TWO TRAIN DIESELS FALL THROUGH TRESTLE

Three Rescued; 2 Men Missing

By HOWARD CRISWELL. EDENTON, N.C. (AP)—Two diesel engines and the front cars of a freight train crashed through a 5.1-mile railroad trestle spanning Albemarle Sound early today. Three crewmen were rescued and two others were reported missing. The first survivor found clinging to the pilings of the bridge which spans the sound from Mackey to Edenton gave directions which led to the finding of two other crewmen. J. C. Powe, general superintendent of the Norfolk Southern Railway, said in Raleigh two men were missing: S. R. Bray of Raleigh and W. M. Munden of Norfolk, Va. Poe added that progress in clearing the wreckage was slow and that the cause of the trestle's collapse was undetermined. Searchers found C. E. Jones, 41, of Pantego, N.C., within 20 minutes after the northbound freight pulling 70 cars smashed through the trestle at 12:45 a.m. two miles from the Edenton side. Edenton is about 75 miles south of Norfolk, Va. Quick relaying of information by Jones led to a helicopter pickup in the inky darkness of John Lowery, a 51-year-old fireman from Norfolk, Va., at 4:15 a.m. Burton Rankin, 58, another fireman from Norfolk, was washed up on the beach clinging to a piece of piling. None was seriously injured. Poe said Joe Stephenson, also of Norfolk, a flagman riding in a rear car of the train, was uninjured. The train, No. 64, was headed from Morrison, a switching yard near Washington, N.C., to Norfolk. J. P. Ricks of Edenton, who owns one of the yachts used during the search operations, said the two engines were submerged under 20 feet of water and it appeared as if a boxcar was lying on top of the engines.

Record $1,388,311 Budget For County; Commissioners Hold Line On Tax Rate

Massive A-Bomb Is Exploded Nab Bandits And Arsenal Of Guns

WASHINGTON, N.C. (AP)—Two Pamlico County youths, returning from a robbery spree in North Carolina and Virginia, were captured at a roadblock here late Wednesday by two local police officers. The youths, who had acquired an arsenal of more than three dozen firearms in recent robberies, surrendered to Washington Police Chief Phillip Paul and Police Sergeant J. B. Gilgo as they entered Washington on Carolina Ave. Officers said for a tense moment after the car was stopped at a roadblock it appeared that a gunfight might ensue. Chief Paul, however, jumped on one of the youths who attempted to reach for a weapon, and the gunfight was avoided. Police identified the youths as George Dewey Bennett Jr., 24, of Stonefall and Robert Earl Yelton, 19, formerly of Pamlico County, now of Raleigh. Washington Police received a call from Williamston saying that a car with four occupants was headed toward Washington, and that the occupants were firing pistols at road signs, telephone poles, mail boxes and tobacco barns along the highway. They were requested to set up a roadblock. With Bennett and Yokely in the automobile were two sailors who were released by police following brief questioning. Officers said the sailors were hitchhikers and not involved in the series of robberies to which the youths so far have admitted. Under questioning by Washington Police and SBI agents, the two young gunmen have admitted, officers said, to the following robberies in the past 10 days: June 24: breaking into hardware store at Dunn and taking two shotguns, one rifle, three watches, three clocks, five radios and two fishing reels. June 29: attempted armed robbery at Sunbury where they entered a merchant's home, masked and armed. The youths fled the scene when the merchant's wife ran out the back door of her home screaming. June 30: broke into People's Drug Store in Arlington, Va. and took 39 watches, 35 lighters, two fountain pens, nine billfolds and nine pipes. July 2: entered gun shop at Glen Allen, Va. and took 37 pistols and six boxes of ammunition. The pistols were valued at more than $2,000.

By JIMMY ELLIS, Reflector Staff Writer. Pitt County will operate during the 1957-1958 fiscal year with a record-breaking budget, but county taxpayers will not have a higher tax rate. County Commissioners gave their approval Wednesday night to a $1,388,311.20 budget for the fiscal year. They also set a county-wide tax rate of $1.00, the same as last year. The appropriations total $31,342.33 less than requests from 14 funds included in the county budget. The new budget, however, represents an increase of $94,903.71 over the amount appropriated last year for 1956-1957 fiscal year activities. There were several changes in tax rates for the county's 13 school districts. Greenville School District moved to the top of the list with an approved rate of 72 cents, an increase of nine cents. Arthur School District, as usual, held the lowest rate, ten cents, exactly half of the district tax last year. Other school district tax rates and changes include: Ayden, 65 cents (down two cents); Belvoir-Falkland, 34 cents (no change); Bethel, 53 cents (up 19 cents); Choccolocco, 20 cents (down five cents); Farmville, 45 cents (up four cents); Fountain, 33 cents (no change); Grifton, 64 cents (up ten cents); Grimesland, 37 cents (up five cents); Pactus, 28 cents (no change); and Winterville, 40 cents (up seven cents). Appropriations for the various funds included in the budget are: General Fund: $343,612.50; County Home: $24,550.00; Outside Poor and Relief: $51,435.00; Welfare Administration: $69,901.25; Aid to the Blind: $11,160.00; Aid to Dependent Children: $14,800.00; Aid to Permanently and Totally Disabled: $13,200.00; Old Age Assistance: $37,950.00; Health Department: $100,994.00; Mental Health Service: $34,195.00; Dog Fund: $13,785.00; Debt Service Fund: $130,766.82; School Fund: $521,831.63. The School Fund, as usual, will get the largest portion of the tax dollar. The fund will receive 51.2 per cent of the tax dollar, with 25 cents of that going for current expense and 26.2 cents going for capital outlay. The General Fund will receive 10.2 cents from each dollar. Other funds, and their shares of the tax rate, are: County Home, 2.3 cents; Outside Poor and Relief, 6.4 cents; Health Department, 8.0 cents; Welfare Administration, 4.5 cents; Aid to the Blind, 0.8 cents; Aid to Dependent Children, 0.9 cents; Aid to Permanently and Totally Disabled, 1.8 cents; Old Age Assistance, 4.9 cents; Hospital, 3.0 cents; and County Bond Fund, 6.0 cents.

Army Inquiry Said To Support Jap Complaint

CAMP WHITTINGTON, Japan (AP)—GI William S. Girard and the Japanese girl who offered to serve any prison term he might be given were married again today in a simple church ceremony. "This is a very happy event," the smiling, 21-year-old soldier said after the Methodist rites in Camp Whittington's small white chapel. "I only wish my mother and brother were here." Then the couple drove to the home of friends inside the camp for a wedding party. Girard is restricted to the base pending the outcome of an international wrangle over whether Japan or the Army should try him for killing a Japanese woman while on guard duty last January. He had to return to his barracks — without Candy — tonight. The double ring ceremony, performed by an Army chaplain, followed the depositing of marriage documents with civil agencies which legally made them man and wife last Tuesday. On the wedding eve an American congressman added fuel to the controversy over the Girard case, declaring that official Army reports indicated Girard had lured Mrs. Naka Sakai to her death on a U.S. firing range a few miles from here. She was struck in the back by an empty shell casing fired from a grenade launcher. Girard, who was guarding equipment on the firing range, has said the shooting was accidental.

Collections Rise In General Fund

RALEIGH (AP)—The state's General Fund collections during the last fiscal year showed an increase of more than 12 million dollars but fell a little short of the final estimate submitted to the 1957 Legislature. Revenue Commissioner Eugene Shaw reported to Gov. Hodges today that the general fund took in $233,921,143, a gain of 5.48 per cent over the 1955-56 fiscal year. Shaw said these collections, combined with $4,847,173 in non-tax revenues not collected by his department, make total collections of $237,768,315 for the fiscal year. This falls short by $21,851 of the final estimate of $235,590,166 submitted to the Legislature, Shaw said. Gov. Hodges said the revenue report "looks good." Revenue collections during June amounted to $15,347,969, an increase of $779,248 over June last year. Shaw said there were two significant features of general fund collections for the year. They reached a record high, he added, and the amount of increase, including non-tax revenues, was $13,150,396, compared with a total general fund gain during the 1955-56 year of $9,507,061. The revenue chief explained that the sharp increase in collections for the 1955-56 year "may be attributed to a large degree to the additional tax levies enacted in 1955 and the implementation of the better enforcement and compliance program." The income tax schedule produced the biggest increase during the past fiscal year. Collections of individual and corporate income taxes amounted to $98,454,580, an increase of $6,511,139 over the 1955-56 year. Sales tax collections for the year totaled $73,995,059, a gain of $2,130,301. The Highway Fund took in $121,947,168 during the year, an increase of $4,445,844. The sales tax brought in $6,130,254 during June, a hike of $250,745 over June, 1956. Income tax collections for the month were up $373,117 with total receipts of $4,757,953. Legislative estimates overshoot the mark in collections of income, privilege and franchise taxes.

Soviet Army Denounces 4 Deposed Kremlin Leaders

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet army today accused the four deposed Kremlin leaders of treachery and of threatening to undermine the Soviet Union's defenses. These grave charges appeared in Red Star, official newspaper of the Soviet Defense Ministry headed by Marshal Georgi Zhukov. The campaign of denunciation against the quartet picked up momentum at meetings and rallies throughout the Soviet Union. Lazar Kaganovich, one of the four leaders, was singled out for new and stronger accusations, which could foreshadow legal action against him. The army and navy publicly announced their endorsement of Nikita Khrushchev in his ousting of Kaganovich, M. Molotov, Georgi Malenkov and Dmitri Shepilov from their high posts. Red Star declared the four were guilty of "fractional activity" aimed at "undermining the basis of the Soviet Union's defensive capacity, to shake the unity of the people and army, which would have been of benefit to the enemies of our state — the imperialists and aggressors." The article also referred to "treacherous activities" by the four leaders. The accusation against Kaganovich was made by Nikitor T. Kalchenko, premier of the Ukrainian Republic of the U.S.S.R. Kalchenko said Kaganovich had made "grave and unfounded accusations" against the leaders of the Ukrainian Republic. Kalchenko's accusations were made at a meeting of party propaganda workers in Kiev yesterday and published in Pravda and other papers today. Marshal Zhukov, who vaulted into the membership of the policy-making Presidium in the Kremlin shakeup, told the Russian people the Soviet armed forces will rally solidly around the Communist party. In a speech which appeared in all the papers, he said the Soviet army, navy and air force would "defend our state to their last breath." Until the Kaganovich accusation was voiced Molotov had been the most bitterly accused of the four leaders. But the big question in Moscow today was what was going to happen to the four. Khrushchev and Premier Bulganin packed their bags for a trip to Czechoslovakia. Meanwhile, Deputy Premier A. I. Mikoyan, the first top Soviet official to talk to Westerners since the announcement of the high-level shakeup, said the changes were a victory for the forces of "peace, friendship and coexistence."

Senator Says Weather Bureau Error Upped Hurricane Deaths

CAMERON, La. (AP)—A verbal storm brewed today in devastated southwest Louisiana after Sen. Russell Long (D-La.) charged the Weather Bureau was 12 hours off on its prediction the night before Hurricane Audrey ripped inland. This "led the people to stay here," he said. Long made a three-hour tour of ravaged Cameron Parish county where an estimated 700 persons died in the hurricane and its 20-foot tidal waves. "The Weather Bureau made a mistake in not telling the people to get out the previous afternoon," Long said. "I want to know when the Weather Bureau discovered it was more than 12 hours wrong on when the hurricane would reach our coast, and what was done about it." "I am going to find the answers," Sheriff O. B. Carter told Long.

Highway Toll At Predicted Rate

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS. Traffic deaths across the nation mounted today at a pace which safety experts said would reach the estimated 535 for the four-day Independence Day holiday if it continues. Hundreds of highway accidents last night resulted in what safety officials termed "an alarming spurt" of traffic deaths as motorists packed highways homeward bound after holiday outings. The count of dead from traffic mishaps stood at 149 today. In addition 87 died from drowning and 26 were killed in miscellaneous accidents for a total of 262. There were no deaths from fire-works. Deaths counted in the long holiday cover the 102-hour period from 6 p.m. (local time) Wednesday to midnight UNDAY.

Peiping Approves Purge In Russia

HONG KONG (AP)—Red China gave full approval and support today to the Soviet Union's purge of leading Communists, Peiping radio reported. The Chinese Communist party said the Kremlin purge would "help to further the unity and consolidation of the Communist party of the Soviet Union," the broadcast added.

Town Of George, Washington, Is Dedicated Early

GEORGE, Wash. (AP)—George, Wash., became a dateline without a soul yesterday. Owner of the site is Charles E. Val Peterson, former civil defense administrator who toured the area for the President, said. "Few if any people needed to die... because the Weather Bureau did a superb job." Long told a reporter after his plane, car and walking tour. "It should be the joint responsibility of federal agencies, the press and radio to make sharply clear that a hurricane can strike as much as 18 hours ahead of predictions."

Great Devastation In Iran Earthquake

TEHRAN (AP)—Official sources say the earthquake in north Iran was the world's most devastating since 1949. Aid teams still were unable to reach many of the 100 villages reported destroyed Tuesday. But a government spokesman said last night the number of Iranians killed would reach well over 1,500. A member of Parliament put the figure at 5,000. The earthquake-battered area curved for 500 miles from the Soviet Azerbaijan border on the northwest, southward around the Caspian Sea and back to the border of Soviet Turkmen on the northeast. Although the adjoining Soviet areas doubtless were damaged, there has been no report of casualties or damage north of the border. Topping the 1,400 killed in Algeria in September 1954, the official figure was the greatest number of persons killed in an earthquake since 6,500 died in Ecuador in August 1949. The government said all Iranian ports and villages on the Caspian were devastated. Property damage in areas thus far visited by aid teams was estimated at 25 million dollars. Shortages of food, medicine, water and shelter are acute.

Tobacco Barn Is Lost To Flames

The county's first tobacco barn fire of this season was reported by Greenville firemen today. The fire fighters were called to the Estelle Wren farm at Cox's Crossing at 3:15 p.m. yesterday. Firemen remained at the scene until 4:25. Areas doubtless were damaged, there has been no report of casualties or damage north of the border. Topping the 1,400 killed in Algeria in September 1954, the official figure was the greatest number of persons killed in an earthquake since 6,500 died in Ecuador in August 1949. The government said all Iranian ports and villages on the Caspian were devastated. Property damage in areas thus far visited by aid teams was estimated at 25 million dollars. Rains Deal Stunning Blow To U.S. Wheat Belt

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Heavy rains have dealt what could be a stunning blow to the nation's breadbasket. "It hasn't been this bad in 17 years," one grainman commented. Meanwhile, deterioration, weeds and rust—a fungus—were taking their toll of the ripe grain. There may be a worrisome shortage of labor and combines which moved to other states when the Kansas harvest bogged down. Neighboring Missouri fields, too, have suffered. New crop and acreage estimates taking into account the heavy rains, will be announced next Wednesday. "Harvest operations have stopped nearly everywhere," the Kansas Department of Agriculture advised. "In southern Kansas, harvesting is now three to four weeks behind schedule." What little wheat has been harvested so far—about 4 per cent of the expected crop—is below last year's yield in weight and protein content. Some grain has been left ripe on the stem so long it has started to sprout. But hope is a hardy perennial in this country. It had to be to survive so many droughts. "We could harvest a good crop yet, even though there is quite a lot lost," said Wilton B. Thomas, Dickinson County, Kan., farm agent. "All it will take to get us back in business is a little wind and sunshine," farmer Melvin Leckron of Abilene agreed. "The farmers to whom I've talked aren't pessimistic," said Tom Maxwell, Allen County farm agent at Iola, Kan. "They have sweated through five years of drought, hauling stock water, attempting to irrigate and watching their crops wither in the sun. They don't like to lose their grain crops, but they're glad to have a reserve supply of water again." The abundant rains since May have filled Kansas stock ponds and left pastures in excellent condition. A total of 6,633,000 Kansas acres were planted in wheat last fall. As of June 1, a total of 5,084,000 acres were expected to be harvested, representing a 24 per cent abandonment. The Santa Fe Railroad says Kansas will do well to harvest 92½ million bushels this year against last season's 142,282,000. The 10-year average is 202,373,000. Some estimate range as low as 79,836,000 bushels. Kansas wheat prices climbed during June to $1.95 a bushel, compared with $1.94 in May and $1.94 in May and $1.90 in June of last year.

After Wedding Trip To Florida Couple Will Reside In Maryland

SILVER SPRINGS, Md.—Miss Doris Louise Briley and Dr. John Lawrence Avery were united in marriage on June 15 in the Grace Episcopal Church, Silver Springs, Maryland.

The Rev. Herbert W. Lamb Jr. officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter R. Briley of Greenville and until her recent resignation held a position in the office of the Deputy Postmaster General, Post Office Department, Washington, D. C.

The bridegroom is a graduate of the University of Maryland and of the George Washington Medical School. He is now engaged in the private practice of medicine in Silver Springs, Maryland.

For the ceremony the bride wore a waltz-length dress of pink silk organza over taffeta and carried a white prayer book topped with a white orchid and stephanotis.

The couple received in the vestibule of the church and afterwards had an informal luncheon for the families of the wedding couple.

After a wedding trip to Florida, the couple will make their home in Silver Springs.

The elegant finishing touch that means so much—do you have it? Sometimes I'm shocked at the number of well-groomed women who neglect little "finishing touches" that could make them look as nice as the models they admire in fashion magazines!

You'll notice we usually spray your coiffure when we finish combing it. Perhaps you thought this was done simply to keep the new line until you re-combed it. However, this is only partly true. The familiar aerosol hair spray container belongs on your dressing table, just as you'll find it on ours. It can serve many purposes for you.

The new hair sprays contain little or no lacquer. Use them every time you dress to go anywhere... just a gentle mist of it. Then wind, rain, or drizzle won't make your hair droop. One hair spray even contains an ingredient that protects your hair against sun-streaking at the beach!

Many women use hair spray to set a few pin-curlics at home between salon settings. Or they spray just a little on each wave as they comb it in place, to re-set the style and help it to last longer.

Now several light oil hair dressings also come in spray form. They put a gleam in your tresses and make them twice as manageable. I particularly recommend you use one right after your permanent wave. Try it... you'll be pleased!

Couple Marry In Bride's Home

Miss Edna Brown and Alfred Perry Tetterton were united in marriage at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. Earl Brown, on June 21 at 5 p.m.

The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. B. Tetterton and the late Mr. Tetterton of Bethel.

The Rev. C. C. Cribb, pastor of the bride, officiated.

Lighted candles adorned the mantel which was banked with Palmetto leaves and centered with a wedding ring arrangement of white carnations and white dwarf zinnias and a miniature bride and bridegroom.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a ballerina street length dress of blue chantilly lace over taffeta. The basque bodice was designed with a portrait neckline and bouffant skirt. She carried a white Bouie topped with a cascade bouquet of white carnations.

Miss June Brown, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a street length dress of yellow pima cotton fashioned with a v-neckline and white accessories. Her bouquet was of mixed summer flowers.

The bride's mother wore a dress of yellow nylon-chiffon designed along princess lines with white accessories.

Mrs. Tetterton is a graduate of Greenville High School and is employed at Commercial Credit Corporation in Greenville. Mr. Tetterton is a graduate of Bethel High School and the School of Horology of Washington, D. C. and is manager of Greenville Jewelers.

The couple are making their home in Greenville.

Toward A Better Understanding

Disappointment voiced by Pitt County municipalities over their small share of revenue from ABC funds for the fiscal year which ended June 30, suggests there is room for better understanding of policies and operating conditions between the County ABC Board and the municipalities.

Each year in making their budget, the municipalities put in an anticipated amount of revenue which they expect to receive from the county ABC system. When, as was the case this year, the actual turn-over by the ABC Board to the municipalities is far below original estimates, it is only natural that the municipalities want to know why. Obviously the discovery of an appreciable shortage in estimated revenue near the end of the fiscal year can cause havoc with the budget of the municipalities.

If the municipalities better understood the factors which govern the amount they receive annually from county ABC sales, and if the County ABC Board understood more fully the problems which confront the municipalities in making and living within their budget, a more amicable relationship between the units could exist.

It seems to us a quarterly or semi-annual meeting between ABC officials and municipal government officials in this county could prove of benefit to both the county's ABC Board and to the municipal governments. Through such meetings, the ABC officials could outline for municipalities their anticipated revenues and operation costs for a given period. With such information the municipalities could more accurately anticipate their revenues for each year. It would also afford the municipalities opportunities during the year to adjust their estimated ABC revenue figures to keep their budgets in line.

It would afford the ABC Board an opportunity to keep municipal officials better informed on the various problems which confront the ABC board in its operation.

As we visualize it, such a series of conferences would promote better understanding between the county agency and the municipal governments which would be in the interest of both the county's ABC operations and the municipal governments.

Something For Every Tar Heel To Promote

Prospects of $300 millions in industrial development in North Carolina during the coming year poses a challenge to every county, every community in this state.

According to Gov. Hodges, the goal can be reached "if all of us will help push." And by "all of us" Gov. Hodges meant all the people of North Carolina.

Since the change in the state's corporate tax laws by the General Assembly there has been a seemingly new atmosphere for industrial development. Manufacturing concerns, large and small seem to sense that North Carolina is anxious to further expand its growing industrial economy. They are taking a new interest in the advantages which North Carolina offers industries.

In spite of the advantages of this situation, it by no means follows that the people of the state can sit back and wait for new industry to come pouring in. If the state is to realize a 300 million dollar industrial expansion during the next 12 months, a great deal more work by a great many more people will be required. State agencies can do a job of selling industries on the advantages North Carolina offers, but it remains the job of citizens of individual communities throughout the state to sell corporation officials on individual plant sites for industrial locations.

Unless the individual communities carry out a forceful program to shoulder their part of the responsibility for industrial growth, North Carolina cannot reach the 300 million dollar goal for this year.

Particularly in the East, where industrial growth and more year-round jobs are needed to take up slack in the sagging agricultural economy, greater emphasis on industrial development must be had at the county and community level.

Cure For Poor Salesmanship

By ELMER ROESSNER
Store personnel does not know how to sell merchandise and owners are consequently losing millions of dollars every year, says Robert H. Myers, associate professor of marketing at Miami University, Oxford, Ohio. His conclusion is based on a study on retail salesmanship, described in the latest issue of the Journal of Retailing, published by New York University.

In-store salesman is as "inefficient as any phase of distribution," he finds. Since the cost of retailing is greater than all other distribution costs combined, and since the largest single expense of retailers is compensation for employees, improvement in salesmanship could reduce the entire cost of distribution, Mr. Myers holds.

"No matter how good the retailer's advertising, display, merchandise and services are, if his salespeople cannot make prospective customers want his merchandise more than they want their cash, they will walk out and his merchandise will remain on the shelves," he writes.

NEWS OF SIGNIFICANCE FOR BUSINESS MANAGEMENT
Births are running ahead of last year and may set another high mark. In the first four months there were 1,345,000 births, 20,000 more than the same period in 1956. The rate is up, too: from 24.1 per 1,000 population to 24.2. . . . The marriage rate is down, from 7.6 to 7.5 per 1,000. . . . Of 216 firms polled by Mill & Factory, 61 per cent said sales in the first quarter were as good or better than they were a year ago, but 57 per cent said profits were lower.

Supervision, Meetings
"2. The selling performance of all salespeople should be carefully supervised by department sales supervisors, who should spend a minimum of two hours per day on this vital job.

Department sales supervisors should be given a good initial dose of salesmanship technique training. Following some floor experience, they should be brought back to the training department for role-playing training under the watchful eye of the sales trainers and senior salespeople.

Strength For Today

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
TURNED THE TIDE OF HISTORY
The most astounding fact in history is that Jesus of Nazareth should have made upon the world the lasting impression he did. He had a public career of only three years. He wrote no books or articles. He lived in an out-of-the-way corner of the world, and was probably never more than 150 miles from his birthplace. Yet time is date from his birth. Christian and non-Christian alike confess that this Jesus is the most important figure in world history. Other men have influenced, to some degree, of course of history; this man turned it about and caused it to flow in a different direction.

What was the source of his incredible triumph? First, his perfect character. Second, his ability to speak straight to the deepest needs of the human heart. Third, his miraculous powers, which has made Christian life ever since a thing of miraculous quality.

But the greatest factor in the life of Jesus of Nazareth was the divine nature of his life. He was what nobody else ever was or could be: God's only begotten Son. As the Incarnation of God's power, wisdom, and love, He exercised, and has continued to exercise an indescribable power over the hearts of men and women.

The best explanation of Jesus is that He was just what the New Testament claims He was—and is.

'Hipped' About Ilotycin

I was running through my morning mail the other day when I came across a piece of correspondence from my good friends up at Eli Lilly and Company.

You know them. They run a little business up in Indianapolis.

Anyway I was mighty glad to hear from them and the first thing that caught my eye about this particular piece of correspondence was that little advertising thing that goes along with the postage meter post mark.

"Consider Ilotycin First", the little figure said.

Now that seems like a good idea, I thought. Maybe I ought to run out and get a gallon or so. Only, what the heck is the stuff? Maybe it comes by the pound.

The post mark didn't explain whether its good for lumbago or hangover. Or even if it would destroy Nematodes.

In hopes of enlightenment I tore open the letter. In a very nice letter Stan Geiser, chief of Agricultural Relations, explained that "we have been virtually deluged with letters asking about" gibberellin acid since the company announced it was sending free experimental quantities to agricultural scientists.

For that reason, he said the company was sending a series of questions and answers on the gibberellins, revised, of course.

The question-answer sheet included such information as the "gibberellins include a number of materials produced by the fungus Gibberella fujikuroi. It also pointed out that Gibberellins 1. make plants grow faster, 2. reverse dwarfism, 3. break dormancy, 4. cause some plants to flower and set seed sooner, 5. accelerate the germination of some seeds and 6. help set fruit in some plants.

That was all very interesting but there was still no explanation of this Ilotycin stuff.

So, armed with $50 drawn

Other Editors Saying-- In Carolina, Of Course

(Greensboro Daily News)
Sure now, 'tis a tough assignment to define the character of a city, but the Charlotte News, taking its cue from Actor Thomas Mitchell, wades right out in the deep water.

In a graceful little speech Mr. Mitchell (the TV O. Henry to our readers) had called Charlotte an adult and an American city. Which adjectives may be, sadly, far from synonymous, but could mean nothing -- or a very great deal.

The News embroilers on this theme with typical imagination and charm. Where could you find a city, its editor maintains, where:

"The construction of a skyscraper can be viewed from a cow pasture.

"Vichyssoise and collard greens appear on the same menu.

"The roar of a great trucking center falls to obscure the sound of July flies and the evening song of birds.

"Shanty residents and the keepers of manured estates vote the same political ticket.

"A pokeberry plant springing up in his flower bed reminds a well-heeled executive of a bare-heeled wad who found up in the dinner pot.

"Worms are sold in department stores to tackle the finicky palates of gourmets and dug from moist earth to lure fish onto hooks.

Where could you find such a city? Why almost anywhere across the Piedmont Crescent, if you had a mind.

Charlotte News, what you are noting about the Queen City is typical of North Carolina.

It is Bill Polk's Old South and New South caressing each other, usually with affection but sometimes with sharp fingernails. It is the down-home friendliness of the country come to town, devoid, so far thank goodness, of the harsh divisiveness of Georgia's Atlanta and the wool hat boys; or the patronizing elegance of Charleston toward the Up Country; or the fast-disappearing paternalism of Mr. Ed, the textile patriarch, toward the mill village.

Perhaps this happy merger of old and new in cities like Charlotte, Greensboro, Raleigh and Winston-Salem, is adult and even American at the same time; that is, adult in the sense that it is finding new meeting grounds devoid of old urban frustrations and hopeful of a new pattern.

And perhaps it is American in the best sense; American as to accommodation to change, eagerness to try new ways and courage to improvise.

And the best sign of these things in North Carolina is an attachment to the soil even in the midst of new urbanism.

Where could you find rabbits, quail and 'possums living in the shrubbery beside exquisite green North Carolina, of course.

And bless our soul, we've written 10 paragraphs about Charlotte without once mentioning that Elephant Jungle -- which by the way, may be the supreme symbol of the new Carolina.

through the Reflector comptroller in case I had to buy a quantity, I set off for Biggs Drug Store to consult none other than John W.S. Biggs.

Ilotycin is not a cuss word, he said. It's the trade name for an anti-biotic produced by Eli Lilly and Company.

And the chemical name? Eery-thromycin.

I sadly returned the 50 bucks to the comptroller.

Nurses Young Gorilla

By SEYMOUR TOPPING
BERLIN (AP) — "Living alone with a gorilla is no fun."

So says Rosemarie Hoher, a petite 24-year-old German nurse with gentle brown eyes.

She knows. She has just spent three months in a hospital isolation room caring day and night for Knorke, an ailing baby gorilla.

Knorke, aged 30 months and worth $5,000, is a hairy 28-pound bundle of mischief with a toothy flashing grin. The Berlin Zoo flew him in from the French Cameroons to replace Pongo, a giant gorilla who was banished to death in World War II by Russian soldiers.

When Rosemarie first entered Knorke's life last March, he was a sad-eyed homesick little ape stricken with infectious paratyphoid, a fever fatal to many gorillas.

Rosemarie, a nurse at West Berlin's City Hospital, volunteered to go into quarantine with Knorke to save his life. Zoo experts said Knorke would have a better chance to pull through if he were cared for by a woman he could come to love as his foster mother.

But doctors warned Rosemarie that she could never return to her nursing profession if she contracted the lingering paratyphoid fever.

"It was a big risk," Rosemarie concedes.

Rosemarie set up housekeeping for herself and the gorilla in a small barely furnished sealed-off room at City Hospital.

"At first I was afraid of the little black devil because the first time I took him into my arms he bit me," said Rosemarie. "But soon I came to love him better than I would a child."

And how did Knorke feel? "The first night he was afraid and sat up in his cage. He would begin to cry everytime I turned off the light."

"But then as we were together, he began to love and respect me. He knew that I was helping him. If I tried to go out, he would follow me whimpering. That was proof that he loved me."

"When Knorke was naughty, I would spank him. Then he would put his face in his hands and after a while look up at me with big disappointed eyes. Most of the time he would obey me after he had been spanked."

Knorke got steadily better on a diet of baby milk formula, soft-boiled eggs and fruit.

By day, Rosemarie and the gorilla would romp in the room. "He was lots of fun," she says. Knorke would duck under the bed, race around the room and then leap into Rosemarie's arms, burying his flat nose in her hair and gently nipping her ears.

The big problem for Rosemarie, like for any parent, came at night when Knorke would stubbornly refuse to go to bed.

The nurse learned it was best to put him in a big bag and dump him directly into his wooden cage. The cage stood near Rosemarie's steel hospital cot.

Knorke feels well now, although he will never be entirely free of paratyphoid. He has been taken to the zoo hospital where visitors can view him in a big glass cage.

Rosemarie has gone along to take care of him. She works days at the zoo. When she leaves, Knorke cries for her like a child.

To cheer up the gorilla, the zoo gave him a playmate, Oki, a young chimpanzee. But Knorke beat up Oki and the chimp had to be taken away.

"I shall stay with Knorke for another one or two years until he is almost grown up," says Rosemarie. "Then he won't need a mother."

In about five years Knorke will be full grown, about 6 feet tall and weighing around 550 pounds. "I wonder if I can play with him then," mused Rosemarie.

Await Light On Trade Results

By RAY TUCKER
WASHINGTON — A trade involving a surrender of human rights for economic rights may be unveiled when the Senate faces a showdown on passage of the Administration's Civil Rights Bill next week. It may be one of the most sensational deals in modern senatorial annals between Democratic conservatives of the South and Democratic liberals of North and West.

In reporting that the swap was consummated when the Senate acted on the two bills involved -- a Federal dam at Hell's Canyon and the South's attempt to keep the Civil Rights Bill off the Senate calendar -- some political writers and observers missed the point completely. That bargain between the two factions was only an unimportant skirmish.

The real test will be staged next week when the Senate votes on taking up the Civil Rights Bill, and on the even more critical question of imposing cloture so as to quell a Southern filibuster now in the making. A successful filibuster could kill the measure for this session, and possibly forever.

VOYAGE ON CLOTURE REQUIREMENT This will happen, if the public power bloc of Northern Democratic liberals again lines up with the Southern faction. For it requires two-thirds of those present to enforce cloture, and that number cannot be obtained by the Civil Rights faction, if the reported trade survives current criticism on and off Capitol Hill.

The Morse proposal for a Federal dam at Hell's Canyon was defeated in the Senate last year by a 51-41 vote. It passed a few weeks ago by a 45-38 score.

Five Southern Senators who opposed the measure last year switched their votes two weeks ago, although notoriously believers in private development. They were Senators Eastland of Mississippi, Ervin of North Carolina, Russell of Georgia, Long of Louisiana, and Smathers of Florida.

IN AGREEMENT, DOUBTFUL, OH, WELL! Senator McClellan of Arkansas originally attached his name to the Morse Bill, but subsequently withdrew his support, only to vote for it. Senator Holland of Florida was paired against the public power program last year, but failed to vote at all this year.

Without the South's support, the public power bloc would have suffered another and possibly final defeat.

The South's move to bottle up the Civil Rights Bill in the Senate Judiciary Committee, which is headed by Senator Eastland, lost by a 45-39 line-up. It is now on the Senate calendar, and Northern liberals will try to bring it up for debate on July 8, or soon thereafter.

It is expected that they will be successful for a mere majority vote is required, and they have the votes. But the North's next and necessary move must be to invoke cloture, thereby shutting off a prolonged discussion by Southern orators -- in short, a filibuster.

SOME SENATORS MAY BE SORELY TRIED It is then that the Democratic liberals, who previously stood with the South, will be sorely tried and tested. In view of their proclaimed belief in human liberties and rights, will they dare to go through with the deal to defeat the Civil Rights Bill because of their political devotion to public power and their fierce opposition to private enterprise?

In order to humble President Eisenhower, who favors the Civil Rights Bill, will they stand by a trade on a mere economic issue? If they do, it may jeopardize their political careers, including candidates for President and Vice President, for they will alienate liberals, labor unions and the racial minorities, especially the colored vote.

Here are the Democratic liberals caught in this dilemma: Senators Kennedy of Massachusetts, Murray and Mansfield of Montana, O'Mahoney of Wyoming, Morse of Oregon, and Magnuson of Washington.

The anti-Civil Rights motion for which these six votes was offered by Senator Richard Brevard Russell of Georgia, the able and acknowledged parliamentary strategist of the Southern bloc.

Miriam, a Leader in Israel

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Exodus 2:1-10; 15:19-21; Numbers 12; 20:1; 26:59.

When Pharaoh ordered that all newborn Hebrew male children be drowned, Moses' mother made a water-proof basket, laid him in it and set it at the edge of the river. His sister Miriam watched nearby.

Pharaoh's daughter came to the river to bathe. Seeing the basket she had brought to her, and pitied the crying child, Miriam offered to find a nurse for the infant and brought her mother.

The Hebrews passed through the Red Sea as the waters parted. The pursuing Egyptians were caught by the water and drowned. Miriam and other women took timbrels and sang and danced joyously to the Lord.

Miriam and Aaron chided Moses for his marriage. He did not answer them, but God reproved them, saying that Moses "is faithful to all My House," and punished Miriam.

MEMORY VERSE—Proverbs 31:30.

MOSES' SISTER GIVES THANKS TO GOD IN SONG AND DANCE

Scripture—Exodus 2:1-10; 15:19-21; Numbers 12; 20:1; 26:59.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL THE JEWISH people had so multiplied in Egypt and prospered, the envious Pharaoh issued a decree that all male children born to Jewish mothers should be thrown into the river.

The wife of a Levite gave birth to a son, and she hid him for three months, then as she could no longer hide him, she took an "ark" or basket of bulrushes, made it waterproof, and put the infant in it.

Then the mother took the basket to the river's edge and laid it in the flags at the river's brink. What anguish must have been hers when she was forced to treat her beloved son so!

However, the baby had what today we might call "a sitter." Miriam, his sister, watched nearby to see that no harm came to him.

It chanced one day the daughter of the Pharaoh came to the river with her maids to bathe. Seeing the basket in the water, she sent one of her maids to bring it to her. The baby cried when the basket was opened, and this tender-hearted woman of a cruel father had compassion on the wee boy, saying, "This is one of the Hebrews' children."

Miriam then came to her, asking, "Shall I go and call to thee a nurse of the Hebrew women, that she may nurse the child for thee?" Pharaoh's daughter said yes, and of course, Miriam called her mother, and the princess said she would pay wages for the care of the child. "We cannot help wondering if she guessed the identity of the nurse."

As the child grew older, his mother took him to Pharaoh's daughter, and he became her son. She called him Moses, saying, "Because I drew him out of the water."

When next we see Miriam, Moses is a grown man and has led his people out of Egypt and through the Red Sea, the waters of which parted for them, and the pursuing Egyptians had all perished as the waters rushed back.

Miriam took a timbrel (an ancient instrument somewhat like a tambourine), in her hand, and all the women went after her, with timbrels and dances. And Miriam sang, "Sing ye to the Lord, for He hath triumphed gloriously: the horse and his rider hath He thrown into the sea."

In our next glimpse of Miriam she disappoints us. Moses had married an Ethiopian woman whom, Miriam felt, would take her place and replace her as leader, so she said to her other brother, Aaron, "Hath the Lord indeed spoken only by Moses? hath He not spoken also by us?" They then criticized Moses with cruel, unjust accusations. The Lord heard and rebuked them severely, saying that Moses was always "faithful in mine house." Miriam the Lord punished by making her leprous. Aaron apparently escaped punishment.

Moses had in no way defended himself before Miriam and Aaron's anger, but after this terrible punishment had fallen on his sister, he prayed earnestly to God to heal her, setting all who read a wonderful example of love and forgiveness. The Lord relented and said "let her be shut out from the camp seven days, and after that let her be received in again—healed, we believe.

The name of Moses, Aaron and Miriam's father was Amram, their mother was named Jochebed.

Dropped His Ice Cream, 2 Killed

DANVILLE, Va. (AP)—Because a little boy dropped ice cream on his father, two little girls were killed and a third critically injured on U.S. 58 five miles east of here yesterday.

James H. Fallen, 27, Sutherland, told state police the car he was driving swerved off the highway when he looked down to brush away the ice cream dropped by his son, who was standing on the front seat.

The car struck three sisters, fatally injuring Patricia Anne Dilard, 9, and Cynthia Louise Dilard, 7, Ringgold. A 4-year-old sister was in critical condition in a Danville hospital.

Fallen was charged with manslaughter.

Could Be Yankee-Redleg Series

By DON WEISS
The Associated Press
It'll be a Yankee-Redleg World Series...

Tradition says the teams leading the pennant races on July 4 meet in the Series about six times out of 10.

The Yanks, who make it a habit, passed the July 4 milestone three games in front of the Chicago White Sox, a half game less than their AL lead a year ago when they won by nine.

It's the 22nd time the Yankees have been the July 4 leader in the modern era and only four times have they been dislodged in the second half of play.

Cincinnati's lead is shaky at best. The Redlegs are half a game and four percentage points up on St. Louis, half a game and six points up on Milwaukee, 2 1/2 in front of Brooklyn and 3 up on Philadelphia.

The margin between first and fifth in the NL was clipped by 1 1/2 games in yesterday's big holiday program as Milwaukee battered the Redlegs 10-7 in a single game and the other four contenders moved up.

St. Louis edged Chicago 4-3 after the Cubs' two-run rally in the ninth had won the opener 7-6. Brooklyn won its second game 8-2 from Pittsburgh after losing the first 5-1. The Phillies showed a 1 1/2 gain, sweeping New York 2-1 and 6-2.

In the AL, three double-headers were split. The Yanks won 4-1 after losing to Boston 3-2 on Mickey Vernon's two-out, two-run pinch homer in the ninth. Chicago thrashed Kansas City 8-3 after the A's rallied for five in the ninth for a 5-4 first-game victory. Cleveland stopped Detroit 3-1 on Early Wynn's three-hitter, then lost 4-3. Baltimore won a single game, 3-2 over Washington in 11 innings.

Singles by Bill Bruton and Red Schoendienst drove in the tying and winning runs in a four-run Milwaukee eighth, costing Redleg reliever Bud Freeman his first loss. Hank Aaron helped Gene Conley win with his 26th homer, two doubles and three RBI. George Crowe drove in six for Cincinnati with five hits, including his 17th and 18th homers.

Chicago edged the Cards on ninth-inning pinch hits by Bob Speake and Jim Bolger in the opener but Sam Jones saved the nightcap for St. Louis, pitching a six-hitter and driving in the deciding run. A double and homer raised Stan Musial's career extra-base total to 1,133, fourth on the all-time list.

Charlie Neal and Duke Snider combined for five RBI behind Don Newcombe for the Dodgers after the Pirates' Bob Friend had sent the Brooklyn to the first game. Bob Purkey lost to Newcombe.

Left-handers Harvey Haddix, winning his seventh, and Curt Simmons, now 8-4, did the job for the Phils although Simmons needed help from Dick Farrell in the ninth after a two-hit show for eight innings. Rip Repulski's 11th homer decided it for Haddix over Ruben Gomez and Joe Lonnett hit his first major league homer in the nightcap.

Vernon's dramatic homer off Yankee reliever Bob Grim followed Frank Malone's single and giving Dave Sisler his fifth straight over New York in two years, ended the Yanks' win streak at seven. Don Larsen's five-hitter controlled the second game.

Chicago blasted Ned Garver and four successors for 15 hits in a romp for Bob Keegan in the nightcap with the A's, who got the winning run in the surprise first-game finish on Joe DeMaestri's dash home from first on a slowly handled single by Gus Zernial.

Rocky Colavito's three-run homer beat Detroit for Wynn's 11th but singles by Frank Bolling and Charlie Maxwell and Al Kaline's double produced two eighth-inning runs that won the second game for Detroit.

Ken Lehman won over Truman Clevenger, both in relief, in the Baltimore-Washington single. Jim Busby's RBI double in the ninth tied the score at 2-2 and Busby scored the winner for the Orioles on Jim Briedeweser's single in the 11th.

Ted Williams Beginning To Show His Age

By JOE REICHLER
NEW YORK (AP) — Ted Williams, despite his lofty batting average, is finally beginning to show his years.

The Boston Red Sox slugger, generally regarded as baseball's best hitter during the past two decades, is not as feared by opposing pitchers as he used to be. "Something tells me I shouldn't say this," a New York Yankee pitcher remarked "because it could be just like the big son-of-a-gun to make me eat my words before the day is over. But if you ask me I think Ted has lost something."

"Sure he's still a great hitter, but he doesn't seem to have that old snap in his swing any more. At least he hasn't shown me that old buggy-whip swing of his. I think he knows it too. He doesn't appear to be as confident at the plate as he used to be. He takes more good pitches now and he even swings at some bad ones too. He doesn't seem to be too sure of himself."

"Maybe I'm wrong about him but I feel more confident when I'm pitching against him now than ever before. At least I don't get a nervous feeling any more when he strides up to the plate. There was a time when I'd be happy to settle for a single or double. Now I feel I've got a 50-50 chance against him."

Williams, 38, did not distinguish himself at the plate as the Yankees and Red Sox divided their holiday double-header. He drew a walk in the first game, but failed to hit the ball out of the infield in his three other turns at bat against Bobby Shantz. Boston won 3-2. Obviously tired, Ted was given a rest in the second game but he turned up as a pinch hitter in the fifth against Don Larsen and went out on a high pop foul. The Yankees won 4-1.

Goldsmith Wins Raleigh 250

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Another Fourth of July "Raleigh 250" was in the books today and its winner, Paul Goldsmith of St. Clair Shores, Mich., was $4,000 richer. Goldsmith's 1957 Ford hardtop paced the field most of the distance for the 250-mile grind, and finished less than a lap ahead of Frankie Schneider of Lambertville, N. J., piloting a 1957 Chevrolet hardtop.

The big race drew more than 15,000 fans and brought out a starting field of 54 cars, with 41 finishing. A purse of $18,825 was split by the top 30 finishers.

Goldsmith's time was 3 hours, 18 minutes and 10 seconds, setting an average speed of 76.03 miles per hour. The caution flag, out twice for mishaps, slowed the pace.

Behind the one-two finish for hardtops came Joe Weatherly of Norfolk, Va., in a 1957 Ford convertible. He was trailed by Speedy Thompson of Charlotte in a 1957 Chevrolet hardtop. Bob Welborn of Greensboro in a 1957 Chevrolet convertible took fifth. The first of two mishaps injured four pit mechanics when cars driven by Bobby Keek of Graham and Roger Baldwin of Belmont, N.Y., bumped and spun into the pits. The second came when Darrel Dieringer's convertible hit the south retaining wall. He was injured.

Goldsmith's victory was worth 700 points in the Grand National standings. Winners for others in the top five: Weatherly $1,575; Thompson $1,050; and Welborn $850.

Presentation For Service

State Bankers Win One, Lose One Game

Farmville Club Leading League

VANCEBORO—Farmville's Junior Leagueurs pulled an eight-inning game out of the fire here this week to defeat Vanceboro, 10-9, and take over the Junior League lead. The win marked the first time this year that Vanceboro has been beaten on its home field.

Farmville now has a 6-3 record to pace the loop. Farmville meets Grifton at Farmville tonight for another league game. Tilt time is set for 7:30.

Kiwanis Clinch Farmville Title

FARMVILLE — The Kiwanis club, winners of the first half of Farmville Little League play, clinched the second half title last night with a 4-3 victory over the Jaycees.

The triumph gave the Kiwanis a 7-2 record. Next in the standings are the Veterans with 6-4, the Jaycees with 4-5 and the Rotary with 2-7. In the night's other game, the Veterans' Club defeated the Rotary team, 11-2. Fiser was the winner.

Graniteers Win

In Industrial softball league play last night at Guy Smith Stadium, the Graniteers dumped the Carolina Dairy team 11-6.

A second game, between Carolina Telephone and Telegraph and the Greenville Parts and Metal team, was postponed due to lack of players for both teams. Dan Gordan hurled the victory for the Graniteers, giving up only eight hits. Gordan allowed all six of the Dairy runs in the final two innings.

Mitchell White was the losing pitcher for the Dairy. He was relieved by Brantley in the bottom of the fifth. Graniteer batters walloped White and Brantley for only four hits, but managed to pick up enough runs on errors and walks to take the contest.

Greenville's Moose Club sponsored a Field Event Day at Elm Street Park yesterday, following the Elks - Exchange club Little League battle.

After the game, that ended 5-1 in favor of the Elks, the contests were held and also refreshments were served.

A watch was presented to Neely James, Recreation Department official who has worked steadily with the Little League since it was established here. James, overwhelmed by the gesture, was unable to speak but later expressed deep thanks to reporters.

The Kiwanis club team won a special prize for having the most parents present at the occasion. There were 22 parents present from that team.

Big Turnout For Two Conferences At ECC

Two all-day conferences dealing with instruction of the child with special difficulties brought more than 300 teachers, parents, and other interested people to East Carolina Tuesday and Wednesday of this week.

Training of the mentally retarded received attention Tuesday at a conference directed by Dr. Frances V. Henry, speech pathologist in the college education department, and attended by sixty people. Causes of difficulties in reading and improved methods of instruction were discussed and demonstrated at East Carolina's annual Summer Reading Clinic. Directed by Dr. Keith Holmes of the education department, the the state department of special education, Raleigh, the new program and its possibilities in the training of children.

Observation of the work in East Carolina's summer speech and hearing clinic and in a class for mentally retarded children was a special feature of the program.

Two Roles For Ike On Holiday

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP) — President Eisenhower combined the roles of chief executive and gentleman farmer today on his long holiday weekend at his farm home.

For the first time, reporters spotted him riding about the estate before dusk yesterday, inspecting his herd of Aberdeen Angus cattle and his flourishing feed crops.

Secret Service agents in two cars patrolled the strip of highway that borders the property as the President, clad in tan riding breeches, shiny boots, white shirt and bow tie, jogged at a rapid trot around the rim of the farm.

He was astride Sporty Miss, the fast chestnut mare presented to him last year by the American Quarterhorse Assn. Riding with him was Dick Flohr of the White House Secret Service detail, on another gift horse, Doodle-dee-dee.

Serious-faced, the President rode between rows of corn and across unfilled ground, pausing now and then to look at groups of cattle in strips of pasture land.

Eisenhower was in touch with the White House as usual, but seemed intent on having a quiet weekend with Mrs. Eisenhower and playing golf each morning.

The only guest was Dr. Howard McC. Snyder, the President's personal physician.

The President was expected to return to Washington Sunday evening or Monday morning.

Celebrating, At Owner's Expense

HUNTINGTON, W.Va. (AP) — Some one did some holiday celebrating at considerable expense to Philip Peyton.

Peyton told police he was parked at a drive-in restaurant with the top of his 1957 convertible down. A firecracker, its fuse sputtering, landed on the folded top, exploded and ripped a ragged six-inch hole in the nylon fabric.

Peyton said it would cost $145 to replace the top. The person who threw the firecracker escaped detection.

The number of cigarette smokers in the United States increased from 40 million to 60 million between 1940 and 1952.

Movie Starlet Killed In Head-On Auto Collision

BILLY THE KID, Wyo. (AP) — A promising career of movie starlet Judy Tyler, 24, was blotted out in a head-on collision of two automobiles at this southern Wyoming roadside hamlet.

Fatally injured was her bridegroom of less than four months, Gregory Lafayette, also 24, a television actor of Hopewell Junction, N.Y. He died in a Laramie, Wyo., hospital a few hours after the Wednesday night crash.

Miss Tyler, who just completed the lead role opposite Elvis Presley in the movie "Jailhouse Rock," was killed instantly as was Donald D. Jones, 23, Hanna, Wyo., riding in the other car.

Told of the tragedy, Presley said in Memphis, Tenn., "Nothing has hurt me as bad in my life. All of us really loved that girl. I don't believe I can stand to see the movie we made together now."

Presley said he would attend funeral services in New York City.

Grace F. W. B. Announcements

Revival services will continue through Saturday evening. The services start each evening with the singing of the old Gospel songs (that are everybody's favorites). Come at 8:00 and hear the message from God's Word by Rev. Joseph Ange of Durham.

Sunday school begins Sunday morning at 9:45. Where were you last Sunday? This is vacation time, but not time to vacate God's house.

At 11:00 the worship service starts with the singing of the Doxology. The pastor, Rev. Rashie Kennedy, will bring the message of the hour.

Sunday afternoon at 3:30 there will be a baptism. The place will be announced Sunday morning.

At 7:00 o'clock Sunday the Free Will Baptist League meets. All young people in particular should take advantage of this period of training.

At 8:00 the evening service will begin. During this service the Church Covenant will be read to the new members who will be received into the church. Following this, there will be communion around the Lord's table and washing of the saint's feet. Every member of the church will surely want to take part in this.

Monday evening the Men's Fellowship meets at the church. All the men are urged to attend.

Wednesday evening is time for the regular mid-week prayer service. During this period the Good News Club will meet. The choir will rehearse following the prayer service.

Barehand Catch Of Young 'Gator

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — A delegation of four police vehicles, a city plant truck, and a dozen or so excited youngsters rushed to a city park here to check on a report an alligator was in the park.

The report came from a woman who phoned police that the alligator was in the park's fountain and was "about to eat the goldfish."

She was right. Patrolman Wilbur Thompson made a barehanded capture of the 12-inch gator.

Scalp Torn Of, Stitched Back On

SAN PABLO, Calif. (AP) — Mrs. Lucretia Galbraith's scalp was torn from her head after her long dark hair was caught in a cabin cruiser's propeller shaft yesterday.

Mrs. Galbraith, 50, San Francisco, her head wrapped in toweling to stop bleeding, was rushed in an ambulance to Brookside Hospital in this San Francisco Bay city.

Surgeons sent Deputy Sheriff Lester Clark racing back to the boat harbor to cut free the scalp skin, tightly tangled by hair to the shaft.

Clark rushed back with the scalp and surgeons stitched it on Mrs. Galbraith's head. They hope the operation will result in a successful healing and restoration of scalp and hair.

Mrs. Galbraith, a bookkeeper, caught her hair in the shaft as she inspected bilges in the 30-foot cruiser. T. R. Henry of San Francisco, piloting the boat, heard her

CHAPTER 23

"Nela will live with you until I get back from roundup," I told my father-in-law. "Then we'll decide where to live."

"I see," John Mathers took his pipe out of his mouth and stamped the tobacco down, strain showing in his face. "Beeson, a rumor has come to me that Turner and Dillman have stolen all of our cattle and sold them. I don't know how to ascertain the truth. Turner might do a thing like that, but I find it hard to believe that he would. I have three other men working on the ranch, but they swear they know nothing about it. He looked at me helplessly. "How do you learn the truth in a case like this?"

"You comb the range," I said. "In your case you'll have to hire men to do it, men you can trust."

"Will you do it?"

"No. Not till I get back, anyway. Why don't you send for the sheriff?"

"Would the sheriff come on the basis of a mere rumor?" He shook his head. "Besides, it would be come public knowledge, and I can't afford that as long as the society has a semblance of unity."

There was a moment of silence, Nela sitting with her hands tightly clasped, her face pale. She had not told me this.

Finally her father said: "Suppose you can't stay here and our cattle have been stolen, but next spring we could get back into business—take a herd on shares or borrowed money to do so. Would you run Anchor for us?"

"No," I told him. "You don't have a spread any more. Just summer range and your buildings. Your hay land and winter range are gone, some of it plowed up."

"I understand," he said heavily. "Beeson, people say I am too impractical, and I'm afraid they're right. You see, I believed in an ideal so strongly that I overlooked today and had my eyes on tomorrow. So for Nela's sake, I'm glad you're a practical man. Well, I guess we'd better go. Tell Sarah we will not be here next Sunday, although very likely she knows that."

I went outside with them; and when Mathers stepped up into the seat of the buggy I kissed Nela, and she whispered, "I'll see you as soon as you get back?"

I said, "The minute I get back."

I stayed there as long as I could see them, and then returned to the house, walking slowly. Sarah would be back in the front room. I was sure, and I would be in for it. She was there, but she didn't reproach me as I expected. She sat by the window, her eyes red, a wadded-up handkerchief on her lap.

"Sit down, Will," she said. "I have something important to say to you." I obeyed, and she went on in a cool tone: "I am going to write to Ben to take charge of my business. You will stop in Cannon City when you get back from Leadville. You will turn over all the ranch money to him. He will take out the expenses and divide the balance. You will bring $500 of my money to me. What you do with yours is your business. Then you will pack up and leave, and

[that will be the end of our partnership.]

She didn't look at me. She started out of the window at the broad expanse of the valley, her face very pale. She was suffering, I did not doubt it. A hard word would make her cry again; but self-pity was the source of her misery, and that was a luxury with which I had little patience.

Suddenly, surprisingly, I discovered I had no sympathy for her despite the debt I owed her. John Mathers, though he had failed, had at least reached for something. I could respect a man who had once possessed a worthy dream. But there was no sensible explanation of Sarah's behavior.

Maybe the answer was that she considered me a chattel, that I belonged to her just as Dogbone did. The day would come when she would lose him too; I wondered what she would do then.

"You can go," she said. "That's all I have to say."

"I'm not going," I said. "You can give half a ranch away, but you're forgetting you can't take it back after it's given."

"No, I'm not forgetting. I don't believe you'll insist on staying. You'll receive half of what the ranch has made this year along with your regular wages, and that is all you can expect. You also know I will not tolerate Nela in my house; if you want to live with her, you will take her somewhere else."

She must hate Nela, I thought, as much as she hates Kathy Morgan. I said, "You still need me."

"I will find another foreman as good as you are," she answered.

"Are you going to let the colonists move in?"

"I'll stop them."

"Then you'll need me."

"The world is full of men who know how to pull a trigger."

The words didn't sound like her, but I was beginning to see that she could shed an attitude as easily as she could take off her coat. I said, "I suppose you'll be marrying John Mathers soon."

The question jarred her. "Of course not!" She looked at me sharply. "He's just like Joe even if he talks a different language. With you it's your wife. With John it's his foolish colony. With Joe it was the ranch. I won't share my men with anything or anybody! You should know that by now."

So there it was at last, honestly I said in new words.

I rose, my mind made up. "According to the Good Book," I said, "a man should be unselfish, but I'm not. I've got a wife to support. I'm holding on to what I've got."

I walked out, leaving her sitting there, and hating me, I suppose, just as she had hated Joe Pardee.

The roundup and drive to Leadville went as smoothly as ever but when I left the other riders at Alton's Trading Post to go to Cannon City, Irv Costello said: "Better get a move on, Beeson. You'll have work to do when you get back."

"What kind of work?"

"Another driving job. You don't think them plow pushers will miss a chance like this, do you, with all of us out of the valley like we've been for the last week?"

"I reckon not," I said. As I wheeled my horse away from the rest, I said to Curly King and Ed Thurston: "I'll be home tomorrow afternoon. Don't do anything till I get there."

They nodded agreement, and I rode away, strongly tempted to ignore Sarah's orders and return to the valley with them. Trouble had been foreshadowed from the day Joe Pardee died. Maybe the colonists would never have come to the valley if Joe had lived. Or if Merle Turner had not described the valley in such glowing terms to Mathers. Or if Sarah had not encouraged Mathers.

History, my father used to remark, is a series of causes and effects. He would slap me on the back as he said: "We want to get rich. That's the cause, so we'll go to Santa Fe and get rich. That's the effect."

He had been facetious; but I wasn't, as I thought about the past year. If any of the casual factors had been different, then the following effects would have been changed. But if they had been, I wouldn't be married to Nela. So there it was, the sweet and the bitter.

Naval Reserve Composite Company 6-26 received a "Excellent" rating from inspecting officers who reviewed the Greenville unit's training program June 25.

Lieutenant Commander Y. N. Fontenot of the Naval Reserve Training Center in Raleigh conducted the inspection and returned a report to the unit last night. Commander Fontenot's general comments on the inspection record noted, "Composite Company 6-26 is currently a very active company. Drill attendance is excellent, and instruction and instructor participation is very good. Local public relations within the community is most commendable."

The report paid tribute to Commander F. E. Lansche who has been serving as commanding officer of the company. The report said, "Commander F. E. Lansche's leadership as commanding officer for the last 27 months has been outstanding and non-parallel by commanding officers of other known composite companies."

Individual ratings in the report were "excellent" for the executive department and "very good" for administrative procedure.

At the present time there are 26 officers and enlisted men assigned to the company. Commander Lansche said today that if other naval reservists in the Greenville area are interested in becoming active members of the unit, they are invited to attend regular weekly meetings. The meetings are held each Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the Graham Building.

Makes A Living Helping Couples To Get Married

DURANT, Okla. (AP)—A 60-year-old service station attendant has retired here to make a living helping couples get married.

Fred Daniels attracts couples with a sign that reads: "Information. Marry. Marry. Marriage-Lake Road-Fishing."

"In this Bryan County city next to the Texas line, thousands of couples from out of state, mostly Texas, come each year to get married."

He tells them how to get blood tests, a license and a judge. As for his sign, he said he added the lake and fishing as an after thought in case anyone was looking for them.

Cupid's helper doesn't charge, but he makes his living from tips. "When you get a couple on the way to get married, you find them in a most generous mood," he chuckled. "If they won't tip you then, you'd never get a nickel out of them."

Attends Annual Insurance Meet

L. P. Stokes, representative of the Durham Life Insurance Co., has returned from his insurance company's annual convention staged in Asheville.

The local insurance man won the trip as a result of placing among the top producers for his company during the past year. The convention covered a three day period.

With home offices in Raleigh, the company is currently celebrating its Golden Anniversary. The convention was the 23rd annual event held for the Durham Life Honor Club.

OSMOSE PRESSURE TREATED LUMBER

★ LASTS 3 TO 5 TIMES LONGER
★ RESISTS ROT, TERMITES AND FIRE
★ NEEDS NO PAINT, BUT YOU CAN PAINT IT

Farm buildings are constantly exposed to the elements and the ravages of time, rot and termites. Modern farmers are combating this situation by building with Osmose treated Lumber, the new wonder wood that is scientifically treated to resist all the wood destroying insects, rot and fungus growths. AND... what's mighty important is the fact that you DON'T HAVE TO PAINT IT. However, you can paint it smooth, dry surface if you prefer. This lumber is an attractive shade of green and available in all sizes. Let us give you all the money-saving details on Osmose treated Lumber and Fence Posts.

Avoid messy re-wiring!

put in plenty of HOUSEPOWER when you build!

It takes a lot of wiring to run a modern home—and the time to put in enough wiring is when you're building!

With enough wiring, enough switches and enough outlets, you and your family can really enjoy the conveniences that electricity makes possible. And you'll avoid the mess and expense of re-wiring.

So put plenty of HOUSEPOWER in your new home—install an up-to-date wiring system so you can live better, electrically!

Christian Science Society

The supremacy and all-power of God—divine Life, Truth and Love—will be emphasized at Christian Science services this Sunday.

Selections to be read from the Bible in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "God" include the following from Joshua (1:9): "Have not I commanded thee? Be strong and of a good courage; be not afraid, neither be thou dismayed; for the Lord thy God is with thee whithersoever thou goest."

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will be read the following (228:25-27): "There is no power apart from God. Omnipotence has all-power, and to acknowledge any other power is to dishonor God."

The Golden Text is from Joel (2:27): "Ye shall know that I am in the midst of Israel, and that I am the Lord your God, and none else."

NOT GUILTY

In Municipal Recorder's Court in Greenville last Friday, Zeb V. Bunting of Bethel was found not guilty of failure to yield the right of way. In Monday's edition, it was erroneously stated that he was found guilty.

Grifton Bureau Elects Officers

GRIFTON — C. T. Jackson of Grifton was elected president of the Grifton Township Farm Bureau organization here Wednesday night.

Elected vice-presidents were Roger Johnson, Grifton; Lester Garris, Ayden Rt. 2; J. E. Smith, Grifton Rt. 1; Fred Taylor Jr., Grifton Rt. 1; Roy Jackson of Grifton Rt. 1 was chosen secretary-treasurer.

The group heard William Little, N. C. Farm Bureau Field Representative, discuss the sound basic principles of the Farm Bureau organization and the effect of its forces for farmers in the legislative centers of the nation.

He was introduced by Ralph C. Tucker, chairman of the Pitt Farm Bureau Membership drive this year. Tucker told the group that county Farm Bureau leaders should discuss with their friends and neighbors the value of the Farm Bureau program on a local, state and national level.

Also speaking during the program was Kenneth Whichard, special agent for Social Security who discussed Social Security benefits for farmers.

The invocation was pronounced by George Cox of Winterville.

Hodges Reveals New Appointees

RALEIGH (AP)—Gov. Hodges announced several appointments today, including the reappointment of George W. Randall as chairman of the State Board of Paroles for a four-year term expiring July 1, 1961.

Randall was appointed in June last year to fill out the unexpired term of Dr. Clarence Patrick who returned to Wake Forest College to head the Sociology Department. Patrick's old term expired July 1.

The governor also announced at his news conference that he was appointing Dr. Charles E. Jordan of Duke University as a member of the State Board of Education to succeed A. S. Brower of Duke, who resigned for health reasons. His term would have expired April 1, 1959.

Hodges also announced he was reappointing Dr. Charles F. Carroll to the Board of Control for Southern Regional Education for a four-year term expiring June 30, 1961. Dr. Carroll is state superintendent of public instruction.

Hodges also reappointed David Hall of Sylva and James J. Harris of Charlotte as members of the state board of water commissioners for six-year terms expiring June 30, 1963.

W. W. Staton of Sanford was appointed to the North Carolina Veterans Commission for a term expiring May 16, 1959. He will replace Sen. Staton P. Williams, who resigned.

Bethel Township Bureau Meets

BETHEL — Farm Bureau leaders were guests at the Bethel Rotary Club supper meeting Tuesday night. A Bethel Township Farm Bureau meeting followed.

Harold Staton, Bethel, gave the invocation. Ralph C. Tucker, chairman of the Pitt county Farm Bureau Membership Drive enlisted support of the group in the forthcoming County Membership Drive and introduced the speaker, B. B. Sugg, Greenville warehouse owner.

Sugg emphasized the necessity farmers have reaped direct benefits from the Farm Bureau organization. He brought to light the position of the farmer with a strong Farm Bureau program and gave some dark facts reminiscent of the days before the Farm Bureau had any legislative power. Sugg pronounced the fact that Pitt county farmers have reaped direct benefits from the Farm Bureau Legislative program.

Kenneth Whichard, special Social Security agent, presented pertinent information for farmers in the Social Security program. Whichard aired facts for the local farmer's use and stimulated a lively and informative discussion pertaining to Social Security.

The following officers elected for the Bethel Farm Bureau:

President: H. L. Briley, Bethel; 1st vice-president: R. N. Simmons, Bethel; 2nd vice-president: W. P. Thigpen, Bethel; 3rd vice-president: J. L. Gurganus, Jr., Bethel; 4th vice-president: J. V. Taylor, Jr., Bethel; and secretary-treasurer, Mrs. J. L. Gurganus, Jr., Bethel.

Funeral Saturday For Joseph Sumrell

Funeral services will be held at the Wilkerson Chapel Sunday at 3:30 p.m. by Rev. C. C. Cribb, pastor of First Pentecostal Holiness Church, Greenville, assisted by Rev. W. M. Howard Jr., pastor of Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church. Burial will be in Greenwood Cemetery.

Mrs. Waldrep, daughter of the late John D. and Julia Haverer Fogler, a native of South Carolina, had lived in Greenville since 1921. Mr. Waldrep died in 1922. She was a member of First Pentecostal Holiness Church, Greenville. For some years she made her home with her daughter, Mrs. J. N. Williams, in Greenville.

Surviving are three daughters, Mrs. J. N. Williams and Mrs. Cecil A. Turner of Greenville and Mrs. A. C. Easton, Miami, Fla.; a son, Haverer A. Waldrep Sr., of Jacksonville, Fla.; 12 grandchildren, 25 great-grandchildren, and a sister, Mrs. T. A. Spurlin of Sylvester, Ga.

Quiet Holiday In City; Minor Mishaps Occur

The Fourth of July holiday was observed very quietly in Greenville yesterday.

Police chief S.G. Gibbs stated this morning, "We had an unusually quiet day here."

Very few complaints were received by officers who report that "nothing out of the ordinary" took place. Only five arrests were made during the day, four of which were traffic violations.

Two traffic accidents marred an otherwise quiet day for police officers and patrolmen. Despite the two collisions, traffic moved in a very orderly manner.

An elderly man was struck by a truck at the intersection of Dickinson and Boyd Aves. shortly before lunch yesterday but escaped with only a minor cut under his left eye.

John D. Davies, 71, of 1016 Ward St. was riding a bicycle at the time of the accident. The driver of the truck that hit him, Carr Linwood Allen of 403 Holly St., told City Police he did not see Davies until it was too late to avoid hitting him.

No violation was cited by an investigating officer. The accident took place at 11:10 a.m.

A 22-year-old Negro was charged with two traffic violations following a one-car collision at the intersection of Boyd Ave. and Tyson St.

An automobile driven by James Fields Brewington of 1714 S. Green St. crashed into a light pole last night causing 600 damage to the vehicle. Damage to the pole has not been determined, investigating officers reported today.

Brewington was charged with operating a motor vehicle under the influence of alcohol and careless and reckless driving.

Involving three vehicles, a wreck on W. 14th St. late Wednesday afternoon resulted in $350 property damage.

Police charged Woodrow Wilson Vines 42-year-old Negro of Greenville Rt. 3 with careless and reckless driving following an investigation. There were no personal injuries.

In addition to Vines, involved in the collision were vehicles driven by Haywood Willis, a city employee, and Walton M. Hudnell of Greenville Rt. 2. At the time of the collision, both Willis and Hudnell were stopped for a signal light, officers said.

Rites Sunday For Mrs. R. T. Waldrep

Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Waldrep, 88, widow of Russell T. died in Pitt Memorial Hospital at 5:30 Friday morning. She had been critically ill the past three months.

Funeral services will be held at the Wilkerson Chapel Sunday at 3:30 p.m. by Rev. C. C. Cribb, pastor of First Pentecostal Holiness Church, Greenville, assisted by Rev. W. M. Howard Jr., pastor of Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church. Burial will be in Greenwood Cemetery.

Mrs. Waldrep, daughter of the late John D. and Julia Haverer Fogler, a native of South Carolina, had lived in Greenville since 1921. Mr. Waldrep died in 1922. She was a member of First Pentecostal Holiness Church, Greenville. For some years she made her home with her daughter, Mrs. J. N. Williams, in Greenville.

Surviving are three daughters, Mrs. J. N. Williams and Mrs. Cecil A. Turner of Greenville and Mrs. A. C. Easton, Miami, Fla.; a son, Haverer A. Waldrep Sr., of Jacksonville, Fla.; 12 grandchildren, 25 great-grandchildren, and a sister, Mrs. T. A. Spurlin of Sylvester, Ga.

Last Rites Today For Mrs. H. W. Brown

BETHEL — Mrs. Jennie Ward Brown died Thursday morning in Wayne Convalescent Home in Goldsboro.

Funeral services will be Friday at 4 p.m. at Bethel Methodist Church by Rev. C.P. Womack, assisted by Rev. W.M. Howard Jr., of Greenville, the former pastor. Burial will be in Bethel cemetery.

Mrs. Brown was the daughter of the late Benjamin F. and Julia Taylor Ward. She was a native of Pitt County. She was married to the late Henry W. Brown.

She was a member of the Bethel Methodist Church, Woman's Society of Christian Service, Order of Eastern Star and WCTU.

Surviving are two sons, Larry Brown of Greenville and Caswell Brown of Bethel; three daughters, Mrs. J.C. Williamson Sr., of Bethel, Mrs. B.C. Manning of Greenville and Mrs. J.A. Worthington of Winterville; seven sisters, Mrs. L.L. Ward, Mrs. Bertha Crane, Mrs. W.J. Taylor, all of Bethel, Mrs. W.O. Van Nortwick Sr., and Mrs. Malena Powell, both of Greenville, Mrs. George James of Parmele, Mrs. Mollie Riddick of Fountain, and nine grandchildren, and eight great-grand children.
