Two Swimmers Drown In Tar River; Bodies Found

PREPARING TO DRAG RIVER . . . rescue squad in search for two drowning victims.

By ALVIN TAYLOR, Reflector City Editor. Rescue squad members last night recovered the bodies of two swimmers who drowned in the swift currents of the Tar.

The pair, both Negro, were identified by Deputy Sheriff Duke Andrews as Johnny Moore, 27, Greenville Rt. 4 and James Fleming, 16, Greenville Rt. 4.

There were six other Negroes along with the two at the time the drowning occurred. Members of the group said they went to the river by a road behind the airport around 10:30 yesterday morning.

Some Britishers Suspect A Hoax

LONDON (AP)—Some Britons think the headless, handless body found on Britain's south coast and believed to be that of missing frogman Cmdr. Lionel (Buster) Crabb may be a Russian imitation of a British wartime trick.

Both the Laborite Reynolds News and a reader's letter to the editor of the independent Sunday Express took exception to the general belief that the body found June 9 is that of the frogman, last seen skin diving in Portsmouth Harbor near the Soviet cruiser Ordzhonikidze 14 months before.

The Reynolds News said British security agents, because of reports they have from behind the Iron Curtain, believe Crabb is still alive and in Russian hands.

The paper called attention to the presence in the English Channel of three Russian submarines three days before the body was washed up at Chichester, 100 miles from Portsmouth. The submarines since have entered the Mediterranean en route to Egypt.

Haitian Violence Sees 50 Dead, 200 Wounded

By LARRY ALLEN. PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti (AP)—At least 50 persons are dead and 200 wounded after a weekend of violence in Haiti. Still more disorders were in prospect.

With scores in critical condition, the death toll from Saturday night's carnage may reach well over 100. Angry mobs went on an orgy of looting, burning and stoning in protest at the army's ouster of their idol, Provisional President Daniel Fignole. Troops stopped it with submachinegun fire.

About 1,000 Haitians were imprisoned. The workers from Port au Prince's slums threatened another burst of violence last night. But a cloudburst lashed this unhappy Negro republic in the afternoon, turning the capital's muddy streets into swirling streams two to three feet deep.

SUPREME COURT FREES 5 CONVICTED U.S. RED LEADERS

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court today threw out the conviction of five Communist party leaders on charges of plotting to teach violent overthrow of the U.S. government.

In the same decision the high court ordered new trials for nine other California Communist party officials who had been convicted on the same charges.

Justice Harlan delivered the court's majority decision, in which Justices Brennan and Whittaker took no part.

Justice Clark dissented outright. Justices Black and Douglas concurred with the majority, except that they favored freeing all 14. Black wrote an opinion explaining his and Douglas' views.

The individuals had clearly indicated a desire "to work within the framework of the democratic process."

Trio Rob Local Taxicab Driver

A taxi cab driver, who picked up three strangers for an early morning trip, was robbed on a highway and then beaten on a lonely rural dirt road early today.

Members of the group struck Williams and left him with a gash under the eye and a bump on the head. He told the sheriff he did not know whether he was struck with a gun or a stick.

CANONSBURG, Pa. (AP)—Residents of the small mining community of Muse will long remember Fathers Day, 1957 and 10-year-old Joe Coleman. He shot up the town for two hours and pinned his dad behind a utility pole with gunfire.

Armed with two pistols and an undetermined quantity of cartridges, Joe terrorized the small Washington County community by shooting at anyone who moved before he finally was captured by trick.

Western Diplomats Meet To Coordinate Reaction On Soviet Union Proposal

LONDON (AP)—Western delegates, met behind closed doors today to coordinate their reaction to the Soviet Union's surprise proposal for an internationally controlled ending of nuclear weapon tests.

For the first time, the Russian plan included Kremlin acceptance of scientific international inspection teams on Soviet territory as well as on the territory of the United States, Britain and in the Pacific.

Western Diplomats Meet To Coordinate Reaction On Soviet Union Proposal

Observers felt that the proposal, regardless of the sincerity with which it was put forward, gave the Russians at least a temporary propaganda advantage in the involved five-power U.N. disarmament talks in London.

Pressure mounted on Prime Minister Harold Macmillan to push for a complete exploration—if not outright acceptance—of the Soviet plan.

The Russians to agree to the changes we want." Prime Minister Macmillan insisted upon just such an idea in a letter to Soviet Premier Bulganin made public Saturday night.

Couple Robbed By 2 'Polite' Bandits

LAURINBURG, N.C. (AP)—Two "polite" armed men, neatly dressed and wearing straw hats, entered the home of Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Hammond Sr. here last night and, after binding their victims, made off with about $4,000.

Hammond, a wholesale grocer whose home is about three blocks from the business district, gave this account of the robbery to police.

He and his wife were watching television in their living room when two men 30 to 35 years old walked into the room. They had gained admittance through the unlocked kitchen door. They were wearing handkerchief masks. Each had a pistol.

SEOU (AP)—A ferry overloaded with 82 persons sank off the southwest tip of Korea today. Seven persons were drowned and two are missing.

Police later found a telephone book page listing H's in a pay station booth outside a closed service station a few blocks from the Hammond home.

Each had a pistol. "Do what we tell you to and nobody will get hurt," one advised.

Jamaica Trip Follows McInnis-Proctor Vows

The Eighth Street Christian Church was the scene of an impressive formal wedding Saturday evening at eight o'clock when Miss Hannah Dixon Proctor became the bride of John Wallis McInnis of Chicago, Illinois.

The church altar was banked with wedding greenery of emerald, smilax and magnolia interspersed with seven branch candelabras holding burning white tapers, and baskets of white gladioli. A large basket of magnolia blooms and greenery was placed in the church vestibule. An arrangement of white flowers was used on the piano in an adjoining room. Greenery and candles were used in the choir loft windows.

Dr. H. G. Haney, the bride's pastor, officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Knott Proctor of Greenville. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Jackson McInnis of Chicago.

A program of nuptial music was rendered prior to the ceremony by George Perry of the East Carolina College Music Department, organist, and Mrs. Herbert Carter of Greenville, soloist. Mrs. Carter sang "Entreat Me Not To Leave Thee" by Gounod, "Cloths of Heaven" by Dunhill, and "Oh Perfect Love" by Barnby.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride's gown of white nylon tulle over taffeta featured a short sleeved bodice with a neckline trimmed in re-bordered Alencon lace hand-run with threads of silver. The full skirt with inserted pleated fans extended into a cathedral train. Her two tiered finger-tip veil of French illusion fell from a cap of matching lace. She carried a cascade bouquet of lilies-of-the-valley and white orchids.

Mrs. James Knott Proctor Jr., sister-in-law of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a waltz length dress of shaded nylon organza with a sabrina neckline, full skirt, and a deeper shade of rose bardeur. Her headress was a Dior bow with streamers in the deeper shade of rose and matching shoes. She carried a cascade bouquet of gardenias.

Miss Mary Wilson Long and Miss Louise Mann Cheatham of Greenville were bridesmaids. Their dresses, headresses, and shoes were identical to those of the honor attendant. They, too, carried cascade bouquets of gardenias.

Little Miss Elizabeth Dixon, cousin of the bride, was flower girl. She wore white organza dress and carried a small basket filled with pink larkspur and sweetheart roses.

The bride's mother chose for her daughter's wedding an Adele Simpson original in blue chiffon with matching shoes and gloves. She wore a corsage of white orchids.

The bridegroom's mother wore waltz length dress of yellow lace and chiffon with matching shoes. Her corsage was of white orchids.

Honorary bridesmaids were Miss Nelson Blount, Miss Norma Basnight, Miss Sue Tucker, Miss Sara Adams, Miss Jeri Lassiter of Greenville, and Miss Lella Davernport of Pactivolus. They wore identical wristlet corsages of white carnations.

Turnage introduced guests to the receiving line, composed of the bride, bridegroom, Mr. and Mrs. John Wallis McInnis, Mr. and Mrs. James Knott Proctor, Mr. and Mrs. John McInnis, Mrs. James Knott Proctor Jr., and the bridesmaids and flower girl.

Mr. and Mrs. Reid Perkins and Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Ormond directed the guests to the serving table which was covered with a nylon tulle cloth over white satin.

A silver reflector centered the table encircled with white gardenias. An epergne filled with roses, baby's breath, and white larkspur centered the reflector which was flanked by five-branch silver candelabras.

Of focal interest in the dining room was a green and white arrangement of gladioli, feverfew, and greenery and burning tapers placed on the mantel.

Four Children Keep Mrs. Turnage Busy

FOUR CHILDREN . . . with Edward, nine months old.

(Editor's Note) This is the final article in a series of interviews with the wives of the members of the Greenville City Council.

BY ANNE SINGLETON
Reflector Woman's Editor

Four children, a dog, and a husband keep Mrs. Lester Turnage quite busy.

A typical American homemaker, she enjoys cooking, sewing, and "trying to keep up with the children."

Mrs. Turnage makes all of her own summer clothes and clothes for her two daughters Sue, 8, and Pamela, 4.

She is also clever with the shears, cutting and fixing her daughters' hair and her own. Mr. Turnage keeps the two boys, David, 9, and Edward, 9 months, hair trimmed.

A real estate and insurance salesman, Mr. Turnage is often away from the home, but when he is home, "He does help me around the house and can change a diaper and care for the children," mentioned Mrs. Turnage.

Their home in Englewood is furnished with a modern influence although Mrs. Turnage does use a few antique pieces.

Originally from Vincennes, Indiana, Mrs. Turnage met her husband while he was stationed in the Air Force in Indiana where they were married.

The Turnages are members of the Eighth Street Christian Church where Mrs. Turnage is also active in her Circle.

The energetic wife of a councilman is keenly interested in the Elmhurst P. T. A. where her two children attend school.

When asked about her hobbies, Mrs. Turnage laughingly said, "Each of the children have their collections of bottle caps, etc. so I have little time for one of my own."

As a family unit, the Turnages enjoy cooking in the yard and week-end jaunts to the beach.

Mrs. Turnage added that, "Les is a good backyard cook specializing in steaks, hamburgers, and barbecue chicken."

During the bridge games Mrs. H. P. Quinerly and Mrs. J. W. Short complied the highest scores among the club members and Mrs. Cecil Cobb received the guest prize.

Mrs. Woodrow Smith entertained members of her contract club and invited players at four tables of bridge on Thursday night at her home on Queen Street.

Arrangements of gladioli and gardenias graced the rooms in which the guests were received. At the refreshment hour the hostess served a congealed fruit salad with sandwiches, cookies and iced tea.

Mrs. Walter Patrick was club high scorer and Mrs. Mark Phillips second high. The guest prize went to Mrs. Conrad Hart.

Don't forget to add extra salt and pepper when you prepare gravy from meat or poultry drippings. The seasonings originally used on the meat probably won't be enough for the gravy.

Easy To Make At Home

AP Newsfeatures

A pretty party coat is a must for a very young lady. She'll want it as delicate and pretty as cotton candy, and Mom will want it practical and easy to keep clean.

A good choice for a summer party coat that will please both mother and daughter is pastel corduroy, which can be tossed in the washing machine every week if necessary, and still keep its fresh good looks. Local sewing center experts suggest making a child's coat in pale pink fine-wale corduroy, with a fashionable cape collar edged in dainty cotton lace, so finished that it needs no ironing and will remain crisp through many washings.

The cape-collared coat is easy to make with a standard pattern. Its flared lines allow room for plenty of party petticoats beneath.

Less than two yards of fabric are required to make a coat and matching bonnet for a four-year-old. Also included in the pattern envelope are instructions for making a pair of suspender slacks.

For a coordinated ensemble, you might make a party dress of pink organdy, trimmed with the same no-iron lace used on the matching coat.

Mrs. Jay B. Nichols

How often do you check your million dollar eyes?

If you had two million dollars invested in some machine, you'd have it checked regularly to make sure everything was always okay.

But folks take their million dollar vision for granted, failing to have it checked for the changes which may occur in eyesight in a few months.

Just as you perhaps see your dentist twice a year for dental check-ups, so should you see your eyesight specialist at least once a year for a vision examination.

Italy's President Shelving That Rubber Stamp Role

By JAMES M. LONG
ROME (AP) — President Giovanni Gronchi has put away the traditional rubber stamp of his office. He is breaking with the tradition that Italy's President must be a figurehead.
This was evident when he took under advisement the nomination of a new premier to pull Italy out of more than a month of political crisis.
He announced he intended to do more than name a premier; he intended to have a say in what kind of government was formed.
"It is not only in my right but my duty not only to give the country a new prime minister—but also to collaborate in forming a government," he said.
That would be crowding his constitutionally limited powers to a maximum. The constitution says the President can name a premier, "and upon the premier's recommendation, a cabinet."

Heretofore Italian presidents have chosen the Premier and then approved whatever cabinet he brought in. Instead of giving some candidate the charge of forming a government, Gronchi may give a candidate a "preliminary" or "exploratory" mandate.
That would mean the Premier designate could plan a one-party or coalition government and draw up a list of ministers with the President saying if the plan and the list were acceptable.
Gronchi was elected president of Parliament April 29, 1955, for a seven-year term. He has become a popular but controversial figure in what used to be a staid and routine role. A Christian Democrat, he leans a little to the left.
Communists joined in cheering his inaugural speech, suggesting a government "opening to the left."
The furor this caused was butted over later. It was explained that he referred to labor—not to communism.
Three months ago Gaetano Martino, foreign minister, stepped in and stopped a letter Gronchi wrote to President Eisenhower criticizing the United States' policies in the Mideast. The government shielded at any contention the constitution gives an Italian president "political powers."

The domestic textile industry, by and large, has been in the doldrums for a long time. However, I forecast some improvement during the second half of this year. Cotton and wool perhaps will be the best performers, although I forecast nothing in the nature of a booming market. Supplies of the basic fibers are ample for the months immediately ahead.

Profit Reports Reveal A Price-Cost Squeeze

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP)—The price-cost squeeze—and in some cases shrinking sales—show up today in the early reports on business profits in the first half of the fiscal year.
These reports come from companies whose fiscal year ends before the calendar year.
Reports from 44 of the off-beat fiscal year companies show 25 of them with lower net income after taxes than in the corresponding first six months of their previous year. Six of the 44 report operating at a loss.
Combined the 44 report net income of $117,352,009 this year against $142,535,919 for the same 44 in the previous year, or a drop of 17.6 per cent.
But the totals are heavily weighted by a few industries that have been having rough going. The still booming industries haven't been heard from yet.
When companies using the calendar year begin next month to report their first six months results the picture seems likely to change for the better. In the first quarter of this year business profits averaged out 7.6 per cent higher than in the first three months of 1956.
Two industries that tend to follow the farm year rather than the calendar year have been having profit problems. So all of the meat packers and half of the reporting farm implement firms pull the average for the 44 down.
All seven of the meat packing companies reporting on their first half results show profits lower this year than last. One operated at a loss. Combined the seven report earnings of $6,104,345 this year—a drop of 79.5 per cent from the $29,853,081 the same seven made in the first half of last year.

Three of the six farm machinery firms report lower earnings this year. Three operated at a loss but two of these were able to cut their losses below those of a year ago. And on concern did so much better this year than in its discouraging previous year that combined the six report $31,576,043 this year, a 3.9 per cent gain on the $30,368,857 made by the same six the previous year.
The slowdown in home building shows up in the reports of firms making building materials. Most of those reporting early reveal this year's net income trailing last year's.
Some of the smaller firms in the electronics field also report falling behind. As do some of the small operators in the aircraft industry.
Lower profits this year also are reported by some firms in the electrical appliance, paper and food processing industries.

Killed Three

SCRANTON, Pa. (AP)—A single bolt of lightning killed three men yesterday and injured three others after rain drove them from a game of golf to the shelter of an oak tree.
Eleven doctors playing on the crowded Scranton Country Club course hurried to the scene. They found three golfers already dead. Another golfer and two caddies were burned severely and suffering shock. The deputy coroner said the group's metal golf clubs served as conductors after the lightning struck the tree.
The dead were Dr. Horace D. Birchard, 60, Scranton, a dentist; Frederick DeWilde, 62, Clark's Summit, Pa., a co-owner of Pine Brook iron works, Dunmore, Pa.; and John W. Whitmore, 58, Scranton, an insurance executive.

Graniteers Face All-Star Squad At Stadium Tonight

Activity Opens At 7:30; Skill Contests First

By BILLY ARNOLD
Reflector Sports Editor
Tonight at 7:30, the Industrial Softball League will feature its annual All-Star festivities at Guy Smith Stadium.

This special softball night highlights a contest between the league-leading team for the first half of play versus the All-Star club. The All-Stars are made up of outstanding players chosen from the second, third and fourth position teams.

Greenville Marble and Granite Works, touted the Graniteers, notched an 8-1 record for first half play to lead the league. Carolina Dairy finished second, Greenville Parts and Metals took third position and the Carolina Telephone and Telegraph outfit was fourth.

Starting off the night's action, will be a host of contests. Players from all teams will engage in skill tests for prizes. There will be prizes for the longest homerun, fastest base runner, throwing and catching, among others.

The All-Star tilt will follow the brief skill contests. It will be a regulation seven-inning affair. All-Star selections this year are as follows: W. H. Phillips and Charles Odum, pitchers; C. W. Wall and Roy Heldenrich, catchers; Bobby Reid, Bob Howell, Bobby Flynn, Johnny Fowl, Matt Hall, Browlie Trip, Mitchell White, Bob Dash, and Billy Cox, infielders; D. Walker, Blaney Moye, outfield. Several of the infielders are also listed as pitchers and outfielders. They have been listed in the above order due to the fact that they are considered regular infielders on their respective teams.

Jessie Hardy and A. D. Lincoln will manage the All-Star team. Hardy is manager of the P&M club and Lincoln manages the Carolina T&T.

No admission will be charged for the contest and plenty of seats will be available for spectators.

Shrigley Signed By Milwaukeee

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Dick Shrigley, a recent graduate of Presbyterian College at Clinton, S. C., has been signed by the Milwaukee Braves and assigned to their Jacksonville, Fla., farm team in the Class A Sally League.

Shrigley, 22, is six feet tall and weighs 220 pounds. He is right handed all the way.

The Braves said Saturday they also have signed Alton Clayton, 6-3½, 195-pound first baseman-outfielder from Henderson, N. C., to a 1958 contract.

Clayton will play with the Eau Claire team in the Class C Northern League. A righthander, Clayton bats left.

One Tilt Rained Out; Other Game Was 17-1 Rout

The Winterville-Grifton Bears Little League contest at Winterville this weekend was rained out during the third inning, however a Small Fry battle between the same two towns was completed.

The Little League tilt was stopped soon enough to save the Bears from almost certain defeat. Winterville had a 16-0 lead at the time the game was halted.

The winners collected their 17 runs on four hits and no errors. Hunsucker held the Grifton club hitless.

Cote was the losing pitcher.

Gallant Man Sees Veterinarian To Determine Future

NEW YORK (AP)—Gallant Man, the tough little Irish-bred Belmont Stakes winner has a date with the veterinarian after which a decision will be made about his next race.

In fact Bold Ruler, who was the slight favorite in Saturday's $113,350 mile and one-half classic, also will be laid up for a brief time in care of a vet.

Neither of them was hurt in the Belmont. Gallant Man, who set an American record with his tremendous eight-length victory, will be treated for worms. Bold Ruler must take two shots of vaccine for sleeping sickness.

Bold Ruler tired after setting a blistering early pace and the D. & M. Stable's Inside Tract came up to take second money.

"We won't make up our minds about the future for Gallant Man for about a week," said John Neud, who trains the 3-year-old for Ralph Lowe of Midland, Tex.

"He's staked here at Belmont, and at Saratoga, as well as in Chicago.

500 Citizens To Become Owners Of Wilson Club

WILSON, N. C. (AP)—Five hundred citizens of this tobacco city will officially become the owners of a Carolina Baseball league franchise today.

They have bought $10,000 worth of stock in the Class B league team at $10 a share with no more than 10 shares going to a stockholder.

President Bill Jessup of the league was scheduled to come here today to turn over the franchise to the group headed by Penn Watson, radio station executive who spearheaded the drive to sell stock.

Watson and his associates were given five days in which to raise the money. When they were short of the mark at the Saturday night deadline it was extended to 6 p. m. yesterday.

A spirited selling campaign during yesterday's ball game in which Wilson defeated Danville resulted in the selling of $750 worth of stock, enough to more than meet the $10,000 required.

The league took over the franchise last week when L. C. (Red) Fowler did not pay debts of more than $8,000 incurred at Kinston from which city the team was moved to Wilson a month ago.

The stockholders will meet at the ball park before tonight's game to elect a board of directors and a president.

SUNDAY'S STARS BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Don Mueller, Giants, and Harvey Kuenn, Tigers — Mueller's three-run homer as a pitch hitter gave the Giants a 4-3 triumph over Cincinnati, and Kuenn's 10th inning homer gave Detroit a 2-1 victory over Boston.

Von McDaniel and Hoyt Wilhelm, Cardinals — McDaniel, 18-year-old bonus pitcher, hurled four scoreless relief innings to gain his first major league triumph as the Cards came from behind to defeat Brooklyn in the opener 7-6; Wilhelm, coming to the relief of Willard Schmidt with two runs in, one man on base and nobody out in the sixth of the nightcap, retired 12 consecutive batters to preserve St. Louis' lead as the Cards won the second game 8-4.

NATIONAL LEAGUE
Batting (based on 125 at bats)—Hodges, Brooklyn, .366.

NEW YORK (AP)—Accusations that the Kansas City Athletics were acting as a "farm club" for the New York Yankees were echoing anew around the American League today. Against the Yanks yesterday, the A's started a line-up that included seven ex-New Yorkers, Billy Martin, who figured in the latest deal between the two clubs.

These accusations started almost immediately after the Athletics' franchise was switched from Philadelphia to Kansas City in October, 1954. Even before the next season began, the Yankees sold Ewell Blackwell, Tom Gorman and Dick Kryhoski to the Athletics and followed soon after by selling them Enos Slaughter, Johnny Sain and Lou Sleater.

The numerous transactions between the New York and Kansas City organizations since then have done nothing to dispute the charge although it is a moot question which team has been helped the most by the trades.

The latest trade between the two clubs, Saturday night's eight-player swap, with Martin and Harry Simpson as the key men, was the 11th engineered in less than three years, involving 34 players.

This does not include a transaction of much wider magnitude, the sale of Yankee Stadium by co-owners Dan Topping and Del Webb to Arnold Johnson, later to become owner of the Athletics.

Johnson no longer owns the Yankee Stadium. Neither does he hold title any longer to 11 of the 26 former Yankees who found their way into the Athletics' roster. The fact remains, however, that the current Kansas City roster includes 15 ex-Yankees, six of them pitchers. The Yankees, on the other hand, have only four ex-Athletics although their minor league farm clubs have been swelled by nine former Kansas City players.

Former Yankee players with Kansas City include pitchers Tom Gorman, Tom Morgan, Mickey McDermott, Jack Urban, Wally Burnette and Ralph Terry; infielders Billy Hunter, Vic Power and Martin; outfielders Lou Skizas, Bob Cerv, Woody Held and Bob Martyn, and catcher Hal Smith. Ex-Athletics on the Yankees include pitchers Bobby Shantz and Al Ditmar and outfielders Slaughter and Simpson.

Qualifying For Carolinas Junior Tourney Finished

GREENSBORO, N. C. (AP)—A pro-junior warmup today completed the qualifying for the 30th annual Carolinas Junior golf tournament which opens over the Starmount Forest Country Club course tomorrow.

Larry Beck, son of the Kinston pro, will defend his title. If he is successful, it will be the second time in the history of the event that the same player has won two straight years.

Harvie Ward, the international amateur champion who plays out of San Francisco, pulled the trick in 1941 and 1942. Ward is a native of Tarboro.

Nearly 300 players participated in the qualifying. Going into today's round, Ronnie Thomas of Burlington was low with a 74. Match play opens tomorrow. Two rounds will be played Wednesday, the semifinals Thursday and the finals Friday.

The sub-junior division, for boys 11 and under, begins Wednesday.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
One would have thought he was watching a major league game at Winston-Salem yesterday — what with tempers flaring, fist flying and four players chased to the showers.

But a good fight wasn't the only attraction as the Carolina League's second-place Winston-Salem Red Birds whipped the fourth-place Hi-Toms 4-2. Durham beat Greensboro 1-0 and Wilson beat Danville 10-3.

There was a fine one-hit pitching job turned in by Winston's Glenn Crable, and some sorry fielding on the part of both teams.

The Red Birds got three runs, two of them unearned, in the first on a walk, a fielder's choice, two singles and two errors. A walk and three errors gave the Hi-Toms two runs in the third. A two-bagger to centerfield by Eddie Logan in the eighth was the only Hi-Tom hit.

The fistcuffs came when Gene Oliver decided that Hi-Tom pitcher Dallas Greene was dusting him. Oliver dropped his bat and headed for the mound. Players poured from both dugouts. When the grappling was over, Oliver and Green and Red Bid pitcher Bill Getz and Manager George Kissell were chased to the showers.

Fans at Durham also saw some fine pitching as league-leading Durham took the decision from Greensboro. Durham's Dave Reed allowed only four singles and didn't let a Patriot pass second base. Bill Monbouquette of Greensboro kept seven hits well-scattered and lost the decision on a freak home run by Durham's Johnny Schroeder.

Last-place Wilson scored six runs in the first inning and coasted to a decision over Danville.

Tonight's schedule finds Greensboro at Durham again, the Hi-Toms at Winston and Danville at Wilson.

Would Reassess U. S. Policy As To Red China

By JOHN A. HARRIS

WASHINGTON (AP)—Three senators—two Democrats and a Republican—say the United States should reassess its policy of barring trade with Red China.

In separate statements yesterday, Senators Magnuson (D-Wash.), Fulbright (D-Ark.) and Thyne (R-Minn.) took the same general position that a re-evaluation of the trade ban is needed.

But two other senators—Knowland (R-Calif.) and Butler (R-Md.)—said they oppose any relaxation of the barrier.

The United States allows no trade with Red China, and until recently, other free world nations have sharply curtailed trade with the Peiping regime. But Britain and some other nations now have announced plans to relax some of the trade restrictions to the less stringent levels of curbs imposed on commerce with Russia and her European satellites.

Magnuson suggested in an interview that U. S. airlines be allowed to operate into Red China.

He said the Senate Commerce Committee, which he heads, plans to look into the China trade question as part of an inquiry, dealing with the U. S. Y. dealing with American trade policies in all sections of the world.

Magnuson also said the nation ought to consider the possibility of an exchange by which American newsmen could be stationed in China on a regular basis. The government now bars travel of all Americans to Red China.

They, in a uluth, Minn.,

speech said. "The time has come when the United States must conduct an extensive and thorough re-evaluation of our trade policy in Asia."

He specifically suggested continued negotiations for the release of Americans held by Red China, the admission of American newsmen to that country, a complete analysis and reappraisal of trade policy regarding Red China and other Communist nations, and continuation of economic aid to key Asian allies.

Fulbright, in a television interview, said U. S. recognition of Red China is "inevitable" and that "the only question is when and how you do it."

In an interview, Knowland said he does not think any information developed by the Magnuson committee will change the administration position against trade with Communist China.

Butler said in a weekly "Newsletter" that the recent British decision to relax restrictions on Red China trade "has given renewed courage to those elements in this nation which would carelessly abandon a thoroughly realistic policy of trade embargo against Red China."

Bear Made Off With Her Purse

GATLINBURG, Tenn. (AP)—A publicity-shy bear charged a picture-taking Texas woman in the Great Smoky Mountains National Park and made off with her purse.

Mrs. Westly Edwards, Houston, Tex., understandably excited, grabbed her hat, threw her purse to the ground, locked herself in her car and drove off without realizing she had left the purse behind.

The bear took the purse to the nearest picnic table, where he dropped it upon learning it contained an unappetizing $120.

Park officials returned it to Mrs. Edwards.

Adrift, Saved By 2 Matches

MOTEREY, Calif. (AP)—"Two lousy matches" saved a commercial fisherman from the Pacific after five days adrift in his disabled salmon troller.

"I was down to two lousy matches," said Jack Coats, Eureka, Calif., when rescued before dawn yesterday. "But I was ready."

After drifting 200 miles through fog and heavy seas, Coats, 32, soaked his shirt in gasoline and waved it for a flare. That was at 1 a. m. yesterday morning when he saw the lights of the destroyer George Anderson bearing down on him 22 miles off Monterey.

Even though he had consumed only raw fish, a rubbin of moutly bread, five vitamin pills and two quarts of brackish water left over from last season, he refused to leave his boat, the Gojoc. The Anderson kept him under her floodlights until a Coast Guard cutter arrived to tow him to port.

Coats was in good condition and drove back to Eureka yesterday with his wife.

He vanished last Tuesday afternoon off Arena Cove more than 100 miles north of San Francisco when he took his 36-foot boat out for a test.

His battery failed, the engine wouldn't start, his radio was dead and a fog closed in.

The Coast Guard searched the sea with three cutters and two planes. Fishermen were alerted, but he scudded rapidly southward before a strong wind through heavy seas and fog.

Gun Battle Erupts In Lebanese Election

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—More than 20 persons were reported killed and 30 wounded in a gun battle around a church in north Lebanon yesterday as voters assured Premier Sami Solh's government majority backing in the new Parliament for its pro-Western foreign policy.

Lebanese army units had to be called into action to break up the battle at a Maronite Christian Church in Miziara. The fight between friends and relatives of rival candidates for Parliament was the outgrowth of an old feud between rival clans.

Voting in the second round of parliamentary elections, the conservative, predominantly Christian Mount Lebanon district elected 16 candidates either on the government list or expected to back Solh's foreign policy. Government candidates were leading in three of the other four contests.

This brought to 34, and possibly 37, the bloc in the 66-member parliament supporting the government's foreign policy, including endorsement of the Eisenhower Doctrine. Pro-Egyptian opposition candidates so far have won only three seats.

Other districts of Lebanon will fill the other 25 seats in votes Sunday and June 30. Twenty-one seats were decided June 9.

Police said the battle at the Miziara church erupted between friends and relatives of Hamid Frangieh, an anti-government leader, and Samaan Suweily, an independent. Both factions had gathered for a Requiem Mass for Slim Abed, brother of the Maronite bishop of north Lebanon.

The rival groups started shouting at each other in the churchyard and several shots were fired. Immediately, automatic weapons went into action on both sides, spraying the crowd. One officer said shooting also occurred inside the church.

The army, after restoring order, put strong patrols in the village to prevent new clashes. The district does not vote until June 30.

GOING HOME

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The 1st Fleet slipped out the Golden Gate early today without fanfare after four days of festivities and the first fleet review here since 1938. The 32 vessel armada was en route to its home ports of Long Beach and San Diego.

CHAPTER 14

Curly King, Gene Dillingham and I were squatted in the brush among the boulders, with Easter Creek rolling along within ten feet of us, gathering momentum, it seemed, for the headlong rush it would make down the canyon. Daylight had thickened until we could see the curve at the end of the quarter-mile stretch of road below us.

Silence except for a jay that was squawking in the timber behind us. Then Dillingham said, "Will, I told you a while ago what Joe Pardee would have done about them colonists. Now I'll tell you what I'm going to do. You're aiming to throw a little lead and scare 'em, but you ain't aiming to drill nobody. That right?"

"That's right," I said. "Won't work. I tell you there's only one way to do it. Hit 'em hard. Kill some of 'em and you've got 'em stopped. I'm going to ride along the east rim of the canyon. I'll wait till the first wagon is below me, then I'll roll a few rocks down on 'em. I'll smash that wagon up and bust the horses."

Then I'll shoot the driver of the second wagon, and his horses will get boogered and get tangled up in their harness. By that time the rest of 'em will be backing down the grade as fast as they can roll, and they'll all get into a mess they'll never get out of."

"Sure, it would work. If the pilgrims ever did get back to the river with their wagons, they'd have their bellies full and then some. I looked at him, his face shaded because his back was to the sun, but I could see his expression pretty well, the brutality that was there, the anticipation. I thought, this is what he's been waiting for all this time."

"No, Gene." I brought my rifle around so that it covered him. "Joe's dead. There's only one thing that counts with me. That's protecting the Box P. The easiest way to do that is to keep these pilgrims out of the valley. If it doesn't work, we'll fight later, when the first settler rolls his wagon on Box P grass."

"But the valley—" "The devil with it. You think Dodson will turn a hand to help us? He won't, and I don't intend to help him."

His face turned dark red. "Will, you can squat here as long as you want to, but I'm going to do just what I said I—" "You trying to make me kill you?" I asked. "By God, I will, if you keep pushing me!"

He didn't move. Even with my rifle covering him, he didn't so much as blink. He just stared at me, as if trying to decide whether he had a chance if he jumped me. Curly King was below us. He held up a hand in a silencing gesture. He said, "Listen."

Dillingham swung away from me. I relaxed, sensing that, for the moment at least, he was willing to let our personal differences stand. Then I heard the horses coming. An instant later half a dozen of them rounded the turn below us, John Mathers in the lead.

"I'll do the shooting," I said. "Outraged, Dillingham cursed me. "They'll run us down. You're yellow."

"If Gene makes a wrong move, Curly," I said, "plug him." I brought my rifle to my shoulder and squeezed off three shots, the first one close enough to Mathers' head for him to hear it whisper as it went by, the second and third kicking up dust in the road in front of them. Mathers and his men were off the road in a fraction of a minute, seeking shelter in the scrub oak and brush that grew in a jungle-like mass between the road and the steep hill west of the creek.

As I lowered my Winchester, Dillingham said harshly: "You could have got all of 'em. Now they'll get us."

We waited about fifteen minutes, my imagination running wild as I considered the various maneuvers Mathers might try. Then he stepped out of the bush waving a white rag tied to the end of a stick.

I heard Dillingham cock his rifle. I said, "Ease your hammer down, Gene," and waited until he had; then I shouted at Mathers, "Come on!"

He walked up the middle of the road to us, shoulders back, head high. He showed guts, all right. If I hadn't been there, Gene Dillingham would have cut him down.

I didn't think Mathers would run a sandy on us, but there was no way to be sure. So we waited, with only our heads showing above the boulders, rifles covering Mathers. The first shot from his men would have brought quick death to him, and he was certainly smart enough to know it.

He stopped on the opposite side of the creek from us. He said: "I want to talk to you, Beeson. Your men can keep me under control, if you're worried."

That irritated me, but he was right. I was worried, and I had reason to be, three of us against his fifty. With Dillingham as wild as he was and Curly as young as he was, I stood up, cuffing my hat back with my left hand, my right wrapped around the handle of my gun.

"You can cross the creek as well as I can," I said. "If I don't watch Dillingham, he'll kill you." Mathers shrugged, plainly thinking I was lying, and waded the creek. He stopped on the other side of the boulder, his head tipped back. He said: "We're here like I told you we'd be, and you're here trying to kill me like you said you would. Both of us can't win, Beeson."

"I don't figure on you winning," I said. "Take your men back to the river and there will be no more trouble. We could have killed you a while ago, all of you." His gaze shuttled to Dillingham and back to me. "I'm a little curious why you didn't, feeling the

Turntable For Doughnut-Buyers

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Doughnut baker John Bauman decided business would be helped if his patrons could grab their sinkers without leaving their cars. However, his 25x60-foot parking lot left no room for automobiles to turn around.

Bauman solved the problem with a turntable similar to a railroad roundhouse. The customer simply smashes his car against a window, wheels onto the revolving platform, gets turned around and drives off.

Tobacco yield increased by 150 lbs. per acre with MH-30

MH-30 treated Hand-suckered MH-30 treated

A typical case history of tobacco sucker control

One major tobacco grower* says that by spraying his tobacco only once with MH-30 he was able to eliminate practically all of the necessary hand suckering. He estimates he saved more than double the cost of the MH-30 by preventing damage to leaves caused by careless hand suckering. He adds: "In the three-year period in which I have used MH-30 I've increased my yield per acre an average of 150 lbs., due to an almost complete suppression of suckers. Using MH-30 is one of the most profitable practices I've tried."

Like so many other growers of flue-cured tobacco, this large producer relies on MH-30 to keep tobacco suckers from growing—without interfering with the development of the marketable leaves.
