Two File, Whedbee Slayings In Iran Says 'Not Running'

By ALVIN TAYLOR Reflector City Editor Mayor W. L. Whedbee this morning announced that he would not seek re-election as a councilman and former mayor Lester D. Page filed as a candidate for the City Council.

candidate in the coming election. "As your mayor, during the past four years, I have done my best to guide our city government in such a manner that you would be proud of it."

Businessmen Try Street-Sweeping

This city's Clean Up-Paint Up Weeks began today as approximately 60 businessmen swept Evans St. from the Courthouse to Five Points.

Mayor W. L. Whedbee last week signed a proclamation which designated the period from April 1 to April 13 as Clean Up-Paint Up Weeks.

In signing the proclamation the mayor called upon "all departments of this city, its commercial organizations, civic clubs, schools, churches, boys' and girls' clubs and all other associations and our people in general to take an active part in this constructive program of community improvement to insure its success."

Clean Up-Paint Up Council President Brooks Beddingfield estimated that "at least 60 persons" participated in the kick off project this morning.

"The fact that that number of persons turned out really shows the amount of interest there is in this project," he declared.

He expressed appreciation to all who participated in sweeping Evans St. He also pointed out that the "Police Department and Department of Public Works cooperated with us on the whole thing."

The Clean Up-Paint Up drive originated with the Greenville Garden Club which called on other civic groups to cooperate. Subsequently the Clean Up-Paint Up Council was organized and Beddingfield was elected president.

The council then made plans for the intensive drive which is now underway.

Actually, Beddingfield says, the efforts to have a cleaner city will continue all year and the Clean Up-Paint Up Council will function on a year-around basis. A drive is planned each spring, however.

Surveys of the city have already been made this year and letters have been written to owners of property which is in need of cleaning.

The City Council has appropriated funds to be used for the purchase of approximately 50 trash receptacles which will be mounted on poles in the business district. Beddingfield said this morning that the receptacles have not yet arrived but they will be installed as soon as they are received.

Shoppers who ventured into the business section at 9 o'clock this morning saw around 60 of Greenville's businessmen sweeping down the city's main thoroughfare.

April Fool, Nope. It was simply a stunt to kick off this city's Clean Up-Paint Up Weeks - April 1 through the 13th.

Sweepers brought their own brooms and two teams worked from Five Points and the Courthouse to meet at the intersection of Evans and Fourth Sts.

The sweepers garnered approximately one shovelful of dirt and paper which was promptly scooped up by Public Works Department crews and hauled off in a department truck which was standing by for the occasion.

But if the crew of sweepers were not efficient they were enthusiastic and there were whoops and yells as each team began their work.

Jarvis Alligood began the Courthouse crew on their journey with the old Navy cry: "Sweepers man your broom."

On the opposite end of the street Brooks Beddingfield, president of the Clean Up-Paint Up Council, issued an equally lusty yell: "Let's go, boys."

Adding to the enthusiasm of the sweepers was the presence of the high school majorettes. The lovely young ladies passed out pins to the sweepers, shoppers and everyone else in sight. The pins read: "Clean Up, Paint Up, Fix Up, Keep It Up."

Practically all the majorettes stuck with the Courthouse team during the 30 minute job. The Five Points team won the race to the intersection meeting place by 10 or 12 feet.

The reason, according to bystanders, was because the Courthouse crew spent more time watching the majorettes than they did working.

Probably the greatest collection of odd brooms ever assembled in this city was at work on Evans St. Included were push brooms and the straw type, some worn to a nub and others in working condition.

The work was evidently back-breaking. Some of the sweeping crew were slightly red in the face when the job was completed and one of those watching observed: "The hospital will do a booming business today." All the volunteers made it off the street under their own steam, however.

Public Works Superintendent Kenneth Beatty urged the sweepers to continue when the job was completed.

"Don't stop now," he said "We've got more streets."

Slayings In Iran Halt 'Point 4'

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) - Sources close to the Iranian government said today Prime Minister Hussein Ala has told associates he will resign as result of the desert bandit massacre of three Americans.

These informants said his resignation will be announced Wednesday, after the departure of West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, now in Tehran as a government guest, so as "to prevent embarrassment" to Adenauer.

The sources said Dr. Meneucher Eghbal, vigorous president of Tehran University, court minister and close associate of the Shah will be proposed as new premier.

The change reportedly was to give the government a stronger hand in dealing with banditry and tribal defiance of the government.

Earlier, the United States announced that the Point Four program in southeast Iran has been suspended until the killers are caught.

The American victims of the bandits were Mrs. Anita Carroll and her husband, Kevin, a U.S. Point Four program official; Brewster Wilson, who is development specialist for the Near East Foundation. Mrs. Carroll's body was found yesterday two miles from the spot where her husband, Wilson, and two Iranians were slain in ambush a week ago Sunday.

Clark S. Gregory, director of the Point Four program in Iran, announced that aid had been suspended because he was not wholly satisfied with measures taken so far to wipe out the desert bandits responsible for the killings.

Gregory made the announcement after an on-the-spot investigation. Ala, 74, won worldwide fame in 1946 by his defiance of the Soviet Union in the infant United Nations organization. It was in the course of this debate, on the question of Soviet troops in Iran, that Soviet Delegate Andrei Gromyko staged Russia's first walkout from U.N. debate.

Eghbal was named court minister by the Shah in June 1956. He is a 49-year-old physician, educator and politician who has served in previous cabinets as minister of education, communications and public health. He is also a former governor of Azerbaijan province which borders on the Soviet Union.

The bandit band, reportedly afoot and whittled down by several runaway fights with pursuing police and troops, is pushing through bleak desert mountain country of southern Baluchistan in a desperate attempt to escape across the frontier into Pakistan.

to reduce the number of federal employees. The senator said total civilian employment reached 2,390,507 in February, a 3.42 increase over January. He did not list the overall cost figure for February, a shorter month.

He said the budget includes nearly two billion dollars for spending on 41 new and expanded programs.

He listed 26 programs as new with proposed spending of $729,170,900 during the first year and a total cost of more than three billions. Fifteen others are proposed for expansion, he said, with a first-year cost of $1,167,160,425 and a total cost of more than 5 1/2 billions.

He called it a proposed "spending spree that will continue inflation and increase the cost of living."

A bill which might eventually result in an Industrial Development Commission for Pitt County will not be introduced into the General Assembly until the question of who will be on the commission is settled.

County commissioners today requested Representative Frank Wooten to hold the bill until they can study membership of the proposed commission a little more.

County Attorney W. W. Speight, who drew the bill, is out-of-town and was not present at the meeting.

The original bill drawn by Speight provides for a 12-member commission with members to come from ten specified areas and two at-large appointees. Speight said Saturday, however, that the bill would be changed to include Bethel in the specified area and to increase the commission membership to 13.

This morning, the commissioners discussed the possibility of having at least one commission member from each township, plus the two at-large members. There are 15 townships in the county and the original bill does not provide for commission members from five of them.

Wooten promised to hold the bill until the question of membership is settled.

Other action by the commissioners this morning was on routine business. Reports were received from several county agencies, two road petitions were approved, a tax release was granted and a financial report was accepted.

Federal Payroll At All-Time High

By JACK BELL WASHINGTON (AP) - Sen. Byrd (D-Va.) reported today the federal payroll hit an all-time peak in January of a billion dollars a month.

Byrd, who heads the Senate-House Committee on Reduction of Non-Essential Expenditures, said regular civilian workers for the government drew $989,549,900 and payroll funds for foreign nationals employed by U. S. agencies abroad totaled $16,700,000 in January.

"This total was reported despite a decrease in employment which occurred during the same month," Byrd said.

He said payrolls for the first seven months of fiscal year 1957, totaled $6,600,000,000, for a monthly average of 946 million dollars.

Byrd has contended that one of the quickest ways to cut Eisenhower's $71,800,000,000 budget is to increase the commission membership to 13.

Charged With Murder

YOUTH DIES AFTER KNIFING—Officers are shown above taking Theodore Boyd, an air force enlisted man, to city jail after the death of Joseph Tyson, 18-year old Negro, last night. Physicians said Tyson bled to death after the main artery in his left leg was severed. (Reflector Staff Photo)

Knife Wound Is Fatal For Pitt Man; 'Just Playing'

By EVERETTE PARKER Reflector Staff Writer A knife wound received while "playing" last night resulted in death for Joe Arthur Tyson, 18-year-old Negro of Winterville.

Investigating officers from the Greenville Police Department have charged Theodore Boyd, 24-year-old Winterville Negro man with murder. Given a preliminary hearing this morning in City Court Boyd has been bound over to Superior Court and is presently under a $5,000 bond.

A Coroner's inquest will be held tomorrow night in the City Court Room at 7:30, it was learned this morning. Pitt County Coroner Griffith H. Rouse will conduct the inquest.

Boyd, a serviceman stationed at Seymour Johnson Air Force Base in Goldsboro, stated that he had known Tyson for a number of years and they "were the best of friends." Boyd added that he struck at the deceased after he hit him with a knife on the side of his head but did not know that he had cut him. At the time, Boyd was getting in his automobile parked in front of the Tropicana Club, officers quoted him as saying.

The knife wound severed the main artery in Tyson's left leg.

According to witnesses, no one knew that the 18-year-old boy was seriously cut. Tyson asked a bystander to take him to Pitt Memorial Hospital but died before he arrived. Excessive loss of blood was the cause of his death, a report shows.

Hodges Repeats Opinion State Will Find Funds

RALEIGH (AP) - Gov. Hodges reiterated today he believes the Legislature can find revenues to provide "substantial" pay increases for teachers and state employees without levying new taxes.

The governor said this at his news conference, where he told newsmen he will confer with legislative leaders this week on the subject.

"My feeling is we can give substantial increases, carry out our over-all program and still not have to institute new taxes," Hodges said.

At his news conference the governor also told newsmen: 1. He expects to announce the appointment of three members of the State Board of Education this week and that he expects to continue the policy of having a Negro member on the board.

2. He feels reappointment legislation now before the Legislature has "the best chance" it "has ever had." He said he had talked to several legislators who said "they would like to do something."

He said he had pointed out to lawmakers that it is "only to do something" about reappointment.

3. He is opposed to a bill introduced in the Legislature last week which would require the deposit of the state's surplus funds in state banks and freeze the interest rate on such deposits at 2 percent. Hodges said he is satisfied with present law which says the state should invest its surplus funds where they can draw the greatest interest.

4. He thinks the idea behind legislation to curb the power of registrars in administering literacy tests to would-be voters "is good." Hodges said he thought the bill is in line with "North Carolina's moderation in trying" to handle racial matters "in as fair a way as possible."

17 Republicans face a field of 12 Democrats. Twenty-two names will appear on the ballot, but three withdrew after they were printed and threw their support to others.

Thad Hutcheson of Houston is the leading GOP candidate. He was endorsed by President Eisenhower and was nominated by the State Republican Convention.

If Hutcheson wins, he says he will vote to reorganize the U. S. Senate under Republican control. The other GOP candidate, Herbert Antoine Sr. of Bastrop, has said he would not vote to reorganize the Senate.

Texas Scene Of Crucial Election

DALLAS (AP) - Candidates in Texas' special U. S. Senate race made their final bid for support today and prepared to head home to await the verdict of the voters tomorrow.

At stake is the Senate seat vacated by Price Daniel who resigned in January to become governor. William Blakley of Dallas is serving as interim senator until a successor is elected to serve out the remaining 18 months of Daniel's term.

The balance of power in the Senate could hang on the result of tomorrow's election.

Program At Duke Alumnae Day

DURHAM—"War babies" and the educational problems they will present will be the topic for discussion at the annual Alumnae Day program at Duke University Saturday, April 6.

A panel of Duke University administrators will conduct a forum on "Quality vs. Quantity" in an attempt to answer the question: How is Duke University going to give quality education in the face of quantity demands?

The day's activities will begin with a coffee and social hour at 9:30 a.m. in Asbury Building on East campus. At 10:30, immediately following the coffee hour, the panel discussion will begin.

Taking part on the panel will be: Dr. Alan K. Manchester, Dean of Trinity College; Dr. Richard L. Tuttle, University Registrar; John M. Dozier, Associate Secretary of the University and Assistant to the Vice-president in the Division of Public Relations; and Dean Ann M. Jacobson of the Duke School of Nursing.

Officers of the Duke University Alumnae Association will be elected at the one o'clock luncheon in the Women's College Union. Mrs. Frances Brooks Stein of Fayetteville, current president of the Association, will preside.

Highlighting the luncheon will be a report by Dean E. Florence Brinkley of the Women's College on the year's activities at the College, and a talk by Mrs. W. I. White, Associate Professor of English, on "Recent Developments in Drama."

On Friday afternoon and evening preceding Alumnae Day, the Alumnae Council will hold its regular spring meeting in the Men's Graduate Living Center. Members also will have the opportunity to attend the performance of the Duke Concert Band Friday night.

All Duke alumnae wishing to attend should make their reservations through the Duke Alumni Office in Durham by April 2.

Tiny Hot Cross Loaves Make Hit

MINIATURE HOT CROSS LOAVES . . . turned out of small-fry baking pans.

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor
MINIATURE HOT CROSS LOAVES are so inviting that they'll be carried off and eaten before you can say "Lent."

A Michigan colleague of ours passed along the idea of baking regular hot cross bun dough in tiny loaf pans and, thanks to her ingenuity, a new culinary tradition may have been found! The small pans—each measuring about 4 1/2 by 2 1/2 by 1 1/2 inches—are widely available. We found ours in a dime store at 15 cents apiece on a counter that held cooking utensils for small fry. The pans may be used for many dishes besides the Lenten one—for miniature sponge cakes, fruit cakes, meat loaves, molded salads.

Our hot cross loaves are faintly colored and scented with cinnamon and studded with currants and candied fruit. Because the dough is not overly sweet, we used a generous amount of white frosting to mark the tops. Delicious when sliced and served with butter soon after they come out of the oven, the loaves are also unusually good sliced and toasted after they are a few days old—if you keep any of them around that long.

MINIATURE HOT CROSS LOAVES

Ingredients: 3-4 cup milk, 1 teaspoon salt, 1-3 cup sugar, 1-4 cup shortening, 1-4 cup warm (near 105 degrees) water, 1 package active dry yeast, 2 eggs, 1-4 teaspoon cinnamon, 4-1-2 cups shortening (melted), 1-3 cup currants (rinsed in hot water and drained), 1-3 cup chopped candied fruit, 1 egg yolk, Confectioners' Frosting.

Method: Scald milk; stir in salt, sugar and shortening; cool to lukewarm. Measure warm water into mixing bowl; sprinkle in yeast; stir until dissolved; stir in lukewarm milk mixture. Beat 2 eggs enough to combine yolks and whites; add to yeast mixture with cinnamon; stir well. Add half the flour; beat until smooth. Stir in additional flour. Turn dough out on lightly floured board; knead. Place in greased bowl; brush top lightly with melted shortening. Cover with clean towel; let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk—about 1 hour. Punch dough down and turn out on lightly floured board; knead currants and candied fruit into dough. Divide dough into 8 equal pieces, shape into small loaves (elongated rolls). Press into greased miniature bread pans (each 4 1/2 by 2 1/2 by 1 1/2 inches). Beat together 1 egg yolk and 2 tablespoons cold water; brush tops of loaves with the mixture. Cover. Let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk—about 1 hour and 15 minutes. Bake in moderate (375 degrees) oven about 25 to 30 minutes. Remove from pans to racks; cool and decorate with Confectioners' Frosting. Confectioners' Frosting: Mix 3-4 cup sifted confectioners' sugar, 3 teaspoons milk and 1-8 teaspoon vanilla until smooth. If not thick enough for spreading consistency, add extra confectioners' sugar. Drop from tip of small coffee spoon, making several crosses on top of cold loaves.

Garden Club To Present Club Program

Garden Club members will present the program for the Women's Club when it meets at the Club House, Friday afternoon. Mrs. Vance Perkins, program chairman, will be the leader for the meeting. Slides of specimens, arrangements and gardens made during the year by garden club members will be shown. Garden club members plan to bring bulb specimens for the group to view.

Hostesses for the afternoon will be Mesdames Howard Moyer, J. J. White, George Staples, W. R. Smith, H. C. Sugg, J. C. Lanier, Gilbert Peel, and J. R. Worsley.

Miss Perkins Entertained At Virginia Beach

Miss Virginia Perkins, bride-elect of May, who until her resignation was a member of the faculty of Cook's School, Virginia Beach, was honored at a series of parties there last week.

On Monday evening Miss Peggy Nicholas of London Bridge entertained at dessert. Tuesday evening Mr. and Mrs. Paul De Witt were hosts at cocktails. A kitchen shower was given on Wednesday night by Mrs. Fred Soles and members of her bridge club. Thursday afternoon, Mrs. Hood and the faculty of Cook's School held open house and on Friday afternoon the grade mothers of Miss Perkins' second grade gave her a miscellaneous shower.

Miss Perkins was the recipient of many bridal gifts.

Moose Women To Give College Scholarship

The Greenville Chapter 1308, Women of the Moose, held its regular meeting Thursday night at the Moose Temple with Senior Regent Louise Carrigan presiding.

The chapter had as guests members of the Washington chapter, Women of the Moose, No. 1182, which was instituted by Greenville March 19th in Washington. Those present were Senior Regent Louise Thomas and all elective and appointed officers.

As a continuous project of the chapter it was decided that a scholarship be given to a deserving student at E. C. C. each year. The chapter also voted to send two local Girl Scouts each year to Camp Hardee.

Civic Affairs Committee Chairman Mrs. S. L. Rowland reported two needy families had been clothed and clothing had been furnished for a funeral.

Mrs. Percy Cox, recreation chairman, announced the annual Easter egg hunt for children would be held April 21st at 3:00 p.m. at Elm Street Park.

After all business the meeting closed in ritualistic form to meet again April 11th at 8:00 p.m.

Jr. spent the weekend in Raleigh. Haywood Sellers, is critically ill in Rex Hospital.

Local Sorority Plans Wheelchair Tag Day Sale

The Epsilon Sigma Alpha sorority held its monthly meeting at the City Hall last Tuesday night. The opening ceremony was led by the president Mrs. Josephine Dees.

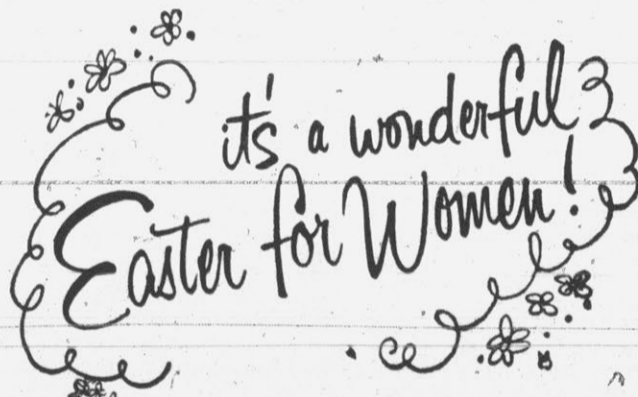

During the business program plans were made for wheelchair tag day to be held Saturday. Donations on tag sale will be used to buy wheelchairs for public lending through the Pitt County Health Department.

After a short demonstration and talk on methods of relaxation, given by Mrs. Ramona Howard, the meeting was closed.

Chairmen Need Help For Camp Hospital Ward

Mrs. J. T. Little, State chairman of the Volunteer Hospital Service Council for Camp Lejeune and Cherry Point; and Mrs. Ray Minges, Pitt County Chairman, are asking members of the community to assist them in collecting recreational items for closed ward patients at Lejeune and Cherry Point.

Citizens' Attitude Is Important

The immeasurably important role citizens of a county or community play in the location of a new industry in their midst is now being exhibited in neighboring Beaufort County.

Bear Creek Mining Company, a subsidiary of Kennecott Copper Co., has visions of extensive phosphate mining operations in Beaufort County and ultimately a multi-million dollar operation in mining and processing the mineral in that county.

As is so often the case when a new industry wants to move to a new site, the attitude of local people in Beaufort County now is the key to possible success or failure of the proposed operations.

The mining company is seeking mineral rights and options on 250,000 acres of land in Beaufort County. If the options on this amount of land in the county can be secured, extensive testing and research will be made. If the options cannot be secured, company officials say, the envisioned project will have to be abandoned. The matter rests with the landowners of the county. Potentially it is a multi-million dollar decision the landowners of Beaufort County are making in deciding whether or not to sell the company the options it seeks.

Obviously the mining and processing operations the company envisions in Beaufort County could mean a tremendous boost to that county in terms of employment and the sale of minerals from the land by individual landowners. This additional income in Beaufort County can be acquired without interfering with normal farming operations which bring the county the major portion of its present income.

Don't Count On Big Budget Cut

By ELMER ROESSNER

The Federal budget will not be cut much. It won't be trimmed enough to permit a shaving of tax rates half a point, the way things look today. Congress may postpone the building of a few dams, bridges and ball parks. It may clip a few jobs here and there. It may trim appropriations for overseas aid. It may even lop off a few thousand miles of government travel.

This may appease some of those protesting the size of government spending and it will make it seem that the good old Congressmen mean well. But the total trimmings won't be much. There are several reasons. Some items, such as interest on the national debt, care of veterans and certain basic operating costs cannot be cut.

DEFENSE BUDGET SACROSANCT

The defense budget has been given an aura of inviolability. Anyone who wants a cut is, ipso facto, suspect of being insufficiently friendly to communism. So we go on maintaining four air corps, three guided missile programs, three floating organizations, two hospital systems and endless duplication of other operations.

There's another big reason why budget cuts will be only window dressing. The budget estimates were made last August. Since then prices have risen and wage rates have gone up. At the same time, taxable income is rising less rapidly than was expected then. Every government agency needs more money, and less money may be coming in.

Here are more predictions, based on analyses of developing trends:

This will be a big plastics year in agriculture. Bakelite black polyethylene, tested for use as much last year with sometimes sensational results, will be available nationally this spring and dealers expect heavy sales. They also hope to sell a lot more vinyl plastic irrigation piping, such as marketed by Trinity Products and others. Such pipes are easy to handle and conserve considerable water.

MORE PRICE SHIFTS COMING

Many commodity prices will be trimmed soon. They would have dropped by this time, except for suspicion that Egypt would cross up the rest of the world and keep the Canal blocked to big ships. But now that it appears the Canal will be restored to full operation, oil, heavy fibers, tin, rubber, wool and other commodities normally routed through the Canal will lose some of their "scare" premiums.

Grain prices will stay down. There's nothing on the horizon to generate a rally. Weak grain prices will tend to keep soybean prices depressed, and more mills may curtail crushing.

Aluminum producers will become more desperate for new power. Production has more than caught up with all the new products engineers have been able to devise in the last 10 years and unless consumption spurts, there will be overproduction of aluminum.

Lead and zinc will remain steady. There are surpluses here, too, but Federal stockpiling promises to keep prices where they are.

Trade with Poland agitation will intensify. We have surpluses of fats and grains, desperately needed there, and American traders want to unload. Those commodities aren't war materials, they argue.

OLD PROMOTER SPOTS A QUASI PICKPOCKET

The Old Promoter was late today. He made his weekly call today.

"Saw a fellow have trouble stopping his car," he explained, "so I took time to call a cop to give him a ticket for driving with defective brakes."

"What?" he exclaimed. "I didn't know you were the kind of fellow who would go around stopping cops on autoists. I always thought you were one to call 'Hickey!'"

"If somebody was picking your pocket, you'd cry copper, wouldn't you?" he asked.

"Yes, but —"

"It's the same thing. Anybody who drives with bad brakes picks my pocket and yours. Bad breaks are a big cause of accidents, and the large number of accidents make you and me pay high rates for auto insurance."

We forgave him and handed him a cigar. After all, it is interesting to find the old fellow on the side of law and order.

NEWS YOU MAY USE IN BUSINESS

The 1957 edition of its Buyer's Manual will be published by the National Retail Dry Goods Association on Monday; 500 pages, $10. Exporters may find clues in "Developing Foreign Markets for U. S. Farm Products," 53 pages, 35 cent from the Superintendent of Documents, Washington 25, D. C. Members of the National Association of Real Estate Boards on Sunday will start giving away a booklet on "How To Buy Your Own Home."

Wherever an industry eyes a potential new site, the attitude of the people of that particular community is a major factor which governs the final decision to locate a plant or operation. If the community is receptive to the new industry, and the citizens are willing to cooperate, the major part of the battle is won. If on the other hand the citizenry is cool and reluctant to cooperate, the industry will look elsewhere for a location. It matters not whether the industry is seeking mineral options on 250,000 acres of land or the purchase of an acre or two to build a plant. The reception the proposal receives from the people of the community is often the determining factor in the location which is decided upon.

Encouraging Sign Of Union House-Cleaning

By its action suspending Teamster President Dave Beck, the AFL-CIO executive council has put into motion its announced intention to exert every effort to eliminate racketeering and corruption in the country's vast labor organization.

At the outset it appears the AFL-CIO executive council means to deal harshly with Beck who has been charged with diverting some $320,000 in union funds to his own use and has refused to answer questions before a Senate investigations committee. By suspending Beck from the executive council of the overall labor organization the council has taken an initial step which is encouraging. Subsequent action by the council against the Teamsters if that organization hesitates to remove Beck from its presidency will be a rigid test for the intention and authority of the AFL-CIO chiefs.

The labor organizations of this country are big business. They have a tremendous responsibility not only to their members, but also to the public just as other big businesses. Among these is the responsibility to ferret out corrupt executives and take whatever action necessary to remove them from office. Unless the labor organizations do shoulder this responsibility, racketeers and swindlers will continue to feather their nests at the expense of individual members of the unions.

Zealots May Be Invading Rights

By LYNN NISBET

HEALTH — In their zeal as guardians of the public health the sponsors of pending legislation may be invading constitutional "civil rights" of citizens. This comes about through delegating to the State Board of Health certain additional legislative functions, including the power to adopt rules and regulations with the force of law, and for the violation of which specific penalties are imposed.

For example: Sec. 130-267.14, of a new Article 24B, proposed to be added to the General Statutes, dealing with inspection of milk and milk products, reads as follows:

"Any person, firm or corporation who violates any of the provisions of this Article, or who violates any of the rules and regulations of the State Board of Health adopted pursuant to the authority conferred in this Article, is guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be fined not more than $25.00 for the first offense, and shall be fined an amount to be fixed at the discretion of the court for each subsequent offense."

The unlimited "discretion of the court" means that a fine which might be confiscatory and result in the complete destruction of a profitable business could be imposed if the operator of an ice cream plant or a bottler of milk violated some regulation adopted by a board on which a majority of the members voting for the rule were named by a private professional group, and in whose selection the affected citizens had no direct or indirect voice.

The State Board of Health is composed of nine members, five appointed by the Governor and four named by the North Carolina Medical Society. At any meeting when two of the Governor's appointees were absent the privately named members would constitute a quorum with authority to adopt the regulations.

HEALTH — The State Board of Health is unique in this respect. It is the only agency to which ordinance-making power is granted by the General Assembly, constituted without the members being named and commissioned by a public official or a governmental board. It approaches unique status in the further respect that the series of bills now before the Legislature, and perhaps some others to come, which completely rewrite the laws under which it operates were instigated and sponsored by the board itself.

Most of the other reorganization bills, although many of them grant to State agencies and departments increased authority, resulted from study made by reasonably impartial commissions, authorized by previous instance of the Governor. Legislatures or appointed at the instance of the Governor.

By far the biggest bill introduced in the current assembly is the one giving to the State Board of Health wider powers than it has had. The "big bill" could not embrace all the authority desired and three or four others were offered supplementing the concentration of powers in a board dominated by members appointed by the medical society without requirement even of endorsement by the Governor.

These bills came to the Legislature through introduction by chairmen of the committees on public health, and therefore under the guise of "administration bills." In most instances the introducers have not read them, and often are opposed to some provisions.

There is some concern among legislators about the growing trend to transfer power away from elective officials to administrative appointees. The concern has not been marked enough to stand the trend.

POTPOURRI — Rep. Philip Whitley of Wake, objecting to precipitate approval of the prison separation bill and fighting to keep financial responsibility in the highway fund, said he is afraid of what "some young Ivey Leaguer from Harvard" might rule later about the loss of Federal aid for roads if the prison expense should be taken out and then have to be put back in the highway budget.

Rep. John Umstead of Orange quickly protested when Rep. Tom Turner of Guilford said he thought William Umstead was the first to suggest taking the prison director out of politics. "You've got him wrong," cried the former Governor's older brother. "William never tried to take politics out of anything. I might, but not he."

In another exchange of wise cracks Rep. Phil Whitley said so many roads have already been paved and are so crowded with automobiles turning in money to the highway fund every time the wheels roll over, it is hard to find a place to walk. "Brother, you ought to come to Pender county," quipped Rep. Ashley Murphy.

Strength For Today

WATCH THE WHITE LINE

What would we do without the white line in the center of the road? As I drove through the fog a few nights ago, I was aware of how impossible the trip would have been — and how dangerous — were it not for this center line, and at times, the white line at the right of the road.

But it makes no difference how foggy the night, if we can still see the line we can get where we want to go. We may lose all sense of direction and distance but there is the white line. As long as we can see that, there is no dangerous confusion. There has to be something in everybody's life which corresponds to this white line. The Ten Commandments correspond to the white line. So does a sensitive moral conscience. So do good background and sane and continuous religious instruction. When the going gets rough, when the night is stormy, when we are not sure whether the road is leading — right there before us is some sort of white line — moral directive, prompting of conscience, home training, wise counsel of true friends. The notion that we can disregard the rules of the road constitutes hazard both on the public highways and on the pathway of our everyday living. We simply have to watch that white line.

The Worm's Turn—

Investing Is Haphazard

BABSON PARK, Mass. — Ninety per cent of investments are made haphazardly. Sometimes they are made on the advice of employees of brokerage firms. It, however, will usually be found that these men have been unable to make and KEEP any money for themselves.

IMPORTANCE OF PATIENCE, HOPE, AND DESIRE TO RENDER SERVICE — The selfish, shortsighted person seldom makes much money in the stock market, and keeps it only by sheer luck. Most of the real fortunes of today came from the fundamental desire to render service and give "for value received" help to: (1) A panicky market or (2) a new and useful industry. The first can be accomplished by anyone with patience and hope; and the second sometimes fails because of poor judgment or because one is too early or too late.

Other Editors Saying --- Spring Is Inevitable

(The Charlotte Observer)

Spring begins with the last week in March when your resistance is at the lowest ebb after a long winter. The flu takes its final fling and smacks you down with such viciousness that the doctors can't call it flu. It has become a virus, unidentified but wicked.

When you have recovered from that but the season has arrived at April. April is supposed to laugh with girlish laughter and weep with girlish tears. But this girl is a witch, a witch, a Borgia. She will fool you into putting your topcoat in storage and telling the oil company not to make any more deliveries, and the very next morning you will freeze to death while you are looking at a dogwood in full bloom.

Spring is the time when the grass is afflicted with elephants. You drag out the power mower and strain winter-softened muscles trying to start a motor that gives only one tantalizing put-put and no more, while the fins on the flywheel seem to be teeth exhibited in a sublimely sardonic grin.

Spring is the time when the Lady of the Manor has a seizure of compulsive haste to get the flower beds spaded, the screens put up, the rugs cleaned, the floors waxed, all in one frenzied spring.

Spring is the time when spartor decide in advance which of the above two methods he is to follow. It is difficult to mix the two methods. If you are to follow the first, "selling high and buying low," it is usually best to confine your holdings to the active popular stocks, perhaps those known as the "blue chips"; while the second method often requires buying stocks of new and smaller companies with inactive markets. All purchases should be confined to listed stocks. In either case, never buy on margin or borrowed money. For results with this first method, under the very best conditions — which no one could expect to duplicate — $100 could increase to $90,000 in 40 years, not considering either taxes or dividends. To show the great spread in price of some of the best single stocks, the following figures are most interesting:

METHOD NO. 1 — SELLING HIGH AND BUYING LOW

It is important that an investment be made in a stock which is selling at a price of 55, but selling due to stock splits at an equivalent of 165, sold for 9 during the thirties. Texas Company stock, now selling at an equivalent of 248, then sold at 10. Deere & Company, now selling at an equivalent of 180, then sold at 4. Du Pont, now selling at an equivalent of 720, then sold at 22. General Motors, now selling at an equivalent of 240, then sold at 8; while Radio Corporation, now selling at 33, then sold at 3.

METHOD NO. 2 — BUYING INTO NEW INDUSTRIES

Howard N. Feist, Jr. of the Business Statistics Organization of Wellesley Hills, Mass., has made an analysis of what could have been accomplished by investing only $100 in automobile stocks in 1915 and then making twenty-two successive switches into various industries, at the right time. This results in a most amazing figure of over two billion dollars!

As a practical matter, it would have been very difficult to have picked the right groups at the right time; but if you chose 90 per cent wrong and only 10 per cent right (provided all else was 100 per cent correct), the $100 could have resulted in over $200,000,000, disregarding both taxes and dividends. Any "Doubting Thomas" may get a copy of this analysis with list of groups by sending two dollars to the Information Center, New Boston, N.H.

Leaving A 'Gold Coffin'

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)— After living seven years in a "gold coffin," Dorothy Collins feels right now like an emerging butterfly that has stayed overlong in its cocoon.

"I want to stretch my wings and see how far I can fly on my own," she said. "I want to show people what I can do." The "gold coffin" in her case has been "Your Hit Parade," the durable NBC radio show that also invaded video in 1950 and for most of the time since then has been among the top 15 TV programs.

Although it is a wonderful showcase for talent, such a program is known in the entertainment world as "a gold coffin." The reason: It pays too good to leave, but in time it becomes a kind of straitjacket to a performer.

This season will be the last for bandleader Raymond Scott, Miss Collins (his wife) and the other three singers — Gisela MacKenzie, Snooky Lanson and Russell Arms.

Next year the sponsors will continue the program under the same format with a new crew of faces. This decision implies no criticism of the five who are departing. As a matter of fact they have remained on the show far longer than any other similar group in its 23-year history.

It has been a policy of "Hit Parade" over the years to change its singers almost as often as its tunes.

Among earlier stars who have twinkled on the show and gone on to other things are Dinah Shore, Frank Sinatra, Lawrence Tibbett, Dorothy Kirsten, Doris Day and Georgia Gibbs.

Miss Collins and Snooky Lanson, teamed on the show since it started its TV career seven years ago, hold the longevity record.

Dorothy doesn't mind admitting it is a real wrench to leave "Hit Parade," but she is realistic about it.

"It has been my life for so long," she said. "I turned down all outside offers to stay with it, and I'll always be eternally grateful for the break it gave me."

"But it really is time to move on to something new. You have to grow up. You have to leave school sometime."

Dorothy, a cute blonde whose trademarks were a blouse and a velvet ribbon bow tie, started by singing the commercial jingle on the show, quickly graduated to stellar rank.

To cure a tendency toward lisping, she spent years hissing practically every word in the English language containing the letter "S."

Today nothing annoys her more than people who think she still lisps.

"I don't," she said. "But people don't really hear what you say. They look at my lips as I sing and think they hear a lisp — but the lisp is only in their mind. It isn't in my voice."

This is actually true. Dorothy can say "Mississippi" endlessly and never lisp once.

Canadian born, she became a vocalist at 12 but never took a singing lesson until after she became a professional at 16. Until then she had dreamed of being a secretary.

To prepare herself for a dramatic career, she has been studying acting and dancing intensively. She is currently considering two musical comedy roles and a movie offer.

"I'd really like to see what I can do in a serious role," she said. "But most of all I want to escape from singing teen-age love songs. I'm a little tired of them."

She and Raymond Scott live in a 32-room home on an 11-acre Long Island estate with their daughter, Debbie, 2½.

"Fourteen of the rooms are full of Raymond's hi-fi equipment and a collection of more than 5,000 records," said Dorothy.

Scott expects to have more time now to concentrate on his musical compositions. One of his latest efforts is entitled, "Dedicated piece to the crew and passengers of the first experimental rocket express to the moon."

It has never been featured on "Hit Parade."

Income Tax Laws 'Ineffective'

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — Federal officials' laxity and the vagueness of the income tax laws have enabled labor union officers to defy Internal Revenue authorities with an ease that would stun the average small taxpayer, according to evidence developed before the McClellan Committee. But the revelations against Dave Beck, Frank W. Brewster and James R. Hoffa concerning misuse of union funds are expected to tighten up both the laws and their enforcement.

Testimony on the ineffectiveness of existing statutes against alleged labor union violators was presented to Senator McClellan and his counsel, Robert Kennedy, by John P. Barnes, former Chief Counsel of the Internal Revenue Bureau, and Justin Winkle, Assistant Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

After examining the evidence against the three labor leaders named above, as well as records of their unions, McClellan asked why they had not been prosecuted on charges that they had not reported or paid their full income taxes. The answer was that the three are now being investigated or prosecuted, but that they may be able to take advantage of several loopholes in the laws and escape hatches provided by court decisions.

EMBEZZLED MONEY NOT TAXABLE — The Internal Revenue officials pointed out that a Federal Court had held that embezzled or misappropriated money is not income. Therefore, even if it is proved that Beck, Brewster and Hoffa misused union funds, but did not report these financial transactions to the Labor Department or Internal Revenue, they would be immune from action under that decision.

Another barrier is the fact that labor unions are exempt from the income tax, despite the hundreds of millions they collect in dues. For that reason, they do not consider themselves bound by the law to preserve their records for Federal examination "at all times." As Brewster and Hoffa have testified before the McClellan Committee and several courts, they destroy them systematically and periodically.

Internal Revenue, however, contends that the books must be preserved, like those of corporations, so that the financial transactions of individual officers may be traced. But the laws' indefiniteness and confusion caused by court rulings have made tax agents hesitant in bringing what they regard as "borderline cases." There are scores of these cases awaiting action.

REASON FOR GOVERNMENT'S DILEMMA — Internal Revenue's failure to appeal a decision in favor of Frank W. Brewster, Beck's successor as head of the Western Teamsters' Conference, explains the Government's dilemma. After examining Brewster's financial deals and returns, the tax agents demanded that his union, Local 174 of Seattle, produce all records of transactions by Brewster and his wife, Dorothy. Brewster has been charged with the same sort of personal use of union funds alleged against Beck.

When the union refused, its action was upheld by the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals on the ground that the Government's demand was too broad. Internal Revenue lawyers insisted upon an appeal to the Supreme Court of the United States, but the request was turned down by Attorney General Brownell.

CASE MAY HELP ATTORNEY GENERAL Brownell did not block an appeal because he was out of sympathy with the prosecution of Brewster. He felt that the Government had too weak a case on the question of "accessibility of records" to take to the highest tribunal. Moreover, a stronger case of the same nature, although involving another Government agency, is not on its way to the Supreme Court. Thus, it is there that the fate of Beck, Brewster and Hoffa may be decided.

Meanwhile, pending revision of laws on taxes and labor union exemptions, many union officials "are getting away with murder," to quote a McClellan expert.

Dulles Played Deliberate Cold War Gambit In Egypt, Claims Biographer

By WARREN ROGERS JR., Secretary of State Dulles' biography says his sudden withdrawal of the Aswan Dam and offer to Egypt last July was a carefully calculated "cold war gambit" comparable with the Korea and Formosa "brinks of war."

The new book, based partly on personal interviews with Dulles, was written by John Robinson (Jack) Beal, Time magazine's diplomatic correspondent in Washington. It is being published April 3 by Harper & Bros.

Beal is the third time man in recent months to comment publicly on Dulles' diplomacy.

The others were C. D. Jackson, Time vice president and former special assistant to President Eisenhower, and James Shepley, Time bureau chief in Washington. Jackson told investigating senators last March 18, in elaborating on a speech at Toronto six days earlier, that "the United States had been looking for a situation somewhere in the world where it could call the Russian economic bluff—that situation developed in Egypt."

On that point, Beal wrote that Dulles was convinced Russia could not deliver effectively on all her economic aid offers.

Shepley was the author of the January 1956 Life magazine article which said Dulles' diplomacy took the United States "to the brink of war" in Korea, Formosa and Indochina.

Beal, in his biography of Dulles, added a fourth brink of war: the Middle East.

He wrote that this happened after the Russians threatened to send "volunteers" to Egypt to fight British and French troops moving into the Suez Canal area last November.

Beal noted Dulles by that time was hospitalized for cancer surgery.

"Eisenhower's reaction... was to follow the Dulles doctrine that stopping an enemy at 'the brink' was the best way of avoiding war," he wrote.

"Through public warnings, reinforced by messages instructing Ambassador (Charles E.) Bohlen in Moscow to make the meaning plain to the Kremlin's leaders, the President served notice on Russia that the United States would use force to prevent any such move."

Concerning the three other "brinks," Beal also wrote:

1. Eisenhower decided, returning from his 1952 Korea trip aboard the cruiser Helena, to "press for a truce, but if that failed, to fight the war to win" and to use tactical atomic weapons, blockade the China coast and bomb China mainland targets.
2. Eisenhower and Dulles decided to intervene militarily in Indochina "under certain conditions" but "the conditions were not met." These conditions were, according to Beal, that Britain, Australia and New Zealand join in, and

France stay in while ridding itself "of colonial taint."

3. Eisenhower spurned a suggestion by then British Foreign Minister Anthony Eden to swap the off-China islands of Quemoy and Matsu for a Communist cease-fire agreement, then sent a "personal assurance" to Nationalist China's President Chiang Kai-shek on Formosa. This "personal letter" satisfied Chiang, Beal said, "that the United States would help defend Quemoy and Matsu."

Beal said "repeated and accumulated unfriendly gestures" by Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser preceded Dulles' decision to withdraw a U. S. offer of help to build the high Aswan Dam on the Nile River.

Dulles withdrew the offer July 19 and Nasser responded a week later by seizing the Suez Canal.

Beal wrote that Dulles felt he needed a time, place and "grand-scale" opportunity to demonstrate to the world that even U. S. patience could be exhausted. He said Asian neutrals—especially were watching.

Saying Nasser had become "seemingly more and more pro-Communist," Beal wrote of events last July:

"Nasser was making it look as though the United States could be played for a sucker... For Dulles, a moment of cold war climax had come."

"It was necessary to call Russia's hand in the game of economic competition... that U. S. tolerance... could not brook the kind of insult Nasser presented."

ed. Nasser combined the right timing, the right geography and the right order of magnitude for a truly major gambit in the cold war," by Dulles.

"Why did he (Dulles) turn down Nasser so brutally, without a chance to save face?... a polite and concealed rebuff would fail to make the really important point. It had to be forthright..."

Beal wrote that Dulles knew his move "would bring reaction on a commensurate scale" but he said Dulles counted on "U. S. power and resourcefulness to cope with the change and movement in Middle East and cold war politics."

The book, entitled "John Foster Dulles: A Biography," presents Dulles as a "candid" and "forthright" man who seemingly can do no wrong. His critics are dismissed as "far less able to judge" than he. They also are labeled "careless" and "amateurish" and "professional worriers."

Week Will See Clinics At Two City Schools

Two of Greenville city schools will hold their pre-school clinics this week.

All children living in the West Greenville School District who will be enrolled in the first grade next fall are requested to attend the clinic at the school Thursday at 1 p.m.

Fleming Street School will hold their clinic Friday at 8:30 a.m. for all children that will enter this school in September.

Children will be examined by a physician and given immunizations unless they have had them or plan to get physicals and vaccinations from their family doctors.

Each parent is asked to please bring their child's birth certificate with them to the clinic.

According to the school principals, all children 6 years of age on or before October 15 who plan to enter these schools for the first time in the fall, must come to the clinic (unless the parents attended the pre-registration clinics).

Career Ends On Successful Note

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Patrolman Henry McMullen, 70-year-old Oklahoma City officer, retired after 34 years on a note of success.

A week before his retirement, a burglar stole a television set from a home on his beat, and he promised the owner he would get the culprit.

Just an hour before he was to begin his retirement, he arrested a suspect and got the TV set back.

Reports With Pride, One Student 'Abandoned' God

MOSCOW (AP)—A high school teacher has reported with pride that one of her pupils doesn't believe in God any more.

Zinaida Andreyeva, who teaches biology at Zaporozhe in the Ukraine, called the process "unlocking the child's heart."

Mrs. Andreyeva gave this account in a letter to the newspaper Ukraine Pravda.

Not long ago she was delivering a nature lecture and told the class that "in counterbalance to science, religion denies the influence of man on his surroundings."

A girl named Marusya jumped from her seat, pale and agitated, shouting:

"Yes, I believe in God. No one can prohibit me. The government does not prohibit it."

The teacher thought this was a strange reaction from a child whose parents, she knew, were believers. But, "I tried to smooth over the impression of what had taken place, calm the girl and the class, and pass over to a practical explanation of how man changes nature and how all the wealth of the land is subordinated to him.

"When I went home, I thought about what had taken place. I sought for ways to open the locked heart of the child. I invited her over to my house.

"We conversed about the life of people and plants. I gave her books. And little by little the child softened and suddenly began to speak about everything."

The teacher found out that Marusya often went shopping for her mother.

"At the grocery the child met a wrinkled little old woman who left a deep impression on her. Many children gathered about her. She taught them how to pray and took them to church on Sundays."

But after the teacher's talks with Marusya the child came running over the impression of what had taken place, calm the girl and the class, and pass over not believe her tales any more." regional speech and hearing defects in children. President Moye also announced that $15 had been contributed to the "Make Greenville Clean" campaign to start next week, and that $15 had been sent to assist in the entertainment of patients in Cherry Point Hospital.

Club Observes Its Anniversary

The Exchange Club of Greenville celebrated the 46th anniversary of the National Exchange Club at its regular meeting Friday night. Members had their sons and daughters as guests. After dinner a large birthday cake was cut and served.

Entertainment was under the direction of Mrs. Marie Wallace who presented some of her dancing school pupils.

Clobbered Cabs In Parking Lot

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — A visiting motorist almost put the St. Helen's Cab Co. out of business.

He ran off the road and into a parking lot. The car struck the rear of a cab, jamming it into another, then veered to the right and hit the side of a third cab. It in turn struck a fourth cab.

The accident put four of the company's seven cabs out of commission and sent the visitor to jail on charges of drunken driving, public drunkenness and disorderly conduct.

East Carolina Net Team Swamps Elon, 9-0

In ECC Tennis Camp . . .

PROMISING FRESHMAN—John West, a freshman from Durham, gave indication Saturday against Elon, here, that he may be one of the coming champions in North State Conference tennis competition in years to come. He blanked Elon's Simpson 6-1, 6-0 in ECC's 9-0 win, Saturday and was also outstanding against Kalamazoo, last week.

By BILLY ARNOLD
Reflector Sports Editor

East Carolina College's defending North State tennis champions took a clean sweep of all events Saturday at College Courts to defeat their first North State opponents of the year, Elon, 9-0.

It marked the opening of the regular season for ECC, although the Bucs had lost an earlier match to powerful Kalamazoo (Mich.) College here, 7-2.

Coach Martinez was well pleased with the performance of his squad against the conference netters and pointed out that even his newcomers went through the match without defeat.

Pacing the way for the Bucs with singles victories were veterans Maurice Everette, Mike Katsias and James West. John West, a freshman from Durham, Bill Hollowell, a freshman from Kinston, and John Savage, a freshman from Goldsboro, also polled wins in their singles matches.

Everette, the defending North States singles champion, breezed through his singles events with Elon's Jack Kester without a flaw. He toppled Kester 6-0, 6-0. Katsias did the same with his opponent, Steve Mauldin.

West, a potential number one man, disposed of Elon's Charles Johnson, 6-1, 6-0. Savage topped Dick Simpson, 6-2, 6-1 and Blake defeated Chuck Oakley, 6-0, 6-1.

Hollowell tripped Ed Juratic, 6-1, 6-0.

Won Doubles

Coach Martinez named his number one doubles as Blake and Katsias. They began play and cashed in on a 6-0, 6-1 victory over Elon's Kester and Simpson. The team of Dock Smith and Lawrence Brown, both newcomers, stopped Juratic and Meadows, 6-1, 6-2. Savage and Kenneth Chalke also won their doubles competition for ECC, beating Mauldin and Oakley, 6-2, 6-0.

The Pirates, who have seen only a few days of practice thus far this season, due to bad weather and the National Swimming Tournament at Carbondale, Ill., which Martinez had to attend with his ECC swimmers. The coach indicated that this only points out the strength of his 1957 crop of netters.

Road Trip Set

The Pirates are now preparing for a road trip that will take them first to North Carolina State on Thursday of this week, then to Wake Forest on Friday, and back into Elon on Saturday.

Then on April 11 the following Thursday, the Citadel will come to Greenville for a non-conference tilt. Citadel is a power from the Southern Conference.

On the 19th of April, the Bucs will be off again, this time, Southern bound. They will journey to Charleston, S.C., for a match with the College of Charleston on the 19th. Then, they will move down into Florida for a match with Jacksonville Navy on the 22nd. On the 23rd they will battle Stetson University. On the 24th they will be back up into South Carolina for a title with the University of South Carolina to finish up the jaunt.

General opinion around the North State loop this season has it that the Bucs are stronger this season than ever before. This is Coach Raymond Martinez's third year here, and this speaks well for the man. He has taken Everette and the freshman crew of 1954 and developed them into a championship squad last year. The Bucs were caught in a three-way tie for the top slot with Guilford and High Point.

The summaries: Singles: Maurice Everette (ECC) defeated Jack Kester, 6-0, 6-0; John West (ECC) defeated Charles Johnson, 6-1, 6-0; Bill Hollowell (ECC) defeated Ed Juratic, 6-1, 6-0; John Savage (ECC) defeated Dick Simpson, 6-2, 6-1; Mike Katsias (ECC) defeated Steve Mauldin, 6-0, 6-0; James Blake (ECC) defeated Chuck Oakley, 6-0, 6-1.

Doubles: Blake and Katsias (ECC) defeated Kester and Simpson, 6-0, 6-1; Dock Smith and Lawrence Brown (ECC) defeated Juratic and Meadows, 6-1, 6-2; Savage and Ken Chalke (ECC) defeated Mauldin and Oakley, 6-2, 6-0.

Michigan Topples Yale For Honors At NCAA Meeting

By REESE HART

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP)—Michigan stood at the top of the national collegiate swimming teams today thanks to its divers, a great medley relay team and Yale's failure to qualify more men.

Yale, a team that boasted depth and balance, was unable to send as many men into the finals as veteran Coach Bob Kipphut anticipated, and Michigan came from behind to win the 1957 NCAA crown here Saturday night.

The stirring rally by Michigan, which trailed Yale 61-57 going into the final event, climaxed a record-breaking meet that saw Yale's Tim Jecko emerge as the individual star.

Jecko, 19-year-old sophomore of Bethesda, Md., won three events for 21 points to become the first triple titleholder since 1951. He won the 200-yard individual medley and set meet records in the 200-yard butterfly, 2:09.5, and in the 100-yard butterfly, 54.5.

Michigan's medley relay team finished in a dead heat with Michigan State for first place in the 400-yard race to grab 12 points and the team championship, 69-61.

Yale's team finished fourth in the 400 medley, but was disqualified because anchor man Rex

Aubrey made an illegal takeoff. The disqualification, however, made little difference since Michigan still would have won by two points.

Michigan State took third place honors with 52 points. Other teams scoring were: Indiana 48, Harvard 27, North Carolina 24, Oklahoma 23, Iowa 15, Northwestern 12, Southern Methodist 10, Amherst 9, Miami of Ohio 7, Army, Illinois and Bowdoin 5 each, Syracuse and Wisconsin 4, California, Purdue and Texas 3, Denver 2, and Knox and Stanford 1 each.

Led by Dick Kimball, Michigan pulled down 24 points in the diving. Kimball won the low board and high board diving.

Other double winners were North Carolina's Charlie Krepp, who won the 100 and 200-yard backstroke, and Indiana's Bill Woolsey of Hawaii, who retained titles in the 220 and 440-yard freestyle events.

Ohio State, which won the 1956 championship, was not eligible to compete because the school was placed on a year's probation by the NCAA for football infractions.

GHS Baseballers Start Their Season Tuesday

Coach Bo Farley's Greenville high school baseballers, complete with new uniforms, a squad full of veterans and several weeks of unbroken practice, travel to New Bern tomorrow afternoon for their final match of the season.

There have been no indications as to how the contest might end for two reasons: the strength of the New Bern outfit is not well known, and neither is that of the Greenville club as yet. However, on paper, the G-Men are loaded.

With four veterans on the pitching staff and an infield out of field stacked with experienced players, GHS seems set for one of its best seasons in many years. There is little depth in the Phantom camp, according to reports, but the first-string group should be both good in the field and efficient at the plate.

Perhaps Farley's biggest asset will be his mound staff. Four experienced hurlers, including three sophomores, make up the Phantom hurlers. Merrill Bynum and Charles Stator are the sophomore right-handers; Ronnie Finch will be the only lefty in the stall. A senior, Hudson Miller, another righty, has also returned to the club after a season's layoff. Last year Farley's club posted a 5.00 season with only three of those pitchers. Catchers will be Mack Roebuck and Angus Duff, both veterans.

The Green infield will be composed of Dick Evans, first base; Arthur Andrews, second base; Billy Cox, shortstop; Walker Lee Allen, third base.

Outfielders slated for starting duty tomorrow, according to Farley, will be Joe Wingate, Charles Smith and Bobby Edwards.

Erskine Decides He Needs Doctor

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Carl Erskine, who pitched two no-hit games for the Brooklyn Dodgers with a sore arm, admitted today that he was virtually useless this year and would see a physician.

"I haven't been right since the middle of the 1954 season," said the handsome, 31-year-old right-hander. "But I've been fighting it. I can't fight it any more, though."

Erskine said he would consult with Brooklyn Vice President Buzzy Bavasi, then try to find a physician in New York who could treat his mysterious ailment.

He has been pitching with a sore shoulder since 1949, but it never really bothered him while he was working. He simply ignored the soreness.

"But it's been getting worse in recent years," he said seriously. "This spring it's been insurmountable. So, like a lot of people who spend years trying to lick their illnesses, I've given up."

Erskine, who has won 113 games, has been in only two exhibition games this spring. He went three innings against Detroit March 17 and was tapped for three hits while walking two others.

Then, last Saturday, he was blasted by the Cincinnati Redlegs. "And that did it," he said. "I decided to talk to Manager Wall Alston and tell him my trouble. He was very understanding. There was no use going along the way I was."

No one ever has been able to figure out what is troubling Erskine. He is certain—and so is trainer Harold (Doc) Wendler—that he has no bone ailment. "Personally," he commented, "I think it must be a muscle tear. With all the fine work they are doing on polo, I'm sure there must be a doctor who can advise the proper therapy. I'm still a young man."

Pancho To Quit Kramer Troupe

MONTREAL (AP)—Big Pancho Gonzales, king of professional tennis, today decided to quit Jack Kramer's professional troupe after its last American match May 26.

Plagued by a cyst on his racket hand, Gonzales, who has taken on and licked all comers since he began playing for Kramer's troupe, said, "I need a rest. I've been playing continuously for 18 months and I want to give my hand a chance to heal."

College Stars Will Meet Globetrotters In Raleigh

RALEIGH—Some of basketball's top stars will be seen in action Thursday night, April 4, when the College All-Americans meet the Harlem Globetrotters here in the fifth game of the World Series tour.

The teams will play at 8 o'clock in Reynolds Coliseum. Abe Saperstein, owner-coach of the touring "Trotters, also has lined up several topnotch acts for half-time entertainment.

Definitely signed for the tour are John Smyth of Notre Dame, John Maglio of State, Dick Heise of DePaul, Hank Nowak of Caniun, George Ferguson of Michigan State, Jack Sullivan of Mount St. Mary's, and Sam Jones of North Carolina College.

Saperstein has made it clear that he is going all out to sign North Carolina's fabulous Lennie Rosenbluth, Columbia's Chet Forte and Kansas' Maurice King.

Playing for the Globetrotters will be Meadowlark Lemon, the successor to Goose Tatum, who is a native of Wilmington. Wee Willie Gardner, Leon Hilliard, Ermer Robinson, Clarence Wilson, Andy Johnson, Charlie Hoxie and Tom (Torzan) Spencer round out the squad.

Last year the Globetrotters were pushed to win the series by one game 11-10. The tour opened in Madison Square Garden Sunday. The teams play in Chicago, Cleveland and Buffalo before coming to Raleigh.

Saperstein said recently, "We'll open our full bag of tricks against the Collegians this year. In previous tours, we have stuck to straight basketball in an all-out effort to win, but this proved disappointing to fans who like our comical routines. This year we will try to combine good basketball with comedy."

This will be the eighth annual tour for the Globetrotters. Starting with the inaugural 1950, the Saperstein squad has won each by margins of 11-7, 14-1, 11-5, 14-7, 15-7 and 14-10.

Tickets for the attraction are on sale at the Coliseum Box Office, Womble's in downtown Raleigh, and Kerr Rexall Drug Store in Cameron Village. Prices are $3, $2.50, and $2.

The complete College All-American roster will be announced this week.

Palmer Wins Wilmington Azalea Open By A Stroke

WILMINGTON, N.C. (AP)—Al Palmer, who has won the Wilmington Azalea Open golf tournament's final round, Arnold Palmer's 54-hole lead stood up and he eased out with a one-stroke victory that added $1,700 to his earnings.

The 27-year-old Latrobe, Pa., professional finished yesterday with a lackluster 75, three over par, but it was good enough for a winning 282 total, one shot less than runner-up Dow Finsterwald needed in winning $1,300 second money.

Palmer's score, on rounds of 70-67-70-75, was the highest posted in nine years of Azalea Open play. As a matter of fact, three years ago, while still an amateur playing out of Wake Forest College, he tied for seventh here with a 280 score.

Palmer, who went on to win the National Amateur title that year, is the No. 2 money winner this year with official earnings just under $12,000.

Palmer began the final round two shots ahead of Finsterwald, who had led through two rounds and he held that lead over the Jupiter, Fla., pro through nine holes as each was out in 38. Neither could make a birdie on the front side of the 6,900-yard Cape Fear Country Club course and each had two bogies.

Each birdied the short 10th, Palmer from 10 feet, playing some 15 minutes behind Finsterwald. The latter made no more birds, however, and was trapped on 16 to finish with a 74.

Palmer went over par on both the 13th and 14th, going over both greens and missing a two-foot putt on 14, but his birdie on 15 got one stroke back. However, a three-putt green on 16 put him three over and made it necessary for him to par the last two holes to win. He got his pars, rolling in the final putt from about 18 inches after a great drive on the final hole.

He headed for Augusta, Ga., and the Masters Tournament today.

Bert Weaver of Beaumont, Tex., won his biggest prize of the tour, $1,100, with a 72 finish for 287 and third place.

Bethel Citizens Can Rest Town In Development Bill

New Morning Show On CBS-TV Next Monday

By CHARLES MERCER
NEW YORK (AP)—Extraordinary as it may seem to many citizens, there are many other citizens who turn on their television sets first thing in the morning.

What do you want to see and hear in the sleepy household hub-bub of early morning? Don't ask me, because I just want to see the newspaper and hear my wife getting breakfast. But if you ask CBS-TV they'll tell you that you want to see — or at least hear — "Country style" music.

"Country style" was explained somewhat the other day by Jimmy Dean, no relation to the late James Dean.

"There is no such thing as country music any more," Dean said. "There's only 'country style,' which is a matter of instrumentation. It's original American music, such as grew up with the country."

Dean was selected by CBS to launch a new early morning program on its television network beginning next Monday, April 8. The 45-minute program will take the place of the Will Rogers Jr. morning show.

Dean, 28, has already made a name for himself as a country style music entertainer over WMAL-TV in Washington, D. C.

Dean, who grew up in Plainview, Tex., sang in the Baptist choir and learned to play the piano and served a hitch in the Merchant Marine. After three years in the Air Force he and two other young men formed a trio and began playing local engagements around Washington.

His band, including himself, now numbers six. His program will be composed of music and a little chit-chat. "There won't be any script," he says. "Having a script and being over-produced has ruined a lot of country shows."

Country-style music should be a relaxed thing."

Tonight Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontanne appear in "The Great Sebastians" on "Producers Showcase." It will be a television adaptation of last season's Broadway comedy-Melodrama in which they appeared.

Play's End For Gene Lockhart

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Gene Lockhart, a versatile performer who was seen or heard in half a dozen entertainment mediums during his 60-year career, died of a heart seizure yesterday.

The pudgy-faced actor, director, author and composer was perhaps best known for his character roles in the movies. He appeared in more than 300 films.

Lockhart, 66, had been hospitalized here Saturday night after complaining of severe pains. He had not been in apparent bad health and was working on a television show.

With him at his death were his wife of 33 years, Kathleen, and his actress daughter, June Lockhart.

Lockhart was born in London, Ont. He began his career with the Kilties Band of Canada when he was 6 and played in sketches with Beatrice Lillie at the age of 15.

At various later stages of his career, he was a writer of Broadway shows, a composer, newspaper columnist, and a singer.

He appeared on Broadway in "Death of a Salesman" and "Ah Wilderness" and directed a number of plays, including "The Warrior's Husband" and "Sumurun."

His motion picture career included roles in "Carousel," "Man in the Gray Flannel Suit," "The House on 92nd Street," "Leave Her to Heaven," "Foxes of Harrow," "Miracle on 34th Street" and "Vanishing American."

CEMENTED SALMONS
VANCOUVER (AP)—Too many future salmon are ending up in the cement-mixer, says A. J. Whitmore, fisheries supervisor. He said gravel contractors should not remove sand from river beds until sure there are no salmon fry or eggs there.

Academy Selections Have Many Factors

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Academy members have to be good; they have to be in popular pictures.

Academy voters keep an eye to the box office. They are impressed with pictures that capture the public's approval and dollars. Seldom has a film or star won the top Oscars without doing excellent business.

Take Ingrid Bergman's award. There is no denying her artistry. It's understandable that the academy voters elected her. "Anastasia" was a showy role, and the sentimental angle of her return to favor was irresistible.

But the picture did not realize its potential. The direction was faulty. The magnificent scene when the dowager empress (Helena Hayes) recognizes her granddaughter failed to achieve the stage play.

Want to know my choice for the best actress' performance of the year?

It was by Deborah Kerr. But not in "The King and I". Her best work was in "Tea and Sympathy." She had compassion, understanding and integrity.

"I will never be nominated," Deborah told me months ago. "The woman was too normal. You have to be a dope addict, alcoholic or lunatic to win a nomination."

There was wisdom in Bogart's caustic remark. How can any competition be fair when it is conducted under such differing circumstances? It's like having one miler run in a high wind, another in a driving rainstorm and another carrying a full Army pack.

For instance, Yul Brynner is this year's winner. But is his victory fair? He played his role many hundred times in the stage "The King and I" before doing the job in films.

Is his achievement greater than Kirk Douglas'? Douglas had to portray many shades of madness in "Lust For Life." He had to create the role of Van Gogh right on the sound stage, without benefit of doing it time after time in the theater.

What is the answer? It is that performances not only admiration—

The late Humphrey Bogart had an amusing view on academy awards. Though he had won an Oscar himself for "The African Queen," he observed the only fair way to judge acting competition would be to let every actor have a go at "Hamlet" or some other role, and let the best man win.

General Statutes of North Carolina, and by order of the City Council of the City of Greenville, North Carolina, notice is hereby given that a non-partisan election will be held in the City of Greenville, North Carolina, on Tuesday, May 7, 1957, for the purpose of electing a City Council under "Plan D" form of Government, consisting of five (5) members to be elected at large by and from the qualified voters of the City of Greenville for a term of two (2) years and until their successors are elected and qualified, and for the further purpose of electing a Recorder, who shall be a qualified elector of the said municipality, and a Prosecuting Attorney, for the Recorder's Court of the City of Greenville, for a term of two (2) years and until their successors are elected and qualified. The books for the registration of voters will be kept open between the hours of 9:00 o'clock A.M. EST and 5:00 o'clock P.M. EST each day for ten days, exclusive of Sundays, from April 24, 1957 to May 4, 1957, both inclusive, Saturday, May 4, 1957, shall be challenge day. All persons residing in Wards Numbered One and Two, who are eligible to register and vote in said election, will register their names at the Pitt County Courthouse with the Registrar for said election, and all persons residing in Wards Numbered Three, Four and Five, who are eligible to register and vote in said election will register their names with the Registrar at the City Fire Station on West Fifth Street.

There will be two polling places, to wit: The Pitt County Courthouse and the City Fire Station on West Fifth Street. All registered and qualified voters residing in Wards Numbered One and Two will vote at the Pitt County Courthouse, and all registered and qualified voters residing in Wards Numbered Three, Four and Five will vote at the City Fire Station on West Fifth Street. The polls will open on said date, to wit, Tuesday, May 7, 1957, at 6:30 o'clock, AM EST, and will close at the hour of 6:30 o'clock, P.M. EST. on the same date. Every person who is duly registered and is otherwise qualified to vote in said election shall be eligible to vote in said election.

For the purpose of the registration of voters and of holding said election the following persons, whose addresses are given below, have been appointed Registrars and Judges of Election for each polling place:

Pitt County Courthouse: Registrar—Mrs. C. K. Beatty, 407 Elm Street, Greenville, N. C.; Judges—Mrs. Frank Dail and Mrs. Frank Dudley, Greenville, N. C.

City Fire Station: Registrar—E. R. Conway, 1510 E. 5th St., Greenville, N. C.; Judges—Charlotte Mills and Mrs. Elizabeth Dudley, Greenville, N. C.

All voters shall be registered according to the Wards in which they reside, and the names of all candidates for office shall be placed on one ballot, and there shall be maintained at each polling place upon which shall be plainly marked the number and designation of the Ward, and all ballots cast shall be deposited in the poll box bearing the number of the Ward in which the elector is registered. No person shall be eligible to register and vote in said election unless such person is a qualified voter at the time of said election under the Laws of the State of North Carolina and is a bona fide resident of thirty days' duration of the Ward in which he offers to vote.

All candidates for office shall register their candidacy with the City Clerk at the New City Hall at least thirty (30) days prior to the first Monday in May, 1957, and shall deposit with said Clerk the sum of one dollar as a registration fee therefor.

By order of the City Council of the City of Greenville.

DEVON POINTERS for home painters

HOW TO PAINT YOUR CEILINGS
Use small brush for edges and a lamb's wool paint roller. Roller means no dripping... applied paint 2 to 4 times as fast... and gives smoother job. Always start near main source of light and work away from it... easier to see places you have skipped.

WHY PAINT MASONRY?
Concrete, stucco and brick surfaces absorb moisture like a sponge. This weakens cement and mortar. Soon cracking starts because of temperature changes. Painting prevents this damage... also reduces indoor dampness and heating cost. You need a paint specially prepared for masonry surfaces. Bay State Brick and Cement Coating is the paint to use.

WHAT TO DO WITH BRUSHES BETWEEN JOBS
If you are sure you'll be painting again in a few days don't bother to clean your brush. Just wrap the bristles in kitchen aluminum foil and they'll stay soft for several days. If you postpone painting for a week or more, soak brush in "keeping" mixture of 2/3 raw linseed oil and 1/3 turpentine—wrap in newspaper to prevent kinking.

HOW TO PAINT A WINDOW
Best bet is to hold strip of metal on cardboard on glass and against molding. Paint wood, letting brush lap over onto shield. Best brush is an angular one. Another way to keep paint off glass is to use masking tape... pull off tape as soon as paint sets.

YOU can get all the painting accessories that you need—and many more helpful tips—at our store. Why not stop in soon? We'd be delighted to see you.

CHAPTER 20

Sergeant Sean Finnegan made his ride to Fort Kern through the dawn and the Saux allowed him to pass with his detail through their tightening lines. He knew they were there, but he saw and heard nothing. He supposed it was the complete stillness that convinced him of their presence, and he wondered why no bullet came, no bowstring twanged. The detail of eight men followed him in single file, looking often at their back trail, studying carefully the deep shadows of the rocks and trees. All of them had the wire-drawn tightness of men who feel something is wrong and cannot define it.

He cut onto the Bozeman Road as the first light bloomed and pushed the detail into a trot, raising the palisade walls as the regimental bugler blew reveille. A guard challenged them, then the gates opened and Finnegan flung off to speak to the officer of the guard.

Brevet Brigadier General H.W. Wessels was immediately summoned and came from his quarters, putting up his suspenders as he trotted toward headquarters.

Finnegan made his report. "Lieutenant Schwabacker met th' command, sor. He relieved Captain Jocelyn of command and placed him in th' ambulance."

"With Jocelyn's permission, Sergeant?"

"Na, sor." Finnegan explained the circumstances, and his part in disarming a superior officer. This drew a deep frown from Wessels, but did not blunt his curiosity. "Lieutenant Schwabacker's taken a defense position near Lake De Smet, sor. He's askin' for reinforcements. Like as not he won't be able to hold th' hostiles off, sor, 'cause they got him fair surrounded. Comin' in, it felt like we was ridin' through th' whole Sioux nation, sor."

"Can you show me his position on the map, Sergeant?"

"Aye, sor. To the dot." He went to the wall map and pointed to Schwabacker's exact position. General Wessels pursed his lips and thought for a moment. "He chose good ground anyway. Better than Crazy Woman's Fork would have been."

"Th' lieutenant's probably in th' thick of it now, sor," said Finnegan.

"Yes. But I can't help thinking how strange it is that the Sioux let you through, Sergeant." Wessels gnawed his lip. "Red Cloud's a capable general. Sergeant. He's used to Carrington and his impulsiveness. Carrington would dash out with his command to the rescue and get half of them killed." Wessels left his chair to pace the floor. He rambled on, talking more to himself than to Finnegan. "Suppose by letting you through with a message, Red Cloud figured I'd come with reinforcements. That might be what he wants, all the long knives in one nice package."

"I'd say that was good figuring, but what about th' lieutenant, sor?"

"If I've guessed right, I could be walking into a trap, couldn't I?"

"Aye, sor." Finnegan said in a worried voice. "An' if you don't, th' lieutenant's liable to get hisself killed, along with th' command, sor!"

"He's young, Sergeant, but he's not a William Fetterman." He shook his head. "I'm sorry, Sergeant, but Lieutenant Schwabacker has to get out of this the best way he can."

"Aye, sor. Do I have permission to rejoin him?"

Wessels looked long at Sean Finnegan. He had seen this before, this kind of man, this kind of loyalty to an officer, and by this he measured his officer's ability, for a man who commanded this commanded greatly. Wessels said, respectfully, "You do not. You're dismissed, Sergeant."

General Wessels understood. "Hate me if it'll help, Sergeant."

Finnegan opened his mouth to speak, then waved his hand futilely and stomped out without saluting. General Wessels let him go, deciding that an angry man deserved this liberty—and perhaps more.

Dawn came and the night shadows vanished. Emil Schwabacker stood along the rocky lake shore, his eyes turned to the only possible lane of Indian attack, the fringe of trees several hundred yards away. Every man in his command had his eyes fixed on this target.

Schwabacker's first thought was that he had again made some terrible, unforgivable mistake in judgment and his glance whipped around to the ends of the lake, but there was no evidence of a hostile flanking movement. A glance showed him the impossibility of such a maneuver.

No, the attack had to come from the front. There was no other way. Lieutenant Schwabacker left his command position and went rearward to where Captain Jocelyn lay in the ambulance, his engraved pistol firmly grasped in a steady hand. He watched Schwabacker approach and when he stopped, said, "Doubts, Lieutenant?"

"Yes," Schwabacker said. He turned his head for another look at his breastwork lined with rifles. "I can't make it out, sir."

"You're in command," Jocelyn said. "Figure it out, sir."

The resentment in Jocelyn's voice caused Schwabacker to look at him sharply. He said, "Captain I'm trying to understand you, but somehow you've always managed to make it difficult. I think you enjoy being an enigma. I believe you'd wither and die if you had to be like other men." He saw flames of anger in Jocelyn's eyes and knew that he had just struck upon the truth. "Captain, I've written to your wife. Do you understand me, sir? I've written her, advising her of your wound."

He was prepared, for anger, but Jocelyn's action surprised him, caught him completely unaware. The pistol arced even as Schwabacker ducked, but the barrel caught the young man on the shoulder with numbing force. Schwabacker clawed out for Jocelyn's hand, seized the wrist and bent the arm against the joint until the pistol fell from lax fingers.

Jocelyn's breathing was raspy and sweat beaded his forehead. "I'll kill you for that," Jocelyn said. "Meddling pup!"

"No, sir," Schwabacker said. "You won't kill me, Captain." He looked into Jocelyn's chilling eyes and found that the chill had vanished. "I think I understand much about you, Captain. Can it be that for years now you've been secretly joyed because your wife has never communicated with you? Can it be that you discovered how martyrdom made you stand out importantly, brought you the notice and talk that otherwise you might not have ever received? There's nothing like a secret past, is there, Captain? Nothing like speculation to keep up interest, is there?"

Schwabacker tossed the ornamented pistol into the ambulance with great contempt. "I'm sorry that I wrote to your wife, Captain. Sorry, because I don't think she had much of a man to start with."

When he turned on his heel, Jocelyn said, "Wait!"

Schwabacker turned back. "What is it, Captain?"

"I have a good deal to apologize for. Will you allow me?"

"To me, sir?" Emil Schwabacker shook his head. "Don't apologize to me. For two years I waited for a word, sir, your approval. Now I don't need it. I never needed it; suddenly I realize it."

He returned to his command position and found everything the same, the wind in the trees, the silence of the woods and the sun's mounting heat. His small hand motion drew Sergeant McGruger close and they huddled down for a conference.

Schwabacker said, "What do you make of it, Sergeant?"

"I'm wondering why we ain't dead, sir. We ought to be."

"You think the Sioux are still there, Sergeant?"

McGruger laughed softly, ironically. "Listen, what you hear out there? There's always noise in the woods, but now there's nothing. Everything shuts up when Indians is around, sir."

"I am convinced that the Sioux are using us as bait for a trap, and I have no intention of becoming a piece of cheese," Schwabacker detest Chapter 21 tomorrow.

MONTH

April 1st through 13th

Mother Nature does her part in bringing beauty to our community every spring. But the transformation isn't complete unless we clean-up, paint-up, fix-up, light-up and plant-up our homes and property. Let's make our community one we can be proud of! It will be, if we all do our part. It's a challenge for every man, woman and child to do his part. Here are just a few of the many items needed to help you do a better job. Spring Clean-Up Month.

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK — The stock market tumbled lower early this afternoon after a slight show of firmness at the start.

Metals, chemicals and motors were mixed. Utilities mostly scored small gains. Most steels, aircrafts, rubbers and rails lost small fractions.

Scattered worker lay-offs in the home appliance and aircraft industries, plus a strike at nine Goodrich plants, discouraged demand for securities. However, selling pressure never became heavy.

General Motors opened at 37 1/2 on a 1,500 share block. And that was where it was in the early afternoon. Chrysler sank 1/2 while Ford gained 1/2.

Goodrich dropped a major fraction early on the strike news but recovered to the previous close. Trading was not active. Goodyear closed 1/2.

Most of the steels declined but Lukens gave an independent show of strength, gaining 1 1/2 to 64 1/2.

Douglas declined 1/2 at 77 1/2. The company will drop 1,350 workers at its Tulsa plant. In contrast, General Dynamics gained 3/4 to 58 1/2 on an excellent 1956 earnings report.

Schering Drug was in mild demand, gaining more than a point to 69 1/2. Zenith was another favorite, advancing 3/4 to 102.

Losses in the rails were limited to around 1/2 point while the utilities gained a similar amount.

Anaconda and Kennecott made small progress in the metal group.

At noon the Associated Press average of 60 stocks was down 10 cents at $174.10 with the industrials off 20 cents, the rails off 20 cents and the utilities up 10 cents.

CHICAGO (U.S.D.A.)—Salable hogs 8,000; market slow; generally steady; butchers and sows; instances weak on butchers under 240 lb and strong on others; limited shipping outlet; mixed 2-3 190-260 lb butchers 17.40-17.75; little below 17.50; most 240-260 lb around 17.50; with few selected PHILADELPHIA (N.C.D.A.)—North Carolina poultry markets: fryers and broilers steady, farm price 19. Raleigh and Durham eggs steady, A large 30-32; Asheville eggs steady, A large 29-31; Charlotte eggs steady, A large 29.

Funeral Held Today For Charlie L. Vick

Funeral services for Charlie L. Vick, 69, were held at the First Christian Church in Robersonville Monday at 3:30 by the pastor, Rev. Wilbur Wallace. Burial was in the Robersonville Cemetery. Vick died in a Norfolk, Va., hospital Saturday.

He was a former resident of Robersonville and moved to Norfolk about 15 years ago. He was a member of the Robersonville Christian Church.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Varina Ross Vick; a daughter, Mrs. Jasper Brown of Norfolk, Va.; and two brothers, Lil and Wade Vick of Robersonville.

Last Rites Held For Mrs. Simon Beachum

Funeral services for Mrs. Rosa Price Beachum, 57, who died at Pitt Memorial Hospital Thursday, were held at the Greenville Funeral Home Chapel Sunday. Capt. B.T. Lewis of the Salvation Army and Rev. Rashie Kennedy, her pastor, officiated. Interment followed in the family plot, in Bridgeton Cemetery.

Mrs. Beachum was born in Craven County, daughter of Mrs. Holland Hester Price and the late Duffie Price. She was married to Simon Beachum in 1938, and made Greenville her home since that time. She was a member of the Grace Free Will Baptist Church.

Surviving are her husband and mother, Mrs. Holland Price of Bridgeton; two daughters, Mrs. R.C. Hardee of Norfolk, Va., Mrs. L.E. Peterman of Calif.; 10 grandchildren; two brothers, Ira E. Price of Bridgeton and Hoyt Price of New Bern.

Israel Plans Test Navigation Rights

JERUSALEM — Israel has served notice she will consider as "an act of war" any Arab move to impede her shipping in the Suez Canal or Gulf of Aqaba.

The Foreign Ministry issued the warning after a report that President Nasser told visiting U. S. newsmen that Egypt would permit Israel to use the canal and gulf only if Palestine Arab refugees "are given back their rights, property and land."

We are not interested in the pretext Nasser puts out from time to time to justify his determination to interfere with the freedom of navigation of Israeli ships," a ministry official asserted.

Israel has announced she will send ships flying the Israeli flag through the gulf as a test and will also test Egypt's ban on shipping in the canal. Foreign-flag ships chartered by Israel are already sailing unmolested through the gulf, which is still under protection of the U. N. Emergency Force.

The Foreign Ministry also declared a reported suggestion for a security zone extending more than 2,000 feet on both sides of the Gaza Strip border would not be acceptable to Israel. A ministry official contended such a move would facilitate raids by Arab commandos into Israel.

Israeli Foreign Minister Golda Meir warned in a speech last night that "we are in the midst — not at the end — of a battle for existence, and we have not yet won that battle."

Mrs. Meir told the fourth meeting of the International Council of Jewish Women that Israel's invasion of Egypt last October was a battle "not only fought for the dignity of Israel but for the dignity of the world."

In Cairo, Egypt's Suez Canal Authority said several U. S. and British ships have asked permission to sail through the waterway next week, despite advice of their governments to steer clear of the canal for the time being. No U. S. British or French ships have yet used the waterway although vessels up to 11,000 tons are allowed through if they pay tolls directly to Egypt.

Week Of Activity At Winterville High

BY SANDRA HUNSUCKER
Winterville School Reporter

Twenty-two members of the Winterville Beta Club attended the district convention in Ayden recently. Mrs. Helen Collins, Beta Club advisor, accompanied the group.

The Winterville-Ayden Band presented its spring concert in the Winterville High School Auditorium on March 22.

The Junior Band played seven numbers and the senior group 13 selections. Mr. Boyd Elliott directed the band which appeared in Ayden High School's auditorium last Friday night.

Janice Worthington and Patricia Kenney received highest scores among Winterville typists who participated in the Pitt County typing contest at East Carolina College. Janice was in the advanced group and Patricia was in the beginners group.

All high school students went to Pitt County Health Department March 21 to get chest x-rays.

A "Cinderella" theme was used by Junior Class members who honored Seniors at the annual Junior-Senior Banquet, held March 33. The banquet was held in the school cafeteria.

The invocation was given by Mr. Blainie Moye and Jimmie Runkle offered a welcome to the group. Janet Allen made the toast to the Seniors with Betty Jean Mobley responding. Van Jackson gave the toast to guests and Mrs. A. W. Forbes responded.

Elizabeth Carroll served as narrator for the program. Waiters and waitresses sang one selection and Sue Ellen Hunsucker patomed "When You Wish Upon a Star".

Mrs. George Jackson, Junior Class advisor, was presented a gift for her assistance with the banquet.

A dance was held in the school gym following the banquet. Music was furnished by "The Vagabonds".

Seventeen girls and 14 boys represented W. H. S. in the Pitt County Choral Clinic at East Carolina College March 11 and 12. The Winterville-Ayden Band also participated in the clinic which was directed by Dr. Elwood Kestler of the East Carolina music faculty.

Virginia Opens Historical Fete

JAMESTOWN, Va. — The state of Virginia opens an eight-month historical festival today on this tiny James River island where, 3 1/2 centuries ago, the new world was born.

A nearly perfect replica of the first permanent settlement in the new world has been built.

Offshore lie duplicates of the three flaxen-sailed ships which, in 1607, brought the 105 colonists from England—the Susan Constant, the Godspeed and the Discovery.

There are duplicates too of the palisaded fort built by the settlers for protection from the Indians; of Powhatan's lodge, home of the famed Indian chief; and of the glasshouse, where the colonists manufactured glass.

Real Indians in authentic costumes will staff Powhatan's lodge.

In Memory

In memory of Mrs. Clementine Maultsby who departed this life March 31, 1952. Five years have passed dear mother, and our loneliness still remains; thoughts of you we still cherish and our love for you is the same. There is a stillness but it is not death when life and light departs; there is a calmness but it is not death when God has stopped the heart. There is a room we enter just to sleep where God puts out the light, and in the morning when we awake we've passed all earthly nights.

The Rev. T. S. Maultsby Family.

Gasoline Blast In Storm Sewers

GLENOLDEN, Pa. — Gasoline, washed into a creek as a safety measure after a leak developed in a service station tank, caught fire as it flowed through storm sewers yesterday.

Manhole covers were blown into the air as the gasoline was ignited in the sewer lines. The gasoline was discovered seeping to the surface in the station operated by Harvey Krouse in this Philadelphia suburb. Firemen washed it into a creek behind the station.

As the gasoline ignited, firemen were able to trace the blaze by the smoke billowing from culverts. They called for help from nearby communities and put out the flames with a chemical extinguisher. No one was injured.

Getting Hot

WILSON — Six candidates including three incumbents, have filed as candidates for the city commissioner election May 7, and a seventh filed his candidacy for mayor. This brings a total of 16, the number of persons entering the race in the municipal elections.

Those filing include Edgar Norris, senior commissioner and mayor pro tem, Russell L. Stephenson, Dr. G.K. Butterfield, all incumbents, and T.J. Hackney Jr., Henry E. Williams, Earl McFarlane and Charles C. Powell. Powell will oppose Mayor John D. Wilson for the mayoral post and is the first person to file against the Wilson mayor thus far.

Housing Project

KINSTON — The Kinston Housing Authority in special session last week authorized Director Marvin Spence and Chairman Jack Rountree to execute a contract for the preliminary loan of $20,000 with which it will begin steps toward the construction of 100 new dwelling units in Kinston.

The loan was recently approved by the Public Housing Administration and the action taken now must get the formal approval of the agency's office in Atlanta. When that is done the local Authority will have the right to go ahead with preliminary plans to procure a suitable site for the new units, it was stated.

Like A Dream

GOLDSBORO — A young man became indignant when a man in the audience insisted that five and five equalled 10. A young woman became a child of six, calling the names of her first grade classmates, and a young fellow in the audience fell under the spell simply by watching.

These were among the feats performed by Hypnotist Dr. Franz Polgar last Friday night at the Goldsboro High School. Jimmy Parker, one of the subjects, smiled sheepishly the next morning as friends told him of things he did while hypnotized. He remembers them "like a dream." "It was authentic, too," declared the mother of the boy that fell under the hypnotist's spell. "He never stayed still that long before—he must have been hypnotized."

Natural Gas Promised

ROCKY MOUNT—Wilson, Rocky Mount and other south-eastern North Carolina cities will have natural gas by early next year provided that franchises and purchase contracts can be consummated without delay.

This was the prediction of Volney H. Kyle Jr., one of the nation's most successful engineers in the field of transcontinental fuel transmission, who spoke at a meeting of representatives of Eastern North Carolina towns and cities that will be served by the pipeline held in Rocky Mount last week.
