

NATO Stand Is Expected Bring Kremlin Threats

By ARTHUR GAVSHON

BONN, Germany (AP)—The Atlantic allies declaration that they will meet any aggression with nuclear-backed might was expected today to bring new onslaughts from Russia and from political enemies in their own countries.

Their stand was reaffirmed last night in a communique which served notice that NATO members stood ready to use "all available means"—including nuclear weapons—against any aggressor. The statement came at the end of a two-day session of foreign ministers of the 15-nation alliance.

In a clear-cut answer to the Kremlin's recent threats against atomic guided missile bases in Scandinavia, West Germany, Greece and Turkey, the communique said:

"Pending an acceptable agreement on disarmament, no power can claim the right to deny to the alliance the possession of the modern arms needed for its defense. If Russia really fears Western defense preparations, the communique said it need only accept a general disarmament agreement embodying effective measures of control and inspection within the framework of the proposals made on numerous occasions by the Western powers."

Touching on the explosive German question, the declaration called for early reunification of the former Reich.

The NATO council delayed a decision on the future balance of NATO armament between conventional and nuclear weapons pending a report from its military authorities.

The council reported "new elements" which promise to limit Communist expansion and subversion in the Middle East—an apparent reference to the Eisenhower doctrine and developments in Jordan where King Hussein has ousted a pro-Egyptian regime.

Observers believed the conference stand basing Western defenses largely on the deterrent of hydrogen bomb power spelled plenty of trouble for the government of West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer. His ruling party is campaigning for general elections next September.

Adenauer and his conservatives want to remain tightly tied with the Western allies. They feel that if they go on standing long enough against the Soviets, they eventually will free their East German kinsmen from the Red grip.

But West German Socialist leader Erich Ollenhauer wants to see his country out of the Atlantic alliance—the price he thinks Russia will accept for allowing the two Germanies to reunite.

Contrast

VAN NUYS, Calif. (AP)—The three pilots, who between them span the wartime history of the air force, were comparing notes.

"I had 10 hours of flying before going into combat," said Fred Libby, a World War I pilot. "I had 700 hours," said Maj. Charles London, who flew in the second World War. "And I had 1,500 hours," said Capt. Iven Kincheloe, Korean war ace.

"It took me an hour to climb to 10,000 feet," Libby recalled. "My old P47 got up there in four minutes," said London. "The new jets," said Kincheloe, smiling "hit it in 30 seconds."

The three attended an Air Force Assn. banquet celebrating the 50th anniversary of the Air Force last night.

Hodges To Speak At East Carolina Commencement

Governor Luther H. Hodges of North Carolina will make the principal address to graduates at East Carolina College's 48th annual commencement Sunday, May 19.

The 1957 exercises will be of particular interest as the Governor joins other friends of the college in observance of the 50th anniversary of the founding of East Carolina in 1907.

The commencement program, beginning with Alumni Day, Saturday, May 18, and extending through graduation exercises Sunday, has been announced from the office of President John D. Messick of East Carolina.

Governor Hodges will speak in the Wright auditorium Sunday at 11 a.m. The conferring of degrees upon more than 600 men and women by President Messick will follow.

Wendell W. Smiley, college librarian, and Dr. James H. Day, president of the faculty, head the committee planning the graduation exercises. James W. Butler, alumni secretary at East Carolina, is in charge of events centering around the return to the campus Saturday of members of the college Alumni Association for their annual spring meeting.

Saturday's program, announced by Mr. Butler, will open with a business session at 10:15 in the Austin auditorium. Of chief interest on the agenda will be the announcement of the recipient of the annual Alumni Award to a graduate of East Carolina. A luncheon in the North Dining Hall will follow.

Class reunions, with graduates of 1912 as honor guests on the occasion of the fifty-fifth anniversary of their graduation, will be held by ten classes—1912, 1917, 1922, 1927, 1932, 1937, 1942, 1947, 1952, and 1956.

A tea at 3 p.m., a lawn concert at 4 p.m. by the college concert band, and a recital by faculty members of the department of music and the Woman's Chorus of the college at 8 p.m. will close events of Alumni Day.

Vote Test For Syria's Regime

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP)—Some Syrian citizens got a chance today to vote for or against their government's drift to the left.

Elections were being held in four cities for four vacant seats in the 142-member parliament. Although no one was saying the by-elections would change the balance in parliament, they were regarded as the first good test of the way Syrians feel about recent government trends. About 100,000 persons were expected to vote.

Congress Will Slash Taxes, ---Rayburn

Washington (AP)—Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn (D-Tex.) told a group of Democratic governors today Congress is going to cut President Eisenhower's budget and give the people a tax cut that will help everybody. Rayburn was quoted as having added that Congress hopes to cut from three to five billion dollars out of the spending budget of $71,800,000,000 "without hurting the country."

He did not set a time for a tax cut. Rayburn talked informally at a breakfast attended by eight Democratic governors here for a party conference sponsored by the Democratic National Committee, and a few Democrats in Congress.

The breakfast was closed to newsmen. Sam Brightman, Democratic National Committee publicity chief, gave them an account of what happened.

Rayburn was quoted as saying he had served in Washington under 10 presidents and considered the Eisenhower administration the "most inept and most partisan."

Gov. Averell Harriman of New York told a reporter he spoke of a "definite swing" toward the Democrats in recent village elections in New York.

Other governors present were George M. Leader of Pennsylvania; Luther H. Hodges of North Carolina; Edmund S. Muskie of Maine; Ernest McFarland of Arizona; Raymond Gary of Oklahoma; and G. Mennen Williams of Michigan.

Members of Congress present beside Rayburn were Rep. McCormack of Massachusetts, House majority leader; Rep. Boggs of Louisiana, a national committee vice chairman, and Sens. Smathers of Florida.

Former President Truman, who will address a $100-a-plate party fund raising dinner tonight, attended the breakfast but did not speak.

Rep. Patman (D-Tex.) said the Republicans had inaugurated "the greatest manipulation of interest rates and credit the world has ever seen."

Patman, chairman of the Senate-House Economic Committee, said this in remarks prepared for a round table discussion with Democratic governors.

In another talk prepared for the same meeting, Sen. Kennedy (D-Mass.) said the Republicans were giving only "grudging recognition" to the problem presented in 19 major areas where he said unemployment is above 5 per cent, despite general national prosperity.

He said the Eisenhower administration has made only "an inadequate, half-hearted attempt" to combat chronic unemployment.

A scattering of Democratic governors gathered for a party conference preceding a $100-a-plate fund raising dinner here tonight. Adlai E. Stevenson, the party's 1952 and 1956 presidential nominee, and former President Truman were scheduled as feature speakers.

More Flood Evacuations In Texas As Rain Pours Down

WICHITA FALLS, Tex. (AP)—Several bridges were covered by flood water here today as steady rains fed already overflowing creeks and lakes and police and civil defense units evacuated more flood-threatened families.

Rain fell through the night and water in the south section of this Texas city rose more than four inches in one hour, according to Police Sgt. Kenneth Edmonds. The officer said Hempstead Lane Bridge was under two feet of water. The bridge is on one of the main streets that crosses Holliday Creek, the creek that has poured its water into the homes of dozens of residents.

Edmonds said at least 15 families had been evacuated.

He quoted officer John Loftin as saying "this flood will be worse than the one in 1950 when hundreds were evacuated."

Edmonds said "I think we'll get quite a bit of trouble. Wichita Lake is pouring into Holliday Creek and the lake is rising all the time."

This is the 17th day floods have raged through parts of this state that went through seven years of scorching drought.

North and central Texas yesterday was hit by cloudbursts which dropped more than six inches of rain in some sections and caused other flood threats.

Evacuation of families here started before 10:30 p.m. In 1950 about 500 families were evacuated when the creek flooded. This northwest Texas city has a population of 125,000.

Rains of more than six inches fell on the upper Brazos where some communities were evacuated during early floods. Water rose in Dennis and Bennett and near Tin Top which has suffered flood damage earlier.

Up to six inches of rain at Iredell, south of Fort Worth in central Texas, caused some flooding at alley Mills, Meridian and between Meridian and Blum.

Red Cross officials had estimated that up to 9,000 persons were driven from their homes during the floods. The state civil disaster headquarters said floods affected 35,000 square miles.

Reports Conflict On Border Dispute

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP)—The president's brother, Gen. Anastasio Somoza Jr., says Nicaragua has thrown an "umbrella" of planes over a disputed border region to ward off any more Honduran attacks.

By Nicaraguan account, all is quiet on the frontier after Nicaraguan troops drove off a Honduran force which for a day occupied a tiny village in the area both countries claim.

President Luis Somoza said his government wants to give a five-year truce team that arrived in Central America today a chance to settle the differences peacefully.

But the president warned Honduras another attack on the border region would mean "total war."

Honduras told a different story.

Sues Unions For Costing His Job

RENO (AP)—A Reno electrician has filed a suit against three local unions, charging they forced his dismissal for refusing to join a union.

Thomas R. Weavers asks $35,000 in general and punitive damages. He also asks Washoe district court for an injunction against the common laborers; journeymen plumbers and steamfitters; and the electric workers locals.

Weavers says a walkout at Acme-Collins Electric Co. forced it to fire him for his refusal to join a union.

Nevada's so-called right to work law forbids union membership or non-membership to be a condition of employment.

PRACTICAL

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Why are most barns painted red?

Because red paint is cheaper, says Lawrence T. Gardner, a paint company president. He adds that more and more barns are being painted white now because white radiates rather than absorbs heat.

The ranking officer of the three-man military junta ruling that country said continuous, hard fighting is going on between Hondurans and Nicaraguans along the border, principally in the mountains.

Gen. Roque Rodriguez denied in Tegucigalpa that the Honduran troops had lost Mororan, the Indian village of 110 population which has been the center of fighting. He threatened to bomb Managua, Nicaragua's capital, if Nicaraguans drop any bombs on border towns claimed by Honduras.

The disputed region is a tropical, forested lowland.

The village apparently was not occupied by either side until two weeks ago, when a small Nicaraguan garrison reportedly moved in. After protesting against what he called "Nicaraguan aggression," Honduras sent troops to Mororan Wednesday and drove away the Nicaraguans. Then, Nicaragua says, Nicaraguan troops recaptured the village Thursday.

Lt. Carlos Garcia, commander of the 38 Nicaraguan troops in Mororan until Wednesday, brought a bloody Honduran helmet to Managua. It was displayed as a war prize.

Building Atomic 'Killer' Submarine

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Navy is trying to build a small, atomic-powered submarine whose main purpose would be to seek and destroy enemy submarines.

And it has almost completed development of a new and much improved antisubmarine torpedo which soon will be available in "limited numbers."

Few details of these developments were revealed in testimony April 9 to a House Appropriations Subcommittee. Parts of the testimony were released yesterday.

Adm. Albert G. Mumma, the Navy's shipbuilding chief, said the new submarine "could be a very potent antisubmarine submarine." But he said it also will have "normal attack capability."

Public Hearing

RALEIGH (AP)—A public hearing on the proposed School of Nursing at East Carolina College will be held Wednesday in Room 513 of the Revenue Building in Raleigh. The meeting will begin at 4 p.m.

The hearing will be held by the General Assembly's Joint Appropriations Committee, Rep. Carl Venters of Onslow County and Senator Joe Eagles of Wilson County will preside at the hearing.

Pitt County Representative Walter Jones has asked that persons interested in the proposal attend the meeting. Expected to be present are representatives of 15 Eastern North Carolina counties who have joined with Beaufort County in a concerted effort to establish the nursing school.

Establishment of the school would require an initial outlay of $170,000. Whether or not it is included in the final appropriations bills which will be presented to the General Assembly depends on action taken by the Joint Appropriations Committee after the hearing Wednesday.

Says Teachers Resigning Over Salary Outlook

RALEIGH (AP)—Tar Heel teachers disappointed with pay raise prospects are resigning from the profession, according to an official of the North Carolina Education Assn.

A. C. Dawson Jr., NCEA legislative chairman, called attention to the resignations yesterday in asking for public support of 1931 per cent salary boosts recommended by the State Board of Education.

"If legislators wish to put first things first, the General Assembly can find the funds necessary" to give the raises, Dawson declared. The prospect of "only a 15 per cent raise," the figure recommended by Gov. Hodges and tentatively adopted by the Legislature's Joint Appropriations Subcommittee, has brought the resignation of some of the state's "best teachers" to accept higher-paying jobs, Dawson asserted.

"Reports of such resignations throughout the state are being called to the attention of the NCEA daily," he added.

A proposed scholarship fund for prospective teachers, with loans to be repaid by teaching service, was endorsed by Dawson. While the fund would "help deserving young people," Dawson continued, "it promises no panacea to the growing problem of getting and holding good teachers."

He asked citizens of the state to "renew their support of schools" and urge lawmakers to provide the 1931 per cent salary boost and other items in the program supported by the United Forces for Education.

Final Tributes For McCarthy

WASHINGTON (AP)—About 500 persons filed through a funeral home here last night to view the body of Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy.

A folded American flag lay on a pew at the foot of the casket, which was flanked by two Marines.

Some wept as they viewed the body of the controversial Wisconsin Republican who died Thursday of a liver ailment.

McCarthy's body will lie in state at the funeral home through Sunday. After a service in the Senate chamber Monday at 11 a.m. EDT the remains will be flown to Appleton, Wis., for services and burial Tuesday.

Most of those who visited the funeral home last night were elderly. The group included two senators, Thye (R-Minn.) and Frear (D-Del.).

One woman repeatedly told those approaching the casket:

"People were a little bit too late showing how they felt. Here we are—flags at half mast, even at the White House."

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said yesterday flying the flag at half staff was "automatic" when a member of Congress died. Flags were displayed in that fashion at the White House as well as at President Eisenhower's farm home at Gettysburg, Pa.

Relations between Eisenhower and McCarthy had been cool for some time.

Campaign Efforts Step Up

Two Announcements Spur Activity; No Council Meet On Bloxam In Sight

City Council candidates intensified their campaigning after two surprise announcements by Mayor W. L. Whedbee and City Manager Leonard Bloxam yesterday.

Whedbee announced that he would be a write-in candidate in Tuesday's election after he received petitions signed by around 100 persons urging him to do so.

Bloxam tendered his resignation as city manager because one of the candidates for council "has seen fit to make the position I hold as city manager a political football."

Mayor Whedbee said this morning that no special council meeting has been held as yet to act on Bloxam's resignation.

Bloxam has agreed to continue to act as city manager until "we can have a meeting to consider his resignation."

The mayor said he did not know when the meeting would be held but he did not feel the council would act on the resignation before the election unless other council members wished to do so.

All citizens to whom he had talked, the mayor said, "regretted the fact" that Bloxam had resigned.

Registrars reported this morning that registration was heavy yesterday and a steady flow of persons coming in to register today.

Today is the last day of the registration period. Books for Wards 1 and 2 are at the court house and for Wards 3, 4 and 5 the books are at the main fire station.

April Recorded Building Spurt

New construction, which got off to a slow start during the first few months of 1957, took a spurt during April, Building Inspector George Gardner's report indicates.

Gardner issued permits for 22 dwellings and two apartment houses last month. The construction is valued at $310,700. Five commercial buildings were authorized with a value of $39,500. Total made a value of $350,200 in new construction for April.

There were also permits for seven alterations issued valued at $9,100.

The April totals brought value of new construction authorized this year to $837,200. Permits for 39 dwellings and three apartment houses have been issued during the first four months with a value of $520,500. Eleven commercial units, valued at $216,700, were approved by the building inspector.

Not included in the new construction valuation are 20 alterations approved by the building inspector. The alterations authorized during the first four months are to cost a total of $244,225.

Memory 'Test' Cost Him $150

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—It cost a local attorney $150 yesterday to find out Third District Court Judge A. H. Elliott has a good memory for cases.

Court records show Judge Elliott denied a marriage annulment petition filed by attorney J. F. Herrick last Monday. Records also show Herrick presented and was granted an annulment petition on the same matter Thursday.

Judge Elliott cited the attorney for contempt when he discovered the same petition has been filed a second time.

Suez Clearance Director Leaves

Wheeler came here last December to head the U. N. salvage fleet to clear the invasion-littered canal.

Principal Center Of Pupil Strike

TABOR CITY, N.C. (AP)—"I can control the students, but I have no control over the parents."

C. H. Pinner, retiring principal of Tabor City high school, shook his head as he watched 200 of his striking students parade in a drizzling rain, yesterday shouting "We want Pinner!" and "No Pinner, no school!"

Pinner said he tried to contact the student body leaders but was unsuccessful in staging a conference because parents of the leaders refused to let their youngsters enter the school building.

The students refused to attend classes in protest against the school board's failure to rehire Pinner, 19-year veteran at Tabor, for the next school year.

Students carried banners reading "Pinner's our man." It was reported that several parents had prepared the signs for the students.

While some parents removed their children from the picket line, many more watched proceedings with interest.

The protest over Pinner's discharge began early in the week when 400 citizens attended a meeting at the school and complained about the school board's decision not to reemploy Pinner next year. No board members attended the meeting.

Pinner said early this week that he had planned to retire at the end of this school year, but had reconsidered and reapplied to the school board for the position of principal.

He said he decided to stay on after "many young mothers at the pre-school clinic had requested that he remain."

The school board voted 4-1 in favor of not rehiring him, but said it would consider Pinner's application along with others that had been received.

One student said: "We plan to stay out here until we get what we want—Mr. Pinner as principal for another year."

That's what high school students at Massey Hill in Fayetteville said recently when they went out on strike, protesting a school board decision not to retain their principal. There, the school board gave in.

Another Tabor City student said: "They (the other students) would have shown their respect better for Mr. Pinner if they had not staged this demonstration. Most of them are out there planning to be out of school."

Pinner broke up strike-planning meetings twice and asked the students not to stage a strike. School officials said about one-fourth of the student body attended school yesterday. No classes were held.

Last Marylander To Die By Rope

BALTIMORE (AP)—Kelly Briley, 35-year-old Negro convicted of murder, is scheduled to be the last man to go to the gallows in Maryland. The next prisoner sentenced to death will go to the gas chamber.

The gas chamber has been ready since last summer but state law specifies that it be used only for persons tried after last June 1. Briley is scheduled to be hanged June 24.

Biggest On The Force

Nimitz Stresses Submarine Role

NEW YORK (AP)—Fleet Adm. Chester W. Nimitz Ret. says the submarine will play an increasingly prominent role in the Navy because it is the "least vulnerable ship to atomic attack."

Nimitz also cited the submarine's growing capabilities with atomic propulsion and guided missiles.

A speech by the World War II chief of the Pacific fleet was read for him yesterday at the final meeting of the Navy League's annual convention. Nimitz, who is ill, was unable to attend.

Res. Adm. John J. Bergen, USNR, of New York was elected president of the league. He succeeds Carl G. Stockholm of Chicago.

Two Youths Are Hurt In 3-Car Collision

Two young Ayden Negro boys sustained minor injuries in a three-car collision approximately three miles north of Winterville last night at 12:20 a.m.

Larry Ellis, 17, and William Gardner, both residents of East Avenue in Ayden, suffered lacerations of the face and head when the automobile in which they were riding went out of control on a curve and turned over on the shoulder of N. C. Highway 11.

Gardner was admitted to Pitt Memorial Hospital shortly after the accident.

Pfc Bill Whitehurst of the State Highway Patrol investigated the accident. Whitehurst stated this morning that Jesse Sutton Canady, 22-year-old Negro of 403 Planters St., was the driver of the 1949 automobile that turned over after going out of control on a curve.

Canady was said to have passed two other vehicles shortly before losing control of his car. The two automobiles passed were being operated by James Earl Freeman, 20-year-old Negro of Greenville Rt. 2 and Lindelle Daniels, 18-year-old Negro of Winterville.

After the car driven by Canady turned over, Freeman slowed down to avoid hitting the vehicle on the shoulder of the highway and was hit from behind by the automobile driven by Daniels. Daniels was charged by the investigating officer for following too closely. Both Freeman and Canady were charged with exceeding a safe speed.

Earlier in the night another three-car collision took place on N. C. Highway 11 at the South 11 Drive-In Theatre.

Involved in the accident was a 1957 automobile driven by Gisele Huard Dail of 803 Washington St. in Winston; a 1952 automobile being operated by Dillon Forbes Wal-son of Greenville Rt. 4; and a 1950 car driven by Robert Williams of 1503 Pitt St.

According to investigating Patrolman Whitehurst, Watson was preparing to make a left turn into the drive-in theatre when he was struck from behind by the Daily automobile. The officer then stated that the Daily vehicle skidded into Williams' automobile. The Daily woman was charged with exceeding a safe speed.

Total damages to the three automobiles was estimated at $525. The accident occurred at approximately 9:55 p.m.

Rae Foley's new mystery novel RUN FOR YOUR LIFE

CHAPTER 13

"Do you realize," Stuart said, "that I've been nearly twenty-four hours and this is the first time we've been alone?"

"That's the worst drawback of the inn," Nora admitted. "Only that one living room. On a rainy day like this it is difficult to arrange any privacy."

She strolled beside Stuart along a path that led past the tennis courts toward the stables. Her blue raincoat was belted and fastened to the throat but the hood was pushed back and they walked slowly, hand in hand.

She stole sideways glances at him as though to reassure herself that he was actually there.

"It's good to be able to walk out of doors again," he said suddenly. "To be free."

There wasn't, Nora told him, a single day when she had not thought of what it meant to be penned up in a cell.

He looked down at her and smiled. "But that is all behind us. We'll try to wipe it out. We have the present, the future, anyhow. We won't walk far today—it may rain again, and you mustn't get too tired. But I had to see you alone. Somehow, we haven't had a chance to find each other."

She knew what he meant. She, too, had had that sense of strangeness, of a barrier, ever since their reunion. He turned and took her in his arms, kissing her until her lips were warm and she clung to him.

"Well," he said at last, releasing her, "that's more like it. I was getting worried about you, you seemed so cool and remote."

"So neurotic," she said in disgust. "I'm ashamed of going to pieces last night."

"That was just reaction," he said quickly. "Look here, Nora, this is a lousy time to speak of it but I've got to get things clear between us. I never saw Candy Kendrick in my life. Someone framed me for that murder. You've got to believe me. There must never be a shadow of doubt in your mind."

"I do believe you," she said. "I have always believed you."

"You're shivering. Look here, Nora, you are simply in no condition to be questioned by the police. I can't see why Finn allows it. And, after all, you told everything you know on the witness stand under oath. Then why put you through it again?"

"It's their job," he said, standing in the circle of his arms.

"I hope," he said tightly, "they take your cousin Deming over the hurdles this time."

"They are bound to. I think Cousin Charles is really worried." She added slowly, "I'm sure when he planned to come back here he never expected the case to reopen."

"But why did he come?"

Nora hesitated. "Hazel Huger thinks he wants Frank to marry me—for the Pendleton money."

Stuart frowned. "Has Frank ever paid any particular attention to you?"

"Heavens, no! We've known each other all our lives, of course, and we're fond of each other. But that is all. Frank has no more interest in me than I have in him."

When he was silent she asked, "What are you thinking?"

"I'm wondering," he said slowly, "if Deming was behind the rest of the business: the planted handkerchief, the anonymous letter. It is the first suggestion of a motive I've come across so far."

She shook her head decisively. "No, that's not possible. It just is not like Cousin Charles."

Stuart was sunk in thought. He spoke abruptly. "Okay. I see now why Deming is anti-Young, but how about your aunt? Last night she didn't try to conceal her hostility. All that business about having to face the fact I'd be in the family if you married me. And she implied I'd been playing around with that girl."

"It wasn't you as Stuart she was attacking," Nora explained. "It was you as my fiancé, you as beneficiary in my will. Aunt Olive is really warped about money." She laughed softly.

Stuart kissed her cheek. "I like to see you laugh. You don't laugh enough."

"When this is over," she promised him, "I'll laugh and sing all day long."

"And meanwhile you aren't to worry any more. Let's just run over that afternoon, darling, so you'll be all set for questioning."

"We'd planned the picnic so we'd have a chance to get away by ourselves," she replied almost automatically. She had answered the question before. "Hazel fixed us a picnic basket and we drove up to Lookout Point, parked the car and found a good place for lunch and a nice cleared spot for a fire. We ate lunch and then we talked and talked and talked. You were out of my sight only for brief periods of a few minutes when you got more wood for the fire. Then when it grew chilly we drove back to the inn. About six."

Stuart nodded. "That's clear enough, heaven knows. Though if anything is certain it's about. I'm clear forever and no one would ever suspect you of lying."

"I think," Nora said quietly, "someone must. Or why was that picture of Candy sent to me? Finn seemed to believe it was a kind of threat, someone telling me I could not get away with it. And something happened after I went upstairs last night. I've been trying to tell you all day. Someone got in my room and tried to smother me."

He got the story out of her quickly. "You had no idea who it was—assuming that this really happened?"

She shook her head.

"I hate leaving you alone at night," he groaned. "Get your nurse to sleep in your room after this. And we'll be married as soon as the police agree."

"The very first minute," she promised.

It started to sprinkle again and they turned back toward the inn. "I've been thinking, Nora," Stuart said after a pause, "ever since Finn spoke up at lunch today and dropped that bombshell about your new will. It's a mistake and I hope you won't sign it. To begin with, you've given me the whole works and I don't want it. It's you I want. And you are making enemies at a bad time. A very bad time. Mrs. Riddle."

"She bothers you, doesn't she?"

"She sure does both me," Stuart admitted. "She is a shrewd woman in a lot of ways. She has a sort of low cunning, and I don't like those hints she was throwing out about not seeing you that day. How far would she go for money?"

Nora was appalled. "But you're suggesting blackmail!"

"She did see you that day. She must have seen you if she was close enough to see me, as she claims, and to hear me talking to you."

"You try," Nora said, "to make her believe that."

"I intend to."

They had reached the inn. In the parking lot there was a spectacular red Jaguar. "Oh," Nora cried, "I've got to hurry." She pressed his hand, and leaving him, ran across the veranda and into the lobby.

Nora is about to meet Mr. Potter, and Mr. Potter is about to spot some more suspects. Read the next installment of "Run for Your Life" here Monday.

Norway has only four colonies, two in the Arctic and one in the Antarctic. The fourth is tiny Bouvet Island in the south Atlantic Ocean.

AND WHAT WILL THEY FIND INSIDE?

Here's a handsome, happy family marching through the open doors of a church. But what will they find inside? A lovely sanctuary? Perhaps. A congenial group of people? Perhaps. An inspiring sermon and beautiful music? Perhaps. All these they may possibly find inside. But here is what they will certainly find.

- A group of people banded together by a common faith for a common purpose...
- Assurance that there is a God who cares and loves...
- Direction for the perplexities that each day brings...
- A demand to live as God would have them live...
- A cross as the divine source of faith, hope and love...

And if you go to church next Sunday, that's what YOU'LL certainly find too!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL...

ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) Which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to Bible daily.

Miss Nixon, Mr. Pappageorgiou Marry In Greek Orthodox Rites

A candlelight ceremony held in St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Sunday, April 28, at 4 p.m. united Miss Maria P. Nixon and Peter Pappageorgiou in marriage.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Nixon of Greenville and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Pappageorgiou of Greece.

The Rev. George Stefanis of Raleigh officiated at the Greek Orthodox wedding.

Arrangements of white gladioli decorated the church. Fern and white ribbons were placed on the designated pews of the family.

Prior to the entrance of the wedding party, nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Howard Bodkin, organist. Mrs. Ned Kinsaul, soloist, sang "Because."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a full length gown of broad lace and net over tulle. Her shoulder length veil of silk illusion was attached to a tiara of seed pearls.

The bride carried a bouquet of white roses centered with a white orchid.

Mrs. Nurser Mayo was maid of honor. Her gown was of pink net and she carried a bouquet of yellow roses.

Miss Donna Wells was the flower girl. She wore a full length white tulle and net gown. Preceding the bride, she scattered rose petals along the aisle.

Gus Patrons of Roanoke Rapids served as best man. Ushers were Sam Nixon, brother of the bride, John Patrons of Roanoke Rapids, and George Nixon of Greenville.

The bride's mother wore a pink lace dress with pink accessories and a white corsage.

The bridegroom's family were not present at the wedding as they live in Greece.

Immediately following the ceremony members of the wedding party formed a receiving line in the vestibule of the church.

When the couple left for a wedding trip to Tarpon Springs, Florida, the bride chose a brown suit, wearing the orchid lifted from her bridal bouquet.

Mr. Pappageorgiou is a graduate of the Officers School in Greece and served as a lieutenant in the Greek Army. The couple will make their home in Warrenton, N.

Mrs. Peter Pappageorgiou

Wedding Dinner
Gus Hondrs, brother-in-law of the bride, was host at a wedding dinner and dance for the out-of-town guests held at the Woman's Club following the wedding.
One hundred and forty guests attended the dinner-dance including J. E. Rooker, mayor of Warrenton, and the Rev. Lenk, Baptist minister of Warrenton. Other guests included Mr. and Mrs. James Brewer and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Kennedy of Greenville.
Jim Nixon of Charlotte, cousin of the bride, was master of ceremonies for the occasion.

Local Jr. Woman's Club Wins Three Certificates Of Merit

The last business meeting of the Junior Woman's Club year was held at the Woman's Club Wednesday night, with Mrs. R. D. Harrington Jr., president, presiding.

Mrs. James Bond and Mrs. Hoyt Naron gave a full report of their trip to High Point on May 2-3 to represent the Greenville Junior Woman's Club at the N. C. Federation of Women's Clubs annual convention.

They brought back three certificates of merit for the local club, the Clothing Closet, for 2,954 articles of clothing turned over to the Pitt County Welfare Department for distribution; Communications, for an outstanding annual report, and public relations through press, radio, and TV; and Caswell Training School, for old magazines, Sunday school pamphlets, Christmas cards, records, a used record player, radio-record player console, pool table, Hallows and Christmas favors, plus $160 for children at the school who receive no spending money from home.

Again this year the club voted to send a girl scout to Camp Hardy for two weeks. Mrs. Quinten Avery is chairman of this committee, with Mrs. Herbert Wilkerson and Mrs. Worth Baker assisting.

The annual banquet and installation of officers, with husbands as guests, will be held on May 15 at the Silo Restaurant. The club year will be closed with a picnic for club members and their children on June 5, at 10:30 a.m. at Elm St. Park.

Guest for the evening was Miss Lizzie Dean. Mrs. C. T. Fleming Jr. and Mrs. Don Carson served refreshments after the business meeting.

Delta Kappa Gamma Delegates To State Convention Discuss Meet

Reports from Delta Kappa Gamma State Convention held last weekend in Pinehurst were heard Thursday night at a meeting of Delta Chapter in the Mamie E. Jenkins Alumni House on East Carolina College campus.

Miss Mary Thomas Smith, president of the local honor society, Mrs. Luther B. Herring, newly-elected State president of the organization, Miss Frances Wahl, and Miss Eunice McGee gave an account of the State meeting.

Mrs. Howard Mims, the corresponding secretary of the State organization, extended an invitation to members of the Delta Chapter to attend a tea at her home—1810 Forest Hills Drive—on Friday, May 17, honoring State President Herring. Mrs. Mabel Lacy Hall will be co-hostess.

Miss Alice Strawn presented a silver bowl to Miss Ona Shindler, one of the twelve charter members of Delta Chapter, who is retiring from Greenville High School at the end of the present school year.

Miss Annie Mae Murray gave a talk entitled "Living Ideals." Miss Louise Galphin, chairman of the Social Committee, was in charge of the buffet supper. She was assisted by the following members of her committee: Miss Christine Johnston, Miss Deane Boone Haskett, Miss Estelle Greene, and Mrs. Sally Kilgenschmitt, Mrs. Edith Worthington and Mrs. Louella Standell.

Announce Engagement

MISS JOY ANN HAYES—is the daughter of Mrs. Minnie G. Hayes of Rocky Mount and Mr. Mark J. Hayes of Spring Hope, who announce the engagement of their daughter to B. Hilton Quinn, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Hilton Quinn of Greenville.

PALKLAND—Saturday evening, April 27th, Mrs. Percy Stancill was honored at her home with a miscellaneous stork shower by her mother, Mrs. R. R. Baker, Mrs. Jessie Peaden and Mrs. Louise Langley.

The house was decorated with arrangements of red and white roses and white narcissus. Refreshments consisted of chicken salad sandwiches, toasted pecans, minis, pickles and Coca-Cola.

"Children Need Discipline," Says Mrs. Carroll At Luncheon

"The city of Greenville gives rank 44 in per capita income, our Mr. Rose eight and one-third cents per student per day," pointed out Mrs. Ellen Carroll, supervisor of the Elementary Schools of Greenville, at the May Fellowship luncheon of the Greenville Council of Church Women held yesterday at St. James Methodist Church.

"We will need to sacrifice in order to accommodate the large number of children who will be enrolling in the Greenville schools in the next few years," stressed Mrs. Carroll.

Choosing as her topic, "Free Schools in a Free America," she informed the approximately 50 women who were in attendance of the problems and conditions of the children, parents, and school buildings in Greenville today.

"At the present time we are 13 classrooms short in the Greenville schools," she explained, adding, "The new high school building will partially take care of this problem."

Mrs. Carroll then listed four future needs in the schools: another wing on the Elmhurst school, an East wing on C. M. Eppes High School, another wing on South Greenville school, and a lunchroom at Fleming Street school.

North Carolina ranks 46 in the number of pupils per teacher, we work at and solve; that the best things in life are free; and that public property is a freedom which they have and must cherish."

In closing, Mrs. Carroll said, "Children will not develop their possibilities without discipline — and parents should want their children to go back to living by the Ten Commandments."

Mrs. Helen Sermons, president of the Greenville Council of Church Women, introduced the speaker.

Prior to the meeting, the St. James Methodist Church women were hostesses to a covered dish luncheon. Mrs. E. W. Larkin said grace. Individual tables were centered with various arrangements of spring flowers.

Mrs. Sermons opened the meeting with a discussion of several bills before the Senate at the present time that are aimed at abolishing obscene literature from the public newsstands. She urged all women to write their Senator and Representatives — "and go down and look at what is displayed at the stands."

Mrs. James Keel gave the devotional and led the group in singing, responsive reading, and the benediction.

Half of the offering collected at the luncheon will be sent to the state office and the remainder will be put in the Greenville Church Women's treasury.

Births

Bradshaw
Born to Lt. and Mrs. Harvey D. Bradshaw of Havelock, a son, Harvey Deakins Jr., on April 30.

To The Taxpayers of Greenville:

Dear Friends:

I have lived in Greenville for 37 years and I believe I can be of great help to you, the taxpayers. When I came to Greenville it was a small town. For the last 15 years it has grown to be a large city, and naturally being in the plumbing business my business has grown with it. I am familiar with all the utilities, water sewer and gas lines; also the new annexes and streets. I am owner of the Electric Suppliers which is managed by my son-in-law, Frank Strawn, and I am a plumber and heating contractor and work around 12 hours every day. I would say that I am a successful business man which both of our local banks will acknowledge. I would say that a large majority of the taxpayers of Greenville know me and if you don't, ask your next door neighbor or your pastor or call your banker, he will know me. Having been here for 37 years and having grown with the city, I feel from the experience I have had, that I should offer my services to the taxpayers. My work is spread all over town, and having to look after my work naturally makes it easy for me to see just what is going on, and I see so many things that should be done for you, the taxpayer.

I am an active member of the Memorial Baptist Church and I am on the Board of Trustees of Chowan College, a Mason and a Shriner, having both Scottish Rite and York Rite ways. I have always been conservative, but I believe in having everything you need if you are able. It has always been my motto to give as much for just as little as possible. So I am asking you, the taxpayer, when you go to the polls to vote for 5 good business men, to give me your support. If I am elected, I will do everything in my power to give the taxpayer full value for every tax dollar you pay. Be sure you are registered and vote in the city election to be held on May 7th. Thank you very much.

Greenville Book Clubs Meet

Mrs. Edwards Tells Life Of Joel Chandler

Joel Chandler Harris and his Uncle Remus stories were the topics of Mrs. Jack R. Edwards' talk before the Inter Se Club on Tuesday afternoon when Mrs. Fred Irons was hostess at her home on Eighth Street.

As an introduction Mrs. Edwards read "Brother Rabbit Breaks up a Party" and gave Uncle Remus version of "The creetur—mo' seshually ole Brer Rabbit." She then outlined briefly the life of Joel Chandler Harris, showing the effect Turnwood Plantation in Georgia had on his literary career.

After a short business session presided over by the president, Mrs. David Evans, Mrs. Irons invited her guests into the dining room for refreshments. She was assisted in serving by Mrs. P. D. Duncan and Mrs. Sam Underwood.

Mrs. W. M. Howard Jr. and Mrs. W. E. Marshall were special guests for the afternoon.

Arrangements of roses were used to decorate the home for this occasion.

Round Table Attends Program

The members of the Round Table Book Club were guests of Miss Lella Higgs at the Animated Magazine Luncheon on Saturday.

Phases of the fine arts, past, present and future, were discussed by each of the speakers as they turned a page of the "Animated Magazine."

Mrs. L. M. Buchanan, Mrs. A. A. Hines and Mrs. L. V. Carr were special guests.

Life of Welk Told At Book Club Meet

BETHEL—Mrs. K. E. Manning was hostess to the Sallie Tucker Book Club Friday.

Mrs. Manning introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. S. C. Whitehurst, who discussed the life of Lawrence Welk, his interest in music during childhood, his success in music, his liberal contributions for charity, and the fame he has won in the television world. Mrs. Manning served a ham and vegetable luncheon with biscuit, tea and cake.

Grifton Couple Club Met Tuesday

GRIFTON—Mr. and Mrs. Don Casey were hosts to their couple club on Tuesday night at their home on Queen Street. Purple and white iris decorated the rooms in which the guests were received. During the progressions high scores were compiled by Mrs. Conrad Hart and George Gardner Surg.

A sandwich plate with brownies and iced drinks served. Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Hart, Mr. and Mrs. Suggs, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Holcomb and Mrs. W. E. Raspberry.

Miss Hobbs Feted At Party

Entertains Thalian Club

Mrs. E. B. Aycock entertained members of the Thalian Book Club at a luncheon on April 16 in her new home in Brookgreen.

Arrangements of mixed spring flowers decorated the home throughout, and pink and white azaleas formed the centerpiece for the dining room table.

After the luncheon, Mrs. Aycock, president, presided over a brief business session, at which time a Nominating Committee was appointed. She then turned the meeting over to Mrs. Charles Gaskins, who was in charge of the program.

Mrs. Gaskins introduced the speaker, Mrs. J. B. Spilman, who reviewed the book "No Wings in the Manse."

At the conclusion of the program, books were exchanged and the meeting adjourned.

W.C.T.U. Meets, Continues Study

BETHEL—Mrs. M. T. Whitehurst and Mrs. C. E. Brown were hostesses to the Woman's Christian Temperance Union in the home of the former Monday afternoon.

The president, Mrs. R. L. Whiteley, called the meeting to order and presided. The group sang in unison "Onward Christian Soldiers," followed with prayer led by Miss Athelton Rollins. The scripture lesson concerning the "Risen Lord" was given by Mrs. Brown. The program, Mrs. J. P. Harris in charge, was a continuation of the study of the book "The Christian's Case For Abstinence." Several sermons were reviewed.

Concluding the program, Mrs. Whiteley read articles from "The White Ribbon and Union Signal," including "Personal Feelings."

The meeting dismissed by saying the Aeonian benediction.

The hostess served sherbert, angel food cake, pickle chips and salted nuts to the 12 members.

Mrs. Raspberry Entertained Club

GRIFTON—Mrs. W. E. Raspberry entertained on Thursday night of last week at her home on Queen Street at a party with guests members of her contract club. In the living room where the tables were placed, bouquets of iris formed the decorations. Mrs. Edward Hart and Mrs. Kenneth Talton received the high score prizes.

At the refreshment hour the hostess served a salad plate with

Piano Recitals
Virginia Belle Cooper will present her piano students in three recitals. May 7, at 8 o'clock the Primary and Elementary pupils will give their program of music. May 9 the high school students, and Sunday afternoon, May 12, at 5 o'clock the senior piano pupils will give their recital.

Student Pianists In Recital Sunday

Miss Mattie Hobbs, bride-elect of the summer, was honored Friday evening when Dr. Audrey V. Dempsey entertained at the Faculty Apartments at the college.

Arrangements of red roses were used throughout the living rooms, and small arrangements were placed on each of the tables from which the guests were served a dessert course of ice cream, bridal cakes, cheese biscuits, salted nuts, and coffee. Miss Hobbs' place was marked by a corsage of white carnations.

Miss Hobbs, who will marry Mac E. Mason of Winston-Salem, was showered with many lovely gifts.

Student Pianists In Recital Sunday

Frances Earle Johnson of Roanoke Rapids, sophomore at East Carolina College, will appear in a recital of works for the piano Sunday at 8 p.m. in the Austin auditorium. Miss Johnson is one of a small group of students chosen by faculty members of the department of music to give honors programs during the school year. The public is invited to be present.

The student pianist holds two scholarships awarded to her by the State Federation of Music Clubs because of her performances in district and state contests. These are the Rennie Williamson and the Crosby Adams scholarships.

Included on Sunday's program will be the Concerto in F Major and three preludes and fugues by Bach; Beethoven's Sonata, opus 10, no. 1; Schubert's Impromptu in A Flat; and the Concert Etude by MacDowell.

Miss Johnson is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roland Johnson of Roanoke Rapids and a graduate of the high school in her home town.

Eighth Grade Visits Raleigh

BETHEL—Mrs. W. C. Latham, history teacher in Bethel High School, accompanied the eighth grade on a trip to Raleigh.

There were 31 boys and girls, who went by automobiles driven by Mrs. J. R. Highsmith, the eighth grade homeroom teacher, Clifton Everette, Mrs. J. B. Stewart, Mrs. Calvin Briley, Mrs. James Grandell, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Rollins, Mrs. Julian C. Smith, and a student teacher, Lowell Everett. Upon arriving in Raleigh, they visited the Hall of History, the Governor's Mansion, and the Museum. The group visited the Capitol and observed the Senate in session.

Dr. Paul Jones, Pitt County senator, gave them recognition and Gov. Hodges talked with them. After leaving the Capitol, they toured the News and Observer Building, passed the Andrew Johnson Home and visited Pullen Park.

Criticism, Yes; But No Politics

It is not in the interest of Greenville or any other community that its post of city manager be made a political football.

It is indeed unfortunate, and certainly not in the best interest of Greenville, that an attempt has been made to thrust the office of city manager into a

The Good And Bad Are To Be Remembered

It is not completely honest to remember only the good works done by a man while he was alive.

It is important that we should not forget at least a portion of the questionable acts of men who have passed away. We should remember those questionable accomplishments as we remember the virtues, if for no other reason than the lessons they can teach us.

These things have been called to mind by the death of Senator Joseph R. McCarthy. There are few men in American history who have created the turbulence that this man created. He is one of only a half-dozen or so who have been censured by his colleagues in the United States Senate.

Yet, the battles McCarthy fought and the enemies he made were forgotten when his death was announced. The same men in the Senate who censured him remembered him as "fighting patriot . . . courageous fighter . . . man of strong convictions . . . fine fellow."

No one mentioned the dirty work created to describe techniques used by McCarthy. No one remembered the "smear technique" he made popular. And no one would speak of the character assassination that was a regular part of McCarthy's investigative operations.

It is important that we remember these things. We should remember "McCarthyism" and all its facets—and keep them uppermost in our minds. There is no room for them in our democratic way of life and we should remember them to keep others who might become new McCarthys from foisting themselves on the American people.

Joseph McCarthy created some good in his life—all men do. But he also created evil ways and actions. We should remember them all, if we are to do justice to his memory and to our American heritage.

political scrap.

The Reflector sincerely hopes that City Manager Leonard Bloxam will reconsider the resignation he offered yesterday to the City Council. We trust he will continue to serve the people of Greenville as city manager as he has done so ably during the past 15 months.

It is our considered opinion that during the 15 months since Leonard Bloxam became city manager in Greenville, the city has had the most efficient, most progressive administration in its history. On every hand there are evidences of more careful city planning, closer coordination and greater cooperation between the various departments and agencies of the city. As a result of these things, local taxpayers have received a greater return in the form of services for each and every tax dollar. The pace of Greenville's progress has shown a marked increase.

Any individual who holds public office, elective or appointive, political or non-political, must and does expect criticism of his work because of the very nature of the position he holds. At the same time, it is not in the best interest of any community for the position of city manager to become involved in local politics, just as it is not in the interest of the city for the heads or employees of other municipal departments to become involved in politics.

We not only admire Leonard Bloxam for his capable administration of city affairs during the past 15 months; we admire him equally as much for his constant efforts to stay out of political wrangling which has gone on in Greenville.

It is our hope that the five men elected to Greenville's City Council in Tuesday's election will be the calibre men who will prevent the city manager's position from being made a political football. It is our hope also that Leonard Bloxam will continue in the post of city manager to administer the city government operations in the capable, efficient and progressive manner he has during the past 15 months.

Tar Heel Toast Is Now Official

By LYNN NISBET

TOAST — It's official now. The long familiar toast written more than 50 years ago by Mrs. Leonard (Henry C.) Martin, beginning with "Here's to the Land of the Long Leaf Pine," has been set to music by Mrs. Mary Burke Kerr, dedicated and contributed to the children of North Carolina. It was adopted as the official toast of North Carolina by the General Assembly this week after a group of girls from the Clinton school sang it in both houses. There were no dissenting votes.

All four verses of Mrs. Martin's toast were included in the official adoption, but only the first is familiar and only it may be commonly accepted as "official" in later years. It was brought out in Senate discussion of the bill that the official song, adopted in 1927 originally had five verses, but only three are used, and only the first is commonly known.

Adoption of the official toast brings to mind some other acts of the General Assembly designating official insignia or symbols.

GREAT SEAL — The Great Seal of the State was adopted in 1889, concurrently with ratification of the constitution. It portrays two female figures, one called Liberty and the other called Plenty, facing each other against a background which varies in structure with almost every printing of the seal. Unchangeable features are the figures of Liberty and Plenty, the words "The Great Seal of the State of North Carolina" and the motto "Esse Quam Videri" — which is Latin for "To be rather than to seem" and the date May 20, 1775, were added in 1893.

FLAG — The State Flag was adopted in 1885 and has not been changed since, despite some attempts to remove the May 20, 1775, date from it. The act specifies the flag shall consist of a blue union with a white star in the center, with gilt letters N and C on each side. Gilt scrolls above and below the star shall bear in black letters the dates May 20, 1775, and April 12, 1776. The first commemorating the Mecklenburg Declaration and the other the Halifax Resolves.

The fly of the flag shall consist of horizontal bars, red on top, white below, the "length of the bars horizontally shall be equal to the perpendicular length of the union, and the total length of the flag shall be one-third more than its width." Apparently there isn't much "flag code" for the State banner. In 1907 the Legislature provided that the flag shall be displayed above or behind the judge's stand in every courthouse, and the State flag shall be displayed at each term of court held and on such other public occasions as the commissioners deem proper.

It is also required that the flag be displayed atop all public buildings at all times except inclement weather, and shall be dropped to half-staff upon the death of any State officer or "any prominent citizen."

SONG — The General Assembly of 1927 formally adopted as the official State song "The Old North State," which had been written many years before by Judge William Gaston, with music arranged by Mrs. E. E. Randolph.

The song contains five stanzas and all were included in the adoption. Custom has been to use only the first three, and only the first is familiar to most people.

FLOWER — Prior to 1941 various women's clubs and other civic groups had designated the goldenrod or the ox-eye daisy as the State flower. The Legislature of 1941 officially adopted the Dogwood, after considerable debate among advocates of goldenrod and flame azalea.

BIRD — The Legislature of 1943 made the Cardinal the official State bird. That was not the first legal bird for North Carolina. On May 8, 1933, a bill was ratified designating the Carolina Chickadee as the official bird. There was such furor among bird lovers and so much ridicule by the press of the "tom-tit" legislature, an act repealing the original was ratified on May 15, 1933. For a period of one week the Chickadee held the title.

Numerous polls were taken among club memberships and by newspapers and in high schools to select an appropriate bird. Sentiment had built up so strongly for the Cardinal that the 1943 session adopted it by formal act ratified on March 4, 1943.

COLORS — Two years later the 1945 session determined that the official colors of North Carolina should be the Red and Blue of "shades appearing in the North Carolina State Flag and the United States Flag. There was some half-hearted effort to adopt the shades of red and blue which are the colors of State College and the University of Chapel Hill, but the patriotic flag lovers won the argument.

The State now has a Great Seal, a Flag, a Motto, a Song, a Flower, a Bird and a Toast officially adopted by statute.

Strength For Today

By EARL L. DOUGLASS

FORGET IT!

The words, "take no thought," were constantly on the lips of Jesus. He urged men to take no thought about what they should eat or drink or wear. He conveyed the impression that as soon as we begin worrying about how life is to be lived and what is going to happen to us, and where we are to go from here, then a series of complications set in which destroy both happiness and efficiency.

Our food digests best if we eat sensibly and give no thought to the digestive process. A person can easily work himself into a state of great dismay if he listens to his heart pounding at night and once in a while missing a beat. Certainly, he argues, he will be in a hospital tomorrow and in his grave a few days later.

All of which, of course, is nonsense, as the doctors are continually telling us. Most of the physical process by which health is maintained operate nicely apart from our consciousness. We hardly know we are breathing. The blood courses through our veins and we are unconscious of the important and vital functions it performs. The less we think about our hearts, the more satisfactory they will perform.

Let nature take its course. Avoid morbid preoccupation of mind.

"The centipede was happy quite until a toad in fun said, 'Pray, which leg goes after which?'"

That worked her mind to such a pitch. She lay distracted in a ditch, considering how to run."

Stories Of Another May

A Trade Secret:

If you should ever become enmeshed in writing a newspaper column, and the old spring of material runs dry, then look into the files and muse on the news of yesterday.

One runs into stories forgotten in the rush of time; stories that make for interesting reading thirty years later. So let's look back into the May issues of The Daily Reflector for a good month then, a good month now.

A city election re-instated J. E. Lanier as mayor, and Aldermen John Ivey Smith, H. Waldrop, J. H. Boyd, J. K. Brown, J. E. Dees and Dr. Paul Fitzgerald. Only one change resulted when P. L. Goodson defeated incumbent R. E. Sellers. Not a whole lot of voting interest was evidenced.

The Rotary Club paid off the indebtedness on its building and the occasion was celebrated by a bonfire of all notes, bonds and mortgages involved.

Greenville runners beat Washington in the annual relay race between the two towns. Runners began at the Pitt Court House and team members were stationed each quarter mile. One hundred and eighty boys took part. The final relay of the Greenville team finished ahead of his Washington rival by about 100 yards. Time: one hour and forty-seven minutes. Washington had won the two preceding races.

A car driven by J. E. White, of Greenville, fell through a hole in the Tar River bridge and landed on the bank below. A portion of the bridge had been removed for repairs, and the driver (suffering minor injuries) said he had been blinded by lights of an oncoming vehicle and crashed through the barrier.

High winds and hail cost local farmers an estimated $100,000 crop loss of May 11. Small buildings were wrecked and two people injured.

Local collections for the Red Cross flood relief fund reached $1,849 by the end of May. The money was destined for thousands of homeless in Louisiana where the Mississippi has been on the rampage for nearly two months.

It was dry. Weather observer B. T. Clark reported that in twenty-seven days Greenville and vicinity had only 1.72 inches of rainfall; most of that accompanied the wind and hail storm previously mentioned. Farmers were deeply concerned.

Wire service stories were making big headlines about Captain Charles Lindbergh's trans-Atlantic flight and lavish reception by France; Ruth Snyder and Henry Judd Gray were found guilty of first degree murder in the slaying of Mrs. Snyder's husband, Albert; two French aviators were lost in an attempted Atlantic flight; a Fundamental convention in Atlanta mapped a movement for anti-evolution legislation; British and Chinese were still exchanging shots in and around Shanghai.

In a nutshell, that was May, 1927.

Opinions In Brief

MITCHELLVILLE, IOWA. INDEX: "Time was when people thought a great deal about flood control, thinking that it required huge multipurpose dams costing an incredible sum of tax money. One authority says that big-scale flood control, in case after case, can be better effected at vastly lower cost, by small upstream dams. And the whole theory of upstream flood prevention can be expressed in a phrase—catch the raindrops where they fall. The big dams perhaps are wanted for other purposes than flood control."

Selection Of 5 'Best' Senators

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — "The Senate is about to select the five greatest and most effective members of that body," notes Mrs. L. H. of Roswell, N.M. "Instead of the choices made by the professors whom Senator Kennedy has circled, I would like your opinion. As a veteran Washington reporter, whom do you favor?"

Answer: Let me say first that Mrs. L. H.'s confidence may be misplaced. I have covered the Senate so closely for 37 years that I may be prejudiced in favor of the moderns because I have known and admired them.

If I were to name the two most honest and effective "stalemen" on Capitol Hill in the last 50 years, they would have to be the late George W. Norris of Nebraska, and the late Fiorello Henry La Guardia of New York, an influential House Member for many years and subsequently a three-term Mayor of New York. Here I admit prejudice because both were my good friends. OUTSTANDING LEGISLATORS La Guardia never sat in the Senate. Norris did, and he is among my five finest.

The others are Daniel Webster of Massachusetts, Thomas Hart Benton of Missouri, Robert A. Taft of Ohio and Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan. Running close behind them would be Charles Glass of Virginia, William Edgar Borah of Idaho, Iram Johnson of California and Robert La Follette, Sr. of Wisconsin.

Webster and Henry Clay run neck-and-neck as compromisers who postponed the Civil War until the North's industrial and railroad supremacy enabled that section to prevail. But Webster had a harder time in mollifying Northern abolitionists than Clay did in soothing the Southerners. Both were equally prophetic in foreseeing and preparing for this country's international role and responsibilities.

PROBANKS AND industrial interests when they failed to send him his monthly check. But ethical standards were different then. He would probably be expelled today.

Abraham Lincoln saved the Union, but it would have been far less extensive country had it not been for Senator Benton. More strikingly than any other American, he and his son-in-law, General John Charles Fremont, the Republicans' 1856 Presidential candidate, saw and explored the value of the West. They may have saved that rich territory from Spanish or Russian settlement and conquest.

I do not name Norris because of his advocacy of a public power empire. I nominate him because of his successful fight on political bossism, ever since he toppled "Boss" Cannon's dictatorial dynasty in the House in 1910. There is more independent thinking and voting now, as vast shifts in the electorate prove, because Norris dared to break with his Party, legislatively and politically. And the greatest danger to democracy is the boss system in politics.

TAFT AND VANDENBERG Robert A. Taft's name ranks high, in my opinion, because he held the fort, sometimes almost alone, against the more extreme thrusts of Roosevelt-Truman radicalism. He dared to be unpopular when he thought he was right. I think that today's philosophy of "moderation," which exists in both major Parties, is due largely to the Ohioan's influence.

No Senator in my time at Washington grew in stature and effectiveness as did Arthur Vandenberg, erstwhile newspaper publisher. With one speech and less personal activity, he converted the GOP from an isolationist to an international philosophy. And "Van" reached his solemn conclusion through heart-breaking arguments and wrestling with himself.

Had he lived, he, not Eisenhower, might be sitting in the White House today.

Rules Shifting Sands

By JOHN BARBOUR
AP Newsfeatures

For the 21-year-old ruler of Jordan, the lesson of his father is clear: He who rules the shifting sands must be brother to the wind.

Young King Hussein is monarch of a kingdom of sand. Today some part of Jordan blows into Syria or Iraq or Saudi Arabia or Israel. Tomorrow, perhaps, it blows back.

Jordan's boundaries are unmarked and, like the sands, slave to the winds of political desire. Her life as a nation can be traced only to 1922 and her rulers in the past have been propped up by the strength of Britain.

Eager Neighbors The eagerness of neighbors to replace Britain as "king-maker" for Jordan was one of the main factors in stirring up the dissident winds that threaten to blow Jordan apart.

Hussein's power lies under the black tents of the Bedouins, the wandering desert people who are the backbone of his tough Arab Legion and who number Hussein among their own because he is of the Hashemite clan, rulers of Mecca for 38 generations.

Hussein's weakness is in the cities where Palestinian refugees riot and mob — feeling no allegiance to the Hashemite king and harboring a hatred for Israel which they say stole their homes. Hussein will not likely forget his own violent ascension to the throne. His grandfather, a Bedouin chief, was shot to death by a refugee while Hussein walked at his side. One of the bullets tore Hussein's uniform. Hussein's father became king but lasted less than a year, deposed because of his erratic behavior.

Playboy King A 17-year-old schoolboy, Hussein took over the job in 1953. At first he seemed more like his father than anyone else. He had a passion for Italian spaghetti, liked fast cars, fast planes and fast company.

But in the last year, the character of Hussein's grandfather has come out again.

First, apparently irked by talk that the British controlled Jordan, he fired British Lt. Gen. John Bagot Glubb, the man who had built the Arab Legion into the Middle East's toughest fighting force.

In doing so, he lost the fat British subsidy that enabled his nation to exist — primarily as a British military island.

Then he took off a minor rebellion by dismissing the man he had named chief of staff of the Legion — a man, he said, who had sympathies with neighboring Red-tipped Syria.

Last month he raced by car through the desert to an army base where he leaped on a tank and challenged his troops to shoot him if they would not follow him. He won their allegiance.

He attacked Egypt and Syria as being the pawns of international communism and told Egypt to stop stirring up the mobs who prowled the streets of Jordan.

These were all bold, independent acts, designed to hold Jordan together by the only means Hussein has — the Arab Legion and the fabled courage and authority of his family.

Even Glubb, fired by Hussein, conceded that the young King "has got it in him" and "will be quite a remarkable man when he reaches middle age."

He may or may not live that long.

Text Of Bloxam's Letter Of Resignation To Council

EDITOR'S NOTE: The complete text of City Manager Leonard Bloxam's letter of resignation to the Greenville City Council is as follows:

Honorable Mayor W.L. Whedbee and City Councilmen Greenville, North Carolina Gentlemen:

It is with much regret that I feel that I should write this letter at this time. First, let me say that the three years that I have lived in Greenville have been most enjoyable ones. It has been three years of genuine pleasure, in trying to serve the people of this community. I accepted the position here May 1, 1954, as Superintendent of the Utilities Commission. I have tried, to the best of my ability to execute this particular position in an honorable, up-right way, taking at all times into consideration the best over-all interest of the people of this community as a whole. I have tried at all times to make no exceptions and to deal fairly, honestly, and squarely with each and every problem that arose, in a manner which would be becoming to anyone. During that time, I feel that the Utilities Commission has made some progress. I also recognize that we are not perfect and that we have a lot of improvements yet, to make. I feel that the Commission is one of the greatest assets to this community, and will be through the years to come.

In executing my work with the Commission, it has been possible to make a few savings that I feel have been worthwhile to the general public as a whole. For instance the electric rates have been reduced one time, at a total saving of approximately $70,000 annually to the people in the area which we serve. We have recently completed additional water sources, at a saving of approximately $400,000 to the people of this community; and just this year, although the amount is small, through quite extensive studies on my behalf and the department heads of the Utilities Commission, we were able to make a saving of $8,000 a year on fuel, which is burnt at the Power Plant. We also are making additional studies—looking into the future, to try and see where we can come up with a program that will render a better, more desirable, complete and over all service to the people of this community, and the members of the Utilities Commission desire to make "Service our most important product".

February 11th, a year ago, I was asked by the present Governing Body to serve as City Manager. This has, indeed, been a pleasure. It has been a privilege to be able to further serve the people of this community. Again, I have tried at all times to put selfish, personal interests aside and deal with matters only in the best interest of the community as a whole. Any and all recommendations that have been made to the Governing Body have been made on this basis, at any and all times trying to keep in mind each individual's position, feeling, and the effect each recommendation would have on each and every one.

I also realize that it is impossible to, at all times, satisfy everyone, especially in a community as progressive and as large as the one in which we work.

When I accepted the job in the dual capacity as City Manager and Superintendent of Utilities, I accepted it with the feeling that in doing so, I might in some small way enhance the making of Greenville a better city in which to live. I have striven at all times to keep this foremost in my mind. Also, in accepting this job, I asked the Governing Body to please let the position of City Manager stay as non-political as possible. I do not pretend to be a politician. I do not want anything to do with the political aspects of the community, the political desires, or, in any way be accused of catering to any one individual, or small group. As I stated before, anything I have tried to do, I tried to do in the best interest of the community as a whole.

Since one of the candidates running for political office in this next election of May 7th has seen fit to make the position I hold as City Manager somewhat of a "political football", to criticize the present Manager unjustly and in a manner unbecoming to any candidate running for office, and in view of the fact that I was well pleased before accepting the position of City Manager (and in accepting this additional duty, did so at a sacrifice not only to myself personally, but to my family), I would appreciate the Honorable Mayor and Council accepting, this date, my resignation as City Manager, and allowing me to continue my former activities as Superintendent of Utilities, working for the best interest of the Utilities Commission and the people of Greenville as a whole, as I was doing, had done, and will continue to do before accepting the position as City Manager.

I want, also, to take this opportunity to thank each and every Department Head of the City for their untiring efforts, their support and loyalty, not only to me, but to the people of this community; for their sincere interest in trying to make Greenville a model community and a better city in which to live; for seeking at all times to solve problems, to be understanding of difficulties, to reach out and make improvements, studies, and recommendations in the best interest of the general public as a whole. This has, indeed, been a wonderful relationship and it is with much regret that I ask that this pleasure should cease.

To the people of Greenville, I will continue to serve you as Superintendent of Utilities to the best interest of all concerned, striving at all times to make a model operation of our Utilities Commission, to bring to you nothing but the finest of service, to at all times try to improve and better the operation, and, in any way possible, reduce cost in such a way that it can be passed on to the individual user.

Again I want to thank the Mayor and Council for their splendid cooperation the past fifteen months, for the manner in which they have worked with me, cooperated with me, and listened to my problems and recommendations, and considered the activities of this community. They have at all times been honorable, good business men and put nothing but the best code of ethics in effect, in trying to carry out their activities. It has been a genuine pleasure to serve with them and I regret that I find it necessary to relinquish these duties at this time.

Also, my deep and sincere appreciation and thanks go out to every interested citizen.

Yours very truly,
Leonard P. Bloxam
City Manager

On Saturday, May 11th, the First Presbyterian Church will be 66 years old. The church was organized with nine charter members. The Sunday school was organized in 1894 with eight pupils and two teachers.

Christian Science Society
How sin and suffering are destroyed through spiritual understanding of Christ, Truth, will be explained at Christian Science services Sunday.

Scriptural readings in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Everlasting Punishment" will include the following: Lamentations (3:39-41); "Wherefore doth a living man complain, a man for the punishment of his sins? Let us search and try our ways, and turn again to the Lord. Let us lift up our heart with our hands unto God in the heavens." Correlative selections to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy include the following (391:13): "It is error to suffer for aught but your own sins. Christ, or Truth, will destroy all other supposed suffering, and real suffering for your own sins will cease in proportion as the sin ceases."

PETITION

TO: The Honorable W. L. Whedbee and the Citizens of Greenville

Our Greenville has always been a good town and city in which to live for which we are very thankful. We sincerely believe that during your four years as our mayor you have done an outstanding job of helping make Greenville a finer place in which to live. Much has been accomplished but the work is not done.

We therefore urge you to allow us to write in your name in Tuesday's election for a place on our City Council. We not only urge that you allow us to do this but that you will actively help us carry on a campaign in your behalf.

Citizens of Greenville, it has been impossible for us to contact all of you. We urge you to write in the name W. L. Whedbee on the Ballot and put an X immediately to the left of his name. In so doing, we believe you will be rendering yourselves and city a great service. Do not vote for more than five. If you do, your vote will not count.

East Carolina Whips NC State 5-4, Bows To Catawba

A crowd of 3,000 fans turned out despite cold weather and rain, to see East Carolina nip North Carolina State's baseballers 5-4 at Guy Smith Stadium last night.

Ben Baker, sophomore left-hander from Zebulon, went the full nine innings for ECC and gave up only seven scattered hits to the Wolfpack. He struck out nine batters.

The Pirates rallied in the first, scored again in the fifth and finally in the seventh to secure the narrow victory. State scored their runs in the second and the fifth frames.

East Carolina scored the winning run in the seventh on three consecutive singles. Joel Long and Berny Stevens hit in succession, and a smash through shortstop by first baseman Dean Robbins scored Long. State was unable to come back.

Fast ECC Start
Coach Jim Mallory's Pirates stunned the huge crowd and State's Wolfpack in the first inning with a three-run assault that put them ahead early. Baker put the Pack down one-two-three and the ECC offensive went to work.

The same combination of batters that brought in the winning Pirate started the scoring. Outfielder Berny Stevens shared State Pitcher Don Hafer for a single, Robbins tapped him for another. Bucky Reep was hit by a pitched ball to load the bases. Tommy Nance, freshman outfielder from Greensboro, rapped a long double into rightfield to score all three runners. ECC had a 3-0 lead.

State picked up one run in the second inning on a walk and a hit by outfielder Jim Hill.

State Takes Lead
The Wolfpack exploded for three big runs in the fifth inning to tie the score. The visitors turned four hits and a wild throw into tallies. Dennis Bradshaw got on a fielder's choice. Dick Hunter walked. Wyant, Kennel and Hafer collected hits to score two of the runs. Then, third baseman Jim Creechmore singled and a wild throw to first advanced each man two bases. Another score came across, making it 4-3.

A fifteen-minute argument followed that play. Two State runners crossed the plate but one was ordered back to third because of the two-base-advance rule.

The Bucs tied it 4-4 on a walk, two hit batsmen and a sacrifice fly to the centerfielder.

There was no more scoring then, until ECC's final run in the seventh. State changed pitchers in the eighth when ECC threatened again, but Hafer received credit for the loss.

A STATEMENT FROM

S. EUGENE WEST
Candidate For Re-election
To The City Council

In this Campaign I make but one promise. It applies equally to every citizen of Greenville. If Re-elected I shall give my best and most conscientious service to see that Greenville has EFFICIENT, PROGRESSIVE and IMPARTIAL city government. I will continue to hold an open mind on all public issues, shall listen with respect and due consideration to opinions on both sides of every question, and after careful examination of all available information I will cast a well informed vote in all matters concerning the city of Greenville; a vote which shall be in the best interest of the citizens of Greenville as a whole.

Your VOTE and SUPPORT will be appreciated.

ECC-NC STATE ACTION—In East Carolina's 5-4 victory over NC State last night, the over-flow crowd saw these scenes: LEFT—Tommy Nance, Pirate outfielder, rounds first base after smacking out a three-run double in the first inning. CENTER—Joel Long, currently pacing the Bucs with a .375 batting average and four home runs, foul tips a pitch into the dirt. Against Catawba yesterday afternoon, he poled a 400-foot homer, though ECC lost 7-3. RIGHT—In the fifth inning, a fifteen-minute argument stopped the game's action, as State's coach Vic Sorrell and several State players descended upon the umpires to question a decision. The Umpires won, of course. (Reflector Sports Photos by Billy Arnold).

Catawba's Indians invaded College Field yesterday and walked away with a 7-3 victory over the league-leading East Carolina Pirates.

The loss was ECC's third in twelve games and dropped them 1/2 game off the top of the North State Conference lead.

Catawba shelled ECC's Bruce Shelley and Leonard Lilley for 13 hits and pushed across runs in the second, fifth, seventh and eighth innings. Shelley was the losing hurler.

The Pirates managed eight hits off Catawba moundman George Schneider—including Joel Long's fourth home run of the season—but couldn't convert them into enough runs to overcome the Indians.

East Carolina tallied two runs in the first inning to grab a quick 2-0 lead that was short-lived. Gary Treon walked and then scored on hits by Long and Bucky Reep. Long scored later on a fielder's choice.

Catawba's four big runs in the second inning came on two long triples by Jim McRee and Bob Rusher and singles by Paul Lee and Joe Harris. Also figuring in the scoring of those runs was a Pirate error.

After the Indians had clobbered Shelley for six hits and four runs, Buc Coach Jim Mallory inserted Leonard Lilley on the mound, in the fifth inning. Catawba then tagged him for a quick run in that stanza on a walk, an error and a hit. It was 5-2.

In the seventh inning, Catawba first baseman got into the act and whacked out a triple. He scored later on a sacrifice fly.

The Indians struck again in the eighth on three hits and another Pirate error. That made the score 8-2.

Joel Long, ECC outfielder who has a .375 batting average and is one of the league's top power hitters, connected for a 400-foot home run over the right centerfield fence in the bottom of the final inning to give the Bucs their third run. Coach Mallory said of the game, "We simply got beaten this afternoon. Catawba was hitting everything we threw." Though the Bucs dropped a notch in the standings after that loss, Mallory told reporters that there is still a remote chance that they can capture the North State title.

"Catawba and Elon still have four more games to play," he said. East Carolina has two remaining on their schedule. They meet Elon here on the 10th and Guilford on the 11th, next week.

Heavy Hitting Highlights Majors In Friday's Game

By JOE REICHLER
The Associated Press

Hank Aaron, Milwaukee's gifted outfielder, is off to a flying start in his bid to become the fifth in modern National League history to capture the batting championship two consecutive seasons.

The Braves' 23-year-old slugger slammed a home run, triple and double last night to drive in four runs in Milwaukee's 8-7 triumph over Pittsburgh and raised his batting average to .391. Only Cincinnati's Don Hoak (.396) and St. Louis' Stan Musial (.393) are higher. Aaron paced the National League hitters last year with .328. It was Aaron's third year followed by Bobby Thomson's single in the 11th inning that gave the Braves their third straight overtime victory and 12th win against 2 losses.

The Braves shared the spotlight with the Chicago White Sox, who outslugged the Washington Senators 11-6 for their 11th success in 13 games and their fifth in a row. The American League leading White Sox were paced by Larry Doby who drove in four runs with a bases-loaded double and a single.

This is the best early season start in White Sox history, topping a 10-3 mark in the first 13 games by the 1920 Pale Hose.

Brooklyn's second-place Dodgers remained two games behind the Braves as Don Newcombe shut out St. Louis 6-0 for his ninth consecutive night.

The Giants and Redlegs swapped five-run outbursts in the sixth. Trailing 10-8, Cincinnati scored three in the ninth on a single by George Crowe, a hit batter and Whisenand's pinch homer off loser Pete Burnside.

Hank Sauer and Red Schoendienst of the Giants and Gus Bell of the Reds also hit homers.

A pair of rookies, Harry Anderson and Ed Bouchee, produced the power for Philadelphia. Anderson slammed a two-run inside-the-park homer and Bouchee had four hits including a home straight over the Cardinals. Cincinnati defeated the New York Giants in an 11-10 slugfest with pinch hitter Pete Whisenand drilling a three-run homer to win it in the ninth.

Philadelphia won a 9-6 free-for-all from Chicago, picking up three unearned runs on five Cub errors, four by rookie second baseman Casey Wise. That tied a National League record. The major league record is five.

The Yankees remained two and a half games behind the White Sox, beating Kansas City 8-5 on three unearned runs in the seventh. Paul Foytack, aided by outfielder Al Kaline's four spectacular catches, limited Boston to four hits as Detroit shut out the Red Sox 9-0. Cold weather in Cleveland prevented the Indians and Baltimore Orioles from playing.

Pity the poor Pirates. Three times in one week they rallied in the ninth to overcome huge deficits but each time they lost in overtime. Last night they scored three again in the ninth, but lost in the 11th. Red Murrin, Milwaukee's third pitcher, was credited with the victory although Warren Spahn had to dispose of the last batter with two runners on base.

The Dodgers got Newcombe started on his 100th complete game with three first inning runs, two scoring on Carl Furillo's triple off loser Tom Cheney. Musial went hitless for the second consecutive night.

The Giants and Redlegs swapped five-run outbursts in the sixth. Trailing 10-8, Cincinnati scored three in the ninth on a single by George Crowe, a hit batter and Whisenand's pinch homer off loser Pete Burnside.

Hank Sauer and Red Schoendienst of the Giants and Gus Bell of the Reds also hit homers.

Paul Foytack, aided by outfielder Al Kaline's four spectacular catches, limited Boston to four hits as Detroit shut out the Red Sox 9-0. Cold weather in Cleveland prevented the Indians and Baltimore Orioles from playing.

A six-run Chicago third, touched off by Doby's bases-loaded double salted away Chicago's victory.

Don Larsen, in relief of starter Bob Turley, won his second game. Kaline not only robbed the Red Sox of four base hits, but added three of Detroit's seven hits off loser Frank Sullivan and Bob Chakales. Frank House's three-run homer and Harvey Kuenn's two-run triple accounted for all but one of the Tigers' runs.

People who should know say that Wilt Chamberlain, the 7-foot basketball whiz, will leave the University of Kansas to play with the Harlem Globetrotters next season for $15,000 or more.

Wilt (The Stilt) denies it—but not too emphatically. He conceded to the Kansas City Star yesterday that "nobody knows what may happen between now and September."

Sources close to the Kansas Athletic Department report that Wilt told key alumni at a meeting here last week:

"It's a job, and as long as it's $15,000 a year if I don't take it. Here (at Kansas) the pressure is on me—we have to win."

The Philadelphia Warriors of the National Basketball Assn. drafted Chamberlain, under their territorial rights, while he was still a senior at Overbrook High School in Philadelphia.

Wilt says "I have talked to nobody about leaving school," but he's so good it's been expected for some time that the pro's would lure him away.

Stokes School won first place yesterday in the annual Pitt County High School Field Day at Guy Smith Stadium.

Stokes won the championship with 21 points, four more than runner-up Farmville's 17. Ayden was third with 16 points to nose out Bethel and Chicod schools which tied for fourth place with 15 points.

Teams from 12 schools participated in the field day. Other team scores included Winterville, 10; Grimesland, 10; Grifton, 8; Pactolus, 6; Fountain, 5; Arthur, 4; and Falkland, 1.

Trophies were presented to team winners of the first three places by County Superintendent D. H. Conley. Gold medals will be awarded to individual winners in the track and field events while second and third place winners were presented ribbons.

The summary:

Boys' Events
90-yard dash: 1. Ray Braxton (Grifton); 2. J. D. Wallowhby (Ayden); 3. Tie between Hubert Jolly (Ayden), Dalton Allen (Farmville) and Eugene Wagner (Grimesland).
Sack race: 1. Billy Whitehurst (Stokes); 2. Harry Mills (Chicod); 3. Roger Everett (Falkland).

Injured Gen. Duke Forced Out Of Derby

By ORLO ROBERTSON

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Gen. Duke of the Calumet Farm was withdrawn from the 33rd running of the Kentucky Derby today, leaving Bold Ruler and eight other 3-year-old colts to contest the $125,000-added classic.

It was a tough blow for the stable of Mrs. Gene Markey as it left only Iron Liege—less half of what had loomed as a powerful Calumet entry—to battle it out in the big race before an expected crowd of some 100,000 at Churchill Downs.

A bruise was noticed in Gen. Duke's left front foot after he beat Bold Ruler in the Florida Derby March 30, but it came around after treatment. There was another setback last month when the Duke ran in a betless exhibition at Keeneland, Ky. The bruise became more serious Tuesday after he raced in the Derby trial.

When the final announcement was made, shortly after the special Derby betting windows opened, the odds on Bold Ruler dropped from 8 to 5 to 7 to 5.

Willie Hartack, a disappointed jockey who envisioned his first Derby victory aboard Gen. Duke, was immediately named as the rider for Iron Liege. Dave Erb, who won the Derby with Needles last year and who has been riding Iron Liege, was left without a mount.

With nine starting, minus the $125,000 starting fee for Gen. Duke, the gross purse now is $152,050, the winner netting $107,950.

The word that the Duke had been scratched came after the gates had been opened and about 25,000 persons already had filed into the downs under crisp, clear skies. It had dropped to 32 degrees early today.

Jones and his father, Plain Ben, now Calumet general manager, had hoped until the last they could keep Gen. Duke in the race. Now it seems that his next battle with Bold Ruler and the others must come in the Preakness May 18 at Pimlico.

Machen Defeats Maxim; Boxers 'Avoiding Him'

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Eddie Machen went shopping today for a new opponent in the heavy-weight class after scoring his second victory over former light-heavyweight Joey Maxim with a unanimous 10-round decision.

"It's awfully hard to get matches," said the unbeaten 24-year-old whose lashing lefts and right's had Maxim, 35, in trouble during most of their 10-round televised bout last night.

Manager Sid Flaherty agreed: "Everybody's ducking my boy." Maxim said his younger opponent was a good puncher. "In fact I think he hits harder than Floyd Patterson. And you know I beat Patterson once," Maxim said.

It was the 21st straight victory for Machen. The fight was the first to be called on Derby eve in Derbytown in some 15 years but it attracted only a small crowd estimated at around 2,000.

Portside Champ Holds Big Lead

RALEIGH (AP)—With a seven-stroke lead, defending champion Jimmy Dezerne of Durham today led the field into the final round of the Carolinas lefthanded golfers tournament.

Dezerne fired the only sub-par round of the tourney yesterday as he shot a 69 over the par-72 Raleigh Country Club course. It gave him a total of 145 for the first two rounds.

Second place went to Clyde Small of Morganton, who duplicated his opening round of 76 for a total of 152. R. L. Sides of Rocky Mount, in a three-way tie for first with Dezerne and Small after the first round, slipped to the third place tie with W. W. Sharpe of Greensboro.

Fights Last Night

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — Eddie Machen, 190½, San Francisco, outpointed Joey Maxim, 189, Miami, 10.

HALIFAX — Arthur Presley, 135½, Red Cross, La., outpointed Richard (Kid) Howard, 138½, Halifax, 10.

KIEL, Germany — Gerhard Hecht, Berlin, outpointed Willie Schagen, Holland, 10, (light-heavyweights).

Lawmakers Work Way To 1957 'Short Rows'

RALEIGH (AP)—Working onto the "short rows" of the 1957 session, lawmakers this week pushed forward major items in Gov. Hodges' legislative program.

A "work release" law to serve as the basis for an experiment in handling prisoners received final approval with a near-unanimous vote in the House.

A prediction by the governor that the reapportionment issue is not yet dead was realized yesterday with the introduction in the Senate of a new proposal on the matter of assigning legislative seats.

Perhaps the major victory for the Hodges' program came with the approval by the House Finance subcommittee of a change in the method of figuring corporate income tax. The governor has strongly urged the revision, recommended by a tax study commission, as a means of attracting new industry and encouraging present industries to expand.

Other developments this week included:

1. A compulsory auto insurance bill was approved by the House and sent to the Senate. But a Senate committee reported favorably an alternative method to give protection from damages caused by uninsured motorists.

2. A 75-cent minimum wage bill, part of Gov. Hodges' program, was reconsidered and amended by the Senate and then sent to the House.

3. Important committee hearings were held on an "all or nothing" liquor referendum bill and a proposed auto inspection program.

4. An urban redevelopment act, giving cities broader power to clear up slums, passed the Senate and became law. The bill is designed to make municipalities eligible for federal aid funds in areas damaged by hurricanes and other disasters.

The work release law will permit selected short-term prisoners to continue working at their outside jobs, while serving their sentences at night and on weekends.

Gov. Hodges and Prisons Director William F. Bailey have urged it as a means to better rehabilitation of prisoners and to cut prison costs.

The experiment will be put in operation slowly, at first in centers such as Asheville, Charlotte, Greensboro and Raleigh, and expanded if it proves successful, according to Bailey.

Sen. Claude Currie of Durham and 16 other senators, representing both small and large counties, sponsored the new approach to reapportionment. The bill would provide a House with 160 members and a Senate of 100 members. This would give every county one senator and each of the 100 counties at least one House seat.

Although it was not identified as an administration measure, it incorporated representation on a geographic basis which Hodges has said may be necessary to secure action on reapportionment.

At the same time, a House bill came in to reapportion the House immediately on the basis of 1950 census results. This would give two senators each to Guilford and Mecklenburg counties, Rep. Thomas Turner of Guilford and a number of other House members signed the bill.

Although the House Finance subcommittee described as "tentative" its approval of the corporate income tax revision, the margin of the vote indicated final acceptance of the change. An estimated 14 million dollars in revenue over the next two fiscal years would be lost if the revision becomes law.

The compulsory auto insurance bill, proposed by Rep. Walter Jones of Pitt, was passed by the House after a lengthy debate. It may face trouble in the Senate where a Senate committee has approved a proposed unsatisfied judgment fund bill, which has received a nod of favor from Insurance Commissioner Charles F. Gold.

The Greenville School Parent-Teacher Association will hold its first monthly meeting at the school next Wednesday night at 7:30. Parents, teachers and friends of the school are invited to attend.

The Bachelor Benedict Club will meet Sunday at 6:30 p.m. with Mr. Gerald Jenkins on Nash street.

We wish to thank our many friends for their kindnesses shown us during the illness and at the death of our daughter and sister, Mrs. Adele Baker. May God bless each and everyone of you. Mrs. Rachel Baker and Family.

The Greenville Barbers' Club will meet next Tuesday night at 6:04 South Pitt street.

District Boy Scout Field Executive Carl Knott will speak on Boy Scouting and demonstrate in pictures of its activities in the basement of the Greenville Hill Baptist Church Sunday night at 8 o'clock. All members of Boy Scout Troop No. 131, parents and the public are invited.

Rev. J. D. Ray, evangelist of Southern Pines, will begin a series of revival meetings at Mount Calvary Church Monday night and the series on May 10. Rev. W. L. Jones is pastor. The following choir will sing: Monday, Ruth Hill Gospel Chorus; Tuesday, J. A. Nimmo Jubilee Singers; Wednesday, AME Zion Chorus; Thursday, Philippi Christian Choir; and Friday, Mount Calvary Senior Choir. The public is invited.

Golden Victory Old Fellows Lodge and the Household of Ruth will hold annual exercises at Sycamore Hill Baptist Church Sunday night at 8 o'clock. The Old Fellows are celebrating their 59th anniversary and the Household of Ruth its 52nd. York Memorial Gospel Chorus will sing. Rev. J. A. Nimmo will deliver the address. Mrs. Sudie Rasbury is Most Notable Governor and Grant Bell is secretary. The public is invited.

PATENT PAPERS ARE IN ORDER! YOUR ADVERTISING CAMPAIGN IS ALL SET! THE PUBLIC RELATIONS DEPARTMENT IS READY TO GO.

NOW, MR. PLENTY, IF YOU TWO WILL EXCUSE US — WE HAVE MUCH TO DO.

WE'LL SEE YOU AT YOUR APARTMENT TOMORROW.

AND OUT AT SUNNY DELL ACRES —

HE DID?

MRS. PLENTY, AS ADVERTISING MAN FOR "HEELS-A-PLENTY", I WANT TO THANK YOU FOR WHAT YOU HAVE DONE.

CHECK.

AND NOW, BLOSSOM, HONEY, WOULD YOU LIKE A DESSERT? MAYBE A BANANA SPLIT?

CHECK.

YES, HE SAYS HE'S YOUR FATHER.

MY PAPPY?

YOUR DECISION TO WEAR SHOES HAS MADE MY TASK MUCH EASIER.

I'VE GOT TO TELL MR. MACY ABOUT THE NICE PROGRESS WE'RE MAKING.

WAITER — A TELEPHONE, PLEASE.

YES, HE AND HIS WIFE WANT TO SEE YOU, BUT THEY'VE BEEN TOO BUSY WITH BUSINESS TO GET AWAY. I THOUGHT YOU'D LIKE TO KNOW.

WELL, NOW, WHAT IN TARNATION IS THAT DAD-BURNED, LEATHER-FACED, OLD HORNY TOAD DOING IN THIS PART OF THE COUNTRY?

I'VE NEVER MET B.O.'S FOLKS.

YOU'RE RIGHT! I WONDER HOW THEY EVER GOT HERE!

THAT'S EASY...IT WAS THAT GUY WHO WAS GOIN' TO CONK YOU!

BOY! WILL DADDY BE HAPPY? LET'S TAKE THEM TO HIM!

FINE! BUT LET'S CLEAN 'EM UP FIRST!

A LITTLE LATER IN MR. MILES' STUDY...

THIS IS WONDERFUL, KIDS...AND PERHAPS YOU DIDN'T KNOW IT, BUT I OFFERED A REWARD FOR THESE TROPHIES!

DADDY, CAN I SEE YOU ALONE A MINUTE?

WHAT YOU SAID ABOUT A REWARD GAVE ME A SUPER IDEA!

WELL, IF IT'S AS GOOD AS YOUR TREASURE-MAP IDEA, I'LL GO ALONG WITH IT!

My Husband Is In Love With The Undertaker

Dedicated To The Man-Who Insists A "Thousand" Is Enough

My husband's in love with the Undertaker.

You ask, "How do I know?" Well, it's plain to be seen; in fact, I confess, He as much as told me so.

He came home one day awhile ago. His face lit up with glee; And he said, "I've bought some life insurance, For I'll die some time, you see."

And I asked him how much he had taken; "Oh, a thousand dollars," he said, It's not very much, but when I die It's enough to bury me."

How proud he was as he talked that night; Said he, "When I meet my Maker, There's one thing for sure, I'll leave enough To pay the undertaker."

And then I thought of my poor health, And of our small children, three, And I said to him, "But listen, Jim, What will you leave for the kiddies and me?"

"Now there," he said, as he scratched his head, "I guess you don't have to fret; There'll be money, you see, to bury me, And you won't have to go in debt."

I knew that he could, so I told him he should Buy a thousand or two for his own! And I said, "It's not fair, and you ought to care For your family, if left alone."

But try as I might to make him do right He stubbornly held to his view; And then he said, "Why after I'm dead I don't have to take care of you."

And he wouldn't consent—he had enough He thought he had done quite well He'd insured the undertaker, And his family could go to h — — — (ANON)

Chaplains Held In Higher Esteem

WASHINGTON (AP) — The military chaplain holds a place of honor on the denominational roster of the clergy, although it has not always been the case, the annual meeting of the General Commission of Chaplains and Armed Service Personnel was told recently.

Dr. Samuel McCrea Cavert, former general secretary of the National Council of Churches and U. S. secretary of the World Council of Churches, said it was not until 1938 that churches began to recognize the chaplain's importance.

JC Education Committee Report On School Program

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following comprises the complete report submitted by a seven-man committee of the Greenville Junior Chamber of Commerce on its study of the Greenville school system, together with the five-point resolution for action as adopted by the Jaycee membership.

The Education Committee of the Greenville Junior Chamber of Commerce has completed an extensive survey of the Greenville City School System which was conducted during the past six months. An estimated 400 man hours were expended by committee members in various phases of this project. Realizing the keen interest of local Jaycees in the present and future welfare of Greenville's boys and girls, it has endeavored to be as thorough as possible in its study.

This survey was made with deep realization that the members of the committee are strictly laymen in the field of education and not educators. However, we feel that an average citizen's approach to local problems may reveal facts that educators overlook.

The survey included meetings with the Board of Trustees of the Greenville City Schools to become familiar with its duties and to discuss problems generally. A conference was held with each school principal followed by a tour of inspection of individual school plant facilities. An open forum discussion was held with representatives with all P.T.A. groups in the city. A great deal of time was spent analyzing the organization of the Greenville School District paying particular attention to finances and statutory regulations.

In certain phases such as teacher supply, percentage of young people seeking higher education, recent building program and teacher supplement, the Greenville School System compares favorably with other systems in the State. However, actual present day needs plus the needs forecast for the immediate future overshadow completely any seeming advantage of high position we might hold.

From its survey the committee made the following observations regarding the Board of Trustees of the Greenville City Schools:

1. Meetings are held at irregular intervals and are not publicized in advance to encourage attendance of interested citizens.

2. Since the regulations do not require rotation of board members at the expiration of their terms, the membership of the board tends to remain static over long periods of time.

3. It was observed that the school board has no all inclusive and concrete plan to provide for the future growth and development of the Greenville City School System based on a long-range forecast of population trends and area development, with a provision for annual revision.

Our conference with each school principal and brief tour of the school plants revealed the following:

1. The Fleming Street School (Negro) is not an accredited school and never will be. No land has been acquired for expansion; the building is extremely overcrowded and in need of complete renovation; has no lunch room facilities and contains only grades one through four.

2. The West Greenville School (White) is overcrowded and has an acute drainage problem.

3. The Third Street School (White) seems adequate for the area it is intended to serve.

4. The Wahl-Coates Laboratory School (White) seems adequate for the area it is intended to serve; some overcrowded conditions exist in classrooms.

5. The Elmhurst School (White) is extremely overcrowded; there is adequate land for expansion.

6. The South Greenville School (Negro) is adequate at the present time; overcrowded conditions are indicated for the near future.

7. The Greenville High School is inadequate at present, but the situation will be alleviated temporarily with the opening of the new high school building in the fall of 1957. There is dire need for well-rounded physical education, music, art and vocational guidance programs. Plans for utilizing the old high school building as a Junior High School should temporarily relieve conditions at all white elementary schools.

8. The Eppes High School (Negro) is not a true high school since it contains the fifth through the twelfth grades. It is overcrowded and needs lunch room facilities. There is also a need for adequate physical education, music, art and vocational guidance programs for all students. The new gymnasium will add greatly to the school program.

In some schools there appears to be a shortage in one or more of the following: equipment, instructional materials, supplies, library facilities. In several schools the need for non-teaching principals appears necessary for efficient administration.

Discussions with P.T.A. groups revealed similar conditions to those already mentioned and a definite interest on the part of parents to help in the betterment of the Greenville Schools. P.T.A. groups have been called upon, at least indirectly, to finance the purchase of certain equipment for use in the schools, and this activity has been over emphasized.

Based on this survey, it is the firm and unanimous conviction of this committee that the great majority of school problems can be solved through immediate and forceful action of the School Board, coupled with the resources and energies of an informed and vitally concerned public.

Resolution
Whereas, the Greenville Junior Chamber of Commerce is firmly devoted to the betterment of this community, and

Whereas, after due consideration of a detailed report prepared by its Education Committee, it has been brought to the attention of the membership of this organization that certain immediate and long-range improvements are necessary in the Greenville City School System in order to afford the children of this community the best possible public school education.

Now therefore be it resolved, that the Greenville Junior Chamber of Commerce does recommend to the Board of Trustees of the Greenville City Schools prompt initiation of the following:

(1) A program of publicity to acquaint the general public with the operation and problems of the Greenville City Schools, to encourage public attendance at regularly scheduled meetings of the School Board, and to arouse public interest in the solution of school problems.

(2) A policy of rotation be instituted for the School Board so that the regular term of appointment will be three years, that two years must lapse after a term is served before reappointment is possible and that the terms of members be staggered to prevent total change-over in any year.

(3) The preparation by the School Board of an all inclusive and detail school development plan relative to the present and anticipated school needs each year for the next five to ten years with particular emphasis on the financial requirements. Such a plan should be based on a detailed survey of school needs and a current children census as well as population and area growth trends.

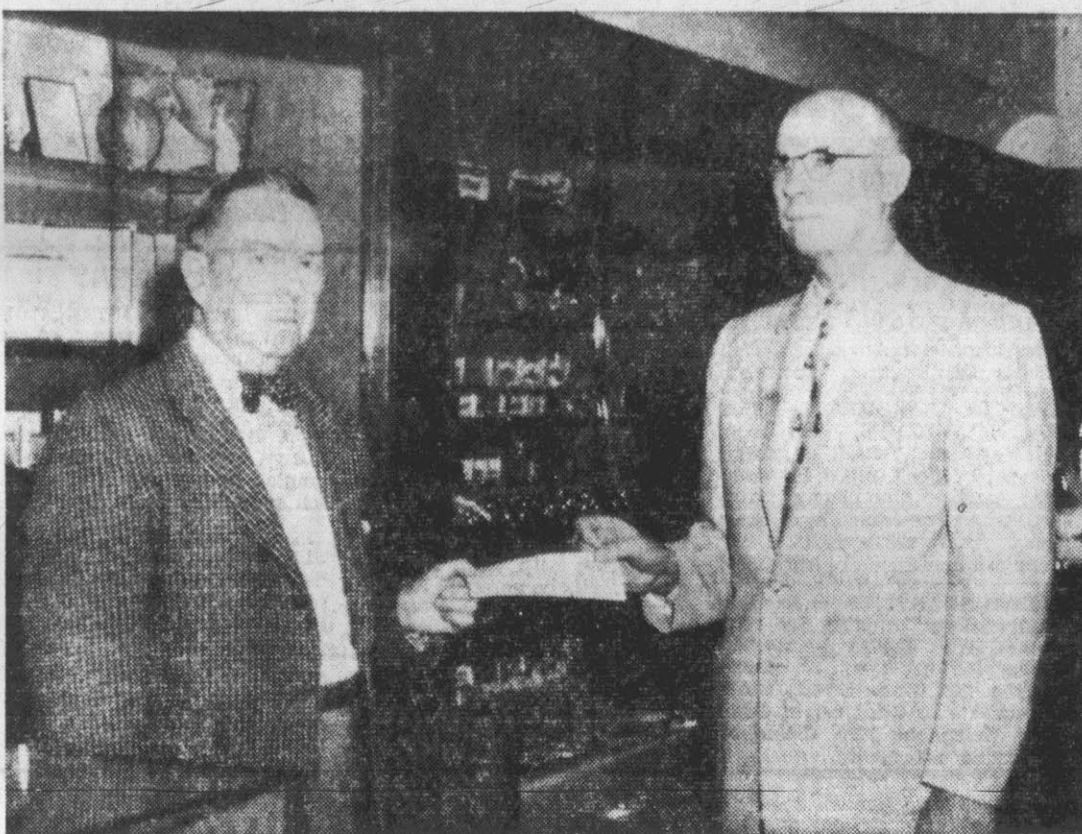

(4) An annual evaluation survey program conducted by a group of parents and teachers designated by and reporting to the School Board. Such a survey should cover individual school needs regarding instructional programs, plant facilities, equipment and supplies and would serve to check and readjust the overall school development plan annually. The survey should be conducted according to the check list for school accreditation issued by the State Superintendent of Public Instruction and the aid in self-evaluation adapted from form used by the North Carolina Education Commission.

(5) The strengthening of relations between parents and schools through P.T.A. groups which are dedicated only to the fulfillment of their organization's basic objectives and through an annual program designed to give parents an opportunity to show their sincere appreciation for the work of public school teachers.

Be it further resolved, that we do hereby offer our unequalled support in the accomplishment of all of these steps with a complete sense of duty to the betterment of our city by strengthening its public school system.

Dogs Becoming Overly Friendly

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Postmaster Ergus McRee reports his mail carriers have faithfully followed his advice to be kind to dogs—even to feed them dog candy—to keep from being bitten. And what happens?

Folks are complaining their dogs like the mail men so much they're following them around and getting lost.

"And people along one man's route," said McRee, "are complaining about the friendly dogs following him and running through their yards."
