Council Shelves Proposed Plans For Changes In Traffic Pattern

Small Piece Of Property Annexed; Weed-Cutting Ordinance OK'd

Plans for changes in the traffic pattern at the Dickinson Ave., Eighth and Greene Sts. intersection were shelved by the City Council last night.

The city fathers voted to take no action on such a plan. City Manager Leonard Bloxam said the Chamber of Commerce had recommended that traffic lights be installed at the intersection of Eighth St. and Dickinson Ave.

He said he and Chief of Police S. G. Gibbs had reviewed the matter "very carefully."

"Due to the design of the intersection and the fact that the streets are of such a nature that through-lanes of traffic cannot be expedited, to install traffic lights at this intersection would handicap the movement of traffic more than it is at the present time," the city manager declared.

Before the council decided to take no action, Bloxam proposed a 30-day trial period plan to place yield-right-of-way signs at the intersection and eliminate left turns at certain streets.

Councilmen last night also annexed a small portion of property in the Meadowbrook section following a public hearing.

The property involved was partially within and partially outside the city limits, Bloxam said.

The annexation would bring the property completely within the city limits.

City fathers approved certain changes in cost fees for Recorders Court. The costs increases involved the charges for preparing certain court action legal papers.

Also approved was the increasing of meal charges for prisoners from 50 cents to 75 cents to facilitate supplying a little more to eat and some sort of drink with these meals," according to Bloxam.

A new ordinance which would require property owners to cut weeds from their lots and clean up the property was passed by councilmen. If owners fail to do so the job could be done by the city with the property owner billed for the work under the new ordinance.

Approval for the purchase of an automobile for the city clerk's office was granted. Bloxam said the auto would facilitate the collection of delinquent taxes. Funds for the vehicle are set up in this year's budget.

A street in the Royce Jones subdivision on Elm St. at the U.S. 264 bypass was named Hillside Drive by the council. The street parallels 264.

Councilmen postponed the appointment of members of the Carver Library Board until a means of staggering the terms on the board could be worked out. Terms of six members are due to expire this year and the seventh members term expires next year.

Finally councilmen voted to deposit $2,500 in Workmen's Compensation monies in the Home Savings and Loan.

Recover Body Of Victim In Small Boat Explosion

NEW BERN, N. C. (AP)—The body of Keith Garner of Kinston was recovered from the Neuse River yesterday, a day after an explosion ignited his 19-foot pleasure boat sending it to the bottom.

Coast Guardsmen dragging the river recovered the body in 10 to 12 feet of water near the spot where the boat sank.

Garner, about 35, a radio technician, was fishing when the explosion occurred in the middle of the river about one mile from shore and about three miles from here.

The Coast Guard theorized that gas leaked into the bilge of the boat causing the explosion.

Coast Guard boatswain mates Fred Alcock and Kenneth Lane found the body. Alcock, ranking boatswain in patrol boats here, said they found only small bits of wreckage of the boat.

'Bertha' Now Hurricane; Louisiana Coast Prepares

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Tropical storm Bertha ballooned into a full-fledged hurricane today and aimed its deadly punch at the west Louisiana-upper Texas coast along a 125-mile front.

The Weather Bureau's advisory at 10 a. m. located the hurricane, traveling roughly in the same path as its killer predecessor Audrey six weeks ago, about 140 miles southeast of Lake Charles, La.

The storm's highest winds were estimated at 75 m.p.h. within about 30 miles of the center with gales flaring out 100 miles from the center.

Bertha was expected to continue west and northwest at 10 to 12 m.p.h. for the next 12 hours. The advisory warned that tides would reach five to six feet between Galveston and Sabine, Tex., located on the Louisiana border. Tides of three to five feet were expected along the central Louisiana coast.

Tides in the area normally are about one foot. The area threatened by the hurricane includes the strip of Louisiana laid waste by Audrey, which claimed more than 500 lives in the Cameron-Grand Chenier area June 27 and caused property damage in the millions.

But despite the threat of Bertha's punishing winds and flooding tides, some hardy residents of the Cameron area refused to leave.

Flight from the low-lying coastal area started yesterday when the first warnings came. Offshore oil drilling crews began returning to the mainland at the first warnings.

Civil defense units were alerted from New Orleans westward and headquarters here was on an around-the-clock watch on Bertha's movements.

Civil Defense units along the upper Texas Gulf Coast were keeping a close watch on the progress of the storm. Claude Spencer, duty officer at Civil Defense headquarters for Region 5 at Denton, Tex., said no evacuation had been started in Texas, but all precautions were being taken.

He said if the storm maintains its present speed and direction, it would probably move inland near the Houston-Galveston area about 10 o'clock tonight.

Carter said there were only about 500 persons in Cameron and most of them were living in tents and doing rehabilitation work. He estimated that about 98 per cent of them had been evacuated by nightfall last night. Six trucks carrying refugees from the area were expected in Lake Charles at daybreak.

Little Leaguers Getting 'The Word' From Folks Back Home; Hodges, Too

North Carolina's Little League champs knew the folks back home were pulling for them this afternoon when they took the field in Rome, Ga. to face the Lake Worth, Fla. team in the Southeastern Regional Little League tournament.

Since last night when they arrived in Rome the Greenville team has been receiving telegrams of congratulations and best wishes from Greenville citizens, and even one from Gov. Luther H. Hodges.

J. R. Newell, manager of the local Western Union office, said 27 messages had been sent Greenville's Little League team at 11:30 this morning and by noon he expected at least 40 messages would have been sent to the team.

Newell estimated that by game-time this afternoon the team would have received between 75 and 100 telegrams. "They are keeping us busy," he commented.

Gov. Hodges, in his message to the Greenville Tar Heel All-Stars today said:

"We are immensely proud that you are representing North Carolina in regional Little League Playoffs at Rome, Ga. Best wishes to you as you play Florida State champs today at 4 p. m. I am confident that you will represent our state to the best of your ability and that you will display the sportsmanship and skill we know you possess."

Mayor S. Eugene West today issued a proclamation setting Sunday as "Little League Champions Day" in Greenville in honor of the homecoming of the team from Rome. "These youngsters have represented our city well in their Little League play," Mayor West asserted. "They deserve the praises of the people of Greenville. I urge the people of Greenville to turn out in large numbers Sunday afternoon to welcome these boys home at Elm Street park when they return from Rome."

The mayor's proclamation was issued in connection with the "welcome home" celebration which is being planned for the Greenville team. They are expected to arrive in Greenville Sunday afternoon between 5 and 6 o'clock and will go directly to Elm Street park where the celebration will be held. The exact time of their arrival will be announced over local radio and television stations after three o'clock Sunday afternoon.

In a telegram from the City of Greenville to the team in Rome, Mayor S. Eugene West told the local ball players:

"All of Greenville wishing you success. We sent our congratulations and want you to know the people here are supporting you 100 per cent."

J. C. Currie Is Named Revenue Commissioner

RALEIGH (AP)—Gov. Hodges has turned to promotion from within the ranks to fill the important post of State Revenue Commissioner.

James S. Currie, now tax research director, will take over the job being vacated after nine years by Eugene Shaw, the governor told his news conference yesterday. The appointment for a four-year term will be effective Sept. 15, when Shaw will return to private law practice in Greensboro.

Currie will be succeeded as tax research director by Hudson C. Stansbury, at present assistant director. The promotions will give Currie a pay boost from $10,000 a year to $13,200. Stansbury will move from his present pay range of $7,272 to $8,616 to a $8,910 annual salary.

The two appointments, Hodges said, illustrate the policy of promotion from within the ranks of research government, which he has followed "whenever practicable."

Currie is 38 and a native of Clarkton. He worked closely with Gov. Hodges and the Tax Study Commission in formulating the tax program approved by the last Legislature as a boost for industrial development.

Stansbury, graduate of the University of North Carolina, has been assistant tax research director for the last nine years. He is a native of Mississippi.

Do-It-Yourself Plan For Skunk

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Angelo Stoullis found a skunk in the dry bottom of his fish pond in nearby Haverford Township.

Police said it was a smelly case but out of their line. The SPCA said dogs wouldn't ride in their wagon any more if they hauled the skunk in. The game warden said it was always open season on skunks.

Finally Stoullis got a board and nailed 11 slats across it. He theorized the skunk would hike out when he got the chance. The skunk took him up on the idea.

Might Sue

WASHINGTON (AP)—Some Carolina growers may sue the Commodity Credit Corp. (CCC) for having outlawed several types of blue-cured tobacco.

Chairman Cooley (D-NC) of the House Agriculture Committee said today.

He did not name the growers.

He said, however, that he believes the disputed varieties will continue to be marked with yellow-striped tags "unless a court order forces removal of the tags."

Cooley said he was surprised to learn at a committee hearing this week that quite a number of Carolina growers had planted what are known as discount or outlaw varieties—Nos. 139, 140 and 244—in the Raleigh, N. C. area.

He said Jesse Jones of Kingston, N. C., an attorney for growers, told the committee that quite a few of the growers had planted mixed varieties were in the mixture.

Long Ride Failed Dampen Spirits

By BILLY ARNOLD
Reflector Sports Editor

ROME, Ga. — A gruelling 14-hour bus ride yesterday failed to dampen the enthusiasm and confidence of 14 Greenville youngsters who are here for the Southeastern Regional Little League championship.

The players, two coaches, two Little League officials and 13 other supporters arrived here at sundown last night, weary but still confident of carrying home the championship. The Greenville team plays at 3:30 this afternoon against Florida's state champions.

An air-conditioned, chartered bus carried the party from Greenville to this Northwest Georgia town. During the trip, the players slept, sang, played cards, read comic books, and talked plenty of baseball. There is no doubt, so far as Greenville's representatives are concerned, that they will return with the regional title tucked into their bag of honors.

The boys grew restless several times during the long trip, prompting Little League official W. C. James to comment, "I think these boys want to play ball right now. I'm tempted to stop at the next cow pasture and let them go a few innings."

Coach Charlie Bland echoed James' comment and added that the team was "definitely up" for today's encounter with the Florida champions.

Mrs. Beverly Joyner, mother of player Kenneth Joyner, said that she had dreamed of making the Rome trip early this week, just before state playoff at Fayetteville.

"I'm already making plans to dream of that trip to Louisville," she added.

Louisville is the next stop on the ladder toward the Little League World Series for the team that wins the Regional tournament here.

Home run hitting J. G. Proctor Jr., who has four home runs in the last four games, brought a special good-luck charm on this trip: a faded paper drinking cup with the bottom torn out.

Queen Elizabeth Unable To Visit North Carolina

RALEIGH (AP)—A busy schedule has made it impossible for Queen Elizabeth II of England to include North Carolina on the itinerary for her October state visit to this country.

The royal regents were forwarded to Gov. Hodges, who had invited the queen and her party to visit the Roanoke Island site of the Lost Colony sponsored by Queen Elizabeth I.

Hodges told his news conference yesterday he was sorry the visit could not be arranged. The queen will go to Jamestown, Va., where the 350th anniversary of the founding of the first successful English colony in the New World is being observed. The North Carolina governor had hoped the royal party would continue south for a brief Tar Heel call.

Sir Harold Caccia, British ambassador, wrote the governor that "limitations of time and the full programme which has already been arranged make it quite impossible."

Other members of the group include Mrs. W. H. Taft, Mrs. John Reynolds, Miss Barbara Davis, Mrs. Beverly Joyner, Mrs. Alton Clapp, Alton Clapp Jr., Tommy Taft, Billy Neal James, Alan McArthur, Gene Hemy, Mr. and Mrs. J. G. "Scrappy" Proctor and daughter, Mrs. Charlie Bland, Mrs. Lee Ward Hardee, and Reflector Sports Editor Billy Arnold.

In addition to the group which came on the bus, several Greenville fans have followed the team in private cars.

Members of the Greenville Little League team participating in the Southeastern Regional Tournament at Rome, Ga., have been assigned quarters in a dormitory at Berry College.

Other members of the party are staying at the Hotel Graystone in Rome.

Shotgun Death Inquest Tonight

An inquest into the death of Osie Carmack, Negro, who was killed last Sunday morning near Bethel, will be held in City Hall at 7:30 tonight, Coroner Griffin H. Rouse said today.

Carmack died of a shotgun blast in the face. His father-in-law, Julian Smith, 51-year-old Negro of Robersonville Rt. 2, is being held in connection with the death.

Record Receipts

Pitt County, working this year with the biggest budget it has ever had, got comforting news from its Tax Department this week.

Tax collections for July were the heaviest they have ever been for any July collection period. Tax Supervisor Harold Allred, in a monthly report to the Board of County Commissioners, said his office took in $25,323.51 during the month.

The collection last month was $12,338.50 better than July, 1956, collections of $13,185.01. The county tax office collected $13,185 in July, 1955, and $9,288 in July, 1954, Allred's report showed.

Collections last month included $20,896.27 in 1956 taxes. The report also included $1,100 from Schedule "B" (license tax) collections and collections for tax periods going back to 1948.

Big New Parking Lot Approved By City Council

A 103-car parking lot is to be constructed on the old Wyatt Brown-home property on Dickinson Ave. and leased to the city for a percentage of the revenue.

Councilmen last night accepted an offer from Sam White, who now owns the property, to lease it to the city for a ten-year period.

City Manager Leonard Bloxam told the city fathers that the construction of the lot should cost the municipal government nothing.

White plans to demolish the house on the lot and install all paving, curb and necessary apparatus in regards to making it a "completely paved and finished lot."

After the lot is completed the city will install meters, Bloxam said.

Under terms of the lease 50 per cent of the parking meter collections from the lot would go to White until the meters are paid for.

Bloxam explained that the other 50 per cent would go to the meter company to pay the cost of the meters. Parking meters are purchased on that basis.

After the meters are paid for the city will pay White 80 per cent of the gross receipts and the city will retain the other 20 per cent "for purposes of use as the city sees fit," Bloxam told the councilmen.

The property is located on the east side of Dickinson Ave. near the Eighth St.-Greene St. intersection.

Councilmen also reviewed terms of leases of other parking lots which the city now operates.

Rayburn Calls On House To Accept Senate Version

WASHINGTON (AP)—House Speaker Rayburn of Texas called today for House acceptance of the Senate civil rights bill. He said, however, that he would be agreeable "if necessary" to a compromise narrowing the controversial jury trial provision.

At the same time, House Republican Leader Martin of Massachusetts again demanded defeat of the Senate jury trial bill. Martin made public a letter from Deputy Atty. Gen. William F. Rogers asserting it would cut in on the authority of all federal courts.

Backstage House moves, meantime, were directed at a compromise solution which would limit jury trials only to criminal contempt cases involving voting rights. Rayburn's stated willingness to accept that solution strengthened its prospects.

The House originally passed a bill allowing the Justice Department to move in on court enforcement for civil rights generally. It made no provision for jury trials in contempt cases growing out of violations of judges' orders.

The Senate cut the Justice Department authorization down to voting rights cases. It also wrote in a requirement for jury trials in criminal contempt cases. Government lawyers say the language is so broad it would require juries not only in civil rights cases but in contempt actions under a great variety of federal laws including antitrust and labor statutes.

Criminal contempt generally covers cases in which a court undertakes to punish for failure to comply with an order, as distinguished from civil contempt in which a person may be jailed until he does comply. Hardly had Rayburn made his position known at his morning news conference than Martin declared the Senate bill "would defeat the purpose of the President to assure the voting rights of all Americans."

He released a seven-page letter from Rogers quoting extensively from legal rulings that the courts are clothed with authority to force obedience through contempt action.

He also cited views from federal regulatory agencies like the Atomic Energy Commission and Securities and Exchange Commission holding that a jury trial provision in injunction and contempt actions would seriously hamper their efficiency.

Rogers wrote that the Senate bill would require jury trials upon demand in all criminal contempt actions in all federal courts, including the courts of appeals and the Supreme Court.

"The practical effect, if adopted, would be to hamper not only the enforcement of the civil rights bill itself, but also to make it much more difficult to enforce federal law and policy in other vital areas involving the public interest," Rogers said.

"As you know, in criminal contempt cases there is no constitutional right to a trial by jury. In fact the Senate amendment contemplates a procedure which is contrary to traditional federal and most state procedures for vindicating the authority of a court resulting from a willful disregard of its order."

Similar administration objections had been advanced previously.

Shoots At Wife, Local Man Takes Own Life

By EVERETTE PARKER
Reflector Staff Writer

Another bloody Friday in Pitt. James Irvin Stalls, a 45-year-old unemployed mechanic, apparently committed suicide this morning after shooting at his wife with a shotgun.

Stalls shot his estranged wife, Maureen Stalls, in the yard early this morning after coming to her house on the pretense of giving her money to support her and their four children. He then hurriedly left the scene of the shooting and was not seen again until two passersby on the Pactolus highway saw his automobile parked up a wooded path.

Deputy Sheriffs N. L. Byrd and Duke Andrews found his body up the path about eight feet from his parked vehicle, with the death weapon near his side.

Byrd stated Stalls shot himself with a 12 gauge single barrel shotgun. It was the same weapon used to shoot his wife.

According to reports from neighbors and relatives, the dead man and his wife had been having trouble during recent months and he had gone to Wilmington to work as a mechanic after they separated in October, 1956.

The two had gone back together in March but separated a short time afterwards.

After separating from her husband for the second time the woman and their four children had gone to her mother's house. Stalls attempted to kill her as she came out to get support money from him while he waited for her along side his car parked in the road about 25 feet from the house, officers said.

He was said to have been giving his money for the past three weeks but had missed a payment last week and she had called him requesting payment.

A neighbor who witnessed the shooting stated the wife came out of the front door and was proceeding toward Stalls' car when he pulled out the shotgun and took careful aim at her.

The woman then turned around and ran toward the house. Just before Stalls shot she stumbled and the shot only inflicted minor wounds in her arm and back.

"She sure was a lucky woman," the witness stated.

"If she hadn't stumbled she might be dead too."

A short time after the shooting took place the Sheriff's Department and Greenville Rescue Squad were called to the scene. The wounded woman was transferred to the Pitt Memorial Hospital for treatment.

Her condition was reported as "not serious."

Stalls left the scene after seeing his wife fall to the ground and several of her near relatives run out of the house. His body was found in a pool of blood approximately a mile and a half away about 10:30.

Driving his automobile about 40 yards up a wooded path just off the highway, Stalls placed the death weapon to his head and pulled the trigger. The impact of the fatal wound was so great, officers said, that a cap he was wearing was blown more than

Crippled Military Transport Flies In Safety

HONOLULU (AP)—"I wasn't calling the shots — the good Lord was."

That's Maj. Samuel Tyson's explanation of how he kept his huge C-97 military air transport aloft 6 1/2 hours on two engines yesterday for 1,000 miles over the Pacific with 67 people aboard.

Tyson, a 37-year-old veteran of World War II, the Korean War and the Berlin airlift who was on Council Bluffs, Iowa, piloted the plane into Hilo, Hawaii, at 11:25 a. m. yesterday. Two of its engines had quit just beyond the point of no return from Travis Air Force Base, Calif., to Hickam AFB, Oahu.

"I never occurred to me that we would ditch," said Tyson. "I'm a coward. I can't swim very far. The water's cold."

More seriously he said, "I'd determined to take things as they came. After the first shock of realizing we were in danger, and after the adrenalin shot into me, I thought clearer and acted better. I had confidence in myself."

After all, I wasn't calling the shots — the good Lord was."

"Did you know you have been recommended for the Distinguished Flying Cross?" asked a newsman.

"Nope," said Tyson. "He's already got two of them," said a crewman.

MATS headquarters recommended the DFC within minutes after Tyson landed.

Tyson landed his nine crewmen and 57 passengers safely at Hilo after a last-minute ordeal when the leading gear didn't lower. Two flight engineers worked the big wheel down by an emergency hand crank. The wheel housing had jammed because the No. 2 engine had been damaged when the No. 1 propeller flew off.

The big plane landed smoothly in spite of the yaw created by the two engines on only one side.

MORE

Passengers and crew emerged dripping with sweat. Not only had they been "sweating it out" for nearly seven hours. All vents had been closed, said Navy Capt. William M. Lowry, Coronado, Calif., one of the passengers. "There was no confusion," he added.

The ordeal began early yesterday. Copilot Capt. George Holy, 35, of Warren, Ohio, told about it.

The No. 1 propeller started running away. Tyson and the flight engineer slowed it but couldn't feather it. The prop flew off and damaged the No. 2 propeller and engine. A piece dented the fuselage but did not penetrate. Tyson declared an emergency existed and began sending radio messages each 15 minutes.

He took her down to 50 feet and flew at that altitude or slightly above it most of the 1,000 miles.

Passengers were moved forward to help balance the sky giant, flying unevenly on her two engines. "They were very cooperative. Finest lot of passengers I've ever had," declared Tyson.

Baggage was jettisoned, including 1,500 pounds of Army and Fleet Post Office mail. No one complained.

Briley-Shelton Vows Pledged; To Live Here

Mrs. James Walter Briley

Miss Elizabeth Anne Shelton and James Walter Briley were married Sunday afternoon at four o'clock p.m. in the Immanuel Baptist Church of Greenville.

The Rev. Iby Jackson officiated. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. W. Shelton of Camden and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter R. Briley of Greenville.

A program of nuptial music was presented by Miss Janet Watson of Greenville, organist, and Miss Peggy Bullock, of Lumberton.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white satin with a chapel train. Her veil of silk illusion from her paternal grandmother's wedding veil was attached to a lace cloche of sequins and seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of a white orchid fastened to her prayer book with a mother-of-pearl buckle worn by her maternal great-great grandmother in her wedding.

Miss Rosetta Spencer of Washington was maid of honor. She wore a dress of green embossed taffeta with matching circular veil and carried a colonial nosegay of pink roses. Miss Mary Jane Shelton, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid. Her dress of rose embossed taffeta was similar to that of the honor attendant. Her circular veil was of matching rose and she carried a colonial nosegay of pink roses.

The honorary attendants were Mrs. L. L. Bishop of Greenville, Mrs. Lawrence Avery of Silver Springs, Md., sister of the bridegroom, Miss Wilma Owens of Fountain, and Miss Lois Dobson of Snow Hill, former college suit-mates of the bride. They wore pastel dresses and carried hand corsages of white carnations.

The bridegroom had his father as best man. Ushers were John Shelton of Camden, brother of the bride; Dr. Lawrence Avery of Silver Springs, Md., brother-in-law of the bridegroom, and Joe Pierce of Raleigh.

The bride's mother chose for her daughter's wedding a slate blue taffeta dress with matching summer velvet hat. The bridegroom's mother wore a light blue oryza dress with white accessories. They wore corsages of white roses.

Following the ceremony, the couple received in the vestibule of the church.

The bride attended Meredith College and is a May graduate of East Carolina College. The bridegroom, a Korean veteran, is a May graduate of East Carolina College.

For her wedding trip, the bride chose a light blue faille princess dress with matching picture hat and black accessories.

After a short wedding trip, the couple will be at home at 217-D East Fourth Street, Greenville.

Scouts Work On Badges

Summer activities for Girl Scout Troop 28 have included a campout and working on badges.

Miss Elizabeth Copeland, Shepard Memorial Librarian, met with the Girl Scouts of Troop 28 on August 2 in connection with the Reader and Magic Carpet Badges the troop was working on.

These badges involve the knowledge of library facilities and resources, as well as required reading. Miss Copeland taught the troop to use the card catalogue and how to find specific books. They will meet with her again to demonstrate their proficiency in the library.

Troop 28 and their leader, Mrs. R. E. Cramer, spent a weekend at Cliffs of the Neuse State Park on July 12.

After they had pitched tents and chosen tentmates, they went for a swim in Neuse River. Cooking and clean up chores were divided among the campers so that everyone shared in the work as well as the fun. In the evening the troop had a talent show.

The next morning was spent hiking over the nature trails in the park. The hike was guided by a park ranger who identified the plants and animal life. After another swim and lunch, the twelve campers headed home.

Moms-To-Be Do Their Sewing

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor
The Stork Club set is one of the most enthusiastic groups of home seamstresses in the country. Some expectant mothers put in a full 40-hour week at their sewing machines.

There are many good reasons for this. Ladies-in-waiting often have time on their hands, and find that sewing not only keeps them occupied, but saves money at a time of heavy expenses.

New mothers find it's fun to do a real decorating project in the nursery, making dainty curtains and bassinette covers. They take pride in making pretty little saques and dresses for the expected baby, and enjoy prettying them up with decorative stitching, done easily on new automatic slant-needle sewing machines.

Local sewing center experts also point out that an about-to-be-mother needs plenty of flattering maternity tops and skirts, to keep up her morale during the months of waiting. Maternity blouses are some of the easiest things in the world to sew, since they are meant to hang loose, eliminating fitting problems. By using the same pattern to make blouses in several different fabrics, it's a breeze to turn out a batch of gay maternity outfits by the assembly line method.

A pretty off-the-shoulder maternity blouse, made with a standard pattern, can go to parties when it's made of gold lame, or do kitchen duty when it's made of a cotton print or gingham check. Make a black velvet skirt to wear with the party top, a matching cotton skirt for the every-day blouse. When you cut both outfits at once, you can stitch up two in little more time than it takes for one

High Price For Serving America

Most people have little difficulty in finding things for which to criticize high officials in government. But few of these same people give little thought to the genuine sacrifices—material and otherwise—that most top government officials make when they leave private business to take a key government job.

As soon as the Senate gives its approval, a new man will step into the important post of Secretary of Defense, now occupied by Charles E. Wilson, former president of the General Motors Corp. The new man will be 53-year-old Neil McElroy, president of the Procter & Gamble Co.

Like Wilson and like many other men who have accepted top government posts, McElroy will be taking a sharp cut in salary—from his present pay of $285,000 a year to $25,000 a year as Secretary of Defense. In addition he will dispose of his stock holdings in the company; and there too he will probably make a financial sacrifice.

In spite of their shortcomings, and in spite of the justified criticism government officials receive, most of them are possessed with a sincere desire to be of service to their nation. Otherwise they would not make the sacrifices required of them to accept and discharge the duties of their appointive government positions.

In the case of McElroy, he now heads an organization of some 30,000 employees scattered all over the globe. In his new post as Secretary of Defense he will be the boss of approximately 133 times that many employees at one-eleventh his present annual salary.

Is the price of accepting a top government job too high to attract the number of capable individuals needed for key government posts?

Proven, capable men are needed for these government posts which are the most difficult, most demanding jobs on the face of the earth. Yet, to accept these positions, they must do so at considerable personal sacrifice.

We do not propose that the government—though it is by far the wealthiest business on earth—try to compete with private enterprise salary-wise for top officials. At the same time it seems to there is a middle-ground which might be reached in which the government could attract the best talent available for its key jobs without asking individual to make such great sacrifices.

Some Compensation In Military Spending

As Eastern Carolina ponders its future in the face of the smallest tobacco crop in many years, announcement that Uncle Sam expects to spend some $27 million on military construction in the area is at least some consolation.

Congress this week approved the expenditures for military construction at Seymour Johnson Field in Goldsboro, the seaplane facility at Hertford, at Cherry Point, Fort Bragg, Camp Lejeune and New River. While the bulk of the military construction expenditures in this part of the state will be at Seymour Johnson ($10.7 million) Hertford ($8.5 million) and Cherry Point $6.5 million, the impact of the military spending will be felt to some degree throughout this section of the state.

Coupled with other construction work on new industrial plants, residential and commercial construction in this part of North Carolina, the military expenditure will help to keep the economic level of Eastern North Carolina close to that of past years.

Tourists Help Pay Local Taxes

By ELMER ROESSNER
If you have been touring around the country this year, you may have noticed that it cost more than last year.

All prices are up. But even after allowing for higher prices you may have found your wallet flatter than ever before. It's the new taxes, Herman. All over the country state and local taxes have been going up. There's need for new schools, hospitals, playgrounds and highways, and demands for higher pay by the 5,500,000 people who work for state and local governments. Property, income and other taxes on residents have been raised repeatedly and officials are frantically looking for additional revenues.

INCLUDING THE TOURIST
A favored tax is one that can be levied on tourists, travelers and other passers-by. The more a city or state can lay on visitors from Boston and Hollywood, the less it may have to nick the home-town voters.

Travelers should not object to some taxes. They demand police protection, good highway, pure food inspections and many other services when in a strange community; it is only fair they pay a share.

However, some communities have been laying it on a bit heavy, judging from travelers' complaints. Occupancy taxes on hotels and motels are stiff in some places and they hit travelers mostly.

In many places traffic fines are imposed more readily on tourists than on others, although some officers seem to take greater delight in giving a summons to a driver from the next town than giving one to a driver from a distance. Sibling rivalry, perhaps.

RISE OF SALES TAXES
Many of the newer taxes fall equally on travelers and natives, among these are parking meter fees, a kind of tax, and sales taxes. Both have spread widely in recent times.

Wits used to characterize small towns by saying they took the sidewalks in at night. Today they could dramatize the smallness of a community by saying it isn't big enough to have parking meters. And that's small,

Herman!

Many cities and states now impose sales taxes, a survey by Commerce Clearing House shows. In some places, both city and state sales taxes are levied. The tax is most common in cities in California, Illinois and Pennsylvania but is fairly common in other states. In some places taxes are levied on gross receipts by retailers. Such taxes are equivalent to sales taxes. They are almost always passed on to the purchasers.

Note: In cities and towns where no purchase taxes are levied, merchants could probably increase sales to tourists by erecting large signs on approaching highways reading, "No sales taxes."

GAS AND TOBACCO LEVIES.
Travelers may also feel increases in gasoline and cigarette taxes in many places. In some cities, such as New York, motorists pay Federal, state and city taxes on gasoline.

Many vacationers ask oil companies or auto clubs to map their routes.

The route-makers usually ask whether the traveler wants the most scenic route, the shortest route or the one with the best highways. Some day they may offer another alternate: the low tax route, which would avoid cities and states with high sales, cigarette, gas and occupancy taxes.

FRIENDLINESS TOPS SAVINGS IN GROCERY ADVERTISEMENTS.

A grocery chain made this test, the National Retail Dry Goods Association reports: In one city it ran heavy advertising stressing the lowest prices in town. In another, it ran heavy advertisements featuring the friendliness of its personnel.

In the first city, sales went up 8 per cent. In the second, they jumped 28 per cent.

LABOR, BUSINESS BLAMES FOR PRICE HIKES

Both big business and big labor were blamed for price increases in the last 10 years by 500 purchasing agents polled by Purchasing magazines. Management got only an indirect blame; those polled said management was too soft in resisting unions' demands.

There is a definite connection between good cheer and good health. Although good cheer is not the only requirement for sound morals, it is certainly true that good cheer and good morals usually travel together.

Wash the face up, smile it up—keep the emotional life sound, and the spiritual life in good tone by this procedure. This doesn't mean that we can

Fire Down Below

Can Still See Him Suffer

Blood is not a pretty sight especially when you know it belongs to a human being.

I stood in the hall at the Pitt Memorial Hospital waiting to get details of the accident from a member of the State Highway Patrol.

As we talked the driver of the vehicle that hit the boy, a woman, walked past us.

She was almost in tears. The young 10-year-old farm boy's mother was crying as were several other female relatives.

In the background the injured boy could be heard crying in pain. He was suffering and it didn't take a physician to diagnose why... all one had to do was listen.

The doctors were doing everything they could to ease the pain and prepare him for the long trip. He was being transferred to another hospital where brain surgery had to be performed.

His condition... it was described as "very serious."

The youngster had made only one mistake and it was going to cost him dearly. He had stepped into the path of an oncoming automobile.

It seemed he had not seen the vehicle until it was too late for him to do anything about it. He did jump but not in time to miss the side view mirror which struck his head.

The blow sent him reeling to the ground.

Pitt County had another traffic victim for 1957 and all because the little fellow didn't stop to think before he jumped into the automobile's path without first looking to the left and to the right.

I could see his cry of pain were having their effect on the woman who was driving the car that struck him.

She could not help hitting the boy but I am sure she will never forget the thump of human flesh against metal Tuesday morning.

The youngster will not either if he lives.

It is things like this that make news reporting hard at times. I can still see him lying there suffering.

Opinions In Brief

CATSKILL, N. Y., ENTERPRISE: "Statistics are working in favor of older employees in industry and the premise that they are less productive is being continually disproved. The Industrial Bulletin, published by the New York State Dept. of Labor, opines that 'output man-hours show little significant variation among age groups.' The magazine gives figures to show that older workers have a better attendance record than younger employees and that older workers have fewer accidents on the job. Hiring older workers is good sound business practice. Their experience gained through the years is indispensable."

Some Improvement
(Washington Daily News)
For the first six months in North Carolina our traffic accidents were about equal to the number of accidents for the first six months of 1956.

While we have suffered more injuries on our highways this year during the first six months, actually we have fewer deaths by about 28. That within itself is a better picture.

In the nation as a whole about 400 fewer deaths from highway accidents occurred for the first six months in 1957 than occurred during the first six months of 1956.

We are happy about the measure of improvement shown. But we still have a long way to go to make our highways safe. So long as we have reckless drivers, racers, drunken drivers and the like to our highways, then we'll continue to have deaths.

And there is still a big job to do in making the general public safety conscious.

All wisdom is not new wisdom, and the past should be studied if the future is to be successfully encountered.—Winston Churchill.

Loses Lbs. On Stage

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—A young fellow named Peter Palmer has a surefire recipe for losing weight—get a top part in a Broadway musical.

"I weighed 260 pounds as a college freshman," said Pete, who stands 6 feet 4 and plays the title role in "Lil Abner."

I weighed 245 pounds when I was studying music and playing tackle on the University of Illinois football team. But after playing "Lil Abner" some 350 times, I'm down to 215 pounds.

"My old coach, Ray Elliot, told me, 'Son, if I could have gotten you in this kind of shape, you'd have made the All-American.'"

The quick rise to fame of this big young singer, who is as likable in real life as the comic strip hero of Dogpatch he portrays, is one of those success sagas that make Broadway folk themselves believe Broadway has a heart.

After leaving the university—Pete played in the 1952 Rose Bowl contest, seeing the "Star Spangled Banner" in football uniform before home games—he won a Chicago radio station's singing contest and went to California.

In 1954 he met Miss Jackie Gleason, secretary for actor Mark Stevens (but no relation to the overweight comedian), and they were married. Then Uncle Sam gave him the nod.

It was while he was singing on Ed Sullivan's all GI show in June, 1956, that the producers of "Lil Abner" spotted him. Three weeks later, parted from the Army, he went into rehearsal.

Pete, who is only 25, remains a bit dazed at the sudden spin of fortune's wheel.

"A year ago," he remarked, "I was a Pie, making $900 a month. We had an old station wagon and $10 in the bank. We had one kid, and another on the way."

Now Pete is in the $25,000 to $30,000 a year bracket. He has a used Cadillac and a $20,000 home in Closter, N.J., housing development. And he and Jackie have two kids—and another on the way.

"That'll be par for the course—three in three years," he said cheerfully. "That's what a dumb Protestant gets for marrying a smart Catholic. But that don't mean we'll be through with having kids. I like being a family man."

"My brother married a Catholic girl, too. They've had four children in five years."

"What does your brother do?"

"He's a guided missile engineer," said Pete.

Palmer buys government bonds every month and he's paying on annuities to send his kids to college.

"I want to be sure, even if I end up without a cent myself, that the kids get an education."

Pete, who doesn't smoke and drinks only an occasional beer, keeps in rigorous condition.

"I do calisthenics for 20 minutes every morning and spend another half hour chasing Melissa, our daughter," he said.

"I also play a few sports, but they're gentlemanly sports now—handball, golf and swimming."

"But I owe a lot to football. It's been a real inspiration to me. It gives you a lot of hard knocks and disappointments. But it teaches you to give and take."

"You never worry about the game two weeks from Saturday," he said. "You can only play one game at a time."

"The only thing I ever worry about is my family. Sure, we're having fun now. But I don't have any more fun than I did a year ago in the Army."

"My wife and I get along where ever we are."

COURTING COLORED VOTE It is obvious that, in dealing with this question, both parties are courting the colored vote, which will become extremely influential in future elections even under the Senate's diluted measure.

So, it is quite possible that the Celler Conference Committee may reject the other chamber's product, and renew the legislative battle in the Congressional re-election year of 1958.

However, such defiant action may be dangerous for the Democrats. After all, the Senate bill confers new benefits on the colored race, and their more moderate leaders may approve a program of gradualism.

Moreover, in addition to die-hard Southerners, Senator Johnson rounded up such Democratic liberals as Senator Kennedy of Massachusetts, and Senators O'Mahoney and Mansfield of Montana.

Other Editors Saying—Losing A Key Potential

(The Birmingham News)

The state of Tennessee currently seems more alarmed about and concentrating on the problem of population loss than other Southern states. But the rate of loss to all Southern states is very high, and it seems increasingly clear that the matter must be given determined attention.

In the 15-year period of 1935-50, for example, Alabama is said to have lost 385,000 persons. But in the five-year period of 1950-55, our state's loss of people amounted to 239,000. It can be seen that the rate of out-migration has stepped up considerably. This is true of all Southern states.

Tennessee now has a legislative inquiry into the situation. Industrial development experts there claim that a far more serious drive must be made to acquire new industry. Surveys by Nat Caldwell, Nashville Tennessee reporter, show that a major cause of the exodus is the lack of available industrial jobs. Mr. Caldwell some weeks ago went to Chicago to study the situation of the Southern migrants there. He—as did a Chicago Tribune reporter—found almost uniformly that the cause of such migration was lack of job opportunity back home.

The people who are leaving include a good many Negroes, of course. Some of this loss is hardly preventable, because it is motivated by a desire on the part of some Negroes to go to a region where there are no segregation laws. But many of the persons departing, it is obvious, are white, and they say flatly that they would prefer to stay South, but could not make a living—either off farms, small farms sometimes, or find adequate industrial opportunity.

This is a major problem for the South. Alabama had best be looking into it also.

Sen. Johnson, A New Henry Clay

WASHINGTON—Majority Senate Leader Lyndon B. Johnson is now recognized as a modern Henry Clay, the great compromiser on the issue of slavery. With the aid of a Massachusetts man, Daniel Webster, Clay staved off a Civil War for 40 years—a war which drove the Democrats from political power for a generation.

The tall Texan saved his Party, at least temporarily, from splitting on the rock of Civil Rights. Whether he enhanced the Democrats' chances of regaining the White House in 1960 is problematical, depending upon the reaction of the colored vote and other affected minorities to the bill which he worried through the Senate.

Although it is "bitterly disappointing" to President Eisenhower, who prefers the more extreme House measure, it marks the greatest advance for the colored race since Lincoln's Emancipation Proclamation, as implemented by the Supreme Court's decisions on racial segregation.

REFLECTION ON SUPREME COURT The Senate version, despite President Eisenhower's criticism, will probably satisfy all except extremists on this highly emotional question.

For the bulk of unsolicited mail reaching Capitol Hill during the debate opposed jurless trials and use of the injunctive process by a single, Federal Judge. These letters influenced many votes in the Senate, probably enough to produce passage.

It should be noted here, as it was in Senator Celler's conversations, that the Senate action was an indirect reflection on the Department of Justice and the Federal Judiciary, especially the Supreme Court. Neither Attorney General Brownell nor Chief Justice Warren, who triggered this explosive problem, are popular figures on Capitol Hill.

The United States Senate, although it saved the Supreme Court from Rooseveltian enlargement not too many years ago, refused to entrust problems of personal and political rights to the arm of the government over which Chief Justice Warren presides.

POLITICAL REPERCUSSIONS. LIKELY There will, of course, be far-reaching political repercussions, if it prevails in conferences with House representatives, and if it is accepted by President Eisenhower as the most he can get from Congress.

The House Conference Committee will be headed by Representative Emanuel Celler, a Brooklyn Democrat and an ardent champion of all minorities, as Chairman of the Judiciary Committee.

The other House members, as ranking men on the same committee, share his views on this question. The Democrats, however, may be guided by the advice of Speaker Sam Rayburn, a Texan and Johnson crony.

COURTING COLORED VOTE It is obvious that, in dealing with this question, both parties are courting the colored vote, which will become extremely influential in future elections even under the Senate's diluted measure.

So, it is quite possible that the Celler Conference Committee may reject the other chamber's product, and renew the legislative battle in the Congressional re-election year of 1958.

Hannah, Who Kept Her Promise ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—1 Samuel 1; 2:1-11, 18-21.

A man named Elkanah had two wives, Peninnah and Hannah. Peninnah had children, but Hannah was childless.

Hannah prayed earnestly for a son, promising that she would dedicate him to God's service. A son was born to her and she named him Samuel.

True to her promise, when Samuel was a small child, she took him to Eli, the priest, saying that God had granted her prayer and she had brought her son to serve the Lord all his life.

Each year Hannah went to visit her son, and she made him a little coat each year, which she brought to him when she came to offer sacrifices to the Lord.

MEMORY VERSE—Psalm 66:13, 14.

whom she named Samuel, "saying, because I have asked him of the Lord." And she sang a song of praise to God for His goodness.

MEMORY VERSE "I will pay Thee my vows, which my lips have uttered, and my mouth hath spoken, when I was in trouble."—Psalm 66:13, 14.

Hannah went to the temple after the meal and threw herself on her knees "in bitterness of soul, and she wept sore." Then she prayed and vowed that if the Lord would give her a son she would dedicate him to serve the Lord all the days of his life.

which was a protest, we are told, that a consecrated man "had determined to refrain from intercourse with the world."

Farmville Leaf Mart Looks For Good Season

By CHARLES S. EDWARDS

Supervisor of Sales
The sale of the first basket of tobacco in Farmville on the 15th will mark the beginning of the 53rd very successful selling season for the Farmville Tobacco Market.

Mr. A. C. Monk, Sr. purchased the first basket of tobacco ever sold on the Farmville Market and there is a good chance a representative of this fine Farmville firm, which since that initial opening day in 1905 has grown into the largest independent tobacco organization in the world, will make the first 1957 purchase.

Everything and everyone in Farmville is prepared and ready for the influx of farmer friends, their families, and their tobacco. The twelve warehouses have been cleaned and painted and are in that top condition which is just naturally expected of the top market in this belt. Also, the water is iced, the drinks cold, the stores unusually full of top quality low priced merchandise, the pigs are cooking over oak coals, and the bank has received an armored truck load of cash in preparation for the highest average and the most successful selling season ever experienced.

During this past year a large percentage of Farmville businesses have expanded their areas and air conditioned their facilities. The slogan "You Can Find It In Farmville" is literally true, and more people are learning and appreciating this fact every day. Business is good in Farmville and it is increasing.

The Farmville Market sold nearly twenty six million pounds of tobacco in 1956, and giving fair consideration to the quality of that produced in our selling areas as compared with the product of the areas from which other markets draw their tobacco, no market, as is usual, enjoyed a higher average per pound than did Farmville. This same will be true in 1957. With one exception, Farmville warehouses have been operated by the same firms and families for several generations and up to fifty years plus. All these gentlemen are farmers themselves and there is no doubt but that adds to the sincere interest they always have in the sale of tobacco on their floors, the continued growth of the Farmville Market, and the readily admitted increased prosperity of those who sell tobacco on the Farmville Market.

As previously, John N. Fountain will operate Farmers, Fountain's, and Monk's Warehouses. He will be assisted by J. Y. Monk, Jr., R. D. Rouse, Sr., and James B. Fountain.

Bell's warehouses will continue to be operated by B. R. Bell, J. R. Bell and C. C. Ivey. M. J. (Jack) Moye and Chester Worthington will be in their usual places as operators of Planters Warehouses.

A new firm, Prewitt's Warehouses will be managed by Clellan Prewitt and B. S. Correll.

Farmville warehousemen are very careful in selecting auctioneers, floor manager, and other personnel. These and other employees are always the best obtainable, for the best is always available to such a fine market, located in the exact center of where the best tobacco is grown. When they are once situated in Farmville they remain in Farmville, and all the key men of previous seasons will be in their usual places on August 15th.

The Farmville Tobacco Market is not one of the largest in the belt — and it is far from being one of the smallest. It is large enough for all the major foreign and domestic buying companies to be represented by their choice personnel and small enough for the actual owner and operators of the warehouses to give individual and personal attention to the sale of every basket of tobacco.

Indeed, the Farmville Market is most fortunate in having, in addition to representatives of the large companies, four strong local independent firms with headquarters and facilities right here at home.

A. C. Monk and Company, mentioned in a previous paragraph, is a great and additional asset to the Farmville Market. The same is true of the Farmville Leaf Tobacco Company, The Scott-Bright Tobacco Company and the Eastern Tobacco Company are also fine Farmville firms.

Farmville is known far and wide as the "Friendly and Complete Town." These attributes are properly placed and appreciated, and the truthfulness they convey is strongly guarded by all Farmville citizens. All who sell, purchase, or just plain visit in Farmville, are properly respected and treated as the true guests they are. No one has ever dropped a penny, dime, or nickel in a Farmville parking meter — for there is not nor will there be in the foreseeable future such a thing on a Farmville street. There are, however, thousands of free and shaded parking places in Farmville — including three municipal lots in the center of town.

Farmville Is Small Community With Big Record Of Progress

There are a few hundred over three thousand people living in Farmville, and during the past few years their activities and accomplishments toward community progress would be a credit to a town a dozen times larger.

Indeed, similar aggressive endeavors in much larger towns have been thwarted and deflated before they were off the ground.

Two years ago, under the leadership of one of its young and most valuable citizens, R. E. Davenport, Jr., half dozen men passed the hat around town and within three days it contained thirty thousand dollars with which to form the Farmville Economic Council. The purpose of the Council is to work toward improving the economy of the people of Farmville and those who live in the Farmville trading area, by developing new activities among Farmville people and bringing industries of the highest type into the Farmville vicinity.

Tom W. Willis, top Industrial Development Engineer with the N. C. Department of Conservation and Development, was secured as Director of the Economic Council. Already, the accomplishments of the organization he heads have been noted and praised by our splendid Governor Luther Hodges and every paper from the Wall Street Journal to the Key West Times.

As a direct result of the work being done by Willis and the Council the American Cyanamid Company and the Formica Corporation have started construction on a multi-million dollar Farmville plant, which could, within a few years, grow into one of the largest industries in Eastern North Carolina.

At the recent ground breaking ceremony one of the top officials of these two companies said, "The methods used by Mr. Willis and the Farmville Economic Council could well be a model for any other town in the country, in efforts to secure desirable industry."

The progressiveness of Farmville citizens is by no means limited to the Economic Council. A half million dollar sewer plant is also under construction. It will be of sufficient size to serve a town three times larger than the present Farmville, and plans for its future expansion are ready and waiting.

Also, Farmville will soon have a radio station and plans are being formulated for a modern motel and restaurant. Willis and the Council have other interesting projects heating which will culminate in pleasant future announcements.

It is only nature that from a town such as Farmville will come leaders in other and larger spheres leading to do with the government and progress of the county, area, and state. Among Farmville people in this group are Dr. Paul E. Jones, Pitt County Senator and former President Pro Tem of the Senate, Walter B. Jones, Pitt County Representative, Dr. Jones can correctly be called the father of the Dental School at the University of North Carolina and Representative Jones sponsored to most worthwhile automobile liability law recently enacted. Solicitor Robert D. Rouse, Jr., Superior Court Judge and former Grand Master of North Carolina Masons William J. Bundy are natives of Farmville and the Judge dines with his mother here at every opportunity. Curtis H. Flanagan, Executive Secretary of the North Carolina Fireman's Association lives and has his office in Farmville. John Hill, Paylor Assistant Attorney General journeyed to Raleigh from Farmville. W. Allen, Chairman of the Pitt Memorial Hospital lives in Farmville as does Blair Co. Wheelless, Pitt County Register of Deeds. The Chairman of the Pitt County ABC Board and present president of the state association also lives here. Harold Allred, Pitt County Tax Supervisor, makes his home here. Farmville is especially proud of James Henry Bundy, Governor of the Carolinas District of Kiwanis Key Clubs. He is the son of the Will Rogers of the South, Farmville School Superintendent, Sam D. Bundy.

Farm Bureau In District Meet

Pitt County Farm Bureau leaders will attend a district Farm Bureau meeting here next Tuesday to make plans for this year's membership drive, Noel Lee, Pitt County president announced today.

The Farm Bureau leaders will gather from Beaufort, Hyde, Martin, Tyrrell and Washington Counties, according to Lee.

Members of the State Farm Bureau staff, including W. E. Little, fieldman for this district, will meet with the group to help coordinate plans for a successful membership campaign, the county president declared.

"There is a need for a strong membership if Farm Bureau is to continue to be a positive force in Tar Heel agriculture and it is up to the farmers to organize if they are to develop farm policy and put it into effect," Lee said.

"At the present time we have 4,000 Farm Bureau members in Pitt County and we plan to increase that number this fall."

Ralph C. Tucker is membership drive chairman for Pitt.

Lee urged all Pitt Farm Bureau members who are interested in membership acquisition to attend the meeting.

Hardy Pioneer Type 'A Myth'

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—The popular conception of the American pioneer as a hardy specimen of near physical perfection is largely a myth, a Tampa history teacher maintains.

"A formidable number of the pioneers... were miserable, sickly creatures," Dr. J. Ryan Beiser of the University of Tampa said.

The vigorous, broad-chested men and blossoming women of novels and movies give a far from accurate picture, Beiser said.

"Frequent accidents, the effects of exposure, decaying vegetables, swamps, poor food habits, lack of sanitation and hygiene, and inadequate knowledge for prevent and cure of disease" outweighed the natural health benefits of an active outdoor life, he added.

He expressed his views as a guest columnist for the Tampa Times.

Greenville Little Leaguers To Face Lake Worth Nine

Meeting Florida Champions Today

By BILLY ARNOLD
Reflector Sports Editor

ROME, Ga.—Greenville's North Carolina State Little League champions take the field here this afternoon against the Florida champions in the first round of the Southeastern Regional Little League Tournament.

Tournament officials announced this morning that Lake Worth would represent Florida in the two-day tournament. Greenville players learned of the Florida choice after an early-morning workout in which they "looked good," according to their coaches.

Other teams in the tournament are Athens, Georgia champions, and Knoxville, the Tennessee champions. Knoxville was named to the tournament field yesterday, replacing Alabama's state champs who had been announced as a participant.

Due to a change in the tournament schedule, Greenville's contest with the Florida champions will begin at 3:30 p. m., instead of 4 o'clock as previously announced. The Georgia-Tennessee contest, originally scheduled for tonight, has been switched to this afternoon and will follow the Greenville-Florida game.

Contests in the tournament are being played at Buck Ransome Field in Rome.

Denny Hardee, a blond right-hander who has already won two tournament games for the Greenville team, will pitch for the Tar Heels today. In the two tournament victories, Hardee has allowed only two hits in 12 innings.

Hardee is the team's number one pitcher and had a regular season record of seven wins and two losses. His choice as starting pitcher in today's game was explained by Coach Charlie Bland, who said: "Since a pitcher can only work 12 innings per week, we are going to get right down to business the first day. We think he'll be right for it. Denny is rested and ready."

The rest of the Greenville lineup will have Kenneth Joyner in centerfield, Johnny Reynolds at second base, Dixie Coltraine at first base, J. O. Proctor in leftfield, Joe Harper at shortstop, Richard Taft in right field, Joe McKay at third base and Jimmy Smith behind the plate.

Bland commented this morning, "Our boys are up for this game. They want it badly and they've got it in their minds to go all the way to Williamsport and the Little League World Series before they finish."

He also stated that he believes the North Carolina champions will be hitting better during this tournament than during last week's state tournament at Fayetteville.

"They have been getting only about five hits per game lately," he said, "and it's about time they broke away and started hitting like they used to."

Greenville worked its way into the Southeastern play-offs by whipping Havelock, High Point, Gastonia and Charlotte. If they win here today against the Florida team, they will battle the winner of the Athens-Knoxville game tomorrow.

The winner of the regional tournament will journey to Louisville, Ky. for the Eastern championship tournament August 16 and 17. The participants will include Eastern participants in the Little League World Series at Williamsport, Pa. August 21, 22 and 23.

Youngest Skeet Tournament Champ

Miner Cliett, 13-year-old 8th grade pupil from Childersburg, Ala., hit a perfect score of 100 straight targets to become the National Champion of Champions in the National Skeet Shooting Tournament at Reno, Nev. He is the youngest ever to win the championship. The boy outshot champions from 22 states. (AP Wirephoto).

Giants Favored To Wallop Stars

By TED SMITH

CHICAGO (AP) — Tonight's 24th annual All-Star Football Game pits the slashing running attack of the New York Giants against the untested passing offense of the college stars.

The Giants, National Football League champions, are favored over the All-Stars by 10 points in the season's first big gridiron encounter.

The game will be televised by ABC at 8:30 p. m., EST.

This is an enthusiastic bunch of collegians who have been working out under Coach Curly Lambeau. Never has an All-Star squad boasted such top-flight passers as John Brodie of Stanford, Lennie Dawson of Purdue, Jim Harris of Oklahoma and Paul Hornung of Notre Dame. Since the Giants line is big and tough — and led the NFL defensively last season — it seems only logical for the collegians to pin all their hopes on passing.

The All-Stars also have some excellent pass catchers in Ron Kramer and Tom Maentz of Michigan, Brad Bomba of Indiana and Lamar Lundy of Purdue.

To back up the passing threat the college team has some fine breakout runners in Jim Brown of Syracuse, Tommy McDonald of Oklahoma, Jon Arnett of Southern California and Clarence Peaks of Michigan State.

It is this strong collection of offensive talent that prevents the Giants from being overwhelming favorites. Conceivably, if the All-Stars could score early on a pass or a long run, they might be able to go on and upset the big pro champions.

Even the experts who concede the great potential of the All-Stars, all but one of whom will go on to play professional football this fall, admit time has been too short to weld the individual stars into a smooth running team.

The Giants, on the other hand, have lost only Roxy Grier at tackle out of their great 1956 team that swept to the NFL crown by beating the Chicago Bears 47-7 in the championship game.

Patriots Gain Ground In Race

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Greensboro nipped High Point-Thomasville 3-2 last night to gain ground in its challenge for the Carolina League top rung held by the Hi-Toms.

Another close game and a wide-open affair rounded out activity. Danville pitched Durham, 1-0, in a tight pitchers' duel, while Winston-Salem engaged in batting practice at the expense of Wilson, 14-4.

The Patriots' victory, on the heels of a split with the Hi-Toms on Wednesday night, pulled the Greensboro club within a game and a half of the Hi-Toms.

Leroy Bradley and Shep Frazier drove in the Greensboro tallies. Frazier's double is the sixth produced two runs, and Bradley's single in the eighth brought in the victory margin.

Southpaw Reggie Lee and Right-hander Jerry Thomas were the duellists in the Danville-Durham encounter. Lee blanked the Bulls on a three-hitter, while Thomas gave up seven hits in defeat.

A Durham error helped Sal Ferrara speed home with the game's only score in the ninth inning.

Every Winston-Salem batter except the pitcher got at least two hits in the sluxiest at Wilson. Rightfielder Lindy Duncan topped the list with four. Three Tob hurriers failed to stem the tide.

The games tonight are Durham at Greensboro, High Point-Thomasville at Wilson, and Winston-Salem at Danville.

Carolinas Junior Olympics Open Two-Day Meet

CHARLOTTE (AP) — The seventh annual Carolinas AAU Junior Olympics swimming meet opens two full days of events here today with a record 500 swimmers on hand.

With the entry list more than doubled from last year, officials predicted an all-out assault on meet records. All times will be sent to the national AAU headquarters for comparison with records from other meets in the nation.

Afternoon and evening sessions were set today and tomorrow. Four age groups will participate from 9 through 16 in both boys and girls events.

Competition will be in freestyle, breaststroke and medley races and diving from the one and three-meter boards.

Teams entered are from High Point, Greensboro, Charlotte, Asheville, Raleigh, Chapel Hill, Tarboro, Morganton and Shelby and Spartanburg, Sumter, Columbia and Greenwood, S. C.

Greenville, S.C., Captures Crown

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Bob Ivey pitched and batted Greenville, S. C., to a 5-3 victory over Riverside, Calif., yesterday for the national Boys Baseball World Series championship.

Ivey's clutch single capped a three run rally in the seventh inning. The two-run single followed a triple by rightfielder Ron Duncan and two infield hits.

Ivey, who allowed only three hits, gave up three unearned runs in the sixth inning.

It was Greenville's second victory over Riverside in the double elimination series. The South Carolina team whitewashed Riverside 3-0 Tuesday. But Riverside forced Greenville into a final game with a 3-1 victory Wednesday.

Need Real Swat To Clear Fence

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Richmond Virginian batters have a real tough obstacle in their home park — the right field fence, 360 feet down the foul line.

Since the Virginians rejoined the International League in 1954, only three home team batters have been able to clear the fence. Two did it the first year. Three years and more than 200 games — elapsed before first baseman Johnny Jacuk lifted one over the fence this June.

Queen Will See UNC-Terp Game

WASHINGTON (AP) — Britain's Queen Elizabeth II and Prince Philip will take in an American football game on their visit to the United States Oct. 16-21. They will see the Maryland-North Carolina game at College Park, Md., Oct. 19.

The visit to the Maryland campus was a surprise addition to the list of formal engagements for the royal couple, announced today by White House press secretary James C. Hagerty and G. D'Arcy Edmondson, director general of British Information Services in the United States.

Other than the schedule includes the usual state events and previously announced visits to Williamsburg and Jamestown, Va. Maryland Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin will be host to the royal couple at the football game.

USGA Still Has A Busy Schedule

NEW YORK (AP) — The U.S. National Open has gone on the record books but the USGA, sponsor of amateur golf in America, still faces a busy schedule.

The ninth girls' Junior Championship is set for Aug. 12-16 at the Lakewood Country Club in Denver. Then comes the 57th Women's Amateur Championship Aug. 19-24 at the Del Paso Country Club, Sacramento, Calif. The 57th National Amateur is set for Sept. 9-14 at the Country Club in Brookline, Mass., and the third Senior Amateur Championship is listed for Sept. 30-Oct. 5 at the Ridgewood Country Club in Ridgewood, N.Y.

Odds makers Are Bucking Experts

CLEVELAND (AP) — Although third-ranked Virgil Akins is six notches above Sugar Hart in the most recent Ring magazine welterweight ratings, bettors have made Hart a 7-5 favorite for their televised bout tonight in Cleveland's Public Hall.

A matchmaker Larry Atkins thinks the odds makers are going against the experts because of Hart' frequent and impressive TV battles. Tonight's 10-round bout will be on NBC radio-TV at 9 p. m., EST.

"Sugar was pleased to hear that he's been made favorite," said the 21-year-old Philadelphia boxer's manager, Marty Stein. "And I'm so optimistic myself that I figure he's only two or three fights away from the welterweight title."

Both Hart and Akins are hoping a victory tonight will put them in the scramble for Carmen Basilio vacates the title next month with a victory over middleweight champion Sugar Ray Robinson.

The 20-year-old Akins, from St. Louis, has won 42 of 60 professional bouts, 23 of them by knockouts.

Hart has lost only two of 24 fights and has rung up 19 knockouts.

The Associated Press

What are those other National League contenders trying to do, lure the Milwaukee Braves into a false feeling of security?

Any way you look at it, the scramble suddenly has opened up and the Braves are on top with a "whopping" 2 1/2-game lead—their largest of the season. They made it as Cincinnati rolled over again, 5-3, yesterday and the seventh-place Chicago Cubs bopped the second-place St. Louis Cardinals 4-3 for a three-game sweep.

Third-place Brooklyn is five games back, skidding with a 12-3 clobbering from the New York Giants. Cincinnati and Philadelphia are behind, after the Phillies defeated Pittsburgh 6-3 while the Redlegs lost for the 11th time in 12 games with Milwaukee this season.

If this is the breakup in the NL

log jam, the Braves should know

By Sunday night—after a three-game set at St. Louis.

In the American League, Washington made it two in a row over New York 6-1 and trimmed the Yankees' lead to five games as Chicago's second-place White Sox defeated Kansas City 7-4.

Baltimore regained fifth place from Detroit by defeating Boston 3-1 while the Tigers lost to Cleveland 3-1.

Red Schoendienst, the second baseman who was supposed to have brought the Braves the pennant along with his bat and glove when the Giants traded him to Milwaukee June 15, got the job done yesterday. He lined a two-run single in the eighth, breaking a 3-3 tie and bringing Lew Burdette his 10th victory.

Ex-Brave George Crowe hammered his 24th home run and Frank Robinson swatted his 18th in the eighth to junk a 3-1 Milwaukee lead. Reliever Raul Sanchez lost it, loading the bases with two walks and a hit batsman ahead of Schoendienst's hit.

The Cubs won six in a row for the first time since 1955 with a two-run seventh against southpaw Wilmer Mizell that cracked a two-all tie. Singles by Moe Drabowsky, the young right-hander who won his eighth, and Bobby Adams brought in the runs. Dave Hillman blanked the Cards after relieving Drabowsky when a walk and two singles gave the Cards a run in the eighth. Del Ennis had a two-run homer for St. Louis while Stan Musial had two singles and regained the bat lead at 3-4.

The Giants completed a sweep of the last three games in the four-game set with the Dodgers by scoring four runs in the first against ex-pal Sal Maglie. They had 14 hits in all, counting home runs by Willie Mays (2) and Hank Sauer (1). Ruben Gomez won his 12th with a seven-hit job.

Philadelphia gave Curt Simmons a 6-0 lead with three runs in the sixth, two on Gran Hamner's home run, but the southpaw needed relief help in the ninth to win his 11th. Bob Miller nailed it, after Bob Skinner's home run triggered a three-run Pirate rally. Vern Law lost it.

Russ Kemmerer had given the Yankees only five singles and led 6-0 going into the ninth. Then a single, walk and Enos Slaughter's double saved New York from what would have been its second shutout of the year. Art Ditmar lost it.

Billy Pierce, the AL's only 15-game winner, gave way to Gerry Staley when the A's scored one in the fourth and cut Chicago's lead to 6-4. Staley blanked 'em on five hits the rest of the way for a 3-0 record. Earl Torgerson 3-for-4 drove in five runs and hit a pair of homers—the first a three-run shot in a five-run third against winless Rip Coleman.

Billy O'Dell gave up Dick Gernert's home run in the seventh and needed relief help because of a sore arm, but joined Pierce, Cleveland's Don Mossi and Yankee Bobby Shantz as the only left-handers to beat Boston this year. Tito Francona's RBI triple capped a two-run third that clinched it for the Orioles against Mike Fornieles. Ted Williams had two of Boston's six hits, hiking his bat mark to 390.

Vic Wertz drove in two runs with a homer and long fly for the Tribe as Ray Narleski took a 9-1 record with a six-hitter. Duke Maas was the loser.

All That's Left, Is To Pack Their Bags

NEW YORK (AP) — It begins to look as though all the New York Giants have to do to move their National League baseball franchise to San Francisco is pack their bags.

President Horace Stoneham, who has moved for a month or so he would have as soon as he received a "satisfactory proposition," announced yesterday he has received "a very firm and fair offer" from Mayor Christopher of San Francisco.

All that remains, apparently, is a formal presentation of the San Francisco offer before the club's board of directors, which Stoneham added he would do "within the next 10 days."

Sam Snead Out Front In Tam's First Round

CHICAGO (AP) — The locker room banter at Tam O'Shanter golf club went this way today as the best 100 pros in the country prepared for the second round of the $101,200 "World" golf championship:

"To have Sam Snead breathing down your back is bad enough. But to have the guy in front — oh, man!"

Snead, 45, is supposed to be the richest golf pro. He swung into the second round of golf's biggest treasure hunt with a one-stroke lead.

Snead fired an opening 7-under-par 65 yesterday to gain the front-running spot which over the years he has been known to maintain through a tournament. This prize is golf's biggest payoff — $50,000 exhibition contract.

"Just tell the boys I have a tin can half full," said the White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., pro who came up through the caddy ranks. He referred to the kidding he has been taking that he has all his money hidden in tin cans under the floor of his home.

But Snead wasn't away and flying after the first round. One stroke away at 66 was Jerry Barber, always a contender in this jamboree. There also was a well-grouped following that included 32 who broke par 72.

At 67 was Canadian Al Baiding. Bracketed at 68, were Shelly Mayfield, Mike Souchak and Dow Finsterwald, who has finished in the money in 58 consecutive tournaments.

The 69 shooters included Earl Stewart, Jack Fleck, Tony Holguin, Ken Venturi, Bob Rosburg, Bo Winger and Ernie Vossler. Bob Ross Jr., 20-year-old state amateur champion from Springfield, Ohio, shot 71 for a one-stroke edge over defending champion Ward Wetlaufer, Buffalo, and All American titlist Don Cherry.

Clifford Ann Creed of Opelousas, La., topped the women amateur with 81. She was two strokes ahead of Lois Drake, Chicago.

Marilynn Smith, playing one of her finest rounds in two years, notched a 5-under-par 71 to lead the women's pro chase for a $6,000 first prize. Two strokes away was Mary Lena Faulk.

N. Carolina And Virginia Golf Teams In Series

CHARLOTTEVILLE, Va. (AP) — The first half of a home-and-home series between picked 16-member golf teams from Virginia and North Carolina was to be played here today.

The winning team will be determined by the combined points here today and in a return match at Pinehurst, N. C., in October.

Miss Sidney Elliott of Charlottesville and Mrs. William Cooke of Charlotte, N. C., each a three-time champion of her state, were team captains.

Other members of the Virginia team were Miss Mary Patton Jansen, Mrs. Llewellyn Miller, Mrs. W. B. Pollard, Jr., C. L. Eganwood, Mrs. John Connolly, Mrs. C. L. Gemmill, Mrs. C. G. Uesberry, Mrs. Gordon Simmons, Miss Maxine I. Mrs. H. N. Allen, Mrs. William Walsh, Mrs. Donald O'Brien, Mrs. Robert Brydon, Miss Shirley Redding and Mrs. Glenn Knox.

WALL STREET

NEW YORK — The stock market turned mixed in slow trading in the early afternoon today.
Changes were narrow, except for a few issues which dropped between 1 and 2 points.
Trading came to a virtual standstill at times, indicating some members of the financial community were jumping the gun on the summer weekend.
Motors were up fractions. Steels, rails and metals were irregular. Most oils and aircrafts lost ground.
Amercada and Eastman Kodak, both fairly wide movers of late, were off around 2 points, and Illinois Central and Kennecott lost more than 1.
Oils off fractions included Sinclair, Standard Oil New Jersey, Texas Co., Royal Dutch and Gulf. Brokers said weakness in this group stems in part from reports showing consumption is substantially below earlier forecasts.
U. S. Steel and American Smelting gave up about a point. Small losers included Bethlehem, Caterpillar, Douglas, and Johns Manville.
General Dynamics, which reported good earnings, Allied Chemical, and Anaconda rose around a point.
Up fractions were General Motors, Chrysler, Ford, Republic Steel, International Paper, American Can, General Electric, Air

Learn Local Prisoner Is Institution Escapee

Linwood Smith, a 26-year-old Negro who continually repeated himself while trying to explain to City Court Judge Charles Whedbee why he asked a white woman to dance with him, has been found to be an escapee from a Goldsboro mental institution.
Found guilty on a charge of disorderly conduct that grew out of a complaint received last Thursday from a white woman, Smith was given the maximum sentence of 30 days on the roads by Judge Whedbee. Whedbee also ordered the defendant held on a vagrancy charge in County Jail until investigation could be made of his past record.
Smith, who denied on the witness stand that he had ever been to Goldsboro, has been returned to the Wayne County institution. In his cases, prayer for judgment

Bible Society Film And Forum Planned For Student Center

"My Right and My Cause," a color movie produced by the American Bible Society, will be shown Monday at the Baptist Student Center.
According to Coleman Gentry Jr., Forum chairman, there will be an open forum following the film produced in Korea and showing the story of persecution and hardship which surrounded the translation of the Bible into the Korean language. This will be the last Forum for the summer term, stated Sandra Medford, Summer president of the Baptist Student Union, East Carolina College.
Mary Louise Dixon, Devotional chairman, says that the last Vespers service for the summer will be held at the Center on Wednesday, August 14, and will be led by E. Rosser Brunch Jr., graduate student.
The Baptist Student Union council of twenty-five students will return to Greenville prior to the arrival of college freshmen to complete their plans for the Fall. Their retreat will be September 1-3 and will be climaxed with a "New Students' Forum" to be held on the evening of September 3.

nine feet in the air and lodged on a tree limb over where his body was found.
This morning Mrs. Stalls went to a nearby service station to get gas for a fishing trip. She was quoted as saying she saw her husband there and he had promised to come to her mother's house and give her money for the children.
All this took place between 8 and 8:30 a.m. Stalls' body was found around 10:30 by the two deputies who were searching for him on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon with the intent to kill.
Mrs. H. T. Strickland of Greenville Rt. 5, mother of the wounded woman, stated that she had heard Stalls threaten his wife on numerous occasions. One time he told her, she said, "If you don't live with me you won't live with anyone else."
The mother said, another time he told her "I'll get you one way or another."
Stalls was reported to have been suffering from painful headaches and had been taking "something for relief" a number of years. He had not been working regularly for sometime.
Pitt County Coroner Griffin H. Rouse ruled the man's death "apparent suicide" and stated that no inquest would be held.

Prison Sentence For Soviet Spies

NEW YORK — Jacob Albam, 64, a former Brooklyn tea and spice dealer, and Mrs. Myra Sobie 52, were sentenced to 5½ years in prison each today for spying for the Soviet Union.
Her husband, Jack, 54, a third member of the espionage ring, was to be sentenced later. He was not in court.
All three had pleaded guilty.

Swimming Pool Prospects Revived At Council Meet

Plans for municipal swimming pools, which died a quick death in 1954 following the Supreme Court's school segregation decision, were revived by the City Council last night upon request of the Chamber of Commerce.
Councilmen agreed to "give study" to the matter after Chamber of Commerce President M. W. Aldridge presented a resolution calling on the council to "take necessary steps to provide adequate swimming pools for the citizens of this city."
The Chamber made no recommendations concerning financing or details of construction of the pools but Aldridge agreed to appoint a three-man sub-committee from the Chamber's Civic Affairs Committee to work with the council.
Thus were revived after three years, plans for municipal pools—one for white and one for Negro citizens—had been drawn and financing worked out in 1954.
A bond issue election was held June 15, 1954 but the $250,000 issue for the two pools was defeated overwhelmingly by a vote of 152 to 1,042.
The defeat was attributed at the time to the U. S. Supreme Court decision which overthrew the long-time doctrine of "separate but equal" school facilities for the two races. The decision was rendered shortly before the election.
Segregation came into the discussion last night when Mayor S. Eugene West noted that references to race had been deleted in the copies of the resolutions which were distributed to the councilmen.
"You can sidestep it but it's the key to the whole situation in my opinion," the mayor told representatives.
The mayor also pointed out that only ten of the Chamber's 22 board of director members were present when the resolution was passed. He asked the representatives "if you will set it for your next meeting and try to get a larger group to go in it again."
Finally the mayor asked the representatives to "try to help us expansions, in the past and now under way, of recreation facilities in Greenville and.

"Second, that while these expansions are a major step in making it possible for the city's Recreation Department to conduct a program needed to reach a much larger number of our youth than now possible, the Board of Directors are convinced that there is an urgent need for public swimming pools, for Greenville's citizens and.
"Whereas, although the swimming pools at East Carolina College and the Greenville Country Club are providing such facilities, they are accommodating only a small percentage of our youth, resulting in the greater portion having no available facilities where they can be taught to swim or can participate in this important activity,
"Now therefore be it resolved that the Board of Directors of the Greenville Chamber of Commerce, at its regular meeting held on June 10, 1957, respectfully calls to the attention of the Honorable City Council of the City of Greenville, that in the absence of such facilities, our citizens are being deprived of the opportunity for instruction and participation in supervised swimming programs, it respectfully requests that the Honorable City Council of the City of Greenville take the necessary steps to provide adequate swimming pools for the citizens of this city."

H. L. Lewis, Jr. Named To Association Office

H. L. Lewis, Jr., Assistant Clerk of Superior Court for Pitt County, has been elected first vice-president of the Association of Assistant and Deputy Clerks of the Superior Courts of North Carolina.
Lewis' election was announced yesterday by President Vernell DeVane of New Hanover County. Bidding was conducted last week-end during the sixth annual conference of the Association.
The association, in its three-day meeting, heard a report on a study of North Carolina courts by Royal Shannotheus of the Institute of Government in Chapel Hill; a discussion of 1957 General Assembly action by Institute staff members; and a panel discussion of problems in offices of Clerks of Superior Court.
A native of the Belvoir section of Pitt County, Lewis has been Assistant Clerk of Superior Court for nearly 12 years. He and his wife make their home in Greenville with their two children, Howell, III, 6, and Stephen Eugene, 1.
Lewis' election as first vice-president puts him in line for the association's presidency next year. He is the sixth Pitt County official to become an officer of a state organization in the past two months.
Other county officials who have association offices are Sheriff Ruel W. Tyson, president of the North Carolina Sheriffs' Association; J. W. Joyner, president of the Association of Boards of Alcoholic Beverage Control; J. M. Ward, second vice-president of the State Association of ABC Law Enforcement Officers; H. R. Gray, second vice-president of the Association of County Accountants; and J. Vance Perkins, first vice-president of the State Association of County Commissioners.
