

Clear and unseasonably cool tonight. Tuesday sunny and a little warmer.

Tops Among 15 Contestants In Driving Picked

A driverless car crashed into one of the vehicles preparing to move through the courses at the Teen-Age Road-e-o yesterday but that failed to dampen the enthusiasm of contestants or sponsoring Jaycees.

The slightly damaged vehicles were quickly moved away and the Road-e-o went on to give a winner who will be one of Pitt's representatives in the State finals.

Curtis Lane Wagner of Washington Rt. 3 made the fewest mistakes on the various courses set up for the Road-e-o and thus was top man among the 15 contestants who took part.

Second place winner was Jimmy C. Mayo of Greenville Rt. 3 and winner of third place was Lindy Edwards of Greenville Rt. 3.

First place winner Wagner will receive 50 gallons of gas plus a trip to the State finals. The second place winner will receive a case of oil and to winner of third place will go a wash and grease job.

Candidates for the Greenville event were chosen as a result of written tests given in various schools about the county. Winterville-Ayden-Grifton area teenagers participated in the Ayden Jaycee Road-e-o.

The minor wreck which marred yesterday's event occurred when a driverless car parked on a hill in the parking area alongside Memorial Gym at the college suddenly began rolling down the hill.

The vehicle broke through a chain guard and crashed into a second car which was preparing to enter the first section of the course. Damage to both cars was minor.

Awards to winners were presented by Frank Diener, who served as Road-e-o chairman. The Road-e-o is sponsored by the Jaycees, Liberty Mutual Insurance Co., American Trucking Association, Inc., Chrysler Corp. and the Pure Oil Co.

Need Dragon For New York City

NEW YORK (AP)—The leader of the Ku Klux Klan says the hooded group has a chapter in New York City and needs a grand dragon to head it.

Eldon Lee Edwards, Atlanta, Ga., imperial wizard of the KKK, said last night the organization is operating in Northern States.

Assembly Nearing Major Decisions

RALEIGH (AP)—The North Carolina General Assembly moves into its 14th week today, with major decisions expected during the week on several important issues, including taxes and spending.

How fast the Appropriations and Finance subcommittees move along in their work this week will go a long way in determining whether the Legislature can adjourn the last week of this month, around June 1.

Gov. Luther Barnhardt of Concord said yesterday that "although it's beginning to look like it will take all of May, I still think we can get through the last week in May."

The Joint Appropriations subcommittee, eager to push its budget work, planned to meet this afternoon. The House Finance subcommittee, wrestling with proposed tax changes, also was due to meet this afternoon. The Senate Finance subcommittee plans to meet tonight at 7 o'clock.

The House and Senate have their customary Monday night sessions scheduled for 8 o'clock. Sen. Joe Eagles Jr. of Wilson, chairman of Senate Appropriations, said the group hopes to complete its work sometime and make recommendations to the full Appropriations Committee.

Major decisions on proposed tax changes may come during the week. Eagles and Barnhardt agreed the general feeling among legislators is that the corporate income tax allocation formula, designed to boost industrial development, will be the only major tax revision that the General Assembly will approve. Other controversial changes, such as the gross receipts license tax, are virtually certain to be killed, they said.

Before the week is out decisions may come on the issues of a statewide liquor referendum and auto inspection. Public hearings were held last week but no vote was taken by the committees.

Await Notification On Building's Sale

Pitt County Commissioners were told this morning that the county will become new owners of the Edwards Building as soon as an order confirming an April 23 public sale can be confirmed.

A ten-day waiting period on the county's bid of $40,000 expired Friday. Since county offices were closed over the weekend, an order confirming the bid could not be submitted until today. The sale will have to be confirmed by Clerk of Court D. T. House Jr. and resident Superior Court Judge W. J. Bundy.

Attorney Lewis G. Cooper handled the sale for the estate of Henry C. Edwards and will file the confirmation order. The building which the county has been seeking for sometime is an office structure fronting on Evans Street, between the Court House and the National Guard Armory.

Business handled by the commissioners in the morning session of their monthly meeting was mostly of a routine nature. They approved a resolution calling for all persons to obtain permits before doing electrical wiring, referred two requests for aid to the Welfare Department, approved a jury list for the June 24 civil term of Superior Court, and touched on a discussion of satisfactory office space for county ASC offices.

The brief discussion of the office problem included comments from officials of FHA, ACP and the Soil Conservation Service. Ben White of the FHA told the commissioners his group appreciated efforts that had been made to provide adequate office space and would cooperate to alleviate existing difficulties. Arch Flanagan of ACP and soil conservation representative Connor Eagles made substantially the same comments although Flanagan did ask that when office shifting is completed that provisions be made to keep ASC, ACP, and soil conservation offices as close together as possible.

A detailed discussion of the office problem was postponed until this afternoon. Efforts were being made this morning to include the county ASC committee in the discussions.

EXTENDED WEATHER FORECAST FOR N. C.

Temperatures will average three to five degrees below normal through Saturday. Little or no rain in prospect for period.

A Lot Of Selling To Do

BROOM SALE — Harry Douglass looks over the brooms which will be sold from door-to-door by the Lions Club tonight. The sale was originally scheduled for last Monday night but was postponed because of bad weather. Proceeds will be used for work with the blind in the county. Douglass and Frank Dail are co-chairmen for the sale. (Reflector Staff Photo).

Teamsters Given Time For Reply

Union Charged With Failure To Clean Up Corruption By AFL-CIO

WASHINGTON (AP)—The AFL-CIO Ethical Practices Committee today charged the giant Teamsters Union with failing to clean up alleged corruption and gave the union until May 24 to answer. The delay was requested by Teamsters President Dave Beck and fellow union leaders at a two-hour closed hearing before the AFL-CIO committee.

Beck and the Teamsters Executive Board were presented with a 22-page listing of complaints against the conduct of Teamsters officials, topped by the allegation that the union's board has demonstrated no intention of conducting an investigation or cleanup.

The Ethical Practices Committee's detailed charges included references to Beck's refusal to tell the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee about his acknowledged use of large sums of his union funds. But the charges also referred to allegations against many other national and local Teamsters officials.

The Teamsters board, headed by Beck, entered the meeting with a statement denouncing the charges against the union as "malicious and unfounded slander."

After the hearing, Beck said the Executive Board would meet this afternoon, presumably to discuss the 22-page charges.

In a statement, Beck said some of the charges were based on "hearsay and secondary sources" while others raised "serious legal and policy questions affecting personal and constitutional rights of some of our individual officers and members."

"Under the circumstances, and because of this committee's delay in providing us with information until this morning, it will be necessary for us to fully consider all the matters which have been presented this morning before we state our position thereto," Beck's statement said.

Heavy Voting In Ayden Elections

AYDEN—Voting in the Ayden municipal election thus far today "is the heaviest in recent years," according to a report from Town Clerk A. W. Sawyer this morning.

Sawyer added, "A great deal of enthusiasm and interest has been shown by the town's people for the past several days since the filing deadline."

A total of 10 candidates have filed for five seats to be filled in today's election. Only two candidates are unopposed. They are Mayor Corey Stokes and Councilman Harry Mumford from Ward five.

There are three candidates for the Council seat in Wards One and Three. For Ward Three J. B. Dennis, Edison Gibson and John Clark Nobles have filed. The incumbent Lyman Baldrice is not seeking reelection.

In Ward One, the incumbent Norman Dail, R. H. Worthington and Bill Shelton are seeking election.

There is a two-man race for Judge of the Recorder's Court, between Leon Kittrell and C. G. Moore. Kittrell is currently serving in this capacity, having been appointed to the position following the death of the late Judge C. V. Cannon.

Stepped On Gas Instead Of Brake

WARWICK, R. I. (AP)—Miss Joan E. Ahlstedt, 18, of Cranston got into a convertible at the Mayfair Motors showroom to move it.

Police said Miss Ahlstedt, who got her learner's permit to drive 11 days ago, apparently stepped on the accelerator instead of the brake.

Result: The car crashed through four plate glass windows and struck a 1957 model car. She was not injured.

Farmville Voters To Pick Mayor, Five Councilmen

FARMVILLE—Five councilmen and a mayor will be elected here tomorrow.

The councilmen will be selected from a group of nine candidates, including three incumbents. The race for the mayor's job will be between incumbent Charles S. Edwards and the man he beat two years ago, former mayor O. G. Spell.

Incumbents Glenn A. Newton, Bernice B. Turnage and W. C. (Lum) Wooten are seeking new terms on the board. They are running with Frank K. Allen, John D. Dixon, C. L. Ivey, R. L. Joyner, W. E. (Will) Joyner and L. S. (Skin) Willoughby. Registrar Cecil Lilly reported today that 107 new registrations have been made for the election.

UNDER KNIFE

NEW YORK (AP)—Retired sportscaster Clem McCarthy, 80, underwent surgery last night for a fractured hip received in an auto accident. A spokesman at Mt. Sinai Hospital said McCarthy "came out of surgery well" and was in good condition.

Voted 'No'

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Education Committee today voted against adding an anti-segregation provision to the big bill for federal aid to school buildings.

Chairman Barden (D-NC) reported this following a closed session on the disputed measure. Barden, who scheduled another closed meeting for the afternoon, said he could not tell yet when work on the measure would be completed.

Rep. Wainwright (R-NY) proposed an amendment aimed at barring federal funds from being used to help build segregated public schools.

Winterville Has 3 Candidates In Tuesday's Voting

WINTERVILLE—Only three candidates are seeking office in the Winterville municipal elections to be staged tomorrow.

Mayor Burney L. Tucker is unopposed for reelection. There will be a two-man race for the Board of Aldermen. Ronnie W. Mallison, seeking reelection, will be opposed by C. C. Worthington, a grocery store owner.

Water Problem Inventory Set In County

Plans for conducting an inventory of water problems in Pitt County were announced today by Alton Gardner, who represented the county at an inventory planning session in Plymouth a few days ago.

Gardner said the inventory is part of a state-wide study being sponsored by the State Board of Water Commissioners for the purpose of obtaining an accurate, detailed picture of the water problems that affect North Carolinians at the local level.

The committee, composed of representatives from industrial, agricultural, municipal, recreational and wildlife organizations, was formed at the request of the North Carolina Board of Water Commissioners. The inventory is part of the Board's plan for collecting information that will be useful in mapping a long-range water conservation program for the state. Named to the committee were: Sam C. Winchester, County Agent and Chairman of the Committee; W. T. Kyzer, Manager, Greenville Chamber of Commerce; J. O. Teel, Pitt County Game Protector; Mark H. Smith, Farmer representing Grange; John Hardy, Banker; Alton Gardner, Chairman Pitt County Board of Commissioners; W. C. Eagles, Soil Conservationist; J. H. Mobley, Vocational Agriculture Teacher; Leonard Bloom, Greenville City Manager; Arch J. Flanagan, Chairman Pitt County Soil Conservation Supervisors; Dr. W. C. Humbert, Pitt County Health Officer; D. J. Whitchard III, editor, Greenville Daily Reflector; and Joel Lawhorn, WGTC, Radio.

The primary function of the committee will be to plan and conduct a single meeting at which citizens of the county will be asked to report all present or anticipated water problems. "The information collected during the next few weeks in Pitt County," Gardner said, "will play an important part in forming the basis for future water conservation planning in North Carolina. "Every county in the state is being asked to participate in this study," Gardner said, "and every citizen is being asked to help by reporting water problems that exist now or may develop in the future. These reports will be received at a meeting that will be held on May 9th, at 8 p. m., in the County Courthouse. We are forming a committee at the present time to plan this meeting."

A heated political campaign by ten candidates for City Council draws to a close tonight and tomorrow morning the voters will decide which five will serve on the Council.

Tomorrow's election will end a campaign which saw the political picture change rapidly during the weeks preceding the election.

Originally 11 candidates officially filed and Mayor W. L. Whedbee announced that he would not seek reelection to the council.

Then as the campaigning picked up momentum, the following events took place:

(1) Two candidates, Godfrey Oakley and George Pugh, announced that they were withdrawing from the race.

(2) Mayor Whedbee announced that, upon receiving petitions urging him to do so, he would be a write-in candidate for reelection.

(3) City Manager Leonard Bloxam turned over his resignation to the City Council because an unnamed candidate "has seen fit to make the position I hold as City Manager somewhat of a political football."

The last two events took place only Friday and the announcements set off a weekend of intense campaigning. It was also a weekend of shifting alliances and today the allegiances of various groups seemed uncertain.

The mayor's write-in campaign is unprecedented in municipal elections. Old timers could remember no similar campaign for the city's governing body.

In view of the heavy campaigning by candidates considerable interest in this year's election has been generated and a heavy vote is expected.

This year's campaign is in sharp contrast to the election of 1955. That year the five councilmen had no opposition and the group which was elected in 1953, first year of the City Council form of government, was returned to office.

With the mayor in the race four of the five original council members are seeking reelection. A. C. Ruffin, fifth member, did not file. Seeking reelection to the council are S. Eugene West, a contractor; E. Wesley Harvey, owner of Cold Storage, Inc.; J. A. Collins Sr., a furniture store operator.

The candidates seeking positions on the city's governing body include: Lester D. Page, a former mayor and operator of a service station; J. D. Aman, plumbing contractor; Elbert Bennett, tobaccoist; Lester Turnage, real estate agent; W. G. Dunn, contractor, and the Rev. O. J. Rooks, Negro minister.

Whedbee, whose name will not appear on the ballot but must be written in by those wishing to vote for him, is supervisor of sales for the Greenville Tobacco Market.

Voters will also elect a City Court judge and recorder in tomorrow's election. Charles Whedbee is unopposed as a candidate to succeed himself as judge of City Court. Eli Bloom is unopposed in his bid for reelection as recorder of the court.

Six Candidates For Grimesland Commissioners

GRIMESLAND—Six persons are seeking the five seats on Grimesland's Board of Commissioners in today's election.

Mayor Ernest Elks is unopposed for reelection to that office. The three present board members, Leslie Elks, G. C. Elks and L. A. Moore, are all running for reelection.

Three others are on the ticket today as candidates for the board. They are: Mrs. Lola Bell Howell, Dan White and J. Dalton Heath. Polls opened this morning at 6:30 a. m. They will close tonight at 6:30.

Mr. Gardner stressed the fact that this county-wide meeting will be open to every person or organization with a water problem to report. Businessmen, farmers, city officials, sportsmen—all will be urged to attend. It was also pointed out that the scheduled gathering will not be a discussion meeting. "At the present time," Mr. Gardner explained, "the Board of Water Commissioners is only interested in finding out exactly what the problems are. Later, after the problems have been studied and possible solutions have been developed, the Board plans to hold a series of public hearings at which water users will have an opportunity to match their problems with the proposed solutions and to suggest changes or alternate solutions wherever they are considered necessary."

With the mayor in the race four of the five original council members are seeking reelection. A. C. Ruffin, fifth member, did not file. Seeking reelection to the council are S. Eugene West, a contractor; E. Wesley Harvey, owner of Cold Storage, Inc.; J. A. Collins Sr., a furniture store operator.

The candidates seeking positions on the city's governing body include: Lester D. Page, a former mayor and operator of a service station; J. D. Aman, plumbing contractor; Elbert Bennett, tobaccoist; Lester Turnage, real estate agent; W. G. Dunn, contractor, and the Rev. O. J. Rooks, Negro minister.

Whedbee, whose name will not appear on the ballot but must be written in by those wishing to vote for him, is supervisor of sales for the Greenville Tobacco Market.

Voters will also elect a City Court judge and recorder in tomorrow's election. Charles Whedbee is unopposed as a candidate to succeed himself as judge of City Court. Eli Bloom is unopposed in his bid for reelection as recorder of the court.

Grifton Sees 7 Candidates Bid For Four Posts

GRIFTON—Seven candidates are running for four seats to be filled in Grifton's municipal elections being held today.

Town Clerk Mrs. Marjorie Harris stated this morning, the voting has been light thus far and "very little interest" is being shown in the election.

Mayor W. H. Gower is opposed in the race for his office by J. Heber Wade. Recorder's Court Judge R. B. McCotter is unopposed for reelection.

A four-man race is being staged for the two Board of Aldermen seats to be filled. Three newcomers are in the race in addition to incumbent Don Casey who is seeking reelection. They are: R. E. Matthews, Dr. B. C. Troutman and Charles Rose. Bill Mahler who has served for the past two years on the Board is not seeking the office again.

Bethel Looks To Light Turnout

BETHEL—Voting is expected to be very light in Bethel's municipal election being held here today.

Town Clerk M. L. James estimated that only 100 to 150 votes would be cast today.

Actually the race was decided in last week's primary and winners in the primary have no opposition today.

Attorney C. W. Everett was nominated as mayor last week. Commissioners nominated include: M. L. Jones, J. M. Butterworth, W. J. Whitehurst, J. R. Cullifer and W. E. Andrews.

The new board will take office July 1.

Miss Graham, Mr. Blount Marry In Wilmington At St. James Episcopal Church Saturday

At eight o'clock Saturday night Miss Katherine Carr Graham and Judson Hassell Blount Jr. were united in marriage in a candle-light ceremony in the St. James Episcopal Church, Wilmington, N. C.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Bolles Graham of Wilmington and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Judson Hassell Blount of Greenville.

The Rev. Mortimer Glover officiated at the ceremony.

For the wedding the church was decorated with white summer flowers and wedding greenery.

Nuptial music was presented by William G. Robertson, organist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of French tulle fashioned with a fitted bodice of chantilly lace over a full skirt ending in a chapel-length train. Her veil of illusion was attached to a Juliette cap of matching lace and seed pearls. She carried a bridal bouquet of lilies-of-the-valley and Phalaenopsis orchids.

Miss Jane Williams Love of Wilmington was maid of honor. She wore a waltz-length gown of shell pink chiffon and carried a bouquet of deep shades of pink snapdragons, larkspur, and tinted daisies. The bridesmaids, Miss Helen Williams of Wilmington, Miss Mary Allan Hardin of Wilmington, Mrs. Raymond Holland Jr. of Wilmington, Miss Dinah Hodges of Greenville, and Mrs. Lloyd C. Brinkley of Chapel Hill, wore dresses like the matron of honor's in shell pink and carried similar bouquets of deep shades of pink flowers.

Marion Orlando Blount of Greenville, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man. Ushers were Locke Glenn of Atlanta, Ga., Larry Moore James Jr. of Farmville, Leighton Blount Jr. of Bethel, Julian White of Greenville, Robert Kirk of Kinston, Robert R. Bellamy and Benjamin Graham of Wilmington.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Graham wore a beige silk chiffon dress with bronze accessories. Her corsage was of bronze cymbidium orchids.

Mrs. Blount, mother of the bridegroom, wore a Dior blue gown of Italian silk with matching accessories. Her corsage was of white orchids.

Following the wedding, a reception was held at the Cape Fear Country Club. For the wedding trip to the Bahamas, the bride chose a beige linen sheath dress with matching duster. At her shoulder she wore a corsage of gold cymbidium orchids.

The couple will make their home in Greenville.

Mrs. Blount attended Mary Baldwin College in Staunton, Va. She is a past member of the Junior League and Spinners Club. In 1956 she made her debut at the Debutante Ball in Raleigh.

The bridegroom attended Episcopal High School and the University of North Carolina where he was a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

Mrs. Judson Hassell Blount, Jr.

Miss Pingel, Mr. Wolf Marry

Mrs. Frederick H. Wolf

Dr. and Mrs. Regnar Pingel of New York and Greenville announce the marriage of their daughter, Martha, to Frederick H. Wolf of Greenville and Tacoma, Washington, Saturday, May 4. Mr. and Mrs. Wolf are members of the East Carolina College faculty. Mrs. Wolf, of the English department, joined the faculty in 1947. Mr. Wolf, of the foreign language department, joined the faculty in 1956. The couple will make their home in Greenville.

Honored At Party

Mrs. R. C. Stokes Jr., Mrs. R. C. Stokes III and Miss Helen Stokes were hostesses on Saturday morning, April 27, honoring the brides of the season, Miss Mary Ann Waldrop, Miss Virginia Perkins, Miss Hannah Proctor and Mrs. Graham Flanagan III. Miss Helen Stokes and her niece, Miss Ollie Stokes, from New Bern, greeted guests and introduced them to the hostesses and honorees. Receiving in the sun room were Mrs. Graham Flanagan, Mrs. Reid Perkins, Mrs. Herbert Waldrop, Miss Jean Graves of Raleigh and Mrs. Bert Bennett of Winston-Salem. Mrs. Dail Laughinghouse served coffee in the dining room. The table was covered with an organdy embroidered cloth over pink. In the center was a large garden hat of pink meline, the crown of which was made of fresh carnations. On every tray of refreshments there were smaller hats of meline ribbon which carried out the general color theme. Assisting in the dining room were Mrs. Charles Stokes, Mrs. J. Knott Proctor Jr. and Miss Grayson Waldrop. About seventy guests called during the social hour.

Decisive Day For Nursing School

Efforts to obtain the much-needed state-supported school of nursing for Eastern North Carolina have advanced another step with the setting of a public hearing on the matter this week before the Joint Appropriations Committee of the General Assembly.

It's Up To The Adults Not Their Children

"I can control the students, but I have no control over the parents." Those words of the Tabor City school principal who is the center of a school controversy that has resulted in a student strike aptly described the situation in Tabor City and Fayetteville where a similar student strike took place. They might equally apply to every other school and school district in North Carolina.

In both Fayetteville and Tabor City students have recently gone on strike because the school board failed to re-elect their school principals. In Fayetteville the school board gave in to the students. What happens in Tabor City remains to be seen.

Bringing high school students into such a controversy over school administration personnel is not in the best interest of the public schools of any community. In both Tabor City and Fayetteville the situation could have been handled better by the adults—parents of the students—without bringing the kids into it.

These two situations in North Carolina are examples of cases where adults of a community—for lack of active participation in school affairs—fail to recognize a school problem and deal with it before it gets out of hand.

Is public interest in school affairs sufficient in the communities of Pitt County to prevent any difficult school situation from degenerating into a student strike?

themselves faced with an uphill battle in their attempts to have this school of nursing established. The necessary $170,000 for the coming biennium was not included in recommendations of the Advisory Budget Commission. Support for the measure has been on the increase, however, as the legislators from the East have pointed out the dire need for the new facility. Through the efforts of individual citizens from this part of the state, officials have been made aware of the acute shortage of nurses throughout Eastern North Carolina.

The success or failure of efforts to have this state-supported school of nursing established may well hang with the public hearing Wednesday before the Joint Appropriations Committee. Each of the 18 counties whose commissioners have endorsed the proposal for establishing the school of nursing should be well represented at the hearing. Each of the clubs and organizations in communities throughout this area which have endorsed the bill for the school of nursing should be represented at the hearing.

Even if time does not permit all these people being heard by the full committee, the sheer weight of numbers will indicate to the committee the great public interest in the school of nursing. It will show the important committee how concerned the people of Eastern North Carolina are for the future standards of medical care in this section because of the severe shortage of nurses. The proposed school of nursing is desperately needed if the standards of medical care in this section are not to be allowed to degenerate. The Joint Appropriations Committee and the legislature, which must consider the welfare of the people of North Carolina as a whole, can ill afford to assume the responsibility for declining medical care standards in Eastern North Carolina which appear almost certain if they fail to appropriate the meager amount of $170,000 for the proposed school of nursing.

Seeks Revamped Constitution

By LYNN NISBET

CONSTITUTION — Sen. Perry Martin of Northampton has a bill ready for introduction early this week calling for a constitutional convention to do a total job of revamping the State's basic charter.

Bills now pending in both branches of the Legislature call for the appointment of a commission to study needs and make recommendation for constitutional amendments.

Rep. Ed Gavin of Randolph has a bill calling for a commission of nine members. Sen. Claude Currie and others sent a bill last week calling for a commission of fifteen. Except for the size of the group the bills are very similar in their provisions.

The Currie bill is regarded as having full support of the administration. There is a little bit of resentment on part of some members that Republican Gavin beat the Hodges forces to the draw in introducing the constitutional commission idea.

Senator Martin says he has found a lot of support for his idea that the constitution should undergo complete remodeling to bring it up to date. Although it has been amended more than 100 times since its original adoption in 1868, it has not been generally overhauled since 1876.

Sen. Luther Hamilton of Carteret, whose long experience as a Superior Court judge qualifies him as nearly as any man in the Legislature to be called a constitutional lawyer, is among those who think a complete working over rather than piecemeal tinkering is needed. He also agrees with Senator Martin that the overhauling should be done by a large convention composed of men and women elected by the people, rather than by a small group appointed by the Governor.

PLAN — The Martin plan calls for a vote at the general election in November of 1958 on the question of whether a constitutional convention will be called. At the same election there will be chosen 100 delegates, one from each county, to sit in the convention if it is held.

The convention would be ordered for the summer of 1959, and the constitution or parts of it decided upon as the convention will be submitted for ratification by the people in the 1960 November election.

There are detailed specifications for nominating and balloting on convention delegates, and for operation of the convention if called. Main item is that membership would not constitute a public office, therefore officers in State county or municipal governments might serve.

The Gavin bill proposes a nine member commission to be appointed by the Governor and required to make recommendations as to amendments or rewriting the constitution to the next General Assembly.

The Currie bill calls for a 15 member group to report with recommendations to the Governor prior to July 1, 1958, leaving it up to the Governor whether to call a special session of the General Assembly to consider the changes proposed.

Both Currie and Gavin would invade the contingency and emergency fund for commission expenses.

Opinion among legislators is that the Currie bill has best chance of passage, because of administration backing; but that proposed changes in the constitution would be more acceptable to the people if debated and approved by a popular convention rather than a hand-picked committee.

PARTY LINE — North Carolinians may split their ballots in voting for candidates in local and national elections, but they stick close to the party line when it comes to State officers.

C. V. Henkel of Iredell has compiled a percentage list of votes cast in 1952 and 1956 for the ten elective administrative officers — Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Attorney General, secretary of State, Auditor, Treasurer, Superintendent of Public Instruction, Commissioner of Agriculture, Commissioner of Labor and Commissioner of Insurance.

In 1956 the spread in percentage of the total vote received by Democratic and Republican candidates was only one-half of one per cent. In 1952 it was four-tenths of one per cent. Last year Governor Hodges got 66.9 per cent of the votes cast for Governor, his Republican opponent got 33.1 per cent. For Attorney General the Democratic nominee received 66.4 per cent, the Republican candidate 33.6 per cent. These were the widest and narrowest spreads in percentage.

Four years earlier the Democratic Superintendent of Public Instruction was highest with 67.9 per cent against his opponents 32.1 per cent. That year the Democratic Governor received 67.5 per cent and the Republican 32.5 per cent.

Not only was the spread between party candidates wider in 1956, the total vote was smaller and the Democratic percentage was lower. The 1952 Democratic vote ranged from 67.9 per cent down to 67.5 per cent, while in 1956 it ranged from 66.9 per cent down to 66.4 per cent.

"This proves conclusively that it isn't the popularity of one of two candidates, but loyalty of the people to the party line that elects Democrats," said Senator Henke. "That fact gets further proof from the voting record, there being only 35,000 difference in highest and lowest number of votes cast for any office."

Gossip Column Of 1882

NEW YORK (AP) — Just 75 years ago this month August Luchow, a waiter from Bavaria, borrowed $1,500 and opened a restaurant that soon became and remained a world famous celebrity haunt.

Budget Battle Climax Coming

By ELMER ROESSNER

A spectacular climax to the Battle of the Budget is in the making.

Budget-cutting Congressmen have been reacting to the praise they received from voters during their Easter vacation. At the moment, even deeper slashes look like the sure way to greater popularity — and re-election.

President Eisenhower's counterattack may be more dramatic than expected. Cuts so far endanger his powers to conduct foreign affairs, weaken his hand in opposing communism abroad, and threaten this prestige at home.

An appearance before Congress as well as a radio-television appeal to voters back home is probable — in fact, almost imperative to prevent one of the worst defeats of Administration.

There are more predictions of things to affect business, based on analyses of developing trends and a few tips:

TV bargains. Sales of sets in some areas have failed to keep up with even conservative estimates and many dealers are preparing to cut prices deeply to unload.

COSTLY SMOKES. Cigarette price rises. Manufacturers, despite good profit showings last year, are being squeezed by higher labor and freight costs. Before summer's out, your favorite brand may cost a cent a pack more.

Oil company spanking. Petroleum companies are in the doghouses of all legislators except those from oil-rich districts. They were lagged in stepping up shipments to friendly nations during the Suez crisis and they boosted prices at home so much they made record profits during the first quarter of this year.

No more postal "strikes." Congressional action is being planned to prevent action either by the Post Office or Congress to cut service as was done a few weeks ago. Representative Joel T. Broyhill (R-Va.) is getting grass-roots, business and interparty support for such legislation.

ly hot summer after several with subnormal averages, are turning on charm and advertising. Excessive hold-over inventories have been largely liquidated, production costs and prices have been trimmed and this may be the biggest year for chilled atmosphere yet.

OLIVE OIL, LIGHT HATS. Bountiful olive oil. The current crop in the Mediterranean basin is large and the quality good; Turkey is buying American talloir for soap to free oil for export. American imports should be large, at no advance in price.

No credit controls in 1957. Despite the high total of outstanding consumer credit, talked-of controls will not be sought by the Administration. In fact, many government economists would like to see consumers run the risk of a little more installment buying to keep retail sales and production up.

More crackdowns on leather substitutes. The leather industry, boiling about the offering of plastics as leather products, is planning more legal action against the practice. Nine tanners have already asked for an injunction against one alleged mislabeler. Cheaper electricity. Despite rises in wages and costs of materials, electric power rates may be trimmed in many areas. More production and the coming of atomic electrical energy promise future cuts.

Biggest soft-ice cream year. Over winter hundreds of soft-ice cream stands had been built and by the Fourth of July the total will be 12,000. Paul D. Granning, Dairy Queen executive, predicts sales of 150,000,000 gallons at all stands this year.

Air-conditioner boom. Manufacturers, counting on an unusual

LIFE EASILY DRAINS AWAY There are little portable radios on the market which fit snugly into a leather carrying case. Recently we pushed ours into the case and were unconscious of the fact that in so doing we had turned the radio on very slightly — not enough that any sound could be heard but enough to eat up the battery. Slowly but surely, over a period of several days, the drain went on. Then, when we took the radio out of the case, we found the instrument was mute.

even the person involved. But little by little, through compromise, laziness, taking the path of moral least resistance, the personality changes and the will power diminishes. One sinks first into weakness, then into corruption, and at last into a state of moral insensibility as marked by the deadness and unresponsiveness of a radio set which had ceased to be fed by electric power.

WASHINGTON — The McClellan Committee's expose of bossism and corruption in certain labor unions will lose a great deal of its beneficial effect on labor's rank and file, unless it proceeds with equal zeal and vigor against offenders on the management side of the fence.

ON LABOR PROBLEMS Another factor which tempers labor's earlier indignation against Beck is Senator McClellan's known conservation on labor problems. He voted for the Taft-Hartley Act and believes that it should be strengthened. He recently introduced a right-to-work amendment to the Civil Rights Bill, which is anathema to unions because it bars the closed shop.

Camp Hardee Day Proclaimed

Camp Hardee, owned and operated by the Pitt County Girl Scout Council, hummed with activity on April 27, which was proclaimed "Camp Hardee Day." Every Brownie and scout troop in the county was invited to visit the camp. The girls spread their nosebag lunches on the beach; others took advantage of the outdoor fireplaces and cooked their lunch on the camp grounds. One troop found a sheltered spot on the beach and built camp fires at which they increased their outdoor cooking skills. Since the weather in April is uncertain and there were not enough lifeguards present to take care of such a large crowd, no swimming was planned. However, few could resist the urge to wade in the waters of the Pamlico. After lunch some troops played games on the beach; others took sun baths and others hiked along the waterfront. During the afternoon Mrs. J. K. Proctor, Executive Director of the Council and a former Camp Director, conducted a tour of the camp grounds for girls who were not familiar with Camp Hardee. The cabins, lodge, craft hut, dining room, kitchen, baths and the infirmary were open for inspection, and Mrs. Proctor explained camp life and routines. The camp sessions will be scheduled as follows: 1st period—June 16 through June 29; 2nd period—June 30 through July 13; 3rd period—July 14 through July 27.

Mrs. D. M. Hollowell used for devotional thoughts "How To Study the Bible and Why."

Flower Displays Added Colorful Note At Bridge Club Meet

AYDEN—Many varied arrangements of spring flowers, featuring Sweetheart roses, purple iris and lilacs, narcissus, azaleas and sprays of Rock Rose blossoms added a colorful note to the meeting of the Friday Afternoon Bridge Club at the home of Mrs. Guy Taylor on East Second Street. Corsages and flowered hats worn by the guests lent further festivity to the occasion. During the game chilled fruit punch with salted nuts were served. The top score awards were presented to Mrs. Jack Quinerly and Mrs. William Everett. Second high was won by Mrs. W. W. Saulsbury. At the conclusion of the progressions, the hostess served a salad plate and hot coffee followed by a dessert.

CITIZENS OF GREENVILLE!

Tomorrow, Tuesday May 7th, you will be called upon to make vital decisions that could greatly affect our city and you as individual citizens during the next two years. You, as voters and taxpayers of this City will go to the polls to choose the five men who will govern our city, make important decisions on policy and operation, and either lead our fair city into further areas of progress, or backward into petty politics and confusion.

W. L. (Bill) Whedbee

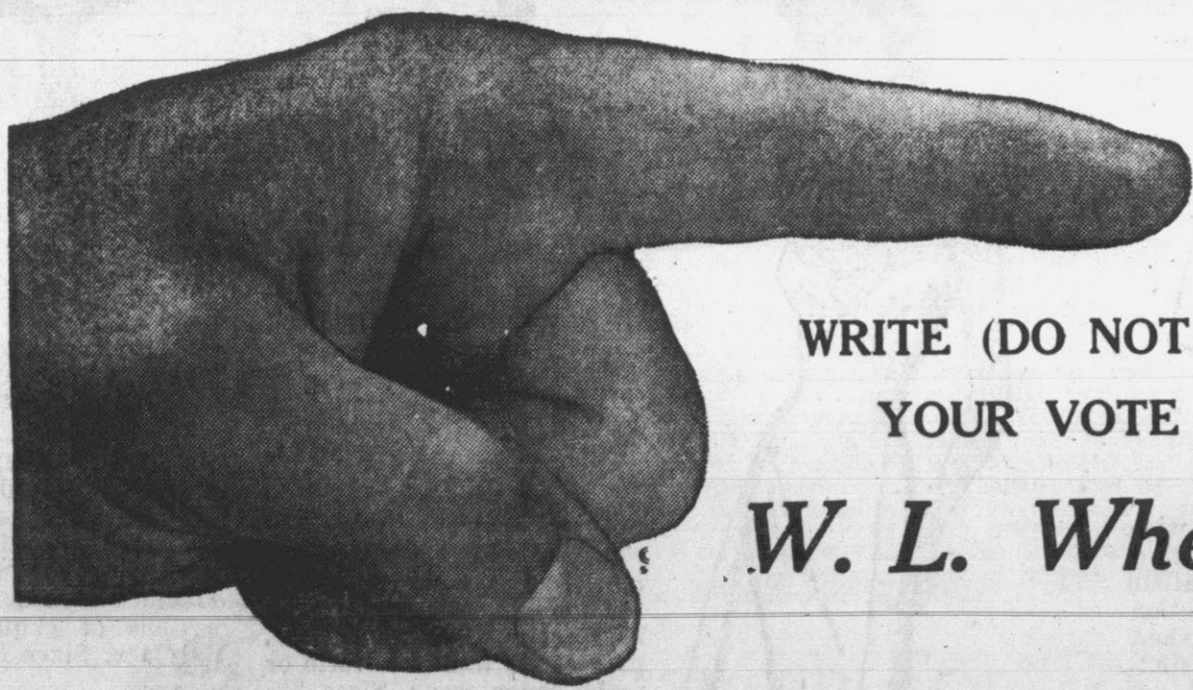

Governing a City the size of Greenville is big business, calling for capable Councilmen, efficient management, careful and considerate planning. Petty politics, selfish interest groups, bickering among officials and within departments can make a farce of our City government.

CITIZENS OF GREENVILLE: We must do everything in our power to continue good government in our city. We must continue to go forward under capable leadership. For this reason we ask you to write in the name of W. L. Whedbee for Council on Tuesday May 7th. We need this capable public servant as never before. His record as Councilman, and mayor, for the past four years speaks for progress and good, honest government. It is your responsibility as a citizen to vote in tomorrow's election!

Haney Put In Ernie, And He Won, Surprising All

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press
The question is: "Who did Ernie Johnson surprise the most—Brooklyn or his own manager, Fred Haney?"
The 32-year-old right-hander ranked somewhere back of everybody else on the Milwaukee pitching staff. Haney hadn't used him in a month.
When the Dodgers knocked out Eob Buhl for a 5-2 first-inning lead yesterday at Ebbets Field, Ray Crone was Haney's relief selection. It wasn't until the fourth, after Henry Aaron had belted a three-run homer to put the Dodgers lead to 7-6, that Haney gave Johnson a call.
Johnson hustled on, set down the first 16 men he faced and wound up with a 10-7 victory—knocking in the clincher himself with a single in a three-run fifth.
If Johnson had been troubled by a sore arm or wildness, it didn't show. He struck out five, walked just one and permitted one hit. Gino Cimoli's blooper to left in the ninth.
The New York Yankees took two from the Chicago White Sox 4-2 and 3-0 behind Bobby Shantz and Johnny Kucks—sweeping the three-game set and replacing Chicago in the American League lead by half a game.

Cincinnati put together the season's longest winning streak in either league, beating Pittsburgh 6-2 and 7-3 for seven in a row.
Elsewhere in the NL, the St. Louis Cardinals defeated Philadelphia twice 8-2 and 4-0 with ex-Phillies Del Ennis driving in five runs. The New York Giants and Chicago Cubs split, the Cubs winning 8-3 in 10, then losing 6-2.
Detroit, another AL "contender," made it four in a row with a 3-1 decision over Baltimore. Boston, after losing four, took two from Cleveland 5-1 and 4-3 but lost Ted Williams with a bruised elbow. Kansas City defeated Washington 7-2.
Detroit, another AL "contender," made it four in a row with a 3-1 decision over Baltimore. Boston, after losing four, took two from Cleveland 5-1 and 4-3 but lost Ted Williams with a bruised elbow. Kansas City defeated Washington 7-2.
Shantz collected his second complete game, a seven-inning effort at Chicago, striking out six and rolling home after Mickey Mantle's third homer, with one on, helped a three-run fourth against loser Billy Pierce. In the nightcap, Kucks had a three-hitter and the Yanks stuck to the fourth-inning script, with Elston Howard's two-run triple and an RBI single by Yogi Berra. Mantle pulled a groin muscle in the second game, but it wasn't thought serious.

The Redlegs also were touched by injury, with left fielder Frank Robinson, forced out of the second game after crashing a wall. It was Robinson's three-run homer that bagged the opener for Brooks Lawrence. Don Gross went all the way for the nightcap decision, helped by Gus Bell's second home run.
Ennis batted in three and Stan Musial two as the Cards scored four in the sixth and three in the seventh to win the opener after being held to three hits by Curt Simmons for five frames. Lloyd Merritt, gaining his first decision in the majors, shut out the Phils on three hits in five relief innings. Sam Jones then four-hit the Phils for the sweep, with Ennis singles beating Harvey Hadix.
The Cubs blew a 3-1 lead in the ninth inning of the opener, then came up with five in the 10th. In the second game, the Giants junked their five-game slump with the help of errors, walks and Daryl Spencer's two-run homer.
Williams was struck on the forearm by one of reliever Stan Pitula's pitches at Cleveland as the Red Sox scored four unearned runs in the first inning to beat Bob Lemon. Jackie Jensen homered for two and Gene Stephens, subbing for Williams, doubled home the clincher in the second game to beat Mike Garcia.
Harvey Kuenn, who homered in the first, singled to open the seventh as the Tigers broke a 1-1 tie with Charlie Maxwell's two-run single for Frank Lary's second victory.
Harry Simpson drove in four runs and the A's pulled four doubleplays to give Tom Morgan a 2-2 record with a 10-hitter against the Nats.

Hurled One-Hitter

BOYCE COX, Winterville hurler, held Grifton to one hit Tuesday afternoon, as the Winterville club posted a blistering 11-1 victory. Leroy Mills, shortstop on the winning club, paced the batting with a triple and two singles. Cox went the full seven innings for Winterville. (Photo by Tommy Oglesby).

Derby Brings Up A New Way To Lose A Tight Horse Race

By ORLO ROBERTSON
LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Something trainer Jimmy Jones learned less than a week ago and the 101st way to lose a horse race carved a niche in Kentucky Derby history for Iron Liege, the equine buck private from Calumet Farm.
Iron Liege, considered merely a good horse in Calumet's well-armed 3-year-old division of which Gen. Duke was the supreme commander, won America's most glamorous horse race Saturday in a fighting nose decision over Ralph Lowe's Texas-owned Gallant Man.
The victory was considered lucky by some today as they reviewed the running of the 1 1/4 miles on a raw, blustery day in 2:02 1/5. Willie Shoemaker, veteran jockey riding in his sixth Kentucky Derby, misjudged the finish line and stood up in Gallant Man's saddle momentarily some 70 yards from the end.
Others, however, were of the opinion that the little Irish-bred Gallant Man never would have headed Iron Liege as Willie Hartack whipped Calumet's son of Bull Lea to victory in the tightest finish in 24 years.
Not since Brokers Tip edged Head Play in the 1933 Churchill Downs "rodeo" has there been such a close finish.
The 1933 Derby, however, was, in contrast, a roughly run race with Don Meade, up on Brokers Tip, and Herb Fisher, astride Head Play, grabbing each other's saddle cloths and whipping the other's horse through the last sixteenth of a mile.
"I thought we had a terrific chance except for Bold Ruler even with Gen. Duke unable to start because of his injured front foot," said Jones. "But I discovered something in last Tuesday's Derby Trial that may have been the difference between victory and defeat."
Iron Liege was far back in the trial, won by Clifford Lussky's

Federal Hill with Gen. Duke second. And Jones was far from happy. "We managed to cover it up Jimmy, who was saddling his well Saturday." Jones added, "And I prefer not to disclose it."

Teen-er Loop Baseball Tryouts Starting Today

Try-outs for Teen-er League baseball got underway this afternoon at Guy Smith Stadium. All boys 13, 14, and 15 years of age interested in playing summer baseball in that league were urged to be present.

The city of Greenville, which sponsored Pony League ball here last year, has officially made the switch to Teen-er ball and the only differences between the two brands of ball are (1) Teen-er League ball is played on a regulation diamond, and (2) boys may play who are 15 years old. The only major requirement is that a boy may not be sixteen before August 1.

Last year when the State VFW Teen-er League Tournament was played here at College Field, local officials became interested in the league. The Gastonia team that copped the sectional tourney here, went on to the semi-finals at New Orleans, Louisiana.

Boys who played on Pony League teams last year and who are still eligible, will remain on their former teams. These boys will not report for practice until called by their respective teams. Others, who are not affiliated with a team, but who would like to play ball this summer, should report to the try-outs at Guy Smith Stadium during this week.

All participants in the trials are required to use their own equipment. Baseball or either tennis shoes are acceptable. The league will furnish catcher's equipment for the trials.

State vs. ECC Game Is Financial Success

A spokesman for the group of Greenville businessmen who sponsored the ECC-N. C. State baseball game of last Friday night, stated today that the project was "entirely successful."

The spokesman said that there were sufficient proceeds from the ticket sales to completely pay for the installation of new lights at Guy Smith Stadium, which totaled over $2,000. Also, from the ticket sales alone, this group was able to present to Coach Jim Mallory over $600 to be used for baseball scholarships in the future.

Profit from the concession stands was not known at the time of the statement, but the entire proceeds are to be used also for the ECC baseball scholarship fund.

The representative of the group of businessmen stated that "this game would not have been the success that it was if it were not for the tremendous amount of work done by those who spent their personal time and effort." He specifically praised the work of Gordon Goodman, Greenville Recreation supervisor, who spent over a month in preparing Guy Smith Stadium for the contest; Leonard W. Bloxam, city manager, who procured and installed the lights "in record time"; and George Koutroulias, who "tended to the many details it took to actually make the game a reality."

With the new lights and the revamped stadium in the best of condition, more night baseball is expected to come to Greenville. East Carolina College is planning to have more ball games at Guy Smith Stadium in the future and Greenville Teen-er League baseball is set to get underway there this summer.

Greenville High Golfers Defeat Kinston Squad

Greenville's high school golf team toppled Kinston 12 1/2 to 5 1/2 Friday afternoon in Kinston in a regular Northeastern Conference golf match.

For the Phantoms, the win was their fifth of the season against only one defeat. Only two matches remain on the 1957 schedule, both with New Bern high school. One of those matches is scheduled for this afternoon at New Bern.

Scoring for the Phantoms in the Friday match was as follows: Wesley Topping 76, Buddy Murray 79, Lucian Bryan Jr. 81, and Curley Phelps 81.

Larry Beck of Kinston was the medalist for the day with a one under par 69.

The Northeastern Conference season will end on May 10, this Friday, with the Conference Medal Play Tournament.

ECC Golf Team Returns To Fray

GREENSBORO—Coach Howard Porter's East Carolina golf team, which dominated the North State Conference golf scene for so long before finally getting knocked off the perch two seasons ago, will be back for another try today and tomorrow.
The Pirates, boasting only a so-so 4-2 record for the season, will bring four men to the Starmount Course this afternoon. The ECC team will be composed of Ira Land, Fred Sexton, Wayne Workman and Howard Beale.
The title was won last year by Elon.

Good Listening At ECC Band Concert

By GEORGE E. PERRY

The concert by the College Band of East Carolina College Sunday afternoon was another in the traditionally fine concerts by this organization. Under Herbert L. Carter's convincing direction, this group of musicians provided an hour or more of notable listening, which was earmarked by ensemble, and rhythmic precision.

Each concert seems to see notable betterment of one or more of the constituent choirs; this time the basses played better than ever before. They not only provided a substantial under-layer but in many instances performed important solo passages with commendable technique and musicianship.

The concert opened with a rousing march, which was almost meticulously conducted by student Charles Lovelace, the band responding well to his use of the baton. Following this came one of the most exciting and best performed numbers the band has ever done—the "William Tell Overture," handsomely transcribed for band by Eric Leidzen. Each of the work's four sections were beautifully handled: the quiet opening, the boisterous stormy passages, the melodic calm, and the militant closing. The horns did a fine job of opening the fourth section, and the oboe and flute are to be warmly commended for performing so well their difficult parts in the third portion.

I mentioned above that this concert was earmarked by its rhythmic precision, and this was especially noticeable in this work, and particularly in the fourth section, not only as an important under-current, but even when the entire band was given this galloping figure. Finally, the clarinets in this closing section did some impeccable work in some of the toughest playing they've ever had to do. Both tonguing and rhythm were as if done by a single player. I believe that the reason this piece came across so well is that students like to take a difficult work and really sink their teeth into it. The incentive to play is half of the battle.

Closing the first section of the concert was the Rimsky-Korsakov Concerto for Trombone, featuring soloist Charles Armstrong, who did a tremendous job with a technically difficult but musically-uninteresting score. He opened the work in a decisive manner, and in the first movement demonstrated both accuracy in intonation and flexibility of technique and tone. The second movement contained a well-wrought duet between the trombone and flute, marred slightly by a tuba which was a bit flat. There was nice tonal contrast shown in the cadenza of this movement.

But it was in the third movement that Mr. Armstrong's technique and embouchure got its real work-out. The cadenza of this movement took the instrument from its lowest to the highest of the four-octave range, as well as demanding some intricate slide-work.

After the intermission, student Ralph Chason conducted Latham's "Break Forth Oh Beautiful Heavenly Light," which contained some nice flowing tone and three well-graduated climaxes, which didn't burst out as climaxes often do, but which were led up to and out of under Mr. Chason's understanding baton. The bass work in the closing pedal-point section was exceptionally well-done. The modern work, "Legende" by Paul Creston, probably tied for top-honors with the "William Tell" as being the best work of the concert.

This was an interesting composition, containing some writing for brass-choir which was almost Wagnerian, an interestingly orchestrated middle section combining bass, oboe, and vibraharp which was almost Debussy-ish, and then the over-all contemporary quality so typical of Creston's writing. The difficult rhythm throughout was well-handled, and there was a well-controlled build-up to the final climax.

The "Blue Danube" didn't fare

GHS Honor Lists For Period Are Announced

Eight-and-a-half percent of Greenville High School's student body were named to honors lists at the high school for the fifth marking period.

Fifteen students made 1's on all subjects and 39 made 1's and 2's. None of the honor students made less than a 2.

Students who made all 1's included (eighth grade) Eddie Harrington; (ninth grade) Bill Clapp, Clark Brewer and Barbara McRoy; (tenth grade) Dot Davis, Laura Gurganus, Catherine Moore, Larry Carawan, Betty Derrick and Jasper Trapp; (eleventh grade) Mary Anne Bryant, Margaret Harrington and Carol Tadlock; and (twelfth grade) Ginger Sermons and Laura McArthur.

Proclamation

In the winning and defending of our American freedom, the volunteer spirit symbolized by the Minute Man of 1775 has always tipped the scales in our favor. In times of peace, that volunteer spirit has constantly overcome obstacles in the path of our progress. It is an outstanding trait in the American character to pitch in and help get the job done when a job needs doing for the common good.

Since 1941, the Minute Man of Concord as carved by Daniel Chester French is the statue that stands there "by the rude bridge that arched the flood" and has been the emblem of the volunteers who have carried on the greatest thrift program of all time: the United States Savings Bonds Program.

Thanks to the efforts of these bond volunteers during the past sixteen years Americans today hold in Series E and H bonds alone some $41 billion in savings for the future. More than that sum out of their bond savings has already been used to build millions of new homes, equip them for modern living, to improve old dwellings and farms, to educate young people for more useful and rewarding lives, to add to the comfort and security of retirement years, and in countless other ways to add to our enjoyment of the freedom and abundance in the homeland these Bonds have helped to defend.

I know no better way to fortify our economy against the challenges of the future than by joining in this Savings Bonds program to utilize this simple and completely safe way to save, and to encourage others to do likewise. There is no better investment in the world for the average saver than United States Savings Bonds.

In conjunction with Governor Luther H. Hodges and mayors of other cities, I therefore proclaim May, 1957, to be Minute Man Month and urge all able citizens to join in expanding the volunteer Savings Bonds program to meet the needs of our growing population and our great future.

quite as well. There was noticeable staggering of attacks and releases, and for once the strings of the orchestral version were obviously absent in the band-straion.

Morrissey's "Caribbean Fantasy" has been performed before by the band, but never better, the enlarged percussion section helping along these lines, and some fine trombone-choir work near the close.

Another march capably directed by student Roy Knight, and an encore, "Olympic Hippodrome" (a circus march without peanuts) closed the concert. This last, by the way, showed off the clarinets and piccolo to fine advantage.

Rae Foley's new mystery novel RUN FOR YOUR LIFE

CHAPTER 14

A slim, fair young man was standing in the lobby of the inn, waiting for Bert Huger to look up from the newspaper he was reading in the office.

The latter did so. "Looking for someone?"

"Well, actually—"

Before he could finish Nora cried breathlessly, "Hiram Potter! What a delightful surprise!"

Mr. Potter noticed in concern how thin she had grown, saw the dark shadows under her eyes, the look of strain around her mouth. Surprise, is it, he thought, and picked up his cue smoothly.

"Nora! I had no idea you were here. I thought I'd get in a nice

"Call for help?"

"I suppose it did sound like that. Come into the living room. There's so little time and I have so much to say. Did you know the police are going to re-open the case?"

"I assumed they would," Mr. Potter asked quietly. "Is that what is wrong? Are you afraid of the police, Nora?"

"No, not of them. It's worse than that. Either I'm going mad or someone is trying to kill me, and I hardly know which is worse."

She told him everything, the words tumbling over each other. When she had finished she was shaking from head to foot. He put his hands on her shoulders, gently forced her down into a chair.

"There are a few points I'd like to know more about," he said.

"First—changing your will. Have you signed the new one yet?"

"No. It won't be ready for me until tomorrow or the next day."

"You cut out the Demings, your aunt and the Hugers. Does that mean you believe one of them tried to kill you?"

"There isn't any other choice, is there?" Nora said.

"Oh, there might be," he said absently. "Your nurse, for one."

Nora shook her head. "Not Garry! In the first place, she is the only one who wouldn't profit by my death. And then—you don't know what I owe her. She nursed me in the hospital and probably saved my life. She looks after me like a mother."

"Why have you needed a nurse all these months?"

"I don't really," Nora said. "But I haven't picked up strength and my physician said he'd feel much happier if she continued to be with me. But why on earth—"

"Well," Mr. Potter said, "there are several points. One, she brought you the photograph of Candy. Two, she swooned on the conversation last night. Three, she is in love with Howard Ives, who is one of the few suspects for Candy's murder."

"Garry is in love with him?" she said incredulously. "How do you know?"

He told her about the accidental meeting which had so obviously been planned by the nurse. A woman on the porch if he had ever seen one.

"Garry!" she said at length. "Isn't there anyone at all I can trust except you and Stuart?"

He looked down into her eyes. "Let me do the worrying for a while," he suggested. "Tell yourself you've handed me the burden. Can you do that?"

Her eyes met his unblinkingly. "I can do that," she said.

"Fine! I'm here for action and champing at the bit to get started. Where do I find people around here?"

She smiled at his enthusiasm.

"Stuart is outside. Talk to him before you meet the others, so you won't be prejudiced. I want you to like him."

"I'm sure I shall. Now you run upstairs and change your shoes and stockings. They're wet."

He watched her go up the stairs. Then he sauntered out onto the lawn. Only one man was in sight, a good-looking fellow with the kind of shoulders Mr. Potter envied. For a moment he studied Stuart, Young without moving. First impressions were always important.

Before he had made up his mind to approach Young the latter, who had been looking down toward the lake, started purposefully in that direction. Mr. Potter drifted along behind.

Stuart had joined a slim, dark-haired woman who was standing beside the boathouse and Mr. Potter went closer. When he got within earshot Stuart was saying, "Look here, last night you said you didn't see Nora that day when you drove up to Lookout Point."

"Well, I didn't," Olive Riddle retorted. "And there's no point keeping at it."

"But in the first place—"

"In the first place, I thought I'd seen you both."

"But what did you tell the pro-money for college. A very nice girl. Her people have a dairy farm here and I drove her down so she could visit them."

"Four years at Brown so you can prepare yourself to escort waitresses. Give me those car keys, and send Tom Jones to me. I've got something to say to him."

Frank surrendered the keys and hastened inside as though eager to escape. Mr. Potter looked after him thoughtfully.

To The Taxpayers of Greenville:

Dear Friends:

I have lived in Greenville for 37 years and I believe I can be of great help to you, the taxpayers.

When I came to Greenville it was a small town. For the last 15 years it has grown to be a large city, and naturally being in the plumbing business my business has grown with it. I am familiar with all the utilities, water sewer and gas lines; also the new annexes and streets. I am owner of the Electric Suppliers which is managed by my son-in-law, Frank Strawn, and I am a plumbing and heating contractor and work around 12 hours every day. I would say that I am a successful business man which both of our local banks will acknowledge. I would say that a large majority of the taxpayers of Greenville know me and if you don't, ask your next door neighbor or your pastor or call your banker, he will know me. Having been here for 37 years and having grown with the city, I feel from the experience I have had, that I should offer my services to the taxpayers. My work is spread all over town, and having to look after my work naturally makes it easy for me to see just what is going on, and I see so many things that should be done for you, the taxpayer.

I am an active member of the Memorial Baptist Church and I am on the Board of Trustees of Chowan College, a Mason and a Shriner, having both Scottish Rite and York Rite ways.

I have always been conservative, but I believe in having everything you need if you are able. It has always been my motto to give as much for just as little as possible. So I am asking you, the taxpayer, when you go to the polls to vote for 5 good business men, to give me your support. If I am elected, I will do everything in my power to give the taxpayer full value for every tax dollar you pay.

Be sure you are registered and vote in the city election to be held on May 7th.

Thank you very much.

J. D. AMAN
"The Taxpayers' Friend."

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK — The stock market continued irregular early this afternoon with a slight tendency to the upside.

Leading stocks were ahead just below the 1957 highs but trading was slightly less than the end of last week when the market almost penetrated the year's high.

Rails made a somewhat better showing than other major divisions. There were also fair gains among some of the oils. Motors were firm. Steels were mixed as industry reports were of fewer incoming orders than anticipated.

Wall Street observers looked for some consolidation after last week's vigorous market action and there was little in the way of news to spur prices one way or the other.

Northern Pacific rose more than a point. Gains of close to a point were made by New York Central and Baltimore & Ohio. Pennsylvania Railroad was up fractionally. Santa Fe, Southern Railway and Southern Pacific were steady.

Gulf Oil stepped ahead around a point while Amerasia added a point. Sinclair dropped a small fraction as did Texas Co.

Loew's enjoyed somewhat more activity than usual, rising around a point. An encouraging Wall Street report about this firm's prospects under its new management spurred interest. Paramount gained a fraction.

U.S. Steel slipped a fraction as its annual stockholders meeting got under way. Penn-Texas dropped a major fraction as proxy fight atmosphere prevailed at its annual meeting. Hertz gained a couple points in scant trading.

Major chemicals were mostly lower but Du Pont gained more than a point. General Motors and Chrysler were firm to higher. Goodyear did little despite encouraging first quarter reports. Kennecott Copper was down a major fraction while Anaconda rose slightly.

RALEIGH (NCDA)—Hog prices steady to mostly 25 lower. Tops of 16.75 to 17.50 at Tarboro, Enfield and Rocky Mount; 16.50 to 17.25 at Pine Level, Princetown, Blackman Crossroads, Wintate and Bethel; 16.50 to 17.00 at Kinston, New Bern, Benson, and Nahant; 17.25 at Hillsboro; 16.25 to 16.75 at Siler City, Mount Gil-ead and Denton; 17.00 at Castle Hayne and Murfreesboro; 16.75 at Shalotte, Mount Olive, Bailey, Dunn, Clayton, Clarkton, Whiteville, Smithfield, Newton Grove and Lumberton; 16.50 at Fayetteville, Rich Square, Clinton, Goldsboro, Elizabethtown and Micro.

RALEIGH (NCDA)—North Carolina poultry markets: fryers and broilers unsettled, farm price 17 to 17 1/2, mostly 17.

Raleigh eggs steady. A large 32-34; Durham eggs steady. A large 29-32; Asheville eggs steady. A large 32-35; Charlotte eggs steady. A large 32.

REV. L. W. TOPPING

Pastor Resigning For S. C. Post

The Rev. Leonato W. Topping, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Greenville for the past 10 years, has resigned his pastorate here to become associate pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, Spartanburg, S. C.

Rev. Topping tendered his resignation last night at a joint meeting of the Board of Elders and Board of Deacons of the church. He will complete his work in Greenville on June 15 and begin his new duties in Spartanburg July 1.

As associate pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Spartanburg, Rev. Topping will be in charge of the pastoral care, visitation and congregation mission program of the church. His new duties will carry with them the work of counseling.

Rev. Topping came to Greenville in November 1947 as pastor of the First Presbyterian Church. He is a past president of the Greenville Ministerial Association and for six years has been a member of the Greenville Recreation Commission of which he has been chairman for the past year.

"We've never been happier any place than in Greenville," Rev. Topping said. "Greenville is like home to us."

Pedestrian Hit By Auto Sunday

Offie Suggs, 47-year-old Negro man of 312 Wade Street narrowly escaped fatal injury when hit by an automobile last night.

Suggs suffered a broken left leg and shock and was transferred to Pitt Memorial Hospital by the Rescue Truck shortly after the accident took place at approximately 9:50 p.m. His condition was described as "satisfactory" this morning by an attending physician.

City Police quoted the driver of the automobile involved in the collision, Watson Spain, 45-year-old Negro of 210 Cadillac St., as saying that the pedestrian stepped out into the street directly in the path of his vehicle. Spain stated that lights from an oncoming car blinded him and he did not see Suggs until it was too late to avoid hitting the injured man.

Investigation is incomplete.

A two-car collision occurred this morning at 7:15 a.m. about two miles east of Ayden on N. C. Highway 102.

Involved in the accident were: Walter Ashley Stocks of Ayden Rt. 2 and Mrs. Idell Williams White of 1303 Washington Street. There were no personal injuries.

Investigating officer Pfc Bill Whitehurst of the State Highway Patrol charged Stocks with careless and reckless driving. Damage to both 1957 automobiles was estimated at $550.

A Greenville woman lost control of her automobile on the Pactolus highway but was uninjured when the vehicle turned over and caught fire.

Patrolman Dick Tayloes stated that Erma Perry, 46, was not injured when her 1953 vehicle left the road and turned over early Sunday morning. The accident took place around 6:30.

Damages were estimated at approximately $300. The fire went out shortly after it started, according to the investigating officer.

CONSTIPATED? New laxative discovery un-locks bowel blocks without gag, bloot or gripe

Constipation is caused by what doctors call a "thrifty" colon that, instead of retaining moisture as it should, does the opposite: robs the colon of so much moisture that its contents become dehydrated, so dry that they block the bowel, so shrunken that they fail to excite or stimulate the urge to purge that propels and expels waste from your body.

To regain normal regularity, the dry, shrunken, constipating contents of your colon which now block your bowel must be re-moistened. Second, bulk must be brought to your colon to S-T-E-E-P-C-H STIMULATE it to action; to a normal urge to purge.

And, of all laxatives, only COLONIAID, the amazing new laxative discovery possesses COLONIAID's great moisturizing capacity, plus COLONIAID's stretch-stimulating bulk. So effective it relieves even chronic constipation overnight, COLONIAID is yet so smooth, so gentle it has proved safe even for women in critical stages of pregnancy.

Superior to old style bulk, salt or drug laxatives, COLONIAID's better gas-bloats nor gripes; won't interfere with absorption of vitamins and other valuable food nutrients; in clinical tests, did not cause rash or other reactions.

It's a physiological fact: Exercise tones your body! And COLONIAID exercises your colon to tone it against constipation, overnight! Get COLONIAID, in easy-to-take tablet form at any drug counter, today! Only 98¢ for the 60 tablet package, brings positive relief at less than 2¢ per tablet.

I Hereby Offer My Candidacy FOR CITY COUNCILMAN For The City Of Greenville

I feel that the voters in Greenville know me well enough to give my candidacy due consideration and cast their vote for me on Tuesday May 7th. Having held public offices in the city as policeman, then chief of police, then I was elected mayor of Greenville. Making a total of 25 years of service for the public in Greenville. I promise now, as I have done previously, to give an honest and unbiased duty if elected, showing no special favors to any individual or groups.

I solicit your vote, on my past experience and my ability to serve all citizens equally.
