Legislators Due To Receive N.C. Revenue Bills This Evening

Tempo Steps Up As Assembly Eyes Target Date For Adjournalment

RALEIGH (AP) — Revenue bills containing tax proposals for the next biennium are expected to be reported to the House and Senate tonight as the Legislature moves toward adjournment.

The House Finance Committee was ready to meet today to act on recommendations of its subcommittee. Chairman B. T. Falls Jr. of Cleveland was hopeful the committee could complete its work and send its version of the bill to the floor of the House tonight.

The Senate Finance Committee wound up work on its version of the bill Friday. The measure will be reported to the Senate tonight and come up for second reading tomorrow.

Falls said, "I hope we have the bill adopted in both Houses by the end of the week. It will enable us to get away from here certainly by June 8."

Gov. Luther Barnhardt of Concord, who presides over the Senate, warned that lawmakers can be prepared to put in the heaviest work of the session this week. About 50 public bills are on the Senate calendar and some 80 are on the House calendar.

The Joint Appropriations subcommittee, nearing an end to its work, meets again tomorrow and is expected to make its report to the full committee early in the week.

The House and Senate Finance subcommittees worked separately on the tax bill. Then they met to try to resolve their differences but were unable to agree on some minor provisions.

"There is a possibility," Barnhardt said, "there will be some differences" between the House and Senate over the tax measure "but I don't think they will be so great they can't be ironed out even if it goes into a conference committee."

Barnhardt said he looks for adjournment to come about the middle of next week, "certainly by Saturday, June 8."

Meanwhile, the House Committee on Corporations is scheduled to hold a public hearing tomorrow on two bills which would have the effect of prying open the financial and membership records of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored people in this state.

House Judiciary 2 Committee has tentatively scheduled a hearing for tomorrow on a bill calling for a local option system authorizing county elections on the question of legalizing dog and horse racing.

Predict Holiday Dead To Hit 120

CHICAGO (AP) — An estimated 120 Americans will die in traffic accidents Memorial Day, says the National Safety Council.

The council's estimate is for the 30-hour holiday period from 6 p. m. Wednesday until midnight Thursday.

"Unless the extra dangers of holiday traffic are met with extra care and caution, we estimate that 120 persons will be killed on the highways in the holiday period," the council said.

"This compares with an immediate death toll of 75 for a non-holiday Thursday at this time of the year."

Hodges Opposes Delaying Corporation Tax Cut Plan

RALEIGH (AP) — Gov. Hodges spoke out at his news conference today against proposals in the Legislature that reductions in corporation income taxes he is seeking be postponed for a year.

Hodges said the corporate tax changes seek to correct "what admittedly is an inequity" in the state's tax structure and that to delay them for a year would be "pretty bad faith."

The governor told the newsmen in commenting on other issues that he had not at any time "lightened up in my interest and desire" for minimum wage legislation. He said a minimum wage "is a fundamental sort of thing."

The governor declined to be drawn into legislative hassles over "non par" banking and a bill to allow counties to vote on legalizing horse and dog racing. "I don't want to get into that," he said.

Hodges also repeated that he and the council of state had not requested legislation designed to keep the state's surplus funds on deposit in North Carolina banks, and did not "feel that any legislation is needed."

He recited figures which showed that only six states in the nation have a higher percentage of unemployment than North Carolina.

He said "it is my feeling all of us had rather not have a bond issue" but he felt compelled to request it in order to make funds available for pay increases for teachers and state employes.

Two-Car Wreck Wipes Out Two Families; Eleven Die

BENSON, Ill. (AP) — Two cars carried four adults and seven children to their death Saturday and investigators studied the wreckage today to learn the cause of the fiery, high-speed crash.

Two families — one from Streator, Ill., the other from Bloomington, Ill. — were wiped out in the fiery pileup on Illinois Highway 116, about a mile west of Benson in north central Illinois.

State police said evidence indicated both cars were traveling in the same easterly direction on the straight, two-lane paved highway. There were no survivors and no witnesses to the crash.

Investigators also considered the possibility that a third car may have been involved, forcing the cars off the highway in an attempt to pass.

One car slammed into a tree and burst into flames, trapping a couple and their four children inside. The other car careened into a pole, killing its occupants — a couple and their three children.

Trapped and killed in the car that burned were James Block, 37, Streator; his wife, Verne Mae, 24; and their children, Peggy, 4, Gloria, 3, Deborah, 2, and Jimmie, 3 months.

Occupants of the other car were: Dr. George C. von Steenberg, 37, a Bloomington, Ill., dentist; his wife Helen Nancy, 33; and their children, George Dennis, 11, Janice, 4, and Julie, 2.

National Safety Council officials said the toll of 11 dead in one crash was the highest fatality figure ever recorded on Illinois highways in their memory.

Twelve persons died in a two-car collision near Slayton, Minn., in 1940.

Republicans Seek Restore Some Of Defense Funds

WAYHINGTON (AP) — House Republican leaders agreed today to try to restore to the 1958 defense appropriation bill about 300 million dollars of the 2 1/2 billion cut out by the Appropriations Committee.

The party's 30-member steering committee agreed to support amendments to spread the extra money through all three branches of the armed services.

The 300 million dollars represents about a fourth of the $1,200,000,000 which the President said ought to be put back in the bill in the interest of security.

Rep. Martin of Massachusetts, Republican leader and chairman of the Policy Committee, said there was some sentiment for trying to restore more than 300 million dollars and some for seeking to put back less than that amount.

He said he expected most Republicans to support the amendments but added that some Democratic votes would be needed.

The amendments will be offered when the House starts considering the money allotments in the 33 1/2-billion-dollar defense appropriation bill tomorrow. He indicated the bill last Friday and set aside today's session for more discussion.

Rep. Taber of New York, senior Republican on the Appropriation Committee, said he would go along with the move to put more money in the bill. Taber usually leads moves to cut appropriations.

Martin said he would attempt to force roll call votes on the proposed increases.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas said he does not consider Eisenhower's defense request as "sacred and unapproachable."

He did not say how much he favors for defense but commented that "no budget recommendation is sacred. Congress must still apply its judgment as to the size of the recommendations."

Deputy Secretary of Defense Donald A. Quarles said even the $1,300,000,000 of House committee cuts accepted by the Pentagon will "create problems in future years." Eisenhower had described that amount of the cut as a book-keeping move.

NEW YORK (AP) — The federal government today dropped its case against John (Johnny) Dio Dioguardi and three others in the acid-blinding of labor writer Victor Riesel because key witnesses refused to testify.

The case was removed from the trial calendar in U. S. Dist. Court after U. S. Atty. Paul W. Williams declared the witnesses' refusal to talk "reflects the power of the underworld."

"May I say that it may be gangster ethics but it is not the kind of ethics the Department of Justice will tolerate," Williams told Judge William B. Herlandy.

Dio sat in the courtroom, occasionally smiling slightly.

The two key witnesses, Gondolfo Miranti and Domenico Bando, previously convicted in one phase of the case, were given additional sentences for contempt in refusing to answer questions before a federal grand jury.

"The government has now done all it can under the law to compel these witnesses to testify," Williams told the court.

"Without belaboring the point, I leave it to the court to suppose what forces have compelled us to follow this desperate course."

"I will continue to press vigorously my investigation of why these witnesses have refused to testify. Their actions reflect the power of the underworld."

Burglar Alarm Frightens Thief

A ringing burglar alarm caused a thief to drop merchandise he had gathered together in the Andrews and Whitehurst Store on the Bethel Highway and flee.

Sheriff Ruel W. Tyson said the robber entered the store, located about four miles from Greenville, by pulling the bars from a window. The place was entered about 10:30 Saturday night.

The intruder set off a burglar alarm and a neighbor called the Sheriff's Department.

Deputies Duke Andrews and Loyd Manning found merchandise packed in shopping bags. Nothing was reported missing, however.

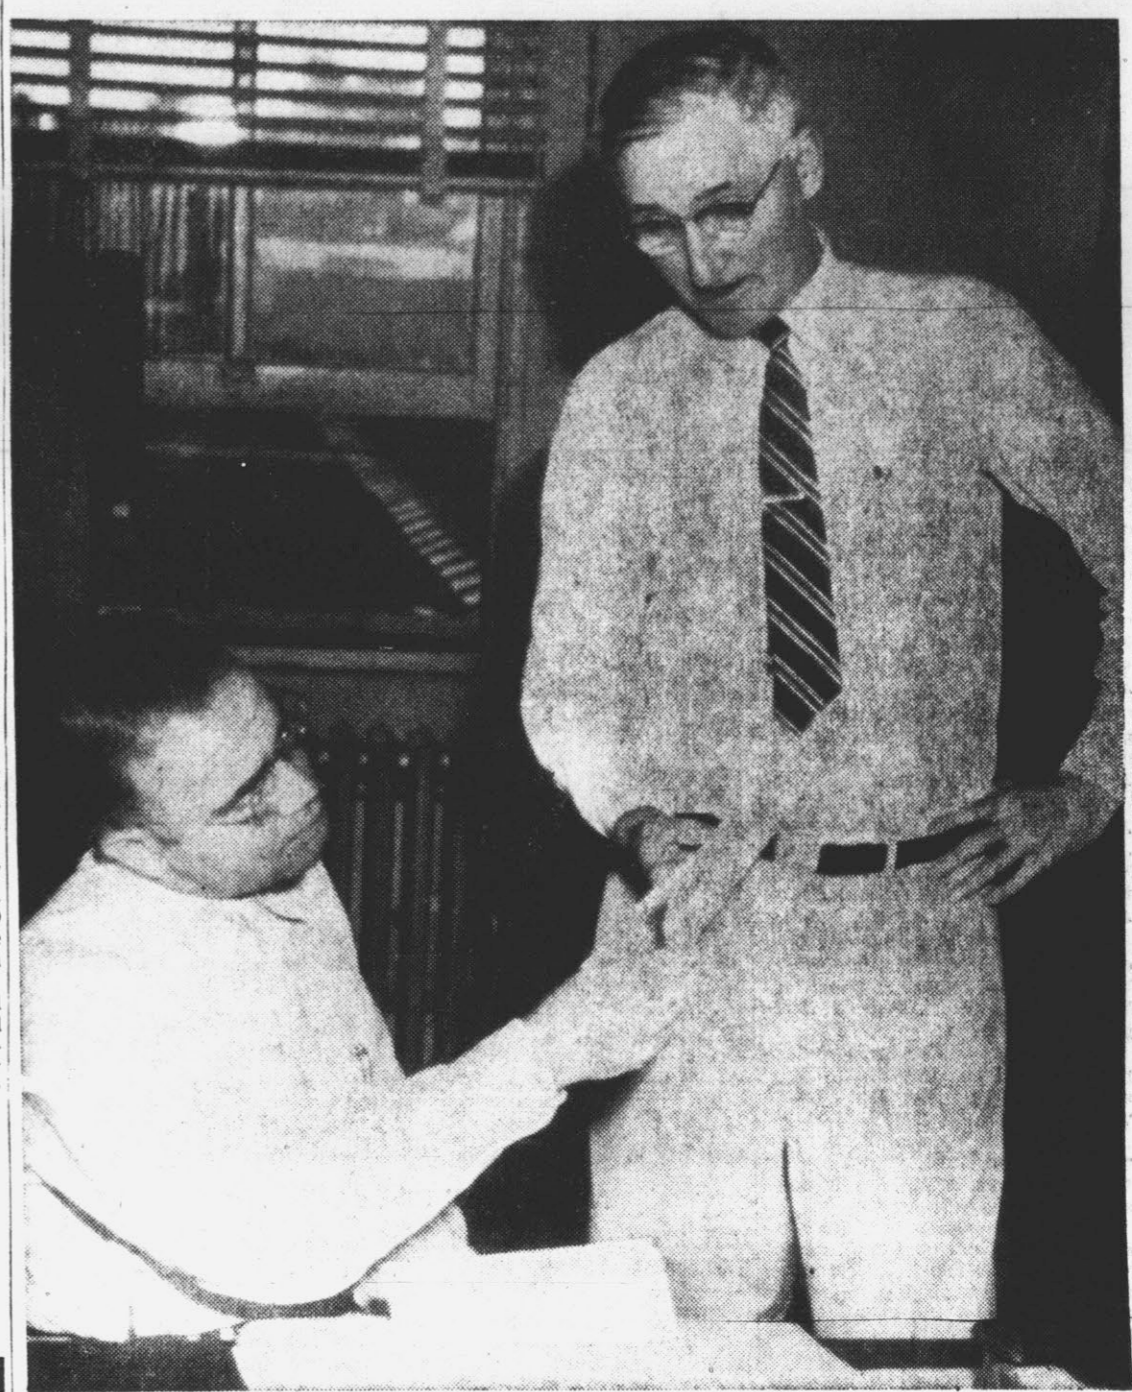

home to convey to President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles his most profound regrets at the riots.

Chiang also fired the commander of his army's Taipei garrison and two police chiefs for their failure to cope with the disorders promptly.

The mob's outburst was set off by Chinese resentment at a U. S. court-martial's acquittal of M. Sgt. Robert R. Reynolds, 42, of Colorado, Md., accused of voluntary manslaughter in the shooting of a Chinese laborer Reynolds, said he caught peeping at his wife in her bath. The sergeant pleaded self-defense. He, his wife and 7-year-old daughter arrived in California last night by plane.

The U. S. Embassy pointed out in a statement that the mobs which wrecked its building and that the U. S. Information Service and injured 13 Americans were not dispersed until late Friday evening, after martial law had been imposed.

Petitions Handed Wooten

PETITION—Rep. Frank M. Wooten (left) accepts a petition from Gilbert Peel calling for the separate election of the city's mayor. Some 664 names were said to appear on the petitions. (Reflector Staff Photo).

Petitions requesting the County's State Legislature members to introduce legislation setting up a separate election for Mayor of Greenville were presented to Rep. Frank M. Wooten today.

The petitions, said to contain 664 names, were presented by Gilbert Peel.

They call for legislation which would amend the City Charter to set up the election of mayor in a separate race apart from the council race. The other four councilmen would be elected as at present.

Now five councilmen are elected each two years and the five choose from among themselves a mayor and mayor pro-tem.

The petition does not call for an election on the change but merely asks that the city's charter be changed.

Rep. Wooten has said that the charter could either be amended by the legislation or the bill could call for an election on the matter.

The little boy was found under the automobile, a tire resting on one of his arms. After the discovery the injured boy was rushed to the hospital but died enroute.

Rouse stated that the child suffered several broken ribs and extensive internal injuries. The coroner ruled the death "accidental" and stated that no inquest would be held. He was assisted in his investigation by Pvt. R.E. Taylor of the State Highway Patrol.

The dead child's father, a tenant farmer, lives on a farm in the Fountain Township. According to reports the accident took place between 8:30 and 9 a. m. today.

The entire population of Moffett, Okla., some 400 persons, were evacuated into adjacent Fort Smith, Ark., when a foot of water from the Arkansas River washed into the town. Moffett was unprotected by levees.

In Texas, the rampaging Trinity River surged three feet above the 38-foot major flood stage at Dallas, but began falling last night. Police estimated some 2,500 persons were evacuated from low-lying areas. Another 4,000 persons evacuated flooded areas of Fort Worth over the weekend.

Some flood-weary residents in Dallas planned to move after seeing their homes inundated for the third time this spring.

"I'm moving out," said Mayce Ross, 34. "I haven't thought about where, but I'm getting tired of being flooded."

Ross was one of hundreds of persons being cared for at disaster stations in Dallas and Fort Worth.

The Arkansas River forced evacuation of nearly 200 families in North Little Rock, where hundreds have been temporarily homeless for days. Thousands of acres of farm lands were under water.

Answers To Many Questions Sought In 'Satellite'

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE AP Science Reporter

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some of your destiny lies within a brilliant metal ball that looks like a huge Christmas tree ornament.

It is stunningly beautiful. Inside, it is being fitted with ingenious eyes, ears, fingers, breath voice and memory for a journey literally out of this world.

For this shiny sphere is to become a shooting star, a man-made moon circling the earth every 90 to 100 minutes.

It is going to be hurled hundreds of miles into space by rockets reaching the never-before-attained speed of 18,000 miles an hour—five miles a second.

Our first messenger into space, it will learn facts which could greatly benefit your life, and your children's.

It will see our sun as man has never seen it...count meters, the cosmic dust...tell us how empty hot or cold space really is...report the thick rain of powerful cosmic rays...

It will help determine the exact mysteries of the earth...explore some shapers of magnetism...aid in better prediction or control of weather.

It will be man's first step toward rocketing himself through space. It may turn up astounding discoveries yet undreamed of by wildest imagination.

But the Russians could do it first.

For Russia also is planning to shoot man-made moons around the earth. Our first one probably won't be fired until early next year.

No one outside Russia knows whether they are ahead of us—yet they have announced no single detail on their progress.

But you would guess the Soviets are not likely to beat us, after talking with scientists creating our little moons.

"We feel pretty good now, we've come a long way," says Dr. John P. Hagen of the Naval Research Laboratory, directing project vanguard to hoist the shiny ball into space.

"We've had our troubles, but now most of them are out of the way."

Hanging out the satellite is a main and fascinating goal in the International Geophysical Year (IGY) which begins officially July 1.

IGY corrals an army of 5,000 scientists from 58 nations into cooperative studies of weather, oceans, cosmic rays, gravity, glaciers, earthquakes—all major forces affecting our lives. All nations will share everything they learn.

Only Russia, besides us, plans to launch satellites. Russia so far has openly reported all her many plans for IGY, except for the satellite and for firing short-lived rockets to explore the upper air.

Our scientists and officials are reticent only about some details of rockets which will put the little moon into its orbit. For rocketry involves military secrets.

There is much speculation that the first nation to conquer space could control the world—putting all nations under telescopic observation from space platforms, hitting any target anywhere from outer space. There are also proposals to put space under international control.

But the IGY moons are dedicated purely to peaceful benefit of all peoples.

Offhand, the blueprints look disarmingly simple.

"You put the satellite into an orbit. You prove it's there. You do something scientific with it," Dr. Hagen says.

Actually it involves a tremendous effort by hundreds of scientists, at a cost of millions of dollars.

The little moon is only the size of a bushel basket, weighs 20½ pounds, can enough for a woman to lift with one hand.

But it must be shot to a speed that will counterbalance the earth's pull of gravity, so it swings about like a ball on the end of a string. Then it will stay up, in an elliptical orbit bringing it no closer than 200 miles from earth, nor farther than 1,200 to 1,500 miles away.

"If we miss the minimum speed by one foot per second, we fail," Dr. Hagen points out. "In this horse race, we must win on the nose."

The ball is a thin magnesium shell, given fantastically thin coatings on the outside of zinc, copper, silver, gold—two ounces of gold worth $70—chromium, and aluminum. And a special outer layer of coating of silicon monoxide, to help it get rid of excess heat and safeguard the delicate, insulated instrument inside.

Inside it, scientists are putting instruments to become the extensions and perfection of the senses of man in outer space.

The moon will rise up enclosed in the nose of a rocket 72 feet long, weighing 10 tons. It will be three rockets, firing off in stages. The first and larger two fall away after doing their job. The last one must race the ball up to its maximum, and correct, speed and altitude, then shove it away with a spring mechanism.

For a while there will be two satellites, the ball itself and the four-foot-long third stage rocket. Gradually they will drift apart.

But the glistening ball will chatter back to earth by radio telling—who knows what?

Bride Has Luncheon

On Saturday at one o'clock, Mrs. J. R. Cullifer and Mrs. Harvey Manning entertained at a luncheon at the home of Mrs. Cullifer in honor of Mrs. Jule Pollard, recent bride.

The guests were greeted at the door by the hostesses and introduced to the receiving line which was composed of the honoree, Mrs. Banks Cozart of Greenville, mother of the bride, and Mrs. F. F. Pollard, mother of the groom.

The spacious home was decorated throughout with arrangements of spring and summer flowers. In the appointed dining room the color of pink predominated. The focal point of interest was the dining table, covered with an imported embroidered and lace cloth and centered with a silver bowl containing a massive arrangement of pink roses, snapdragons and carnations. The auxiliary tables in the living room and in the den were decorated with miniature Maypoles garlanded with pink ribbon and roses. The bridal corsage was a showered arrangement of sweetheart roses.

From a festive punch bowl on the sun porch, Miss Jackie Byrd of Windsor served cranberry juice cocktails. In the dining room, Mrs. F. F. Pollard and Mrs. Banks Cozart, seated at either end of the table, served ham and congealed salad. Mrs. Goodwin Byrd of Windsor and Miss Judy Cullifer assisted in serving the accompaniments. At the conclusion of the luncheon, the honor guest was presented silver in her chosen pattern and a silver sandwich plate. Thirty guests were present including Mrs. Vernon Bunting of Williamston and Miss Anne Harris of Fountain.

Washington Letter

By JANE EADS
WASHINGTON—James Beard, internationally famed gourmet and cook book author, takes a dim view of the fare served up at Washington parties.

"If I lived here I'd take a box lunch," the rosy, roly-poly epicure told me as he picked at a crab ravigote during a luncheon meeting here.

"It's always roast turkeys and hams," he went on. "Everyone hires the same caterers, though I suppose you eat well at private residences and some embassies have their own great chefs."

Beard admits he lives to eat and eats to live. He prefers the food he whips up himself in the kitchen of his Greenwich Village apartment in New York. Here he tests and tastes recipes and dreams up new ones for his cook books and magazine food articles.

As food consultant for the French cognac industry, he was here to show us the "latest way to drink your dessert." Since it was strictly billed as a coffee and cognac party at 9 p.m., food was incidental and undistinguished by the Beard magic.

Guests were invited to sample several favorite versions of the coffee-cognac ritual with which the sophisticated continental diner invariably polishes off an elegant repast. One called "Cafe Mayflower" added up to only 50 calories. "If you worry about such things."

This "drink dessert" was made by adding one-half ounce of cognac (only 37 calories) and a teaspoon float of whipped cream (13 calories) to a cup of black coffee (NO calories).

Best known of the coffee and cognac combine, "Cafe Royal" was also sampled by thirsty guests. Beard makes this by putting a lump of sugar in a teaspoon, dousing it in warmed cognac and lighting it before slipping it into the demi-tasse of hot coffee.

The simple procedure of alternating sips of cognac and coffee, Beard described as a "wedding of tastes and aromas" and favored by the true gourmet, along with the even simpler method of lacing a half ounce of cognac with the java.

Some folks take their cognac without coffee. Sir Winston Churchill, for instance, drinks his with just a "splash of soda," according to Beard. The Duke of Windsor likes his "on the rocks," savored from a big brandy snifter. Actress Ava Gardner drinks hers with a dash of anise.

Dad's Wrath Doesn't Help The Children Improve Their Grades

By DOROTHY V. WHIPPLE, M. D.

"Young man, I want to talk to you." Dad stalked into his son's room, as 15-year-old Louis quickly turned the page of his notebook to cover up the magazine he had been reading.

"Yes, Dad," he said as cheerfully as possible. "Won't you sit down?"

He pushed a chair toward his father. Louis knew what was coming but he wasn't going to give his father any breaks.

"I've just seen your report card," stormed the older man.

"Yes, Dad," said Louis politely.

"It's a disgrace. What do you mean bringing home C's and D's. If you were a stupid kid I guess I'd have to put up with it, but you're not stupid, you're just plain lazy. You're shiftless and irresponsible. All you seem to want out of life is a good time. Your mother and I go without many things we'd like just so you can get a good education and what do you do? You mope around the house, you spend all your time roaming the streets with that crazy Bill of yours. You never help at home, and now it seems you don't even do your schoolwork."

"No Baseball," said Louis. "Well, don't you have anything to say for yourself?" asked his father.

"Nope," said Louis.

"Don't 'nope' me." His father was very angry.

"No, Sir," corrected Louis.

"Well, I've got something to say to you."

"You've said quite a bit already, Sir," Louis was angry too, but he knew if only he could keep cool he'd get this over with soon.

"Beginning right this minute you don't go out of this house except to school, and you come home directly when school is out in the afternoon, and what's more, don't bring Bill inside this house."

"Can't I play ball, Dad? I'm second baseman and the team's counting on me."

"Is baseball more important than history and math and the rest of your studies?"

Louis thought it was, but he didn't say so.

"No, you can't play ball, or play anything until you get those grades where they should be. And just to make sure you don't sneak out, your allowance is stopped until further notice."

"So, you don't trust me, either," said Louis bitterly.

"Why should I? I saw you reading that Popular Mechanics when I came in here. Tried to cover it up, didn't you?"

"Is that all, Sir," asked Louis.

"Yes, I guess it is," said his father, "but see to it you get your schoolwork done and bring up those grades."

He got up and left the room. Louis followed him and shut the door after him.

Dad's Mistake

Louis' grades didn't improve. He hated school; he couldn't see any sense in any of the subjects he was supposed to be studying.

He wanted to be a mechanic, he loved tinkering with cars and machinery and he and Bill had been saving every nickel so they could go in together for an old jalopy. They'd fix it up and sell it at a profit and buy a better car. His father killed all their plans.

Louis just wasn't interested in anything. His father said he was a failure; well, maybe he was.

If you're a failure, no sense in worrying about it. Louis sat around the house, he had nothing to do but eat; he gained 15 pounds before the term was up.

Mrs. Walsh, Miss Seymour Were Elected

The Credit Women's Breakfast Club held its regular meeting Saturday morning at the Old Towne Inn with President Callie Rue Williams presiding.

Due to the recent resignation of both the second vice-president and parliamentarian, the club voted that Miss Mary Dell Seymour and Mrs. Catherine Walsh, respectively, fill the vacant offices for the remaining portion of the year.

Mrs. Polly Dail, official delegate of the club to the Pitt County Safety Council, announced that four members had participated in the safety lane check last week. They were Mrs. Dail, Miss Marguerite Rouse, Mrs. Emma Lee Schmidt, and Miss Barbara Dail.

"Happy Birthday" was sung to Miss Marguerite Rouse. Door prizes were won by Mrs. Catherine Walsh, Mrs. Emma Lee Schmidt, Miss Marguerite Rouse, Mrs. Louise Wilson, and Miss Emma Hooper.

Miss Emma Hooper, of the ECC faculty and an honorary member of the club, was present at the meeting.

Miss Pat Beatty Given Party

Wednesday night Miss Pat Beatty was honored at an informal party in the home of Miss Sara Ewell.

Hostesses for the evening were Miss Ewell and Miss Josephine Hendrix. Arrangements of summer flowers were placed throughout the house for the occasion.

A green and white color theme was used throughout the house. A network cloth covered the serving table placed in the dining room. The centerpiece was an arrangement of magnolia buds and leaves flanked by white candles. Lime punch was served from a silver bowl by Mrs. John Ewell assisted by Mrs. H. A. Hendrix. Upon arrival, Miss Beatty was given a white carnation corsage by the hostesses. As an honor gift she was presented a piece of her silver in her chosen pattern.

Miss Hendrix directed a series of games prior to the refreshments. Prizes were won by Miss Margaret Moyer, Mrs. Ginger Sermons, and Miss Pat Beatty.

The hostesses and the honoree said goodbyes to the 12 guests who attended the party.

Taken Out Of The Peoples' Hands?

There are few things more important to a municipality than its form of government. There are few things which need more thorough study and consideration by the people of a city than proposed changes in the form of their city government.

If the form of government of the city of Greenville is to be altered from the Plan D Council-Manager form which has served this municipality so effectively during the past four years, no effort should be spared to see that any alterations which are made offer something constructive and vitally needed by the city. No effort should be spared to explore all the possibilities of modification of the form of government to assure that the alternatives proposed are the best that might be had for the future overall welfare of the city.

It would be a grave mistake for Greenville to rush headlong into altering its form of government without first giving thorough and detailed consideration to all the alternatives open to it.

Certainly the people of Greenville are capable of determining for themselves what form or type of government is best suited to the needs of this city without leaving the decision up to the legislature in Raleigh as proposed in the petition which has been circulated among local people. The petition asks that the legislature summarily alter Greenville's form of government without so much as affording local citizens a voice in what change is to be made. The petition is being taken directly to the legislature without even so much as presenting the matter openly to the governing body of the city for their consideration and reaction.

The hasty action called for by the petition is unnecessary and in our opinion unsound so far as the welfare of the city is concerned. The apparent lack of thorough and careful consideration of possible alterations which might be made in the city's form of government is alarming to say the least.

The changes cannot become effective under any circumstances until May, 1959.

It would be far better, in our opinion, for any legislation concerning a change in Greenville's form of government to be postponed until the beginning of the 1959 session of the General Assembly. If any changes appear beneficial, there would still be ample time for them to be authorized by the legislature early in its 1959 session, ratified by the voters of Greenville and be effective when the people of Greenville go to the polls to elect new city officials in May of 1959.

The two years between now and 1959 would give ample time for consideration of all possible alterations. It would afford time for the citizens of Greenville to study the many modified Plan D forms of government now in use in cities throughout North Carolina to determine which of the many alternatives might best suit the needs of Greenville.

If a change in Greenville's form of government is as urgently needed as the petition would imply, it would seem that the matter would have received attention by the City Council before now. It would seem that the need for a change would have been apparent before the 11th hour of the legislative session when a proposal is rushed to Raleigh with a demand for immediate passage without giving the people of Greenville as a whole a voice in the change.

For at least three months the City Council—the five men who have constituted Greenville's governing board since the Council-Manager form of government was adopted here—considered changes in the city charter and recently sent to Raleigh recommendations for changes in the city's charter. Nowhere in these discussions by the Council, so far as we have been able to determine, was the matter of modifying the basic form of government taken up. To us this indicates that the five men who have been charged with the responsibility for city affairs during the past four years feel no urgent need for changing the city's form of government, or even modifying it.

Nothing can be accomplished for Greenville by rushing through the final days of this legislature hastily drawn proposals for altering the city's government.

Presentation of proposed changes to the legislature early in 1959 would be just as effective so far as Greenville is concerned. Moreover the intervening period would afford Greenville the opportunity for the thorough study so necessary in matters of such grave importance as changing the form of municipal government.

Cut-Price Mail Offers Awaited

By ELMER ROESSNER
If you live in a state where "fair trade" laws are in effect, you will soon be bombarded with advertisements offering cut-price bargains by mail from the District of Columbia and states where manufacturers cannot set retail prices.

A Federal Circuit Court of Appeals has ruled that a mail-order sale takes place at the seller's establishment, not at the buyer's residence. Hence, it found, fair-trade laws do not apply to goods sold from establishments in the District of Columbia and states without such laws.

The decision will be appealed. But pending final action by the Supreme Court, it is predicted here and now that price cutters will launch mail sales campaigns in "fair trade" states and keep them going until the Supreme Court stops them—if it does.

JAPANESE CAR AND TOO MUCH CALYPSO
Here are some more business forecasts, based on analyses of developing trends and shadows east before:

Japan will seek a bite of the U.S. car market. Success of small, foreign cars here has interested the Japanese, who also make midsize, two-manufacturers are quietly making plans to produce a single model for the American market.

Calypso craze nears a burn-out. It's been overdone on radio, TV and juke boxes. Early hits are already forgotten. On top of that there's an avalanche of Caribbean fashions, so big it will speed the end of the fad. The wool price rise will continue. That will be true even though domestic demand is lagging. The reason is that foreign prices are stiffening. Russian buying may have something to do with it.

Cotton prices will slip. All that is holding them up is government support and that may be weakened by economy-set Congressmen. Cotton state legislators will seek continued support, but may not get it unless they will support other special-interest spending and, if they do, there goes budget-cutting!

ANOTHER BUDGET BATTLE
Another budget battle will blossom. Even though the 1957-58 budget hasn't been settled, the stage is being set for the 1958-59 ruckus down Washington way. Government executives generally agree that rising costs and wages, plus even more expensive military concepts, will push the next budget higher than the currently debated one. Opposition to higher spending next year—in taxes and many Congressmen run for re-election—will touch off a donnybrook that will make a Donnybrook Fair seem like a sewing circle.

New fabrics will amaze you. American Viscose, researching unused patents, has improved ways by which synthetic fibers can be formed in a nozzle mechanism. It's possible to spray fibers on a form to create non-woven garments. They may be so cheap it will pay to throw underwear away after one wearing. Porous bathing suits can be made of rubber formed and shaped the same way.

Motoring will cost more this summer. While Pennsylvania and Montana have scheduled cuts in gas taxes, three other states have upped their rates and 10 more states are still to act on proposed hikes.

"FAIR TRADE" LOSES IN TWO COURTS
Legalized price-fixing has received a couple more kicks in the pants. A Federal court has held unconstitutional the "non-signer" section of West Virginia's Fair Trade Act. This is the section that requires all retailers to charge a fixed price when one retailer signs an agreement with the manufacturer to charge the fixed price. Without it, so-called fair-trade acts are ineffective.

Meanwhile the Federal Circuit Court of Appeals has ruled that a price-cutting company in Washington, D. C., which has no "fair-trade" law, cannot be stopped from selling by mail in states that have such laws. The decision may be appealed to the Supreme Court.

Steamroller Has Begun Its Work

By LYNN NISBET
STEAM ROLLER—The administration steam roller is operating in legislative halls and committee rooms. Forces backing the Governor's program are in undisputed control. This contrasts with the situation which prevailed until early this month, when there was little evidence of steam roller tactics.

Subcommittees of the appropriations and finance groups have been going over the money bills bringing them into shape for action by the full House and Senate. The time table set for consideration all the way through has indicated that the full membership was expected to take what the subcommittee dished out without protest. The time table called for two days discussion in full committee and the minimum time required by the constitution for passing a tax bill when the committee report came to the floor.

Strategy announced last week was to eliminate the usual committee of the whole consideration of the money bills, and put them through as a package deal proffered by the subs.

Confronted with that proposition opponents of vital parts of the program recognized they could not make their objections count. Some of them are going home. Highest roll call tally in the House on Friday was 104—of a possible 120. The Senate could not have a roll call Friday because only about 20 members were in the hall. Some 20 others were attending a full finance committee session trying to get the budget bill in shape for pressuring through this week.

Some of those who went home will be back for occasional days, some have said they doubt they will return. "We can't vote for the program as presented," they said, "and a vote against it would be futile. We're just wasting time to stay here."

RAILROADED—There is a distinction between railroading and steam roller tactics. One reason the steam roller has not been called into service before is that the railroads had done such effective work. For example, a special committee on State Government was set up to consider the reorganization bills. Members of the study groups which had recommended the bills were put on the committee, and later on subcommittees. Effect was that the men who proposed the bills passed upon the merit of the legislation, and exercised the traditional prestige of committee reports to put the acts through. When the plaintiff in any action sits as both judge and jury there is little doubt about the verdict.

EAGLES' WINGS
In the 32nd Chapter of Deuteronomy, we find Moses speaking of God as a mother eagle that "stirreth up her nest, fluttering over her young" and spreading abroad her wings, bearing up her young lest they fall.

It is the picture of the way the mother eagle teaches her brood to fly. She practically pushes them off the precipice and as they start plunging to the earth screaming, she flies beneath them, lifting them on her broad wings and sustaining them until they have found a safe place to alight. Over and over again the experiment is tried. Then one day, the youngsters can fly without any help and away

A Running Commentary

By HAL BOYLE Star Of Unhappy Poland

PARIS, (AP)—The leading actress of the Polish film that won second prize in the recent Cannes Film Festival will be paid $12 a month on her return to Poland—if she is lucky.

Teresa Zweska, blonde pride of Poland's young film industry said bitterly she also will have to borrow money for a taxicab from the Warsaw Airport to the student dormitory where she lives.

She starred in "Kanal," story of a guerrilla unit trapped in a sewer during the Warsaw uprising of 1944, and was a sensational success in her first movie role.

"Yes, I am bitter and I want everybody to know it," said Miss Zweska in an interview at a reception in the Polish Embassy in Paris. "Everybody tells me I am a great actress—that I have a great future. I smile at photographers and shake hands with thousands of people.

"But nobody knows that the government had to buy me a dress and a pair of shoes before I left Warsaw for Cannes—I could not have afforded to buy them myself."

Miss Zweska, 5 foot 7 and 22, said she could be quoted "on everything I say."

"They can't do anything to me. I am their pride, straving as I practically am."

She made this statement between sips of champagne and bites of the Polish "for export only" sausage at a lavish party given in her honor in the embassy, known for the best fare in Paris diplomatic circles. Top personalities in the French movie world were invited. Many asked to pose for photographs with her.

"I wore this dress to practically every reception I've been to since I left Poland," she said. It is a white dress with a black print design. "I am ashamed of it, but you can write it anyway. Poland is a poor country and everybody knows it."

As a fourth year student at the Warsaw Drama School, Miss Zweska said, she receives a scholarship of 300 zloty a month—or about $12 at the official exchange rate.

"I understand they want to take away that scholarship because I have gone abroad and they think I am making money," she said.

"But the government paid me nothing, although they sold the film to many countries. If I don't get the scholarship, I will have to sell my ring to live."

She pointed to a small gold-and-diamond ring on her finger. Her first trip abroad was "wonderful, too wonderful to explain," she said. "Everything here is just for people—not for the masses, like back home."

She added promptly she is not afraid to say anything "because they kept me for a week in a cellar three years ago just because of my father and they didn't change me even then."

She did not elaborate on the "they" but apparently referred to Poland's security police during Stalinist years.

MOOSE LAKE, MINN., STAR-GAZETTE: "Casualty lists of U. S. highways have mounted steadily in 1956 all records of needless haste and needless waste were shamefully broken. The facts of human suffering and death speak for themselves. . . . If this year's record is equal to that of 1956, one in 70 Americans will be a statistic. . . . a pain wracked survivor, or a name in the obituary column."

Despite recurrent Arabian denunciations of Israel, including denial of the right of passage through Suez and Akaba waters, there is speculative hope that the embittered races can reach a modus vivendi, if not a formal agreement. Arab politicians are given to extreme and exaggerated statements on this issue to placate the populace. But there have been fewer border clashes in recent weeks.

In view of Anglo-American support and sympathy, even the most fanatic Arab must know now that Israel is here to stay. They cannot have peace, progress or huge oil royalties until they take cognizance of that fact. Moreover, Israel's more recent calmness has contributed to some chance of a rapprochement, even though it may be only an armed state of coexistence.

It is not generally noted, but Israel has had good relations with Lebanon for several years on the northern border. King Abdullah, Hussein's grandfather, entered into negotiations with Tel Aviv, but they were terminated by his assassination. Even King Saud must appease the "street mobs," although he is geographically remote from the conflict.

PLAN FOR RESETTLEMENT OF REFUGEES
Thus, American intervention of a diplomatic and financial nature may yet quiet or temper the turmoil. With dollars and royalties, the "three kings" must be assured of security against an Army revolution or "mob" outbreaks. Then, they can afford to defy Nasser, despite his popularity with Middle East masses, and to negotiate with Israel.

Israeli Embassy officials here inform the writer that they have a plan for disposing of perhaps the most irritating and torturing task—resettlement of 900,000 Palestinian refugees and trouble makers. Prime Minister Ben-Gurion, it is understood, is willing to accept a 20-year, 550,000,000 U. S. loan—not a grant—for such a project. It might be extremely difficult for the Arabs to refuse to cooperate in such a project.

Have Best Future

By ROGER BABSON

BABSON PARK, Mass.—During the past winter I have used my spare time trying to decide what industries have the best opportunities. Among these, the following seem the leaders. The Oil Industry, represented by any of the large companies. The Chemical Industry, in which I consider the American Agricultural Chemical Co. of Florida one of the best. Household Heating by uranium, with American Radiator & Standard Sanitary the most conservative and National U. S. Radiator perhaps the best speculation. Electronics and Thermodynamics, with Westinghouse Air Brake, perhaps the best speculation. Earthmoving Machinery, with Caterpillar Tractor the most speculative and International Harvester perhaps the most conservative purchase. The Micro-wave Industry, of which Hughes Products of Los Angeles and the Motorola Co. of Chicago are among the leaders. Greeting Cards, with a Gibson, Hallmark, or Norcoros trademark. The Broadcasting of Power for small kitchen utensils may be developed by the Radio Corporation of America.

REASONS FOR THE ABOVE SELECTIONS

There are four basic factors which I am considering in selecting these industries:

(1) Labor Shortage. This will continue due to the desire for four more years of education and for retirement at 65, and to other factors which will offset the population growth. This will further strengthen the power of Labor Unions.

(2) Automation. At first glance this should cause unemployment, but automation will be so expensive that it will come about only slowly. Furthermore, although automation reduces greatly the number of employees needed, yet the quality of the employees needed will be considerably upgraded. Automation for many years will barely offset the possible shortage of labor under present conditions.

(3) Inflation. We ought to fight inflation in any form, but it will slowly creep up on us, resulting in a gradual increase in the cost of living. Of course, if World War III should come, the value of the dollar will drop from 50 cents to 25 cents, but I am not looking for anything like this now.

(4) Government Expenses, barring World War III, should hold fairly steady. The development of missiles should reduce defense expenses in both the Navy and Army. This should offset any increase arising from the growth of bureaucratic government.

OTHER TRENDS TO WATCH

(1) Higher Education will be considered a necessity. Not only will teachers receive higher salaries, but they must work harder to earn the same by having double sessions, by the further use of television, and by proper grading. Anything there may be discovered a completely new revolutionary system of education. Colleges will cease as residence schools and become day schools with elaborate parking facilities.

(2) Automobiles and Parking. Unless the trend for larger cars and automobile accidents soon turn downward, with greatly increasing "4 lane" highways, the automobile industry will be leveling off. There will be more money in providing parking facilities than in the sale of automobiles.

(3) Community Churches. The Church is the hope of America, but young people are giving less attention to formal creeds and the old religious dogmas. Denominations are meaning less to the coming generation. I forecast a great growth in community churches attended by a large number of people of different denominations. Churches will be located adjacent to municipal playgrounds, lakes, rivers, etc.

(4) Shopping Centers for retail stores will be followed by brain centers for insurance companies, legal firms, architects, etc. The suburban population definitely will increase, attracting churches, YMCA's, and other organizations, as well as retail stores. As the working population

Other Editors Saying -- No Inspection Law

(Rocky Mount Telegram)

It seems rather incongruous to us that the General Assembly can consider a bill for compulsory auto liability insurance and at the same time give an unfavorable report to a bill providing for mechanical inspection of motor vehicles. Yet that is what is happening.

The House has passed a proposal calling for compulsory, liability insurance. That measure is before the Senate now, and will be considered next Wednesday. Yesterday the House Roads Committee proved they are averse to safety inspection when they voted, 19-7, to hand an unfavorable report to a bill on auto inspection. It appears that some members of the Legislature are trying to burn the candle at both ends.

Both measures are needed for North Carolina motorists. Liability insurance protects the driver of each car—provided it is compulsory. There can be no inequalities if it is required by each driver. At the same time safety inspection of vehicles may prevent many unnecessary accidents, thus forestalling liability cases in numerous instances. How one can be said to benefit the motorist, while the other does not, is hard to fathom.

Undoubtedly, many of the House members who voted against the inspection bill remembered the popular outcry 10 years ago when North Carolina tried compulsory safety inspection for automobiles. When the law was repealed in 1949, all efforts to revive the law since then have failed. The Roads Committee members feel, in defeating the current safety inspection bill, that inspection of cars is "working on the wrong end of highway safety because it's the speed of the new cars that is causing most of the accidents."

That, too, seems incongruous, when one remembers that the Legislature approved a bill not too long ago providing for speeds of 60 miles per hour on some designated sections of North Carolina highways. If speed is killing the motorist, then apparently members of the Legislature are intent on helping the motorist get out of this world. Auto inspection has long been successful in many states. Perhaps it was not the inspection law itself that Tar Heels objected to, rather the way it was administered. If that is the case, then study should be directed along those lines. Bloodshed boxscores will continue to be featured prominently in the news as long as our lawmakers refuse to take a realistic view of the situation.

Mid-East Solution Hope Rises

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON—American diplomats under Eisenhower-Dulles direction have now undertaken the difficult task of achieving at least a partial and constructive settlement of Middle East problems involving the Suez Canal and the Arab-Israeli differences. The negotiations are now approaching the second and possibly final phase of the crisis.

As Washington views the scene, now more hopeful than in many months, there are two questions awaiting development and disposal. First, what will be the reaction and the next move of Colonel Gamal Abdel Nasser? Threatened with the desertion of the Arab Allies save for Syria, will he move closer to Russia and refuse to deal with the West in a sensible and friendly way?

DICTATORS UNPREDICTABLE
It is the need and nature of dictators to leap from one adventure to another foreign crusade in order to retain popular support, and there lies the danger. On the other hand, except for arms, he could expect no great material or economic aid from Moscow. He may be more willing to settle the remaining problems in a satisfactory manner. His people are suffering because of his extravagance and military expenditures.

He has been less belligerent of late in his press and on radio. He is obviously upset over the anti-Communist attitude of the "three kings"—Saud of Saudi Arabia, Hussein of Jordan and Faisal of Iraq. Even his closest ally, Syria, has indicated that she may resume diplomatic relations with Britain, which has shown a less intransigent spirit than France.

NASSER'S TALKS WITH U. S. EMBASSY MEMBERS
Nasser has discontinued his daily conferences with the Soviet Ambassador at Cairo. On the other hand, he has been having frequent talks with members of the American Embassy there. He has asked Washington to unblock Egyptian funds that were frozen after he seized Suez.

Despite recurrent Arabian denunciations of Israel, including denial of the right of passage through Suez and Akaba waters, there is speculative hope that the embittered races can reach a modus vivendi, if not a formal agreement. Arab politicians are given to extreme and exaggerated statements on this issue to placate the populace. But there have been fewer border clashes in recent weeks.

Medical Equipment Donated

NEW EQUIPMENT—Medical Technologist Richard Leonard is operating the new Flame Photometer and Spectrophotometer recently donated to Pitt Memorial Hospital. (Reflector Staff Photo).

The Pitt County Memorial Hospital has received additional medical equipment. A new Flame Photometer and Spectrophotometer has been donated to the hospital by Mr. and Mrs. M. O. Minges of Greenville. The new equipment will be used to check the potassium, sodium, calcium and phosphate content in blood. According to Hospital Administrator C. D. Ward, the Flame Photometer and Spectrophotometer is one of two in operation in this area. By the use of this equipment, which requires special trained technicians for operation, a physician can be shown the chemical content of his patient's blood. This is particularly useful in surgery and for cardiac patients. Ward states, "We are grateful to the donors for this modern piece of equipment and feel that its addition will greatly enhance the hospital's service to the community in the future."

At the May meeting of the Eastern North Carolina Section of the American Chemical Society held at East Carolina College, Dr. Robert E. Kitson of Kinston was installed as chairman for the year 1957-58. Other officers elected for the coming year were chairman-elect, D. K. Barnes of Kinston; secretary-treasurer, G. W. Everett; counselor, J. E. Waltz; and alternate counselor, R. E. Wilfong, all of Greenville. Dr. Alfred E. Burger of the University of Virginia was guest speaker and he spoke on the Chemotherapy of Cancer. In his speech, Dr. Burger pointed out that progress is being made in the treatment of cancer, particularly leukemia. However, the compounds found thus far have two main objections: (1) They are very toxic to the human body and must be used in controlled amounts and (2) after continued treatment with the same compound, the treatment becomes ineffective. He further stated that the National Institute of Health has formed a committee which will test 16,000 different compounds each year with the object of finding an effective treatment for cancer.

How to leave your family a Deed instead of a Debt

Whether you are already paying on a mortgage or just undertaking the purchase of a home, there is an important question which you should face: would your wife and children have a home "free and clear" if something should happen to you?

The answer to this question is as near as your phone. Your Metropolitan Representative can work out a specific solution to fit your needs and your income.

For instance, a Metropolitan Mortgage Term Plan is designed to cover the usual type of home mortgage which decreases each year as payments on the principal are made. The face amount of the Mortgage Term Plan decreases in the same proportion, so that your level premium is relatively inexpensive.

A more satisfactory plan for many men is a Metropolitan Whole Life Policy. This is permanent insurance which not only assures that funds will be available for payment of the mortgage in the event of death, but also builds cash and loan values which may be used to take care of mortgage payments in the event of illness or emergency. Because the face value does not decrease, it can be used for continuing protection for you and your family after the mortgage is paid off.

Whatever plan your Metropolitan Representative suggests, you can be sure that it will be specifically designed to meet your present and future needs.

We suggest that you call him today and let him help you set the wheels in motion to help protect the continued ownership of your home by your family. He will welcome the opportunity to show that...

Metropolitan service is as local as Main Street... as close as your phone

Teen-er League Opens Tonight With Ceremonies, Ballgame

Teen-er League baseball opens tonight at Guy Smith Stadium, at 7:45, as the State Bank and Home Builders teams square off for the first of 32 regular scheduled Teen-er games.

Tonight's game will introduce VFW Teen-er League baseball to Greenville and the surrounding area. Last year, Pony League ball was played during the summer months instead.

Carlton Garrett, State VFW Youth and Athletic Director is expected to be on hand for the opening ceremonies. Garrett, of Elizabeth City, is in charge of the Teen-er League activities of this state.

VFW baseball is played on a regulation diamond and boys 13, 14, and 15 years of age are eligible.

Tonight's Starters Of the Greenville League's four teams, two will play tonight, and then the league will begin. There will be four games each week, and one game will be played each Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday nights. The teams are Guaranty Bank, State Bank, College View and Home Builders.

Coach Jack Bass of the State Bank club, has released the following roster as starters for tonight's contest: Randy Bass, pitcher; Aubrey Harrison, catcher; Jeff Fountain, first base; Burt Aycock, second base; Charles Gray, shortstop; Allen McArthur, third base; Charles Puryear, left field; Wayne Sumrell, centerfield; Don Nelson, right field.

Bass stated today that "We're very well pleased with the boys we have this year. Our veterans all seem faster, better developed, and most of them have a very good season. I'd also like to add that I think the league as a whole will be faster and will offer much better baseball than ever before."

Nobles, who is entering his first season of coaching in the league, told reporters today that he, too, is "expecting a good, fast brand of ball this season" under the Teen-er rules. As for his own team, he stated that the Home Builders were "shaping up well in every position."

Merrill Bynum, Nobles' starting pitcher tonight, is one of the celebrities of the league already, having been an outstanding performer last year in the old Pony League. Bynum, already in his young career, has hurled a crop of low and no-hitters.

No admission will be charged for the contests.

HURLING TONIGHT—Merrill Bynum left, walking beside catcher Mack Roebuck during a Greenville high school baseball game, will be the starting pitcher for the Home Builders tonight as they face the State Bank nine in the opening of Teen-er League Baseball in Greenville. Bynum, a sophomore in high school this year, has already turned in his share of low-and-no-hitters, and is considered one of the League's best pitchers. He'll oppose Randy Bass on the mound.

Cubs Dump Haney's Braves Into Third

By JACK HAND The Associated Press What happened to Milwaukee's vaunted pitching staff? Manager Fred Haney hasn't seen a starter go nine innings since May 12. In the last five games, he has used 18 pitchers.

Even the lowly Chicago Cubs roughed up the Braves over the weekend, taking three out of four, including a sweep of a Sunday double-header that dumped Milwaukee into third place.

The Braves have had only 10 complete games all season, the same as Cincinnati, which was supposed to have no pitching staff at all.

Dick Drott, 20-year-old rookie who wasn't even on the Cubs' roster in spring training, set a club record yesterday by striking out 15 Braves for a 7-5 decision in the first game, while Gene Conley failed Haney.

Juan Pizarro, a hot shot freshman, held the Cubs to four hits in eight innings of the second game but was knocked out in the ninth during a two-run rally that gave Chicago a 5-4 edge.

Cincinnati even got an eighth-inning home run from its pitcher.

Hal Jeffcoat, in beating St. Louis 7-6. The Cardinals got a pair of homers from Stan Musial, including his eighth grand slam.

Brooklyn elbowed past Milwaukee into second place in the National League, two games behind the Redlegs. The Dodgers trimmed the New York Giants 5-3 as Duke Snider joined the 1,500-hit club with his seventh homer of the year, off Ruben Gomez.

When the Giants kicked up their heels in the 11th innings, Clem Labine had to help starter Sandy Koufax.

Pittsburgh spoiled plans to celebrate Curt Simmons' 100th major league victory when they chased the Phils' left-hander and went on to collect 20 hits for a 13-5 romp. Roberto Clement led the party with four hits and drove in five runs as Roy Face won his first of the year. Rookie Don Cardwell gave the Phils a split by taking the second 6-3.

Despite Billy Pierce's brilliant four-hit 1-0 decision over Cleveland in 10 innings, the Chicago White Sox had to settle for an even break with the Indians when Ray Narleski saved the nightcap with five shutout relief innings to earn a 4-3 triumph.

St. Louis' Curt Simmons' 100th major league victory when they chased the Phils' left-hander and went on to collect 20 hits for a 13-5 romp.

Seixas Looking For Australia

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—Vic Seixas was satisfied today the United States would get through the Davis Cup challenge round to meet Australia, the champion.

Seixas, 33, who was talking about quitting amateur tennis for professional television a few months ago, surveyed the future of the American Davis Cuppers after he won the third and deciding match yesterday against Venezuela.

The victory put the United States into the North American zone cup finals.

"The team should win its next match and not have too much trouble getting to the interzone finals," the temporary American team captain said. "But it won't be easy," he added.

Seixas undercut left-handed Ivo Pimentel 6-4, 6-4, 6-2. Pimentel had given Venezuela a brief 1-0 lead when he whipped Grant Golden in the opening match of the series.

Seixas demonstrated he was the essential cog in the U. S. drive to its 15th straight Davis Cup world finals.

Pimentel, 23, didn't have the chance to shock Seixas with his fierce serve, a tactic which helped him whip the surprised Golden.

Besselink Scores Biggest Triumph

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Al Besselink, a friendly heavyweight pro from Grossinger, N. Y., scored his first major victory of the year in the Kansas City Open Golf Tournament despite an unimpressive 3-over-par 75 in the final round.

Besselink won the $2,800 first prize yesterday with a 72-hole total of 279, nine strokes under par at the Hillcrest Country Club. It was the best paying win for the 215-pound, 6-4 New Yorker since his $10,000 victory in the Las Vegas Tournament of Champions in 1953.

George Bayona long ball hitter from Los Angeles, and easy little Dow Finsterwald, Tequesta, Fla., tied for second on scores of 282. Each picked up $1,650. Finsterwald shot his second straight 70. Bayer made the last round in 71.

West Team Boasts Five All-Staters

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP)—Five all-state players are included on the 11-man western team which will play in the ninth annual North Carolina high school all-star basketball game here July 29 as part of the week-long coaching clinic.

The squad, coached by Tony Simeon of High Point, includes: Dickie Culler and Buddy Jones, both of High Point; Richard Smith and Eddie Burke, both of Burlington; Doug Albright and James Spence, both of Greensboro; Tam Shuford of Salisbury; Jerry Steele of Elkin; Floyd Crawley of Hickory; Don King of Mineral Springs and John Vanhorn of Hildebran.

Highest town in Europe is Saint-Veran at 6,993 feet in the French Alps.

Opening the Friday program at noon (EST), Florida State meets Georgia teachers. The 3 p.m. game matches tourney favorite Duke, Atlantic Coast Conference champion, and George Washington, Southern Conference titlist.

The afternoon losers will meet at 6:30 p.m., with the 9 o'clock contest pairing the winners of the day games.

The winner of the final game on Friday will move into the finals Saturday night at 9 against the winner of a 6:30 game between the two other survivors.

Should a seventh game be needed to determine the champion it will be played on Monday, June 3, Sunday being left open.

Duke, with a 16-6 record, has what coach Ace Parker, former major leaguer, says is his best team in five years as Blue Devil head coach. One of the star members of the cast that features good hitting and strong pitching is outfielder Dave Sime, world record holding sprinter.

George Washington, winner of its last 12 games, has a 19-2 record under coach Bill Reinhart, the Colonials' best baseball mark in history.

Florida State, coached by Danny Litwhiler, another one-time big leaguer, has won 19 of 25, including two games from Georgia Teachers by 13-2 and 8-3. However, the Teachers did not use their ace hurler, slender Roy Alwine, in either game. Coach J. I. Clements will have him ready for Friday's meeting with the Floridians. Alwine has a 7-1 record and the team is 17-8.

Carries New American Disarmament Proposals

LONDON (AP)—Harold E. Stassen arrived in London today with new American proposals for a disarmament plan with Soviet Russia.

President Eisenhower's special disarmament representative flew into London Airport only a few hours before the five-nation U. N. Disarmament subcommittee was to resume discussions told reporters he would negotiate "carefully and cautiously" with Soviet representatives at the London talks.

He said his general aim was to reverse the "competitive arms buildup" in the world. The American plan, he said, was aimed at "small, measured steps" of arms reduction instead of a sweeping agreement covering all weapons.

He cautioned against expecting fast results from the talks, pointing out that the problems involved are "too important and too complex" for quick decisions.

The American proposal reportedly contains the following points:

1. A multination treaty which would bind nations who don't have

Favors Missile Funds For Navy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Jackson (D-Wash.) urged today that the Navy get more funds and authority to speed development of "an intermediate range ballistic missile fired from ocean launching platforms."

In a speech prepared for Senate delivery, Jackson said the future weapon would be a 1,500-mile missile "with a hydrogen warhead" which "could be launched against strategic targets from submerged or surfaced nuclear-powered submarines."

The Navy already is fitting some submarines and cruisers with smaller guided missiles. It also is working on an IRBM on its own after having worked in cooperation with the Army on such a missile.

Jackson proposed that:

1. "First: The President, with the help of the National Security Council, should personally re-examine the question of whether we are now giving enough effort, enough money, and enough priority to the development of sea-based missile launching systems."
2. "Second: In resolving this issue, the President should give consideration to seeking assistance from a presidentially appointed commission on ballistic seapower."
3. "Today, right now, the Soviets have submarines which can fire ballistic missiles at least 200 miles," he said without specifying the source of his information. "We must presume they will soon have submarine-launched ballistic missiles with a 1,000 or 1,500 mile range. No real defense against such weapons is now foreseeable."
4. "In fact, our own ballistic seapower may be the one thing above all which will keep Moscow from making a surprise attack with its own sea-based missiles."

Died Of Beating From His Son

MAYWOOD, Calif. (AP)—Police say Harold Johnson died of a billy club beating by his 15-year-old son.

Johnson, 43, succumbed yesterday a few hours after he demanded—and obtained—the release of his son Lester from jail. The boy had been booked on suspicion of assault with a deadly weapon.

Police said the son told them he attacked his father during an argument in the family's home in Maywood, a suburb of Los Angeles, Saturday night. He was re-booked on suspicion of murder.

NEW YORK (N.Y.A.)—The stock market lapsed into irregularity early this afternoon, failing to hold an initial rise.

Some sharp losses by key stocks put down the average slightly. There was a good assortment of gains in most major divisions but these were mainly fractional.

Some good gains by oils were considerably trimmed in subsequent trading. Aircraft stocks continued lower, deepening their losses as the session went on.

The aircrafts have been depressed by the increasing prospects of some kind of disarmament agreement this year, brokers said. Meanwhile, steels were patchy on mixed production reports from the different steelmaking centers. Rails and steels showed a flock of small plus and minus signs.

A few special issues continued to make wide moves.

The high-speed ticker tape fell behind for three minutes in reporting the weekend accumulation of orders. Later turnover remained fairly active.

Corning Glass, which ran up 20 points last week on news of its newly-developed basic material, pyroceram, added about 7 points today. It opened on a block of 8,000 shares, up 3 1/2 at 96.

Reynolds Metals was down 2 1/2 at 59 1/2 on a block of 10,700 shares, later trimming its loss slightly. While there was further news of curtailed production of primary aluminum, other stocks of the industry showed no special action.

Aluminum Ltd. trading about unchanged and Kaiser Aluminum losing a small fraction.

The oils resumed their advance early today on the excellent earnings reports and good prospects for the future. Around midsession, however, Getty cut a fraction from its early 2-point gain. American erased a 1-point gain and dipped slightly and Gulf Oil eased. Cities Service retained a gain of around a point and Texas Co. held a fraction of its previous gain of about a point.

As aircrafts slipped further, Douglas dropped around 3. United and General Dynamics about 2 each and Boeing over a point. Dupont lost more than 2 and Lukens Steel about a point.

Small gains were made by Youngstown Sheet, Caterpillar, General Motors, Consolidated Natural Gas, Union Carbide, Anaconda and Loew's.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was down 20 cents to $184.30 with the industrials down 50 cents, the rails unchanged and the utilities down 20 cents.
