Jury Trial Amendment Denounced By Humphrey

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.) today denounced the bill, as "a deliberate, premeditated, cleverly concealed smokescreen."

A leader of Northern Democratic senators working with administration forces to prevent further weakening of the house-passed bill, Humphrey said the latest jury trial amendment just added to the "confusion."

The amendment, offered by Sens. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.), Kefauver (D-Tenn.), and Church (D-Idaho), would write a new federal law governing contempt of court proceedings in all kinds of cases—civil rights, labor or anything else.

Kasper Not Dismayed By Reaction

Chilly Reception To Proposed N. C. Visit Fails Balk Plans

GREENSBORO (AP)—Segregationist John Kasper, whose announced plans to come to North Carolina drew caustic comments from editors and segregation leaders in the state, last night reiterated his intention to visit.

Anti-Communist Leader Of Guatemala Murdered

Dulles Is Ordered To London Parley

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today ordered Secretary of State Dulles to go to London tomorrow to give his personal attention to the stalled disarmament discussions.

Both Eisenhower and Dulles, they said, felt there was no substitute for personal conferences. Such face-to-face diplomacy is much more satisfactory than exchanging transatlantic cables, they said.

GUATEMALA (AP)—President Carlos Castillo Armas was shot dead by a palace guard last night. Unofficial reports said the soldier who assassinated the anti-Communist leader took his own life with the rifle he used to slay the president.

Castillo Armas was graduated from Guatemala's military academy — the Polytechnic School — in 1936, and went into the army. In 1945 he returned to the academy as its deputy director. Two years later, after a course at the Staff and Command School of the U.S. Army at Ft. Leavenworth, Kan., he became the school's director.

Sheriff Says Dead Officer Was A 'Very Good Deputy'

DEPUTY SHOTS SELF . . . Officers view body of Deputy Marvin Coward.

Marvin Coward, the deputy who shot a man and then killed himself yesterday afternoon, was described as "a very good, quiet, easy-going fellow" by his boss today.

"He made a very good deputy," Sheriff Ruel W. Tyson said. "The sheriff gave this account of the incident: Coward stopped a car driven by Mrs. Violet Smith Stocks, 22, of Ayden between 1:00 and 1:30 yesterday afternoon. He opened the door of the vehicle, pulled the woman from the driver's seat and shot Elmer Mills of 810 W. Seventh St., Ayden, twice.

The deputy sheriff took the woman to his car, drove to the pit behind the airport where he shot himself through the chest despite Mrs. Stocks' pleadings. The shooting involved a personal matter with the deputy, according to the sheriff. Coward was off-duty and there was "no connection between that and his work."

In response to a question, Kasper replied: "Would I stir up any trouble here like there was at Clinton? Well now, I can only say that it's a matter of great controversy as to whether I stirred up trouble or whether it was the other elements such as the integrationist school board, the principal, the preachers and the newspaper editor who caused the trouble."

The newsman asked Kasper if he had read a statement opposing his visit by C. L. Shuping, an official of the pro-segregation Patriots of North Carolina. "I don't think Mr. Shuping has the faintest idea of what our struggle has been out here. We aren't trying to compete with any existing organizations. It seems to me the school boards in Greensboro, Charlotte and Winston-Salem warrant some investigation," he replied.

The three school boards this week admitted a limited number of Negro pupils to previously all-white schools. The newsman asked, "Would you still insist on coming here if you found that the majority of the people and the press did not want any part of you?"

"Yes, I found that on this issue, the newspaper press is considerably under the control of radical elements. I take that as a matter of course." An editorial in the Charlotte News greeted the announcement of Kasper's pending visit with this comment: "North Carolina, we'd say, can get along without John Kasper indefinitely."

Dulles is now in Canada and was to fly to Ottawa today for talks with the new Canadian Prime Minister, John Diefenbaker. Dulles will leave Ottawa at 11 p.m. tomorrow and fly to London where he is due to arrive at 5:15 p.m. Monday.

Pitt TB Ass'n Director Named

Mrs. Milton V. Clarke of Greenville has been appointed Executive Director of the Pitt County Tuberculosis Association. The appointment was announced today by President J. G. Clark and Honorary President J. H. Waldrop of the Association. Mrs. Clarke is succeeding Mrs. J. B. Spilman who had been Executive Director since 1952.

MRS. CLARKE Field Consultant with the American Cancer Society. The Clarks have two children, a son, Duke, and a daughter, Deborah.

Wounded Wife Said Recovering From Shooting

Louise Martin, seriously wounded by her husband following an argument yesterday morning, was reported to be in "good condition" today by an attending physician who added that she would probably be released from the hospital "in a few more days."

Mrs. Martin sustained wounds of the chest, lacerations of the scalp and jaw fractures when she was attacked by her husband. Her husband, Johnny Edward Martin Jr., also shot Willie Cannon, his job foreman who had gone to the house with Mrs. Martin. Cannon said she was afraid to go home by herself. Cannon suffered a hand wound.

After firing on the two, Martin went outside his house, reloaded his pistol and took his own life. Cannon, who had run out the back door of the house, located at 304 Tarboro Road in Meadowbrook, saw the 41-year-old cabinet maker place the .32 calibre pistol to his head and pull the trigger. Firing only one shot, Martin fell to the ground.

Pitt Coroner Griffin H. Rouse ruled that Martin died of a self-inflicted bullet wound shortly after the incident transpired. The shooting took place between 11:15 a.m. and 11:30 a.m. According to information gathered by investigating officers from the Greenville Police Department and the Pitt County Sheriff's Department, Martin and his wife had been having family trouble for some time. She was alleged to have left her husband several times in the last six months.

Blasting Cap Is Found In Airliner

VICTORVILLE, Calif. (AP)—The Federal Bureau of Investigation said today that an unexploded blasting cap was found in the airliner damaged early Thursday on a flight to Los Angeles. Evidence found indicates that "a small explosion may have occurred," said the FBI statement.

John F. Malone, agent in charge of the Los Angeles FBI office, said that "an investigation by the FBI and the Civil Aeronautics board reflects that available evidence indicates the possibility that a small explosion may have occurred." "An unexploded blasting cap was found in the toilet of the plane."

The badly mangled body of a passenger, hurled through the side of the plane at the time of the explosion, was found yesterday on a jagged, lava-strewn hill in the Mojave Desert. Ground searchers yesterday came upon Saul F. Binstock, 62, a retired jeweler from North Hollywood, Calif., as they followed a trail of airplane fragments in the Ord mountains about 50 miles northeast of here.

"There was nothing on the body or in his clothes to indicate what caused the explosion," one official said. An autopsy has been ordered. The blast ripped open the side of the plane.

Students have been in the foreground of resistance to the Castillo Armas regime. The worst outbreak came in June 1956, when 2 students were killed in a clash with police and 17 others were wounded. One policeman was shot to death and 3 wounded.

Binstock, who was in the plane when it was damaged, disappeared. The Covair made an emergency landing at an Air Force base. The plane's other 12 passengers and crew of three were uninjured. Before leaving Los Angeles for Las Vegas Wednesday night Binstock purchased $125,000 worth of round-trip flight insurance. Some experts believe the blast was touched off by some explosive device, but they admit they have no proof as yet.

Leaf Marketing Cards Available

Farmers who wish to sell their tobacco in Georgia can now receive their tobacco marketing cards from the ASC office, Office Manager James Meredith said today. "Farmers can receive tobacco marketing cards to sell their tobacco now," Meredith said today. "There will be a limited number of cases where some cards will be held up until a spot check can be made on these farms. General mailings of the cards will not be made until five days before the market opens in Pitt County. Cards can be issued now for those farmers who are going to sell in Georgia."

Issuing of the cards had been held up for a time while checks were being made by the State ASC in Raleigh. STANDS OPPOSED WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of the Army Brucker says he is opposed to any legislative curbs on foreign trial of U. S. servicemen in view of what he called the sensitive international situation.

Senatorial Mail Lags On Civil Rights Battle

WASHINGTON (AP)—Most senators reported today that the folks back home are displaying little interest in the lengthy Senate battle over civil rights legislation. Congress members traditionally judge the temper of their constituents by the volume of letters and telegrams dealing with controversial issues. With a few exceptions, the civil rights fight has not resulted in any significant increase in mail.

Among the exceptions are Sens. Russell (D-Ga.) and Ervin (D-N.C.), who have been leading a band of determined Southern opponents of the House-passed bill. Aides of Russell had baskets filled with mail "from all over the country."

"About one of every 30 opposes the senator's position but most of this is anonymous," an aide said. Ervin's office reported some pickup in mail volume "with only about one in 100 opposing the senator's views." When controversial and emotional issues are under consideration, senators often are deluged with mail and telegrams. But attaches at the Senate Post Office said there has been no sharp increase in mail of the kind which in the past has required hiring of extra help. Capitol Hill veterans said mail always declines in the hot summer months and this may account for the lack of volume on civil rights.

Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.), who has been floor leader for the bill, reported some increase in mail, but less than he received on budget reductions. Sen. Kuchel (R-Calif.) reported "some increase in mail, with writers about evenly divided for and against the bill." Sen. Douglas (D-Ill.), heading Northern Democrats, supporting the bill, also reported a light mail compared to past controversial issues. He said most of it supported his stand. Sen. Dirksen (D-Ill.) said, "I've had several that were signed by a large number of persons. One telegram supporting the bill carried names of 500 ministers."

Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) reported a fair volume of mail. "Most of it was reasoned," he said. "There were almost no bitter or violent letters." Sen. Carlson (R-Kan.), from a border state with thousands of Negroes, said "I've had only three letters." Sen. Javits (R-N.Y.), a freshman senator, said civil rights had been "our biggest item of correspondence recently." Sen. Javits (R-N.Y.) reported "133 pro letters and 61 con in the past two weeks." This was fair under the New York state average on past controversial issues.

Beck Appears To Plead Innocent

SEATTLE (AP)—A plea of innocent to a charge of grand larceny in the use of funds derived from the sale of a union-owned automobile, was entered in King County Superior Court yesterday by Dave Beck, president of the Teamsters Union. Beck's brief appearance was restricted to a formal entry of the plea. He had been scheduled for arraignment next Tuesday but the date was moved up because he leaves for Florida today on union business. Dave Beck Jr., indicted on two similar charges, will enter his plea Tuesday.

Field Consultant with the American Cancer Society. The Clarks have two children, a son, Duke, and a daughter, Deborah. Offices of the TB Association will be moved from their present quarters in the Health Department to the Edwards Building on Court House Square. The move is expected to be completed within the next two weeks. Under the new organization of the association, Mrs. Ruby Finch will continue to serve as secretary.

Other members: Charles A. White, Charles E. Blair, Morris Brody, Wyatt Brown, R. W. Davenport, James S. Picken Jr., Dr. H. H. Grady, E. Hoover Taft Jr., Frank M. Wooten. Other Services The chamber also provides services to local citizens. The office helps newcomers in locating homes from lists of available apartments and homes. City maps, highway maps and routing maps, air line and railroad schedules are distributed free of charge on request. To make available materials, services and the facilities of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, the chamber has been designated as a cooperative office of that department under supervision of the Richmond regional office. The chamber keeps a reference library of various government publications, along with privately-published reference material. The chamber maintains a city directory and offers its office for use by other organizations.

YOU CAN DIE LAUGHING

CHAPTER 12
This is my daughter, Estelle Wells, Mrs. Ambler said.

"Yes," Mrs. Ambler said dubiously. "Yvonne Clymer fits that description, and when I visited you I noticed he was pretty attentive to her. I wonder—"

"I nodded. Of course, if we went ahead and get a divorce, we could get an order from the court providing for alimony, and jail him if he didn't pay. But this way we have to threaten him every so often with failing to support his children, and then he'll come through, after we put enough pressure on him. It's been like that ever since Estelle left him. She'd have to scrape alone as best she could, trying to keep the children going, and then put all the pressure she could on Drury Wells. At the last minute he'd come through with something, talk about it with Estelle, and she'd certainly be a past master at that sort of stuff."

"Do you know what he does?" "I haven't the faintest idea. Probably he does nothing. He's about the laziest man I've ever seen in my life."

"How do you get in touch with him when you go after him on account of the kids?" "There's one address that will always reach him after a while. That's the address of his brother, Dr. Carleton Wells."

"An M.D.," I asked. "A dentist," she said. "He has an office in Los Angeles."

"Drury always keeps in touch with Carleton, but no one outside of the family knows that they're brothers. Carleton is heartily ashamed of the way Drury acts. Carleton is a gentleman in every sense of the word. If it wasn't for him, Drury wouldn't do a thing for the children. Sooner or later, Carleton always finds out where Drury is, and any letters we send to Drury care of Carleton will be delivered eventually."

"Estelle Wells said, 'I suppose he's in some trouble again. Is it serious?'" "I gave her a reassuring smile. 'I'm just checking up on him,' I said. 'Now, do you know a girl by the name of Yvonne, a red-head, perhaps twenty-three or twenty-six years old, nice figure, around a hundred and twelve pounds?'"

MY PRIVATE MOVIE
There was a day last summer that I kept tucked away in the back of my mind, like a miniature mental movie all my own. Sometimes, when other days aren't quite as bright as this one was, I take it out and reel off a private showing. It was a Sunday. We'd been to church, Lee and the three children and I. Then we went home and packed up a big picnic lunch and took it down to the creek. It was one of those perfect summer days poets have written about. Everything tasted better than it could possibly have been. When we'd finished eating, the kids sailed their boats while Lee and I stretched out on the grass and looked up in the blue silk sky, all dotted with fleecy white clouds.

Five-Alarm Fire Engulfs Large Boston Wharf

BOSTON (AP)—Firefighters continued to pour water today on the remains of a five-alarm fire that engulfed one side of the Boston & Maine Railroad's 2,500-foot Mystic River coal wharf last night. Unofficial estimates of damage ranged as high as $1,125,000. Fifty-foot flames, sending up a cloud of smoke visible 20 miles away, raged out of control for two hours. An estimated force of 2,000 men including 600 sailors and Coast Guardsmen, fought the fire in choking black smoke. Wind and high pressure lines sprayed soft coal dust everywhere. The flames fed off the wooden pier structure and in part on 50 to 60-foot piles of coal. A hundred pipes of the coal—55,000 tons in all—covered the pier. The largest part of it was saved. Pending investigation, fire officials declined to assign a cause for the fire.

The Lady Is Told To Pay Alimony

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Band leader Ina Ray Hutton must pay $35 temporary weekly alimony to her ailing husband, former trumpet player, Randy Brooks. Miss Hutton, 41, leader of an all-girl orchestra, already has secured a Nevada divorce from Brooks, 39. The couple married April 10, 1949. The alimony, to be paid pending trial of Brooks' own divorce action in California, was ordered yesterday following a hearing in which Brooks told Superior Court that he had not been able to play the trumpet since he suffered a stroke in 1950.

Thirteen-Year-Old Girl Turns Junk Room Into Tiny Castle

Edith views family junk room . . . with a determined eye.

In two weeks she transforms it . . . in to her "little castle."

By ANNE SINGLETON
Reflector Woman's Editor
A 13-year-old girl stirred with determination can do most anything—at least Edith Nelson did. By putting forth effort, she transformed the family junk room into an enchanting little lavender and purple room which she calls her castle.

Improvement as a 4-H project this year. She explains, "I wanted to have room improvement as a project—but I didn't have a room to improve as I shared a room with my older sister, and since it was her room first, I had to put my things wherever I could."

This dark-eyed girl, who has a radiant smile, mentioned, "All the time I was taking inventory all through the house looking for available furniture. My uncle had made an old table which mother used as a utility table and I thought to myself I can use that as a dressing table."

For the gay lavender and purple print material that has a touch of green with a white background and bought lavender paint to match for the walls.

Each Piece Has History
"As we placed the furniture, I remembered where each piece came from—the bed from the tenant house, the mattress was a gift from my grandmother, I used a chair from the kitchen, and the chest was made from an old dinner table given to us after fire destroyed our home 11 years ago," she said.

Jay Nelson, and the book and shoe case is made of old shelves which my mother used to put canned goods on. The final touch was the dressing table stool made from an old nail keg.

Is A Light Dawning In Washington?

By now President Eisenhower and his Republican general staff should be convinced that members of Congress do not look with favor on federal aid to public schools and federal control over public schools which would be a part of any such legislation.

For the second time in as many years Congress has flatly refused to pass a bill to provide federal aid to the state for school building programs.

Rep. McConnell of Pennsylvania, GOP floor leader for the bill attributed its defeat primarily to "those who on principle oppose federal assistance to schools." He added that the economy move in Congress and differences over the formula for distributing the funds also had a part in the bill's latest defeat.

It appears to us that Congress has spoken rather firmly now about its feeling toward federal aid to education. The sentiment of the majority of the members of the House, in our opinion, reflect that of their constituents back home. The American people just do not want control of their public schools concentrated in the hands of Washington bureaucrats. They have not been convinced there is wisdom in sending to Washington additional tax money to be trickled back down to the state and local level for school construction.

No one denies the need for more school buildings in every state and in almost every community in the nation. It is easy to see that today's needs will be more critical a year or two from now unless progress continues at a high rate in construction of schools. At the same time, the individual taxpayer, at the local level, must ultimately pay for these new schools, whether he pays for them through federal taxes, state taxes or local taxes. More of every tax dollar will actually go into school construction if that phase of government operation is left to the state and local governments.

Another important consideration is that so long as federal dollars are not accepted for public schools, we can be pretty sure that control of public schools will remain with the state and local governments. There will be little danger of the federal government gaining control of schools as they have in other programs where federal dollars and federal control have gone hand-in-hand.

For this year, at least, federal attempts to move into the field of public school education in individual states has been beaten back. Perhaps now, with two consecutive defeats, administration forces will realize that this is one field in which the majority of citizens do not want the federal dollar or the federal controls which always accompany one of Uncle Sam's dollars.

Familiar Sentinels Of Seasonal Economy

After months of silence, an old, familiar sound is now heard several times a day in Greenville.

Whistles of tobacco processing plants. While these whistles may be ignored by many local residents in the din of other familiar noises, they hold a special significance in Greenville. They herald the busy season in Greenville and all of Pitt County. They mark the state-up of factory machinery which will process millions of pounds of tobacco grown on farms from Georgia and Florida all the way through North Carolina. They mark the season of the year when literally hundreds of local people who have been jobless for many months return to work for a short period of the year.

They mean more money in circulation, more jobs, and more payrolls.

A few days ago the early morning silence was broken by a familiar sound of one long whistle. It had its own special tone. Hundreds of citizens who have spent their lives here could have told you which factory the whistle belonged to, which processing plant was calling its people to work.

As the days passed, the long whistle was joined by another, and still another in the early morning. Before long there will be a whole series of factory whistles several times a day. They will mark the season when the processing plants are in full operation. They will mark the highest point of business activity in the year for this locality.

But as summer and early fall give way to late November, and an occasional frost, one by one the whistles will cease to sound in the early mornings. Finally one morning there will be a blast from only one whistle. A few days later that one will be silent until another summer rolls around.

They are sentinels of the seasonal economy of this area. They are old friends whose presence in comforting and encouraging. We only wished they called their people to work the year round, or that other factory whistles called pools of idle laborers to other seasonal jobs when the whistles of tobacco factories are silent.

A Closer Look By 'Revenooers'

By ELMER ROESSNER

There's a flurry of unseasonal activity in many businesses today. There's a whirl of work—sometimes for the first time—in some branch establishments, vice presidents and even presidents are calling on the trade. Secretaries are working overtime catching up inter-office memos. Accountants are working over books they worked over before.

Uncle Whiskers is peering through the transom.

Just a month ago Russell C. Harrington, Commissioner of Internal Revenue, let it be known that he, too, is in on one of the best-kept American secrets. It is: Some of the most flagrant tax-cheating in the country is, or has been, perpetrated by businessmen.

Business, on the whole, is honest about tax matters. This is partly because of the mother-knee honesty of most businessmen, partly because the tax penalties are tough. It would take a philosopher, not a reporter, to determine which was the more important reason.

CRACK-DOWN ORDER OUT

But as court records show, some are inclined to cheat. Most of this is due to dishonesty. Some, accountants tell us, comes of efforts to be fashionable. The owner of a business, cocktailing at his club, hears others tell how they charge autos and yachts off as business expenses and get away with it because they take a customer for a ride once in a while. He feels he is as out of date as spats and instead of sending his old mother a check every month, he puts her on the payroll as a consultant. She has to write him letters telling what she doesn't like about his advertisements.

Commissioner Harrington, in a circular to all district offices—including yours!—asked agents to check on (1) the use of branch offices in resort cities for the sole purpose of sending business executives to such cities on vacations, (2) deductions for business trips that seem to wind up at resort hotels, (3) expenses of sporting trips disguised as business ventures, (4) deductions for club dues charged off as business expenses, (5) charges for business "entertainment" in which executives, rather than prospects, get entertained, (6) costs of automobiles, yachts and planes listed as business expenses.

Mr. Harrington, probably intentionally, did not stamp his circular "top secret" and most businessmen know about it. That is why so many of them are re-examining current and 1956 expenses to make sure that they were legitimate business outlays and, equally important, to make sure the records prove they are.

Some are checking even earlier records.

Strength For Today

By EARL L. DOUGLASS

A TOO-LATE DECISION

A man of prominence, wealth, and outstanding ability committed suicide sometime ago. Only recently I learned from a mutual friend the cause—or what he thought to be the cause—of this tragedy.

The man who came to this dismal end had started out in life with nothing. He was very successful in business and within a few years made himself a multi-millionaire. But he forsook his religion in the process of getting rich. His wife very decidedly could not stand this quick ushering into wealth. She fell into alcoholism and became unfaithful to him.

Last of all, this man who held a position of honor and distinction, was suddenly and summarily dismissed. He couldn't take it. First he went to the hospital. Then one day he decided upon suicide. He clung to the window ledge for several minutes, and the pathetic thing was they found the wall deeply scratched by his shoes. He had regretted his act and tried to crawl back, but it was too late.

There are some acts and situations in life which are definitive and final. Wisdom consists of never getting into such situations if they can be avoided. The scratched wall of the building told the story of a man who decided too late on the right course of action.

I Get A Kick Outta Me!

By EVERETTE PARKER

It Came With A Rush

The old expression "when it rains, it pours" was certainly the case yesterday.

If I live to be more than a 100 years old I will never forget the events that took place from 10 a.m. on.

The day was certainly one for the books.

I was sitting at my typewriter minding my own business and perfectly content to let the world go by. Had been out on my beat and was already thinking about going home and getting some of that good food that my Aunt Eva puts on the table.

It was almost too good to be true. I was through relatively early for a change.

Then it happened. . . .

The telephone rang, and something told me that I might have a call to go out on.

And sure enough I did.

There had been a shooting out in Meadowbrook.

This didn't take too long.

After a time, Jimmy Ellis, and myself got the story and pictures in shape about 12:30 p.m.

With the mission accomplished I decided to venture out to the hospital and check on the condition of the woman involved in the shooting.

For sometime after getting out to the hospital I could not find the physician I was looking for, so I just sort of stood around.

It was during this time that another patient was admitted to the Emergency Ward. He was right bloody so I decided he must be the man that was involved in the shooting earlier in the day.

Necessity to say I was wrong.

He had been shot by another man in an argument of some sort thereby qualifying him as news.

With this lucky bit of information I called the office and informed our City Editor, Alvin Taylor. I informed him of the circumstances to which he answered in some foreign tongue.

I was on my way again.

In a few minutes a woman came into the hospital crying and saying something about a man killing himself and I really was on the trail of something big.

Another report was received that someone had killed himself near Falkland. This turned out to be erroneous since the call was referring to the man who had shot himself a short distance from here.

Well, it didn't take me long to get on the road and we, an ABC officer that was left behind and myself, got to the scene where the body was discovered in just a few minutes.

By this time the paper's deadline had almost been forgotten but I managed to piece together some bits of information, thanks to the "law" and prepared for the journey back to the office. Fate dealt me a dirty blow, however.

I got stuck and had to get six men to help me out of the sand.

Eventually I got back to the office and succeeded in knocking out a story for the paper.

When I finished I just sat down for a couple of minutes to sort of relax. It was then I discovered a note from our News Editor informing me Saturday was my day for the column.

I started to sit down and write the cotten pickin' thing when Schlenz asked me where were the cut lines for my feature. This was almost too much.

Anyway, all I wanted to get across to the reader is that this business can be hard at times.

There is more to putting out a newspaper than meets the eye.

Behind the headlines a great many things go on. Things that are never brought out in the general run of news.

You have to love the profession—I do.

Other Editors Saying--- Tobacco And Baloney

(Greensboro Daily News)

Down in Eastern Carolina they used to say barbecue kills more Tar Heels than liquor.

And Senator Kerr Scott had that in mind last week when he attacked Senator Neuberger's plan to ban tobacco from the government price supports program. The senator from Oregon sees no logic whatever in congressional encouragement of the production of a crop which another agency of government, the U. S. Public Health Service, brands a health menace.

And the adroit Mr. Neuberger may have something there.

But the Squire of Haw River, never at a loss for words in the down-home idiom, reminds the honorable that more folks die of overeating than lung cancer, and by the same reasoning the government ought also to drop price supports on corn, wheat, et al, some of which grow in Oregon.

But in truth neither Scott nor Harold Cooley can banish the Neuberger attack—not by laughing it to death or ignoring it. The statistical mesmerizing of the Public Health Service establishes a definite link between cancer and tobacco, but it still involves a good bit of guilt by association. The Richmond News Leader speculates on this scientific approach as follows:

We have read most of the reports on both sides of this business. In our own view, the evidence of the pathologists is far from conclusive. To be sure, thousands of men who were heavy smokers have died of lung cancer, but when that has been shown, what has been shown? What else did the deceased have in common?

Suppose it could be established that eight of 10 men who die of lung cancer customarily read books; people who read books sit with their chests hunched over; hunching one's chest constricts one's lungs; therefore reading books causes lung cancer. Let us all smoke pipes and read billboards.

Still, there is too much tie-in between cigarettes and cancer for comfort, and the only way the tobacco industry can save itself—and incidentally the major farm money crop in North Carolina—is to crack down the culprit, isolate it and correct it, by new strains, superfilters or otherwise.

All the outraged comment of Congressman Cooley and the tongue in cheek drawing of Kerr Scott won't do the essential job. It remains for the heavily endowed Tobacco Industry Research Committee to bear down on the purpose for which it was organized.

In the meantime Southern tobacco farmers would do well to appropriate some of the foresight of Thomas Jefferson who almost 175 years ago converted all of his Virginia acres to crops other than tobacco.

Mails Shed Light

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Things a Columnist might never know if he didn't read his mail:

That the great wall of China, stretching 1,900 miles, is the world's longest cemetery. Built over 2,000 years ago, it is the last resting place of 200,000 workers who died during its construction.

That one American out of every five drinks an average of five cups of coffee daily. West Coast families drink the most, Southern families the least.

That because of its long tongue the bumblebee, largest of the bees, is the only insect that can pollinate clover. So, if you're in clover, bee thankful.

That the cheetah, the fastest animal on earth, has been clocked at 70 m.p.h.

That the porcupine's quill is actually a hollow hair. But try and tell that to anybody who has been stabbed by one!

That there are enough blood cells in the human race to carpet the surface of the entire world. The big problem of the 20th Century is to see that they aren't used for this purpose.

That a mere of bananas, according to the Cuban tourist Development Board, can supply 44 times as much bulk food as an acre of potatoes. Incidentally, did you know that protein comes from a Greek word meaning "first"?

That there is a book out entitled "Things You Can Buy for a Nickel." Yep, it's a short book.

That in Persia it is believed human tears are good for certain chronic diseases. So mourners at funerals often are presented with sponges to soak up their tears. Afterward the sponges are collected, wrung out and the tears bottled.

That the coliseum in ancient Rome at one time had 420 different species of plants growing on its walls. So now you know how old wallflowers are.

That Lola, the bassinet found in the Broadway musical, "Lil Abner," is as temperamental as any human star. She turns up her nose at ordinary water. Insists on seltzer. No one has told her about champagne.

That Robert Q. Lewis says the easiest way to turn a girl's head is to tell her she has a nice profile.

That Dr. Henry Gibbons gave this scientific description of a kiss: "The anatomical juxtaposition of two viblicular oris muscles in a state of contraction."

Any question?

That, if you're planning a second honeymoon at Niagara Falls, you'd better not postpone it too long. Some experts believe the falls, which are steadily receding, will be gone in another 5,000 years.

That Montgomery Ward's new catalogue lists among the things you can buy by mail: Mink stoles, an ice skating rink for children, a $6,985 diamond ring—and a raincoat for your dog.

That the initials "A.D." to denote years in the Christian calendar, were first employed in 879 by Charles III, emperor of Germany.

That the backyard is getting more and more popular as a dining room. Some 40 million American barbecue fans will prepare two billion outdoor meals this year. . . . not including the free lunches the mosquitoes will get.

That it was Seneca, the Roman wise man, who observed, "men do not care how noble they live, but only how long, although it is within the reach of every man to live nobly, but within no man's power to live long."

Opinions In Brief

"This budget continues entrenched spending and opens up new federal programs."—Sen. H. F. Byrd.

Liberal Label Being Discredited

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — "Liberalism" threatens to become an unpopular political label in the United States as a result of the brand displayed by prominent exponents of that philosophy on Capitol Hill today. Both Democratic New Dealers and advocates of "Modern Republicanism" are making enemies for themselves by their arbitrary actions.

Such an advanced thinker and student as Senator Paul H. Douglas of Illinois leads a bipartisan bloc that would abolish jury trials and permit the use of the military to enforce decisions against segregation in the schools and public places.

Representative Emanuel Celler of Brooklyn heads a similar group of Democratic "liberals" in the House. Attorney General Brownell has assumed the same unyielding attitude, even though it seems to clash with President Eisenhower's latest viewpoint on this question.

SPONSORS DID NOT UNDERSTAND MEASURE Previously, the Senate extremists had trumpeted on the procedure under which the House-passed civil rights bill should have been referred to the Judiciary Committee for further study. The need for such a careful examination was shown when Southern spokesmen, to many members' surprise and chagrin, revealed that the measure was not understood by its own sponsors.

Moreover, if necessary to have their way, the "liberals" will try to invoke the rarely used and generally criticized method of cloture.

Spurning a compromise that would restrict Federal intervention to violations of voting rights of minorities, the "liberals" behave as if they would prefer to preserve an issue than solve a grave problem.

FEWER CRIES OF "DON'T CRITICIZE THE COURT" These same "liberals"—or many of them—would even silence critics of the Supreme Court for recent decisions which appear to infringe on the investigative power of Congress, restrict local self-rule and favor the Communists. As Chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, Celler has been extremely vocal in favor of this kind of censorship.

These same members did not show the same consideration to the late Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes when F.D.R. sought to reverse judicial trends by enlarging the Supreme Court. However, there have been fewer cries of "Don't criticize the courts" since a formal resolution upholding this viewpoint was rejected by the American Bar Association.

WASTE OF VALUABLE TIME The "liberals" likewise show a dog-in-the-manger attitude permitting the development of sorely needed power in New York, the Northwest and the Tennessee Valley. A new reinforcement of the Morse-Neuberger-Kefauver bloc of extremists is Senator Joseph S. Clark Jr. of Pennsylvania.

He threatens to block enactment of a bill permitting New York to develop resources of the Niagara River, if sales of power to his state are limited to 10 per cent. Thus, he would penalize Empire State industries and individuals, even though it is they who must foot the $600,000,000 bill.

Senators Morse and Neuberger still seek to take the Hell's Canyon power project from the Idaho Power Company, and require Uncle Sam to build it. Such a shift would delay by several years the flow of electricity badly needed in the booming Northwest. It would also saddle heavy construction costs and tax losses on sections which will derive no direct benefit from Hell's Canyon.

Public power advocates insist that T.V.A. finance expansion by selling its own bonds. But they jeopardize necessary legislation by refusing to accept Administration amendments designed to prevent this agency from "running wild."

EARLIER LIBERALS KNEW WHEN TO COMPROMISE "Liberals" of an earlier day—Norris, Borah, Hiram Johnson, Fiorello La Guardia, etc.—knew when to compromise so that they could—and often did—achieve their ends gradually. So did F.D.R., as in his effort to "pack" the Supreme Court.

But with a few exceptions—Senators O'Mahoney of Wyoming, Anderson of New Mexico, Aiken of Vermont—the present generation of "liberals" insist upon a rule-or-ruin, all-or-nothing policy. They do not seem to appreciate that here, as well as in England, the people appear to favor "moderation."

STATE TEEN-ER LEAGUE CHAMPIONS—Coach, Russ Bergman's Gastonia Club emits a victory cry after yesterday's 1-0 triumph over Greenville, which won the State Teen-er League Baseball crown for the second straight year. Gastonia Wins State Title For 2nd Straight Year

ECC-Richmond Grid Tickets On Sale Now

PORTSMOUTH, Va. — Mail orders are now being accepted for the East Carolina College-University of Richmond football game to be played Saturday night, Sept. 14, at the Portsmouth Stadium. The game opens the 1957 season for both elevens and will be something of a homecoming for Jack Boone, head football coach at East Carolina. Boone was an All-State halfback at Portsmouth's Wilson High in 1937. Only a thousand seats have been reserved for Portsmouth's first collegiate football attraction since 1944, when William & Mary met VMI. These seats are located in the center of the main concrete bleachers. The remaining 10,000 seats in the stadium will be unreserved at $2 each. The reserved seats are $3 each, city taxes included, and can be ordered by mail now. Make checks payable to "Richmond-ECO Game," adding 25 cents for handling charges. Mail to 409 Rockbridge Rd., Portsmouth, Va. Officials expect a sellout for the contest. East Carolina, with an improved team coming up, is a member of the North State Conference, while the Richmond Spiders are Southern Conference representatives. Last season at Greenville, N. C., the Spiders whipped the Pirates, but Coach Boone said an East Carolina victory wouldn't surprise him this time.

MOST VALUABLE—Terry Heafner, Gastonia pitcher and outfielder, received the Most Valuable Player Award for the tourney play. Above, he is being presented with the trophy by State VFW Director, Carlton Garrett.

Downs Greenville 1-0 In Terrific Windup Contest

By BILLY ARNOLD, Reflector Sports Editor
Gastonia, who last year went to Pennsylvania to become the National Teen-er League runners-up, will get another chance at the big title in 1957. Coach Russ Bergman's hard-hustling club won the North Carolina State FVW Teen-er title here yesterday, but only after putting down a stubborn Greenville club, 1-0. Greenville, which dumped Lenoir 6-5 in the 9:30 game yesterday to earn a berth in the championship contest, met the Gastonia club twice during the tourney and bowed to them twice. Both times by only one run. Yesterday's championship match was played before a good crowd at Guy Smith Stadium and the two competing teams gave what many considered to be the best performance of the tourney. It was a fitting end for the three-day series. Neither team threatened until the fifth inning. In the bottom half of that frame, Gastonia brought across the game's only run when a batter bunted in a man from third. Greenville came back in the sixth to load the bases with none out, but the locals could not muster a score. Sharp Pitching Both sides had sharp pitching in the championship contest. Spears, Nolen and Heafner, who did the Gastonia mound chores, gave up only one hit to the Greenies, a single in the fourth by Merrill Bynum. Joe Moye, who went the distance for Greenville, limited the champs to only two hits. Spears was the winning hurler. He kept the Greenville team in check until the sixth when he put two men on base. Coach Bergman then sent in lefthander Bill Nolen who was tapped for a single by Bynum on his first pitch. Terry Heafner then came in to put out the fire.

Gastonia now will play host to the District Teen-er League tourney, which will feature teams from Georgia, South Carolina and Tennessee. Winner of the District playoff will then be in the National running for the title at Pennsylvania. Awards Immediately following the game, awards were presented by the State's top VFW heads. Gastonia, of course, received the championship trophy and Greenville took the runners-up trophy. Lenoir, the third place team, also received a trophy. Terry Heafner, the whip-lash righthander who also played outfield and was one of the winning team's top hitters, received a trophy and an award as the tournament's Most Valuable Player. Merrill Bynum, the husky Greenville product, was voted the Most Outstanding Player of the tourney. He also received a trophy and award. Bynum pitched the Greenies to a two-hit victory in their opening game and was perhaps the best percentage-wise in the three-day affair. Gastonia Coach Bergman told the Greenies, "You're a good club, one of the best, and the best we played yet." Greenville Coaches, Terry Nobles and Jack Bass issued a joint statement that "We're proud of our boys. They played good baseball and hard baseball and they lost to one of the best teams in the country. We don't think it speaks so bad for our boys to have lost to the National Runners-up." Lenoir 000 130 1-5 8 5 Greenville 410 001 x-6 6 2 1 Estes, Broach (4) and Wilson, Gibbs; Bynum, Nobles (5), Smoot (5) and Harrison. Greenville 000 000 0-0 1 0 Gastonia 000 010 x-1 2 2 Moye and Harrison; Spears, Nolen (6), Lane (6) and Moten.

MOST OUTSTANDING—Merrill Bynum, Greenville right-hander, was unanimously voted the tournament's Most Outstanding Player. Above, Bynum also accepts his team's trophy from Wesley Cullipher, State Senior Vice Commander.

Miteff Adds Another To His List Of Wins

WASHINGTON (AP)—Argentina's lethal-fisted Alex Miteff counted another knockout victim today and got set for a leap into heavyweight high society. Miteff, 22, found the doors opening after overpowering Cuban Julio Mederos in a nationally televised brawl at Capitol Arena last night. Mederos, his face ballooning and blood gushing from cuts inside the mouth, was unable to report for action after the sixth round. Under District of Columbia boxing rules, it was recorded as a seventh round technical knockout. He also was shelved for two months as a result of the beating. Matchmaker Billy Brown of the International Boxing Club said he was ready to pair Miteff with the winner of the Willie Pastrano-Roy Harris fight next month. Alex battered his 24-year-old, more experienced foe from corner to corner. Julio and his manager, Willie Ketchum, blamed Chairman Joseph (Jocko) Miller of the D.C. Boxing Commission, for the happenings. Miller had issued what he called "unusually" emphatic instructions to both fighters to dispel any suspicion that they were in the ring to waltz instead of battle. Miller said he did so because of "bad publicity" in reports that Alex and Julio used to be sparring partners. Miller was satisfied after the slugfest. "There might have been better matchups," he said, "but as far as fighting is concerned they went all the way and held nothing back." The defeat was Julio's 17th in 41 fights and only his second by knockout. Alex has won all 11 of his bouts. Alex, who at 202½ had a 5½ pound weight advantage, never did floor Mederos. But his block-busting staggered the Cuban again and again. As far as the affair went, Miteff was ahead on all judges' cards.

Milwaukee Holds First; Bums Slip

By ED WILKS, The Associated Press
For the moment, anyway, it looks as if all the contenders in that fantastical National League pennant brawl are a bunch of "old pros." All that is, except the Old Pros themselves—Brooklyn's Dodgers. Milwaukee, St. Louis, Cincinnati and Philadelphia all came through in the clutch as the battle rolled through four extra-inning games yesterday while the Brooks, taking their lumps away from chummy Ebbets Field, fell short and skidded to fourth with their third defeat in a row. The Braves had to win to hold the lead, and they did—beating New York's Giants 6-3 on an 11-inning, three-run homer by Nippy Jones. The Cardinals had to win to stay within three percentage points of Milwaukee, and they did—defeating Pittsburgh 4-3 as Al Dark singled with the bases loaded in the 10th. The Redlegs had to win to stay only a game off the pace, and they did—blowing a 5-1 lead as the Dodgers gave it the big try, but coming back to win 6-5 in 11 innings on a two out single by Johnny Temple. And the Phillies, scrambling to stay alive, turned on the juice in the 10th to pick up two unearned runs to beat Chicago's Cubs 3-1, leaving the fifth-place Phils just a half game behind Brooklyn. The American League race showed signs of coming alive, too, what with Jim Bunning two-hitting New York for a 3-2 Detroit victory. The Yankees have lost three in a row and five of seven to lead Chicago by three games. The White Sox, after losing 5-2 at Baltimore, came back to win the second game of a two-night doubleheader 1-0 on the two-hit pitching of Jim Wilson and Billy Pierce who made his second relief appearance (m save it). Boston walloped Cleveland 10-1,

Competition Is Boiling Down

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A Californian and a New Yorker met today as the men's competition boiled down to a possible preview of the Davis Cup championships next December. Top-seeded Darlene Hard of Montebello, Calif., and fourth-seeded Mrs. Dorothy Head Knode of Forest Hills, N.Y., squared off for the distaff title after scoring semifinal victories yesterday at suburban Merion Cricket Club. Men's singles play resumed after a one-day rest with Australia's Neale Fraser matched against U.S. Davis Cup star Vic Seixas and Ashley Cooper of Australia meeting newcomer Sammy Giammalva of Houston, Tex. Giammalva, Mike Green of Miami and Barry Mackay of Dayton, Ohio, were named to the U.S. Davis Cup team yesterday for next week's American Zone final. Seixas had previously been named. The American stars will meet either Brazil or Israel in the week final at Boston. The winner will have to meet either the Asian or European zone winner for the right to challenge Australia's Davis Cup holders.

Bunning Has To Go Hard On Each Pitch To Triumph

By ED CORRIGAN
NEW YORK (AP)—Jim Bunning, a stringbean righthander who has developed into the top pitcher on the Detroit Tigers in just one year, said today there is only one way he can win games. "There is no pacing myself," he said. "I've got to bear down on every pitch to every batter of every team or someone hits one out of the park." Last night in the Yankee Stadium, Bunning won his 12th game of the year as he bested the league-leading New York Yankees, 3-2. He didn't allow a hit until Yogi Berra tripled in the seventh. Mickey Mantle hit a homer in the ninth for the only other "Yank hit" as Bunning wound up with a two-hitter. "Sure I was thinking of a no-hitter when I found I was getting them out right through the early innings," said Bunning. "And I was hoping I'd make it. But I didn't. I'm thankful I won the game." Bunning, who is 25 and comes from Southgate, Ky., had a 5-1 record for the Tigers last season after they brought him up from Charleston. It was in the Caribbean League during the winter that he really developed. His slider suddenly came alive. "I threw the Yanks a lot of sliders," he observed. "Why shouldn't I? Everyone knows it's my best pitch." "This was a good game, but it wasn't my best. I remember once early in the season, I beat Boston and struck out Ted Williams three times. That was something to remember," Bunning said. Rhode Island, the smallest state in the Union, has the longest island name: "The State of Rhode Island and Providence Plantations."

Claude King In Title Exchange

VIRGINIA BEACH, Va. (AP)—Claude King, who nipped over the state line to win last year's Azalea Open at Wilmington, N.C., is against an exchange of state titles this year. He's going all out to take the Payton Memorial Golf Tournament championship. Ed Justa, 17, of Rocky Mount, N.C., walked off with the Virginia crown last year. Justa will not appear at the Cavalier course this Monday and Tuesday because of injuries received in a recent auto accident. King, 24, now coaching football at Virginia Beach high school, will be playing his first Payton game. But he is a hot contender because he holds the amateur record for the Cavalier course—a 63. The event is open to golfers under 25. A field of 60 is expected to compete, playing an 18-hole round Monday and 36 holes Tuesday. Another favorite is Jordan Ball, 20, of Norfolk, 1955 Payton winner. Walter Lawrence of Richmond, Williams and Mary golf star, will be another tough man to beat, observers say.

Salem Unveils Sharp New Star

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Winston-Salem unveiled a sharp new pitcher last night to stun High Point-Thomsonville 7-0. The victory for the Red Birds, sparked by the smart debut of righthander Carlos Thorne, helped Greensboro narrow the gap in the race to catch the league-leading Hi-Toms. The Patriots smacked Durham, 3-1 to set back the revived Bulls after a nine-game winning streak. Wilson used top-drawer performances by pitchers Alex Gordy and Rene Nordaze to give Danville a double drubbing, 2-0 and 2-1. The night's results lifted Winston-Salem from the cellar and left Greensboro only one game behind the Hi-Toms in second spot. Danville was lowered to the sixth position. Thorne, fresh from Columbus Ga., of the Sally League, limited the Hi-Toms to four hits. He also contributed a three-run double which sparked a five-run fourth inning for Winston-Salem. Hi! Monbouquette was the pitching hero for Greensboro's win over Durham. Although he yielded eight hits, Monbouquette held firm in the clutch to score his seventh win against four losses. Dave Reed, Durham righthander, suffered his fourth defeat after 12 wins. It was Gordy's sixth victory, against a single loss. He held Danville to four hits in the first game of the doubleheader with Wilson. It also was his second straight shutout.

SCHEDULE OPENER—DURHAM—Duke's Blue Devils open their 1957 football season against the University of South Carolina in Columbia for the second straight year. This year's game comes at night, on Sept. 21.

WITH EAGLES—DURHAM—Sonny Jurgensen, Duke's brilliant Split-T quarterback for the past three years, will try his hand with the professional Philadelphia Eagles with fall. The Wilmington, N.C., product has a chance for the number one job as signal caller.

Jamboree Trip Is Told To Club

Dr. Earl Trevathan and three members of the Pitt County Jamboree Troop described their experience at the Fourth National Boy Scout Jamboree for members of the Exchange Club last night.

Dr. Trevathan, who attended the Jamboree at Valley Forge for two days, described his reactions to the Boy Scout encampment. The three Scouts, Lawrence Behr, David Cobb and Bill Wade, all of whom are sons of Exchange Club members, spoke briefly on their experiences at Valley Forge.

The Jamboree was held from July 9 through July 19 and was attended by 52,000 Scouts and 6,000 Scout leaders. Films taken at the Jamboree were shown by Dr. Trevathan.

John Behr, who was in charge of the program, introduced the speakers.

J. R. Newell, acting chairman, announced that next week's meeting would be held Wednesday. The club will hold its annual picnic at that time.

Pace-Setter In Building Permits

Building permits totalling $385,990 were issued in Greenville during June, the State Department of Labor reported today.

The total was the highest reported by cities of more than 10,000 population in Eastern North Carolina.

State Labor Commissioner Frank Crane said the Greenville permits were part of permits totalling $10,401,641 issued in 30 cities throughout the state during the month. The local and state-wide figures represent estimated construction costs of new residential and non-residential buildings, and projects for additions, alterations and repairs on existing buildings.

Not included in the report are contracts for grading, paving, bridge construction, and certain other types of heavy construction work, Crane said.

Reports for other Eastern North Carolina cities included: Goldsboro, $139,352; Kinston, $146,350; New Bern, $31,925; Rocky Mount, $301,259; and Wilson, $155,950.

Figures for the first six months of 1957 show a total of $68,846,756 in permitted construction in the 30 cities reporting to the state department. The half-year total is 18 per cent below the $83,856,850 in permits reported for the corresponding period in 1955.

Repercussions Seen In School Aid Bill Defeat

WASHINGTON (AP)—Political repercussions from Thursday's House vote killing a federal school aid bill are likely to echo loudly through the 1958 congressional election campaign.

But spokesmen for the Democratic and Republican congressional campaign committees disagree over how effective the vote will be as a political issue.

All House seats come up for election every two years.

Democrats believe they will be able to beat some incumbent Republicans who voted to kill the bill. Their chances will be enhanced, they claim, in districts where there is a heavy Negro vote, since the bill contained an anti-segregation clause.

And since a majority of Republicans in the House voted to kill the bill while a majority of Democrats voted to save it, the Democrats think they may have a defense for any campaign plea by President Eisenhower for more Republicans in Congress.

The President has in past campaigns called for more Republicans to help him carry out his legislative program. The school bill was a major part of his program. Although the measure killed by the House was not exactly what the President wanted, it was represented as being acceptable to him. Yesterday, a White House spokesman said Eisenhower had expressed "great disappointment" at the House action.

Had a majority of Republicans not voted to kill the bill, the House would have had an opportunity to vote on a compromise measure almost word-for-word what the President wanted.

The actual vote: For killing the bill, 111 Republicans and 97 Democrats; against killing it, 77 Republicans and 126 Democrats.

Republicans generally discount the potency of the school bill vote as a political issue. Some of their political strategists believe the taxpayers aren't in favor of the legislation and consider school construction a local responsibility.

Last year's election results support their position. The House killed a similar school measure in 1956 with a majority of Republicans opposing the bill and a majority of Democrats supporting it.

In the elections that followed, Republicans had a net loss of two House seats. They claim the school vote was not the dominant issue in any district.

The 1958 elections will be decided mainly on local issues, Republicans believe, since there is no presidential contest. In no districts now represented by GOP congressmen is a federal school-aid issue, Republicans maintain.

Democrats hope to change that situation and force the issue wherever they believe it might help the Democratic cause.

"The breakdown of the roll-call of both parties on this (school) bill is very interesting," said House Democratic leader McCormack of Massachusetts. "It should be interesting to the people of the country."

Drought Causes Wounded Wife

BOSTON (AP)—A state of emergency existed in Massachusetts today due to a prolonged drought that has brought some farmers to the brink of financial disaster.

Gov. Foster Furcolo declared the emergency yesterday and appealed to President Eisenhower to declare the state a major disaster area so that farmers would be entitled to federal assistance. Agricultural spokesmen have estimated crop damage at more than 10 million dollars.

The governor signed the emergency proclamation just before the first substantial rainfall since mid-April fell on the southeast section of the state.

The rain coincided with a "day of prayer" suggested by Furcolo to ask divine intervention to end the drought.

Wareham, Mattapoisett, Free-town, Middleboro, all of Cape Cod and adjacent areas reported "good downpours."

Scattered rainstorms pelted most sections of parched Plymouth and Bristol counties where Lexington rainmaker Dr. Wallace E. Howell has concentrated his cloud seeding.

children and a friend in the vehicle with Cannon.

"Johnny came up and unlocked the door," Cannon said.

"I did not want to get mixed up in their affairs so I stayed out on the porch.

"She went into the house and started to pack her clothes and Johnny went in behind her. While I was sitting on the porch I could hear them talking and before long they started arguing about something.

"I don't know what it was. In a few minutes she came out of the house and started to leave, but Johnny came out and told her to come on back into the house and get what she wanted.

"She went on back in and he stayed out on the porch and talked to me for a few minutes.

"Then he stopped talking and went into the house without saying another word.

"They started talking again and I heard a loud noise. After hearing another shot I jumped up and ran into the house, meeting Johnny and Louise coming out of a side room into the hall.

"She and the children were screaming. Louise was bleeding badly.

"Johnny, right behind the woman and two children, saw me and pointed the pistol right at my stomach. I tried to get the weapon away from him and while I was doing so he fired at me hitting my hand.

"He then brushed past me and fired twice more at her while she was running across the front yard. I ran out the back door and had gotten about 50 yards from the house when Johnny came out. While I looked at him he reloaded the pistol and stood for a few minutes looking at it in his hands.

"He then put the weapon up to his head and shot himself.

"There was nothing I could do."

Mrs. Martin ran up the road to the North Side Lumber Company and reported the shooting. The Police and members of the Sheriff's Department were called. In the meantime the woman and Cannon were transferred to Pitt Memorial Hospital for treatment.

Martin was said to have been "in a despondent mood" for several days but seemed to be "all right" on the day of the shooting.

Earlier in the week he reportedly had borrowed a rifle from a relative on the pretense of killing a dog, but returned the weapon Wednesday. Police have not been able to ascertain whether the .32 pistol belonged to Martin or whether he borrowed it.

Two Fined For Failure To Have Dogs Vaccinated

Failure to have dogs vaccinated resulted in fines for two Pitt County Negroes during the past week.

Magistrate Luther Moore imposed the fines on Tazzie Williams, 1304 Pitt Street, Greenville, and Sidney Roland of Winterville.

The Williams woman received a $25 fine, suspended upon payment of court costs, pick-up fee for the dog and board bill for the dog. The court issued instructions for the rabies officer to destroy the dog after the woman requested it.

Roland was tried and convicted for failing to have two dogs vaccinated. Magistrate Moore imposed a fine of $25 and costs, with $15 of the fine to be remitted if Roland presented proof to the court that the dogs had been vaccinated by 4 p.m. of the day of trial. Roland presented the proof and the $15 was remitted.

Witt Get Horse For Her Silence

CONCORD, N.C. (AP)—Ten-year-old Kitty Butler's month of silence ended today. She sealed her lips June 27 in order to get a horse.

For six years Kitty has begged for a horse but her father, John Butler, said no.

A month ago, Kitty told her father, "Daddy, I will do anything if you will buy me a horse."

To which Butler replied, "If I don't hear anything out of you for a month, I'll buy you a horse."

He figured this was safe. Kitty gets straight "As" in school except in citizenship, because, her teacher says, "Kitty talks too much."

After a few days the silence got on Butler's nerves. "Go ahead and talk," he told Kitty, "and I will buy you the horse."

But Kitty took no chances. She continued to communicate by note until the month ended.

PTL. W. S. CLEMENTS

By EVERETTE PARKER
Reflector Staff Writer
"More improvement has been made in the professional field of law enforcement in the past 20 years than in any other field with the exception of atomic energy."

This is a portion of a report given by the Federal Bureau of Investigation at a Washington meeting a short time ago. It is generally felt by lawmen who are in the know that the standards of the profession have been elevated to the highest position ever attained throughout the United States and North Carolina. On the same subject Greenville Police Chief S. G. Gibbs had to say, "We feel that law enforcement is rapidly becoming a recognized profession and we only want those men in our ranks who are interested in making law enforcement a career and putting forth effort to gain further knowledge and raise the professional standards in general."

"The days when a man was issued a gun and badge and told to go out and enforce the law are gone."
"He must receive training in various phases of law, crime detection, use of firearms and public relations. His ability to enforce the law fairly and impartially depends on a great deal on his getting along with other people."
The Chief added, "If a man is hunting a job just to pay his bills we don't want him."

Being a police officer is not one of the easiest ways to "earn a buck." Every member of the local department, all 34 of them, will individually tell you so.

There is something about the business. The young policeman with a bright future ahead of him was standing on the street corner preparing to direct traffic for a special parade being sponsored by a civic organization. To do this job he was having to work overtime.

He was asked several questions about being a protector of the people.

"You know there is a lot to this business of being a law enforcement officer. Probably the best feeling I have ever had is that of helping my fellowman."

He went on to say, "I am extremely interested in helping people with their problems, and believe me, you can hear a mess of them in this business."

"Some people have the wrong idea about us . . . they feel all we want to do is to catch some youngster or lock up a drunk."

"I have never gotten any kicks out of making an arrest. In fact this is one of the things that makes my work hard at times."

The well-built young man was asked how he got into the profession in the first place.

"Well I was a member of the Military Police in service and decided to try my hand at it out in civilian life."

"Here I am."

"Boy, this work is something that gets in your blood just like the newspaper business, the tobacco business or anything else."

"I've had several offers in the past to go into other types of work but I knew I wouldn't be satisfied."

"Sometime ago I tried another job but I was not happy with my work and came back to being a policeman."

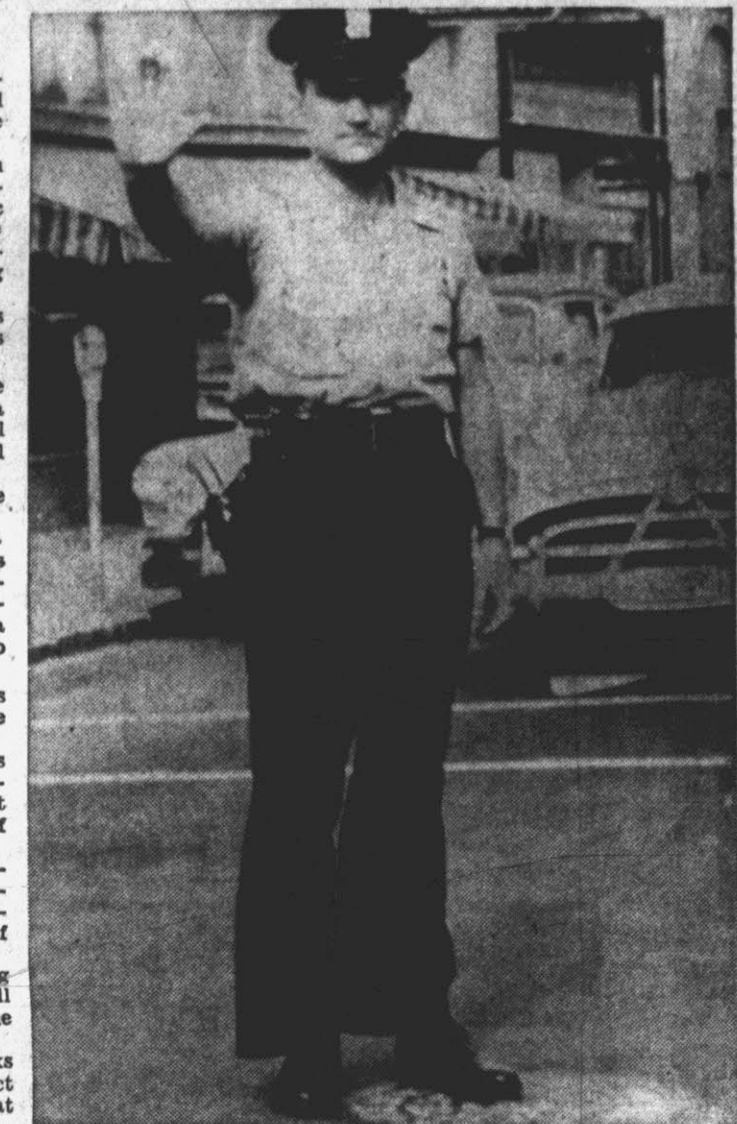

"I felt lost without my uniform on."

The feeling this young officer has is almost a universal one among policemen who have that old esprit de corp. It is almost imperative to possess for the wearer of the uniform to do a creditable job. An officer's code of ethics reads, in portion:

"As a law enforcement officer, my fundamental duty is to serve mankind; to safeguard lives and property; to protect the innocent against deception, the weak against oppression or intimidation, and the peaceful against violence or disorder; and to respect the constitutional rights of all men to liberty, equality, and justice."

" . . . I will constantly strive to achieve these objectives and ideals, dedicating myself before God to my chosen profession."

There is certainly more to Police work than walking a beat on Main Street or riding a patrol car. Behind the scenes and in a man's mind many things take place. The general public makes it necessary.

A Few Thousand Friends Take Tea With Her Royal Highness

By EDDY GILMORE
LONDON (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II asked a few friends — a few thousand — around to Buckingham Palace for tea this week.
"By our count," said a head usher, "8,728 turned up."
Low hanging, black clouds threatened to spoil the second of the queen's summer lawn parties. And the weather dominated Princess Margaret's conversation.
"How do you do?" she said, acknowledging an introduction. "I'm terribly afraid it's going to rain, aren't you?"
"Yes, ma'am, it does look threatening."
"And so warm, too."
"Yes, ma'am. It's very warm."
"And me with this fur—"

A broad hunk of sable hung over an arm. A gust of wind whipped over the carpet-like lawn, billowing the princess' skirt.
She wore a sky-blue hat that looked like a lampshade out of an elegant boudoir, while a double string of gleaming pearls hugged her throat. She wore long white kid gloves. Her full lips were a cardinal red and dark eye shadow accented her blue eyes.
The bodice of her shimmering blue dress was cut low.
While Princess Margaret, with the Queen Mother, walked slowly between two solid walls of guests, the queen made her way down another path between packed rows of her subjects. Prince Philip strolled between more rows of people.
Fifty palace ushers moved among the guests, rounding up the ones to be presented to the royal family.
The queen wore a lacy blue coat over a lacy blue dress. Her hat, too, was blue with a few feathers at the brim.
While Margaret's shoes were high-heeled, with open toes, the queen's were black suede with half heels.
An official said the guests consumed 225 pounds of tea, 2,700 loaves of bread, 432 pounds of ham and 1,500 pounds of cake.
No fancy palace silver was used. King Edward VII stopped that when 1,000 teaspoons disappeared at one garden party.

ALL IN A SUMMER'S DAY

"HERE WE COME!" Boys leave bus on run after arrival at camp. Each boy carries paper bag with swim trunks, and the potato, carrots and onion for the stew.

A young man with his own ideas on diving jumps in after the rest. Swimming is camp's No. 1 sport.

Some city kids just never get the chance to have a summer vacation. They'll find their fun on the streets, or in playgrounds. In Long Beach, Calif., however, the city fathers have seen to it that youngsters there get a break. They have set up two day camps, one for boys, one for girls.

The boy's camp, pictured here, occupies an acre site on the north shore of the Long Beach Marine Stadium waterway. Each summer approximately 1,000 boys take part in the program at Camp Sea Hawk, as it is called. The day's program runs through afternoon and evening hours and includes boating, swimming, hiking and camp fire building where a mulligan stew is cooked for dinner. Every boy brings a potato, some carrots and an onion to toss in the stew pot.

Boys are picked up at playgrounds in the city by school bus and returned when the day is over. Camp Sea Hawk accommodates 40 boys. Two trained directors are employed.

The best camper from each day camp is selected to participate in an overnight camp later in the summer.

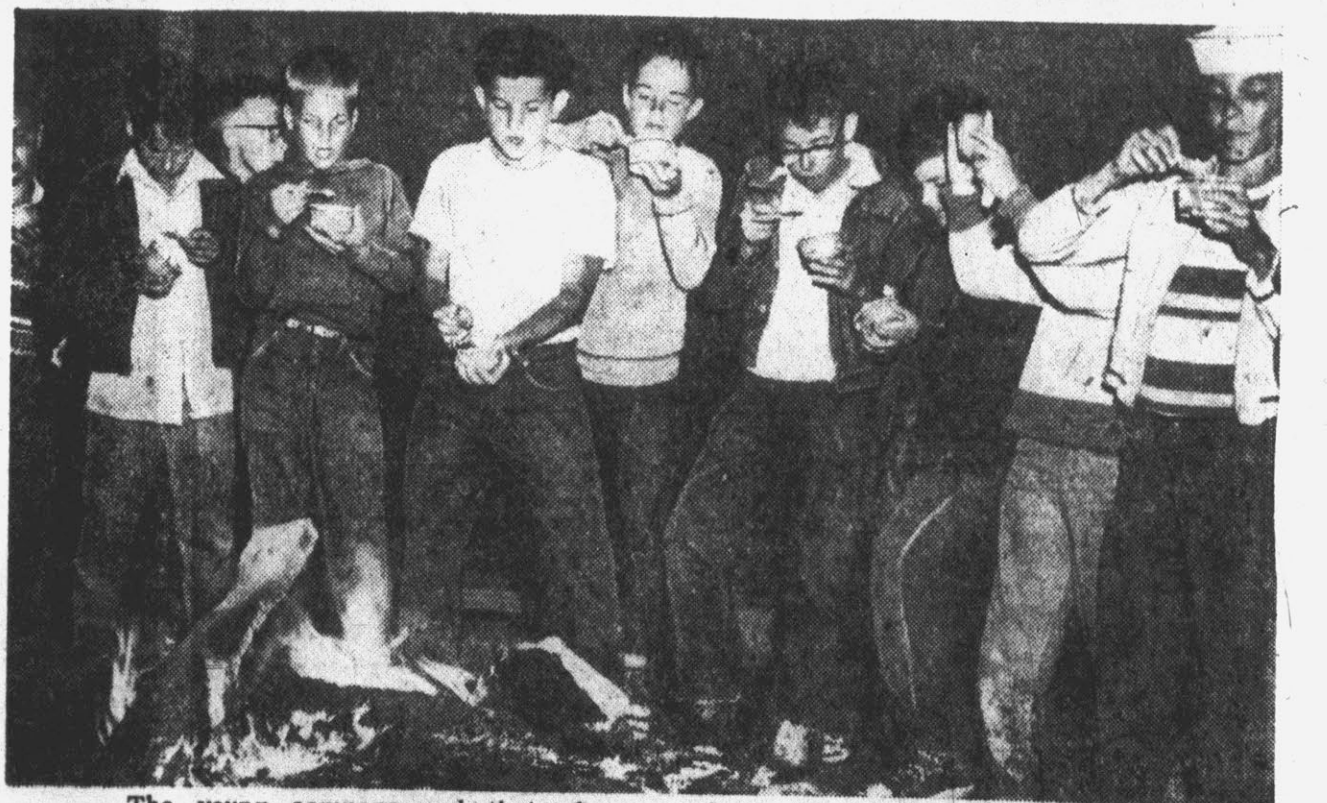

Boys try balancing act after hike. They don't waste a minute having fun.

With a heave and a ho, the lads learn to handle the oars on the big boat.

They don't have to be told twice it's lunch time. Director Dan McGinley serves them.

The young campers end their day around a camp fire. More fuel is added as ice cream containers are tossed in as the youngsters put more food away.

Cleanup Drive Already Starting In 1956 Cars

By DAVID J. WILKIE AP Automotive Editor
DETROIT (AP)—So far this year the auto makers have built approximately 3,800,000 passenger cars. This is about 200,000 units more than were assembled in the like 1956 period.

half a million cars a month. Actually retail delivery volume has brought about the improved inventory situation. The monthly average in this phase of industry operations also has exceeded half a million units.

Some marketing centers report the cleanup drive already is under way. In some of them new cars are displayed in open lots adjoining salesrooms and with delivered prices posted in large figures on windshields. Many salesroom windows are plastered with signs that tell of the advantages of buying now.

orderly than it has been for several years.
The mechanic asked what the racket sounded like, and Kalmbach said, "Can't help you much, it's kind of hard to describe. It's sorta like stones in the hubcap."

Amateur Made A Good Diagnosis

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Al Kalmbach took his car to the garage and complained of a strange noise. The mechanic asked what the racket sounded like, and Kalmbach said, "Can't help you much, it's kind of hard to describe. It's sorta like stones in the hubcap."

Shed No Light On The Matter

CARLINVILLE, Ill. (AP)—Let there be light and there wasn't. That's how it was when Mayor B.G. Bates threw the switch for the hundreds of citizens assembled to see the new white-way for the business district go on.

Photographer Finds 'Gold' In Snapping Those Glamour Girls

NICE WAY TO EARN A LIVING:—Peter Gowland, who earns $40,000 a year snapping sexy pictures of scantily clad beauties, lines up pretty model Madeline Castle for a pinup picture on the beach near his home in Hollywood, Calif. Gowland has built a reputation as one of Hollywood's best portrayers of glamor and sex. (AP Wirephoto).

By PATRICK MCNULTY
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Peter Gowland earns $40,000 a year snapping sexy pictures of scantily clad movie beauties in his living room. Now, men, doesn't that sound like an ideal way to earn a living?

"It certainly is," confirms Gowland, "and my wife thinks so, too."
His wife, Alice, who acts as his assistant, puts it this way:
"It's nice to see a man do what he likes."
During the past 10 years, Gowland, 41, has built a reputation as one of Hollywood's best portrayers of glamor and sex. The loveliest lasses in movieland beat a path to his modern studio-home in Santa Monica about a mile from the ocean.

The model and photographer must work in a relaxed atmosphere. That's why Gowland thinks his home is ideal. In addition to an elaborate studio in the house, the woody three-quarter acre site offers many natural props—a running stream, huge gnarled trees, a colorful garden.
To break any picture-taking tension, Gowland frequently calls a recess for a plunge in the patio pool.
He usually hires his models, paying $25 an hour to $250 a day depending on the girl and the picture.

Studios are anxious for him to photograph their stars for free. They realize a Gowland pin-up often gets wide play in magazines and newspapers.
Good models are hard to find, Gowland said, and there is a constant demand for new faces and figures. His current favorite is Sandra Edwards, a raven-haired 19-year-old mother.
"Most of my best models have children," he said. "Motherhood seems to enhance their beauty."
Gowland is a son of Gibson Gowland, the late British actor who starred in the silent film, "Greed."

"I grew up in the movie industry," Gowland said. "Worked eight years as an extra and double before I got established in photography."
He got his start taking pictures of stars around the sets and selling them. Ten years ago he and Alice, a former secretary, rented a rickety studio in West Los Angeles.
"Alice does most of the paper work and I concentrate on taking the pictures," said Gowland, "and it's easier than most people think."

MARINES ARE LANDING: Maj. Jack Boles directs movement of ships and landing barges on vast "sand table" at Marine Troop Training Command in Coronado, Calif.

Marines' Model Beach Clarifies Landing Chore

By NORMAN BELL
CORONADO, Calif. (AP)—An atomic bomb explodes in a blinding flash; then the spectacular mushroom rises.
The amphibious attacking force is already deployed off the beach objective.
The stage is set for the final phases of a schoolroom demonstration by the Marine Troop Training Command of the Pacific Fleet amphibious force.

All phases of a five-day amphibious assault are presented in miniature, with both time and space reduced in scale. Model ships and planes and helicopters are used on a model ocean and model beach.
The Marine training command calls the setup its sand table. It is located in a long hall, with bleacher-type seats along each side for classes and spectators.
Progress of the action is described by an instructor, or narrator, who is assisted by Marines who move the ships and beach landing craft as he directs.
Behind a screen, others of the crew simulate bombs, gunfire and other sounds of battle, including bugle calls.
The atomic bomb is simulated electrically behind a screen, on which the hills are painted.
Powder charges are set off electrically on the beach to represent shell hits from the warships. A bridge is blown high into the air.

A Marine officer in charge says the demonstration gives an overall picture of an amphibious operation that can not be obtained in full-scale training or even in actual war.
Everything is reduced in size so that it can be seen as a whole, with the various phases correlated as to time and place.
"It is worth 10,000 words of verbal instruction."
The training command is so pleased with results it sends units to various Navy and Marine stations, even as far away as Japan and Korea, to present similar demonstrations.

Two Stills Are Raided In Area

Two stills and 400 gallons of mash were seized Thursday by the Greene County Sheriff's Department and ATU Agents assisted by Pitt County ABC officers.
Following one raid in the Apple section of Greene County, a Negro man, Leroy Evans was arrested for ownership of a still. He was later released under $300 bond.
The still was found under a hog shelter in a pasture a short distance from Evans' residence. After its discovery, Evans claimed ownership and was arrested.
In addition to the 60-gallon drum type still, officers poured out 400 gallons of mash located at the site. The still was destroyed by axes.
Another 60-gallon drum type still was destroyed in the Shine section also located in Greene County.
At the time of the raid, the still was not in operation. No mash was found at or near the site by officers, it was reported.
Officers also arrested Effie Mae Speight, Negro, for possession of illicit liquor for the purpose of resale.
The woman was later released under $200 bond.
Late Wednesday night and early Thursday morning local ABC officers assisted by Deputy Sheriff Wayne Lane of Greene County made two arrests in the Venters Cross Roads near Ayden.
Arrested were: Margaret Spencer, Negro woman, and George Hardy, Jr., of Ayden Rt. 2. Both were charged with illegal possession.
The woman was released under $200 bond while the man was recognized to appear. They will be tried in County Court on July 30.
Pitt officers participating in the raids were J. M. Ward, H. B. Lilley, W. M. Taylor and J. L. Ross.

Did A Stretch In Becoming A Cop

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP)—William B. McClaran did quite a stretch before becoming a Grand Rapids policeman.
His application was rejected on the grounds he was a quarter-inch under the minimum height. Undaunted, the 21-year-old McClaran went to a health clinic to have the vertebrae in his back stretched. He also stretched himself on a homemade "rack" and hung from an overhead beam by his hands with a thermos jug filled with nails tied to his waist.
He made the height.
GULL-ABLE DRINKER
ROGERS CITY, Mich. (AP)—Deward Rickety, 42, of St. Ignace, pleaded guilty to a charge of possessing eggs of a wild bird. He said he robbed seagulls' nests because he wanted eggs in his beer.

Irrigation Is Used In Reverse

WATERLOO, Neg. (AP)—Several years of drought turned a lot of Nebraska farmers to irrigation. This year the shoe has been on the other foot and abnormally heavy rains have caused flooding and left water standing in many fields.
A number of farmers, like Clarence Clover who lives south of Waterloo, had the readymade remedy: They simply use their irrigation equipment in reverse and pump the water out of their fields.

His Farm Folks Work In Town
SUMMIT, Miss. (AP)—Frank Watkins, who carries a rural mail route out of Summit, did some personal research on the question of how many farmers also have city jobs.
"I went over my list of patrons carefully and I do not think there are but two out of the 275 who make their livelihoods exclusively on the farm," he reported. "The others have some form of industrial or commercial work to supplement their farm income."
