a pin.

In addition to the champions, the Greenville group had two fourth place winners. Busbee lost a consolation match in the 147-pound class and Harris lost a consolation match for the 157-pound title. Consolation matches decided third and fourth places.

Dwight Woody, a former East Carolina College student who has transferred to Appalachian State Teachers College, was second in the 147-pound class.

ECC Swimmers Win First NAIA Crown Saturday

CARBONDALE, ILL.—East Carolina's swimming team copped the first National NAIA Swimming Tourney, here, Saturday night, to reign supreme over the nation's small college tank powers.

Coach Ray Martinez' 11-man ECC crew tallied 54 points to nose out a strong Southern Illinois outfit for the title.

The Pirates won the Medley Relay and sophomore Bob Sawyer, of Greensboro, nabbed the 200-yard back stroke, to take the winning margin.

For Martinez, it was a colossal triumph. The young instructor came to ECC only three years ago and began the Pirate swimming team from scratch. Within that time, he has moulded a veritable powerhouse that has met and competed well against some of the nation's top collegiate teams. Among the opponents in the Pirate records thus far in the short three-year span have been North Carolina, North Carolina State, Georgia, Citadel, Duke, Wake Forest, South Carolina, Clemson, William and Mary, Virginia Polytechnic Institute, Virginia Military Institute, and a host of others.

Sawyer For All-America

Perhaps the team's most outstanding individual performer in the NAIA meet, although the victory was most certainly a team win, was sophomore Bob Sawyer, of Greensboro.

Sawyer nabbed first place honors in the 200-yard back stroke, and event in which he has been strong for two successive seasons. In fact, Sawyer has been defeated in that event only once since he began swimming collegiately, two years ago. North Carolina All-America Charlie Krepp is the only man who has ever topped him. Sawyer's swimming time in that event has come dangerously close to the world's record on several occasions.

Martinez has praised Sawyer in the past as "one of the most promising swimmers in the nation," and has tabbed him, "an All-America performer. He is by far the best swimmer in his events in the South, with the possible exception of Krepp, of Carolina."

The beautiful part of it all, is that Sawyer still has two seasons to go.

First Meet Was Successful

The Carbondale affair was the first National NAIA swimming tournament ever held, and has been regarded by most officials as a highly successful one. Much of that success was due to East Carolina, with its impressive regular-season record and its colorful performers.

Opposing the Pirates in the tourney were several other clubs with impressive records. Southern Illinois, the number two club, went into the matches with a string of 32 consecutive victories beneath their belts. They finished with 50 points.

Following in order were Ball State College of Muncie, Indiana, with 29 points; Wester Illinois State College of Macomb with 26 points; Beloit (Wisconsin) College with 16 points; and Illinois Wesleyan University of Bloomington with 12 points.

The Bucs will return to Greenville tonight. They are due to arrive at Memorial Gymnasium at approximately 9 p.m.

Delaware Here High School Star Is Going To Duke

ALEXANDRIA, Va. (AP)—A much sought after high school athletic star with an "A" average and who also played in the band, says he plans to enroll at Duke University next fall.

Bob Garda said he picked Duke over 15 other colleges because "I liked everything about it."

Garda, who attended George Washington High School here, is a native of Chicago. He is 6-2 and weighs 170 pounds.

He was a football, basketball and track star and was named to the all-state high school football and basketball teams selected by Virginia sports writers.

Senators See New Demand For Government Economy

By JACK BELL
 WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Mundt (R-SD) and H. Alexander Smith (R-NJ) said today that they are convinced there is a genuine groundswell in the country for federal government economy.

And Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) said both the administration and Congress must "face up" to cuts in the budget to provide a general tax reduction he said should be made next year.

Mundt, many of whose constituents are farmers, said he is being "snowed under" by demands in his mail for cuts in President Eisenhower's $71,800,000,000 budget.

"For the first time since I've been in the Senate," he said, "my mail from people advocating economy is heavier than all of the appeals for special funds put together. It's amazing how the idea has swept across the country that the budget must be cut."

Smith, who represents many city and small town dwellers, said the same thing is happening in his mail.

"The people who want the budget cut are sending me more letters than the combined total of those dealing with other subject," he said.

"Sen. Byrd (D-Va.), who has advocated a 6 1/2 billion dollar cut in Eisenhower's budget, said he also feels that his long campaign for government economy is likely to bear some fruit this year," Smith added.

Knowland, the Senate Republican leader, said this is the last time Congress can be expected to continue in effect the high corporation and excise taxes tacked on during the Korean War and extended yearly.

Sen. Bridges (R-Mid) told a television audience (ABC Press Conference) yesterday he expects a tax cut next year.

Bridges, senior Republican on the Senate Appropriations Committee, said he is hoping for a $3,300,000,000 cut in the requested budget and added he will be "disappointed if we fail to cut at least 2 1/2 billions."

He said both military and foreign aid spending could be reduced.

Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn) said the folks at home are discovering that modern Republicanism, as represented by new programs Eisenhower has proposed in the budget, is costly.

"As far as I can see, the only difference between the modern Republican and the old time Republican is that the modern Republican is more expensive. They produce bigger budgets, higher living costs and higher interest rates."

None of the yearly appropriations bills has yet reached the Senate floor, but the House has been cutting actively from the $73,300,000,000 in new appropriations Eisenhower asked. Of that he proposed spending $71,800,000,000 in the year starting July 1.

Including one supplemental bill not included in next year's totals, the House and its Appropriations Committee have made cuts of $849,804,000 below Eisenhower's requests. At that rate, some leaders are hoping for a billion-dollar cut before the Easter recess April 18.

The House has approved committee cuts in five of the six bills. It acts on the sixth this week.

Encouraging News For M H Victims

NEW YORK, N.Y. — An encouraging outlook for persons who recover from mental illness is seen in the report of a study by Metropolitan Life Insurance Company statisticians of that company's experience among policyholders.

The study indicates, primarily, that a considerable proportion of those who have had mental disorders eventually recover and are able to resume and maintain a fairly normal level of activity; also, that the rate of recurrence of the disorders is relatively low, and decreases as time goes on. The record of survivorship following recovery from disability is comparatively favorable.

The study related solely to men, the statisticians note, because of insufficient data on women.

Among insured men who became disabled during the period of 1935-41, the recovery rates per annum were 12 percent in the first two years, 5.7 percent in the next three years, and 2.7 percent in subsequent years.

In a group of 778 men who recovered from a disability due to mental disease between 1925-49, the rate of first recurrence of the disease was 4.3 percent per annum for the first two years, but this fell to 2.6 percent per annum in the next three years, and to 1.6 percent per annum in the next five years.

The statisticians point out that new and improved types of therapy for the treatment of mental disease have been developed since the period covered by their study.

"The outlook for recovery and rehabilitation from mental disorders has never been so favorable," the statisticians conclude, "although the needs in this field are far from being met."

Fuss Over Salt Results In Loss Of Parts Of Ears

FOLSOM, Calif. (AP) — A dinner table dispute over salt is blamed for a vicious fight that ended with two convicts shot and one minus parts of both ears.

Folsom prison authorities said guards shot and wounded both men yesterday when the convicts ignored loud-speaker demands to stop the fight.

The two, both Negroes, were identified as Albert Johnson, 37, a Los Angeles burglar, and Leonard Thompson, 34, a San Francisco burglar.

Thompson, parts of both ears bitten off during the fight, was treated for gun wounds in the leg and forearm and Johnson for an upper leg wound.

The quarrel started when Thompson refused to pass the salt at dinner.

Fleet Chief Says Russians Stepping Up Sub Activity

By ELTON C. FAY
 ARGENTIA, Nid. (AP) — Adm. Jerauld Wright, chief of the U. S. Atlantic Fleet, says "there has been an increase in recent years of contacts we think are Russian submarines" in this ocean.

Wright, who is also supreme Allied commander for the Atlantic, was interviewed while visiting the American air-sea base for an inspection of the airborne early warning system the Navy calls "Barrier Atlantic."

Newsmen's questions were based on recent statements by Navy officials that the size of the Russian undersea fleet now may be 450 to 500 vessels, far greater than the huge submarine force once operated by Germany. Adm. Felix Stump, Pacific Fleet commander, recently reported evidence of an upsurge of Soviet submarine strength in that ocean.

Wright said that in the last few years there has been "a definite increase in their cruising to deep water." Apparently referring to the detection devices of the antisubmarine surface aid air patrols maintained in the Atlantic, the admiral added that "we pick them up every now and then."

Wright's comments followed a few days his announcement at Norfolk, Va., that a new, over-all antisubmarine command for the Atlantic Fleet, headed by Vice Adm. Frank T. Watkins, has been formed. In that announcement, Wright said that "the possibility of submarine-launched guided missile attacks against the United States is a problem of the utmost national importance."

Over the weekend, the Navy permitted newsmen for the first time to see and describe some of the details of "Barrier Atlantic," the air-sea early warning system set up primarily to sound an alarm against approaching Russian nuclear bombers. Operating in the same area are other planes assigned to antisubmarine duty. The radar picket ships of the Barrier Atlantic also do double duty as submarine-detection craft.

The system has been in operation since last July. In that time, Wright said, "it has been very effective."

the huge "flying radar stations" — long-range Lockheed Constellation equipped with new and complex electronic equipment — have run up a total of about 1,000 missions and cumulative flying distance of approximately 2 1/2 million miles.

Operating at an altitude of about 10,000 feet while on station, the radar of the aircraft can cover an area of about 45,000 square miles in its constant scanning of the skies for unidentified planes headed for the United States. The range of the radar is given officially as "distances well over 100 miles."

Officials here indicated the anti-submarine capabilities of forces in these waters are being augmented. The ships are converted destroyers, manned by a dozen officers and about 150 men.

Role Of Dead Man Was Almost Real

BRIDGEPORT, W. Va. (AP) — James D. Coston Jr., 15, was playing the part of a dead man in his high school's carnival when the role almost became reality.

Coston "lay in state" with a knife stuck in his chest atop his chest to appear as if he had been stabbed. When the knife loosened, he tried to straighten it and accidentally stuck it through the board into his chest.

He was taken to a hospital, where his condition was described as satisfactory.

Out Of The Pan Into The Fire

EL MONTE, Calif. (AP) — A California highway patrol car chased but lost a speeding sports car. Shortly thereafter a sports car pulled in behind a warehouse and the driver got out.

A man there asked the driver what he was doing.

"I just ditched a highway patrolman, and I want to wait here awhile," he said.

"Not for long — you're under arrest," said the man, identifying himself as Albert Rein, an off-duty sheriff's deputy.

The sports car driver, Kenneth Greene, 27, was booked on a misdemeanor charge of evading arrest.

Delayed Reaction Produces Fire

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A chain reaction was started by last Friday's convulsive earthquakes that caused a fire — 33 hours later.

Asst. Fire Chief Curtis Kirby said the "quake toppled a stack of cartons in the Crown Cork and Seal Co. plant. Unnoticed, the cartons damaged a thermostat and a gas heater became overheated.

An automatic sprinkler system and the city's alert fire department extinguished the resulting fire in 20 minutes yesterday. Kirby estimated damage at about $2,500.

The airline distance between San Francisco and New York City is 2,568 miles.

Parents Join To Protect Kids

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A "block parent" system for protection of schoolchildren from molesters, of in case of injury, is catching on in an area of West Los Angeles.

There are now 83 houses in the Overland Avenue Elementary School area where "block parent" signs are posted in windows. The goal is for 150 in all. The idea is that children going to and from school can take refuge at any "B.P." house.

The signs also mean that the ho holders are available in case of trouble to call police, parents or an ambulance.

Snowbound Town Gets Help From 2,000 Miles Away

SWAMPSCOTT, Mass. (AP) — The snowbound community of Coolidge Kan., yesterday got help from this seacoast town 2,000 miles away.

Forrest Mason arrived at his oil delivery firm office just in time to hear his local two-way radio crackle a message that Coolidge was buried under 10-to-12-foot drifts of snow and needed help.

Mason contacted police, who got a message over the state police Teletype to Kansas.

Mason said atmospheric conditions apparently made it possible to receive the long-distance message on his local two-way radio.

Fight Almost Won To Restore Ship

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Cruiser Olympia Assn., Inc., said today it has "almost won" its three-year struggle to restore Adm. Dewey's flagship at Manila Bay to a condition where it can be exhibited as a public memorial.

The Navy had set certain repair standards to make the ship safe for visitors and estimated these repairs would cost $250,000.

Francis D. Pastorius, association president, said a Philadelphia firm had offered to repair and alter the ship for $168,000.

The funds, said Pastorius, will be raised by the association.

The Olympia began her naval career in 1895. She was taken out of commission in 1922 and is now at the Philadelphia Navy Yard, in such condition that public visitation is prohibited.

Enjoyed Movie

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — There's some speculation that Chicago merchant, Sol Polk enjoyed the movie "Around the World in 80 Days."

He's just bought $105,885 worth of tickets to it.

Polk, proprietor of a big appliance house in Chicago, plans to give the tickets to his customers, at the rate of 100 a performance for a year.

CHAPTER 14

Whatever bonds of loyalty and respect Lieutenant Emil Schwabacker welded between himself and his men, he lost with the civilian personnel. Four dead civilians, according to their way of thinking, was too much to pay the Indians. A soldier was paid to stand and bleed, but not a civilian.

Rutledge Hughes made this plain when he came to Schwabacker's fire and stood there, legs wide spread, anger splashed across his face. "I want some talk and I want it now, Lieutenant."

Finnegan and Schwabacker both looked up from the coffee Finnegan had made. "Sit down," Schwabacker invited.

"I'll say my say standing," Hughes said. "This little stunt you pulled don't set good with me. I've invited them. When we get to Kearny, there's going to be something done about it." He hitched up his pants and snorted through his nose. "My men aren't going to have their lives imperiled because some big-noose officer is glory-hunting."

Schwabacker started to rise, but Sean Finnegan put out his hand. "You got a bad arm, sor. Let me."

"Permission granted," Schwabacker said as Hughes looked from one to the other. His attention centered on Finnegan when the sergeant stepped around the fire, his eyes belligerent. The instant Hughes correctly read Finnegan's intent, he bellowed and charged, arms swinging. Finnegan struck out, catching Hughes flush on the mouth. The sutler staggered back, blood welling from split lips. Finnegan went after him and hit him again.

From a prone position, Hughes looked up, but the fight was over. Schwabacker said, "Return to your camp, and if there is any more of this you'll ride to Kearny in one of your wagons, tussled up like a chicken."

"I fight my own fights," Hughes said and got to his feet, hands flailing dust from his clothes. He glared once more at Schwabacker then went to his own camp.

Schwabacker said, "I'm in your debt, Sergeant."

"Ah, sor, it was a pleasure."

The morning dawned bright and his desk, or his belt buckle. "I'll be frank, Lieutenant; I expected to see Temple Jocelyn at the head of that column."

"He's been wounded, sir," Schwabacker recounted the fight at Ryndlee's road ranch. He then made his complete report, covering the invited attack, Spotted Tail's defeat, and Rutledge Hughes' objections.

This impressed General Wessels. He said, "The duty here is rough, Lieutenant, but you show promise. The Fetterman massacre is still Red Cloud's strong medicine. Couple that with Carlington's bungling tactics and this Sioux believes he is invincible." His fingers continued to drum. "I must say that it is heartening to know that Red Cloud's allies can take a licking. I'll see that you receive proper credit in my weekly dispatch."

"Thank you, sir."

"I like written reports, Lieutenant. In great detail. Word of mouth is easily misunderstood or distorted. See that such a report is placed on my desk by work call tomorrow."

"Yes, sir," Schwabacker saluted and went out, where he found the officer of the day waiting. His quarters turned out to be a small room near the end of a long row of identical rooms. After the formality of signing for the spare furniture, the O.D. left and Emil Schwabacker waited for his orderly to fetch his few belongings.

But Sergeant Finnegan brought them, along with the report that the wounded were being cared for and that none was likely to die. Finnegan, for some reason known only to himself, felt an inclination to remain while Schwabacker unpacked and hung his uniforms.

Finally the sergeant said, "Sor, can I ask a question?"

Schwabacker looked at him. "Yes. Forget the rank in this room, Sean."

"Ah, that's th' way it should be, sor."

"Was it that way with Jocelyn?"

Finnegan frowned. "You're always bringin' that up, sor? He's out of th' troop sor. You're in command of E now."

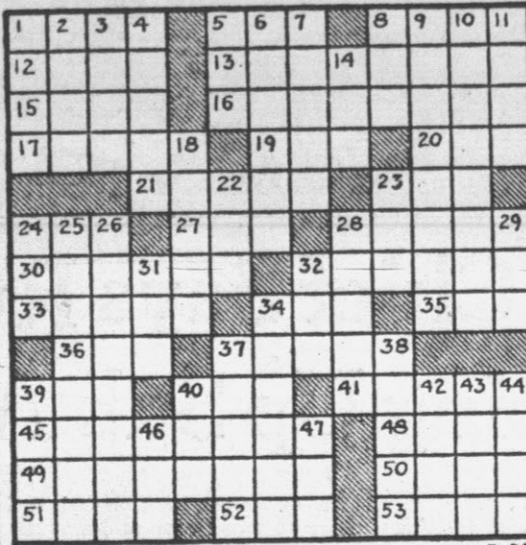

"What did you want to ask me, Sean?"

"Just that, sor. How come you got to work so hard, as though you was tryin' to outdo him all th' time?"

"Maybe I am," Schwabacker said. He peeled off his shirt and poured a basin of water. "I've lived a lifetime in the shadow of a man who was so big I just knew I could never be as good as he was. So I went to West Point to be on my own." He paused to splash water over his face. He talked through the towel. "The gods are against me, Sean. The Civil War was over by the time I was commissioned, my assignment to Fort Laramie was one of inaction, and on top of that I got Temple Jocelyn for a commanding officer, another man like my father, only more kind, even greater than my father."

Lost His Fight To Temptation

SELLERSVILLE, Pa. (AP)—Quakertown state police say night watchman Clarence T. Bergey told them he fought temptation for 15 minutes in front of an open safe but lost the battle.

Police have charged Bergey with stealing $3,000 from Forrest Lodge of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. He was night watchman there for eight years.

Bergey told police he remembered on his night off that he had left $10 at the lodge. When he drove to the club to get his money, he said he noticed the safe was unlocked. He said he stood in front of it for 15 minutes before giving in.

Pistols, revolvers or other firearms which can be concealed on the person are not permitted in U.S. mails.

Crippled Patients Helped By Formula

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
 AP Science Reporter

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Faith, hope and medicine make a wonder formula for many seemingly hopeless cripples, a physician declared today.

It often brings back crippled limbs whose muscles have wasted from disease or accident, said Dr. George J. Boines of Wilmington, Del.

The patient's faith and hope are vital ingredients, he said. The medicine takes many forms, including special exercises and physical therapy to regain control of useless limbs.

Dr. Boines described methods and results in an exhibit at the opening of the ninth annual Scientific Assembly of the American Academy of General Practice, the organization of family doctors.

Muscle failure caused by polio, cerebral palsy, injury, multiple sclerosis and other conditions can and should be treated energetically, he said. And such crippling "should never be regarded as incurable."

A first step is to correct any coexisting problems such as anemia, dietary faults, diabetes and anxiety.

Then comes physical therapy and exercise, often with the aid of braces and crutches. All the time, the patient is making a determined effort to help himself.

Dr. Boines cited some examples:

A 25-year-old woman was regarded as incurable, with no hope of ever walking, after a brain injury in 1954. Today she walks with canes and a foot brace, is earning a living by teaching school.

A girl of 18, crippled by polio as a baby, couldn't walk because of a deformed left knee and leg. A year later she was walking with a foot brace, afterward discarded it. She's now a school teacher.

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK (AP) — Industrials headed a slight stock market decline in sluggish trading early this afternoon.

Key stocks lost fractions to around a point. A few small gainers remained.

News of further layoffs in industry, continued shortness in copper prices and the outlook for an even lower operating rate in the steel industry put a damper on investors' interest, brokers said.

The early gains among some industrials were either erased or pared to a minimum. Oils still held generally to the upside but by a narrow margin.

Losses among the leading rails and utilities, however, were very slight, with many of the key stocks in these groups showing little or no change.

In early trades Lukens Steel tacked on more than a point to its 2 3/4 gain on Friday when today's news of a higher order backlog was apparently anticipated.

In later dealings, however, Lukens erased its early gain, subsequently rising a small fraction.

Ford, one of the firms reducing its work force, dropped around a point. Chrysler took a similar loss.

Among steels, Bethlehem and Youngstown dropped about a point while U.S. Steel was down a fraction and Republic Steel clung to the upside narrowly.

Douglas and United Aircraft each lost about a point. In the copper division, Anaconda and Kennecott fell around a point each. Phelps Dodge eased.

Tobacco shares were unchanged to lower following their setback Friday on news of another scientific report linking cigarette smoking to lung cancer.

Standard Oil (New Jersey) and Royal Dutch were up fractions. Gulf Oil and Sinclair were firm.

Losses were taken by American Tobacco, Union Carbide, Du Pont, Santa Fe, Illinois Central, Good year, Consolidated Edison and Caterpillar.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was down 40 cents to $173.50 with the industrials off 90 cents, the rails off 10 cents and the utilities off 10 cents.

ELIZABETHTOWN, Ky. (AP) — A young soldier from Thomasville, N.C. faces arraignment here today on three murder charges in the deaths of his wife and two small children.

SP. 2 C. Calton W. Whack, 20, stationed at nearby Ft. Knox, is charged with murder in the deaths of his wife, Mrs. Lila Mae Whack, 19, and two children, Richard, 3, and Walter 17 months, Police Det. Lt. Cecil Cabbage said Saturday.

Mrs. Whack and the children died Feb. 23 when half of their small duplex house was gutted by fire.

Lt. Cabbage said after Whack was given a lie detector test under military supervision, the soldier said he struck his wife during an argument shortly before the fire. Cabbage said Whack told him when he left the house his wife was lying "still" on the floor.

Chairman McClellan (D-Ark) of the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee said, "We know that Beck took from union treasuries some $270,000. There is no evidence of a loan nor of a gift."

McClellan said "that's as far as I could go" in characterizing the transaction pending Beck's own testimony about it.

Beck canceled last night an airline reservation he had made for a flight from Seattle, his home, to Washington today.

Duff, a former Republican senator from Pennsylvania, was asked whether Beck might already have slipped into the city unannounced.

"I won't discuss that," he replied.

PTA Votes Pay To Keep Teacher

FOUNTAIN—Members of the Fountain PTA have voted to assume responsibility for keeping eight teachers at Fountain School during the 1957-1958 school year.

The association voted last week to provide funds for a teacher the school might lose next year on the basis of 1956-1957 attendance figures. Their decision was made after a report on attendance and teacher quotas by Principal D. Calvin Stokes.

Basic sources of the funds will be a barbecue supper, scheduled for April 17, and a corn drive. Roscoe Bell and James Norville were named to develop the projects after a discussion of them by School Committee Chairman Stancliff Dilda.

Local contributions will be sought to absorb any deficits after the projects are completed.

Other portions of the business session, which was conducted by Mrs. Carter Smith, included an announcement that the pre-school clinic would be held April 12 and another announcement that the Rev. John Goff of the First Christian Church in Ayden would be the commencement speaker.

Students in the sixth, seventh and eighth grades presented a stunt hour during the meeting.

Elizabeth Drake and George E. Perry, faculty members of the department of music at East Carolina College, will give recitals of works for two pianos during April and May both in Scotland Neck and at the college.

The faculty musicians will play by invitation in Scotland Neck Friday, April 5, at 8 p.m. in the high school there. Under the sponsorship of the college department of music, they will give a repeat performance in the Austin building at the college Monday, May 6, at 8 p.m.

Four major works will be included on their recital program. Selections will be the two-piano sonata in D major by Mozart, Carnival of the Animals by Saint-Saens, Les Songs by Milhaud, and La Valse by Ravel.

The East Carolina pianists have been heard in two-piano recitals at college and in towns and cities in various parts of the state. They have played for the Greenville and the Raleigh music clubs, the Farmville chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution, and other groups in Rocky Mount, New Bern, Wake Forest, and elsewhere.

Miss Drake, whose home is Scotland Neck, is a graduate of the Woman's College, Greensboro, and of the Julliard School of Music in New York. In addition, her training as a pianist includes study with the noted musicians and teachers James Friskin, Robert Goldsand, and Claude Arrau. Before coming to East Carolina, she taught at Judson College in Alabama and at Julliard.

Mr. Perry received his musical education at the University of Wisconsin and the Wisconsin School of Music. He is a fellow of the American Guild of Organists. In addition to being both pianist and organist, he has received recognition for his work as a composer. A violin sonata which won a state award from the North Carolina Federation of Music Clubs, and a suite for clarinets have been performed before a number of audiences in this state. As a teacher Mr. Perry has been a faculty member at Florida State University and the Wisconsin School of Music.

Beck reportedly To Face Probers

WASHINGTON (AP)—An attorney for Dave Beck said today the Teamsters Union president will "without question or qualification" show up for a hearing tomorrow by investigating senators who have a $270,000 question to throw at him.

Beck's attorney, former Sen. James H. Duff, told newsmen: "Any report that he is not coming is just plain bunk."

The senators want to ask Beck about his turning over $270,000 to the union, which recorded it as repayment of loans, when so far the senators have been able to determine there was no record of the money having been lent to Beck.

Chairman McClellan (D-Ark) of the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee said, "We know that Beck took from union treasuries some $270,000. There is no evidence of a loan nor of a gift."

McClellan said "that's as far as I could go" in characterizing the transaction pending Beck's own testimony about it.

Beck canceled last night an airline reservation he had made for a flight from Seattle, his home, to Washington today.

Duff, a former Republican senator from Pennsylvania, was asked whether Beck might already have slipped into the city unannounced.

"I won't discuss that," he replied.

Two-Piano Recital Series Is Scheduled

Elizabeth Drake and George E. Perry, faculty members of the department of music at East Carolina College, will give recitals of works for two pianos during April and May both in Scotland Neck and at the college.

The faculty musicians will play by invitation in Scotland Neck Friday, April 5, at 8 p.m. in the high school there. Under the sponsorship of the college department of music, they will give a repeat performance in the Austin building at the college Monday, May 6, at 8 p.m.

Four major works will be included on their recital program. Selections will be the two-piano sonata in D major by Mozart, Carnival of the Animals by Saint-Saens, Les Songs by Milhaud, and La Valse by Ravel.

The East Carolina pianists have been heard in two-piano recitals at college and in towns and cities in various parts of the state. They have played for the Greenville and the Raleigh music clubs, the Farmville chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution, and other groups in Rocky Mount, New Bern, Wake Forest, and elsewhere.

Miss Drake, whose home is Scotland Neck, is a graduate of the Woman's College, Greensboro, and of the Julliard School of Music in New York. In addition, her training as a pianist includes study with the noted musicians and teachers James Friskin, Robert Goldsand, and Claude Arrau. Before coming to East Carolina, she taught at Judson College in Alabama and at Julliard.

Mr. Perry received his musical education at the University of Wisconsin and the Wisconsin School of Music. He is a fellow of the American Guild of Organists. In addition to being both pianist and organist, he has received recognition for his work as a composer. Vote Extension

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Finance Committee today voted a 15-month extension of three billion dollars worth of annual business taxes after turning down proposals for relief of small business.

Also rejected was an amendment by Sen. Williams (R-Del) to cut the oil and gas depletion allowance from 27 1/2 to 15 per cent.

The present corporation income and excise tax rates would be extended through June 30, 1958, under the bill sent to the Senate floor by the committee.

These rates will drop automatically next Monday—April 1—unless the extension measure is signed by President Eisenhower before then.

Eisenhower asked for a year's extension, but the administration agreed to go along with the 15-month period after Finance Committee members said they wanted to put the tax law on the same basis as the government's fiscal year.

Officers participating in the arrests were J.M. Ward, H.B. Lilley, W.M. Taylor and J.L. Ross.
