Forty-One Defy US Gov't; Take Tour

MOSCOW (AP)—Forty-one American youths defied the United States government today and left for a forbidden tour of Red China. Just before the Moscow-Peiping trans-Siberian express train pulled out, two Americans withdrew from the trip. Two others said they might decide later to catch up with the group by flying to Peiping.

Jake Rosen, New York, leader of the group and organizer for the trip to the Communist-sponsored Moscow youth festival, said he would go to Peiping by way of Kiev where he would first attend a n o t h e r Communist-sponsored youth meeting. The U. S. State Department had issued a strong warning that the trip might violate the law. This resulted in an anxious 2 1/2-hour meeting by the Americans early in the day. Several had been wavering among the 46 who originally planned to make the trip to Peiping.

The sharp State Department warning that going on the three-week, Communist-sponsored trip might lead to trouble with the U. S. law brought one withdrawal from the original list. Orville Schmidt of Frankfurt, Germany, and Marlon, S. D., dropped out but two other Americans decided to go. They are Selby Tucker Jr., Pass Christian, Miss., and Dean Hoxsey, Los Angeles.

Farmville Expects Light Sales Day

FARMVILLE—The 52-year-old Farmville Tobacco Market will launch its 53rd selling season tomorrow morning with prospects of light opening day sales. Sales Supervisor Charles S. Edwards said this morning that tobacco was moving slowly into the market's 12 warehouses. "It may be a little early in the day to comment," Edwards said, "but it looks as if we will have a light sale tomorrow. We anticipate about a half-day's activity on the market."

the Rev. L. C. Vereen will open the first sale at Farmer's with an invocation at 9 a.m. Nine major tobacco companies will have two sets of buyers on the Farmville market which last year sold 25,620,020 pounds of tobacco for $13,165,624, an average of $51.39 per hundred pounds. Last year on opening day, the Farmville market averaged $46.66 per hundred pounds on sales of 337,867 pounds for a total of $157,661.78. The opening day sales record was set in 1955 when the market moved $44,946 pounds for a total of $393,743.73, an average of $46.60 per hundred pounds.

Edwards' comments were made after a meeting of the Farmville Tobacco Board of Trade which accepted Clellan Prewitt, B. S. Correll and Hogan Teater as members. The new members represent Prewitt's Warehouses, a three-house firm which will operate on the Farmville market for the first time.

The board also voted to require all buyers operating on the Farmville market this year to remain on one side of sales rows during actual sales. Warehouse personnel, including auctioneers, will stand opposite the buyers.

The innovation is being installed in an effort to catch every bid that is made. Edwards said, "The practice is not common on the Eastern Belt, but we believe it will allow auctioneers and warehousemen to see every buyer clearly. We think it will work to the advantage of farmers who sell in Farmville because we do not anticipate having auctioneers missing any raised bids with the system in effect."

Separation of buyers and warehouse personnel will go into effect immediately after opening ceremonies at Farmer's Warehouse. Edwards said this morning that the committee would have to hold hearings. But there were reports some Senate Democrats want to pass the rate bill so that a pay increase for postal workers would have a better chance of being signed by President Eisenhower.

Sees 100 Per Cent Capability For DEW Line

By ELTON C. FAY
POINT BARROW, Alaska (AP)—The Distant Early Warning (DEW) Line, a 3,000-mile-long chain of radar stations guarding North America's northern rim, has been operating in test for months and already has shown "100 per cent" capability, says a ranking U. S. airman.

Brig. Gen. Stanley Wray, chief of the U. S. Air Force electronic defense system, made the evaluation yesterday at a formal ceremony marking formal delivery of Dewline by the builders, the Western Electric Co., to the government. In the first public demonstration for newsmen, the Dewline station here picked up an Air Force jet bomber far out over the Polar Sea.

Wray said in a variety of tests during the last month B47 jet bombers have tried to penetrate the line at high, medium and low altitudes from various approaches out over the Arctic Ocean. Newsmen watched yesterday's demonstration in the darkened console room of a radar station. They saw a pinpoint of light on a luminous screen. As they entered the room, a B47 was approaching at 33,000 feet altitude from 140 miles out. It closed distance rapidly but meanwhile, a test message was sent flashing on its way south for relay to Colorado Springs, Colo., headquarters of Air Defense Command.

The bomber was out of sight and soundless as it made its first high pass over Dewline, then turned back for a low pass. Approximately 600 civilian employees of the Federal Electric Corp. man the continent-spanning Dewline stations. An estimated half billion dollars has been spent on the line. At a news conference, Wray also gave these answers to questions: "No Soviet planes that we know of have been picked up by Dewline stations so far. Present Dewline equipment is designed for detection of objects the size of bombers. It is possible that jet fighters could get through the line undetected but it is highly unlikely that such short-range aircraft would be used by an enemy at the vast range involved in a strike toward the United States. Dewline could pick up guided missiles at reasonable altitude but with present equipment could not pick up ballistic missiles. Dewline stations actually ring a warning bell. Audible signals sound to alert operators as a plane penetrates the line. This is in addition to a visual radar scanning system and photographing of radar image for sending detailed information to Air Defense Command. Instead of the 600 met. now manning the line, it would need 5,000 if no audible system were used," Wray said.

Senators Look To Adjourning

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate's Democratic and Republican leaders laid out a program today for action on half a dozen major measures and adjournment of Congress next week — if the House breaks its civil rights stalemate.

Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn (D-Tex) already has closed the door to consideration by that body of any new legislation. Republican Leader Knowland of California said that "leaving aside civil rights, if everything goes well, we should get out of here by a week from Saturday." Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas indicated he agreed.

Despite talk of a presidential veto, Johnson said he will bring before the Senate House-passed bills to increase the pay of postal workers and government civil service employees. He said a compromise immigration measure on which the Senate Judiciary Committee is expected to act today will be brought before the Senate, as will a revised bill to limit the availability of FBI files to defendants in federal court cases. Johnson said the Senate will act on a bill authorizing appropriations for the Atomic Energy Commission. This measure is involved in a controversy over whether there should be a government program of construction of atomic reactors. The program opposed by the administration and rejected by the House.

He also marked for consideration a bill to provide 500 million dollars government indemnity to cover possible damage from the explosion of any atomic reactor. Johnson and Knowland agreed that the Senate will act finally on a foreign aid appropriation bill and a supplemental money bill to clear up that field. Knowland said he hopes time can be found to extend the Governmental Reorganization Act for a year, a subject Johnson did not mention.

Receive Copies Of Utilities Audit

Utilities commissioners received copies of the 1956-57 audit of the commission's books last night. The audits were turned over to them for study and the commission plans to hear a report on the audit at its next meeting. Utilities Superintendent Leonard Bloxam reported some 82,019,000 gallons of water were pumped from the city's deep well and the water plant combined during July. Bloxam also reported on the progress of various sewer, water and gas projects.

Tobacco Trickles Onto Warehouse Floors; Full Sales Not Expected

'Partial Control' Of Forest Blaze

STUMPY POINT, N. C. (AP)—The big forest fire in Dare and Hyde counties was described today as "partially under control" — two weeks after it was set off by a bolt of lightning. Asst. State Forester P. W. Tillman said the acreage covered by the fire was about the same as yesterday. He said a survey indicated this is between 75,000 and 77,000 acres. Tillman said it is impossible at this stage to estimate the monetary loss caused by the fire. Although rains, which are needed to extinguish smoldering ground fires along the widespread fire line, are not in sight, Tillman said winds—blowing today from the northeast at about 10 miles per hour—"are not too bad."

He reported that a "dangerous situation developed" last night on the fire's northeast sector near Mann's Harbor and that a line had been established today from highway U. S. 264 to Croatan Sound to protect this sector. After tractors had plowed the line, pumps were sent in and back fires started. Following the burning of two firefighters yesterday, a Marine helicopter was brought in today. It will be used for rescue work on the blaze. Meanwhile, two other blazes broke out in the tinder-dry coastal woodlands yesterday, one near Lake Phelps in Washington County and one near Wachese on Roanoke Island. Tillman said both are under control. J. C. Hubbard, state administrative forester, said yesterday rain is sorely needed to put out the fires.

Racketeer's Pal Refuses Answer

WASHINGTON (AP)—Harry Davidoff, convicted extortionist and pal of racketeer Johnny Dio, refused to answer today when asked whether he has robbed members of Teamsters Union Local 258 in New York. He is the local's secretary-treasurer. Davidoff pleaded to the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee that answers to this and 43 other questions might incriminate him. His stand brought a blast from the committee's chairman, Sen. McClellan (D-Ark), against scoundrels the senator said have infiltrated organized labor. Davidoff, bespectacled and mild-mannered, refused to tell the committee whether he employed sweetheart contracts with employees. The term is applied in labor circles to contracts which provide no improvement for workers and are chiefly of benefit to the employer. He read off his Fifth Amendment pleas from a prepared statement. Davidoff was finally excused after taking the Fifth 41 times. On only three occasions did he vary from his self-incrimination plea in response to questions. That was when McClellan asked him first whether he was an American citizen and second whether he was proud of it. Both times, Davidoff replied: "Yes, sir." McClellan also asked: "Do you believe those who take the Fifth Amendment are worthy to be associated with the labor movement?" Again, Davidoff answered, "Yes, sir."

Weather Outlook For N. C. Through Monday

Temperatures two to four degrees above normal, with only small day to day changes; average high and low temperatures 88-68. Average rainfall of one-quarter inch in widely scattered afternoon and evening showers.

Tobacco was beginning to trickle in to the city's 12 warehouses this morning as farmers prepared to sell on the market's opening day. Sales are scheduled to begin at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning. Tobaccoists are forecasting light offerings for the opening day. "We don't anticipate a full sale," Sales Supervisor W. L. Whedbee said this morning. In fact full sales are "not expected for the first few days due to the fact many farmers are still housing and curing the remainder of their crop."

However, higher prices are expected over the entire Eastern Belt as compared to last year, due to the switch to old line varieties of tobacco which are in demand by domestic and foreign buyers. Tomorrow's opening day poundage is expected to fall below the 1,741,360 pounds which were sold on opening day 1956 but observers believe that the average for tomorrow will exceed the $46.90 opening day average of 1956. Tobacco which flows on warehouse floors this year will have a different look from that with which buyers have been faced for the last couple years. In recent years farmers have been planting certain high yielding, disease resistant varieties which proved to be undesirable to both domestic and foreign buyers. This year those varieties, described as pale, slick tobacco by the trade, have been outlawed by the Stabilization Corp., which supports tobacco prices. They will draw only 50 per cent of full support prices.

'Honest John' Is Tested At Bragg

PT. BRAGG, N. C. (AP)—An awesome noise and a flash of fire and smoke filled the early morning air here today as the Third Army Missile Command fired its first "Honest John" rocket in a training program. A similar rocket was fired here a few months ago on an experimental basis. Between 200 and 250 military and civilian observers, including about 20 representatives of the press, radio and television, witnessed the 6 a.m. firing. Witnesses said the launching of the 27-foot, 5900-pound rocket was "very impressive." The after-blast of the rocket singed the ground for 30 or 40 feet aft of the mobile launcher. The rocket traveled at a speed of about 1,700 miles an hour. It has a 5 to 17-mile range. It is not a guided missile and must be aimed before firing. However, it is capable of carrying an atomic warhead. The Army said today's rocket reached an altitude of 18,000 feet. The launching site was in a wooded area. Observers there could not see the impact area. The mobile launcher is a converted five-ton truck with a 42-foot launching rail. Both the launcher and the rocket are air transportable. Maj. Gen. Robert F. Sink, commanding officer of Ft. Bragg and the XVIII Airborne Corps, headed the group of military observers.

May Defer Action On Postal Rates

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two GOP senators indicated today that action on a House-passed bill to boost postal rates. Senate Republican Leader Knowland (Calif) said that because adjournment is near, he doubts the Senate will act this year on the bill to raise the first-class letter rate to 4 cents an ounce, and airmail to 7 cents, effective Oct. 1. Other raises also would be provided, to increase postal revenues by 1960 an estimated $27 1/2 million dollars a year. Sen. Carlson (Kan), ranking Republican on the Senate Post Office Committee, said he was sure

As a result farmers returned mostly to old line varieties this year. These varieties yield less to the acre but they are of a quality which the tobacco trade wants. However, due to the overproduction of tobacco for the last two years, acreage was cut by 20 per cent this year. Further cuts in production resulted from the return to old line varieties, Soil Bank and diseases which struck this year's crop. Tobaccoists are estimating that the over-all cut in poundage this year will amount to 35 per cent. If that is true it would mean production in Pitt County would be cut from the 57,161,694 pounds produced in 1956 to 37,255,101 pounds this year. The yield per acre for 1956 was 1,839 and that figure is expected to be considerably lower this year. On tomorrow's sales primings and lugs are expected to be predominant. "If the general rule is followed, offerings for the first few days will consist mainly of primings and lugs with a small amount of the other types of tobacco," Whedbee said this morning. Whedbee cautioned farmers to be sure to have their marketing books with them each time they bring tobacco to the warehouses to be weighed. "That's very important," Whedbee said. Discounted varieties are carrying specially marked warehouse tickets this year and the marketing books are needed to determine the variety.

the committee would have to hold hearings. But there were reports some Senate Democrats want to pass the rate bill so that a pay increase for postal workers would have a better chance of being signed by President Eisenhower. Eisenhower has asked for rate increases but he has opposed general pay increases for federal employees at this time. The House, which already had approved pay increases for postal workers, passed the rate increase measure late yesterday, 256-129. Voting for it were 85 Democrats and 171 Republicans; against it were 125 Democrats and 4 Republicans.

New Regulation Expected Cut Unemployment Benefit Claims

More than a 40 per cent drop in new unemployment compensation claims is expected by Manager W. B. Dillingham of the Pitt County Employment Security Commission. This drop in claims will be due to a new regulation that went into effect here during the month of July. Dillingham said under the new provision, a person must earn $500 or more during a specified 12-month period before being eligible for unemployment insurance. The prior regulations permitted such payments when only $250 has been earned during the 12 months. Meanwhile the general employment situation is some what darker in Pitt County through the first seven months of the year. Dillingham stated, "Times are generally not as good in 1957 as in 1956." He illustrated by quoting figures for new and continued claims during the first full week in August of 1956 and 1957. During the week ending August 10, 1956, the office had one new claim and 65 continued claims. Of this number 29 were female. For the week ending August 9, 1957, there were 12 new claims filed, with 117 continued claims. The number of continued claims listed 71 females. "Both of these figures are comparatively small but a trend can be seen," he further stated.

At the present time the local Commission is going through its "quiet season." This, the manager said, is due to the tobacco marketing opening here affording most of the claimants employment. As is the case throughout many counties in eastern North Carolina, employment and claim filing run in a never ending cycle. For the next three months or more specifically, from the middle of August until the middle of November, the number of new and continued claims here will be at a low for the year. Thus far this year figures have been somewhat higher than last year's. Dillingham explained that (Continued On Page 12)

A Joyous Day All Over The Land

This is the "real" V-J Day. On August 14, 1945, Japan announced its capitulation. The formal ceremonies of surrender were held aboard the battleship USS Missouri on September 2 of that year.

But August 14 is the date people remember . . . it was a glorious, grand and gay day all over the land. Gone were the fears for millions of men and boys deployed far in the West Pacific. No more killing, nor wounding, nor suffering.

Newly dawned were hopes for early homecomings and an end to rationing and shortages; an end to austerity (we called it), an end to heavy taxation, too . . . everybody thought.

The last of the aggressors had fallen. There would be no more war because dictators who saw glory in conflict and conquest were gone.

(Some voices might have been heard saying "there is still Stalin", but the din of rejoicing drowned them out.)

So peace returned; a state the world had not known since September of 1939 when Hitler started the killing by his invasion of Poland.

More than that, a new world organization known as the United Nations was to be born. It was to be the instrument of peace for generations yet unborn.

Everything was solved.

No wonder there were crowds in the streets and unrestrained cheers . . . combined with tears . . . and the beardless boys whooping it up in the grand manner. They could. They should. They had been granted a reprieve.

Mergers As An Inflation Hedge

By ELMER ROESSNER

The threat of further inflation is a little noticed factor in the large number of corporate mergers.

When the number of mergers began increasing two or three years ago, tax advantages, opportunistic expansion and diversification were usually given as reason. Opportunistic expansion, by the way, usually meant acquiring a good sales force, plant sites, sources of components or key processes and men. It is often worth-while to buy a whole business just to get one of those!

Since then Congress has reduced tax benefits somewhat. Opportunistic expansion continues, as it will forever. But diversification has taken a new turn. Two or three years ago, the common object of diversification was to get feet into two or more markets. The manufacturer of an industrial product might merge with the maker of consumer goods; a holder of defense contracts might unite with a company active in civilian markets. Then if one market soured, the other might continue sweet.

WILL IT HEDGE INFLATION?

Now much merger interest stems from desires to hedge against further inflation. Inflation has been continuing steadily and the prospects are that it will continue on through most of our lifetimes. Recessions usually bring about deflations, but the basic economic situation in America is such that we might have further inflation during a setback. In fact, during part of the recessive periods since the end of the war, inflation has continued unchecked.

As a consequence, managements of many companies have asked themselves how they can withstand further inflation. This is no problem for companies owning considerable tangible properties, such as active factories and mines, or for companies making products in such fluid demand that their incomes would rise with inflation. But it can be serious for companies whose assets consist of intangibles or which produce products and services that might be passed over in periods of greater inflation.

PREMIUM ON HEDGES

Investors and Wall Street analysts are showing increasing attention to the inflation-weathering qualities of corporations. An important question is now: "What will this company's position be if the dollar loses another five cents in purchasing power? Another ten cents? Or twenty-five cents?"

Management is asking similar questions, not only to assure the future but to assure the present.

A company that cannot show it can take another round of inflation may find it difficult to get fresh working capital.

Thus many corporations without inflation-resistant qualities are looking around for unions with companies that have them. A stodgy company with assets that will go up exactly as the dollar goes down can be as sought after today as an unmarried girl who has just inherited a fortune.

FAMILY CLOTHING, AUTO ACCESSORY DEALERS. LEAD SALES GAINS

Family clothing stores and tire, battery and auto accessory dealers made the great gains in sales during the first five months of the year, according to Commerce Department figures. Each had made an average of 12 per cent more in sales over the same period in 1956.

Close behind were gasoline service stations, with an average gain of 11 per cent, up an in-inflating 9 per cent. The largest loss was suffered by lumber and building material dealers, down 10 per cent. The national average for all stores was 6 per cent ahead.

OFF-BEATS IN THE SONATA OF BUSINESS NEWS

The tariff Commission will hold a hearing on December 3 to find out if garlic imports are unfair to California growers. . . . Anybody who calls that a smelly situation is a feeble punster. . . . Borg-Warner displayed a mink-carpeted scale and noted results. Almost everybody ran fingers over the mink and most people drew their initials in the fur. . . . Every carload leaving the Kaiser Aluminum mill at Newark, Ohio, is photographed; the customer gets one set of photos and others are kept as records.

Opinions In Brief

"Those few mothers who do not think blue jeans are correct schoolroom attire have it straight from the country's number one authority on what is right, they are the correct dress.

"Amy Vanderbilt, the successor to Miss Emily Post, has advised parents to send their children to school this fall in dungarees, and don't dress them up too much."

"She finds blue jeans are what her three sons prefer and also the mothers of her hometown, fashionable Westport, Conn., contend it is the costume for the campus."—(Alabama Journal,

In keeping with the lines of a popular song, "the lights (could) go on again, all over the world"

Yes, it was a fabulous day to be remembered at home, aboard ship and in distant places such as Iwo Jima, Okinawa, Luzon and New Guinea. It was the first breath of peace in an eternity of sorrow. Some prayed.

No Real Reward For Unselfish Patriotism

You find heroes in the darnedest places. Who would expect a pudgy, 62-year-old little Hollywood producer and musical director to be a master counterparty for the United States?

Boris M. Morros just wasn't the type. He violated every standard set by the rule book followed by fiction-writers.

For twelve years he lived a masquerade, posing as a spy for Russia. They gave him nothing for his "loyalty" and labors; he paid it all out of his own pocket . . . according to him, he spent two million dollars in playing his role.

His testimony helped convict other Russian spies, but now the play is ended.

Morros wasn't born in America, but his patriotism was as great or greater than any. For years he waged a war on an unfamiliar battleground . . . never quite alone, though there must have been times when he looked at the odds arrayed against him despair tugged at his heart.

Now there is more work for this laborer-in-the-dark. Congressional groups want some security data that only he can provide. He can't rest yet. Nor can he quickly lose himself again in anonymity.

For a long time to come, we fear Boris Morros will be eyeing strangers with the haunting awareness of what can happen to spies "who know too much."

Our government should spare no expense nor effort to insure this man will live out his days with a certainty of personal security.

This would be a pitifully small return for the sacrifices he has made for the sake of national security; but it is the best we could offer.

More Television Than Telephones

By LYNN NISBET TELEVISION — There are more than twice as many television sets in North Carolina farm homes as there are telephones. In some coastal and mountain counties the ratio is seven or eight to one.

For the first time the farm census reports for 1956 had a place to list phones and TV sets. Nearly half of the country reports have been processed. A group of eight completed last week is believed to be representative, including medium size counties in all sections of the state.

Duplin county listed 599 telephones and 2,555 sets; Greene had 336 and 1,755; Hyde 98 and 271; Rutherford 1,814 and 2,027; Scotland 295 and 519; Stokes 710 and 2,119; Washington 50 and 367; Watauga 375 and 834.

That is a total for the eight counties of 4277 phones and 10,467 tv's. For purposes of the farm census the Government counts as a "farm" any tract of three acres or more upon which people live and grow crops. In almost every instance there were fewer people living on these farms in 1956 than in 1955. In view of the obvious fact that more people are living in the country, this must mean that a larger number of them are living on smaller lots and working off the farm.

A TV set generally means electric current is available, either from rural power lines or individual generating systems. Radio and television have relieved the isolation of farm homes, but man farmers insist the need for telephone service for local communication is greater than ever. One farm wife complained that she could not talk back at the TV or radio.

INSURANCE — Several insurance agencies are writing their policy holders or enclosing a memorandum in the envelope with renewal policies for liability insurance about the probable difficulties they may encounter when they apply for a 1958 automobile license tag. The compulsory insurance law enacted by the 1957 General Assembly becomes effective January 1, 1958. Before a license tag can be issued for next year the auto owner must prove ability to pay for damages which might arise in event of an accident involving his car. That proof may be in any of several forms. By all odds the most popular and usual is a public liability insurance policy.

One Raleigh agency points out that in Massachusetts and New York, where the compulsory insurance program is operative, a great deal of delay and serious difficulty has arisen because of the different names appearing on a complaint often is that religious faith which could not stand this sort of assault was not very strong to begin with and that the way to test religious convictions — whether in young or old — is by presenting the probability that these religious convictions may be in error.

The law of the survival of the fittest may be a reality we have to endure in the field of biology, but nobody is willing to let his child's resistance to disease be strengthened by subjecting the child to grave dangers of infection.

If we feel this way about infection harming the body, should we not feel more so about infection which may destroy the soul?

Strength For Today

By EARL L. DOUGLASS BREAKING DOWN FAITH Modern education is undoubtedly shot through and through with a materialistic philosophy. Our children do not encounter this much in grade school or high school, but as soon as they go off to college it strikes them with full force. It is not only the philosophy teachers and teachers of religion who communicate these influences to the minds of the young. English teachers, and anthropology, sociology, and history teachers, also get in their licks against religion now and again.

And the result is that many young people after going through college have no religious faith left. The answer made to such driver license, registration card and insurance policy. The illustration used that if the driver license is in the name of Robert D. Smith, the auto registration in the name of Robert Dunn Smith, and the insurance written for R.D. Smith, the applicant for a tag might have to prove that he is the same person represented by all three variations of the name. Further complications may arise if the applicant has changed address between times of issuance of any of the three documents.

This agency offers the public service suggestion that between now and December 31 everybody make such revisions as may be necessary to have the driver license, registration card and insurance policy bear identical name and address. A few minutes now may save days later in obtaining a license tag for the family bus.

CLOCKS — Some has said that a clock which does not keep correct time is worse than no clock at all. Accuracy of that statement is questioned. In many North Carolina towns the clock on the courthouse or the city hall is a landmark, used for many purposes other than correct time. Of course, there is a little feeling of lost confidence if the timepiece is very much too fast or too slow. If it stops entirely, it is still a familiar landmark. One wise guy says a stopped clock is better than one off schedule, because it is right at least once in every 12 hours.

Raleigh doesn't have a city hall or courthouse clock. For two generations the clock on the Security National Bank at the corner of Fayetteville and Martin streets has served as the "official" town clock. There are perhaps a dozen other private clocks in show windows or swinging above the sidewalk, but the old Security timepiece is the master. For out of town visitors to Raleigh perhaps the clock in the lobby of Sir Walter Hotel is next in importance. Last week the electric mechanism in the lobby clock went floozy. When it was taken down for repairs the folks at the hotel desk and the bellboys had to spend a large part of their time answering the question: "What happened to the clock?"

There is a story going around that one frequent guest of the hotel, who is also a five-o'clock drinker, complained that he missed his pre-dinner highball because the lobby clock had stopped at 4:36 and his 6:30 dinner party showed up before he was ready. The management gives assurance the clock will be back on the wall keeping accurate time in a few days.

point on what may be a major issue in that year. The Democratic believers in Government development have used every strategy, in Congress and the Courts, to preserve this problem for another ballot-box test.

Trading Points In Civil Rights

By RAY TUCKER WASHINGTON The major and successful bargaining in the Senate on behalf of the diluted civil rights bill centered on public power projects advocated by a bipartisan bloc of "liberals," who oppose the Administration's "partnership" concept. They involved prospective developments in New York, the Tennessee Valley, the Great Northwest and the untapped realm of atomic energy.

Of course, this does not mean that such an agreement influenced the final voting on the civil rights bill. Many of the Senators mentioned, Democrats and Republicans, were of the sincere opinion that the measure was a great gain and, though limited, was far better than no action at all.

Although not an enthusiastic supporter of a vast public power empire or far-reaching Government competition with private industry, Senate Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas won over the Federal power apostles with promises to support their pet projects in these areas.

Thus, the Texan, who is frequently mentioned as a 1960 Presidential possibility, may have committed the Democratic Party to the extreme liberal view-

Keep Your Nose Out, Uncle

By BILLY ARNOLD

You Too May Be A Star

During the past few years, thanks mostly to television and the Actors' Studio, the trend in drama has been moving steadily toward portrayal of the realistic: ordinary people with ordinary problems, etc.

Marlon Brando and James Dean came along with their groans and shuffles to gradually destroy the old conception of drama. Television's dirty-shirt writers Rod Sterling, Tad Mosel, and Paddy Chayefsky have done their share of chopping on the old form of drama, too.

Even Jack Webb and his enthusiastic Sgt. Friday helped move the trend to realism.

The effect of this new style of portrayal has been strongly felt all around the drama world. Movies and television alike have begun to put the emphasis on the realistic, the every-day; and actors have since found it much to their advantage to under-play rather than over-play their parts.

It's as if everybody is trying to become an indistinguishable part of the props. Rather than the long, dramatic, oratorical speeches that used to be prominent, actors now feel that their parts are better if they just nod, grunt, or mumble.

Now, actors fight over the insignificant roles in television and movie scripts. They all want to be natural, normal, every-day characters.

Walter Brennan, an academy-award winning actor who is generally regarded the best character actor in the business, says now that the way to act these days, is not to act. In that case,

I'll bet there are plenty of our readers who aspire to get into drama.

I've prepared herewith, a little test for all those who think they might like to be an actor. If you answer "yes" to all these questions, perhaps you would make good acting material for Studio One or Playhouse 90.

(1) Do you have slumped shoulders?
(2) Do you have warts?
(3) Do you look sloppy in your clothes?
(4) Can you talk without moving your hands?
(5) Can you eat and talk at the same time with a mouthful of food?
(6) Do people pass you on the street and never notice you?
(7) Can you belch on a moment's notice?

Meet Sharks, Survive

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Most swimmers who encounter a shark merely worry how to escape him. A few brave souls, however, have a wild desire to ride him bareback.

In both cases John Tassos, a New York advertising executive and authority on skin diving, has the answer. He is the author of "The Underwater World," a guide for sportsmen who want to spear fish, explore wrecks or merely pick up shells from the floor of the sea.

How can a swimmer escape if he encounters a shark or barracuda near shore?

"The chances are, if you meet, one of these big fish near shore, he is well fed and merely curious at seeing you," said Tassos.

"The main thing to do is to avoid irritating him. How do you keep him calm? By staying calm yourself. The simplest thing to do is keep your eyes on him, and swim toward shore, slowly and easily."

"Remember he is in his home and you are the stranger and intruder in his house."

"Above all, don't panic. If you thrash the water violently trying to get away, you may excite him and cause him to attack."

"If a barracuda insists on coming too close, you can turn and swim toward him and he'll go away — 999,999 times out of a million."

"If a shark comes too close, put your head under water and yell as loud as you can, 'Go away, you bum! Get lost!' he can't hear you, but he can feel the vibrations. If he still comes on, hit him on the nose, which is very sensitive because his brain is right behind it. Usually, then, he'll leave. If he comes back, hit him on the nose again."

"But don't panic and start foundering toward shore. The shark and barracuda are among the swiftest fish in the sea. You can't outswim them — you have to outthink them."

Tassos has two other tips for the average swimmer.

"Stay close to shore. The fish in deep water are hungrier and more likely to attack. Don't venture into deep water unless you carry a spear and have one or more other swimmers with you for mutual protection."

"If you gash yourself accidentally under water, get out immediately. Blood frenzies the big fish."

Tassos regards the shark as far more dangerous than the barracuda.

"Lifeguards on the Florida beaches every day see inquisitive barracuda hovering a few yards from swimmers," he said, "but I know of no authenticated case where a barracuda actually attacked a bather in those areas."

"But any shark, even a two-foot one, may attack if angered. You can't grab even a baby one by the tail."

However, it is possible to ride a shark bareback and come home alive. Tassos is one of a number of veteran skin divers who enjoy this hobby, now limitedly popular in the Bahamas.

"It is a far-fetched sport," he admitted. "You get half a dozen swimmers to stand by for protection. Then you go up to a nurse shark, which is pretty sluggish but may run from 6 to 16 feet long — and can be as vicious as any other variety of shark when aroused."

"You grab him by the dorsal fins just aft of his gills, leap on his back and lock your legs around his body in a scissors hold. You can get a good grip because his skin is sandpapery, not slimy."

"By holding his dorsal fins you can keep him from turning his head and biting off your leg. Then he'll roll over and over in the water, buck like a Brahmin bull, and try to brush you off against the rocks."

"After 6 to 10 seconds that's about as long a ride as you'll want — you double up your feet on his back, still holding on to the dorsal fins, and kick him violently away."

"If he burns on you, it's up to your spermatozoa to get him. . . . But usually he is so embarrassed, he will swim away. After all the shark is the king of the sea and he has to stay around where he's been humiliated."

Facts Of Interest On Debutante Ball

This year The Terpsichorean Club of Raleigh presents the 31st annual Debutante Ball. How did all of this start, what are some of the changes that have been made, what are some of the interesting things of the past balls? It was in the Fall of 1923 that this all began, and the Ball was the climax of a "Mardi-Gras-like" weekend festival. There were no debutantes as such, but there was a Queen of the festival, crowned by the Governor. The idea of calling the girls debutantes was conceived the following year.

New Russet Potato Cheese Pudding Has Delicious, Different Flavor

Here's a new and wonderful-tasting potato-cheese pudding the family will rave about, and you can serve this with pot roast, roast beef, lamb, veal or chicken. You'll want to try this recipe now while local markets are featuring the newly harvested Washington Russet potatoes which are famous for flavor and fine texture.

HARVEST POTATO PUDDING
4 large Washington State Russet Potatoes
3 eggs, beaten
1/2 cup chopped parsley
1/2 cup American cheese, grated
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
Grate pared potatoes with a medium grater into cold water. (This keeps them from turning brown. A little lemon juice may be added to the water, if desired.) Combine beaten eggs, parsley, cheese and salt. Drain potatoes; add to egg mixture. Place in greased shallow baking dish; bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 45 minutes or until done. Additional grated cheese may be sprinkled over top the last few minutes of baking. Cut in squares or wedges; serve with pot roast or leftover roast beef or lamb. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Khrushchev 'Satisfied' By His Tour Of East Germany

BERLIN (AP)—Soviet Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev left East Berlin today saying he was "very satisfied" with his tour of Communist East Germany.

Khrushchev told a sleepy-looking crowd at East Berlin's railway station that his one-week visit would bind the German satellite nation ever more closely to Russia "in friendship."

"All members of the Soviet party and government delegation have been very satisfied with the visit," he said.

Khrushchev, accompanied by Deputy Premier A. I. Mikoyan and Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, took a special train to nearby Schoenefeld Airport.

Khrushchev, who was up late last night at a farewell reception in the Russian Embassy, looked tired and sour at the railway station send-off.

The Russian leader broke into broad smiles, however, when Walter Ulbricht, chief of the East

German Communist party, spoke about the only dispute known to have come up between the Russians and the East German regime.

"We promise to follow your advice and grow corn better from now on," said Ulbricht with a smile.

Khrushchev, a self-styled corn-raising expert who got into arguments with German farm specialists on the quality of their crops, cut in on Ulbricht: "That means more meat, more bacon and more butter."

In his final major speech of the tour, Khrushchev told some 200,000 Germans in East Berlin's Little Red Square last night that Russia would keep trying for a disarmament agreement.

He accused the Western powers of "arming and working out plans for an aggressive war" against the Soviet bloc.

He charged that the West is dragging out the disarmament negotiations in London in an attempt to block an agreement.

"The Soviet people sincerely want to end the cold war and to have friendly relations with all peoples," Khrushchev declared. "We will continue our efforts to achieve disarmament, in the first place on the outlawing of atomic and hydrogen weapons and on the outlawing of tests of atomic weapons."

Soviet attacks on the West over disarmament also were sounded yesterday at the U.N. Disarmament subcommittee meeting in London. Russia accused the U.S. representative there of giving revenge-seeking forces in West Germany "the right of veto over the entire disarmament program."

Call For Bids On Highway Work

RALEIGH (AP)—Bids on 15 projects for 100.63 miles of road improvements will be opened Aug. 27 and reviewed at the State Highway Commission meeting on Sept. 4.

The Highway Department yesterday called for bids on the work, which will cover highways running into 16 counties.

The only interstate highway system project on the list calls for 4.7 miles of dual-lane grading and structures on the relocation of U.S. 29 in Mecklenburg and Gaston Counties.

The stretch of superhighway runs from near the west bank of the Catawba river to tie in with the Charlotte bypass. Over the Catawba, two 1,073-foot bridges will be constructed to carry the two lanes.

A final cost of paving on 8.63 miles of the Raleigh - Charlotte route on N.C. 49 in Davidson County was included among the projects. It runs from the Yadkin River northeast to the Randolph County line.

In Newberry county, paving will be provided on the recently graded Wilmington bypass, from the junction with U.S. 117 to U.S. 17 and 74 east of the city.

A Madison - Buncombe job will mean grading, paving and structures on 4 1/2 miles of a relocation of U.S. 63 from about 4.5 miles west of Canton east to the Madison-Buncombe line.

'Discrepancies' Claimed In Tale Of Lost Airman

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Saturday Evening Post has canceled plans to publish an article on the 54-day disappearance of Lt. David Steeves in the High Sierra because of what it called discrepancies in his story.

In addition, the Air Force is making a "thorough but routine" investigation of the 23-year-old pilot's story.

Steeves bailed out of his jet trainer over the California mountains on a routine flight last spring. He was listed as dead, but 54 days later he stumbled out of the rugged mountains and told a detailed story of a harrowing struggle for survival.

A spokesman for the Saturday Evening Post said that on July 9 the magazine contracted for a story but terminated the agreement Aug. 6 after three weeks of investigation.

Writer Clay Blair Jr. was scheduled to do the story, the spokesman said, adding: "He went out to the Sierras, returned with Steeves to the cabin where Steeves said he survived for three weeks and interviewed Steeves at great length. Blair reported that he had detected numerous discrepancies in Steeves' story."

Steeves now is temporarily assigned to Bolling Air Force Base near Washington while Air Force experts check his story.

The Air Force emphasized that it is routine procedure to investigate and study any man involved in an accident.

When Steeves first returned to civilization, his wife Rita, of Fairfield, Conn., said it was "the happiest day of my life." But this she said she was considering getting a divorce.

"The decision is hers," commented Steeves, but he added: "It shook me pretty hard."

Hemophiliac Is Difficult Case

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Fred House, 9, has hemophilia, a disease that causes excessive bleeding from even minor wounds due to a lack of the normal blood-clotting agents.

Doctors say Fred must have three teeth pulled. But before it can be done, they must have on hand 10 pints of type A-negative blood plasma.

It took 17 pints of blood to stop bleeding the last time Fred had teeth pulled.

But despite the handicap his mother Mrs. Mary House says Fred is "the friskiest thing you ever saw."

New Dealers Top Medics, 5-3, To Snare Championship

Stout's Homerun Gives ECC Club District Title

ROCKY MOUNT—Greenville's New Deal Cleaners All-Stars trimmed the Wilson Medical Battalion, 5-3, to capture the Eastern North Carolina Slow Pitch Softball championship here last night.

A three-run home run by lanky Hal Stout in the sixth inning provided the East Carolina club with the winning run, although they scored another in the seventh frame.

Stout was chosen the tournament's Most Valuable Player in post-game ceremonies.

Decline Advancement The championship club voted Tuesday night to decline a berth in the State Tournament which automatically accompanies the Eastern North Carolina title.

Manager Tommy Edison, acting as spokesman for the crew, told reporters that "the boys voted to decline the offer because of the closing of summer school. Our boys are from all over the state and it wouldn't work out for us."

A report from Rocky Mount this morning stated that the runners-up, the Medics, will make the journey to the state tourney.

Bill Mason, who pitched Greenville's club to four consecutive earlier victories in tournament play, notched his 17th victory last night. He limited the Medics to seven hits.

Elbert Moye was the losing pitcher for the Medics.

Stout's Most Valuable Player award was founded mostly on his hitting during the five games the ECC club has played since last Monday. He won Greenville's first contest, a 3-2 affair with Seima, on another three-run homer. Last night, he also added a double to his list of hits.

Team Roster

Under Tommy Edison's management, the Greenville club's roster is as follows:

- B. Boyd, J. Clark, B. Clark, G. Duffie, B. Fowler, J. Faircloth, B. Mason, J. Morris, N. Sears, H. Spencer, L. Stewart, J. Stewart, H. Stout, B. Vestal, C. Webb and J. Yancey.

Lions Generate Excitement Off The Field, Too

DETROIT (AP)—If the Detroit Lions can generate as much excitement on the field as they have off the field, their 1957 season should get off to a whopping start tonight when they meet the Cleveland Browns in an exhibition contest at Briggs Stadium.

The Lions, who made the most remarkable comeback in National Football League history last season only to get blasted out of the Western Conference championship on the final day of the regular season, will be making their debut under new head coach George Wilson.

The veteran Lion assistant was named yesterday to succeed Raymond J. "Buddy" Parker, who resigned suddenly Monday night. He takes over a veteran club with a number of promising youngsters sprinkled in to make it one of the early favorites in the Western Conference race.

The Lions compiled a 9-3 record last season, succumbing to the Chicago Bears in the game to decide the division title. The year before the team had experienced its worst season since 1948, losing all but 3 of 12 decisions.

The Browns—a gain minus quarterback Otto Graham and in the process of rebuilding all the way around—won five and lost seven last year for their worst showing since they got into the National League in 1950.

Atkins Favored To Retain Title

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Leah Marie Atkins, 22, is favored to retain her women's salom and tricks title at the 15th annual water ski tournament to be held here Aug. 22-25. She is the wife of George Atkins, former Auburn and Detroit Lions football guard.

A part-time water ski instructor, Mrs. Atkins will also have two pinneves in the meet. They are Jannelle Kirtley, 13, and Bobby Kirtley, her 10-year-old brother.

Durham, N. C.—Duke University will meet three non-conference opponents on the gridiron this fall. They are Rice, Navy and Georgia Tech.

When Drills Begin Tomorrow

AAU Meet At Midpoint Tonight

By MAX B. SKELTON HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—With two American records already broken, the 1957 National AAU Women's Outdoor Swimming and Diving Championships reach the midway point tonight with three new champions seeking additional honors.

Dawn Fraser, Olympic record holder from Australia, and 15-year-old Carolyn Murray of North Hollywood, Calif., broke two freestyle records last night.

Miss Fraser and her Australian teammate Lorraine Crapp will rest today but Miss Murray, Paula Jean Myers, the new one-meter diving champion from Los Angeles, and Mary Lou Elsevius, the 110-yard breaststroke winner from Berkeley, Calif., were among the entries for the four-event schedule.

The 19-year-old Dawn defeated Chris von Salza, Santa Clara, Calif., and Miss Crapp while breaking the old record of 1:05.6 in the 110-yard freestyle twice.

All three bettered the old mark while qualifying, with Miss Fraser leading the way with a 1:04.5. In the night finals Miss Fraser won with a 1:03.9 and was followed by Miss von Salza at 1:05.5 and Miss Crapp at 1:05.6.

Miss Murray was fourth in the slow qualifying competition in the mile free style but led the four-way assault on the old record of 23:03.4 with a 22:13.9 in the finals.

Miss Myers, 22, came from behind to win the one-meter championship with 436.95 points to 429.75 for Irene McDonald, Canadian Olympic diver now competing with the Los Angeles Athletic Club.

Miss Elsevius won the breaststroke with a 1:24.9.

Led by Miss Murray, the North Hollywood club took the lead for the team championship with 14 points.

Mick Only Wants To Hit .370; He Isn't Worried About Ted

BOSTON (AP)—"All I want to do is hit .370 this year and I don't care if Ted Williams hits .420."

The speaker was Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees after beating Boston 3-2.

The fleet, power-hitting outfielder had just extended his American League home run lead with No. 32, assumed command in the run-batted-in competition and was breathing heavily down the neck of Williams in the batting race.

In response to the question "Do you feel you are in a duel with Williams for the batting crown?" The 25-year-old Yankee switch hitter said: "Williams is a great hitter. I've always admired his hitting. All I want to do is hit .370 and I don't care if Ted hits .420."

"I'll know I will have had a great year."

Mantle made a determined bid to become the first player ever to win two successive triple crowns in batting. Mantle beat the Red Sox last night on a towering, two-run homer which traveled 400 feet into the right field seats.

Mickey also connected for two singles and drew a walk for a perfect night which raised his average to .384—a five-point increase. Meanwhile, Williams singled in two trips to climb a notch to .388.

Mickey's homer put him two ahead of runners-up Williams and Roy Sievers of Washington (30 each). His three RBIs lifted him to 83 while previous leader Sievers remained at 81.

Greensboro blanked High Point-Thomasville 3-0 last night and trimmed a full game off the Hi-Toms lead in the Carolina League.

The scores were closer in the loop's two other contests. Danville outlasted Winston-Salem, 5-4, and Wilson managed a ninth inning rally to beat Durham, 3-1.

The Patriots used the talents of Chuck Smith and Bill Monbouquette on the mound to hold the Hi-Toms scoreless. They allowed six hits, while Greensboro batters managed only four off John Dewald, the Hi-Toms lefty.

Manager Frank Lucchesi and two Hi-Toms players were chased from the game by Umpire Art Talley. The difficulty developed when the Hi-Toms questioned Talley's call of a strike in the fifth. Danville notched its victory despite a trio of home runs posted by the Red Birds. Bob Folkrat and Pedro Carral had solo circuit blows, while Al Davis blasted a two-run homer for Winston-Salem in the ninth.

Bob Perry, Danville rightfielder, knocked his 24th homer of the season, good for two runs, in the fourth inning.

A ninth inning double decided the Durham-Wilson contest. Tex Taylor whacked the decisive hit for the Tobs after Durham tied the count 1-1 in the top of the ninth.

Tonight's games: Hi-Toms at Greensboro, Kinston at Durham, Winston-Salem at Danville.

What Milwaukee's Braves are doing to that National League pennant race may be the biggest bustup since Cleo mixed Caesar.

In 10 days, they've rolled up eight straight victories—all against contenders—and have surged from half a game behind to 6 1/2 games ahead.

Starting with the game that put them in front, the Braves have been 7-0, while the combined record of the other contenders (St. Louis, Brooklyn, Cincinnati and Philadelphia) has been 7-11—a "natural" for Milwaukee.

The Braves stayed with it last night, again putting the whammy on fourth-place Cincinnati for a 12-4 rout. Lew Burdette won his 11th with an eight-hitter and two home runs, his first in eight major league seasons.

Chicago's Cubs handed second-place St. Louis a seventh successive defeat, 6-2; and the New York Giants knocked off third-place Brooklyn 4-2 while Pittsburgh clipped 11th-place Philadelphia 6-0 on Bob Friend's two-hit pitching.

In the American League, first-place New York remained 5 1/2 ahead, beating Boston 3-2 while Chicago's second-place White Sox rapped Cleveland 10-5 for Billy Pierce's 16th victory. But in what may be the AL's only real race, Mickey Mantle was 3-for-3, drove in all the Yankee runs, hit his 32nd home run, and climbed within four points of Boston's Ted Williams, who added a point to his leading bat average with 1-for-2 for 388.

Baltimore defeated Washington 5-3 and took fourth place from Detroit as the Tigers defeated Kansas City 3-1, then lost 3-2 in 14 innings in a day-night doubleheader that hoisted the A's out of the cellar and plunked Washington in.

Burdette drove in four runs with his two clouts, both off starter-loser Joe Nuxhall. The first halved a 2-0 Redleg lead in the third, and the second junked a 4-4 tie, coming with two men on base in the sixth. Burdette's second homer followed. Burdette's lead reliever Hersh Freeman in the sixth, drove in three runs and had three hits along with Andy Pafko in the Braves' 16-hit barrage.

The Cards were shut out on five hits until the ninth by Bob Rush. The veteran right-hander, giving way after Joe Cunningham's two-run pinch double, also drove in a run and doubled twice as the Cubs handed Herm Wehmeier a sixth defeat. Ernie Banks hit his 24th home run.

Ruben comes four-hit the Dodgers for his 13th victory and 14th complete game, tops in the majors, blanking the Brooks without a hit while facing the 18-man minimum over the last six frames. Don Mueller and Willie Mays each drove in two runs for the sixth place Giants. Ed Roebuck lost it in relief of Sal Maglie.

Friend, a 26-year-old right-hander, gained his third two-hitter in the majors and an 8-15 record while giving up singles to rookie Harry Anderson and veteran Gran Hamner. Bill Mazeroski drove in four runs with a homer and double off loser Warren Hacker.

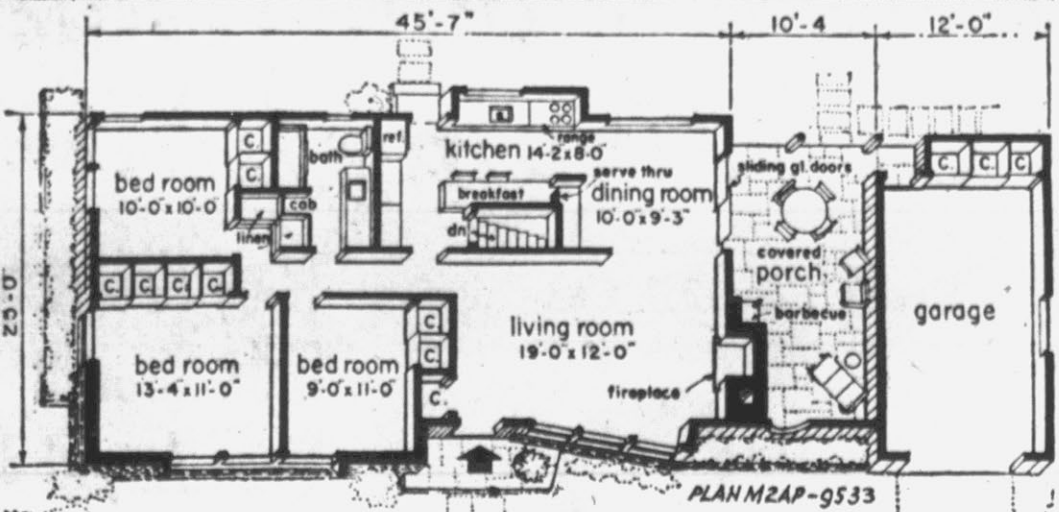

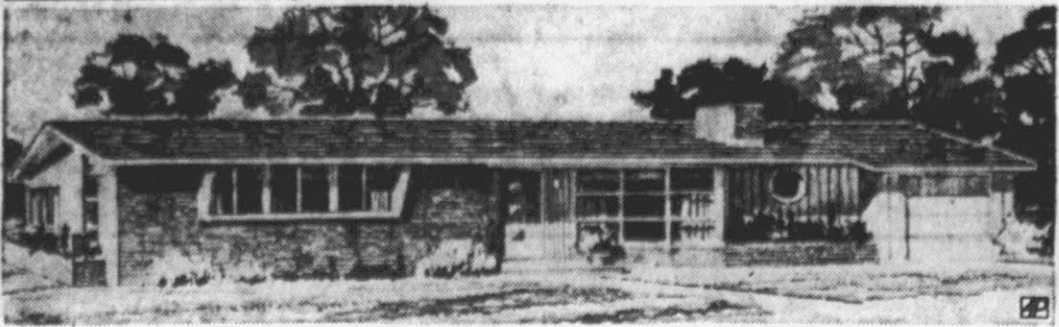

Mantle's home run came with a man on to overhaul a 2-1 Boston lead in the seventh against Frank Sullivan. The Mick also took over the league RBI lead. Tom Sturdivant won his 10th, first ever against the Red Sox, although giving up a homer to Sammy White and walking in the other run. Bobby Shantz relieved in the ninth.

Pierce, who has lost eight, had a two-hit shutout until the Tribe scored their five in the seventh. All the Sox runs came on homers—two by Jim Rivera, good for five runs, and two-run shots by Sherm Lollar and pinch hitter Walt Dropo. Ray Narleski lost it.

Hazardous Desert Trek Earns Commendation Of Air Force

Dr. Louis B. Dupree, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey L. Dupree, 906 West Fourth street, Greenville, has received the Department of the Air Force Commendation for Meritorious Civilian Service. The presentation was made at Montgomery, Ala. The award was made for Dupree's participation in a hazardous desert survival test. Lt. Gen. Dean C. Strother signed the commendation, and Col. Curtis D. Sloman of Maxwell Field, director, R.S.I., made the presentation. The citation was accorded Dr. Dupree, a research and editorial specialist, Desert Section, Arctic, Desert, Tropic Information (AD TIC), RSI, in recognition of his meritorious service as field observer and author of a recent desert survival test project, one part of RSI's continuing project on analysis of survival equipment. "As field observer on the test," the citation states, "he endured great physical hardship on a 40-mile walk in the Libyan Sahara, while maintaining detailed records which contributed significantly to the USAF Survival Training Program."

Dr. Paul H. Nesbitt of Montgomery, Chief, ADTIC, pointed out that the 40-mile walk in which Dupree participated was an actual, unescorted trek over the most rugged and barren parts of the Libyan Sahara. "All the actual hazards, hardships, physical and psychological strains present when men seek survival on an uninhabited desert were experienced by this survival party," Alonzo W. Pond of Montgomery, Ala., Chief, Desert Section, ADTIC, and project officer for the survival test, explained. Dr. Dupree served as a merchant seaman in 1943 and 1944. He was an army paratrooper from 1944 to 1946. The majority of his service was in the 11th Airborne Division in the Philippines and Japan. He received his A.B. degree in 1950 his M.A. in 1953, and his Ph.D. in 1955—all from Harvard University. He has made archaeological expeditions to Afghanistan, Iran, West Pakistan and France. Dr. Dupree joined the RSI in 1955. He lives in Montgomery, Ala. with Mrs. Dupree, the former Ann Kirschner of Hazleton, Pa., and their two-year-old daughter.

Flaring Revolt Now A 'Flicker'

MANAMA, Bahrain — The once-flaring revolt in Muscat and Oman was said by the British to have been reduced to a flicker today after two more rebel-held towns yielded to the British-led forces of the ruling Sultan. British spokesmen said the rebellion of Imam Ghaeb bin Ali came to a virtual end as the Sultan's scarlet banners were raised over the holdout towns of Tanuf and Bakhla. The back of the four-week-old rebellion was broken Sunday when the British took the fortress town of Firq after a brief predawn skirmish. The turn of events put the imam to flight and his headquarters city of Nizwa quickly capitulated. "After Firq was overcome there was nothing left," Sir Bernard Burrows, British political resident in Bahrain, told reporters. Burrows said most villagers who had supported the imam's drive to set up an independent sultanate have given up. Sam Pope Brewer, New York Times correspondent reporting for the American press, said Oman's strongest tribal ruler, Sheik Sulaiman bin Hamyar, was effectively silenced yesterday when Tanuf and Bakhla, which form the nucleus of his stronghold, gave up without a struggle.

Must Pay For Erroneous Raid

LOS ANGELES — A private detective and a deputy marshal must pay $105.75 for the wrecking of the "wrong door" in the now famed apartment raid aimed at Marilyn Monroe. Mrs. Virginia Blasen had filed suit in Small Claims Court for the wrecking of her front door Nov. 5, 1954. When members of the raiding party discovered Miss Monroe was not there they left hurriedly. The actress was visiting a girl friend in an apartment next door. Municipal Judge Harold C. Shepherd yesterday awarded Mrs. Blasen a default judgment of $100, plus $5.75 court costs. The defendants, who did not appear, were Barney Ruditsky, private investigator, and Deputy County Marshal Jack Stambler, who had loaned Ruditsky his license.

Fulbright Says Aswan Decision 'Cost' Us Egypt

WASHINGTON — Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark) contended today that what he called Secretary of State Dulles' ill-considered decision to withdraw support for the Aswan dam gave Russia a hammer lock on Egypt. Fulbright, chairman of a Senate subcommittee which recently abandoned its inquiries into State Department Middle East policies, planned to take the floor of the Senate for a full-fledged attack of his own. In prepared remarks he said the subcommittee folded up its inquiry because it was obvious its three Democratic and three Republican members could not get an agreement "which would criticize the handling of Middle East affairs by Secretary Dulles." On the basis of his own examination of all the documents, most of which were classified, Fulbright reported: The United States, Britain and the World Bank agreed late in 1955 on a plan to give and lend Egypt 400 million dollars for the big Aswan dam project, designed to harness the Nile River for irrigation and power. The offer was canceled in July 1956, however, as Egyptian President Nasser pursued policies considered increasingly favorable to Russia. One reason given for withdrawing the aid offer was that Egyptian economic commitments for purchase of arms from Czechoslovakia had left Egypt unable to pay her share of the project's $1,300,000,000 cost. The Fulbright subcommittee obtained and studied State Department secret documents in preparation for the hearing, it never held on the basis of its own examination of the documents, Fulbright reported: 1. The United States joined in the offer to help Egypt build the dam after, not before, Egypt mortgaged part of her cotton crop for arms from Czechoslovakia. 2. The administration's decision to withdraw the offer "was made against the advice of the United States ambassador to Egypt and the President of the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development."

Fulbright said the withdrawal was "not in the best interests of the United States" for these reasons: "First, the withdrawal of the dam offer was the direct cause of the seizure by Nasser of the Suez Canal. This action led, in turn, to the Israeli-United Kingdom-French attack, to the serious deterioration in our relations with leading allies, to the severe oil shortages in Europe, and to economic dislocations in other parts of the world. So far as cost is concerned, it was recently reported in the press that 174 million dollars has been spent under the authority of the Eisenhower Doctrine, more than our contribution to the dam would have been in 10 years. "Second, withdrawal of the offer served to increase the influence of the Soviet Union. The Soviet veto hold in Egypt has become a hammer lock on a country which otherwise might well have stayed relatively free from influence by the Communist orbit."

Okay Tar Heel For AEC Post

WASHINGTON — A Winston-Salem, N. C., man was one of two persons whose nominations to be members of the Atomic Energy Commission were approved yesterday by Senators on the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee. He is John S. Graham, 32, assistant secretary of the treasury from 1948 to 1953. The nomination of John F. Floberg, 41, of Chicago, also was approved. The nominations now go to the Senate. Both were questioned at a public hearing about whether they would keep the committee fully informed on their views if they found themselves in a minority. Graham said he would take all proper means to advise the committee of any dissenting views he might have. He added that he would feel that he would first advise Chairman Lewis L. Strauss that he intended to go to the committee. Graham was asked what he would do if Strauss told him not to tell the committee. "That's the $64 question," Graham replied. Graham, a Democrat, and Floberg, who said he is a political in-

Rough Financial Weather Threatens Trim Giant Aviation Industry Wings

By WES COOK Associated Press Staff Writer Stormy financial weather is threatening to trim the wings of the giant aviation industry. The first feathers flew when the Defense Department cut the Air Force budget, bringing stretch-out contracts and cancellations to many manufacturers. Then last week, the Civil Aeronautics Board told eight major airlines in effect to tighten their budgets by turning down their request for an emergency 6 per cent passenger fare increase. The CAB Bureau of Air Operations charged that airline operations were inefficient. Just what is happening in the aviation industry, the firms which build and fly commercial aircraft? Short haul feeder airlines, now receiving more than 30 million dollars a year in subsidies, say they will fall even deeper in the red unless a means can be found to finance new equipment. Shortly after the Air Force cut back its orders, North American, Douglas, Curtiss-Wright Corp. and Boeing announced they were releasing or planned to release more than 40,000 employees in the next six months.

About the only bright spot seems to be the makers of private and business aircraft who almost daily score new production and earnings records. The biggest howl seems to come from the airlines. They quickly denied that they were operating inefficiently. Harold Russell of Eastern Airlines said the Bureau of Air Operations report was outlandish and called it "a terrible indictment." The strongest public criticism of the board's action came from CAB Vice Chairman Chan Gurney, the lone dissenter in the 4-1 ruling. "The majority has not in my opinion met its responsibility," said Gurney. "In fact, the overall need is so urgent, their decision may be calamitous to the industry." The airlines that asked for the emergency increase—Delta, TWA, Braniff, United, Eastern, American, Capital and Northwest—have reported diminishing profits for more than a year. They also have on order more than two billion dollars worth of jets and turbo-prop airliners that they have yet to finance. Four of the airlines — Capital, Northwest, United and TWA — have filed financial statements showing that they are operating in the red for 1957. Hubert A. Schneider, counsel for Braniff, told the CAB that "if this trend continues we are headed for real trouble." Speaking for the Bureau of Air Operations, George Cosson said the decline in airline profits was due primarily to load factors. He said the bureau considered reasonable earnings for the airlines, proper use of facilities, depreciation and taxes. "When so considered it is clear the airlines have not supported their case," he said. Airlines officials say an 8 to 10 per cent fare increase will be needed within the next few years or the government will have to help with subsidies. They blame higher repair and fuel bills, coupled with the fact that their planes cannot carry enough passengers fast enough and far enough to pay for the higher costs. "What makes the jet so desirable? The International Civil Aviation Organization, an agency of United Nations, in a recent report said: "Their depreciation and obsolescence are low and their productivity is expected to be such that, at suitable load factors, the cost per passenger seat-mile or ton-mile may be lower than that of the latest large piston-engine aircraft." Lending urgency to the airlines search for new finances is the threat of international competition in the coming jet-travel era. Britain only recently put its Comet II in the air to signal its return to jet operations after a series of crashes grounded the Comet I in 1954. France has the twin-jet Caravelle, and Russia also is showing a desire to enter the field after a recent unveiling of two jet and two turboprop airliners.

AFL-CIO Council Says Corruption Action Set

CHICAGO — The AFL-CIO Executive Council served notice yesterday that it is determined to complete action on charges of "corrupt influences" against Teamsters before the union's convention next month. The move against the union of Dave Beck, James R. Hoffa and 1 1/2 million members was taken after the case had dragged on for more than four months without a decision. Charges that the union was "dominated, controlled or substantially influenced by corrupt influences" were drawn up March 29 after Beck, Teamster president, was accused of misusing about $400,000 of his organization's funds. The AFL-CIO Ethical Practices committee arranged to hold final hearings Sept. 5 and 6 in Washington.

AFL-CIO President George Meany said the committee "will conclude the hearings in the Teamsters case irrespective of whether the Teamsters appear." Meany said the Executive Council will receive the committee report Sept. 23 or Sept. 24. Then, he declared, the council will make known its verdict before the Teamsters convene Sept. 30 in Miami Beach. The council's decision could take the form of recommendations as to what steps, if any, the Teamsters must take to remain in the AFL-CIO. If the planned timetable is followed, Teamster leaders can make their comments or replies from their convention's speaking platform. Hoffa, the Midwestern Teamster boss is generally expected to succeed Beck as head of the union. The council decided to take no action for the time being in the case of Maurice Hutcheson, president of the 850,000-member carpenters union. "We want more information," Meany told newsmen. Hutcheson invoked the Fifth Amendment when he appeared before a Senate committee investigating reports that he and others made a quick profit from the sale of highway rights-of-way land to the state of Indiana. Meany noted the land deal is still being investigated by a grand jury in Indiana.

Syrians Expel Three Americans For ECC Members

DAMASCUS — Three American Embassy officials were under orders to get out of Syria today following Syrian charges that the United States had plotted to overthrow the government of President Shukri Kuwaty. A Foreign Office spokesman announced last night the three officials had been tagged persona non grata (unwelcome) and that their immediate recall had been asked. The three Americans were identified as Lt. Col. Robert W. Malloy, military attache; Howard E. Stone, second secretary for political affairs; and Vice Consul Francis Getton. Robert A. Lincoln, embassy press attache, announced the three would leave Syria today and added: "The American Embassy can accept the Syrian request only under protest since the allegations against the three gentlemen are fabrications." In making the charge, the Syrian government issued a statement saying military authorities had unveiled "an American plot to overthrow Syria's present regime." It alleged that the United States had been willing to furnish between $30 and $40 million dollars in aid if a new government would make peace with Israel. The statement said the United States had sent its "number one expert on coups d'etat" to mastermind the conspiracy and identified him as Stone. It added that Stone had collaborated with Col. Adib Shishkiy, former Syrian dictator, and Col. Ibrahim Hussein, Syria's military attache in Rome. Shishkiy was sentenced in absentia last February to life imprisonment on charges of leading a subversive group. Official sources said Hussein was being recalled from Rome. In Rome, Hussein denied any connection with any conspiracy and said he did not know Stone.

Some Newsmen To Be 'Cleared' For Red China

WASHINGTON — The Eisenhower administration is expected to clear some American newsmen to go to the Chinese mainland later this year despite the asserted existence of a "quasi state of war" with Red China. The phrase was used in a letter by Undersecretary of State Christian A. Herter to American youths in Moscow who have been talking about traveling to the Chinese Communist capital of Peking. Officials said that it was not intended to suggest any hardening of the already firm policy of maximum boycott which the United States has toward Chinese Communism. One authority said it was simply "the most apt description of the situation that exists." Herter's letter raised a question about what the administration intends to do about the problem of newsmen going to Red China. State Department officials advised against confusing that issue with the government's opposition to a Red Chinese trip by the Americans who have been attending a Moscow youth festival. The specific distinction made by these officials was that newsmen would be able to report to the American people on conditions in Red China. The Herter letter to the Americans in Moscow declared that unrenounced American policy U. S. citizens are forbidden to travel "to the areas of China under Communist control" for many reasons. The reasons "include the non-recognition of the regime; the existence of a quasi state of war and the continued application of the Trading With the Enemy Act; the refusal of Communist China to renounce the use of force; and the illegal jailing of Americans already in China despite promises to let them out." Officials noted that the Korean conflict involving the Red Chinese has merely been suspended by an armistice, and that regulations issued by the Treasury Department under the Trading With the Enemy Act are still applicable. These regulations in effect forbid American citizens to spend dollars with the Red Chinese and also bar property transactions. The administration is expected to waive regulations sufficiently to let newsmen go to Red China conduct their business. CALMLY UNNERVED LOUISVILLE, Ky. — After a large section of the ceiling of her office at city hall fell yesterday, showering 24-by-24-inch sections all about her and sprinkling her with dust, Miss Pat Burke, who sat calmly through the episode, said merely: "It unnerved me."

A trio of 16-year-old burglars stole a safe from a suburban store and took it to a lonely road along a creek north of here. What they didn't know was that Game Warden H. B. Stabilization Corp. Contracts Are Signed FARMVILLE — Every tobacco warehouse operating this year on the Eastern Belt will do so with a Stabilization Corporation contract.

An estimated 125 warehousemen, representing every house in the belt, signed the contracts at a meeting here Monday. President Carl Hicks and General Manager L. T. Weeks of the Blue-Cured Tobacco Stabilization Corporation accepted the contracts.

Hicks discussed the Stabilization Corporation's proposed operations this year and Weeks commented on selling situations encountered thus far. Fred Royster of Henderson, president of the Bright Belt Warehouse Association, made a short talk on tobacco prospects in the Eastern Belt area this year.

W. L. Whedbee of Greenville presided over the meeting.

Routine Meet For Ayden Board

AYDEN — Routine business constituted a major portion of the monthly meeting of the town Board of Commissioners Monday night.

Town Clerk A. W. Sawyer stated that no important matters were discussed at the short meeting held in the Town Office. Mayor Corey Stokes, out of town on business, could not be present.

The Commissioners are scheduled to hold their next meeting Monday night, September 9.

Polish Police Crush Transport Strike In Lodz

LODZ, Poland — Club-wielding police and troops crushed a crippling three-day transport strike today. Hundreds of troops took over streetcar barns which until early morning had been held by strikers.

Transport men reported 40 workers arrested in fights with police and with the "workers' militia." Communist toughs who help keep order.

Authorities insisted no one had been jailed but said some strikers were under house arrest.

The government announced that a mixed state and trade union commission will open hearings into the strikers' grievances Friday.

The strike started Monday in support of wage demands.

The authorities decided to act last night after strike leaders, unwilling to identify themselves, refused to negotiate, and stood by demands for a written promise of a pay hike.

First "workers' militia" men were put into car barns. Armed, helmeted police followed and finally the army moved to the street.

The first streetcars on the street early today had two armed policemen beside the motorman. Later the police were withdrawn.

By 11 o'clock the authorities pulled out the military and civil trucks which had kept the 700,000 population moving.

Desi Arnaz Lab els Lurid Tale As 'A Lot Of Baloney'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "A lot of baloney" is the way television star Desi Arnaz describes a lurid story about him in Confidential magazine.

"I don't remember meeting the lady, and I guess I'm being kind in calling her a lady," Arnaz said when informed that Hollywood prostitute Ronnie Quillian testified she wrote a story for the magazine about an alleged illicit interlude with him.

Mrs. Quillian testified yesterday as a prosecution witness in the criminal libel trial of Confidential that she and Arnaz were together in the swank southern California resort town of Palm Springs in October, 1944.

Arnaz, who has since skyrocketed to television fame with his wife Lucille (Love Lucy) Ball, said at Del Mar race track when informed of the testimony: "I was in the Army in 1944 and I think I was somewhere up north. I don't remember being in Palm Springs. From the pictures I've seen of her, I don't think I could have done anything like that."

Other disclosures during yesterday's court session:

Mrs. Quillian testified that Confidential's publisher Robert James C. Lanier Jr. had wanted stories on the sexual activities of celebrities in Hollywood, and the more lurid and lascivious stories the more colorful the magazine.

Arnaz and Miss Ball were married Nov. 30, 1940. She sued for divorce Oct. 16, 1944, but they were reconciled.

Arnaz amplified last night his earlier comment on Mrs. Quillian's testimony.

"It's too bad so many people's names have to be dragged through the mud, but it's worth it if it stops the scandal magazines," he said. "And they've got to be stopped. I was the victim today but tomorrow it will be somebody else."

Shown a wirephoto of Ronnie Quillian, Arnaz said: "I've never seen her before in my life. And I don't think it's right to let an admitted prostitute get up on the witness stand and say anything she likes about anybody."

Communist Win In British Guiana

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana — Communist Dr. Cheddi Jagan and his People's Progressive party appeared today to have captured a majority of the 14 Legislative Council seats at stake in British Guiana's general elections.

Jagan's Chicago-born wife Janet won the western Essequibo River district, trimming the nearest of her two Democratic opponents by more than 2,000 votes.

This chalked up seven seats for Jagan's party. The eighth, which would give him a solid majority, seemed assured in the Essequibo River area, where a Jaganite was running far ahead of three opponents.

Even though Jagan, of East Indian origin, should win the election, British Gov. Sir Patrick Reardon has authority to block Communist control by appointing enough men to the colony's Legislature to offset the Jaganite majority. Guiana, on the north coast of South America, is Britain's only colony on that continent.

Anti-Communist Negro lawyer Linden Forbes Burnham's forces have won only Georgetown's three seats. One seat has been captured by the United Democratic party.

Two other districts have yet to go through June a steady decrease was registered in the number of new and continued claims," said Dillingham.

Dillingham went on to state further, "We experience two big declines in filing each year, one preceding the green tobacco season and the other when the tobacco market opens in Greenville and Farmville."

"From the figures it can be readily seen that unemployment and claim filing runs in one endless cycle."

Griffon Board Talks Bond Issue

GRIFTON — The main topics of discussion at Monday night's Board of Aldermen meeting were the possibility of floating a bond issue for the construction of a town hall, conducting a population census and possible inclusion of the town in the Lenoir County alcoholic beverage tax returns.

Alderman Jim Rooley reported at the meeting that the League of Municipalities had informed him that a bond election would be necessary to clear the way for construction of the town hall.

Members of the Board agreed to investigate the matter further within the next month.

A population census was suggested in order to increase the amount of intangible tax returns received by the town. The Board also agreed to look into the possibility of sharing a portion of Lenoir County's ABC sales returns.

It was agreed to continue renting the Gower Building for the offices of the Town Clerk, the health clinic and Recorder's Court.

Following a discussion on vacation policies, the Aldermen agreed on allowing two-week vacation for the five regular city employees.

All other business discussed and passed on by the Board was routine. Town Clerk, Mrs. Marjorie Harris said.

It Flies, Drives On Streets, Too

RALEIGH (AP) — Raleigh motorists gaped today at a strange contraption which scooted along city streets. It's body resembled a motor scooter, but it was equipped with a rotor like a helicopter and proper like an airplane.

Mounted on this "Gyrocopter" was Igor Bensen, designer and manufacturer of strange aircraft. He was out to demonstrate the potential usefulness of a small helicopter to the commuting suburbanite.

Bensen had taken off from the Raleigh-Durham Airport where the Bensen Aircraft Corp. is located. He took off despite the fact a low ceiling had the airport weathered in. He flew to a parking lot at the state fairgrounds and then headed down highways and streets to a Raleigh shopping center.

There he drove into a filling station to refuel his outboard motor-type gasoline tank, drove to a bank to cash a check, mailed a letter at the post office, picked up the family washing at a laundry and finally stopped by a grocery market for a bag of groceries.

Then Bensen and his wife loaded the Gyrocopter in the family station wagon and drove back to the airport.

Bensen said his shopping trip marked the first time in aviation history that an aircraft had approached a city by air, landed on the outskirts and then driven under its own power into the city without any transitional adjustments to equipment.

a cut in acreage and a short harvest season has had its effect.

"Far less farm labor has been used in this area," he said.

With the acreage cuts and short harvest, it is generally felt the marketing season will also be shorter in this area. Several tobacco factory operators have predicted a shorter season for their processing.

If these circumstances hold true to form, the claim filing cycle will show an upward trend much earlier this year, since a majority of our claims are filed by seasonal tobacco workers, Dillingham added.

The Employment Commission manager also substantiated his findings by comparing claims figures for the first three months of 1956 with January, February and March of this year. In a majority of the comparisons, the 1957 figures were considerably higher.

New claims for unemployment insurance filed in January, February and March of 1956 were 490, 267 and 160 respectively. This year for the corresponding periods the figures were reported as 533, 274 and 227 respectively, showing an increase for each of the three months.

The total number of new claims for the first three months this year totaled 1,034. In 1956 the figure for the same period was 917, 117 lower.

Continued claims during the two of the first three months were higher this year, Dillingham stated.

There were 5,232 continued claims in January, 4,958 in February and 4,397 in March in 1956. This year there were 5,447 in January, 4,894 in February and 4,500 in March.

The program, set for 10:00 a. m. August 17, will feature Conference speakers among them:

G. R. Nash, president of the North Carolina Conference of Seventh Day Adventists;

W. O. Coe, Secretary of the Home Missionary Department; and L. H. Pitton, secretary of the Public Relations Department for the Conference.

Now A Memory

That "middle-of-the-week" holiday for employees of most Greenville business firms is no more.

Following a long standing tradition, most business houses remained open this afternoon until 5:30.

The local stores have been observing a half-Wednesday holiday on a summer schedule since early in the year. With the tobacco market opening tomorrow morning, the stores resumed their normal weekly business schedule.

At a February meeting, the Board of Directors of the Merchants Association ruled that Wednesday afternoon closing and opening would be left to discretion of the individual.
