An Israeli Foreign Ministry spokesman in Jerusalem also said

Hope, Warning In Pope's Talk

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Plus XII has warned that the world has entered a nuclear age which could "unexpectedly become engulfed in storm."

But—his words carrying strongly over St. Peter's Square—the pontiff also promised in his annual Easter message there was hope for the development of a mighty nuclear era dedicated to peace.

More than 300,000 pilgrims, largest there ever to listen to a papal Easter message, gave a tremendous cheer as the frail, 81-year-old head of the Roman Catholic Church finished speaking from the central loggia of St. Peter's Basilica.

Vatican radio and European television network carried the Pope's words to millions. In the next few days the Easter message will be broadcast in 28 languages.

The Pope spoke at noon yesterday. His words coupled hope with warning—hope for the possibilities of a mighty nuclear age dedicated to peace and warning against its possible uses for war.

He reiterated his 1956 Easter message blessing the peaceful uses of nuclear energy.

A mighty nuclear epoch, he said, is bringing wondrous things to man. But, in clear reference to war, he also said the night which surrounds the world "could also, even unexpectedly, become engulfed in storm."

WASHINGTON (AP)—James R. Hoffa, Midwest boss of the Teamsters Union, today asked dismissal of an indictment accusing him of conspiring to plant a spy on the staff of the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee.

Hoffa's contentions in motions filed in U. S. District Court included that: He was "wrongfully deprived" of a preliminary hearing after his arrest by FBI agents March 13.

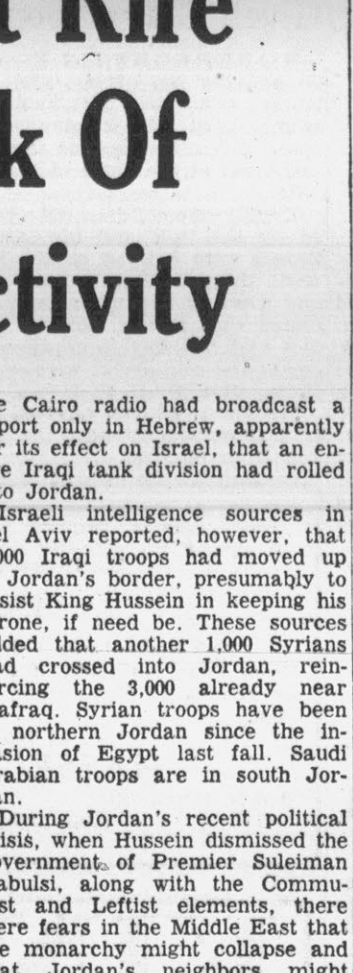

Half Of Church Walked Out Before Easter Sunday Sermon

ROCKY MOUNT, N.C. (AP)—An Easter Sunday sermon was delivered at the Bible Missionary Baptist Church here yesterday, but not until after half of the congregation walked out as three ministers appeared on the church grounds.

Two church factions Friday employed different ministers to deliver Sunday's sermon after the regular pastor, the Rev. Samuel H. W. Johnston Jr., was put under a court restraining order not to enter the church. He has refused an offer of $700 salary from the church through June to leave.

The Rev. Gene Gurganus, employed by one faction, delivered

Outward Bound

Mayflower II, a replica of the Pilgrim fathers' ship, sailed out of sight of the English coast today as she headed for the United States.

During Jordan's recent political crisis, when Hussein dismissed the government of Premier Suleiman Nabulsi, along with the Communist and Leftist elements, there were fears in the Middle East that the monarchy might collapse and Jordan's neighbors might rush in to dismember the country.

Nabulsi, foreign minister in the new government, charged last night that "certain foreign diplomatic missions" had interfered in the mission. Some Jordan Leftists have demanded that the U. S. ambassador be expelled.

Two former chiefs of Jordan's army, now in exile in Syria, also charged foreign interference in the little country, and one of them named the United States.

Maj. Gen. Ali Hayari, who became chief of staff of the Jordan army after the crisis and kept the job only one day before resigning, denied a report he was planning to form a "free Jordan army."

Bar Transfusion For Burned Boy

GASTONIA, N.C. (AP)—A Jehovah's Witness minister and the father of a badly burned boy kept vigil today by the child's hospital bed, "trusting in faith" and refusing to permit blood transfusions physicians said are needed.

The child, 9-year-old Jerry Mauney, accidentally kicked a can of gasoline into a fire Saturday night while he and an older brother were camping out near his East Gastonia home. The fire blazed up and ignited his clothing.

The father, Carl Mauney, heard his screams and, catching the boy, beat out the flames. Doctors said Jerry suffered third degree burns over his body and was in serious condition at a hospital here.

Mauney and the minister, the Rev. J. T. Hinkle of Charlotte, quoted Leviticus 17:14 in support of their contention that no man should take whole blood, either by mouth or otherwise.

"We are willing to give up a life to keep God's commandment," said Hinkle. He and the elder Mauney said they thought their faith would pull the boy through. The mother said she "wants Jerry to live but also to have everlasting life."

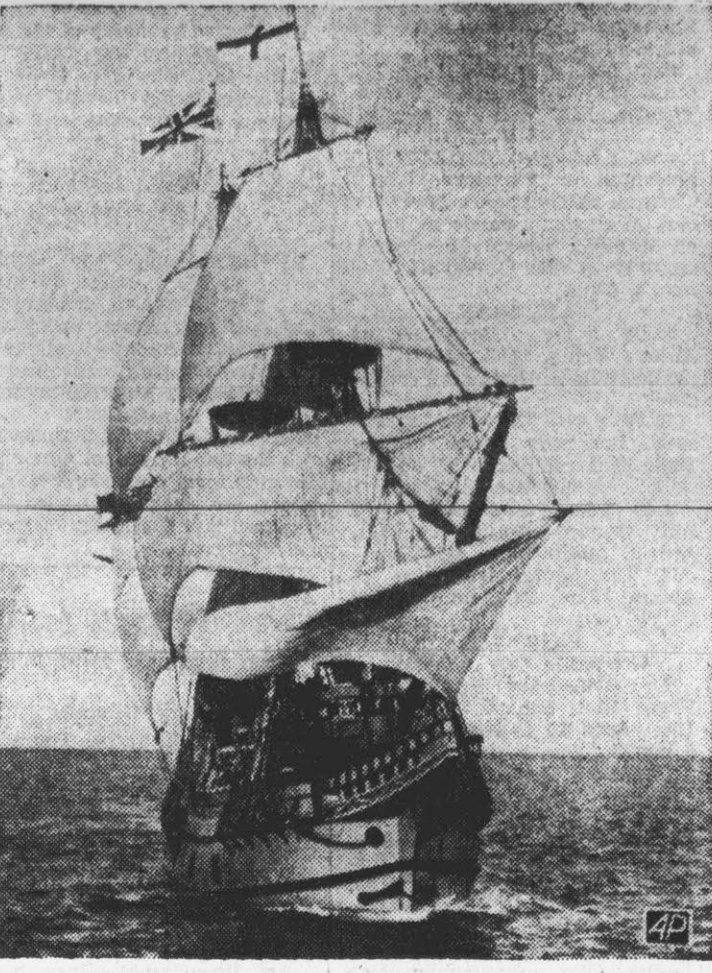

Saw A Million Easter Paraders

NEW YORK (AP)—The warmest Easter on record here brought out an estimated 1,200,000 persons for the annual 5th Avenue parade yesterday. Midtown churches had capacity audiences.

The 360 policemen assigned to the midtown area succeeded even better than usual in keeping exhibitionists and hucksters out of the parade. But a few crackpots with outlandish display managed to slip in.

It was New York's hottest day so far this year. The mercury went into the 80s at noon and climbed to 82 in midafternoon.

Tax Law Changes Head For A Fight

our present information" he would also favor killing these proposals as well as a major item to revise the corporate income tax allocation formula.

Gov. Luther Hodges is strongly backing the corporate tax revision, which he says would greatly aid the state in its industrial development campaign.

Kiser described this proposed change as a "hoax" and "joke." He added, "There is no virtue in it. The record shows that we are the outstanding state in industrial development in the Southeast."

White, Kiser and some other House Finance Committee members are strongly in favor of taking action on the more controversial items in the tax bill before sending it to a subcommittee.

The House and Senate Finance Committees voted last week to appoint subcommittees to draft the bill. Rep. Kiser said "The members in the full committee ought to have an opportunity to throw their ideas around" in a general discussion before turning the bill over to the subcommittee.

Dulles Says Liberating Of Captive Peoples Still Goal

NEW YORK (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles bluntly told Russia today that the United States seeks "the liberation of the captive nations." He said "the pressures of liberty are rising" within the Soviet bloc.

In an address prepared for the annual Associated Press luncheon, Dulles also appealed to Congress and the American people to preserve the administration's foreign military and economic aid programs against those with "a zeal to economize." He evidently referred to some members of Congress.

He also expressed confidence that Soviet "threats," such as have recently been directed against Allied nations in Europe because of their membership in the Atlantic Alliance, "will not disintegrate" the collective defense systems of the free world.

Dulles' address had the full approval of President Eisenhower, who read it at his Augusta, Ga., vacation headquarters. Press Secretary James C. Hagerly said Eisenhower also had discussed it by telephone with Dulles.

The address was Dulles' first major review of U. S. foreign policy since last fall, and also his first speech of Eisenhower's second term.

Dulles said the question of how the United States should deal with Communist "despotism" is not an easy one to answer. He declared the United States had set an example to stimulate forces for freedom throughout the world and he assured Soviet satellite countries that "we shall never make a political settlement at their expense."

He ruled out action by the United States to "incite violent revolt" and called instead for measures to "encourage an evolution to freedom."

"Let us also make apparent to the Soviet rulers our real purpose. We condemn and oppose their imperialism. We seek the liberation of the captive nations," he said of Russia.

"We seek this, however, not in order to encircle Russia with hostile forces, but because peace is in jeopardy and freedom a word of mockery until the divided nations are reunited and the captive nations are set free."

In describing the "pressures of liberty" which he said are rising within the Soviet bloc, Dulles said there is increasing demand for greater personal security, freedom and economic benefits within the Soviet bloc. Dulles said there is increasing demand for greater personal security, freedom and economic benefits within the Soviet bloc.

"In the satellite countries, he said, Russia no longer has the 'submissive source' of military strength. In fact, he asserted, 'Soviet strength, both military and economic, has now to be expended to repress those who openly show their revulsion against Soviet rule.'"

Dulles also made these other major points:

1. International communism "is on the prowl to capture those nations whose leaders feel that newly acquired sovereign rights have to be displayed by flouting other independent nations." He called that "suicidal sovereignty" and said the United States wants the independence of new nations "to be something better than a brief twilight preceding the blackout of Communist despotism."

Dulles did not mention any country in this connection but he is known to feel that in its handling of the Suez Canal issue, Egypt has disregarded the rights of other countries which rely on the use of the canal.

2. The chief deterrent to Soviet aggression is the "mobile retaliatory power" of the United States but this country also needs strong allies. This is the main argument for military aid. If the "forces and facilities" of Allied nations were taken away from the common defense the American defense budget would have to be "expanded vastly," he said.

3. The administration's policies governing promotion of international trade and economic assistance to foreign countries are vital to strengthen those countries against Communist pressures and to secure their belief in "the blessings of liberty."

"With the help of the Congress, and with the support of the American people," Dulles declared, "our trade and economic development policies can serve mightily to demonstrate that the peace of free men is not the doomed peace of human stagnation but a peace of such vitality that it will endure."

4. The United States considers "that controls and reduction of arms are possible, desirable, and, in the last reckoning, indispensable. The atomic arms race 'is costly, sterile and dangerous' and 'we shall not cease our striving to bring it to a dependable end.'"

5. History suggests that "a conflict as basic as that dividing the world of international communism and the world of international communism is not mately erupts in war" but the United States rejects the notion that war is inevitable and believes that it can be prevented.

'Ideal' Weather Greet's Easter Holiday In Pitt

The year's warmest day, spiced by clear skies and light breezes, formed the backdrop for Easter Sunday in Pitt County.

Temperature yesterday was in the high 80's during the afternoon, providing almost-perfect weather for Easter parades, egg hunters and others on one of their first outings of the year.

The pleasant weather made it possible for large crowds to attend the city's two sunrise services. St. James Methodist Church held a sunrise communion at the sanctuary on Forest Circle and the Greenville Free Will Baptist Church had an outdoor service.

A large crowd of children and their parents attended the Moose Lodge's annual Easter Egg hunt yesterday afternoon on Elm Street Park. Lodge members also rented the Kiwanis Choo-Choo for the occasion and most of the youngsters attending the hunt got at least one ride on the miniature streamliner.

Large crowds also attended egg hunts sponsored by the Recreation Commission and East Carolina College's Circle K Club over the long weekend.

City police reported "unusually heavy" traffic in the business district Saturday but Captain H.E. Wooten said there were no difficulties involved in keeping the traffic moving. Three wrecks, two of them classed as "minor" wrecks, marred the Saturday traffic but all three were in residential areas.

Traffic on highways and rural roads in the county was also heavy over the weekend but the State Highway Patrol reports that "every thing seemed to be moving in an orderly manner."

The holiday period for city school children will continue until Thursday morning. County School students will return to class tomorrow.

GRIMESLAND — Six persons filed as candidates for the Board of Commissioners here before the deadline Saturday.

In addition Mayor Ernest Elks filed for re-election to his office. He is unopposed.

Three others filed as candidates for the five seats on the town's governing body. They are: Mrs. Lela Belle Hoell, Dan White and J. Dalton Heath.

The election is set for May 6. Registration books will be open April 20 through 27 to give new voters a chance to place their names on the books. It is not a new registration and those presently registered are not required to re-register.

More Than 150 Die In Fighting

ALGIERS (AP)—Insurgent attacks and weekend clashes between uniformed rebel bands and French forces left more than 150 dead, French authorities reported today.

The bloodiest military engagement took place in western Algeria, where French troops battled 200 rebels in mountainous terrain. Rebel losses were placed at 101 killed. French losses were not given.

French figures showed that 75 soldiers and some 750 rebels were killed in military clashes in the past week.

Tornadoes And Rain For Texas

DALLAS (AP)—Tornadoes boomed last night and rivers were rising today, but there was a bright side: apparently the seven-year drought was about broken in most of the state.

Ten tornadoes lashed from angry storm clouds over the Texas Panhandle and South Plains last night, injuring an estimated 12 to 14 persons and inflicting heavy property damage. One man was reported missing.

An 11th tornado hit near Cotulla in south Texas but did little damage.

The Trinity River approached the flood stage here and the Weather Bureau warned it would flood lowlands to the south in the next few days.

Thunderstorms also hit central Texas last night and today.

Hard rain accompanied the tornadoes in northwest Texas and heavy rains drenched south Texas last night. General heavy rains have been soaking most of Texas since the middle of February, boosting the morale of farmers, ranchers and city dwellers.

State officials expressed cautious optimism that the drought was about broken in all but the western and southernmost portions of the state.

LAURINBURG, N.C. (AP)—The family of Mr. and Mrs. David Morris Singley of Maxton, N.C., was wiped out in a highway accident 15 miles north of here on U.S. 501.

Although the parents survived, their three children were dead shortly after the Singley car was struck by a trailer truck.

The victims were identified as Louisa Ann Singley, 8; David M. Singley Jr., 6; and Michael Austin Singley, 2½. Their father is superintendent of the Maxton city schools.

Highway Patrolman L. F. Brown said the truck was passing the Singley car, which was making a left turn off the highway, when the accident occurred.

Officers said 20-year-old Linwood Gordie Cook of Durham was driving the truck. He was charged with manslaughter and held under $1,000 bond.

Long Slow Look At China Trading

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER WASHINGTON (AP)—Officials said today the United States will move slowly and cautiously in carrying out its agreement to relax Allied controls on trade with Red China.

The State Department announced Saturday that the Eisenhower administration had agreed to negotiate with 14 Allied nations a reduction in the list of items embargoed for Red China. At the same time it called for an increase in the Soviet bloc trade control list and a tightening up of control machinery.

The announcement emphasized that this country has no intention of modifying its own total embargo on all trade with the Chinese Communists.

The decision was made in response to long-time British and Japanese pressures. The issue has been a sore point in American relations with Britain and Japan.

Their demands for revision constituted one side of a squeeze in which President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles have been caught for more than a year.

The other side consists of pressures in Congress to maintain the highest possible restriction on all free world trade with the whole Communist bloc.

President Eisenhower told a news conference two weeks ago the United States must recognize the independence of Japan and Britain on international trade.

Last week the United States gave its answer in a note circulated to the embassies of 14 countries here. The countries which cooperate in the Allied trade control system are the North Atlantic Treaty allies—except Iceland—plus Japan. Their participation is voluntary and United States views on what they should or should not sell to the Communist bloc can only be made effective through negotiation with them.

The proposed revision of the control list for Russia and the embargo list for Red China will be subject to negotiation item by item. U.S. officials said. The negotiations will be held in Paris, they reported, and probably will take many months to complete. The American government has not yet decided which types of goods it is willing to see removed from the Red China list and which ones already on that list it would like to see added to the Russian trade control list.

The Russian list is shorter than the Chinese list. This has been a major complaint of the British, who argued that nothing was gained by denying Red China goods which it could buy from the West through the Soviet Union. Commodities which are embargoed to China but not to Russia include such things as farm tractors, auto trucks, certain types of railroad, telephone and chemical equipment and iron and steel sheets too soft to be used in military weapons.

Flying Boxcar Crash Kills Four

TOKYO (AP)—A U. S. Air Force C119 Flying Boxcar crashed on northern Kyushu Island today, killing all four men aboard. A helicopter searching for the wreckage also crashed in the rain, injuring three Americans aboard.

The Air Force spokesman said the bodies of the airmen had been recovered from the wreckage of the C119, which piled up while on a flight from the 483rd Troop Carrier Wing at Ashiya Air Base. The men aboard the search helicopter were hospitalized. There was no immediate word as to the extent of their injuries.

Ground parties found the C119 wreckage. The Flying Boxcar smashed into the mountains 2½ miles south of the steelmaking coast city of Yawata. The helicopter crashed two miles west of the C119, starting a small forest fire.

Hobson Pittman Paintings On Display

Eleven paintings done by Hobson Pittman are now hanging in the local art gallery in Sheppard Memorial Library. This exhibition has been made available to the community for the annual Fine Arts Festival through the courtesy of the Director of the Milch Galleries in New York City, Robert Lee Humber, the N. C. State Art Museum and Lucy Cherry Crisp.

In the exhibition are eight oils and three pastels—a selection made with care, to show the characteristics and style of the artist. Pittman is known for his interiors, open doors, and antique chairs. He uses, particularly in his pastels, a shade of pink created by him and called "Pittman Pink." These characteristics are easily discernible in the current exhibition.

The public is cordially invited to visit the gallery and see the exhibition. Regular gallery hours will be observed this week. The gallery was closed today, but will be open again Tuesday and each day throughout the Festival.

Mr. Pittman will give a lecture in Greenville on Wednesday evening, April 24, at 8 o'clock in the auditorium of Joyner Memorial Library on the college campus. His talk will be illustrated with slides of paintings showing works of old masters as well as those of contemporary artists.

The public is invited to hear him and to attend the reception in his honor immediately after the program, at the home of Mrs. S. M. Crisp on Fifth Street.

April 22, 1927

The George B. Singletary Chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy, gave to the high school library, several years ago, a Confederate shelf, which they have added to, at various times, until at present it consists of quite a number of valuable books. The Chapter and also those in authority at the high school agree that the shelf will serve a more useful purpose if placed in the public library, and this will be done in the near future. All contributions will be greatly appreciated by the Chapter.

Advantages Outweigh Shortcomings

Rep. Walter Jones' bill to provide compulsory liability insurance for every automobile on the roads of North Carolina has cleared its first hurdle, but it still has many obstacles to overcome before it is written into law.

Five-Cent Newspapers May Become Memory

The five-cent newspaper appears to be going the way of the good five-cent cigar.

The reason: the same as the advance in cost in practically every other item and commodity in the past few decades. Raw materials which go into the production of a newspaper cost more and the cost of producing the finished product from the raw material cost more.

Figures recently released by the American Newspaper Publishers Association show that 379 of the 1,738 American daily English-language newspapers are now charging more than a nickel a copy. Only 25 are charging less than five cents a copy. The number of daily newspapers in the country which sell for five cents a copy is 94 fewer than a year ago and 266 fewer than was the case in 1951.

In addition to those which have found it necessary to raise the daily per copy price above five cents, there have been numerous newspapers which have increased the price of their Sunday editions.

It will be years yet before the five-cent daily newspaper becomes a thing of the past on the American scene, but every sign points that the day is coming. Higher newsprint costs, higher production costs are forcing the price slowly upward. In some cases the price already has gone to six cents, other publishers have found it necessary to increase the price of their newspapers to seven cents a copy and more than sixty have advanced to price to 10 cents a copy in an effort to meet production costs.

The two-cent and three-cent newspapers which were common a few decades ago have virtually disappeared. They went the way of penny candy, 10-cent-a-pack cigarettes and $950 new automobiles.

Much as we hate to see it, the five-cent newspaper seems headed in the same direction.

Both the Senate and the House should take their cue on this matter from the 16-14 approval the bill received from the House Insurance Committee.

Shortcomings of the bill have been pointed out vigorously by the strong opposition. In spite of their efforts, it remains apparent that the advantages the bill offers the people of North Carolina far outweigh its shortcomings.

The financial responsibility law North Carolina now has fails to give the people of the state the protection they need in automobile accidents. The 500,000 to 600,000 uninsured automobiles on the highways of the state are ample evidence of this lack of protection. The financial responsibility act has not brought about assurance that any victim of an automobile accident will provide protection against financial loss.

Under provisions of the bill introduced by Rep. Jones, each automobile for which a license is issued in this state would have to be protected by liability insurance. While this may seem harsh to some people, it merely carries out the terms of responsibility which are already generally accepted.

North Carolina needs the compulsory liability insurance law which has been proposed. Most of the people of the state, we believe, recognize the merits of the proposed legislation and would like to see the bill written into law. The General Assembly would do well to provide for the people of the state the additional protection of this bill which is so acutely needed.

Loose Ends On Capitol Square

By LYNN NISBET

INTERLUDE — Both branches of the General Assembly took time out from routine duties for brief Good Friday religious services. The custom is traditional in the House, but this was the first time the Senate had recognized the occasion.

Rev. E.C. Durham, Senate chaplain, made a short talk in which he emphasized the relative insignificance of the Earth in the total universe, and raised the question whether there might have occurred on other planets in other solar systems incidents comparable to those in Jerusalem some nineteen hundred years ago. It seemed to him unreasonable the God of the Universe should confine attention to one type of beings on one of the smallest units in the limitless realms of space and time.

Governor Hodges attended the brief service in the House, in which members participated. Rep. Carroll Holmes of Perquimans offered the main prayer. Sergeant at Arms Joe Warren gave the benediction. Rev. Alfonso Jordan, House chaplain, delivered a short sermon on the seven last words spoken by Jesus on the cross, and the entire congregation joined in singing, led by a quartet composed of Reps. Ned Delamar of Polk, Frank Pittman of Halifax and Raynor Woodard of Northampton, and former Rep. Red Collier of Pamlico.

Members and visitors alike were impressed with the appropriateness of taking time to do reverence to the significance of Calvary and the approaching Easter.

Rules require that every session of the House and Senate be opened with prayer. Sometimes these occasions are perfunctory and members appear to be bored with the delay. No such attitude was evident Friday. The atmosphere of worship pervaded the legislative halls.

ICE-BREAKER — Sen. W. B. Shuford of Catawba has a bill coming up intended to break the ice jam constituting gross discrimination against school children living in towns and cities.

There is no law on the statute books now prohibiting the transportation of school children living inside the corporate limits of municipalities. But there isn't enough money now, and there has not been in the past, to provide equal transportation for all children and regulations of the State Board of Education have restricted free bus transportation to rural pupils living more than a mile and a half from the school house. Children in towns and cities living as much as five miles away must get to school on their own power.

The fact that they would lose the advantage of school transportation if they came into the city has influenced many parents in fringe or perimeter areas to vote against extending corporate limits. That has been a recognized major factor in opposition of Longview and Brookford residents to accept annexation to the City of Hickory.

The Shuford bill provides simply that where the State is now furnishing school bus transportation, the privilege shall not be withdrawn solely because the area comes within the corporate limits of a municipality. Enactment of that bill will take off the immediate problem at Hickory and perhaps half a dozen other places, with comparable conditions. It will not correct the long standing injustice, which the State Board of Education and many local units have protested, against school children because they live in town instead of in the country. In the Catawba county case no additional appropriation of State money is involved.

This might be the first break in the ice jam which has blocked equitable treatment for school kids.

PUBLIC INFORMATION — The bill offered by Rep. Byrd Satterfield of Person requiring that study commissions authorized by the Legislature provide other members with more complete data on testimony presented to them has very little chance of enactment.

It is contrary to the policy of the General Assembly, at least of the more important committees on appropriations and finance, that neither other members of the Legislature nor the public is entitled to know the basis upon which committee conclusions are reached.

Certainly the mass of data presented to the committees cannot be ready by all members or published in the newspapers. Representative Satterfield is not the first legislator to object to conclusions pressed for acceptance by members who had no knowledge of the facts upon which the conclusions were based.

Recent efforts to attend the jurisdiction of domestic relations courts so that more phases of criminal trials might be kept secret failed. Even so there have been instances of closing doors against the public by public officials handling public business. That extends even to making statistics on births and deaths restricted.

In direct contrast with this trend in North Carolina, the Arizona Legislature has passed an act opening records and proceedings of juvenile courts to the press and the public.

Science Fairs Open Eyes

BABSON PARK, Fla. — Let me first apologize to the millions of readers of my column for my criticism of High School Teachers. I claimed that while they are urging higher pay and new buildings, their products are inferior to the products of forty years ago. My experience had been largely with girls supposedly trained for secretarial work, but who cannot read intelligently, spell correctly, do fractions, typewrite efficiently, or use correct English. A NEWSPAPER PUBLISHER'S EXPERIMENT

One day about a year ago, Mr. J.C. Council, Publisher of the Tampa Tribune, decided to make a practical test of the Hillsborough County High Schools. He explained to the teachers of these and other high schools what he was endeavoring to accomplish and how it should be done. He selected three dates, the last of March, and engaged one of the large Fair buildings having exhibit booths. Each high school class was asked to make an exhibit of some existing or future scientific problem. They could make a television set, or an electric burner, or an electric eye, or something else already existing. Or, these students could imagine and illustrate some new invention that may come in the future. Each class was assigned a booth with tables and electrical connections.

The day I was there, teachers were present and the students came in fifty school buses. A few could not help pinching and exploding some balloons for weather forecasting. Otherwise, these several thousand students behaved excellently. With my further apology to the girls I found the grand prize was taken by a girl, Barbara Buerke. However, she was not trained to be a "secretary" but a commercial artist. Frankly, I was emotionally moved to see the great interest and intelligence that came of these students showed. I came home bullish on our youth if they are allowed to work on subjects in which they are interested under the "core" teaching as advocated by Dr. Arthur Combs of the University of Florida.

Other Editors Saying --- Should Wives Work?

(Jackson (Miss.) Clarion-Ledger and Daily News)

If you are considering joining other housewives who are streaming back to work these days, here are some problems you'll have to think about, according to the editors of Changing Times.

Finally, will her husband go along with the idea wholeheartedly? Will he pitch in with the housework if he has to? Does he agree that the kids will be in good hands? Remember, that the decision about a wife taking a job is a family one.

If the main purpose is to add to the family coffers, a wife must have a job that will pay at least her expenses plus her taxes, and a net return that will make the job financially worthwhile. If she files a joint income tax return, she pays at her husband's top rate. If he's in, say, the 25 per cent bracket, roughly 26 cents of every dollar she earns will go to taxes. And too, the more her husband earns, the more she pays for the privilege of working.

HOPE FOR THE TALL Columbia (S.C.) State Life has always posed certain difficulties to the exceptionally tall, and now the Air Force has reached the point of almost clipping their wings.

House designers of years past special decaupier six-foot doors; clothing manufacturers apparently thought anyone over 6'4" didn't need clothes; and automobile manufacturers have for a long time assumed that these folks had eyes in their chest instead of the top of their heads.

Now the Air Force, finding it necessary to add more and more items in the cockpit of the jet planes, have just about crowded the tall and heavy set individual. Muscle isn't needed any more — just brains — as the planes grow more complicated and more things are done at the flick of a switch or turn of a knob. The Air Force hints that because of these developments it may review some of the older requirements for flying personnel.

One wife, whom the editors cite as typical, took a job that paid $250 a month. After all expenses for clothes, baby-sitter, lunches, been taken out she discovered that she had $91 a month left to contribute to the family income. Even at that, she continues to work because of the $91 a month makes it possible for her and her $116-a-month husband to stay out of debt.

However, the tall fellows need not feel that the world has altogether passed them by. Two them — the tall girls and, if the lad is over 6'8", the basketball coaches.

She will have personal and family problems to cope with, too. An outside job may free her from routine household tasks, but it won't rid her of the responsibility of managing her home. Is she up to it physically as well as emotionally? Will the youngsters be okay? Whether or not a wife is depriving her child by working depends on the kind of person she is and the kind of arrangements she makes for his

Trade Fair Has Bright Future

By ELMER ROESSNER

The U.S. World Trade Fair, now at the New York Coliseum, will be repeated next year on a larger scale.

This prediction is based on the fact that the Fair is a thumping success, perhaps greater than some of the promoters expected. Exhibit space is almost entirely sold out, attendance by both public and the trade is high and this is the payola—exhibitors are getting orders.

A single solution for developing, stopping and fixing films has been devised. It's not on the market yet.

A new aerosol can record will be set this year. Last year manufacturers made 350,000; orders so far this year indicate production of 400,000. Canco reports.

New cigarette gimmicks are on the way. One company is testing the use of trading stamps with a filler brand; if it catches on the stamps will be used nationally. Meanwhile, a packaging company has developed a new pack with a slide top; the cigarettes pop up one at a time when the pack is tapped.

Here are more business predictions, based on analyses, clues and tips:

Aluminum paint prices will fall. Four grades of aluminum paste, an essential ingredient, have been reduced 9 per cent in price and some paint companies will pass part of the cut along. HOUSING ACTION SOON

Truckers get a few breaks this year. Bills to ease weight and size limitations have been introduced in 31 states and passed in five. Restrictions differ so much from state to state now that truckers say a figurative lawyer rides in every interstate cab. THE AKPETESHIE MARTINI MAY BE ON THE WAY

The world's newest nation, Ghana, has asked the U.S. Department of Commerce to help it contact a supplier of distillery equipment. It wants to improve the quality of akpeteshie, a native gin.

Congress will act quicker than expected on housing. The report that housing starts in March were at an annual rate of only 880,000 units is frightening many lawmakers; it may be the beginning of a bad slide. But even prompt action by Congress in making money easier may not be in time to beef up starts this year. Note: Norman Strunk, executive vice president of the U.S. Savings and Loan League, says plenty of mortgage money is available. Builders, he says, aren't sure of sales.

Up until now, akpeteshie has been produced by some 8,000 Ghana moonshiners in kitchens or rural hideouts under conditions not exactly sanitary. To wipe out the moonshiners, and to raise revenues, the government will license stills of more than 500 gallons capacity. Further details are available from the Trade Development Division, Bureau of Foreign Commerce, Department of Commerce, Washington 25, D.C.

There will be no U.S. income tax cut this year. Despite budget cuts, there won't be enough margin between spending and anticipated tax collections to justify lower rates. If cuts are not rescinded, taxpayers may get a bone in 1958, such as a slight increase in personal exemptions.

AWFUL SUSPICION PUT INTO WORDS

A new whisky is coming. The Japanese have developed a whisky they now think good enough to compete in the lush (lush?) American market. It resembles Scotch.

"We've been trying for a long time to put our finger on exactly what's wrong with all of the various Weeks that promote doughnuts, or swim-for-health, or let's-eat-out, and now... we think we know. There's no damn sense in them." — Caslie Stinnett in "Speaking of Holiday," a magazine's house organ.

A SQUEEZE OF CHEESE You'll be offered cheese in tubes soon. Three varieties in squeeze tubes are now under market tests. Photography will be easier.

Irritated Over Conduct Of Israeli

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — High Administration officials can scarcely conceal their exasperation over Israel's undiplomatic behavior throughout the prolonged Middle East crisis, especially its attempt to embroil the United States in a dangerous clash with an Arab world backed by Russia.

AKABA AND THE Gaza Strip. IKE'S GRAVE CONCERN REGARDING MIDDLE EAST Breaking with the Roosevelt-Truman tradition, Eisenhower and Dulles have tried to make clear that Israel has no special claims on us in its disputes with its neighbors. Unlike their predecessors, they have not been influenced by political pressures and considerations. Their sole interest is — and must be — world peace and this country's security.

It is this premeditated but secret onslaught which precipitated today's crisis, including a worsening of our relations with Moscow. Prime Minister Ben-Gurion justified Israel's military action on the ground that Col. Gamal Abdel Nasser was mounting an invasion force along the Gaza border, and that the Israeli invasion was a defensive move. Subsequent inquiry has disclosed that Nasser had not engaged in warlike preparations.

Ever since the invasion of Egypt, and even before that tragic affair, the Israeli government has not been completely candid with President Eisenhower and Secretary Dulles. They have embarrassed this country in its relations with friendly Arab regimes — Lebanon, Saudi Arabia, Iraq, Jordan, even non-Arabian Iran — and with Britain and France.

He believes firmly that the whole Middle East problem must be settled (1) by diplomatic negotiation, (2) by the United Nations, or possibly (3) by the World Court at The Hague.

His main divisions were not within 50 miles of the boundary, and the transport to adjacent areas was not on hand. His forces were so scattered that they were not in a position to attack. His troops had not mastered the use of new planes, tanks and other weapons obtained from Russia. It was this weakness which enabled the Israelis to win so quickly and easily.

They have taken the position that the United States, alone and unsupported by other Western principals, must protect their interests and underwrite their claims. Relying on their unwarranted interpretations of Eisenhower-Dulles statements, they have acted as if they were an "American ward." They have tried to force our hand by extreme attitudes on their rights in the Suez Canal, the Gulf of TRIGGER-HAPPY TEL AVIV Israel has been equally trigger-happy with regard to passage of an American-chartered ship, the Kern Hill, through the Gulf of Akaba to its port of Elath.

Although Tel Aviv based this trial voyage on reported promises by Dulles, the Secretary of State gave no such pledges. He simply promised to support Israel's right of free passage along with other nations before the U.N. or World Court. Israel objects to this procedure.

Moreover, the Israelis did not give us advance notice of the planned test. They even concealed from us the fact that Elath was the tanker's destination. Finally, the unopposed passage could not be a true test because Egyptian artillery along the Gulf had been captured and destroyed in the November attack. The position is now held by the U.N. troops.

SAUD'S HOSTILITY RENEWED As a result of this premature and undiplomatic action, King Saud of Saudi Arabia has renewed his hostility toward Israel in a striking way. Since the Strait of Tiran lies only a few hundred yards off his islands, he has asserted his right to bar Israel shipping, removing this onus from Nasser.

It has embittered our friends throughout the whole Middle East. It has, in short, made more difficult, if not impossible, President Eisenhower's role as peacemaker.

SGA Officers Are Elected At Chicod

BY IVA LOU BRUNSON
Chicod School Reporter

Nancy Sue Dixon will be president of the Chicod School Student Government Association next year.

She was selected to a run-off last week that put girls in every SGA office. Other officers are Barbara Haddock, vice-president; Peggy Jean Dixon treasurer; and Murdine Buck, secretary.

Future Homemakers of America were hostesses at a tea for high school teachers Wednesday afternoon. The social hour was held in front of the Home Economics cottage under the direction of Mrs. Anne Hodges.

A Weiner roast and hay ride was held for SGA members Wednesday night. The weiner roast was held at the road side park near Vanceboro. After eating, the students enjoyed dancing.

Boys and girls were involved in two ball games Thursday afternoon. The girls won a 21-12 softball game from Grimesland and the boys won a 4-4 baseball game from Winterville.

IVA LOU

The state contest is sponsored by the North Carolina Chiropractic Association and will include a district elimination next Wednesday in New Bern. Iva Lou will represent Pitt County in the district contest.

Representatives from each of the student clubs at Chicod High School gave short talks on the clubs at the monthly meeting of the PTA Thursday night.

Seniors were guests at a hamburger fry Friday night at Buck's pond. The party was given by Mrs. Frances Porter, Mrs. Florence Smith, Mrs. Lillian James, Mrs. La Rue Brunson, Mrs. Helen Hardee and Mrs. Alin McGowan.

British Movies Feel TV Impact

LONDON (AP)—One British movie house in 25 closed down last year as more and more people stayed home to watch television. Government figures show attendance dropped 7 per cent, continuing a decline started the previous year.

The government last week revised taxes to help theaters and movies in the struggle against television. It abolished the 33 1/2 per cent tax on tickets for the live theater, and reduced it for cinemas.

At the same time it announced that Britons will have to pay $11.20 instead of $8.40 for their licenses to own radio and television sets.

Ask Street Be Named For Him

WARWICK, R.I. (AP)—More than 200 youthful residents of Warwick appreciate all the good deeds done for them by the Rev. William P. Gillooly, assistant pastor of St. Peter's Catholic Church.

The youngsters estimate the priest spent $6,000 on 120,000 ice cream cones in the last 12 years. The priest also directs baseball, basketball and bowling leagues and takes youngsters to the beach. A petition bearing 207 youthful signatures was presented to the City Council last night to name a new street "Gillooly Avenue." The council will act at the next meeting.

All Five Sons Enlisted In Army

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—When 17-year-old Richard Bean was sworn into the Army, he became the fifth and last of Raymond F. Bean's five sons to join that service.

Gordon D., with 16 years service, Robert E., with 10 years, and Norman C., with 6, all are in the same signal battalion in Germany and Raymond F. Jr., with 8, is in Korea.

The older Bean retired in 1938 after serving 30 years in the Coast Guard.

with making good marks. After my day with these Tampa youths I am sure that these personnel "scouts" should start by discovering such students when they are in High School, rather than wait until they are about to graduate from College.

WHAT HIGH SCHOOLS NEED
Truly this group of Tampa young people with whom I associated are a "gold mine." I could pick out the leaders of Tampa's future without looking at their examination papers or marks. I found, however, that some of the boys whom I would select were not popular with their teachers. Perhaps some of the students felt that their teachers are not too able and are interested only in their salary and not in their students. It is a common thing to know people who have a "green thumb" with flowers or a way with animals; they can get first prizes in flower shows and can easily train animals. This is not because they are better educated in horticulture or biology, but because they love flowers and love animals. The same principle may apply to teachers.

I wish that publishers in each of the 400 cities carrying my weekly column could follow the example of Mr. J.C. Council of the Tampa Tribune. I realize that a few other cities are already holding similar "Fairs" but it would be a wonderful thing if such "Fairs" could take place once a year, or at least once in four years, in each of these 400 cities. The program would fill a great need in most communities. It would be greatly appreciated by teachers and graduates. It would help to hold these high school graduates within their own state for a college education, rather than lose them to some other community.

ONE MORE THOUGHT: I believe more attention should be given to higher post-graduate work—two years following college. In order to secure appropriations, presidents of State Universities appear to feel that they must have as large an enrollment as possible. Naturally, the average native intelligence decreases as the number of students increases. This tends to reduce the standards for graduation. As a result, these more efficient students too often do not return to the cities which educated them. They take post-graduate work in some other state and then remain there. I am not ruling out a higher education for those fitted only for trades or manual work. I, however, am arguing that the future of every city depends on holding the most efficient and ablest students. Cities brag too much about their population totals when their future really depends on the character, initiative and efficiency of their High School graduates. Let us hold these young people at home in the cities which raised them.

Pirates Top Guilford, Now Meet Top-Ranked Indians

GUILFORD — A homerun, triple and single from the big bat of outfielder Joel Long Saturday paced the ECC Pirates to a rousing 13-2 decision over Guilford's Quakers.

It marked Long's third homer in a month and East Carolina's fifth victory in the North State conference.

Coach Jim Mallory's Buccaneers clouted two Guilford pitchers, O'Brian and Shriver for a total of 12 big hits and capitalized on 11 costly Quaker errors to run the score up to the most lopsided of

ECC Net Team Tops Charleston Squad By 7-2

CHARLESTON, S. C. — East Carolina's powerful tennis team, currently a leader in the North State Conference, added another victory to their record, defeating the College of Charleston, 7-2 Saturday afternoon.

The match was the first of a four match southern trip for the Pirates. ECC are scheduled to meet Stetson University at DeLand, Florida this afternoon. The other two matches will be played against Jackson Naval Air Station in Jacksonville tomorrow and the Citadel in a return match at Charleston on Wednesday. The Citadel edged the Pirates, 5-4, in a match earlier in the season.

In marching to their eighth victory of the year, the East Carolinians won four singles and three double matches. Maurice Everette was defeated in the number one single 6-3, 6-3 by Charleston's J. Fischer.

Winners for ECC were John West, John Savage, Billy Hollowell and Mike Katsias. The Pirate doubles of West-Savage, Hollowell-Everett and Blake-Daughtrie were also victorious.

Summary:
Fisher (C) defeated Everette, 6-3, 6-3. West (ECC) defeated Brandon, 7-5, 6-2. Hollowell (ECC) defeated Fleming, 6-2, 6-0. Savage (ECC) defeated Walker, 6-4, 6-2. Harowitz (C) defeated Blake, 7-5, 6-3, 6-4. Katsias (ECC) defeated Jefferson, 6-2, 6-0.

Doubles: West and Savage (ECC) defeated Fleming and Walker, 7-5, 6-2. 6-2. Hollowell and Everett (ECC) defeated Fischer and Brandon, 6-8, 6-2. 6-4. Blake and Daughtrie defeated Harowitz and Jefferson, 8-6, 6-2.

Ex-Jockeys Now Selling Tickets

HALLANDALE, Fla. (AP) — A number of former jockeys work in the mutual ticket department at Gulfstream Park. One of them is William Dangman who was born in Vienna and won races for 16 years through 1914.

"I really shouldn't be here," says Dangman. "I was pronounced dead after a fall at Fort Erie in Ontario years ago. Fortunately for me, the original diagnosis was wrong."

Other ex-riders working at the ticket windows here are Frankie Munden, Godfrey Preece, Walter Warren, George and Leo McMillen, Anthony Accardy, Earl Steffen and Francis Maschek.

Local Driver Wins Micro Race

TONY BRANNON, local racer for the Greenville Parts and Metal Company, came in first in Saturday night Micro Midget races this weekend. Brannon grabbed the lead from Norfolk's George Salas after a pileup and carried it to the end of the trail. Several wrecks and pileups highlighted Saturday night's races but no injuries were reported. (Photo by Bill Taylor).

G-Men Host To Kinston Tuesday

Kinston high school's baseball team will invade Greenville tomorrow afternoon for a North-eastern Conference tilt with the Phantoms.

The game will be played at Brookgreen Field, adjacent to the new high school building, which is still under construction, in South Greenville.

The Phantoms, in the midst of one of their most successful seasons to date, boast a 4-1 record for the season and all games have been in conference play. They hold wins over New Bern, Elizabeth City and Jacksonville. There lone loss came at the hands of Roanoke Rapids.

Brannon Takes Saturday's Top Midget Honors

In Saturday night's Micro Midget races at the Greenville Fair Grounds track, a large crowd saw local driver Tony Brannon finish ahead of the field to cop the night's top honors.

Brannon, sponsored by the Greenville Parts and Metal Company, was well ahead of the number two man, Obie Bridges. Herman Wall of Wilmington was third. George Salas, a well-known racer from Norfolk, was also a contender.

Salas held the lead position until he wrecked. Brannon moved into first then. Johnny Pollard crashed into a light pole on the turn in the first heat, but came back to capture fourth place in the finals.

A near mishap was avoided when Henry Aldridge of Greenville headed for the pits at full speed. As he pulled off the track his throttle jammed wide open. By skillful maneuvering, Aldridge managed to steer his racer into a parked trailer and was able to avoid injury to himself and others in the pits.

Micro races are held each Saturday night at the Fair Grounds track.

Coach Bo Farley's club is very much in the running for the Conference championship this season and a win over the powerful Red Devils tomorrow afternoon would aid the cause tremendously.

Kinston boasts a seasoned club, strong with a veteran crew of pitchers and more than enough good hitters. The Red Devils have been in the thick of the championship race for the past five or six years straight. This year is no exception.

Farley is expected to send Merrill Byrum to the mound against the visitors tomorrow. Byrum is the most consistent hurler on the Greenville squad, a sophomore fireballer. He is also a veteran, having been the Phantom work-horse last season as a freshman.

The rest of the lineup will probably be Dick Evans at first base; Mack Roebuck at second base; Joe Wingate, Charlie Smith and Bobby Edwards in the outfield; and Angus Duff catching.

Missed Second Ace By Eyelash

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Tom Baird came within an eyelash of going golf's hole-in-one ranks one better.

Baird sank his tee shot on the 128-yard seventh hole on the Lakewood golf course here.

Six holes later — on the 13th — his tee shot struck the flagstaff and bounced a foot away from the cup. The 13th at Lakewood is a 171-yarder.

Five Reasons Why Sunday A Notable Day In Baseball

By JACK HAND
The Associated Press

When baseball historians grope through the records of Sunday, April 21, 1957, at some distant date, they'll mark it down as the day that:

1. A "day" doubleheader at Washington was called because of power failure.

2. Don Newcombe tied a record by throwing home run balls to three successive Pittsburgh batters.

3. Don Hoak, a Cincinnati base runner, "fielded" a grounder between second and third and tossed it to Johnny Logan, Milwaukee shortstop, thus, in effect, retiring himself.

4. Jim Wilson pitched 6 2-3 perfect innings for the Chicago White Sox and didn't allow a Kansas City hit until there was one out in the ninth.

5. Frank Lane gnashed his teeth as a man he traded to Chicago Saturday, Bobby Del Greco, came through with a base hit that helped beat the St. Louis Cardinals 5-3 and then patted himself on the back for engineering the deal that brought Sam Jones, a 6-3 winner in the second game, to St. Louis from the Cubs.

All in all, Easter Sunday was a day to be remembered if for no other reason than that the New York Yankees and Brooklyn Dodgers finally lost a game.

After one week of play, the Milwaukee Braves and the Chicago White Sox are the only unbeaten teams and the Cincinnati Redlegs are the only nonwinners.

President Will Harridge has a problem on his hands after the second game at Washington was called because of power failure after five innings with Washington on top 2-1.

Since American League rules do not cover such a situation, Harridge will make a ruling after he gets the complete report from his umpires.

Baltimore won the first game 11-9, a wild affair that lasted 3 hours and 50 minutes and wasn't decided until the Orioles came up with two in the 10th inning. A total of 39 players, including 13 pitchers, saw action with George Zuberink getting the decision over Dick Hyde.

The Yanks lost their first game 5-4 to Boston when a wind-blown pop fly fell for a single between pitcher Bob Grim and the first base line with catcher Yogi Berra in pursuit. Gene Mauch dashed home from second while Sam White's fly was falling for a game-winning single, giving Dave Sisler the verdict. Bill Skowron hit two homers.

Wilson retired the first 20 Kansas City batters. He finally walked Gus Zernial in the seventh. Hector Lopez broke his no-hitter with a single in the ninth and Harry Simpson also singled.

Tom Morgan, who matched Wilson's three-hitter, gave up the only run of the 1-0 game in the 10th on Sherm Lollar's sacrifice fly with the bases loaded.

Jack Dittmer, playing his first game for Detroit since his trade by Milwaukee in late winter, came through with a bloop pinch single through with a 3-2 edge over Cleveland. It gave Jim Bunning the victory over Cal McLish.

Newcombe delivered successive home runs to Frank Thomas, Paul Smith and Dick Groat of Pittsburgh in the third inning of the first game at Brooklyn, won by the Pirates 6-3. Vern Law, who left with a pulled muscle, Bob Purkey and Roy Face held the Dodgers to two hits. One was a three-run homer by Carl Furillo in the ninth.

Brooklyn took the second 7-4, routing Ron Kline in the second as Don Zimmer and Junior Gilliam each collected three hits. Don Drysdale won it.

Hank Sauer beat the Phillies all by himself in the first game with a homer and a ninth-inning single that gave New York's Johnny Antonelli a 2-1 edge over Robin Roberts. In the second game, the Phils knocked out rookie Curt Barclay before he could retire a man and continued for an 8-5 triumph despite homers by Whitey Lockman and Willie Mays off winner Jack Sanford.

Del Crandall drove in two big runs with a single in Milwaukee's 3-1 victory over Cincinnati. Warren Spahn took his second straight at the expense of Johnny Klippstein.

Hoak, running toward third in the first inning, fielded a ground ball hit by Gus Bell and was de- given a hit by the scorer although the umpires and Manager Birdie Tebbets of the Redlegs differed on whether "interference" should have been called.

WILLIAMS . . . he won the year in North State play.

Williams Hurler

Handling the hurling chores for the Pirates was husky freshman righthander George Williams. It was his second victory of the year and thus marks him the most successful of Buc pitchers. He has not yet been beaten.

Williams, an All-State product from Shawboro, limited the host club to only four hits and had control of the game from the beginning to the end. Tink Bowen was the other half of the Pirate battery.

Both clubs went scoreless for two full innings, but East Carolina managed to push across one tally in the third. They added one more in the fourth, three in the fifth and another one in the sixth. They rested during the seventh then exploded again in the eighth for two and finished up with five in the final frame.

Third Position

The victory gave East Carolina a 5-2 mark for the season against conference teams and secured for them the number three position in league standings. Catawba occupies the top slot with a 6-1 mark and Elon is second with a 6-2 slate.

The Pirates meet Catawba today in a game that can change the standings.

Golfer Coghill's Left Eye May Be Lost In Mishap

HIGHPOINT, N.C. (AP)—Gene Coghill, 26-year-old Rochester, N. Y., golf professional, remained in a hospital here today, the condition of his left eye injured in a golfing accident still undetermined.

Both of Coghill's eyes had been bandaged since the accident at a High Point driving range last Tuesday but hospital officials said the bandage was removed from his right eye yesterday.

Coghill was being kept on strict rest regulations in an effort to save the sight of his left eye. Doctors said the condition of the eye still is in doubt.

The young pro, who has been on the professional tour less than a year, was injured when he topped a shot at the golf range. The ball hit a concrete tee and bounced back striking him in the eye.

Coghill had participated in the Greater Greensboro Open golf tournament the week before and had remained in the area to practice before going to Louisville for the Kentucky Derby Open.

Rae Foley's new mystery novel RUN FOR YOUR LIFE

WHAT HAS HAPPENED
Nora Pendleton knew someone wanted her to die. Until the night of October 12th, she had never known fear for herself. She had never had a care in the world until she met Stuart Young, an unemployed former medical student. Within five weeks they were engaged. Then Stuart was arrested for the murder of a young girl, "Candy" Kendrick. Nora's friends and kin believed Stuart to be guilty. But they had also thought him to be a fortune hunter, interested in Nora because of her wealth.

Nora had testified at Stuart's trial that he'd been with her on a picnic at the time Candy was killed. But her cousin, Charles Deming, swore that he had seen Stuart and Candy just before the supposed time of the crime. The murder happened near the Connecticut Inn run by Bert and Hazel Huger, distant cousins of Nora's. Charles Young, Frank, was there; and the local druggist, Howard Ives; and Nora's aunt, Olive Riddle, who had served as her joint guardian with Lawyer "Finn" Black until Nora came of age.

As the story continues, Nora is at the inn, awaiting a phone call that will tell her of the jury's verdict and Stuart's fate.

CHAPTER 2
The telephone rang, jerking Nora out of her chair. She ran, stumbling, across the living room out to the office. At last she said, "Hello," in a voice so faint it was barely audible.

"That you, Nora?" Finn Black asked.

"Yes, is he—?"

"Acquitted, of course. I'm driving Stuart to the inn for a few days. We'll be there in time for dinner."

"Oh," Nora sagged against the counter.

"I told you all along not to worry. After your testimony, there was nothing the jury could do but let him go. Get some rest so Stuart will see you blooming, not that ghost who's been haunting us lately."

Nora's voice, usually repressed, rang with triumph. "Oh, Finn, I can really rest now. And we'll get married at once, Stuart and I, just a quiet wedding."

"Now don't rush things," Finn warned her. "You've been as close to a nervous breakdown as I hope you'll ever get. Stay at the inn and take it easy for a while."

"But I want to go away," Nora said. "I only came back because it began here; somehow it should end here. Anyhow, the Hugers count on us to pay expenses during October. We've always done it. So," she started to say, "so has Cousin Charles." But he would never dare come to the inn again.

come back to face her. "I want to go some place where nothing awful has ever happened," she concluded.

"You'd have to look in the fourth dimension. There ain't no such animal. You must stay at the inn for the time being."

"Why?" It was a wall of disappointment, of protest.

"You see, now that Stuart is acquitted, the whole thing will start again. All that has been proved," he explained, "is that Stuart didn't do it. But someone did. Someone killed the girl. The police will want to question everyone. So you'll have to remain where you are. Be seeing you."

As Nora set down the telephone the inn, which had seemed to hold its breath all afternoon, erupted into life. Aunt Olive came running down the steep stairs. At the same moment the outside door was flung open and Nora was made aware that several people had tramped into the lobby.

"Charles Deming!" Aunt Olive cried. "What are you doing here?"

"Hello, Olive." Cousin Charles said as though they had met only the day before. "I rather thought you would be here." He rolled his gloves neatly and put them in the pocket of his topcoat. "How are you, Nora? Quite recovered, I hope." Without haste he removed his topcoat, opened the door of the closet under the stairs and reached for a hanger.

When he moved, Nora saw the young man behind him. One was his son, Frank, who gave her a quick, embarrassed smile. The other was a stranger, a tall man who leaned idly against the door frame and looked straight at her with the coldest, most implacable eyes she had ever seen.

Nora went swiftly toward the stairs. She had almost reached them before Aunt Olive caught her arm. "Nora, what did Finn say?"

"Acquitted. Finn will bring Stuart here in time for dinner."

"Thank heaven! Thought I told you all along there was nothing to worry about."

Did you indeed, Nora thought ironically. But Aunt Olive always managed to believe whatever suited her. On the death of her husband she had convinced herself that she was in imminent danger of starvation, if not starvation, on an income of ten thousand a year. Her methods of saving money, from wearing Nora's clothes, through they rarely suited her, to coming to the inn at Nora's expense, though she hated the country, were a constant source of amusement and exasperation of her niece. She was, Nora supposed, well meaning, though it was an awful judgement of anyone.

Charles. "Why on earth did you come here?"

"But I always come here in October," he said calmly.

"Well, you can't come this October and that's all there is to it."

"The matter is hardly for you to decide. The inn belongs to the Hugers, not to you. I imagine they find my money just as attractive as yours—or, I suppose, Nora pays for you, too."

"But Stuart Young is coming here tonight!"

"So I heard." Cousin Charles turned to Nora and said, unbelievably, "Congratulations, Nora."

She made no reply, leaning against the newel post, looking gravely at him. With the first trace of uncertainty he had shown, he looked away from her.

"You can't stay here, Charles!" Olive sputtered. "After your testimony, after you nearly sent Stuart to the electric chair."

"That's what I've been trying to tell him," Frank said, and they looked at him in surprise. At twenty-three, Frank Deming was so completely negative that one was apt to forget he was there.

Charles Deming paid scant attention to any point of view but his own and none at all to his son's. "Don't be ridiculous," he said shortly. "Young can't be so unreasonable as to blame me for doing my duty. Apparently I was mistaken. It's unfortunate, but that's all there is to it."

And that, Nora realized, was really all there was to it from Cousin Charles' viewpoint. Something about him was not quite human.

Frank gave his father a queer look and then said, "Tom, let me introduce you to Mrs. Riddle. And my cousin, Nora Pendleton. This is Tom Jones who is going to tutor me until Christmas."

"How do you do?" Olive said automatically. "Though why Frank needs tutoring after he has graduated from college I can't imagine, unless he can't break the habit. Just the same, Charles," she returned to the charge, "you simply can't stay here."

"Aunt Olive," Nora choked, "please stop. It's over. It's—!" She clutched at the newel post, hung on.

"What's wrong?" Olive asked sharply.

"I'd forgotten. It's not over. It's just beginning. Finn told me. The police are re-opening the case and we can't leave here; we've all got to stay until the police let us go."

Nora turned and caught Charles Deming momentarily off guard. A few minutes before, he had been determined to remain at the inn, regardless of his lack of welcome. But he had not been prepared for Finn's message. He looked, Nora thought, trapped.

Giesler Tapped To Lead Fight On Scandal Mags

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP)—Atty. Jerry Giesler, courtroom representative of many of Hollywood's celebrated citizens, says he's got a new job—leading film-land's battle against scandal magazines.

Giesler disclosed that fellow lawyers have asked him to head a legal committee formed to protect Hollywood celebrities whose names appear in such publications.

Giesler has filed suits totaling 10 million dollars against Confidential magazine on behalf of Robert Mitchum, Elizabeth Scott, Doris Duke and other clients. He said the magazine apparently is immune to legal attack in California because it doesn't actually do business here.

The new committee will press for legislation permitting the prosecution of such magazines in California on libel complaints.

Planning Ahead For Next School Term

By MARTHA JANE PIERCE Greenville High School Reporter

Trying to decide what subjects to take next year has proved to be a hard task for some Greenville High students last week. Mr. Dowd talked to the students about their schedule in an assembly Tuesday morning, and he advised the students to talk their schedules over with their parents. Some additional courses will be added to the curriculum next year if enough students sign up for the courses and if teachers are available.

Solid Geometry and Trigonometry, Distributive Education, Mechanical Drawing, Home Economics 4, are some of the full credit courses that might be offered. Additional courses that will only count one-half credit will be Orchestra, Health and Physical Education for girls, Drivers Training, Art, and Library Science. Instead of the five-period day that the high school uses now, the new high school will operate on a six-period day. Each student will take five courses and a study hall. Students can take six subjects with special permission.

Book Returned After 36 Years
HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP)—Omar Bacon, public librarian, says a copy of "Stoddard's Lectures" was returned after a "loan" of 36 years.

A friend of the person who borrowed it April 21, 1921, brought it back with the explanation: "He was too ashamed to return it himself."

Bacon didn't ask for the $216 in overdue charges, but he began checking up on some of the library's other books and found a copy of "The Plays of Euripides" in a collection bequeathed to the library. It had been checked out of the Goucher College Library in Baltimore in 1928. Bacon sent it back to Goucher.

Outboard Marine advanced well over 2 points following news of its 3-for-1 stock split proposal.

Amerasia was another 2-point gainer.

Steels and motors were turned over somewhat more briskly than other divisions but there was no special buying pressure in any group. The business and economic news remained mixed.

Two Injured In Car-Truck Crash

Two persons were injured Saturday in a car-truck collision on Boyd Avenue.

The injured were listed as Johnnie Hardee of Greenville Rt. 3 and Lucy Jones, 42-year-old Negro woman of 508 McKinley Ave. Hardee suffered head and back injuries and the woman sustained injuries of the left knee and chest. Both were taken to Pitt Memorial Hospital for treatment, by the Greenville Rescue Truck.

Both of the injured persons were drivers of the vehicles involved in the accident. The 1950 pickup truck operated by Hardee was parked at the time of the collision. Police charged the Jones woman with careless and reckless driving. Investigating officers estimated the damages to the rear of the truck at $100. Damages to the bumper, hood, fender and grill of the 1955 automobile being operated by the woman at $500. Officers said the accident occurred at 7:45 a.m.

No arrests were made in the two-car collision that took place at the intersection of 2nd and Summit Sts. Saturday around noon.

Involved in the accident were Norman Francis Little of 111 North Harding St. and Howard Glenn Gramer of 202 Eastern St. There were no personal injuries reported.

Damages to both automobiles were estimated at $550. Investigating officers stated that the 1956 vehicle being operated by Little suffered $300 to the right front side, door and fender. A total of $250 was done to the 1954 automobile driven by Gramer.

Car Reported Stolen Sunday

A 1948 blue Plymouth belonging to Clinton Burnett of 608 Contentnea St. was reported stolen yesterday morning.

Burnett told police that the automobile was parked on Reade St. at the time it was taken around 9 a.m. In addition to the vehicle, the local man stated that there was also approximately $100 worth of men's and women's clothing in the car.

Greenville police are presently conducting an investigation.

Death Said Due Natural Causes

Edward Lee Jenkins, elderly Negro of 403 East First St., was found dead by a friend last night around 9:30 p.m.

The man who discovered the body stated that Jenkins was lying across his bed at the time he was found. An investigation was conducted by Greenville police who stated this morning that there were no signs of foul play and that Jenkins apparently died from natural causes.

Mustache Price Bid Up To $67

ELIZABETH CITY, N.C. (AP)—Sandra Lee Livesay bid one dollar for her daddy's mustache at a radio auction for charity.

Preposterous, said her dad, Milton. He'd owned that mustache for 24 years and wouldn't let it go for a cent less than $50. But he didn't price it out of the market. A group of his fellow members of a service club chipped in a total of $67 and Livesay was shorn with a radio announcer broadcasting a snip-by-snip description.

More than 96 per cent of vehicles involved in fatal accidents on U.S. highways in 1956 were in apparently good condition.

Reuther Ready To Take Over

WASHINGTON (AP)—If the embattled Teamsters Union is ousted from the AFL-CIO, Walter Reuther is ready to push for a new truck drivers' union "that can be clean."

Reuther expressed hope yesterday that expulsion would not be necessary, but added that the AFL-CIO will have "no choice" unless the Teamsters Union can "clean up from within."

The alternative, he added, is for the labor federation to "take aggressive action to create a union that can be clean and attract the rank and file."

The president of the United Auto Workers, who also is an AFL-CIO vice president, expressed his views during a television interview.

The federation's Ethical Practices Committee has called a May 6 hearing to consider charges that the Teamsters Union is dominated by corrupt influences. The union has challenged the charges, but has not yet indicated whether it will appear.

The union reportedly has asked and been assured, however, that if it does appear no written transcript of the hearing would be made. AFL-CIO sources who reported this interpreted it to mean that the union doesn't want to make available new material which could be subpoenaed by a Senate labor-management investigating committee. That group already has probed some charges against the Teamsters.

Day School?

Possibilities of establishing a day school for mentally retarded children of first grade age will be discussed at a meeting Wednesday night.

Parents and friends of trainable handicapped children are invited to attend the meeting which will be held in Room 101 of the Graham Building at East Carolina College. Dr. Frances V. Henry of the college faculty will direct the meeting which is scheduled to begin at 8 p.m.

A spokesman for the group which is sponsoring the meeting said today, "This is not a movement to conflict with anything set up in the regular school systems. We do want, however, to utilize ways to help these trainable children who might not be helped otherwise."

"We are not asking for financial assistance," the spokesman added. "However, we are asking for parents and friends to meet and express their ideas on establishment of a limited day school program to assist in training these children."
