Scouters Honored As Big District Growth Reported

A year's work for many was reviewed and recognized last night at the Pitt District's annual Recognition and Appreciation dinner held on the campus of East Carolina College. For the more than 150 adult leaders and scouts present the night was anti-climactic. The records reviewed during the course of the meeting revealed the outstanding accomplishments made during the past Scouting year. District Chairman Erskine Duff, who presided over the meeting, described briefly advancements made in the Scouting Movement in Pitt County during the past year. He stated that there were a total of 1271 Scouts registered in 60 Scout units, representing an increase of 184 boys over the previous year. Duff related that eight new Scout units have been organized to date in the District. He added this figure represents the exact number of new units organized in 1956. It was explained that of the 1,271 boys in 60 units, 502 made rank advancements, an increase of 213 advancements over the year before. W. C. Chadwick of New Bern, a member of the regional Executive Committee of Region VI, was the guest speaker for the meeting. His topic was volunteer Scouting. Discussing at length his topic, Chadwick posed four questions to the group of leaders. They were: what is Scouting? why do we have Scouting? how is it started? and why does it exist? He stated Scouting teaches boys and girls to live with each other and to become good citizens. It was emphasized that the leaders of tomorrow are the youngsters of today and every effort will have to be made in order that the future might be in capable hands. "We are just volunteers standing at the crossroads of life pointing the right way for them to travel," the speaker said. "It is time for us to redouble our efforts to establish the right way of life in a democracy. By joining forces and getting others to help I feel much can be accomplished toward this goal." One of the highlights of the meeting was the presentation of the Green Band Awards. These awards, the highest in the Pitt Scouting District for adult leaders, were presented by Wyatt Brown, himself a Green Band wearer. Recipients were John Behr, James B. Mallory and J. B. Newman of Greenville and W. R. Hunnicutt of Bethel. In making the presentation, Brown stated the four men had established themselves in the Pitt District as outstanding workers who have unselfishly given of their service for the advancement of scouting. Bill Drum, a member of the Advancement Committee, presented Scouters Keys to: John Behr, District Commissioner; Frank Steinbeck and Robert A. Leftwich, Neighborhood Commissioners; and Charles Cobb, Scout leader. These awards are presented to Scout Commissioners and leaders who have completed a prescribed training program during a three-year period. This program is set forth by the National Council of the Boy Scouts of America, it was explained. Drum also presented the Scouters Awards and Den Mother Awards. Those who received the Scouters Award were: Dr. Robert Wilfong, James B. Mallory, Wendell Smiley, and Dr. Edward J. Carter of Greenville; Lloyd Worthington of Winterville; Edward Gagnon of Ayden and W. R. Hunnicutt of Bethel. Den Mothers receiving the coveted award were: Mrs. Charles Cobb, Mrs. Wyatt Brown, Mrs. Clara Williams, Mrs. G. D. Vincent and Mrs. Joe Harper of Greenville; Mrs. Vesta G. Tyndall of Grifton; and Mrs. W. E. Gibson of Ayden. Erskine Duff was installed as District Chairman. Other officers (Continued on Page 6)

Seventeen Persons Killed In Apartment House Fire

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y. (AP)—Seventeen persons, including a mother and her eight children, perished early today as fire billowed through a narrow three-story apartment housing two Negro families. Fourteen of the dead were children. Nine others were injured. Flames surging through stairways and halls trapped many in their bedrooms. At least one was killed in a jump to the ground. The victims, besides the mother and 14 youngsters, included 2 adults reported staying with the 2 families. The frame building, once the Moonlight Hotel, was a splintered, charred tomb. Firemen searching for bodies walked on ladders stretched along upper halls. Mrs. Mary Ewing, 25, died with her 8 children—Howard, 9; Florence Jr., 8; Arline, 6; Linda, 4; Gloria Jean, 3; twins Terry and Jerry, 1, and Bonnie Patricia, 2 months. Also dead were 6 children of Mr. and Mrs. Sanford Reid—Walter, 17; Carson, 10; Harvey, 6; William, 3; Sanford Jr., 2, and Mary Louise, 5 months. The other victims were Jack Thomas and John Johnson, roomers. Mrs. Frances Haynes, who lives across the street, said the sound of an explosion awoke her. She looked out and "saw flames pouring out of a window on the second floor of the house across the street." By the time she had awakened others in her own house, "we looked again and the entire building was in flames." The fire was reported at 4:35 a. m. by patrolmen in a police cruiser. Firemen said the flames roared through the building so fast that some of the youngsters might have died asleep. Some of the victims probably had no time to reach a window, firemen said. Cause of the fire was not determined, but firemen said an exploding heater could have started it. The owner of the building, William Deitz, said he had notified both families that he was evicting them from the old, partly abandoned structure. Deitz, a building demolition contractor, said the building was closed once but that he had opened it to accommodate the families temporarily after they were evicted from a housing project.

Count 43 Dead In Air Crash

NEWPORT, Isle of Wight, England (AP)—A flaming British flying boat plummeted into a wooded hillside near Newport last night, killing 43 of the 58 persons aboard. The four-engine Solent, owned by British Quila Airways, developed engine trouble and crashed shortly after it took off from Southampton for Lisbon, Portugal, with 50 passengers and a crew of 8. Many of the passengers were beginning vacations. An Aquila spokesman said the 43 persons killed were believed to include all the crewmen. There were no Americans aboard the plane, he said. All survivors were taken to a hospital, five seriously injured and the other 10 slightly hurt. A spokesman for the Civil Aviation Ministry said the pilot had radioed he was turning back to Southampton because one engine failed. He apparently crashed about 15 minutes later. The plane had set out on its usual route in cloudy weather. Trees were set ablaze where the big plane dropped on this popular resort island in the English Channel across a stretch of water also named the Solent from Southampton on the mainland. Soldiers, firemen, farmers and police pulled survivors and burned bodies from the flaming wreckage. The first man to reach the wreckage, scattered over an area 100-yards wide, was Harry Tyrrell, a shepherd employed by author J. B. Priestley. The author, who has a farm nearby, heard the crash from about three-quarters of a mile away as he was returning from a dinner party. Tyrrell pulled injured persons from the wreckage and was joined by other farm workers and a nearby detachment of troops on a night exercise.

Driver Charged As 2-Ton Truck Runs Into Train

Norfolk Southern Railroad's crossing on the recently opened Memorial Drive by-pass collected its first traffic accident this morning. A two-ton truck smashed into the side of a four-unit freight train shortly after 10 o'clock today, resulting in a careless and reckless driving charge against the driver. Louis Herbert Strobel Jr. of Route 1, Maysville, will face the charge in Municipal Recorder's Court Monday. Investigating officers said Strobel's truck, loaded with a crawler-type tractor, rammed the side of the train engine. The force of the collision threw the truck into the side of the train, nearly demolishing the front end of the truck. Strobel was not injured in the collision, but officers placed a preliminary damage estimate of $900 on the truck. The train engine's damages were estimated at $150 by the engineer, John Albert Godfrey of Wilson. Police quoted Godfrey as saying his fireman, Larry Richard Jenks of Raleigh, saw the truck strike the train and called for him to stop. Godfrey's emergency braking equipment brought the engine, its two freight cars, and a caboose to a halt approximately 80 feet past the intersection with the four-lane highway. According to findings in their investigation, officers said the train was moving approximately 15 miles-per-hour when it was struck by the truck. Officers also said that train personnel had been cleared of any responsibility and would not be charged with any traffic violations.

Man Wounded By Pistol Bullet
GRIFTON—A man shot on the highways near here this morning was admitted to Pitt Memorial Hospital. Sheriff Ruel W. Tyson said Milton Coward, 32 year old Negro, was shot through the groin on N. C. 118 east of Grifton. The injured man made his way to a rural home where occupants called Grifton police who in turn called the Sheriff's Department. Coward, who said he lives in New Bern, was taken to Greenville where he was treated at the hospital. The sheriff said Coward told officers he did not know who shot him. Sheriff Tyson said Coward had lived near Grifton in the past. He was shot with a pistol.

Town In Uproar; Family Departs
STATESVILLE, N. C. (AP)—Police guarded today against any further demonstrations before the home of two white sisters who officers said they found in a car with two Negro men. Authorities said the family of Mrs. R. B. Lambeth was no longer a ying at the home. One source said they had moved out of the city. A crowd of between 500 and 600 persons demonstrated before the house last night. Police chief W. T. Ivey said feeling was running high in Statesville and that the guard would remain at the house tonight. Police said that downtown 14 Negroes were arrested last night for disorderly conduct. Officers said the Negroes were crowding whites off the sidewalk and shouting insulting remarks. The girls were found in a car with the Negroes at 2:03 a. m. Thursday morning, Ivey said. A rock was thrown through a window of the family home Thursday night, he said, and a cross was burned in the front yard. All off-duty policemen were called out last night after the crowd formed in front of the home of Mrs. R. B. Lambeth, whose daughters were found in the car with the Negroes, Ivey said.

Liquor Raiders Strike Hard In Five Counties
By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
More than 25 persons accused of illegal liquor activities were arrested last night and early today by federal, state and county agents in five Carolinas counties. The agents made swift raids in Anson, Cabarrus, Stanly and Union counties in North Carolina, and Marlboro County, S. C. Among others arrested were: Floyd Merritt of Monroe and "Doc" Starnes of Rt. 3, Monroe. Please Chavis and Frank Stubbs, arrested in Marlboro County with 299 gallons of non-taxpaid liquor. Ernest Polk, Mrs. Lonie Medley and Mr. and Mrs. Crawford Thomas, all of Rt. 2, Polkton in Anson County; Howard F. King, Rt. 2, Concord, and Thurman W. Everheart of Kannapolis in Cabarrus County; Hayward Parker, Lee Curlee, Raymond Brooks, Hoyle Nance and George Thomas, all of Oakboro. Julian D. Brooks was served with 13 warrants. Officers said he was convicted three weeks ago in federal court for bootlegging, and at that time was given an 18-month suspended sentence, fined $1,500 and put on two-year probation. Among those arrested were two men identified by federal officers as "kingpins" in the illicit liquor trade: Julian D. (Duke) Brooks of Oakboro in Stanly County, N. C., and Johnny W. Nance of Rt. 2, Concord, Cabarrus County, N. C. Authorities said most of those arrested face indictment on evidence obtained by Arthur Bryant, a federal agent who has been working undercover among boot-

Woman Struck By Automobile, Killed

PEDESTRIAN IS KILLED ... struck by car on New Bern Highway last night.

A Negro woman was killed when she was struck by an automobile as she walked along the New Bern Highway around 5:50 last night. Investigating Patrolman H. R. Winslow identified the highway victim as Mary Ann Jones, 50-year-old of Greenville Rt. 3 Box 543. She was hit about one and one-half miles north of Chicod School. Winslow identified the driver of the car involved as Edgar Eugene

Davis, Falkland Box 32. Winslow said Davis was headed south on N. C. 43 and the Jones woman was walking south on the right hand side of the highway. Damage to the right front fender of the vehicle was estimated at $100. Winslow said he had stopped a car a short distance down the highway and he was summoned to the scene of the accident only moments after it occurred. The highway death moved the county's fatality total to 13 for the year. Coroner Griffin H. Rouse set an inquest for 7 o'clock Wednesday night. He said it will be held in the Pitt County Court House.

Exchange Club Elects New Officers At Meet

The Greenville Exchange Club at its weekly supper meeting last night elected Fred J. Forbes Jr., (above) President of 1958 to succeed retiring President J. Howard Move. John Behr, George Glemifig and Watters were elected vice-presidents; Ed Parkinson, secretary, and Carl Wade, assistant secretary. John Behr, George Glemifig and J. R. Newell were elected directors for a two-year term. Dr. Ray Minges, Luther R. Moore and Hoyt Narron are hold-over directors for 1958. Exchange Direct Gov. H. O. Keaton representing the National Exchange Club, and Roy Lee Farrell, both of Roanoke Rapids, member of the State Board of Control for North Carolina, made their official visits Keaton urged the exchangeites to attend the quarterly conference by the State Exchange Club organization. Farrell reviewed the various activities of the National Exchange Club. Exchangeite Jack Wallace made the report for the Nominating Committee.

Local Job-Seekers Find Vacancies Few And Far Between

By EVERETTE PARKER
Reflector Staff Writer
Men and women looking for jobs in and around Greenville are finding vacancies few and far between in comparison to past years. W. H. Dillingham, manager of the Greenville Employment Security Commission, states that job vacancies in this area are definitely on the decrease. Figures released by the local Commission substantiate the statement made by Dillingham who has followed the employment situation in Pitt County for a number of years in his present capacity. For the first two weeks during this month, with the period ending on Nov. 8, 425 new claims for unemployment compensation have been filed here in comparison to 107 new claims for the corresponding period in 1956. Dillingham points out that the number of new claims are now nearly four times as heavy as they were last year at this time. The Commission had 291 continued claims on Nov. 8, with 172 for the week ending Nov. 1. This compares with 63 continued claims on Nov. 9, 1956 and 61 for Nov. 2 last year. In comparing new and continued claims for the month of October this year and in 1956, the ESC Manager stated the figures indicate a substantial increase in both cases. New claims more than doubled at the Commission during October.

Last month 230 new claims were received against 106 for the same period in 1956. The local office had only 279 continued claims on file last year as compared to 487 in October, 1957. Applications For Work
Dillingham stated his office had 657 applications on file for work this year, 133 of which were female. Last year he said there were 498 applications on file including 200 female. "This increase is noteworthy", he said. "It is an indication of a changing employment situation." He explained the heavy filing period to begin next week. Its coming earlier this year, he said, due to the curtailment of hiring at local tobacco factories and a short marketing season. Dillingham said it would be hard to ascertain whether the filing would be lighter or heavier than last year during future months. The question was posed as a result of the new North Carolina law passed at the last session of the legislature that went into effect on July 1st, 1957. Under the current law, a claimant is required to make $500 during an approximate period of a year prior to filing. It was explained that the old law only required the claimant to earn $250 during the previous base year to be eligible for unemployment compensation. Dillingham stated, "When the new law came out, I thought it would cut down the number of claimants for unemployment com-ensation. "Thus far I have noted that very few of those who have attempted to file for unemployment have been turned down as a result of the new law." He went on to say next year would probably be another story since the case period will include the 1957 marketing and processing season, a short one in Greenville. "This is mere speculation", the ESC Manager said. "With the employment picture being what it is, I do expect an increase in the number of new claims and applications for jobs in this respect. There are going to be men and women filing who haven't filed for years", he added.

CHAPTER 36
A shadow was lifted from Buhl the day Vic Toll died. I felt it that evening before Kity and I went up to our room. I felt it again when we went down for breakfast in the morning. I saw it in the faces of people in the lobby and in the dining room, especially the jurors. I sensed it in their voices and the way they laughed. Yesterday there had been no laughter.

AMERICAN BIBLE SOCIETY
Dept. U, 450 Park Avenue
New York 22, N. Y.

Now in 1,100 tongues
God must speak to men. Despite the barriers of language and dialect which separate nation from nation, tribe from tribe—God must speak to men!
This conviction has long inspired the American Bible Society in its stupendous task... to translate God's word into every tongue... to place the Bible in every hand.
Now in 1,100 tongues God has spoken to men through inspired Scripture. In marble cathedrals and mud huts the same timeless truths are read, heard, taught and discussed in the words men know. And millions of Bibles, Testaments, and portions of Scripture are being placed in eager hands.
This is our triumph... and our continuing challenge... the countless Christians who, individually and through our churches, make possible the work of the American Bible Society. Thank God! Carry on!

Morning Wedding Vows Spoken By Miss Whichard; Mr. Camby

Miss Mary Andrews Whichard, daughter of Mrs. Walter Linden Whichard and the late Mr. Whichard of Greenville, was married to Raymond Felix Camby, son of Mr. and Mrs. George B. Camby of Cortenberg, Belgium, this morning at 11:30 in St. Paul's Episcopal Church.

The Rev. John W. Drake officiated at the private, double-ring ceremony.

Vows were spoken before an altar centered with white chrysanthemums flanked by burning tapers. Nuptial music was presided by Miss Eva Hodges, organist.

Given in marriage by her uncle, Samuel L. Bridges, the bride wore a beige suit by Nobility Jr. with a hat of light beige trimmed with matching satin and dark brown accessories. She carried a white prayer book topped with cyrillicum orchids.

Miss Margaret Ella Greene of Greenville was maid of honor. Carrying a bouquet of daisy-type chrysanthemums, she wore a mint green street length dress styled with a boat neck, short sleeves, and an empire waistline scattered with rhinestones.

For her daughter's wedding, the mother of the bride wore a teal blue light weight Brielle original street length wool dress featuring three-quarter length sleeves and a stole neckline with black accessories and a croche hat of coke feathers. Her corsage was a white orchid.

For her wedding trip to Brussels and Paris, France, by S. S. Liberte of the French Line, Mrs. Camby wore her wedding suit and at her shoulder was the orchid lifted from her prayer book.

The couple will make their home in Washington, D. C.

Mrs. Camby, a graduate of Greenville High School, received her B. S. degree at East Carolina College. She is now serving as assistant secretary in the office of Congressman Herbert C. Bonner.

Mr. Camby studied architecture at Brussels Academy and worked for the Foreign Escorted Tour Division and Cruise Division of American Express Company for six years. He is now president and general manager of Ray Camby Travel Service, Inc. in Washington, D. C. and Brussels, Belgium.

From Junius H. Rose High Horse Loving Set Don't Need Licenses

By MARTHA PIERCE
Reflector Teen Writer

When good horses get together you can be sure that Goldis Starling, Ann Green, Mille and Bunny Overton and Susan Willis will be near them.

Donning jeans and Bermudas, the horse-loving crowd rush home after school, saddle their horses, and take off.

"I'm not worrying about getting my driver's license," says Goldis. "I figure if you can drive one horse, 200 horses ought to be just as easy. Anyway, Bill, my horse, doesn't use gas and Granddaddy feeds him."

The menagerie at the Starling house — a cat, two varieties of birds, a dog, ducks, and a horse — prove that Goldis is fond of animals.

When asked why Bill is her favorite pet, Goldis replied, "I love him best because there is more of him to love."

"Without a horse of my own" could be Ann Green's song. She solves her horseless problem by being a backseat rider on Bill. "It's almost as much fun as being a backseat driver," she claims, "and if you haven't got a horse, a mule will do." Ann laughingly recalled that her first attempt at riding was on a mule. A fall on her head failed to put a damper on her enthusiasm for riding.

Susan Willis takes her riding seriously and often steps into the show ring with horses from a local stable. She recently won her first prize with a gaited horse which was the $75 Juvenile Five-Gaited Stake in Farmville.

Riding family-style is one of the unique privileges of the Overton family, who own three horses. Jonathan Overton, Mille, Bunny and Dollie spend some time nearly each day riding together.

Attended N.F.L. Session
Last weekend nine students from Rose High attended an N.

F.L. practice speaking session in Raleigh. The practice session Friday night and Saturday included original oratory, impromptu speaking, poetry reading, and radio announcing.

Representing Greenville were Anne Briley, Katherine Winchester, Linda Gaskins, Merrill Bynum, Leo Starling, Ann Green, Goldis Starling, and Lawrence Behr. They were accompanied by W. F. Young and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Starling, who served as judges.

Louise Cherry and Charles Cooper of Tarboro were supper guests of Mary Ann Bryant last night.

Gwen Johnson had a slumber party last night. Her guests were Jane Bass, Naomi Gibbs, Jean Ann Waters, Sandra Phillips, Cathryn Ratcliffe, Carolyn Briley and Tona Jones.

Afternoon Tea Honors Mrs. Steve Wilkerson

Mrs. Steve Wilkerson was entertained yesterday afternoon at a tea given at the home of Mrs. Larry James by Mrs. Erskine Duff, Miss Elizabeth Tibbatts and Mrs. James.

Upon arrival the hostesses presented the honoree with a white carnation corsage which complimented her black wool sheath dress.

The approximately 20 guests were greeted by the hostesses and Mrs. Wilkerson and invited into the dining room where Mrs. Ty Wagner served tea from an appointed table covered with an imported embroidered cloth inserted with lace which was centered with a five-branch candelabra holding ice green burning tapers and eggnettes filled with white chrysanthemums and sweet alyssum.

Guests served themselves to individual cakes carrying out the bridal motif and other party accents.

Of focal interest in the dining room was the buffet which was flanked with crystal candleholders and centered with antique Chinese tureen filled with white giadioli, magnolia leaves, and miniature chrysanthemums.

Lavender chrysanthemums predominated in the living room. Each hostess remembered the bride with a wedding gift.

Following a social hour, guests said goodbyes to Mrs. James, Mrs. Duff, Miss Tibbatts and Mrs. Wilkerson.

Social Notes

Mr. and Mrs. Gentry Boyd and Mrs. S. E. Goward have returned from Columbia, S. C. where they visited Mrs. Goward's daughter, Mrs. Delbert Moore and family.

Band Presents Concert For Club

The Junius Rose High School Band gave a concert Tuesday afternoon in the band room of the high school building as a program for the Fine Arts Department of the Woman's Club when they met for their monthly meeting.

After the program, James Rodgers, band director, told the group facts concerning the band and the "Band Boosters Club."

Since the Pine Arts Department voted to promote the band as their project for the year, members bought membership cards to the Band Boosters Club.

Mrs. Michael Luskin, project chairman, was in charge of the program.

Mrs. R. P. Rogers, president, welcomed guests and members and dispensed with business items.

Members voted to have a covered dish luncheon December 10 for their Christmas meeting and bring a silver offering for club project.

Mrs. H. R. Phillips, Mrs. K. T. Futrelle, Mrs. J. C. Galloway and Mrs. Michael Luskin were hostesses for the social hour. Mrs. David Moore and Mrs. Frank Steinbeck were guests.

She May Be First At Moon

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

It might be a woman who boards America's first space ship, and if it is, I'm willing to bet that woman will be Ruth Nichols, the nation's earliest licensed woman pilot who is still flying.

At 65, this flying contemporary of Amelia Earhart and Lindbergh is preparing seriously and industriously for the next great adventure into outer space. For the last year she has been studying space medicine and subjecting herself to every available test for high-altitude flying.

I got to know her while editing her new book, "Wings for Life," just published, in which she tells some half-raising tales of her early adventures in planes stuck together with glue and baling wire, and admits frankly that the only time she is happy is when she is up in the air.

I learned at least that she meant it when she wrote, as the final paragraph of her book: "Of one thing I am certain—when space ships take off, I shall be flying them, whether in my present body form or another."

Miss Nichols' present bodily form looks remarkably durable, considering the fact that during her flying career she has emerged from six major crashes and innumerable narrow escapes, has had practically every bone in her body broken, and won a number of her air records while flying in plaster cast, with a broken back.

At present she flies every kind of aircraft she can get her hands on, up to and including jets. As adviser to the national commander of the Civil Air Patrol, she spends her weekend cloud-hopping around the Eastern Seaboard and in between times avidly keeping up with every advance in the current dizzy race toward outer space.

CHEESE BLINTZES

Ingredients: 3 large eggs, 3-4 cup sifted flour, 1 tablespoon sugar, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1 cup cold water, 2 tablespoons butter (melted and cooled slightly), 1 pound large curd (not creamstyle) cottage cheese, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 1-4 cup sugar, grated rind of 1 orange, extra butter.

Method: Beat eggs enough to combine yolks and whites; beat in 1/2 cup of the sifted flour until smooth. Add remaining 1-4 cup flour, 1 tablespoon sugar, 1-4 teaspoon salt and vanilla; beat just until smooth. Gradually stir in cold water, making sure mixture is smooth after each addition. Stir in melted butter. Sieve cottage cheese and mix with 1-4 teaspoon salt, 1-4 cup sugar and grated orange rind. Melt about 1/2 teaspoon butter in a 9-inch skillet, swirl so there is a film of fat over bottom. Into moderately hot skillet pour a couple of tablespoons of the pancake batter; swirl off heat so batter covers bottom of pan. Cook rapidly until lightly browned on bottom; do not turn; turn pancake out on a board. Continue making pancakes the same way, adding a little butter to the pan for each. Pancakes may be stacked; browned sides up. Put a generous spoonful of the cheese mixture in the center of the browned side of each pancake. Fold two parallel ends to seal in cheese. Fry stacked pancakes rapidly in a small amount of hot butter, turning to brown on both sides. Serve hot with strawberry jam or sour cream or both. Makes 16 pancakes—enough for 8 servings.

Christian Church Announcements

The Disciples of Christ have just concluded their State Convention in Williamston, North Carolina with a forward looking program looking to advancement in every phase of the Churches program. The next Convention of Christian Churches will be held in the Spring of 1959 in the First Christian Church, Charlotte N. C.

The members of the Eighth Street Christian Church are requested to finish the task of the 1958 program immediately. The response has been very gratifying so far but due to the enlarged program of the Disciples of Christ in Greenville it is necessary for every member to share in the responsibility. It is hoped that by this coming Sunday every member shall have declared his share of the church program.

A new Sunday School class is in the process of formation which will include young married couples. Any newly married couple which has been married five years or less is eligible. Those present last Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Adcock; Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Smith; and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Moore. They very cordially invited other couples who are not in some Sunday School class to join them.

The members of the Christian Church and Sunday School are reminded that Sunday, November 17, is Christmas Seals Sale Sunday, the proceeds of which go to the T. B. Association. This organization has helped to prevent countless hundreds of cases of that dreaded disease, tuberculosis. Everyone is encouraged to buy and use Christmas Seals.

Sunday School will begin at 9:45 Sunday morning with Mr. L. W. Gaylor, Jr. as superintendent. The youth organizations will meet with Sammy White of Atlantic Christian College as youth director. A light supper will be served at 6:00.

At the worship service Sunday morning the choir will sing an anthem entitled, "My God and I" by Sergei and the pastor has announced to preach on the theme, "Unused Resources".

Speaker Tells Club About South Africa

Herbert White Lee spoke to the Clio Book Club when Mrs. Luther Moore was hostess at her home on Library Street recently. Throughout the house, fall fruits and flowers were arranged.

Mrs. Moore introduced as guest speaker Lee, who spoke on South Africa. Lee told about the beautiful, practical cities of Johannesburg, Pretoria and Capetown, the history of the peoples of South Africa, its industries and customs and problems. He compared the social problems of South Africa with those of our own country.

After a short business meeting presided over by Mrs. Dink James, president of the club, the hostess served a salad course, coffee, fruit cake and mints. Miss Snodde Moore was a special guest for the afternoon.

American Legion Auxiliary To Meet

The American Legion Auxiliary will hold its November meeting at the home of Mrs. C. J. Allgood, 800 W. Fourth Street, on Thursday evening at 8:00 o'clock.

Gold Star Mothers will be special guests and will be honored. The Rev. Carlos Womack, pastor of Bethel Methodist Church, will be the guest speaker. Members of the Auxiliary are urged to attend and bring gifts for the gift shops in Veterans Hospitals.

Speaker Notes 'Develop, Use Talents, Abilities'

When the Greenville Business and Professional Women's Club met Thursday at the Woman's Club for their monthly dinner meeting the program "Using Latent Abilities to Build a Better Community" was presented by the Public Affairs Committee, Mrs. Katherine Adams, chairman.

Mrs. Ruth B. Garner, club member and speaker, defined her subject and applied it by emphasizing that all people have talents or abilities yet undiscovered or not fully developed.

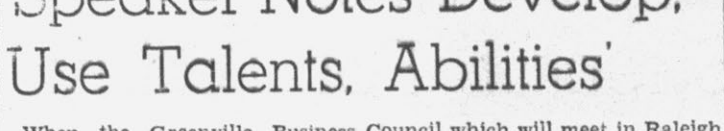

The question "How Can One Develop Latent Abilities?" was answered in part by Mrs. Garner as she suggested that individuals could enlist in courses of study for college credit or for non credit, read more and better literature and periodicals, participate in refresher courses of different phases of business and office training, work with music clubs, garden clubs, recreation commission and Little Theatre, and join classes in china painting, rug making, crafts and ceramics to discover and develop latent abilities.

In closing the speaker said, "Look at your self, decide what latent abilities you have, develop and put into action these discoveries and become a more useful citizen whereby one will help build a better community."

Mrs. Margaret Parley, president, presided over the business session at which time she gave a report of the State B. & P. W. Mid-Year Council meeting she recently attended in Salisbury. Two of the items mentioned in her report were: The State Federation's proposed state project of a Headquarters Building to be erected in Chapel Hill, and a request from the National Federation for the N. C. Clubs to list and submit the "Ten Most Pressing Problems Confronting Women Today."

Among the reports of the Standing Committees was Miss Mary Bell, legislative chairman, presented the National Federation Legislation Platform at which time the members voted upon same. The members were reminded that the N. C. Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs now have a state Legislative Platform. The Federation is also a member of the State Legislative

When the Winterville Future Homemakers held their November meeting in the H. E. Cottage Thursday afternoon, members proposed to have an advertising committee for the chapter and Barbara Manning was appointed chairman of this committee.

The official FHA opening ceremony led by the president, Sandra Hunsucker, was used in the opening of the meeting.

The adviser, Miss Alys Ray Taylor, urged the members to sell the dish clothes and kitchen knives which are a club project for the year to make money for the Mother-Daughter Banquet.

The devotional was given by Sue Ellen Hunsucker, after which she read a poem entitled "A Recipe for Making Friends" and led the group in prayer.

Guests for the meeting were the Future Farmers of America of the Winterville Agriculture Department. The following officers demonstrated the opening and closing ceremony for their organization: Ward Sutton, James Grant, Conrad McLaughlin, Con Jackson, Ralph Lewis, Donald Lewis and Wayne Stocks.

Shirley Churchhill, program chairman, directed a "Slogan" contest and the making of words from Thanksgiving. One of the FFA boys, Ralph Davenport, received the highest score and was given a prize.

The Lakewood Pines Garden Club met Tuesday morning at "Andalusia," the home of Mrs. O. M. Marshburn.

The members were ushered into the dining room where one of the most extensive collections of Madonnas in the southeast portion of this country was displayed. These Madonnas belong to Mrs. Evelyn Shervette of Enfield, guest speaker.

Mrs. Shervette prefaced her talk with the slightest that of the world's 12 greatest paintings, six are of the Madonna. After showing these paintings she traced the depiction of the Madonna from scriptural references through the various schools of art. She noted the four phases of the Madonna as: Madonna of the Annunciation, Madonna of Immaculate Conception, Madonna with Child, and the Madonna with Crucifixion illustrating each of these periods from her collection, these periods from her collection.

She closed with demonstrations on how to display the Madonna properly and how it may be used in decorating during the coming season. Mrs. R. E. Wagner thanked Mrs. Shervette for her inspiring talk on behalf of the membership.

Life Of Belle Boyd Studied By UDC

Mrs. E. L. Willard gave the program for the afternoon, her subject being, "The Life of Belle Boyd, Confederate Spy," by Louis A. Sigaud, when the George B. Singletary Chapter of the U.D.C. met Thursday.

"Belle Boyd" rendered invaluable aid to the Southern cause by detecting the Federal plans of a campaign and revealing them to the Confederates. General "Stonewall" Jackson sent her a letter of thanks. A native of Martinsburg, then in Virginia, she was a courier at the age of 17 for Jackson and "Ashby of the White Horse" and became an honorary captain and aide-de-camp." Mrs. Willard stated, "Riding horseback at night she ran the land blockade to secure supplies for the South, including sorely needed quinine. Many legends have arisen and controversies raged about her. In his book Sigaud has proved the truth of many of the exciting stories concerning Belle Boyd," the speaker pointed out.

The president, Mrs. E. W. Harvey, welcomed each member; a transfer member, Miss Mary Gaylor, and guest, Mrs. Pearl Robinson.

During the business session reports from committees showed progress and achievements. During the social hour the hostess, assisted by her daughter, Miss Mary Gaylor, and Mrs. Pearl Robinson served a salad course, nuts, and Russian tea.

Ayden Jay-C-Ettes To Organize

AYDEN—Seventeen wives of Ayden Jaycees met Thursday night at the home of Edna Davenport for the purpose of discussion of and preliminary action toward organizing an Ayden Jay-C-Ette Club.

The club, to be composed of wives of Jaycees, would be organized for the purpose of participating in civic and social projects, including assisting Jaycees whenever needed.

Mrs. Henrietta Rowe, recording secretary of the Greenville Jay-C-Ettes, is assisting the group.

Others present at the meeting were Mrs. Shirley Dennis, Mrs. Sue Noble, Mrs. Sarah Baidree, Mrs. Myrtle Ruth Thomas, Mrs.

Carolyn Elliott, Mrs. Martha Wholes, Mrs. Alice Jenkins, Mrs. Byrd Morris, Mrs. Peggy Bright, Mrs. Bert Sudor, Mrs. Hazel Phillips, Mrs. Betty Speight, Mrs. Dottie Alexander, Mrs. Bobbie Brunson and Mrs. Linda Schrock.

The group selected a Nominating Committee consisting of Mrs. Shirley Dennis, Mrs. Sarah Baidree, Mrs. Alice Jenkins, Mrs. Henrietta Rowe, The committee is to select candidates for the various offices and submit them for election at the next meeting, to be held on Friday, November 22, at the home of Mrs. Alice Jenkins.

All Ayden Jaycee wives are urged to attend.

The Big Question Is In Financing

Few people debate the President's assertion that a "considerable boost" must be made in federal spending for missile, nuclear and satellite research and development.

Russia has forged ahead of the United States in research and development in at least some categories in these important fields, and we must, if we are to survive, regain superiority. If it takes more money for these projects, the American people will provide it.

The big question is where is this "considerable boost" in spending for these research and development programs coming from?

Immediately we think of higher taxes, just when the vast majority of the population was beginning to think that sky-high federal taxes might turn down at least a little. Though President Eisenhower didn't say in his address the other night that federal income taxes would have to be hiked to meet the financial needs of these programs, he at least intimated it indirectly. Former President Truman, in his usual forthright manner, put the matter bluntly:

"You have a situation to meet and there is only one way to do it. There has to be a tax increase."

Officials in Washington have not yet said how much more money must be put into the nation's research and development program to catch up with recent Russian developments. It may be a month or two yet before they give an official estimate. At that time, the official estimate of increased spending should also be accompanied by an administration recommenation of where the additional money will come from to foot the bill.

While the President and his aides are planning to cope with this problem of stepped-up scientific research and development, at least one group of top aides should be devoting their time to resolving the important money part of the problem.

Will all the additional money to be spent on scientific research have to come from increased federal taxes?

Will our increased emphasis on missile and nuclear powered weapons enable us to curtail federal spending for other categories in the national defense budget?

Is there not yet considerable fat which can be squeezed out of federal spending for the administration's domestic program?

It would, in our opinion, be a grave mistake for the administration to recommend federal tax increases without first exhausting other possibilities of financing this boost in scientific research and development. It would be a mistake for Congress to approve federal tax increased without first making its own careful evaluation of present defense spending in all categories, and projected plans of the nation's military leaders.

The United States can ill afford to occupy a secondary place in scientific research and development. Neither can we as a nation afford to spend ourselves into bankruptcy nor tax ourselves into the poor house.

Probably Last Such Assembly How To Install Federal Control

By LYNN NISBET
RESPONSIBILITY — For whom, and with what authority, did the so-called "Student Legislature" speak during its session in the State Capitol last week?

In opinion of Governor Hodges and other high ranking State officials that is more important than what the legislators (?) did or said. The Governor clearly intimated that before use of the capitol building is permitted for a repeat Student Legislature there will be more definite fixation of responsibility as to representation.

It will be recalled that the Student Legislature "enacted a law" repealing the ban against intermarriage between whites and Negroes, and debated — but voted down — a bill legalizing prostitution. The incident created furor throughout the state. Rep. Harold Cooley, who has accepted invitation to address the "legislature," bitterly condemned the action and said it shocked decent people. Administrative officials of many of the colleges represented promptly disavowed responsibility.

Subsequent efforts to ascertain just how the membership in the student legislature is selected have failed to discover any orderly pattern. It appears certain that representation is not based on size of the student body, that representatives are not selected by popular vote on the several campuses, that credentials committees — if any — operate very loosely, and that almost any student who wants to come can be accredited as a voting member.

The question now confronting State authorities is whether the use of the capitol or any other State-owned building should be made available for this kind of gathering?

HISTORY — This is not the only time the Student Legislature has caused furor in State official circles. The other occasion was when Negro members were seated for the first time soon after World War II.

Dates of the beginning of the Student Legislature idea and incidents since can be obtained from minutes of the Board of Public Buildings and Grounds and from newspaper files. These exact dates are not important for a general historic review of the project.

The idea originated some 18 to 20 years with Edwin Padgett, then professor of English at State College, who placed emphasis on public debates and democratic processes in government. Intercollegiate debating teams under his direction brought national honors to State College. Padgett conceived the idea of a "student legislature" to further the interest of his students in government and to train them in parliamentary procedure. He enlisted the cooperation of Secretary of State Thad Eure, who, as a member of the Board of Public Buildings and Grounds, obtained permission for use of the legislative halls in the capitol. Ever since the annual meetings have been held in the capitol as routine business. As Governor Hodges said to newsmen, once a precedent has been set for use of public owned buildings for public meetings it is more or less continuous.

For six or eight or ten years Professor Padgett and Secretary Eure largely controlled the student legislature sessions, which were regarded as a sort of advanced step above the Boy's State project of the American Legion. The collegiates seemed to be interested in studying governmental process and parliamentary procedure. Padgett retired from State College and World War II came and ended, bringing new ideas. Eure recalls that he was critical of the seating of Negro delegates — and he has not been consulted or invited to attend or speak to any session since.

WHITHER? — Where do we go from here? Probably nowhere, because opinion prevails they will not be another session of the Student Legislature as presently constituted. Maybe somebody can pick up the pieces and revive the original idea, but it will have to be somebody other than irresponsible college students. It will also have to be some person or agency outside the official college administration.

Every college and university has recognized but unofficial campus organizations. There are Young Democratic Clubs, Young Republican Clubs, non-partisan political unions, YMCA and YWCA, special organizations of law students, medical students, etc. etc., completely outside the official institutional program, but recognized as contributing substantially to campus activities tending to develop students into competent intelligent citizens. These campus units are affiliated with state or regional organizations to which they send delegates. These delegates do not presume to speak for the whole student body, but only for the segment they represent. In nearly every instance credential committees closely check records before the delegates are accredited for voting.

Action of the recent Student Legislature in condoning intermarriage among races and debating legalized prostitution may have had more far-reaching consequences than the youngsters thought. It not only, in all probability, prevented use of the capitol building for future sessions, but it delayed for ten or twelve years or longer the prospect of 19-year voting — a prospect presumed to be dear to the hearts of most college students.

Suppose you wanted to write a law which would place the poultry industry firmly under Federal control, requiring every chicken, turkey, goose and guinea to be inspected before sale.

The first problem would be to make the law palatable, to prevent the industry from ganging up and fighting it in the courts. Remember that it was a case involving unsavory chickens that caused the Supreme Court to knock out the NRA and the Blue Eagle in depression days.

One way to make the law acceptable would be to make inspection mandatory on some future date, say January 1, 1959, but make it permissible before that, perhaps some time in 1958.

TEMPTING TO PACKERS
In these circumstances, many slaughterers and processors would like to have their poultry inspected in 1958 so they could be among the first to advertise "Our poultry is Federally inspected."

In return for submitting to inspection they would get an implied endorsement; the implication would be, "Uncle Sam says he's safe and buy this brand."

Then almost all plants would be forced by competition to ask for inspection. And by the time mandatory inspection became effective most of the industry would be submitting. There would be neither opposition nor resistance.

There would be still one difficulty. The law could control poultry slaughtered or processed for interstate commerce, but the Constitution gives the Federal government no power over intrastate commerce.

So you provide in your law that when state or local officials, or local poultry industry groups, ask for control, and when the Secretary of Agriculture is convinced that poultry or poultry products are handled in such volume as to "affect, burden or obstruct" the movement of interstate commerce, the government can move in.

OTHER POLITICAL GIMMICKS
Thus, Federal power could be brought to bear on a small chicken dresser in Little Rock, Ark., simply because somebody thereabouts asks for it and because the Secretary of Agriculture says his slaughtering activities may "affect" interstate commerce. That's probably true, because if the dresser sells as little as one chicken, that may eliminate the sale of a bird shipped in from Iowa.

But there may still be opposition to controls from farmers, small businessmen or religious groups. All have votes. So you write into the law an exemption for farmers who sell their own poultry to consumers, restaurants, hotels and boarding houses. You also exempt stores that cut up their own poultry. And you also exempt poultry slaughtered in accordance with religious dietary laws to the extent that inspection might conflict with those laws. That last point is important. If such an exemption were not made, the Supreme Court might knock out most of the law as contravening the religious freedom guaranteed by the Constitution.

JOBS FOR THE BOYS
No law is politically successful unless it provides jobs. Since the United States produces between 400,000,000 and 500,000,000 edible birds a year, that means a lot of inspections and a lot of inspectors.

The inspectors will be civil service, not political, appointees but you can be sure that those who get jobs will be grateful to the party that pushed the law through.

Strength For Today

FASCINATION

"Fascination is one of the most mysterious and devastating realities in the whole range of human experience. Some things, some persons, some situations have the capacity of fascinating us."

Sometimes we are fascinated because we're curious. Again we are fascinated because we are born with certain moral weaknesses. Liquor has the way of gradually spreading the net of its fascination over the lives of certain people until they become helpless victims. Others easily fall into habits of loose living or scandalous behavior. It is not that they are unaware of the evil of these things. Somehow or other like a subtle hypnosis the appeal of some weakness gradually closes in on the mind and soul, and the victim is lost.

The man who ends up a convicted embezzler never pictured himself coming to that end. He began being just a little free and easy in his business practices. He could not differentiate in a satisfactory fashion between his possessions and the possessions of others. The time came when the line of division which should have been distinct became faint and at last obliterated. Then the man was a thief. Or the moderate drinker was an alcoholic. Or the philanthropist was an adulterer.

Fascination, a net, a filmy gossamer, a silken thread — but in the end bondage and ruin.

Notes On This And That

The first annual Ladies Night supper meeting of the Greenville Rescue Squad was termed a success by its Capt. Sam T. White II.

Unlike many meetings of its kind guests and squad members stayed around after the supper and formal portion of the program for an informal social period.

White said that the guests each made short talks at the meeting and they complimented the rescue squad on providing the city with rescue service.

They expressed their appreciation for the response of volunteers and the assistance given their various departments.

Guests at the meeting included: City Manager and Mrs. Leonard Bloxam, Sheriff and Mrs. Ruel W. Tyson, Police Chief S. G. Gibbs, Dr. and Mrs. Howard Gratis, Mayor and Mrs. S. Eugene West.

Officers of the squad in addition to Capt. White are Stuart Savage, first lieutenant; Cravan Hughes, second lieutenant; Frank Christopher, second lieutenant; Graham Quinn, secretary-treasurer.

Just how much the squad's efforts are meaning to the city and county can be seen in the fact that more rescue calls have been answered this year than during the whole of last year.

It was pointed out at the meeting that 163 calls have been answered so far in 1957 compared to 151 during all of 1956.

The Rescue Squad was initiated by Fire Chief George Gardner in 1948.

An advance copy of the 20-page advertising section which will be a part of Sunday's New York Times has come into the Reflector office.

The section, which features a photo of Gov. Luther Hodges on its front, plugs the industrial advantages of the State of North Carolina.

The special section features articles on the state's research triangle by Dr. George L. Simpson, director of the governor's Research Triangle Committee.

There are also articles by various North Carolina newsmen, including one by Lynn Nisbet, whose Around Capitol Square column appears daily in the Reflector.

His article was entitled "North Carolina's Progress Based on Sound Fiscal Policy."

These tips on safe night driving come from an insurance company:

1. Watch vehicles ahead for obstacles or hazards that may show up in their headlights. Another driver's actions may give you a clue to possible dangers ahead.

2. Dim your lights when following another car as well as when a car approaches you from the opposite direction.

3. Do your best to make yourself seen at night. Turn on your driving lights at the first sign of dusk. Don't use your parking lights while driving. They are not easily seen and can be actually misleading to other drivers.

4. If you must pull off the road in an emergency, leave both parking lights and dome lights on so you can be seen by other drivers. If you have flares, use them.

5. Make sure your windshield and lights are clean. A thin coat of dirt on the windshield can reduce visibility as much as 40 per cent, as well as causing a blinding glare from oncoming lights.

Boy Is Book's Author

WINNIPEG (AP) — A publicity-shy, 18-year-old Russian immigrant has been disclosed as the author of a highly technical book on jet planes and guided missiles.

Everyone knew that Andy Bilimovich wrote the book but not even the publishers were aware of his age until after the volume was placed on sale. It's reported selling well in the United States.

The book, "Jets and Missiles," published in paperback form by Trend Books, Inc., Los Angeles, is a review of the world's jets and missiles compiled from technical publications.

Young Bilimovich wrote it while a 15-year-old student at Shattuck School in Fairbault, Minn. He's now in Toronto seeking a job to finance a college education in the United States.

Mrs. Irene Bilimovich, his widowed mother who supports herself as a stenographer, explained in an interview why she thought the boy's age was not revealed sooner.

"They never asked," she said. She has revealed his background, thinking this might boost sales of the book.

The young author was born in Belgrade, Yugoslavia. After the death of his doctor-father, he left Yugoslavia in 1950 with his mother and grandparents. They lived two and a half years in a Trieste refugee camp before coming to Canada in 1953.

Mrs. Bilimovich said the boy took an early interest in the armed forces of the world and subscribed to technical publications of many countries dealing with jets and missiles.

When he became eager to earn money to further his education, Mrs. Bilimovich said she encouraged him to assemble his material on jets and missiles in book form.

He wrote aircraft manufacturers for details and photographs. He got information on Russian planes from his files and pictures from Sovfoto Agency in New York. He finished the book in six months.

In Los Angeles, where negotiations were handled through the mails, editor Kenneth Bayless of Trend Books said the publishers had no idea of Bilimovich's age until they were told by a newspaper man two months after the book was published. The author had insisted on no publication of personal biography or pictures.

"We had no idea whether the author was 5 or 75 years old and we weren't interested particularly," Bayless said. "The book was well done, well written, popularized for good news stand sales and we were satisfied as to authenticity of the material before we published it."

He said that since publication Trend had had no reaction from government but has had several "nice comments" from aircraft publications. He said the book is doing well.

Mrs. Bilimovich said Trend Books paid Andy $1,500. He also is to get 1 1/2 cents for each copy sold above 100,000. The publishers have already printed 125,000. The book carries historical, performance and specification details on some 100 jets and missiles from many countries.

Other Editors Saying --- Tree Farming In Wilson

(Wilson Times)

Trees we had, great forests of them. But because of quantity we cared not and used them wastefully. Now the day of reckoning has arrived. And we find that trees serve many purposes other than their great beauty. They have become one of our most profitable money crops.

The scientific growing of trees can be as profitable over a period of years as an acre of tobacco. And there is science in forest farming, the term applied to the growing of trees.

When you consider the rate we are consuming paper products you realize the necessity for forest farming, and its potential.

Our people are awakening to the opportunity. Until recently it has been said that Wilson county has shown the least interest in three farming of any county in the state. But according to W. D. Lewis our farmers are becoming aware of the acres of diamonds in nature's most beautiful gift to man.

Saratoga township is doing a good job in protecting the wooded area between Fountain and Saratoga. The forest ranger is working with the Saratoga group and the Halifax Paper company is providing the equipment necessary for protecting the hundreds of acres of woodland.

The Halifax Paper company bought 1500 acres in the area and fire lanes have been cut to protect the largest wooded area in the county from fires. Every year parts of the acreage has been burnt over by forest fires.

S. A. Glover, who has a farm on route 42, is doing an outstanding job of cleaning out his woodland and improving the timber stand. You can see the difference between a good stand of desirable trees and just forest riding by his place.

Branch Carr, manager of the Carr farms, is practicing improved forest farming. He has had his timber land thinned and culled. Clifford Aycock and Grady Robbins are also among the Wilson county farmers who recognize the future in forest farming.

Forest farming should produce an average of $10 an acre income on land that is now idle or just standing in neglected woodland. It is estimated our farmers get about $2.50 from their woodland. But the census shows that the average income from woodland in the county is only 54 cents. That is why Wilson county is said to be the least interested in forest farming of any county in the state.

But this interest must be kindled (but not with matches.) For there is a great demand for paper products. And the paper industry is fast becoming one of our most important in point of growth and income.

North Carolina recognizes the opportunity here as shown in the dedication of the fourth state-owned nursery capable of producing 24,000 seedlings annually. This brings the total annual production up to 75,000,000 seedling trees.

The day after the new nursery was dedicated a $300,000 pulp and paper laboratory was formally dedicated on the State college campus. The purpose of the laboratory is research into the growing, management and processing of wood products.

The California Institute of Technology announced it has shortened the life cycle of Southern pines, forcing them to flower in two years. With the fungus fertilizer recently developed trees grow twice as fast as normal.

The scientific developments were necessary because of the habits of the past. We need twice as many trees as we have. We must plant trees faster than they are cut. And our farmers should begin now and make preparations to cash in on what is fast becoming one of our most important and profitable crops, trees.

They Erred In Sputnik Appraisal

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON "Can you explain," asks Mrs. G.F. of St. Joseph, Mo., "the Sputnik shift at Washington? Why did several men close to President Eisenhower try to make out that the first satellite was a basketball game, a bauble and a stunt? All my neighbors and myself were frightened when we heard about it!"

Answer: This laugh-it-off reaction by Serman Adams (basketball game), Charles E. Wilson (a stunt) and Clarence B. Randall (a bauble) has several explanations. But their comment has a healthy aspect, if it convinces the American people that they should not place too much faith or trust in self-serving statements from men who happen to be in a high official position at the moment.

DOWNGRADING SPUTNIK Former Defense Secretary Wilson felt compelled to minimize the Soviet's accomplishment because he was largely responsible for our own failures in this field. He had no use for basic scientific research—he demanded concrete results that he could see and feel and use—and cut funds allotted for this purpose. He spoke in self-justification.

Adams, of course, recognized the possible effect of the Russian achievement on the November 5 elections, in which he hoped the Republicans would make a comeback after the reverse in Wisconsin. He sought to downgrade the Sputnik as a ballot-box factor. I just cannot explain how an industrialist and executive of Randall's supposed ability could be so wrong.

Even President Eisenhower was off the moon beam. In his first statement, he said that the satellite had "not increased his apprehension about our national security by one iota." It was only after consultation with a few better-informed military and scientific experts that he took the matter seriously, and shifted his position. In fact, his series of speeches on "Science and Security" are, in a way, his answer to the take-it-easy boys.

TAX EXEMPTION AND LABOR UNIONS "The labor unions' Federal tax exemption is not entirely clear to us," writes R.D.R. of Hibbing, Minn. "What part of their income is exempt?"

Answer: As R.D.R. suggests in his letter, the unions' receipts from dues are not taxable. But he is correct in believing that their profits from their vast business investments must pay Federal, state and local taxes. With respect to their investments in profit-making real estate, banks and similar holdings, they are in the same position as any other citizen or corporation.

It is generally estimated that the national and local organizations, which were virtually bankrupt in membership and material goods when F.D.R. came to their rescue in 1933 and some time after, now enjoy income from investments totaling almost $20,000,000. And their wealth is increasing every year.

REDS ON THE MOON? "What would happen, if the Russians should inquire many readers from every section. They ask, in effect, whether the Communists could lay claim to it, as they could if they discovered a new island.

Answer: I have consulted many lawyers, but they cannot answer this query. Under existing law, a nation owns its subsoil to the center of the underlying earth, but there are no laws with respect to planetary or interplanetary space.

But if various nations do land on the moon, I imagine that they would have to convene a world conference to frame lunar laws. And that would probably provoke more disastrous quarrels than those which split the extremely mundane United Nations.

Books & Stuff

By DR. ED HIRSHBERG
Children's Book Week begins this Sunday, Nov. 17, an annual celebration to encourage children to read books and also to help adults choose good books to give to their children for Christmas—two very laudable purposes, we think, so we are all for Children's Book Week and are devoting this column to same. . . . Before reading about some good books our reviewers recommend, we'd like you to think about the excerpts below from an article in last month's issue of Today's Health Magazine (which we happened to pick up in our doctor's office—so the flu do some good, after all. . . .) It's called "Back to the Classics," and is by Dr. Mary Woliner, Director of the Rockford College Reading Clinic. . . .

"Children, too, are human beings," the article is headed, and they're entitled to better reading than the current pap in which everyone is rich and lives in a white frame house. . . . From the age of 2 to 12, it is safe to say that normal children comprehend and appreciate much more than they can read for themselves. Consequently, adults cannot read too much to a child or tell him too many stories, in spite of the advice to the contrary of some constricted educators. . . . No parent or teacher need ever read aloud to a child from material which both do not enjoy—get that, both. . . . "Children's literature, like all other great literature, is faithful to life, not polyanthropic-like but full of understanding of human tragedy, not repressive but cathartic, not timid but vibrant with courage. . . . In other words, let's give our children good—really good—things to read—they deserve it. Amen to that, we say, and we hope that when you buy your Xmas books you'll try to get literature for your children—and not pap. . . .

The Local Scene
Two important events—culturally speaking—are coming off this week hereabouts. . . . "The Mouse-trap," a mystery drama directed by Arathia Christie, goes on at McGinnis Auditorium on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, the 19th and 20th, benefiting the A.A.U.W. Foreign Scholarship Fund and performed by the Greenville Little Theatre. It's going to be a good show—we can guarantee it. Curious we've seen some rehearsals. . . . Two distinguished East Carolina authors will be on the college campus on Wednesday afternoon, the 20th, to speak at McGinnis also, on a panel about professional writing. The guests will be Bernice Kelley Harris and Ingils Fletcher, whose latest novel about eastern Carolina, "The Wind in the Forest," has just come out. All are welcome to the panel discussion, which starts at 4:30. . . .

Today's Reviews
Miss Susan Monroe—who is 9 years old—and her mother discuss two new books for children, in keeping with Children's Book Week. . . . Both, incidentally, about children who wanted to run away—but didn't. . . . THE RUNAWAY, By Dorothy Clewes. Illustrated by Sophia. New York: Coward-McCann, 1957. Age group 7 to 10. Penny was a little girl who moved from a big city to a small town. She didn't like it in the new town because she had no friends or neighbors, so she was going to run away. On her way she bumped into the mailman and met the milkman and a little boy. If it wasn't for a mysterious letter she found, she would have made it back to the city. My favorite character was Colonel Masters who lived down the lane in a big mysterious house. . . . Penny because I have moved to many towns and I understand. I enjoy Penny's adventures and I think my classmates will enjoy it too.

By Susan Monroe

THE REBELLION OF RON CHATHAM, By Tom Person. New York: Longmans, Green & Co., 1957. Age group 12-14. The Mississippi Delta is the scene of Tom Person's new book about a boy of sixteen who like many other boys feels that school is dispensable. When Ron's father puts it to him straight, he gathers up a few possessions and with his troubleome dog, his rifle and his old hunting cabin in Big Swamp. . . . But the woods life is not as Ron expected, for he is plagued by mosquitoes and wood varmits, snakes and panthers. Then too there is the swamp tramp, making his life miserable, along with an escaped convict, who takes shelter with him from a terrific storm. . . . The August heat, lack of sleep, hunger, and the miseries of cotton picking just about finish him. Suddenly Ron realizes how foolish his plan is, and that all this beauty of nature and wild life is no substitute for the progress made by mankind. He has actually slipped backward instead of forward. Through knowledge gained, man has gone past the need of this sort of life. It's back to school for a defeated but wiser young man.

Ran Chatham is a likeable boy, independent, determined and hard-headed. He is rebellious against one thing, and that is to have to sit in a stuffy class room in order to get somewhere in life, when the wild and woods keep tempting him out. From beginning to end the reader goes through a series of feelings for Ran—anxiety, understanding, pity, gladness and finally satisfaction. The book is a good one—I recommend it.

4-H Club Plans Christmas Party

Plans for a Christmas party to be held at the next meeting on December 9 at 1 p.m. in the "Loft" at Mary Virginia Langston's were discussed when the Winterville-Greenville 4-H Club held their regular meeting Tuesday.

The meeting was held in the home of Mrs. Wiley Waters with 22 members present.

Following the business session, the girls and boys separated. Mrs. Lois Freeman, assistant home demonstration agent, explained each project book to the girls and the girls selected their projects for next year.

Cecil Register, assistant farm agent, helped the boys select their projects. Both agents stressed the importance of the 4-Hers not taking more projects than they could complete fully. Refreshments were served by the adult leaders.

Christian Science Society

The scientific basis of immortality will be brought out at Christian Science services Sunday. Scriptural selections to be read from the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Mortals and Immortals" include the following (Proverbs 12:28): "In the way of righteousness is life; and in the pathway thereof there is no death." From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will be used the following (267:3-5): "The offspring of God start not from matter of ephemeral dust. They are in and of Spirit, divine Mind, and so forever continue." The Golden Text is from II Corinthians (5:17): "If any man be in Christ, he is a new creature; old things are passed away; behold, all things are become new."

Drop Cookies Fine For Parties

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor
Parties for youngsters needn't be a chore for mothers if they let school-age girls and boys in on the planning and encourage them to do some of the preparation. Kids love activity and they'll get a big thrill out of helping. For an afternoon birthday party, hot cocoa and sandwiches, ice cream plus the birthday cake and cookies will be a spread. If you choose a simple drop-cookie recipe such as this one, your Junior Miss—with a slight assist—can bake them. This recipe recommends itself because it makes four different sorts of cookies so party guests can take their choice.

FOUR-WAY COOKIES
Ingredients: For the basic dough—4 cups sifted flour, 1 teaspoon baking soda, 1 teaspoon cream of tartar, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 1 cup golden shortening, 2 cups light brown sugar (firmly packed), 1 teaspoon vanilla, 2 eggs, 1/2 cup milk; flavor extras listed under variations.

Method: Sift together the flour, baking soda, cream of tartar and salt several times. Cream shortening, brown sugar and vanilla; beat in eggs thoroughly, one at a time. Stir the sifted dry ingredients into the creamed mixture, alternately with the milk, until smooth. Pack dough down in bowl with a spatula so top is flat and even. Mark off into four parts with a knife. With a large spoon, put three of the parts into separate mixing bowls. Follow directions under Variations for adding to each of these batches of dough. Then drop cookies from a teaspoon, with the help of a rubber spatula, onto greased baking sheet; leave a couple of inches space between each cookie. Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven for 12 to 15 minutes or until lightly browned and baked through. Remove to wire rack with a spatula to cool; store in tightly covered container. Makes 6 to 8 dozen (2 inches in diameter) cookies.

FOUR-WAY COOKIE VARIATIONS
Spice Cookies: To first part of cookie dough, stir in thoroughly 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg and 1/2 teaspoon ginger.

Cherry Coconut Cookies: To fourth part of cookie dough, stir in 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind, 2-3 cup well-drained chopped maraschino cherries, 1/2 cup coarsely chopped walnuts or pecans and 1 cup flaked coconut (lightly packed).

Chocolate Almond Cookies: To third part of cookie dough, stir in thoroughly 1 package (6 ounces) semi-sweet chopped blanched almonds.

Cherry Coconut Cookies: To fourth part of cookie dough, stir in 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind, 2-3 cup well-drained chopped maraschino cherries, 1/2 cup coarsely chopped walnuts or pecans and 1 cup flaked coconut (lightly packed).

Trim A Party Sweater

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor
Every girl needs at least one sweater that is dressy enough for a date. Why not make one for a mid-season surprise for a favorite high school or college girl? It's surprisingly easy and inexpensive, if you follow these tips from the experts at your local sewing center.

As any home seamstress knows, lace can be a pretty expensive proposition if you buy the imported Chantilly variety. Inexpensive laces usually are woven in wide strips and cut apart, while the more costly kind is woven in single strips, with an edge design. The usual kind of cheaper lace thus often has straight edges on both sides.

However, here's a trick to stretch your fashion pennies and make budget lace look like the real thing. There is a new Chantilly-type nylon lace available nowadays in 10-cent stores that has a pretty design woven on a sheer strip. Simply cut away the sheer part and presto—you have a lace edging that looks like imported lace.

If you buy it in white, it may be dyed to match any sweater. About two and a half yards will decorate a cardigan sweater with strips around the neck and down both sides of the front closing. Set your sewing machine for a fine zigzag stitch and follow the outline of the lace. At the neckline, pleat lace slightly at inside edge and leave outside edge unstitched.

For an added touch of glamor, you may sprinkle the lace with rhinestones or sequins. Use one of the new washable orlon sweaters that look like cashmere, and you'll have an expensive-looking party sweater at a pin-money price.

Dr. Reed Addresses Father-Son Banquet

BETHEL—The Brotherhood of the Bethel Baptist Church held their annual Father-Son Banquet Friday night in the basement of the church. Dr. W. C. Reed was guest speaker.

The invocation was given by the Rev. T. N. Cooper. A fried chicken dinner followed by a sweet course of coconut cake and hot coffee was served. After dinner, the Brotherhood president, Herman Andrews, welcomed the boys to the banquet. He then introduced Walter Ed Beverly who spoke on what the boys are doing.

The ladies were called from the kitchen and given a note of thanks for the supper. Then all went to the auditorium where Cooper introduced the speaker of the evening, Dr. Reed.

Announce Adoption

Mr. and Mrs. Harry W. Douglass, 2088 East Fourth Street, announce the adoption of a daughter, Jeanne Elizabeth, November 14.

Mrs. Johnson Begins Program

FOUNTAIN—Circle No. 1 of the Fountain Presbyterian Church met in the home of Mrs. G. W. Jefferson Jr. Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Hardy Johnson opened the program by reading the poem entitled "What Prayer Does," and gave the Bible study on the subject, "By What Means?" Her scripture was taken from Matthew. She also gave a talk on the main emphasis for November, "Stewardship" and "Let's Talk About How We Use Our Time, Talents and Money." Mrs. Johnson closed the program with a prayer.

Mrs. Carter G. Smith gave a report on the 59th annual meeting of the Women of the Church of Albemarle Presbytery held in the First Presbyterian Church in Washington, N. C., October 22.

After Mrs. Smith's report the hostess served refreshments to the six members present.

Miss Anne Harris Honored By Club

FOUNTAIN—Miss Anne Harris was honor guest when Mrs. R. D. Jefferson entertained her bridge club Saturday afternoon.

Fall flowers decorated the house throughout and a sweet course was served as refreshments. High score and second high honors in the club went to Mrs. Rod Harris and Mrs. J. M. Horton. Visiting high went to Mrs. Eloise Bushman. The hostess presented a gift of crystal to Miss Harris, bride-elect of December.

DROP COOKIES are filled with goodies and are easy for youngsters to make.

Fruit Nut Cookies: To second part of cookie dough, stir in well 1 cup coarsely chopped walnuts or pecans and 1/2 cup chopped pitted dates.

30 Years Ago Today

November 16, 1927
Greenville now has seven towns receiving electric current from her municipally operated power plant. Ayden was hooked up yesterday, and like the remainder of the towns, now has a surplus of electric current for industrial purposes. "We are making improvements at the plant most all the time," Martin Swartz, manager of the Water and Light Commission, said this morning. We have sufficient power for almost any purpose at this time and our rates are cheaper than any town in the state." Development of Eastern Carolina at this time depends largely upon electric power. Greenville is going to do her part in providing for the march of industry.

Woman's Club Plan Christmas Decor Program

FOUNTAIN—Mrs. A. C. Gay was hostess to the members of the Fountain Woman's Club and several invited guests on Tuesday afternoon when the rooms of her home were decorated with arrangements of chrysanthemums.

Mrs. G. E. Trevathan, president of the club, presided over the business meeting. Following the singing of the club hymn by the members, Mrs. Hardy Johnson read "A Prayer For A Teacher's Day."

Mrs. Trevathan appointed Mrs. F. D. Turnage, Mrs. J. M. Horton, Mrs. R. L. Peele, Mrs. Jack Speight and Mrs. R. A. Fountain to plan a special program for the December meeting which would encourage more Christmas decorations in the homes.

Mrs. Gay, program chairman for the afternoon, presented Anthony Holland, who spoke on his experiences in the Far East.

The hostess served a sweet course to the 12 club members present and to Mr. and Mrs. Holland, Mrs. W. W. Jefferson, Mrs. J. W. Jefferson, Mrs. Joe Gay, Mrs. William Reddick, Mrs. C. M. Smith and Mrs. Jimmy Sutton.

Club Entertained At Supper, Bridge

GRIFTON—Mrs. J. L. Quinley was a hostess on Thursday night at her home near the city to members of her contract club. Throughout the home dried arrangements were used as decorations.

As guests arrived they were served a ham supper and as dessert homemade pound cake. During the bridge progressions Mrs. L. L. Mewborn and Mrs. Alton Chapman scored high.

Carrier Bringing 19 Dead, Debris

HONOLULU (AP)—Carrying a grim cargo of 19 broken bodies and considerable debris, the aircraft carrier Philippine Sea headed for her home port of Long Beach, Calif., today.

The bodies and debris were all that could be found after an intensive week-long search for survivors of the Pan American Stratocruiser "Romance of the Skies."

The carrier, radioed that it had exhausted all possibilities of finding any survivors.

The big Stratocruiser disappeared a week ago yesterday with 44 persons aboard.

The mute evidence taken from the sea indicated the airliner and its passengers met a swift and violent end. Most of the bodies were shoeless and in life jackets, suggesting the 36 passengers and eight crewmen were preparing for ditching.

Naval officers aboard the carrier said the debris yielded nothing that might explain what happened to the airliner. The last radio message from the ill-fated plane was at 5:04 p.m., when she was 1,028 miles east of Hawaii. Watches on three of the bodies were stopped at 5:27 p.m.

Rear Adm. T. A. Ahron, captain of the Philippine Sea, messaged "findings should convince anyone that a midair explosion did not occur."

Students Competed In Speech Contest

By BARBARA TAYLOR
Grifton School Reporter

The "Voice of Democracy" contest, sponsored by the Jaycees of Grifton, was held in the assembly room last Thursday. The speech topic was "I Speak for Democracy."

Barbara Taylor was awarded first place, thus qualifying her to enter the district contest. Barbara was presented with a plaque. Second place winner was Phyllis Dudley.

The Tri-Hi-Y Club held its meeting Monday night at the home of Lou Raye Mewborn. President Frances Davis presided over the meeting.

Judy Hart, project chairman, presented a number of items for the club's approval. It was also decided to have the installation of service for the members November 18 at the Grifton Methodist Church.

Guest speaker for the evening was the Reverend Dick Ottaway who led a group discussion on the seriousness of the club. The meeting was adjourned with everyone forming a friendship circle and repeating the benediction.

Members of the FHA Club held their club meeting Tuesday with Esther Hill Coward, president, presiding.

Among the new business discussed was that of deciding to have a float in the Christmas Parade, and to have as a Thanksgiving project to help a needy family. A float committee was appointed as follows: Millie Bate-man, chairman, Barbara Lane, Martha Hart, and Jeanne Groet.

Also named was a Ways and Means Committee who are Lou Raye Mewborn-chairman; Barbara Taylor, Wilma Patrick and Emily Nelson.

A Betty Crocker Homemaking

Test will be administered to a group of senior girls in the near future. This test is a national one and is based on homemaking skill. The "Homemaker of Tomorrow" will be found through the outcome of this test.

Among the entrants are Judy Hart, Barbara Taylor, Gladys Smith, Barbara Lane, Pat Buck, Bettie Dawson, Lou Raye Mewborn, and Frances Davis. Mrs. Eunice Casey, Home Economics teacher, will give the test.

A pep rally Friday helped the student body to obtain the school spirit for Friday night's first basketball game. Grifton was host to Maury.

The girls were victorious for the night with a 59-30 score while the Grifton boys didn't come out "top man". Lou Raye Mewborn and Barbara Taylor were voted as co-captains for the basketball season by the girls' team.

The next game will be Friday night when the Grifton Bulldogs will meet the Bethel teams. The game will be held in the Grifton gym and game time is 7:30. Coaches for the teams are E. B. Bright and Alston Burke.

Irene Jackson, a member of the senior class, was honored by Barbara Wilson with a bridal shower last Wednesday night at Barbara's home.

Among those attending were Judy Hart, Dorothy Mitchell, Phyllis Dudley, Lou Raye Mewborn, Barbara Taylor, and Millie Bateman.

Among those attending the State Homecoming game in Raleigh Saturday were Martha Hart, Esther Coward, Judy Hart, and Carolyn Hart.

Forming Club At Grimesland High

By SHELBY JEAN BARROW
Grimesland School Reporter

A new club, the "Panther, Ball Point Pen Club" is in the process of organization at Grimesland High School.

Not all of the details concerning the club have been released, but it is gaining in popularity.

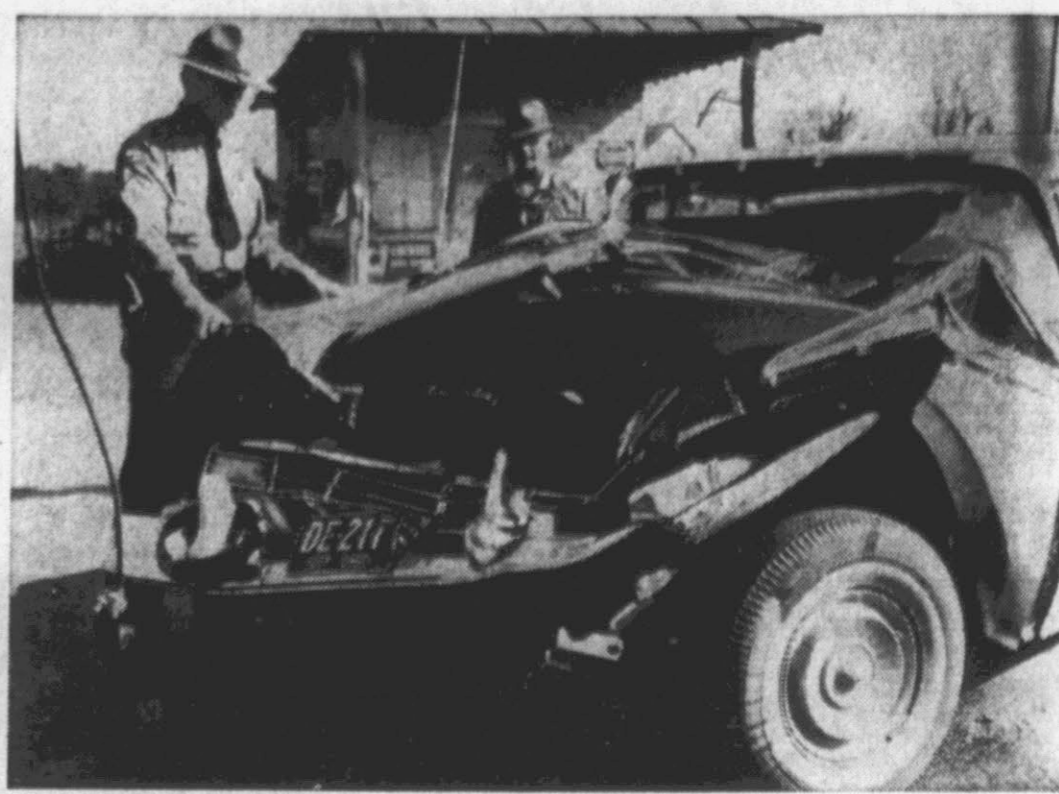

Home Economics students received demonstrations in grooming last Monday when they visited the Greenville Beauty School. The trip was arranged and directed by Mrs. Julia Venters, Home Ec instructor.

Honor Roll students were honored at a party recently. The party, held in the library of the high school, was a recognition of honor grades recorded by Joe Bell, Lindsay Edwards, Curtis Wagman, Laura McDonald and Sandra Jackson.

GHS basketball teams opened a four-game schedule for November when they played Maury last night in the GHS gym. The girls and boys teams will travel to Jameville Tuesday night, meet Pantego there on November 22, and complete their month's schedule November 26 with a double-header in Maury.

A "better living" project, daily prayer cell meetings, have been started by students under direction of Miss Oma Bliss Lewis. The group meets each morning at 8:15 in the library.

Three Injured In Pitt County Wreck

Three Camp Lejeune Marines sustained injuries when the automobile in which they were riding crashed into the back of a State High Commission dump truck yesterday morning near Fountain. Patrolman D. HD Agent Is Kiwanis Speaker

Mrs. Lillie B. Little, Pitt county home demonstration agent, guest speaker at the Kiwanis Club's supper meeting last night, made an illustrated lecture on the annual "Pitt County Progress Program." It is sponsored by Home Demonstration clubs.

County Farm Agent S. C. Winchester used pictures to illustrate his message about farm products to offset the reduction in the county's tobacco output. He suggested dairying, poultry raising and small grains.

Clark Stokes, chairman of the Pitt County Progress Committee, in a brief talk emphasized the importance of the county progress program and declared that farming and farm women are manifesting increased interest in the annual project.

Kiwanian Charles P. Gaskins had charge of the program and introduced the speakers. President Charles E. Blair presided.

The Kiwanians extended greetings to Dr. H. Glenn Haney on his election to be president of the North Carolina Convention of Christian Churches.

A message from President John D. Messick stated that East Carolina College is planning a series of "adult education" classes shortly. A meeting to discuss plans will be held at the college next Tuesday night at 7:30 and the public is invited.

Gus Manos and Kenneth Crocker, Circle K members from the college were guests of the club. Kiwanian J. G. Proctor won the attendance prize.

Firemen Answer Two Friday Calls

Burning pork chops and shorted electrical wiring in an automobile brought fire trucks out on two occasions yesterday.

Firemen were called to the home of Charles L. Price at 119 N. Wood-lawn Ave. at 1:05 p.m. when the pork chops in an oven caught fire.

At 6:35 last night they were called to Tyson and Battle St. where wiring in a car belonging to Charles McGlone had shorted. Damage was minor.

Eggs produce nearly twice as much revenue nationally as chicken meat for poultry raisers.

Two Greenville Elected To Key Student Posts At Univ. Of N. C.

CHAPEL HILL—Two Greenville students at the University of North Carolina were elected to important student posts during campus elections this week.

Wayne Bishop was named to the Men's Honor Council and John C. Brooks was one of 33 students elected to the Student Legislature. Both are active in UNC campus affairs.

Bishop, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Bishop, 109 Woodlawn Avenue, is presently serving as President of the Carolina Athletic Association, student representative to the Athletic Council, sports editor of The Daily Tar Heel, and is a member of the university's cross country and track teams. He won the North Carolina state cross country championship last week.

Brooks, son of Dr. and Mrs. F. P. Brooks, Greenville Boulevard, is parliamentarian of the Student Legislature, a member of the President's Cabinet and chairman of the Stores Committee. He was floor leader for UNC's delegation to the State Student Legislature in Raleigh last week.

Both Bishop and Brooks are members of the Junior Class.

installed by Carl Knott, Pitt Scout Executive, were: W. R. Hinnecutt, W. C. Ormond and Dr. John Mewborn, vice-chairmen; and Dr. Harry R. Billica, Scout Commissioner. The five officials for the coming year were elected at a recent meeting of area Scout leaders.

Dr. Billica performed formal opening ceremonies to tie meeting. The invocation by the Rev. John W. Drake Jr., Rector of the Saint Paul's Episcopal Church, Greenville, followed.

A tribute to all Scout unit leaders and their assistants was made by John H. Behr, District Scout Commissioner. Dr. Robert Wilson, Advancement Chairman, recognized the Eagle Scouts present and holders of the God and Country Awards.

W. C. Ormond, District vice-chairman from Ayden, conducted the closing ceremonies.

Omission

J. Ficklen Arthur's name was inadvertently omitted from the list of 1937 Greenville High School graduates who attended a dinner Thursday evening.

The article which was carried in Friday's edition of The Daily Reflector should have included Arthur's name among the list of class members. The Reflector regrets the omission.

Fancy Ran Wild On Another Page

BEAUMONT, Tex. (AP)—With man-made moons circling the globe and all this talk of space travel, you may have been wondering what things will be like 100 years hence.

Readers of the Beaumont Journal probably have some new ideas after scanning yesterday's edition. Giving fancy free rein, the Journal printed a second front page inside and dated it Nov. 15, 2037.

Filling the page were purported news stories about such things as evacuation of Australia, said to have become a space-fighter base to battle threatened aggressors from other constellations; a parade featuring an antique 1937 automobile, for which there was no gasoline, and demands for autonomy from Mars.

Paint 'n' Putter Crowd Losing Its Amateur Status

PAINT 'N' PUTTER EXHIBIT
... Jewelry, trays, and paintings are made in class.

By PEGGY SMITH
Reflector Staff Writer

A two-year-old project, the Arts and Crafts Program, is among the many activities the Greenville Recreation Department offers.

Under the supervision of Mrs. Donna Tabar, the program began with only painting, but as the need arose, crafts were added. Class participants chose a new name after the addition and the group is now known as "Paint 'n' Putter."

Some members have turned their "painting and puttering" into paying propositions as well as contributing much to worthy causes.

This civic-minded group of amateur artists and craftsmen have on many occasions rendered a real service to the community by painting posters; decorating the city of Greenville's Fair Booth; cooperating with the community arts festival; helping with the annual Christmas parade; and assisting both Girl Scout and Cub Scout leaders with their craft projects.

The program is practically self-sustaining. There are no dues of any kind, but members pay for all materials used. The Recreation department buys supplies, and resells them to members at cost plus postage when it is necessary. This money is deposited in a fund at City Hall. These are some of the arts and crafts which are offered:

1. Painting in oils, probably the most popular, which is becoming the nation's No. 1 hobby.

2. Ceramics which are easily done with a new kiln (a piece of equipment that fires clays and glazes) the department has recently added.
3. Enameling on copper which is done with small pieces such as jewelry.

5. Block-printing Christmas
6. Copper and brass tooling.
7. Tile painting — with tiles donated by local merchants.
8. Textile painting.
9. Flex-craft jewelry.

jects and small pieces of tole ware.

An opportunity is offered to citizens of Greenville to enjoy a hobby for a minimum of money and a maximum of pleasure through this program.

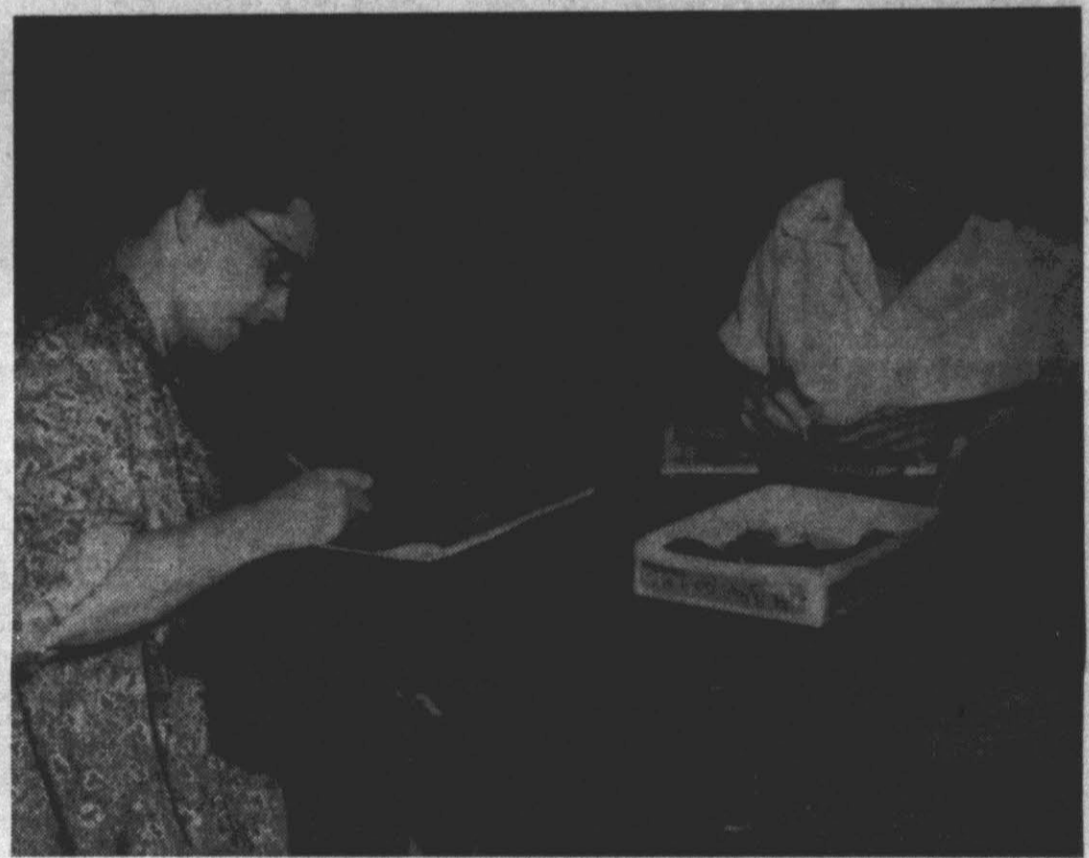

MRS. DONNA TABAR, Supervisor
... and her two outstanding paintings.

CANVAS PAINTING
... Mrs. Rose Brooks, foreground, and Mrs. Virginia Garrison enjoy painting landscapes on canvas.

CRAFTSMAN AT WORK
... Skilled hands produce desired results.

BRASS AND COPPER TOOLING
... Mrs. Elba Rowe and Mrs. Bee Behr begin tooling by embossing their copper.

Scientists Are Tracking Sputtering Space Noises

EDITOR'S NOTE: In chains of listening stations all over the world, International Geophysical Year scientists are picking up the noisy static of space. Here is a report by a top AP science writer on what they hope to find in the crackle of their sensitive receivers.

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE, Associated Press Science Reporter
BOULDER, Colo. (AP) — The seemingly silent heavens above you are actually somewhat like a breakfast cereal — full of pop, crackle and snap.

But you need radio ears to hear all this racket. It is generated by lightning flashes of thunderstorms — 50,000 storms a day throughout the world — and by effects of our sun.

This noise at times can drown out radio reception — which can be pretty critical or downright dangerous if you're in a plane homing on a radio beam, or using a radio to navigate a ship, or trying to hear over radio telephones.

Racket of Stars
Outer space keeps broadcasting noise, too, usually heard as hisses or smoother cracklings, all of it radio talk from distant families of stars.

Charting all this racket — and then trying to predict how loud it will be and when — is goal of scientists during the International Geophysical Year (IGY).

With good predictions, radio signals can be stepped up to ride steady and clear over the noise. Or different frequencies can be chosen to get through, or better equipment designed, explains William Crichtlow, chief of the radio noise section of the Boulder Laboratories, National Bureau of Standards here.

The knowledge and forecasting of atmospheric noise would benefit every user of radio, reducing the risk of accidents to planes and ships, and improving all kinds of radio communication.

To do this, a world-wide chain of 16 special radio stations is tuning in and recording atmospheric and cosmic noise. The IGY, a 64-nation effort to learn new facts about our world and its natural events, provides a global study of the radio cacophony.

Most of our earth-born static or noise is created by storms.

Lightning flashes generate energy at all frequencies. Low frequency noise from thunderstorms sometimes can be heard by radio around the world. The heavenly noise varies with season, geography, time of day and sunspot activity. It's noisier at night than in the daytime.

At other times, storm static is bothersome only locally. The sounds are so characteristic that directional antenna can help locate storms for away, or even follow a local weather front, Crichtlow said.

The bureau designed special noise recorders for use at Boulder, at Bill, Wyo., at Byrd Station in the Antarctic, in Hawaii, Greenland, Panama, Brazil, Sweden, Morocco, Nigeria, South Africa, Japan, India, Malaya, and Australia. All will be in operation by the end of this year.

The listening post of this station, 15 miles away at Gunbarrel Hill, is a wooden building 8 by 12 feet and 8 feet high, nick-named the doghouse. On the roof is a 21-foot vertical antenna surrounded by a network of 90 wires stretching horizontally from the roof to poles 100 feet away.

Once a day a scientist visits the doghouse, calibrating equipment and removing noise recordings traced on graph paper.

Crichtlow and his team at the Boulder Laboratories are recording and analyzing all the data collected during the IGY by all 16 stations. He figures this means 400 readings per day per station, or some 2,300,000 a year. Electronic computing machines make it possible.

Specific Forecasts
Noise forecasting maps have been drawn in the past. IGY findings will make the maps more accurate, not just for general seasonal noise estimates, but for forecasts at more specific times and places, Crichtlow said.

Then radio engineers can know when to step up power to assure reception — just as you speak louder when a truck goes past your house — or what minimum power will get through, or how to improve equipment, or choose the best times on fixed circuits to assure good listening.

Grandmothers In This Drill Team

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Twenty-eight Dayton grandmothers aren't letting Father Time get the jump on them. They're marching right along with him and enjoying every minute.

The 28 are members of a Grandmothers' Club drill team whose marching, 100 steps per minute, has charmed audiences and amazed husbands, children and grandchildren.

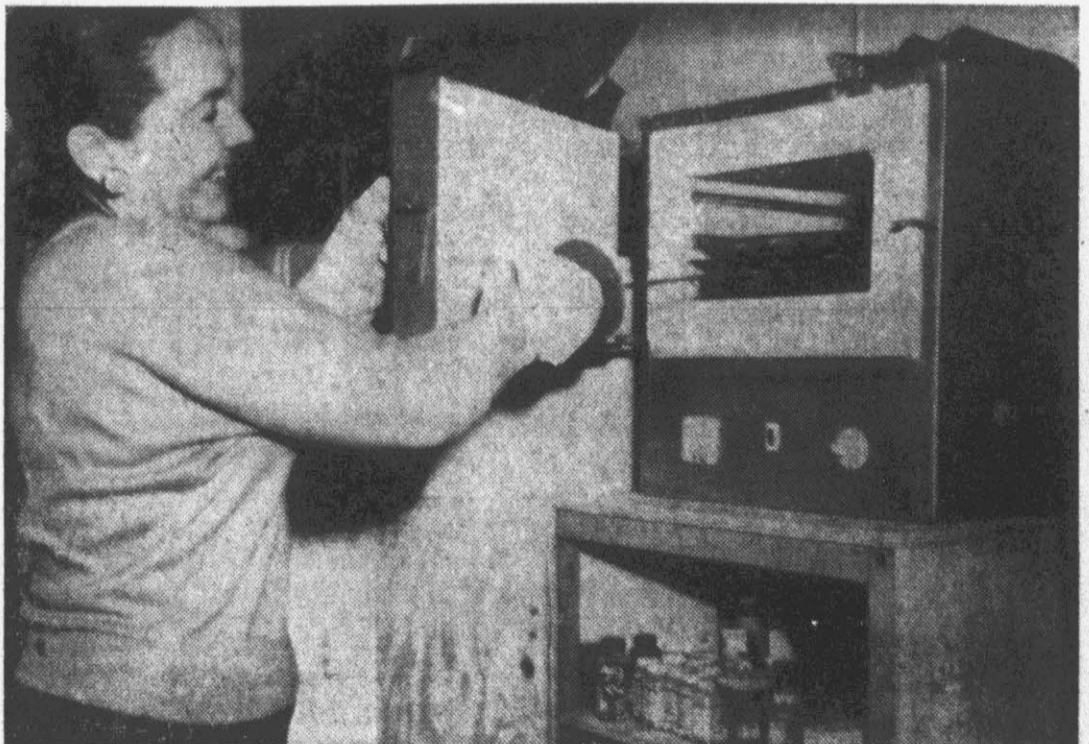

Mrs. Ruth Broedling, who groomed the team from its stumbling beginning to its current machine-like efficiency, had one big problem to overcome: how to keep 28 women quiet during practices and performances.

"Sometimes I wish I had adhesive tape," she observed. "My biggest job is to keep them quiet. In this work feet and mouth just can't be going at the same time." Apparently this crisis has been solved at least during performances. The marching grandmothers, who range in ages from 42 to 80, can put on quite a show. They form a human wheel, a waving flag, a figure-eight or a cross at cues from piano music. All of their marching routines are by memory.

The drill team marched into existence Feb. 19, 1951. After six months of training the marching matrons faced their first audience in Cincinnati.

"The Old Grey Mare," their theme, found them on that opening night shaking in their calico bonnets and skirts. But they were a hit, Mrs. Broedling said. Since that night they have gone on to conquer audiences all over the Miami Valley area and at Grandmothers' conventions from Seattle to St. Petersburg.

Bucs Finish Grid Season At Presbyterian Tonight

East Carolina College football team enters the final game of the 1957 season today, with Presbyterian College of South Carolina playing host in Clinton, S. C. Coach Boone of the Pirates has run head-on into the problem of producing a squad for this tilt.

The flu bug invaded the East Carolina camp this week, adding woes to the injury-riddled Bucs. This has been a scrimmage-less week on the East Carolina drill field, due to the lack of a sufficient number of players. It is probable that the Bucs will not field too large a squad on the trip to Presbyterian College.

Two of the halfbacks, James Speight and Charlie Bishop, are doubtful starters. Speight, the Bucs' leading ground-gainer, injured an ankle in the Lenoir Rhyne game last Saturday night, and may see only limited duty. Guard Dick Monds has been in light gear this week after a bout with the flu bug. Other members of the team were admitted to the infirmary this week, and some of these flu-bitten players will not recover in time for the trip. One other player, Tommy Jones, an end, returned to full gear this week.

Presbyterian's "Blue Hose" squad has had trouble with the flu this season, also, but have about conquered this foe. The South Carolinians lost a stubborn fight to the Citadel 14-0 last week, following three weeks of idleness. Their short season was highlighted by a scoreless tie with Lenoir Rhyne, the NAIA 7th-ranked team in the nation.

Coach Boone says his boys have worked on offense this week, and are in good spirit, despite the losing season. Boone says the squad has lacked depth, has made many miscues, but its morale has been high and, adds the quiet-spoken head coach, "I have confidence in my boys."

This will be the last game of the season for this freshman and sophomore-dominated club to break into the win column, and the team has been well aware of this fact all through the week.

Saturday's game will be the final ECC game for five seniors: Dick Monds, Ken Burgess, and Carleton Matthews, all guards; Bob Maynard, fullbacks; and Jerry Brooks, tackle.

Christians, Bears Clash For Title

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Elon and Lenoir Rhyne, the two leaders of the North State Conference, clash head-on in Hickory tonight with the winner getting his toe inside the championship door.

Two games of Elon postponed earlier because of flu leave a question mark on the outcome of the championship, which must be decided on the basis of at least five league games.

The Christians are undefeated in five games, including three in the conference. Their postponed games were with Western Carolina and Catawba.

Lenoir Rhyne, champion the last two years, goes into the game with a 7-1-1 over-all record, including four victories and no defeats in the conference.

The Bears have one game remaining after tonight's, one with Catawba Thanksgiving Day.

Three other games involving North State teams are scheduled tonight, with two of the teams closing out their seasons. These send Appalachian to Tampa and East Carolina to Presbyterian College.

The other game, a conference tilt, finds Catawba returning to action after 27 days of inactivity because of flu. The Indians host Guilford, which won its first game of the season last week.

A Lot At Stake For Teams Today

The Associated Press

A half dozen teams across the nation were playing for gold, glory and the old school—not necessarily in that order—today as the college football season roared to a climax.

For the likes of Texas A&M, Ohio State, Oregon, Duke, Vanderbilt and Tennessee, this loomed as the most important day of the season, for victories could put all these outfits in Bowl Games New Year's Day.

It was especially important for outfits like Vanderbilt and Tennessee, for they are trying for some of the spots not allotted to conference champions and the fact that Army only yesterday turned thumbs down on any post-season games enhanced their chances.

Maryland got the big weekend off with an upset last night when the Terps surprised Miami, 16-6.

Although no Bowl hopes hinge on Oklahoma's meeting with Notre Dame in Norman, it is the NCAA's TV game of the week. Also, Notre Dame has a habit of being "up" for the big ones.

And this will be a big one, for Oklahoma, already safely in the Orange Bowl, will be seeking its 48th consecutive victory. The Sooners should have no undue difficulty.

Texas A&M, No. 1 team in the Associated Press poll this week, plays Rice with the Southwest Conference title and Cotton Bowl host spot at stake. The Aggies were on probation by the NCAA when they won the Conference championship.

Ohio State goes against Iowa at Columbus with the Big 10 crown hanging in the balance. If the Buckeyes win, they can buy their tickets to the Rose Bowl. But even if they lose, they can wrap it up next week by beating Michigan.

Chicod Splits Non-Loop Games

CHICOD—Walstonburg's red hot boys team invaded Chicod last night and downed Coach Leroy Pittman's club 66-57 licking from the hosts.

Despite Jimmy Fornes' 24-point effort for Chicod, the Walstonburg boys had little trouble in snatching a victory. Three Walstonburg cagers, Dixon, Norville, and Teel, kept the nets stinging for the visitors and paced the winners.

In the girls tilt, Chicod had to go into two overtime periods but finally won out, 66-57. Janice Mills paced the winners with 21 points. Three girls did all of Walstonburg's scoring.

Giants, Detroit Seeking First Places Sunday

By BEN OLAN
The Associated Press

The New York Giants and Detroit Lions will be in excellent positions to improve their chances of winning the conference titles in the National Football League tomorrow as the season hits the eight-week mark with four to go.

Both teams are in second place, the Giants in the Eastern Conference and the Lions in the Western. But each has the opportunity to move into a first-place tie.

The Lions can do the job themselves. The Giants need help.

Detroit meets the San Francisco 49ers on its home field and a victory would enable them to deadlock the Western Conference pacemakers. The 49ers, with a 5-2 record, currently hold one game lead over the Lions and Baltimore Colts.

The Giants (5-2) face the Philadelphia Eagles while Cleveland, leading the Eastern Conference with six victories in seven starts, take on the Redskins in Washington.

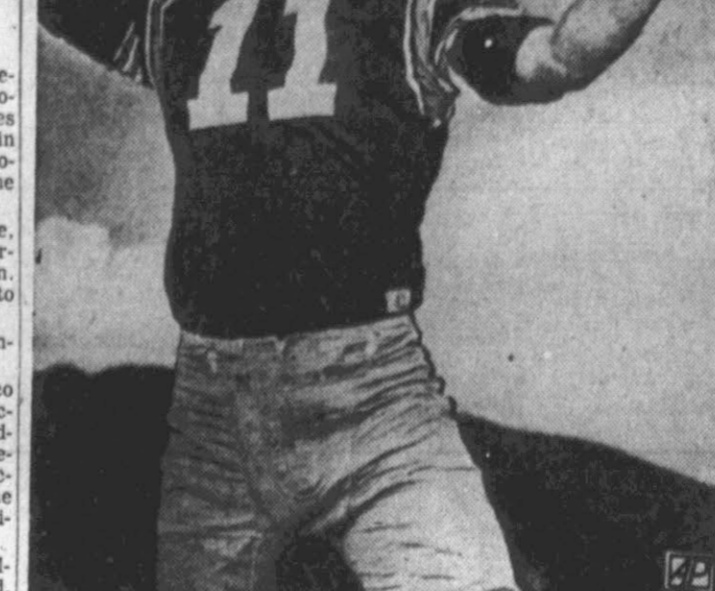

In other games, Baltimore will be at the Chicago Bears and Los Angeles clashes with Green Bay at Milwaukee. The Chicago Cardinals and Pittsburgh Steelers are not scheduled.

This will be the second meeting of the year between Detroit and San Francisco. The 49ers won 33-31 on the West Coast two weeks ago. But that was in the midst of the Leon Hart controversy and before Bobby Layne found his passing eye. Layne whipped three touchdown aeriels last week in the 27-16 triumph over Philadelphia. The 49ers come off a 37-24 setback by Los Angeles.

The Giants likely will be without the services of flu-victims Alex Webster and Gene Filippski. But they should have enough other backfield strength to get by the Eagles, whom they beat 24-20 in their second game of the campaign. Philadelphia has won only two of seven.

Baltimore, by winning, will gain ground on either Detroit or San Francisco. A triumph for the Colts and one for Detroit will put the Western Division race in a three-way deadlock. The Bears, however, may give Baltimore trouble since they won their last two games against Los Angeles and Green Bay.

Leader In Pass Completions

Lee Grosscup, sensational forward pass tosser for the University of Utah, gets set to throw one in practice at Salt Lake City. He has thrown 108 passes this season and 73 of them were good. He leads the nation in pass completion percentage with a mark of 67.6. He hit 12 out of 13 last week in a snow storm during the game with Army. He dazzled the Cadets and almost upset them. Duke Can Clinch Bid To Bowl Game

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The smell of oranges was in the air at Durham today where Duke met Clemson in an Atlantic Coast Conference football game that could clinch the Blue Devils' berth in the Orange Bowl New Year's Day.

The Blue Devils found themselves in the position of a bowler rolling for a split. A victory over Clemson today or North Carolina next week would give the Dukes the bowl trip.

One other conference game sent South Carolina (0-4 in the conference and 3-4 over-all) to Virginia (1-2 and 2-4-1). The outcome of the game had no bearing on the standings, both teams holding their present sixth and seventh positions regardless.

The other games sent ACC teams against Southern Conference foes. N.C. State met VPI and Wake Forest, witness in seven starts this season and the ACC's bottom club played host to West Virginia, the Southern's best. North Carolina enjoyed an open date.

Maryland opened the weekend last night in Miami with a convincing 16-6 victory over the Hurricanes before 42,701 fans.

The outcome of the Duke-Clemson game could either clear the issue or leave it more confused. The Blue Devils entered the game ranked 11th nationally with a 4-1 ACC record and 5-1-2 over-all, the same as N.C. State. The Wolfpack, however, is under suspension by the National Collegiate Athletic Assn. for basketball recruiting irregularities and cannot accept a bowl bid.

Clemson and North Carolina were tied for third with 3-2 records.

Tampa Favored To Defeat Apps

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—The University of Tampa football team, playing its homecoming game before old grads and Gov. Leroy Collins, is a solid favorite to defeat Appalachian State tonight.

The Mountaineers from Boone, N.C., will field a young team. They have only two seniors, and one of them is a doubtful starter.

Fullback Joe Mordkiff has a sprained ankle and if he isn't in shape tonight his place will be taken by Claude Savage. The other senior is Phil Triplett, a 185-pound right guard.

Tampa has won four and lost two this season against tougher opposition than Appalachian has faced in winning four and losing five.

"Records can be tossed out the window when Tampa and Appalachian meet," coach Marcelino Huerta of Tampa said. "The Mountaineers have always been tough for us."

The teams have played against each other nine times. Tampa holds a 5-4 edge. Tampa won 21-7 last year.

Quarterback Is Big Difference

By BEN FUNK

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A brilliant passing attack by quarterback Bob Rusevlyan was the difference as underdog Maryland romped to a 16-6 victory over Miami's Hurricanes last night.

Connecting with 10 of 14 throws, Rusevlyan accounted for 116 yards. He pitched to Howie Dare for one Maryland touchdown and set-up the other with accurate tosses to Dare, Bill Turner and Fred Hamilton.

It was a miserable night for 4,702 homecoming fans who turned out expecting to see Miami win by a touchdown—the margin the oddsmakers had decided upon.

Their hopes faded in the first 13 minutes when a fired-up Maryland team jumped into a 10-0 lead.

John Fritsch made it 3-0 with a field goal after Tom Gunderman had recovered a fumble by Miami's Byron Blasko on the opening kickoff. Then Rusevlyan sparked a 73-yard aerial drive that ended with Phil Perlo driving two yards for a touchdown. Rusevlyan's conversion added the 10th point.

In the remaining two minutes of the first period, Miami hurried 64 yards to its only touchdown. Quarterback Fran Turci's passes ate up virtually all the yardage and John Varone scored from seven yards out.

But that was all for the favored Hurricanes. Thereafter, Maryland was in control.

Two breaks contributed to the second Maryland touchdown. Ben Scotti made the first one by bouncing on a fumble by Curci at Miami 44. The second came when Jim Joyce was stopped cold on a fourth down plunge at the one.

An offside penalty gave the Terps another chance and Rusevlyan made it good by passing to Dare in the end zone.

Grifton, Bethel Swap Victories

GRIFTON—Grifton and Bethel swapped Pitt County Conference victories here last night with Grifton's girls taking an 86-49 win in the first game and Bethel's boys following with a 77-26 runaway in the second game.

Forward Lou Rye Mewborn led the powerful Grifton girls' attack with 29 points. She was backed up by Sandra Price's 19 points and an 18-point performance by Emily Nelson. Mabel Mozingo led the Bethel scoring with 28 of her team's points.

In the boys' game, Jack Whitford, with 16, and Kenneth Gray, with 14, led the high-scoring Bethel offense. Jimmy Rogers had eight points to lead Grifton.

Grifton's girls have now won both of their games, while the boys are yet to win in two contests. The Bulldogs meet Moss Hill in Grifton Tuesday night in a return to non-conference activity.

Devils Defeat Red Springs In Tight 6-6 Tilt

By BILLY ARNOLD
Reflects Sports Editor

FARMVILLE — Farmville's Red Devils have done it again.

For the second straight week, the Farmville club has won a state Class A football playoff game by gaining more yardage than their opponents.

Last night Coach Elbert Moyer's charges battled to a 6-6 tie with Red Springs here but was awarded the victory by piling up 277 yards to 166 for the visitors.

A week ago in the first rounds of the Eastern Class A playoffs, the Red Devils fought to a 0-0 deadlock with Beaufort on a muddy Farmville field. They won that one also on a basis of more yardage gained.

Red Springs took an early lead in the contest last night and was ahead both in score and by yardage at halftime. The visiting outfit tallied in the second quarter on a 12-yard run by Wayne Edwards. The touchdown climaxed an 83-yard concentrated drive by the scrappy Red Devils. Both teams, by the way, are nicknamed the Red Devils.

The extra point attempt failed and at halftime the score stood: Red Springs 6, Farmville 0. In yardage gained, Red Springs had a narrow 143 to 138 edge.

Farmville Counters

Though the Farmville offensive attack speared into Red Springs territory several times in the third period and early fourth period, it was not until just before the end of the game that the Red Devils were able to tie the six points.

Horace Corbett and Irving Allen, Farmville halfbacks, made several long thrusts through the visitors' defenses and kept the Farmville attack rolling. Johnny Dixon, fullback however, was the man who put Farmville back into the game with a TD.

Minutes before the end of the game, Farmville took the ball on its own 13 yard line and began to march for its touchdown. Allen and Corbett, working smoothly with quarterback Sonny Mall on handoffs, reeled off most of the yardage necessary to move the ball to the Red Springs 32. Several plays later, Dixon blasted over from the one for the score. A 23-yard pass from Mall to end Howard Moyer got the long drive underway. When Farmville missed the extra point, the game was thrown into a 6-6 deadlock and there was not enough time remaining for either team to threaten again seriously.

Officials, following the final whistle of play, awarded the victory to Coach Moyer's club on the basis of yardage gained.

Rearing 2nd Half

Farmville played a bang-up ball game in the second half to overcome the visitors in the yardage department. It was Farmville's terrific defensive work—especially in the line—that finally saved the game for the Devils.

Offensively, Farmville gained just about the same in the second half as in the first. The Red Devils picked up a total of 138 yards in the first two periods and 139 in the second two. But defensively they came through decisively. Red Springs, after rolling to 143 yard in the first half, was held to an unimpressive 23 for the whole second half.

Facing the forward wall that crippled the Red Springs attack were Jerry Weisner, Troy Dail, Johnny Thorne, Ralph Cash, Howard Moyer, Clyde Killbrew, Joe Flake, Charles Walston, Richard Joyner and James Bundy.

David McDonald and Marvin Dorman led the Red Springs offensive.

The victory last night moved Farmville's overall mark to 7-2 and fixed Red Springs' at 6-2.

To Battle Edenton

While Farmville was crumpling out Red Springs here, Edenton's Aces, the defending Class A State champions, were disposing of Erwin 19-6 at Greenville.

After falling behind in the first quarter, 6-0, the Aces shoved their offensive attack into high gear and rolled to touchdowns in the second, third, and fourth quarters.

The loss for Erwin was their first of the season against eight victors and a tie. Edenton, too, has an 8-1-1 record.

Charlie Smith, Marvin Ashley, David Fletcher, Bruce White, and Henry Overton were the Edenton standouts.

Next week, Edenton and Farmville clash at an undetermined site to decide the winner of the Eastern division of the Class A State playoffs. The location of the game will be announced early next week.

Fullmer Says Title Bouts Much Easier Than Last Night's

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP)—"Give me a title fight any day. This kind is do or die—a real war."

Blood-smared Gene Fullmer was talking to reporters in his dressing room last night after winning a thirly-cut decision over Neal Rivers. The Madison Square Garden bout was so close that one official called it a draw. The other two officials voted for Fullmer.

"This was tougher than fighting for the championship," said Fullmer. "The pressure was just as great but not the reward. I had everything to lose and he (Rivers) had everything to gain."

Mary Jensen, Fullmer's manager, will try to see to it that the former middleweight king, who held the title for four months earlier in the year, gets another crack at the crown.

Jensen handed out copies of a letter to him from Jim Norris, president of the International Boxing Club: It was dated April 23, 1957, eight days before Fullmer lost his title to Sugar Ray Robinson on a fifth round knockout.

The letter read in part:

"In the event Robinson defeats Fullmer then the winner of the Robinson-Basilio contest will meet Gene Fullmer in a middleweight title contest. We will promote no middleweight title contest except one between Fullmer and the winner of the Robinson-Basilio contest."

Three Clubs Tied For Top Position

St. Louis, Detroit and Cincinnati today were virtually tied for the Western Division lead in the National Basketball Assn. with only 15 percentage points separating them. But watch out for Minneapolis.

The Lakers, who got off to the worst start possible—seven losses in seven games—under new coach George Mikan, won their second straight last night to move into contention in the west. They defeated Detroit 112-104, and are only two games back.

In the other games last night, Syracuse downed St. Louis, 91-86, and Cincinnati defeated New York 101-99.

THERE OUGHTA BE A LAW! By FAGALY and SHORTEN

Most Of County Court Involved Traffic Cases

Speeding and other traffic cases accounted for most of the work accomplished by Pitt County Recorder's Court in its one-day session this week.

One appeal notice, for Superior Court action, was filed during the session. That came from Alfred Edward Hardy, 39-year-old white truck driver of Greenville, who was adjudged guilty of speeding with a truck Hardy appealed a sentence of $10 and costs.

Three other defendants, who entered pleas of guilty to speeding, had judgments suspended until the first term of court after ten days upon condition that they pay costs and surrender their driver's licenses to the clerk for ten days. Defendants who received such judgments were Virginia Wilkins Haynes, Greenville; Marion Thomas Edwards, Route 4, Greenville; and Ralph Milton McLawhorn, Route 1, Winterville. McLawhorn was also charged with operating a vehicle without break lights.

Another defendant in a speeding case, Thomas Chapman Boyd, Jr., of Pinetown, was ordered to pay $25 and costs, and his driver's license was ordered suspended for one year, after he was adjudged guilty of speeding 100 miles-per-hour.

William Robert Koch of Camp Lejeune and Masli Holmes Oates, Jr., of New Bern entered separate pleas of guilty in absentia to charges of speeding. Koch was ordered to pay $30, costs deducted, and surrender his driver's license for ten days. Oates had to pay $25, costs deducted, and was directed to surrender his license for ten days.

Artis Earl Peyton, Negro, Route 5, Greenville, had a charge of no operator's license continued and two other defendants, in court on similar charges, were given judgments of no pros with leave. They were James Earl Weldon, Negro, Route 3, Greenville, and James Thomas Rogers, Negro, Route 6, Greenville.

Richard Edwards, a Negro of Route 2, Farmville, charged with operating a vehicle without an operator's license, was ordered to pay $25 and costs after entering a plea of guilty.

Using another person's license resulted in a ten-day suspended sentence for James Oscar Wilkes, Negro, of Bethel. The sentence was suspended on condition that Wilkes pay $10 and costs, and the license which he used was ordered surrendered and cancelled.

Other judgments which were returned by the court included: Claude Sherrod, Negro, Rocky Mount, driving under the influence of intoxicants, $100 and costs, driver's licenses revoked for one year; Pete Whitley, Falkland, drunk and disorderly, resisting arrest, destroying city property, four months in jail suspended for 18

Presented A Flag

FLAG PRESENTATION—Charles Forbes, fled representative for the Woodmen of the World, is presenting an American flag to Mrs. James Wynne, Scout leader of Brownie Troop 60. The presentation ceremonies took place Thursday afternoon in the Rotary Building. Looking on are Mrs. John Caughlan and members of the Brownie Troop. (Reflector Photo).

A Smile, A Prayer, And Bang!

By HAY SHAW
NORMAN, Okla. (AP)—Oklahoma football guard Bill Krisher always hits an opponent hard—but he puts a little extra effort behind it when an opposing player uses foul language.

Krisher says he's a Christian and such language doesn't belong on the football field. His remedy: "I smile, say a little prayer for the guy and hit him harder."

"I never try to hurt an opponent. And I never have trouble holding my Christian composure. But words like that don't make a football player better, or accomplish anything."

Krisher said it isn't often players use profane language in a game, "but sometimes when you're down 30 or 40 points, your pride starts hurting."

All-America candidate Krisher is a leader of Oklahoma's "praying" Sooners. They've helped bring the prayer session to college football.

Coach Bud Wilkinson and his team usually have three prayers at every game—before it starts, at the half, and when it's over.

"We never pray for victory. We let them take care of itself. We do pray that both teams can play their best," said the burr-headed guard.

Krisher said OU's praying "makes the team have unity. You feel better when you do it. Most of our players would pray, even if the team didn't as a group."

Oklahoma's athletic department greatly emphasizes religion. "The first thing the coaches ask an athlete when he comes here," Krisher said, "is, 'Do you know where your denomination's church is located?'"

Krisher, halfback Clendon Thomas and a dozen teammates are members of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes and speak to youth groups, civic clubs and church organizations.

When football season isn't on, Krisher and Thomas often fill church pulpits on Sundays.

"What do they say? 'We try to tell the advantage of living a Christian life,'" Krisher replied. "Christian living isn't easy. It's a challenge. It's lots harder to be a Christian than a non-Christian. And you've got to practice living it just like we practice football."

"You can't play a football game on Saturday without practice, and you can't go to church on Sunday without practicing Christianity during the week."

Natural gas was first used in the United States near Fredonia, N.Y., and was moved then through hollowed out logs instead of pipes.

Grace F. W. B. Announcements

The Sunday School is gradually picking up in its attendance. We are looking for you to come this Sunday. The opening assembly begins at 9:45.

During the morning worship service which begins at 11:00 there will be a special speaker, Mr. Barry Moore, who is now in preparation for evangelistic work in France. The choir will sing "Make Me A Blessing."

A class for the deaf will be taught Sunday afternoon at 2:30. League begins at 6:30. Be sure to be in time for this all important training service of the church.

The evening service starts with the singing of favorite Gospel songs, at 7:30. You are invited to come with us.

Monday evening at 7:30 the Sunday School Council will meet at the home of Mrs. J. B. Worthington, Jr. near Winterville. All the teachers and officers of the Sunday School should be present.

Wednesday evening is time for the regular mid-week prayer service at the church. The choir will rehearse following the prayer service.

Thursday is time for Visitation. The Good News Clubs meet as follows: Tuesday—4:00-1411 Broad St. Tuesday—4:00-home of Mrs. Jimmie Spain.

Wednesday—4:00-205 N. Eastern St. Wednesday—3:45-401 W. Village Dr.

Wednesday—7:30 at the church. Thursday—3:30-1306 Myrtle St. Thursday—3:45-home of Mrs. J. B. Worthington, Jr.

Friday—4:30-1404 N. Washington St.

Barry Moore, a native of London, Canada, will be the speaker of the hour in the morning worship service this coming Sunday.

Mr. Moore was formerly a teacher of English in a Canadian High School. He has directed Youth for Christ rallies in London into full time work and headed the YFC movement in Canada for eight years. Sponsored by the London YFC he has made to evangelistic missions to Paris.

Greenville F. W. B. Announcements

You are always welcome at the Greenville Free Will Baptist Sunday school. The "flu" seems to be taking its flight from us as there were 355 present last Sunday. May we all work to see 400 or more present this Sunday at 9:45 a.m. The Befry Quartet will sing the hymn "Simply Trusting Every Day" at the 11 a.m. worship, and the pastor's sermon topic will be "Friends of the Lord" (Gen. 13:8-9). The Leagues at 6:30 p.m. will hear Rev. Barry Moore, director of Youth for Christ in Canada. Rev. Moore is an able young preacher and singer. He will be for France in February as a missionary. The Befry Quartet will sing two missionary hymns at the service. All young people with their friends and parents are urged to be present for this service. At the 7:30 p.m. worship the pastor's sermon topic will be "The Aftaid Servant" (Matt. 25:25). At 8:15 p.m. there will be a called conference of the church.

Monday at 5:15 p.m. the East Carolina Free Will Baptist Student Fellowship will meet at the "Y" hut for Vesper services and a supper. Monday at 7:30 p.m. the Sunday School Council will meet with Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Cox, Lakewood Pines.

Tuesday at 8 p.m. the Men's Chorus will meet for rehearsal. Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. there will be prayer services and evangelism classes.

Thursday at 7 p.m. the Chorus Choir and Junior Choir will meet for their rehearsals. Thursday at 8 p.m. the Senior Choir will meet. Thursday at 7 p.m. the Willing Workers Sunday School Class will meet at Respass-James.

Mrs. J. T. Worthington and Mrs. Jamie Stokes will be in charge of the Nursery this Sunday at the 11 a.m. worship.

First Presbyterian Announcements

Dr. Ralph Brimley, director of public relations for East Carolina College, will be guest speaker at the Sunday morning worship at First Presbyterian Church. His subject will be "You Can Be Sure." Mr. Paul Hickfang, also of the college faculty, will be soloist.

The Westminster Fellowship will have Sunday vespers at 5:30 at the Presbyterian Center, 401 E. 9th Street. Their Monday program and supper will have Mack Berryhill as leader on the subject of Barium Springs Orphanage.

Mrs. Leonard Davis, who has served most effectively as Director of Campus Christian Life for the past year, will soon be completing her work here and will be moving to Raleigh.

The Junior High and Senior High groups will have their supper served by the members of Mrs. W. E. Rosevear's circle, to be followed by separate programs. Jeri Su Clark will lead the Pioneers (Junior High) and Mary Ann Bryant will lead the Seniors and conduct the election of new officers.

Wednesday night at 6:45 the Men of the Church, Dr. Ray Minges, president, will meet for supper and their program. They will be making further plans and looking toward Sunday, November 24, which is to be observed as Loyalty Sunday. On that day members of the church will bring in their pledges for financial support of the church.

Tar Heel Ads In N. Y. Times

RALEIGH (AP)—North Carolina is sponsoring a special 20-page magazine section in the New York Times this Sunday telling of her industrial advantages.

Editorial-style advertisements by state officials and newsmen point up opportunities the state offers to business and industry.

BORROWERS AND LENDERS BEAVER. Okla. (AP)—The Beaver Fire Department has sent out an appeal for all those who borrowed equipment to return it. It was pointed out that there might be a fire sometime and there would be nothing with which to fight it.

Old-Fashioned Sticks Are Best

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—City foot patrolmen are going back to carrying old-fashioned night-sticks. Police Chief Milton Winslow, in authorizing expenditure of $375 to buy 100 such clubs, said they are needed to handle juvenile hoodlums. The order came after a patrolman was severely beaten trying to break up a fight at a teen age dance.
