

Doolittle Says Missile Program Had Late Start

WASHINGTON (AP)—Lt. Gen. James Doolittle (Ret.) testified today that Russia "certainly is ahead of us" in all land-fired missiles.

Doolittle, who heads the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics, told the Senate Preparedness subcommittee that this country fell behind Soviet Russia because it had no coordinated program until 1953.

He said the Russians started missile developments in 1946 and "they have been working harder at it than we have."

Doolittle's testimony was in direct contradiction of contentions by former President Truman. Truman has said that he organized a unified missile program while in the White House but that it was allowed to deteriorate under the Eisenhower administration.

Doolittle, a famed flier who led the first World War II air raid on Japan, was the first witness of the Senate subcommittee's second day of hearings on the U.S. missile situation.

Based on the first day of hearings, when a group of scientists were heard, Chairman Johnson (D-Tex.) said he regards the Russian lead in missiles as "only a symbol of an even greater danger" that the United States may fall behind in the weapons of the future.

Johnson expressed this view in an interview. It is quite possible, he said, that by the time the intercontinental ballistic missile is fully developed "it will be fully obsolete."

"We must, of course, catch up with Russia in missile developments," he said.

"But catching up in this field alone is not enough to safeguard

'Prowler' Slain; It Was Brother

CHICAGO (AP)—In the darkness of the night James and Lorraine Reynolds grew frightened at the strange sounds in their suburban Chicago Heights music store and called police.

The police spotted the prowler early today and shot and killed him.

Mrs. Reynolds became hysterical when she saw the body. It was her brother Richard Paske, 27, a construction worker.

Police reported that the Reynolds, who have an apartment above the music store, were awakened by strange sounds in the store and went outdoors where they stopped a private watchman, Lawrence Burgess, 27.

Burgess notified Chicago Heights police and then entered the store, where he was slugged and shot in the forearm. Police arrived at this time and cornered the prowler in a stockroom. Demands that he surrender brought no response. Policeman Donald Share said he saw a shadow and started firing his submachinegun, fatally wounding Paske.

Tommy Manville Loses His Tenth

RENO (AP)—Millionaire Tommy Manville and his 10th wife were divorced yesterday. Then they made a date for Thanksgiving dinner.

Former showgirl Pat Gaston, a tall, 27-year-old blonde, obtained a divorce on grounds of extreme cruelty. She married him only last May.

She wouldn't discuss her financial settlement from the asbestos heir. Previous divorce settlements have cost him 1 1/4 million dollars.

The Thanksgiving date was arranged when Pat telephoned Tommy, now in his 60s, to thank him for the traditional orchids he sends his wives on divorce day.

Says He Confessed To Protect Mother

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Nineteen-year-old Charles Lee Guy III says he admitted shooting a Hollywood advertising executive only to keep his mother from being arrested for the slaying.

Testifying yesterday at his murder trial, young Guy was questioned by his father, Charles Lee Guy Jr., 39, who is acting as defense counsel. The father is a prosecutor at Dunn, N.C., and first of six husbands of the defendant's mother.

Young Guy is accused of the Aug. 15 shotgun slaying of Guy Roberts, 45, in a motel room.

The youth's mother, Mrs. Nina Miles, who appeared as a prosecution witness, has testified that she and Roberts were living as man and wife at the time of the killing.

Young Guy testified he went to the motel looking for his mother and discovered Roberts dead in bed.

"Did you think your mother did it, or had something to do with it?" the youth's father asked.

"Well, I guess, yes," Guy replied.

'Atlas' Test?

MISSILE TEST CENTER, CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Technicians were believed poised today for a third try at sending the Atlas intercontinental ballistic missile soaring through a successful test south-east over the Atlantic.

Newsman alerted to the possible test today were advised by an unidentified informant that the giant 5,000-mile rocket might not go until later in the week.

When asked if the Atlas would be fired today, the source said, "I would keep my eyes open."

Unofficial reports stated that technicians put the 90-foot rocket through a static test yesterday, keying the mechanism for its flight.

The Atlas has been fired twice from this secret base on the northeast Florida coast and both tests apparently ended in failure.

Satellite Launching Set Dec. 4

WASHINGTON (AP)—Navy scientists hope to launch the U. S. test satellite a week from tomorrow—just two months after Russia's pioneer Sputnik was fired into distant space.

A source high in the Vanguard satellite project said Dec. 4 has been picked for the attempt to send aloft a six-pound sphere six inches in diameter.

The attempt, he said, will be made about dawn at the U.S. Missile Test Center, Cape Canaveral, Fla. If conditions are not right at that time, the source said, another effort will be made perhaps two days later.

Plans call for one or more launchings of small test spheres in December, with a fully instrumented 21-pound satellite to be fired in March. There has been some talk of a January launching of the fully developed satellite if the test succeeds.

Moscow radio said Russia's Sputnik I, launched Oct. 4, still was going strong. But it said the rocket that carried the satellite aloft, and went into orbit at the same time, is expected to drop to destruction in the dense layers of the earth's atmosphere during the first 10 days of December.

The London, British Supply Ministry predicted the rocket will fall this weekend, probably Friday. It said also it expects Sputnik I to go down in mid-January and Sputnik II early in February, but it said these forecasts were less definite.

The rocket is expected to make three passes over the United States both today and tomorrow. The passes are due during the evening twilight, favorable hours for observers.

The Project Vanguard source who told of plans to fire the test satellite next week said it will be aimed southeastward and adjusted for a generally equatorial orbit.

If all goes as planned, he said, it should enter an orbit that would carry it to altitudes varying from 500 to 1,200 miles above the earth.

A 72-foot launching assembly weighing more than 22,000 pounds will be used.

The informant said the test sphere will have four tiny solar batteries fastened to the outside, plus four or six antennas. Radio signals will be transmitted continuously on 108 megacycles.

The batteries, drawing their power from the sun, are planned to last as long as the satellite itself. No estimate was given on the expected life span on this test vehicle.

The baby satellite will not be equipped with special telemetering instruments expected to go into the fully developed artificial moon.

Thus, the test sphere will send back no information about conditions in space.

The Russians have claimed to have received considerable space information from their satellites, but so far they have not shared such data with the rest of the world's scientists cooperating in the International Geophysical Year.

The Vanguard informant said the U.S. test satellite will be sent skyward by the same kind of three-stage rocket built for use later in launching the regular 21-inch satellite.

Fleet Admiral Read Services

PIEDMONT, Calif. (AP)—Fleet Adm. Chester W. Nimitz read the funeral service yesterday for Y. Ching Woo, wife of a Chinese financier and long-time family friend.

Nimitz officiated under naval tradition as senior officer present at the Woo family's wish.

Mrs. Woo, 58, died Sunday.

Moonwatchers Spot Sputnik I

GREENSBORO (AP)—George Phillips, director of the Greensboro moonwatch team, reported that the team spotted and charted Sputnik I early last night.

"It gave off a brilliant white glow, almost as bright as the planet Venus which is now in our southwest sky," he said.

Phillips said Mrs. Jane Paley first spotted the Russian earth satellite and members got a "beautiful view."

He said the team will be out again Wednesday for a scheduled pass by the satellite at 5:51 p.m.

'STILL COLD' FRESNO, Calif. (AP)—Artie Starks told officers he believed someone had buried something on a vacant lot near his home. Police dug up 10 cases of beer, still cold. They presumed the beer, $48 worth, had been stolen.

'Further Evaluation' Slated By Doctors On President's Illness

WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House said today President Eisenhower is "progressing satisfactorily" but that doctors are making "a further evaluation" of his illness.

Associate White House press secretary Anne Wheaton said at 10:22 a.m. a report of the doctor's finding would be made "as soon as possible"—meaning later today.

Eisenhower suffered what the White House described as a "chill" yesterday shortly after he returned from the airport where he welcomed King Mohammed V of Morocco.

The latest White House announcement raised the question whether the illness might be more serious than originally thought.

Asked if indications were that the President's condition might be more serious than originally indicated, Mrs. Wheaton declined any comment. She refused, despite repeated questions from reporters, to go beyond her brief announcement.

That announcement said: "The President is progressing satisfactorily. However, his doctors are making a further evaluation of the case at this time. A report of this evaluation will be made as soon as possible."

This statement followed an earlier announcement, at 8:55 a.m., that the President "is progressing very well."

A reporter asked if there was any significance in the difference in wording of the two statements—the first saying Eisenhower was "progressing very well" and the later one saying he was "progressing satisfactorily."

Mrs. Wheaton declined to go beyond the second statement. "That is all I have to say at this time," she said.

Concern over Eisenhower's condition was heightened by his 1955 heart attack and last year's operation for ileitis.

Asked why it is necessary to make a further evaluation of a chill, Mrs. Wheaton said "I can't discuss that."

She also said she did not know if there was any indication the President's illness amounted to more than a chill.

She would not say who drew up the statement beyond saying it was the work of "two or three people."

Likewise Mrs. Wheaton declined to say whether any doctors besides the two who ordinarily attend the President have been called in. Eisenhower's doctors are Maj. Gen. Howard M. Snyder and Lt. Col. Walter Tkach.

Mrs. Wheaton said no thought was being given to the President's delivering the speech on international cooperation which he originally planned to deliver at Cleveland tonight.

"There is nothing along that line at all," she said.

The Cleveland speech was canceled last night after the President became ill. So were all of today's appointments.

The illness forced Eisenhower to cancel his plans to attend last night's dinner for King Mohammed V, and a conference with the King today. Secretary of State Dulles sat in for him today.

Mrs. Wheaton made no comment when a reporter suggested that her terse announcements were "a very unusual treatment of a presidential illness."

The illness recalled more detailed announcements were made when the President suffered his heart attack and the later intestinal disorder.

In her first report of the day Mrs. Wheaton said Eisenhower was resting comfortably and ate a good breakfast.

Sputnik Rocket To Plunge Soon

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—The final-stage rocket that launched Sputnik I, history's first man-made satellite may make a flamboyant plunge to its death next Sunday.

Dr. Fred L. Whipple, director of the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory, said today.

Dr. Whipple said Sunday is the most likely day, although it may be a day earlier or a day later. The calculations were based on new moonwatch sightings reported last night and the day before from more than 65 stations in the United States. The new calculation advances the expected day for the death of the Russian rocket by more than a week. The observatory had originally estimated it will be within the period of three days either side of Dec. 11.

Dr. Whipple said the rocket should burst into flames when it hits the denser atmosphere about 35 to 40 miles above the earth and will make a spectacular sight if the final plunge comes at night.

Since the low point of the rocket-satellite's orbit around the world is in the Northern Hemisphere, there is a greater possibility that it will fall in the upper half of the world, Dr. Whipple said.

Launched Oct. 4 by Russia when it fired Sputnik I into an orbit, the rocket always has been a more brilliant object for viewers than the sphere, Sputnik. Although its dimensions have never been officially announced, Smithsonian officials assume it is about as large as Sputnik II, which the Soviets said weighs more than half a ton.

The original rocket-satellite now is orbiting the world in 94 minutes, compared with its original time of 96.2 minutes. Dr. Whipple said it had gained about 360 m.p.h. over its original 18,000 mph due to the increased tug of gravity as it sinks lower.

Observers in the United States have an excellent opportunity to see the rocket-satellite after sunset tonight, and for the next two or three days.

Tonight, it crosses Maine about 4:45 (EST) on a northwest-southeast direction and should be visible—weather permitting—throughout the northeastern part of the country.

The next day, the passage starts in North Dakota, crosses parts of Iowa, Illinois, Tennessee and Georgia before leaving the country over Florida, in the period between 6:16 and 6:23 p.m. (EST).

Tonight's third passage begins near Bellingham, Wash., about 7:48 p.m. (EST) passes near Boise, Idaho, and Gallup, N.M., and leaves the country near El Paso, Tex., at 7:53 (EST).

Tomorrow evening, the rocket also makes three passages across the country—after sunset.

The first begins near Ogdenburg, in upper New York state, at about 4:50 p.m., passes near Albany, N.Y., and New Haven, Conn., about a minute later, and leaves the country over Long Island, N.Y.

The next sweep begins at 6:21 p.m. (EST) in the northwest corner of North Dakota, passes near Sioux City, Iowa, and Memphis, Tenn., before leaving the country near Pensacola, Fla., six minutes later.

The third passage in Wednesday's evening twilight begins near Astoria, Ore., at 7:52 p.m. (EST), passes near Lovelock and Las Vegas, Nev., and leaves the United States five minutes later near Nogales, Ariz.

Flu Epidemic Is Continuing Rapid Decline In N. C.

RALEIGH (AP)—The Asian flu epidemic continued a rapid decline in North Carolina last week.

Estimates from county health officers added up to a total of 32,373 cases of "influenza like" disease in the state last week compared with 80,447 the week before and 149,499 the week ending Nov. 8.

The figure for last week may be revised upward somewhat as reports are received from more county health departments.

"It's dropping off very rapidly now," Dr. Fred Foard, director of the State Board of Health's Division of Epidemiology, reported today.

The figures, he said, indicate "We've reached the jump, at least so far as the schools are concerned."

And, "as to whether we'll have another rise, you guess is as good as mine." In the past, flu outbreaks have been characterized by a rise in the number of cases, a decline and then a second rise.

Publish Notices For Bidding On Reserve Army

Advance notice for new bids for construction of a 200-man Army Reserve Training Center in Greenville has been published by the Wilmington district office of the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers.

The notice calls for construction bids to be entered prior to January 7, 1958, when they will be opened in Wilmington. The notice and invitation for bids replaces an original invitation issued June 28, deferred on July 22, and cancelled last Friday.

According to the engineers' advance notice, the training center will include a single-story training building with approximately 7,000 square feet of floor space; a connecting assembly building with approximately 3,800 square feet of floor space; and a motor vehicle storage building with approximately 2,350 square feet of floor space.

The training center will be constructed on the grounds of the Ft. Greenville Airport. All buildings will be masonry with steel roof framing, and the firm which reserves the contract will be required to commence construction within 30 days after the awarding date and will have 240 calendar days to complete the project.

When completed, the training center will replace present facilities used by local Army Reserve units on Ficklen Street. The new center will also serve as headquarters for the Greenville Sub-District of the North Carolina Military District.

Army Reserve units which are tentatively slated to use the new facilities include Detachment 1, 3051st USAR Reception Center, and 392nd Engineer Company (Heavy Equipment).

Cape Fear And Neuse Rivers Still Flooding

RALEIGH (AP)—Minor flooding continued today on the Cape Fear and Neuse rivers in the wake of rains over the weekend.

Although substantial amounts of rain fell in eastern North Carolina, much of it soaked into the ground, the U.S. Weather Bureau said.

An additional rise of two or three feet was expected on the two rivers. The Weather Bureau reported that the Cape Fear had risen to 36 feet yesterday at Fayetteville and 26 feet at Elizabeth. Flood stage is 35 feet at Fayetteville and 20 feet at Elizabeth.

The Neuse had risen to 13 feet at Neuse yesterday, one foot below flood stage.

Health Director Candidate Here

A prospect for the directorship of the Pitt County Health Department was interviewed last night by the county Board of Health, Chairman B. Alton Gardner announced today.

No commitments were made by either the board or the prospect, Gardner said. He added, however, that the doctor, who was not identified by the chairman, promised to visit the county again "in the near future."

"The man appeared to be interested in the job," Gardner said, "and we believe he is qualified. He is in public health work in North Carolina at the present time."

The job of Health Director has been vacant since late August when Dr. Walter C. Humbert died after a heart attack. Since Dr. Humbert's death, Dr. Joseph D. Franzoni, director of the Mental Health Service, has been acting director of the Health Department.

"We will continue to operate the department with Dr. Franzoni as acting director until we find a new director," Gardner said. "We are doing all we can, running down every lead and contacting every prospect, but it is no easy job."

Reorganization Meeting Monday

Pitt County's Board of Commissioners will hold their annual reorganization Monday morning at their regular December meeting.

The five-man board will select a new chairman and vice-chairman, and will also name heads of various county operations. The procedure is required by North Carolina law.

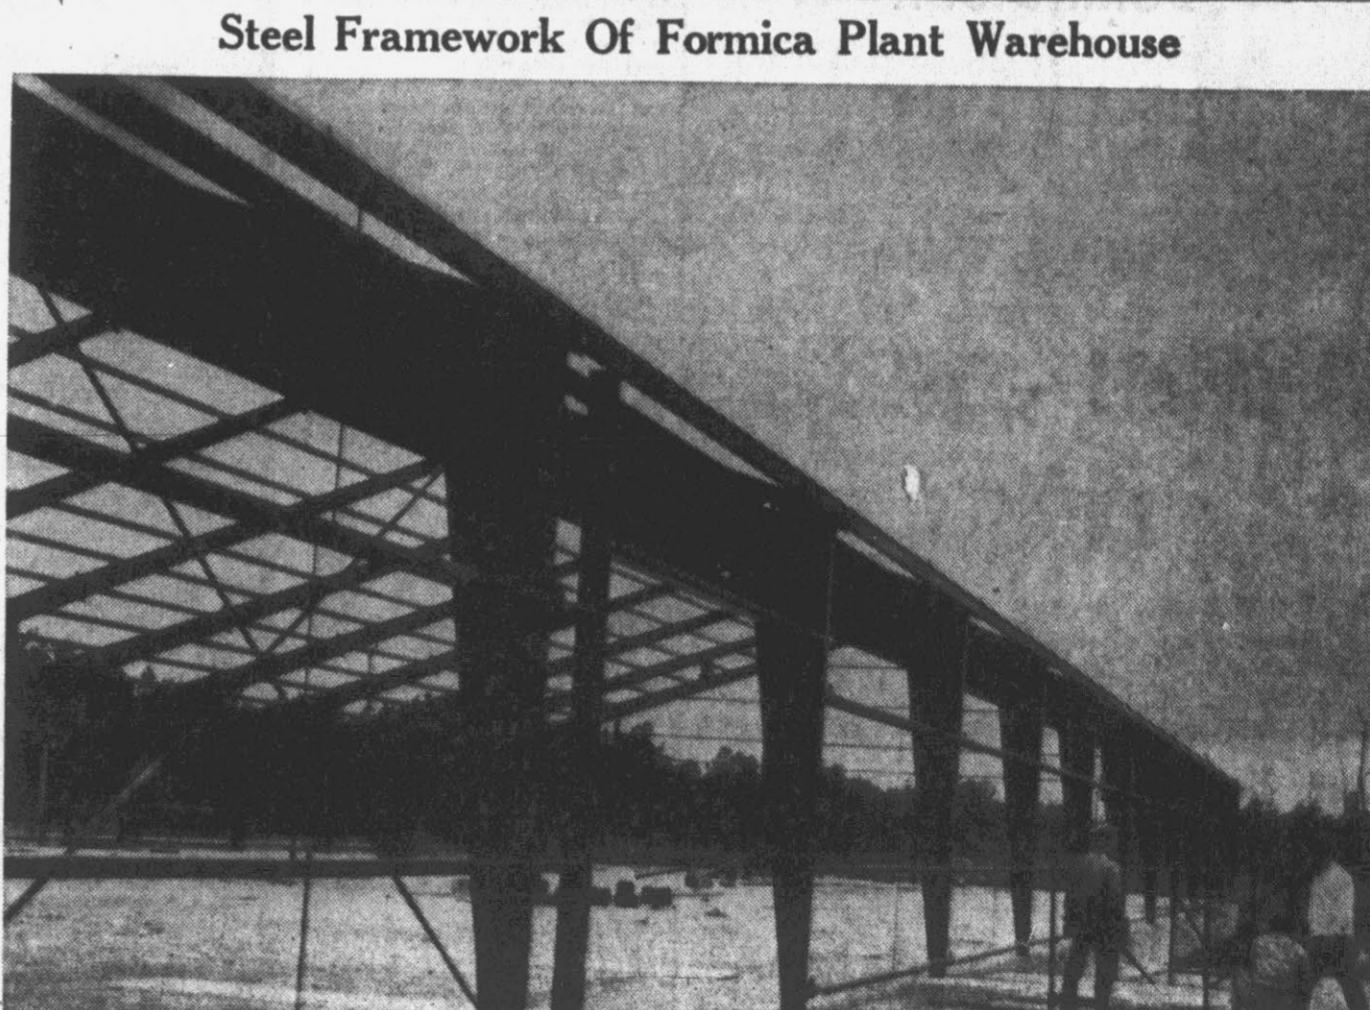

B. Alton Gardner is present chairman of the board and Othor Wooten is vice-chairman. Other members are J. Vance Perkins, Robert Little and R. L. Martin.

Brother To Get Runaway Boy

WINSTON-SALEM (AP)—The brother of a 16-year-old refugee who ran away from his Washington, D.C. home was to come here today to take the youth home.

The runaway, Gerhard Peir, at first told officers who picked him up on a vagrancy charge that he could remember very little of his past and that he was suffering from "insomnia."

He was sentenced to five years in prison.

PATTERNS AGAINST THE SKY—Steel framing of the warehouse to be used by American Cyanamid Corporation's Formica Division Flakboard plant at Farmville was completed last week. Steel siding and roofing for the building is scheduled to be placed this week, permitting use of the structure for storage of plant equipment which will begin arriving this week. Buffet Is Ideal For Big Meal

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

After giving many Thanksgiving dinners, there is one serving procedure we can recommend if the menu is to be a traditional one.

When there is a large family plus guests, and no outside help, we find that using a combination buffet and sit-down service is convenient.

For this we set places around the dining table (extended, of course) and arrange the centerpiece. In our house this is always a blue milk-glass compote of fresh fruit that never fails to include persimmons and grapes; the compote is surrounded by blue milk-glass egg cups—small ends up—holding tall tapers. On the table, too, go matching blue dishes of cranberry sauce and other relishes, trays of crisp hard rolls and buttered pats.

BIRD OF THE DAY: A rich brown turkey can form the centerpiece for a Thanksgiving dinner buffet. It's ideal when there are many guests and no outside help.

The main course is served from a separate buffet. This means that the bird—after his rich brown glory has been properly admired—is carved and arranged on an electric platter. The stuffing is spooned into a chafing dish to keep hot and the vegetables are served in covered dishes.

Everyone goes to the buffet, helps himself and then sits down at the large table on which there are place cards. One member of the family usually takes it on himself to look after those who want second helpings. Another member of the family eventually clears away the main-course dishes and brings on the dessert which is cut and served at the table.

As part of this plan, we serve our first course in the living room, whether it is a before-dinner drink and hors d'oeuvre or soup or both. Then glasses and plates are cleared away before we all enjoy the bird and trimmings.

TURKEY TALK

If you use a bread stuffing, we can't over-emphasize the importance of packing it into the bird lightly. This way the dressing has its best chance to taste fluffy and delicious. And of the stuffing that won't fit into body and neck cavities may be baked in a separate dish and moistened with turkey gravy.

Stuff your bird just before roasting.

Allow two to four hours for cooking the turkey giblets. Cover them with water and add salt, peppercorns, celery tops, a sliced carrot, and onion stuck with whole cloves and a bay leaf. One cook we know always saves the stem ends cut from fresh tomatoes and adds these, too. The strained stock adds a great deal to gravy or may be used (instead of other liquid) in making the turkey stuffing.

Don't make the turkey gravy pasty and thick; if more than 2 cups of gravy is to be made, use no more than 2 tablespoons of flour per cup of liquid. If, after using these amounts, the gravyeeps to slice, is too thick, gradually stir in more liquid. Make sure your carving knife is sharp as can be. A dull knife will mangle the bird! Even slices 20 minutes before carving so the turkey, white and dark, are a meat will absorb juices and be joy to serve and eat.

Cake Decorating Demonstrated

Ronnie Morton demonstrated the art of cake decorating for the Sappho Book Club members when they met Tuesday.

Morton explained each step and what each design was called. His subject was a two tier cake. As Tuesday was the birthday of the son of Mrs. Aubrey Taylor, Morton decorated the top tier of the cake in birthday fashion and presented it to her.

The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Jack Foley Jr. Mrs. Foley served the bottom tier of the cake with coffee and nuts to club members.

Mrs. Aubrey Taylor, president, presided over the business session. At this time, plans were completed for the Christmas party.

The December 3 meeting will be with Mrs. J. C. Galloway.

Mrs. Jasper Smith Hostess At Bridge

BETHEL—Mrs. Jasper Smith was hostess to the Wednesday afternoon bridge club at her home on Pleasant Street with eight members and two guests present. In the living room and the den, where two tables were arranged for the game, fall flowers were used for decoration.

Three progressions were made, and at the end of the second, refreshments were served which consisted of hot cheese biscuits, potato chips, pickles, mince meat pies and hot coffee.

Upon adding the tallies, Mrs. J. B. Bunting was awarded high score.

Nearly 15 per cent of the American household food dollar goes for milk, coffee, tea, and soft drinks.

Bride-Elect Entertained

ROBERSONVILLE—The home of Mrs. Clayton Davenport on Second Street had a pink and rose color scheme Saturday afternoon when her daughter, Miss Betty Jean Davenport, and Miss Barbara Roebuck, Mrs. Dallas Council of Bethel and Mrs. John Roberson of Stokes gave a surprise kitchen shower.

The guest of honor was Miss Jo Ann Warren, who will marry Mack Cherry of Everetts Thanksgiving Day in the Robersonville Christian Church.

Upon arrival, the bride-elect received a yellow pom pon corsage to complement her green woolen dress trimmed with leopard skin.

After the gifts were opened and displayed, the 20 guests were invited into the dining room. The table was covered with lace over pink and centered by an artistic arrangement of deep rose chrysanthemums and mums interspersed with greenery.

The refreshments, consisting of open face pimento-cheese sandwiches, pineapple and cream cheese sandwiches, potato chips, salted nuts and iced drinks, were served buffet style.

Dr. Staton Addresses PTA

A tribute was given the teachers by Dr. Mary Lois Staton when she spoke at the meeting of the Wahl-Coates Parent-Teacher's Association held at McGinnis Auditorium Thursday night.

Dr. Staton of the E. C. C. Education Department presented an article entitled "The Teacher I want For My Child" and cited as examples the excellent qualities found in the teachers within our midst. She stated that first of all a teacher should be a fine person and then a top-notch teacher.

"To be a teacher who can be most helpful to a child he must have a democratic attitude, a wide variety of interests, a pleasing manner, a consistent behavior, and interest in pupil's problems, know how to give praise, and know the subject matter. "All these are the embodiment of a good teacher and they are found in our own school," she said. Dr. Staton closed her talk by reading the poem "Education" as a salute to teachers.

Christmas corsages were given to each of the teachers as an expression of appreciation from the members of the P. T. A.

The devotional was presented by Mrs. Clark's sixth grade. In keeping with the Thanksgiving season, four compositions entitled what I Am Thankful For" and a prayer written by students in this grade were read.

Prizes for having achieved 100% membership in the Parent Teachers Association were awarded to Miss Mildred Pate's third grade and Mrs. Savage's third grade.

Attendance award was won by Miss Golphin's fourth grade.

Couple Pledge Vows In Home Of Minister

ROBERSONVILLE—Miss Jacqueline Ann Robinson, daughter of Bill Robinson of Robersonville and Mrs. Lillian Robinson of Roanoke Rapids, became the bride of A-2C Robert Henry Duhadaway of Hockesseon, Delaware, Saturday afternoon, November 15.

The double ring ceremony took place in the presence of relatives and close friends with the Rev. John Aivis, retired Methodist minister, officiating at his home.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a pink suit with black accessories and a corsage of Tallisman rosebuds.

She attended the Roanoke Rapids High School. The bridegroom, a graduate of Hockesseon High School, is serving with the 632nd Aircraft Control and Warning Squadron at Roanoke Rapids.

When the young couple return from a wedding trip to Delaware, they will make their home in Roanoke Rapids.

Chicod 4-H Members Get Project Books

Morning Party Fetes Brides-Elect

BETHEL—On Saturday morning, Mrs. Walter C. Whitehurst and Mrs. R. J. Whitehurst entertained at a Coca-Cola hour honoring Miss Anne Harris of Fountain and co-honoring Miss Linda Whitehurst of Greenville. Both honorees are to be married in December.

Upon arrival Miss Harris and Miss Whitehurst were presented white glomalla corsages. Guests were received by the hostesses, the honorees, Mrs. W. R. Harris of Fountain, and Mrs. E. F. Pollard of Bethel.

A pink and white theme of decoration was used throughout the house. In the dining room the brides' table, covered with a linen art work cloth over pink satin, was centered with a silver bowl filled with pink carnations, snapdragons, white garza mums, and fern. Sweets, nuts, crab filled pattie shells, and assorted hors d'oeuvres and sandwiches were served.

On the buffet was placed an arrangement of greenery and pink grapes tinged with gold. An auxiliary table held the tulle draped coca cola tray which was flanked by pink candles in silver holders.

Both brides were presented gifts of silver. Goodbyes were said to around 45 guests.

Newlyweds Feted At Shower

BETHEL—On Saturday night Mrs. W. K. Whitehurst and Mrs. Joseph Whitehurst were co-hostesses at a floating miscellaneous shower given in the home of Mrs. W. K. Whitehurst at Whitehurst Station honoring Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Whitehurst, who were recently married.

In the living room, where the guests were received arrangements of autumn flowers were used in profusion. In the dining room, chrysanthemums were placed on the buffet and the table was centered with a cut glass bowl filled with white gladioli and green fern.

Cup cakes, nuts, chicken salad sandwiches, and punch were served.

Mrs. Sam Keel was awarded high score.

Auxiliary Honors Gold Star Mothers

The American Legion Auxiliary entertained Gold Star Mothers Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. C. J. Allgood.

The following named Gold Star Mothers were present as special guests: Mrs. Walter Cherry, Mrs. G. A. Clark, Mrs. Roy T. Cox, Mrs. T. E. Dickerson, Mrs. W. L. Mayo, Mrs. Lester Meeks, Mrs. E. E. Rawl, Mrs. H. R. Rogers, Mrs. J. L. Collins, and Mrs. M. C. Sermons.

They were introduced by Mrs. C. L. Dupree and each was presented a corsage through the courtesy of Tyson Flower Shop. Other guests recognized were Mrs. E. L. Osborne, Mrs. Carlos Womack, Mrs. Kate Jordan and Mrs. Willie E. Stott, Mrs. T. W. Rouse, who had been a charter member, was introduced as a newly reinstated member, thus meeting the membership quota of the auxiliary of 101.

Mrs. Allgood, rehabilitation chairman, thanked the members for being so generous with their gifts for the V. A. gift shops and reported that a needy veteran's family would be helped for Thanksgiving and Christmas. She announced that $150 would be sent to the Central Fund which furnishes spending money to uncompensated hospitalized veterans.

Mrs. Frank Taylor introduced the guest speaker, the Rev. Carlos Womack, pastor of the Bethel Methodist Church. In addressing the Gold Star Mothers he said he is convinced that "the greatest tribute anyone can pay them is to use every means available to us to the end that from past history we can learn a lesson to guide us in planning for the present and future, to learn in facing the sorrows of separation that they need not break us—that they can make us."

Said he, "Out of such sorrow we can emerge bigger and better people if we take the right attitude, and that out of the terrible-ness of war there will emerge something so fine that our loss will not have been in vain; that all things of real worth have come because someone made the sacrifice." He ended his talk with prayer.

Mrs. Allgood and her committee served punch and cakes from a table decorated with fall flowers. Co-hostesses were Mesdames S. B. Tucker, Frank Taylor, Edgar Barnhill, E. L. Baker, Jay Brantley, W. C. Eagles, John Causey, B. C. McGee, Sam Fleming, Louise Harrison, Novella M. Williams and Miss Grace Smith.

News From Stokes

Mrs. Tom Hardison of Washington and Mrs. Ronald Brown of Chocowiny visited their sister, Mrs. Elmer Warren, over the week end.

W. F. Stokes has returned home from Cos-Coble, Conn. where he has been visiting his daughter, Mrs. Horce Wallace and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Pyle and sons of Norfolk, Va. spent the weekend with her mother, Mrs. L.H. Roberson.

Mr. and Mrs. H.P. Congleton and family left Sunday for Johnston City, Tenn. where he will be on the tobacco market this season.

Mr. and Mrs. T.L. Perkins will leave Wednesday to spend Thanksgiving in Baltimore, Md., with their son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ewart Perkins.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Roberson of Norfolk, Va. spent the weekend here with his mother, Mrs. Pearl Roberson.

The following will arrive Wednesday for the Thanksgiving holidays from East Carolina College.

Misses Nina L. Perkins, Jane Bullock, Mary Lou Whitehurst, Nanette Whitehurst, Cynthia Parker, Mary Edna Hawkins, Alva Chaucey, Lela G. Harris, and Patsy James.

Miss Louis Ann Briley, daughter of Mrs. R. H. Briley, has re-entered Park View Hospital in Rocky Mount for Nurses Training.

WANDERING WAISTLINE... Triple position belt plaquettes allow you to choose your own waistline in this outfit of blouse and pants.

HIGH NOTE... Modest approach and daring retreat of California swim styles is shown in this latex suit with halter neck.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Bathing beauties of 1958 will look prim and modest as they approach, but the retreating view is something else.

The newest swim suits, as previewed by California designers, have split personalities coming and going. They are discreetly high in front, but slashed to the waist in back. Halter necklines hug the throat, but reveal large expanses of sun-tanned back. There's no sack silhouette in the new swim suits, despite the current predominance of the chemise dress. Surf fashions of 1958 fit like the skin, with built-in foundations to improve on nature.

There are many beach ensembles, consisting of coordinated shirt or jacket and sometimes a skirt to match the swim suit. Knits are still in high favor for active swimwear, with latex also a top favorite. Skinny pants and loose tops are tops for California casual wear. Pants fit tighter than ever and usually end well above the ankle. They are worn with loose over-

Simpson HD Club Names Mrs. Edwards President

SIMPSON—The Simpson Home Demonstration Club had its first meeting of the club year at the community building with the new president, Mrs. L. C. Edwards, presiding. Other new officers are: Mrs. J. L. Edwards, vice-president; Mrs. Gentry Porter, secretary; Mrs. Lyman Mills, treasurer.

Project leaders are: Foods and Nutrition, Mrs. S. D. Tucker; Home Gardens, Mrs. Fred Edwards; Home Poultry, Mrs. Lena Barrow; Home Dairy, Mrs. W. B. McLawhorn; Food Conservation, Mrs. Claude Boyd; House Furnishings, Mrs. J. H. Tucker; Home Management, Mrs. J. L. Edwards; Family Life, Mrs. R. H. Heath; Home Beautification, Mrs. H. H. Porter; Clothing, Mrs. Roy Edwards; Arts and Crafts, Mrs. Ella Pace; Community Service, Mrs. R. G. Little; Health and Safety, Mrs. Lyman Mills; Education, Mrs. L. C. Edwards; Citizenship, Mrs. Raymond Baker; Music, Mrs. Roy Edwards; Publicity, Mrs. R. H. Heath; Recreation, Mrs. Roy Edwards; 4-H Club Leader, Mrs. Johnnie Hardee.

A devotional on "Making Friends" was given by Mrs. J. L. Edwards. The Home Garden Leader suggested arranging either a flower or vegetable garden within view from the kitchen windows. Suggestions of decorating holiday cookies were given by the Foods and Nutrition Leader. The Home Beautification Leader gave several tips on the planting of trees and shrubs. The Education Leader urged everyone to do more reading in the coming year.

The demonstration on "Good Grooming" was presented by Mrs. Lyman Mills. Tips on care of various parts of the body that lead to good grooming were discussed. During the business session, the Pitt County Progress Program and a Christmas party with the husbands as guests were discussed. After recreation led by Mrs. Roy Edwards, homemade cake and coffee were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Raymond Baker and Mrs. Erastus Briley, to the 17 members present.

Mrs. Bruce McLawhorn and Mrs. Roy Edwards were appointed as chairmen of Simpson Ruritan Club suppers and Mrs. S. D. Tucker and Mrs. J. R. Godley as co-chairmen.

Mrs. Harrington Presides Over First HD Meeting

Newly elected president, Mrs. Edwin Harrington, presided at the first meeting of the club year of the Pierce Home Demonstration Club Thursday at the club house. Project reports were given during the business session and Mrs. Heber Cox, clothing leader, presented the demonstration "Good Grooming."

Games were conducted by Mrs. Harrington and later she served homemade cookies and coffee to the seven members, one new member and one visitor. The meeting closed with the members repeating "The Lord's Prayer."

30 Years Ago Today

November 26, 1927

Miss Julia Brown was hostess at a very enjoyable bridge party Saturday afternoon in honor of her house guest, Miss Elizabeth Denny of Wilson. The home on Second Street was attractively decorated with autumn flowers and potted plants. During the game nuts and punch were served.

High score was made by Miss Catherine Utley, to whom the hostess presented a beautiful hand-painted handkerchief. Miss Allie Lee Fleming was given an attractive novelty for low score. The honoree was given a hand-painted handkerchief. The hostess, assisted by Miss Nina Fleming, Mrs. S. Keel and Miss Margaret Patrick, served a tempting salad course.

Chicod F. H. A. Elects Officers

On November 25, the Chicod Chapter of the Future Homemakers of America held their monthly meeting in the school auditorium to install the new officers for the 1957-58 school year. The meeting was called to order by the new president, Mary Ida Gray. Mary Ann Edwards gave the devotional entitled "I Am A Future Homemaker," followed by the singing of "F. H. A. Forever."

The eight purposes of F. H. A. were told by the newly elected officers as each of them lit their white candle from the red one. Following this, old officers charged each of the new officers with her duties as she was installed into office. They are: President, Mary Ida Gray; vice president, Joyce Harris; secretary, Betty Jean Purser; treasurer, Barbara Haddock; parliamentarian, Judith Hardee; historian, Mona Sue Dixon; song leader, Bonnie Hardee; pianist, Peggy Dixon; reporter, Phoebe Cherry. Honorary membership was given each F. H. A. Mother (Mrs. Jones, Mrs. Hardee, Mrs. Mills, Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Stokes) as Mary Ida pinned a red rose on them. Immediately following the program all F. H. A. members, eighth grade girls, and the high school faculty were entertained at a tea in the Home Economics cottage under the direction of the F. H. A. advisor, Mrs. Pauline Mooney.

Perfect Attendance Record Mrs. Guy Gregory of the Shiloh Home Demonstration Club in Camden County boasts a perfect attendance record any club member would be proud of. According to Mrs. Mammie Sawyer, home agent, Mrs. Gregory has just completed 22 years without missing a single meeting. At a recent club meeting, Mrs. Gregory announced that on October 10, 1935, she had been hostess to the organizational meeting of the club and has never missed a meeting of the club since that day. And she's been an active member these "going on 23 years," as she expresses it.

Money Saved "A penny saved is a penny earned," could be the philosophy of Mrs. H. W. Eudy, Kannapolis, home demonstration club member. Home Agent Sarah F. Wise, reports that Mrs. Eudy is the proud owner of a new suit she made. "My suit cost me $12.00," explained Mrs. Eudy, "and by adding a fur collar made from an old fur jacket, it looks like a $60 suit. If I didn't make my own clothes I never could have as many. Just think of the money I save!"

Reducing Club Everywhere you turn today, pick up a newspaper or magazine and you're bound to see some story or advertisement on ways to reduce. It seems that several overweight home demonstration club women in Caldwell County have found a way to lose weight—they've formed a reducing club.

According to Home Agent Mrs. Martha A. Haas, these women meet each week to weigh and have an appropriate program. One of the recent meetings was spent preparing low-calorie meals. In order to be a member of the club, each member must have a written statement from her doctor saying it's all right for her to participate in the reducing diet. The main purpose of the club is to give each other moral support.

Oven Meals Wake County home demonstration leaders have been giving demonstrations on preparing oven meals in recent weeks. According to Myrtle L. Swicegood, home agent, leaders do a good job when they've had training and they receive satisfaction from giving a demonstration. White Oak leaders, Mrs. Raeford Morris and Mrs. W. C. Mills, had this to say about their demonstration, "We planned our demonstration so it would be supper for all the club members, because we wanted fellowship as well as learning. We had never used our ovens for cooking vegetables other than baked potatoes before giving this demonstration—and we found we'd missed a lot. The string beans we prepared were especially good."

Whole Picture Requires Changing

More young scientists are desperately needed by the United States!

We have heard that assertion time and again in recent years, but certainly we have heard it much more frequently in the weeks since Russia launched its satellites. The declaration has come from high government officials, industry, scientists and educators.

But our need for scientists is only one part of a much broader need. While the nation's future may well hinge on its scientific prowess, no nation will long survive by scientific advancement alone.

We must have, in addition to scientists, a citizenry capable of determining the use which shall be made of these new discoveries; a population which will be master of its own achievements—not mastered by them.

Unless we have these things we will find ourselves living in a scientific jungle . . . if we survive at all.

It has been pointed out that only three of every 100 youngsters who enter the first grade become scientists or engineers. Quite obviously we need to increase the ratio. That alone will not solve our problem, however.

We face a much greater problem. It lies here: Of every 100 children who enter the first grade, only 59 ever finish high school, and only 13 of the 100 graduate from college.

Is our problem limited to the development of scientists alone?

Can we expect to compete in, or survive in a scientific age unless the total educational picture of the United States is changed?

We have made progress in our broad educational endeavor; but the progress has been slow. Far too slow for the fast moving age in which we live. In North Carolina for example, only 52.21 per cent of eighth graders in 1951 graduated from high school in 1955. The figure was 1.71 per cent higher in 1956. For every 100 eighth graders in North Carolina schools in 1951, only 19.06 entered college after graduation from high school four years later.

The United States cannot meet the challenge of the scientific age by training scientists and neglecting other educational fields. We must promote education in every field like we have done at no other time in our history if we as a nation are to meet the challenges of a new era.

It's The Driver Who Makes The Difference

Is 1957 destined to become another record year for traffic deaths in Pitt County? How many more lives will be needlessly sacrificed on highways of this county before the end of the year?

Already 17 people have lost their lives in highway accidents in Pitt during 1957. More than a month remains in the year; and it is, unfortunately, a month in which serious traffic accidents show an increase.

Prior to last year the highest number of traffic fatalities recorded in Pitt in any one year was 18. Last year 24 people met death on highways of the county . . . six of them between mid-November and the year's end.

No one knows how many more lives will be snuffed out before this year ends. Perhaps there will be no more. Heaven knows we hope so. But it is not enough to hope and do nothing else.

Highway safety is a matter for the individual driver. He can do more to reduce the accident rate on our highways than all the patrolmen, speeches, arrests, tickets and jail sentences that can be imagined.

He is the man in the driver's seat. He is the man, in the final analysis, who makes the decision that can spell the difference between life and death.

About To Get A Kicking-Around

By ELMER ROESSNER

State fair-trade laws, under which manufacturers can set retail prices for trademarked products, are about to get a kicking around on both ends of the United States.

The Supreme Court's decision in the Masters case appears to have created an open season on fair-trade laws everywhere.

The court held that New York State could not prohibit the Masters organization from selling price-fixed products at cut prices by mail from Washington, D. C., which has no fair-trade law.

So Masters is advertising and selling such products in New York and, because the merchandising is from its Washington store, it can set whatever prices it chooses.

OTHERS GETTING IN

The Hess Brothers organization in Allentown, Pa., has been considering setting up an out-of-state company to sell goods below fixed prices, in its own backyard. And now Fed-Mart has announced plans to sell goods below prices in Southern California from its store in San Antonio, Tex. Texas, along with Missouri, Vermont and the District of Columbia, are the four areas of the country that have never had a price-fixing law.

However, top courts in a dozen other states have found such laws unconstitutional.

This is what is about to happen: Let's suppose the XXX Company has a butter peeler on which it fixes a price of $12.95 in New York, Pennsylvania, California and other states countenancing this type of price-fixing.

Stores in the thirty-plus states with such laws will have to charge that price or risk suits, legal expenses and fines.

So what do you suppose that the ABC store in San Diego, The Emporium in New York and the Hibernia Department Store in Pennsylvania are going to do when they find they cannot cut prices to meet the competition season. It helps promote business for the local merchants. Is that what Christmas has come to symbolize? A business boom! Has our worship of thankfulness for the remembrance of the Christ child's birth been shoved in the background to make way for the more materialistic gifts and gains Christmas has to offer?

Most people love the Christmas season because it symbolizes the birth of a Savior for mankind; because it is the season of "peace on earth" and "good will toward men." Every one looks forward to Christmas and all that goes with it: the singing of carols the church services, and the warm inner glow that seems to come on so strongly around December 25. But why should the coming joyous season be shoved in their faces before they have time to even prepare and compose themselves for Thanksgiving?

I sincerely believe that it is to our great discredit that we have to have these Christmas decorations up so early. Christmas is the finest season of the year. Why distort it for materialistic gain?

Thanksgiving Day Menu

Just in case you're interested, the Army is planning to really put on the feed bag come Thursday.

The menu for Thanksgiving Dinner at Army installations reads like a gourmet's delight, which it is, and is unconditionally guaranteed to quiet the rumbling stomachs of GIs around the world.

Our Boys in Brown, when they sit themselves down at their groaning boards, will be able to start with either shrimp cocktail or fruit cup, with crackers. After that, they'll get roast turkey with giblet gravy, bread dressing, cranberry sauce, whipped potatoes or candied yams, buttered green peas, buttered green beans, assorted crisp relishes and assorted hot rolls with butter.

For dessert, if they have room for it, the GIs can choose between pumpkin pie and mince-meat pie, and fruit cake, assorted fresh fruits, candy and nuts. Mess hall personnel plan to have ample supplies of coffee, tea and milk to wash the rest of the stuff down.

Also in case you're interested:

There are 22 curves on the back road to Farmville. That's the road (I always called it "The State Coach Road") that runs behind Pitt Memorial Hospital and through Arthur.

Incidentally, the count includes all bends, wrinkles and genuine turns in the hard surface paving. And four or five trips around them in the darkness of a cool evening is also enough to make a man think about re-enlisting.

Comment by one local Man Of The Cloth upon observing installation and placement of street decorations for the Christmas season:

"No, no, I wouldn't say they were rushing things by putting the decorations up before Thanksgiving."

"After all, July 4 has come and gone, and they can do these things with a clean conscience."

And speaking of preachers, was there a gleam in the eye of the Episcopal Bishop the other night when, in the course of a televised talk, he said, " . . . and we even have dances in our parish houses for the young people?"

Maybe there has been just too much stir about the Baptists lately . . . and the back-sliders are getting a lot of fun out of reading things into comments.

Want Ad, which is only half-serious:

Ah, me . . . Such is almost enough to make a man think about re-enlisting. On second thought, however, such meals come only once a year (by the Army's own admission), and that stuff on a shingle is rough eating on other days.

The friend of man - "Lord, I wish you wouldn't pile their troubles on me! Yeah, it's Charley and Jane again. Seems serious this time - Charley even used the word divorce. Insists I meet him tonight for couple of drinks. Thank Goodness, darling, you and I have a better understanding."

Explain It, If You Can

By SAUL PETT

NEW YORK (AP) - Among the little things in life that try a man's soul is finding the courage of a sudden conviction or, more precisely, an explanation for his wife.

For example, it is 6:16 p.m., and our hero is out of the office but still downtown enjoying some spontaneous, unplanned relaxation. He has just had two drinks with the boys and the problem now is, not whether he will have more but how to tell his wife.

He moves to the phone uncertainly.

How does he tell her? How does he break the lyric news that between the two biggest pressure groups in his life - his office and his home - he has discovered a wonderful world of limbo, in which nothing is demanded of him except the courage to linger?

Can he tell the simple truth? He cannot. Not at 6:16 p.m., when in his mind's eye he can see the roast in the oven, the kids fighting over the TV set and his wife desperate for a male bulger to blow taps in the snake pit.

So, what does he tell her? Here are some of the angles:

The paranoid career man - "Isn't it nauseating, sweetie? Eight hours a day, five days a week, the boss doesn't even say hello to me. And now, tonight, he wants to have a conference over a couple of drinks."

The self-diagnosed leper, who is saving humanity from infection - "Look, doll, the whole day has been one long ulcer. I'm in a lousy mood, horrible, just horrible. No need for you and the kids to see me this way. I think I'll stay downtown awhile and . . ."

The exclamation - mark exclamation - "You'll never guess who dropped into town! Talk about a small world! Remember the one-armed life guard up at the lake who has no nice to the kids? Well, he's in town! The least I can do is buy him a couple of . . ."

The salesman on the verge of Armageddon - "Well, honey, we did it again! The commission should run into four figures. It's all sewed up - just about. Few more drinks and I'll have old J. M. in the bag."

Low Income Of State Explained

By LYNN NISBET

LOW INCOME - Dr. Horace Hamilton, noted economist on the State College faculty, has an article in the current issue of "Research and Farming" published by the N. C. Agricultural Experiment Station, on why North Carolina is a "low income" state. Here is what Dr. Hamilton has to say about it:

ANY LEADERS in North Carolina have long been concerned about the relatively low average income of our people. The main objective of many of our agricultural, educational and social programs has been to improve the income situation in the state. Progress has been made, but North Carolina still ranks low compared with other states.

Average Earnings Near Bottom

In 1950, for example, our per capita income of $1,099 was 42nd among the states. However, in 1955 our per capita income of $1,236 ranked 44th.

Finding out why we continue to be a "low income" state was the object of this study. To get some of the answers, we have studied the relationship of per capita and median family incomes to a large number of social and economic characteristics which we thought might cause variation in income.

Six Factors Highly Related

Six variables were found to be highly related to incomes by states. Together, they account for 86 per cent of the variance in per capita income, and 88 per cent of that in median family income.

Briefly, here's how they work and how North Carolina compares with other states:

Age of Population: Low incomes are found in populations having a high percentage of children.

In 1950, only eight states had a higher percentage of children than did North Carolina. This surplus of children is remaining high because our older youth and young middle aged people are leaving the state at a fairly high rate.

Residence: Incomes are lower in those states with higher percentages of rural farm people.

We have a high percentage of rural farm people, but the long time trend is toward fewer people in agriculture.

Employment: Low incomes are found in states where a high percentage of the workers are employed in agriculture.

Again, we're high, but the trend for fewer people in agriculture should slowly change this. Also, in recent years, North Carolina's net farm income per farm has increased faster than the net farm income in the nation.

Education: Higher incomes are found in states having more people better educated.

Only one state has a lower percentage of high school graduates than does North Carolina. Only one-fifth of our adults are high school graduates, compared to more than a third for the nation. Migration of many of our better educated people has kept the level low.

Birth Rate: Incomes are lower in those states with higher birth rates.

Only nine states had higher birth rates in 1940 than did North Carolina. In 20 states were higher. Yet, because of migration, this change has not been followed by a corresponding change in age distribution.

Commercial farming: Incomes are higher in states with higher percentages of farms selling more than $2,500 worth of products annually.

North Carolina has long been a "small farm" state, but the trend is toward more larger farms.

Not Related To Industry

Strangely enough there was no significant relationship between income measures and percentage of workers employed in industry. This suggests that bringing more industry into the state may not be the answer. Unless we should get industries that pay relatively high wages and which would attract more mature, middle aged male workers they would have little effect on per capita incomes.

Almost all the variation in income is associated with social and economic conditions which cannot be changed easily or quickly. Yet they are changing some every year. As a result, our income situation is improving.

What Income Would Have Been

Per capita income in North Carolina would have been much higher if we had not been handicapped by the social and economic conditions represented by the six variables. With the same levels in each variable as the average for the Nation, our per capita income would have been $1,458 instead of $1,099, and median family income $2,968 instead of $2,121.

As basic social and economic variables in the State improve, average incomes will rise. Our big problem seems to be one of raising wage and salary levels in the occupations we now have. Bringing in new businesses and industries which pay relatively low wages will not likely improve our income levels.

The Public Forum

Dear Editor:

As I write this letter, Christmas is still nearly six weeks away; yet from the looks of the downtown district it could be day after tomorrow. Strung from one end of the district to the other are bright streamers of lights, tinsel, and cheery Christmas pictures and symbols.

Thanksgiving seems to have been lost in the rush. There have been no decorations depicting our thanks to God for the plenty we have been given. Or isn't Thanksgiving an important season any longer?

It seems to me that in the past few years people have had plenty of time for Christmas shopping and getting into the Christmas spirit without starting in the middle of November. Do we start decorating for the Fourth of July in the middle of May? From the Christmas decoration idea, it would seem to be none to early. By next week according to our local standards we should have engaged a tree, wrapped our presents, mailed our Christmas cards, hung up our stockings, and put up the Christmas wreaths on our doors!

There is a reason given for the early start on the Christmas

The Public Mandate In Virginia

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON - "Four out of every five white Virginians feel no moral obligation to comply with the Supreme Court decree (on school integration—Ed. note) and an even greater number want the State of Virginia to resist integration by every legal means."

It is evident further that this is no nominal resistance because nearly three out of four are willing to close a single school, and more than two out of every three are willing to close all schools in their community to avoid integration . . .

"Closely allied to all of this is the dramatic shift in the popularity of Eisenhower among white Virginians. Nine out of 10 disapprove his ordering Federal troops to Little Rock. Four out of every five who actually voted for him in 1956 say they would not vote for him, if he were running for re-election today."

REFLECTS SOUTHERN FEELING

ING This analysis of Old Dominion sentiment, and it is probably an accurate reflection of feeling in six or eight Southern states, possibly more, was not voiced by a racial or political demagogue. It is the calm, considered and factual statement of one of the South's most respected newspapers - the Richmond Times-Dispatch.

It is based on a poll conducted by the newspaper of its readers - the questionnaire was inserted in every 50th copy - and published two days before the gubernatorial election on Nov. 5. In that contest the advocate of "massive resistance," J. Lindsay Almond, Jr., defeated his Republican opponent, Theodore Roosevelt Dalton, by an overwhelming majority.

Dalton rolled up 45 per cent of the total vote four years earlier, an amazing figure for a GOP candidate. He got only 36 per cent on November 5.

RESULTS SIGNIFICANT In an earnest effort to awaken people in other sections, and especially Democratic politicians and presidential candidates eager to retain the so-called colored vote for 1958 and 1960, to the depth of Southern emotions on this grave issue, the Times-Dispatch continues:

"In undertaking this poll just before the election, we were well aware of the responsibility in terms of ultimate significance. Up to this time, there has been an abundance of speculation and a minimum of actual knowledge as to how white Southerners feel about integration."

"The Northern press, certain magazines, some liberal Southerners - these have been the principal interpreters of the South to the nation. Our poll, validated by actual election results, leaves no doubt that this interpretation, by and large, has been wholly inaccurate."

DEGREE OF RESISTANCE HIGH With regret rather than rancor, and this appears to be the general reaction in the South, the historic newspaper in the Capital of the Confederacy, voices this challenge:

"The degree of resistance to integration, the disillusionment with Eisenhower, the opposition to the Supreme Court decree, the willingness to carry the fight against mixed schools to the bitter end - all of these have been grossly underestimated."

"This represents no lunatic fringe, no gallus-snapping, hill-billy escapes from Tobacco Road. Here are intelligent, educated, informed Virginians confirming - with an avalanche of votes - their massive wall of resistance to school integration in any form."

"The public mandate in Virginia is unmistakable. It will be heeded by all those throughout the nation who are truly concerned with the best interests of both races, and their future together."

Speaker Criticizes Blind Commission

WINSTON-SALEM (AP) — The North Carolina State Optometric Society planned to end its three-day conference here today.

Dr. H. Ward Ewalt Jr. of Pittsburgh, Pa., discussed routine home training procedures to correct faulty vision in small children before they reach school age.

Jury Is Seated For Hoffa Trial

NEW YORK (AP) — A jury of eight men and four women has been sworn in for the wiretap conspiracy trial of James R. Hoffa.

Dr. Devere criticized parts of the program of the North Carolina Commission for the Blind. He said indigent visually handicapped patients were being denied services of optometrists by the commission's program.

"Instead of preventing blindness," Devere said, "isn't it actually being hastened in some instances when lay individuals in some welfare offices make appointments weeks ahead for commission clinics when the visually handicapped indigent applies for aid?"

He said, "We are interested in seeing welfare cases receive better care. We only want to render the same services to these people as we do to pay patients."

In Asheville, however, Judge Sam Cathey, chairman of the commission for the blind, said the commission uses ophthalmologists rather than optometrists, because the former "can do a total job."

(Ophthalmologists are eye specialists holding medical degrees.) Cathey said, "We're advised that there are many conditions they (optometrists) can't detect, such as cancer of glaucoma... We feel it takes an eye physician to do the job."

Double-Barreled Police Incentive

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Police Department had a double-barreled reason for going after an automobile thief.

The car he stole was parked right by the station house and it belonged to Patrolman John L. Shaughnessy.

Selection of four alternate jurors starts today. They will be on tap to serve in event of the death, incapacity or other disqualification of one or more of the regular jurors.

Hoffa, president-elect of the Teamsters Union, is on trial with two other men in federal court. There was difficulty in finding jurors who could declare their ability to give Hoffa a fair and impartial trial. Of the original panel of 125, only 44 remain. Many of the rejections were for prejudice.

Hoffa, of Detroit, is on trial with Owen Bernard Brennan, Plymouth, Mich., president of Teamsters Local 537, and Bernard Spindel, Holmes, N. Y., a professional wiretapper.

The three are charged with conspiring here between 1953 and 1957 to tap telephone wires of subordinates in the Teamsters' Detroit headquarters who might be witnesses in racket investigations.

Faculty Affirms Faith In Wake Forest Institution

WINSTON-SALEM (AP) — Wake Forest College's faculty yesterday afternoon adopted a resolution affirming faith in the Baptist institution here where students last week walked out of chapel in protest against a ban on campus dancing.

The faculty resolution, unprecedented in the college's history, asserted "We declare our devotion to the principle of academic freedom, the heart and soul of any academic institution, be it clerical or secular."

The anti-dancing ban was imposed by the Baptist State Convention meeting last week in Raleigh.

The faculty resolution was adopted by 91 voting "for," with eight voting "against" and three abstaining. A college spokesman said the eight voting "against" were not in opposition to the sense of the resolution, but were of the opinion that it should have been stronger.

The faculty statement: "We affirm our faith in Wake Forest College as a Christian liberal arts institution, operating within the framework of duly constituted authority. We are proud of its traditions and history of the scholastic and spiritual ideals which are its heritage and which offer its brightest promise for the future."

"Wake Forest has been a friendly democratic place where a man's social or financial standing has been subordinated to his character and individual merits. In such an atmosphere everyone has been given the opportunity of attaining his rightful measure of integrity and self realization. So must remain."

"We declare our devotion to the principle of academic freedom, the heart and soul of any educational institution, be it clerical or secular. Ours has been a campus where teacher and student alike have sought truth without fear or interference."

"We cherish the right to engage freely in thought, inquiry and publication. This principle is implicit in the historic Baptist belief in the competence and the freedom of the individual."

"While recognizing that our college, community is not perfect in any phase of its existence, we state clearly our confidence in the youth of our college and in their right to self government as it has been established in their own constitution. We support the student organizations and activities, curricular and extra curricular, which we have helped them develop."

Kim Novak And Studio Now Seeing Eye-To-Eye

By BOB THOMAS HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Kim Novak explained today she staged a sit-down strike against her studio because "I don't like to have anyone take advantage of me."

That sounds like a lot of money, but my take-home pay was around $250. Where does it go? You'd be surprised how easily it can go. And when you're well known, people think you're able to contribute more than others to charity.

All is rosy now between her and Columbia Pictures, she said. She had just talked to bossman Harry Cohn about using the studio's suite on her forthcoming trip to New York, and he was cordial. But a month ago they were at stiletto points.

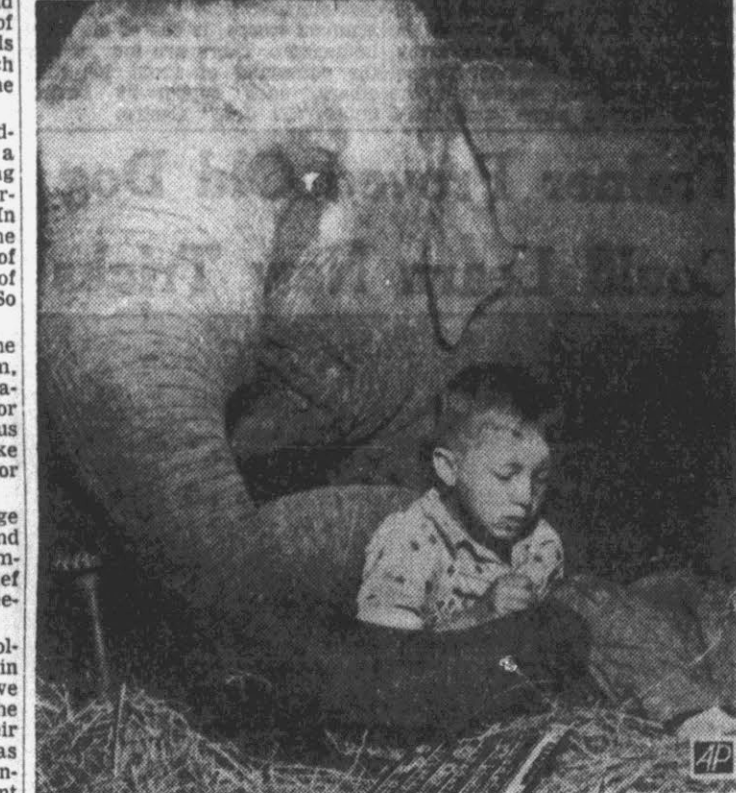

"I was unable to buy sufficient clothes for myself. When I wanted to go to a party, I'd have to go to the studio and ask to borrow a dress that Rita Hayworth had worn in a picture. I'd have to get the studio to do my hair too. They'd complain and ask why I couldn't get it done myself on my salary. Then I'd have to explain the whole thing to them."

Kim refused to report for a loan-out to Alfred Hitchcock for the James Stewart starrer, now called "Vertigo." Backed by her new agents, she demanded an adjustment in her contract. After a few weeks of name calling, she got it.

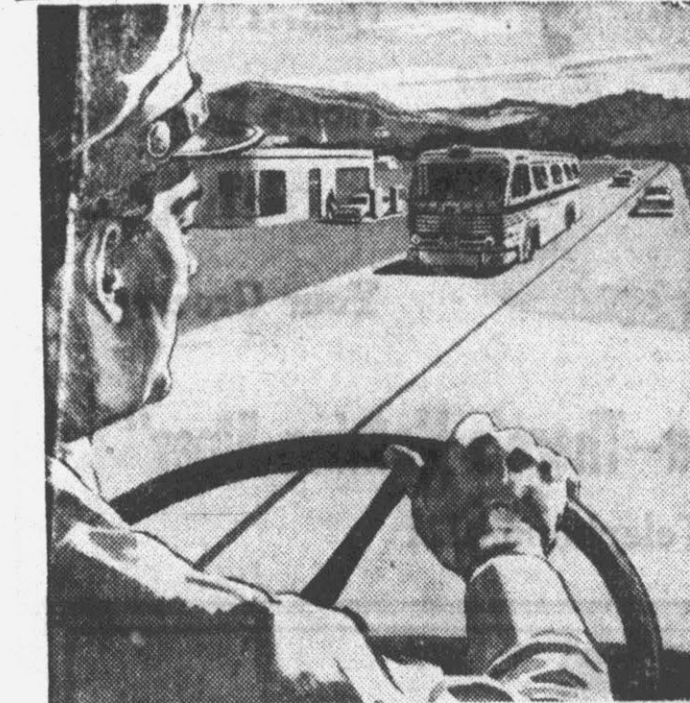

"I'm a very independent person, and I didn't like that. Also, I don't like anyone to take advantage of me. The studio was making a great deal of money off me, and I was seeing very little of it."

"After all, you work hard so you can do the things you want, such as providing things for your family. But I couldn't do that on my salary. I couldn't do a lot of things. My salary was $1,250 a week."

Kim didn't know exactly what her new salary was, but it apparently is $2,750 a week. That puts her in the 85 per cent tax bracket, she admitted, but at least she is able to buy clothes, hire a secretary and have other deductible expenses, as well as do things for her family.

Six Golf Course Trespass Cases To Be Retried

GREENSBORO (AP) — Six Negro men, whose convictions for trespassing on a white golf course here were overturned by the State Supreme Court, will get a new trial Monday in Guilford Superior Court.

The defendants earlier had been sentenced to 30 days in jail each. The case stemmed from their use of Greensboro-owned Gillespie Park Golf Course, no longer in operation, but previously designated for use by whites.

The Supreme Court threw out the conviction on the grounds that the arrest warrants had been amended between the time of the arrests and the trial. Subsequent to the high court's ruling, a grand jury indicted the men anew.

The golf course was ordered opened to all races by the U.S. 4th Circuit Court of Appeals last summer, but the course's clubhouse burned after the ruling and the city decided to close the course.

Tips On Christmas Mail Proffered By Postmaster

Greenville Postmaster J. Knott today outlined 10 basic pointers for local residents who plan to send Christmas cards and gifts through the mail during the coming holidays. The 10 pointers, issued in order that the mailer might be assured of prompt and safe delivery of his or her cards and gifts, are:

- 1. Address mail fully and clearly. Write legibly or print plainly and always use zone numbers in the address and return address. Avoid abbreviations since this may lead to confusion.

The best times to avoid crowds at stamp windows in most post offices are before 10 a.m. and between 1:30 and 3:30 p.m.

Used 6-Year-Old In Shoplifting

GREENSBORO (AP) — Calling the case a present-day Fagin incident, Judge William M. Poteat yesterday gave a couple six-month prison sentences for using their 6-year-old son in a shoplifting.

- 2. Use the 3-cent letter rate on cards and letters. Be certain a return address is printed in the upper left hand corner of both Christmas cards and parcels. This will prevent any undelivered mail ending up in a dead letter office.

Every postal employee is happy to answer questions on postal rules and regulations. Anyone with problems about mailing his Christmas parcels should avail himself of the opportunity of discussing the problems with postal employees, and take advantage of their experience.

The pair denied they had trained the child to sneak merchandise. They testified that they were planning to write a check for the $10.51 worth of goods found in the woman's shopping bag at a drug-store last Saturday.

- 3. Do not enclose coins or hard objects of any kind in letters. Cancellation machines cannot process such letters and often damage the letter and contents.

For added convenience, Proctor stated that free pamphlets entitled, "Post Office Department Publication No. 3" contains rates of postage and limits of size and weight for domestic mail. In addition another pamphlet entitled "Packaging and Wrapping Parcels For Mailing" is also available.

But Juvenile Division officers quoted the youngster as saying he picked up items on the woman's instructions.

- 4. Do not mail money in Christmas gifts or letters. For safety's sake, use postal money orders or checks.

The local Postmaster further emphasized how important it is to start planning now to shop early and mail early for Christmas.

The child identified the two as: His mother, Mrs. Reta Robinson, 35, of Pomona, and his stepfather, John R. Robinson, 44.

- 5. Separate your letters to "local" and "out-of-town." This will speed all the mail and relieve much of congestion in post offices.

Fear 18 Miners Die In Mishap

YAWATA, Japan (AP) — Eighteen miners were feared dead today after an accident at the Higashi Nakazuru coal mine near here.

The boy was held for the Domestic Relations Court. Fagin is a character in Charles Dickens' "Oliver Twist," who trained young boys to steal for him.

- 6. Make certain that parcels are well packed and securely wrapped in strong containers. Cushioning materials, such as excelsior, shredded newspapers or tissue paper should be evenly and firmly placed on all sides of the Christmas gift. The carton should be wrapped in heavy paper and securely tied with strong twine.

Police said the wall of the mine gave way when dynamite was touched off and water flooded the level. Police said 25 miners were working when the accident happened and seven escaped unharmed. Rescuers rushed to the scene.

Auto Trip To Moscow Is No Tourist's Dream

CHICAGO, Ill. — Although Russia may be the first to offer to tourists a trip to the moon, a simple ride to Moscow by automobile is as yet no tourist's dream trip! In the December issue of Popular Mechanics Magazine, David Scott tells how his recent drive across the lonely roads from the Polish-Russian border to Moscow was a trying, often hazardous experience.

Scott saw few passenger cars on the highways he traveled. The traffic consisted mostly of gas-engine, four-ton trucks which took a terrific beating from the tortuous roads, not to mention the huge loads they carried. Rural traffic was mainly creaking, horse-drawn wagons—a paradox when one considers Russia's space-flying Sputniks and jet airliners in regular service.

Although the main boulevards in the larger cities were broad, well-surfaced, and in good repair, side streets were cobbled affairs full of bumps and mudholes. The main highway to Moscow was for the most part a good road, but side roads were muddy lanes.

From a tourist's point of view, automobile travel in Russia is not always comfortable and pleasant. From Brest to Moscow, a distance of 635 miles, there were only 14 towns and six filling stations to break the monotony of driving across the broad, flat countryside. Scott's hotel room in Brest was fitted out in old-fashioned luxury, but the plumbing was a dingy, exposed, cold-water system.

Because traffic on the highways was so sparse, Russian peasants often used the roads for other purposes. Grain was spread on the asphalt to dry in the sun, and the shaft was blown away by the wake of the few passing vehicles. Sometimes even small threshing machines were parked and running on the road.

Driving at night was a real hazard, according to Scott. Signs were inadequate, and the few reflecting signs were aimed at the wrong angle to catch oncoming headlights. Slow-moving farm wagons had no warning lights, and even a section of the road under repair was unmarked and unlighted.

Tito Believed Revising Gov't

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — P. sident Tito, 66 and ailing with lumbago, was reported today preparing to revamp Yugoslavia's government and party lineups in a move to lighten his own work load.

Informed Belgrade sources said he plans to make Edvard Kardelj the leader of the Yugoslav government and Aleksandar Rankovic the leader of the Yugoslav Communist party.

Kardelj and Rankovic, two of Tito's closest collaborators, are now vice presidents.

The sources indicated Kardelj would become sort of a prime minister, with Tito retaining the post of president.

Rankovic, according to the sources, would take over the job of Communist party secretary general, now held by Tito.

Main purpose would be to take day-to-day routine work off the ailing Tito's shoulders. But he would still have a decisive say on top-level matters, the sources said.

They emphasized that Tito himself planned the changes and proposed them to the Communist party Central Committee, which reportedly has been examining them at closed meetings over the past several months.

Yugoslavia's Communist party is due to hold its next congress in the spring of 1958. It is considered possible the changes will be announced then.

Farm Agent Says Wet Peanuts Not Wanted

Farmers need to leave their peanuts in the stacks until dry weather to allow them to cure properly.

Farm Agent S. C. Winchester said, "The peanut millers want peanuts but following last year's experience with wet peanuts and with the same weather situation this year they are not buying."

"Many of our growers are picking peanuts with the ground sap still in them but they won't mill because it gums up the equipment."

Winchester said that if farmers continue to pick peanuts while they are damp they will rot instead of drying properly.

"That is reacting unfavorably to the farmers because they are being penalized $1.50 to $3.00 per bag because of the bad condition," he said.

He said he knew of one occasion in which a farmer is selling peanuts for four cents per pound. If he had left them in the stacks until they dried properly "they would have been 12 cents peanuts."

The farm agent said farmers should wait until the wet period has ended and then wait a sufficient period of time during dry weather until the peanuts are down to about eight per cent moisture content.

To make certain of the moisture content Winchester said it might be desirable to handpick a few peanuts and take them to a buying station where moisture content tests can be run.

The precautions could mean more profit to the farmer, he said.

"If he has to take a $3 per hundred penalty when he sells he loses that much profit on the operation," he declared.

It Costs Castro To Run His Revolution

HAVANA, Cuba (AP) — It takes money to run a war, even the small-scale one that rebel leader Fidel Castro wages from the Sierra Maestra Mountains against government forces in easternmost Oriente Province.

But that's no problem. He is probably one of the world's richest rebels.

He is the son of a wealthy sugar cane plantation owner, but that doesn't begin to tell the story.

Throughout the length and breadth of this Caribbean island republic, civic resistance movements opposed to the government of President Fulgencio Batista, are at work.

They collect each month around $100,000 to be secretly delivered to Castro to buy what he needs to run his guerrilla army, now estimated at 600 men. A rebel source said Cuban workers in the city of Havana alone contributed more than $7,000 in October.

Castro gets most of the arms and ammunition he needs capturing them in raids on lightly-manned posts. But he also is in position to pay gun-runners handsome sums to bring in arms shipments from Mexico, for example, or elsewhere in the Caribbean, or even from the United States.

As for provisioning his fighting men, that just isn't any problem at all. He depends upon the farmers of Oriente province, who are paid in cash for beans, codfish, rice, canned milk, bread and cigarettes. He pays in cash.

A bearded six-footer, Castro seems to enjoy unbounded loyalty from his men. His brother Raul Castro, who was wounded last summer in a clash with government troops, is one of his chief lieutenants. There are four or five other "El Jefe" Castro.

Trainer Proved Old Dog Could Learn New Tricks

BENSON AND BROGAN: New tricks for an old shoe.

By EDWARD S. KITCH

CHICAGO (AP) — Trainer Orin Benson is proving you can teach an old dog new tricks.

His pride and joy is an outlaw 200-pound St. Bernard he has taught to do small dog parlor stunts.

The dog's American Kennel Club registration papers call him Prince Valiant but the trainer has named him Brogan.

"You know," says Benson "that's an old shoe that's been kicked around."

Brogan's early dog life in a small Minnesota town left much to be desired. He had a kindly, aged owner, but he was unmanageable. He was a bum and a fighter.

"It's hard to say how many dogs he's killed. He challenged anything to a fight. He even challenged me, but I won," Benson said.

Benson, who rehabilitated K-9 dogs after World War II, met Brogan through a hunting companion four years ago. He took him home for training.

Today Brogan is about to return to his blue-blood status because he's become a gentleman. He'll sit up, shake hands, heel, salute and balance on a low bar. He has mastered 15 commands.

Urge Enlarging Of Mount Olive Junior College

MOUNT OLIVE — A resolution calling for a special session of the North Carolina State Convention of Free Will Baptist churches to consider improving and enlarging Mount Olive Junior College was unanimously approved last week by a group of denominational officers who met at the College at the call of the Reverend N. Bruce Barrow of Lucama, president of the Convention.

The Executive Committee of the Convention will meet at the College on December 10 to consider the resolution for the special session, and if the Committee endorses the resolution, the Convention will be called to meet at the College probably in January, the Reverend Mr. Barrow announced.

The resolution calling for an extra session of the Convention came after the Reverend W. Burkette Raper, president of the College, made a report on the approval given Mount Olive Junior College by the North Carolina College Conference and the State Department of Education earlier this month.

"The recent approval given Mount Olive Junior College and the expectation of accreditation in 1958 has opened new doors of opportunity for us," President Raper declared, "and we must fully impress upon our people the unique opportunity we have to contribute to the cause of higher Christian education in eastern North Carolina."

The Free Will Baptist denomination, which sponsors Mount Olive Junior College, has today more than 500 college students in North Carolina and by 1970 this number will be increased to 1,000, Mr. Raper added. Furthermore, North Carolina is the only state in the Free Will Baptist denomination that sponsors a liberal arts college, and on the strength of this Mr. Raper expressed the belief that Free Will Baptist students from other states will begin to enroll here in increasing numbers.

Negro couples receiving licenses included Isaac Moore and Kathleen Brown, both of Greenville; A. J. Simms and Ada Gray Turnage, both of Farmville; and James H. Rouse, Goldsboro, and Rosa Mae Quinerly, Ayden.

Visualize Far North As Future Settlement Area

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Will the far northern areas of the world, uninhabited by man, provide a living area someday for part of the world's expanding population?

It may be 20 years — perhaps 50 — before the full value of a study underway at the University of Wisconsin is realized. The project, known as "High Latitude Frontier Settlement," seeks to discover future development potentialities of northern areas, primarily above the Arctic Circle.

Prof. Kirk Stone is directing studies of the northern sections of Norway, Sweden, Finland and Alaska. He will lead three research teams in field work.

"We recognize that only a relatively small percentage of the world's population is apt to move to far northern lands," Stone said, "but these are of great strategic importance, and extremely significant to the entire free world in both war and peace."

Cold Weather Prevailing Over Most Of Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Cold weather prevailed over most of the nation early today with the Eastern Seaboard registering sharp temperature drops as cold Canadian air seeped southward to central Florida.

From Maine southward along the Atlantic Coast, colder weather was recorded at most points. Tallahassee, Fla., went from 70 degrees at midnight Sunday to 47 degrees. At Tampa, the chilly air caused a 10-degree temperature drop.

The cold air along the Eastern Seaboard came from an air mass from northwest Canada which Weather Bureau expert said was three days in moving across the country.

The Great Lakes, with many readings below 20, was the coldest section of the nation.

BAT IN LEGISLATURE

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — A bat in the balcony upset legislative decorum in the Texas House of Representatives. "The sergeant-at-arms is authorized to remove the bat," Speaker Waggoner Carr solemnly intoned. It dipped and dived for 20 minutes until an alert youth in the balcony caught it with a net.

Appear Fail To Mend Rift French, British Premiers

PARIS (AP)—British Prime Minister Macmillan and French Premier Felix Gaillard ended their two days of talks today but apparently did not succeed in smoothing over completely the basic differences that brought them together.

The two leaders were anxious to remove a thorn in the NATO Alliance — the British-American supply of small arms to Tunisia which the French fear will wind up in the hands of Algerian rebels.

A communique said the two premiers agreed "that responsibility for a solution of the Algerian question lies with France."

But a spokesman said this did not mean Britain would not deliver any more arms to Tunisia. The communique by recording the premiers' conviction that "France should continue to discharge her special responsibilities in North Africa where she has traditionally a leading position" was placating to this country.

A spokesman added that no special new machinery had been set up for consultation.

The communique announced that the two ministers also agreed there should be a more precise definition of interdependence and solidarity among the NATO allies "in accordance with the spirit of equality" at the NATO summit meeting here in mid-December.

This was a reference to French fears that plans for pooling resources and knowledge to meet the threat of Soviet missiles and satellites and give to Britain and the United States predominance in nuclear power and assign inferior roles to the other members.

Standing with Gaillard in the Hotel Matignon, where the talks ended, he told newsmen: "I think we have made great progress. But of course there are a number of problems for the future."

Both were almost stony faced. Macmillan made his statement in French and refused to repeat it in English.

Gaillard is to make a report on the talks later to the National Assembly.

At the top of the list of touchy topics they discussed was the recent shipment of British and U.S. arms to Tunisia over angry French protests. The protests exploded yesterday in demonstrations near the U.S. Embassy by about 300 youths. Police broke up the group without trouble.

French anger at the arms shipments — because they fear the guns will be used by Algerian rebels — again turned attention to the three-year-old rebellion in North Africa.

Public sentiment in France would hardly be satisfied with anything short of complete backing for the country's position in North Africa. Complete backing is something that Britain and the United States have not been willing to extend to changing French governments in the face of Arab demands for independence.

French sources indicated that advisers of the two national leaders were weighing Britain's refusal to give Gaillard a pledge on future arms ships.

French informants also said the British reiterated that they had no intention of forming an

Author Peter B. Kyne Dies

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Peter B. Kyne, who wrote rollicking best sellers of big business dealings in ships and timber, died yesterday at the Ft. Miley Veterans Administration Hospital here. He was 77.

Kyne's best known fictional character was Cappy Ricks, whose prototype was reputed to be the last Capt. Robert Dollar. Dollar founded the steamship line now operating as American President Lines.

After producing 12 straight best selling novels, Kyne said he had financed more bums and had more fun than any contemporary writer. He turned to writing in 1909 after a morning newspaper he and two friends started lasted just four months.

Damages, No Injuries In City Traffic Crashes

No personal injury was sustained in a traffic mishap at the corner of Fifth and Nash Sts. this morning.

Involved in collision were Mrs. Helen McGinnis Hadley of 2607 S. Dickinson Ave. and Wilbur Earl Hardee of Grimesland Rt. 1. Hardee was charged with failure to give a proper signal.

Investigating officers stated Mrs. Hadley's automobile crashed into the rear of a one and one-half ton truck operated by Hardee. The truck, they stated, had stopped in line of traffic.

Damage to the Hadley car was estimated at $225. There was no damage to the truck.

Total damages to two automobiles involved in an accident late yesterday morning has been estimated at $450 by investigating officers.

The collision took place at the intersection of 10th and Lawrence Sts. Mrs. Rebecca Gunn Gooding of 1021 Wright Rd. and Miss Nancy H. Harris of 1006 Lawrence St. were identified as the drivers involved.

Officers estimated damages to the Harris vehicle a $300. Damages to Mrs. Gooding's car were fixed at $150. There were no injuries.

No traffic violations were cited. John Allen Parsons of Greenville Rt. 2 was charged with failure to yield the right of way in an accident shortly after noon yesterday.

Parsons, operating a 1951 automobile, reportedly collided into another automobile driven by Wesley Garfield of Grimesland Rt. 1. Neither driver sustained personal injury.

Damage to each of the two vehicles was estimated to be $200. The accident occurred at the intersection of Ninth and Evans Sts.

Puts Priority On Making Arrests In Dynamitings

GAFFNEY, S.C. (AP)—State Sen. George McKown of Cherokee County, scene of recent dynamite and cross burning incidents, says it is "more important right now to catch those responsible for these actions" than to "think about new legislation."

McKown's statement to the Associated Press came after Solicitor J. Allen Lambright of Spartanburg urged passage of stiffer legislation against terrorists.

Two dynamite blasts were recorded last week in and near this Cherokee County seat.

One rocked the home of a white woman, Mrs. Julia Sanderson, who had publicly called for gradual school integration.

The other dynamite charge was set off in the front yard of a 55-year-old Cowpens Negro, Lewis Ford. No one was injured.

A cross later was burned at the home of Gaffney City Councilman Paul Guthrie after the council had agreed to post a $500 reward for the capture of the dynamite setters. There also were four cross burning incidents in Spartanburg County.

Lambright said the 1958 General Assembly should take "appropriate" steps to strengthen what he called the present inadequate laws covering such terror tactics.

McKown said he was "unfamiliar with the statutes and their penalties."

"But no laws are of any value," he added, "unless you catch the offenders and bring them to justice."

The legislator said he regretted the dynamite attacks. "Such incidents are bad anytime and anywhere, no matter what the circumstances."

Lambright recommended a maximum penalty of five years for cross burners. The law now calls for a fine up to $500 or a year in jail for burning a cross on public property or private property without the owner's consent.

The solicitor said home dynamiters currently can be prosecuted under a statute on assault with intent to kill. A 10-year prison term is the maximum penalty.

CARLSBAD, N. M. (AP)—City police here today were in a foul mood because Sam Jenkins was in a fowl mood.

Jenkins released 33 turkeys from the roof of his furniture store and the public was invited to catch them. Attached to the turkeys' legs were coupons entitling the turkey napper to discounts in Jenkin's store.

Police took a dim view of the resulting confusion and traffic jams and charged Jenkins with causing a public disturbance.

Jenkins pleaded innocent and said he planned to release 33 more birds today and again tomorrow.

Raid Racketeers In Plush Homes

MINOOLA, N.Y. — In early morning hours today squads of Nassau County police flushed racketeers from their homes in plush surroundings among Long Island commuters.

Dist. Atty. Frank Gulotta carried on his campaign of harassment against crime big shots, past and present, living in his area.

Fifteen residences were raided today and the seven men found at home were taken to headquarters here and released after questioning.

Among those picked up, authorities said, were Lorenzo Brescia, of Atlantic Beach, a former bodyguard for Charles (Lucky) Luciano, deported vice czar; Benjamin Levine, also of Atlantic Beach.

Levine was identified by the district attorney's office as having been indicted with the late Louis (Lepke) Buchalter and Irving (Gurrah) Shapiro in 1937 on extortion in the New York City garment industry.

Also questioned was Anthony (Little Augie Pisano) Carfano, of Atlantic Beach. He has been a close friend of racketeer Frank Costello for some 20 years and reportedly was a top lieutenant for Al Capone in the prohibition era.

Solves Weekend Drinking Problem

MEADVILLE, Pa. (AP)—Sam A. McMillan, 57, of Meadville, won't have to worry about drinking on weekends for at least the next 10 weeks.

When he pleaded guilty to a drunken driving charge in Crawford County Court yesterday, he told Judge Herbert A. Mook that he drinks only on weekends. He added that it would work a financial hardship on his family if he were sent to jail.

Judge Mook solved McMillan's drinking and financial problems. The judge told McMillan he may remain free on weekends but must serve the next 10 weekends in jail from 6:30 p.m. Fridays to 6:30 a.m. Mondays.

Plan Eisenhower Library Project

ABILENE, Kan. (AP)—Preliminary arrangements have been completed for a nationwide campaign for three million dollars to build an Eisenhower library here in the President's home town.

Gov. George Docking and Harry Darby, former U.S. senator from Kansas, announced construction probably will start next year. The library will be across the street from the present Eisenhower Museum. The house where the Eisenhower family lived when Ike was a boy also is maintained as a national shrine in Abilene.

Docking and Darby, chairmen of the library commission, announced Benjamin F. Fairless, president of the American Iron and Steel Institute and former president of U.S. Steel, will be chairman of the executive committee for the campaign. Ellison E. Ketchum of Miami, Fla., public relations consultant, will be campaign director.

Eisenhower's official papers already are being sorted and indexed for installation in the library.

Alonzo Edwards Named To Succeed R. Flake Shaw

RALEIGH (AP)—Alonzo C. Edwards of Hookerton, a farmer and former legislator, has been named to succeed the late R. Flake Shaw as executive vice president of the North Carolina Farm Bureau Federation.

He was elected yesterday by the Farm Bureau's Board of Directors. The action was later confirmed by some 240 voting delegates attending a policy conference of the organization.

Edwards, 53, chairman of the board of Tobacco Associates Inc., will fill out Shaw's unexpired term which ends when the annual state convention is held here in mid-February. However, it is likely that Edwards will be elected to a full term then since the voting delegates are the same ones who confirmed his election by the board.

A Farm Bureau member since 1936, Edwards has served two terms as state president of the organization. He has been president of the Greene County unit for six years. In 1956, he was an unsuccessful candidate for lieutenant governor.

In other actions yesterday, the delegates approved several changes in State Farm Bureau policies and named delegates to the national convention in Chicago Dec. 8-12.

The called for an "aggressive public relations program" for agriculture and recommended that the American Farm Bureau take the lead in trying to reconcile policy differences among national farm organizations. They also requested that measurement tolerances on tobacco be set at 0.65 acre (at present there is no tolerance), and that in case of disputed acreage, a licensed surveyor be brought in to settle the difference. The result would be binding on the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Corp. and the farmer.

The delegates voted to oppose poultry quotas, called for further study of cotton problems, asked that federal crop insurance be extended to all countries and loss payments increased, and favored continuation of the soil bank acreage reserve, with a limit on payments of $3,000 a farm. They urged that fruit and nut land required from production be made eligible for the soil bank.

Wetzel Removal Hearing Set Today

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Federal authorities scheduled a removal hearing today for Frank Edward Wetzel, wanted in connection with the slaying of two North Carolina highway patrolmen Nov. 5.

Wetzel, 36-year-old escapee from a New York mental institution, had indicated he would waive removal proceedings when taken before a federal judge today.

Police arrested Wetzel in nearby Bakersfield, Calif., on a vagrancy charge. He was serving 30 days when, on Nov. 21, a check of fingerprints identified him.

FBI agents put out a nationwide alert for Wetzel when they identified his fingerprints in a car abandoned in Chattanooga, Tenn., after eluding North Carolina's largest road manhunt in 20 years.

A Negro hitchhiker, Robert Terry of Norman, N.C., who saw the pistol slaying of patrolman Wister Lee Reece, 39, near Ellerbe, N.C., identified the car.

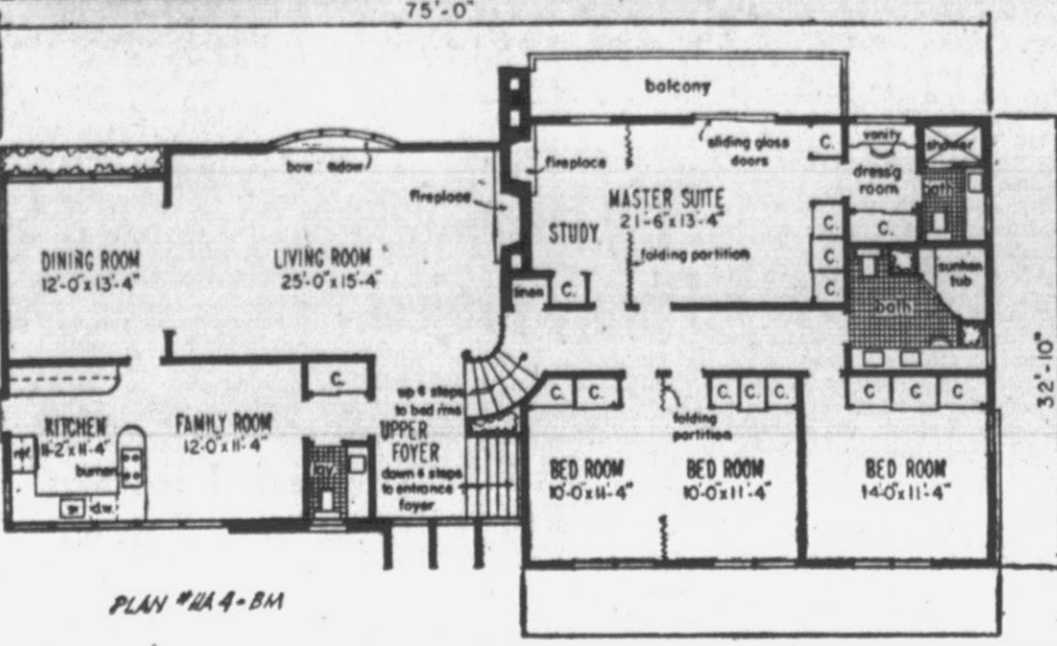

The shooting occurred about 8 p.m. after Reece stopped the car for speeding. Terry said he fled when the driver took a pistol from the glove compartment and walked back to meet the trooper.

About an hour later, near Sanford, about 50 miles from the site of the first slaying, patrolman J. T. Brown, 36, stopped the car and received a fatal stomach wound. He died at a hospital about two hours later.

North Carolina warrants charge Wetzel with those slayings. North Carolina authorities have indicated Wetzel would be tried first, probably during the court term beginning Jan. 6 at Rockingham, N.C., on the warrant concerning Reece's slaying.

M. P. Chiles, special agent in charge of the Charlotte, N.C., FBI office, said last night that U.S. marshals in California likely would return Wetzel to North Carolina, turn him over to federal authorities there, who would turn him over to state authorities.

Dulles Pinch-Hits For Ike In Talk With Visiting King

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles arranged to substitute for an ailing President Eisenhower today in reviewing North African problems with Morocco's visiting King Mohammed V.

Dulles moved in as a last-minute replacement after an illness the White House described as "a chill" caused Eisenhower's doctors to order him to bed late yesterday.

In a dinner toast last night, Vice President Nixon lauded the 46-year-old Moroccan ruler as "a great statesman" for his efforts to turn his nation into a bridge between the Arab countries and Europe.

On behalf of Eisenhower, Nixon presented the Legion of Merit to the Moroccan King and read Eisenhower's citation, which said of Mohammed: "No friend of the United States has shown himself more dedicated to the perpetuation of peace, and more perceptive of the necessity of safeguarding the ideals of all peaceful nations."

The King responded that his state visit and conferences "will further strengthen confidence and respect between our two peoples and open the way to a close and fruitful cooperation."

The Mohammed-Dulles talks seemed likely to focus mainly on three issues—the future of five American military bases in Morocco, the amount of American aid and the King's hopes of ending the battle between French forces and Algerian rebels.

Top American authorities were reported confident that during his three-day stay the King would give solid assurances of continuing long-term leases on the U. S. bases originally negotiated with France in 1950.

In return, Mohammed was expected to press for stepped-up American economic aid, and possibly military assistance, to back up the help the French government has pledged for his newly independent land.

He was understood to be eager to win American assurances that technical as well as development assistance would be substantially increased over the 20-million-dollar level maintained last year.

Marine Cleared Of Maltreatment

YOKOSUKA, Japan (AP)—A U.S. Navy court-martial today found Alabama Marine Sgt. Tommy G. Flint innocent of charges of cruelty to U.S. prisoners in a Navy brig.

A five-man officers' board cleared Flint, 23, of Silas, Ala., of four counts of maltreatment after the accused Leatherneck admitted yesterday he roughed up two sailors and a fellow Marine "to try to run a better brig."

Flint, former warden at the Sasebo naval jail in south Japan, was one of 16 Marine ex-guards charged with maltreatment and facing court-martial. He told the court roughing up inmates was standard brig policy.

The court gave no explanation of its verdict or how Flint's acknowledgment of rough treatment was considered in the decision. The court-martial officer, Marine Lt. Col. John P. Newlands, Los Angeles, declined to comment.

Flint had testified the brig officer, Capt. Milton C. Kramer, Harvey, Ill., was aware of the situa-

Southern Demo Senators Will Get Chance To Vote On White

WASHINGTON (AP)—Southern Democratic senators were assigned today an opportunity to vote on President Eisenhower's choice of Asst. Atty. Gen. W. Wilson White to head the new Civil Rights Division in the Justice Department.

The White House announced that Eisenhower will give White a recess appointment to the new post. White, 51, now is in charge of legal counseling for the department. He told newsmen he might be sworn in for the new job next week.

Anne Wheaton, associate presidential news secretary, said White will resign from his present position and that he will be nominated formally for the new post when Congress reconvenes in January.

This scotched speculation that since White already had been confirmed as an assistant attorney general, Eisenhower might shift him to the new job without sending a nomination to the Senate.

Such speculation brought an angry protest during the weekend from Sen. Thurmond (D-SC) who staged a record one-man filibuster in an unsuccessful effort to block passage of the civil rights bill in the last Senate session.

Mrs. Wheaton said both Eisenhower and White felt the appointment should be considered by the Senate because of the importance of the job.

Nominations of this sort are handled by the Senate Judiciary Committee, headed by Sen. Eastland (D-Miss), an avowed foe of civil rights legislation.

There have been reports that White had a hand in the legal work leading up to Eisenhower's moves in the integration dispute at Little Rock, Ark. Southerners have strongly criticized Eisenhower's action in sending federal troops to Little Rock to enforce court-ordered racial integration in that city's Central High School.

Questioned by newsmen about his basic philosophy on civil rights, White told newsmen he does not think "it would be proper to go into this at this time," adding: "I think the Senate Judiciary Committee has the right to ask the questions and get the answers first."

White said Budget Bureau plans for the new Civil Rights Division provide for a starting force of about 60 persons, half of them lawyers.

Kinston Police Hunting Rapist

KINSTON, N.C. (AP)—Kinston police continued a hunt today for two youths, one of whom allegedly raped an 18-year-old girl while his buddy drove her car.

"We hope to make an arrest shortly," said Detective Capt. W. S. Kennedy. The victim, Shirley Waters, was admitted to Lenoir County Memorial Hospital Sunday night after the incident.

Kennedy said the girl told him she was driving to her room from the hospital, where she had visited her father, when she stopped for a red light.

She said a youth, about 20, walked up to her car, got inside and brandished a pistol, saying "Play it cool." He forced her to pick up his buddy, then drive out on the Kinston-Ft. Barnhill Highway, the officer added.

Kennedy said the armed youth forced the girl to get in the back of the car, where he attacked her, while his buddy drove.

Pirates Usher In Basketball Season With 107-68 Win

CURRY DRIVES—East Carolina ballplayers and Pfeiffer defenders charge in for rebounds in last night's non-loop game at Memorial gym, as Pirate Jessell Curry (21) goes up for a shot. Moving in toward the basket is ECC's Harold Ingram (12) and Don Smith (19). The Bucs' 107-68 victory was the 55th win for ECC in Memorial Gymnasium against only six defeats in the past six years. Buc Cagers 'Hot' In Pfeiffer Game

East Carolina ushered in the 1957-58 basketball season last night by scoring a smashing—and surprising—107-68 non-conference victory over Pfeiffer, at Memorial Gymnasium.

The Bucs, crippled and supposedly ailing from the loss of several key players, showed no signs of it as they ripped the cords for 100 points with three minutes still left in the game.

The victory was the 55th win in Memorial Gymnasium against six losses for Coach Howard Porter's Pirates since it was erected six years ago.

Jessell Curry, a 5-11 sophomore transfer guard from the University of Kentucky, playing his first ball game in a Pirate uniform, stole the point-making show with 25. Ike Riddick, another soph guard and a former All-Stater at Greenville high school, followed in second place with 17 points.

Center Guy Mendenhall, who also contributed as a play-maker and rebounder, threw in 16 points. Joe Plaster, 6-8, and starting forward Harold Ingram combined with Mendenhall to control the backboards throughout the game.

48-39 At The Half
Fans at the game expected to see an offensive change in the brand of ball the Pirates would use. Coach Porter, who has employed the fast-break style successfully ever since he began at ECC, announced earlier this week that his system would look different against Pfeiffer, that there had been some changes made.

The changes weren't apparent. From the beginning, the starting crew of Curry, Riddick, Mendenhall, Ingram, and Don Smith broke for a fast lead and had it pushed to 48-39 by halftime. The team showed an equal ability to hit from outside as well as in close. Every man on the club notched some points by driving in as well as from their set positions.

Riddick and Curry kept a steady barrage of shots coming from beyond the foul circle—hitting close to 50 percent of them. The two guards were also the most successful drive artists of the quintet. Mendenhall, Smith and Ingram worked the corners and the center circle, using hooks, jump shots and tap-ins effectively. Joe Plaster also grabbed his share of points from in close.

Ran Away
As the third period wore away the Pirates ran away with the dizzy Pfeiffer team that had edged Atlantic Christian 90-89 the night before. With Plaster, Ingram and Mendenhall grabbing everything in sight from the Pfeiffer backboard and relaying the ball quickly downcourt, the Bucs kept a steady stream of points coming before the visitors could set up any kind of defense.

In the waning minutes of the third period, East Carolina had a decisive spread of 32 points, leading the visiting Gold and Black team, 86-54. Pfeiffer never managed to narrow the breach and when the Bucs hit the century mark they forged still further ahead.

The final 107-68 score wound up the game with East Carolina taking a 39-point victory margin.

Strong Bench
Coach Porter, whose club has lost eight important players since last year, unveiled a strong bench—at least for last night. The Fox substituted constantly, using every man on his squad, and the subs managed to keep the decisive lead intact. Seeing action were Connie Hoffman, Wallace Lewis, Marvin Gregory, Jimmy Hall, Dennis O'Brien, and Craig Reed. They all scored.

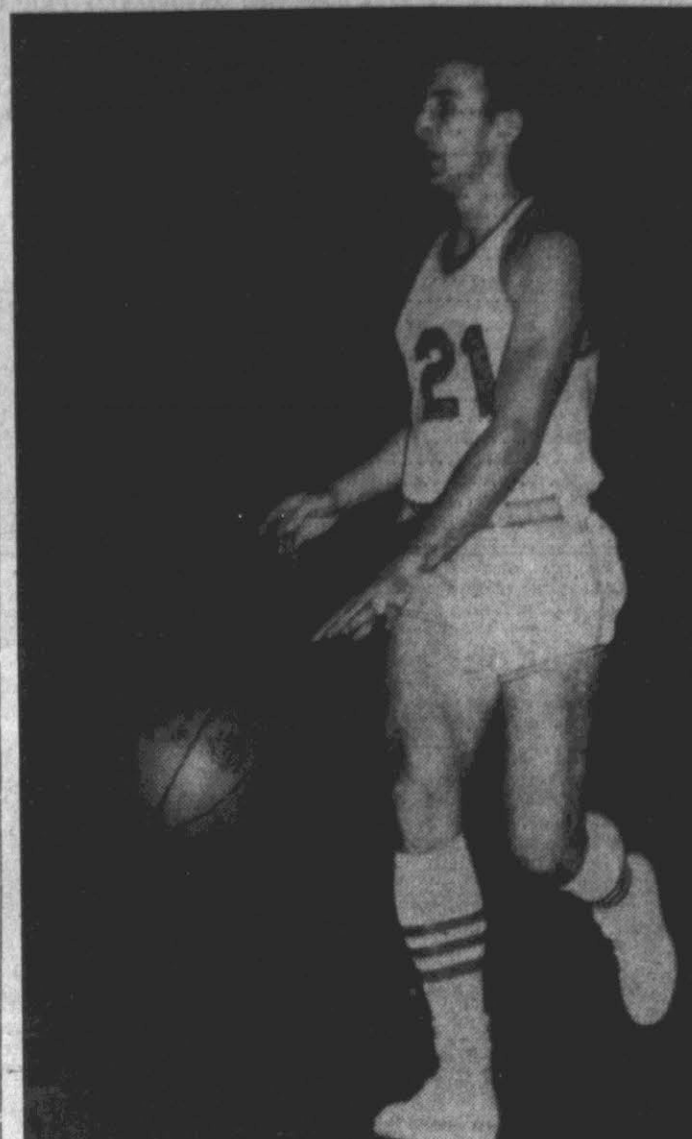

On November 30, the Pirates take their show to Guilford to engage in a North State Conference match against the Quakers. It will be the first loop game of the season.

Expected to be back with the team for that tilt, will be guard Charlie Adams and forward Marion Hales, who missed last night's fray due to bad ankle injuries sustained this week in practice.

Miteff Anxious To Avenge Loss

NEW YORK (AP)—"D-Day" can't come soon enough for Alex Miteff. In the case of the strapping Argentine heavyweight, the "D" means DeJohn, first name Mike.

There was talk today of a return fight between Miteff and DeJohn for Miami in February following Alex's third round technical knockout of pudgy, ring-rusty Tony Gagliardo at St. Nicholas Arena last night.

DeJohn is the tall Syracuse, N.Y., heavyweight who handed Alex his only pro defeat by knocking him out in 77 seconds at Syracuse last Oct. 9.

The 6-2 Argentine may get his return with big Mike providing he gets by his next two opponents, possibly Crowe Peele of Baton Rouge at St. Nicholas Dec. 9 and hulking Nino Valdes in Denver, Jan. 7.

Miteff's TKO of Gagliardo, a one-day sub for injured Lennie Kanthal of Washington, was his second straight since he was belted out by DeJohn. The 22-year-old South American's record now is 14-1, including nine kayos.

Gagliardo, a weeping loser, now has a 7-7-3 record.

Cross-Country Mile Record

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Max Truex, formerly from Warsaw, Ind., and now running for the University of Southern California, returned to his native Midwest yesterday to sprint the four mile NCAA cross country course here in a record-shattering 19:12.3.

His time clipped better than 24 seconds from the former meet record of 19:36.7, set by Charles Capozzolo of Georgetown in 1952. It also wiped out the old course record of 19:28.3 by Henry Kennedy of MSU in 1955.

Two GHS Gridders Named To All-Conference Eleven

Two Greenville football players were named to the All-Northeastern Conference grid squad, selected last night by the coaches of the loop.

Albert Crawford, a 165-pound senior center, and Steve Noble, a 165-pound junior end, were named to the 22-man mythical outfit.

Kelly Barnhill and Charles Roberts made honorable mention as a guard and halfback, respectively.

Elizabeth City, the undefeated champions of the Northeastern circle this season, placed four men on the squad, as did Washington, New Bern, however, dominated the pickings, with five. Jacksonville placed three. Kinston added three, Greenville two, and Roanoke Rapids one.

Pettit Regains Scoring Lead

NEW YORK (AP)—Bob Pettit of St. Louis, an old hot-hand among National Basketball Assn. scorers, has regained the No. 1 spot after a two-week lapse, statistics released today disclosed.

The former Louisiana State ace, sparking the Hawks' rise to the lead in the NBA's Western Division, has accumulated 327 points in 13 games for a nine-point advantage over George Yardley of the Detroit Pistons and Dolph Schayes of the Syracuse Nationals, tied with 318.

Yardley, having played 12 games to 13 for the others, leads in game averages with 26.5 to 25.2 for Pettit and 24.5 for Schayes, 24.0.

Johnston is tops in field goal accuracy with .487 per cent, Sharman in free throw accuracy with .916, Boston's Bill Russell in rebounds with 335 for a 25.8 average and Cincinnati's Maurice Stokes in assists with 77.

Schayes now has an NBA career total of 10,291 points, only 39 behind the all-time leader, Ed Macauley of St. Louis. Each has four games scheduled during the week and Schayes has been outscoring Macauley by 11 points a game this season.

Will Withdraw Due To Fracture

CHARLOTTE (AP)—A fractured foot has forced a change in the makeup of the North Carolina team that will play in the Dec. 7 Shrine Bowl football game at Charlotte.

Bill Hull, 6-6, 190-pound Tarboro end, has been forced to withdraw because of the injury.

He has been replaced by first alternate Jerry Moss of A. L. Brown High School, Kannapolis, a 201-pounder who stands 6-3 1/2.

Univ. Of Kansas Screening Names For Coach Post

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP)—The University of Kansas today begins screening candidates for the head football coaching job just vacated by Chuck Mather.

The name of Jack Mitchell, head coach at the University of Arkansas, persistently topped the runner list. It also included Wade Walker of Mississippi State, Dan Devine of Arizona State at Tempe and Earle Edwards of North Carolina State.

Athletic Director Dutch Lonborg said the University had a list of more than 50 candidates for the job. He did not disclose the name of any applicant, however.

Mather, who announced his resignation a month ago then directed Kansas to four consecutive victories for one of the school's finest football years, made his final official appearance at the Kansas football banquet here last night in Raleigh, N.C.

Coach Edwards said "I don't know anything about the reports." He stated he had not had any contact with the University of Kansas and he knew nothing about any consideration being given him for the post.

Seixas Sidelined In Aussie Match

ADELAIDE, Australia (AP)—Mervyn Rose, a temperamental left-hander with a safecracker's lurching touch, sent America's Vic Seixas to the sidelines today and turned the South Australian tennis semifinals into an all-Australian tea party.

Further rocking the United States' already reeling Davis Cup hopes, Rose put the skids under an uninspired Seixas 6-4, 4-6, 6-3, 7-5.

It was the most ragged and uninteresting of the four quarter-final duels. Other survivors were top-seeded Ashley Cooper, Mal Anderson and Neale Fraser.

Cooper eliminated the other foreign threat when he beat Belgium's scrappy Jackie Brichant in an exciting match 6-3, 7-5, 6-4. Anderson played his best tennis since his dramatic U. S. title triumph at Forest Hills last summer when he downed young Rod Laver of Australia 6-3, 6-1, 6-3.

Fraser cut down Roy Emerson 6-3, 6-1, 6-0.

Members of the United States, Belgian and Philippine Davis Cup teams thus will be on the sidelines when the Australians play the doubles semifinals tomorrow and the singles Thursday. The singles lineup has Cooper against Anderson and Fraser against Rose.

Auburn Gains Top Of Heap In Week's Gridiron Poll

By HUGH FULLERTON Jr.
The Associated Press

Auburn, unbeaten and tied Southeastern Conference leader, advanced to the top of the national football rankings today in the season's second Associated Press poll as Michigan State fumbled away its hold on first place.

The defensively strong Plainsmen from Alabama, a close second a week ago, polled 1,853 points on the ballots of 227 sports writers and broadcasters. Michigan State, leader by only nine points a week ago, dropped to third after a fumbling performance against Kansas State last Saturday while Ohio State's Rose Bowl-bound Big Ten champions moved into second.

The nation's college football championship will be decided next week in the final Associated Press Poll. Since the Rev. Hugh O'Donnell Trophy was retired by Oklahoma last year, The Associated Press will present a new championship trophy, to be held by the team designated as champion in the final poll.

Only one of the three top contenders for the championship is scheduled to play this week. Auburn, an easy 29-7 winner over Florida State Saturday, takes on its old rival Alabama, in the season-ending game. All three ranking teams from the Big Ten—Ohio State, Michigan State and Iowa—completed their regular seasons last week.

Auburn has won nine straight games and allowed its opponents only four touchdowns—no more than one in any game.

In this week's balloting, Auburn drew 85 of the 227 first-place votes and 1,850 points on the basis of 10 for each first place vote, 9 for second, etc., down to 1 for tenth.

Ohio State, loser to Texas Christian in its opening game but undefeated in Big Ten competition, finished with a rousing 31-14 victory over Michigan. This performance siphoned away some of the support that formerly had gone to Michigan State. The Spartans lost five fumbles and had to stage a last-period rally to beat Kansas State 27-9 in their last game.

Ohio State drew 65 first-place votes and 1,769 points to 41 and 1,713 for Michigan State.

Completing the first 10 were Texas A&M, Oklahoma, Iowa,

- Mississippi, Navy, Rice and Army. Oklahoma and Iowa moved up from sixth and eighth rankings after last Saturday's victories. Mississippi and Navy, both idle, dropped back a notch or two.
- Rice, tying Texas A&M for the Southwest Conference lead, replaced Notre Dame, loser to Iowa, in the top 10 rankings.
- The top 10 with first-place votes in parentheses:
1. Auburn (85) 1,850
 2. Ohio State (65) 1,769
 3. Michigan State (41) 1,713
 4. Texas A&M 1,370
 5. Oklahoma (8) 1,212
 6. Iowa (7) 1,130
 7. Mississippi (6) 967
 8. Navy 708
 9. Rice 394
 10. Army 349
- The second 10:
11. Arizona State (11) 193
 12. Notre Dame 141
 13. Mississippi State 138
 14. Wisconsin 94
 15. N. C. State 85
 16. Duke 69
 17. VMI 45
 18. Tennessee 38
 19. Oregon State 37
 20. Florida 27
- (West Virginia and Elon each received one first place vote)

North Carolina, Clemson Still Hoping For Bowl Bid

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Though Duke has the Atlantic Coast Conference's bid to play in the Orange Bowl, there are still bowl hopefuls in the ACC football picture as the season closes this weekend.

The hopefuls, North Carolina and Clemson, each have games Saturday.

Three ACC teams—North Carolina State, Duke and Maryland—ended their season last Saturday. N.C. State won the conference championship but, because of an NCAA ban, could not play in the Orange Bowl against Oklahoma New Year's Day. Consequently, the bid went to Duke, which drew second place in the standings.

Normally, that should end ACC bowl speculation because conference regulations and the contract with the Orange Bowl limit ACC bowl participation to one team. But it didn't.

The Gator Bowl reportedly is interested in Clemson as a participant in the Dec. 28 game at Jacksonville, Fla. And President Bob Cullum of the Cotton Bowl believes that the ACC could waive its regulations to let Clemson or North Carolina come to the game at Dallas, Texas, Jan. 1.

ACC's bowl committee chairman, C. P. Erickson of North Carolina, affirmed that Clemson has asked the committee to seek Orange Bowl permission for another bowl game, "but no action was taken at this time."

The prospects appeared to be dimming last night as Clemson Coach Frank Howard summoned his athletic council to a meeting to discuss the bowl situation. He said there would be no announcement by the council for several days.

In addition to getting permission, Clemson would want to change conference regulations concerning the split of the bowl money. At present, half the bowl receipts go to the participating team and half to the conference. With a small bowl like the Gator, Howard maintains, Clemson would be working with about one-third the share of the Orange Bowl.

Howard says he would need a more favorable split in order not to lose money.

North Carolina Coach Jim Tatum, whose Tar Heels upset Duke 21-13 last Saturday, apparently had hoped to get the Orange Bowl bid. "I'm disappointed, sorely disappointed," Tatum commented. He wouldn't elaborate.

Be all that as it may, the speculating and maneuvering could come to a screeching whoa Saturday.

day. To keep the bowl hopes alive, North Carolina would have to whip Virginia, nobody's pushover, and Clemson would have to get by Furman, whose quarterback Billy Baker is a passer who hits his target with amazing regularity.

South Carolina travels to Wake Forest Saturday in the ACC's other action.

Wet grounds and rain forced North Carolina indoors yesterday.

The Tar Heels held a short workout. Tatum reported the squad in good condition for the Virginia game. Virginia, meanwhile, heard scouting reports on North Carolina and watched films of Tar Heel games.

Wake Forest worked inside because of wet fields and set defenses for the South Carolina game. South Carolina worked out in sweat clothes without contact.

Earlier in the season, Coach Bill Murray stamped Wray Carlton as "potentially the greatest football player I have ever coached." The veteran Duke coach has always been wary about dealing out high praise to any of his players, but this time his judgment proved sound. Carlton developed into one of the nation's outstanding backs as he paced the Blue Devils with the finest performances by a Duke back since 1941, when Steve Lach sparked at Durham.

It was Carlton who scored the touchdown and added the extra point that defeated Clemson to practically assure Duke a trip to the Orange Bowl. He did the same against Rice, to keep the Blue Devils on the unbeaten list. All season long, Carlton has supplied the scoring punch, stopped enemy rallies and kept Duke up there among the leaders.

Carlton, a 195-pound junior from Wallace, N. C., has everything—size, speed, elusiveness and the ability to think quickly. Coach Murray points out that one of Carlton's outstanding talents is his ability to move quickly. His breakaway speed enables him to take advantage of the smallest opening to go all the way. In addition to being a fine passer and runner, Carlton does the kicking off, boots extra points and can punt if needed. He is equally as efficient on defense—a keen diagnostician of plays, a strong tackler, and an alert defender against forward passes.

Oklahoma's Coach Bud Wilkinson would do well to give Wray Carlton special attention when his Sooners face the Blue Devils in the Orange Bowl game. Carlton could hurt Oklahoma, but good.

ON THE HOUSE

By JOHN O. B. WALLACE

AP Newsfeatures
The two-story house, once almost abandoned and considered obsolete, is staging a comeback. Architects say it is slowly rising in popularity. In many developments throughout the country, they add, the two-story house is being put up as a model house—and in many cases it is proving to be a best seller.

The most popular types of homes in America are still the ranch and the split level. Their popularity is in no immediate jeopardy. The two-story house has a long way to go before catching up with the ranch and split level. But there are several good reasons why the two-story house is regaining favor throughout the United States, according to one architect who specializes in designing small homes. He is Samuel Paul and he lists these reasons:

"The fundamental requirements of today's average family are more elaborate than they ever have been. For example, the trend is toward larger families. Many families have three or more children, requiring more bedrooms. An all-purpose or family room is practically a must. Also, the average family of today requires at least one and a half baths. All this adds up to increased space requirements. Additionally, being confronted with rising costs, becomes increasingly more difficult to keep prices down to a level that the average family can afford."

"Hence," the architect adds, "it becomes necessary through ingenious planning to fulfill these requirements and yet keep building costs down. The two-story house is one answer to this problem."

There are several distinct advantages to the two-story house which have been recognized for years by architects. For instance:

MORE SECURITY
You get top dollar value, meaning more space for less money. With the sleeping area on the second floor, there is a greater feeling of safety and security. Heating costs also are reduced because the second floor gets the advantage of rising heat from the first floor.

You achieve more privacy by separating sleeping quarters from living quarters.

Many families today require four bedrooms and this can be worked out easily on a second floor.

A two-story house can be built on a modest sized plot. With the high cost of land, especially in metropolitan areas, this is an important consideration.

A two-story house can be built on a modest sized plot. With the high cost of land, especially in metropolitan areas, this is an important consideration.

The two-story house is cheaper to maintain, and it requires less roofing and less foundation work.

BALCONIES POSSIBLE
Also, second floor balconies for outdoor living are possible in a two-story house, and the balconies would create shelter for porches below.

Says Cutbacks Saved Industry

LAURINBURG, N. C.—Halbert M. Jones, first vice president of the American Cotton Manufacturers Institute, said today that announced production cutbacks "came in the nick of time to save the industry from complete demoralization."

Jones, president of Waverly Mills here, told the Laurinburg Rotary Club that announced Thanksgiving and Christmas curtailments are the correct, if unpleasant, remedy for the cotton textile industry's prolonged price depression.

"It's no secret," he said, "that our problem is and has been over-production. But mill men in the South have been reluctant to curtail because they feared for the welfare of their employees. The advisability of such a move has been plain for some time."

The Textile Workers Union of America has criticized the move and said management should pay workers for the layoff.

Jones said the two-price cotton system under which foreign manufacturers can buy American cotton cheaper is ridiculous and absurd.

"Even foreign textile men, who under this program, can buy U.S. cotton 20 per cent cheaper than can American mills, say the policy is harmful because it makes the overseas market unstable," Jones said. The U.S. government sells cotton taken under the price support program on the open overseas market.

The main reason, of course, for the diminishing popularity of the two-story house was the stairway and the necessity for climbing up and down.

Paul says, however, that it is possible to design a stairway which would minimize the effort of climbing.

For instance, he says, "a landing half way up would tend to soften the climb. A cheerful, well-lighted stairway would help, psychologically. As an added feature, several companies have developed a lift or elevator that can be incorporated into a two-story house. This is a residential type lift that is modestly priced."

It has been estimated, Paul adds, that space for space an average ranch type house would cost 15 per cent more than the two-story type, "so that even with a residential elevator, the cost of the two-story house would compare favorably with the ranch."

Coast Guard Has Need Of Pilots

The Coast Guard has sent out a call for recently released or soon to be released Navy and Marine Corps Reserve aviators wishing to go on immediate active duty.

Applicants must have graduated from Navy heavier-than-air flight training and be less than age 30 as of next June 30th, the closing date of this new Coast Guard program.

Those selected will be commissioned in the Coast Guard Reserve in the grade of ensign or lieutenant (junior grade) and will be offered two-year contracts after six months' satisfactory service. During this contract period, they may apply for integration in the regular service and a Coast Guard career.

Aviators having multi-engine experience, especially in seaplanes, are particularly desired, but those with single engine background, including jet and rotary wing aircraft, will also be considered. Men picked by the service will be given refresher or additional training if indicated.

Applications for and further information on the program may be obtained by writing or visiting the U.S. Coast Guard Reserve Director, Fifth Coast Guard District, U.S. Post Office and Court House, Room 337, Norfolk, Va.

Russian Holiday Tour Plan Fails

LONDON—The Kremlin's "Spend your holiday this year in Russia" campaign has flopped in Britain.

Britons still prefer a week or two at a south coast resort, Majorca or the south of France. But business in Russian vacations may pick up next year.

Travel agents here agree the Russians timed their campaign badly and that the distances involved in getting to the Soviet Union plus the unfavorable Russian exchange rate made a holiday in Moscow or a Black Sea resort just too expensive.

The Russians lifted some travel restrictions for foreigners, advertised tours in the British newspapers, and even offered guides to accompany British motorists around some parts of the Soviet Union in their own automobiles.

But fewer than 500 British tourists visited the Soviet Union—only 25 per cent more than last year. Only about a dozen British motorists took up the drive-yourself-around-Russia idea. Some of these were newspapermen whose employers financed the trip.

A spokesman for the Automobile Assn., which helped Intourist, official Soviet travel agency, work out the holiday plans, said he thought the response would be better next year.

"We are already dealing with correspondence from our members who want to take their cars around next summer."

The AA and the Royal Automobile Club, however, reported the vast majority of their members found it would be too costly to drive around Russia—a minimum of 500 pounds ($1,400) for a husband and wife to go to Russia by car.

Expert Believes Secrecy Is No Longer Blocking Russia

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON—Thomas E. Murray wraps up the problem the Eisenhower administration and Congress must face next year and later: What to do about atomic secrets?

Murray used to be up to his neck in those secrets. He was a member of the Atomic Energy Commission. Now he's consultant to the Joint Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy. Expressing his own views in a report to the committee last night he took this position:

The huge blanket of secrecy thrown over nuclear development was all right so long as this country monopolized the field. It doesn't now. Russia is abreast of us for all practical purposes. Now it's time to share secrets with allies.

But not all secrets, Murray said. Not, for instance, those on the huge atomic weapons of annihilation. Murray thinks this country could hold on to them at least four or five years and retain exclusive right to decide when or whether to use them.

As an example of why he thinks

But he believes it's time to exchange information with allies on smaller nuclear weapons that could be used in a limited war and even set up a common stockpile of such weapons.

And he proposes—in dealing with the free world—"complete freedom for the exchange of all scientific and technological information bearing on the use of nuclear energy for human welfare."

Why? For one thing, to increase Allied unity at a time when that's exactly what this country wants to do. For another, it would enable the free world to get the best use of all the brains it has. He puts it this way:

It means a "common body of scientific knowledge and technical skills . . . partnership of technical effort toward the common defense and the common progress that will eliminate useless duplication of effort, meaningless rivalries, and wastage of talent, money and energy. . . . It means a fresh impetus toward scientific progress of all kinds. . . ."

much of the atomic secrecy is out of date, Murray paints this picture:

This country and the Russians are so nearly equal in their nuclear development—and their understanding of nuclear energy and its uses—that any progress one makes over the other is only temporary. Pretty soon the other will catch up.

To sum up: He said American "secrecy cannot halt Soviet progress."

To do all Murray suggests would require that Congress make broad changes in the law covering atomic energy development. The question of whether to make such changes, and what kind, is exactly what Congress and the administration must face.

The President has been fairly free—in most areas of national defense—to decide what should or shouldn't be kept a secret. Not so in the nuclear field. The atomic energy law still pretty well covers the whole nuclear field in secrecy, although it has been amended a couple of times to release some information.

Murray suggests that the President be allowed, for the national good, to do the deciding, free of the present law, on what nuclear development to keep under wraps.

Benefactor Will Remain Unknown

HONOLULU, (AP)—A sailor aboard the transport Renville has his wallet and $200 back, but he hasn't any idea who his pretty benefactor was.

The sailor, George Jacobs, lost his wallet in the and at Walkiki. It contained $400.

A young blonde woman, out for an early dip, found it at 7 a.m. She called Pearl Harbor and was told the Renville was leaving at 8:30 a.m. The woman rushed to the Harbor, and arrived as the ship was casting off lines.

Jacobs lowered a bucket on a line and she dropped the wallet in. The ship sailed away and the woman drove away.

THE BIG M FOR '58—FIRST WITH SPORTS-CAR CONTROL AND THE SOLID, LUXURIOUS RIDE OF A LIMOUSINE

AND FEATURING EVERYTHING NEW FROM SELF-ADJUSTING BRAKES TO A NEW HILL CONTROL

Awaiting you at your Mercury dealer's is a car that, in many ways, makes driving a new experience. Here are four examples:

- Big new brakes that adjust themselves automatically! Mercury's new brakes are self-adjusting for the life of the brake lining. They automatically adjust for lining wear during the course of your daily driving—save time and cost of frequent brake adjustments.
- A chime that warns you when you exceed the speed limit. Mercury offers a Speed-limit Safety Monitor which can be set at any desired speed. A warning chime sounds when this speed is reached—saves having to watch the speedometer.
- A power feature that automatically lubricates your car every time you start it. Mercury offers you power lubrication. It works automatically whenever you start the engine, or push a button on the dash. And each lubrication costs less than one-half cent—cuts down on trips to the service station.
- A separate push-button that gives you engine braking on down-hill grades. All Mercurys equipped with Merc-O-Matic Keyboard Control have a new Hill Control. Just push a button for the extra safety of engine braking. (Your brakes last longer, too.)

Equally important are Mercury's new road-hugging size and weight—and revolutionary Cool-Power Marauder engines. Teamed with Mercury's wonderful new driving aids, they result in a car that can't be matched anywhere for control, handling ease, performance and comfort.

We invite you to try Mercury's new sports-car spirit with limousine ride. Just stop in at our showroom. See how much more your money buys in a Mercury.

African Adventure Films Said Next Big TV Find

By CHARLES MERCER
 NEW YORK (AP)—Bernard Schubert, who has quite a reputation as a television program creator, took a look in the crystal ball the other day. He saw:
 "African adventure series are the coming challenge to TV Westerns—if they're done in an adult manner. I don't think they'll ever ride Westerns off the range, but the chances are that we'll see an increasing number of them."
 Schubert is co-producer of a new series of African adventures filmed in Kenya. The series is appearing on numerous stations throughout the country. In the past he has brought to the TV screen such programs as "Topper," "Crossroads," "Adventures of the Falcon," "Mr. and Mrs. North" and others.
 Schubert, recently back from Kenya, said: "Africa is both the most untouched part of the world and at the same time the most tremendously publicized part of the world. In Africa you have combinations of many things—of animals and primitive emotions, for example. These things capture people's imaginations."
 "I think that's why movies with an African background have made more money percentage-wise than any other type of movie."
 There are difficulties connected with making TV films in Africa, Schubert said.
 "Animals are poor actors. They don't take directions well." As witness, for example, a rhino that bowed over a camera jeep of the "White Hunter" location company.
 "And many Africans themselves are difficult actors. They want to watch the camera and they think that making films is hilarious fun instead of work."
 Thus, in one program, a group of Africans were supposed to chase a couple of white actors to a cliff over which the actors were to leap. The Africans thought it was great fun chasing the white actors. They chased them so fast that they kept catching them before the hard-running actors could reach the cliff.

 By the time the Africans agreed to follow directions, the whites were too tired to run. So the sequence had to be postponed until the next day when the actors had recovered breath.

Two Graves Found Empty In Confirming Gein's Story

WAUTOMA, Wis. — Dist. Atty. Earl Kileen says excavation of two graves convinces him that Edward Gein actually did raid cemeteries for parts of nine bodies found in his farm home.

Wausau County authorities reopened two graves in the Plainfield Cemetery to check the story of the 51-year-old bachelor.

Gein, who is undergoing 30 days killing two women and robbing the graves of nine other women.

He is charged with first-degree murder in the death Nov. 16 of Mrs. Bernice Worden, 58, a hardware store operator. He also admitted killing Mrs. Mary Hogan, a tavernkeeper, Dec. 9, 1954.

Authorities opened the graves of Mrs. Eleanor Adams and Mrs. Mabel Everson, both buried in 1951. Their names were on the list of women whose graves Gein said he looted.

Mrs. Adams' casket was empty. The other coffin also was empty, but Kileen said a few bones and a small prying bar were found in the dirt above the empty casket.

"As far as I am concerned, the opening of these two graves verifies Gein's story," Kileen said. "I won't open any more if I can help it."

He said any further excavations will be "a state matter," adding that if Wisconsin Atty. Gen. Stewart Honeck "believes that opening the others is necessary, we will open them all. This deal is too big for Waushara County."

Honeck entered the case upon orders from Gov. Vernon Thomson. The attorney general directed Charles Wilson, head of the state crime laboratory, to continue with all steps necessary to assure a complete investigation of the Gein case.

The governor asked Honeck to determine whether any crimes, other than the murder with which Gein is charged, had been committed by the quiet little handyman.

SPURNS BLOOD TRANSFUSION.—Ronnie Graves, 12, injured member of the religious sect named Jehovah's Witnesses, folds his arms in Baptist Hospital at Nashville, Tenn., and refuses a blood transfusion. A Juvenile Court judge ruled that doctors could administer the blood despite the religious objections of the boy's father, James O'Dell Graves. But the youngster held out against it. He was hurt in a windstorm at Nashville. Doctors advised the blood transfusion because of the loss of blood from head injury and a compound leg fracture. Ronnie was reported in serious condition but improving. (AP Wirephoto).

Rivera's Friends And Foes Will Attend Funeral

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Prominent friends and foes of Diego Rivera were expected to attend non-religious funeral services today for the tempestuous artist, who proclaimed his devotion to communism even as he was dying Sunday night.

Rivera had asked to be moved from the bedroom to the studio of his suburban San Angel home when he felt the end was near. He was placed beside an unfinished painting of a Russian boy holding a model of a Soviet earth satellite.

But the thousands who passed by his coffin yesterday at the famed Palace of Fine Arts included men and women of many political loyalties.

An equally diverse group was in the Rotonda of Illustrious Men expected today for Rivera's burial at the civil cemetery.

Rivera's coffin was sealed before it was placed before the public. The 70-year-old artist's chunky body had wasted and withered after 10 years of cancer.

Rivera returned from Russia last year saving an operation there had cured him of cancer. His physician attributed his death to a heart attack.

The artist fought the Roman Catholic Church all his life. Church officials warned him only a few weeks ago that he must repent.

Relatives said Rivera died with little money. He had used what remained of the fortunes he made to create an art museum, left to the Mexican people.

Losses in curing meat can be greatly lowered, according to a report from the U.S. Department of Agriculture. The report states that the average loss of weight in curing meat is 15 to 20 percent, but that this can be reduced to 10 percent or less by using proper curing methods. The report also notes that the use of salt and sugar in curing meat can help to reduce the loss of weight and improve the flavor of the meat.

Cross Burned By Mercer Students

MACON, Ga. (AP) — A group of Mercer University students burned a cross late last night on the school campus. One of them said the demonstration was staged "in sympathy with the Wake Forest students."

Last week Wake Forest students demonstrated in Winston-Salem against the banning of dancing on the campus by the North Carolina Baptist Convention.

Mercer, also a Baptist school, likewise has a ban on campus dancing.

The cross, approximately 20 feet high, blazed brightly for several minutes on the front lawn of Mary Erin Porter Hall, a girls' dormitory.

They should be delivered immediately after they are killed.

Kelley says that "too-salty" meat can be avoided if the following schedule is followed: hams weighing 15 pounds, two days per pound or 30 days; 20 pounds, 1 1/2 days per pound or 35 days; 35 pounds, 1 1/2 days per pound or around 4 days. All sides and shoulders should be cured seven days per inch of thickness.

To insure high quality meat, take all meat out of cure when the time is up. It should be suspended rather than put on a shelf. Do not smoke meat for about 30 days after it comes out of cure to allow for salt equalization.

In conclusion, Kelley says it's advisable to process the meat supply over a long period of time. When you have six to eight hogs to kill, butcher some in October and some in January or early February to allow for fresh meat over a long period instead of having an excess of meat at one time. Kelley

Losses In Curing Meat Can Be Greatly Lowered

RALEIGH — Almost everyone likes to sink their teeth in some good country ham. That is, if the ham isn't sour or too salty.

Jack Kelley, in charge of animal husbandry for the N.C. Agricultural Extension Service, says that "considerable meat was lost" in North Carolina last year because of souring. He says this can be caused by several things but one of the foremost causes is high temperature during slaughtering.

Kelley says that the ideal temperature for curing meat is 40 degrees. If the average temperature goes much above that, there is danger of souring. Long rainy periods or two-high humidity sometimes results in spoilage.

If the carcasses are to be processed at home, animals should be killed late in the afternoon as temperatures are going down. The carcasses should hang over night and be chilled thoroughly before cut and processed. If the animals are to be slaughtered at home and taken to a processing plant, immediately after they are killed.

Kelley says that "too-salty" meat can be avoided if the following schedule is followed: hams weighing 15 pounds, two days per pound or 30 days; 20 pounds, 1 1/2 days per pound or 35 days; 35 pounds, 1 1/2 days per pound or around 4 days. All sides and shoulders should be cured seven days per inch of thickness.

In conclusion, Kelley says it's advisable to process the meat supply over a long period of time. When you have six to eight hogs to kill, butcher some in October and some in January or early February to allow for fresh meat over a long period instead of having an excess of meat at one time. Kelley

Sparkman Says Impact Of Little Rock Overrated

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala.), who recently returned from the Far East, said yesterday that the Little Rock school integration controversy hurt U.S. influence abroad had been greatly over-emphasized.

"The feeling where I visited was that those nations had their racial problems just as we do," he said. "Sputnik, he added, had a far different effect."

"You talk about something that hit us hard, well Sputnik did," Sparkman said. "That was all they were talking about."

Most of the countries in the Far East are uncommitted to the free world or Communism, he said; they want to be on the winning side; but "with Sputnik up there they are no longer sure that America is on the winning side."

Says Cane Pulp Can Make Bricks

FORT MYERS, Fla. (AP) — A construction man says he has a patent pending on a process for making lightweight, low cost bricks from sugar cane pulp.

Steven Chambers said he worked five years to develop the brick from bagasse, the pulp left after juice is extracted from the cane.

He said it will reduce construction costs 20 per cent and is only one-third the weight of ordinary brick. It is waterproof, fireproof and contains its own insulation against heat and cold, he added.

Khrushchev Has Cautious Advice To New Officers

MOSCOW (AP) — A month after Russia's top military officer was sacked for resisting Communist party controls, Nikita S. Khrushchev warned the nation's lowliest new officers not to buck the party.

The Communist party boss spoke at a reception last night for the graduating class of Moscow's military academies, reviving a custom that lapsed with Stalin's death in 1953.

Like Stalin, Khrushchev used the ceremony to remind the young officers that the party is supreme in Russia. He also called upon them to increase vigilance "against the threat of war whipped up by imperialists."

Khrushchev said Marshal Georgi Zhukov was once a defense minister Oct. 25 for opposing political control of the army. "The decision of the Central Committee (to expel Zhukov) aimed at a fundamental improvement of party political work in the armed forces," Khrushchev said.

The party boss declared the party is "leader, organizer, educator and main source of power" of the Soviet armed forces.

Khrushchev repeated recent public statements that Soviet armed forces are equipped "with all types of modern arms, including atomic and rocket techniques" and said Russia has launched an international ballistic missile.

"The international situation demands that we maintain the defense of our country on the highest levels of modern military techniques and science," the party secretary said.

"The policy of the U. S. ruling circles," he charged, "is aimed at undermining peace. So long as imperialism exists, a situation of war may arise."

Farm Bureau Federation Seeks Full-Scale Support

GREENSBORO — The newly elected executive vice-president of the North Carolina Farm Bureau Federation today called on Tar Heel farmers to rally behind their farm organization.

Alonso C. Edwards, elected Monday to fill the unexpired term as executive vice-president, issued a statement calling for farmers to act together for their own interest.

"Every farmer owes it to himself and his family to belong to an organization like Farm Bureau, for it is only through cooperative action — neighbor working with neighbor — that we can effectively attack problems basic to the economic wellbeing of our farm people," declared Edwards.

"I pledge to do all within my power to strengthen Farm Bureau and to see that it continues to service farmers as they direct," he added.

"At the same time I plead for the support and active interest of farmers throughout the state. As a general farm organization, Farm Bureau is dependent on the active participation of its members in forming policy and seeing that its recommendations are considered by those making decisions affecting agriculture."

"Needless to say the influence that farmers will have on farm policy is largely dependent on the number of members bound together in Farm Bureau, and it is my sincere hope that our farmers will realize we have much to lose in North Carolina. To protect the income of farmers and the interest of the agricultural industry it's imperative that farmers join and take part in their organizations," said Edwards.

CHAPTER 8
 One thing Tracy knew, she loved Michael. She had known him, and had worked with him for a year. She had known him, and had worked with him well for three or four months.

A month ago he had asked her to marry him, and joyously she had agreed. Having come to that decision, she had made her plans and had come almost to the point of exchanging the vows of marriage.

But now—
 Yes! Now was no time to let herself feel.

Now she must think, and then act, with dignity if possible, and certainly without any show of emotion. She hoped she could answer Michael without protest or tears—or humiliating pleas.

But I will always remember this agony, she told herself. It also could be that her memory might say, I tried to be wise.

She looked at Michael, her face pale and her eyes enormous in its small oval. "Is there—someone else?"

"Of course not!" He spoke readily, heartily.

"Has someone suggested such a thing to you?" Tracy asked alertly.

Then she stopped short, her mind going back. Monday, he had resented the interruption of his office conference with that widow he'd met on Sunday. He'd broken his dinner date with Tracy to go out and see her children.

"Someone has talked to you!" she answered her own question. "That blonde—what was her name? Mrs. Rainey!" Her eyes widened with indignation. "Why, Michael Loren!" she cried.

"I don't know what you are suggesting," he began stiffly.

"I can tell you! I'm suggesting that this Mrs. Rainey is behind your decision to take a 'second look' at our engagement and marriage! That must have been some house call you made on Monday night!"

Now Michael's sullenness flared into active resentment. "Mrs. Rainey is a patient. My interest in her is purely professional."

Tracy stared at him. How could he be so naive? He'd told her that he was susceptible to dames like this Rainey. Smooth, possessive, demanding—

"She has placed her children in my care," he was saying coldly. "This is a complicated psychological problem as well as a physical one. Carol needs help—strong, sure, and instant help. She'd despaired of getting it, until she met me, quite by chance."

Last Sunday, at the Rogers' barbecue, Tracy said nothing. "Her children are undernourished, their behavior patterns are erratic."

Finally she broke in, her voice calm. "You can't do this to me, Michael. For any reason, I will not let you ruin our lives. Yours and mine. I've decided that it would be impossible to change our plans at this late date, Michael."

He stared at her. He was not so much surprised at her firmness as he was angered by it. Being a somewhat spoiled young man, he was not used to being opposed or thwarted. "Tracy!" he said sharply. "You know you can't force me to go through with—"

"It's not a question of force, Michael. I think you only need to be reminded of a few things which will make you agree with me. I know that you are a person to consider appearances. More than I do. Much more. But even I can see how any postponement of our plans for Saturday would look to your friends, to your parents on their arrival from California, to the men in the office where you have made a promising professional start."

"You simply can't do a thing like this, Michael! Why, it could mean your professional career! That's a very good place you have in Dr. O'Connell's office; it was a big thing for him to ask you to take the pediatric work there. Out at the Rogers' on Sunday, at a party given for the office doctors, you introduced me as your prospective wife. I just can't picture your telling those three other doctors that you've jilted me, any more than I can see you meeting your parents' train tomorrow with that word."

His hand clutched at his throat. "I am not jilting you!" he cried hoarsely. But his eyes looked frightened. "I just said—"

She smiled a little, and now she looked her usual self. Young and softly sweet. "I know what you said, Michael," she agreed, still gently firm. "But I'm not going to listen to you. Because I'm sure our marriage will work! I'm sure that it will!" She sat back and looked across at him, not smiling, but entirely confident of herself.

For a long minute, Michael gazed at her. Then with a gesture of surrender, he signaled for his check, paid it, rose, and waited for Tracy to precede him out of the restaurant. With his habitual manner of great courtesy, he put her into his car, drove to the Nurses' Home, and walked with her to the vestibule. There, he bent to kiss her cheek, lightly, and said that he'd come for her the evening and take her to meet his parents. His tone and his manner were coldly aloof.

Tracy stood where he had left her, watching his tall person go down the walk. He stopped beside his car while he lit a cigaret, then he got behind the wheel and drove off, fast. She sighed and went upstairs, tired, and feeling bed-ragled.

She did more self-arguing than sleeping, and by morning had persuaded herself that she must talk to him again and let him talk to her. Of course she must not marry Michael against his will—o' whim, as the case might be. In spite of engraved invitations and the gifts pouring into the apartment, perhaps they should postpone the wedding.

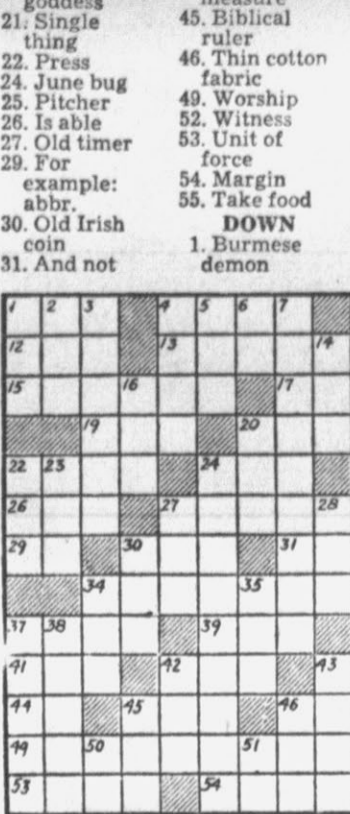

Having come to this decision,

Car Makers Pressing For Increased Factory Volume

by DAVID J. WILKIE
 AP Automotive Editor

DETROIT (AP)—The auto industry's retailers started the 1958 car year with an estimated 200,000 outgoing models on hand. With the new 1958 models in stock this made an inventory of about 464,000 cars on Nov. 1.

That total is not necessarily a large inventory. Some experts predict it will be much larger by the year-end. They say an apparent production race between Ford and Chevrolet supports this view.

But whether an inventory of 200,000 outgoing models at the start of a new model year is good or bad currently is being debated by the experts. Some say dealers need a limited number of outgoing models for bargaining purposes when the customer finds new model prices too high.

Other experts scoff at that view. They cite the all-out efforts made to dispose of 1957 models before the new cars went on sale. They add that cars in stock—outgoing or incoming models—tie up dealer capital.

It has been said the cleanup of outgoing model cars was one of the smoothest in many years. Yet this year's Nov. 1 inventory was some 186,000 units greater than that at the start of the 1957 model year.

The car makers are pressing for increased volume at the factory level. They need it for competitive purposes. They would be much better over-all position were the inventories of 1957 model cars half their Nov. 1 size.

Ford and Chevrolet, of course, continue to fight it out for the top place in production and retail deliveries. At the most recent canvassing date Chevrolet was about 56,000 units behind Ford in car assemblies and about 47,000 behind in retail deliveries.

With only about five weeks to go in the current calendar year, the Ford lead would seem to be too great for Chevrolet to overcome. Both companies have been operating Saturday overtime to get increased volume.

From the field both are getting reports of great interest in their new models. Chevrolet has not announced what the interest means in unit sales. It scored a substantial gain over Ford in new car registrations (1957 models) for September.

Ford dealers reported sales during the first three days of the 1958 model year numbered 22,408 units compared with 17,329 in the first three days of the 1957 model year. That period was used because it represented the total sales of 1958 units in the first 10 days of the month. The car makers count their sales by 10-day periods.

The Chevrolet-Ford situation recalls the year-end race between those two producers in 1954. At that time both claimed to have finished in the top position. However, each accused the other of having counted cars registered in the names of dealers, salesmen and others.

Since that time some states have altered their regulations to make artificial registrations difficult if not impossible. The final figures on production will be available soon after Dec. 30. The registrations will not be finally compiled until some time in February of next year.

This is the EDSEL for '58
 "It's original, it's authentic"
 "The newest of other cars look old beside it"

It has the feel of great engineering — an air of elegance in every line

You can see at a glance the Edsel goes its own way to set a new standard of elegance. But to really know the Edsel, you must drive it yourself.

The Edsel is powered by the newest V-8 engines in the world — the E-400 and the E-475. Their specifications: 400 and 475 foot-pounds of torque; 303 and 345 horsepower. Without a doubt you have never handled this kind of usable power before.

With Edsel's exclusive Teletouch Drive, you lightly touch a button on the steering wheel and the Edsel shifts itself—smoothly, surely, electrically.

What does an Edsel cost? Edsel prices range from just above the lowest to just below the highest. You can afford an Edsel. And you can choose from four series — 18 models. See and drive the newest car in the world—at your Edsel Dealer this week.

PICTURE TALK

By CHARLES BISSETTE

"Open Me First"

This year there's going to be an extra little something added to many of the gaily-wrapped packages under the Christmas tree. It's a little tag that suggests — "Open Me First." Why the inviting little message?

Because inside is a present that will start giving pleasure the minute it's taken out of the box—a Kodak Camera Outfit. Open this gift first, and you can start right away to record the excitement of Christmas.

If you're lucky enough to find a gift with the little tag under your tree, start bright and early Christmas morning to capture the holiday fun. Open the rest of your presents but sandwich in shots of the other members of the family opening their gifts, too. Picture the children with their new toys, Dad setting up Bud's new train, the Christmas tree twinkling in the darkness.

To make sure you share in the gaiety, give a Kodak gift outfit to someone in the family. We have camera outfits to fit every budget, every need. Brownie Flash Outfits from as little as $9.95... Kodak-made movie outfits... and deluxe miniature outfits for color slides.

For a gift that's sure to please, give one that says "Open Me First."

Dogged Driver Won't Concede

HONOLULU (AP) — Lucien G. Dodge was charged with violating the right of way in a minor traffic accident. He refused to forfeit his $25 bond, announced he would fight the charge, and subpoenaed a list of defense witnesses including the chief of police and much of the rest of the force.

Dodge lost the case. He was fined $25. He said he was thinking of appealing to the Suprem. Court.

Kiwanians Go To Stantonsburg Session Today

A group of Greenville Kiwanians went to Stantonsburg this afternoon to attend an organizational and training conference for officers and directors of the 10 Kiwanis clubs of the Seventh Division of Carolinas Kiwanis.

Division 7 Lt.-Gov.-elect Rex Best, Jr. of Stantonsburg and retiring Lt. Gov. John T. Barnhill of Greenville will conduct the conference.

Clubs in the division in addition to Stantonsburg and Greenville are Wilmington, Elizabethtown, Jacksonville, Kinston, Goldsboro, Wilson, Washington and Farmville.

President-elect J. D. (Dixie) McGlohon headed the Greenville contingent, which included John T. Barnhill, Leonard Bloxam, W. O. Moore, John A. Collins, Jr., Ed E. Waldrop, W. S. Corbett, Eli Bloom, Ed E. Rawl, Jr., Charles P. Gaskins and Chester Walsh.

Some of the Greenville Kiwanians will be guests of the Stantonsburg club tonight at 7 o'clock.

Boy Wrote Will, Tears It Up On Final Recovery

DENVER (P)—"I won't be needing this anymore," 13-year-old Jerry Mourer said yesterday as he tore up his will.

The son of a Grand Junction, Colo., widow successfully underwent a critical deep-freeze operation for aortic stenosis, a narrowing of the valve leading from the heart to the aorta.

Although Jerry was chipper during the operation, this message was discovered scrawled in ink on paper in the back of his toy car back home:

"Dear mom:
"I want to give my guns and toys to Jimmy Hixon, and don't give them to anybody else. Mom, give my bebe gun to Rory and Ray Kipp, and give my leather jacket to Jimmy Hixon. Love, Jerry Theo Mourer."

When he walked from National Jewish Hospital, Jerry said he guessed now he'd keep his belongings himself.

Patrolman Will Leave Hospital

State Highway Patrolman J.B. Surles, injured in a traffic accident in Durham Saturday, will be released from Pitt Memorial Hospital sometime this week, a physician stated this morning.

Surles, according to reports from the State Highway Patrol office, sustained a pulled muscle in his neck when his patrol car was struck by another car following the Carolina-Duke football game. He was later admitted to the local hospital for treatment.

The Pitt Patrolman was in Durham on an assignment to work traffic for the athletic event. Damage to rear of his vehicle was estimated at $75.

Will Safeguard Vet's Pension

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—The Texas Legislature is taking action to make sure Confederate veteran Walter Williams, 115, keeps his $300 a month state pension.

The House unanimously passed a bill keeping his pension at that rate yesterday. Under existing law Williams' pension would be cut to $200 because of the recent death of his wife, Rep. J. E. Winfree of Houston, where Williams now lives with a daughter, said the state Confederate pension fund totals more than $900,000.

Williams is one of two surviving veterans of the Civil War.

Man Convicted In Cutting Case

AYDEN — A Negro charged with cutting another Negro Saturday night was found guilty of the offense in Ayden's Municipal Court yesterday afternoon.

Judge L. K. Kittrell sentenced Aron Floyd, 18, of Ayden Rt. 2 to six months on the roads. The defendant was charged with assault with a deadly weapon, inflicting serious bodily injury.

According to Ayden Police Chief H. V. Chandler, Jr., Floyd cut Johnny Ray Edwards, 20, of Ayden Rt. 1 in an argument at Rathas' Place in South Ayden Saturday night.

Edwards was transported to Pitt Memorial Hospital following some confusion, for treatment. Forty-two stitches were required to close a deep knife wound in his left leg. He is said to be in "good" condition.

He is said to be in "good" condition.

Colored News

The Matrons Social Club will meet Wednesday night at 8 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Amy Whitehead, 416 S. Wyatt Street. Mrs. Gertrude Latham, president, will preside.

Boston N. Bradley, brother of Clarence Bradley, 608 Tyson street, died at a Philadelphia hospital Monday. Funeral services will be held at Flanagan & Parker's Funeral Home in Greenville Thursday afternoon at 2:30.

The Gospel Chorus of Selvia Chapel F. W. B. Church will meet for rehearsal tonight.

Switch Signals, Expense Account Line 'Ignorable'

WASHINGTON (P)—Switching signals again, the Internal Revenue Service now says taxpayers may ignore the line on their 1957 income tax returns which calls for their business expense account.

But the announcement yesterday by Commissioner Russell C. Harrison emphasized that the decision "does not change the longstanding rules which the revenue service has been following with respect to substantiation of deductions when a taxpayer's return is audited."

The law has required since 1921 that the money an employe draws on his expense account be listed as income. He then is allowed to deduct his actual expenses. But the law has been regularly ignored, especially by small taxpayers who reimbursement only equalled their expenses.

Seven-Year-Old Got 128 Miles

KANSAS CITY — Without benefit of ticket, pocket money, baggage or even a coat, 7-year-old Leslie Carter managed to make the first 128 miles of an unannounced trip to visit his parents in Detroit.

Leslie has been living with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Umphenour, at Pittsburg, Kan.

He boarded a train in Pittsburg yesterday and was in Kansas City by the time they missed him. The conductor and Leslie's seatmate on the train, a knowing nurse, took the traveler in tow in Kansas City and arranged for his return to Pittsburg.

Soldier Charged In Murder Case

YOKOHAMA, Japan (P)—The U.S. Army today charged Specialist 3 C. Gregory J. Kupski of Detroit with the strangulation death Nov. 17 of the Japanese wife of an American sailor.

An Army spokesman said a legal opinion would be required to determine whether the Army or Japanese authorities have jurisdiction over the case.

Guest Speaker

The Rev. Z. B. T. Cox (above), of the Farmville Christian Church, will speak at a pre-Thanksgiving Service to be held at the Red Oak Christian Church Wednesday, at 7:30 p.m. The Red Oak Adult Choir will sing and the church's Boy Scout Troop will attend the service in a body and provide ushers for the occasion.

Review Pitt Progress Program For Rotarians

Leaders of the Pitt County Progress Program addressed the Greenville Rotary Club last night reviewing the growth of the program now in its third year.

Clarke Stokes, chairman of the Progress Program, told Rotarians the undertaking is reaching communities throughout the county and is contributing to making Pitt a better county in which to live. He said the annual cost of operating the program amounts to approximately $1,600, the majority of which makes up cash awards for winning communities in the competition.

Mrs. Lillie Little, Pitt County Home Demonstration Agent said a total of 10 Home Demonstration Clubs participated in all 10 phases of the program the first year and 12 clubs participated in all phases of the program last year. During each of the first two years, she said, three additional clubs participated in special phases of the program.

"The potential of this Pitt County Progress Program is still almost unlimited," she declared. "We like to feel the program belongs to everyone in this county."

Mrs. Little reviewed work which has been done by participating clubs in the program during the past two years, illustrating home and community improvements with pictures.

Talk Mentally Retarded

The West Greenville Parent-Teachers Association met Thursday afternoon in the school auditorium with the president, Mrs. Amos Evans, presiding.

Benny Lewis gave the devotional. Speaking on prayer, he said, "Sometimes we are so busy asking that we fail to hear the Lord speaking to us."

The program was "The Mentally Retarded Child," this being National Mental Retarded Child Week. Dr. Kenneth Quiggins stated that "men and women of tomorrow depend on what we teach today." Mrs. W. P. Shelton of Ayden told how the new school for the mentally retarded children was started.

Dr. Carl Adams gave the physical, social and psychological aspects. He stated, "We need to be realistic about the retarded child, that he is as much of the family as anyone of us, and that he is entitled to a place in the community. He should be given an opportunity and not be hidden."

Civic Oversight Quickly Righted

LANDER, Wyo. (AP)—The Lander city council recently passed an ordinance forbidding drinking in the city park.

Then they discovered there was a hitch: The city park is outside the city limits.

The council promptly passed another ordinance annexing the city park.

Farm motor trucks in the United States numbered less than 1,000 in 1910, but reached 2 1/2 million by 1953.

Burley Tobacco Bids Run High

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (P)—Opening season bids ranged up to $70 a hundred pounds in Tennessee's burley tobacco market yesterday, with averages from $62.50 to $57.12.

New Tazewell reported the $70 average and the high $62.50 average on 300,952 pounds sold. Carthage reported the lowest average on its 325,438-pound volume.

Opening sales last season averaged $59.28 per hundred on 6,272,748 pounds sold by the state's 29 markets.

Greenville's $62.38 average was up $2.18 over last year's opening day, but Knoxville's $60.51 was lower by 62 cents. A Knoxville warehouseman said top grades brought up to 69 and 70 cents, often 2 cents a pound better than opening day last year.

Reports from throughout the state indicated that bidding was stronger on tan leafs and good flyings than on other types of leaf. The volume of the 1958 crop was generally believed to be off about 10 per cent with quality slightly lower.

Funeral Wednesday For Kirby Taylor

Funeral services for Kirby Taylor, 58, will be held at the Wilkerson Chapel Wednesday at 3:30 p.m. and burial will be in Greenwood Cemetery. The Rev. Walter B. Nobles, Free Will Baptist Minister of Winterville, assisted by the Rev. Henry Melvin, pastor of Reedy Branch Free Will Baptist Church, will conduct the services. Mr. Taylor died in Pitt Memorial Hospital at 3 p.m. Sunday after an illness of a week.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Lillian Meeks Taylor; three sons, J. K. Taylor of Auberndale, Fla., and Leslie and Carlton Mack Taylor of New Bern; three daughters, Mrs. Berry Craft of Grifton, Mrs. Gilbert Barrington of Auberndale, Fla., and Mrs. Kennie Biggs of Newport News, Va.; 18 grandchildren; his mother, Mrs. Katie Taylor of New Bern, and a brother, Mark Taylor of New Bern.

Last Rites Set For Mrs. W. S. Wiggins

Mrs. Mary Ella Wiggins, 73, died at her home near Vanceboro at 3 p.m. Monday following several weeks illness.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday at 3 p.m. at the home near Vanceboro by the Rev. Reuben Jones, Free Will Holiness minister of Fayetteville, and the Rev. Alfred Wethington, Free Will Holiness minister of Vanceboro. Burial will be in the churchyard.

Mrs. Wiggins spent all her life in Craven County. She was a member of Juniper Chapel Free Will Baptist Church. She was married to William Solomon Wiggins who died in 1950.

Surviving are a daughter, Miss Bloome Wiggins of the home; two sons, William Arthur and Tom Henry Wiggins of the home; two sisters, Mrs. George A. Anderson and Mrs. Mattie Morris of near Vanceboro and two brothers, Bill Henry and Matthew Morris of near Vanceboro and one grand son.

Card of Thanks

The family of the late Mrs. Cora Best Jones acknowledges with grateful appreciation the letters of condolence, floral tributes, food, use of cars and your prayers during our recent bereavement. May God bless each of you.

The Best, Teal, Spain and Brown Families.

An Appreciation

We wish to extend our thanks to our many friends, white and colored for their messages of sympathy, flowers, food, use of cars and other kindnesses at the time of the death of our loved one, God bless you all.

The Hunter and Harris Families.

Richard B. Jackson Funeral Thursday

Richard B. Jackson, 36, of Grimesland, died in McGuire's Veterans Hospital, Richmond, Va. early Tuesday morning. He had been in declining health three years and critically ill three days.

Funeral services will be held at the Wilkerson Chapel Thursday at 3:30 p.m. by Dr. H. G. Haney. Burial will be in Greenwood Cemetery.

Mr. Jackson, son of V. A. Jackson of Grimesland and the late Mary Nooney Jackson, was born and reared in Grimesland and graduated from Grimesland High School before entering the Air Force during World War II. Since his discharge he had been engaged in logging and lumber business near Grimesland. He was a member of Grimesland Christian Church.

Surviving are his wife, the former Carolyn Bowen of Washington, to whom he was married in 1950; two daughters, Deborah Carol and Brenda Dee Jackson of the home; his father, a brother, Earl S. Jackson of Greenville, and four sisters, Mrs. Earl Galloway and Mrs. Lloyd B. Wheeler of Grimesland, Mrs. Leslie Fleming of Norfolk, Va., and Mrs. John Svyerski of New Jersey.
