

President Sends Congress $1.6 Billion Federal-State Education Aid Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower today sent Congress a four-year, $1,600,000,000 federal-state program of aid for education. The blueprint aims to help America best Russia in science and technology.

granting graduate fellowships to acting in their own communities, school boards and city councils, teachers, principals, school superintendents, state boards of education and state legislatures, trustee, and faculties of private institutions.

But because national security is involved, the federal government must play an emergency role, Eisenhower said. He emphasized that the administration program would be regarded as a temporary one and should not be considered as a permanent federal responsibility.

Support Is Promised At Ankara

Dulles Pledges U. S. Military Aid To Baghdad Powers Against Red Attack

ANKARA, Turkey (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles told leaders of the five Baghdad Pact nations today the United States will support their nations with "mobile power of great force" against any Communist invasion.

Dulles' keynote speech at the opening of the Middle East alliance's Ministerial Council meeting emphasized that any potential aggressor "knows in advance that his losses from aggression would far exceed any possible gains."

The secretary of state is attending a pact conference for the first time since the alliance was formed in 1955.

A few hours before he spoke one bomb blew out the rear wall of a U. S. Embassy warehouse and another badly damaged a private bookshop — called the American Publication Book Store—near the U. S. Information Service. No one was injured.

Premier Adnan Menderes of Turkey formally opened the conference in the closely guarded Parliament building. Top leaders of the five pact members—Britain, Turkey, Iraq, Iran and Pakistan—were present.

Menderes had been up for most of the night personally directing the hunt for the anti-American bomb throwers and the troop and police precautions against further demonstrations.

Dulles told the premiers, foreign ministers, generals and diplomats at the opening session that the United States will continue to provide economic aid to individual members of the pact organization.

The bombings apparently were timed as a demonstration against the opening of the conference. The Baghdad Pact is a major target of the Communists and Middle East neutralists.

Turkish security authorities and troops combed the city through the night in an effort to round up any demonstrators.

Warehouse Fire Evidence Points To Arson Attempt

By ALVIN TAYLOR, Reflector City Editor

A fuel oil-soaked fire area in New Independent Warehouse has brought on a full scale investigation by local, county and state authorities.

Fire in the North Greenville tobacco warehouse was spotted by a passing motorist Saturday night shortly before 10 o'clock.

The motorist turned in an alarm and firemen quickly extinguished the blaze in the back of the building before serious damage resulted.

However, the fire fighters noticed the smell of fuel oil in the area and police were called in to investigate.

Officers found timbers within the big structure had been soaked in fuel oil. On the roof of the building they found long streamers of what Chief of Police S. G. Gibbs described as "some type of fuel oil" at the back portion of the building.

In the center of each streamer tar paper roof covering had been slit the length of the streamer, apparently to allow the oil to soak through.

"We are investigating on the theory that it was incendiary in origin," Chief Gibbs said this morning.

The Chief said no suspects have been picked up as yet. Collaborating in the investigation are Sheriff Ruel W. Tyson and SBI Agent Clyde Fentress. Gibbs also said the National Board of Fire Underwriters have been notified and a special agent is expected to assist in the investigation.

POLICE CHIEF GIBBS . . . only small hole burned in roof by apparently incendiary fire.

in the structure. One was burning on the roof of the building when firemen arrived and another was underway directly beneath and inside the building.

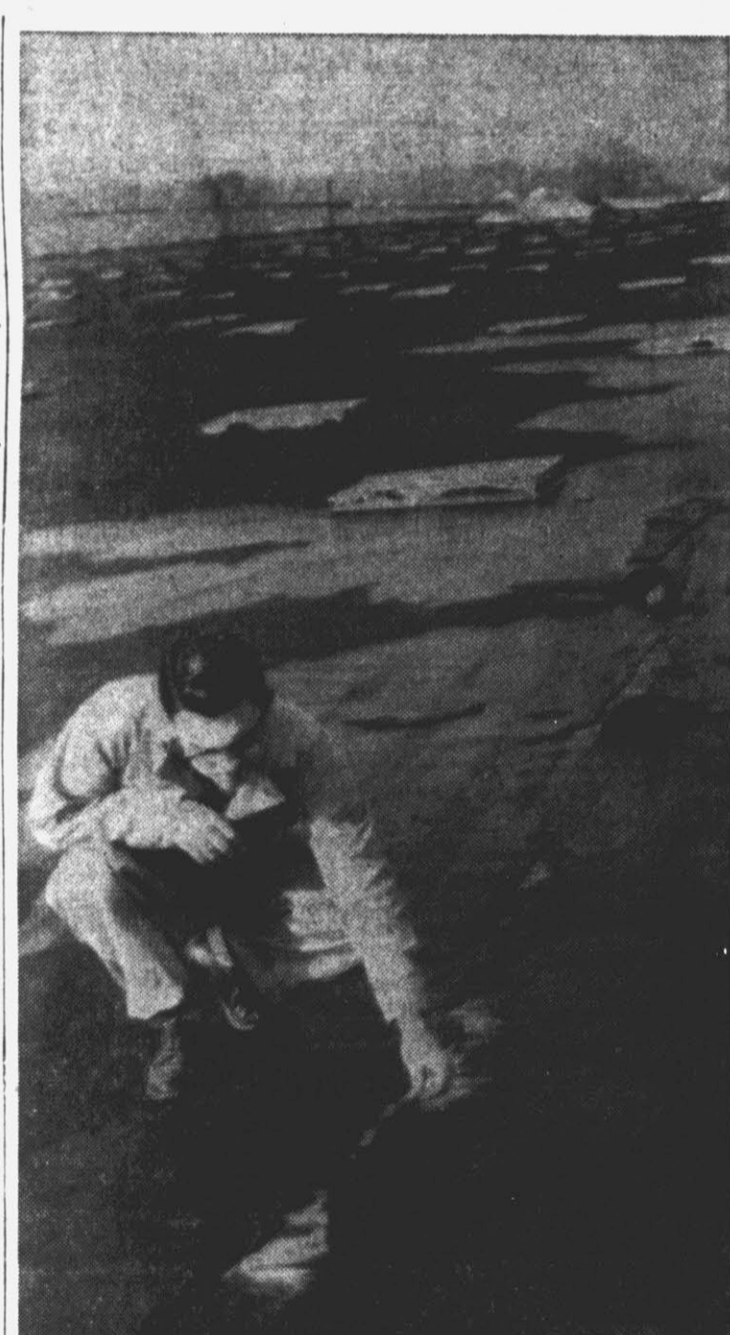

Two high pressure trucks and an aerial truck were dispatched to the scene of the fire.

Buildings Nearby If the blaze had gotten out of hand it could have spelled danger for surrounding buildings. Directly across the street is another warehouse — Farmers — which could have been threatened if a full scale fire had developed.

Farmers Warehouse is said to be the largest tobacco warehouse in the world.

The building is also located in a residential area and a number of dwellings would have been endangered by a major fire.

The portion to the rear of the warehouse where the blaze was found is in a comparatively isolated area. The rear of the structure backs up to an open field.

Bishop Breaks Ground For $100,000 Education Hall

BISHOP WRIGHT TURNS FIRST SHOVELFUL OF DIRT . . . At Episcopal Church's New Educational Center.

Ground was broken Saturday afternoon for a $100,000 hall for student activities and educational facilities at St. Paul's Episcopal Church.

The Right Reverend Thomas H. Wright of Wilmington, Bishop of East Carolina, presided at the ceremonies and turned the first shovelful of earth for the project.

The new building will be located behind the church on East Fourth Street. It will contain a student center for work among college students and educational facilities for the parish. Construction was started this morning by Dunn Building Supply Company on the two-story brick-veneer building.

Bishop Wright, prior to the ground-breaking, offered prayers for the work and officially set the construction procedure in motion.

Following the ceremonies, a coffee hour was held in the Parish House by ladies of the church for church members and out-of-town guests.

The American secretary of State, sitting in for the first time as an observer at the pact Council of Ministers, was reported ready to hear criticism of the scope and scale of U.S. and other Western aid programs.

A spokesman for Dulles has said the United States will not heed the urging of the Middle East members and accept full membership in the pact. So far it has only joined the alliance's military, economic and anti-subversion committees.

Dulles' plane was diverted to Istanbul by a blizzard. He came on to Ankara after a five-hour delay. On arrival he read a statement praising Turkish concepts of collective defense and the goals of the alliance and said the United States "looks forward to a fruitful continuation of its association with the Baghdad Pact."

Egypt And Syria Ready To Merge

CAIRO (AP) — The merger of Egypt and Syria into a single state is reported imminent. The newspaper Al Ahran said President Nasser and Syrian President Sukhri Kuwaty would announce the union today.

Top Egyptian and Syrian leaders proclaimed the advantages of the proposed federation, and the Cairo press gave it top play. The public emphasis on the plan apparently was timed to take the edge off the opening of the Baghdad Pact conference today in Ankara, Turkey.

Although Syrian officials have been talking constantly about a federation, Egyptian leaders had not commented officially in recent days. Syria has been pushing the plan since it first was proposed two years ago.

Both Syria and Egypt have received large amounts of Soviet economic and military aid. Their armies already are linked under a joint military command headed by an Egyptian and their foreign policies generally coincide.

Although Syrian officials have been talking constantly about a federation, Egyptian leaders had not commented officially in recent days.

Young Student's Rocket Flew In Saturday Test

WINSTON-SALEM (AP)—A homemade rocket, 14 1/2 ft. long and from chemicals and a foot of electrical pipe, blasted off "almost out of sight" and then returned to bury itself in the ground here Saturday.

Tommy Thompson, 16, Reynolds High School chemistry student who built the rocket, said it rose about 400 feet from the launching stand, made from plywood and three bicycle fender braces.

Thompson and the four boys who assisted in the firing said the rocket, which they named "Scorpion," lost three sheet metal fins and the nose cone during the ascent. When the rocket body returned to earth all but about two inches of it was imbedded in the ground.

A retired banker, he collapsed in the bathroom while washing his hands and was dead when found by his wife Louise a few minutes later.

President Eisenhower immediately postponed a White House dinner scheduled Thursday night for the Supreme Court justices.

There was no word from the White House whether the President would attend the funeral. Arrangements for the services are incomplete.

Local Cafe Owner Held In Shooting; Victim Expected Live

By EVERETTE PARKER, Reflector Staff Writer

Jimmy C. Evans, 47-year-old local cafe owner, was arrested by city police early yesterday afternoon shortly after he allegedly shot one of his employees in a Fifth St. parking lot.

Evans was charged with shooting Guy Jackson, a 49-year-old local man who had been working for him in a Williamston cafe. Shortly after his arrest police charged him with assault with a deadly weapon with the intent to kill. He was released late last night under a $2,000 bond.

Evans was treated for three pistol wounds and admitted. One officer said he suffered two bullet wounds in his right leg and one in his right side. One of the bullets apparently fractured his leg, his attending physician stated this morning.

His condition today was described as "improved." The attending physician stated he is still on the critical list but is expected to recover.

Investigating officers said the shooting apparently took place as a result of a Saturday night fight involving Evans and Jackson. The origin of the argument has not been determined.

Evans suffered three cuts on his left shoulder that required 40 stitches to close. Following treatment at Pitt Memorial Hospital he reportedly told officers that Jackson cut him with a knife but he did not want to sign a warrant for his arrest.

The Saturday night fight took place at the scene of the shooting in the parking lot next to Jim's Recreation Center. Miss Lena Cox, 16, of Williamston was with the two men at the time, officers said, was quoted as saying they had been riding around town and had returned to the parking lot where Evans was to put Jackson out for the night.

She told police that both men started to argue and began to fight in the front seat of the automobile. During the fight Evans was reported to have been cut on his left shoulder. The cuts measured seven inches four inches and five inches.

"Didn't Mean To Kill Him" Evans told police he didn't mean to kill Jackson. "I told him I was going to fill him full of lead," officers quoted him as saying.

The local cafe owner said he and Jackson were in the Recreation Center between 11 a.m. and 12 noon. Evans said he ordered Jackson to leave telling him, "If you are not out of here in an hour and a half I am going to fill you full of lead."

VFW Auxiliary Plan Bake Sale

The members of the Ladies Auxiliary to the Veterans of Foreign Wars will conduct a personal bake sale with proceeds earmarked for the March of Dimes. In this project, each member will bake a cake, pie or cookies and in turn sell her baked items personally. The amounts received by each member from her sale will constitute the contribution of the auxiliary.

The project was formulated at the regular monthly meeting of the auxiliary held on Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. H. H. Compton.

Following the opening ceremony and pledge of allegiance, Mrs. Lottie B. Barnhill was welcomed as a new member.

Mrs. J. A. Joyner Jr., president and presiding officer of the evening, announced that North Carolina Day would be declared at the VFW National Home at Eaton Rapids, Mich. on Easter weekend.

Representatives from the Department of North Carolina will be on hand for the occasion. Bob Miskelly of North Wilkesboro, immediate past department commander, is chairman of the North Carolina Day Committee.

Mrs. Joyner also announced that Mrs. Ray Godbey, Lynwood, Calif., national president of the Ladies Auxiliary to the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States, will make her official visit to North Carolina on February 15 and 16. Festivities in her honor will be held in Concord. In addition to a business session, a banquet and dance has been scheduled.

Mrs. C. B. West Jr. gave a report on the Second District meeting held in Greenville earlier in the month. At this meeting, the auxiliaries in the district made plans for the birthday party at the Veterans Hospital in Fayetteville on March 26. Various auxiliaries in the state sponsor the parties monthly. Each veteran who has a birthday during the month is remembered with an individual gift. Entertainment and refreshments are provided.

The staff of the hospital reports that the parties are valuable for morale purposes. Many of the patients have been hospitalized for a long time and often feel forgotten. A personal birthday remembrance renews their hopes. In appreciation of past services, an invitation from the Fayetteville VA Hospital was extended to attend a Turn-About Party there on January 31. At this party the patients will entertain the auxiliary members.

Mrs. West also reported on the department council meeting held in Charlotte which she attended. In her capacity as department chaplain, she conducted the devotional service.

Notes of thanks were read from the VA hospital at Oteen and Caswell Training School for Christmas gifts sent by the auxiliary. A note of appreciation was received from the local school for trainable mentally retarded children for the piano which the auxiliary is supplying.

The rehabilitation committee reported that shoes were purchased for a disabled veteran during the month.

Children in the North Carolina Cottage at the National Home who had birthdays during the month were sent cards and a cash gift.

Mrs. Kenneth Brown, Americanism chairman, reported that classroom flags and holders purchased by Wahl-Coates School in connection with the auxiliary's flag project have been delivered.

The Farmville Auxiliary is giving a bingo party for the children at Caswell Training School on February 12. Local auxiliary members were invited to attend.

The annual Valentine Party has been scheduled for Thursday evening, February 13. At this affair the husbands and special guests of auxiliary members are honored.

Mrs. Ralph Bailey won the door prize.

During the social hour, Mrs. H. H. Compton and Mrs. Jean Wells, hostesses of the evening, served refreshments.

Teachers Need To Be Free To Teach Stressed At PTA

A talk by J. H. Rose, Superintendent of schools, highlighted the Junior High School P.T.A. meeting held in the school library last Thursday night.

Rose stated that people are now demanding better schools, and that he has urged teachers to use what they have at hand and do the very best with what they have. Since children really are not working to capacity, Rose requested parents to quietly help young people put first things first and to help them realize their need of spiritual strength — not just a desire for material things.

Elbert Bennett opened the meeting by leading the association in singing "America," then a devotional was given by the Rev. Irby Jackson.

Mrs. M. P. Bailey, president, called on J. E. Waldrop, vice-president, to introduce new officers of the P.T.A. and all committee chairmen who spoke of their plans for the year.

Dr. Leo Jenkins, study course chairman, emphasized Rose's statement of putting first things first and stressed the need of freeing teachers to teach. Miss Elizabeth Copeland, librarian at Sheppard Memorial, told teachers and parents of her pleasure in helping Junior High students work in the library and issued an invitation to parents to come with their children.

The project of purchasing books for the school library, and final plans for the benefit basketball game to raise funds for this project were approved by the membership.

P.T.A. By-laws and budget were presented then adopted along with other recommendations of the Executive Board; Greenville Junior High School P.T.A. will not become affiliated with the national P.T.A. until next school year; a teacher's lounge will be furnished; the P.T.A. will sponsor the Junior High Student Council and set aside funds up to $50 for its use; a "sock hop" will be co-sponsored with the Student Council.

Boys Need To Learn Manners

By VIVIAN BROWN
Is the American youth un-gallant?

There are strong indications that he is not the little gentleman his daddy was at the same age. Or was it grandpa?

A recent editorial in the Meriden, Conn., Record laments the situation asking what is the matter with young men today that they don't give a lady a hand with her bundles? It used to be fun to carry a girl's books home from school, but today it is a do-it-yourself proposition.

It could be girls like their independence, the Record points out. "Our own theory," the Record says however, "is that the boys are either lazy or unmannerly or both. Surely the age of chivalry is dead when a boy can detain a girl on a street corner for half an hour, holding her in conversation while she holds a pile of books."

Here's hoping the Record can jog up the boys in Meriden, and that good manners will catch on. But how can a young man in a modern household identify himself with gallantry when he doesn't often see evidence of it at home? Mom's doing chores that were considered only a man's work in other generations — moving grass, chaulfurring the family, chopping and hauling wood, painting and remodeling the homestead. Could be that when a young man permits a girl to walk with him loaded down with books, he's just conditioning her for marriage by building up her muscles.

Then, too, has anyone heard a mother (or father) say recently to a son... "Take off your hat when you come into the house"... "Stand up, when a lady enters a room"... "Pull back the girls' chairs at the dinner table"... "Stand up and give that lady your seat (on the bus, etc.)"

"A woman doesn't deserve a living too"... "She should be able to take the office cuss words if she wants to work there."

Everybody knows that the woman maybe doesn't need the car seat any more than the man offering it, and that she can take a few swear words. But giving her a seat and protecting her delicate ears from swearing words used to give man an opportunity to feel superior to women in a nice way. It seldom happens anymore.

If a boy has never been taught to be gallant, feeling the surge of masculinity that results from admiring females, how's he going to know that it can make a pygmy feel like a giant?

After all, if the boys of this country had never been given a spoon to eat their cereal maybe they'd still be eating with their fingers.

THE PRESCRIPTION PHARMACY

IT DOESN'T ALWAYS PAY TO BE BRAVE...

Admits too often will put on a show of courage with a "cold," rather than retire and rest—and call the Doctor. Pneumonia sometimes attacks such stalwarts.

Do not try to be brave with a "cold," however simple. Follow the well-established guidance—rest, eat a well-balanced diet, and drink plenty of water and fruit juices. If symptoms persist, call your Doctor promptly, while there is still time for treatment of the current illness and prevention of possible hazardous complications. If medicines are indicated, we will be happy to render the best in Pharmaceutical service in filling your Doctor's prescriptions.

Judge Henry Grady of Clinton, who presided over the term of criminal court here last week, said crime in this country had assumed greater proportions than it should. Although believing that justice should be tempered with mercy, this distinguished jurist intimated that too much tempering had resulted in lack of proper punishment.

Miss Margaret Stevens, home demonstration agent, gave a demonstration on "The Home Business Center," stating three needs for every rural home, at the regular meeting of the Pierce Home Demonstration Club Friday, January 17, at the club house.

"These three needs are: 1. A place to keep all things in order, 2. to keep records accurately, and 3. a business center with table or desk, chair, good lighting, plenty of drawer space, waste basket and if possible, a telephone" she pointed out.

Plans were made to have a bingo party and cake walk at the February meeting with a small fee being charged to participants. Proceeds from these games will go toward the Heart Fund. Members were asked to urge persons to attend this event on February 20.

During the business meeting presided over by the president Mrs. Edwin Harrington, Mrs. Harrington gave a report on the County Council meeting which was recently held in Greenville.

Speaker Feels Spiritual, Moral Resources Keys To Nat'l Security

The American Legion Auxiliary met Thursday evening with Mrs. J. B. Spilman. Assisting hostesses were: Mesdames C. A. Bowen, Howard Moya, Luther Bowling, W. J. Bundy, Harvey Dail, Frank Bendall and J. C. Lamm.

The subject for January was "National Security and Legislation" and the program was built around that topic. The guest speaker, Rev. Percy B. Upchurch of Memorial Baptist Church, was introduced by Mrs. Spilman, program chairman.

Rev. Upchurch spoke on the matter of national security, stressing the importance of moral and spiritual resources which he considers of equal or more importance than the military might. "If we are going to have any real progress in preparing for peace we must have a sympathetic understanding of other nations without expecting them to recognize and look up to our superior power," he said.

"We must recognize the need of other nations and strive to reach the goal of mutual good will and understanding throughout the world. We have possibly gained some ill will by taking a superior attitude in the giving of aid to other nations in order to secure military advantage. Our real national security rests on the character of manhood and womanhood in the home which is the basis of our moral and spiritual resources, or security."

Since attendance is becoming too large for meetings in homes, the question of where to hold meetings was brought up. J. H. Ross had offered the use of the JHS cafeteria and this was to be considered by a selected committee, along with having a covered dish supper for the February meeting. It was suggested that at the March meeting, subject of which is Community Service, the Rescue Squad be invited to give a demonstration of its service.

Mrs. McGee reported for the Rehabilitation Committee on the help given a needy family for Christmas and another family since which had been found to be in great need.

Mrs. Rives told about the plans to hold a bridge-canoes tournament in February, and received offers of refreshments and prizes. Mrs. Spilman and her committee served a hot punch with cookies and nuts during the social period to the 28 members present.

High Fashions Come From Puerto Rico

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor
Latest nation to make a bid for a place in the international fashion merry-go-round is Puerto Rico.

Colorful sportswear, travel outfits and party dresses by designers of the tropical Caribbean island were shown at the recent convention of the National Retail Dry Goods Assn. in New York, where it was announced that the styles will be available in shops throughout the United States this spring.

The Puerto Rican fashions shown include original creations by both native designers and others from America and Europe who have transplanted operations to the island. Some 219 apparel firms already form the nucleus of a growing industry, shipping 100 million dollars' worth of goods to the United States annually. The tropical resort has been known for many years as a source of fine hand needlework and embroidery. Now the native skills are being utilized by manufacturers aiming at mass production and international markets.

Most notable of the island designs are colorful resort styles, employing vivid colors and distinctive fabrics. Among Puerto Rican designers represented at the New York showing are: Martha Sleeper, Jose Ochoa, Casa Cavanagh, Manuel Olivari, Phil Gilbert, Jean Lindow and Elsie Spector.

ISLAND STYLE—Typical of Puerto Rican fashions is this chemise play suit in citrus print, designed by Jean Lindow.

Tips On Entertaining To Be Presented Wednesday

On Wednesday, beginning at 7 p.m. in Room 201, Flanagan Building, there will be a two-hour demonstration entitled "When You Entertain," presented by students of Home Economics at East Carolina College, for all interested homemakers.

The demonstration will consist of planning and preparation of quick and easy party refreshments. Emphasis will be placed on unusual refreshments, and the conservation of time and energy will also be stressed.

Students presenting the demonstration are Beverly Stewart, Betty Calhoun, Glenda Harris, and Peggy Harvin. Admission is free and everyone is invited to attend.

HD Club To Fete Husbands With Covered Dish Supper

Plans were made to serve a covered dish supper, with husbands as invited guests, in February when the Simpson Home Demonstration Club held its regular meeting Tuesday at the Community Building.

Mrs. L. C. Edwards, president, called the meeting to order. Mrs. Jimmie L. Edwards gave the devotional on the subject "Light and Dark," closing with the 18 members repeating the Club Collect.

During the business session the president reported on the County Council meeting and the club planned to support the Heart Fund.

Mrs. Robert Little, community service leader, reported that the club members have been cooperative in supporting the March of Dimes Drive. She added that members have baked cakes and helped in the solicitations and contributions.

Plans were made to get the Pitt County Progress Program underway. Each member was urged to start keeping records.

Several book reports were made. Project reports were given as follows: Food Conservation by Mrs. Fred Edwards, Home Management by Mrs. Jimmie L. Edwards, Education by Mrs. L. C. Edwards, Home Beautification by Mrs. H. H. Porter and Home Gardens by Mrs. Fred Edwards.

"The Home Business Center," the topic of the demonstration of the month, was given by Mrs. Lillie Little, home agent. She stressed the keeping of records is more important now than ever before and farm women especially help the men a great deal toward the keeping of records.

Mrs. Little added, "It is very essential that each home have a business center." She showed the group colored slides of home business centers, budget books, and file cases.

A short recreation period was led by the recreation leader, Mrs. Roy Edwards.

Refreshments, consisting of individual pies, potato chips and coffee, were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Roy Edwards and Mrs. Herman Tucker.

Japan Topic Of Society's Meet

BETHEL—Mrs. Rudy Hedges who has recently returned from Japan spoke to the W.C.S. of the Bethel Methodist Church January 20 stressing the need for the campaign to win Japan for Christ.

Mrs. Hedges explained the religions of Buddhism and Shintoism and described the dress and habits of the Japanese. She was introduced by Mrs. Roscoe Everett, program chairman.

Mrs. Everett opened the program by reading from Luke 4:16-22 and presenting the six challenges for the New Year to the organization, explaining the key to the six was exercising brotherly love. Mrs. F. L. Blount concluded the program by reading a poem.

Mrs. J. L. Gurganus, president, opened the meeting by reviewing the Society's creed. The creed was followed by the singing of a hymn.

The group was dismissed with a benediction.

Glady's Keith Circle

Tips On Making Meetings Successful

Told By HD Agent

BETHEL—Mrs. Floyd Wilson was hostess to the Mayo Home Demonstration Club Friday night in her home at Fountain Crossroads.

Mrs. Eugene Van Landingham, county agent, thanked the club for the contribution they made to the Eugene Van Landingham Scholarship fund. She also gave a report on the business of the county council meeting that was held on Friday afternoon and discussed the home improvement contest to be held in each club in the county this year.

She urged that all who would enter this contest should register in the home agent's office. Mrs. Van Landingham gave points on what it takes to make a successful club meeting. She emphasized parliamentary procedure is the etiquette of organization and its purpose is to enable groups of people to reach conclusion and plan work in a short time without confusion.

The president, Mrs. Elmer Whitehurst, called the meeting to order after which there was group singing. Mrs. George Whitehurst gave a short Bible story and led the group in prayer.

At the social hour refreshments were served by the hostess and at this time the club members selected dress patterns from a collection that W. S. Clark & Sons had presented to the clubs through their home agent, Mrs. Van Landingham.

Auxiliary Plans To Increase Roll

BETHEL—The Bethel Pentecostal Holiness Women's Auxiliary met in the home of Mrs. F. C. James Monday evening with Mrs. James as hostess. The president, Mrs. George Abeyounis, called the meeting to order and presided.

The meeting was turned over to the program chairman for the meeting, Mrs. Wiley Clark. Topic for discussion was "Recruiting Members for Service." Miss Athleen Rollins gave the devotional and ways of gaining new members were discussed. It was decided the member bringing in the most new members would be rewarded with a gift. A Bible quiz by Mrs. Clark was planned.

The group decided to purchase some shirts for three needy children. Roll was called and minutes read with 17 members present and two visitors.

Mrs. Rose Smith, special visitor to the meeting, decided to become one of the "Recruited Members."

On display for sale were dish cloths, pot cleaners, brooms, cards, vanilla, and food choppers.

Mrs. James served coconut cake, squares, fried nuts, pimento cheese sandwiches, and coffee.

The group was dismissed with the "Lord's Prayer."

Club Has Modern Music Program

The End of the Century Club met on Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. Guy Smith at her home on Pitt Street.

Mrs. Smith introduced Dr. Ed Durham of the Music Department of East Carolina College. Dr. Durham is a native of Maryland and has an extensive background in music.

His program for the afternoon was "Modern Music." He illustrated his talk with recordings of modern composers beginning with a Shoenberg piece illustrative of the 12 and one technique which has influenced many modern composers.

"Mozart's influence on modern music was great because he was one of the first composers to use dissonance in composition. Many modern composers use this same technique as a background. Beethoven, Brahms and Haydn had a great effect on the moderns, as did Debussy and Stravinsky," noted the speaker.

"The development of tension and relaxation through the years has come to be a real part of modern music. The happy meeting of unity and variety is the dream of every composer through the years," concluded Dr. Durham.

'Secret' Fever Is A Real Illness

Somebody else said it, but it does seem as though governmental agencies find it easier to stamp "secret" on papers than to find out whether it's worth the secretive approach.

The effect is absurdity piled on absurdity. The nation could strangle on its own "secrets".

Time and again inquisitive lawmakers have been told instances wherein "secrecy" slowed or impeded vital functions and immeasurably increased the cost of co-related activities.

A former chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission is quoted as saying "every time America decides to keep something secret, we are running the risk of slowing our own progress by narrowing the range of skills and experience that can be brought to bear on the problem."

One lawmaker glumly forecast this country might have to fight its next war with secrets.

This penchant for rubber-stamping that six-letter word has been carried so far as to label (for security reasons?) some notes on archery by a bow-and-arrow enthusiast.

Some secrecy is logical in the interest of national defense; but logic has seemingly gone out the door among the secret-stamping set. Secrecy may be simpler, but it isn't always the wiser course in government. It is an open invitation to abuses, ignorance and criminal negligence. . . all easy to conceal with a rubber stamp.

How do we get out of this mess?

Heart Disease Data For The Public's Ear

Residents of Greenville and surrounding area will have a rare opportunity Tuesday night to hear some of the leading heart specialists of the nation. The occasion will be a public meeting at 8 p. m. in conjunction with the heart symposium being held on the East Carolina College campus.

Sponsored by the Coastal Plain Heart Association, the symposium includes a public meeting at 8 p. m. Tuesday evening at which the specialists will discuss heart diseases in terms laymen can understand. It is seldom that a community the size of Greenville has in its midst such an array of specialists as will appear at the symposium. It is our hope that citizens of this area will take advantage of this rare opportunity by attending the public session of the symposium Tuesday evening.

An Unstable Career In The Dictatorial Role

Are dictators becoming a thing of the past among Latin American governments?

Though dictators are still plentiful among the governments of United States' neighbors in Latin America, there is some significance in that six dictators in the Western Hemisphere have fallen during the past four years. Even now, on the heels of the ousting of Jimenez in Venezuela, there are other Latin America dictators whose control of their respective countries appear on unsteady foundations.

In all probability it will be decades yet before some countries of Latin America obtain the kind of democratic government already established in this hemisphere. Yet the changes now taking place in the ouster of Latin American dictators points to progress toward true democracy among our neighbors to the South.

Outlook Based On 2 Plus 2

By ELMER ROESSNER

Here are more business predictions, based on analyses of developing trends and the gentle art of putting two and two together.

More charges for credit. Large stores, having to pay more interest on money to finance credit, have generally applied 1 or 1 1/2 per cent monthly charges on revolving credit plans. Soon small stores will be forced into this practice, but for a different reason. The compelling factor is that collections are slowing up and small merchants need more money to protect themselves against losses.

Dip in exports. Foreign nations and their nationals must have gold or dollars to buy goods in the United States, and their holdings have been declining. Therefore our exports are certain to decline unless the Federal government finances more of them, or the International Monetary Fund rescues more foreign countries.

Smaller dip in farm exports. Exports of agricultural products are also affected by the dip will not be as great. The U. S. government will finance some of the exports, and foreign nations needing farm products will keep gold and dollars available for them. Total volume of farm exports in the year ending June 30 may exceed that of any other fiscal year except the one ended June 30, 1957.

EMPLOYMENT A KEY Business will watch employment figures closely. The drop in January is partly seasonal; thereafter levels off and starts climbing to the mid-year peak. If employment fails to follow the pattern and continues to drop, the situation will be regarded as more serious than supposed. A further drop, incidentally, will cause Congress to consider tax cuts seriously and embark on more deficit spending.

Higher vegetable, fruit prices. The effects of the Florida freeze have not yet been fully reflected in supplies and prices. Produce will continue scarce and become more expensive until produce from Georgia and the Carolinas mature. The orange concentrate appears to be the lowest in five years. Shortage of Florida produce will tend to

UCYM Devotional

Why Are You In Church?

This week Reflector staff writers are giving over their column space to members of the United Christian Youth Movement.

Each day a devotional written by a member of the council will appear in the space. The council is observing Youth Week all this week.

This devotional is written by Jane Bass, a senior at J. H. Rose High School. As a member of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, she is the secretary of the Young Churchmen and an active member of the senior choir.

Do you go to church every Sunday? If so, perhaps you have noticed the different types of people who worship in your church.

Do you remember the fat, pompous lady, dressed in rich furs and fine clothes: Her eyes, continuously roving about the congregation, speculate on how much every other woman's fur coat cost. . . . A fashion show that's what church really meant to her!

What about that smiling politician? He knows that by going to church he makes a good impression on potential voters. It is always good to have a churchgoing man in office. Churchgoer — but, Christian? perhaps.

Will you ever forget the giggling group of kids on the back pew. The back pew is a perfect place to repeat the latest news if there are no noisy grownups around. It's a shame their parents don't think church is important enough for them to get up Sunday mornings in order to attend.

Ah! Now we come to the last, but not least, of the worshippers. These people make up the backbone of the church. They are a shining example for the other members to follow. Why do they go to church? The answer is simple — there they find peace with God. As Christians they have found a closer fellowship by working in church. By going to church and Sunday School these people are learning the Word of God and how to spread it.

In which of these four groups do you belong? "Almighty God, our heavenly Father, who hast committed to thy holy Church the care and nurture of thy children; Enlighten with thy wisdom those who teach and those who learn, that, rejoicing in the knowledge of thy truth, they may worship thee and serve thee from generation to generation; through Jesus Christ our Lord. AMEN."

Indifferent To Indonesia Arena

By RAY TUCKER

AUCKLAND, New Zealand, — New Zealanders and Australians are amazed at the indifference which the NATO powers, especially Britain and the United States, show toward the growth of Communist influence in Indonesia, which lies not far from these bulwarks of the free world in the South Pacific.

Both NATO and the United Nations have looked the other way when this problem was raised. For fear of subjecting themselves to new charges of "colonialism" and "imperialism" such as they have encountered in the Middle East, they have not supported Holland in the dispute over West New Guinea.

The leftist Indonesian government demands that Holland surrender this area to the Indonesians. Australia controls East New Guinea as a protectorate, and does not relish a Communist regime as a next-door neighbor. Its newspapers both in articles and editorials express a fear over future developments in that area.

Indeed, it might even give both Russian and Chinese Communist forces control of Australia, New Zealand and the main-land nations which made up SEATO, principally East Pakistan and Thailand. The Chinese Reds have made such inroads into Laos and Cambodia in Indo-China that the pro-West nations have had to strengthen patrols on their borders.

AUSTRALIA'S IMMIGRATION POLICY Australia's concern over this question is reflected in its immigration policies. Government agencies are conducting a campaign to attract European immigrants of sturdy, fighting stock, especially British and Germans. They want them as farmers and laborers, but the main reason is to increase the population so that it can, in a crisis, bolster its manpower for both industrial production and military service. Australia's present population is only 9,200,000 although it is as big, geographically, as the United States.

And yet, despite this "down under" dread of the Communists' slow and insidious penetration of the strategic South Pacific, Washington and London do not show the same anxiety which they have exhibited toward establishment of Soviet beachheads in Syria and Egypt.

According to the belief here and in Sydney, the dangers in this area are fully as grave as those in the Middle East, although perhaps not so palpable or imminent. The Russians take a long-range approach, viewpoint and strategy here as elsewhere.

DOWN - UNDER MILITARY FORCES Furthermore, a first-hand study of Australia's military establishment bears out the frequently expressed belief that SEATO, as a defense alliance in this part of the world, is only a paper organization. Save for the U. S. and Britain, which have no large forces "down under," Australia is the most powerful member of SEATO.

But the number in active service in the Australian Army, Navy and Air Force is only 70,000 with reserves (national guard) totalling only 50,000. Its Navy consists of one cruiser, three small aircraft carriers, three submarines and about 30 destroyers, plus a negligible number of tankers, transports, supply ships, etc.

It is no wonder that Richard G. Casey, Australian Minister for External Affairs, expressed the view several weeks ago that the various anti-Communist groupings should be welded into a great global alliance, an idea which Secretary Dulles opposes violently. However, when I interviewed Mr. Casey subsequently, he seemed to have weakened on this question — possibly because Dulles had denounced it in the meantime.

Nevertheless, it is a fact that the Anzacs down here feel somewhat neglected and isolated from their Allied comrades-in-arms to the North.

Gravity In The World

By ROGER BAASON

BABSON PARK, MASS. — For some years I have been contributing large sums to the Gravity Research Foundation of New Boston, N.H. We have been trying to learn what gravity is, —whether it can be controlled. Gravity influences everything from the lightest feather to the heaviest metal. Thus far, no insulator has been found for gravity. To hold anything up against the force of gravity requires force.

Some believe that everything —including thoughts, prices, motives, ambition, and faith — are being constantly pulled down by gravity. I surely believe that such gravity has a constant downward pull on the stock market. As constant force is needed to keep up an airplane, kite, or balloon, so constant buying is needed to keep up prices. Force can raise prices as it can raise a load in an elevator. Furthermore, prices will fall as soon as this force is removed. Sir Isaac Newton's Law of Gravitation will be found to apply to the actions of the stock market.

We hear much about "value lines", "Dow Theories," and various statistical formulas to forecast markets; but I believe they are all helpless to keep stocks up, or make them rise, except as they increase buying. By the law of gravitation, prices of all kinds, including real estate, bonds, and interest rates will fall unless supported. Thus the successful investor usually need only wait until the artificial supports are removed and he can then get stocks at his own price. This is why General Electric, General Motors and other good stocks sold for only a few dollars per share in 1932. They kept declining until support came. This will again repeat itself.

Newton's Law of Gravitation will determine the future of international affairs. Conditions will continue to become worse until some nation falls. This need not be Russia. This fall will shorten the cold war, and either hasten peace or World War III. What Secretary Dulles, or Churchill, or the Pope may say has very little bearing. What nation will be first to fall we do not now know, any more than we now know which of our big corporations will be the first to fall. It will be the first one from which support is withdrawn.

The same fact applies to our national policies. Every political party in power, remains in power until the public withdraws support. Then, by Newton's Law, it falls whether its principles are right or wrong. As the seed corn naturally falls to the ground so does everything else. — Good and bad, England and France won World War II because of the support of the U. S. The outcome of World War III, if it comes, will likewise depend upon the support of our present allies.

When I was a boy in church and Sunday School, I was seriously taught about a "personal devil" who was continually pulling me down morally. Now this "personal devil" has gone out of fashion in most modern thinking; but we are constantly being pulled down morally nevertheless. One great rouble with our nation today is that this "personal devil" is not longer popular and few preachers have given us anything worthwhile in its place. They should frankly tell us that "gravitation" is constantly pulling us down morally as it is pulling us down physically. It finally pulls us into the grave.

All the above means that there is no ultimate protection in any stocks, bonds, mortgages, real estate, or anything else, but constant supervision, proper diversification, and courage to act. Hence, the rule is "From shirt sleeves in three generations" for those who neglect such support. Nature does not provide security for any of us. It is impossible to "retire" without retiring away. Constant struggle against evil is necessary for self-preservation, both for individuals and nations. This law of gravitation not money, missiles or other military equipment will decide our future.

Strength For Today

By EARL L. DOUGLASS A CREED BENEATH ALL CREEDS

Creeds have their place in life. The contempt some people love to express for the established creeds of the Church is unwise. Creeds are an honest and seriously considered attempt of theological specialists to make Christian faith reasonable.

Yet behind the official creeds of the Church, probably every individual has his own private creed. And even beneath his private creed, almost everybody has a conviction which undergirds and supports everything he believes, thinks, and does.

How about this for a basic, fundamental, all-supporting creed: "I believe in goodness, or, to put it another, "I believe in the rightness of right."

What this means is that the universe is built in such a way that wrong-doing never comes out right. It may take a long time for evil to accomplish its appalling purpose, but in the end "the wages of sin is death." Right struggles, sometimes for centuries, but in the end it is victorious. In a universe presided over by a righteous God, right is right and although we may be long in learning the truth and seeing its triumph, in the end right vindicates itself.

Think about this if you are tempted to compromise or to take some wrong course. It will turn out wrong as sure as there is a God in heaven — and because there is a God in heaven, Right is right in God's universe and must triumph.

Hodges Forecasts A 'Solid' South

MIAMI BEACH (AP)—A prediction that the South will return to the camp of the Democratic party has been voiced by Gov. Luther Hodges of North Carolina. "Disillusionment" with President Eisenhower and the Republican party was capped by the use of federal troops in the school integration crisis at Little Rock, Ark., Hodges told a Florida Democratic dinner here this weekend. He described the Little Rock incident as "the straw that broke the elephant's back." In handling the problem, he charged, the Republicans were "partisan as well as bungling." Hodges said he based his prediction of a solid South for the Democrats on the party's record. "Some of our Southern states have tried the other and did not like what they saw or what they experienced," he added. The North Carolina governor accused President Eisenhower of a "lack of leadership" both at home

Pollster Lists Top Best-Dressed Men

By JAMES BACON
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Cary Grant, who admits he still wears a topcoat that he bought in 1935, today headed a list of Hollywood's best dressed men as voted by other male stars. By Devore, famed movie stylist, polled some 300 actors after a reporter had long pressed him to name filmland's fanciest 10. Besides Grant, the list is, in this order, Jerry Lewis, Fred Astaire, Dean Martin, Bill Holden, Gary Cooper, Tony Curtis, Nat King Cole, David Niven and Clark Gable.

Martin, Devore said, "his 41-inch shoulders and 32-inch waist give him the perfect figure for sport clothes." Of Cooper: "His long, lean, lanky frame could make him the man to bring back the double-breasted suit." Of Curtis and Astaire: "Both are wizards with accessories and jewelry." Devore said that Cole is an expert on materials. "His suits are always made of exceptionally fine wools, mohairs and cashmeres," he said. Niven made the list, the designer said, because of a recent switch from the bulky, British look to a suave, continental, man-about-town appearance. And of Gable: "He's proof that a big man can be a fashion plate."

German Orphan Finds New Home

DURHAM (AP)—A young Negro orphan who came from Germany to live with foster parents in North Carolina, has embarked on a new life with a very limited command of the language of his new homeland. A Durham Negro couple, the Rev. Dr. and Mrs. J. Neal Hughley, adopted 4½-year-old Mario and brought him to their home here last Friday.

Mario, who made the long trip from Germany to New York via airliner, could say only a few words of English when he greeted his new parents last Thursday in New York. Among the verbal means of communication at his command were "I am Mario," and "banana" and "apple."

The little tot brought a smile to the faces of his new parents soon after his arrival when, upon being put to bed, he politely told them in broken English, "Have to wash."

The foster parents, childless in nearly 25 years of marriage, adopted the tot through the International Social Service. Mario was brought to this country by the Intergovernmental Committee for European Migration.

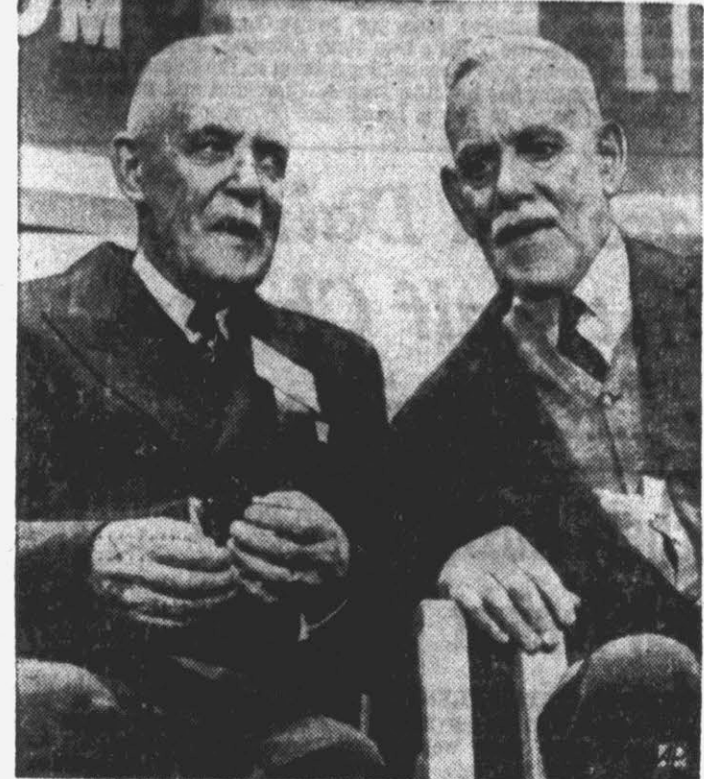

The Hughleys and Mario motored here from New York last week along with Mrs. Hughley's sister, Mrs. J. A. Maynard of Long Island, New York, and her two children.

Mario, one of five German orphans who arrived aboard the same flight, can communicate with his new father in a limited way. Dr. Hughley speaks some German.

Golf was first played in Holland. Then the Scotch took it as a national game.

Widower To Get Sympathy Money

TOKYO (AP)—The United States will pay the equivalent of $1,748 Wednesday to the husband of the Japanese woman GI William S. Girard killed on an Army firing range.

Ankichi Sakai, 47-year-old father of six children, refused to accept a payment of "consolation money" last September during Girard's manslaughter trial. He said he did not want to talk about money so soon after the death of his wife, Naka.

Later, at the urging of neighbors, Sakai submitted a claim for 800,000 yen ($2,224). Japanese authorities scaled it down to 629,396 yen ($1,748) and the U. S. Army approved the payment.

In Japan victims of accidents usually are paid sympathy money, regardless of who was at fault.

Lt. Col. Joseph L. Haelele of Lacona, Tex., chief of the Army claims service for the Far East, will present the money to Sakai Wednesday, one day before the first anniversary of Mrs. Sakai's death.

She was shot while collecting scrap brass on the firing range at Somagahara, where Girard was guarding a machine gun. Japanese insistence on trying the 22-year-old GI from Ottawa, Ill., created an international furor. He got a three-year suspended sentence last January and subsequently was discharged from the Army.

Again Blocked By Rock-Slide

BLOWING ROCK, N. C. (AP)—State Highway Department crews worked today to clear a rock slide on U. S. 321 about two miles south of here.

It was the second slide in a week in about the same place. Both were caused by thaws following freezing weather.

No homes were endangered as the rock came tumbling down a deep cut in the mountainside.

The road goes from Boone through Blowing Rock, Lenoir, Hickory, Newton and toward Charlotte.

Alternate routes are U. S. 421 to North Wilkesboro and State Road 16 toward Conover and Hickory, the Blue Ridge Parkway to its meeting with State 16; and secondary roads.

Over 100 Search For Lost Boy

WILLOWS, Calif. (AP)—More than 100 sheriff's deputies and volunteers continued today their search for a 12-year-old Tenderfoot Boy Scout in snow-mantled Grindstone Canyon 40 miles west of here.

Dennis Wurschmidt became separated from his troop Saturday shortly before a storm hit the rocky gorge in the Mendocino National Forest of northern California. Three feet of new snow hampered searching.

MacArthur Holds Annual Gathering

NEW YORK (AP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur, who was 78 yesterday, had his annual birthday reunion last night with officers who served with him in the Pacific.

Vice President Nixon, here for a banquet, visited MacArthur in the general's suite at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel to extend best wishes.

MacArthur spent most of his birthday with his wife and their son Arthur, 19-year-old Columbia University student.

At a reunion dinner in the Waldorf-Astoria, more than 75 officers of his command in the Southwest Pacific during World War II sang "Happy Birthday to You."

MacArthur, whose rank is general of the Army, is carried on the Army's active list without assigned military duties. He is chairman of the board of the Sperry-Rand Corp.

W. Virginia Favored But Duke Is Tough At Home

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

There's no place like home—for Duke's Atlantic Coast Conference basketball team, anyhow. And the Blue Devils are counting big on that in tonight's game against powerful West Virginia.

Normally, the Blue Devils' lackluster 6-5 record would make them look like pushovers for unbeaten West Virginia. The Mountaineers, riding high on a 14-win streak, are ranked first in the nation.

But the Mounties are playing on Duke's home court tonight and that may make a lot of difference. The Devils may not look like much on the road sometimes, but they've won 66 home games in the last 7 1/2 years—and lost only 11.

Last year, Duke squashed a then-undefeated West Virginia 73-67 in the first round of the Dixie Classic. The shock so rattled West Virginia that they lost their next three Dixie games, too, and wound up last in the tourney. They did recover to make a brilliant 25-3 season record, however.

In 1955, Duke mopped up the Durham floor with the Mounties 115-75—the biggest score ever racked up against a West Virginia team. And, altogether, the Devils have whipped West Virginia in seven of their nine games.

So, tonight's the night to see if that home court magic is still working.

In the other ACC game tonight, South Carolina—tied for last place in the conference—meets Georgia of the Southeastern Conference at Athens.

Thursday, Virginia plays at Duke and South Carolina goes to Furman on Saturday. Maryland travels to Navy, Clemson visits North Carolina State, Duke is at Wake Forest and Virginia moves to Virginia Military.

Spangler sophomores from The Citadel toppled Clemson 60-57 Saturday. The Cadets whipped in 12 straight points in the last five minutes to go ahead. Dick Wherry, 17, and Art Musselman, 16, were high scorers for the Bulldogs; George Marjack and Walt Gibbons dropped in 15 each for Clemson.

North Carolina State, tied with North Carolina for the ACC lead, trounced Camp Lejeune's Marines 98-54 Saturday in a game that didn't affect the Wolfpack season record because Lejeune is non-college. John Richter's 23 points and Whitey Bell's 22 were tops for State.

Beatty Triumphs; Sime Wins Two Of Three

Spangler May Be Brave Starter

MILWAUKEE (AP) — An unusual young man by the name of Al Spangler may start in center field for the World Champion Milwaukee Braves this season even though he isn't on their 1958 roster.

Spangler, 24, has been in the Army for the last two seasons and has never appeared in a major league game, but the Braves consider him a top drawer prospect.

"We have as high regard for him today as when we signed him at Duke University in 1954," Roland Hemond, the club's assistant farm director, said today.

Although he is the property of the Braves' Wichita, Kan., farm team in the American Assn., Spangler will train with the parent club this spring. He definitely is in the running for the center field job because of the dubious condition of Billy Bruton's injured knee.

Spangler, a Philadelphian, is an excellent bunter—a quality infrequently found in a rookie. For another, he is smart, daring base-runner—maybe a shade slower than Bruton at his physical best.

"Spangler is a Richie Ashburn type hitter," said Hemond. "He hits to the opposite field and he has power for his size, about 175 pounds. He utilizes his speed well, is a great student of the game and a fine fielder."

Washington's Ron Delany Can Link Himself So Closely With An Event That He Becomes Prominent

WASHINGTON (AP) — A runner like Villanova's Ron Delany can link himself so closely with an event that he becomes prominent by his absence.

Delany has entered 17 indoor mile races since he came to this country from Ireland four years ago. He won all of them, most recently at the Philadelphia Inquirer games last Friday night.

This being the time of year for college exams, Delany skipped the Evening Star meet here on Saturday. Phil Coleman of Chicago, who had chased Delany across twice this season, also was missing.

That left the test almost exclusively in slim George King's hands, and King won by a comfortable 10 yards in 4:13.6 from Jim Beatty, now a private at Ft. Jackson, S.C.

No discredit to King, who ran smoothly and effortlessly in a well planned race on the District of Columbia Army's flat oval.

All the tension in the Star games ended with the sprint series in which Dave Sime of Duke regained some of the glory he lost last year to Ira Murchison of Western, Michigan.

Sime, 6 feet 3 against Murchison's 5 feet 4, made the most of the stretch. Murchison, lightning off the start, beat Sime at 70 yards in 7.1 seconds. But Sime, who picks up speed as he goes along, set a world record of 7.8 in edging Murchison at 80 yards, and won the 100 with a yard to spare at 9.6.

Sime and Murchison are likely to match up again at Boston next Saturday or in the Millrose Games at New York in the following Saturday.

Elles Gilbert of Winston Salem Teachers proved he's the man to beat in the hurdles while Lee Calhoun, the Olympic 110-meter timber champ, sits out an AAU suspension till August. Gilbert won the 70-yard high in 8.4 for this third straight victory of the indoor season.

This is an artist's conception of how the Los Angeles Dodgers baseball layout will fit into the Los Angeles Coliseum, where their home games will be played. Home plate will be on the west side of the 101,000-seat Coliseum. Plans call for a six-foot high portable fence in centerfield, a 300-foot right field foul line and a 250-foot left field foul line. There will be a 40-foot screen over the short left field wall to preclude cheap home runs. (AP Wirephoto)

High Point Takes Lead In N S Cage Standings

League Ruling, Bear Idleness Responsible

Mainly as a result of the North State Conference ruling which took three games away from East Carolina College two weeks ago, the High Point Panthers have taken over first place in the loop.

Two weeks ago the Panthers were several notches down the ladder with not enough wins to put them in the running with Lenoir Rhyne and ECC, who both had 7-1 marks.

The Conference decision—based on evidence that ECC had used an ineligible ball player in three loop games—knocked the three games (all wins) off the Pirates' lead, leaving them 3-4. High Point's H. R. Hinchaw, commissioner of the league, handed down the decision.

High Point benefited by the decision, for the Panthers were one of the teams that were soundly licked by ECC but who were awarded a win due to the ruling.

Now the Panthers sit astride the top of the league with a 8-1 record. The High Point club took advantage of Lenoir Rhyne's idleness and moved ahead of the 7-1 Bears.

Western Carolina, claiming wins over ECC 92-85 and Elon 66-62, retains third place with a 6-2 mark. Catawba climbed into fourth with their 4-4. Appalachian, for a while the expected doormat of the loop, has moved up into fifth with a 3-5 mark.

East Carolina — which dropped games to Western Carolina and Lenoir Rhyne following the conference's stunning ruling—has keeled over into sixth position with a 3-6 record.

Gulford is deadlocked with the Bucs for that position. Atlantic Christian, which has climbed off the bottom of the pile for the first time this season, has moved into eighth place with a 2-5 mark.

Elon, 1-7, occupies the tail-end spot.

East Carolina's next ball game will be played at Memorial Gymnasium, January 31, against Western Carolina. A win, which the Pirates will not be rated to get could up them a notch or two in the standings. WCC, at this point, however, is a solid 10-point favorite.

Archer, Russo Clash Tonight

Wants To Play West Virginia

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Jimmy Archer and Danny Russo, a pair of New York welterweights who climbed into the main event class in 1957, meet Monday in the headline bout at St. Nicholas Arena.

Archer has won 15 of 17 pro starts while Russo has won 13 of 16.

The 10-round match will be seen on television (Dumont) in some sections.

Yvon Durelle, the Canadian fisherman, is well again and ready to face Tony Anthony of New York in the Friday night feature at Madison Square Garden. Durelle had to pull out of a Jan. 10 match with Tony because the fisherman ate some bad fish (not his own).

With Archie Moore, the light heavy champ, well over 40 and up around the 190-pound mark, there is a great opportunity for a challenger. Durelle hopes to lure Archie to Canada for a title bout if he gets over Anthony.

The 10-rounder is slated to be seen on NBC Radio-TV.

Young Jack Johnson of Los Angeles steps into the Wednesday night match at Chicago Stadium with Wayne Bethea of New York. Johnson replaces Bob Satterfield who has retired from the ring because of an eye injury.

The Chicago fight will be carried on ABC-TV.

West Virginia's Saturday night romp past Furman gave the Mountaineers an 8-0 conference record and was their 14th victory of an unbeaten season. Joedy Gardner scored 21 points for West Virginia but Furman's Tom Conard led all scorers with 25.

Sloan said he thought Furman did "a pretty good job" despite the overwhelming defeat, his fourth in as many conference games. "They're starting to come on now," said the spectator coach. "I didn't think they looked bad at all. They'll win some games before long."

Dick Wherry, with 17 points, led The Citadel past Clemson. The Cadets came from behind in the last five minutes for the victory, their 11th of the season against six defeats.

West Virginia goes to Duke tonight for what may be its most rugged assignment of the second half of the campaign. It's the only game on tonight's conference program.

The lowest point in the United States is Death Valley, which is 280 feet below sea level.

Harriman Offers Record Budget

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—Gov. Averell Harriman today sent the New York Legislature a record-shattering $1,800,000,000 budget that calls for a 43-million boost in income tax—up to $35 a taxpayer.

He also warned the lawmakers that, unless they raised the state gasoline tax from 4 to 5 cents a gallon, the state would soon have to cut back its big highway construction program.

The income tax increases would take effect on returns due April 15, if the Legislature's Republican majorities are willing to raise taxes in this election year.

GOP leaders have indicated, to the contrary, that they will send Harriman a bill that would hold taxes at the current level. A veto would be used against him in his drive for re-election next fall.

The Democratic governor said he would have to draw $123,700,000 from bond funds and $90,300,000 from construction reserves to balance his budget. State spending would be increased by 142 million dollars in the fiscal year beginning April 1.

On the other hand, Harriman proposed to continue a $1,300,000 tax abatement for small businesses and a $750,000 easement for bus companies—to help them "in resisting the current economic decline."

His new spending proposals included:

- 1. An extra $4,900,000 in school aid this year and 12 million more annually thereafter. This would come on top of a mandatory $47,600,000 boost.
2. Adding 151 men to the state police force to crack down on gangsters and speeders, and expanding highway safety programs, at a total cost of $1,800,000.
3. Increasing state aid to community colleges by $10,700,000 and giving the state university $3,600,000 more to expand its teaching staff.

New Credit Card Plan Appeals As Time-Saver

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Millions of car owners this month are joining the ranks of those who slice time off their stops in service stations by using plastic embossed credit cards.

These cut even more time off the handling of credit in the accounting rooms of oil companies as they push millions of credit records through electronic tabulators.

The move from the paper credit card is spreading to the hotels, with the American Hotel Assn. issuing 120,000 of its own credit cards and encouraging its members to install machines to do the accounting in jig time.

This month Esso, Texaco, Socony and Continental started using the new system. Only a handful of all companies still stick to the paper card method, where the service station attendant copies all the data onto invoices.

Socony Mobil says the old process took an average of just under two minutes, while the new method cuts this to under one minute.

The attendant puts the customer's card in a mechanical imprinter, which contains the dealer's identification plate (a metal one). Both bits of information are imprinted on the credit invoice. The dealer has only to write in the sale amount; the customer only to sign his name.

Texaco officials say in the last 10 years their credit business has grown by 20 per cent annually. The company has mailed plastic cards to 2 1/2 million customers in all 48 states and set up imprinters in 35,000 stations.

Credit handling, formerly done by 15 divisions, is now consolidated in four centers that will handle 100 million separate invoices this year in electro-mechanical computers. The company spent six months updating its credit accounts and getting the cards embossed.

Socony Mobil has embossed more than 2 1/2 million cards with credit customer's name and account number. Its central computers will tabulate 50 million transactions this year.

Esso Standard has chucked more than one million metal plates aside to start use of the plastic cards this month. It thinks the convenience will make up for the cost of the change.

Makers of the cards include: Farrington Manufacturing Co. of Needham Heights, Mass., supplying among others Atlantic Refining, California Standard, Humble, Phillips, Shamrock, Shell and Tidewater; and Addressograph-Multigraph of Cleveland, whose early customers include Cities Service, Indiana Standard, Sohio, Ohio Oil, Richfield and Union Oil. Cards cost from three to six cents each, depending on the amount of data on them, and the imprinters from $26 to $44.

Oilmen say that credit card accounts are approaching one third of total service station business. Losses have been held under 1 1/2 per cent for the most part and some companies report them much lower.

Versatile, And Became Bailiff

MADILL, Okla. (AP) — Mrs. Christine Underhill, a housewife called to jury duty, ended up a court bailiff for Judge W. J. Monroe.

When she got to the court house, the Judge said he didn't have a bailiff and Mrs. Underhill volunteered.

Fairy Tales Not For Very Young

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (AP) — Fairy tales are not for the very young, says Mrs. Marguerite Duvall, child development specialist at Pennsylvania State University.

Children under seven, she says, are incapable of appreciating imagination and find prosaic stories quite exciting.

Turned Arcade Rifle On Self

NEW YORK (AP)—A despondent ex-Marine fired 17 shots yesterday at moving targets in an amusement arcade near Times Square, turned the rifle around and fired the 18th shot into his head. He died instantly.

Police identified the man from papers in his pocket as Charles Hauck, 37, Elmhurst, Queens.

One of the papers was a letter addressed to his wife Georgette. It complained of his illness and said she and their children—a 12-year-old son, and two daughters, 6 and 2 1/2—would be "better off without me."

The man, neatly dressed, entered the arcade, and paid 25 cents for one of a dozen .22-caliber rifles chained to the counter and a clip of seven bullets.

After firing the rounds he paid another quarter for a second clip of bullets, fired them at the targets—moving ship silhouettes, fish and jets of flame—and bought a third clip.

He fired three more shots and then killed himself.

It was learned later that Hauck served with the Marine Corps in 1943, had been a patient since November in a mental ward of the Veterans Administration hospital in Manhattan and was on a weekend pass.

Would Sail Boat Into Atomic Bomb Test Area

NEW YORK (AP)—A World War II Navy commander plans to sail a 30-foot ketch into the Pacific nuclear bomb test area as a protest against the tests.

Now a 51-year-old architect, Albert Bigelow of Cos Cob, Conn., said three other men will sail with him and remain in the test area "come what may."

The tests are scheduled for April. Bigelow and his companions plan to set sail from San Diego, Calif., Feb. 10. Their ship is named the Golden Rule.

"Primarily we're doing it from conscience," Bigelow said. "The tests are inhuman and unspeakable. They make us appear as mobsters before the world."

He added: "They only increase tensions instead of lessening them."

Bigelow is a pacifist and a Quaker. The expedition is being sponsored at an estimated $20,000 cost by Nonviolent Action Against Nuclear Weapons, a committee of leaders of American pacifist organizations.

He will be accompanied on the voyage by William R. Huntington, 50, St. James, N. Y., who also is an architect and Quaker. Both men are grandfathers. Two other persons to sail with them have yet to be chosen.

Bigelow and other pacifists tried to force their way into the Nevada Proving Grounds during an A-bomb test last August and were arrested for trespassing but released suspended sentences.

The Golden Scalp

CHAPTER SIX

As the battle continued, both contestants tired visibly. Caked, dirt-smudged blood lay thick on their bodies. Still they fought as men will when they know that they must fight or die.

There were no sounds now, save those of tortured breathing and sodden blows.

Dane broke a death grip on his throat, pushed Spotted Horse away, and rolled clear. The Indian turned doggedly and got erect. Then he stumbled, went to his knees, and crawled back into battle.

Dane met his slow-motion attack. But now Dane's movements were also in slow motion. The two came together and the action solidified into a still-life of an Indian stretched across the body of a white man. The Indian's whole effort was concentrated on driving a pair of thumbs into the white man's eyes. The white man was straining against the Indian's wrist as the thumbs moved lower and lower, driven by every muscle in the Indian's body.

Dane stared up at the descending thumbs, holding his eyes wide open. Into his mind came the horrible picture of himself, staggering around the circle with eyes gouged from his head. The Indians would make great sport of this. They would cheer the warrior, Spotted Horse, as he slowly killed the blind white man.

Such thoughts generated new energy somewhere in Dane's exhausted body. And with the energy came craftiness. He allowed the thumbs to come lower — lower. Then, with a wrenching movement, he spread the Indian's arms wide apart, thus jerking the warrior's head close to his own.

Now he smashed upward, driving his own head into the torturing face above him.

Fresh blood spurted hot and red from the Sioux's smashed nose, and Spotted Horse screamed a guttural scream as he flailed his hands in the air. Crazed with pain, he instinctively sought retreat. But he found none.

As he rolled away, Dane was on him, behind him, setting a knee against his back and hooking an arm around his throat in one terrible grip.

It was over now. The whole Sioux nation knew that it was over. They stared like men with- out tongues as Dane slowly applied pressure.

The back of Spotted Horse began to bend. It formed a bow. Dane opened his set mouth and spoke as loud as he could.

"The white man gives Spotted Horse his life."

The Indian only snarled. Hate blazed from his eyes. He knew that he was going to die and his hatred, blown fair into the teeth of that death, was a magnificent thing. A chief of the Sioux would not want a life of disgrace. Better a grave on the prairie.

Spotted Horse writhed helplessly, fighting to the end. His spine arched closer to the breaking point and a little of the hatred went out of his face. He now seemed more concerned with the business of showing no fear. Later, around the campfires, they must tell of Spotted Horse that he died snarling into the face of his enemy. If they couldn't speak of his victory, they must tell of his courage.

He set the snarl on his face and held it there.

And, just as his spine snapped, he was reaching vainly for Dane's throat, still with bared teeth.

Thus did all the Sioux wish to meet death.

Dane dragged himself away from the body of his dead foe. He stood up and raised his head high. He turned and faced Black Eagle.

"Now I take my squaw."

He went to Patience Stafford and took her roughly by the arm. He dragged her straight toward one side of the circle. The circle opened itself in time to let him stride through.

He hauled the girl to his pony, took a strand of the animal's tail and placed it in her hand. Then he mounted and rode slowly through the groups of silent Sioux warriors.

In a sense it was phenomenal that they allowed him to depart unharmed. And yet, not so. These warriors were ready to die at a word from Black Eagle. And it was by Black Eagle's word that Dane and Patience Stafford left the encampment unharmed.

Later, with the dead buried, the wounded cared for, and some oxen rounded up, the wagon train was ready to move.

"The Sioux pulled out last night," Dane told Stafford. "I think what's left of your train will get through unharmed now."

"You're sure done a lot for us," Stafford said, simply.

Sudden bitterness flared in Dane's reply.

"But do you understand now that it was wasted motion — all unnecessary? If you pilgrims would think you know it all — that you can't be told anything — you'd be safe and sound two hundred miles south of here, out of the Sioux country."

"You're right," Stafford said. "And Neal and Wilson and all the rest would still be alive."

Dane eyed him coldly.

"Spotted Horse would still be alive too."

He was mounted and ready to move when he saw Patience Stafford again. She came and stood beside his horse, looking up.

"You're — not going with us?"

There was hope and invitation in her eyes.

But the feeling in Dane which would have responded, was dead. He had looked at Patience Stafford before, and had seen a desirable woman. Now her face some, how made him think of graves — the Duke's grave; the grave of Spotted Horse; all the graves that had been dug and would be dug west of the Mississippi.

And yet she was no-wise to blame. Dane knew that. Still the feeling persisted. He couldn't understand it and didn't want to. He only knew that he didn't love Patience Stafford.

"I'm going east and south," he said. "That's where the Duke and I were headed."

"But — we want you to stay. I want you to."

"I'm not out for the kind of life you're going toward."

A hundred yards away he turned and waved. She was still standing there.

She stood there for a long time — even after he was out of sight.

THE END

Nixon, Soviet Leaders Might Meet In Summer

WASHINGTON (AP)—Vice President Nixon and Soviet leaders apparently would like to meet. They might do so on Nixon's scheduled European tour next summer and fall.

There was no formal invitation for such a visit extended during Nixon's 42-minute conversation last week with returning Soviet Ambassador Georgi Zarubin.

But one result of that unusual conference is increased speculation that the U.S.S.R. wants to know a lot more about Nixon's thinking than they could learn through the Zarubin talks.

Top Soviet leaders might like to get a good look at a man who may be president and who won his political spurs by pounding away at opponents on the issue that they were soft on communism.

Nixon, in turn, apparently would like to get his own personal impression of Nikita S. Khrushchev and the other Soviet leaders with whom he would have to deal if he became president.

Nixon intends to take off for Europe in late August or September. In the minds of some of his friends, the trip might have two advantages in his expected bid for the 1960 Republican presidential nomination:

1. It would round out his personal acquaintance with world statesmen.
2. It also would telescope his congressional campaign role. It would permit him to make some high-level speeches as the campaign closed, without being required to hammer away daily at the Democrats.

Nixon recently has shown a disposition to temper the sort of campaign attacks he made in the 1954 congressional battle.

Some politicians reason that Nixon is looking beyond the Republican nomination to the 1960 presidential campaign where he probably would need Democratic votes to get elected.

Eviction Under Sweeping Change

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) — The Republican state administration, which began sweeping out Democrats on the top floors of the statehouse last January, wielded the broom in the basement recently.

By accident officials stumbled upon cozy living quarters — a two-room suite equipped with bed, desk, telephone, etc. — downstairs.

C. C. Miller, former custodian under the Democrats, said the furnishings were his. He explained that a few years ago his superiors thought it would be a good idea if he stayed at the statehouse in case of trouble at night.

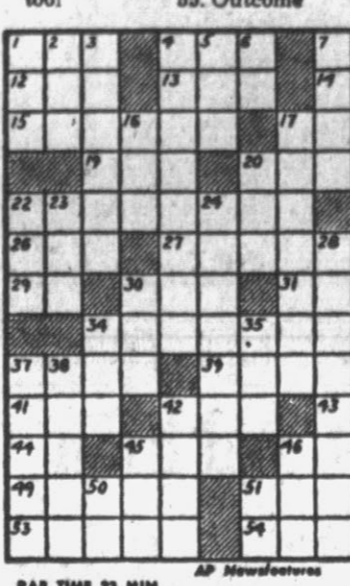

GOP officials ordered Miller to pack up his belongings, but he still has his present job — with the Democratic state treasurer.

Missile Master Says He Is Holding Best Air Force Job

By VERN HAUGLAND

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The man who bosses the missile test center from which the United States eventually will launch its first earth satellites says he has the best job in the Air Force.

"It's certainly the most interesting job in this outfit," declared Maj. Gen. Donald N. Yates, the trim, handsome officer who was Gen. Eisenhower's key weather man for the World War II invasion of Europe.

Yates commands a vast complex of test equipment, guards a huge array of multimillion-dollar weapons in various stages of development, and supervises the activities of a large force of scientists, technicians and Air Force, Army and Navy personnel.

The Air Force operates the test center but all the services make use of it.

"There is no interservice rivalry here," said Yates, "and if it starts we'll stop it."

"I am very proud of the way these fellows of all the services play ball."

This is the launching ground for giant ballistic missiles such as the Atlas, Thor and Jupiter and for "cruise" or air-breathing missiles like the Bomarc and Saark. The range extends 5,000 miles out into the Atlantic.

It is Yates' mission to provide orderly and speedy service for the testing.

Bates became director of weather service for the strategic air forces in Europe in 1944 and served on Eisenhower's staff through the Normandy invasion. One of his most difficult experiences was that of forecasting weather for the invasion. Because of the weather, the Normandy landings had to be delayed for 24 hours.

Yates became chief of the Air Weather Service in Washington in 1945 and remained in that post until 1950. Then, because of his technical background, he was appointed assistant deputy chief of staff for development, and in April 1951 became director of research and development.

Slim and in splendid physical condition, the general weighs 150 pounds and is 5 feet 7½. His black hair is streaked with gray and he has a small mustache. Yates is married to the former Gertrude I. Hansen of San Antonio, Tex. They have a daughter and a son.

Sox Dispenser Solves Problem

EL RENO, Okla. (AP) — Bob Evans got tired of having to hunt around for his socks in the drawer, so he has come up with a gadget — "sox box."

It's a little wooden box that works like a candy machine except that socks come out of the bottom, and they're free. Evans designed the 16-inch long box to hang on a wall and the wife just rolls the socks up and loads the box from the top. Hubby gets a fresh pair from the bottom.

GOOD RECOVERY

EDMONTON, Alta. (AP) — Car thieves should ponder these figures before trying their luck in Edmonton: of 645 vehicles stolen in the Edmonton area last year, police recovered all but five, and there were 203 convictions.

Latin Says U.S. Can Increase Aid

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Ambassador to the United States Victor Andrade of Bolivia says this country must change its Latin American policies to meet changing conditions.

The pro-U.S. Andrade spoke here before the Texas Good Neighbor Commission, a state-sponsored group organized to promote good relations between Texas and the Latin American nations.

Andrade said U.S. earnings on Latin American investments in one year approximate all that has been given or loaned to Latin America since 1945. Increased economic aid to Latin America, he said, "would be what the financiers call a capital plant investment."

NEW YORK (AP) — New York Central shares weathered the shock of Board Chairman Robert R. Young's suicide and the rest of the stock market was mixed to moderately active trading early this afternoon.

Airlines advanced. The rail section as a whole was a shade higher. Prices of key stocks showed changes ranging generally from fractions to a point.

New York Central's opening was delayed an hour and a half as stock exchange officials matched a large number of buy and sell orders. The stock finally opened on a big block of 12,000 shares, off 1/4 at 15 1/2. It then traded unchanged from its previous close.

Airlines were boosted by news that the CAB offered what amounts to a 6.6 per cent passenger fare increase. Motion picture issues were lower following a published report of a big drop in movie theatre attendance as the result of the sale of top-quality old movies to television.

The market was irregular at the start. There was a temporary rush of orders which brought about a delay in the ticker tape for two minutes.

Coppers, chemicals, oils and building materials were mixed. Motors and rubbers were a shade lower. Utilities showed little movement.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off 30 cents to $161.70 with the industrials down 70 cents, the rails up 20 cents and the utilities unchanged.

Cole Says 5,000 Klansmen Will Attend Coming Rally

MARION, S. C. (AP) — Ku Klux Klan leader James Cole, whose last rally near Maxton, N. C., was shot up and dispersed by armed Indians, says the KKK will gather "not less than 5,000 Klansmen" for another rally in that area within a month.

"We don't expect to be broken up again," Cole said at his home here. "This time there will be more Klansmen than there will be Indians and I don't expect trouble from the Indians."

Hundreds of Lumbee Indians, incensed by reports that the Klan's planned rally near Maxton Jan. 18 was intended as a warning to them against race mixing, converged on the group of about 50 Klansmen with warhorns and gunfire. No one was seriously hurt, but state police had to rescue the Klansmen and pack them off home in their automobiles.

The 33-year-old Cole—who calls himself a Southern Free Will Baptist minister—is under indictment in Robeson County, N. C., site of a full-scale Klan meeting is planned in that area within the next three weeks, with Cole to attend.

The first North Carolina Klan gathering since Maxton was scheduled for near Burlington, N. C. last Saturday night. But Cole postponed it for two weeks, he said, after Klansmen telephoned him reports from Burlington that the rally field was too muddy for use.

Would Klansmen bring guns again to a Robeson County rally? "We don't ask anyone to bring arms," answered Cole. "But we meet on private, leased property and the Constitution gives our members the right to bear arms. I couldn't ask them not to carry arms without denying them their constitutional rights."

Cole declared that if he is extradited to North Carolina he will ask that his trial be moved from Robeson County. He said he did not think he could get a fair trial there.

Three Persons Hurt In Two-Car Crash

Three persons sustained injuries in a two-car collision at the intersection of 13th and Evans St. late Saturday night.

Injured were: Donna L. Little of 65 Falls Rd, Bayview who received a broken right arm and lacerations; John D. Aman, Jr. of 305 Maple St., lacerations of the forehead and bruises; and Mrs. Eula Green Cannon of 956 E. 10th St., abrasions of her left side.

All three were treated at Pitt Memorial Hospital following the traffic mishap. Miss Little was admitted. Her condition was described as "good" this morning.

Investigating officers identified Mrs. Cannon and Aman as the drivers of the two automobiles involved.

Mrs. Cannon was charged with failure to yield the right of way.

According to Police Mrs. Cannon failed to stop for a stop sign on 13th St. and crashed into the right side of Aman's automobile. The impact forced the local man's car into the yard of a nearby house on Cotanche St., causing approximately $300 damage to the house and property, owned by the Pentecostal Holiness Church.

Damage to Mrs. Cannon's vehicle was estimated at $1,500. Officers reported Aman's car received $2,200 in damages.

James Lee Edwards, 42-year-old Negro of 1301-D Pitt St., suffered head and neck injuries in a traffic collision early this morning at the corner of Second and Greene Sts. Edwards received treatment at Pitt Memorial Hospital and was admitted. His condition was described as "satisfactory".

Investigating officers said Edward's truck, owned by Clark's Coal Yard was struck by another truck, owned by the Royal Crown Bottling Co., and operated by Thurston Stanley Lloyd of 1101 Myrtle Ave. Lloyd was charged with failure to stop for a red light. Damage to both trucks was estimated at approximately $900. The truck being driven by Edwards was turned over on its side by the impact, striking a Utilities light pole near the intersection.

Body Of Railway Tycoon Carried To Rhode Island

NEWPORT, R. I. (AP) — The body of railroad tycoon Robert R. Young was due here today aboard his private railroad car for burial tomorrow next to the body of his only child.

The 60-year-old board chairman of the New York Central Railroad took his life with a blast from a double-barreled 20-gauge shotgun Saturday.

The body was found in the top floor billiard room of his 23-room winter mansion at West Palm Beach, Fla., by members of his household staff.

Authorities said the death was suicide. They could give no immediate reason.

Young's body came north in his curtailed, gleaming silver private car, known by railroadmen everywhere as "No. 28."

The body was accompanied by his widow, the former Anita Eyck O'Keefe, fellow members of the New York Central board and friends of the family.

The Youngs for years maintained a 40-room mansion for summer use here. It will be held to funeral services will be held tomorrow at St. Mary's Episcopal Church in nearby Portsmouth, where Young was listed as a member of the parish.

Burial will be in St. Mary's churchyard next to the body of his daughter Eleanor, killed in a plane crash in Matunock, R.I., in 1941.

Only a few days ago, Young presided at a meeting of the New York Central Railroad Board of Directors at which it was voted not to declare a dividend for the present.

New York Central's earnings for December and 1957 were expected to be announced today but two top men in Young's financial empire said in advance finances had nothing to do with Young's suicide.

ASC Halts Soil Bank Plan For Tobacco Land

RALEIGH (AP) — The state Agriculture Stabilization Corp. (ASC) office has halted temporarily signing of agreements with farmers wishing to place a portion or all of their tobacco acreage allotment under the soil bank program.

Horace D. Godfrey, state ASC administrative officer, said the signal to halt the signing of agreements already signed came within about 1 1/2 million dollars of exhausting the 8 1/2 million allocated to North Carolina for the soil bank acreage reserve program for tobacco.

Under the acreage reserve program, farmers are paid federal funds when they agree not to plant part or all of their allotted acreage.

The tobacco sign-up has been stopped, Godfrey added, until the state allocation can be divided up into county allocations. Meanwhile, he said, county ASC offices are still listing the names of tobacco farmers wishing to sign soil bank agreements.

He said these growers would be taken in order after the county allocations are figured if the county's allocation has not been exhausted by agreements already signed.

The halt in the soil bank tobacco sign-up followed similar action taken in the cotton and commercial corn soil bank sign-ups.
