Double-Ring Ceremony Unites Miss Poindexter, Mr. Watson

TARBORO—The marriage of Miss Joy Louise Poindexter and William Powell Watson took place Sunday afternoon, April 21, at 4:30 in the First Baptist Church in Tarboro. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claude R. Poindexter of Tarboro and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Watson of Falkland. The Rev. Joseph S. Larrimore officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Two large baskets of white gladioli, mums and fern were used on either side of the altar against a background of ivy and magnolia interspersed with branched candelabra holding burning white tapers.

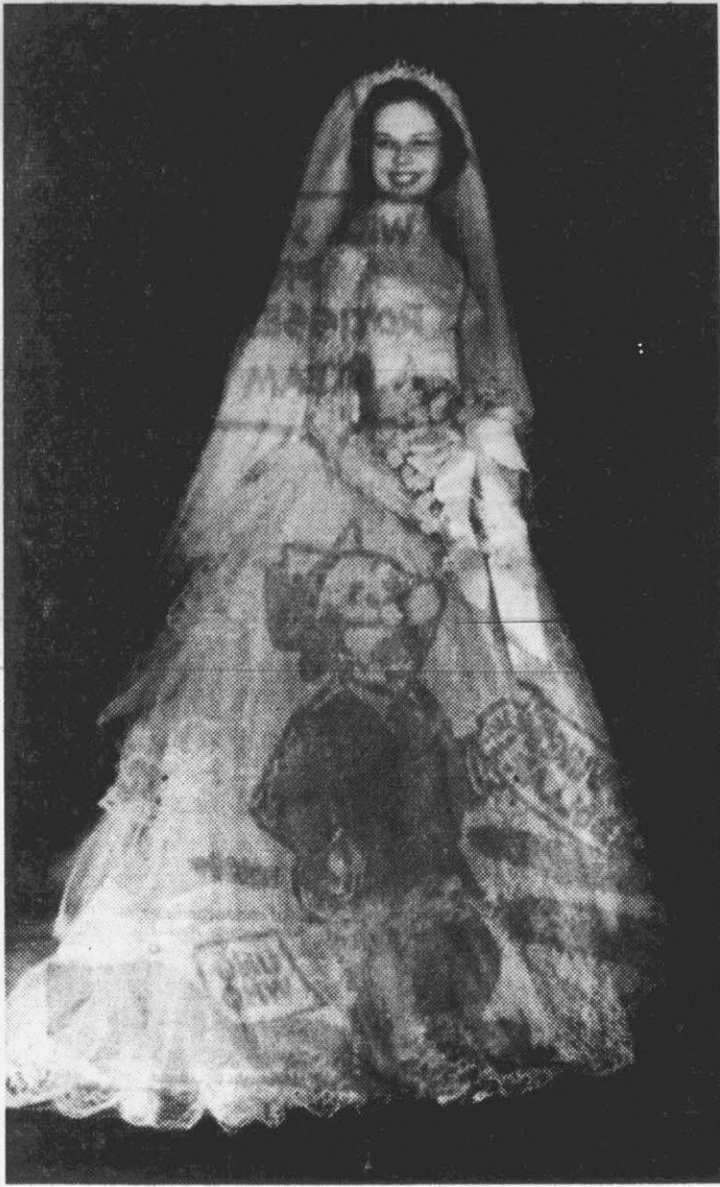

Prior to the entrance of the wedding party, nuptial music was presented by Milton Mann of Greenville, organist, and Dilon Watson, brother of the bridegroom, soloist, who sang "Whither Thou Goest, I Will Go With Thee," and "The Wedding Prayer" as benediction. Traditional wedding marches were used.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a full length gown of hand-clipped imported chantilly lace and tulle over bridal satin. The gown was fashioned with a scalloped sabrina neckline and basque pointed bodice. Long sleeves extended in points over the hands and featured covered buttons on the sleeves and in the back. Her full bouffant skirt was lace highlighted in the back with lace and tulle tiers extending into a chapel train. Her fingertip veil of silk filon was attached to a tiara of seed pearls and hair braid. The bride carried a white lace and net fan and attached to it was a white orchid and freesia corsage.

Miss Alma Poindexter, sister of the bride of Tarboro, was maid of honor. She wore a cocktail length dress of ice blue lace and taffeta, combined. The dress was fashioned along princess lines with scoop neckline and abbreviated sleeves. Her full bouffant skirt featured godets of lace and taffeta, and she wore matching chignon headed with short veil. She carried a yellow fan and attached to it was yellow iris and acacia.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. E. J. Poindexter, sister-in-law of the bride of Raleigh, Misses Doris Laster, Polly Whitehurst and Joyce Brown, all of Tarboro. Their dresses and accessories were identical to that of the minor attendant. Junior bridesmaid was Miss Sue Watson, sister of the bridegroom. Her dress was blue taffeta styled similar to that of the other attendants.

Mr. Reuben Watson, uncle of

the bridegroom, served as his nephew's best man. Ushers were E. J. Poindexter, brother of the bride of Raleigh, Johnny Phillips of Tarboro, Willis Peaden and Woodrow Wooten, both of Falkland. The bride's mother wore a street length dress of aqua lace and beige accessories. Her corsage was of white cymbidium orchids. The groom's mother chose a blue suit with black accessories and a white orchid corsage. The bride's grandmother, Mrs. Everette Alberty, wore a pink silk shantung dress with black accessories and a cor-

Armed With A Two-Edged Sword

Why is Eastern North Carolina providing higher education for its youth?

On the surface, the question might seem facetious or even silly. There are obviously few people in North Carolina's great Coastal Plain who will deny the value, or the place, of education in the lives of our young people.

This lust for education is reflected in a recent study released by the State Department of Public Instruction. That study shows that among the 100 white county school administrative units in the state, 12 Eastern counties were in the fourteen which, on a percentage basis, sent the greatest number of 1956 graduates to college.

There was a less impressive representation by the East in the record of the state's 75 white city school administrative units, but the Eastern representation in the leading units was sufficient to show that there is a common rural-urban desire for college education among Coastal Plain youngsters.

This desire is not the possession solely of the college-age persons cited in the study. It is something that has been passed from parent to child—an intangible proposition that has been part of the Coastal Plain's way of life since, at least, the time of Governor Charles B. Aycock, a man who came from these same tobacco lands in Eastern North Carolina.

The East has done a good job of selling the value of education to its youngsters. But it has also created the very serious question of whether it has done only half the job.

People of the Coastal Plain have told youngsters to prepare themselves for life to the fullest extent. They have scrimped and saved, cried and prayed, pushed and pulled, and even begged for the chance to give them something better than so many of the older persons have been able to know.

That the children have responded has been simply answered. The State Department of Public Instruction has furnished the statistical data to prove that they have, if statistics are necessary.

But, beyond all that, when the diplomas are passed out and the echoes of graduation congratulations have stilled in the campus corners, we have to face the simple truth that the people have not really provided a place for the education to be used in Eastern North Carolina.

Easterners are historically an agricultural people. We have tied our lives and passed our heritages on the strength of single money-crops. We have not created sufficient places, sufficient opportunities for engineers, scientists and technicians to exploit their learning.

We have, in our way of life, forced them to turn to other sections of North Carolina, or to other states, for the chance to serve their fellow man in the way we have taught them to do. They are leaving us—not so much from choice or a feeling that they have "gone above their raising", but from a realization that to fulfill their calling they have to go where the opportunity exists.

Change must inevitably come of the Coastal Plain. The loss of substantial portions of tobacco acreage in the past two years has forced Eastern North Carolina to look long and hard at the increasingly out-of-date dependence on single cash crops. The section is being forced, too, to take a new look at North Carolina's antiquated attitude toward industrial development and taxation.

Until that change comes, however, the East will have to continue to face the prospect of losing many of its young people. Particularly will it have to face the prospect of losing so many of the educated young people, the ones who are not content to remain with the diminishing proposition of one-crop farming.

We have armed ourselves with a two-edged sword, and until change comes into our way of life we will continue to cut out on the backswing the promise of opportunity that the forward thrust of education is making our young people seek.

Travel Council On The March

By LYNN NISBET

TRAVEL—The executive committee of the Travel Council of North Carolina will meet at Southern Pines on May 10-11 to get the revived organization on the march. Since the first of January President Voit Gilmore has visited a number of places in the state, and has selected an executive committee of members of which have proven interest in promoting travel. The May meeting will afford attendees to play the famous sandhills golf courses and visit interesting points. But it will also be a working session. President Gilmore warns: "We've got important matters to discuss. State advertising budget, highway signs, travel promotion, roadside development and beautification, recreational travel, travel schools, a travel industry survey — and related matters that rest squarely in our lap as the organization of all organizations interested in travel."

EDITORS IN THE AIR — A unique promotion scheme for all phases of the economy will be conducted jointly by the Department of Conservation and Development and the North Carolina Press Association May 17-22. A party of national magazine and newspaper editors will be given an air tour of North Carolina, accompanied by local newspaper men and State officials.

The itinerary calls for leaving Washington, D. C. by chartered Piedmont plane Friday afternoon, May 17, for a flight over Kitty Hawk, Hatteras, and Eastern Carolina, to Raleigh. Governor and Mrs. Hodges will be hosts at a dinner at the Mansion, followed by a visit to the art museum.

Next morning the plane takes off for Wilmington and several hours of deep sea fishing, thence to Charlotte for the night. Sunday will be spent in the Sandhills with entertainment provided at Pinehurst and Southern Pines, and overnight at the Carolina.

Monday the party will visit furniture and hosiery plants at High Point, manufacturing, insurance and educational centers at Greensboro, the tobacco industry, Old Salem and Wake Forest College at Winston-Salem. Luncheon at Sedgewick, dinner and overnight at Winston-Salem.

Take-off for Asheville Tuesday morning, visit the General Electric plant at Hendersonville, Billmore Estate and industries at Asheville, overnight at Grove Park.

Wednesday the party will take a motor tour of the mountains, the Great Smoky Park and Cherokee Village, a real country mountain dinner, and back to Asheville — Hendersonville where the official tour will disband, with most of the visitors returning to Washington.

This is the first time any such event has been attempted, and the sponsors have been pleased with the reception given the plan, both by the out of staters and the local hosts.

ON THE WATER — Again this fall two cruises of medical colleges will sail from Wilmington on the M. S. Stockholm. Oddly enough the cruise sponsored by Duke University School of Medicine will sail from New York, rather than from North Carolina. It will begin August 20 for a nineteen day trip to European points.

The first cruise out of Wilmington will be sponsored by the Jefferson Medical College of Philadelphia. The Stockholm will sail November 9, bound for Havana, Cap Haitien, San Juan, Guadalupe, Antigua and St. Thomas. This cruise will last for thirteen days. The faculty and medical program are now being arranged and soon will appear in printed form.

The second cruise out of Wilmington will be sponsored by the University of Maryland School of Medicine. It will begin November 30 and last for six days. Cities to be visited on this cruise will be Havana and Nassau. Eminent specialists from the three schools will comprise the medical faculties.

Accommodations for the Caribbean cruise, which will originate at Wilmington, may be had from $295 up, while the six-day Havana-Nassau cruise will cost from $125 up. H. H. Allen, President of the Allen Travel Service, Inc., announced that bookings already have begun and suggested that those who want the best accommodations make their reservations early.

The medical cruises out of North Carolina this fall will make six in all that have been made on the Stockholm. The first, sponsored by the North Carolina Academy of General Practice, sailed out of Morehead City in 1954 and touched at Havana and Nassau. In 1955, the Duke School of Medicine sponsored a cruise to Haiti, Colombia, Panama and Jamaica. Last year, the University of Pennsylvania sponsored a cruise to the eastern Caribbean and back, by way of the Dominican Republic and Puerto Rico. The cruises this fall will make one out of Morehead City and five out of Wilmington in the past three years.

ALL OVER — Reports from resort areas indicate unusually good business for this time of year, with heavy bookings for the summer. Meantime, one has only to ride a few miles along the highways to realize that traffic is heavier, with more folks going places than ever. Traffic congestion is getting to be a problem at the major airports in the state as more private and business planes get into the air. Not to be left out, the marines also report increasing number of pleasure boats on steams and lakes, as well as on salt water.

A major purpose of the Travel Council is to coordinate efforts to regulate all kinds of travel to the end it might be increased in volume without undue burden on facilities and without increasing safety hazards.

CREEDS AND CHRISTIAN UNITY

This is an age which has very little use for creeds. There have been periods in history in which creeds have played a great part even in the lives of masses of people, most of whom were uneducated.

But our age is an age of action. Other ages may have emphasized creeds too much; we are in danger of selling creeds short. Creeds are extremely important in the life and growth of the Church. They are vast and thoughtful summations of religious teachings upon which men have pondered, sometimes for generations. In the beginning of the Christian Church, hundreds of years passed before a single creed was evolved. Then generations and sometimes centuries have passed before other statements of the Church have appeared.

We should be favorably impressed at all times by the sincere and prolonged thought which lies behind credal statements. They were not made on the spur of the moment. They represent prolonged periods of meditation, thought, and devotion.

No single creed, of course, comprises the whole of Christian truth. That is why we need a number of different creeds. All the great historical creeds agree with one another on the fundamentals of the faith. There is vastly more Christian unity in the world than most people think. The words of the hymn, "We are not divided, all one body we," is more accurate than many would have us believe.

Can Y' Meet The Competition?

A Story To Keep In Mind

Today is April 27 and Pitt County has recorded only two traffic fatalities thus far in 1957.

Both of these occurred during the first two months of the year. A Greenville man was killed in an automobile accident and an elderly Negro pedestrian was killed in February.

This county has gone well over two months without a fatality on its streets and highways. The figure is indeed encouraging. BUT... it only takes one careless mistake while driving and this figure can be upped two, three, four and maybe more. What appears to be an excellent traffic record could turn into a fatality record in a short period of time.

Following is an article, entitled "Light Head, Heavy Foot, Play Deadly," written by Jerry Howell, a senior in the Greenville High School.

"He sat quietly underneath a tall Carolina pine. A warm sun burned through the black, but broken clouds that had only a few minutes before showered the thirsty earth. Pools of water circled the tires of the patrol car and seeping into the red clay. The air smelled of a pure fragrance of wet spring blossoms. A bird sang from the pine, and a natural harmony filled the air.

"But wait! Far in the distance his ears caught a slight discord. Yes, there it was. From the far end of the three-mile straight-away came the whine of an engine — an engine built to produce 280 horse-power, pull a car at 115 miles an hour, accelerate a ton and a half of steel from zero to sixty in ten seconds and to spill the man behind the wheel all over the road, and in a split second splatter his blood on the records in the Highway department files.

"Yes, there was that sound that shattered the entire tranquil picture. He thought of what would happen. The car would come hurtling by at ninety. He would then pull out on the road, step on the gas, and risk his life to make the man mad and of course, save the man's life before he hit the terrible curve at the end of the stretch. "He reached over and turned on the ignition. He twisted the key, and the engine purred at idle. He thought of the terrible argument that would be necessary to give the man a ticket and save his life. "There it went. It zoomed by him. There was not only a man driver in the car, but his wife sat beside him. In the blur, it appeared that three small children stood on the back seat, watching the countryside pleasantly whizz by. "He stepped on the accelerator and the engine roared into life. The wheels spun, but no more. "God!" he thought. "The rain! Stuck in the mud!" He eased up on the accelerator hoping the wheels would grab the earth. They did not. Then he heard it. Far down the road there was a squeal as the rubber tires bit vainly into the hot asphalt. Then there was the scraping, twisting as steel bit into steel, and the silent sound as steel bit into skin, veins, and tendon. Then there was a silence as before. Tranquil, peaceful silence.

"The warm sun shone brightly down between the clouds, soaked up the water from the earth, dried the blood from the road, and cast its countenance on a mutilated scene of death."

Yes, this short story depicting the death of a family is fictitious. Even so, sometime when you are driving down the road think about it. You might save your own life and the life of someone you love.

Other Editors Saying --- Public Health Problem

(Hertford County Herald)

What to do with trash, junk and garbage?

This becomes a major problem for nearly every household and business concern at spring clean-up time. But it is more than a temporary nuisance to be disposed of by dumping the mess somewhere out of sight. It is a continuing problem that concerns not only cleanliness, but public health and safety as well. The beauty of the countryside also is involved in the disposition of trash, junk and garbage.

For the town dwellers, it is solved by the sanitary department's trash and garbage trucks. These maintain a regular service and cart the stuff away to the town dump. But there the unsightly mess still remains a problem oftentimes, creating a stench and breeding place for vermin and rats unless effective methods of disposal are carefully maintained. And, it is an expensive service, always one of the largest items of expense in every town or city budget.

But rural dwellers must solve their disposal problem personally and individually. There is the choice of several methods. He may leave it lay, the lazy way, and permit nature to take its course. He may choose to cart his junk, his broken bottles and heaps of tin cans to some portion of his own property and there let it continue to be an eyesore, possibly a health hazard, yet out of sight of a nagging wife and playing children. Or, he may choose to haul his stuff away and dump it at the most convenient place, regardless of ownership of the property. But the problem of disposal has not been solved by any of these methods; it has been transferred and dispersed over the neighborhood.

With the growth in rural and suburban population, the problem grows. As towns have tackled it with their sanitation service and central dumps, perhaps the time has come when county governments should give consideration to this matter. County-owned and maintained dumping areas conveniently located to heavily populated rural communities might reasonably be considered a necessary part of the public health service. Such areas, properly located, would certainly improve the appearance of rural roadsides, many of which are littered with the trash and refuse.

Have you seen the comet? Last evening, about 8:30, I saw my first comet. It has been visible every evening this week in the northwest sky, between 8:00 and 9:00 o'clock.

Find the Constellation Ursa Major, the Big Dipper, in the northern sector, then scan the heavens slowly toward the west, approximately twenty degrees above the horizon, and you will readily see the comet, with its tail of light trailing it, heading downward toward the horizon. It can easily be seen with the naked eye, but appears much clearer if observed with binoculars or telescope.

I remember when I was quite young, my mother told my sister, my brother and me of her observation of Halley's Comet which appeared early in this century and is due to reappear around 1980 or later. She remembers it as quite spectacular with its long brilliant tail of light. Halley's is one of the largest comets on record. The one visible this week is of much less magnitude. However, if you have never seen a comet, you will doubtless receive a thrill and a feeling of awe upon observing your first one, as I did.

Indoor Breed Rising

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — The man with the hoe has given way to the man with the white collar. All great civilizations have sprung from a sturdy peasant class.

The United States one day last year silently reached one of those turning points from which there is no going back.

It became a land of indoor peasants, probably the first major power in history in which the white-collar worker makes up the largest element in its labor force.

What are the implications behind this startling fact? What does it mean for the future?

In pointing out that white-collar workers are now the most numerous type of wage earner in America, a U.S. Department of Labor expert warned that some are in still shorter supply.

"The shortage of skilled, technical and professional manpower is now general throughout the nation," Brunswick A. Bagdon told a conference at Louisville, "and will get worse unless we move swiftly to improve our training and employment policies and strengthen our educational system."

This is only one aspect of the quiet revolution over the last half-century during which the machine age has gone to the farm and the hired hand has gone to the city.

The old question of "How you gonna keep 'em down on the farm?" has received a final answer. You ain't gonna. In 1910, America's farm population totaled 13,550,000. In 1955, it was down to 6,341,000.

The farm family and the family farm seem to be slowly going the way of the agriculture — if not the dodo — as agriculture becomes more and more a big business, and the small operator becomes less and less important.

But what interests many of us most in the rise of the white-collar class are the human aspects.

It means, for example: The typical American no longer works outdoors.

Instead of a lean-bronzed figure with calloused hands he will be prisoner of a paycheck who can't even tell you how many faucets there are on a milk cow.

Instead of learning the ways of nature first hand he will read about them in books written by a career naturalist.

His music will no longer be the singing bird on the bough; more and more his music will come canned—like his meals.

Instead of feeling the twinges of rheumatism from years of work in the rain and the cold, he will go to his doctor to be treated for the hosts of gray, twilight illnesses that civilization brings — the nameless diseases and inexplicable fatigue that comes to people who dwell too much indoors, and who forget why the Lord put muscles in their bodies.

This new typical American will labor less, eat better, live longer than his father.

And many and many a morning as he slips his necktie — the noose-like symbol of his bondage — beneath his shining white collar, he will look at himself in the mirror and ask:

"What am I missing in life?" Perhaps his granddaddy, who would be sitting by his fireplace if he only had a fireplace, could tell him.

Public Forum

Warm Link Between Ike, Voters

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON—"In view of all the complaints against the Eisenhower budget, taxes and political trends at Washington," inquires G. H. of Lima, Ohio, "what is the basis for continuing reports that the President is still extremely popular throughout the country?"

Answer: A President's popularity is an intangible thing. It differs in kind and degree not only because of his own personality, but also because of the conditions and circumstances which prevail during his years in the White House.

COOLIDGE'S EASY-GOING PHILOSOPHY Calvin Coolidge was popular, but in quite a different way from Ike or Franklin D. Roosevelt. The people regarded him as a "character," which he was. They admired his reputedly taciturnity, although he was actually a garrulous gossip.

They thought that he was a strong, silent and statesmanlike executive, although he was a do-nothing individual.

But the times were good, and people thought they were prosperous. So long as they were in that state, they did not object if Coolidge napped for three hours every day, after his noon lunch. There was then no "darkness at noon."

But Coolidge's lackadaisical philosophy was basically responsible for the 1929 crash. He made no effort to prevent or soften it, as he could have done, through the government's control of credit, discount rate and the monetary machinery.

F.D.R.'S COURAGE AND EXHIBITIONISM F.D.R.'s popularity was the kind which a stage or motion picture star enjoys, for he was an actor. He was an extrovert and exhibitionist, projecting his spectacular personality by radio, television and personal presence into every family's home and heart.

The courage and boldness he showed on that bleak inauguration day of 1933 inspired and attracted every American, including those who later turned against "that awful person in the White House." Then, too, there was the fortitude he showed when he was struck down with polio.

But I doubt if many people would have liked F.D.R. as a member of their family, or even as a neighbor on the same street. He was too unpredictable, excitable, mercurial, for everyday comradeship. He was an extremely difficult individual. Nobody wants a man-on-horseback in his living room.

HOMEY AFFECTION FOR IKE. The affection and admiration for Eisenhower is a homey, familiar and personal thing. The very fact that he is called "Ike," and that he answers to that abbreviation, testifies to the peacelink between him and the people. Only members of his family addressed him as "Frank," and even Mrs. Coolidge referred to her husband as "Calvin." He was called "Cal" only by critics and detractors.

From my talks with businessmen, politicians and newspaper correspondents, and from their judgment of the general attitude toward Ike, people would like him as a friend or neighbor. A frequent saying is "I'd like to know him well," or "He'd make a fine friend," or "Wouldn't he be fun as a neighbor?"

Oddly, although they may not particularly admire his policies, they do not question them. They do not think of him as a General or President, but as "good old Ike," an expression which connotes some sort of kinship and warmth.

ECC Tops High Point 8-1; GHS Smashes Bears 13-2

Bucs Notch 8th Loop Win; Rank 1-2 Game On Top

Ben Baker, a lefthanded sophomore from Zebulon, hurled six-hit ball yesterday afternoon at College Stadium to set down the visiting High Point Panthers 8-1 and give East Carolina a 1/2-game lead in the North State Conference.

The victory was ECC's eighth in North State play against only two losses and puts them 1/2-game ahead of Catawba and Elon, who have 7-2 records. For Baker, it was his third consecutive full-game victory against no defeats.

Coach Jim Mallory complimented Baker's work after the game and made the statement that "Baker will probably start for us against N. C. State, next Friday."

Must Win All
East Carolina now finds itself in a precarious position, despite its lead in the conference standings. Coach Mallory stated yesterday that his club must win "every game now for the rest of the season"—The Pirates have four loop games remaining — "in order to capture the championship."

Due to schedule manipulations, ECC plays two less games than either Catawba or Elon. The Pirates do not play Lenoir Rhyne. This gives the other two teams 16 tilts to ECC's 14. Therefore, if East Carolina loses even one more game, they could be out of the running for the title on a percentage basis. Games left on the ECC slate are home games with Catawba, Elon, Guilford and Atlantic Christian.

Early Lead
The Panthers eked out their only run of the game in the first inning and held a 1-0 lead for three innings. Then, in the bottom half of the third stanza, ECC unleashed a four-run barrage that put them way on top to stay.

A triple by outfielder Berney Stevens with the bases loaded accounted for the heaviest part of the four runs. Tommy Nance, catcher-converted-to-outfielder, drove in two runs later with a long double. Gary Treon, Buc second baseman, also collected two RBIs with a stinging triple in the fifth. ECC tagged High Point for a total of seven hits and capitalized on four Panther errors. It was the second time the Pirates has defeated the Panther club, winning earlier by a similar score, 7-1.

Treon and catcher Tink Bowen paced the Bucs at the plate so far as percentages are concerned. Both boys collected two hits each. Joel Long, Nance and Stevens added the others.

Next Game
Coach Mallory is now dickering with ACC for a home contest on Tuesday of next week. Whether or not that game comes through, the Bucs will battle Catawba here at College Field on Friday afternoon and will then meet N. C. State on Friday night.

TINK BOWEN, ECC catcher, rounds third on a play during yesterday's game against High Point at College Field. Bowen blasted two hits to help pace the Bucs to an 8-1 victory over the Panthers.

Bynum Pitches 3-Hitter, Slams Homer For GHS

Merrill Bynum slammed a long home run and pitched three-hit ball yesterday afternoon to lead Greenville high school to a 13-2 Northeastern Conference victory over New Bern at Brookgreen Park.

It was Bynum's second win of the season against no losses and Greenville's fifth loop triumph. The team has suffered two defeats.

The 13-2 win yesterday marked the second time this season that the Phants have dropped the Bears. In the first match of the year, they edged the Bears 4-2 at New Bern.

Bynum, a sophomore and a veteran from last year's outfit, limited the visitors to only three scattered baseknocks, while his club was busy collecting eleven. Bynum himself paced the Green hitters with a booming four-bagger in the fourth inning. Other Phants getting hits were Mack Roebuck (2), Billy Cox (2), Joe Wingate (2), Charlie Smith, Joe Moyer, Bobby Edwards, Arthur Andrews and Angus Duff.

1-0 Lead
The host team tagged New Bern pitcher Hoke for an early run in the first inning on a base on balls, an error and a single by Joe Wingate. New Bern tied it up 1-1 in the top of the second.

Then, the Phants exploded for five tremendous hits and six runs in the second frame. They capitalized on two errors and baseknocks by Roebuck, Cox, Smith, Edwards and Duff.

New Bern eked in a second run in the third frame on a walk, a hit and two Greenville errors.

Coach Bo Farley's G-Men came back in the fourth for five more hits and six more big runs.

Those runs came on singles by Roebuck, Cox, Wingate, Moyer and Bynum and an error. Scoring was exhausted for both sides after that.

Farley Talks
Coach Farley, whose club is one of the best GHS teams in the past ten years, stated after the game that "They were hitting better yesterday than they have all year." He also pointed out that New Bern made many costly errors and his boys took full advantage of them.

The Phantoms, with their 5-2 conference record, are still in the thick of the Northeastern loop race. Kinston, who defeated Greenville last week, is currently on top with a 5-0 mark, but the season still has several weeks remaining.

Next game on the Green schedule is set for Tuesday with Washington.

Milwaukee Is First But Haney Wants More Power

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press
Just before the season started, Manager Fred Haney gave his Milwaukee Braves the once-over and commented: "Frankly, I'd like more power." Great man for jokes, that Haney.

What team leads the National League in home runs? Milwaukee, with 13. Who's the individual league leader in home runs? The Braves' Joe Adcock, with four.

That just about explains how Milwaukee has muscled into first place in the early going of the pennant race, winning seven of eight. In their last two games, the Braves have belted eight home runs and had a bristling barrage of 15 consecutive runs on homers. The startling statistic, powered along by Adcock's five runs batted in on two homers last night, didn't come to an end until the Braves "relaxed" to score their final two runs on a walk, sacrifice and two singles in a 9-2 breeze past Cincinnati's Redlegs. Cincinnati didn't have a chance against Warren Spahn, who has beaten them twice this year in his 3-0 record.

The Braves opened a full game edge over the Brooklyn Dodgers, who were whipped by the Pitts-burgh Pirates 7-1. Philadelphia jumped into third at 500 by beating the New York Giants 5-0 on rookie Don Cardwell's four-hitter. Rain stopped St. Louis at Chicago after four innings in the other NL game.

In the American, Ted Williams was 0-for-4, but Boston's Red Sox defeated the New York Yankees 6-2 and moved into second place, a game behind the Chicago White Sox, who defeated Kansas City 4-3. Detroit ended a three-game slump, beating Cleveland 5-0. And Baltimore knocked off Washington 4-3.

Local Firm Purchases 2000 Tickets To ECC-State Game

Roy Tripp, owner and operator of the College View Cleaners and Laundry, yesterday purchased 2,000 tickets to the ECC-N.C. State baseball game of May 3—to be given away free.

Earlier this week, Tripp bought 1,200 tickets and announced that anyone who desired a ticket would be given one free if he would drop by the College View Cleaners and Laundry and pick it up. Within three days, every single ticket had been claimed. Yesterday, Tripp contacted the College and arranged to purchase 2,000 more for the same purpose.

He released the statement that he was "very glad" to perform such a service and stated that he was greatly interested in the baseball future of Greenville and Eastern North Carolina. He said, "I'd like to see that every fan in Greenville and this section of our state be able to see this ball game."

College baseball coach Jim Mallory said last night that Tripp's gesture was "one of the finest things I've ever seen in connection with the sport. It really shows that ECC's baseball team will have backing in this game." He also was quoted as saying that he believed that the coming game would see "more spectators than have ever witnessed a ball game here before."

Students at East Carolina are to be admitted free to the contest on the presentation of ID cards. Those who pick up tickets at College View Cleaners and Laundry will also have free entrance. For those not lucky enough to take advantage of Tripp's offer, the cost will be one dollar for adults and fifty cents for children.

It was announced early this morning that the second batch of free tickets have already begun to dwindle, and would probably be exhausted by the middle of next week or sooner.

Guy Smith Stadium, the site of the contest, has been revamped from top to bottom and new lights are now being installed. It has been painted and a new fence has been added. The brand new infield has been called by Mallory "possibly the best in the state now."

The contest will begin at 8:00 and will bring together the number one team in the North State Conference and one of the top teams in the Atlantic Coast Conference.

Bassey Now In Line For Crack At Cherif Hamia

WASHINGTON (AP)—Hogan (Kid) Bassey, the British empire titleholder, last night earned a crack at the world featherweight crown by whacking Puerto Rico's Miguel Berrios out of the competition in a 12-round bout at the Capitol Arena.

Bassey now is in line for a title bout with Cherif Hamia, the top ranking French-Algerian. Bassey, a Nigerian, now makes his home in Liverpool, England.

The nationally-televised fight between Bassey and Berrios was the semifinal in an elimination tournament set up to find a successor to Sandy Saddler, the retired featherweight king.

Saddler, an American, had to step aside because of eye injuries. Paris, Nottingham in England; New York, Syracuse and Washington are being considered for the championship test, probably late this spring.

Berrios, the decided favorite in prefight betting, wound up groggy along the ropes and lost a unanimous, one-sided decision to the stocky 24-year-old visitor.

Referee Charley Reynolds and Judge Joe Bunsu gave Hogan a 117-108 lead. Judge Mike Tardugno scored it 118-108. The Associated Press had Bassey in front, 117-109.

Berrios won only one round unanimously—the 10th—on all cards. It was in that session that Bassey hit the canvas for the only knockdown of the contest. Berrios found him off the balance with a left hook and the African kid toppled. He bounced right up after waiting out the mandatory eight count.

Ted Williams Still In The .400 Hitting Class

By JACK HAND
NEW YORK (AP)—Despite a hitless day at Yankee Stadium, Ted Williams is off with a .405 average to show for his first nine games.

Ted was shut out for the first time yesterday by Tom Sturdivant and Tommy Byrne in four official trips. Although he walked once during Boston's 6-2 victory over the New York Yankees he lost 50 points in one afternoon.

"I don't know if I'm hitting .400 any more," said Williams in the Red Sox clubhouse.

"When you go for the collar at this time of the year it really sets you down."

Williams seemed relieved to learn that he still was in the exclusive .400 class after his frustrating day.

"I don't know what there is about this park," he said. "Maybe it's because I'm always conscious of the fence in right and try to pull all the time."

GHS Golfers Beat Kinston

Greenville high school's golf team defeated Kinston 13-5 Thursday afternoon here to rack up their fourth win of the season. They have lost one.

Larry Beck, Kinston's top man and the State Junior Champion, defeated GHS linkster Louis Phelps to gain Kinston's only points. Beck shot the low 71. Other Greenville performers Wesley Topping, Buddy Murray and Lucian Bryan Jr. defeated their opponents to give the Phantoms the edge.

And He's Just A Soph

BIG DAY FOR BYNUM—Merrill Bynum (left) had a big day yesterday for Greenville high school. He pitched his team to a 3-hit 13-2 victory over New Bern and whacked a long home run in the process. Walking with him above is catcher Mack Roebuck. It was Greenville's fifth win in seven games.

Briggs Claims He Was Dumped

DETROIT (AP)—The unglamorous divorcee of the Briggs name from Detroit baseball was still producing fireworks today, with ex-General Manager Walter O. (Spike) Briggs saying he was "dumped" by the new owners in the climax of a plan conceived months ago.

The chairman of the Board of Directors and the club's president said simply that wasn't quite the case, and let it go at that.

Bitter at bowing out of Tiger baseball after what he called "21 years of frustration," the 45-year-old Briggs said some of the new owners, "used me so they could buy the club and then dumped me when they got things where they wanted them."

Whether Briggs quit or was fired, the fact remains that for the first time since his father, Walter O. Briggs Sr., bought into the Tigers in 1920, the family has no official connection with Detroit baseball.

"This is a fine way to go," Briggs said sarcastically. "They wanted my resignation, and they got it. They were out to get me and they did. It was a very simple procedure."

Musical Show Next Week

Rogers and Hart's "A Connecticut Yankee" will bring the days of knighthood to the stage of East Carolina College when three performances of the popular musical are presented by the Student Government Association Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday April 30, and May 1 and 2 at 8 p. m. in the McGinnis auditorium. Members of the cast are pictured showing various reactions to the antics of Merlin the Magician, played by Edward Pilkington of Goldsboro (front, right). George Knight of Rocky Mount (kneeling, front left) is cast as the Yankee. Looking on (left to right, back row) are William Speight of Roanoke Rapids, as Sir Kay; Dottie Jo James of Wilmington, leading lady of the production, as the Yankee's sweetheart Sandy; Baroara Harris of Beaufort, as Queen Morgan Le Fay; Lloyd Bray, Jr., as King Arthur; Ralph Shumaker of Greer, S. C., as Sir Galahad; and Myrl Maness of Garysburg, as Evelyn, a lady of the Court. The gay and tuneful musical is an adaptation of Mark Twain's famous story.

"A Connecticut Yankee," sixth annual spring musical sponsored by the Student Government Association of East Carolina College, is now in final rehearsal. More than eighty student actors, singers, and dancers will appear in the musical version of Mark Twain's famous story of the Yankee who goes back in time to live in the Court of King Arthur and his knights.

Opening night will be Tuesday, April 30, with the performance taking place at 8 p. m. in the McGinnis auditorium on the campus. Two additional performances are scheduled at the same time and place for Wednesday and Thursday, May 1 and 2.

Following the campus production of "Oklahoma" last spring, which drew capacity houses for a series of performances, "A Connecticut Yankee" is expected to attract large audiences from the campus, Greenville, and other towns in Eastern North Carolina.

George Knight of Rocky Mount has the title role of the Yankee. Dottie Jo James of Wilmington plays opposite him as Sandy, his sweetheart in the days of chivalry.

More than twenty other members of the cast include Lloyd Bray, Jr., of Greenville as King Arthur; Margaret Griffin of Columbia as Queen Guinevere; William Speight of Roanoke Rapids as Sir Kay; W. Joseph Stoll of Greenville as Sir Lancelot; Barbara Harris of Beaufort as Queen Morgan Le Fay; Edward Pilkington of Goldsboro as Merlin the Magician; Ralph Shumaker of Greer, S. C., as Sir Galahad; and Myrl Maness of Garysburg as Evelyn.

A chorus of fifteen men and women, trained by Paul Hickfang of the music faculty, will join with a dance group of seventeen to add attractiveness to the production.

Charles E. Shearon of Durham, choreographer for the musical, and Carroll Harrell of Camp Lejeune will be leading dancers. A thirty-piece orchestra will play.

Dr. Kenneth M. Cuthbert, head of the college department of music, and Dr. Elizabeth Utterback of the English department are serving for the sixth year as directors of the annual spring musical at the college. Sue Heath of Kinston is assisting Dr. Utterback as drama-tic director.

New Method Successful In Relieving Pains Of ARTHRITIS — BURSTITIS

Rheumatism and Impaired Circulations! Clinically Tested Heat-and-Massage Pad an Amazing New Concept in Pain Relief!

Extensive hospital tests have proven that THERMO-CYCLOPAD, an entirely new concept in pain relief, can effectively diminish discomfort and pain symptomatic of Arthritis, Bursitis, Rheumatism and Impaired Circulation! Now, for the first time, and in your own home, you get the pain relieving benefits of mankind's oldest healers—heat and massage—simultaneously. It combines deep, controlled heat with penetrating cycloid massage in one soft, comfortable pad. The usual action gets down into bone and tissue, increases circulation and dispels pain sensation. The individual can use the Thermo-Cyclopad fully dressed, wherever and whenever he prefers... sitting, resting, reading, reclining or even working. THERMO-CYCLOPAD is as convenient to use as the average household appliance. It was inevitable, after experimentation with drugs, lotions and liniments, that modern science would substantially resolve the age-old problem of pain relief by means of a scientific home appliance. With the advent of the Thermo-Cyclopad, science has done just that. For all who suffer from Arthritis, Bursitis, Rheumatism or Impaired Circulation, this is indeed a milestone in scientific achievement. The Niagara Company, makers of the Thermo-Cyclopad, is offering an enlightening FREE BOOKLET. Fill in and mail the coupon below and you will receive, without charge, or obligation, a copy of "Miracle of Science"... a valuable booklet that concerns all who are concerned with the types of pain discussed in this article.

Pitt Progress Program Approaches Day Of Judging

The kitchen of the Eastern Pines Community Building is actually twice as big as the view shown here. The double accommodations offer plenty of room for community suppers, such as the one being prepared by Mrs. S. B. Tucker (standing), Mrs. Ola Kittrell (at the stove) and Mrs. Robert B. Starling (seated).

Twin Elms roadside park has become a favorite picnic ground for members of the Red Banks Home Demonstration Club. Members of a recent party at the park were (left to right) Karl Wayne Hardee, Travis Hardee, Mrs. Robert B. Starling, Mrs. Ola Kittrell, Mrs. S. B. Tucker, Mrs. Leon S. Hardee, Mrs. Karl Hardee, Mrs. Glenn Hardee and Sallie Hardee. Mrs. Leon S. Hardee has led the movement which developed the park, located at the intersection of 14th Street Extension and Greenville Boulevard.

The den in Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Hardee's new home on the Washington highway is the gathering place for their family. The den includes a picture window which gives persons in the room a view of farm land behind the house. Wednesday will be a big day for members of most of Pitt County's Home Demonstration Clubs.

That's the day they'll turn in reports of their activities in the Pitt County Progress Program. The program is one which stresses improvement of family living on a community level. It has been promoted through Home Demonstration clubs in the county with about 16 of them participating.

The pleasure that will come from completing the project will be tempered, however, by an attendant anxiety. There will be $1,200 in prizes riding on the reports which will be turned in Wednesday.

Greenville Farmer's Day, Inc., sponsor of the progress program, is offering the prizes to winners in ten categories, a special grand champion division, and door prizes.

Categories to be considered in determining the winning club include accident and fire prevention, community campaigns and drives, rat campaign, clean-up campaigns, beautification of churches and community buildings, roadside development, cooperation with organized better health measures, recreational program, beautification of homestead, and family food supply.

Cash Prizes
Prizes of $25, $20, $15, and $10 will be made to winners in each of the ten general categories. Grand champion prizes will be valued at $150, $125 and $100. Attendance prizes for the awards program participation will be $50 and $25. In addition, door prizes valued at $50 will be awarded at the awards program.

The awards program has been tentatively set for June 5 in Wright Auditorium at East Carolina College. Senator W. Kerr Scott is expected to be the main speaker for the occasion, but the big moment will come when prize winners are announced. There will be no preliminary announcement of winners although the judging committee will make its selections on May 14 and 15.

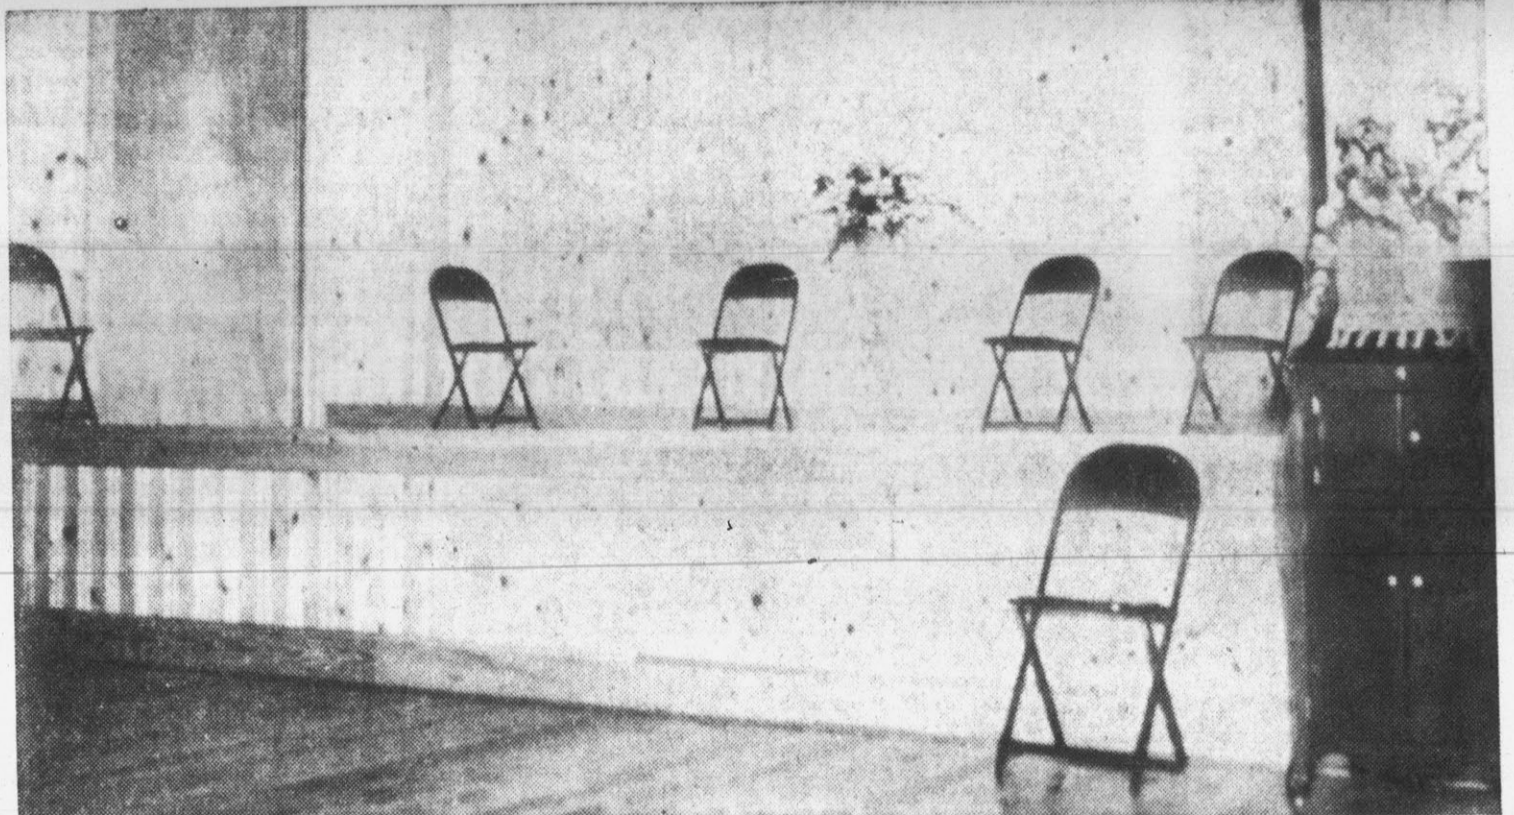

Judges for this year's program will be Miss Lorna Langley, Northeastern District Home Demonstration Agent; Mrs. Eugenia Van Landingham, Home Demonstration Agent in Edgecombe County; and J. T. Marston, Jr., president of the State Bank and Trust Company of Greenville.

Judges decisions will be based primarily on record books maintained by participating clubs but they have reserved the right to visit all work mentioned in the club reports. They have also made plans to visit the four or five communities with top records reflected in the reports.

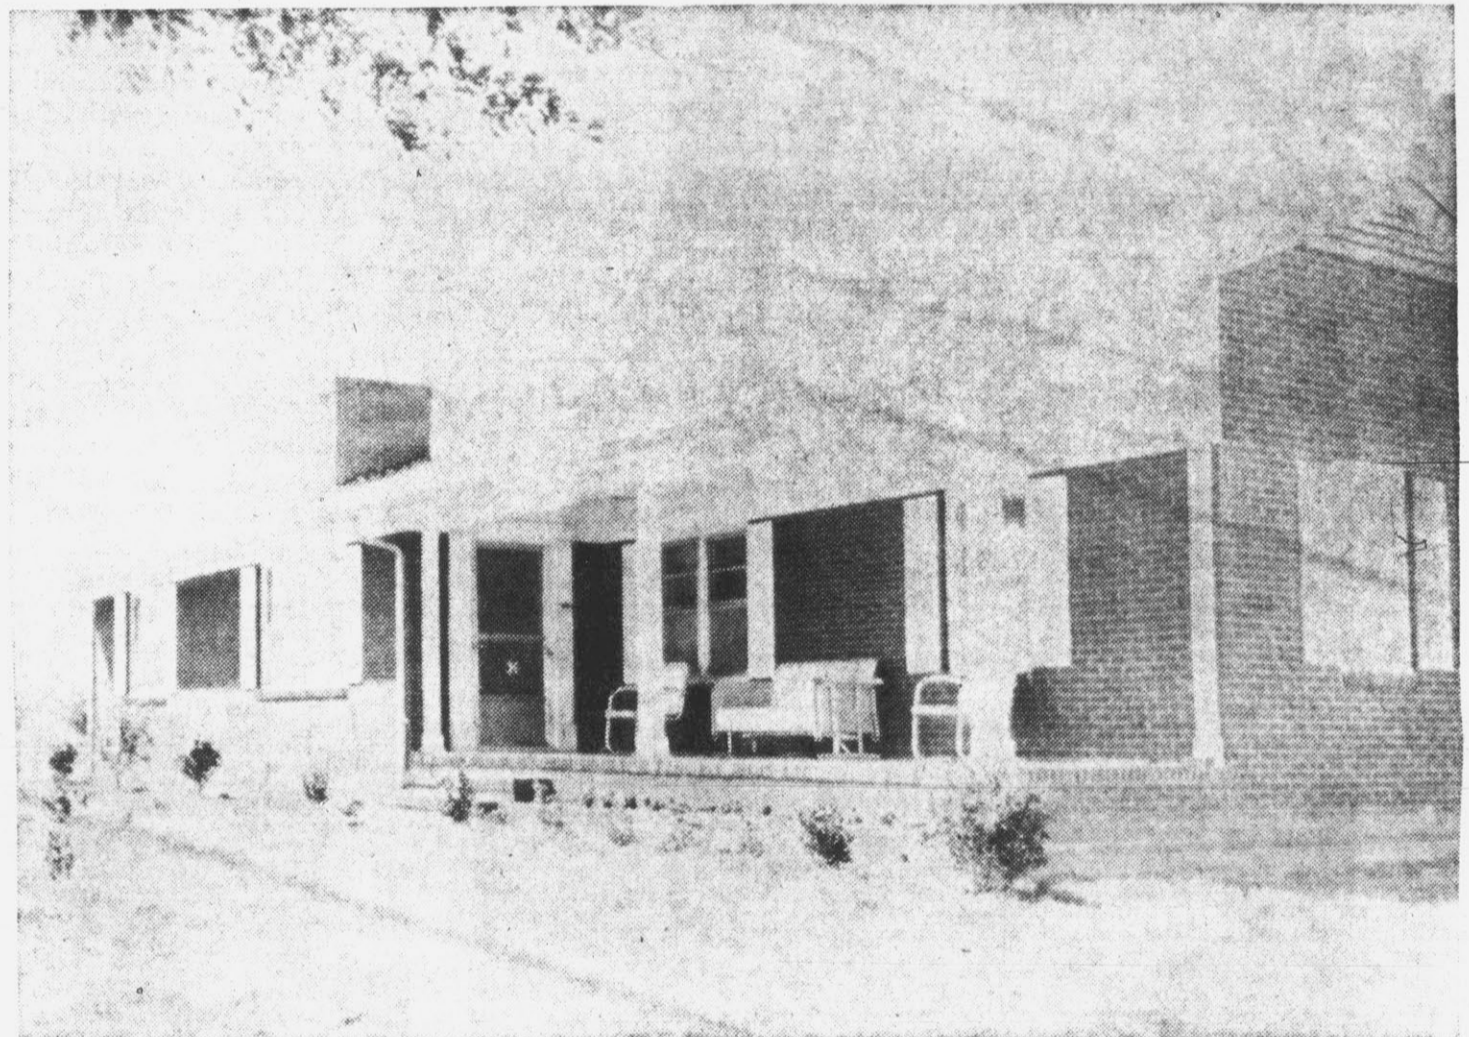

Typical Participants
Typical of the communities and clubs participating in the progress program is the Red Banks Home Demonstration Club, which is a sister organization of the Eastern Pines Men's Fellowship Club. Under direction of Mrs. Hugh Hardee, Jr., president of the Red Banks club; Karl Hardee, president of the Eastern Pines club; and Mrs. Robert B. Starling, progress program chairman, for the Red Banks club, the two groups have in the past years instituted a vigorous program of community improvement.

Included in their achievements are various home improvement projects, construction of a roadside park and completion of work on the Eastern Pines Community Building, also the home of the Red Banks Home Demonstration Club.

Interior walls of the community building were covered with western knotty pine, installed by men of the building. The ceiling labor, was $2,000 but the volunteer efforts in basketball games, cake

The roadside park, located at the intersection of 14th Street Extension and Greenville Boulevard, was developed under the leadership of Mrs. Leon S. Hardee. Men 20 goats devoured a majority of the young flowers and trees but they have been replanted.

A 2 Million-Dollar Diamond

1. The 426-carat rough diamond after it was found in a South African mine and before it was cut. Its size is contrasted with a 25-cent piece.

There's a diamond tucked away in the vault of a New York jeweler that would make a maharajah's eyes shine. If you have two million dollars to spare, it's yours. That's the price set by its owner, Harry Winston.

The diamond is pear-shaped, weighs 128.25 carats. It is blue-white and flawless. Experts have called it the most perfect teardrop diamond in the world.

The story of this fabulous sparkler goes back to the spring of 1954. It was in the rough—a 426-carat stone—when it was dug out of the Jagersfontaine mine in South Africa. It was brought to London, then sold to Winston. He took it to New York.

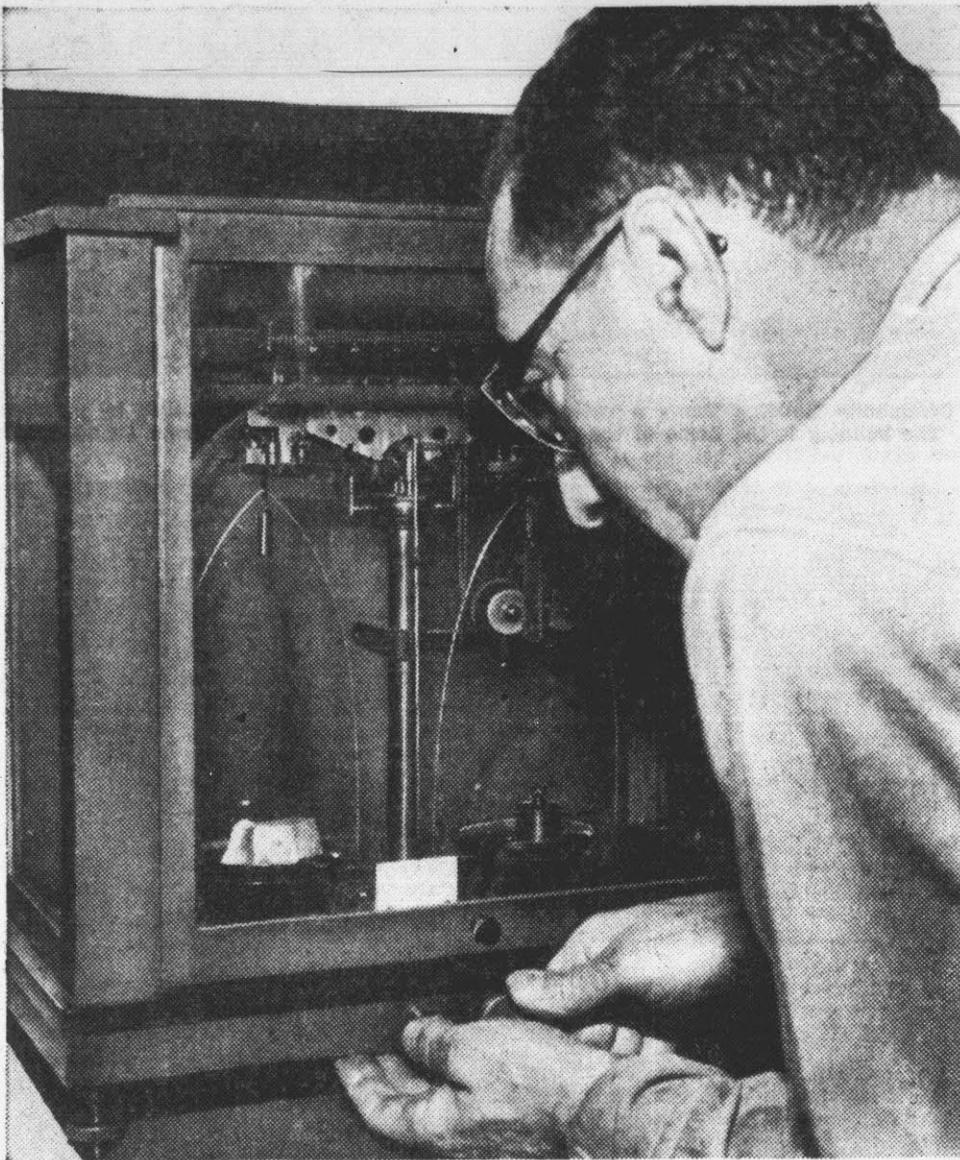

The job of converting the rough stone into a finished gem began. It meant cutting, grinding, polishing—months and months of it. The first cut took five weeks. From the 70-carat piece removed, a 28-carat marquise cut diamond eventually was fashioned. The second cut took an equal length of time, and produced a stone weighing some 70 carats. This by-product was turned into a 40-carat emerald cut.

What was left, a rough octagon weighing about 270 carats, was ready for a top expert in the field of diamond cutting, Bernard de Haan. For 40 weeks—1400 hours in all—he worked at grinding the stone on a flat, cast-iron wheel. Into it he cut 144 facets. A week of finishing, and the teardrop emerged with all its sparkling beauty.

HAND OF FORTUNE. Edna Rae holds the diamond—a flawless, blue-white teardrop.

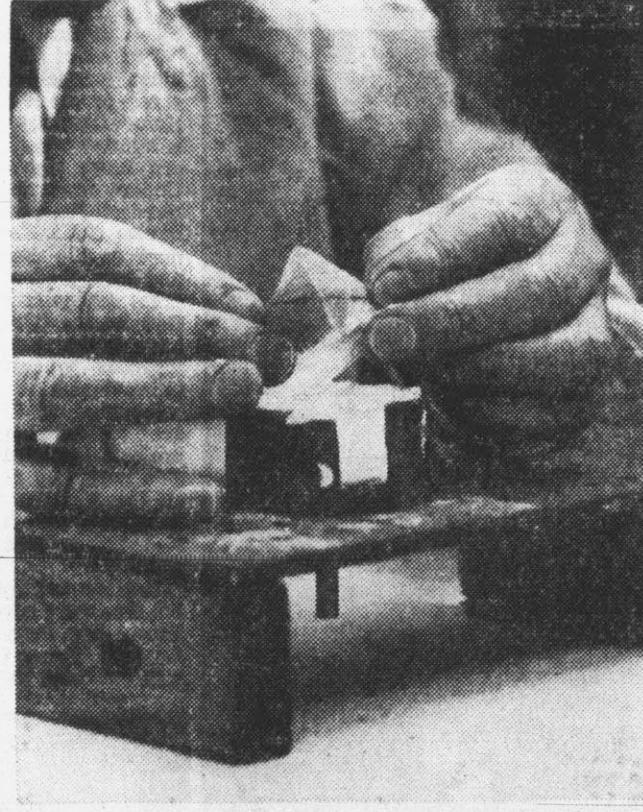

2. Rough stone is weighed on diamond scale. Window is closed in order to get accurate weight. Slightest movement can throw weight off.

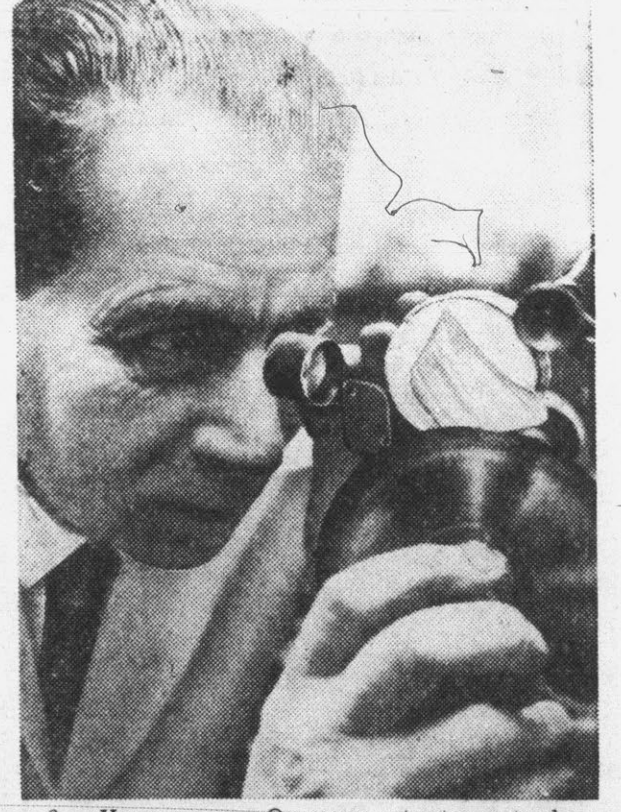

3. Stone is marked to determine the grain for sawing.

4. After marking it, Bernard de Haan studies stone before it is sawed.

5. Stone is then mounted in plaster of Paris in copper pot in preparation for sawing.

6. Henry van Overeen starts actual sawing of rough diamond. This was the first cut which took over five weeks.

7. First sawing has been completed. Fingers of sawyer, Mr. van Overeen, hold piece which has been removed.

8. Chief cutter Bernard de Haan starts the long process of grinding the diamond for shape on a revolving cast iron wheel.

9. Diamond is then mounted in lead dop, or cup, and held close to wheel for final polishing.

10. The diamond—a perfect teardrop—emerges in all its flashing beauty, and is eyed in wonderment.

by JOHN CULLEN MURPHY

HOW DO YOU EXPLAIN IT, DAVY? I MEAN YOUR ABILITY TO FIGHT WHEN—WHEN YOU HAVE ABSOLUTELY NO VISION IN EITHER EYE?

I DON'T REALLY KNOW, MR. BOLT— BUT THROW A PUNCH— EITHER HAND, PLEASE.

I KEEP BOBBING AND WEAVING UNTIL I GET A CONTACT— THAT, PLUS A STRANGE KIND OF INSTINCT I HAVE, DOES IT.

I FIGHT IN CLOSE— TO KEEP CONTACT— AND I CAN USUALLY ANTICIPATE YOUR NEXT PUNCH—

BUT I TRY TO BE QUICK ENOUGH TO GET MINE IN FIRST!

AMAZING!

FIGHTING'S THE ONLY WAY I THINK I CAN EARN ENOUGH MONEY TO GET MY EYES FIXED.

SPIDER— WELL, HE SAID YOU MIGHT HELP ME...

I'D LIKE TO, DAVY— BUT IS IT SAFE FOR YOU TO FIGHT?

I CHECKED WITH THE BOXING COMMISSION— THEY SAID O.K. —FOR ONE FIGHT.

IF I PROVE MYSELF, THEY'LL LET ME MOVE ON, AND SPIDER—

Nursery, Kindergarten Regulations Announced

Applications for admission to the Nursery and Kindergarten at East Carolina College are now being received.

Dr. Leo W. Jenkins, Vice President and Dean of the College, said that applications will be received in his office on the second floor of the Administration Building at any time between now and 4:30 p.m., May 1.

The following rules and regulations govern admission to the Nursery School:

a. Children reaching their third birthday and not having passed their fourth birthday on June 15 of the year in which they plan to attend.

b. Enrollment in Nursery School is limited to sixteen children, preferably eight boys and eight girls.

c. Applications for admission to Nursery School will not be accepted by the College after May 1 of the year in which the child is eligible. Applications will therefore be accepted for children under three years of age only on condition that they will reach their third birthday on or before June 15 of the year of eligibility.

d. Children admitted to Nursery School in September will be permitted to continue their work until school closes in June. Thus, a child who becomes five during the school year will be permitted to complete the year.

e. Attendance at the Nursery School is no guarantee of admittance to the Kindergarten.

f. The school year between September and June is divided into approximately three equal quarters.

The following rules and regulations govern admission to the kindergarten:

a. Children reaching their fifth birthday and not having passed their sixth birthday on October 15 of the year in which they plan to attend.

b. Enrollment in Kindergarten is limited to twenty pupils, ten boys and ten girls.

c. Applications for admission to Kindergarten will not be accepted by the College after May 1 of the year in which the child is eligible. Applications will, therefore, be accepted for children under five years of age only on condition that they will reach their fifth birthday on or before October 15 in the year of eligibility.

d. Children admitted to Kindergarten in September will be permitted to continue their work until school closes in June. Thus, a child who becomes six during the school year will be permitted to complete the year.

Summer Study Grant Awarded To H. D. Rowe

H. D. Rowe, faculty member of the department of English at East Carolina College, has been awarded a grant providing for six weeks of study during the summer.

He will spend this period of time working on a book on "Critical Ideas of Ezra Pound," which he is now preparing as part of the requirements toward a doctorate at the University of Florida.

A native of Ohio, Mr. Rowe has been a member of the East Carolina faculty since last September. He holds both the bachelor's and the master's degrees from Marshall College in West Virginia, and at the University of Florida has completed all requirements for the doctor's degree except the dissertation on which he is now working.

Among published works by Mr. Rowe are "Hart Crane: A Bibliography," "Emerson as Quaker," in the "New England Quarterly," and other articles.

District Cancer Training Class Held

Dr. Brewster Miller, (left, above) director of professional education of the American Cancer Society, New York City, addressed 64 leaders and officials at a district training school for Negroes in Greenville Thursday.

His talk in the afternoon centered around characteristics of cancer, and monthly self-examination that individuals should make.

Dr. Fleming Fuller of Kingston was the main speaker at the morning session. He recommended a periodic examination for early diagnosis and he explained the "seven danger signals" to observe.

Mrs. William Alexander, Assistant State Education Committee, Raleigh, and Mrs. Frances Corbette, district home agent, Greensboro, had charge of the meeting.

Marital Bliss Out The Window

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Marital bliss literally flew out the window for Mr. and Mrs. Chastain Nolan when their parakeet left.

Mrs. Nolan, 27 and the mother of three, told Constable Thelma Hardison that her husband taught the bird to say vulgar words at her.

She let the bird go and Nolan retorted by storming out, taking along most of his wife's clothes.

Nolan returned for a final stroke of revenge, she told the constable, yanking out the telephone and removing locks from the doors.

Mrs. Nolan swore out a warrant and filed for divorce.

More Attention To Brain-Injured Child

By HERMAN ALLEN

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A child is asked to draw a figure like a capital "L." He draws it backward.

Another is shown a collection of pens and pencils and is asked to tell what they have in common (that they are all used for writing). He can't.

Another can't pay attention in school. Suddenly, for no apparent reason, he will jump up and run around the room.

A kindergarten doing finger painting will wipe his paint-smeared hand on his snook.

Many children do that—but this child wipes the back of his hand, not the front.

Are these children mentally retarded or emotionally disturbed? Perhaps, some educational specialists said today—but they may

The record was broken last Sunday in Sunday school—over the preacher's head, too. Three hundred and fifty, the highest attendance up to this time in Sunday school, was the number in attendance last week. We praise the Lord for such a fine group. Let's continue to keep the record high by being present next Sunday at 9:45.

The 11 o'clock worship service will be broadcast over WGTC Radio this Sunday for the last time. If you cannot attend be sure to tune in and hear the service. You are welcome to come and worship with us in person.

The League meets at 7 o'clock. This is a period of training for all Christians.

The evening service begins at 8:00. There will be singing of the Gospel songs and choruses that everyone likes. The pastor, Rev. Rashie Kennedy, will bring the evening message.

The Woman's Auxiliary meets Monday evening at the church at 8:00. Every member is urged to attend and visitors are always welcome.

The Good News Club meets with Mrs. Johnson on Tuesday at 3:45, also on Wednesday at 8:00 during the prayer session.

The choir meets at 7:30 for study under Mr. Harris. At 8:00 the prayer session begins and the choir rehearsal follows. During the prayer session the regular monthly business meeting of the church will be conducted.

One Red Pencil Hard To Find

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. (AP)—Last month a Navajo filed his income tax return, but he neglected to affix his signature.

The Internal Revenue Service sent it back with this notation: "Please sign on the lines indicated by red check marks and resubmit."

Yesterday the IRS got the return again. With it was a note. "I'm sorry it's taken so long but I had an awful hard time finding a red pencil to sign this thing. I went all over this end of the reservation before I finally found one," the note said.

Four free ports in the United States through which goods can be transhipped without the customs duties and regulations are in New York City, San Francisco, Seattle and New Orleans.

Reminds Brush Burning Danger

Pitt County Forest Warden N.S. (Kd) Tyson today reminded that burning of brush near woodlands by farmers and others has been prohibited in 10 counties as a result of disastrous forest fires.

The Pitt county forest warden quoted the North Carolina Forest Service as warning that the danger of forest fires today is serious. Forest fires are highly inflammable and fires are likely to spread furiously and get beyond control.

"Carelessness of smokers in woods results in serious forest fires and starting fires in or near woods is extremely hazardous," the forest warden stated. He urges all persons to use extreme care toward preventing forest fires.

The North Carolina Forest Service urges all farmers to postpone any brush burning they may have planned until after the next rain. A state law requires landowners burning brush to notify adjoining land owners before fires are started.

The Pitt county Forest warden said there has not been a serious woods fire in the county this year. He pointed out that the forest observation tower near the television station, south of Greenville, is manned seven days a week and until 9 o'clock at night. Mrs. Hazel Manning is observer at the tower.

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—A couple of young "prospectors" decided to take a look yesterday in the Knudsen Builders' supply warehouse because of a 6-year-old told police he remarked to the 7-year-old: "There's gold in the place."

Two warehousemen were gone 10 minutes from the building, but during that time the "prospectors," utilizing a single crowbar "for mining," wrecked 11 doors, one sheet of plywood and three cartons of tile.
