'Welcome Home' Salute Set For Little Leaguers

Greenville's North Carolina Little League champions, eliminated yesterday from the Southeastern Regional Tournament at Rome, Ga., will return home tomorrow. Travel plans for the team call for the chartered bus to leave Rome at 4 a. m. tomorrow. Arrival time in Greenville will be approximately 6 p. m. When the 14-member team returns home, players and coaches will be guests of honor at a surprise homecoming celebration that has been planned since the team left for Rome Thursday morning. Arrangements Committee Chairman W. M. Scales Jr. said this morning that an official party of eight cars will meet the team's bus at West End Circle. From there, the caravan will proceed, with a police escort, to Elm Street Park. At the park, Mayor S. Eugene West and City Manager Leonard Bloxam will make short welcoming addresses to the team members. Trophies will then be presented to coaches Charlie Bland and Billy Dunn, and a special award will be made to Recreation Department Athletic Director W. C. James. Scales said that the Royal Crown Bottling Company would furnish refreshments to all people who attend the homecoming celebration. High School Band Director James Rodgers has arranged to have a band at Elm Street Park to furnish music for the occasion. Scales also said, "We want everybody in Greenville at the park tomorrow afternoon. The boys deserve a royal welcome, because they have gone farther in Little League tournament competition than any other Greenville team. "When the boys get here tomorrow, it will mean the end of a 550-mile ride. Nobody has to tell them that they lost in Rome, but we believe everybody in Greenville should be at the park to let them know we're proud of their record." Scales said that members of the Greenville Police Department will be at Elm Street Park to assist in handling traffic. Permission has been granted, he said, for persons to park on both sides of Elm Street near the Little League field. Members of the team, which lost to Lake Worth, Florida, 9-7, in an extra-inning game yesterday, were told by their coaches last night, "You played a good ball game and you have nothing to be ashamed of. You should be proud of the record you have made, because no other Greenville team in history has gone as far in Little League tournament play than you have done." Travel times for the bus will be relayed to Greenville by James, who accompanied the team to Rome. Scales said that James will telephone route progress reports throughout the afternoon and that the times will be broadcast over WGTC and WNCN. By having the time reports made by James, Scales explained, Greenville citizens will know the approximate time the team will arrive.

'Bertha' Breaks Up Over Eastern Texas

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Tropical storm Bertha ended its short-lived, threatened reign of terror along the Gulf Coast today and fizzled inland over eastern Texas. The Weather Bureau's final bulletin on the storm at 4 a. m. (CST) today located it about 20 miles northwest of Beaumont, Tex., with highest winds estimated 30 to 40 m.p.h. Bertha was moving northwestward at about 10 m.p.h., the bulletin said, and its remains would be in north-central Texas by tonight. There was little threat of appreciable flooding, the Weather Bureau said, although locally heavy showers were likely near the center of the storm and in east Texas. The bulletin said winds and seas along the Louisiana and Texas coasts would subside today, but warned small craft to remain in port. Bertha emerged from infancy and grew into a full-blown hurricane for a brief period yesterday as it rumbled in from the Gulf of Mexico. The southwest Louisiana coast, where hurricane Audrey claimed more than 500 lives in late June, was evacuated in the face of swelling tides and buffeting winds. Heavy rains and locally strong winds were predicted for the east Texas area as Bertha moved out of the gulf last night. The advisory said the storm would weaken progressively as it moved inland. The area around Cameron, La., devastated when Audrey hit June 27, felt winds of 65 miles an hour, but most of the hardy coastal residents had fled at Bertha's first warnings to Red Cross refuge centers in Lake Charles. Tides of five feet, about four feet above normal, washed the Louisiana coast, but diminished today with the heavy seas also subsiding along the Texas coastline. The Louisiana Highway Department said all roads between Grand Isle and the Texas border were passable, although some were under a few inches of water in the lowlands of Terrebonne Parish (county). Sheriff O. B. Carter said every family in the immediate Cameron area had been evacuated. He said he ordered everyone to leave Thursday night. Asked if anyone resented the evacuation order, he replied: "No one resented this order, they appreciated the warning, no one had to be told twice to leave." Mrs. Paul Nunez of Grand Chenier reflected the feelings of many when she said her grocer husband wouldn't stay to fight the storm this time. "If they had tied him," she said, "he would have eaten the rope off."

Bound Over By Coroner's Jury

JULIOUS SMITH BOUND OVER ... to face trial on murder charge.

Grand Jury Will Get Slaying Case

By EVERETTE PARKER, Reflector Staff Writer Julious Smith, 51-year-old Negro tenant farmer charged with slaying his common-law son-in-law early last Sunday morning, has been bound over for grand jury action without bond. After hearing conflicting testimony from witnesses of the shooting and Smith, the Coroner's Jury deliberated only a few minutes to reach its verdict. The jury found probable cause in the death of Ozie Carmack who died of gunshot wounds said to have been inflicted by his father-in-law. The shooting took place after Smith and Carmack argued "over family troubles," officers said. Smith related that he went to the dead man's house to "beg his pardon." Testimony from witnesses did not confirm his story. Seven witnesses were called to the stand by Solicitor Robert D. Rouse and Pitt Coroner Griffin H. Rouse. In order of their appearance they were: Cecil Crandell, deputy sheriff who made the arrest; Noah Clark who was at the Carmack house when the shooting took place; William Andrews; Doristen Carmack, the dead man's wife; the defendant; Clifton Perkins, also at the Carmack house on the night of the incident; and N. H. Byrd, deputy sheriff. Smith, who despondently shook his head throughout the inquest held before a small audience, was the fifth witness to take the stand. The first three witnesses' testimony substantiated findings by members of the Sheriff's Department who investigated the shooting. According to the defendant he and Carmack argued earlier in the night over a family matter. Following the "trouble," the middle-aged farmer said he left but added Carmack shot at him with a small pistol, grazing his shoulder. This incident was not mentioned in the other testimony during the relatively short inquest. He said, "I left 'cause I didn't want any more trouble." "I was not mad at Ozie." Later in the night Smith stated he went to Carmack's house to make an effort to settle the differences between them. "I asked him to beg my pardon," he said. Carmack was said to have gone into the house and cut the light out. "I thought he was going to shoot me," the defendant said. "When Ozie came back on the (Continued on Page 6)

Trustees Review College Projects

Trustees of East Carolina College, meeting here Friday in quarterly session, first of the current fiscal year, heard progress reports from President J. D. Messick and other college officials, reviewed the amended charter of the college, took a look at plans for building projects and re-elected Arthur L. Tyler of Rocky Mount as board chairman. Under terms of the new charter, the annual election of the chairman and vice chairman of the board of trustees is required, and by unanimous vote approved the re-election of Tyler as chairman and Ed E. Rawl Sr., Greenville, as vice chairman. Both men have given leadership to educational, religious, and civic projects in their respective communities in addition to their service on the East Carolina College board of trustees. J. Herbert Waldrop, Greenville banker and public-spirited citizen, was presented as a new member of the board of trustees, having been recently appointed to a 6-year term by Governor Hodges. He has had prior service as a trustee. President Messick and Vice President F. D. Duncan gave a review of the General Assembly's appropriations for operations and maintenance for the current biennium, and the budget for the coming year. The trustees got a look at plans for four building projects soon to get under way, including a new classroom building and equipment annex at the Administration Building, an annex to the Music Building, and an addition to the college cafeteria. Bids are to be opened August 21 for the construction of two men's dormitories and cafeteria on the East 10th Street site of the college campus, Mr. Duncan reported. President Messick submitted a slate of new members to the faculty and staff for the coming year, the trustees voting approval of the instructional personnel. There will be 35 new faculty members in addition to teachers and professors replacing retiring or resigning professors, the college administrator reported. A new position, dean of graduate studies, was announced by Dr. Messick, with Dr. J. K. Long, former chairman of the Department of Education, appointed to this post. Other routine matters rounded out the agenda for the trustees' session. Some $87,688.70 flowed into the city's general fund during July—the first month of the fiscal year, City Clerk H. H. Duncan reported. The collections were some $4,000 ahead of collections for July of last year. Duncan reported that property tax payments for July came to $60,730.58, which is $3,000 ahead of the same month in 1956. The tax collector also took in $1,301.42 in prior years' taxes last month, according to Duncan's report. Other sources of revenue: privilege license, $7,918.50; court costs, $850; parking meters, $2,141.75; building and plumbing permits, $990.50; rents, $60; fingerprint service, $37; cemetery lots, $1,045; utilities turn-over to city, $12,500; miscellaneous, $113.95. In addition to the general fund current taxes the city also collected $7,194.40 city debt service taxes and $149.71 in city debt service prior years' taxes. RETALIATION? COLUMBIA (AP)—South Carolina's agriculture commissioner says tobacco companies can expect "retaliatory measures" unless they begin paying "fair prices" at state tobacco markets.

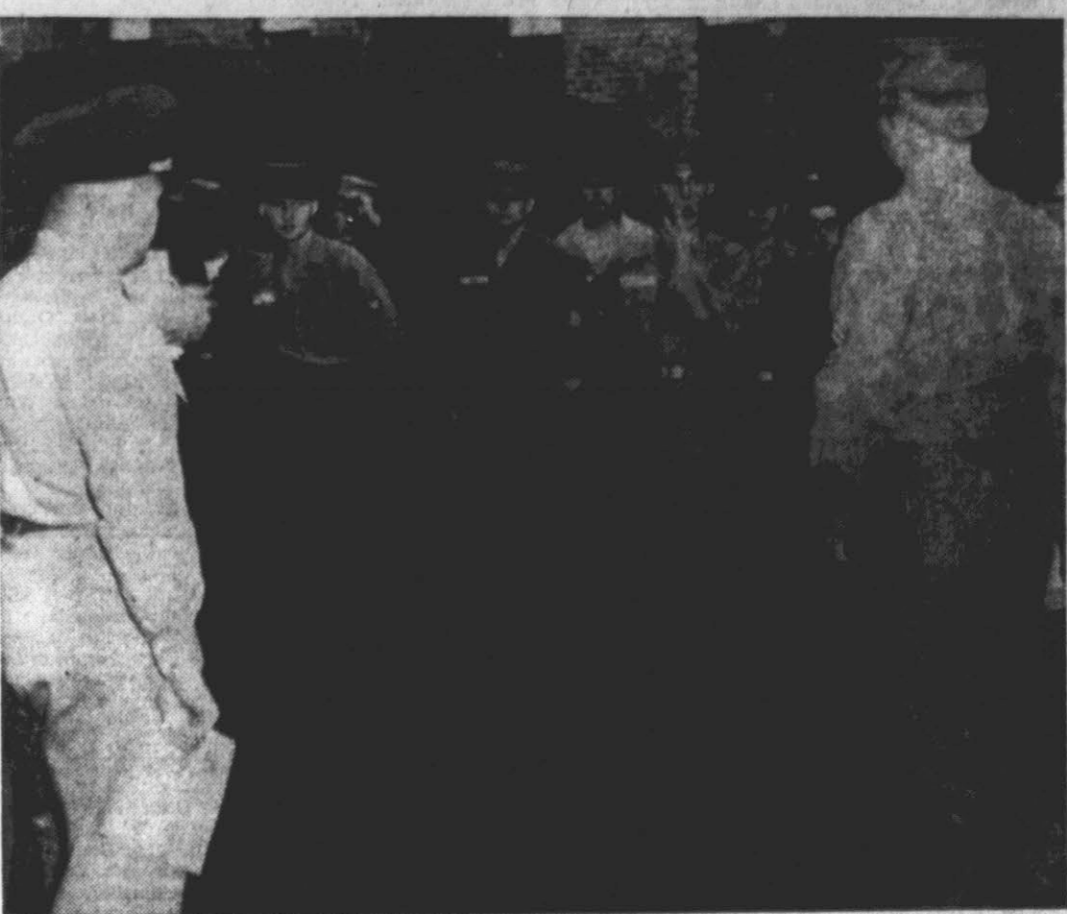

House Leaders Hoping For Break In 'Log Jam'

WASHINGTON (AP)—House leaders looked hopefully today for a breakthrough in the log-jam blocking civil rights legislation. The first move is due to be made when the House reconvenes Tuesday, Rep. Keating (R-NY) announced he will move then to take the controversial bill off the speaker's desk and send it to conference with the Senate. The main controversy revolves around a far-reaching jury trial amendment written by the Senate into a bill designed to protect voting rights. The House bill contains no such amendment. President Eisenhower opposes the jury trial amendment in the Senate bill on grounds it would endanger the power of federal courts to enforce their orders. Keating said the bill ought to be sent to the House Rules Committee and cleared to conference immediately "so we can get on with it." The Democrats had other ideas. They planned to try to bypass conference procedure and bring a compromise bill—described as the floor for a vote. The idea is to send the bill back to the Senate without a conference and thus eliminate the possibility of a lengthy deadlock. While the confused parliamentary situation could snag the bill indefinitely, Rep. Celler (D-NY) predicted the jam would be broken—possibly quicker than anticipated. "The situation is very confused," he conceded, "but I think the ice jam will break all right." Backstage maneuvers, meanwhile, strengthened the belief that House Democrats expect the Senate to go along with a proposed compromise solution limiting jury trial guarantees to voting rights cases only. Both Senate and House bills would empower the attorney general to seek federal court injunctions to halt violations or threaten violations of voting rights. Anyone violating such an injunction could be prosecuted for contempt of court. The Senate wrote in a requirement that a person charged with criminal contempt demand a jury trial. Under the Senate amendment, the jury trial guarantee would cover not only voting rights cases, but a wide range of other federal cases in which judges now try violators of court injunctions without juries. Strategy conferences yesterday included a meeting between Senate Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas and Celler, author of a possible compromise on the jury trial issue. The Celler compromise would confine authority for criminal contempt jury trials to cases involving only voting rights, and not extending into other areas of law. It also would apply only to federal district courts, and not to the Courts of Appeals or the Supreme Court. Rogers' letter was made public by House Republican Leader Martin of Massachusetts. Martin called for rejection of the Senate version of the bill. Yesterday, too, Meade Alcorn, Republican national chairman, said he had conferred with Martin by telephone and that "we are in complete agreement that the bill must be strengthened in every way possible before final passage."

Terrified Child Used By Gunmen For 'Bargaining'

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—Using the life of a terrified 9-year-old farm girl as their bargaining point, three youthful gunmen made an unsuccessful bid for freedom from 100 policemen who surrounded them last night. "If one shot is fired into the house I'll kill the little girl," Peggy Lou Fenstermaker heard one of the men shout to the policeman who ringed her home. Police answered with a barrage of tear gas. The three gunmen, who had robbed a grocery store and shot a policeman, fired random shots from the windows of the farm house near Louisville. While all the excitement was going on, one of the robbers kept telephoning the sheriff's office in Canton, with threats that the woman in the farmhouse would be harmed. After a two-hour siege in which no one was injured the bandits surrendered. It was an armored car that convinced them, Canton police backed their shielded car up to the house and hollered an ultimatum. It worked. Just before the surrender one of the robbers handed a roll of bills to 14-year-old Connie Fenstermaker. It proved to be $306. "Here, take this. We won't need it," he said. The money was part of the proceeds of a $400 holdup at a grocery store late Thursday. In fleeing from the grocery the robbers shot and seriously wounded Louisville Patrolman Harris Lillie, 44. Then they took over the farm residence of Homer Fenstermaker and his family—six persons in all. As they drove up, one man jerked the door open and ordered, "Get down and be quiet." It was just over 24 hours later when the surrender came. All the while the men listened to radio reports, apparently worried whether Lillie was going to die. The hostages were Mr. and Mrs. Homer Fenstermaker and three children—Connie, Dale, 12, and Russell, plus Russell's daughter Peggy Lou. Questioned following their capture, the trio denied there was a fourth member of the group, as earlier reported.

Local Guardsmen Off To Training

Wynne To Head Mental Health Drive In Bethel

J. C. Wynne Jr. has been named chairman of the Pitt County Mental Health Association's fund drive in the Bethel area. Wynne said today, in accepting the fund drive assignment, "For many years I have served as a volunteer in many health and welfare causes, but it is my belief that no cause is as urgent as the cause of the mentally ill. "We have devoted ourselves hardly at all to the cause of the mentally ill and that is why we have thousands of men, women and children in this country who are needlessly suffering the tortures of mental illness. "There is still time, however, to rescue many of the present victims of mental illness and to save additional hundreds from ever becoming mentally ill." A long-time member of the Board of Directors of the Pitt County Mental Health Association, Wynne said today, in accepting the fund drive assignment, "For many years I have served as a volunteer in many health and welfare causes, but it is my belief that no cause is as urgent as the cause of the mentally ill. "We have devoted ourselves hardly at all to the cause of the mentally ill and that is why we have thousands of men, women and children in this country who are needlessly suffering the tortures of mental illness. "There is still time, however, to rescue many of the present victims of mental illness and to save additional hundreds from ever becoming mentally ill." Community activities in which Wynne takes part include the Methodist Church, in which he is a certified lay speaker and Adult Church School Superintendent. He is also a member of the Pitt County Executives Club, a past president of the Bethel Rotary Club, and a member of the North Carolina and National Automobile Dealers associations.

Away from it all Would you like to be able to go to a retreat like this when you are worried—a place where you could be alone with your thoughts—a place where you could untangle your problems? If you would, then you are like most people. Everyone needs a retreat, at moments. And everyone has one! It isn't a mountain cabin or a seaside cottage—but it is a place far better suited to prayer and contemplation, a place to sort out old errors and make new resolutions. It is your church. Let your church be your sanctuary. Go to it when you are troubled. You will find within its walls your moment of peace, and you will walk out into the street again far better able to make the most of your life.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Chosen Assistant Ball Leader

Miss Nelson Blount

Miss Florence Nelson Blount, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin K. Blount of Greenville, has been chosen as one of the assistant leaders for The Terpsichorean Club 1957 Debutante Ball.

Miss Helen McCrary Arendell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Banks Arendell of Raleigh, has been named to lead the Ball.

The leader is chosen from Raleigh debutantes, and together with 14 assistant leaders, will form an inner circle of the cartwheel, the traditional figure of the presentation. Of the 14 assistant leaders, seven are chosen from the eastern part of the state and seven from the west.

Other assistant leaders from the eastern part of North Carolina are as follows: Miss Jane Snyder Bellamy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mrs. Bellamy of Washington; and Miss Lucy Lynn Wooten, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Myers Wooten of Fayetteville.

From the west the following girls have been selected: Miss Frances Faison Dubose, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David St. Pierre Dubose of Durham; Miss Lila Debow, daughter of Mrs. Harold Debow of Statesville; Miss Anne Carolyn Carter, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. W. D. Carter of Wadesboro; Miss Anne Lancaster Hardin, daughter of Mrs. Walter Lauriston Hardin of Hendersonville; Miss Emily Zellers McNeill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. C. McNeill Jr. of Laurinburg; Miss Mary Hill Moffitt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Vestal Moffitt of Lexington; and Miss Jane Reames Stikeleather, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Gidger Stikeleather Jr. of Asheville.

The Thirty-first Annual Debutante Ball will be held this year on September 6th and 7th.

Hendrix-Cox Honored At Wednesday Dinner Party

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Ormond and Josephine Hendrix and Jimmy Lyman Jr. entertained Miss Mary Alice Cox and Curtis Hendrix at their home on East Fifth Street at a dinner party Wednesday night.

The Hendrix-Cox wedding will take place August 18 at the Hayes-Barton Baptist Church in Raleigh.

Miss Cox, wearing a brown summer cotton dress, was presented a pink carnation corsage by the hostess. The couple was presented a silver steak platter by Lyman Jr.

Throughout the home summer flowers were used.

Greeting the 15 guests were the hostess, hosts, and the honorees. Upon arrival tomato juice and cheese straws were served by Miss Hardee Jr. calling the sets. The wedding of Miss Rachel Phillips and Earl Hardee will be held Sunday at 4 p.m. at the Simpson Methodist Church.

Guests were invited from the patio to the dining room where the three-course buffet supper was served by Mrs. J. B. Cox, mother of the bride-elect, and Mrs. H. A. Hendrix, mother of the prospective bridegroom.

The appointed table was centered with a floral arrangement. Miniature wedding bells tied to the chandelier with white ribbons carried out the bridal theme in the dining room.

A social hour followed supper. Goodbyes were said to the hostess, hosts, and honorees.

Square Dance Follows Shower

A shower, given by Mrs. L. T. Hardee Jr., Mrs. Hugh T. Hardee Sr. and Mrs. Charlie R. Hardee Jr., honored Miss Rachel Phillips and Earl Hardee Tuesday night at the Red Oak Community Building.

Guests were greeted at the door by Mrs. Hugh T. Hardee Sr. and Mrs. L. T. Hardee Jr.

Miss Phillips was presented a white orchid corsage by the hostesses.

Refreshments, which included crunchy nut bars, lime tinted punch, chicken salad sandwiches and mixed nuts, were served to the guests by the hostesses. The punch was served by Mrs. Wyatt Highsmith and Mrs. Glenn Hardee. Games were played and prizes were awarded to Hugh Hardee Jr., Mrs. Raymond Baker, Mrs. Hubert Edwards and Mrs. Jean Crawford. After the gifts were opened, a square dance was held with L. T.

Party Entertains Local Bride-Elect

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie R. Hardee Jr. and Mrs. Hugh T. Hardee Sr. entertained Miss Rachel Phillips Saturday morning with a Coca-Cola party at the home of Mrs. Charlie Hardee.

A few games were played, after which the 12 guests were invited to a decorated buffet table spread with bridal cakes, mixed nuts and Coca-Colas.

Scouts Have Been Busy Marking Park Trees

By MARTHA PIERCE
Reflector Teen Writer
New tree markers will soon be placed at the base of the trees at Elm Street Park near the Kiwanis choo-choo. They are the product of the Girl Scouts of Troop 18 and their leader, Mrs. J. H. Behr.

Instead of disbanding for the summer, Troop 18 looked around for a summer project. Since the park has a large number of visitors, they decided to make identification tags for the trees.

To get started, the troop met at the park one afternoon and made a list of all the different species of trees that are found there. They listed twenty varieties in all.

Finding scrap lumber was the next step. The girls met another afternoon and stenciled the Latin and English names of the trees on the boards. The boards were then cut to their proper size.

Dr. Helms of the college science department helped the troop by going out to the park and re-checking the original list of tree species. They varnished the markers and attached the stakes to them. The project is finished except for placing the markers at the base of the trees.

"This project has been the result of many hours of labor on the part of this troop, and we hope that the public may enjoy and benefit from it," declared Mrs. Behr.

Another summer activity of Troop 18 was an outing at Cliffs of the Neuse State Park. The girls took their lunches and spent most of the day swimming.

One More Sign Of Pan-Am Unity

Long neglected relationships between the United States and her neighbor of the Western Hemisphere are gradually being woven into a strong fabric which will stand the entire hemisphere in good stead.

The progress is slow, however. Far too slow compared with efforts made by the United States in other areas of the globe.

For decades the United States has laxished her attention on the nations of Europe and more recently Asia, allowing much closer neighbors in Central and South America to remain in a secondary position in international affairs.

Now and then there is a spark which promises to open a broad new field of effort toward cementing American relationships in this hemisphere. At each new spark, our hope is renewed that before it is too late the United States will fully appreciate it's asset of good neighbors and seek to cultivate its Latin American friendships.

The Pan-American Highway Congress has approved temporary plans for the last major link in the hemispheric highway. The United States, as has become the custom in most international projects in which it is involved, will pay two-thirds of the cost of the project. Though some may object to the share this nation has assumed, it is small indeed compared with the aid that has been given countries in other parts of the world. By comparison it is a small price for the strengthening of relationships with nations at our doorsteps.

Hard To Dwell On Mislabeling

By LYNN NISBET

TOBACCO — Some 150 tobacco farmers representing all four marketing belts in the flue-cured producing area came to Raleigh for the hearing scheduled by L. Y. Ballentine, commissioner of agriculture, to determine whether Bissette Seed farms of Elm City had violated the law by mislabeling tobacco seed. But the seed labeling business was not what they came to talk about. What they wanted was white marketing cards instead of blue pasteboards. White cards entitle growers to 90 per cent of parity price support by the government; blue cards to only 50 per cent of parity.

Hundreds of farmers bought tobacco seed labeled "Bissette 711" and when the tobacco came to maturity in the fields it was the discounted 139, 140 and 244 variety. These varieties are entitled to only 50 per cent parity support.

Ballentine had difficulty in keeping the discussion on the point of mislabeling. The farmers had even more difficulty making proper distinction between functions of the State Department of Agriculture and the Federal Agriculture Stabilization Conservation program. Time after time when some protestant would complain about classification of tobacco by ASC and blame the trouble on the "State," Ballentine would patiently explain that North Carolina had no authority or responsibility in that area. "That is purely a Federal agency," he said.

It was apparent from trend of the statements that the farmers present are pretty well fed up with the way ASC is administering the tobacco program. It is true that the attendants represented a small segment of tobacco growers, but there is enough resentment to endanger the whole price support plan unless current regulations can be modified.

AIR COACH — A memorandum from the Department of Administration is being circulated around State offices calling attention to the possibility of savings in travel cost by using air coach service rather than standard scheduled flights when it is available. There is about $15 difference in round trip fare between Raleigh and New York, around $100 between Raleigh and the West Coast. State employees do not travel a great deal by air, but several hundred dollars a year might be saved by use of air coach service.

Eastern Air Lines folks say the principal difference is that no complimentary meals are served enroute. The air coaches have hostesses, the planes are as comfortable and the flying time the same. Recipients of the memo probably would have thought nothing of it if it had not included mention that this mode of travel should be used rather than "first class" service. "This is the first time in many years with the State," said one oldtimer, "that it has been suggested that people traveling in the name and in the interest of North Carolina should go less than first class."

COMPETITION — Competition is keen in the road building business. For 20 projects included in the letting last week there were 139 bids. The individual jobs ranged from less than $5,000 to more than a $1 million and the contracts awarded total $5,389,489.91. No job had fewer than three bidders and some had fifteen. On one $350,000 project the difference between lowest and second low bid was only $198. In no case was the differential wider than two per cent. Chief Engineer Will Rogers said he could not recall another letting where competition was so keen and bids so closely figured.

MEETINGS — For a good many years meetings of the highway commission have been scheduled for the last Thursday in each month, unless special conditions made another date desirable. Tentative schedule adopted by the present board calls the meetings on the first Monday and Tuesday of each month. Exception is the next meeting, set for Wednesday and Thursday, September 4-5, because Monday of that week is Labor Day.

Chairman W. T. Joyner raised the question why a two-day meeting should be necessary, when one day had sufficed for many years past. Director W. F. Babcock explained that under the new law only the full commission has authority in policy matters, whereas under the former system the chairman was authorized to act when the commission was not in session.

It has been the custom all along for the commission to meet outside of Raleigh occasionally. The new law requires that one meeting a year be held at some place east of Raleigh, one between Raleigh and Hickory and one west of Hickory. Pursuant to that requirement the October meeting has been tentatively set for Asheville on October 7-8. Purpose of the regional meetings is to give the people of those areas convenient opportunity to present petitions or requests to the commission.

The law does not limit the number of meetings permitted outside of Raleigh, but only three are required. The commission can meet in Hickory but a wise guy points out that will have to be an extra out-of-Raleigh session and could not be counted in the legal requirement. Chances are that a Spring session will be scheduled at Charlotte or Winston-Salem to celebrate opening of by-pass expressways.

This country might well give a greater portion of its attention to the relationships with Latin American countries before we find they have slipped into the fold of other influential nations in other parts of the world.

North Carolina's Best Deserves Our Salute

When Greenville's Little League ball team returns home late tomorrow afternoon there should be several thousand people at Elm Street Park to meet them.

The Greenville Tar Heel All-Stars have shown in state competition they are a team of which their home town can and should be proud.

Despite their loss to Florida they represented North Carolina well in the regional playoffs at Rome, Georgia. They were the first team in Eastern North Carolina to cop the state Little League championship and gain the right to represent the state in regional play.

It is a surprise "welcome home" Little League fans in Greenville have planned for the return of this team. The success of the celebration depends not on the outcome of the playoffs at Rome, but rather on the response of local citizens who heed the appeal to be at Elm Street park to welcome the young baseball players home in the manner that befits the champions they are.

The Reflector adds its voice to the many others who are urging local citizens to turn out in large numbers to welcome the Little League players home Sunday afternoon.

Discount House Seen Changing

By ELMER ROESSNER

The character of the discount house is changing again.

Before the war, discount houses were almost like speakeasies. Many were in cheap, upstairs locations. To get in you had to say that Joe had sent you or present a "membership" card, which was not hard to get. If you bought a price-fixed article, such as well-advised toaster, it was described on the sales slip as "1 fgmwp."

During the war discount houses disappeared with the waning supply of civilian goods. They did not reappear until the first setbacks after the war. Discounters returned to the scene as retailers, finding themselves overstocked, offered to sell goods at distress prices. "Transship" became a current word in business. A New York dealer, unable to sell a carload of refrigerators at the fixed price, would arrange to "transship" them to a Philadelphia discount house. The New Yorker would not lose his franchise for cutting the retail price, and he would unload the cut-price boxes in another market. At the same time and for the same reasons, some Philadelphia retailer would be unloading through a New York discount house.

THE GOLDEN DAYS

Then, as production caught up with and surpassed demand, the discount houses found endless sources of goods and expanded accordingly. They preferred low-rent locations and they kept down overhead. Few made deliveries; most considered the original carton sufficient wrapping. Some allowed returns within five days if the article was in the original carton; others considered all sales final. However, nearly all replaced defective articles. There were few displays, little advertising, little service. In many places you had to find the article and take it to a counter to pay for it. Others had only floor samplers and customs got sealed cartons from storage spaces.

In recent times, discount houses have encountered changing situations.

Department stores have been meeting discount house competition. In Brooklyn, Abraham & Straus, a Federated Department Store, has been meeting the prices of a 56 department discount house across the street according to independent price checks. In some cases the store undercut the discounter's price. In Allentown, Pa., the Hess Brothers department store has been meeting all discount prices in the Lehigh Valley and sales this year are up 15 per cent. Across the country, old established merchants are meeting the challenge of discounters' prices. It's often painful, but it's better to make a tiny profit than none at all.

NEAR-SATURATION IN APPLIANCES HURTS

Meanwhile, the saturation in appliances grew nearer. Sales of television sets, washers, dryers, and many other plug-in devices have been falling off. This took some of the bloom off previous discount operations. The ideal customer was the man who needed an appliance badly but who was unwilling to pay the retail price. He would walk into a store, pick out what he wanted, pay for it and take it away in his own car. The profit was small but awfully fast. There are few such customers today. A third factor has been the attenuation of price fixing under so-called fair-trade laws. A large number of big corporations have ceased to use the laws to fix prices of their product and the laws themselves have been found unconstitutional in almost a dozen states. This permits everybody to get into price cutting to a much greater extent.

THE NEW DISCOUNT HOUSE

Shaping policies to realities, discount houses are now broadening their lines, relying less on appliances and related goods. They are increasing their sales forces and improving the quality. The discount salesman who spoke only in grunts, like the speakeasy bartender who insulted all patrons, was colorful in his era. But the public is weary of him and the era is passing.

Some discounters are offering delivery and a few other services. Many are increasing their promotions.

Public Forum

To The Editor:

Mr. Lloyd J. Bray's value and service to East Carolina for the past ten years are inestimable.

Few of the students, faculty, and staff members realized the part Mr. Bray played in providing the modern, attractive, efficient operation of the College Union, including the Recreation Area, Soda Shop, Bookstore and Stationery Store which they enjoyed many times a day and night. It was because of his uncanny foresight, invaluable "know-how", understanding, and patient administration that the College Union has grown to a vital part of campus life at East Carolina College within three short years since its opening in the fall of 1954.

The untimely loss of this valuable administrator and friend leaves a gap that cannot be filled. Cynthia Anne Mendenhall, Recreation Supervisor, College Union

Strength For Today

By EARL L. DOUGLASS

IT CAN HAPPEN

A man who has made a study of missions in North Africa declared recently in a public address that in the town near Carthage in which the famous St. Augustine was born, there is not a Christian today. Under the pressure of missionary activity at the point of a sword, the whole of this section of Africa, has been changed from Christian to Mohammedan faith. In fact the Berbers, who are one hundred per cent Mohammedan, still tattoo all the members of their tribes with a cross. This comes from the day when the Berbers were one hundred per cent Christian. The modern Berber does not know what this tattoo mark means. He only knows it as an ancient custom. When one surveys the power and security of Christianity in that section of the world fifteen hundred years ago, and the right-about-face in matters of religion which has taken place since then, he is brought face to face with an astonishing realization that nations can lose their religious faith in a comparatively short time. The change is a frightening fact.

Could it happen in modern Europe and North America? We hope not, but we are by no means sure. Anything can happen when conditions are present to produce the change. And sometimes it can happen almost without the general run of people knowing that anything is taking place.

Going, Going . . .

by DON SCHLIENZ

Just An Old Movie Fan

Within the last couple weeks my attitude toward "late show" movies on television has undergone something of a change.

I no longer scoff. At our house it's a rare thing for anybody to be up late enough for those late-hour shows, but it does occasionally happen . . . like the occasion a young niece was visiting and what with one thing and another we were still up when our family screen began giving out with an old movie. The show starred Harold Lloyd, the prospect of seeing that pio-ner of Hollywood comedy in action drew my attention.

Remarkably somewhat enthusiastically that it has been a long time since anybody had seen the bespectacled gent on the screen. I was sort of taken aback when our guest asked "Who is Harold Lloyd?"

I tried to explain that he was the predecessor of Jackie Gleason, Red Skelton, Jerry Lewis, Bob Hope and Abbot and Costello. It was a very good build-up . . . Harold would have been proud.

Other Editors Saying--- Politics & Persistence

(Winston-Salem Journal)

Supporters of a federal dam at Hells Canyon are a tenacious lot. After the Federal Power Commission gave the Idaho Power Company the go-ahead for three privately financed dams on the Snake River, they got the Senate to approve the federal dam. But it is doubtful if they can get the bill through the House, where a House Interior subcommittee has just stomped on it. Foes say they can defeat the measure in the full Interior Committee. If by chance it should get to the House floor, and should pass, President Eisenhower would undoubtedly veto it.

The Hells Canyon dispute is an old one and, on the surface, it is a complicated one. It arose originally in June, 1947, when the Idaho Power Company, an investor-owned public utility, filed a preliminary application with the Federal Power Commission to develop the hydroelectric potential in the Snake River between Idaho and Oregon. Staff engineers of the FPC spent 44,000 man-hours over a period of a full year, beginning on July 7, 1953, in hearings on the company's three-dam proposal. Meanwhile public power advocates proposed a single high dam, federally financed, at Hells Canyon. The Senate said no to that back in 1950.

Since 1947, Hells Canyon has become 100 per cent controversial. There are many sideliings, and side issues, but basically it is a dispute between those who favor the privately financed project and those who want the U.S. single dam project. Both are essentially hydroelectric projects.

Thus, although the Hells Canyon issue may be settled for all practical purposes in favor of private enterprise, it is doubtful if we have heard the end of it. Too many people feel that a dead horse can be flailed to good political advantage to stop now.

Then we sat back to watch. The plot was uncomplicated; the gags were familiar; situations were like old friends. In a word, it was so much like home week I was afraid of being bored; and in hopes of keeping the visiting girl's interest alive, I began talking during an intermission . . . later, it sounded like good sense. Roughly, it was like this:

"You see," I told her, "much of Harold Lloyd's comedy might not seem so much today because the routines we're seeing have been used over and over by later laugh-getters. What made, and makes, him different is that the things you're seeing now are about as original as anything one ever saw in the movies or the stage or television."

"At about the time this movie was being made the entertainment world was really spreading its wings in a new field. They laid the groundwork for today."

Then we resumed watching. With a defense of old movies in the back of my head, I began to enjoy the show; and our guest was held in rapt attention . . . occasionally with an appreciative laugh.

Lloyd may now be an "old-timer" in the field of comedy, but there was no denying that what he did, he did well. There was a freshness about his comedy that pleased, even today.

Now I'm wondering if distributors of these older films couldn't include with them a three-minute prepared script for local television announcers to pinpoint a specific quality or milestone in movies illustrated by the feature they're showing. A commentary on the featured players, too, might be in order.

Something like that is done with selected portions of old one-reelers, but on a more elaborate scale. A full-length movie wouldn't need so much in the way of explanatory notes.

It does seem, though, that it would add something to their entertainment value for the casual viewer; particularly if the viewer were of an age to have missed the era of motion pictures represented by those now being dug up from out of the past.

Instead of treating these older films as time-killers, an attitude of a little "respect" by the TV industry would enhance their production by today's audiences.

Wilson Lasted Longer

By D. HAROLD OLIVER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Charles Erwin Wilson will be leaving Washington in a few weeks, having survived some turbulent times in his 4½ years as secretary of defense.

The stocky, white-haired, 67-year-old former president of General Motors resigned Wednesday. President Eisenhower nominated another big business man, Neil H. McElroy of Cincinnati, to succeed him.

Wilson will stay on a few weeks longer to help McElroy get acquainted with the complex job. Then he will take a vacation and what his outspoken wife Jessie terms a well-earned rest.

When Eisenhower picked Wilson for his Cabinet shortly after the 1952 election, the automobile magnate commented he would give the Pentagon job the "darnedest" whirl it ever had.

Many will agree he did just that, and made a good job of it. Sometimes he had more money than he asked for. At other times, as at present, he was forced to make some cutbacks when Congress gave him several billions less than he wanted.

Some critics were saying last year that he had outlived his usefulness. But most will no doubt agree that his salty and outspoken, though at times admittedly "inept," remarks will be missed and the capital will be the duller for it.

For all his bluntness, Wilson stayed on more than twice as long as any of his four predecessors — and longer than all four combined.

Wilson's task was a tough one from the start. When he took over Jan. 28, 1953, after a 10-day bitter fight over Senate confirmation, he became a referee in a hot feud over the strategic roles of the Air Force, Navy and Army — a scrap which has not been completely settled yet.

Further, he has had to lead the armed forces into a new era of warfare — rockets, guided missiles and atomic power — while at the same time trying to maintain an economically feasible organization capable of handling all defense requirements.

He had to ride out the storm whipped up by the late Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy's charges that the Army coddled Communists. He also had to ally the temper stirred by reports that Secretary of the Air Force Harold E. Talbott used his government job to promote his private interests. Talbott denied the reports, then quit.

A former associate of Wilson at the Pentagon described him as "one of the greatest guys I ever worked with." His Republican defenders in Congress say he has done a good job and should be judged on performance, not by what one of them called his "mistaken" remarks.

Perhaps the biggest uproar of criticism this year for what some have called his "foot-in-mouth" statements followed his January remark that the National Guard was a refuge for draft dodgers during the Korean War.

Eisenhower later called the remark "unwise." Mrs. Wilson promptly chided Eisenhower saying the slap at her husband was "uncalled for."

During the storm of comment Wilson, who had been called to the White House, made this statement to reporters, who asked him what he had discussed with the President: "This is not my dung-hill. Anything to be announced, somebody else ought to announce."

The statement that got him in the hottest water was made Oct. 11, 1954, in the congressional election campaign. Discussing unemployment with newsmen in Detroit, Wilson talked about people who have "gumption" enough to go out and find work, then added:

"I've got a lot of sympathy for people where a sudden change catches them. But I've always liked bird dogs better than kennel-fed dogs myself — you know, one that will get out and hunt for his food rather than sit on his fanny and yell."

Legislators and labor leaders thundered a barrage of criticism at Wilson for this one. The Cabinet officer later said he intended no slur against the jobless and no "invidious comparisons, nor insinuations likening people to dogs in any sense."

Dollars And Diplomacy Do Mix

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON "Why all this excitement about the appointment of Maxwell Gluck, a New York millionaire, as Ambassador to Ceylon?" asks Mrs. M. L. of Jersey City, N.J. "Could a poor man afford such a position? And how many of us know the name of the Prime Minister of Ceylon, or can pronounce the name of foreign potentates?"

Answer: As I have written in an earlier column, Mr. Gluck would not have been subjected to such a grilling by Senator Fulbright, an anti-Civil Rights Bill man from Arkansas, if Mr. Gluck's sponsor, Senator Jacob K. Javits of New York, were not such an ardent advocate of racial equality in the schools, in all public places and in apartments.

GLUCK'S CONTRIBUTION TO GOP CAMPAIGNS President Eisenhower, as he says, may not have known of Mr. Gluck's rich contributions to the GOP treasury in 1952 and 1956. But Senator Javits obviously did. Gluck gave only about $10,000 in 1952, when Javits was not running for the Senate, but he came across with $26,500, according to the official reports, when Javits sought political promotion from the House to the Senate.

I cannot go along with the President in his disclaimer that dollars and diplomacy do not mix.

Only a wealthy man or woman can afford to accept these honors, for the salary does not cover even living expenses. Only an Aldrich, a Dillon and a Clare Luce can pay the bills for diplomatic work and entertainment, respectively, at London, Paris and Rome.

I have been entertained in their mansions and villas, and nobody but a millionaire could afford the upkeep. AMBASSADORS HAVE LOST MUCH OF OLD IMPORTANCE

As a matter of diplomatic fact, Ambassadors and Ministers are not such important people these days, when foreign affairs are conducted solely and exclusively by the President and the Secretary of State.

Our overseas emissaries are mainly masters of ceremony. They throw parties for influential politicians, editors and statesmen of the countries to which they are assigned, and they entertain visiting and junket members of the American Congress. Their attaches — commercial, agricultural, labor, military — do the real hard work.

Mr. Gluck may make an excellent Ambassador to Ceylon. Indeed, the fact that he knows little about Asian problems or personalities may be in his favor. He will go there with an open mind, which many of our diplomats do not possess.

DULLES' DASH TO LONDON CONFERENCE "What was the reason for Secretary Dulles' mad rush to the London Disarmament Conference?" inquires T. F. of Berkeley, Calif. "Has Ike finally got fed-up with Harold E. Stassen's performance on this job?"

Answer: Secretary Dulles' dash to London only a few days before the scheduled windup of the disarmament talks, which was ordered by President Eisenhower himself, was a propaganda and publicity stunt, and a good one.

It is quite obvious now that there will be no real accomplishment in the way of disarmament. The Russians are prepared to blame the West, and especially the United States, for this failure. They will use this argument to make enemies for us throughout the world, particularly in the Middle and Far East.

So, to show his interest in the cause of disarmament and to spike the Kremlin's propaganda, Eisenhower recruited the Secretary of State for a rescue opera-

Driver Devises Own Preventive For Excessive Speed

By JIMMY ELLIS
Reflector Staff Writer

FARMVILLE—A Farmville man who once "sailed blissfully through a 'hammy' at 64-miles-per-hour" has a pair of aids to keep him from doing it again.

One of the aids is memory of the fine imposed on him for exceeding the state's highway speed limit.

The other is a "mechanical conscience" he and his father developed after the losing battle with the whammy.

Of the two, Vassar Fields has more faith in the mechanical device. Human nature being what it is, memory of the traffic fine could easily slip away on a smooth stretch of uncrowded highway. The mechanical apparatus can't be overlooked and the only way it can be taken out of operation is by a deliberate, although simple, movement of the foot.

Fields' mechanical conscience is a device he calls a "curbrater." It is a governor over which the driver has complete control, working on a principle of preventing an automobile's accelerator from being depressed farther than the driver wants it depressed.

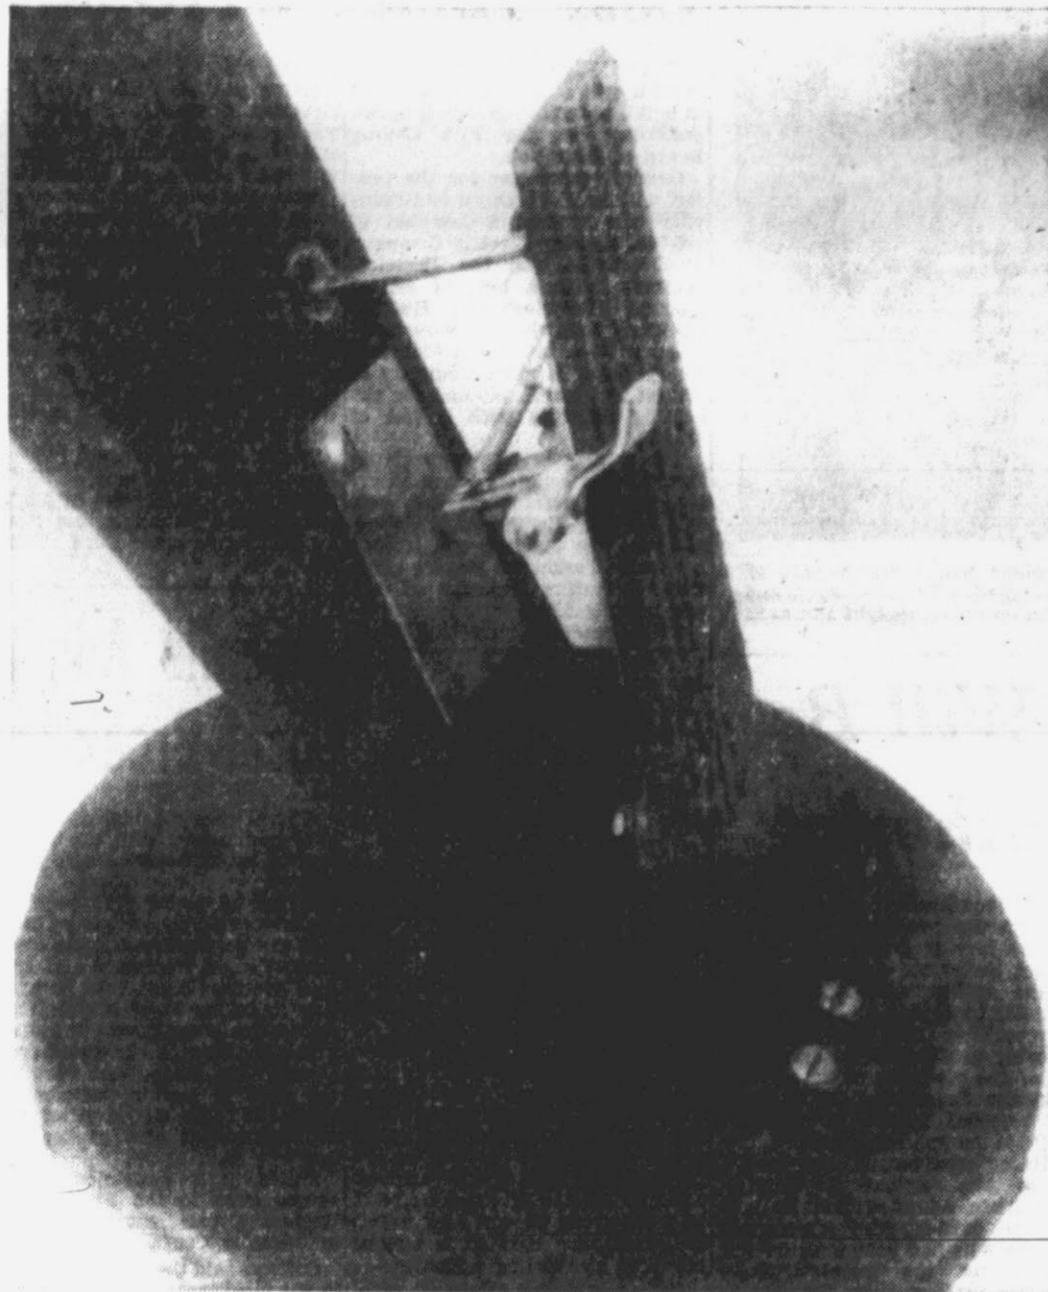

The arrangement of nuts, bolts, metal plates and springs attaches beneath accelerator pedals on all makes of cars. The key to the whole operation is a bar and spring assembly which has a power release lever.

The bar, which can be set at any level desired by individual drivers, keeps the accelerator from being depressed beyond a pre-selected point. If a driver desires additional speed, however, he can feed more gas to the carburetor by shifting his foot to the power release lever and releasing the bar. When the situation in which additional speed is needed has been cleared, the spring causes the bar to snap back into place.

Although the assembly is a simple device, it is not a product of any single flash of genius or inspiration. Fields' present model, which he feels is about as near perfect as he can get it, is the third assembly he has tried. The present model has been in use by Fields for about a year, but it took him more than six months of experimenting with the other two models before he came up with the third arrangement.

Actual use prompted changes in the different models. Fields and his father, the late Bennett Fields, started with a model that would suit their particular automobiles. Modifications and changes necessary for models that would be adaptable to any make of car came through their experiences on the road.

Certainty that he and other motorists would benefit from the device prompted changes in the different models. Fields and his father, the late Bennett Fields, started with a model that would suit their particular automobiles. Modifications and changes necessary for models that would be adaptable to any make of car came through their experiences on the road.

A MECHANICAL CONSCIENCE . . . For Forgetful Drivers.

marketing it as such. It is not a gimmick or a toy, but something that can be worthwhile to the person who wants to treat it as a worthwhile device.

There are a couple of side features to the device that Fields discovered only incidentally.

"The device is a gas-saver, because the car is operated at a constant speed on the open highway," he claims. "We've also found that it's restful. You just press the pedal to the bottom and that's it. The folks who have them on their cars say that there is definite comfort in not having to maintain foot pressure on the accelerator."

The device also brings a problem with it.

"I had a difficult time in learning to drive slowly," Fields says. "I loved the feel of speed and when I put the Curbrater on, it was frustrating to push that accelerator pedal and not get any more speed.

"Eventually, however, you come to the feeling that you're cheating if you take it out of operation," he claims.

Similar thoughts have been expressed to Fields by the people who have the devices on their cars.

"We've sold about 50 of them, mostly to people who travel. The first half-dozen we put out went to people we thought would be best suited to the device," he returned. "We've been in constant contact with them and we haven't had a kick yet."

"And," he added, "they were all sold with the understanding that if they were not as expected, they could be returned."

Although local members of the State Highway Patrol cannot involve themselves in endorsing commercial ventures, Fields claims that "some responsible members of the Patrol have checked the Curbrater and we've had an official blessing of the Highway Patrol, and an optimistic outlook. Fields is not without his troubles."

"We've had our headaches lining up a patent, which is still pending. There was a trend in the old touring car days to put something beneath the gas pedal so that the accelerator would stay down. That was enough to satisfy the patent office of a similarity and we have had to prove the difference in holding speed and holding back speed."

"We think we've got that cleared up, however."

Whether he has or not, Fields believes he can suffer through the patent office's headaches. He feels that way because he knows he doesn't have to worry about traffic court headaches anymore.

Going To College Is Established 'Trait'

By MARTHA PIERCE
Reflector Teen Writer

Going to college seems to be the trend among high school graduates of today. Pitt county graduates have picked colleges in the state for the most part, with some venturing as far away as Kentucky and Colorado.

Percentage-wise Pitt ranks among the top in the number of high school graduates who attend college. Out of 99 graduates in Greenville High School, 68 are continuing their education either in business schools and colleges.

Most college freshmen choose a field in which to specialize. After being exposed to the varied curriculum required of the college freshmen, some of them change their major to a new field that they find more interesting.

Edwin Wilkerson, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Wilkerson of Greenville, is planning to attend the University of North Carolina for a pre-medical course.

"State is one of the best engineering schools in the South," says Charles Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Smith of Greenville, about his plans to enter that college and specialize in engineering.

Hugh Duncan has received an appointment to Annapolis, passed the tests, and is already going to school there. Hugh is the son of Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Duncan of Greenville. George Clark also has an appointment to Annapolis and is going to the Columbia Preparatory School in Washington, D.C. Mr. and Mrs. John G. Clark are his parents.

With plans of majoring in chemistry, Anne Yorke of Ayden will enter Duke University in the fall. "It runs in the family. Mother and Daddy went to Duke," mentions Anne about her reason for choosing Duke. Anne is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred G. Yorke.

Francis Smith of Greenville is planning to attend Salem College in Winston-Salem and then transfer to U.N.C. for her last two years in college. Francis is the daughter of Mr. W. J. Smith of Louisville, Ky. and the late Mrs. Smith. "I plan to major in English and I'm thinking about going into creative writing later on. I will probably minor in French and science," says Francis.

Wake Forest is the destination of Connie Garrenton of Bethel. She is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. C. G. Garrenton. Her father graduated from Wake Forest.

Levy Corey Jr. is planning to enter East Carolina College after he completes his six month Army reserve training, and then transfer to Asbury, Ky. to study to become a minister. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Levy Corey Sr.

Hot Rod Rules Do Not Apply To Power Mower

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Police had to throw away the rule book when they saw an elderly woman riding down the street on a self-propelled power lawn mower.

Patrolman Nick San Marco said the 81-year-old woman bought the mower at a store about noon and refused to let the store make delivery. She said it was her property and she would take it.

After the woman made the trip inside the store and three other short jaunts outside, San Marco decided he couldn't handle the situation and called for reinforcements.

Relatives picked up the woman at police headquarters. She had no license to drive and the machine had no license tag, San Marco said.

Counties Split Their Tax Bill

EAST JORDAN, Mich. (AP) — Tax assessors from two counties hold sort of a reunion at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Maxwell Arnold yearly.

They meet to determine how much the Arnolds owe Charlevoix and Antrim County because the couple sleep in Charlevoix County and generally live in the other.

The assessors meet, divide up their portion of the small cottage, and present their respective tax bills.

But the Arnolds must vote in the county in which they sleep — Charlevoix.

Disappearance Is Later Solved

CHARLESTON W. Va. (AP) — A cherished fraternity pin, thought lost forever, has been found.

Police discovered the pin in the possession of a man arrested for questioning in a duel.

Police Lt. Jesse G. Workman said the pin, handed down from one Sigma Chi president to another at West Virginia University, seemed out of place with the man's other belongings.

They were a raccoon's foot, three pocket knives, four cigars, a key case and pocket watch, a change purse and one button.

Paternity Leave Is Now Official

LA MESA, Calif. (AP) — School officials agree that all-night floor pacing by new fathers constitutes unusual mental strain.

The trustees have voted to grant a one-day leave of absence with pay to male school teachers on the day following the birth of their child.

"A teacher is not in condition to teach effectively on the day following the birth, yet financial pressure usually prevents his remaining at home if a deduction in pay is to result," the trustees held.

Business Takes New Look At Last Quarter

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — Business is taking a new look today at the fourth quarter of the year.

The element of caution has crept in again and the early expressions of all-out confidence in a new business boom this fall have lost some of their positiveness.

Here are some of the things the worrying kind can find to fret about.

Factory output and employment has slid off from its peak. Hopes in the steel industry for a big pickup in demand haven't materialized as yet.

Almost all the other metals are suffering from continuing price weakness and cutbacks in output or shutdowns.

Shipments in many industries have been running ahead of new orders.

Appliance makers until recently had been looking for a pickup in sales to end the slump early in the year and to pull 1957 above 1956. Now some of them say the pickup, if it comes, will be late.

Auto makers have sold a lot of cars but not as many as they thought they would some months back.

The rise in stocks of goods and materials in factories and store worries some observers. Manufacturing and trade inventories are five billion dollars higher than a year ago. They have increased in the last few months after being cut back earlier in the year.

The oil industry has many problems. It has just cut its output of crude oil back to the lowest point in 1957. But it still has surplus problems.

None of this need signal a failure of the fall business pickup to arrive on schedule.

A lot will depend upon the consumer's buying mood, upon his reaction to higher prices, his struggles with the rising cost of living.

Business for the moment is just being a little more cautious and less sure that the boom is in the bag.

Takes Oath As A Marine

Lots Of Time For Next Career

CHARLESTON, S. C. (AP)—A local newspaper publisher retired this summer after spending half his life in various phases of the newspaper business.

His retirement coincided with his graduation from St. Andrews High School.

The young former publisher is 17-year-old Jimmy McElveen, an enterprising editor-publisher, photographer, reporter and advertising director of the West Ashley News for the past six years. The neighborhood paper had 500 subscribers at the time of its last edition.

Jimmy's newspaper experience goes even further back than six years. He put out his first paper when he was in the third grade.

Upon graduation, Jimmy went to work for the Charleston Evening Post. Next fall he will enter Furman University. The university doesn't offer a degree in journalism, so his major subject will be English. His minor? Journalism, of course.

Prosecution Says Lid Will Be Blown Off In Gossip-Gathering

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The jury in the Confidential Magazine criminal libel trial has heard a little about Hollywood scandal-mongering, but the prosecution says it will blow the lid off gossip-gathering activities next week.

Former Confidential editor Howard Rushmore testified yesterday about many of the magazine's story-gathering secrets.

He named a one-time figure in Hollywood movie circles as Confidential's "chief source" of information about the purported indiscretions of movie stars.

Rushmore said she is actor Bruce Cabot's former wife, Francesca de Scaffa. Miss de Scaffa was indicted in the case. She is in Mexico, but Deputy Dist. Atty. William L. Ritz says he will start proceedings to extradite her.

Rushmore testified that Miss de Scaffa told him and Confidential's publisher, Robert Harrison, that she "had access to practically every home in Hollywood, had an almost unlimited number of friends and knew their secrets."

He added:

"She said smilingly, 'I can give you stories if I have to have an affair with whatever man you want.'"

"I told Mr. Harrison," Rushmore testified, "that we had to be very careful with de Scaffa as I considered her dangerous and emotionally unstable."

The former editor testified that in an effort to get statements from certain movie stars, Harrison instructed Miss de Scaffa to have lunch with them and record their conversations with an electronic device strapped to her wrist.

Rushmore named Los Angeles private detective Barney Ruditsky as another source of information.

Rushmore will be back on the witness stand for cross-examination when the trial resumes Monday.

Prosecutor Ritz says he will call Hollywood playgirl Ronnie Quillian as a witness. Rushmore testified the often-arrested Miss Quillian was a top source of information for Confidential and its sister publication, Whisper. He identified Miss Quillian as a Hollywood "madam."

Then the prosecution will read to the jury 10 Confidential stories about Hollywood celebrities.

The defense says it intends to counter by calling up to 100 movie personalities with the intent of proving Confidential's stories were true. The plan was bolstered when Superior Judge Herbert V. Walker rejected actor Tab Hunter's plea to be spared testifying.

Under cross-examination by Defense Atty. Arthur J. Crowley, Rushmore admitted that he is a former card-carrying Communist and that he had been a writer and editor for the People's Daily Worker in New York. He said he later worked for the late Sen. Joseph McCarthy's investigating committee.

He said he originally was hired by Harrison to write anti-Communist articles for Confidential.

Herbert Hoover, Now 83, Sees 2 Clouds On Horizon

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Former President Herbert Hoover, 83 today, sees two clouds on the horizon—the clouds of possible war and the cloud of possible inflation.

He refused to prophesy on either at a news conference yesterday in his hotel suite.

Puffing at a pipe which went out twice in the half-hour interview, Hoover appeared hale and hearty. Reporters who have seen him frequently since he left the White House almost 25 years ago said they had not seen him looking so well in many years.

On war, Hoover said "the West has grown definitely stronger, but military values are changing. You can evaluate ground armies and navies, but you can't evaluate where nuclear weapons are concerned."

"Especially when we know nothing about our major enemy and that's Russia," he added.

On inflation, Hoover said he views the five to six cents drop in the purchasing power of the dollar as "very dangerous" and declared "these people better do something about it."

"I mean the administration, the Federal Reserve Bank and the various financial agencies of the government," he explained.

Hoover said his greatest hope for the world was for peace—"everything that makes for peace is the overriding need right now."

The man who was president from 1929 to 1933 termed juvenile delinquency a "monstrous growth."

He said teenage crime is increasing faster than the teenagers themselves, with juveniles stealing 66 per cent of the stolen cars, committing more than 53 per cent of the burglaries, 24 per cent of the robberies, over 50 per cent of the larcenies and over 16 per cent of the rapes.

He blamed slums, broken homes, lack of moral and religious training, "and the constant romance of crime by the opinion making media."

Hoover said he still rises at 6:30 for breakfast and works from 7:30 to lunch. "I rest after lunch because that's the doctor's orders," he explained. His health, he said, is "fundamentally good."

He refused to comment on national politics and was a bit huffy when newsmen asked his ideas on the threatened 1958 battle for the Republican nomination for governor of California between Gov. Goodwin J. Knight and Sen. William F. Knowland. The latter has said he won't run for the Senate in '58 and many California Republicans think he'll try to unseat Knowland as a step toward the presidency in 1960.

"I'm not going down that road," Hoover snapped. "You go down that road and you wind up in a mud hole." He did not elaborate.

Kindergarten Workshop Closes At ECC Friday

Sessions of the 5th annual Kindergarten Workshop sponsored by East Carolina College ended Friday evening, and in the final day's program preliminary plans for the North Carolina Kindergarten Teachers Association 1957 convention program were revealed.

Miss Annie Mae Murray, director of the ECC Wahl-Coates Laboratory School Kindergarten, directed the workshop and is assisting in the convention plans. A large number of the near 100 kindergarten teachers present completed the examinations, having enrolled in the course for college credit.

Mrs. Henry Maddrey, president of the NCKTA, announced that the 1957 convention will be held in Charlotte on October 8 and 9, with Hotel Barringer as headquarters. A nationally known speaker in the field of education of the preschool child will address the convention, Mrs. Maddrey and Miss Murray told the kindergarten teachers.

New Bethel Gym Will Cost About $118,624

Bethel High School's new gymnasium will cost at least $118,624 to build, according to bids accepted yesterday by the Pitt County Board of Education.

General contractor for the project will be W. G. Dunn of Greenville who entered a low bid of $96,680. Moseley Electric Company of Greenville won the electrical contract with a bid of $3,461 and Shack's Electric Company was third with a bid of $3,528.

Cauley and Pitt of Kinston placed second in bidding for the plumbing contract with an offer to do the work for $7,460. C. E. Williams of Greenville was third with a bid of $7,490.

In the heating contract bidding, Jones Heating Company of Wilson was second with a price of $12,762 and Kinston Plumbing and Heating Company ranked third at $13,140.

The gym, a brick veneer structure with a concrete block interior, will be located on the West side of the Bethel High School campus. The building will include a full-size basketball playing court with a seating capacity of approximately 1,000.

Eight general contracting firms entered bids for the general contracting project. P. S. West Construction Company of Greenville was second with a bid of $98,400 and O. L. Shackelford of Kinston was third with a bid of $98,884.

Nine electrical contractors entered bids in their category, with King Electric Company of Greenville second with a bid of $3,461 and Shack's Electric Company was third with a bid of $3,528.

Pitt Fair Signs Up Pinky Lee And Hypnotist

Pinky Lee of television fame and Miss Joan Brandon, hypnotist, will be featured at the Pitt County Agricultural Fair this fall, Norman Y. Chambliss, manager of the fair, announced today.

"Thousands of children from over Eastern Carolina are expected to visit the fair on Tuesday and Friday to see the two daily performances of 'Pinky Lee.' Chambliss said Lee will be available for appearances at the fair only on Tuesday and Friday. The fair is being held this year Sept. 30 through Oct. 5.

Miss Brandon, billed as the world's greatest woman hypnotist, will begin her performances Tuesday and continue through the week.

Chambliss said a pavilion is to be provided at the west end of the main exhibit building for the two celebrities.

Children days for the fair will be Tuesday for white school children of Greenville, Wednesday for colored school children of Greenville and Pitt County and Friday for white school children of Pitt County.

American Legion and Auxiliary Day when all Auxiliary members will be admitted free at the main gate will be October 3.

"The 1957 Pitt County Agricultural Fair will be the greatest ever presented in Pitt County and the management has gone to great expense in bringing to the fair such outstanding stars as Pinky Lee and Joan Brandon and we regret Pinky Lee is available only for Tuesday and Friday," said Ed Harris, president of the Fair Association. "The main purpose of the fair is to encourage agriculture in Pitt County and carry out our slogan 'Pitt County on Parade' and, secondly, wholesome amusements."

Kiwanians Hear Talk On Russia At Meeting

LT-Col. Beverly Brookdorff, U. S. Army Reserve Sub-District Headquarters, Greenville, who recently attended an Army Intelligence School in Germany, spoke about Soviet Russia at the Kiwanis Club last night.

Col. Brookdorff concluded his address by answering questions of many members of his audience, and replying to a query as to why Russia is against America, he said "Russia has one way of life and we have another, and it will always be that way." J. A. Collins had charge of the program and introduced the speaker.

President Charles E. Blair, who presided, said the last Kiwanis picnic of the summer will be held at Kiwanis Park next Friday at 6 p.m. The Kiwanians will take some boys to Pope Field Air Force Base, Fayetteville, for "Kiwanis Kids Day," September 28.

F. F. Hendrix and his son, Floyd, and Preston Corey were guests of the club last night. Ell Bloom had dinner at the club and a dime for each year of his age.

The Kiwanis Club will be well represented at the welcoming exercises for the Greenville Little League North Carolina Champions Sunday afternoon when they arrive from Rome, Georgia.

Three Convicted For Failure To Report Wages

Three Negroes were convicted in Magistrate's Court Thursday for failing to report wages earned during weeks when they filed claims for unemployment insurance.

Each of the three defendants was ordered to repay sums received during the periods from the Employment Security Commission, were charged with court costs, and ruled ineligible for unemployment benefits for one year.

Helen Little, 40, Route 4, Greenville, was ordered to repay $78; Lenwood Brown, 36, Route 1, Stokes, was ordered to repay $68; and Leroy Ballard, 34, 1515-B Fleming Street, was ordered to repay $29. The payments will become due when the judgments become final. Claims Deputy C. A. Dees of New Bern said that such judgments are held open for ten days after trials, in case appeals are filed.

The defendants were tried and convicted before Magistrate Luther D. Moore of Greenville.

Democrats Off To Fast Start On Tax Cut Plea

WASHINGTON (AP)—Democrats were off to a running start today on the popularly popular subject of income tax cuts.

House Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex.) and Democratic members of the House Ways and Means Committee agreed yesterday to begin hearings on general tax revision when Congress returns in January.

The decision, reached at a closed door conference, was taken to mean that Democrats are determined to be first in line with legislation whenever the state of the budget permits general tax relief.

In the Senate, Sen. Yarborough (D-Tex.) proposed an across-the-board income tax cut, to be accomplished by increasing the present $600 individual exemption to $800.

Tax experts said a $200 increase in personal exemptions would cost the treasury around five billion dollars in annual revenue.

Senate Approves Extra Benefits

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate has approved benefit increases of about 170 million dollars a year for some two million disabled veterans and their dependents.

The measure, shouted through the Senate last night, now goes back to the House for consideration of some minor Senate amendments. The House passed the bill unanimously May 13.

The increased payments, which would be effective in 30 to 60 days, raise the total disability rate from the present $181 monthly to $225. A 10 per cent disability payment would rise from $17 to $19, 50 per cent disability from $91 to $100, 80 per cent disability from $145 to $160, with similar hikes in other categories.

Brief Training For Leaf Judges

LUMBERTON, N. C. (AP)—Young boys "fresh out of college" and with "three days' training" were the agents used to check on whether Carolinas tobacco growers were planting blacklisted seed varieties, a fund-raising meeting was held last night.

A. E. (Red) Bethea of Dillon, S.C., told about 100 farmers that the Agricultural Stabilization Corp. (ASC) has no right to blacklist seed varieties and thus cause price supports to be cut on tobacco grown from these varieties.

E. H. Zeigler of Florence, S.C., told the group he will seek a federal injunction next week against the ASC blacklisting action.

Betha said that "tobacco companies are buying and using the blacklisted varieties every day... The farmers in both Carolinas who have raised tobacco all of their lives know what kind of tobacco is in their fields. Yet the ASC took young boys fresh out of college, gave them three days' training, and sent them to check the tobacco growers' fields."

Luther Tippett, Sanford farmer, said he planted Binnett 711 for the second year in a row. "This year the checkers are claiming that I planted Dixie Bright 244 (a blacklisted variety)."

Five Speakers Will Fill In For Minister

Five speakers will occupy the pulpit at St. James Methodist Church while its minister, the Rev. J. Malloy Owen is in Europe.

Tomorrow Wyatt Highsmith, local florist, will preach the sermon at the church. On Aug. 25 William H. Watson, attorney, will deliver the message. Sept. 1 Dr. Cecil W. Robbins, president of Louisiana College will preach. C. Wade Golston, professor of bible at Louisiana will preach Sept. 8. George W. Smith, plumbing supplies salesman, will bring the message Sept. 15.

Reports Theft Of Automobile

A 1952 two-tone Chevrolet belonging to Calvin O. Stephens of 412 B Davis St. has been reported stolen by the owner.

City Police received the larceny complaint this morning at 7 o'clock. Stephens stated in his complaint that the vehicle was stolen sometime between 10:30 p.m. yesterday and 6:15 this morning.

The automobile, valued at $600, was parked at 1100 W. Third St. Police are conducting an investigation.

Flames Were Out When Firemen Arrived

Burning grease in an oven brought a fire truck to 904 E. Fourth St. around 4:30 yesterday afternoon.

The dwelling is owned by Clarence Tugwell and occupied by N. G. Dean.

Firemen reported the flames out on arrival. There was some smoke damage.

Six Cub Scouts Work For Advancement

Six Cub Scouts of the Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church are working toward their Webelos rank, the highest in Cub Scouting.

Working toward advancement are Wyatt Brown, Bill Proctor, Jimmy Merrill, Hunter Hamilton, Willard Jackson and Jimmy Netherton.

The group went on a hike earlier in the week. Members, after studying the care of knife and axe, built individual fires and prepared their meals. Later they spent some time exploring and studying nature.

A Heap Of Work In Moving One Pole Six Feet

EQUIPMENT UNLOADED . . . it takes 15 men and heavy machines.

By BILLY ARNOLD
 Reflector Staff Writer

Early this week a crew of fifteen men from two different power companies (one from New Bern), five trucks, and an outfit of heavy equipment gathered on Greenville's 14th Street.

The men from the Greenville Utilities Commission and the visitors from the Carolina Telephone and Telegraph Company worked side by side for well over three hours under a hot sun. The work was hard, hot, and steady. And it was extremely dangerous.

The object of this exacting task? A telephone pole had to be moved six feet.

A new driveway is being planned that leads from 14th street to the new Greenville high school. The driveway would incircle the pole making it a hazard to motorists. Therefore, a change had to be made.

Both companies had wires connected to that one troublesome pole and both companies had to be present at the moving in order to adjust.

A new pole was put up just six feet away from the old one — well out of the driveway — and workmen from both companies took turns adjusting their wires, moving them from the old to the new. Steel stakes had to be driven into the pole for climbing purposes, new equipment had to be attached. All this work was being done with live wires.

After the switch had been made, the old pole was dislodged from the ground and carried away. Then, the surrounding poles in the area, on either side of the street, also had to be adjusted to allow for the difference in distance. The reason for this was that the nearby poles were also connected to the troublesome one by other live wires.

Afterwards, they all took a drink of water.

ABANDONING THE OLD . . . this one is stripped.

DRIVING STAKES . . . for future use.

MOVING . . . the pole begins to give.

TURN ON THE JUICE . . . an operator cuts the switch

LINING UP . . . the heavy crane is attached to old pole.

REFRESHING . . . time out for a drink of cool water.

IT'S ALL OVER . . . the old useless pole is now out of the ground

Lake Worth Tops Local Little Leaguers By 9-7 Score

By BILLY ARNOLD
Reflector Sports Editor

ROME, Ga.—Lake Worth, Fla. dropped Greenville's North Carolina Little League champions out of the Southeastern Regional Tournament here yesterday afternoon in an extra-inning 9-7 ball game.

A home run, with one man on, broke a 6-6 tie and sent Lake Worth into today's finals against Knoxville, Tenn. Knoxville beat the host Georgia team, from Athens, 2-1, in the second game of opening round action.

The Florida club overcame a 5-0, first-inning lead posted by Greenville to win the game. Lake Worth scored three times in the second inning and three more in the third to take a 6-5 lead that was wiped out when Greenville scored one in the bottom of the third.

A 106-degree temperature greeted both teams and a crowd of around 200 people who watched the first game and a 15-minute opening ceremony. The crowd increased slightly for the Tennessee-Georgia game which followed the Greenville-Lake Worth contest.

Greenville opened the game with ace righthander Denny Hardee on the mound. Hardee, who had won twice in tournament play after compiling a 7-2 record during the regular season, was lifted in the seventh for Joe Harper. Harper pitched the final inning and was tagged with the loss.

Hardee was retired on an infield out, but both runners advanced on the play.

Dixie Coltraine singled to chase home Joyner, and Reynolds came in a few minutes later when J. G. Proctor came through with another single. Joe Harper loaded the bases with another hit, and Coltraine and Proctor scored when Joe McKay bounced a long double off the rightfield wall.

Two walks, two singles, and a double put Florida back into the game in the second inning. Lake Worth's three runs in the third inning came on three singles and two walks off Hardee.

ECC Grid Coach Says Rebuilding Job Is In Store

"A lot of people don't realize it, but we're practically starting from scratch this year."

The one bright spot in the ECC picture, Boone admits, is a host of first and experienced halfbacks. Back to bolster that position will be Charlie Bishop, Tommy Nash, Walkie Hanford, James Speight, Leonard Lilley, Bobby Patterson and Lee Atkinson.

At fullback, Boone will have Bob Maynard, Randall Holmes, Bobby Yilley and George Slaughter. Quarterback is a sore spot for Boone's club last year posted one of its most dismal seasons, although its opposition was the toughest in the school's history.

"We lost 27 of an uncertain picture. We lost 27 of an uncertain picture. We lost 27 of an uncertain picture."

Boone's club last year posted one of its most dismal seasons, although its opposition was the toughest in the school's history.

"We will be changing around a bit until we get the right combination on the staff," Boone said, "but as it stands tentatively, I'll work with the backs, Coach (Earl) Smith will handle the JV's and varsity guards, Frank Madigan will work with centers, guards and linebackers, and Bill McDonald will work with the tackles."

The Coach also stated that some coaching assistance from former ECC ball players Dick Cherry, Gary Matlocks, Milt Collier may be expected.

"Our tackles are very shallow. Larry Howell, Faircloth and Jerry Brooks are our only returning veterans. Brooks is still bothered with a bad foot and is a question mark."

"At center, we'll have an experienced boy in Lynn Barnett. We might also keep James Faircloth at that spot if needed. However, we plan to use him at a tackle slot."

Fracture To Idle Johnny Longden

DEL MAR, Calif. (AP)—A broken leg has Johnny Longden hospitalized today. But his first reaction was that the injury will not necessarily end his career as the world's champion winning jockey.

Both bones of the right leg were broke, cleanly just above the ankle when Royal Zaca, a filly at the post for the first time, reared in the starting gate just before the fourth race at Del Mar track yesterday. Longden's leg was pinned between horse and gate as he fell over backwards.

The 47-year-old jockey was brought to Scripps Memorial Hospital in nearby La Jolla, accompanied by Bert Thompson, Western representative of the Jockeys' Guild. Thompson asked Longden: "Is this it? Will you retire now?"

"We'll just have to wait and see," answered the man who in his 30-year career has ridden 5,000 winners, more than any other jockey.

Dr. R. V. Falt, track physician, said after X-rays were taken that "such breaks are notoriously slow in mending." He said Longden will not be able to ride for three to six months. A cast will be put on the leg in a day or two.

Gossipers Make Althea 'Meaner'

SEWICKLEY, Pa. (AP)—Wimbledon champion Althea Gibson, seething over reports that she is getting "big-headed," said today that all of this stuff is just making me meaner on the tennis courts.

Althea made her statement after a Pittsburgh paper had chided her for failure to grant an impromptu interview. The paper referred to a similar incident at the National Clay Courts tournament in Chicago and indicated Miss Gibson was proving high-hat as a result of her new success.

I am amazed at these stories about my treatment of the press," said the 29-year-old girl from Harlem's sidewalks. "I have always treated reporters with the greatest respect, but I don't stop every-time they bark."

Pro Footballers Defeat All-Stars By 22-12

By JERRY LISKA

CHICAGO (AP)—The College All-Stars were supposed to teach the pros a lesson in passing, but the New York Giants used just that weapon in spanking the campus Soldier Field last night.

It was a rugged victory for the Giants. The collegians who most made them hustle, besides Brodie and Hornung, included a cracker-jack back from Wake Forest, Billy Ray Barnes, Southern California's Jon Arnett, Michigan State's John Matsko, Syracuse's Jim Brown, Illinois' Abe Woodson, and Mississippi's Paige Cothren. Barnes scored the only All-Star touchdown on a 2-yard plunge in the first period to give the collegians a 6-0 lead. He nearly broke away for a touchdown in the second quarter, but was nailed after a 29-yard run.

Barnes' sprint set up the first of two field goals by Cothren, and left the All-Stars trailing only 10-9 at halftime. Cothren's first boot covered 12 yards. His second, in the fourth period, was a 25-yarder to shave New York's margin to 17-12.

The Giants started the second half with a 77-yard drive in 10 plays to score on a 10-yard pass from Conery to Mac Afee. That gave the Giants a 17-9 lead and just about settled the issue. Then in the fourth quarter, after Cothren's second field goal, 38-year-old Ben Agajanian's second field goal—a 45-yard boot—sewed it up for good at 20-12.

Braves Stretch NL Lead By Clobbering Cards, 13-2

By ED WILKS

Is the nonsense over in the National League race? Milwaukee's Braves have taken a 3 1/2-game lead, the biggest bulge yet, and they've done it with a five-game winning streak—all against contenders.

The Braves have lost only one of their last seven games, dropping one to three with Brooklyn, then sweeping three from Cincinnati before clobbering second-place St. Louis 13-2 last night.

The defeat, the Cards' fourth in a row, hoisted the Braves into the biggest edge any leader has had in the NL since last Sept. 3.

While righthander Bob Buhl was breezing against the Cardinals to become the first 15-game winner in the NL, third-place Brooklyn junked its three-game losing streak and stayed within five games of the top with a 4-2 victory at Pittsburgh. Cincinnati rallied all night long and came off with a two-night doubleheader sweep that left the Redlegs in fourth, 6 1/2 back, with 9-7 and 6-4 victories over the Chicago Cubs, who had won five in a row.

The New York Giants won their fourth straight, battering Robin Roberts to his 15th defeat in a 6-2 decision over fifth-place Philadelphia, now eight games behind. In the American League, Chicago's second-place White Sox crept back within four games of first-place New York by defeating Detroit 5-4 in 11 innings while Baltimore, jumping into fourth, trimmed the Yankees 4-3. Washington whipped Boston 8-0 and Cleveland skidded to fifth with a 3-2, 13-inning defeat by Kansas City.

Buhl gave up a home run to Del Ennis that cut Milwaukee's lead to 2-1 in the second inning, but then the Braves boomed. They slammed 18 hits, 10 for extra bases and four of them home runs, by Hank Aaron, Ed Mathews, Wes Covington and Bob Hazle.

Young Lindy McDaniel had it in a four-run third, when Aaron socked his 32nd home run, tops in the majors. Red Schoendienst was 4-for-4 and Hazle 4-for-5.

The Dodgers handed Bob Friend a 15th defeat as Duke Snider hit his 27th home run in a two-run eighth that clinched it. Southpaw rookie Danny McDevitt gave up a 5-1 record, but needed help in the ninth when the Braves scored once.

George Crowe and Frank Robinson hit two-run homers for the Redlegs in the opener, but it was Smoky Burgess' three-run homer that won it in the eighth for reliever Johnny Klippstein. Burgess also tagged a two-run homer in the nightcap, but Cincinnati needed an eighth-inning rally to win that one, scoring four runs on five hits. The Cubs had first game homers from Dale Long, Chuck Tanner and Bob Speake.

The Giants collected a pair of three-run innings as Roberts gave up eight hits in the first three frames. Hank Sauer hit his 17th home run, with a man on. Ray Crone won it for a 5-6 record.

Bob Nieman drove in all of Baltimore's runs with his 10th homer and a three-run double in a 3-for-3 night. Bill Wright won it with George Zuvernick's relief. Whitey Tommy Simeon, football coach at High Point high school who is secretary and treasurer of the State Football Officials Assn., announced that officials must be qualified each year by examination. They cannot work games this fall without it.

Tomorrow's examinations will be held at Goldsboro at 2 p.m., for Eastern North Carolina officials; at High Point YMCA at 2:15 p.m. for those in the central part of the state; and at Lee Educational High School, Asheville, at 2:30 p.m., for those in Western North Carolina.

John Melton, Freshman backfield coach at Wyoming, also coaches the Cowboy track and cross-country teams.

Exam Time For Whistle-Tooters

HIGH POINT, N.C. (AP)—The whistle-tooters will officiate at high school football games this fall come up for exams tomorrow at three area sites across the state.

After today entered the third round of Tam O'Shanter's "world" jamboree with a two-stroke edge. He slammed a 69 to go with an opening 65 and pulled up at the half way junction yesterday with a 10-under-par 134.

Al Balding, a lanky 33-year-old Canadian, wheeled into second place with a 69 for 136.

Would Balding like to play with Snead in the final two rounds of this money struggle? "Let's put it this way," smiled the Toronto pro. "Would Snead like to play with me?"

While Balding wasn't figuring on a Snead blowup to beat him, some of the other pros were thinking it would take just that. They recalled how he had soared out of the lead in other tournaments and also how he could return strongly after being behind.

Akins Says He Had It Planned To Upset Hart

CLEVELAND (AP)—Veteran Virgil Akins' eighth round TKO of young Sugar Hart last night was an upset to the bettors, but Akins says he planned it that way.

"I figures I piled up enough points in the first two rounds to coast a while," said the 29-year-old Akins from St. Louis, who went in a 5-7 underdog despite his third-spot ranking among welterweights, six notches above Hart. Both weighed 148.

"After I landed a hard left to his body in the seventh I knew I had him," Akins said, although it wasn't obvious at all to the sparse crowd of about 1,000 who saw the televised fight in the Cleveland Public Hall.

The two judges had Akins barely ahead on points at the end of six rounds, and Referee Lou Parker had Hart ahead 28-27. Hart had staggered Akins in the fifth round with a hard right and two left uppercuts, but the veteran weathered the storm and came back to win the sixth.

Hart, a 21-year-old from Philadelphia, seemed to be sailing along in good shape in the seventh, when Akins suddenly chilled him with that overhand right.

Patriots Drive Goes In Reverse

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

That Greensboro drive to overtake first-place High Point-Thomasville in the Carolina League is turning into a step-forward, step-backward affair.

The backward step came last night when Durham plastered the Patriots, 9-4. The Hi-Toms, meanwhile, romped to a 7-2 win over Wilson. Thus, Greensboro moved again into a 2 1/2-games-behind position.

The score was closer in Danville, where the Leafs inched out a 3-2 decision over Winston-Salem. An error and three successive singles in the ninth inning gave Danville its victory. Two runs scored by the Red Birds in the second frame had looked like enough until that point.

Al Paschal banged a three-run homer in the fourth inning to lead the Durham attack against Greensboro. Bubba Morton collected a two-run circuit blow in the fifth. Altogether, the Bulls managed 11 hits off two Greensboro hurlers.

Favors Athletics At An Early Age

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—Prof. Paul Hunsicker of the University of Michigan says there should be physical education classes in kindergarten and all through elementary school.

The physical education department professor says young children "don't learn to master their motor skills" because they lack gymnasiums and suitable play areas.

Younger children, he says, have a faster rate of learning and more free time to practice athletic skills than college and high school students.

OFFICERS' ATTENTION

OPEN END HOLSTER RECOMMENDED

HOLSTERS OFTEN ACCUMULATE LINT AND FIBERS. THESE HAVE A TENDENCY TO COLLECT MOISTURE AND RUST AND CAN EVEN CLOG THE GUN BARREL.

BUT WHO IS HE?

IT WAS OLD AMMUNITION. I'D HAD IT FOR YEARS. IT HAD LOST ITS POWER SO WHEN I AIMED OVER HIS HEAD, THE BULLET DROPPED AND STRUCK HIM. 22 SHORTS AREN'T TOO POWERFUL AT BEST.

THE BULLET LODGED BETWEEN HIS SKULL AND THE SKIN. HE MAY HAVE A CHANCE.

THERE! I WORKED THE SLUG AROUND TO THE OPENING AND GOT IT OUT. H'M?

JUST A LITTLE PIECE OF LEAD, BUT IT COULD HAVE MADE ME A MURDERER.

HUH? MAYBE IT HAS! IS HE STILL BREATHING?

YES—HE'S ALIVE—I CAN HEAR HIS HEART—I THINK—

PRESSURE ON THE WOUND TO STOP THE BLEEDING— HE'S GOT A CHANCE.

BUT WHO IS HE? WHAT WAS HE DOING HERE? I THOUGHT HE WAS MORIN PLENTY.

SPEAKING OF MORIN PLENTY— STRAIGHT AHEAD, GRAMPS— THEY'RE WAITING FOR YOU IN TOWN.

THE SHERIFF FIGURED YOU'D GET LOST IN THESE MOUNTAINS—AND THAT'S JUST WHAT YOU DID! WELL, WE FOUND YOU— YOU KILLER!

WHAT'S THIS ALL ABOUT? WHAT DID I DO?

YOU'RE WANTED BACK IN THE CITY, MORIN, FOR A TRIPLE MURDER. STICK OUT YOUR WRISTS.

WHO IS HE?

IF ONLY I COULD READ!

HELLO, CITY DESK? BETTER GET SOME REPORTERS OUT TO MILESTONE... THERE'LL BE A STORY OUT THERE TODAY!

ARRIVING AT MILESTONE, THE REPORTERS TALK TO RUSTY.

WHAT'S THE DELAY, KID?

THEY CAN'T FIND THE STAR'S DOUBLE TO DO SOME TRICK RIDING FOR HIM!

DOUBLE? DOESN'T SONNY DO THOSE STUNTS HIMSELF??

THOSE REPORTERS ARE SUSPICIOUS...THEY THINK SONNY CAN'T MAKE THAT JUMP!

RIDICULOUS! SONNY CAN DO ANYTHING ON A HORSE!

HE CAN, EH? GLAD TO HEAR IT, BECAUSE BILLY TALL TREE IS MISSING... SO SONNY WILL HAVE TO DO IT, HIMSELF!

Chronic TV Complainers Facing Rough Season

By CYNTHIA LOWRY NEW YORK (AP) — The chronic complainers about television — who have been blaming the medium for everything from juvenile delinquency to bad eyesight — are in for a tough season.

fall and winter programs on the three networks indicate there will be at least 2 Western and — or adventure shows, all on film. There will also be some 20 musical or variety shows, and the same number of situation comedies. Crime and mystery shows have dropped down into fourth place — 13 of them. And, while it may seem like more, there will be only 11 quiz or panel shows. There will also be 11 dramatic shows, the vast majority on film and only three regularly produced live.

While the ratings battle between Ed Sullivan and Steve Allen continued last season's television scene, ABC hopes to make it a three-cornered battle for the Sunday evening viewing crowd. Its entry is an hour-long outdoor burner, Maverick which will be slipped into the TV stream at 7:30 p.m. (EST). By 8 p.m. (EST) with the advent of the Sullivan's and Men's expensive talent, ABC viewers will be so intent on the story they will neglect to flip that channel selector — or at least that's what the programing brains are hoping.

ABC, as a matter of fact, seems to be staking a lot on the Westerns. It has blocked them solid for two hours on Tuesday nights. Their top prize acquisitions for the season, however, are Frank Sinatra, whose 30-minute variety show will be on at 9 p.m. (EST) Fridays and Walter Winchell as a reporter in a newspaper adventure series on Wednesdays at 9:30 p.m. (EST). CBS is also doing loud drumming on such new shows as Eve Arden's new series about a lady lecturer, the hour-long Patli Page variety show on Wednesdays, and a Britain-made comedy series called Dick and the Duchess. NBC's schedule seems full of new offerings — Dinah Shore's Sunday night show and the Gobel-Eddie Fisher shows (with the stars alternating Tuesday nights) a frontier saga called Wagon Train, a remake of the popular old Thin Man movies for TV, Gisele MacKenzie's new variety show, Manhunt (a sort of Chicago Dragnet), and Dean Martin's new variety show.

ECC President Samples Flying In Jet

Dr. J. D. Messick, president of East Carolina College, and Lt. J. L. Davis talk about a flight in a T-33 jet trainer at Griffiss Air Force Base near Rome, N. Y., in which the ECC president not only had the experience of riding but also of piloting after the take-off.

Recently Dr. Messick and Lt. Col. Edward A. Maloney, professor of Air Science at East Carolina College visited Griffiss AFB where Cadet John L. Gray, Jr. of Kinston, a cadet in the Air Force ROTC, is in summer training.

Dr. Messick and Col. Maloney, after arriving in Newark, N. J., by plane, were taken to Griffiss near Rome, N. Y. in a B-25, where they were quartered in the VIP apartments and taken on a tour of the base.

An Itch Led To Theft Arrest

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Detective Edward Pushkarwicz told a Magistrate's Court yesterday how an itch led to an arrest.

Pushkarwicz caught poison ivy from vines around a suburban post office as he was investigating the theft of a pistol and $1,338 in cash and stamps.

Scratching for a solution, the detective reasoned the thief might be similarly blistered and uncomfortable. He went to the home of a suspect, and sure enough, there was a bottle of poison ivy lotion in the bedroom. Pushkarwicz arrested 23-year-old Robert A. Lightkep.

Lightkep told the court he'd caught the itch three weeks before the burglary. He was held without bail.

Social Security Value Discussed At Meeting

Over 150 Negro adults attended the county-wide Social Security educational meeting at the courthouse in Greenville last Tuesday night.

Pitt County Farm Bureau Director G. D. Cox of Winterville opened the meeting with prayer. W. K. Wichard, Social Security case worker for Pitt county, described the various ways Social Security affects farm families. He said time is running out for those families not covered by Social Security. He said the penalty rates of 25 per cent and six per cent interest annually for not filing would make it difficult for many families to be covered in future if they continue to wait.

In addition, the speaker said many family heads could become physically disabled before working the wait period before filing Social Security. He pointed out that if the time runs out and a family head becomes disabled it is not possible to draw Social Security. He said many families would not know how to file for Social Security. However, there are numerous persons scattered through Pitt county, plus assistance from the Pitt County office building, who would be glad to help them to get started.

The second part of the meeting was devoted to Farm Bureau work and Pitt County Farm Bureau membership Chairman Ralph Tucker presided. A. W. Solomon, Greensboro, Farm Bureau representative, spoke about organizational work. He pointed out that as far as farm people are concerned the heat is on, and there are too many outsiders who know little about the farmers' problems who are trying to dictate to the farmers what to do. He brought out the fact that even the farmers themselves are not banded together close enough to make good use of the farm programs we now have. "It will be a sad day whenever farmers vote out the farm programs we now have."

Noel Lee, Jr., of Pactolus, Pitt County Farm Bureau president thanked the large audience for attending. He also thanked Pitt County Negro Farm Agent J. M. Goode, W. G. Barnes and Mrs. Amelia Capehart, extension workers, for the success of the county-wide meeting.

S. C. Mills, adult farmer of Winterville, who is on the State Steering Committee of Farm Bureau work, A. and T. College, Greensboro, acted as temporary chairman of the group and appointed five adults from the group to be a nominating committee. They are: Amos T. Mills, Greenville; Sim Chapman, Calico; Rev. James Crandall, Pactolus; Arthur Council, Sallie Branch, and William Pittman, Hanrahan. They will meet at the Pitt county office building August 14 to nominate captains for various communities of Pitt county. They are to push the membership drive which starts sometime in September.

The captains nominated will be voted on by the Negro Farm Bureau unit during the annual Farm Bureau dinner to be held September 4. In addition, a president, vice-president and secretary will be elected.

Last Battleship Will Be Laid Up

WASHINGTON (AP)—For the first time in its modern history the U. S. Navy will have no battleships operating at the end of this year.

The Navy has announced that the battleship Wisconsin and 18 other vessels will be placed in mothballs by Oct. 28. This is in addition to 60 others, including the battleship Iowa, which it said Monday will be retired by the end of the year.

The Iowa and the Wisconsin are now the only active battlewagons surviving the trend toward aircraft carriers and other more modern ship types.

The changes were ordered as part of an over-all economy drive designed to hold defense spending for the current fiscal year to 36 billion dollars.

As another part of the drive, the Navy announced yesterday a cutback of 10 to 15 per cent in the 254 million barrels of petroleum products it had planned to buy for all the armed services for the year. The saving was estimated at between 115 and 170 million dollars.

Mothballing of 19 vessels was announced as a revision of the Monday announcement of the retirement of the Iowa and 59 other ships, including 26 other combat vessels.

Except for the Wisconsin, there was no announcement of the specific types of ships included in the new deactivation schedule.

By the end of this calendar year, the number of ships in the active fleets will be whittled from 967 to 928.

Although the Navy will be forced to retire 79 vessels, it will commission 23 new ships and add 10 that have been modernized.

Old Glory Sees Its Ups, Downs

WASHINGTON (AP)—Old Glory is having its ups and downs atop the Capitol these days to pacify congressional constituents.

It's a rare day indeed when a tourist can see by the dawn's early light the banner he so proudly hailed at the twilight's last gleaming.

What the visitor is more likely to see from time to time on the main Capitol flagstaff is a scene that suggests the Stars and Stripes may be on a treadmill.

It has to be that way if an estimated 3,500 to 4,000 flags annually that "flew over the Capitol" are to be provided to schools, patriotic groups and other organizations which ask for the emblems through their congressmen.

To meet the growing demand, Capitol police in charge of hoisting the colors each morning frequently take a large supply of flags to the dome. They run them up one at a time, let them flap long enough to catch a faint breeze, and lower them. Then the flag that is to fly throughout the day is raised and roped into position.

The procedure permits the architect of the Capitol to certify truthfully that the flags actually flew over the Capitol.

The flags themselves are furnished by the congressmen, who buy them at wholesale prices through the Senate and House stationery rooms. The wholesale cost is 50 per cent off the list price is $2.50 for a flag measuring 3 by 8 feet and $6.50 for a 5-by-8 king-size job.

Poodle Grabbed Officer's Arm

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Motorcycle Patrolman Eugene Scoville waved Mrs. Lulu Mae Johnson to the curb after clocking her at 34 miles an hour in a 25-mile zone.

"Let me see your driver's license," he said, reaching in the car window.

The woman's French poodle Billy Echo grabbed the officer's arm and "I thought he never was going to let loose," Mrs. Johnson said.

In the excitement Scoville almost forgot the speeding charge. Then Mrs. Johnson got a ticket. Scoville got his arm treated and Billy Echo got 10 days under observation for possible rabies.

Mission Team Going Overseas

GIBBONS, OWEN, GARLAND S. TUCKER
Circuit Rider Advisory Board Chairman... discuss plans for trip to British Isles.

The Circuit Rider is going to Europe.

The Rev. J. Malloy Owen III, television's Circuit Rider and minister of St. James Methodist Church in Greenville, is leaving Sunday for a preaching mission in Britain, Scotland, France and Northern Ireland.

The popular young minister will make 21 appearances during the seven-week trip.

In addition Robert H. Gibbons Jr., minister of music for The Circuit Rider and St. James, will make one appearance on his own at Stuttgart, Germany as Owen preaches in Paris.

Along with Owen and Gibbons, Merrill Dunlop, on loan from the Jimmy Johnson team, will be a member of the three-man team.

Dunlop, who lives in Chicago, has made the arrangements for the trip through his cousin, the Rev. Douglas Dunlop of Britain.

"Gibbons and I had felt led to the British Isles for some time," Owen says of the decision to make the trip. "Why the British Isles, I don't know, except that's the one land where we don't have to speak through a translator." The two main cities for the evangelistic team will be Glasgow, Scotland and Ballymena, Northern Ireland.

They will appear in Glasgow on five nights, from Aug. 25 through Aug. 29, and in Ballymena for nine nights, from Sept. 1 through Sept. 8.

The team will also be in Greenock, Paisley, Motherwell and Edinburgh, Scotland.

While Owen is overseas the Circuit Rider will be off the air. When he returns the program will return at a new time.

German Actor Prefers Glamour Of Las Vegas

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Hollywood may not seem so glamorous in the eyes of German star Curt Jergens, but Las Vegas—that's another matter.

"Fantastic—utterly fantastic!" exclaimed the handsome star over the Nevada gambling capital. "I could never imagine such a place. To think that Americans would construct such palaces in the middle of the desert, just so people could gamble!"

"Without air conditioning, the whole thing would be impossible. You step outdoors and the heat knocks you right back into the casinos—which is what the owners want, I guess."

"The shows are wonderful. Such production, such girls! But the real show is the people."

"I have a home 13 kilometers from Monte Carlo, and when I go to the casino to play, I dress up in a black suit. In Las Vegas, a man was gambling right next to me who was naked—nothing on but trunks! And I saw a woman in a bikini walk in from the swimming pool and sit right down to play craps."

He confessed he would also like to play craps but doesn't know how. He contented himself to roulette and dropped quite a bundle. Despite this, he plans to return as soon as he finishes his first Hollywood film, "The Enemy Below."

An Austrian citizen of French-German parents, Jergens is 42, tall, masculine and speaks English with scarcely an accent. He resembles George Sanders, but His impressions of Hollywood?

"I love working here. There is so much preparation, so much knowhow. Things are done as swiftly as possible. In Europe it is different. Some directors think the more time they take, the more artistic is the picture. It is nonsense."

"Is Hollywood glamorous? I do not think so. Except for the big homes of Bel Air, it is not too impressive. It is not a town for night life."

Found Whiskey In 'Water' Tap

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A policeman, after searching unsuccessfully for illegal whiskey in a home, worked up a thirst.

Patrolman Charles Stitt headed for the cold water tap of a laundry tub, poured himself a glassful, raised it to his lips—and the search came to an end.

Stitt and other officers traced the "water" pipe to a buried 25-gallon drum in the back yard. The drum, they said, was about two thirds full of "white whisky."

Willie Cumbo, 33, and his wife Dolores, 28, who live in the house, were arrested on charges of possessing untaxed liquor. They said they didn't know anything about the whisky tap.
