Pitt Farm Bureau Sets High Goal

W. H. DAIL MAKING CHANGE FOR FARM BUREAU MEMBERSHIP FEE ... others watch at annual drive kick-off meeting last night.

Record 4,500 Membership Goal By Pitt Farm Bureau

By EVERETTE PARKER, Reflector Staff Writer. Pitt County's Farm Bureau organization, the largest in this state, is striving to attain greater heights. At last night's membership drive kick-off dinner it was announced that the goal for 1957-58 would be 4,500 members, 500 more than the previous year.

The attendance at last night's kickoff meeting was described as the largest in North Carolina. More than 160 farmers and their wives were present. C. Bruce Ratchford, assistant director of the N. C. Agricultural Extension Service at State College, was the primary speaker for the kick-off meeting.

Ratchford, described in an introduction by County Agent S. C. Winchester as "a farm boy who is still fighting farm problems," lauded the Pitt organization. "You have been prominent in state circles for years and what you think and do is a reflection to many other farm groups," he said.

President Signs Immigration Bill

NEWPORT, R. I. (AP)—President Eisenhower today signed a hard-ship case immigration bill but called it "a disappointment in that it fails to deal with many serious inequities."

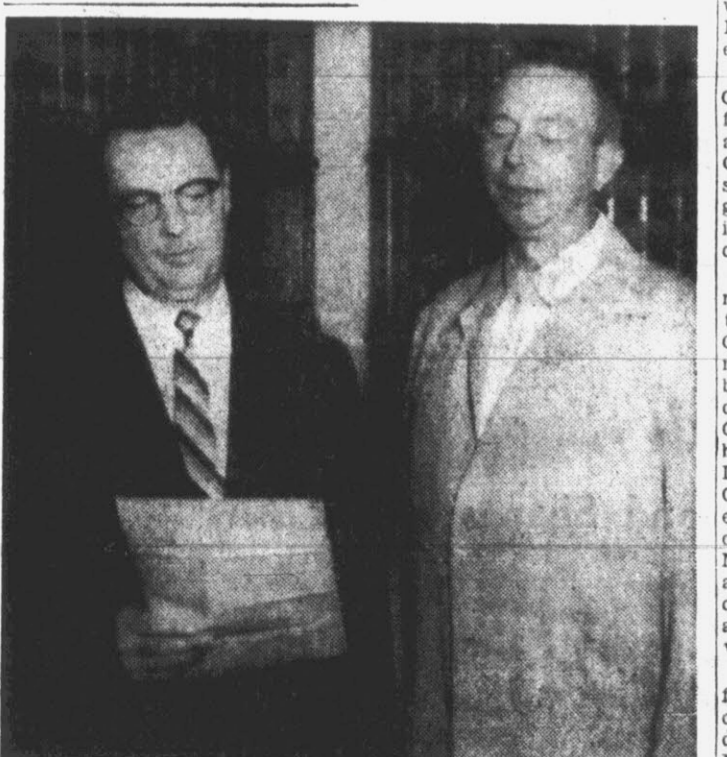

The North Carolina farmer is smart. He has seen a need for unity and is setting out to do something about his problems. "In this day and time the farmer has an obligation to himself and his family to join together with his neighbors on issues that concern his welfare."

The speaker compared the past with prospects for the future. "Much of our income is now found in the market place," he said. "Since this is the case we must ban together in order that our income might be increased and not decreased. Unity is the best way."

New Commander Of Naval Reserve Unit

Commander David W. Mosier, USNR, became commanding officer of Naval Reserve Composite Company 6-26 last night. He succeeds Commander F. E. Lansche, USNR, who had commanded the Greenville reserve unit for the past 27 months.

were conducted at the Greenville Golf and Country Club during a dinner honoring Commander Lansche. Following the change of command ceremonies, Commander Lansche was presented with a silver punch bowl and ladle by members of the unit. The presentation was made by Lieutenant William H. Watson, USNR, executive officer.

Kasper Arrested 3 Times As Angry Nashville Police Move To Deter Violence

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Northern segregationist John Kasper was arrested early today, the third time in 12 hours, as angry Nashville police cracked down on mounting violence following school integration here.

Five Negro men were arrested this morning near city schools an hour before classes were scheduled to start at 8 a.m. Asst. Police Chief F. W. Muller said the five were carrying shotguns and pistols, and were charged with carrying firearms.

onto the state capitol square 15 minutes before a Kasper-called rally was to begin last night. The square was promptly cleared and one officer said simply, "There will be no meeting." The rally moved outside the city with Kasper nowhere in sight. There were no incidents.

2. State troopers were posted at the governor's home after a reported threat on the life of Gov. Frank Clement. Clement incurred segregationists' ire last year when he sent National Guardsmen to restore order at Clinton, 200 miles to the east, after high school integration there touched off rioting.

A total of 28 persons were arrested during the tense day as police shifted their tactics from watching to preventing demonstrations. The crowds were kept at least a block away from the six racially mixed schools as flareups between white and Negro adults continued for the second day.

Syria Said Mobilizing Its Civilians. BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Usually reliable sources in Damascus said today Syria's public resistance organization was resuming "immediate operations."

Faubus Prepares Offer Evidence

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Gov. Orval Faubus, soon to have his "day in court," was marshaling evidence today to convince the U.S. government that racial violence would have exploded in Little Rock if he had not barred Negroes from enrolling in a high school here.

The guards will remain on duty at the school but in smaller numbers, he told newsmen. "The rules are the same," he said, meaning that Negroes would not be permitted to enter.

Martial law during the Suez crisis last fall enabled a pro-Soviet army group, headed by the intelligence chief, Lt. Col. Abdul Hamid Serraj, to gain the upper hand. Last month the pro-Soviet group carried out what amounted to a coup by gaining the chief command posts of the army and proceeding to oust many officers not in sympathy with its views.

Plaids Go Everywhere This Fall

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

One really mad plaid skirt is a must for girls getting back to the classroom grind. A part of this season is that old favorite, the Hudson Bay blanket, with its fleecy surface, strong colors and giant plaids.

For smart girls who sew their own, local sewing center experts suggest taking a look at some of the new fabrics in piece goods departments. Hudson Bay designs are now available in sanforized cotton, which can be washed with no fear of shrinkage. This new cotton has a fleecy surface which looks much like the warm and wooly blanket originals.

A bold plaid such as this is most effective in a full, gored skirt. For amateur seamstresses here are a few sewing tips: Remember that when sewing a napped fabric, all the nap must run in the same direction. The nap on skirts should run down. Lay out pattern carefully, with all nap in the right direction, and match plaid carefully at seams.

On a full skirt such as this, a narrow hem is best. Hang skirt for a day or so before hemming, so any stretch resulting from the bias cut will hang out. Then mark and cut hem. Sew bias seam binding along edge of hem and turn up not more than an inch of fabric. Blind stitch in place.

Select a trim sweater picking up one of the colors of the plaid to complete the costume. If you wish, you may add a wide belt to emphasize the fullness of the skirt and the trimness of your waistline.

PLAIDS—New craze for school... Miss Nancy Hoot, left, will look smart at Duke University this fall in her fashionable plaid dress teamed with black accessories; Miss Jean Moye will be ready for classes at St. Mary's Jr. College when she wears her flattering brown and black plaid skirt topped with a soft brown sweater. Miss Hoot is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. M. P. Hoot and Miss Moye is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Howard Moye.

Officers To Be Here For Charter Night

A host of Pilot International Officers are slated to participate in Charter Night ceremonies when the Greenville Pilot Club is officially chartered here Saturday night.

Mrs. Elna Brock, Governor, District Six, Pilot International, of Durham, North Carolina, will make presentation of the Charter to Mrs. James B. Mallory, President of the Greenville Club.

Other Pilot International Officers participating in the program will be: Dr. Sarah Lemmon, Director, Pilot International, Raleigh, North Carolina; Mrs. Almata Brooks, Lt. Governor, District Six Pilot International, High Point, North Carolina; Miss Sadie McKeithan, Lt. Governor, District Five, Pilot International, Darlington, South Carolina; and Miss Doris Gentry, Governor, District Five, Pilot International, Darlington, South Carolina.

Charter Night program will be held at 7 p.m., September 14, at the Woman's Club.

The Greenville Pilot Club was organized this summer by the Raleigh Club. It was formed with 16 charter members.

Membership in the Club is selective and by invitation only. The Pilot Club is composed of executive business women of the city.

Membership Dinner To Be Held

Wesley Cullipher, senior vice commander of the Department of North Carolina Veterans of Foreign Wars, of Elizabeth City, will be the principal speaker at the dinner initiating the membership drive of the Ladies Auxiliary of Thursday evening, September 12, at 7:30 p.m. in the Piney Grove Community Building.

Other special guests include Mrs. Bob Bland, second district president of Kinston, Mrs. Mary Stubbs, southeastern area membership chairman of Kinston, and Carlton Garrett, department chairman of youth activities, of Elizabeth City.

WESLEY CULLIPHER

Present and former members of the post and auxiliary are invited. Persons interested in becoming members are also invited. The dinner is free for those paying their dues for 1958. To be eligible for membership in the auxiliary, a person must be the wife, mother, sister or daughter of a veteran who has served our nation in foreign service. Women who have served in foreign service are eligible on their own record.

Cullipher is a native of Pasquotank County. He is a veteran of World War II, receiving his basic training in Infantry Training School. He served in Company M, 302 Infantry as heavy machine-gunner until wounded on February 19, 1945 in Europe.

Cullipher holds the EAME Medal, Combat Infantry Badge, Purple Heart, American Defense and Victory Medals.

He organized the Civil Defense program in Elizabeth City in 1956, and has served in the Ground Observer Corps since the end of World War II. He received the Junior Chamber of Commerce "Man of the Year" award in 1956.

In veteran activities, Cullipher served as Commander of the Elizabeth City VFW Post in 1952-53, was District Commander in 1954-55, was State Buddy Poppy Chairman in 1956-57, and for six years was chairman of the State VFW Cottage program which ended in the construction of a $50,000 Cottage at the VFW National home for widows and orphans in Eaton Rapids, Michigan.

"Membership in the organization is one of comradeship with mutual interests. In addition to veterans affairs, community service is one of its principle programs," stated Mrs. J. A. Joyner Jr., president of the local auxiliary, in urging all interested persons in attending the membership rally on Thursday evening.

Miss Mary Emma Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy C. Jones of Rt. 4, Greenville, and James Ollen Peaden, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Peaden, of Rt. 1, Fountain, were married Sunday afternoon, Sept. 1, at 3 o'clock in the home of Rev. L. B. Manning in Fountain. Rev. Manning officiated during the double ring ceremony.

Mixed summer flowers decorated the living room.

The bride wore a light blue crystal dress made on princess lines with matching short coat accompanied with navy accessories and a white carnation corsage. The mother of the bride wore a navy deacon dress with navy accessories. The bridegroom's mother wore a brown floral silk dress with white accessories.

Witnessing the ceremony were the bride's parents, the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Hubert Garis, sister of the bride, and Mr. Garis and daughter Vicky, Mrs. Martin Corbett and Miss Milly Bland of Fountain.

The bride is a 1957 graduate of Belvoir-Falkland High School. The bridegroom is employed at Norman's Grocery in Farmville.

After a short wedding trip to Virginia, they will be at home at 109 West Lang St., Farmville.

Officers Feted By Mrs. Sugg

AYDEN—Onelda Council No. 47 Degree of Pocahontas officers were entertained with a barbecue chicken dinner Friday night at the home of Mrs. C. A. Sugg.

The home was lighted with wrought iron candelabras and large white cathedral candles. As the guests arrived they were invited into the den where ice tomato juice was served, then directed into the dining room.

The dining table, covered with a combination white satin and lace table cloth, was centered with a cut glass bowl of pink gladioli, white mums and greenery. Place cards were used and held by butterfly favors made of pink and silver tulle and ribbon. They were later worn for a corsage.

Soft dinner music was played by Mrs. Jack Sugg, pianist, daughter of the hostess.

Following dinner, the officers met with the members at the hall and a regular meeting held with 31 present.

The meeting was called to order by Frances Tucker, Pocahontas, and usual procedure taken. The fair food booth was discussed by the members.

The food booth will be sponsored by the Degree of Pocahontas in booth No. 6 at Pitt County Agriculture Fair September 30-October 5.

Miss Cannon, Mr. Gooding Wed

AYDEN—In a ceremony of impressive simplicity Miss Sheila Jean Cannon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Edward Cannon of Ayden, became the bride of Sam Royal Gooding, son of Mrs. Floyd Gooding of Ayden and the late Mr. Gooding, on Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the Elm Grove Free Will Baptist Church.

The vows were spoken before the Rev. James C. Lynn, pastor of the church.

A program of nuptial music was presented by Mrs. J. T. Beppard, organist, and Miss Linda Worthington of Ayden, soloist, cousin of the bride.

Altar decorations were of emerald fern and palms against which baskets of white gladioli and garzums were placed. These were interspersed with lighted cathedral-candles in seven branched wrought iron standards. The family pews were marked with tulle bows.

The bride, escorted and given in marriage by her father, wore a waltz length gown fashioned with a light fitted bodice and very full skirt and long sleeves ending at the wrist in calla points. Alenob lace and French net over layers of tiny net ruffles formed the skirt. The bodice featured a mandarin collar of lace and closed at the back with tiny satin buttons. Her fingertip veil of French illusion was attached to a Juliet cap that was sequin and pearl trimmed. She carried a white Bibb topped with an orchid showered with satin ribbons.

Miss Nancy Wingate of Ayden, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a waltz length dress of dusty pink crystalettes and matching organza hat and carried an arm bouquet of blue carnations tied with pink ribbons.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. David H. Smith of Ayden and Mrs. Charles Squires of Greenville. Their gowns were of blue crystalettes similar in design to the honor attendant's and they carried fans covered with pink carnations.

Junior bridesmaids were Miss Kathy Worthington of Ayden, cousin of the bride, and Kay Gooding, niece of the bridegroom. Their dresses were in pink and blue to correspond to the other attendants' and their bouquets were old fashioned nosegays.

Floyd Gooding of LaGrange acted as his brother's best man and ushers were Joe Ray Worthington and Alton Worthington of Ayden, uncles of the bride.

Mrs. Sam Royal Gooding

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Cannon wore a navy blue crepe dress, white accessories, and a white carnation corsage.

Mrs. Gooding wore a white and navy shantung dress and a white carnation corsage.

Immediately after the ceremony the couple left for a trip to the mountains of North Carolina. The bride wore for traveling a beige sheath dress made with an empire waist and a tiny jacket with three quarter length sleeves. A small veil trimmed her beige hat and she chose brown and white accessories. On her shoulder she wore the orchid lifted from her Bible.

Mrs. Gooding attended the Ayden school and Mr. Gooding was graduated from the Gritton school. Both are currently employed at the DuPont Plant near Gritton.

Following the wedding trip, the couple will make their home on Lee Street, Ayden.

W.C.T.U. To Meet

A Solution To Community Giving?

Editor's Note: The following editorial was prepared for the current series by JAMES T. LITTLE, president of Carolina Sales Corporation.

What is Community Giving and why have we as citizens of Greenville failed our total responsibility in the past several years?

Community Giving is the financial support of every one to programs which develop and improve its citizenship, together with providing welfare, health and disaster aid locally and nationally.

Certainly the results which accrue from Community Giving are unquestionable. Daily we see the influence of these contributory funds in the benefits to our youth and to welfare, health and disaster needs.

A Christian teaching of early Biblical times was "Tithing" (one tenth of land, property and income for church support).

It is interesting to note that a number of Christian leaders now accept Community Giving as part of the "Tithe", in as much as approved community programs generally parallel Christian objectives and purposes.

Factually the experience of the past several years have indicated a lack of interest in Greenville towards Community Giving. The reason seem to be as follows:

- 1. A lack of understanding or education of the needs of Community Giving.
2. The multiplicity of fund raising campaigns which require multiple time on the part of solicitors and confuse the solicited as to their donation requirements.
3. Permitting the donor to determine annual contributions (totally) in relation to income.

After comparing the two methods in small towns and large cities, the results conclusively prove the accomplishments of the United Fund. The same program could well revitalize Community Giving in Greenville and obtain the objective and responsibility we owe to ourselves and our community.

YDC Trying To Stir Interest

By LYNN NISBET

DEMOCRATS — The Young Democrats are trying almost desperately to stir up some interest in the party. Success ratio is not high.

Democrats in the age range of 18 to 75 who came from all sections of the state were unable to generate much steam for the party power house.

Sen. George Smathers of Florida, the principal speaker, with delightful mingling of scholarly discussion and homely philosophy held interest of his audience as he talked about the plight of small business, farmers and homeowners under the Republican tight money policy.

TOO POLITE — One veteran of many political wars expressed the view that the main trouble with Democrats is that they have gotten to be too polite.

In that respect the YDC is in the same boat with the regular party organization in North Carolina. Young Democrats are concerned about the lack of interest in the upcoming state convention at Southern Pines.

mitteemen, and those who were desperately trying to find somebody to run against them. No real issues are involved — except that if there isn't a contest there will be fewer local clubs to pay affiliation fees to the State organization, consequently less money in the treasury.

DISGRUNTLED — Even a casual observer moving around through North Carolina cannot fail to note that dissatisfaction with the regular Democratic party leadership is widespread. It is expressed mostly in whispers and confidential remarks, because those who are most dissatisfied do not want to offend the leaders by open protest.

PARADOX — Developing along with this attitude of excess politeness toward governmental and party leaders is a directly contrasting attitude of less genuine respect for the position they hold.

One hears on all sides that the offices of President and Governor have lost prestige. Presidents and Governors have joined the common chorus in bemoaning the loss of public respect for the courts.

In a Democratic-Republican government it is the office rather than the official that is entitled to respect. Loss of prestige for position is illustrated by substitution of FDR for Uncle Sam as a symbol of the United States.

This switch from official to personal prestige made it more important to get Joe Doakes elected than to get a blinding platform accepted. So, North Carolina gave more attention to Scott roads and the Hodges plan for industrialization, than to a balanced program of development based on Democratic party principles.

The Lawless Ones Can Arise Anywhere

Schools must be easier to come by in Nashville than in other towns, such as Greenville, for example. The senselessness of dynamiting a valued building, even amidst the distorted atmosphere of angry feelings, must shock observers.

The physical structure of the building had done nothing to deserve "punishment"; and the people who actually paid for the education plant, and who must now replace it, didn't "deserve" this blow.

Mob spirit is unexplainable. It brings out the lawlessness which seems to be just beneath the surface of outwardly civilized people; inevitably this lawlessness gets out of hand when carelessly inflamed by irresponsible rable-rousers.

While outsiders shake their heads over the Nashville tragedy, they might well remember that unless they are on their guard, it can happen in their own backyards.

Good, Or Bad, Having 2 Jobs

By ELMER ROESSNER

Sooner or later Americans will have to make up their mind as to whether it is good or bad for one man to hold more than one job.

Is holding two or more jobs unfair to the unemployed? Is it unfair to the employers? Is it unfair to the economy?

On the other hand, should laws, unions or public opinion prevent a man from working as much as he wants? If an employee can't do a bit of moonlighting, shouldn't employers be limited to 40 hours a week—with no contact work at the country club?

The practice of holding two jobs, or holding one job and working for one's self after hours, is growing. Recent government figures indicated more than 2,000,000 persons hold more than one job—in other words, if everyone gave up his second job, the unemployed could be put to work in a trice.

A survey by the National Industrial Conference Board indicates that 8 per cent of the men on a 40-hour week have two jobs and 14 per cent of those working fewer hours are on two payrolls.

Many employers, discouraged moonlighting, as the holding of two jobs is usually called. Working for one's self after finishing a day's work for somebody else is usually called sundowning. Holding down a soft job, such as watchman, after doing a day's work, is often called baby-sitting.

Names for men holding two jobs are sometimes unpalatable. Many companies, unions and bystanders have taken positions on the two-job practice. Arguments against it generally are:

In holding a second job, a man keeps another unemployed. Moonlighters cheat employers because their work suffers.

They endanger fellow workers because extra work saps their reflexes.

They are blocking the 30-hour week because they are evidence that men can and want to work longer hours.

They help employers circumvent the time-and-a-half-for-over-time provision, since they enable employers to hire a second shift of moonlighters instead of paying regular employees overtime.

In working more than regular hours, moonlighters and sundowners neglect their families, their civic duties, their union meetings.

The arguments on behalf of holding second jobs are usually these: The right to work is as basic as the freedom of speech; no law or regulation should prevent a man from working as much as he wishes.

Prohibiting second jobs would impoverish many, or throw them on relief. A man with a low-scale job and a large family must hold a second job or turn to private or civic charity.

Strength For Today

By EARL L. DOUGLASS LABOR AND CAPITAL

"The laborer is worthy of his hire."

Indeed he is, but the capitalist is also worthy of a fair return on his money and efforts.

And the public is worthy of services well rendered. The nation is worthy of continued peace and stability.

There are classes in society, there always have been and there always will be. A happy national and world life requires that every group live in happy relationship with every other group.

Let no one feel that the Bible puts its seal of approval on any one particular variety of economic arrangement. The laborer and his rights are solemnly defended in the teachings of both the Old and the New Testament.

But capitalism is also spoken of with approval in the Bible. The word, of course, is not actually used, but what do the parables of the Pounds and Talents teach but that the man who has accumulated capital has a right to invest it and to have his investment protected? The kings of ancient Israel ruled under a strict covenant, and what was this limitation of royal power but the form of government which today we call democracy? And democracy must operate not only in government, but in the field of industry and commerce.

God's world is for all the people who live in it; and this means nothing more nor less than the divine requirement that everybody respect everybody else's rights. "They neighbor... thyself." They are one and the same.

Dead Pigeon?

An Old Theme Re-Raised

It's an old, old theme, that of highway safety. It's one that has been preached for years by those whose job it is to see that highway accidents are reduced.

In newspapers, magazines, on television the public is bombarded daily with often gruesome reminders that automobiles can kill and maim.

There has been so much said about highway safety that people have become indifferent to the warnings which are regularly issued by the Highway Patrol and other agencies.

Individuals who would break no other law, regularly ignore speed limits, roll through stop signs or violate various traffic laws.

Occasionally, though, something pops up which full emphasizes the horror the automobile can bring into the lives of ordinary citizens.

The other day I was entering the hospital by way of the emergency entrance in search of a patrolman who has just investigated an accident.

On the loading platform at the door there sat a boy in a wheel chair, evidently preparing to go home.

He could have been a college boy. He was probably in his early 20's. The boy wore a crew cut, Ivy League shirt and trousers. A similarly dressed friend stood nearby.

The boy in the wheel chair looked the part of a typical college youth. There was just one thing wrong. Both of his legs were missing.

Upon inquiry I learned that he had been in an automobile accident some time ago. His legs were injured to such an extent that both had to be removed.

City Manager Leonard Bloxam has a gadget on his desk which amplifies telephone calls eliminating the necessity of holding the receiver to the ear.

The thing attracted quite a bit of attention from members of the Zoning-Planning Commission when they met in the city manager's office the other day.

Bloxam demonstrated the device. He placed the phone receiver in the special cradle and had someone call on another line. The voice came through a tiny speaker clearly. By talking into the device the city manager could be heard just as if he talked directly into the phone.

He explained that when he finds himself with a long-winded caller "you just turn the volume down and say 'yes' every once in a while and keep on working."

What about the mistake made most often by bosses?

"They go away without telling their secretaries where they can be reached," said Sheila. "Some also fail to show proper office courtesy, or neglect to praise a girl for a job well done. But I have no such problems myself. I have a very nice man to work for."

Miss Ward, who had to be cleared by two government security agencies because of her firm's defense contracts, believes women in business can hold secrets better than men.

"At cocktail parties women can talk about anything they like to talk about besides their work," she said, and added smilingly, "We also don't feel we have to talk big to feel important. Men sometimes do."

Story Of An 'Ideal'

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Should the ideal secretary be willing to fib for her boss?

"Oh, yes — if they're simply little white lies," said Miss Sheila Ward of Montreal, who is ideal in several ways. "You have to do that to get him off the hook."

"But a secretary should never tell one to her boss—that wouldn't be good teamwork — and he shouldn't tell her any. How can she help him if he doesn't tell her the truth?"

Miss Ward, who is 34, blonde, pretty and blue-eyed, last July won an international contest for secretaries sponsored by the Executive Furniture Guild.

In or out of the office Sheila, secretary for R. A. Neale, a vice president of Canadair Ltd., is quite a girl.

She holds a degree in advertising and merchandising from McGill University. She has been a corporal in the Royal Canadian Air Force. She can sing, play the piano and violin. She likes skiing, tennis, and swimming. She is an inventive cook. She can speak and write English and French and can also get along in Norwegian, Danish, German, Italian and Spanish. She can write speeches.

What perhaps makes her even more unusual as a secretary is that she can also type fast and spell well.

"My only trouble," she confessed, "is with the 'ie' words—such as chief, friend and fiend!"

Here are a few tips she has for girls who aspire to be ideal secretaries:

"1. Dress neatly. Don't wear jangle, gingerbread jewelry.

"2. Take as much as possible of your boss's work load off his shoulders. You should be able to handle 50 per cent of his routine correspondence without taking dictation.

"3. Stay on good terms with the people you work with.

"4. Leave your personal troubles and grievances at home. Don't bring them to the office."

Miss Ward, who likes to lunch at her desk, says the biggest mistake most secretaries make is that "they are clock watchers and think too often of their paychecks.

"They do exactly what they are paid to do and nothing more," she said.

"I'm afraid also that too many of them abuse the coffee break. A girl goes to the washroom and spends 15 minutes getting herself all rigged up. Then she sits for 30 minutes in the cafeteria, and goes back to the washroom and takes another 15 minutes to repair her face.

"This means she's away from her desk for a full hour."

Damon-Pythias Rift Over Fish

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — The Senate's most famous Damon-and-Pythias friendship has been severed, at least temporarily, because the two men cannot agree on the question of fish.

Senator Richard L. Neuberger of Oregon, young and fresh, came to Capitol Hill as a hero-shipper of Senator Wayne Lyman Morse of the same state. The younger man had been a student under Morse when the latter was dean and professor of law at the University of Oregon. They were political peas from the same pod.

Both are ultra-liberals, outdoing such advance guards as Franklin D. Roosevelt and Harry S. Truman. They are full-fledged A.D.A.'ers, the leftist Democratic faction. The first to cheer when Morse deserted the GOP to become a Democrat was his former pupil. With Morse's campaign help, Neuberger followed his law teacher and political mentor to the Senate.

MORSE'S KILOWATTS VS. NEUBERGER'S FISH They have voted alike on almost every major issue, but they cannot get together on such a simple dish as fish. Both, it should be explained, are extremely stubborn and strong-minded and dedicated crusaders.

Although a radical on the subject, Morse was the only non-Southerner to vote against the Civil Rights Bill on final passage. It was not forceful enough to suit him.

The two are also the Senate's most fiery advocates of a public power empire. They would have Uncle Sam build, own and operate at taxpayers' expense all the great power-laden rivers of the nation, especially in the Northwest. There are, they believe, votes as well as kilowatts in those streams.

SALMON THE ISSUE Neuberger, however, differs in one important respect from his Socrates. Although strong for public power, he is essentially a conservationist-of forests, fish, animals and scenery. He has written many magazine and newspaper articles on the subject, and he writes well and lucratively.

It is a proposed power dam at Nez Perce on the Snake River in Idaho, not far from controversial Hell's Canyon, which has parted these Senate twins. Morse insists that the Federal Government build a towering 700-foot dam as against the private industry's preference for a smaller structure, or no dam at all.

Many utility experts argue that Hell's Canyon and proposed developments at Mountain Sheep and Pleasant Valley, also on the Snake, will provide sufficient power for many years.

It also happens that the most prolific spawning waters for Snake River salmon lie above Nez Perce. As of today, there are no ladder-like devices which can carry salmon, adult or small fry, up and down a 700-foot elevator. They would be mangled in the process, and their loss would work irreparable damage to the industry and those engaged in it alone the Snake.

VOTES VS. VOLTS Senator Morse contends that new methods for hauling fish up and down such a height will have been invented by the time the Nez Perce dam is completed, which will require about five years after it is authorized by Congress.

But his expectations do not satisfy the Senator for salmon. Besides his acerbic and praiseworthy dedication to the preservation of natural resources, Senator Neuberger's seat is none too secure.

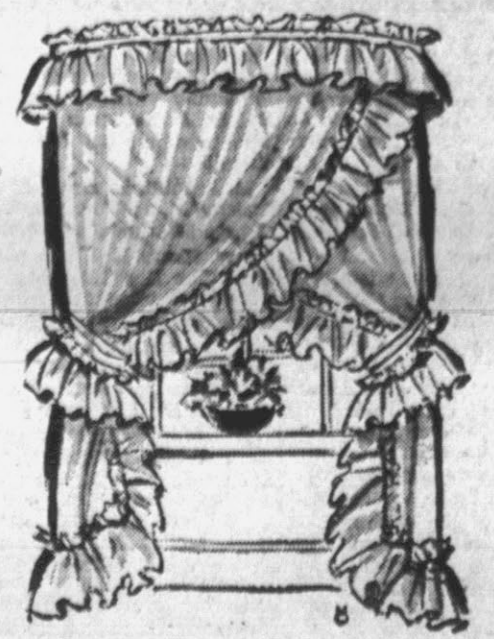

He cannot afford to lose the fish voters' bloc along the many Oregon rivers that flow from the mountains to the sea.

AGAINST EXPERIMENTS WITH ANIMALS As further evidence of Morse's idiosyncrasies, he conducted a crusade against cruelty to animals while damming the salmon. At a cost of $1,275-$35 a page—he inserted in the Congressional Record editorials attacking public and private experiments with animals.

Most of the experiments were designed to discover cures for diseases, or to make our soldiers overseas more immune to unfavorable climates, foods and germs. A lover of horseflesh, Morse's entries are blue-ribbon winners at many Virginia and Maryland horse shows. He also enjoys seasfood.

CONSTIPATED?

New laxative discovery un-locks bowel blocks without gag, bloat or gripe

Constipation is caused by what doctors call a "thrifty" colon that, instead of retaining moisture as it should, does the opposite: robs the colon of so much moisture that its contents become dehydrated, so dry that they block the bowel; so shrunken that they fail to excite or stimulate the urge to purge that propels and expels waste from your body.

To regain normal regularity, the dry, shrunken, constipating contents of your colon which now block your bowel must be re-moistened. Second, bulk must be brought to your colon to S-T-R-T-C-H STIMULATE it to action; to a normal urge to purge.

And, of all laxatives, only COLONOID, the amazing new laxative discovery possesses COLONOID's great moisturizing capacity, plus COLONOID's stretch-stimulating bulk. So effective it relieves even chronic constipation overnight, COLONOID is yet so smooth, so gentle it has proved safe even for women in critical stages of pregnancy. Superior to old style bulk, salt or drug laxatives, COLONOID neither gags, bloats nor grips; won't interfere with absorption of vitamins and other valuable food nutrients; in clinical tests, did not cause rash or other reactions.

It's a physiological fact: Exercise tones your body! And COLONOID exercises your colon to tone it against constipation, overnight! Get COLONOID, in easy-to-take tablet form at any drug counter, today! Only 98¢ for the 60 tablet package, brings positive relief at less than 2¢ per tablet.

The Sports Reflector

By BILLY ARNOLD

Phant Foes Have 55 Pounds More On Their Squad

When Greenville high school meets Jacksonville here this Friday night, they will be facing a team that outweighs them by 55 pounds. But they'll be alike in one respect. Both teams dropped their opening games. Greenville lost to Goldsboro 25-0, Jacksonville, despite its bulk, bowed to Wallace-Rose Hill, 18-6.

Yesterday's Stars

By The Associated Press HITTING: Ed Mathews, Braves — Had three hits in three trips, including his 31st home run, a seventh-inning single that knocked in the winning run in 4-3 victory over the Pirates. PITCHING: Brooks Lawrence, Redlegs — Won his fourth in a row with a three-hitter, pitching a shutout over the last eight frames for 4-1 victory over the Giants.

Pessimism Rises On Dodger Move

NEW YORK (AP) — Los Angeles Mayor Norris Poulson kept a lonely vigil by the telephone today anxiously awaiting word from Walter O'Malley, Brooklyn Dodgers president, whether the Dodgers were or were not moving to California. Openly pessimistic now about chances of getting the defending National League champions after having joyously declared only last May that "We've got the Dodgers." Poulson promised he would seek a "yes" or a "no" answer from O'Malley before the end of the National Conference of Mayors convention here today.

Hopes To Prove Age No Barrier

BROOKLINE, Mass. (AP) — Chick Evans, still winning championship golf matches at the age of 67, hopes to prove golf is a game for all ages. And he'd like to see play keep them in New York City and City Hall's findings that it can legally acquire land for a new Dodger stadium admittedly was taken as a serious blow by the California mayor. He stubbornly insisted, however, that the door was not yet closed.

Eppes Gridders Playing Friday

C. M. Eppes high school football team will open its season Friday night, September 13, against Booker T. Washington of Rocky Mount, at Guy Smith Stadium. Game time for the conference tilt is set for 8:00 p.m. Eppes had a 7-3 record last season.

An unofficial but reliable source has told us that East Carolina is having a terrible time selling their special train tickets to the ECC-Richmond football game this Saturday. The word is that at least 350 tickets had to be sold yesterday in order for the Atlantic Coastline to assure a train. We understand that 90 tickets still remained at the deadline.

There are still tickets left and anyone is invited to take advantage of them. They cost $4.76, give you a round-trip seat on a train that will carry you almost to the gates of the Portsmouth stadium, and also throw in a sandwich on the way back.

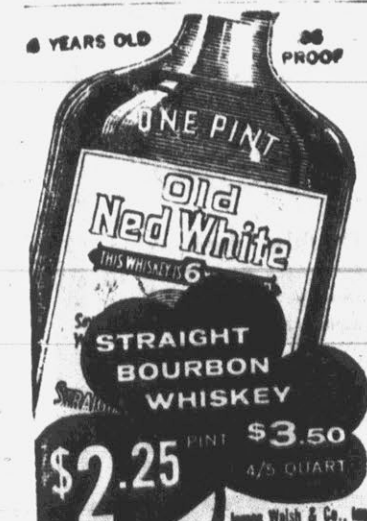

BOONE TO BE HONORED

It was announced this morning that Coach Boone will be honored at a banquet in Portsmouth, Friday evening, at the Suburban Country Club.

The sportswriters of the Portsmouth area are sponsoring the banquet and have invited a list of well-known sports figures to the event. All of the coaches Boone played under will be present to honor the ECC mentor.

Pre-Season Injuries In ACC Ranks Taking Toll

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Pre-season injuries continued to take their toll this week in Atlantic Coast Conference football practice sessions. Clemson worked yesterday with eight injured players on the sidelines. Duke had three out and Wake Forest shifted backfield men because of an injury to one. Earlier Maryland, injury plagued all last season, reported injuries to key men, as did North Carolina State. Coach Bill Murray yesterday sent the Duke Blue Devils through a rough, hour-long scrimmage which produced some long runs including jaunts by George Duntrow, Eddie Rushton, Wray Carlton and Danny Lee. Three Blue Devils watched from the sidelines: guards Bertie Keyser and Kip Bachtell and tackle Marvin Muslewite, with injured elbow, knee and arch, respectively. The Clemson Tigers concentrated on defense as Coach Frank Howard tried to smooth out rough spots noted in last Saturday's scrimmage. But Howard, who lost tackle Jim McCasland for the season last week, had players nursing minor injuries: centers Bill Thomas and Donnie Burton, ends Whitford Jordan and Bill Few, tackle Johnny Thomason, quarterback Johnnie Mac Goff, fullback Hal Knott and halfback Rudy Hayes. Wake Forest Coach Paul Arizon shifted quarterback Bruce Nun-

American League pennant race at a glance: New York's Yankees collect injuries, but Chicago's White Sox collect defeats.

It was that way again last night as the Yankees, rained out in a game with Cleveland, regained a six-game lead when the White Sox took a 7-4 beating at Boston.

Bill Skowron, who pulled a back muscle while working at home yesterday, was on the bench with Mickey Mantle and Yogi Berra—the Yankees' three top RBI men—as the champs sloshed through the better part of four frames before the game finally was called with Cleveland leading 2-0.

In the National, Milwaukee's Braves moved closer to a World Series date with the Yankees by defeating Pittsburgh 4-3 while second-place St. Louis battled Philadelphia through 14 innings before winning 4-3.

Third-place Brooklyn skidded with an eighth-inning run. Sam Jones thumping from the Chicago Cubs, and Cincinnati defeated the New York Giants 4-1 in the other NL games.

Bucs Running All The Way In Drills

East Carolina gridders have been putting in 3-hour-long practice sessions this week and Coach Jack Boone and his aides have had them running all the way.

Boone said today that "we'll have a little defensive scrimmage this afternoon and if no one gets hurt we should be in good shape Saturday."

Algy Faircloth, who has been ailing, is expected to be ready for the University of Richmond contest.

In yesterday's drills, which included scrimmage, blocking, tackling, running, and kicking exercises, several boys looked good.

At quarterback, Ralph Zehring, Billy Skeeter and George Turner turned in good performances. The passing of Skeeter to end Bucky Dennis was an especially strong point.

Line play by Lynn Barnett, Pug Beale, and Ed Emory was outstanding offensively.

The defensive play of both Boone's A and B squads was particularly good.

In the running department, Bobby Lilley, James Speight, Lee Atkinson, Randell Holmes, and George Slaughter turned in fine displays.

The rest of the AL schedule also was washed out.

The Braves were out-hit 12-8, but got the job done with the help of Hank Aaron and Eddie Mathews, who had five hits between them. They paired home runs in the fourth — Aaron's 40th, fanned Sherm Lollar and got Ron Jackson on a pop with the bases loaded and three runs already home. Bob (No-Hit) Keegan lost it.

Whammy Douglas lost it, giving up the two home runs that gave the Braves 182 for the season—matching their all-time high set in 1955.

The Cardinals continued their big try on Ken Boyer's bases-loaded single in the 14th — which dumped Robin Roberts to his first 20-defeat year.

Lindy McDaniel, Lloyd Merritt, Billy Muffett and Larry Jackson pitched six shutout relief frames for the Cards after the Phils finally overhauled a 3-0 St. Louis lead and chased starter Sam Jones with an eighth-inning run. McDaniel was the winner for a 14-8 record.

Cardinal Stan Musial showed up as a pinchhitter — the two clubs used 40 players — and hit into a forceout.

Rookie Barry Latman and Jim McDonald shut out the Red Sox on three hits over the last five frames for Chicago, but the Red Sox had nailed it with five runs in the third, three on Jim Piersall's 17th home run. Tor. Brewer won his 16th, but didn't share it for sure until Ike Detock. Boston's third reliever in the ninth, fanned Sherm Lollar and got Ron Jackson on a pop with the bases loaded and three runs already home. Bob (No-Hit) Keegan lost it.

Rookie Dick Drott became the first Cub pitcher to go all the way against Brooklyn this season, winning his 14th with a seven-hitter. Ernie Banks drove in four runs with his 35th and 36th homers and Bobby Morgan added a solo homer in the Cubs' 13-hit barrage off loser Sandy Koufax and three relievers.

A two-run homer by Joe Taylor, junking Johnny Antonelli's two-hit shutout in the sixth, backed up Brooks Lawrence's three-hit pitching for the Redlegs.

Billy Myers Not Quitting Tracks After Fatality

WINSTON-SALEM (AP) — Stock car driver Billy Myers said yesterday that he would continue racing. The announcement ended speculation that he might quit because of his brother's death on a race track Labor Day.

Bobby Myers was killed in an accident at the Southern 500 race in Darlington, S.C., Sept. 2. Billy Myers also competed in the race, but left it after the accident.

"You really can't say it's anybody's fault," Billy said of the accident, as he announced his return to racing.

"I'll start racing again this week," said Myers, a Winston-Salem resident. He indicated he would drive in a Friday night race at the Tar Heel Speedway near Greensboro and Saturday night at the Greensboro Fairgrounds.

Upset-Conscious Larry Baker Is Fighting Veteran

CHICAGO (AP) — New York's Larry Baker tries to solidify his claim as the ring's upset king of the year by aiming for victory tonight over Vince Martinez, No. 4 welterweight contender.

Martinez, a 28-year-old slugger with 28 knockouts to his credit, is a 12-5 choice.

The Paterson, N.J., battler, who scored two impressive victories this year over former champion Kid Gavilan, will be making his first Chicago showing since he knocked Chuck Davay into retirement three years ago. He has won 56 out of 61 bouts and never has been knocked out.

Another triumph for the colorful Martinez would set him up for any elimination bouts for the 147-pound crown should champ Carmen Basilio defeat Ray Robinson and win the middleweight title in their scrap Sept. 23.

Baker, 26, has won eight straight fights and is unbeaten in his last 11, getting one draw. He has won 21 of 34 starts and has three draws since turning pro in 1952.

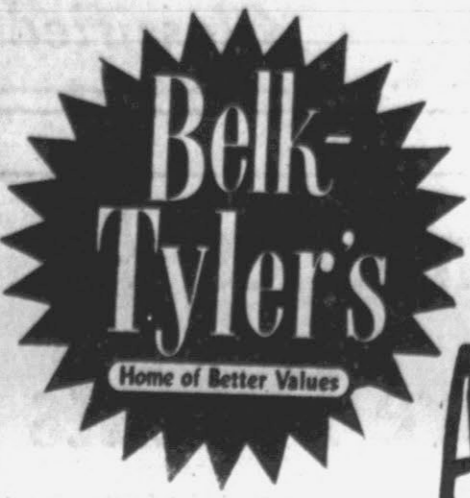

ABC will telecast the bout at 10 p.m., EDT.

CHAPTER 15

Those facing the dining-room door stared at the man who stood there. The others turned their heads and craned their necks. "He's drunk," Enid Sinclair exclaimed in a tone of disgust. But Deborah knew better. Andrew Garvin was not drunk. He was desperate. He uttered a curt, mirthless laugh in response to his sister's remark.

"I was invited to the party," he said. "Better late than never," said Hector MacInch, rising with a cordial smile. "Gregson, a chair for Mr. Garvin."

"No, thanks. I'm not staying. I saw your lights and decided to see for myself whether people still mingle on a social footing, as friends, as human beings, with their knives and claws sheathed. So it's true. We haven't all gone back to the dark ages."

"If you've only come to wallow in self-pity," began Enid harshly. "No that," replied her brother. "Each of us makes his own prison. If yours is warm and bright, so much the better. I've been to Glasgow. I imagine I broke all the speed laws on the way there and back." He looked at David Gray and told the police inspector: "Your chap, the one on the motor-bike, needs a valve-grinding job. I hadn't any trouble shaking him off."

"That's all right," said the police inspector in a matter-of-fact tone. "We got reports on you from points along the way. And one of the Glasgow men kept an eye on you."

"A burly chap in a bowler hat and a raincoat," said Andrew. "He didn't bother to disguise his calling."

"He wasn't supposed to," Gray responded curtly. "It had made Andrew seethe with resentment to be spied on in Glasgow by an obvious policeman in plain clothes. On the drive back to Garroch his anger mounted. He determined on arrival to go straight to the police station and have it out with Gray. He was going to demand either to be arrested or left alone. He could not stand this cat-and-mouse game any longer. It was a setback to be told that Inspector Gray was off-duty; if the matter was urgent he could be reached at the MacInches, where he was dining. He had decided to go home and postpone his verbal battle with the police official until the following morning.

The bright lights of Hector MacInch's house had rekindled his ire. He knew perfectly well that Hector had only invited him to the dinner out of a warped sense of humor. It was even more insufferable that, on the heels of Andrew's refusal, he should invite the very man who was doing his best to convict Andrew of murder. The original list of guests which Hector had mentioned had not included Inspector Gray. The affront was too great to be borne.

Moved by wrathful indignation, he swung his car between the gates and halted it in front of the house. He marched up the steps and pounded on the knocker, impatient to tell the police inspector and his malicious would-be host, face to face, exactly what he thought of them.

Now, in the presence of this formally clad company, he knew that he had blundered. If he launched on recriminations he would only delight Hector and play into his hands. As the anger ebbed out of him, it left him drained and weary. Now he only wanted to explain himself briefly and go.

"I went up in a hurry to see an art dealer who handles my work. Almost overnight, oils by Andrew Garvin are in demand. People are willing to pay two and three hundred pounds for paintings they could have had for twenty a couple of months ago."

"Well, that's a bit of luck, old boy," said Bill Sinclair, reaching awkwardly for his wine glass. The crass stupidity of the remark irritated Deborah. Didn't the idiot realize what the demand for Andrew's work amounted to? It was not a sincere tribute to an artist. It was because it might be the last work of a notorious murderer. If he was hanged or imprisoned for life there would be no more oils by Andrew Garvin; and the prices would go on rising.

"He had already sold two," said Andrew. "Naturally, I took the money. My creditors will want it. But I forbade him to sell any more. He's crating them and sending them back to me."

Deborah saw him reach out to grip the doorknob. He was all in. "Shall we have coffee and liqueurs in the drawing room?" suggested Hector.

As they rose, Judith went to Andrew and laid a gentle hand on his arm. "Andrew, you'll join us?"

"You're very sweet, Judith," he answered, looking down at her with a faint smile, "but I think I'll be going. Forgive me for being a boor and spoiling your party."

While the rest of the party struggled uncomfortably to the drawing room, Andrew walked to the hall with Deborah at his heels. She came to his side when he was opening the front door.

The butler hovered in the background, doing his best to pretend that he was not there at all. "I almost forgot," Deborah fumbled in her embroidered evening bag. "I have your lighter. When I stopped at your house that night I carried it away by mistake."

She held it out. He squinted at it. "It's not mine. I smoke a pipe. I use matches."

"But you handed it to me yourself when I asked for a cigarette," said Andrew, rubbing the diamond on his chin. "Come to think of it, I believe I did pick it up somewhere about the house. Yes, I remember wondering where it came from."

Coming out of the drawing room, Bill Sinclair walked unsteadily over to them. He made some scoffing remark, annoying them both, and Andrew went abruptly, slamming the door. He was gone before Deborah realized that she still held the lighter in her hand. She dropped it into her handbag and, for the time being, thought no more about it.

Holding her head high, she walked straight past Bill, who followed her closely.

They were met at the drawing-room door by Enid. "You make it so simple for me to find my husband," she said with mild sarcasm. "I only have to look where you are, Miss Vail."

Sleepless in the night, Deborah lay listening to footsteps pacing the floor of the room above her head. The footsteps of Inspector David Gray going to and fro in a restless rhythm.

For the time being the police inspector had gone as far as he could along the road he had set himself to travel. He had made strides in Garroch but there was no future for him here.

The next step must be an appointment to the C.I.D. in a large city like Glasgow or Edinburgh. One day — who could tell? — he might sit in the chair of the man in command in London itself. It all depended on his handling of his first really important case.

If he could convict Andrew Garvin, promotion was certain. And Deborah, lying sleepless in the dark, listening to his ceaseless pacing, hated him for his singleness of purpose. Suddenly she sat bolt upright in bed under the stimulus of a startling thought. Perhaps he had another reason for being so anxious to convict Andrew. Perhaps it was to protect himself.

Deborah's determined to do something for Andrew Garvin, but what? Continue "The Lonely Man" in The Daily Reflector tomorrow.

Laying Rails For Trolley Riders

KENNEBUNKPORT, Maine (AP) — Nowadays, when trolley tracks are laid, rather than torn up, that's news!

Workmen are spiking down a half mile of rails beside U. S. Route 1 in Kennebunkport. The rails will give trolley enthusiasts a chance to ride old-fashioned open cars at the Seashore Electric Railway Museum.

The two cars to be used came from Connecticut. On exhibition at the museum are 60 cars of various types — from the United States, Canada and Great Britain. A New Zealand cable car may soon be added.

A nonprofit undertaking, the museum is owned by the New England Electric Railway Historical Society, Inc.

Kitten In Well Held Up Project

EL CAJON, Calif. (AP) — A kitten was accidentally shovelled into a 70-foot abandoned dry well.

This stopped the job of filling the well until rescue could be completed by Frank Borth and Martin Roberts, two U. S. Marines, who had been working on the job.

They lowered a parakeet cage into the well at the end of a long wire. The kitten obligingly crawled into the cage and was hoisted out of the well, unharmed.

Rufus 'Goofed' Diet Experiment

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — It was Rufus, not Goofus, who goofed the experiment at Chandler Junior High School here.

Rufus and Goofus were two guaranteed male white mice. Rufus was placed on an unbalanced diet, while Goofus had meals which were a dietician's delight. This was to demonstrate the value of a balanced diet to the kids.

Goofus grew faster — for a while. Then Rufus breezed ahead with more weight and a nice smooth coat. Then Rufus produced ten baby mice. Conclusion: Rufus is a she.

'Defective', Not 'Detective'

NORTH LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — The woman telephone caller told Police Jack Hunter she wanted to speak to "Detective Muffler," whose name was on a traffic ticket she had received.

There was no such person, Hunter told her, but explained that the violation listed on her ticket was "defective muffler."

OH, MY ACHING BACK

Now! You can get the fast relief you need from nagging lumbago, headache and muscular aches and pains that often cause restless nights and miserable tired-out feelings. When these discomforts come on with over-exertion, stress and strain — you want relief — want it fast! Another disturbance may be mild bladder irritation following wrong food and drink — often setting up a restless uncomfortable feeling.

For quick relief get Doan's Pills. They work fast in 3 separate ways: 1. by speedy pain-relieving action to ease torment of nagging lumbago, headaches, muscular aches and pains; 2. by their soothing effect on bladder irritation; 3. by their mild diuretic action tending to increase output of the 17 miles of kidney tubes.

Find out how quickly this 3-way medicine goes to work. Enjoy a good night's sleep and the same happy relief millions have for over 60 years. Ask for new, large size and save money. Get Doan's Pills today!

NEW YORK (P)—Stock market prices continued mixed with trading light early this afternoon. Key stocks showed gains or losses of fractions to around a point.

The market was generally lower at the start but improved somewhat in later dealings. Some of these small gains, however, were cancelled but the general pattern remained irregular.

On average, the market was much above the year's lows reached on Lincoln's birthday and Wall Street technicians believed that a test of the lows was probably in the making. The news background did little to spur prices. Although retail sales were reported to be as good or better than a year ago, there were also reports of leveling-off in capital outlays by business, an easing in employment and a rise in commercial paper rates, the latter emphasizing the tight money situation.

Coppers recouped some of their recent losses as did some oils. Steels, motors and rubbers were irregular. Aircrafts, most chemicals and leading rails showed losses.

U. S. Steel took a fractional loss after trading about unchanged earlier. Bethlehem eased. Youngs Sheet rose a fraction while Lukens Steel rose well over a point but backed away from the gain.

Coppers rebounded from an oversold condition due to the weakness in world copper prices. Kennecott and Anaconda rose slightly. American Smelting posted a small gain. International Nickel dropped a good fraction.

Texas Co., Royal Dutch, Gulf Oil and Amerada all moved ahead a little, adjusting from recent losses on the Middle East uncertainty. Sinclair fell a sizable fraction.

United Aircraft, which has announced plans to spend 100 million dollars on new facilities, was down around a point. Boeing took a small loss.

Goodrich was up about a point while Goodyear declined a little. Fractional gains were made by Chrysler, U. S. Gypsum, Westinghouse Electric and American Telephone, Chesapeake & Ohio lost well over a point. Illinois Central advanced a major fraction. New York Central, Southern Railway, Santa Fe, General Electric, International Paper and American Can were among the losers.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off 10 cents to $170.30 with the industrials down 40 cents, the rails down 30 cents and the utilities up 10 cents.

Pitt Board Of Realtors Elect New Officers

The Pitt County Board of Realtors last night elected J. B. Smith president to succeed retiring President Jack Wallace. Elbert H. Bennett is vice-president and John Grier was elected secretary for the third successive year.

The retiring president in his report reviewed the board's activities during the year. He pointed out that the general assembly at its last session passed a state real estate license law which requires an applicant for license to be fully qualified and pass an examination. In addition to the privilege license all real estate brokers and salesmen are required to buy a license from the North Carolina Real Estate Licensing Commission. Wallace stated Wallace served on the Legislative Committee of the North Carolina Board of Realtors.

New Pastor For Colored News Two Churches

The pastor and Trustees of York Memorial A.M.E. Zion Church request the entire membership to meet Thursday at 7:30 p.m. to arrange for an urgent matter relative to some phase of the church. This program cannot be perfected without your presence. The District Conference will convene on the 18th at Jasper with Dr. A. E. Hudson presiding.

The Rev. George E. Nickels has begun duties as pastor of the Hollywood and Chicod Presbyterian churches.

He delivered his first sermon last Sunday. Rev. Mr. Nickels is a native of Bristol, Tenn., and a 1953 graduate of Davidson College. He studied at the Westminster Theological Seminary in Philadelphia, and graduated from Columbia Theological Seminary in Decatur, Ga., this past May. While at Columbia, the Rev. Nickels served as an assistant pastor at Dixon and at Kings Mountain.

Ordination services for Rev. Mr. Nickels were conducted August 4 at the First Presbyterian Church in Bristol, Tenn., where he had been a supply pastor for the month of August. He will be installed as pastor of the Hollywood and Chicod Presbyterian churches in the near future.

The minister is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Nickels of Bristol and a great-nephew of Dr. Joseph A. Vance of Detroit and Dr. James I. Vance of Nashville, Tenn., who were moderators of the Presbyterian Church of the U. S. A. and the Presbyterian Church of the U. S. during the same period of time.

Rev. Mr. Nickels succeeds the Rev. E. Lee Willingham III at the Hollywood and Chicod churches.

Special Electric Rate Ahead For Some Users

A special electric rate for utility customers who conform to certain electric hot water heater specifications will go into effect soon as a result of Utilities Commission action last night. The action provides for special rates of customers who provide large hot water heaters and allow the commission to install time clocks which shut off power to the heaters during peak electrical consumption hours.

Utilities Superintendent Leonard Bloxam said the plan is being used in all 48 states by many electric companies. It would probably mean a saving of about $3 per month for customers who take advantage of the plan, Bloxam said.

However, he pointed out that only customers who have minimum 50-gallon water tanks would be allowed to take advantage of the offer. The large tank is needed to provide a hot water reserve while the heating units were off during peak consumption.

Bloxam said ordinarily a family would not run out of hot water during the off hours under the new set-up. The plan would tend to level out the electric consumption on the system, the superintendent said.

Israeli-Syrian Clash Seen Likely Outcome

CAIRO (P) — Veteran observers here believe the Syrian-Israeli frontier is the area to watch in the current Middle East crisis. They discount the possibility of armed conflict between Syria and its Arab neighbors, although they say bad feeling may continue for some time. But there are genuine fears that pressures are building up which may bring some kind of armed clash between Syria and Israel.

They made these points:
1. Shipment of Soviet arms into Syria almost certainly will create uneasiness in Israel, particularly if new arms are concentrated in the tense Lake Huleh region near the Israeli border. There are fears Israel may be lured into throwing a punch in a preventive war aimed at knocking out the Soviet-made equipment before the Syrians can prepare for an attack.

2. The Syrians themselves probably would like to see Arab interest again focused on the Israeli frontier. Nothing would restore the shattered Arab front more quickly than a new crisis with Israel. Despite their family disputes, all Arab states still tend to close ranks when the Palestine question is raised. Some Arabs lately have complained the United States is exaggerating developments in Syria to divert Arab attention from Israel.

3. The Syrian-Israeli frontier has been the most sensitive of all Israeli-Arab fronts in the past few months. Quarrels over the Lake Huleh demilitarized zone, Israeli fishing rights in the Sea of Galilee and Israeli diversion of River Jordan waters still are unsettled and could touch off a conflict at any time.

4. From Israel's viewpoint, Syria is the most vulnerable Arab state at the moment. Jordan and Lebanon now are receiving help from the United States and Egypt is sitting behind a cordon of U.N. troops.

County Office Position Is Open

George Bellmon is serving as the County ASC's acting office manager, according to an announcement made by the ASC office today.

The county ASC committee is accepting applications for the county office manager position. Applications will be accepted for a ten-day period beginning Sept. 11, according to the announcement.

Bellmon was recently appointed to the position replacing James Meredith who became chief clerk. Meredith resigned because of health reasons.
