City's Gas Lines Pass Check-Up

A survey of the city's gas system has shown the system in good condition, Utilities Superintendent Leonard Bloxam told the Utilities Commission last night.

Bloxam said the survey, made by an outside firm, has disclosed 26 leaks in the gas mains. That is a reduction of about one-fourth under the number of leaks found last year.

Bloxam said this morning that the surveyers had said the gas system is in "A number 1 condition."

The number of leaks which they found were below what they usually find, they said.

Bloxam said all the leaks found were minor and work on repairing them is about 60 per cent complete. All should be repaired by the end of next week.

Utilities commissioners signed papers finally releasing $146,000 in REA revenue bonds which have never been issued.

They are part of an original $910,000 issue for construction of rural lines. Some $600,000 of that amount was actually sold and $310,000 was canceled earlier.

There is no further use for the remaining $146,000 in bonds. Although they have never been sold, the amount is still considered by the Local Government Commission when the city asks permission to issue additional bonds.

The unused REA bonds will be burned when final permission comes from the Federal government.

The commission last night approved a contract from CPA John C. Proctor for auditing the Utilities books this year. The job will cost $25.

Superintendent Bloxam reported that 60,000 gallons of water were pumped from the newly-constructed deep well at 13th and Washington Sts.

Use of the well is expected to increase as water demand climbs during the summer months. Bloxam also reported on progress of various water, sewer and electric projects.

The decision was announced yesterday by the State Department.

$20 Billions For Science Favored

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP) — Twenty billion dollars should be raised by private endowment to establish in this country "the greatest scientific, engineering and technological institution in the world," a retired University of North Carolina mathematics professor recommended last night.

Dr. Archibald Henderson made his proposal for a national science university at a meeting of the Elisha Mitchell Scientific Society which honored Dr. Elisha Mitchell, one of the state's pioneer scientists.

Dr. Mitchell, a Connecticut native and Yale graduate, became a faculty member of the University of North Carolina here in 1818. He determined in 1835 that Black Dome Mountain (now called Mount Mitchell) in Yancey County is higher than Mt. Washington in New Hampshire, which until then had been considered the highest point on the continent.

Last night's meeting was the first in a series planned this year to honor Dr. Mitchell. The scientist lost his life in 1857 on a trip alone into the Black Mountain Range to check his calculations. It was assumed he fell off the precipice of Mt. Mitchell, known now as the highest point in America east of the Mississippi.

Another ceremony to honor Dr. Mitchell is set for June 27 a title summit of Mt. Mitchell where the scientist is buried. D. Hiden Ramsey of Asheville, chairman of the State Board of Higher Education, will speak.

A. M. Burke, a vice president of the Occidental Life Insurance Co. of California, testified that he returned the 1951 financial statement to Beck in 1953 or in 1954. He said this was before Beck had paid off a $273,000 personal loan from the insurance company on a note signed by Beck and Mrs. Beck.

Burke said the statement was returned at Beck's request. Burke related that the company had required the financial statement when it made the loan in 1951.

He identified a memorandum he had written for his files in which he said Beck, in the financial statement, had listed assets of $1,052,715 and liabilities of $234,000, representing a loan he had obtained from the Security First National Bank of Seattle.

The memorandum said that in the statement Beck had declined to give a statement of "salary and benefits."

Burke testified that Beck telephoned him one afternoon just five minutes before the Occidental office was to close for the day, and asked for return of the statement.

"He said it was very imperative that he have it that night," Burke said.

He said he mailed it to Beck that evening, without making a copy of the document for the files.

"The financial statement had served its purpose," Burke said, when asked why he didn't make a copy.

"If the loan been paid off," asked Chairman McClellan (D-Ark.).

"No, sir," Burke replied. But he said Beck was current in his payments on the loan.

Urges Survey Of Dixie Ore Reserve

WASHINGTON (AP) — An Interior Department survey of the potential of iron ore reserves in Georgia, Alabama, Tennessee and the Carolinas would be directed in a bill Sen. Talmadge (D-Ga.) plans to introduce today.

Talmadge said in a statement he will make to the Senate upon introduction of the bill that it is well known among geologists that there is an abundance of iron ore in the Southern Appalachians.

Some geologists, he said, are convinced that these deposits—which are not as rich as those of the Mesabi Range in northern Minnesota—are of commercial value.

"This value is enhanced by the facts that adjacent to these iron ore deposits are extensive deposits of bituminous fuels essential to the production of steel and that abundant transportation facilities are afforded," Talmadge said.

He mentioned the Tennessee River waterway, the Coosa-Warrior River waterway, the Alabama-Tombigbee River waterway, the Appalachicola-Chattahoochee-Flint River waterway, the Savannah River waterway and the continuous railroads of the area.

Talmadge's bill provides for a report by the Interior Department on the findings of its survey within 180 days of the enactment of the bill.

"In this survey the full resources of the Georgia State Department of Geology and the Department of Geography and Geology at the University of Georgia will be available to the interior department," Talmadge said.

The senator said Sens. Russell (D-Ga.), Hill (D-Ala.), Sparkman (D-Ala.), Kefauver (D-Tenn.), Scott (D-N.C.), Erwin (D-N.C.), Johnston (D-Sc.) and Thurmond (D-Sc.) have agreed to join him as co-sponsors.

All military shipments except spare parts were suspended last summer after Tito and the Soviet leaders patched up relations.

Sen. Bridges (R-NH), chairman of the Senate Republican Policy Committee, said last night he considered the decision to resume shipments "a great mistake."

"I'm opposed to it," he said. Along with Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) and others, I led the fight against aid to Yugoslavia last year, and I still feel the same way about it."

The issue now is expected to take shape in both the Senate and the House when the lawmakers consider the President's proposed new $3,880,000,000 foreign aid program. Presumably efforts will be made to write into the new bill a provision barring assistance to Yugoslavia.

The State Department announcement said failure of the United States to deliver arms since last summer has produced "serious disadvantages" in Yugoslavia's defensive position.

Neighboring countries allied with Russia have been—and are still being—re-equipped with modern Soviet military supplies," it said.

The State Department linked the new decision to Yugoslavia's sympathy for the independence uprising in Hungary last fall.

Sen. D. J. Rose of Wayne, a physician, said the bill was "not practical" and would not accomplish its purpose.

He pointed out sterilizations involve major surgery which carries a certain risk of the patient's life. Such women, he declared, would not consent to sterilization operations and no qualified surgeon would perform such an operation without the patient's consent.

Rejected

RALEIGH (AP) — Legislation to reapportion House and Senate seats in line with 1950 census figures was rejected today by the House Committee on Senatorial Districts.

Despite pleas from sponsors that lawmakers heed the mandate of the state constitution to reassign seats in line with population, the committee gave unfavorable reports to two bills dealing separately with House and Senate reapportionment.

Rep. Thomas Turner of Guilford urged "serious consideration" for his bill to redistrict the Senate. Turner told the committee he felt he had "a legal and moral obligation under my oath to attempt to do something" about reapportionment.

Eisenhower Sees 'Trouble' If Defense Budget Slashed

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower said today that if Congress trifles with defense spending the country is going to be in trouble.

Eisenhower made the statement at a news conference in commenting on reports that a House Appropriations subcommittee has decided tentatively to cut the Defense Department's request for new appropriations by 2 1/2 billion dollars.

Eisenhower said he believes the department has taken the position that new defense appropriations could be cut about a half billion dollars.

But he went on to say that if the House subcommittee goes beyond that point and makes an additional honest cut of two billion dollars, he wants to see just how it is done.

Eisenhower said he has been around Washington a good many years. Then he added that if we are going to trifle with defense spending, we are going to be in trouble.

He said that if such cuts as reported are possible, he is going to have to be educated all over again.

A good part of Eisenhower's news conference was devoted to a discussion of the administration's $71,800,000,000 spending budget.

and Eisenhower's defense of that program in a nationwide television radio address last night.

Eisenhower, wearing a brown suit with a white shirt and brown figured tie, also discussed these other matters:

POLITICS — Eisenhower said he believes he is growing more conservative so far as his political philosophy is concerned.

He made that remark with a smile when a newsman told him some Republicans believe he has been moving somewhat to the left.

Far from it, Eisenhower said. He went on to say he is absolutely against trifling with the nation's financial integrity, for example.

ISRAEL — Eisenhower said he sees no objection to Israel's sending a ship through the Suez Canal as a peaceful test.

He added that on the other hand any use of force in such a test would be reprehensible.

DISARMAMENT — The whole matter of Russia's limited "open skies" disarmament proposal is still under earnest study, Eisenhower said.

Where the study will end up he said he couldn't possibly predict.

Eisenhower's remarks were keyed to Secretary of State Dulles' suggestion yesterday that Alaska, Northern Canada and Siberia might be a good starting place for testing an aerial inspection agreement with Russia.

As Dulles did, Eisenhower said this government so far has taken no official position regarding that matter.

The original Russian proposal would have opened up most of the Western part of the United States to aerial inspection in trade for large sections of Siberia. Dulles said the two areas could not be equated.

LEE — Eisenhower joined heartily in a round of laughter touched off when a reporter brought up the tour of the Gettysburg battlefield last weekend by the President and British Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery.

After that tour Eisenhower and Montgomery agreed that Lee and Meade, the two commanders of the Southern and Northern forces at Gettysburg should have been "sacked."

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower told the American people last night a great spending reduction in the face of Soviet atomic might would amount to "a gamble with the safety of our country."

"There is no cut-rate price for security," he said in a nationwide television-radio address. He said Russia is capable of "the supreme folly" of trying to destroy the free world if her rulers ever feel safe to do so, and military power is needed to dissuade them.

The President put his popularity to a test and his military prestige on the line in an effort to halt the congressional budget-cutting attack on his $71,800,000,000 spending program for the fiscal year starting July 1.

But the verbal attack continued in the wake of fresh Senate committee cuts.

The general attitude of the budget critics, some within Eisenhower's own party, was voiced by Senate Republican Leader Knowland of California. He said Eisenhower had "ably outlined the magnitude of the budget problem" but "within the next few weeks Congress will constructively demonstrate how at least three billion dollars can be saved without any damage to the essential defense requirements of the nation."

There also was agreement with the President on the GOP side. Sen. Clifford P. Case (R-N.J.) said he "sure the American people and the Congress, will support, as I do," Eisenhower's "determination not to gamble with the strength of our nation."

Among the Democrats, Senate Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson of Texas agreed "as to the need for maintaining a strong national defense." But he added that if the administration managed to trim prebudget requests by 13 billion dollars, "a further review might disclose further economies that can be made" in the defense and other fields.

House Speaker Rayburn of Texas said he doubts that "the President's speech was helpful to his budget."

Eisenhower hammered hard and at length at what he called "the plain truth" that the price of peace is high.

Asserting that more than 45 billion dollars in the budget are earmarked for security programs, he said of the nearly 72-billion-dollar total: "No great reductions in it are possible unless Congress eliminates or curtails existing federal programs, or all of us demand less service from the government, or unless we are willing to gamble with the security of our country."

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — David Gantt, 42, up before a federal judge on a bootleg booze-running charge, pleaded: "I just can't hold a job on account of the hiccup. I go all to pieces."

It has been like that for years, Gantt said, adding that that anything he tackled — say helping out in a garage, the closest to a steady job he could remember — would be interrupted so much he just had to quit.

Gantt was arrested here some time ago by agents of the federal alcohol tax unit, who testified he had driven in from Greensboro, N. C., with 120 gallons of raw alcohol aboard.

The judge fined Gantt $100 and sentenced him to year in jail. Not a single hiccup was heard at the hearing.

Teamster Officials Meet With Meany On Problems

By NORMAN WALKER WASHINGTON (AP) — Dave Beck's fellow Teamsters officers go without him today to see AFL-CIO President George Meany on the giant trucking union's mounting corruption problems.

There was no advance indication the Teamsters chiefs intended to sue at the private conference for terms on how they might avoid a threatened ouster of their union from the AFL-CIO.

But Meany was expected to tell them that, if they want to stay in the AFL-CIO, Beck will have to step out as Teamsters president as an initial move toward a top-to-bottom Teamsters cleanup.

Head of the five-man Teamsters group seeing Meany is Einar O. Mohn, the union's administrative vice president, long a close associate of Beck.

Others are Vice Presidents James R. Hoffa, Detroit, Thomas L. Hickey, New York, William A. Lee, Chicago, and Joseph Diviny, San Francisco.

Beck has been the main target of Senate racketeers investigators, who have accused him of taking over $20,000 of his union's funds and using his official union position to get favors and personal money profits from employers and others.

Meany agreed to see the five-man delegation of Teamsters Union vice presidents only on the understanding that Beck's status as a suspended AFL-CIO vice president and Executive Council member would not be a subject for negotiation.

But it was hard to imagine how Meany and the Teamsters group could get very far in talking over Teamsters problems without coming head-on to the Beck problem.

Specific charges against Beck are the principal basis of AFL-CIO charges that the Teamsters Union itself is corruptly dominated.

Beck and other officials of the 1 1/2-million-member Teamsters organization have never yet conceded anything is wrong in their union or that any cleanup drive is needed or will be undertaken.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House Appropriations subcommittee was reported today to have tentatively decided to cut about 2 1/2 billion dollars from new appropriations requested by the Defense Department.

That reduction, if approved by the entire committee, would amount to about 7 per cent of President Eisenhower's request for 36 billion dollars.

Eisenhower's budget included proposed for later transmission to Congress, making the defense total 38 1/2 billions.

The tentative reduction would boost to slightly more than four billion dollars the total cut by the House or its committee this year on 14 appropriation bills involving requests for $55,700,000,000.

The cut in Defense Department appropriations reportedly was aimed mainly at maintenance, procurement and operation programs.

Defense Request Faces Big Knife

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House Appropriations subcommittee was reported today to have tentatively decided to cut about 2 1/2 billion dollars from new appropriations requested by the Defense Department.

That reduction, if approved by the entire committee, would amount to about 7 per cent of President Eisenhower's request for 36 billion dollars.

Eisenhower's budget included proposed for later transmission to Congress, making the defense total 38 1/2 billions.

The tentative reduction would boost to slightly more than four billion dollars the total cut by the House or its committee this year on 14 appropriation bills involving requests for $55,700,000,000.

The cut in Defense Department appropriations reportedly was aimed mainly at maintenance, procurement and operation programs.

House Republican Leader Martin (Mass.) quoted Eisenhower as saying yesterday he "would not want to assume any responsibility for the safety of the country" if Congress slashes the amounts he asked for aircraft and guided missiles. There was no indication whether these items were involved in the proposed cuts.

Committee members declined to be specific about where the cut were recommended.

However, several of them insisted that no essential programs would be hurt.

EXTENDED WEATHER FORECAST FOR N. C. Temperatures will average near normal and rainfall heavy through the period ending Monday. Not as warm Friday afternoon. Rain or clearing almost daily in scattered thundershowers.

TOKYO (AP) — A Japanese scientist took sharp issue today with an American doctor's contention that heavy cigarette smoking is a prime cause of lung cancer.

Dr. Alton Ohsner of the Tulane School of Medicine in New Orleans told a forum of 300 U.S. military and Japanese doctors he had never seen a lung cancer patient who was not a heavy smoker.

"Most Japanese I know smoke their heads off," retorted Dr. Komei Nakayama of Japan's Chiba University. "Do they get lung cancer? No."

"The cause of lung cancer is definitely a hereditary factor. The individual must first suffer from chronic inflammation of the lung. If he is hereditarily predisposed, he develops cancer. If not he doesn't."

Nakayama, who pioneered the use of radioactive phosphorus to detect cancer cells, puffed vigorously on a cigarette and queried: "If it was harmful, would I be smoking now?"

Last Minute Preparations For 'Crusade' Under Way

More than 25 churches in the Greenville area are making last minute preparations for the United Crusade headed by Evangelist Jimmie Johnson which begins here in Wright Auditorium Sunday night at 7:30 p.m.

Special prayer services are being held in churches throughout Greenville and Pitt County tonight in prayer for this religious Crusade.

The Rev. Robert B. Crawford, President of the Greenville Ministerial Association stated this morning "The Christian people of Greenville and vicinity are privileged to pray and work together in this united effort to help men and women find peace with God

Finance-Appropriation Reports Nearly Ready

RALEIGH (AP) — The Legislature's Finance and Appropriations subcommittees neared an end to their work today and looked ahead to making recommendations to their full committees.

The House Finance subcommittee expected to wind up today. But Senate Finance Chairman Nelson Woodson of Rowan said it might take a day longer for his subcommittee to complete its work.

When this is finished, the two subcommittees plan to meet jointly "to iron out minor differences, if there are any," said House Finance Chairman B. T. Falls Jr. of Cleveland.

The House Finance subcommittee, Falls reported, has voted against the Tax Study Commission's recommendation that license taxes be placed on a gross receipts basis. This proposed tax had drawn much opposition and had been given little or no chance of surviving.

The House group also voted against two other recommendations by the Tax Study Commission: that cities have authority to levy a tax up to $10 on motor vehicles and to place an occupational tax of up to $10 on wage earners making over $2,000 per year.

In turning down the proposed gross receipts license tax, the House subcommittee voted to replace it with the present schedule of flat fees for license taxes.

Meanwhile, the Senate Finance subcommittee voted against bills for tax relief for motion picture theatres and for liberalized provisions in refunding gasoline taxes to nonhighway users. At the same time, it approved a number of tax changes recommended by the study commission, including a change in taxation of banks.

The House subcommittee heard appeals for tax relief from representatives of theaters, bus companies, beer wholesalers, automatic vending machine companies, credit paper dealers and insurance companies.

John Morrissy, counsel for the North Carolina League of Municipalities, suggested to the subcommittee that so-called Powell Bill funds to cities and towns be increased from one-half to one cent per gallon of gasoline. This would mean an extra six million dollars surplus for the municipalities each year and would go for street work.

Rep. Ed Kemp of Guilford had a suggestion to provide such funds, even without dipping into the Highway Fund surplus. He said he had found a budgeting error in the Highway Department that could produce nine million dollars in extra gas taxes during the 1957-59 biennium.

Kemp said the department had estimated more gas would flow into the state in 1957-59 because it had predicted larger collections of bulk gas inspection fees, but it hadn't carried the forecast over into the gas tax collection estimates.

Meanwhile, the Joint Appropriations subcommittee approved the Highway Commission budget of more than 223 million dollars for the next biennium. It also approved more than 14 million in increased expenditures of highway funds for the same period, including four million for the betterment of state secondary and county roads.

Miss Waldrop Feted Monday At Luncheon

Miss Mary Ann Waldrop, bride of Saturday, was honored at a one o'clock luncheon given by Mrs. John D. Messick at her home on East Fifth Street, Monday.

Receiving at the door was Miss Waldrop, her mother, Mrs. J. H. Waldrop, sister, Grayson Waldrop, and hostess, Mrs. Messick. Miss Waldrop was dressed in a soft pink cotton with a corsage of sweetheart roses and lily-of-the-valley given to her by Mrs. Messick upon arrival.

Miss Hannah Proctor, a June bride-elect, directed the guests to the back hall where Mrs. M. L. Wright served punch. The table was decorated with a traditional bride doll who had a bouquet duplicate of the honoree.

In the dining room Mrs. J. H. Waldrop served a chicken case-sole. Mrs. J. B. Kittrell served molds of fruit. Guests helped themselves to the other accompaniments. The table was covered with an organdy cloth over pink satin, centered with a white and gold basket shaped like a wedding bell holding pink roses and White Baby Breath.

In the music room and sun parlor were tables set for six with silver bells and valley lilies decorating the placecards. On the mantel in the music room was an all-pink arrangement of peonies, roses, and larkspur flanked by four shell pink candles held in candelabras.

After the main course, Mrs. K. B. Pace and Mrs. J. Knott Proctor served ice cream in silver trays decorated with Dr. Van Fleet rosebuds.

Guests played a "Honeymoon" game with the bride-elect, Miss Waldrop winning. Her prize was a crystal salad-dressing bottle. The hostess gave the honoree a set of steak knives an honor gift.

Miss Manning Announces Bridal Party

Miss Anna Louise Manning, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Ashley Manning of Bethel, whose marriage to Louise Hines Taylor will take place June 9 at the Bethel Methodist Church, has chosen her sister, Mrs. L. L. Andrews, Jr., as her matron of honor.

The bridesmaids will be Miss Carolyn Manning, sister of the bride-elect, and Miss Patricia Anne Carson both of Bethel, Miss Phyllis Nelson, niece of the bride-elect, and Miss Janet Taylor both of Norfolk, Va. The flower girls will be Miss Jeanie Whitehurst, cousin of the bride-elect, and Miss Debbie Manning, niece of the bride-elect, both of Norfolk, Va.

Jerry Bernard Taylor, father of the bride-groom will be best man for his son. The ushers are F. Kirk Manning of Norfolk, Va. C. Ashley Manning, Jr. of Burgaw, Bobby Gene Manning of Summerfield, all brothers of the bride-elect and Vernon Von Druble, brother-in-law of the bride-groom of High Point. Mrs. Gideon D. Overman, Jr. of Norfolk, Va., will be Mistress of Ceremony.

COLUMBIA—Mrs. R. P. Rogers, president of District 15 of the North Carolina Federation of Women's Clubs, was the guest speaker Friday evening for the Columbia Woman's Club at their annual banquet meeting.

The meeting was held in the cafeteria of the high school building with husbands attending as special guests.

Mrs. Rogers used for her subject a quotation from George Eliot: "The reward of one duty done is the power to fulfill another." At the conclusion of her speech, Mrs. Rogers installed the new officers.

The speaker was introduced by Mrs. J. G. Brickhouse, president of the Columbia Woman's Club who presented Mrs. Rogers with a gift of china.

Two musical selections were on the program.

Garden Club Awarded State Honor

The Greenville Garden Club was presented a state award by the Garden Club of North Carolina, Inc. at the awards banquet held last night in Winston-Salem.

The award, a Powell Bowl, was given to the club in recognition of their beautification program of two years duration.

Mrs. S. H. Mitchell, district director, and Mrs. J. H. B. Moore, president of the Greenville Garden Club, are representing the club at this two-day convention.

For the last few years, this group has had as their projects the beautification of the Sheppard Memorial Library grounds, Elm Street Park, and Green Springs Park. Their work on Green Springs Park has been curtailed as they have been waiting for the timber to be cleared on the property.

According to Mrs. K. W. Cobb, recording secretary for the Greenville Garden Club "This is the first time in recent years that the Greenville Garden Club has won a state award and we are very honored."

John Davis Speaks To Woman's Club
FOUNTAIN—Mrs. W. E. Lang Sr. was hostess to the Fountain Woman's Club at her home in Walstonburg Tuesday afternoon of last week.

The president, Mrs. R. A. Fountain, welcomed seventeen members and four guests and conducted the business session.

Mrs. L. P. Yelverton, chairman of the Welfare Department, presented John D. Davis, pastor of the Fountain Baptist Church, who spoke on the subject "Gerontology." He closed his talk with a round table discussion by club members.

Mrs. Lang, assisted by Mrs. Truett Lang and Mrs. Earl Lang, served angel food cake and salted nuts.

County-Wide Flower Show Is Huge Success

MASSIVE ARRANGEMENTS—Mrs. Beasley Bell and Mrs. Albert Bell of the Fountain Club, and Mrs. S. M. Crisp, a visitor, stop to admire the more than 200 entries that were displayed at the county-wide flower show yesterday afternoon in the Home Agents Auditorium. In the foreground is the child's birthday party table entered by the Red Oak Home Demonstration Club. This table in red and green featured elf-like pixies in various moods and poses.

Approximately 200 entries were displayed, including individual specimens and club arrangements, in yesterday's county-wide flower show sponsored by the Pitt County Home Demonstration Agents.

These arrangements were on display yesterday afternoon in the Home Agents Auditorium. There was no judging at this show.

Three entries from each club were accepted, besides specimens from individual club members. "This is the first year we have had a county-wide flower show in many years and the enthusiasm for this project was wonderful," said Miss Lois Jones, assistant home agent, who was in charge of the flower show.

Three clubs entered special tables for the show—the bride table by the Ballards HD Club, a picnic table by the Renston Nobles HD Club, and a child's birthday party table by the Red Oak HD Club.

Packages of seeds were given each visitor as a favor. These were donated by H. L. Hodges, owner of H. L. Hodges Hardware Store. The wedding cake placed on the bride's table was donated to the Ballards HD Club by Mrs. Morton's Bakery.

Serving on the Flower Show committee were Mrs. J. B. Congleton and Mrs. Tyree Stokes of the Stokes club, Mrs. C. D. Langston of the Renston Nobles club, Mrs. Charles Jackson of the Red Oak club, and Mrs. Alton Suggs of the Cannon club.

Mrs. Brantley Speight was chairman of this committee.

Fountain HD Club Has Auction Sale
FOUNTAIN—Mrs. Albert Bell was hostess to the Fountain Home Demonstration Club May 9. The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Alton Moore

Twelve members and two visitors, as well as Mrs. Little, were present. A motion was made and carried to let the countywide meeting be the recreational meeting. It was decided to have the regular monthly meeting in July instead of August. A nominating committee was appointed to present a slate of officers at the June meeting. Mrs. Beasley Bell and Mrs. Joe Gay are on the committee.

Miss Hargrove Honored At Luncheon Party

Mrs. W. H. Woolard Sr. and Mrs. W. H. Williams were hostesses at a luncheon honoring Miss Mary Hargrove of Greensboro, who on June 15 will be married to Benjamin F. Craven of Greensboro.

Creamed turkey on toast, ham, tomato aspic and hot biscuits with other party foods were served with cream cheese pie for dessert. The guests were all relatives of the bride.

Mrs. T. M. Davis, a special guest, toasted the bride-elect and read a poem by Christopher Morley, a copy of which was presented to the bride-elect.

Mother's Day being so near, a tribute was paid the bride-elect's grandmother and hostess' mother. Antique china and silver in her chosen pattern were presented to the bride-elect. The door prize, hand-made pottery, was won by one of the guests, who in turn presented it to the bride-elect.

Each of the twenty guests was presented roses.

The house was decorated with roses, magnolia blooms, and other spring flowers.

Assisting in serving were Mrs. Hargrove, Mrs. Horton, Mrs. Ewell and Mrs. Modlin Little.

Miss Grace Ewell and Miss Alice Young presented gifts and passed the bride-elect's book to each guest.

Red Banks Club Has May Meeting

Assistant Agent Lois Jones gave the monthly demonstration when the Red Banks Home Demonstration Club met for their May meeting.

The subject of the demonstration was "Better Frozen Foods."

Mrs. Hugh Hardee Jr., president, called the meeting to order and the song "Church In The Wildwood" was sung.

A devotional was given by Mrs. E. H. Boyd. Mrs. E. L. Edwards led in prayer.

Welcomed into the club as new members were Mrs. Sam Adams and Mrs. Stanley Braxton.

Visitors for the afternoon were Mrs. B. H. Hardee, Mrs. O. L. Howard, and Mrs. Mary Harrington. Eighteen members were present.

A nominating committee composed of Mrs. Worth Hardee, Mrs. George Corbett, and Mrs. Preston Harrington Jr. was appointed by the president.

Reports were heard from the Health Leader, Mrs. S. B. Tucker, and Garden Leader, Mrs. Worth Hardee.

Plans were made and a committee was appointed to work on the display that will be placed in the window at Bostic-Sugg Furniture Company.

The president announced that the county progress program day would be held in June and urged everyone to be present.

Miss Jones announced the flower show will be held on May 14.

The members repeated the club collect after which refreshments were served by Mrs. H. R. Sutton who was hostess for the afternoon.

Our Water Problems Intertwined

What is the State Board of Water Commissioners going to do with all the information it gains on water problems from the series of hearings which are now going on in each county throughout the state?

That question is being asked now just as other questions about measures to cope with water problems in North Carolina have been asked for a number of years. Most of the problems which will be called to the attention of the Commissioners in the current series of hearings have been called to the attention of some official or another before. Perhaps this time, however, some concrete plan will be devised to cope with these numerous and diverse water problems.

If the first of the series of local hearings in Pitt County is any indication, the Commissioners will have before them many times the number of water problems as there are counties in North Carolina.

Look at the varied problems which were brought out at the Pitt County hearing: 1. Poisoning of crops harming fish in ponds and streams. 2. Clogged streams and swamps as a result of recent hurricanes. 3. Stream pollution because of the practice in some areas of dumping dead animals into rivers and creeks. 4. Inadequate highway drainage flooding lands and eroding farm drainage canals. 5. Debris left by logging operations obstructing streams.

The list could go on indefinitely. By the time the local level hearings are held throughout the state the State Board of Water Commissioners will have before them volumes of water problems. But the question remains, what is going to be done about these problems?

Will there be a comprehensive, all-inclusive plan for dealing with all the complex water and stream sanitation problems in North Carolina? Or will there be a loosely coordinated effort by various groups and agencies, each seeking to cope with a small segment of the problems without regard for the others?

North Carolina needs an overall plan for dealing with its water and stream sanitation problems. Until such a plan is mapped out and put into effect, the state and its individual localities cannot effectively cope with their water problems. Until such a plan is effected, North Carolina will continue to abuse its priceless water resources.

How many more years will be wasted, and how many more streams will be sacrificed to pollution before a plan is a reality in North Carolina.

Safer Drivers During The Years To Come

North Carolina's young drivers will be safer drivers in future years because of the state-wide driver training program provided for in legislation passed this week.

Tar Heels can be proud of this forward looking step toward highway safety that has been taken by the state. Many automobile owners may begrudgingly pay the extra $1 for their license plates during the first few years, but after that we believe even the most skeptical will admit that the program has made for safer highways in North Carolina.

The records of other states which have such a program have shown a marked improvement in the driving record of young people.

Though legislation providing for the program already has passed, there is much to be done by school officials before the program can be put into effect. These matters, such as providing qualified teachers, obtaining sufficient classroom space for the course and the other details involved, should be taken care of as quickly as possible. Funds will be available for operating the program in schools throughout North Carolina beginning in September 1958. Each school in the state should see that it is ready to offer this program to its students by that time.

The legislation which provides for the program, and the money which is realized from the extra $1 for each automobile license plate will mean little unless the driver-training course is made available to young people.

North Carolina has taken a major step toward making its highways safer by providing this driver-training program. The greater the number of young people who complete the course, the safer the state's highways can be in future years.

That Variable Annuity Topic

By ELMER ROESSNER

You are going to read more and more about "variable annuities." You may read a bit tomorrow, when the District Court for the District of Columbia is scheduled to hold final hearings in a case involving them. You will see more when the decision is announced and, perhaps, again when it is appealed. You will read in this newspaper and elsewhere about legislative fights over them and about "powerful lobbies" trying to force the will of "vested interests" on the people.

This column is intended to explain and give the background of variable annuities.

Inflation, as you may know, has kicked the daylight out of old life insurance and annuity policies. Twenty years ago a man may have taken out a $20,000 policy, figuring that the proceeds would take care of him and his wife, or his widow, in later years. After paying the premiums, possibly at great sacrifice during the early years of the policy, he now finds he has much less protection than he counted on. If he should die, his wife would have to live in Hard-scrabble Alley instead of on Easy Street.

MAY BE WORSE LATER

And if inflation continues — and it looks as if it will — or gets worse — and it looks as if it may — the purchasing power of the proceeds will shrink. Proceeds of a $20,000 policy today will buy only half as much as that sum would when the policy was written 20 or more years ago. In 10 or 20 years more, it may buy considerably less. If the present inflationary movement falls into the pattern of other inflations, it is possible that by 1977 $20,000 will be only enough for a hot dog. Mustard extra.

This is not peculiar to insurance. It happens in all kinds of savings. The old slogan was "Savings grow!" But in terms of buying power, it is now generally true that "Savings shrink!" In terms of buying power, practically everybody who has bought government Savings Bonds has lost.

Somebody — probably it was quite a few geniuses at the same time — figured out that the way to protect the value of insurance policies and annuities is to provide payoffs in terms of "constant dollars."

By that, they meant that if the buying power of the dollar fell, the annuitant or beneficiary would get more dollars. Also, if the routine operation of their businesses, and therefore are deductible from other tax liabilities.

Money spent on pleasure trips, whether in or out of the state of residence, is not deductible from other taxes. One of the major projects of the Travel Council is to make a thorough survey of tourist and vacation travel in order to establish its economic worth. The Federal Reserve Bank of Richmond three years estimated the tourist business represented a $900 million annual "cash crop" to North Carolina, ranking only below tobacco and textiles. It is more in dollars now, but lower in rank because electronics, paper, rubber and other manufactured items have moved upward.

Non-business travel, whether called tourism, recreation, vacation or what not remains one of the presently important sources of income for North Carolinians, and is conceded to have potential far beyond current realization.

SURVEY — The projected survey will attempt to determine the investment in travel accommodations—hotels, motels, eating places, roadside garages, etc. Also the number of persons employed and the annual payroll of the "industry," and the expenditures of pleasure travelers. A recent survey of the Great Smoky Mountains Park area conducted by North Carolina, Tennessee and Federal agencies added information that in one year tourists paid $310,000 for lodging only in Asheville, $300,000 in Cherokee, and nearly $2.5 million in Gatlinburg. These figures do not include meals, car expenses or incidental purchases of clothing, knick-knacks, sporting equipment, picture films, and such.

Plans for the Travel Council study have not progressed very far, largely because of the cost involved. One of its objectives will be to prove the economic worth of vacation travel to areas not commonly regarded as recreation spots.

Information obtained will help to determine where new facilities are needed, where there is danger of over-building accommodations, and other factors in long range planning to promote fuller recognition of North Carolina's cultural, recreational and scenic attractions.

PAYROLLS — Current emphasis on industrial development differences of opinion as to allocation of State advertising funds has created impression in some quarters there is conflict between manufacturing plants and lodging or recreational facilities for travelers. There should be no conflict of interest, because the whole purpose of the industrialization program is to provide additional payrolls.

The dollar paid to an employee of a golf course or a swimming pool, a hotel or restaurant, is worth exactly as much in the channels of trade as a dollar paid to the employee of a knitting mill or an electronics factory.

BALANCE — Serious students of economy recognize that one of the greatest needs is to maintain balance. A few years ago North Carolina was heralded as the best balanced state in the Union, as to agriculture and manufacturing. Even then it was recognized that within these two major phases there was dangerous imbalance. Agriculture was cotton and tobacco, mostly tobacco, with incident attention to cattle and poultry. Manufacturing was textiles, tobacco and furniture.

Bases have been broadened and there is more diversity in farming and industry. Meanwhile travel grows both in actual and relative importance.

PROMOTION — Primary objective of the Travel Council is to "promote promotion" of tourism by coordinating local efforts rather than direct appeals to visitors. It was pointed out that too many communities rely entirely upon the State or some other agency to carry the promotion lead. General retail merchants are most reluctant to help with such projects, despite the fact merchants in every town benefit from travel trade.

Bill Sharpe, who heads the committee on informal signs, reported disappointment at lack of interest on part of local people to advise where such signs—to be erected by the highway commission—might be located. Somewhat better co-operation is found in the anti-litterbug campaign which the Council has assumed as an immediate project.

That's Sweet Of You, Sam

By EVERETTE PARKER

And They Call This Work?

I was told by an anonymous phone caller last Thursday that Robert Ruark was in town visiting a friend and was out at the Greenville Country Club talking over old times.

The caller was thanked for his kind consideration and I hung up the receiver. For several years his name had been brought to my attention on a number of occasions but frankly I could not remember what he was noted for, if anything.

"Who is Robert Ruark?" I asked around the news room. It seemed that I was the only ignorant one in the place since everyone knew something about him.

Anyway it didn't make a whole bunch of difference since I was going to have to go out and interview him for a news story. And away I went.

I arrived at the Country Club at 3:30.

I left at 5:20. During this interval I had one of the most enjoyable experiences of my life. Talking to this former Tar Heel who now lives in Spain was a pleasure. Whoever classified this sort of thing "work" I walked into the Club and introduced myself to the small group over in the corner laughing and talking. Everyone welcomed me into the crowd as if I were an old friend.

Ruark had a mustache and a cosmopolitan air and believe me he could afford both and more. After all he just sold a book "Something of Value" to MGM, this little country studio in Hollywood, for something like $450,000.

On top of this he gets $55,000 a year for writing three columns a week. He added, "This was child's play."

He mentioned the fact that he quit a $65,000 a year job because "it tied me down." I sort of whispered in his ear if he planned to stop his present job to let me know and I would apply for it.

He laughingly said he would and I thanked him graciously. The native of Southport can speak Spanish fluently and to top it all he sleeps on a 15 foot square bed.

Ruark said, "I don't sweat money."

Now there's a man after my own heart because that is one of the things that most people do worry about at one time or another. Me! All the time, as well as my creditors.

It seems that everything he has done lately (by lately I mean since he has been old enough to earn a little jack) he has done first class.

To exemplify this he told the following story: "I was on a trip for my old boss and checked into this plush hotel and right on into the $50 suite.

The "only thing wrong was the fact that the room was just a bit of loot over my expense account but nevertheless I made the usual deductions."

He related that his boss called him into his office upon returning to New York. The big boy asked, "Bob, why did you go to all the personal expense of getting this $50 suite while you were out on that trip?"

Ruark said without thinking, "Well, frankly because I could not get the $75 suite."

No more was said on the matter.

He really showed this writer something as he sat on the sofa softly shaking the ice in his glass of Scotch. Why he even offered me one of those and...

Since I don't have but just a small allotted space for a column every four days I assume I had better close this little journalistic adventure, but before I have one thing to say.

Ruark said he liked Elvis Presley and his latest song "All Shook Up" because it depicted the story of his life.

Man, you ain't all shook you, you're the most!

Southern Rhodesia may be completing in world markets for the flue-cured tobacco trade, and we don't like that too much here, but they are assuming an attitude which could definitely show the way to others, if the others were of similar nobility of character.

Americans did not reach the high pinnacle of their present economic independence by accepting doles from some other nation. Their present eminence came about the hard way. They had the initiative, the stamina and the will to sacrifice in the name of freedom and prosperity, and have attained both. Those are qualities which are woefully lacking in countries of the world looking to the United States to become an angel to them in their climb up the ladder to success.

Well, success isn't achieved in that manner. They have got to have themselves something of what it takes. That is a something they appear not to possess, and to have little desire for. We are almost persuaded that they would be better off without aid from this country, and certainly the United States would be, at least financially.

Washington President Eisenhower's belated crusade for his stymied legislative program may founder on the hard rocks of practical politics. Even his friends entertain doubts that a few television speeches will overcome the growing opposition to huge expenditures on and off Capitol Hill.

In deciding to plead his cause with the people, Ike had in his mind the precedents set by the only Presidents who have resorted to this strategy in modern times—Woodrow Wilson and Franklin D. Roosevelt. But there is a vast difference between the circumstances which confronted the two Democrats and the apostle of "modern Republicanism."

The contrast concerns the attitude of the politicians and the general public. Wilson and Roosevelt were not seeking any sharp break with the historic principles of their Party, which had been generally progressive and internationalistic. And they played along with Democratic leaders and organizations except for periodical clashes with Tammany Hall.

Back To His Anvil

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—John Bentia, a 39-year-old bachelor who runs a 20-million-dollar a-year business, has figured out a simple formula by which practically anyone can become successful in only 14 hours a day.

There's only one catch in it. You have to spend the 14 hours working.

"I feel strongly that a person of mediocre talent can, by determination and hard work, be more successful than a brilliant man with less drive," said Bentia.

"I've seen it happen time after time, and it's a simple matter of mathematics. "If you work 12 hours a day and the other fellow works eight, every two days you gain a full day on him. The chances are that, even if he is a little smarter than you, he isn't smart enough to overcome the difference that your added hours on the job makes."

Bentia himself puts in 80 hours of work a week, and says he enjoys it.

The son of Romanian immigrants, he sold newspapers at the age of 5. He worked his way through college and then, in 1933, took a $135 a month job as stock-boy with the Alliance Manufacturing Co., a subsidiary of Consolidated Electronics Corp., in Alliance, Ohio, his home town.

Four years ago he became president of the firm. Last week his steady climb up the ladder of success was recognized by the American Schools and Colleges Assn., which voted him an Honoratio Alger award. He is the youngest executive ever to receive the honor.

A pleasant-faced man with an easy manner that cloaks his own Spartan sense of self-discipline, Bentia says there never in history has been a time when it was easier for a man to get ahead — if he faces up to the price.

"There have never been more opportunities — and fewer people really looking for them," he observed dryly. "But most people today seem afraid to stick their necks out. They are afraid to take a hammering, but it is only by taking the hammering that you can learn what you have to know. "They lack confidence in themselves, yet this you must develop and hold on to. They prefer to look for a pleasant job with minimum risks and a safe pension."

The truth, as Bentia sees it, is that most people who say they want to be a success actually are afraid of success and the penalties it imposes. He makes no bones of the fact success does exact a penalty. "You sometimes are lonely when you're not working," he admitted frankly. "You miss some of the pleasures of family life, and the enjoyment of hobbies. You don't play as good a game of golf. "Socially, you find it difficult to engage in small talk because you don't have the time to learn the things that make small talk."

The reward of success, he feels, lies in the pride of creative achievement rather than in the bigger paycheck. But is success worth the things a man loses along the way? "Obviously, most men in their hearts don't think so," he said. "I do, even though I know I have missed—so far—the happiness of family life."

But Bentia says being a bachelor isn't one of his career goals, and he expects to marry soon. What attributes does he value most in a wife? "Primarily understanding," he said, smiling. "From what the older boys tell me, it can cause a lot of trouble if you like to work long hours and your wife isn't sympathetic."

Opinions In Brief

"There is not a department of this government that can't be cut by 5 to 10 per cent and still function in an effective way — except for those items that are fixed by their cost." —(Sen. Harry Byrd, of Virginia.)

Practical Politics Confront Ike

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON President Eisenhower's belated crusade for his stymied legislative program may founder on the hard rocks of practical politics. Even his friends entertain doubts that a few television speeches will overcome the growing opposition to huge expenditures on and off Capitol Hill.

Strength For Today

By EARL L. DOUGLASS

THE GREEN-EYED MONSTER
I do not know who first called jealousy a "green-eyed monster." It is certainly an old expression for Shakespeare used it in his great play "Othello." And it is a very apt and vivid expression, as it suggests the frightfully destructive effects of jealousy on our lives.

Perhaps nothing hurts our personal relationships with others more seriously than jealousy. It destroys respect for others. Admiration or esteem for someone who has done better than we have can be a fine thing, leading to emulation and our own eventual success; but the jealous man cannot admire, for he only hates and envies.

We are jealous of our friends, then we resent their good fortune and rejoice at their failures — an attitude which soon puts an end to friendship. Jealousy shatters love. When we are jealous, we can no longer trust; and when we cannot trust, we cannot truly love.

But even worse than what jealousy does to our relations with others is what it does to ourselves. The jealous man is sour and bitter, for he is always enviously conscious of whatever others have. The jealous man is sorry for himself. He hates others for getting ahead, instead of blaming himself for falling behind, and learning from his mistakes.

Well, indeed, might Shakespeare write, "O beware, my Lord, of jealousy."

PAST APPEALS OF DEMO.

Pay Homage To 'General' Salling

By BILL JOHNSON
 FLANT, Va. (AP) — A clear-eyed old man, resplendent in a uniform he received many years too late, receives today the homage due a survivor of this nation's greatest conflict.

Gen. John B. Salling, one of three living Civil War veterans, was set to receive dignitaries and friends as he celebrated his 111th birthday.

The general title is purely honorary.

A motorcade from Gate City about 12 miles south of here, was to bring the main body of visitors. There were to be speeches, band music and a huge birthday cake decorated with four Confederate flags.

Salling, who claims his shock of black hair has never been washed, was presented greetings from Congress yesterday. The communication came from Rep. Jennings (D-Va.), Salling's congressman.

Salling's uniform, which he wears on festive occasions now, was given to him several years ago. On his birthday last year Gov. Stanley presented him a Confederate shirt and the Texas Rangers sent a 10-gallon hat.

Salling was a lad of about 16 when a Southern force came through Scott County looking for an extra hand to dig saltpeter. He joined up and stayed for about a year.

After returning home, he farmed a little and tried his hand at logging. He was married some time after the Civil War to Mary Flanary, a Stone Creek girl. They had seven children. His wife died in 1940.

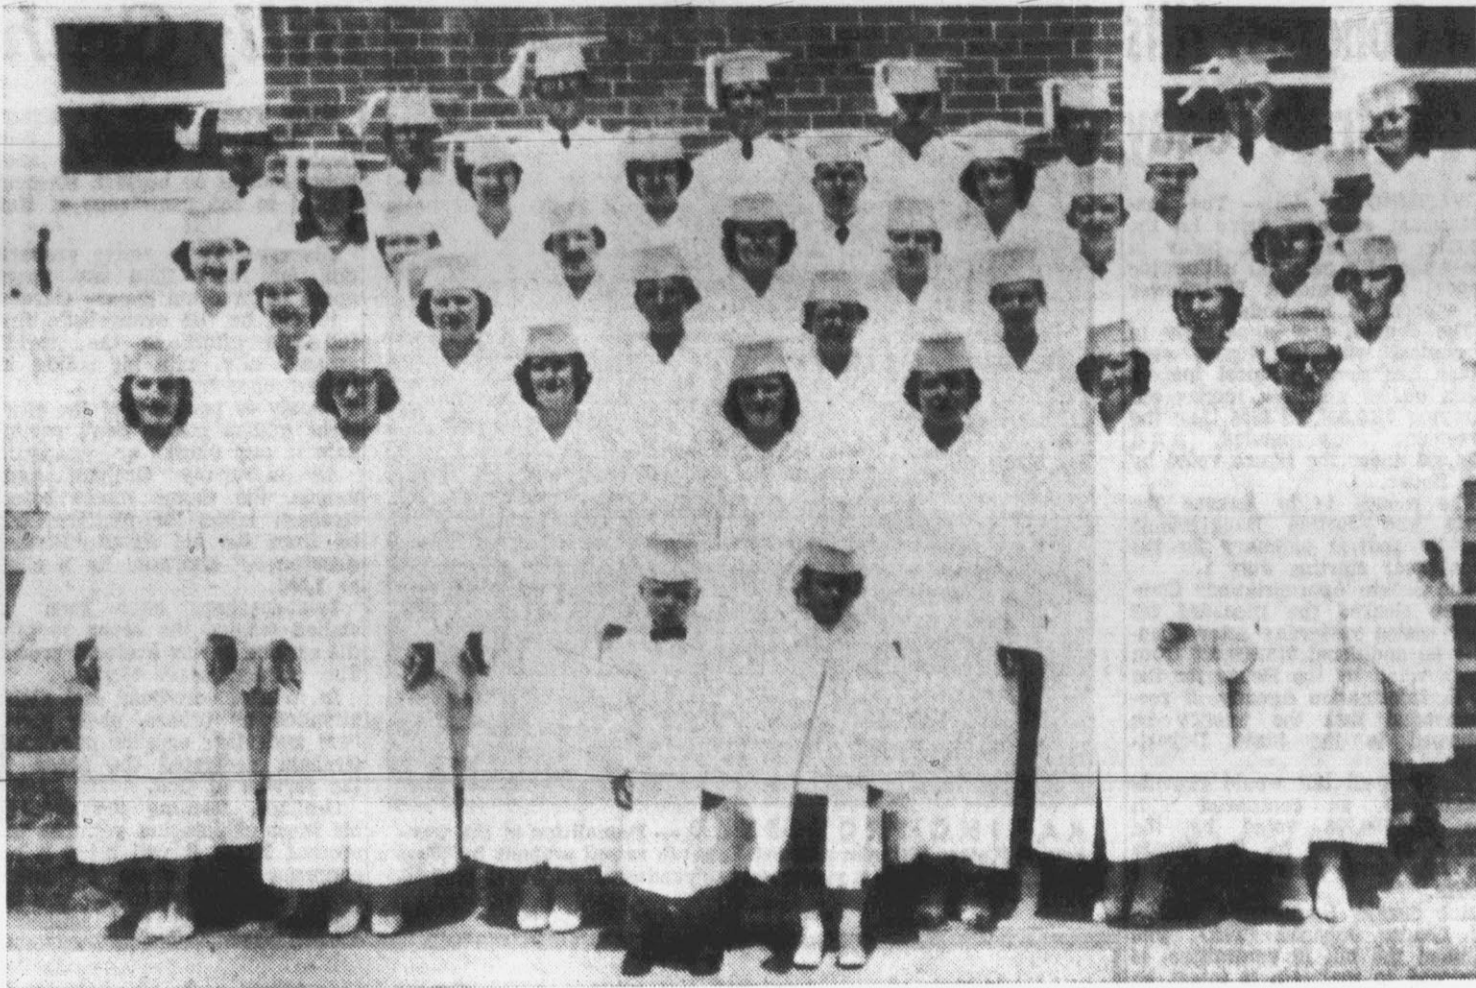

Salling also tried his hand at moonshining a time or two. He said that "good likker never did hurt no man, if he knew how to drink it."

The government Salling once opposed honored him last Nov. 1 when Hugh Milton III, assistant secretary of the Army, presented him a gold medal.

It was one of three authorized by the 85th Congress. The others went to the other surviving Civil War veterans — also Rebels — W. W. Williams of Franklin, Tex., and W. A. Lundy of Laurel Hill, Fla.

Milton termed the medal "a last recognition of a grateful nation."

Israel Lending A Hand To Burma

By MURRAY FROMSON
 RANGOON (AP)—Israel and Burma discovered three years ago that they had something in common: both are socialist states.

As a result, they are engaged in a technical assistance program. Israel does not involve its government, but acts as an employment agency, locating the type of experts Burma wants. Burma pays the salaries and the transportation for the Israelis who come here to work six months to two years.

There are five Israeli doctors, a team of five architects and engineers and six agriculture experts working for various Burmese agencies. Burmese officials say they hope to learn more about improving their medical facilities, developing rural communities and diversifying their one-crop economy (rice).

The two countries have conducted a highly successful barter trade agreement. Burma provides rice for Israel and in return receives tires, automobiles, electrical equipment and canned fruits. Israel also has manufactured munitions for Burma.

In an effort to enlarge their economy, the Burmese have asked Israeli agriculturists to experiment in the raising of wheat and soy beans.

Another Israeli expert is advising ing the state agriculture marketing board in creating new and more modern methods of rice marketing.

An Israeli agriculturist heads a model farm about 35 miles from Rangoon. From this farm, the Burmese hope to decide whether a collective or a cooperative system will be better suited here. The Israelis started in 1948 with a collective system in which everything from shoes to houses is jointly owned. The Burmese seem to feel that a cooperative system may be better applied here and the Israelis are inclined to agree with them.

Rev. Pope Will Address Pupils

PACTOLUS—The Rev. Arnold Pope, pastor of the Stokes Methodist Church, will deliver the address at commencement exercises Friday for eighth grade students at Pactolus School.

The exercises will be held in the school auditorium at 8 p.m. The public is invited to attend.

Books Given To School Library

PACTOLUS—Fifty books, donated to the Pactolus School Library by Mrs. Margaret Respass of Greenville, have been received by Mrs. Tom Adams, school librarian.

Mrs. Adams said the books would be classified and placed on library shelves prior to the 1957-1958 school year.

Industry Blocked By Atomic Plant Fear

BROOKHAVEN, N.Y. (AP) — An accidental atomic blast in the United States might cost "billions of dollars for property damage alone," Arthur W. Murphy, New York insurance specialist, said today.

Personal damages would be even more difficult to calculate, he said.

These facts, Murphy said, constitute a major roadblock to the development of atomic energy by American private industry.

He outlined the problem of providing insurance for atomic installations in a prepared speech for the Inter-American Symposium on Nuclear Energy at Brookhaven National Laboratory.

Murphy said the probability of a "catastrophic accident" is low, but reported that insurance analysts have made estimates of the possible cost.

"These estimates vary from hundreds of millions of dollars up to billions of dollars for property damage alone," he said.

Claims for damages from personal injury would require even more complicated calculations. Injuries, might not appear until years after the accident, there would be difficulty in ascribing them to a specific source of radiation, he said.

"The inability of private industry to secure adequate financial protection against the risk of unprecedented liability, and its reluctance to proceed without such protection, threaten to frustrate a major national objective," he said.

In the effort to meet this problem, he said, three syndicates "comprising nearly all the insurance capacity of this country" have been formed to write insurance for atomic industry. They will provide 60 million dollars of liability coverage for each nuclear installation, he reported.

However, he said, action by the federal government also is needed.

Outlining legislation now before Congress, Murphy said the proposed laws stipulate that "the government would indemnify the licensee and all others in the amount of 500 million dollars against any liability on account of each nuclear incident."

Meet Again On Special School

Parents and friends of mentally retarded children will meet tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in Room 101 of the Graham Building at East Carolina College.

Plans for establishment of a special school for trainable mentally retarded children will be discussed. Also on the agenda for discussion, according to a spokesman for the group, are plans for affiliation with the North Carolina Association for Retarded Children.

Parents and friends of mentally retarded children in Pitt County are invited to attend the meeting.

Fish Fry Given For Teachers

PACTOLUS—Pactolus elementary teachers and Stokes-Pactolus high school teachers were entertained at a fish fry last weekend.

Host for the supper, held in the Pactolus School lunchroom, were members of the Pactolus School Board, including Noel Lee, Hubert Cimmons, Burney Baker, Roscoe Barnhill and Roy Tripp.

Lee welcomed guests to the supper. Responses were by Stokes Principal Jack Edwards and Mrs. Jessie Little.

Thinks He Can Match Bulganin

VIENNA (AP) — Llewellyn E. Thompson Jr., new U. S. Ambassador to Moscow, says he thinks he can brush up his Russian enough to engage Nikolai Bulganin and Nikita Khrushchev in some free-wheeling diplomacy over the Kremlin banquet tables.

But how about two-fisted drinking with Khrushchev?

"Well," said Thompson, "I have no cast-iron stomach so I'll take it a little easy."

Thompson has been in Vienna since September 1952, first as high commissioner and then ambassador. A slim, 52-year-old career diplomat, he was nominated to succeed Charles E. Bohlen in Moscow largely because of his previous service in Russia and for his work with the Russians here.

Thompson received the State Department's Medal of Freedom for handling the Moscow office of the U. S. Embassy when the diplomatic corps evacuated the capital and moved to Kuibyshev as the German armies approached in 1941.

He learned to speak and read Russian then, but says "it's a bit rusty now and I've got to pick it up."

Thompson expects to arrive in Moscow by the end of June. He must return to Washington first for consultations.

He and his wife Jane have three girls, aged 14, 7 and 3.

Mrs. Thompson aided in the relief of thousands of anti-Soviet Hungarian refugees who fled to Austria after last October's Budapest revolution. She organized a soup kitchen which fed 5,000 refugees daily and set up a handicraft shop where refugees produced articles for export.

Pennsylvania Turns Up 3 Segregated Districts

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—Pennsylvania, where racial segregation in schools has been outlawed for decades, found itself today with three public school districts admittedly practicing it.

Gov. George M. Leader immediately promised to stamp it out—but without saying how. His state superintendent of public instruction, Charles H. Boehm, said it was a local law enforcement problem.

Leader, a 39-year-old Democrat who long has championed civil rights, ordered a survey last October on how the state's more than 2,400 school districts were doing on the controversial segregation issue.

The results came out last night—the nature of them surprising many on the official Harrisburg scene.

Officials of three school districts admitted in a state questionnaire that Negroes were kept apart from white students in an elementary school in each district.

The schools are located at Coatesville, a steelmaking community about 30 miles east of Philadelphia; in the Kennett consolidated system in the same county as Coatesville; and at Steelton-Highspire, near Harrisburg, the state capital.

In each case, the local school superintendent said integration efforts were under way and would be completed in periods ranging from six months to three years.

The segregated school in the Kennett Consolidated District is named the Thaddeus Stevens School. Stevens, a Pennsylvania congressman, was one of the nation's strongest abolitionist voices more than a century ago.

School Supt. H. T. Griffith said a new school building would bring an end to segregation in his district but he wrote the Department of Public Instruction:

"If the Steelton situation is left to itself, complete integration will be achieved by September 1958 without incident or the arousal of tensions which could very easily destroy the fine working relationship which now exists in our high school and other integrated schools.

"With coercion or interference with present plans, existing elements could very easily be 'jarred' into a pattern of dissension similar to the deplorable and tragic events which we have been reading about in areas as close as our neighboring states."

Not Talking Of Fatal Gunshot

KINGSTON, Jamaica (AP)—The first mate of a Russian freighter died in a hospital yesterday of bullet wounds received after the vessel left Manzanilla, Cuba, for Leningrad.

The freighter Holoznik put in Sunday to obtain medical aid for Valory Hedensky, 34. He was reported to have suffered several "he" wounds and to have been unconscious three days.

Capt. Aleksander Birjukor said the mate was wounded accidentally, but crew members would not divulge to newsmen how or when he was shot.

Economy Drive In Congress Hits Full Stride Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—The congressional economy drive hit the Senate with full force today in the wake of a personal nationwide appeal by President Eisenhower in support of his budget.

The Senate now apparently in a contest with the House over which can save the most money, takes up for action a money bill carrying $102,564,509 less than the President recommended, and $714,500 under the figure voted by the House.

The money is to finance the State and Justice Departments and the federal judiciary for the fiscal year starting July 1.

The Senate Appropriations Committee cleared the measure for floor action yesterday after chopping an additional $15,900,000 from funds voted by the House for the U. S. Information Agency. It recommended that the agency be returned to the State Department.

The over-all bill would provide $563,085,293, as compared with the $563,799,793 voted by the House. It is rare for the Senate to vote less money than the House.

But Senate Democratic Majority Leader Johnson (Tex.) who handled the bill in committee, is expected to maintain it intact on the floor.

The Senate committee recommended an appropriation of $90,200,000 to finance USIA's overseas operations, including the Voice of America, for the year. The House had voted $106,100,000, nearly $8 million less than the President asked.

The bill allows the State Department $193,478,242, an increase of $13,095,500 over what the House allowed.

It also raised by four millions to 24 millions the amount the House voted for the educational exchange program. But it reduced the Justice Department $1,475,000 below the House figure, including a $150,000 cut for the FBI.

Shortly after completing action on this bill, the Appropriations Committee approved another measure carrying $613,585,290 for the Commerce Department and related agencies, a cut of $40,100,770 below the House and $257,928,712 less than Eisenhower's budget.

This was chiefly a bookkeeping transaction, however, since an old, never-rescinded appropriation of 65 million was added.

Sen. Holland (D-Fla.), manager of this bill, conceded the actual effect was to increase spending by 25 millions over the House allowances.

Empress Eugenie made popular the use of mascara, a fad quickly spread to social gatherings of belles in such United States cities as Newport and Saratoga.

All In Readiness For Opening Of Billy Graham's Crusade Tonight

NEW YORK (AP)—To the strains of "Blessed Assurance," Billy Graham steps before the spotlights tonight to begin a six-week appeal to the conscience of New Yorkers.

His crusade, in active preparation for more than two years, opens at Madison Square Garden.

It will be the evangelist's first full-scale effort in the world's greatest city, with big stakes involved churchwise.

Nearly 60 per cent of the city's eight million people don't participate in any church or synagogue.

As in many Graham campaigns, the theme music before Graham takes the platform will be from the old hymn "Blessed Assurance," chorused by a choir of 1,500.

Loud-speakers have been installed outside the arena to pipe the service to any overflow crowd. The Garden seats 18,000.

In a brief ceremony last night, attended by ushers, choir members and other crusade personnel, Graham dedicated the arena to the service of God.

Graham, terming the crusade his most challenging yet, has expressed hopes it will bring a resurgence of religious dedication in the city, reviving faith and invigorating forces that influence the entire nation.

All through last night, marathon prayer meetings were held in numerous New York City churches and others elsewhere, asking divine guidance toward success for the crusade.

The Rev. Dr. Phillips Elliott, president of the Protestant Council of Manhattan, will give the invocation at the opening service, with the benediction by the Rev. John Wimbish, pastor of Calvary Baptist Church.

Graham will be presented by Roger Hall, vice president of the Mutual Life Insurance Co. of New York and chairman of the executive committee for the crusade.

The crusade is sponsored by the Protestant Council of New York, an interdenominational body.

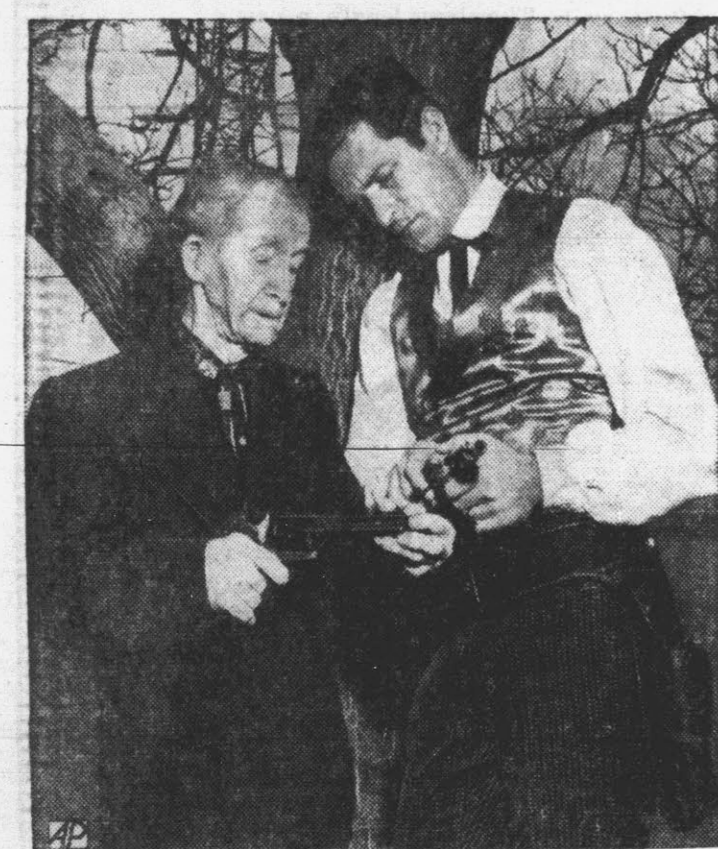

Special singers for the meetings will include Cliff Barrows, of Greenville, S. C., song leader, and George Beverly Shea, soloist, of Western Springs, Ill., both veteran Graham team members.

Phants Trip Jacksonville, 8-5, In Final Home Game

Homers Highlight Local Play

Before a meager handful of spectators, Greenville high school finished their home baseball schedule last night, tripping Jacksonville 8-5, at Guy Smith Stadium.

Hudson Miller, Phantom right-hander, limited the visiting Cardinals to 10 hits to notch his third victory of the year. It was Greenville's seventh win in eleven ball-games.

For the Cards, it was their sixth loss against three wins.

Quick Scores

The G-Men racked up four quick runs in the first inning. Charles Smith led off for the Phants with a walk. Bobby Edwards went to first on the same procedure. Walker Lee Allen, who is pacing the Green batters with a .375 average, plastered a sharp double into centerfield to score both teammates.

Card pitcher Garrison then walked Joe Wingate and hit Angus Duff to load the bases. Mack Roebuck cracked a single, scoring Allen. Another walk sent one more Phantom run across the plate before the inning was over.

Greenville came back in the third inning to chalk up still another run, before Jacksonville could tally. Singles by Smith and Roebuck, along with two Jacksonville errors accounted for the run.

In the fifth, the Cards brought in two runs on three singles and an error. They scored one more in the sixth.

More GHS Runs
In the bottom of the fifth inning, Greenville socked in three more runs, to finish their scoring for the night. Smith walked; Allen, Cox and Roebuck singled and Miller walked and later scored. Smith, Roebuck, and Miller crossed the plate.

Jacksonville made a desperate stab for victory in the seventh frame and scored their last two runs. Four hits brought in the runs.

Collecting hits for Greenville were Walker Allen, Bobby Edwards, Charles Smith and Mack Roebuck. Allen was the big gun with three hits, including a double. Roebuck also collected three hits, all singles.

Greenville winds up its season Friday night at Kinston. The Red Devils, who have already clinched the league title, are favored to win. They hold an earlier victory over the Phants.

Game time for the Friday night tilt is set for 8:00.

Giants Purchase Relief Pitcher
ST. LOUIS (AP) Hungry for bullpen talent, the New York Giants purchased Sandy Consuegra from the Baltimore Orioles yesterday.

Manager Bill Rigney said the 36-year-old Consuegra will be used solely in relief.

The purchase price was not disclosed but it was thought to be not much more than the $10,000 waiver price.

Reep And Stewart Named Co-Captains E C C Nine

East Carolina's baseball team met yesterday to elect co-captains for the 1958 Pirate club of next season. Unanimous vote elected Bucky Reep and Jerry Stewart to the posts.

Both Reep and Stewart will be seniors next season and will be rounding out their fourth year of playing first-string ball for Coach Jim Mallory. They have played side-by-side on the regular starting group for three years. Reep is a third baseman; Stewart is shortstop.

He Paced Greenville's Hitters

ALLEN SCORES—Walker Lee Allen, who smacked two singles and a double to lead Greenville batters in last night's 8-5 victory over Jacksonville, is shown crossing the plate with the third Green run of the night. The victory was Greenville's seventh in eleven games this year. Last night's game was the final home match of the year.

Patterson's Title Defense Planned

NEW YORK (AP)—Floyd Patterson finally is being taken off the shelf and will defend his heavyweight title.

The details won't be known until later today, because Gus D'Amato is a mysterious fellow except when he is blasting the International Boxing Club. In fact, the only thing certain is that the IBC won't promote the bout.

Probably Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson. There is no one else around who appears ready to tackle the champion.

Jackson has been pledged to the IBC, but it is believed he'll fight Patterson for the right price. Besides, with the IBC in trouble with the government on monopoly charges, Jackson may figure this is a good opportunity to get out.

CBS-TV is reported to be offering $200,000 for the fight.

Best guess is the match would be held in Yankee Stadium sometime in July.

Emil Lence, who handled many of Patterson's early fights at Eastern Parkway Arena when the ex-Olympian was climbing the ladder, probably would be in-stalled as promoter.

D'Amato has been feuding with the IBC for a long time, claiming that the champion and other fighters in his stable were not getting enough work. On numerous occasions, he has threatened to take his business to other promoters, but each time all the deals fell through.

As a result, Patterson, who won the title when he knocked out the aging Archie Moore in the fifth round last Nov. 30, has had to sit and watch the verbal manipulations instead of fighting.

Now it looks as though D'Amato is going to make good his threat.

Tatum, Williamson In Greenville Tonight

Jim Tatum, head football coach of the University of North Carolina, will be in Greenville tonight at a meeting of the UNC Education Foundation.

Tatum and Athletic Official Ernie Williamson will be here to speak to local alumni and interested parties about the past football season, the coming prospects and various other subjects concerning athletics at Carolina.

The purpose of the meeting is to help raise money for the Educational Foundation. James C. Lanier and H. L. Hodges Jr., both alumni of the school and local residents, are sponsoring the meeting as Greenville officials of the Foundation.

Hodges said recently that the meeting, which is an annual affair in Greenville, "is for the expressed purpose of helping to send needy boys to Carolina, helping them to get an education who would not otherwise be able to."

Tatum, who came to Carolina in 1956 from the University of Maryland, is considered by many as the nation's most efficient football coach. The ex-Carolina grider posted Maryland to the nation's top roster in a space of only several seasons and compiled one of the best won-loss records there that has been recorded. At Carolina last year—his first there as head coach—he encountered the problems of rebuilding.

Lanier stated yesterday that "all interested in the meeting are invited to join us. It isn't a closed affair."

The meeting will be held over barbecue plates at Respass Bros. Restaurant, at 7:30.

Little League Play Gets Under Way Today; Ceremonies, Dinner

By BILLY ARNOLD
Reflector Sports Editor

Little League baseball began in Greenville this afternoon for the summer of 1957, with elaborate ceremonies, a chicken dinner and a game between the Lions and the VFW at Elm Street Park.

Game time was set at 5:00. The Lions and VFW are members of the North State League and were the number one and two teams respectively at the end of the 1956 season.

Tomorrow afternoon at 5:00, the Tar Heel League play will get underway with the meeting of the Moose and Exchange Club teams.

Coaches Comment

R. B. Starling and Jack Windley, coaches of the champion Lions, told reporters yesterday that their new club was "hard-hit by graduation, but we picked up several good boys to fill up those vacant spaces. We are expecting a good year."

Both the Lions and the VFW outfits lost five men due to age requirements and picked up five new ones this year.

Bill Ford, who has just taken over the reins of the VFW club, said that "We've strengthened those positions they were left vacant last year with younger boys."

Most of our club is made up of nine and 10-year-olds. We're young, but we feel that by hustling, we'll be as good as any of them."

Working with Ford are Melvin Owens and Joe Blacklock. The Little League clubs have been working out for approximately a month, getting their old boys back into shape and introducing their newcomers to Little League ball. The age ranges for this baseball program run from eight to 12 years.

Today's Starters
The tentative starting lineups for the two clubs playing today were as follows:

Both coaches make it plain that the above are only tentative slates. There may be changes.

Others who may see action with the VFW are Tommy Daniels, Kyle Highsmith, Jack Bennett, Charles Boyd, Don Owens and Danny Griffin.

The rest of the Lions squad are Badger Johnson, Lee Whitehurst, Dan Joyner, Sonny Taylor, Bran-y Register and Didi Holcomb.

Dinner, Ceremonies
The opening day ceremonies, which will begin shortly before 5:00, will include flag-raising, music and a short dedication by a Little League official.

The chicken dinner plate lunch which will be on sale at the park, is designed to help finance the Little League program this summer.

Six New 'Whiz Kids' Are Putting Phils Back On Map

By JOE REICHLER
The Associated Press

A new generation of "Whiz Kids" appears to have emerged upon the Philadelphia horizon. They promise to thrust the Phillies back into the National League spotlight after six years of frustration and disappointment.

Some of the original "Whiz Kids," like Richie Ashburn, Granny Hamner, Willie Jones, Robin Roberts and Curt Simmons, are still on the scene but they've been forced into the background by such youngsters as Ed Bouchee, Harry Anderson, Bob Bowman, Jack Sanford, Don Cardwell and Dick Farrell.

This sextet has been largely responsible for the Phils' current streak, which has produced seven victories in the last 10 games.

Veteran observers can't recall when six rookies made good simultaneously on one club.

Three of the six were instrumental in Philadelphia's 10-8 victory over Cincinnati last night which snapped the Redlegs' 12-game winning streak and knocked them out of a first-place tie with Milwaukee.

The victory also boosted the Phillies past Brooklyn into third place in the National League.

Anderson walloped a home run and single, drove in two runs and scored two. Bouchee also hit a home run and single, drove in two runs and scored one. Farrell, coming to the assistance of Cardwell after Cincinnati had gone ahead 5-4 in the fifth inning, retired five straight batters before bowing out for a pinch hitter to receive credit for his second victory.

The Braves took undisputed possession of first place with a 3-2 victory over the Dodgers.

In other National League games the New York Giants defeated St. Louis 5-3 and Pittsburgh out-slugged the Chicago Cubs 8-5.

NEW YORK (AP)—A year ago, no one could persuade Lou Boudreau that the New York Yankees wouldn't win the American League pennant in a walk. He was right.

This year, the Kansas City manager isn't so sure.

"I don't think there will be any runaway this year," said Boudreau today, "because the league has improved more than the Yanks."

"We'll all be closing in on them a little. Actually, I'm not so sure the Yanks can beat out Chicago and Detroit."

When Boudreau gets on his favorite subject, the White Sox, he knows.

"In all my years in professional baseball," he said, "I've never seen such great team speed. Of the eight regulars, the only one who isn't fast is Sherman Lollar."

"The other seven will beat you taking an extra base on a hit. And all of them are capable of stealing. Defensively, they are real strong down the middle, where it counts the most."

He also likes the White Sox pitching staff and said he is just slightly less sold on the Tigers, who he thinks have solved their second and third base problems with Frank Bolling and Reno Bertoia. The Tigers also have a classic pitching staff, according to Boudreau.

He even thinks the Washington Senators have improved, though the standings don't show it.

Boudreau emphasized he was not trying to knock the Yanks.

"I'd be the last to do that in my position," he laughed. "I'm merely trying to point out that they won't have things so easy this year. Right now, I'm worrying about what those three big guys (Mickey Mantle, Yogi Berra and Moose Skowron) are going to do to me."

Boyd, Vaughn In Tonight's Fight

CHICAGO (AP)—Bobby Boyd, the Chicago middleweight who was within range of a title shot before Joey Giardello cracked his jaw, meets Willie Vaughn of Los Angeles at Chicago Stadium tonight.

The 10-round nationally televised and broadcast bout (9 p. m. EST—ABC) marks Boyd's third start since Giardello broke his jaw on a five round TKO at Cleveland last September.

Boyd, 23, defeated Franz Szuzina, German middleweight, at Miami last March and then defeated Eddie Demars at Providence, R.I., less than a month ago.

The two victories gave Boyd a 42-7-2 record with 22 victories by knockouts. Before his loss to Giardello, Boyd was ranked the No. 2 middleweight contender, having defeated Tony Anthony, Gene Fullmer, Eduardo Lausse, Holly Mims and Milo Savage in succession.

Vaughn, 25, is substituting for Rocky Castellani, who had to pull out because of an eye injury. Vaughn vaulted to attention last month in a fight against Giardello at Kansas City.

Vaughn was declared the winner before the commissioners reversed the verdict and called it "no contest" because the referee used the wrong scoring system.

Three Important Steps To Be Taken In Atomic Tests

By JACK LEFLER
ATOMIC TEST SITE, Nevada.
Three important new steps in atomic testing will be taken in the series scheduled to open tomorrow.

But the possibility of rain or a cloud ceiling today posed a threat of postponement for the planned pre-dawn blast.

A comparatively small atomic device, described as one half of normal, will launch "the most extensive series of tests ever held in Nevada." It will be exploded from a tower.

Preblast briefing of newsmen by nuclear scientists and military experts disclosed these test plans:
1. The first air-to-air rocket with an atomic warhead will be fired.
2. The proposed infantry of the atomic age will be tested for the first time.

3. Pigs, the largest animals ever placed under an atomic test here, will be used.
The rocket will be fired late in the series, which is to end Sept. 1. It will be loosed from a manned aircraft, but there was no announcement of what, if any, target there will be.

The infantry maneuver, scheduled for Aug. 19, will involve three new concepts of ground warfare, based on a proposed new unit—the "battle group."

These concepts are: establishment of a defense against nuclear attacks, mobility by air and supply by air.

The battle group will build with its own forces and equipment, within 24 hours, a protection against an atomic weapon or missile of artillery size. Some 1,400 men from Ft. Lewis, Wash., will be used.

The supposed enemy weapon will be dropped in the middle of the fortifications with the test troops withdrawn to a distance of about 4,500 yards. The purpose will be to determine how their protective efforts stand up.
In the second phase, the battle group will take the offensive and will be moved by helicopters to occupy a strategic site.

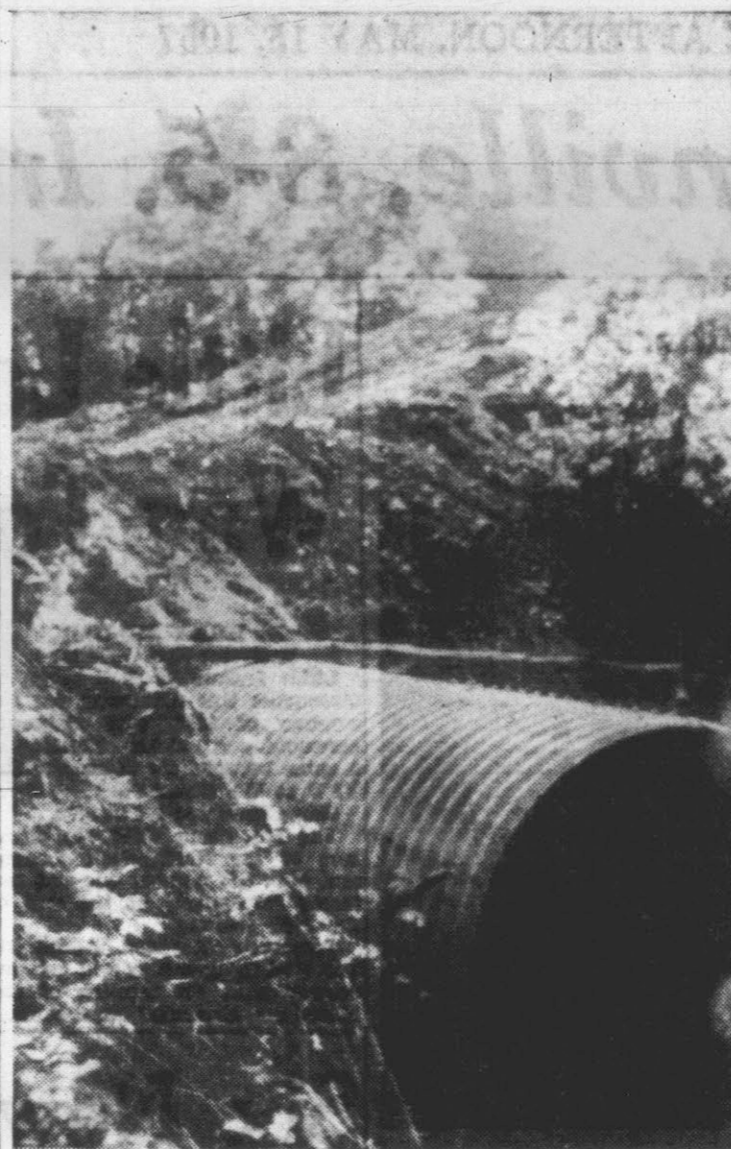

The third phase will utilize helicopters to supply the entrenched force and to evacuate casualties.
The more, or less, permanent population of Reno, Nevada is 32,497. Transient residents must remain for six weeks to make a divorce legal.

Angels Camp Jumping Frog Contest Grows

By JOHN R. WARD
ANGELS CAMP, Calif., May 15 (AP)—Mark Twain would tilt a shaggy eyebrow if he knew all the commotion his frog story still causes in this mother lode country on the rolling green shoulders of the Sierras.

A bullfrog's throaty croak is music to Angels Camp ears. And for four days starting tomorrow more than 20,000 folks from all over will be watching with hushed expectancy while the frogs do their stuff.

More than 500 frogs are entered, including 15 from foreign lands, in the 30th annual Jumping Frog Jubilee which commemorates Twain's famous fable — "Jumping Frog of Calaveras County." The jubilee is sponsored by California's 39th District Agricultural Assn.

"It's going to be a dandy this year," said Carl T. Mills, secretary-manager of the jubilee. "Madera County, which has been trying for a coon's age to win the championship, has come up with a six-legged frog."

"Youngster name of Ernest Topping found him. Four hind legs and two up front. Reckon we'll have to impose a handicap on him. A regular frog gets three jumps. Multiply that by four legs and you get 12. All right, so we'll divide 12 by this frog's six legs and allow him just two jumps."

What the Jubilee claims is a world record—16 feet 10 inches, in a hop, skip and jump—was set in 1954 by an amphibian named Lucky, owned and trained by Ray Weimer of Angels Camp. There's a prize of 1,000 frogskins for any entry breaking that mark.
No foreign frog has yet even placed, but there's a great deal of tub thumping about two entries this year—a South African species from Margate, Natal, and Won Long Hop, the Free China camp from Taipei, Formosa.

Won Long Jump won the Chinese title in an elimination jump held recently at Taiwan. An entry of Gen. Claire Chennault's Civil Air Transport, the frog is being flown to the United States accompanied by a pretty Chinese stewardess.

The South African frog, a little fellow not more than three inches long, has been entered by Mrs. Blanche Van Den Bergh, secretary of the Town Office at Margate.

"That species has been known to jump nearly 40 feet," said Mills. "But we had one in last year's jump and he barely got off the ground. Kinda think the long air trip dehydrated him, or something."

Angels Camp's big annual event started in 1927 on Main Street and was held there until 1938. So big were the crowds that they had to move it to the fairgrounds. Even now there are bleacher seats for only 1,000. The rest of the big crowd watches from a grassy slope facing the 30 by 50 foot platform. The platform is covered with yellow canvas on which are concentric rings of 5, 10, 15 and 20 feet.

Qualifying jumps begin tomorrow. The 15 top jumpers will compete in the finals on Sunday. A frog's handler is called a jockey. He cannot touch the frog, but can shout, sing, stand on his head or anything else to encourage the frog. If the frog doesn't jump within 15 seconds, he's disqualified.

Errol Flynn Charm As Bright As Ever

By BOB THOMAS
MEXICO CITY (AP)—This is the era of the tough interview so I decided to try one out on Errol Flynn, long-time darling of the scandal sheets.

There was only one trouble — Flynn was too darned charming.

As dashing and fit as ever, Flynn was sipping a rum and pineapple juice drink called a Franco ("no political significance") at the Mexico City Country Club. He was finishing his last day's work on "The Sun Also Rises" at the nearby Churubusco Studios.

I tossed him a dilly: Did the scandal of his sex-on-the-yacht trial hurt his career?

"Not at all," he said genially. "The reason that it didn't is that most of the public saw nothing wrong. Any man would have reacted the same way in the same circumstances."

"The whole thing was so normal that in France they couldn't figure out what all the fuss was about."

(A Monte Carlo, Monaco, judge cleared Flynn of a rape charge in connection with the alleged visit of a 15-year-old French girl aboard his yacht in August 1949.) I tried another tack. With Flynn here and his wife Patricia Wymore in Spain, the gossip columnists have reported they are separated by more than geography.

"Dear me, I suppose they have to write about something," he commented airily. "I'm not going to knock their racket. As a matter of fact, I just sent Pat a Mother's Day cable last night. I wish I could remember what I said. I was out on the town and I'm afraid the message was a bit bawdy."

How about this: Is he still in the red?

"Oddly enough, no," he said. "By a strange set of circumstances, I am in the black. The business with Uncle Sam was cleared up a couple of years ago, and I've recovered from the "William Tell" fiasco, which cost me a big chunk and was never finished."

"This being solvent can be a bother, really, when I try to discourage Pat on a purchase, she says, 'Come on, I know you're in the black.'"

I gave up the Mike Wallace routine and told Flynn that we missed him and his flare for creating headlines in Hollywood.

"I may be coming back," he sighed. "You know how women are — they go through life collecting items like shoes and things and they want a place to put them. I suppose it's the least I can do to provide Pat the closest space."

Now they are living aboard the 125-foot Flynn schooner in Spain. That's the only place he can afford to keep it, he said, because Spanish crews are cheap.

No Nagging Backache Means a Good Night's Sleep

Nagging backache, headache, or muscular aches and pains may come on with over-exercising, emotional upsets or day to day stress and strain. And folks who eat and drink unwisely sometimes suffer mild bladder irritation . . . with that restless, uncomfortable feeling. If you are miserable and worn out because of these discomforts, Doan's Pills often help by their pain relieving action, by their soothing effect to ease bladder irritation, and by their mild diuretic action through the kidneys — tending to increase the output of the 16 miles of kidney tubes. So if nagging backache makes you feel dragged-out, miserable, with restless, sleepless nights, don't wait, try Doan's Pills, get the same happy relief millions have enjoyed for over 60 years. Ask for new, large, economy size and save money. Get Doan's Pills today!

Pitt's Five Negro High Schools To Give 194 Graduates Their Diplomas

By JIMMY ELLIS
Reflector Staff Writer

Pitt County's five Negro high schools will award diplomas to 194 graduates Friday and Monday. H. B. Sugg High School of Farmville, the Pitt County Training School of Grimesland and Robinson Union School of Winterville will present diplomas Friday night. Bethel Union School and South Ayden School will hold their graduation exercises Monday night.

All of the individual programs are to begin at 8 o'clock. The Farmville school will have the largest number of graduates, 53. South Ayden will have 41; Bethel Union, 33; Robinson Union, 35; and the Grimesland school, 23.

Farmville County Superintendent of Schools D. H. Conley will deliver the commencement address at H. B. Sugg High School's 23rd annual commencement. Diplomas will be awarded by a member of the Farmville School board.

Awards for the school year at Farmville will be presented to-night but special recognition will be given Friday to Shirley Fields of the graduating class. Miss Fields has received a $100 scholarship from North Carolina College in Durham and, also, a 4-H scholarship for participating in county 4-H activities.

Other features of the Farmville commencement exercises include an open house and band concert at the school Sunday afternoon. The band concert is scheduled for 3 o'clock and the open house will continue from 3 p.m. until 5 p.m.

Farmville graduates include Edward Harris Artis, Shirley Gray Barnes, Rosa Lee Barrett, Paul Thomas Bynum, Annie Elizabeth Chapman, James William Coley, Andrew Cox, Jr., Robert Lee Cox, Samuel Louis Daniels, Alton Gray Daughtry, Mildred Serene Dixon, Annie Doris Ebron, Elois Eynovne Faison.

Baccalaureate Service Held At Robinson Union

WINTERVILLE—Robinson Union School observed its 21st annual baccalaureate service last Sunday night, with Principal J. W. Maye presiding. Rev. W. L. Jones, pastor of Mount Calvary Free Will Baptist Church, Greenville, in his sermon challenged the 36 graduates to consider gravely the problems they will face after graduation. The minister used as his subject, "If I Were A Youth Again."

Participating in the service were Rev. W. H. Moore, who pronounced the invocation, and James Louis Ellison who read the Scripture. The Choral Club sang two selections. Platform guests were: David Henderson, president of the Parent-Teacher Association; Nathaniel Mobley, Rev. W. H. Moore, pastor of Shiloh Baptist Church, Winterville, and Mrs. C. U. Bess, who introduced the speaker.

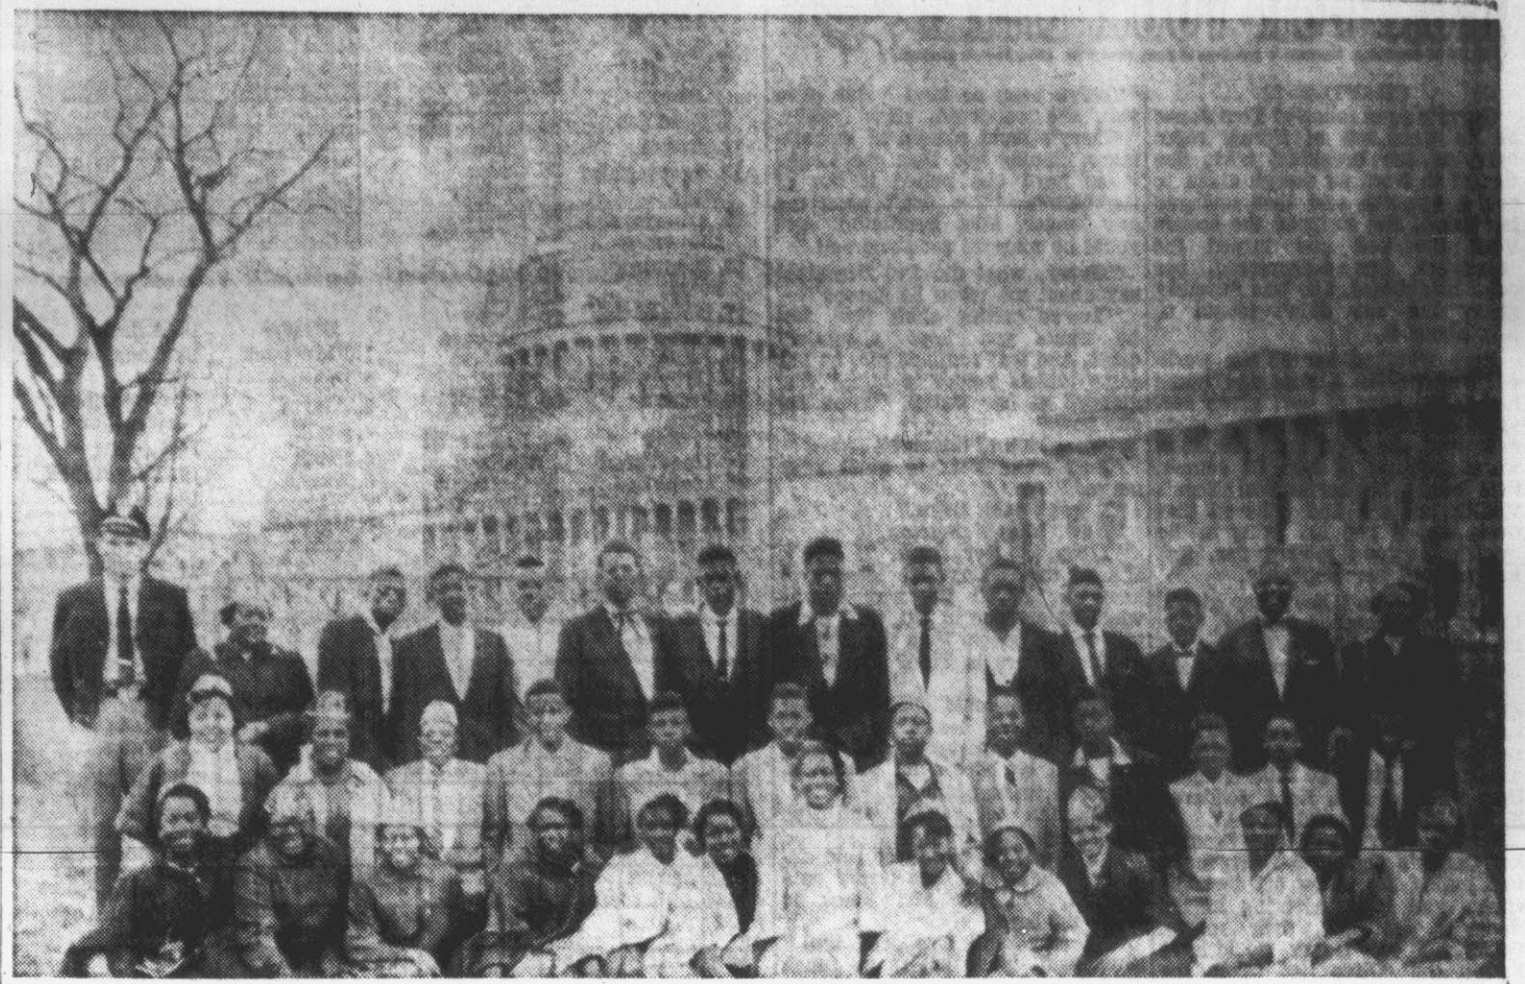

Diplomas will be presented to Virginia Louise Allen, Bobby Gene Banks, Earl Tucker Barrow, Tedock Bell, Jr., Grace Bizelle, Jesse Bell Blount, Ronald Brooks, David Earl Chapman, Robert Earl Cox, Demetralous Dixon, Hattie Louise Dixon, Margie Carr Dixon, Gene Forbes.

Pupils Make Visit To Nation's Capital

Stokes Elementary School Eighth Grade students (above) in Washington, D. C. during their recent tour of historic places. The picture, taken near the National Capitol, includes Principal Matthew Lewis and Mrs. Willie G. Williams and Mrs. Christine Lewis, teachers. There were 38 persons in the touring party. They visited points of interest around Georgetown and in Virginia. The sight-seeing tour will be an annual event for the school.

Grandmother Is Honor Graduate

WILBURTON, Okla. (AP)—Mrs. John Lucas, a 46-year-old grandmother, was graduated with top honors from Wilburton High School last night.

Now she's going to college on a scholarship hoping to become a teacher. Her daughter LaDawn witnessed the graduation ceremony. She won't graduate until next year.

Mrs. Lucas, three times a grandmother, won her cap and gown as valedictorian. She had a grade average of 7.3 out of a possible 8.

The wife of a miner, Mrs. Lucas said she always wanted to complete her high school education. "So, I decided to go back to school," she explained. She had quit school after the seventh grade. "Everyone seems to like Mrs. Lucas and she fits in well here," said the Wilburton High School principal.

Mrs. Lucas said she wants to become a schoolteacher. She will attend Eastern A&M College here. Her husband said he had no objections.

Monkey Nabbed After 2 Months

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—They finally caught Mike the monkey yesterday after he had been annoying North Philadelphia residents for two months.

Richard Guions was eating breakfast when Mike came bounding in through an open window. Police who were called. In the chase the monkey knocked over crockery, started an automatic washer and opened the refrigerator. They finally trapped him in a kitchen cabinet. No one knows who owns him.

Rae Foley's new mystery novel
RUN FOR YOUR LIFE

CHAPTER 22
 Garry's eyes followed Tom Jones as he went out of Nora's room carrying the breakfast tray. She turned to Nora as though about to ask a question and then changed her mind. She stripped the covers from the bed and turned the mattress, lips compressed, her color heightened. She was furiously angry but she didn't intend to talk about it.

Nora watched her as she worked. For nearly a year the nurse had taken care of her; given her, voluntarily and warmly, more care and attention and time than were required of her. Of course, that might be because of Nora's wealth but she had believed that there was a genuine liking in the nurse's attitude toward her. She had trusted her implicitly.

And she didn't know her at all. Under that starched exterior, Garry nourished a passion for Howard Ives, who had, apparently, been in love with Candy. How had Garry felt about the other girl who had been so lovely, against whose radiance her own buxom vitality would have stood so little chance? How would it feel, Nora wondered if that had happened to her?

It was Garry who had brought her Candy's photograph. When she had pulled the pillow off her face Garry had been hovering in the doorway between their rooms. Garry, and only Garry, would have known that Olive had taken the blue velvet robe.

There was a tap on the door and Tom called, "Here's the pull-over."

"Come in," Nora said in reply.

He opened the door, handed it to her and went out again with a wave of the hand. Nora slipped it on and found it much too big but she liked the brave color.

At length she said, "I'm sorry you are getting involved in our troubles, Garry. What on earth have the police been asking you all this time?" As the nurse tucked in the corner of a sheet she added impatiently, "Oh, let that go for now and sit down."

Garry did so. "They asked me about everything under the sun. And when they got done they started all over again. They did that four times. But you can't make out what they are thinking or whether they believe you."

"They had asked her how well she knew the druggist and how he had happened to call that particular night. Garry looked at Nora then, an odd expression on her face. "I told them he came here to ask me to marry him and we're engaged."

"Garry, how wonderful! I'm so glad. But what on earth shall I do without you?"

"I won't be leaving right away." The nurse added bitterly, "The police will see to that."

"Do they?" Nora did not know how to express it tactfully, "believe you had anything to do with all this?"

"It's not me. It's Howard. Because he dated That Girl a few times. Though why they think he'd push Mrs. Riddle—" She got restlessly to her feet and went back to making the bed.

"I'll miss you," Nora said.

Cream of Kentucky

It opened the eyes of those who tried GOLDEN ESSO EXTRA for the first time!

1956 LINCOLN OWNER
 "This car puts out the power I paid for, now that I'm feeding her GOLDEN ESSO EXTRA... really makes it respond!"

1957 CHEVROLET OWNER
 "I didn't believe the difference 'til I tried another gas. But GOLDEN's a real eye-opener. I love it."

1957 PLYMOUTH OWNER
 "What this new gas does for my car sure opened my eyes... going up a hill, for instance. And it seems I don't need gas as often..."

1956 CHRYSLER OWNER
 "You feel a great difference. I have used it ever since it came out. When I try another gas, I can tell the difference."

These enthusiastic comments are typical from drivers who try GOLDEN ESSO EXTRA. In a survey, in fact, 82% of the owners of late model, high-compression cars reported an immediate improvement with GOLDEN ESSO EXTRA! Motorists found it gave them a brand-new motoring experience! Developed by Esso Research, this is the first gasoline actually designed to get top mileage, full power, and instant response from today's most advanced engines. Tests in these engines prove that only GOLDEN ESSO EXTRA offers this great combination: 1. Completely stops harmful, power-robbing engine knocks. 2. Delivers unexcelled power and acceleration. 3. Gives more mileage than conventional gasolines can possibly offer. 4. Contains the best combination of additives needed for top performance. See your Esso Dealer soon!

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market recovered and moved a bit higher early this afternoon after an initial irregularity.

Key stocks advanced from fractions to around a point. A liberal assortment of losers remained.

A big gain by Allied Chemical helped boost the industrial average.

Olin Mathieson, yesterday's most active stock, had a gain of around 2 points from the start, apparently on word it has developed a new chemical that may improve efficiency of jet aircraft fuels.

U. S. Hoffman Machinery was up a major fraction in continued response to the shift in its management.

The aircrafts, though not especially active, made about the best gains as a group, conceivably on hopes that Eisenhower's firm stand on the budget might forestall big cuts in defense contracts. Both Douglas and United Aircraft were ahead more than a point. Boeing rose a fraction.

Youngstown Sheet was up more than a point. Bethlehem and Chrysler fractions. Anaconda and Kennecott rose a bit but Phelps Dodge lost a little.

Standard Oil (New Jersey) and some other major oils made gains. American Telephone, National Distillers and Goodyear lost ground.

Evangelism's Musical Field Is His Specialty

Although until three years ago engaged in pastoral work, Rev. Ralph McGilvra has now given himself full-time to the ministry of music in the field of Evangelism, as soloist, choir director, and leader of congregational singing.

Rev. McGilvra, who now makes his headquarters with a wife and family of three children at Battle Creek, Mich., has had a unique background qualifying him for this phase of the gospel ministry, beginning with the time of his conversion under the late evangelist Billy Sunday in 1934. Dr. Harry D. Clarke, song-leader for the evangelist in that campaign, soon after became Rev. McGilvra's pastor, and during this time specially "tutored" the young convert in the art of evangelistic music-conducting.

In preparation for the ministry at Bob Jones University at Greenville, S. C., Rev. McGilvra sang weekly in the music department's vespers program, travelled for three summers with Dr. Bob Jones, Jr. and the official university male quartet in all but 15 states and thus sang in practically every large center of evangelistic witness in the nation.

During the pastorate which he later served, Rev. McGilvra was frequently urged by visiting evangelists and friends to give himself to the field of evangelism full-time especially in the realm of music. "Youth for Christ" organizations in several sections have used his talents, mostly as a singer, soloist, and song-leader, but at times also as speaker. He has teamed with several well-known evangelists in both union campaigns and single churches literally from coast-to-coast and border to border in little over three years past, and is one of the few remaining full-time "free lance" musicians in the field.

The musician is "at home" because a radio microphone as well as a TV camera. He had his own daily radio broadcast for 29 months while pastoring in Oklahoma.

"Audiences must feel they really want to participate in singing praises to the Lord during our song-fests," Rev. McGilvra says of his song-leading. "Or I feel I have failed." But pastors and evangelists working with him say that people do sing—and like it—when he leads.

Jack Webb Wins Divorce Decree

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Jack Webb, 36, star of the television show "Dragnet," was granted a divorce decree yesterday after he testified his marriage to actress Dorothy Towne had been "extremely tedious" and marked by three separations in the last two years.

He said the 26-year-old actress "seemed to want more social activity than my business could possibly afford."

The couple married Jan. 11, 1955, in Chicago.

Webb previously was married to actress-singer Julie London. She divorced him in 1953.

Scouting Talent For His Faculty

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Dean David E. Rodgers of the Hastings College of Law departs today for New York on his annual talent scouting for his faculty's "65 Club."

The Hastings 65 Club, composed of eminent law professors compelled to retire at other schools, has been rated "the strongest law faculty in the country" by Roscoe Pound, former Harvard law dean.

Snodgrass said he will confer with professors scheduled for compulsory retirement soon from various top Eastern law schools.

Last Rites Set For Mrs. W.M. Matthews

PARMVILLE—Mrs. Lena Matthews, 83, wife of the late William M. Matthews, died at her home in the Fountain community Tuesday at 7:45 p.m. She suffered a cerebral hemorrhage about two weeks ago.

An investigating officer from the Greenville Police Department was called to the scene and found Benjamin Carraway, son of Mr. and Mrs. Josh Carraway of 2710 E. 4th St. The boy regained consciousness a few minutes later.

The injured boy told the officer that he was riding his bicycle at a high rate of speed and thought he had blacked out since he did not remember what happened. He sustained a bruise on his left forehead and a possible sprained ankle, it was reported.

He was treated at the Medical Arts Clinic shortly after he was discovered by a passerby. The accident occurred shortly after 1 p.m.

Phi Beta Kappa Initiates Three

Three Pitt County students are listed among the 90 students at the University of North Carolina receiving recognition for their academic work and being initiated into Phi Beta Kappa, national scholarship fraternity.

They are: Eddie C. Bass of Farmville, William S. Bost, Jr., of Greenville, and Gerald M. Mayo of Falkland.

They Called Without Looking

CHARLOTTEVILLE, Va. (AP)—The Daily Progress here published a story about a telephone prayer service in Mullins, S. C. All a person had to do was dial a specified number to hear a recorded prayer.

Trouble was lots of folks didn't notice that this was in Mullins, S. C.—not Charlottesville. And the number happened to be the same as that of Mrs. M.E. Patterson here. After her telephone rang most of the night she asked the Progress for help—an item to make it clear that the service was in far away South Carolina.

Police And Fire Dept. In Hotel

NEW YORK (AP)—Construction work will start soon on the best-protected hotel in town—a skyscraper with 850 rooms, a police station and a firehouse.

Uris Brothers announced yesterday they will build the 28-story hotel on the site of the East 51st Street precinct house and an adjacent firehouse. The hotel will face 3rd Avenue.

The city will pay $14,000 a year rent for new police and fire quarters in the hotel.

The hotel will be the first built in midtown Manhattan since the new Waldorf-Astoria opened in 1931.

ON STAGE
NEW YORK (AP)—Ray Milland, a movie star for years, is going to make his stage debut next fall in London in a production of "The Admirable Crichton."

Colored News

The Senior Choir of Mount Calvary Free Will Baptist Church will meet at the church Friday night at 8 o'clock for rehearsal. Edmund Love is president.

Mrs. Naomi Dupree, 210 East Third street, Greenville, (above) was elected recording secretary by the North Carolina State Board of Beauticians and Cosmetologists at the recent convention in Winston-Salem. This is the first time Local No. 25, Greenville, has had a member elected a state officer.

Mrs. Gertrude Latham, president of Local No. 25, stated. Other officers of the Greenville group are: Mrs. Clara Barnhill, vice-president; Mrs. Naomi Dupree, secretary; Mrs. Bessie Simpson, treasurer; Mrs. Ann Bains, assistant secretary and reporter. Other members are: Mrs. Wymor E. Cherry, Mrs. Mattie Streeter, business manager; Mrs. Lillian Gorham of Washington, and Mrs. Mary Whitehurst.

St. Peter's Pastor's Aid Club will meet with Mrs. Estella Goodwin, on West First street.

Big Confusion Over Fire Drill

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The bi-monthly fire drill at the Fidelity-Philadelphia Trust Co. building was one mass of confusion when it was mistaken for the real thing.

Every two months the building has a drill. A dispatcher for a private fire and burglar alarm system alerts each floor and its occupants file out.

But this time a new dispatcher was on hand. He got his signals crossed and turned in an alarm. Six engine and two ladder companies came.

STRANGE SEQUENCE

SEATTLE (AP)—George Truax reversed the usual order and suffered his broken leg AFTER his automobile accident. As he pushed his damaged car out of the traffic lane, it started to roll. It crushed his leg against a sign post.

Claim Rebellious Haiti Controlled

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti (AP)—Police and troops claimed control over all rebellious areas of volatile Haiti last night and said widespread "down with the government" demonstrations had ceased.

The seven-man Executive Council ruling the Negro republic warned that all attempts to overthrow it would fail and promised that "free elections" would be carried out June 26.

An outburst of antigovernment demonstrations and strikes surged over the nation Monday and Tuesday. Presidential candidates who have broken with the council charged that the elections were being rigged against them. The strife brought the registration of voters virtually to a standstill.

Thousands of persons were reported arming themselves for possible clashes with police and troops. Noisy demonstrations flared in Port au Prince and other towns. Police raided radio stations in the capital that had broadcast rebellion appeals.

By nightfall, gun-carrying partisans of the 10 presidential candidates still appeared on the streets, but Port au Prince—and apparently the rest of the nation—was at least temporarily calm.

Helping to cool the political passions for the moment was an onslaught of torrential rainstorms that turned attention to the immediate problem of battling flash floods.

NEW ROLE—Sir Laurence Olivier, famed dramatic actor, is playing a new part that of an alcoholic comedian-dancer in "The Entertainer" now playing on London stage.

Wept In Court Over Evidence

NEWARK, N. J. (AP)—A city magistrate and five persons in his court wept when two men appeared, charged with possession of a dangerous weapon.

The tearful scene took place when Chief Magistrate Nicholas Castellano examined the weapon. It was a small tear-gas "pencil" and the judge accidentally discharged it.

Bethel Night Policeman Nabs Man, Liquor

BETHEL—Night Policeman Earl Keel stopped a vehicle which was hauling 156 gallons of illegal liquor last night, chased down one of its occupants on foot and placed him under arrest.

Police Chief Walter Gray reported that Keel stopped a 1949 model car around 12:15 last night. The vehicle stopped at the Bethel police station and two persons ran. Keel caught James Earl Everette, 25-year-old Negro of Everette, the chief reported. He was placed in the Bethel jail on a charge of possessing and transporting illegal liquor. The second occupants of the car escaped.

Chief Gray said there were 26 cases of half gallon jars in the car making a total of 157 gallons of bootleg liquor. The cases were in the front seat, back seat and boot of the car.
