

President Gives Congress Safety-Through-Strength Program To Bolster Military And Economic Fronts

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower today gave Congress an eight-point "safety through strength" program for dealing with the Russian space age threat.

The President, in an address carried nationwide on television and radio, said too that the country could make no more tragic mistake "than to concentrate merely on military strength."

There was almost a wartime solemnity in the general mood of Congress — shaken by the national concern over Russia's space and rocket feats.

Eisenhower, obviously with mounting interservice rivalries in mind, said the nation's first need is to assure that military organization speeds, rather than hinders, the functioning of the military establishment.

Eisenhower said he will have specific proposals later in a special defense message. "Let us proudly remember," he said, "that the members of the armed forces give their basic allegiance solely to the United States."

He said freedom of the seas must be maintained, and said that means nuclear submarines and cruisers, as well as antisubmarine weapons, missile ships, and similar facilities.

"We must be forward-looking in our research and development to anticipate and achieve the unimaginable weapons of the future."

"With this kind of all-inclusive campaign, I have no doubt that we can create the intellectual capital we need for the years ahead, invest it in the right places — and do all this, not as regimented pawns, but as free men and women!" he said.

Too Early To Ask Tax Hike: Hodges

Hodges said Highway Fund revenues are falling slightly below estimates made when the highway budget for this biennium was being prepared.

Floridians Feel Unusual Cold In Groves, Homes

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Early-rising by temperatures hovering around south Floridians were greeted by temperatures hovering around the freezing point today, and a valuable citrus crop was threatened in the central section of the state.

Many homes are without heating systems and residents huddled near electric heaters. The unusual sight of frost was reported in a suburban Coral Gables.

The price of firewood was up from the early fall price of $18 for half a cord to $23 at one Miami woodyard.

The lowest temperature reported in the farming belt south of Miami was 21 degrees. It was enough to crack tomatoes, the major crop being harvested at present.

The state's lowest temperature — 18 degrees — was reported at Hague, just north of Gainesville in north Florida.

Order New Action On Commies

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Court of Appeals today directed the government to conduct further proceedings in its seven-year effort to require the Communist party to register as a tool of Moscow.

The court said the Subversive Activities Control Board, if it is to rely upon the testimony of one Mrs. Mary Stalcup Markward, must make available to the Communist party certain reports she made to the FBI.

This apparently left the board with the alternative of eliminating Mrs. Markward's testimony and writing another report, or conducting further hearings.

The registration proceeding against the party was initiated in November 1950 after passage, over the veto of former President Truman, of the Subversive Activities Control Act.

This is the second time the case has reached the Court of Appeals. It got all the way to the Supreme Court once, but the high court sent it back for further proceedings without reaching the question of constitutionality of the law.

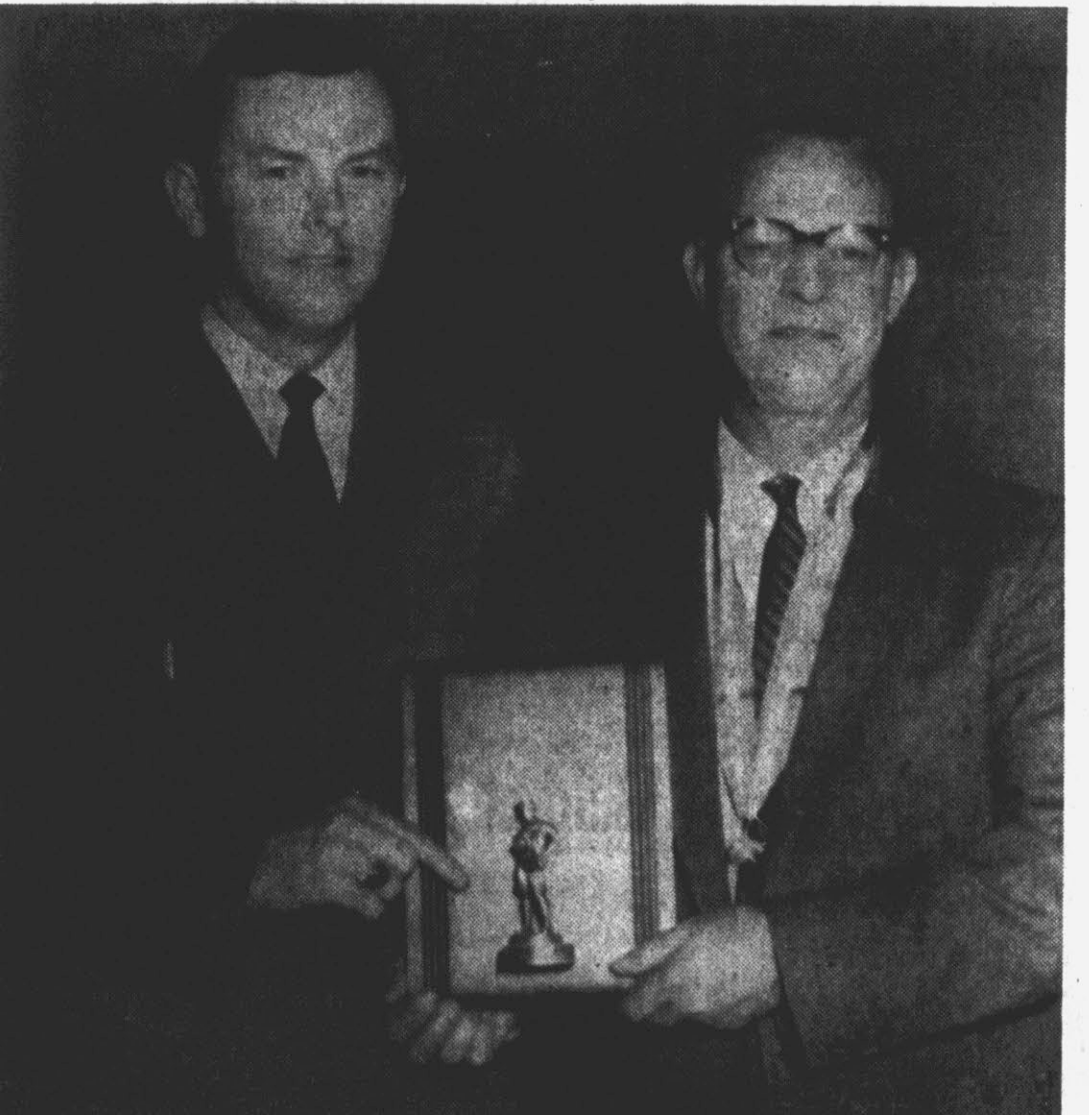

The board eliminated the testimony of the three witnesses — Paul Crouch, Harvey Matusow and Manning Johnson — or to give party lawyers another chance to test their credibility.

Pitt District Scouters Collect Award For Greatest Advances

WILSON — Pitt District Scouters were among the many honored last night at the East Carolina Council's annual Recognition Banquet.

The Pitt District received the President's Award for the Council, having been chosen as the district making the greatest strides during the past year.

Cold Weather Is Linger On

Pitt County's siege of cold weather continued today, although skies were clear. Temperatures recorded at the Greenville Utilities Commission's weather station on Tar River dropped to 18 degrees at 8 a.m. today, lowest since Monday morning at 8 a.m. when the reading was also 18.

Arrested, Man Dies In Hospital

A 42-year-old man, picked up by City Police last night on a public drunkenness charge, died early this morning in Pitt Memorial Hospital.

Other Pitt County Scouters who have received the award are: J. H. Rose, 1935; Wyatt Brown and W. F. Young, 1948; Sherman Parks, 1952; W. H. Davenport, 1954; Dr. J. D. Messick, 1955; and James Butler, Erskine Duff and J. B. Kittrell Sr., 1956.

Officers related that they found a pint of whiskey in his clothing, approximately two-thirds full. Coroner Rouse has ordered an autopsy performed. He said his ruling would depend on the outcome.

Prospects for today were for the temperature to climb only a few degrees above the freezing point, 32, and for continued cold, clear weather tonight. Warmer temperatures are expected to move into the state tomorrow and Saturday.

Lindsay Warren In Politics Again

WASHINGTON, N.C. (AP) — Lindsay C. Warren, one of North Carolina's best-known political figures, announced today he is stepping out of retirement to return to the political arena.

Forecasters were for warmer temperatures — welcome news to launching crews struggling against near-freezing weather — and for diminishing winds.

Warren, a former congressman who served for 13½ years as comptroller general of the United States, announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for the state senate from the Second Senatorial District.

Fingerprint Expert Links Wetzel To Slayer In Car

ROCKINGHAM, N.C. (AP) — An FBI fingerprint expert linked Frank Edward Wetzel today with the automobile allegedly driven by the slayer of two North Carolina highway patrolmen.

The state yesterday identified the articles as among those taken from a 1957 black Oldsmobile found abandoned on a Chattanooga, Tenn., street the night after the two patrolmen were killed.

Wetzel, 36, of Seneca Falls, N.Y., has pleaded innocent to the murder charge. He is being tried only in Reece's death, but is similarly charged in Brown's death.

Asked to relate that statement to his testimony, Terry said: "As scared as I was then, I can't say exactly what happened. For a week and a half after that, I was still scared."

Bailey was the first witness in the fourth day of Wetzel's trial here on a charge of slaying patrolman W. L. Reece near Ellerbe the night of Nov. 5.

However, on cross-examination during Terry's 3½-hour testimony, defense attorney John T. Page Jr. of Rockingham read from a statement Terry made under oath six days after the slaying:

"I actually had no view at all of the driver of the car...I never looked him directly in the face, but his talk will be the only means I can ever identify him."

Officers testified they found an arsenal of guns and ammunition in the abandoned car, as well as articles of clothing and other items.

OTTAWA (AP) — Nobel Peace Prize winner Lester B. Pearson says the best hope of world peace might be the discovery that another planet is inhabited and its space ships circling the globe.

Charles Reedy, a clothing store worker in Roanoke, Va., identified a pair of trousers found in the abandoned car. Reedy said his firm altered them the morning of Nov. 5 for a man who gave him the name as James Mosher. Reedy identified Wetzel as Mosher.

Feminine Primping Started With Eve

By VIVIAN BROWN

AP Newsfeatures Beauty Editor

A letter from a husband only goes to show that today's man doesn't realize how lucky he is. "My wife spends too much time primping before the mirror," says the man. "But that isn't my main gripe. She uses her allowance for hair preparations—permanent waves, lotions, sprays. She does on her blonde hair, and it does look attractive, but why shouldn't it if she spends a fortune on it?"

This man has it good compared to men of other periods of history. Consider the vogue that existed during the 18th Century, for instance, when women powdered their hair with grease, then powdered it, so it would stick, built it up with bran, horse-hair and cushions on wire frames to a height of three feet or more. Marie Antoinette flaunted these huge headdresses, and the fashion was to use the hair to support ribbons, flowers, feathers, ships in full sail, military engagements or statues of individuals worked out in wax or glass. Doorways had to be heightened and roofs of sedan chairs hinged to accommodate these elaborate coiffures.

Greecian Glamor

The letterwriter is blessed too because he has a blonde wife. The Greeks would have loved her, as golden hair was their ideal. Hair dye then didn't come out of neat little packages as it does today, either. They used a messy preparation of goat fat, beach ashes and yellow flowers to keep it light. The Romans went for blonde hair, too, Messalina having introduced yellow wigs. After the Punic Wars (Third Century, B. C.), hair rose to great allure with dyeing, curling and heated tongs. Fashionable Roman ladies had wardrobes of wigs in different colors, and they must have cost plenty.

Elizabethan Wigs

In Elizabethan England, red wigs were popular, curled and frizzled, puffed and crisped, worked into garlands and wreaths, ornamented with jewels. Powdered wigs were popular during Louis XIV reign, and periwigs were so popular during the Restoration that hair thieves ran rampant and parents were frightened to let children out of their homes.

Victorian coiffures were heavy and matronly, but since World War I Hollywood and Paris have been setting the pace in coiffures, and hair has become a thing of natural beauty. It is still fashionable to dye graying hair as it was in the time of the pharaohs when the Egyptian dye formula included donkey hoof, date kernels and other ingredients cooked in an earthenware pot.

These days women concentrate on shampoo, and keep their heads clean, unlike the other ladies of history.

Speaker Tells Person's 4 Needs

"All individuals have four needs which are recognition from others, a sense of responsibility to others and a feeling that others respond to us, a feeling of security, and a joy and pleasure of new experiences," reflected Dr. George Douglas, who said, "The hollow person can never be filled."

Dr. and Mrs. Douglas of the East Carolina College faculty discussed "Human Relations" at the Sans Souci Book Club meeting Tuesday at the home of Mrs. J. D. Messick.

As these two persons sat in front of the fireplace where the mantel was decorated with an arrangement of gladioli, they brought a wealth of ideas on which the club members and guests deeply reflected.

The speakers brought out that "we need to develop within ourselves certain attitudes which take us back to the teachings of Jesus. Love thy neighbor as thyself."

In closing, club members were given an inspiring quotation which is an old Chinese proverb, "If there is righteousness in the heart, there will be beauty in the character. If there is beauty in the character, there will be harmony in the home. If there is harmony in the home, there will be order in the nation. If there is order in the nation, there will be peace in the world."

Mrs. Messick introduced Dr. and Mrs. Douglas.

Following the passing of books Mrs. Messick invited the guests into the dining room where the table was covered with a cutwork white linen cloth and centered with an arrangement of dubonnet roses and flanked by dubonnet candles.

Mrs. M. L. Wright served rainbow ice cream cake and Mrs. L. L. Rives served coffee. Mrs. Reid Perkins assisted guests with other party accompaniments.

Accepts Fashions As Challenge

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor
NEW YORK (AP)—Even the shapeless chemise fails to floor that diminutive but daring designer Adele Simpson, who remarks demurely:
"I'm neither for nor against any new fashion. Instead, I accept it as a challenge to figure how each woman can make it her own."
Showing her spring collection to the nation's fashion press today, Mrs. Simpson illustrates graphically how every woman can wear some version of the current sack silhouette, after it has been refined and revised under the eye of a skilled designer.
She employs half-belts, back or front, to take the curve off the unfitted look. She shows many bloused tops over slim skirts. She shows a varied lineup of suit silhouettes, with jackets brief and straight, bloused or belted. The jacket-length overblouse is part of almost every Simpson suit costume, often matched to the jacket lining.

Mrs. Simpson uses many of the handsome silk blends used in men's wear.
She takes a short-cut in both suit jackets and overblouses, ending both at the hipbone or above.
For daytime street wear she likes soft neutral tones or navy, but for festive occasions she shows a brilliant rainbow of colors in flower prints or solid tones.
Mollie Parnis, known as Mrs.

Eisenhower's favorite dressmaker, also modifies the sack with outstanding success, using various devices to indent it at the waist-line and shape it over the bust-line. She calls this the "soft-focus" silhouette—slender but far from shapeless.
Most of the Parnis chemises have a half-belt in front, hang straight in back. She shows a number of wearable dress-and-jacket costumes, with hipbone jacket over a subtly shaped chemise.

The recital is scheduled for 3:30 p.m. in the McGinnis auditorium and will be open to the public.

Widow Tells Life With 'Veep'

By JANE EADS
WASHINGTON—Mrs. Alben Barkley, widow of the Kentucky senator and vice president, says she has written her memoirs but has not yet sought out a publisher for the full-length book she has tentatively titled "The Veep and I."
The comely Jane Barkley, now making her home in Washington, said she had started on the memoirs last spring with the assistance of newswoman Frances Leighton.
"We finished it, and I put it away in a drawer," she told me. "Since word got out about the manuscript many people have been telling me what a good idea they thought it was and that I ought to get it published."
After the "Veep's" sudden death in May 1956, Mrs. Barkley retired to the gracious old family home at Paducah, Ky. In the fall of that year, however, she returned to Washington and signed up to serve in the campaign headquarters of the Volunteers for Stevenson-Kefauver, her first experience in such work.
The first chapter of her memoirs, she says, begins with her meeting with the Veep in July 1949, while vacationing in the capital as the guest of Clark M. Clifford, then special counsel to President Truman, and Mrs. Clifford.

The former Jane Hadley, a St. Louis widow, met the then 74-year-old Veep on a cruise down the Potomac. Her wit and beauty won Barkley's heart and they were wed several months later after a whirlwind and highly publicized courtship.
The memoirs include some of the colorful Veep's letters to her during that famous courtship, bits of his renowned humor, but mostly, she said, "a point of view" the public rarely glimpsed—"his serious side, how well-informed he was, how concerned he was about foreign policy," and other international affairs."
Mrs. Barkley, now 45, says she will continue to make her home in the spacious and beautiful Connecticut Ave. apartment here to which the Veep took her as a bride. Her mother, Mrs. Estie Rucker, is living with her. Her two daughters by her marriage to the late Carleton S. Hadley are married.

Wherever The Fault, Correct It

There can be no doubt that something is wrong with the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation organization in North Carolina.

Frequent conflicts between the State ASC Committee and county committees during the last year have shaken the program and in many instances have seriously affected the confidence of farmers in the program. In some instances county ASC committees have been ordered by the state group to resign their positions, and there have been other instances such as in Pitt where county committees resigned after serious fights with the state body.

As a result the entire ASC organization in North Carolina is in an uproar. In the present condition, the organization as a whole is failing to meet the needs of the farmers of North Carolina. It has reached the point that further deterioration of relationships between the state committee and local committees and farmers could cause a complete breakdown of ASC operations.

In a letter to Secretary of Agriculture Benson, Sen. Kerr Scott has demanded a complete investigation of the state ASC committee's action in ousting the county committees of Rockingham County and suspending two members of the Halifax county committee. He has asserted that both actions "reflect an uncompromising and dictatorial attitude on the part of state officials. . . ."

Certainly there have been other instances in which similar attitudes have been reflected in actions by the state committee. The investigation which Sen. Scott proposes should not be limited to what has taken place in Rockingham and Halifax Counties. It should include an inquiry into the state committee's relationship with local committees in other counties as well.

In our opinion the situation boils down to one of two things. Either the state committee which is now in control is overstepping its bounds of authority in seeking reforms in local ASC operations, or the manner in which county ASC committees have operated in the past have not been in accordance with the regulations and aims of the law.

Whatever the root of the trouble, it must be eliminated, and eliminated quickly. Otherwise the ASC operations which control many vital parts of the farm program will be rendered completely ineffective so far as many counties in North Carolina are concerned.

Unless the farmers' confidence in administration of ASC activities is restored, agriculture in North Carolina will suffer further serious setbacks.

Local Autonomy Has A Welcome Supporter

A voice from the highest executive post in North Carolina has joined the chorus from voices from local governments throughout the state in pointing to the need for more "home rule" for cities, towns and counties.

How much weight this recommendation from Gov. Hodges will carry with members of the legislature remains to be seen. It is, nevertheless, encouraging for those who have long sought home rule for local government. In the Governor's words, "We have permitted too many decisions of a local nature to be made in Raleigh."

Most local officials have long been aware of that. A majority of citizens of cities, towns and counties throughout the state have been aware of it. Their efforts to correct the situation have resulted in little if any weakening of the strings legislatures hold on local government in their respective counties.

During the 1959 General Assembly there should be a concerted effort made for the passage of realistic legislation which will give local governments reasonable autonomy in handling their own local affairs.

Business News Round-Up Time

By ELMER ROESSNER

Here's another round-up of strange and wonderful news in the world of business:

Cards of one of the eat-and-charge-it clubs are now good at a chain of drive-and-charge-it auto rental agencies. Next thing you know, gasoline credit cards will be honored at swank restaurants. That's logical. Both gas stations and restaurants offer to fill 'er up.

Two West Coast supermarkets are closing appliance discount stores. They couldn't beat regular dealers' competition. . . . Investment in advertising will hit $1 billion this year. Printers' Ink predicts. . . . Retail shoe sales reached a new high of $4,037,000,000 last year, largely because of the new pointed toes for women and the tapered look for men, which made many old shoes obsolete.

A Jamaica, N.Y., delicatessen owner labels his best eggs "Grade Aig."

LONG SUBSCRIPTIONS
"Playboy" offers a subscription for as long as you are a designated heir for $150; "Made in Europe" offers an eternal subscription for the same price. Both magazines put the money in trust funds, collecting the interest annually to pay each year's subscription.

Two thousand new supermarkets will be established this year and 1,700 old ones remodeled, predicts John A. Logan, president of the National Association of Good Chains. . . . Labor unions have an annual income of $620,000,000 up $182,000,000 over 1955, the National Industrial Conference Board calculates. . . . The French turbo helicopter Alouette II is to be distributed and later manufactured in this country by Republic Aviation.

A Chicago firm estimates each American will eat 62.4 hot dogs this year. That other six-tenths of a pork will probably be given to the cat.

OFFICE WAGES UP

Average wages of all office jobs, except addressing machine operators, rose last year, the National Office Management Association reports. Some jobs and some 1957 averages: senior bookkeeper, $87 a week; private secretary $82; phone operator, $61; senior stenographer, $67; senior typist, $61; addressing machine operator, $56. Items like this get a lot of people mad at their bosses.

The world's potato crop last year dropped 6 per cent below that of the year before, the U.S. Foreign Agriculture Service reports. . . . But the dry edible bean crop was up 2 per cent. . . . And the world's castor bean crop was 536,000 short tons, the largest in recent years.

One reason homes cost so much is that there are 3,000 different sizes of windows, boosting manufacturing and inventory costs, says Eugene Gurkoff, of Mechanicsburg, Pa., himself a manufacturer.

If you are going to marry, do it before 1960, advises Theodore H. Gilbert, President of Standard Financial. Housing and household goods will be abundant and reasonable until then, he says, when the boom crop of war babies will tend to push prices higher.

Opinions In Brief

"The extent to which secrecy is possible in juvenile court proceedings—as disclosed by the Commonwealth's Attorneys—should be a matter for a great deal of concern. One aspect is particularly disquieting—that dealing with 'immunity' of welfare workers and probation officers from being required to furnish information about juvenile offenders to law enforcement officers."—Roanoke, Va., Times.

Strength For Today

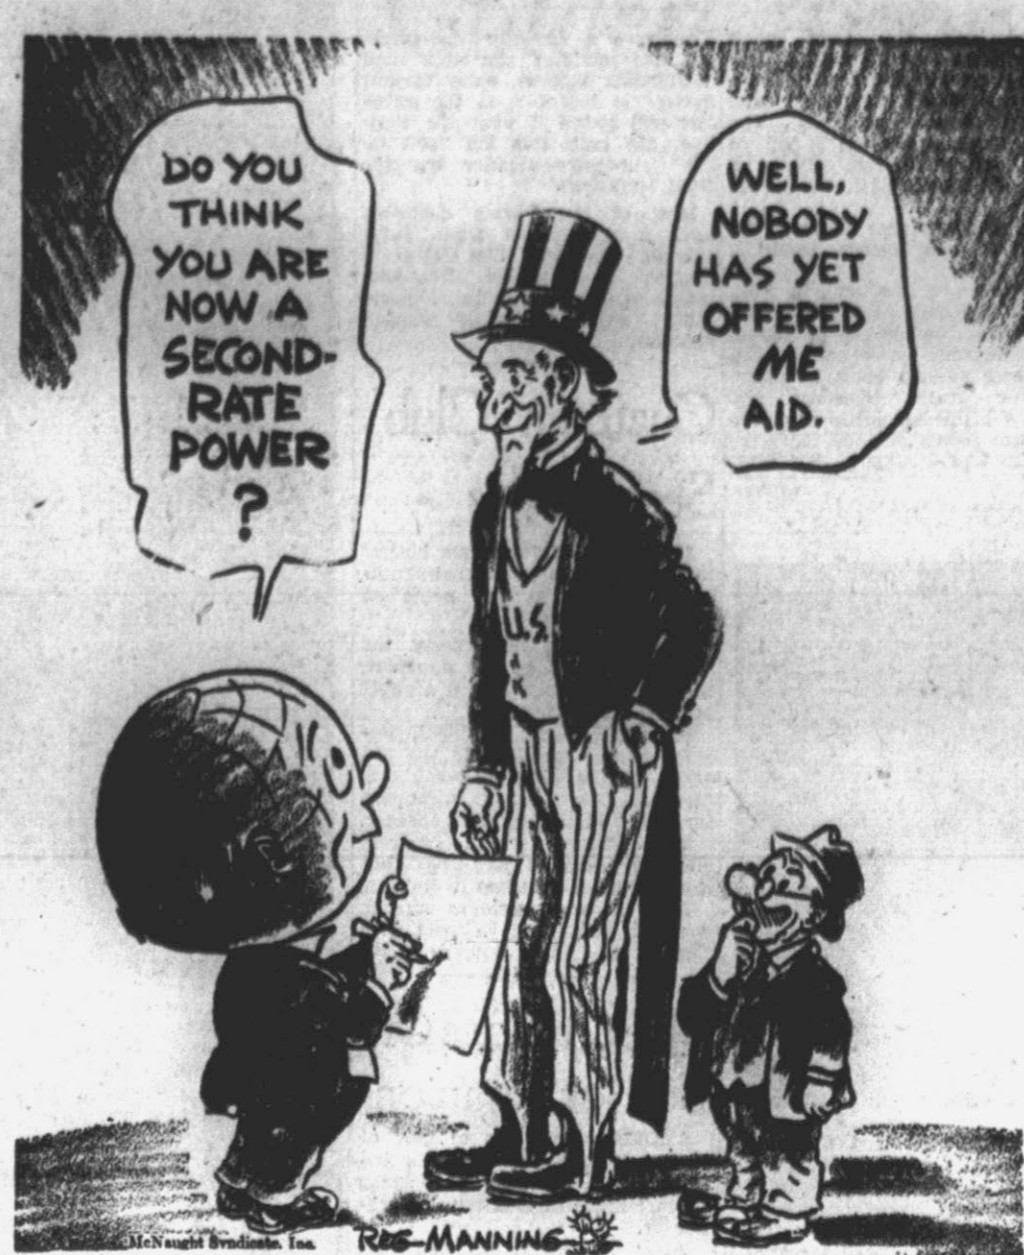

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
COST OF GROWTH
Freedom is one of God's great gifts. When Napoleon was plunging across Europe and enslaving its inhabitants, he expressed surprise over the fact that people did not seem to appreciate the good he was doing them. To be sure, he took away their liberty, but he built up industry, promoted business, made countries more prosperous. "Can there be anything better than this?" he asked a group of petitioners one day. "Yes," came the answer, "Liberty."

It is significant that the word liberty is derived ultimately a Sanskrit word which means "to grow." Liberty therefore is the chance to use one's powers which all of us have in order to grow. We might be good, religious, and very sensible people as mere automations, but unless we have freedom we would never grow.

Freedom means making mistakes and plenty of them. Freedom means falling into sin. Freedom means lots of pain and sorrow. We might all think ourselves better off if we could just be told what to do and then go right ahead and always do what is right. But if this were the arrangement, we would never grow. We would not grow mentally. We would not grow and develop spiritually. All our lives we would be slaves.

God made us creatures; he is trying also to make sons and daughters out of us all. And if this is to be accomplished, we must grow. And if we are to grow we must have liberty—which is hard to handle, but necessary.

Does That Answer Your Question?

By ALVIN TAYLOR

Irate Mother's Error

Billy Laughinghouse, who as an associate of a certain local store, has been on duty at the model home on Sheraton Drive, tells this incident.

A large crowd was in the new home one evening. They came as families, largely so naturally there were great numbers of children present.

One little type was into everything. He was running from one end of the house to the other and in general wreaking havoc.

Finally an irate mother descended on the child, grabbed him by the shoulders and gave him a good sound shaking.

She turned him around for a scolding, took a look and gasped,

"Oh my God. That's not my kid."

The Sheriff's Department was puzzled over a break-in in the Grimesland area some time ago. A window had been broken to gain entrance to the rural store. There was no other way the robbers could have entered or left the building.

Only the one window had been broken and several locks, which could be opened only with the key protected the door.

What puzzled deputies was the fact that the window was barred. Even with the window open there was only a very small opening between the bars through which the intruder could crawl.

No adult could possibly have entered and only a very small child would have been able to slither through the open.

Deputies had about decided a child entered and handed merchandise to others outside when someone took a closer look at the bars.

They were bolted on and apparently the thief had loosened the bolts to gain entrance to the window.

When he left, the meticulous thief had apparently carefully bolted the bars back in place.

A baby narrowly escaped serious injury the other day when fire broke out in the home while the child was left there alone.

The mother, when she discovered the fire, ran into the house and saved the baby. Both received slight burns.

Fire Chief George Gardner urged that parents never leave babies and children in the house alone, because of the fire danger.

He pointed out that babies can't act to protect themselves if a fire breaks out and it's possible that smoke could cause them serious harm even if flames never reach them.

Small children, he said, could be in just as much danger. Fire always proves an attraction to the toddler and a small child playing around a fire place, or finding matches could be seriously burned.

Thus extreme care should be exercised where youngsters and fire are concerned. It could mean their lives.

Other Editors Saying -- Press Censorship In USA

(Raymondville, Tex., Chronicle)

As a newspaper reader you may not be aware of it. But it's happening right here in America—a continuous, day-in, day-out struggle for press freedom.

What makes the struggle insidious is that it's going on all over the world today. No city or hamlet is unaffected—not Raymondville or any other town in Texas.

Press freedom was destroyed in Germany when Hitler seized the newspapers and decreed the burning of "forbidden" books. Several years before, it was destroyed in Italy as Mussolini took over the newspapers in his ruthless climb to power.

It was destroyed in Argentina under Peron who wiped out a great newspaper when it dared to differ with a dictatorship.

Doesn't the U.S. Constitution guarantee freedom of the press? you ask. Isn't this principle based upon the precept that the press is controlled by the people and that newspapers are published for the people and not for the government?

Certainly, but look what's happening! Washington: Defense Department director of publicity policies believes military officials should decide whether information is "useful" or "interesting" before releasing it to the press. After protests from the press, it was said the "yardstick" for passing on information was meant only for "intra-departmental preparation" of news releases.

Washington: A reporter's request for obituary material on a deceased general was held up until it had been reviewed and cleared by the Pentagon.

Washington: A survey showing that sailors get seasick was not made available to the press on the ground that it is not a "constructive contribution" to defense.

Washington: Many bills are introduced in Congress containing no provisions for making available to the public information about costs of projects, reports to be made, or accountings of funds.

Now let's take a look at what's happening to a few of the nation's smaller newspapers. One of the town's leading citizens gets too much to drink, is hauled in by a highway patrolman and the county judge puts him in the jug for drunken driving.

The local newspaper prints the story and the fury that breaks loose can be heard for miles. As a result the V. I. P. who owns stock in a store that gives the newspaper considerable advertising persuades the owner to cancel its advertising.

A school board goes into what is commonly known as an "executive session" which is another way of telling the public that what the board does is none of the public's business. A reporter was told the meeting was not open to the press.

The story of what happened, however, was printed in the local paper. To "get even" the (Continued on page five)

Wild West Tamed

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—What are they doing to the wild, wild West and that saddle-sore hero of yore—the American cowboy?

In both the movies and television this emblem of American masculinity has fallen upon sad times. One who knew him in his prime has a hankering now and then to see him climb aboard old Pinto for the last time, turn and wave farewell, and center off into oblivion.

That way, at least, the cowboy could retain some of his former dignity—and the fiction writers could drum up a new hero, such as the missile jockey or the space ranger.

What am I so peeved about? Well, I'll tell you, pardner. I'm plumb apirit-fractured about how they have watered down the good old-fashioned horse opera, and turned the cowboy, the sheriff and the U. S. marshal into little Lord Fauntleroy in sombreroes.

The horse opera in its original form was one of the simplest and most satisfying art mediums ever devised. The villain reeked of evil, the heroic cowboy reeked of dust and sweat. He sunned down the bad man, virtue triumphed, and everybody left the theater feeling he had got his dime's worth—which is what it cost to go to a movie in those days.

But today you can pay $1.50, and instead of Zane Grey or Max Brand, you get two hours of Sigmond Freud—in color. You are left to mull over whether the sheriff shot the bad man because of an Oedipus complex, and whether the bad really was bad or just a crazy kid with a mixed up IQ.

Shades of William S. Hart, the pattern of all movie cowboys! Since he, Harry Carey, Hoot Gibson and Tom Mix passed from the screen, the movie cowboy has gone nowhere but downhill.

Pardner, those galoots were real hairy-chested buxkos. They looked like cowboys. They wore bandanas, leather arm cuffs, and leather or sheepskin chaps—the same clothes the honest working cowboy once wore. They hung out in saloons when they weren't out on the range, and they weren't afraid to belly up to the bar and belt down four fingers of bourbon, the breakfast of champions.

But today? The cowboy has been preffied beyond belief. He relies on his guitar as much as his gun. Except for his sombrero and six-shooter, he is dressed like Ivy League—who wants to wear those licky old chaps any more?

The movie cowboy now avoids those nasty old saloons as much as possible. He leaves for Eagle Pass from a cozy restaurant, where he takes more coffee breaks than a stenographer. Instead of dance hall darses, whose morals at least were never questionable, your modern horse opera is populated by lacy school-teachers, beautiful young cafe waitresses, and other would-be pioneer mothers.

On television, with a few exceptions, such as "Gunsmoke," the horse opera are even more sickeningly sterile. Instead of going "bang!" the guns go "ping!" Yes, the sound even has a question mark behind it, like this—"ping? ping? ping?"

Of course, on TV the model modern law feller tries to avoid a showdown. Any night now I expect to see the hero tell the bad man "Drop that gun, son. Why not go along with me and see my psychiatrist? He'll show you how to get rid of those aggressive impulses. Look what he did for me."

Yep, the wild, wild West is getting mild, mild, mild. You take the frontier, pardner. I'm adding up and going back to Mother Goose, where the tales are rougher but more satisfying.

ECC To Be Host To Citizen's Meet

Ways of improving public education in North Carolina will receive attention at East Carolina College Friday, Jan. 17, when representatives from eastern counties of the state gather on the campus for a regional conference of the North Carolina Citizens Committee for Better Schools.

Members of school boards, school officials, and citizens representing industry, agriculture, religion, education, and business in thirty counties of Eastern North Carolina are expected to attend.

Discussion will focus attention on answers to the question "What Shall Our Schools Accomplish?" The purpose of the conference is to "mobilize the intelligence of the people at all levels" in behalf of better public education.

President Dallas Herring of the State Board of Education, Rose Hill, and Holt McPherson, High Point editor and Chairman of the North Carolina Citizens Committee for Better Schools, will be principal speakers. They will address members of the conference at a luncheon in the North Dining Hall on the campus at 1 p.m.

Simulated Space Flight Planned For Next Test

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—In a few weeks, A. I. C. Donald G. Farrell will be living a dog's life in a test chamber simulating conditions space travelers would experience on a round-trip flight to the moon.

The experiment by the School of Aviation Medicine at Randolph Air Force Base will duplicate some conditions met by the Russian dog Laika aboard Sputnik II. Air Force spokesmen said Farrell would stay in the space flight chamber for a week sometime next month. Like Laika, he will be wired so scientists can record his reactions.

The longest previous test was 24 hours.

Trigger Burke Is Slated To Die In Chair Tonight

OSSINING, N. Y. (AP)—The execution of Elmer (Trigger) Burke, 39-year-old professional gunman, is set for tonight in the electric chair at Sing Sing Prison.

Convicted of the murder of a pal in a Manhattan barroom brawl, the tough and notorious killer-for-hire has been in the death house for two years.

He was captured in a rented hideaway house at Folly Beach near Charleston, S.C.

Scheduled executions were canceled three times before as his case was carried to the U.S. Supreme Court, largely on the ground that adverse publicity robbed him of a fair trial.

Burke is under sentence to die for shooting his crony Edward (Poochie) Walsh in 1952. The prosecution charged Walsh was shot when he tried to stop Burke from kicking another man in the face. Burke claimed at his trial that he must have been drunk.

Burke has been a suspect in half a dozen New York City murders and has figured in a series of spectacular crimes, including the aftermath of the million-dollar Brink's robbery in Boston.

In 1954 Burke was seized in Boston as the gunman hired to assassinate Joseph (Specs) O'Keefe, key figure in the Brink's armored car office robbery. Burke had machine-gunned O'Keefe, but failed to kill him.

Burke, aided by armed raiders, broke out of the Charles Street jail in Boston in a sensational escape. The FBI caught him a year later in Folly Beach, S.C. He was taken to New York City for trial in the Walsh murder.

Wants A Hearing Aid For Her Pet

DALLAS (AP)—A woman violinist today sought a hearing aid for her pet, a symphony-loving cocker spaniel who was deafened last week by pranksters' firecrackers.

Miss Catherine Pierce, a violinist for the Dallas Symphony Orchestra, said she left her 14-year-old cocker Grubby in her car last Saturday while she visited some friends.

She said when she returned, the interior of the car had been damaged and her dog deafened by firecrackers thrown into the vehicle.

A veterinarian told Miss Pierce her dog was completely deaf. He said the dog's eardrums were not broken, but told her Grubby suffered a hearing collapse from the firecracker blasts because he is such an old dog.

Miss Pierce said her dog had always appeared to love music. Grubby was a regular sight in the wings of auditoriums when the orchestra was playing.

Grubby's mistress said when she and her friends got together at her home for string quartet sessions, Grubby would lie on the floor for hours without making a sound.

"He really seemed to like music," Miss Pierce said. Only once did Grubby bark during a concert, she said. That was some time ago when the symphony had a guest tympanist who used a lot of cymbals in his performance.

"The vet told me his hearing might return in time," she said, "and since the eardrums are not broken I have some hope something can be worked out. I'm going to try to fix up a hearing aid."

Miss Pierce said Grubby did not appear to be in pain, although "there's some sensitivity around the ears and he's quieter than usual."

Sen. Scott Calls For Full Probe Of ASC Conditions

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. W. Kerr Scott (D-NC) has called for an "immediate and thorough investigation" of recent dismissals and suspensions by the North Carolina Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

Scott declared yesterday recent actions by the committee have destroyed the confidence of farmers in the farm program's operation. The senator asked Secretary of Agriculture Benson to investigate the state committee's dismissal last week of county ASC committeeman in Rockingham County and the suspension of two committeemen in Halifax County.

Scott said the committee's action "is not in accordance with the words or aims" of the law.

Disputes over whether ASC office managers in the two counties should remain in office led to both actions.

Scott said that unless action is taken by Benson, he will launch a full-scale congressional probe of the North Carolina ASC operation.

Scott, in his letter to Benson, said the actions in the Rockingham and Halifax cases "have shocked farmers throughout the state. Both show clearly that the present State ASC Committee has little regard for the desires and needs of farmers and their elected representatives on the local committees. Both reflect an uncompromising and dictatorial attitude on the part of state officials and a shabby respect for the law and regulations governing administration procedure."

Meanwhile, some 425 farmers, business and professional men of Rockingham County met at Wentworth yesterday to map further strategy in their battle against the State ASC Committee.

A total of 311 farmers signed a petition supporting the Rockingham County Committee and asking that the members be reinstated.

Lon Folger on Madison, an attorney, was named as legal adviser of the movement to revoke the ouster of the three committeemen.

Meanwhile, at Dunn, the Harnett County Committee received orders from the state committee to put its "house in order" or face removal from office, it was reported.

The committee was specifically instructed to properly combine the farms of the county, abide by the same rules governing the farm program in other counties, and to improve its attitude and show a better spirit of cooperation.

The program of the assembly will be composed of demonstrations and panel discussions as well as sermons and a public discourse.

Sponsored by the Watchtower Bible and Tract Society, conventioners will hear speakers from the world headquarters of the organization in Brooklyn, N. Y. and local congregations in eastern North Carolina.

Announcement was received today of a three-day Christian convention of Jehovah's Witnesses to be held in Rocky Mount at the National Guard Armory, January 24-26.

Wills Manning, presiding minister of the local congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses, stated that the assembly will be represented by delegates from upwards of 20 congregations of the Witnesses in eastern North Carolina.

New Canadian Dollar Is 'Death Money' To Indians

VANCOUVER, B. C. (AP)—That new Canadian dollar may just be more wampum to the white folks, but to West Coast Indians it's memmoose chick man, death money.

The design for the new dollar, struck to commemorate the British Columbia centennial this year, was submitted by Stephen Trenka of Thornhill, Ont.

Trenka used a totem pole motif, which he said was "inspired by the raven myth of the Haida Indians of British Columbia."

Then Guy Williams, a spokesman for the Native Brotherhood of British Columbia, saw the coin. He said it pictured the Trimpssea Indian mortuary totem, which has as its crowning figures the likeness of a bear mother and her son.

Therefore, Williams said, the dollar was memmoose chick man, death money, and no West Coast Indian would dare handle the new coin.

They'll Enforce Traffic Rules

THESE SIGNS OF DANGER . . . installed for a purpose. (Reflector Photos).

During the period from the first day of December, 1956, until the final day of November last year, police made 205 arrests as a result of traffic accidents on Greenville streets.

This figure includes only accidents with $100 or more property damage and accidents involving personal injury, Chief S. G. Gibbs reports.

Of this number, according to Gibbs, 64 arrests were made for failure to yield the right of way. Drivers arrested on this charge more than doubled the next highest offense, careless and reckless driving.

"In an attempt to reduce traffic accidents," Gibbs said, "we feel this step in the right direction will be on a selective enforcement basis; with emphasis being placed on arrests for failure to yield the right of way."

"The members of this department are being instructed, effective Jan. 13, to put forth an 'all out' effort to remedy our traffic enforcement problems."

Gibbs noted that General Statutes 20-158 and 20-158.1 gives the municipalities and Highway Commission the authority to designate main travel, streets and highways and to erect stop signs and yield-the-right-of-way signs on streets or highways approaching the main thoroughfares.

Drivers, he said, who do not adhere to these signs are guilty of a misdemeanor and upon being found guilty can be imprisoned 10 days and fined $10.

Other arrests made as a result of traffic accident investigations during the 12 month period were:

Following too closely, 19; operating under the influence, 18; failure to keep a proper lookout, 15; no operator's license, 13; failure to stop for stop light, 10; failure to stop for stop sign, 9; leaving the scene of an accident, 6; operating left of center line, 4; failure to give hand signal and hit-and-run, 3 each; improper brakes, improper turning, and improper passing, 2 each; improper registration, driving after license revoked, speeding, allowing a non-licensed operator to operate motor vehicle and auto larceny, 1 each. "Along with this program," Gibbs noted, "we are also urging our citizens who have shrubbery planted on corner lots at intersections, to cooperate with us in either removing the shrubbery or keeping it trimmed."

"Several bad wrecks have been caused by motorists whose views were obstructed by bushes and shrubbery." According to the police chief, additional traffic signs are to be placed at a number of hazardous intersections by the city in an effort to cut down on the number of traffic accidents. These signs are to be put up as soon as the posts arrive, it was explained.

McClellan Takes Over Rackets Probe Of Long, Bitter Strike

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. McClellan (D-Ark) today took over active direction of his Senate Rackets Committee's field investigation of the United Auto Workers and the Kohler Co. of Wisconsin.

The committee postponed until next month its public hearings into violence and other aspects of a continuing UAW strike against the Kohler firm, which makes plumbing fixtures.

Arrangements for McClellan to direct the staff inquiries were worked out at a stormy closed door committee meeting yesterday in the wake of a simmering, undercurrent row between some of the group's Democratic and Republican members.

McClellan said the committee would make a fair and full-scale inquiry into allegations that both the union and the company have dealt in violence in the four-year-old strike. He said it also would cover boycott practices employed by the union, and any improper political activities by either side.

His action came on the heels of protests by UAW President Walter Reuther and Sen. McNamara (D-Mich), a committee member, against the field investigation as handled by John McGovern, counsel to the committee's Republican members and head of the committee's Detroit field office.

Reuther had accused McGovern of making improper, irresponsible and prejudicial statements against the union. McNamara had demanded that the committee fire McGovern, but said he did not press that demand at the closed door meeting and no such action was taken.

In Detroit, Reuther said the union will welcome a hearing before the committee and its representatives "will answer all questions completely without taking refuge in the Fifth Amendment."

Reuther contended, however, that the committee staff has "concentrated primarily on investigating the union," and expressed the hope that "a comparable effort will be made to investigate the company" before public hearings are held.

McClellan said the UAW-Kohler public hearings would be replaced this month by an investigation of alleged corruption in the Operating Engineers Union. He declined to give any details.

Would-Be Bank Robbers Balked In Hold-Up Try

BOWLING GREEN, Ky. (AP)—Five Indiana youths, stopped from a bank robbery attempt by a 70-year-old bank president wielding a gun with 30-year-old bullets, were being held here under $25,000 bond each today.

The five were arrested at Munfordville by two state troopers several hours after three bandits discarded a pistol, hat and canvas bag in a headlong flight from the Bank of Clarkson yesterday. Clarkson is about 20 miles from Munfordville.

Bank President Clyde Bratcher routed them by firing two shots. Officers later said they found two slugs lodged in the barrel of Bratcher's gun. The president said the bullets were about 30 years old.

State Troopers Cecil Overstreet and D. L. Powell arrested the five after spotting their car. They were identified as Joseph S. Higdon, 21, Shelbyville, Ind.; Pvt. William H. Hurley, 18, Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo., and formerly of Shelbyville; Orvil Gene Edwards, 17, Indianapolis; and Charles Raymond Karnes, 18, and Allen Gene Karnes, 17, brothers, also of Shelbyville.

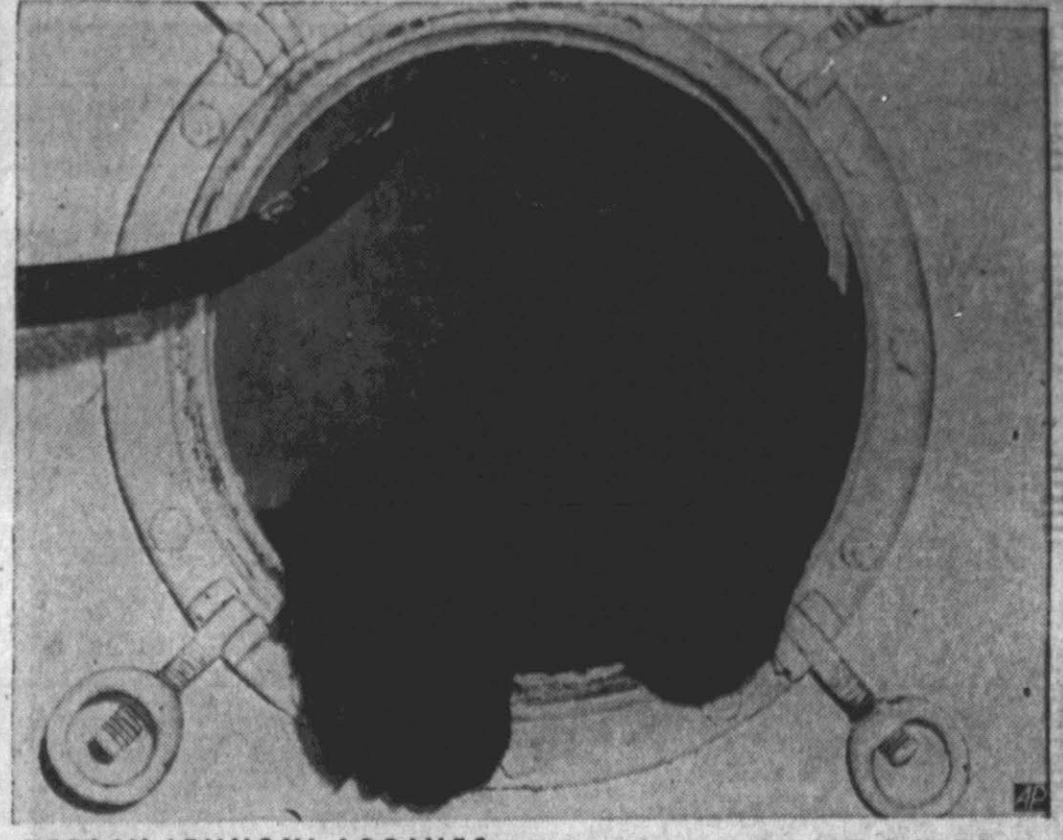

They were arraigned before U. S. Commissioner Claudia Compton on charges of violating the federal bank robbery statute.

They waived preliminary hearing and were held to the federal grand jury at Paducah April 21. State Police Capt. E. B. Jones said Higdon fired one shot at Bratcher. It lodged in the frame of a teller's cage directly in front of the banker.

Jones said all five admitted taking part in the holdup attempt.

A Day To Remember For The Sullivans Of Butte

BUTTE, Mont. (AP) — It's 6,000 miles to the Emerald Isle but Butte visitors don't have to go that far to find an Irishman. Corktown and Dublin Gulch are names of sections of this mining city. It's not hard to determine why.

The Irish are possibly the largest national group among Butte's 35,000 residents — and no small part of that fact can be traced to a day 63 years ago when the old Silver Bow County courthouse was besieged, not by Indians, but Irishmen.

June 5, 1894, is known even today as the day the Sullivans came to town. There were 69 of 'em, Sullivans all, who arrived in a body to seek American citizenship.

With them were goodly numbers of Harringtons, Murphys, Sheas and O'Briens and others whose names proclaimed their origin. An index of naturalization for the late 19th Century tucked away in a shelf of the district court clerk's office, shows the Sullivans greatly outnumbered their fellow-Irish as settlers.

No less than 202 Sullivans applied for citizenship in Butte courts during those years. There were 103 Harringtons, 96 Murphys, 62 Kelleys or Kellys, 48 Shaes, 41 O'Neills and O'Neils, 38 Lynches, 34 O'Briens, 29 Reillys and Rileys, 27 McCarthys, 26 Lowneys, 24 Kennedys, 22 O'Learys, 21 Walshes, 20 Ryans, 19 McGraths, 18 Callahans and Callaghans and lesser numbers of Brogans, Burnes, Carrolls, Clearys, ad infinitum.

Thirty-three members of the group bore the name John Sullivan, most of them preferring John L. or John J.

Shoe Goes On The Other Foot

GREENSBORO, N. C. (AP) — Motorcyclist Carl Lee Winfree, 25, waved Highway Patrolman Rahsom Smith to the side of the highway.

"I had to drive 75 miles an hour to catch you," Winfree admonished Smith, explaining that he had watched a television program in which the Highway Patrol urged the public to cooperate in observing the law.

Smith told Winfree to leave speed clocking up to the patrol. About a month later, Smith arrested a motorcyclist riding with his feet on the handlebars. It was Winfree, who was fined $10 and costs for reckless driving.

Glenmore Case Runs Into Delay

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — Charles Johnson's past caught up with him, but a judge feels it's time for the past to die.

Johnson, an 80-year-old Negro, said yesterday he was willing to return to North Carolina, where he escaped from a work gang in 1928 after serving 12 years of a 20-year term for murder.

Appearing before Essex County Judge James Giuliano on a drunk charge, Johnson admitted leaving the Wake County, N.C., prison farm 30 years ago and said he would waive extradition proceedings.

Giuliano refused, saying: "Because of this man's age, justice must be tempered with mercy."

Instead of granting Johnson's request, the judge continued the hearing until Jan. 29. North Carolina has not yet filed a detainer against the fugitive.

Johnson came here after his escape and has worked for a paper company for the last 30 years.

He kept out of trouble with the law until last Sunday, when he was picked up on the drunk charge. A routine fingerprint check showed that he was still wanted by North Carolina authorities.

Two Factors In Sight To Bolster Prosperity Tide

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP) — Two factors counted upon today by business optimists to help turn the tide of recession are increased military spending and a revival of home building.
Defense spending has already spurred upward without waiting for the Congress to act. Home builders see the easing in the money market as their best bet.
The questions now are: Will increased defense spending right now and a rush of contract awards that mean spending later on be enough to offset the decline in capital goods spending by industry? And will an easier mortgage market result in as many new homes being started as the foes of tight money think?
In April, military spending reached a peak of 42 billion dollars at an annual rate. A wave of economy brought the annual rate below 37 billion in November. The shock of the Russian Sputniks loosened the purse strings again. In December the annual rate jumped to 40 billion—the same rate, incidentally, that would mean a two-billion-dollar boost to the economy over the 38 billions that the Pentagon formerly expected to spend.
Industry's spending on capital goods seems likely to slide this year by more than two billion. Recently its liquidation of inventories has been running at a five-billion-dollar clip.
The role that housing is to play in halting or easing the recession will become clearer when the weather turns better. Easier mon-

Gavin Retirement Request Gets Reluctant Approval

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lt. Gen. James M. Gavin's request for retirement has been approved by Secretary of the Army Brucker after a final effort to keep the critic of defense policies in uniform.
"I have done my best to persuade him to stay," Brucker said in announcing that he had "reluctantly" approved Gavin's application to retire March 31 after completing 30 years of Army service.
Gavin, chief of Army research and development, earlier in the day had told the Senate Preparedness subcommittee his decision to retire was final. Brucker said he made one more try at getting Gavin to change his mind, even after the general had taken this position.
Spurning Pentagon offers of promotion to full general within 14 months and a choice of two assignments until then, Gavin told senators, "I can do better for the Army outside than in."
"He spoke of the Army's position as deteriorating rapidly."
He complained that Army strength and budget allocations have been whittled down over the past four years while Russian strength has been growing. He contends the Army needs thousands of planes, missiles and tanks more freedom in planning.
Talking with newsmen after his appearance before the Senate subcommittee, Gavin said "there is not one red penny" for the Army in President Eisenhower's emergency request for $1,260,000,000 in additional defense funds for this fiscal year ending June 30.
The general added that "I have been begging for money—money for the antismissile; money for a space program."
A number of Congress members have expressed concern over Gavin's plan to retire, saying officers of his caliber are needed badly now.

Sparkman Urges Show Of Peace

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala.) today urged President Eisenhower to give the world a "positive demonstration" of the U. S. desire for peace.
Sparkman, a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said Eisenhower should let Russian Premier Bulganin and all the world know the United States "always stands ready to negotiate our differences."
The Alabama senator spoke in an interview before the scheduled appearance of Secretary of State Dulles at a closed door meeting of the Foreign Relations Committee.
Dulles reportedly told the House Foreign Affairs Committee yesterday it would be futile to engage now in high-level talks with the Russians.
"If Secretary Dulles was talking exclusively of talks at the heads of state level, I agree," Sparkman said.
"But if he is ruling out talks by high-ranking representatives, to be followed by foreign ministers getting together, I think it's wrong and an attitude that is dangerous to future peace."
"I know we are not going to get anywhere with the negative approach."
"Even if we can't have faith and confidence in a positive achievement, at least we can demonstrate that we are trying."

Record Rainfall For TVA Basin

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Tennessee valley rainfall in 1957 was more than 13 inches above normal for a record-setting 64.41-inch average in the seven-state basin.

Tennessee Valley Authority said today.
The agency said the average broke the previous high of 62.65 inches recorded in 1929, and was the most ever recorded on a valley wide basis since such records began in 1895. The 65-year-average was 51.40 inches.
Highest rainfall recorded in the Tennessee watershed in 1957 was 105.78 inches atop Clingman's Dome in the Great Smoky Mountains, a record. The lowest precipitation was 42.33, inches at Asheville, N.C., only 53 airline miles from Clingman's Dome.

George Wilson Chosen Pro Coach Of Year

By JOE REICHLER THE ASSOCIATED PRESS George Wilson, the Detroit Lion's 11th-hour fill-in when Buddy Parker quit last August, was voted today Professional Coach of the Year by a panel of football writers in the annual Associated Press poll.

The 43-year-old Wilson earned the award when he directed the Lions to the National Football League championship with a 59-14 rout of the Cleveland Browns after a poor start which saw the Detroit team win only three of its first six games.

Wilson, a former Chicago Bears end, received 15 of the 36 votes cast to edge out Cleveland's Paul Brown by five votes. Frank Albert of the San Francisco Forty-Niners, who lost the Western Division title to Detroit in a play-off, finished third with six votes. Webb Ewbank of the Baltimore Colts had four votes and Parker, who switched to the Pittsburgh Steelers after bolting Detroit, got one.

No coach ever took over a football team under more difficult circumstances than Wilson. He was given the Lions' head post less than 24 hours after Parker dramatically walked out on the club just three days before the team's first exhibition game last August.

"This is the worst squid I've ever been associated with," Parker claimed. "I can't handle it any longer. This is a team that's dead. I'm getting out."

Wilson stepped into the job after eight seasons as an assistant coach in Detroit. He was off to a blazing start with six wins. Webb Ewbank of the Baltimore Colts had four votes and Parker, who switched to the Pittsburgh Steelers after bolting Detroit, got one.

Bucs Score 61 Points In First Half To Take Lead

By BILLY ARNOLD Reflector Sports Editor

MEISENHEIMER, N.C. — East Carolina roared off to a 61-point first half here last night and carried on to wallopp the Pfeiffer College basketball team, 98-78, in a non-conference tilt.

The 20-point victory was East Carolina's final non-loop game of the season, and one of the Buc's most impressive performances of the year. It moves their record to 7-1.

Four of the starting five on the ECC quintet finished the game in the double scoring figures. Guard Jess Curry nabbed high honors with 31; Captain Harold Ingram dashed in 22, Joe Plaster added 20, and Ike Riddick 12.

Mad First Half

The tremendous first half surge by the Pirates saw every one of the Greenville team's members hitting at a rapid pace. The club threw in points from all over the court, hitting on 56% of their shots and completely snowing the home club under.

Pfeiffer, paced by ace forward Richard Biddy who scored 20 points, managed to run up 43 points during the first half, but couldn't match the superior accuracy of the Buc's Coach Howard Porter's club employed the fast-break at a break-neck speed and capitalized on their slight edge in height and the surprise of their quick beginning.

ECC led all the way and had an 18-point spread at halftime. The Pfeiffer club came back strong in the second half and soon washed the Pirates' spread down to 11. Biddy, with nine minutes remaining in the game, sprained his ankle and was taken from the game. It was he who kept the Pfeiffer team in the game (he got 20 points) and after his removal, the Pirates began to run up the score again, even with a host of substitutes playing.

It ended 98-78.

Rough Ball Game

The ball game was a rough one with a total of 48 fouls called. Don Smith and Joe Plaster fouled out for East Carolina and Ingram had four called against him. Petrea and Woodhouse fouled out for Pfeiffer before the game ended.

Coach Howard Porter said today that his club "was just about as hot as you can get in that first half. We had 56% from the floor in that half and a little over 52% for the whole game."

Guy Mendenhall, a regular forward who has been ailing with a sprained ankle during the past two weeks, saw about two minutes of action last night. The lanky 6-5 Cary senior still favored his ankle a bit but is expected to be in playing shape for Elon in Greenville, Saturday night.

Coach Porter made the statement — or understatement — that "Joe (Plaster) had a pretty good night." The 6-8 center tallied 20 points and grabbed 22 rebounds to pace both clubs on the boards.

Elon Saturday Saturday night, the Buc's play host to Elon at Greenville. The game will be a North State conference game, and a very important one. The Buc currently occupy second place in the loop with a 4-1 record (Lenoir Rhyne's first with 4-0) and Elon is in fifth with a 1-1 mark.

Porter stated today that, "Unless something comes up, we should be at full strength Saturday night."

Will Make Known Code Violators

PHILADELPHIA — The Committee on Ethics of the American Football Coaches Assn. announced today that it plans in the future to make public the names of coaches who violate its code.

The decision, which came during the national collegiate athletic Assn. convention here, reverses the long-standing policy of making known only the number of coaches censured. Violations may be punished by measures ranging from probation to expulsion from the association.

The committee reported it had taken disciplinary action against three coaches for violation of the code of ethics at the meeting just concluded.

NCAA Meeting Ends Without Shouting

By JIM KENSIL PHILADELPHIA — The 52nd annual NCAA convention, as calm as this City of Brotherly Love, was all over today. There wasn't even any shouting.

The biggest noise of the four-day session came yesterday when the college football coaches applauded the humor and football knowledge of Vice President Nixon. The former third-string end at Whittier College (Calif.) addressed the College Football Coaches Assn. at its annual luncheon. The affair honored Woody Hayes of Ohio State as Coach of the Year.

On the convention floor, there was only a slight stir of activity. Practically all concerned one topic—a controversial proposal from the NCAA Council to exempt the Army, Navy and Air Force academies from some recruiting restrictions.

The convention voted temporary acceptance of the proposal, but not before several delegates objected.

UNC 1917 BKB CHAPEL HILL, N.C. — Ten of the 11 surviving members of the 1917 university of North Carolina basketball team will be honored at the North Carolina-Virginia game tonight.

Gov. Hodges, who was a substitute guard on the team, will not be able to attend. He and Mrs. Hodges left today on a Caribbean cruise.

The governor was host to the squad members at a dinner last night at the Executive Mansion in Raleigh.

The 1917 team scored a 35-24 win over Virginia, marking the first time a Tar Heel basketball team had defeated the Cavaliers.

The team's coach, Howell B. Peacock, now a physician in Philadelphia, was expected to join the team for its reunion today. The members were scheduled to meet Coach Frank McGuire and players of the current Tar Heel team.

In addition to Hodges, members of the team include Charles G. Tennant, Asheville; Elliott Culver Grandin, Titusville, Pa.; William B. Cutherson, Charlotte; John Minor Gwynn, Chapel Hill; Bryce Little Seattle, Wash.; George Raby Tennent, Hopewell, Va.; Lewis R. McDuffie, Columbus, Ga.; Frank Erwin Kendrick, Dallas, Texas; Sidney C. Perry, Durham; and Gen. F. Carlyle Shepard, Chapel Hill.

While all of the teams have taken turns at beating the once-potent Lakers, only the Celtics can boast of a perfect record against the team coached by George Mikan.

When the Eastern Division leaders thumped the Lakers 107-87 last night it marked the seventh straight time this season that the Celtics have beaten Minneapolis.

The Boston Victory, coupled with Detroit's 109-107 decision over Syracuse, moved the Celtics 6½ games in front of the Nats in the Eastern Division. New York's Knickerbockers broke a four-game losing streak and got back to the 500 mark by defeating Cincinnati 123-105.

Games tonight are Detroit vs. Minneapolis at Philadelphia, St. Louis at Philadelphia, and New York at Cincinnati.

WEDNESDAY'S FIGHTS By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS CHICAGO — Sugar Hart, 147, Philadelphia, outpointed Larry Baker, 146, Mt. Vernon, N.Y., 10 with three casts and a look of wonder.

While working around a farm, she fell and broke an arm. She had the arm placed in a cast and resumed her teaching post, until she caught the flu.

Before she recovered, Miss Moore went to help a neighbor desperately ill — and fell down the stairs while collecting medical supplies.

The second cast went on her big toe.

Sugar Hart Being Tabbed Top Man

CHICAGO — Sugar Hart, who won't reach his 21st birthday until next month, already is being tabbed as a top welterweight title prospect.

He flashed powerful combinations and fine poise last night against Larry Paker, a clever boxer whose crowding tactics did not give the youthful Philadelphian a chance to show his best.

But Hart hardly won the televised 10 rounder at Chicago Stadium, receiving vote under the five-point maximum system of 49-41 by referee Frank Sikora, 49-41 from Judge Harold Marovitz. The AP card favored Hart 47-44.

Hart weighed 147 and his short-er opponent from Mount Vernon, N.Y., came in at 146. The victory was Hart's 23rd in 27 bouts and he has won 19 of them by knockouts. Baker's record now is 21-12-3.

"You should have seen Hart when he first came out of the amateur ranks," said his manager, Marty Stein, who is sales manager for a paper box company in Philadelphia and makes the fight business a sideline.

"He looked like a gazelle, just jumping straight up and down. But Willie (Willie Reddish, trainer) has brought him along until now he's a polished, powerful fighter. Baker gave him his first fight in four months. We would like Gaspar Ortega (ranked No. 5) next if we can get him."

Six Games In Pitt County Last Night

In last night's Pitt County Conference basketball play, Stokes-Pactolus took two victories from Grifton, while Farmville and Bethel split a pair.

In a non-conference match at Ayden, the Bulldogs split with Vanceboro.

Stokes-Pactolus' boys grabbed a lop-sided 87-19 victory from Grifton, while the S-P girls walked away with a 70-60 victory. Billie Angle outscored Lou Rae Mewborn, 22, in the individual scoring battle in the girls' game. Price, of Grifton, got 25 and Whitehurst of SEP got 22.

In the boys' game, Briley, Conington, Hardison and McNeil did most of the Stokes scoring to really wallopp the Grifton boys, 87-19.

The games left S-P with 4-3 (boys) and 5-2 (girls) records, and Grifton with 0-6 (boys) and 3-3 (girls) marks.

At Farmville, the host girls took a 65-27 victory while the Bethel boys finished with a 60-49 win.

Walter Jones, a Farmville sub, was high for both boys teams, with a total of 20 points. In the girls game, Farmville's Annette Little got 17 to take high place.

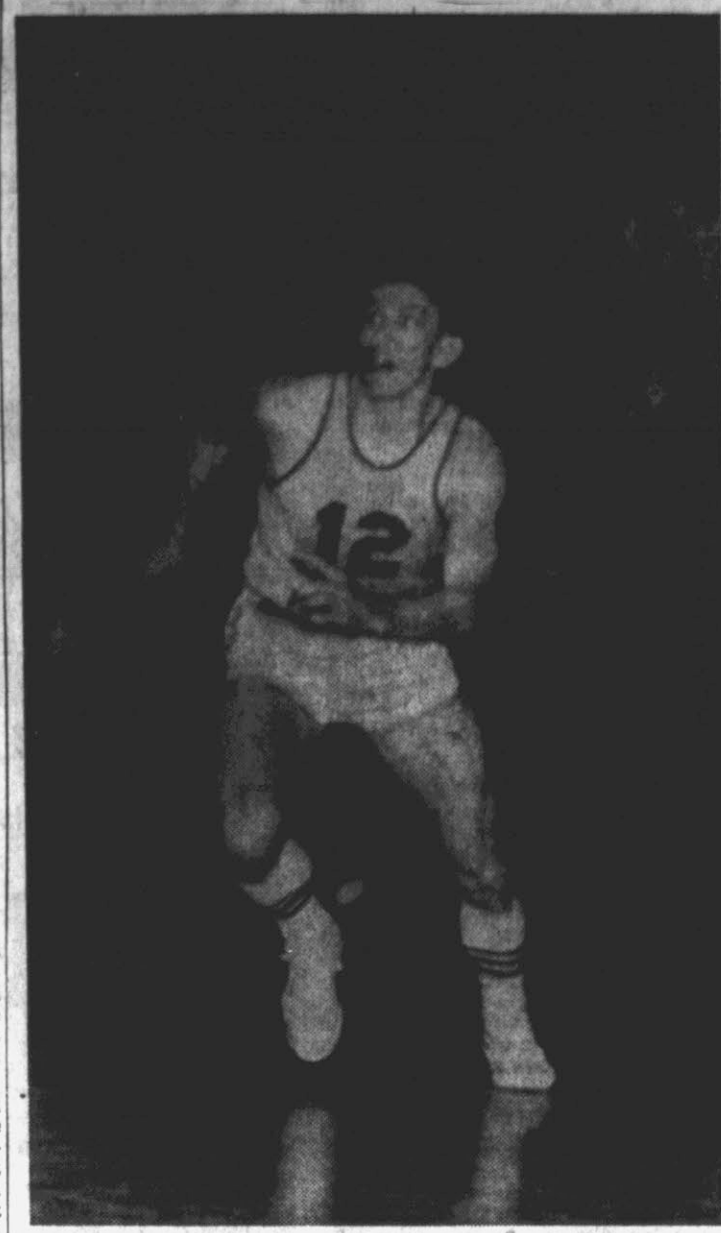

In conference now, Farmville has 3-4 (boys) and 4-3 (girls) records, while Bethel has 5-3 (boys) and 0-8 (girls) records.

Ayden took a non-conference boys win over Vanceboro last night, 68-49, with Tommy Edwards turning in a 33-point performance to lead both teams in scoring. The Vanceboro girls claimed a 29-21 win in the second game, with Vanceboro's McLawhorn leading pointers with 21.

W. Virginia May Be 1958's Best

By DON WEISS THE ASSOCIATED PRESS More and more, it looks as if those hustling Mountaineers of West Virginia University have that could make them THE TEAM of the 1957-58 college basketball season.

The Mounties, who assumed the No. 1 rating in the AP poll after sweeping North Carolina's 37-game winning streak three weeks ago, showed a gritty performance last night making it 11 straight, 76-75 over a fired-up Villanova outfit that held a 16-point lead with about 10 minutes to play.

The Mounties, fumbling and inept until then, went on a spectacular drive behind their spectacular 6-3 soph. Jerry West, a 37-point scorer for the night. With about 10 seconds left, West's field goal pulled West Virginia to within one point at 75-74 and, with but two seconds left Lloyd Sharrar's driving layup bagged it.

West Virginia's victory came in the opener of a doubleheader at the Philadelphia Palestra. Twice-beaten Temple, Holiday Festival tournament champion and 12th-ranked nationally, won its eighth in a row 64-45 over Penn State in the second game.

Eleventh-ranked Maryland, a coasting 74-59 winner over Duke in an Atlantic Coast Conference game, was the only other rated team in action in the night's slim program.

Dayton, now 10-2 after a slow start, whipped Detroit 72-59. Louisville broke a three-game losing streak by cuffing St. Louis 67-55. Wichita took an 80-54 Missouri Conference test from North Texas State, and Dom Flora set a school career record of 2,006 points with 25 during Washington and Lee's 73-54 victory over Randolph-Macon.

Duquesne sopped Carnegie Tech 68-51 and Pitt defeated Westminster of Pennsylvania, 72-57 in a doubleheader at Pittsburgh.

Western Kentucky defeated Oklahoma City 70-56. St. Francis of Pennsylvania, won 72-50 over St. Bonaventure. George Washington edged Georgetown (DC) 80-78.

Bowling Green was a 104-74 winner over Western Michigan.

Army and Navy found the winning combination, the Cadets over Rutgers 74-72 and the Middies over Gettysburg 63-4, and unbeaten Boston Univ. won its sixth, 85-63 over Northeastern. Fordham, with Jim Cunningham scoring 26, beat Syracuse for the first time in three years, 81-79.

Dodd Pushes For Freer Sub Rule

ATLANTA — Declaring that college football is gradually losing its popularity, Coach Bobby Dodd of Georgia Tech today reiterated his five-year-long stand for freer substitution as practiced by professional teams.

"Eventually we've got to do something about it," Dodd told sports editor Furman Bisher of the Atlanta Journal. "I think the pros have proved that free substitution is where we start."

When the National Collegiate Athletic Assn. put a damper on substitutions five years ago, Dodd's first comment was, "It's a mistake. It puts college football back 10 years."

Bing's Friendly Little Tourney Worth $50,000

By JACK STEVENSON

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. — Bing Crosby's friendly little golf tournament that grew up in a hurry opens its 72-hole stand today with a $50,000 jackpot.

Finishing an 18-hole practice round yesterday with former PGA and Masters champion Jack Burke Jr., the crooner declared the growth of his tournament continues to amaze him.

"When we first started in 1937 at Rancho Santa Fe, it was pretty small peanuts. Just a few pros and amateurs getting together to have some fun. It's grown to be one of the biggest in the country."

Crosby will be among the spectators. He's too busy with such things as televising 90 minutes of the final play Sunday to compete.

Most of the big-name golfers plus such celebrities as Bob Hope, Guy Madison, Randolph Scott and Dennis O'Keefe will take part. Three rugged courses on the picturesque Monterey Peninsula are played. The huge field of 280 is split into two groups—one plays at Monterey Peninsula Country Club and the other at Cypress Point today. Tomorrow they switch. The final two rounds are over Pebble Beach.

Last year's winner Jay Hebert of Lafayette, La., turned in a 2-under-par 70 in practice yesterday at Pebble Beach. The lowest score was a 65 by Don Whitt, Alameda, Calif., semifinalist in the PGA tournament last year. Whitt was 7 under par on the Cypress Point course.

Late Starter Is Record-Setter

ASHLAND, Va. — Dom Flora, a 6-2, 180-pounder from Jersey City, N.J., entered Washington and Lee University in the fall of 1954 on a football scholarship—but he has yet to play his first minute of football at the Lexington, Va., school.

By the time Flora got to W&L, the school had abandoned athletic subsidization and decided not to field a football team.

Though he didn't play football even when the Generals resumed the sport on an "amateur" basis, Flora will go down in W&L's record books—as perhaps the greatest player of a series of great basketball players in school history.

When Flora poured in 25 points here last night in the Generals' 73-54 victory over Randolph-Macon, he eclipsed the all-time W&L career record of 2,002 points set by Jay Handlan (1948-52) and became one of a select group of players who have scored more than 2,000 points in a college career.

Generals' Reaction Is Like Quiet Revolt Against Ike

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—It's like a revolt of the generals—peaceful, but a revolt—against the judgment of their commander in chief, President Eisenhower. The very timing of it may have shocked or angered him.

The nation has waited weeks—since Russia showed it was ahead in missiles by launching the Sputniks—to see what Eisenhower intended to do about matching the Soviets or trying to get ahead of them.

Today—in his State of the Union message to Congress—was his first chance to lay out his plans formally and publicly. Before he could deliver the message, two top generals blasted his administration's planning.

The two cut loose yesterday. They were Lt. Gen. James M. Gavin, the Army's chief of research and development, and Gen. Thomas D. White, Air Force chief of staff.

It's usual in Washington to see the heads of the three branches of the armed forces complain to Congress they need more money. But the Gavin-White complaints went beyond the usual.

In the first place, this is not the typical postwar year when this country had clear-cut military superiority. It's a critical year when the American future may depend on the plans made this year.

Second, both generals know Eisenhower has been under heavy criticism for the lag in American missile development and that he is expected to do the utmost in his plans to make up for lost time.

Third, they put his 1958 programs under suspicion before he had a chance to announce them. For instance, both attacked his budget—the money he wants to spend—although he won't reveal his budget to Congress until Monday.

So far as is known neither general volunteered his opinion. Both were called to testify before the Senate's Preparedness subcommittee which has been investigating American defenses since the Sputniks went up.

Gavin went so far beyond the usual military man's complaint about needing more money that he is retiring from the Army. One of the reasons he gives is that he could not defend the amount of money Eisenhower will ask for Army research.

The Army's position, Gavin told the senators, is deteriorating rapidly and "I can't do anything about it." He added that "I can do better outside the Army than in."

And he said that the Soviet Army is far superior now to the American. He said the Army needs missiles, thousands of airplanes, and equipment.

White, like Gavin, testified behind closed doors. Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson, Texas Democrat and chairman of the subcommittee, made public a summary of some of the two men's testimony. He told newsmen White said these things among others:

Eisenhower has not asked enough money—either in the upcoming budget or in special funds he has requested in addition to the budget—to step up the development of the intercontinental ballistic missile.

This country is still working on two ICBM's—the Atlas and the Titan—designed to cross an ocean and a continent in a 5,000-mile flight.

Gavin went so far beyond the usual military man's complaint about needing more money that he is retiring from the Army. One of the reasons he gives is that he could not defend the amount of money Eisenhower will ask for Army research.

The Army's position, Gavin told the senators, is deteriorating rapidly and "I can't do anything

Money - Making Contino Found Bankruptcy 'Easy'

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—How does a well-known star, capable of earning $1,500 a week and not given to high living, manage to go bankrupt?

This is what I asked Dick Contino, the handsome accordionist who last week filed a bankruptcy petition listing $51,983 in debts.

The answer would be simple if the 28-year-old Fresno boy threw his money around. But he doesn't. He lives comfortably, but not lavishly by Hollywood standards. He drives a medium-priced 1957 car. He lives in a $140-a-month Glenale apartment with his wife, beautiful Leigh Snowden, and their 3-week-old daughter.

So how did it happen?

"I can't tell exactly," Dick said. "It's all very complicated, and it goes back a few years."

He served a term at McNeil Island Federal Prison in 1951 as a draft dodger, later went into the Army and saw duty in Korea. He returned to resume his career. Despite his fears, he did very well.

The start of his financial downfall, he said, was an engagement in Reno. The income tax people discounted some expenses for his father, who always traveled with him. The government picked up the entire Reno check.

"I suppose I could have fought it," Dick said, "but I was like the kid who touched a hot stove. I had come out of McNeil Island and out of the Army, and I didn't want any more trouble with the government. I said to let them take the money."

Night club bookings became scarce. Maybe it was bad nitery business generally. Maybe it was fear of the draft-dodger name-calling. Dick took whatever jobs he could find, jumping all over the country and running up traveling expenses.

"Then I was talked into starting my own band," he said. "They told me Lawrence Welk had made a success, maybe I could. But they didn't tell me I would have to foot all the bills."

The band did good business, but Dick was snowed under by the bills. Owing money to a former agent and to Uncle Sam, he had no other choice but bankruptcy. But he's hopeful about the future and wants to organize a new act that will make the most of his talents and get him out of his financial hole.

National Lottery Hopes Brighter

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress No. 1 advocate of a government-run lottery said today prospects never were brighter.

"Not that I am so naive I think my lottery bill will pass right away," added Rep. Paul H. Fino, "But things are moving our way."

Fino, a well-groomed Republican from a prosperous middle-class New York City district, said the government can have a yearly income boost of at least 10 billion dollars without new taxes any time Congress authorizes a lottery. He said two things encourage him to think the time may be coming:

1. The drive to pour more funds into military and scientific efforts to counter Soviet gains. "Maybe you can balance a 74-billion-dollar budget on paper," he remarked, "but when they really start spending..."

2. A swing in public sentiment he said is evidenced by such things as New Yorkers' referendum vote last November to legalize bingo.

As he has at regular intervals since he came to Congress in 1953, Fino took the floor to advise his colleagues they can't afford to neglect such a bonanza as a "well regulated, all-government-run lottery."

Fino's bill would set up a federal commission to make the rules and administer the lottery. "Tickets would be printed by the Bureau of Engraving—the bureau that prints the money," he said. "They wouldn't be sold by street vendors, but at post offices, just like stamps."

Method In Their Seeming Madness

GEORGETOWN, Ky. (AP)—Mrs. Willard Offutt's heart glowed with pride when nine of her son's classmates stopped by to see if he still had the flu.

Not every mother has a son so well-liked, she thought. Then, one of the youngsters spilled the beans. "There already are 91 students absent," he explained. "And we were told that if the number reached 100, school would be closed. So here we are."

BIG BULGE
GRAND PRAIRIE, Alta. (AP)—A wall of St. Paul's United Church bulged nearly five inches under pressure of moisture-packed earth. Hundred-ton jacks were used to push it back into place.

Walking Cane Is Now Big Tree

MONCURE, N. C. (AP)—On a lofty hill one mile from here stands a large mock-orange tree that was once a walking cane.

The cane belonged to Waverly Lassiter, whose hobby was walking. One day Lassiter returned to his home with the green stick in his hand. Before entering the house, he casually stuck the stick in the soft dirt and left it there.

The stick sprouted and began to grow, day by day, year by year. Today it is more than 50 years old.

Wrong Time For Floating A Loan

HOPKINSVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Water oozed into a bank here during a recent flash flood and employees were busy getting files and records up high for protection.

The telephone rang.

A voice told the employee who answered: "Can I float a loan?"

He didn't—at least for a while.

Rumor Of Soviet Manned Rocket Not 'Reliable'

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Investigation now clearly indicates that The Associated Press erred Monday in using the phrase "reliable sources" in its report that the Soviet Union had launched a manned rocket into space.

The investigation shows that while the nonofficial sources quoted had proved reliable in the past, they were reporting rumors in this case. There has been no formal denial of the rumors from the Soviet government.

The facts thus far developed are these:

The Moscow staff says it heard the manned rocket reports from East European correspondents and at least one Western embassy but did not file the story for another 48 hours, while it continued checking.

Advised that other agencies were carrying the story abroad, Moscow then gave the story by telephone to London. It was in this process that a misunderstanding arose. Two London staffers who took the call say they understood the Moscow staffer to say the story could be attributed to reliable sources.

Immediately after this, stringent Moscow censorship was imposed on the rocketman story.

Late Wednesday the Moscow bureau said that while the adjective "reliable" could apply to the sources from which the reports came, the rumor they were relaying was completely unconfirmed.

Until late Wednesday, Soviet censorship curtailed off further news and inquiry and while the Soviet Union made no formal denial of the rocketman story, officials of the Committee for Cultural Relations with Foreign Countries and a spokesman for the Soviet Academy of Sciences said they had no information about it. A Soviet Foreign Ministry spokesman in Moscow said he could say nothing about the accounts.

The deputy director of the Soviet news agency Tass was quoted as saying in a Moscow broadcast heard in London Tuesday that it was "completely incomprehensible" to him how Western news agencies obtained the report.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Hot items for the home plate this week are eggs, chicken fryers and some of the cheaper cuts of beef.

Eggs constitute a real bargain—down anywhere from 8 to 12 cents a dozen around the country. Emphasis on the less expensive cuts of meat reflects a seasonal tight supply which always pushes up the price of beef, pork, lamb and veal around this time, market experts say.

Prominently featured this week-end will be boneless pot roasts, beef blade and cross rib roasts, chuck steak and hamburger. Sirloin, up four to six cents a pound in various areas, will get relatively little promotion.

Chicken fryers, which have held to the 39-cents-a-pound level in the metropolitan area for almost six months, are offered in some areas this week at 33 cents.

The most heavily spotlighted pork items are smoked boneless butts, rib ends, sausage and chops, rather than the big unfamiliar hams.

Bacon, bologna and sandwich meats are a specialty feature at many supermarket counters across the nation.

Bargains in vegetables are not too plentiful this week. The best buys are potatoes and onions from local fields. Prices of both these basic staples are headed higher on but at the moment they are attractive.

Collards and kale from Virginia farms are also listed as outstanding buys and in good supply. West ern iceberg lettuce is another good item. Also attractive prices are spinach from Texas and Virginia growers, along with mustard greens.

The Florida freeze a fortnight ago is reflected in somewhat higher than usual seasonal prices for egg plant, beans, pepper, cucumbers and tomatoes.

One exception, however, is cabbage from Texas and Florida growers which is in moderately good supply and in the fairly good buy class.

The embargo on shipments of Florida citrus has ended and oranges, grapefruit and tangerines from that state are in somewhat better supply and a bit lower in price than in recent weeks. However, prices on these probably will remain higher than usual throughout the winter, according to market experts. Fairly good buys this

More Telephone Lines In Works

Work was begun this week by construction forces of the Carolina Telephone and Telegraph Company to provide additional telephone facilities to the southeastern section of the city.

Frank Harrington, local manager for the Telephone Company, disclosed today that although work will proceed as rapidly as possible it will require approximately three months to put the new cable facilities in service. This will involve placing underground cable along Evans Street and East Tenth Street and placing aerial cable along Charles Street and Highway 43 South, Greenville Blvd. and into the residential subdivisions and community shopping centers in the area. Cost of the entire project including the underground conduit which was recently placed along East 10th Street will be approximately $112,000.

Harrington further stated that the new cable facilities will enable the Telephone Company to provide additional telephones to applicants desiring them and better grades of service to existing subscribers in this area of town.

Something New Has Been Added

GREENSBORO, N. C. (AP) — Superior Court Judge H. Hoyle Sink of Greensboro characteristically wears a green eyeshade when presiding in court.

Recently he tried on a new one and remarked, "This is a good fit, but it's going to take a little breaking in."

He had worn the old one for 19 years.

Raw greens are a good source of Vitamin C.

Big Holiday For Griffon Pupils

By BARBARA TAYLOR
Griffon School Reporter
Students at Griffon School began their second semester work last week, but they still have pleasant memories of their two-weeks Christmas holiday period.

A semi-formal Christmas Dance, sponsored by the Teen-Age Club (recently renamed the "Griffon Club") was the highlight of the round of parties and other social events. The dance was held in the school gymnasium and featured coronation of Brenda Rose and Kerry McLawhorn, both sophomores, as Queen and King of the holiday dance. Brenda and Kerry were elected by members of the student body.

Barbara Lane was hostess at a New Year's party for a large number of Griffon students and out-of-town guests. The out-of-town guests included Burt Tripp, Horton Jolly, Bob Gagnon, Bobby Bate-man, Richard Stroud, Kay Smith, Carl Nobles and Tommy Edwards.

Press Will Hear Pulitzer Winner

CONCORD, N. C. (AP) — Reiman Morin, Pulitzer prize-winning special correspondent for The Associated Press, will speak at Chapel Hill Jan. 23 at the luncheon meeting of the North Carolina Associated Press Club.

A. W. Huckle, publisher of the Concord Tribune, is president of the club, composed of executives of papers which are members of The AP. He said the annual session will be held as usual on the opening day of the North Carolina Press Institute.

A foreign correspondent for The AP for many years, Morin served as chief of AP bureaus in Paris and Washington before asking to be relieved of administrative duties to devote his full time to reporting and writing.

Since then, with the world as his beat, many of his stories have been cited as outstanding examples of journalism. He has covered everything from the Korean war to his own heart attack. Editors throughout the country praised his stories on the Little Rock crisis and he recently completed a thorough survey of segregation developments throughout the South. Huckle said the club also will hear a report by Richard L. Young, managing editor of the Charlotte News, on activities on the North Carolina AP News Council of which he is president.

ON THE HOUSE

By JOHN O. B. WALLACE
AP Newsmaster

If you're beset by rising fuel bills, pull up a chair and meet Glenn Neven of Fort Dodge, Iowa. He's a kindred soul, perhaps like you digging doggedly in his pockets to come up with enough cash to pay those heating expenses.

The Iowa man writes us: "My house is five years old. All the insulation I have in the walls is three-quarter-inch weatherboard. I don't feel this is sufficient, but I have been told not to put more insulation in the walls as it would give me paint trouble. "My fuel bills are out of reason and I feel it is due to no insulation. "Please tell me if I could insulate the walls now — how, and what kind to use?"

Two points are the outset: (1) Insulation can cut heating costs, and (2) Insulation in itself is not directly responsible for moisture condensation on painted walls (which presumably is what is meant here by "paint trouble.") Condensation of water vapor on inside walls and windows certainly can damage paint and woodwork. And insulation can add to this problem if the house is not properly vented.

But insulation alone is not the culprit. Condensation is caused by high indoor humidity and construction features which do not allow vapor to escape from the house.

Condensation is most noticeable during the winter months because there is a marked difference between outdoor and indoor temperatures. Well, you might ask, what causes high indoor humidity in the first place?

Did you know that vapor equivalent to three gallons of water a day is produced by cooking, laundering and bathing? It's a common household problem, therefore, to get rid of this vapor — or, expressed in other terms, to lower the humidity.

The best way to do it is by adequate vents and a kitchen exhaust fan. They serve as an "escape hatch" for water vapor. There are a few other tips, too: Open the bathroom window slightly after bathing; the vapor created by the bath water will be pulled out.

Also, at any particular time when indoor humidity is extremely high slightly open a single window to prevent the window pane from "frosting." Close the window after a few minutes.

As for insulation, itself, we have a suggestion from the Better Heating-Cooling Council, which speaks for the heating and cooling industry.

The council suggests that mineral wool could be blown into the wall space of Neven's house without contributing to any condensation problem provided there is an escape hatch for vapor. In this method, a hole usually is cut in the outside wall near the roof. This gives access to the wall space. A tube is then placed in the hole and insulation is forced into the wall by a blower.

To all of you who have unreasonable fuel bills, please remember this: Properly insulated houses lose less heat through walls and roof. They require smaller heating plants. And they use less fuel. But each house has its own unique construction features, so it's best to use the services of a reliable insulation contractor.

He'll tell you the best type of insulation to use and the best method of application.

Sen. Byrd Says Gov't Civilian Payroll Is Down

WASHINGTON — Sen. Byrd (D-Va.) reported today that the federal civilian employment total dropped to 2,330,107 in November, the lowest point in at least three years.

The total also was 64,217 less than the figure in November of a year earlier and 9,867 under the figure for October, 1957.

So far the number of federal jobholders has dropped steadily in each month of fiscal 1958, which began last July 1. This reflects mainly economies made in the Defense Department when the military agencies were ordered to cut back last summer to reduce spending.

Byrd issued the report as chairman of the Senate-House Committee on Reduction of Nonessential Federal Expenditures.

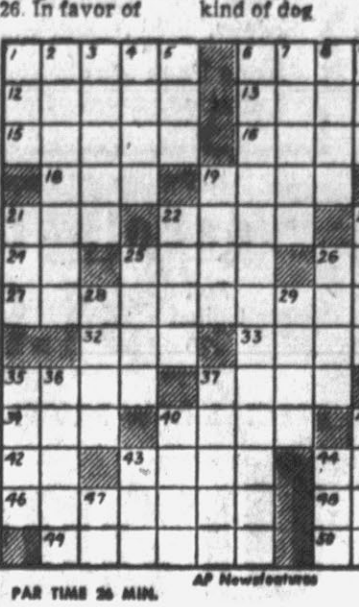

The report showed that the number of government employees in civilian departments increased 2,662 in November as compared with October to a total of 1,237,516. But the number of employees in the military agencies dropped to 1,092,591 in November, a decrease of 12,349 as compared with October.

Annual Deadline At School Approaching

By ANNE HARRIS
Belvoir-Falkland Reporter

Senior Class members at Belvoir-Falkland High School have received their "Senior Novelties" — calling cards, thank-you notes and memory books — but some of the thrill of receiving them has been overpowered.

The seniors are involved in completing copy for the annual and getting it in the hands of publishers by January 15. The annual has to be completed by that time so it can be printed and returned to the students before the school year is completed.

Students are beginning to fit into their study routines again after being out for two weeks during the Christmas holiday period. The resumption of work came after anxious inquiries about first semester examinations which were completed shortly before the holidays began.

Included in the routine is support of the basketball teams. Both of the squads scored victories over Ayden High School last Friday in the first post-Christmas games.

A new faculty member has been welcomed at BFHS. She is Mrs. Virginia Lang who is replacing Mrs. Thelma Switzer, Mrs. Switzer, who recently adopted a baby girl, resigned in December.

Mrs. Nina Vainwright, second grade teacher, has also returned after being out since Thanksgiving, recuperating from an operation.

Wants Return Of Stage Name

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Actor Sterling Hayden wants that to be his legal name again.

His petition to the Superior Court yesterday explained: He was born Sterling Walter 41 years ago in Montclair, N.J. His mother remarried when he was 10 and his name became Sterling Hayden.

Entering the U.S. Marine Corps in 1942, he had his name changed legally to John Hamilton to avoid publicity.

When he returned to the movies he resumed the name Sterling Hayden. He wants it as his legal name, he said, because he has four children who bear the name Hayden. He is divorced, the court, and lives with the children in suburban Sherman Oaks.

Statue In Honor Of Faithful Dog

Fido the dog seems to be wondering what's all the fuss about as he reluctantly allows himself to be taken to a statue unveiled in his honor at Borgo San Lorenzo, Italy. Fido, whose name means loyalty in Italian language, was honored because he has remained faithful to his dead master, Carlo Soriani, for 13 years. The woman with Fido is Carlo's mother. For two years until Soriani's death in a World War II air raid, the dog followed him each morning to his bus stop in town on his way to work and waited there until the master returned. And after Soriani's death, Fido continued to go to the bus stop. The statue was paid for by public contributions. (AP Wirephoto)

$1.5 Million Is Given To Center

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A check for 1½ million dollars was given to the UCLA medical center yesterday by former actress Marion Davies. UCLA officials described the gift as the biggest cash contribution ever received by the university. It will be used to fund a medical center a children's wing to be named after Miss Davies.

RICHARD NIXON

For a young man in politics, Richard Milhous Nixon has gone far. His rise, duplicated by few Americans, has been meteoric. Just six years after being elected to Congress in the first quest for office, he was chosen Vice President of the United States, when only 39 years old. An able speaker, Nixon increased in stature as he understudied the President, traveled widely and tried to bridge the differences in his own party between "old guard" and "modern" republicans. On occasion his opponents have accused him of deviousness and unfair tactics. Nixon was born January 9, 1913, in Yerba Linda, Calif., of Quaker stock. The family soon moved to Whittier, where his father operated a general store and filling station. As a youth, Richard liked to help out in his father's store and at the gas station. He enrolled as a liberal arts student at Whittier College, later went to Duke University Law School on a scholarship. After graduating, he practiced law in Whittier. In 1940 he married Patricia Ryan. Rugged, Rough Life In Old Western Movies

By ROBERT L. MOORE GOLDEN, Colo. AP) — "Back in my day," he said, "they didn't punch cows with a guitar." Thus, George (Pete) Morrison compared the Western film star of a few decades ago with today's singing cowboys of the screen. Morrison, now 65, once shared the silent film spotlight with such horse opera stars as Hoot Gibson and William S. Hart. He figures he appeared in 204 films, including serials, two-reelers and scores of full-length features in which he was leading man. "It was a rugged, rough life in my day, the life of a movie cow-

Fugitive's Past Has Caught Up

RALEIGH (U)—The Glenmore Distillers case may not be disposed of at the meeting of the State ABC Board next Wednesday.

Doubt that the matter could be taken care of was expressed yesterday by the board chairman, Tom Allen, who has been replaced effective Feb. 1 by Highway Patrol Lt. William S. Hunt Jr.

When Gov. Hodges announced the board chairman change on Tuesday, he said Hunt would not take over immediately as he hoped the Glenmore matter could be settled by the end of the month.

Atty. Gen. George B. Patton advised the board to study a transcript of evidence presented at last Friday's hearing in which the board heard charges that Glenmore failed to cooperate with law enforcement program of the ABC board and violated a regulation that holds liquor distillers licensed to sell in the state responsible for the action of its agents.

Allen said yesterday that it was not known when the transcript would be ready.

The charges were made against Glenmore after Fred B. Kelly of Raleigh, state manager and salesman for the company, was fined $750 and costs in Wake Superior Court for transporting illegal amounts of whisky to the Sir Walter Hotel last May 27. Kelly's permit was later suspended for six months by the board and it ordered Kelly placed on two-years probation.

Police Looking For Car Stolen From Local Lot

City Police are looking for an automobile reported stolen from a White Chevrolet's used car lot sometime Tuesday night.

The car, a 1952 two-toned Mercury valued at $645, was discovered missing from the local firm's West End lot early yesterday morning. Police have been conducting an investigation since that time.

Keys to the vehicle were stolen from an office building located on the lot, officers report. Entrance to the building was made through a rear window, forced open, a detective noted.

Nothing else has been reported missing from the office. The Mercury was the only car missing, a representative of the motor company said.

Jan. 16 Deadline For Young Farmer Entries

January 16 is the deadline for returning Outstanding Young Farmer application blanks to the Farm Agent's office, Assistant Farm Agent Cecil Register announced today.

Register is chairman of the Junior Chamber of Commerce-sponsored project.

Once the deadline has passed a special committee will begin studying the merits of those entered in the contest. A winner will be chosen and he will be honored at the Jaycees' annual Distinguished Service Award banquet to be held Jan. 23.

Those nominated for the Outstanding Young Farmer award must be of Jaycee age—21 through 36. However, they do not have to be members of a Jaycee club.

Selection of the winner will be based on (1) degree of progress in the agricultural career; (2) extent of good soil and natural resource conservation practice; and (3) significance of contributions made to the well-being of community, state and nation—as an individual or through leadership in civic, farm, church, fraternal and other organizations.

WAYNESVILLE, N.C. (U)—The efforts of Waynesville area residents to bring in industry begins to take shape today as bulldozers start clearing land for a machinery building firm.

The movement to woo industry began about two years ago when 30 Waynesville and nearby Hazelwood residents formed the 30 Club. The club learned that Proctor & Schwartz, a machinery firm of Philadelphia, wanted to build a Southern plant.

For about 20 months the club negotiated with the firm, then came up with the idea of the Haywood Improvement Foundation, Inc. The foundation raised $217,000 on loans of $100 or more from about 310 persons, then borrowed another $240,000.

With the half-million dollars, the foundation let a contract for constructing a plant, scheduled to be completed Oct. 1, which the Philadelphia firm leased for 20 years. Rent will liquidate the loans within 20 years.

C. N. Allen, president of the foundation, said: "As soon as we finish this, we're going after another industry immediately. We need industry. We've got a lot of people who need work."

Rev. E. Rogers and members of his congregation from Allen's Chapel will be at the Church of God in Christ Jesus tonight at 8 o'clock. The public is invited.

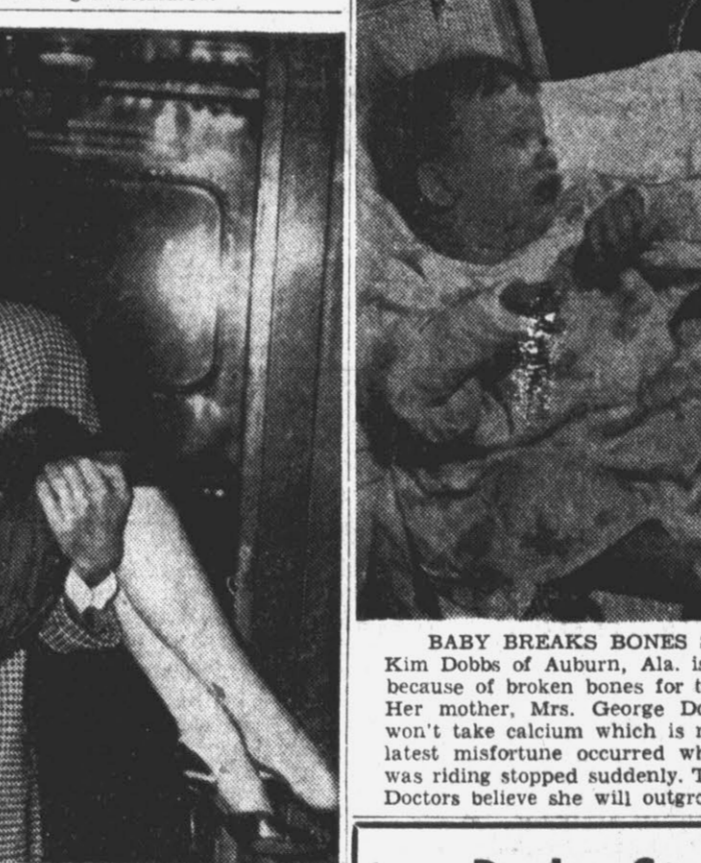

Pride of the East Chapter No. 524, Order of the Eastern Star, will hold its regular meeting tonight at 7:30 at Pythian Hall on Albemarle Avenue.

Son Also Dies Of Similar Accident

HICKORY, N.C. (U)—More than a quarter century ago, William Cline of Valdese drove his 1929 Ford onto Southern Railway tracks, was struck by westbound passenger train No. 15, and died of the injuries he suffered.

Early last night, William Cline's son, Sterling Lee Cline, 37, Valdese merchant, drove his pickup truck onto Southern Railway tracks, was struck by eastbound passenger train No. 16, and died of the injuries he suffered.

The father was killed at the Alba Mill crossing in Valdese. The son was killed here at the 12th St., S.W., crossing.

Both men were prominent in Valdese, Burke County town 15 miles west of here.

Sterling Lee Cline, who served in World War I, had operated a store in Valdese for 25 to 30 years. He was a former Burke County commissioner, was a former Valdese police chief and was commander of the Valdese post of the American Legion. He also for a while served as a deputy sheriff. His brother, G. R. Cline, is a former Valdese mayor.

Police said Cline apparently drove into the path of the train, piloted by engineer Walter Green, 72, of Asheville. Police made no charges.

Crisp, 41, of Shannon, Ga., told State Highway Patrolman Ray Heffner that he parked the rig across the highway from the restaurant and then went to eat. He saw the truck coming and shouted a warning.

The rig smashed an automobile, then struck the building, demolishing furniture and fixtures and cracking the walls. When it stopped, all of the trailer and about two feet of the tractor were within the restaurant—or what had once been a restaurant.

Burlington Industries owned the vehicle.
