Our Tar . . . Covered With Ice!—And No Trick Photography

ONE WINTER OF THE 1930's WAS COLD . . . the Tar River completely iced over above the ACL trestle.

Pressing Probe Of 3 Helicopter Crashes In Fog

RED BLUFF, Calif. (AP)—Investigation continued today into the crash of three Army helicopters in blinding fog with death to six airmen. An Army officer said the pilots had no training or instruments to cope with fog.

The three helicopters slammed into a rocky hill 15 miles east of Red Bluff Saturday. There had been no collision.

Flying at 200 to 300 feet elevation, the copters encountered dense fog and clouds "before they had a chance to avoid it," Col. Frank C. Forester reported. He is in charge of the Army investigation.

"It is a distinct possibility that the pilots got vertigo and lost their sense of direction and speed," Forest said. "That's what happens when fliers are not trained to operate under conditions of fog or dense cloudiness."

"There were no blind flying instruments on the helicopters and the fliers were not trained or equipped to cope with such conditions."

The copters were part of a flight of 21 being ferried from Ft. Riley, Kan., to Ft. Lewis, Wash. They are troop-carrying helicopters but had only crew members aboard at the time of the crashes.

Wreckage of two craft was strewn 200 yards below the top of the hillside. It caught fire and burned five of the six men killed. The third crashed copter did not break up and its three occupants were hurt only slightly.

A fourth helicopter was damaged slightly as it attempted to land near the crash scene.

A Clean Up-Paint Up meeting will be held in City Hall tomorrow night at 7:30. President Brooks Beddingfield announced today.

The organization will elect new officers. Beddingfield said.

He urged all garden clubs and civic clubs to have representatives present.

Present officers of the organization are: Beddingfield, president; Milton Williamson, vice-president; Lois Fleming, secretary and Jack Turnage, treasurer.

About 20 Years Ago, Cold Wave Saw Plenty Of Ice

By ALVIN TAYLOR, Reflector City Editor

So you think it was cold last week? Maybe the coldest weather since that famous winter of 1917-18?

Well it was cold, but an old photo turned up by Paul Flye, stock clerk at the Greenville Utilities plant, shows that one winter in the late 1930's was colder still.

The photo, says Flye, was taken by Martin Swartz, then superintendent of the local Utilities.

"It was taken in 1937, '38 or '39," Flye notes. "I don't remember which year."

At any rate, it was a cold winter. Flye remembers that the temperature got down to six degrees at one time during the cold spell.

"I don't think it was as long a cold spell as this one," he admits. The coldest temperature recorded last week here was 10 degrees.

Flye recalls that a water pipe leading into the river at the plant froze, broke off, and fell in.

"It's still down there now," he says.

Swartz took the picture, which Flye found among other old negatives, looking west on the Tar. He apparently stood on the ACL trestle which crosses the river at the Utilities plant.

The photo shows the river completely covered with ice. At the left are two pump houses which still stand alongside the Utilities plant.

To the west of the trestle ice had built up as far as the eye could see, Flye remembers. Actually the ice had formed along the edges of the stream during an earlier freeze. It warmed up somewhat after the freeze and the ice patches began breaking away.

They floated down the river and dammed up against the ACL trestle. Then along came another freeze and the entire river became a mass of ice. On top of that a snow fell to further add to the winter scene.

As Flye recalls, the ice was not thick enough to support the weight of a man, at least not in the center of the river.

On the east side of the trestle looking toward the Greene Street but the center, where the stream thickly as on the west side.

Flye says below the trestle, ice formed along each side of the river but the center, where the stream flowed fastest, stayed clear.

Last week, when the cold weather descended on Pitt County, very little ice formed on the Tar. Only in sheltered sections along the bank did any develop at all.

Flye points out, however, that the Tar had not been dredged to Port Terminal at the time of the big freeze and thus the stream did not flow as rapidly then.

Ervin Discerns No 'Fanatics' On Commission

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Ervin (D-NC) said today that so far as he knows members of the Civil Rights Commission are "not fanatics."

He added that this is "a healthy thing."

Ervin, who opposed creation of the commission last year, indicated in an interview that the members named to it by President Eisenhower were as acceptable as any he could expect.

His comments were made in advance of a Senate Judiciary Committee hearing on the nominations of the six commissioners, half southerners and half northerners.

Ervin, a committee member, said he thought the make-up of the commission reflected the reaction to Eisenhower's use of troops to enforce court-ordered school integration in Little Rock, Ark.

The commission, which has been beset by difficulties in getting into action, arranged to meet prior to the Senate hearing with its newly named staff director, Gordon M. Tiffany, a Concord, N.H., lawyer.

The nomination of Tiffany, a former New Hampshire attorney general, was submitted to the Senate by Eisenhower last week. No hearing on it has yet been scheduled by the Judiciary Committee.

He will not be able to take office until the Senate acts on his nomination. Members of the commission, appointed by Eisenhower last fall during the congressional recess, were sworn in Jan. 3, although their nominations are subject to confirmation by the Senate.

The commission is directed to investigate sworn charges of the denial of voting rights because of race, creed or color and to study federal laws and practices relating to civil rights generally.

Dr. John A. Hannah, president of the Michigan State University, was named as chairman of the commission after former Supreme Court Justice Stanley F. Reed first accepted the post and then withdrew.

The vice chairman is Robert G. Storey, dean of Southern Methodist University. Other members are:

John S. Battle, former governor of Virginia; J. Ernest Wilkins, a Chicago Negro who is assistant secretary of labor for international affairs; Doyle E. Carlton, former governor of Florida; and Rev. T. M. Hesburgh, president of the University of Notre Dame.

President Back At White House

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower flew back to Washington today from his Southern vacation and a 3,000-mile side trip to escort his wife to Phoenix, Ariz.

The presidential plane Columbine III landed at National Airport at 6:56 a.m. Only the White House military and naval aides were on hand as a welcoming party.

The Eisenhowers vacationed for 10 days in Georgia. In weather that kept the President mostly indoors. Then they flew with two guests to Phoenix, where Mrs. Eisenhower is taking a second vacation of her own. She is staying at the exclusive Maine Chance health and beauty resort.

Eisenhower took advantage of his one-day stay in Phoenix to get in his first full round of golf since November.

After 18 holes in 75-degree temperature at Paradise Valley Country Club, he told Phoenix newspaper publisher Eugene C. Pulliam, a member of his foursome: "I haven't felt so good in six months as I do right now."

"And you know something, if I can persuade Maine to stay out here for about two weeks, I'm going to do everything possible to rearrange my schedule so I can come back for a long four-day weekend of this wonderful sunshine."

Others in the foursome were White House press secretary James C. Hagerty and club pro Al Zimmerman. Hagerty, who told newsmen that Eisenhower "shot about 90," added that nothing definite has been decided about a return visit.

Looking ruddy and rested, the President waved his homburg at thousands who jammed alongside the airport's entrance wall, shouting greetings and waving welcome placards.

Thousands more saw the President drive off for the golf course in a hard-top convertible. Mrs. Eisenhower departed in her personal limousine for the swank desert resort.

At the golf course, the President left the first tee with only a few followers, but as he toured the first nine holes he collected a sizable gallery. Before teeing off on the 10th hole, Zimmerman asked the crowd to permit the President to play the back nine "in more quiet fashion." The gallery left the foursome. "The gallery but thousands more continued to jam the course, some climbing over fences, to get a glimpse of the President. U.S. Secret Service men, carrying golf bags that only partially concealed automatic weapons, had a busy day patrolling the fairways.

Tax Officials To Meet Tuesday

County and municipal tax officials from Eastern North Carolina will meet here tomorrow with the North Carolina Commission for the Study of the Revenue Structure of the State.

The meeting, which will begin at 10 a.m. and continue for approximately two hours, has been called by Commission Chairman J.C. Eagles, Jr., of Wilson. Between 30 and 50 county and municipal tax department representatives are expected to attend the meeting in the court room of Greenville's City Hall.

Primary topic of discussion, according to a preliminary letter issued by Eagles, is expected to be property tax.

In addition to Eagles, commission members who are expected to attend the meeting include vice-chairman Frank S. Pitt of Scotland Neck, Dal Alford, Jr., of Rocky Mount, A.C. Edwards of Hookerton, W.W. Holderness of Greensboro, Harold Myrick of Lenoir, D.W. Royster of Shelby, and J.A. Speight of Windsor.

Ervin Discerns No 'Fanatics' On Commission

WASHINGTON (AP)—Thurman A. Whiteside, Miami lawyer, denounced Bernard Schwartz as "an unmitigated liar" today for having connected him with a television channel applicant and for suggesting he passed money to a Federal Communications Commission member.

Whiteside, testifying under oath before a special House investigating subcommittee, accused Schwartz, dismissed committee counsel, of withholding information from the group.

He said Schwartz knew there was a long record of loan transactions between Whiteside and Richard A. Mack going back five years before Mack became a member of the FCC.

Schwartz told the committee earlier in his hearing that Whiteside had turned over at least $2,650 to Mack. Schwartz raised a question whether this was intended to influence Mack's vote in the contest for Miami TV Channel 10. Both Mack and Whiteside had described the money as loans Schwartz added.

Whiteside said Schwartz had further testified Whiteside was employed as an attorney by National Airlines or its subsidiary, Public Service Television, Inc., which won the contest for the Miami channel.

Whiteside said Schwartz knew this "was untrue prior to the time he gave his testimony."

"To that extent he bears false witness and is an unmitigated liar," the Miami attorney told the subcommittee in deliberate tones.

The subcommittee has been inquiring about alleged pressures on the FCC in behalf of various applicants for TV Channel 10 in Miami. The study is part of the House group's investigation to determine whether the federal regulatory agencies are carrying out their intent of Congress in creating them.

The name of Whiteside has bobbed up all through the hearings on Channel 10. He has been described as one who worked on behalf of Public Service Television, Inc., a subsidiary of National Airlines.

An FCC examiner recommended in March 1955 that the Miami channel be given to A. Frank Katsentzine, Miami Beach radio station operator. By a 4-2 decision in February 1957, the FCC granted the channel to Public Service.

One of four applicants for the TV license now described as worth millions.

Mack, a Miamiian, was one of the four commissioners voting for Public Service.

In an affidavit introduced in the hearings, Katsentzine quoted a friend as saying Whiteside had told the friend Mack was pledged to vote for the National Airlines subsidiary.

Bernard Schwartz, ousted subcommittee counsel, testified that Mack had acknowledged accepting "thousands of dollars" from Whiteside. Schwartz produced canceled checks totaling $2,650 which he said were from Whiteside to Mack after Mack became an FCC member in 1955.

Schwartz said Mack had claimed the checks represented loans from Whiteside. Schwartz quoted Mack as telling subcommittee investigators some of the loans had been "forgiven," and some had been repaid in cash.

U. S. Agrees Give Britain Thor Missiles; Nuclear Warheads To Be Available

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States has agreed to provide Britain with intermediate-range Thor missiles and to make nuclear warheads available, under U. S. control until the time comes to shoot.

Such missiles, to be based at British sites, would be launched only on joint decision by the two governments.

Under a five-year agreement made public today, all nuclear warheads remain in full United States ownership, custody and control until they are needed for use.

An American official said the first squadron of missiles will be operational some time this year. This squadron, he said, will be operated by the British Royal Air Force after training in the United States and Australia.

The State Department in making public the terms of the agreement refused to say how many missiles would be provided. But authorities reported earlier that 60 missiles would be involved, stationed at four separate sites, three in England and one in Scotland.

British launch crews are to begin arriving for training in the United States in May. They will be trained mainly in American factories which have been producing these weapons for the Defense Department.

The agreement disclosed today climaxed 11 months of backstage negotiations. These talks began after President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Macmillan agreed at the Bermuda conference last March 22 to base missiles in Britain to strengthen Atlantic Pact defenses.

The accord, dated Feb. 22, was contained in a formal diplomatic note sent by Undersecretary of State Christian Herter to British Ambassador Sir Harold Caccia. It included a memorandum with 10 paragraphs which set out the terms under which the missiles would be supplied.

The State Department declined to estimate what the cost of the missiles would be. But officials indicated Britain would pay for developing and maintaining the necessary launching sites.

The key paragraph on who will press the trigger said: "The decision to launch these missiles will be a matter for joint decision by the two governments. Any such joint decision will be made in the light of the circumstances at the time and having regard to the understanding the two governments have assumed in Article V of the North Atlantic Treaty."

Ready With Variety Of Recovery Measures If Economy Doesn't Pick Up

WASHINGTON (AP)—Both the labor secretary said in a television interview. But he said if the business lag should get worse the administration will "do whatever is necessary" to reverse the trend.

Sen. Mansfield of Montana, the assistant Democratic leader, said that if things don't start looking better in March the Democrats in Congress will "move immediately into the breach" with legislation now being drafted. Mansfield didn't specifically mention tax reduction, but it is known Democratic congressional leaders are considering such action.

Administration economic officials have predicted a business upturn by midyear.

Secretary of the Treasury Anderson said in a television interview there are a number of indicators "which I think give us reasonable grounds to believe that there will be a real revitalization of the economy."

As for a tax cut, Anderson said the administration does "not rule out the possibility . . . should it prove to be warranted."

Senate Republican Leader Knowland of California said a number of actions taken so far have had encouraging results. In this connection, he mentioned interest rate reducing moves by the Federal Reserve Board. And he said steps are being taken to speed up payments on defense contracts.

Republicans Charge Truman Conducting A 'Fear' Campaign

WASHINGTON (AP)—Republicans accused former President Truman today of conducting a "fear" campaign they said could bring about an economic depression.

Truman's Saturday night broadcast against the "economic misrule" he said had produced a Republican recession was assailed by leading GOP senators as a disservice to efforts to slow the business downturn and to lift employment.

Sen. Wiley (R-Wis.) said that this is not a period when "men who have been in high places can afford to ignore their responsibilities."

Citing income and employment statistics, Wiley said the country is not going to the dogs.

"But if the people are going to continue to be told that everything is haywire they are going to get in a mental condition where they will stop spending and then anything could happen," he said. "What Harry Truman is doing is creating fear of the worst kind."

Sen. Francis Case (R-SD) agreed in a separate interview, while nearly a score of other Republicans issued weekend statements criticizing various parts of Truman's speech at a $100-a-plate dinner.

The statements used such words as irresponsible, cynical, untrue, demagogic and reckless.

But Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont) said he agrees with Truman's statements that the country is "tired of being bamboozled by the Republicans" and is likely to give the Democrats sweeping victories in this year's congressional races and in the 1960 presidential contest.

"The big issue in this year's campaign is spuds and not Sputniks," Mansfield said in an interview. "If the people don't have the spuds, there won't be any more Sputniks as far as we are concerned."

Truman said that the results of five years of Republican White House rule could be added up in five million or more unemployed, millions more working part time, increasing bankruptcies, neglected school programs, overcrowded colleges and hospitals and high wages in need of rebuilding.

Adlai E. Stevenson, who spoke to one section of the double-header dinner said that five years of Republican rule had been "stained by heavy failure in many areas—the excesses of McCarthyism, the disintegration of our alliances, the loss of confidence in us abroad, the decay in our military position and now the decline in our economic vitality."

Truman implied that if the Democrats were returned to power, the country could be assured of prosperity.

Case said that if Truman really wants to see the country's economy bolstered "he has shown a poor way of doing it."

Funeral Tuesday For Judge Grady

NEW BERN, N.C. (AP)—Veteran Superior Court Judge Henry A. Grady, 86, who died here yesterday, will be buried at Clinton tomorrow.

Funeral services will be held at 3 p.m. tomorrow in the Clinton Presbyterian Church.

Grady, a native of Clinton, had been a judge since 1922. He officially retired in 1939 as judge of the Sixth Judicial District, but was made an emergency judge for life.

In 1952 and 1953, he held more courts in the state than any other superior court judge. He was a member of the State Democratic Committee from 1902-1922. In 1905 he was elected to the State Senate and served one term.

Claim H-Bomb Test In Russia

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States announced a new Russian weapons test yesterday. Japanese scientists said the Soviets had exploded a hydrogen bomb in the Siberian arctic.

An Atomic Energy Commission announcement said only that the Soviets had conducted a weapons test "in Russian territory and that the yield of the test was in the megaton range." A megaton is the explosive equivalent of a million tons of TNT.

Somewhat later, Japan's Central Meteorological Observatory said its staff had calculated the blast occurred about 2,400 miles north-northwest of Japan. An observatory spokesman said in Tokyo the explosion was "rather big" and was believed "similar in size to a previous Russian test held last October."

The last AEC announcement of a Russian nuclear test came Dec. 28. The commission has announced detection of at least 27 such test explosions.

There may have been more tests than that. The AEC has said it would make announcements only when the tests involved circumstances of special interest.

Cuban Rebels' Kidnaping Has Batista On Spot

Sandra Porter, Harrel Mills Marry Sunday

SIMPSON—A Sunday afternoon wedding at Salem Methodist Church united in marriage Miss Eliza Sandra Porter and Harrel Brooks Mills.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Lermer Porter of Greenville and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Mills of near Greenville.

The Rev. J. J. Grimes, pastor of the bride, officiated. He was assisted by the Rev. F. B. Cherry, the bridegroom's pastor.

Vows were spoken before an altar where seven-branched candelabras holding cathedral candles interspersed with palms and bridal greenery were placed.

Baskets of white and delicate pink gladioli and pom poms were used. The family pews were marked with white satin ribbons and tulle. The couple knelt on a white satin pillow for the benediction.

Nuptial music was rendered by Miss Elizabeth Edwards, pianist, and Mrs. Lloyd Fornes Jr., soloist. Mrs. Fornes sang "I Love You Truly" and "Because." "O, Perfect Love" was sung as the wedding prayer.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of chantilly lace and tulle fashioned with a Sabrina neckline, short lace sleeves with matching gauntlets, fitted bodice, and a bouffant skirt of tulle styled with lace panels extending into a sweep train.

Her fingertip veil of silk illusion was attached to a matching lace cloche embroidered with seed pearls. The bride carried a white prayer book topped with a white orchid and showered with frenched carnations and satin ribbons.

Miss Paty Porter of Greenville was her sister's maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Evonne Keeter of Charlotte, cousin of the bride, Miss Ann Stokes of Norfolk, Va., cousin of the bride, Miss Larue Mills of Greenville, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss June Smith of Vanceboro.

Miss Polly Fornes of Greenville, cousin of the bride, was flower girl.

The maid of honor wore a blue street-length dress with a portrait neckline and a bouffant skirt with matching accessories. She carried a crescent bouquet of pink carnations showered with matching ribbons.

The bridesmaids wore identical coral dresses styled like that of the maid of honor. They carried crescent bouquets of blue carnations showered with matching ribbons.

The flower girl wore full-skirted pink nylon dress with tucked bodice and lace scalloped skirt. She carried a blue basket of rose petals which she dropped in the path of the bride.

Rufus Mills, father of the bridegroom, was best man.

Ushers were Harry Lee Stokes, uncle of the bride, Charles Gaskins, cousin of the bridegroom, and Thomas Whitehurst, all of Greenville, and Charles Edwin Branch, cousin of the bride, Winterville.

The bride's mother wore a blue lace sheath dress with a sweetheart neckline and matching lace hat with black patent accessories. Her corsage was of pink cymbidium orchids.

The mother of the bridegroom was dressed in a mauve lace sheath dress with a matching lace hat and black patent accessories. Her flowers were pink cymbidium orchids.

The bride is a graduate of Chocod High School and is a student at East Carolina College.

The bridegroom is also a graduate of Chocod High School and is employed by the Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company in Greenville.

Cake Cutting
Following the rehearsal of the Mills-Porter wedding on Saturday evening, Miss Ann Stokes, Mr. and Mrs. Mark C. Stokes, and Mr. and Mrs. Paul A. Stokes entertained the bride and bridegroom, bridal party and members of their immediate families at a cake cutting at the home of the bride.

The home was decorated for the occasion with ivy, pink burning tapers, pink and green butterfiles, and tulle on the mantel and buffet.

The bride's table was covered with a linen cutwork cloth and centered with the three tiered wedding cake topped with the miniature bride and groom under an archway of orange blossoms and wedding bells. The centerpiece was a silver candelabra spearing arrangement of burning pink tapers, with pink carnations, snapdragons and fern.

The guests were greeted by the hosts and hostesses and invited into the dining room for refreshments. After the bride- and bridegroom-elect had cut the first slice of cake, Mrs. J. Lermer Porter, mother of the bride, served the wedding cake.

At the opposite end of the table Mrs. Mark Stokes served bridal loaves from a silver platter.

From a table flanked with grapes, entwined with ivy and pink tulle, touched with butterfiles, Miss Ann Stokes served punch.

Mrs. Paul Stokes assisted with the nuts and mints and said the goodbyes.

30 Years Ago Today
February 24, 1928

Virtually all of the important communities of the United States are talking "hog and hominy" programs but none are making more pronounced progress than in Pitt County. Several carloads of hogs and poultry will be shipped out of the county within the next few months. This will result in a considerable sum of extra money being distributed among the growers, who will be able to use it to excellent advantage during the spring and summer while their crops are growing. Pitt County farmers invariably suffer from depression during the summer, but with his "hogs and hominy" business becoming of more importance it should not be so many years before the situation will be improved and such a thing as tight times live only in memory.

Some Coughs Need Different Treatment

By DOROTHY V. WHIPPLE, M.D.

There isn't a soul who hasn't had a cough. A cough is a good thing sometimes. If you breathe in a lot of dust, you caught and get rid of it. If you swallow something "the wrong way," you cough and expel the offending substance.

A cough is the watchdog of the lungs; it is a protective normal reflex. Every healthy person coughs when there is danger of some harmful substance getting into the lung.

But cough is also a symptom of disease — not just one disease but a whole host of different ailments can produce a cough. When we treat a cough, the first and most important thing is to know why this person coughs and aim our treatment at the cause.

Cough can be classified by the cause.

1. Mechanical — Foreign bodies, such as dust and food particles; chemicals, such as smoke or fumes; excessive saliva, such as a teething baby has (When he sits up he drools out of his mouth but when he lies down it drips to the back of his throat and makes him cough); strain from excessive use of the voice.
2. Infections — Viral, like the common cold, influenza, virus pneumonia, measles; bacterial, such as strep throat, sinusitis, pneumonia, tuberculosis, whooping cough, postnasal drip, pleurisy.
3. Allergic, like asthma, hay fever, allergic rhinitis.
4. Tumors of nose and throat.
5. Heart disease.
6. Emotional, such as nervous tension, embarrassment.

Obviously all these coughs cannot be treated the same way. Some do not need any treatment at all.

The coughs that accompany infections cure themselves when the infection subsides. Sometimes the cough, however, is such a troublesome symptom that easing it helps the patient recover. But here too one needs to be very careful. If a cough is what is called "productive," if the patient spits up a lot of mucus when he coughs, it would be very bad for him to have that cough suppressed. He needs to clear his passages of the plugging mucus. If it just lies there he doesn't cough it up, he may become so congested that he cannot breathe at all. Treatment is aimed then, not at stopping the cough, but in making the secretions more liquid so that the patient can cough more easily and with less fatigue.

On the other hand a cough may be a dry tickle, an irritation from an excessively dry nose and throat. This kind of a cough can more safely be suppressed with drugs, though it is often helped with steam inhalations or some of the newer "wetting agents."

An allergic cough is best treated by removing the cause of the allergy. Sometimes this cannot be done too easily and such coughs are helped with the anti-histamine drugs.

The coughs that are caused by growths in the nose and throat are best treated surgically. The cough of heart disease is of cause treated by treating the heart.

Quite a surprising number of coughs are due to emotional upsets, like the child who has a paroxysm of coughing when he fears he is going to be called on in class, or the child whose asthma is brought on when his parents quarrel.

Emotional coughs cannot be successfully treated with drugs or inhalations. These are often the hardest coughs of all to cure, since cure means removing the tensions of life.

Many of these different coughs have different sounds. The deep hollow cough that sounds as though it came from the boots is usually due to trouble in the throat or the windpipe. High pitched raspy coughs often indicate troubles in the bronchi or in the lungs. The hoarse bark is from the larynx and the wheezy cough suggests asthma.

If your youngsters have coughs that truly bother them, better take them to your doctor and have the treatment fit the trouble. Don't just does all coughs with one standard cough syrup you keep on hand.

FRENCH TOASTED CHEDDAR CHEESE SANDWICHES

Ingredients: 12 slices bread, 6 slices cheddar cheese (sandwich size), 2 eggs, 1-4 cup milk, 6 tablespoons butter or margarine.

Method: Make 6 sandwiches of the bread and cheese. Beat eggs enough to combine yolks and whites; add milk and beat enough to combine. Dip each sandwich quickly into milk mixture turning to coat both sides. Heat skillet and add 1/2 tablespoon butter for each sandwich; brown slowly. Turn, adding another 1/2 tablespoon butter for each sandwich; brown slowly. A 10-inch skillet usually holds 2 sandwiches plus one cut in half. Six sandwiches can be pan-fried in two batches. Serve 1 or 1 1/2 sandwiches per portion.

Note: We like thinly sliced homemade-type bread for these sandwiches. Because some breads absorb more liquid than others, you may have to adjust the milk in the dipping mixture.

Home Department Has Card Party

On Friday afternoon members of the Home Department had a card party at the Woman's Club. Winning high score was Mrs. Dick Bundy. Low went to Mrs. C. D. Ward.

Cherry tarts, coffee, and potato chips were served by the hostesses, Mrs. W. C. Pollard, Mrs. Frank Brown, Mrs. Howard Fuller, Mrs. A. C. Howard, Mrs. J. A. Piver, and Mrs. W. C. Harris.

Presiding the party, Mrs. Jasper Tripp, chairman of the department, presided over a short business session. It was announced that Mrs. Glo Johnson, interior decorator from Kinston, will give the March program.

Guests for the party were Mrs. H. F. Markham and Mrs. Jimmy Eaton.

Azalea Festival March 27-30

WILMINGTON, N. C.—Brilliant displays of multi-hued azaleas and a varied program of entertainment will highlight Wilmington's renowned Azalea Festival on March 27-30.

Several innovations have been planned for the 1958 Festival. One is the selection of a Festival King who will rule along with Queen Azalea XI. Another addition to the program is a second coronation pageant.

Final plans for the city's 11th festival are nearing completion.

The schedule for the four-day event includes an hour-long parade, fireworks, harness racing, folk music jamboree, street dancing, garden tours, an outdoor art exhibit, coronation pageants and dances, and a community worship service.

The 1958 Festival again coincides with the Azalea Open Golf Tournament and top golfing stars will be competing for $15,000 in prize money.

Arnold Palmer is the defending champion in the Professional Golfers' Association-sanctioned tournament. It will be held March 28-30, with 18 holes of play on each of the first two days and the 36-hole finals on Sunday.

Many stars and dignitaries will be special guests at the festival. They will represent many fields of entertainment.

The big star of the festival, however, is the azalea. By Festival-time the plants are expected to be in full bloom throughout the area. A minor percentage of the late-blooming plants were damaged by recent freezes, but all or the majority of the early varieties withstood the cold without apparent damage.

Colorful displays of azaleas can be seen in the gardens and plantations in and near Wilmington the first of March and the first part of April. These include Orton Plantation, Airlie Gardens, Greenfield Gardens, and Pleasant Oaks Plantation.

Also, the City of a Million Azaleas becomes a real Azalea Capital when plants in street plazas, yards, and private gardens add color to nature's tribute to spring.

The festival program will open on Thursday, March 27, with the arrival of dignitaries and guests. Large crowds assemble at the airport to welcome these visitors. On Thursday evening the program includes a fireworks display, street dance, folk music jamboree, and harness racing.

The Azalea Open Golf Tournament begins on Friday. Other events that day are guided garden tours, outdoor art exhibit, the Teen-Age Azalea Ball, and the King's coronation pageant.

In previous years capacity crowds witnessed the coronation of the Queen and many persons had to be turned away. The 1958 schedule will include the coronation pageant for the King on Friday night and a Queen's coronation pageant on Saturday evening. Two different shows are planned. On Saturday the golfers will again compete on the Cape Fear Country Club course. During the morning the famous Azalea Festival parade will be staged in downtown Wilmington. The day will be climaxed by the Queen's coronation pageant and the Coronation Ball. The final day's program features guided tours, the finals of the golf tournament, and the community worship service. Other events are being planned and a complete schedule will be announced later. Festival officials are expected to announce soon the selection of a Festival Queen as well as other special guests.

Inter Se Club Goes On Trip

Mrs. Robert Starling was guest speaker when the Inter Se Book Club met Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. M. P. Hoot on East Fifth Street.

The speaker was one of six delegates chosen to represent the Home Demonstration Clubs of North Carolina at the International Conference of the Associated Country Women of the World in Ceylon last summer.

Mrs. Starling, dressed in Ceylonese costume, was accompanied by her aunt, Mrs. Frank Armstrong, who was wearing the native costume of Jerusalem. She showed slides of places and people that she encountered in her trip around the world.

In conclusion she said: "I believe that with the guidance of our Heavenly Father a world friendship can produce world peace. I am humbly thankful to God and to each individual who helped me to know and to share a greater understanding and a deeper love of people all around the world."

Mrs. Starling has given talks to civic clubs, book clubs, churches, and schools. On her Canada meeting she has given 45 talks; United Nations visit, 52 talks; and so far on her world tour she has given 24 talks, with a full schedule promised.

The business session was presided over by Mrs. T. H. Henderson, president, at which time the program chairman, Mrs. E. H. Wilford, led a discussion about the program plans for next year.

Junior Woodmen Crown Official

Mrs. Herbert C. Williams was crowned queen mother at the Junior Club, Modern Woodmen of America, meeting February 10 at the Woodmen Hall.

Larry Stox, assisted by Mrs. Myrtle Stox, directed the evening's activities. Bingo was played and refreshments served. The Junior Boy's Class of Arlington Street Baptist Church and the Rev. Mark Owens, pastor, were special guests.

The next meeting will be held March 10 and will include a doll baby show party.

Survey Shows Familiarity Counts

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

ITHACA, N. Y. (AP)—If Junior grows up loathing liver and little Alice just can't stand Brussels sprouts, chances are that Mother rarely serves them.

In food, apparently, familiarity breeds gusto.

A recent Cornell University study of food dislikes confirmed that the most unpopular ones were rarely on the menu—and many of them were actually foods the study subjects had never even tasted.

Woman Of Year Addresses Club

Mrs. Alton Barrett, the Woman of the Year, was guest speaker for the Arles Club Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. M. L. Starkey.

Introduced by Mrs. Fred Sauve, Mrs. Barrett told of her work in the community, church, and school. She chose as her subject "Alcoholics Anonymous."

She gave a brief history of the club and outlined its main objects. Mrs. Stephen Bartlett, president, presided over a short business meeting when it was suggested that a voluntary contribution be taken to help with the emergency winter relief fund.

Members were urged to donate any warm clothing to the Salvation Army or churches for distribution.

"How To Get Better Schooling," an interview by Dr. Milton Eisenhower, was the short subject given by Mrs. R. S. Moye.

"Dr. Eisenhower said the problem was both quantitative and qualitative, but he considered the latter more serious. Industries are attracting the best teachers. 'Our main solution,' he said, 'is federal aid,'" explained Mrs. Moye.

After adjournment, the hostess served a dessert course with nuts and tea. Mrs. V. P. Scoville, a guest, assisted her daughter, Mrs. Starkey.

None of the girls disliked what nutritionists called such "important" foods as beef, lamb, veal, chicken, potatoes, white bread and rolls, oranges, cherries, peaches, pears, pineapple, grapes, apples, bananas, corn, peas, lettuce, raw carrots and ice cream.

Their reaction to eggs was of great interest: none disliked them but most had strong preferences on the way they were cooked. In general, scrambled, fried and hard-cooked eggs were popular.

"If eggs were available in preferred form, they were eaten," reported Dr. Charlotte M. Young, professor of Medical Nutrition in the university Graduate School of Nutrition. "If they weren't, they were rejected."

Youthful Complexions Need Specialized Care

By VIVIAN BROWN

AP Newsfeatures Beauty Editor

Complexion woes are the bane of a young girl's existence. That little blemish that blossoms out before a big date does seem enormous, especially when so much depends on having a lovely clear skin.

Face blemishes are caused by a number of things—over-stimulated oil glands, improper cleansing methods, unbalanced diet and insufficient rest.

What to do about them? If there is no special reason to cure them instantly, leave them alone, watching the diet so that certain food irritants may not further the problem. Rich foods—gravies, pastries, candy and soda pop—may cause small blemishes to flare up. Keep them clean while they are healing and use a lotion medication to conceal and heal pimples and blemishes.

One new medication is a flesh-tinted, greaseless preparation that comes in an easy-to-use squeeze bottle. It has special medication prescribed by leading dermatologists, yet can be worn day and night, concealing the offending bumps, and helping to heal and dry up oily areas. This medicated lotion helps the spread of surface bacteria—often responsible for spreading germs to adjoining areas.

A well-balanced diet should include fruit, vegetables, milk, bread, eggs, whole grain cereals, broiled lean meats, fish, poultry and custard.

Sufficient sleep also is important for a glowing, healthy skin, and during these strenuous growing years every teen-ager should be sure of getting a good night's rest.

Soap and water scrubbing are a vital routine in complexion care. Clean washcloth and towels are imperative in keeping the skin clean. Ditto the clean powder puff. If powder is used over the lotion.

Double-Ring Rites Unite Mills-Smaw

In a double ring ceremony Miss Evelyn Louise Smaw, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas F. Smaw of Greenville, was married February 21 to Charles Donald Mills, son of Mr. Nasby Mills, also of Greenville, and the late Mrs. Mills.

The wedding took place in the home of the Rev. and Mrs. Percy B. Upchurch on Greene Street with the Rev. Upchurch officiating.

The bride and bridegroom entered together attended by Mrs. Ernest W. Wells, sister of the bridegroom, who was the matron of honor, and Ernest W. Wells, best man.

The bride wore a waltz length gown of white lace and net over satin. Her fingertip veil of illusion was attached to a bandeau of white satin and seed pearls. She carried a white orchid bridal bouquet.

The matron of honor wore a dress of delphinium blue taffeta and a white chrysanthemum corsage.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Smaw wore a purple wool suit adorned by a purple orchid.

Miss Smaw attended Greenville City Schools and will graduate from East Carolina College after the spring quarter.

Mr. Mills attended school in Sanford and also Kings Business College in Raleigh. He is employed by Export Leaf Tobacco Company.

Only relatives and close friends of the couple were present for the ceremony.

Out-of-town guests were Miss Annie Smaw and Mrs. Louise Smaw Osborne of Raleigh, Mrs. Bruce Council of Morrisville, Mrs. W. S. Barbee of Cary, Mrs. Leroy Tatum of Rocky Mount, and Clayton Council of Orlando, Fla.

Sweet Gum Club Meets For Supper

A turkey supper was served to about 70 Sweet Gum Grove Home Demonstration club members, their husbands, and guests when they met on February 20 in the Community Building.

Special guests included Mr. and Mrs. Donald Freeman, George Coffman, and Sam Winchester.

The George Washington motif, which included a red-white and blue floral arrangement for the guest table, carried out the decorations. Mrs. Heber Briley led the group in singing "America."

Mrs. Alice J. Teel responded to the welcome given by the president, Mrs. Eric Whichard. The Rev. D. W. Alexander gave the invocation.

Mrs. Freeman and Winchester showed and commented on slides taken during the past year's Progress Program period and stressed the importance of keeping records of all activities included in the ten phases of the program. Booklets containing information, including Social Security data, were given out.

A silver collection for the Heart Fund was taken.

Mrs. Mayo Rogers, recreational leader, awarded door prizes to David Nobles and Mrs. Margaret Tetterton and presented apples to all children.

Must We Now Spell Out Honesty?

Something more than a code of ethics is needed if allegations brought against a member of the FCC is any indication of how federal regulatory agencies are conducting their business.

Indeed, a code of ethics based on fundamental honesty and integrity already exists for public officials in places of responsibility. It encompasses every official, elected or appointed, at every level of government, for any public office is a position of public trust.

Have we reached the place in democratic government where we must spell out honesty and integrity in a code of ethics in order that these may be properly understood by those who hold positions of public trust? Can we, if democratic government is to survive, measure by degrees honesty and integrity on the part of public officials?

The code of honesty and integrity by which officials are expected to abide already is firmly established. We have seen, however, that the code is disregarded, twisted, abused by some few public officials. Whenever instances of this sort come to light, they cause more shock than surprise. Perhaps it is because secretly we expect some officials to be dishonest; we expect some to lack integrity. Yet as a citizenry, the fundamental governing body, we refuse to admit to ourselves that we allow such individuals to attain places of high trust.

Any code of ethics which might be adopted for federal regulatory agencies would be more an instrument for detecting lack of integrity in an official than a guarantee that officials possess the fundamental qualities of character expected of them.

To be sure we must remove from office those who have violated their public trust. And these few individuals must be detected before they can be removed from office. But we have reached a new ebb in democratic government if fear of detection in a dishonest act is now our principal guarantee that those who hold public office will not abuse their public trust. A code of ethics in itself will mean little unless individuals in positions of public trust possess the qualities of character which compel them to abide by such ethics.

Need For The Winter Relief Fund Remains

If Winter comes, can Spring be far behind? How many thousands of Pitt Counties have thought of those familiar words during the recent severe weather that has gripped this area? Now that the bitterly cold weather has passed, how many are sure that the balmy days of Spring are just around the corner?

For most of the people of this community, the bitter weather was little more than a rare experience, an inconvenience. For many others, however, it was a time of extreme hardship, a time of suffering. For this latter group the rigors of cold weather, the lack of food, fuel and clothing did not pass when temperatures edged above the freezing point. They face many more hard weeks before weather conditions and economic conditions in the community will cease to heap hardship upon them.

During these weeks they must look to their more fortunate fellow citizens if their suffering is to be eased. The Winter Relief Fund established last week by Greenville's City Council has received slightly more than $1,600 in contributions. While this amount has provided the necessities of life for suffering families, it must be doubled and doubled again if the needy families of this community are to be cared for until they can again provide for their own needs.

The situation poses a severe challenge which must be met by the people of Greenville.

Coming Items In This Relentless Fawn

at the moment and more Canadian firms are eyeing the U.S. market.

You'll hear lots about avocados. The California avocado crop is about two-and-a-half times as large as a year ago and growers and food chains are teaming up for a big push. It will reach a peak next month, with avocados heavily promoted as a Lenten food.

TINKER WITH PRICE LINES Department stores will test new price lines. For years, store price lines have been rigid. Certain kinds of goods have always been sold at $2.95, $3.95 and $4.95 only. For years even-dollar prices have been taboo because stores thought women had to have articles priced to end in 95 or 98 cents. A few years ago some experimenters found 88 cents moved housewares faster than 99-cent prices or, for that matter, 90-cent prices. Recently a famous store featured a collection of skirts at $11.90, a price almost never before used. The sale was a smash, and the fact is being spread through merchandising channels. Many other stores will experiment with "new" prices. One of these days—who knows?—you may see a store offering something for 10¢ even!

A small defense spending lift is on the way. The total value of contracts awarded has been rising for the last five months and will probably continue to rise in the next few months. The increases have not been staggering, but they are a help to business.

A new Russian drive in Latin America is expected. Trade, not intrigue, is the Soviet gambit. Commerce between Russia and Latin America has been declining in recent years and Russia is reported to be planning to take advantage of economic troubles south of the border to offer easy terms for Russian equipment and cash payments for goods Russia can use.

NEW YORK (AP) — "Why am I struggling?" said Maria Schell, musingly. "Toward what am I running? What do I want so much?"

These questions today worry the 31-year-old Swiss-Viennese star, who is being acclaimed as perhaps the finest foreign actress to hit Hollywood since Greta Garbo.

She is like no ordinary movie star, and you sense this upon meeting her. She gives a feeling of fire under snow.

Maria is known as the "Blonde Angel" and, sometimes, as the "Blonde Demon." She has a pleasant-hub body, horizon-blue eyes, and a face of startling innocence.

Equally startling is her firmness of purpose. She pursues her goal — perfection in acting — with a flaming zeal that makes easy-going performers who work with her feel a bit awed.

She is a kind of relentless fawn gifted — or afflicted — with the persistence of a bloodhound. As an acquaintance said: "Maria tries to deliver 1,000 per cent in anything she does — she gives to the last ounce."

Miss Schell is not unaware of the danger that artists face who make also a religion of their work — of being tagged as difficult or temperamental. "The thing I am most afraid of is being misunderstood," she said. "Maybe it is my fault to be too intense. Some misunderstandings come from myself and others may come from that."

Maria, who speaks five languages, left a convent at 15 and was acting at 16. She has made 21 films, including "The Last Bridge" and "Gervaise." In the first of five films she signed to do for M-G-M, "The Brothers Karamazov," she portrays Grushenka, the role once publicly coveted by another famous blonde, Marilyn Monroe.

She received $50 a week for her first stage role in Switzerland, and was raised to $110 for her second one.

"I was rich," she recalled. "I felt I could buy the world. And I could have then. Now I know I can't."

"I can earn hundreds of thousands of dollars now, and never be that rich again."

Miss Schell collects antiques, like Chinese and Japanese pottery. She enjoys solitude, and she and her husband, Horst Haechler, a young German director, recently bought a small estate near Munich.

"It is one not so large that it will give you too many sorrows and responsibilities while you are away," she said. "While Maria is inflexible determined to achieve enduring great-

Fifteen Years Of Work Is In Plant

By LYN NISBET

BONANZA — Fifteen years or more of concerted effort culminated in the start of construction on a $3 million meat packing plant by Swift & Company at Wilson. The biggest meat packing company in the world was formally and officially welcomed to North Carolina in ceremonies last Thursday, when Governor Hodges, other State and local government officials, chambers of commerce, railroads and farm organizations joined in a program at the Wilson Country Club.

Spokesmen for homefolks and for the company alike stressed the importance of this plant in its residuary and auxiliary influence on the regional economy. The plant itself will call for between three and four million dollars construction money. When it gets going it will employ upwards of 300 people, with an annual payroll of a million and a half dollars or more. While that "ain't hay" the real value of the Swift plant at Wilson derives from its impact upon the agricultural economy of the area.

E. D. Fitchell, Swift vice president, said the company would channel from $15 to $17 million into Wilson and neighboring counties for the purchase of hogs and cattle — and perhaps poultry — every year. It is the anticipated influence of this source of direct cash revenue for farmers in the area that leads to belief the Swift plant may be worth more in the long range than some other plants with larger investment, in plant and payroll.

"Zeke" Cozart, presiding at the welcoming luncheon, noted that presently North Carolina ranks 10th among the states in hog production, but agricultural economists have figured that it might well be the No. 1 hog producing state.

The market afforded by the Swift plant will enable Eastern Carolina farmers to switch from cotton, peanuts and tobacco to hog and cattle farming without serious trouble.

NEIGHBOR — Swift & Company spokesmen made it clear they want no special consideration. They want to be good neighbors, and good neighbors, said Fitchell, do not draw the curtains or fall to mingle with the other folks. One of the things that attracted Swift to Wilson was the fine spirit of neighborhood cooperation manifested by the local business men, State agencies, railroads and everybody who worked to get the company to locate here.

In that connection there was one slightly discordant note in the chant of welcome. Two or three automobile loads of labor union men from Durham moved on to the construction site just a few minutes before the Governor and his party were to visit it. They donned sandwich-board banners proclaiming that Swift & Company is unfair to organized labor, and picketed the front of the plant site. Although work has been going on there for two or three weeks, this was the first appearance of labor pickets. Information is that the pickets folded their placards and started back to Durham within five minutes after the Governor's party left the scene.

Inquiry developed the information that Swift & Company has organized labor in most, if not all of its plants. Construction companies holding primary contracts for the Wilson plant do not have organized workers, but one of the small sub-contractors (Raymond pile driver outfit) does have a labor contract. The relatively few workers on this part of the project and their friends from Durham seized the opportunity of the Governor's visit to the plant site to stage a demonstration. Whatever may have been the idea or the hope of favorable consideration, the fact is the demonstration backfired against the union which promoted it.

BACKFIRE — Eastern North Carolina has never been very fertile territory for labor unionism. The citizens in that part of the country are intensely individualistic and independent. They insist upon making their own contracts, whether for tenant lease of crop lands or for hourly wage working jobs. There were a lot of farm workers around Wilson who needed extra income which might be obtained from wages on the Swift plant. The idea of having a bunch of folks from Durham come down and tell them whether or not they could work was obnoxious to them. It was quite obvious that the efforts of the Durham unionists backfired, if the purpose was to gain prestige or favorable consideration for the labor union.

By proving such an outstanding exception to the good neighbor policy of the area, the picketing laborites served to emphasize the general feeling of cooperation and good will.

Other Editors Saying --- A Matter Of Attitude

(Washington Daily News)

An educator ought to know more about schools than the average layman who is removed from the scene. The relation of the educator to the schools is about the same as the relation of a doctor to his patient or a lawyer to his client.

Sometimes a layman will come forth with an observation which challenges the thinking of many people. He might not be familiar with all the picture, but when a man thinks intelligently, then out of those thoughts can come constructive action.

A man was talking recently. He observed that "the greatest problem of education today lies with the students themselves; so many are attending our schools with a feeling that they are there because their parents demand that they be there; so many are not really interested in getting an education as they are in 'getting by'; when we can really instill in the child the true value of an education, we'll have the biggest problem licked."

That, in essence, is what the man said. It is not correct entirely, most people will say. But out of his observations will come a great deal of food for thought. He is at least partly correct.

If parents, educators, and laymen can instill in the youthful mind the true value of an education and instill ambition in the child, then the job of the educator will become far easier. And parents owe it to the children to do such a job. If the child wants to become educated to the point where he will consider the curriculum as a stepping stone to greater education rather than as a stumbling block to eventual graduation, then certainly the greatest mental barrier to education will be removed.

If the student is indifferent to learning, then the job of the educator is made so much more difficult. And there are those who will say now that the educator ought to quit coddling the indifferent pupil and spend his time in helping the ambitious child to develop.

We would not for one moment try to discount the attitude of the student. At the same time we would not lose sight of the fact that parents, teachers, and adults in all walks of life have a challenge there present to help the student acquire a desire for greater things.

Sometimes we try to look at education in the light of our own experience rather than in the light of the child's outlook.

We have a challenge to create attitudes within the children which will be conducive to better educations. And that challenge must be met both by children and grownups.

Strength For Today

By EARL L. DOUGLASS WHY NOT FE HAPPY?

Yes. Why not? Fifty reasons why not, you reply angrily. And we may counter by saying twice or three times fifty so far as we are concerned, for if you give one reason why you are unhappy, almost any one of us can give better reasons why we are justified in being unhappy.

The truth of the matter is that happiness and unhappiness do not depend upon the amount of grief, frustration, disappointment, and pain we bear, but on the way we bear it. For the are many whose life has very little in it but trial who are nevertheless quite content with the happy side of the line, and there are others who have every advantage life can confer and no burdens worth speaking of who nevertheless complain all the time and are to be classed among the most miserable of God's creatures.

The difference in mood lies not in the realm of circumstances but in the realm of personality. It should be said right off that some people are unhappy because of some subnormal physical condition—adequate digestion, low blood pressure, the failure of some vital organ to function properly. Others inherit a tendency toward melancholy. But the great mass of people are happy or unhappy depending on whether they confront their problems with courage and faith, or with complaining and selfish introversion.

Are you unhappy? Ask yourself who's to blame.

Program Shows Lag In Confidence

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower's two-billion program for rehabilitating post office buildings reveals how badly the Administration's confidence and optimism over economic conditions have been shaken. It also indicates how far the conservative GOP and allied conservative interests have traveled since the days of Herbert Hoover's laissez-faire "rugged individualism."

Despite forecasts of balanced budgets for 1958 and 1959, it is now evident that the business decline, new military demands and domestic expenditures will exceed previous estimates. Where as the Administration had counted on a combined $2.3 billion surplus for those two years, it is probable that the 1958-1959 deficit will run from three to five billions.

The Democrats' proposals for expanding the military establishment in the scientific and outer space fields total several billions more than Eisenhower has asked. They also oppose his proposed cutbacks on construction of schools, highways, public works, water power and reclamation projects.

SURPRISING DEVELOPMENT.

But the strange and surprising development is that many conservative Republicans and Administration supporters, including Senate Minority Leader William F. Knowland, approve these demands. They also have the backing of business and economic organizations, including Chambers of Commerce, which would have once denounced these ideas as "paternalism" or even "socialism."

Both Eisenhower and Treasury Secretary Robert B. Anderson are willing to depart from strictly orthodox policies, if necessary to stave off a depression. They have said that they would incur deficits or favor tax cuts, should they have to resort to such remedies.

They will rescind their ruling against no new public works starts and other construction plans, if conditions so demand. The post office scheme, although a mild concession, marks the first break in the economy dam.

RESPONDING TO NEW PRESSURES

In this willingness to adopt pump-priming methods which Hoover scorned, and for which F.D.R. and Harry S. Truman were denounced by Party associates, (John Nance Garner, Alfred E. Smith, John W. Davis, John J. Raskob), this "businessman's" Administration is simply responding to new domestic and world pressures of a politico-economic nature.

For one thing, remembering the GOP's 20-year exile from the White House after the 1929 crash, Eisenhower's advisers realize that they cannot permit another serious depression on Republican time. It would finish their Party as a force in American politics.

It required a world hero for them to get back in, and they have run out of such saviors. Secondly, it would bear out Stalin's and Khrushchev's predictions that our system of free enterprise cannot work, and that it carries within itself the "seeds of its own destruction." It would discourage our Allies, who are even now suffering from downturns, and looking to us to sustain them.

It might sweep every neutral into the Communist camp, for an American crisis would cut off or curtail our economic and military aid to them. For these reasons, never so compelling as now, a Republican Administration committed to economy, to budget-balancing and tax relief has had to embrace a P.W.A. — W.P.A. program, even though it passes under a fancier title.

WORD FROM BUSINESS WEEK'S PUBLISHER A recent statement by Elliott V. Bell reflects the new attitude. The publisher of Business Week was Thomas E. Dewey's economic adviser at Albany, and might have been Secretary of the Treasury if Dewey had won the Presidency. He says: "These straws in the wind give reason to hope that we will not, as we did in the 1930's, sit watching our whole financial system slide down the drain while we repeat a lot of paralytic rubbish about healthy readjustments and 'letting nature take its course.'"

It was George M. Humphrey, Eisenhower's Georgia host and former Secretary of the Treasury who described the early 1957 recession as a "healthy readjustment and sideways movement." It was Herbert Hoover who counseled about "letting nature take its course."

Thus, yesterday's GOP heresy becomes today's orthodoxy — Administration doctrine.

Problem In Sales And Ads

By ROGER BABSON

BABSON PARK, Mass. — Everyone is aware of the fact that employment has recently been falling off. Despite attempts at rationalization of increasing unemployment as "seasonal" or as occurring only in "certain industries," we should face the fact that it is already more general than is healthy for our economy. It is important that this negative movement be checked as soon as possible. Among many suggestions coming to me, I especially recommend the following by one of the Babson Institute professors, Louis Foley.

SALESMANSHIP IS THE PROBLEM

There is only one way this mounting unemployment can be checked. That is by increasing consumers' demands for the goods and services that industry can produce. Factory wheels cannot keep on turning, and jobs for workers cannot continue to exist, unless their product is being continually sold. Successful salesmanship is vital to the prosperity of all, including those in occupations not directly connected with selling. So the threat of growing unemployment becomes primarily a problem for salesmen of goods and of advertising.

In the buyers' market in which we now find ourselves, salesmen will need to exert themselves more strenuously than they have been accustomed to doing. This is not, however, a call for "high-pressure" selling in the unfavorable sense. It is neither honest nor effective salesmanship to mesmerize people temporarily into buying what they do not really need or desire, or what they cannot truly afford to pay for; in other words, what they ought not to buy. The best salesmen are not necessarily "fast talkers," they used their intelligence in analyzing the situations of possible customers and in deciding where genuine sales possibilities exist. They have the imagination and the ingenuity to demonstrate to the prospect how their product is fitted to his requirements and can furnish him real benefits. These he will appreciate when they are shown him, — and will want. Salesmanship is fast becoming a profession, actuated by professional standards.

GOOD SALESMEN ARE REQUIRED

More than ever before, it is necessary for the salesman to have thorough knowledge of what he has to sell. In many lines nowadays it is indispensable to have an extensive technical acquaintance with the products offered, in order to explain accurately just what kind of service they can be depended upon to render. We have evoked an economy in which success in salesmanship requires an amount of preparation and continuing study that our ancestors would not have dreamed of as requisite for being a "mere salesman."

We have come a long way since the time when "persons of quality found it obviously natural to look down upon those who were engaged 'in trade.'"

Salesmanship has become a completely respectable occupation because countless intelligent salesmen are taking their vocation seriously and dedicating themselves to it. They are realizing that they are performing a great service to the nation as a whole.

IT IS NOT SO SIMPLE NOW

One of the saddest plays ever produced in the theatre was "The Death of a Salesman" — said, that is, as the story of an individual who went down to utter defeat. Perhaps quite unintentionally, however, it symbolizes something that neither he nor we should consider sad at all — the "death" of a certain conception of salesmanship. It makes us realize the day of the "drummer" who depended for success on backslapping, telling funny stories, and being "well liked" is truly past. Not, of course, that personality is unimportant; it has always counted and always will — in salesmanship as in everything else. That, however, must be a factor added to actively intelligent devotion to one's business

O'Neill First To Offer The Story

By WILLIAM GLOVE.
NEW YORK (AP)—Sophia Loren is making her American film debut in a drama first offered Hollywood for another glamor star, Mariene Dietrich, 25 years ago.

The man who submitted the script and suggested Dietrich for the lead was Nobel Prize-winner Eugene O'Neill, America's most famous playwright.

"Un... now," says Don Hartman, producer of the film version "Desire Under the Elms," "no one ever knew that O'Neill was ever personally interested in having one of his plays made into a movie."

The episode also shows, Hartman adds, that film makers aren't the only people who sometimes drastically revise plays or novels.

"The treatment O'Neill submitted in 1932 altered almost the entire story and changed its main elements," the producer explains.

"The current version is a lot more faithful to the original."

Standards Eased
Liberalization in the past several years of the production code, filmland's own censorship, is the chief reason why Hartman's treatment of O'Neill is possible.

"Desire Under the Elms" is a story of tragic passion and emotional conflict, set in the New England of 1898. Portraying principal roles opposite Italian star Loren are Tony Perkins and Burl Ives.

It was the O'Neill movie outline which gives the current version authority for changing the feminine lead from a native New Englander to a lass with foreign accent.

"O'Neill made her into a Hungarian," says Hartman, "and thought that Miss Dietrich should play the part."

Hartman found the forgotten and rejected manuscript after he bought the movie rights from the late author's estate in 1954. He asked the studio librarian to find out whether anyone had ever attempted to render the lusty drama into acceptable film form.

"They called back and said it had been done once, by a man named O'Neill," chuckles Hartman.

Hollywood Critic
During his lifetime, O'Neill was known as a sharp critic of the movies, and had rejected several offers that he prepare script or assist in production of some of his plays.

Films previously have been based on O'Neill's cycle of sea plays, as well as "The Emperor Jones," "Strange Interlude" and "Mourning Becomes Electra," which was the last to appear, in 1938.

There is just one ironic touch to Hartman's production of "Desire Under the Elms."

"I wish I could say that back in 1954 I had a feeling that there was going to be a big revival of interest in O'Neill," he says referring to the fact that in the past two seasons four O'Neill works have appeared in major stage production.

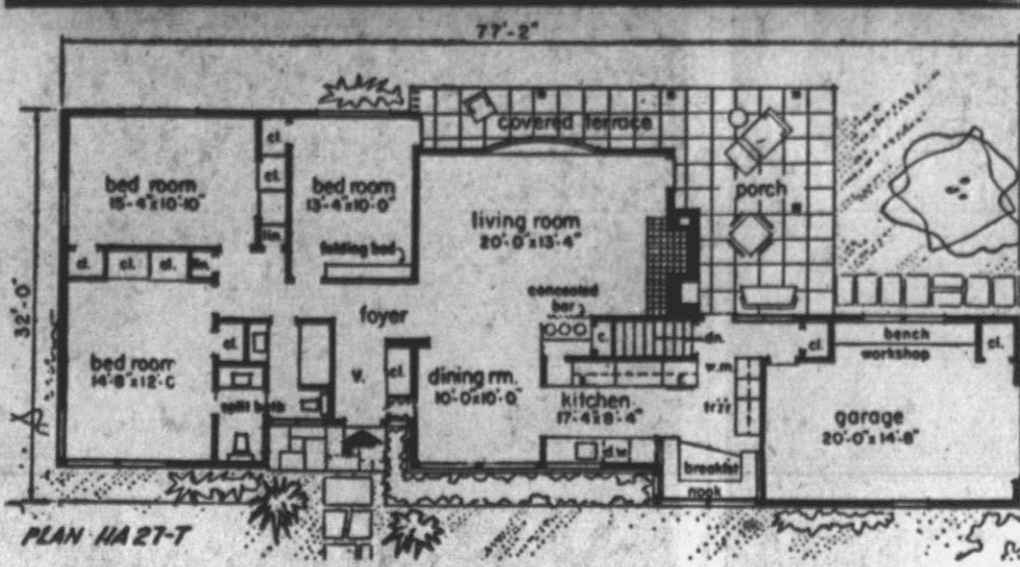

"But I have to admit that I had only one reason for obtaining the property. I just thought it was a fine drama."

Miss Loren had a special reason for wanting the part.

"She wouldn't sign a contract to make four films in Hollywood until she knew what the first one would be," says Hartman. "She was determined not to just be a glamor star, but to prove she can act."

"Desire" sold her.

Knowland Supports Nixon, Keeps Own Eye On Running

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. William Knowland of California has set his sights on the 1964—or possibly 1968—Republican presidential nomination.

Knowland, the Senate Republican leader who is running this year for governor of California, practically took himself out of the 1960 presidential contest with a conditional endorsement of Vice President Nixon.

"If I am elected governor of California I expect to serve out my term," he said in an interview. "I think Dick Nixon is likely to be the presidential nominee and I would support him."

Knowland made it clear, however, he is not foreclosing the possibility that he himself would become a candidate for the 1960 nomination if anything should happen to eliminate Nixon from the race.

The Republican leader said he had no intention of "Shermanizing" himself to the extent of saying he would not accept the nomination or would not serve if elected. He referred to the statement made after the Civil War by Gen. William T. Sherman.

Knowland said he has no presidential intention of entering any presidential primaries in 1960. Nixon is expected to enter that year's primaries and there has been speculation that he might be embarrassed by having another Californian as one of his opponents.

Knowland's decision to wait it out beyond 1960 apparently is based on the belief that (1) Nixon now is far ahead in the contest for the nomination, (2) that 1960 might not be a good year for the Republicans and (3) that he is young enough at 49 to bide his time until 1964 or even 1968.

The Knowland strategy apparently takes into account the possibility that Nixon might be nominated and defeated in 1960 and thus open up the field for Knowland in 1964. If Nixon were elected in 1960 and again in 1964, Knowland still would be available in 1968 if he continued to hold the California governorship.

Knowland denied there was any deal between him and Nixon which brought his statement of preference for his California colleague. Previously Nixon had said he would support Knowland for the Republican nomination for governor when it appeared that and all that it requires to be up to date.

Gov. Goodwin J. Knight would persist in seeking renomination. Subsequently Knight withdrew from the governor's race and entered the primary contest for the seat Knowland is vacating.

We cannot be saved by "security," which can be only relative and temporary at best. It can be saved only by faith. In the final analysis, it is faith that makes a great salesman—a faith in the value of what he labors to sell, faith in our economy, — and, most important of all, faith in God. Salesmen may well be proud of their occupation, for the maintenance of our way of life is dependent upon them. We need more praying salesmen.

Knowland's decision to wait it out beyond 1960 apparently is based on the belief that (1) Nixon now is far ahead in the contest for the nomination, (2) that 1960 might not be a good year for the Republicans and (3) that he is young enough at 49 to bide his time until 1964 or even 1968.

Reds Stand Pat On Stolen Plane

PANMUNJOM, Korea (AP)—North Korea stood pat today on its refusal to return a Korean National Airlines plane and its passengers unless South Korea agrees to negotiate with the Communists directly.

The U.N. Command in turn rejected a Communist proposal that U.N. troops get out of South Korea.

South Korea has refused to deal with the Communists on the ground the North Korea is an illegal regime.

The twin-engine civilian transport flew across the truce line Feb. 16 carrying 34 persons, including two American pilots. The U.N. Command is certain it was seized by Communists on board.

Brig. Gen. Olaf Kyster of the U.N. Command demanded at a meeting of the Military Armistice Commission today that North Korea return the plane and its cargo and bring the 34 persons to the neutral zone for questioning on whether they want to return south. The Communists refused.

Just before the 90-minute meeting broke up, the chief North Korean delegate, Maj. Gen. Kang Sang Ho, told the U.N. representatives that the 34 persons on the Korean plane were "all safe."

Today's Students Called In Many Ways 'Superior'

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A Purdue University official says today's high school students are in many ways superior in achievement to those of former times.

In a paper prepared for a regional convention of 9,000 public school administrators, J. R. Mitchell said comparing schools of past and present is like "comparing the first Wright airplane with a modern jet transport."

However, he said, tests indicate "today's high school students compare favorably with, and are in many ways superior in achievement to, those of former times. The college-bound youth is as well prepared as his counterpart of previous years and the superior student is much better prepared."

The big difference, Mitchell said, is not in the student but in the type of education he's getting. Years ago only the brightest went beyond the eighth grade. Now practically all do. Years ago the program of courses was strictly limited. Now it covers a wide variety of academic and vocational subjects.

"Years ago there was little guidance of the student. Now it is a task of major importance. Years ago the controlling objective of a high school was preparation for college. Now it is designed to serve all youth, college-bound or not."

Today Install New Chancellor

GREENSBORO (AP)—Dr. Gordon W. Blackwell, 46, a sociologist who has taught at universities in both Carolinas, was to be installed today as chancellor or administrator of Woman's College here.

Blackwell, a native of Timmonsville, S.C., and son of Baptist minister, will become the fifth head of the 66-year-old institution.

Woman's College, the state's first public-supported institution of higher education for women is part of the Consolidated University of North Carolina.

The president of the consolidated university, William C. Friday, will preside at ceremonies which will attract educational dignitaries, state officials including Gov. Luther Hodges, and alumni.

North State Tourney Play Begins Wednesday Night

East Carolina Fourth-Seeded; To Meet Apps

NORTH STATE STANDINGS

Team	W	L
Lenoir Rhyne	15	1
High Point	11	5
Western Carolina	9	6
Catawba	8	8
East Carolina	8	8
Atlantic Christian	7	9
Appalachian	6	10
Elon	4	12
Gulford	3	12

LEXINGTON — East Carolina College will battle Appalachian in the opening round of the 15th annual North State Conference Basketball Tournament here Wednesday night.

The Bucs, who finished the season in a fourth-place tie with Catawba, drew lots and won the fourth-seeded slot in the drawings yesterday.

ECC has an 8-8 mark; Appalachian is 6-10.

Lenoir-Rhyne, the defending champion and top-seeded team in the tourney, will watch the first round from the sidelines, having drawn a bye on the basis of its 15-1 record.

The tourney will open at the Lexington YMCA. Following the ECC-Appalachian tilt, Atlantic Christian (7-9) will tangle with High Point (11-5).

Conference tournament drawings in Greensboro yesterday delayed action for the upper bracket, paced by the powerful Bears (15-1) until Thursday night. The opening round in that bracket will pit third-seeded Western Carolina (9-6) against the conference eighth-place club, and Lenoir-Rhyne against Catawba (8-8).

But with the tourney only three days away, the entire lineup is still in doubt. One of the conference's nine clubs—the last place team—will have to sit it out. Which team that will be may not be known as late as Tuesday night. Gulford, with a 3-12 mark, currently holds down the bottom spot. However, the Quakers will play a make-up game with Western Carolina at Cullowhee Monday night. A Gulford win would tie them for eighth spot with Elon, each with a 4-12 mark.

Should the Quakers defeat WCC, they would meet Elon in a playoff at Elon Tuesday night. However, a Western Carolina win would settle matters Monday night.

As of today, the drawings set it up this way:

Wednesday: East Carolina vs Appalachian (7:30); High Point vs Atlantic Christian (9:15).

Thursday: Western Carolina vs Elon or Gulford (7:30); Lenoir Rhyne vs Catawba (9:15).

The semi-finals will be played Friday night and the finals Saturday night.

Should the favorites come through in opening round games, as expected, the semi-finals could pit the Bears against Western Carolina and High Point against East Carolina.

A coaches poll, staged by Mose Crutchfield of the Greensboro Daily News, yesterday at the drawings, found that Lenoir Rhyne is the favored club in the eyes of the mentors—but only by a slight margin.

The Bears, who have lost only one game in two years, are voted only a shade above—all things—East Carolina.

The poll found that four of the coaches favored Lenoir Rhyne, three picked East Carolina, and one couldn't make up his mind between those two.

It is significant that the coaches overlooked second-ranked High Point and third-ranked Western Carolina, to pick ECC as top contenders to the Bears. Both the No. 2 and 3 teams are suffering now from injuries to some of their key ball players.

Western Carolina's Jack Frauson will probably not see action during the tourney, and High Point's league-leading scorer Danny Sewell is definitely on the out list.

Says Indoor Mile Mark Will Be Broken

By ED CORRIGAN

NEW YORK (AP)—Ron (The Unbeatable) Delany predicted today that the world indoor mile record of 4:03.6 was about to be broken.

Of course not. By Istvan Rozsavolgyi, the Hungarian who has run second to Ron in his two races here since arriving less than two weeks ago.

"Rozsavolgyi definitely can break the record," said Delany, "and if I were running against him in the ICA special mile this week, one or both of us probably would break it."

Delany will be taken up with defense of his 1,000-yard and two-mile titles in the ICA meet, where team points count more than individual championships. His Villanova outfit is defending champion and will need every point Ron can muster.

Rozsavolgyi will go in a special mile against Velisa Mugosa of Yugoslavia, who has been doing right well in longer races, plus a couple of Americans, probably George King and Phil Coleman, two of Delany's regular sparring mates.

So if Rozsavolgyi is going to lower Gunnar Nielsen's record, he'll have to do it this week and alone. He leaves for home after his next effort to begin training for the European championships this summer.

Saturday night in the National AAU championships, he ran the mile in 4:05.5 in pushing Delany to a 4:03.7 effort.

The meet produced only one world record. That was in the 35-pound weight throw in which Bob Backus of the New York Athletic Club, who won the team title, got off a heave of 65 feet 4 1/2 inches, eclipsing his own mark of 64-2 1/2.

Ed Collymore of Villanova sprung an upset winning the 60-yard dash in 6.2 after Dave Sime withdrew because of a pulled muscle. Hayes Jones of Eastern Michigan soundly trounced Elias Gilbert of Winston Salem (N.C.) Teachers in the 60-yard high hurdles in 7.1.

Otherwise the winners were as expected, including: Parry O'Brien of Palm Springs, Calif., in the shotput (61-1 1/4), Greg Bell of Indiana in the broad jump (25-5 1/4), Mugosa in the three-mile (13:54.2), Zsigmond Orsyal of Poland in the 1,000 (2:14.1), Charlie Jenkins of Philadelphia in the 600 (1:11.3), John Humke of the New York A.C. in the mile walk (6:55.5), Herman Wyatt of Santa Clara, Calif., in the high jump (6-7 1/2), and Bob Gutowski of Occidental and Don Bragg of Villanova in the pole vault (15 feet).

The 1934 Detroit Lions, played their first year in the National Football League, won seven straight games by shutouts.

Nations Loops Winding Up Play

By ED CORRIGAN
The Associated Press

The Big Ten basketball race, which has been scrambled all season, could be all but settled tonight—or it could revert back to a four-way dogfight.

It depends on how the Purdue-Michigan State game turns out. A victory for the Spartans, and they can start making plans for the NCAA postseason tournament.

If Purdue (which hasn't won the league title since 1940) comes out on top, it's a new race between the Boiler-makers, Michigan State, Indiana and Iowa.

The Big Ten isn't the only conference with important business on the agenda for tonight.

The little Ohio Valley Conference race could be settled. All Tennessee Tech has to do is lick Murray State and it gets an automatic ticket to the NCAA tourney.

If Kansas wants to maintain any hope at all (and it's practically nil) of overtaking Kansas State in the Big Eight, the Jayhawks must get by Iowa State.

California, the favorite, can pull a game and a half in front in the Pacific Coast Conference by taking care of Oregon. Oregon State is the only team with a chance of overtaking the Bears.

The Southwest Conference could wind up in a four-way deadlock. But if Arkansas, the preseason choice, can lick Rice, the Razorbacks will at least have gotten over one more hurdle.

In the Atlantic Coast, Duke can clinch at least a tie by beating Virginia tomorrow night. The Blue Devils have their big date Friday night when they play North Carolina, the defending league and NCAA champions.

Wyoming and Colorado are tied, each with 9-2, in the Skyline and meet head on Saturday for the crown.

Cincinnati, in its first year in the Missouri Valley, needs only one triumph in its two games this week—against St. Louis Wednesday and Wichita Saturday—to clinch a tie. Bradley still is hoping, but it's a faint hope.

Miami of Ohio also needs one victory in its two games of the week and it can do no worse than tie for the Mid-American. Dick Shriver's lads should have no trouble with Marshall Wednesday and Kent State Friday.

San Francisco, of course, is a certainty to win the West Coast while Temple (Mid-Atlantic), Connecticut (Yankee), Kentucky (Southeastern) and Idaho State (Rocky Mountain) already are in the NCAA Tournament. Five at large teams—Oklahoma State, Notre Dame, Pitt, Manhattan and Boston College—also have been selected.

The Ivy League winner also goes in as an at-large team. Dartmouth holds a shaky lead at the moment with Penn and Yale breathing down the Hanover Indians' necks. All have three games left.

The Northeastern AA Conference basketball tournament will be held here Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, with New Bern in the top-seeded role.

The Bears won the regular season title with an 11-1 record and will draw a first-round bye in the tourney. Final tournament pairings have not been released as yet.

As in past years, the conference's representatives to the state tourney will be decided on regular season and tournament play.

If New Bern wins the conference tournament, it will automatically go to the State playoffs. If any team other than the Bears wins the league tourney, it will have to meet the New Bern club in a one-game playoff to determine who gets the state berth.

Originally it had been announced that the regular-season winner would automatically go to the state event. But this was changed at a conference meeting here Wednesday night.

Lightweight champion Joe Brown is the only world boxing titleholder active this week, and he boxes out of the country in Havana, Cuba, where a new sports palace is to be dedicated Wednesday.

The non-title bout, headliner of a card that includes defenses by three Latin American champions, will be the first sports event beamed "live" from a foreign nation to the United States.

Brown's opponent will be Orlando Echevarria, the Cuban titleholder who owns a 47-19-4 record for 70 pro fights dating back to 1947. The New Orleans boxer who holds the world crown has a 68-15-9 record, plus two no decision contests, for 94 bouts.

East Carolina wound up its 1957-58 basketball season here Saturday night with a tight-squeeze victory over arch-rival Atlantic Christian, 74-66, at Memorial Gymnasium.

The victory was ECC's eighth of the year against eight losses in North State competition and latched the Bucs into a fourth-place tie with Catawba.

It was the second win over ACC. The Bucs dumped their 68-61 earlier at Rocky Mount.

Coach Howard Porter sent his regular outfit against a re-shuffled Atlantic Christian Saturday. Coach Jack McComas' new lineup was the result of his releasing several boys for breaking training rules two weeks ago. The results may have helped the team.

The Christians kept it close throughout the first half, although ECC led by five points during most of the first two quarters. The Bucs grabbed that five-point lead after five minutes of play and managed to hold onto it until the final two minutes of first-half play. ACC managed to wrest the lead from the hosts, 32-31, on a last-second shot by Dick Knox. It was 32-31 at intermission.

Shortly after the second half began, East Carolina ran up another lead, mostly on the rebounding of center Joe Plaster and the shooting of Ike Riddick, Jess Curry, and Plaster. By mid-way the last-half, the Bucs had a 12-point lead, the biggest of the night. Charlie Adams, Harold Ingram sparked that drive on a spree of fast break plays.

With less than two minutes to go, ECC had a 68-62 lead. Knox made both of two free throws to cut it to 68-64, then stole the ball for the Pirates and laid it in to make it 68-66. There were 20 seconds remaining.

Charlie Adams was fouled deliberately, four seconds later as he tried to get the ball into ECC's forecourt and he dropped in two free tosses. The situation was repeated with five seconds left, and Adams added two more. That made the score 72-66. The Pirates got its final margin with one second left, when Guy Mendenhall dropped in a jump shot.

Plaster was high scorer for the Pirates with a total of 24 points. Adams added 18, and senior Captain Harold Ingram finished with 14.

Knox led ACC with 20.

Rare Seurat Display For Chicago

By EDWARD S. KITCH CHICAGO (AP)—"To be a great artist, one must produce a great many small things."

DANIEL CATTON RICH, director of the Art Institute of Chicago, examines Georges Seurat's masterpiece, 'La Grande Jatte,' one of 150 paintings by the French artist exhibited in a unique showing arranged by Rich.

Signac helped him popularize it. The method consists of a mottled technique with definite spots of different primary colors laid side by side with infinite care.

The Chicago show, the first of its kind in the United States or anywhere, opened Jan. 16 and runs through March 7. Complete with Seurat's masterpiece, 'Sunday Afternoon on La Grande Jatte,' the exhibit will move to New York's Museum of Modern Art March 6 and remain there through May 11.

"This is perhaps the last time, or at least last for a long time, that this many of Seurat's works will be seen in one exhibition," said Daniel Catton Rich, director of the Art Institute.

Rich assembled the collection from 81 leading museums and private collectors in the United States and Europe.

Known the world over, 'La Grande Jatte' is part of the Helen Birch Bartlett Collection at the Art Institute. Rich says he has permission to loan the huge 81 by 120 1/2 inch work once and once only.

The painting of vertical and horizontal lines and repetition of hats and umbrellas in delicate yellows, purples, and greens, was purchased by Frederick Clay Bartlett in 1925 for $23,000. In the early 1930s the institute was offered $400,000 for it by a syndicate of French art dealers.

'La Grande Jatte' is one of seven great canvases of Seurat's career.

Two of them, 'Le Chahut' and 'Le Cirque,' were brought to the United States under escort by representatives of the European museums that loaned them.

Several drawings never seen before are in the exhibit. The male nude sketches were among 96 packed away by Seurat between newspapers of 1877-79 and discovered only two years ago in a button factory owned by the Seurat family near Paris.

Director Rich personally made the selections and talked with Seurat's nieces and nephews, his only descendants.

When 'La Grande Jatte' was finished after two years work in 1886, it caused an artistic scandal. Not since the first showing of the impressionists 12 years earlier had a painting received such abuse or ridicule.

A NEW SUSPENSE NOVEL BY WILLIAM FULLER

CHAPTER 12

Joan Morris, Lear had said. It was the only lead I had. And so I called Joan Morris. There were three in the book. The first one I called ran a boardinghouse and sounded like a booby. The second one didn't answer. The third one had an eager, youngish voice. I could hear music in the background and a babble of voices.

I was getting a little weary of making like a writer. So I said I'd been a friend of Jack Forbes. I said I'd met Jack shortly before he'd died and he'd told me about her and asked me to look her up when I was next in Miami. I'd said I would. And here I was.

She was silent for a moment and I was afraid she might brush me off. But then she said in a small, dubious voice, "Well, I'll be here for a couple of hours, anyhow. Why don't you drop by?" I said I would. The address she gave me was on the Beach, a couple of miles south of my hotel. I told her I'd meet her in an hour and a half. That would give me plenty of time to drop by my hotel for a shower and a change of clothes. I'd also be able to pick up any news of Maria that might have come in.

The desk clerk at the Stratford Arms stared at me and swallowed nervously. I'd obviously become a notorious figure. Maria, he told me in a quavering voice, was still missing.

I took my key and went to my room. I opened the door. Two men were in the room. One of them leaned against the dresser. The other sat in the chair by the window — the one Maria had sat in when she'd come to my room.

The man in the chair was Wade, the detective lieutenant.

"Come in, Doan," he said.

"Ge, I said, "Thanks."

"Where've you been?"

"Well, let's see. Just after I left you this morning, I knocked off a small loan company on 17th Street. You might have heard something about that. And then there was this old lady — widow-woman she was. I didn't really mean to hurt her, but she screamed and I got my hands on her throat, and I guess I just sort of blacked out, and—"

Wade interrupted me. "We have ways," he said, "of taking care of jokers. Where've you been?"

I shrugged. "After I left you I went to the Miami Gazette's library. I told you I've been out of touch with the news for a few months. I went there to catch up on things."

"Any specific things?"

"No."

He was persistent. "Like the Jack Forbes murder?"

"Who is this guy Forbes? I mean I know who he is, or was. I found that out today. But why keep throwing him at me?"

"Never mind," Wade said. "Where else did you go?"

"To see a friend."

"The friend's name?"

I could see no percentage in lying to him. "Tom Lear," I said. He scribbled in a notebook.

"Where'd you meet him?"

"In a barroom on Key Biscayne. The Ripside."

"What's the Ripside for a living?"

"He operates an air service."

He wore a self-satisfied look now. "That wouldn't be any chance he'd be the Caribbean Air Service, would it?"

"Yeah, I think so, now that you mention it."

"Isn't that where Jack Forbes used to work?"

"I think Lear mentioned it."

"What are you trying to find?"

I walked across the room to Wade. "Now, wait a minute," I said. "First of all I think I remember reading somewhere that you guys have got to have a search warrant before you can bust into a man's room like this, and go through his things the way I'm sure you characters have. And second of all I'm getting a little sick of being pushed around. I told you all I know this morning. I came here looking for a couple of weeks' fun and relaxation and I hadn't been here five minutes before I found myself up to my ears in some sort of a mess that I don't even understand. The broad's missing. All right. I'm sorry. I hope nobody's hurt her. But I hardly know her, and I certainly didn't have anything to do with her disappearance. So I went through old newspapers trying to find out who Jack Forbes was, and what he had to do with things. And so I met his ex-wife and asked a lot of questions about Forbes. I still haven't found out what he's got to do with things. And if you hadn't thrown his name at me this morning I'd have had no reason to try and find out who he was. What his importance might be to this mess. I had to do something to try and clear myself. I couldn't — and can't just sit around and wait for you characters to find a body and hang a bum rap on me. Forbes was a tramp pilot. He got in some sort of mess down in Coronado and got himself knocked off. That's all I know."

Wade said, "That's quite a speech, Doan."

The other man hadn't opened his trap until then. "What're we waiting for, Ed," he said. "Let's take him in."

"Take it easy, Bill," Wade said. He turned to me. "So you told us all you knew this morning, huh, Doan?"

I nodded.

"Everything?"

"You heard me," I said. "Now if you guys don't mind clearing out I want to shave and shower. I've got a date."

"A date with who?"

"Whom," I said. "Audrey Hepburn. Now how about it?"

"How much stuff you gonna take from this wise guy, Ed?" Wade's buddy wanted to know.

"I don't think you told us everything, Doan. I think you forgot and left out one or two things. Maybe I can nudge your memory. Sometime last night — or early this morning — after 2:15, when Maria Blanding was last seen, and before 6:15 this morning, when the messed-up cabana was discovered, you were in that cabana."

I knew then what his game was. But I'd bluff it out till he showed me his hand. "Yeah? What makes you think that?"

"I don't think you're as stupid as you sound, Doan. We didn't fingerprint you this morning because we weren't booking you. But your prints are on file in Washington, just like several million others. We got 'em down here, Doan. Maybe you didn't know they could send fingerprints over the wire now, did you, Doan? We got 'em down here, like I say. And you want to know something, Doan? Those prints matched prints taken off the inside of the sliding glass door to the main portion of Maria Blanding's cabana. Somebody — and I guess it goes without saying that we know who that was — had made a clumsy effort at wiping those prints off the glass. With a handkerchief or a shirt tail or some sort of cloth. What do you think of that, Doan?"

I knew then that he held the ace card.

Cold Cripples Fish Industry

ROBUCKEN, N.C. (AP)—A preliminary survey shows that the recent severe cold weather caused more than a million dollars in damage to North Carolina's fishing industry.

The freeze damage extended from the Virginia state line through Currituck, Roanoke, Pamlico and Core sounds to a point in mid-state.

Roy Watson, president of the North Carolina Fisheries Assn., and executive secretary Fred Whitaker completed an inspection survey Saturday along the northern part of the coast. During their trip, the sheet of ice on the sounds and bays was breaking up with the advent of warmer temperatures.

Watson said it was estimated that ice swept away more than $250,000 worth of fishing nets and the stakes that held them in place. Other losses, it was pointed out, were in fishing revenues and physical damages to coastal installations and equipment.

Watson pointed out that in many cases fishermen will not have time to replace the nets and stakes to take advantage of the spring migration of food fish in Tar Heel waters.

The oyster season is scheduled to end Saturday, but there is a growing demand from North Carolina oyster men for an extension of the season to compensate for the loss in dredging time when the waters were frozen.

Discarded Los Angeles trolley cars are being shipped to Korea.

Coyote-Hunting Flier Is Killed

VICI, Okla. (AP)—Vaughn White, 67, was the subject of a feature story in Sunday morning's Oklahoma City Daily Oklahoman. It told how the retired Kingfisher, Okla., farmer had logged some 1,300 hours of flying time in four years spotting coyotes.

Sunday afternoon White and Troy Stewart Jr., 22 of Omega, Okla., were killed when White's plane plunged into a field and burned about 10 miles southeast of here.

A witness said the men were following a coyote at about 50 feet of altitude when the plane attempted a sharp turn and plummeted to the ground.

Cole has announced that the group he heads, the North Carolina Ku Klux Klan, has gone underground following the Indian incident. He said his future appearances will be evangelistic meetings. He is a minister of the Southern Free Will Baptist Church.

He has been indicated for inciting to riot at the Jan. 18 rally which Indians broke up near Maxton, N.C. He is to be tried next month at Lumberton, N.C.

Weather Report Spoiled Alibi

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Weather Bureau report for Jan. 25 put 16-year-old Len Morris in a correctional institution for an indefinite term.

Morris told the judge he and a friend were playing cards outdoors that evening when a 30-year-old woman was beaten and robbed.

The woman identified Morris as one of her attackers and the judge was convinced when the prosecution presented the weather report. It rained all night.

Trade Groups Nudged Into Productive Parleys

By SAM DAWSON NEW YORK (AP)—Today's era of keener sales rivalry and sense of urgency in "cutting" is nudging trade groups into more productive meetings.

association executives have seen attendance slipping along with business in general. Hot-1 keepers have noted this, too. Some corporate treasurers seem to think that one way to cut costs is to trim trips to conventions.

Ten to 15 different sessions are kept going in adjoining rooms with the speakers and panels fixed but the audience of convention goers roving from one to another.

also the attendance—the National Restaurant Assn. devotes a session to the 10 best money making ideas, 10 most popular recipes and 10 most useful gadgets. These are all pre-planned from a survey of its members.

NEW YORK (U)—A sluggish stock market declined unevenly early this afternoon.

Losses of fractions to a point among key stocks were relieved by a scattering of gains in about the same range.

The market assumed its slightly lower tone in a moderately active opening and maintained it in uneven transactions.

Motor, aircraft, chemicals, rails, oils and distillers took small losses. Steels, base metals, utilities, radio-televisions and building materials had an irregular edge to the upside.

Corporate news remained spotty and there was little encouraging in the latest batch of economic news. This included a fall in gross national product for the final quarter of 1957, spreading cutbacks in the automobile industry, reduced steel buying by the automakers and slow buying of copper, lead and zinc.

Despite news that the United States has agreed to supply Britain with Thor missiles made by Douglas Aircraft, that stock took a 1-point loss. Eastman Kodak eased through its reported record sales and earnings. General Tire showed scant change as its Aerojet subsidiary reported a successful test of a new missile.

Fractional losses were taken by Chrysler, Ford, Goodyear, International Harvester, Boeing, Air Reduction, International Paper, Baltimore & Ohio, Standard Oil (New Jersey), United Air Lines, Paramount and National Distillers.

Radio Corp. dropped a fraction. Zenith moved ahead around 3. Gains of about a point were made by Youngstown Steel, Kennecott and Homestake. Fractionally higher were Philco, U.S. Steel, consolidated Natural Gas, Lorillard, Westinghouse Electric and U.S. Gypsum.

De Font and Caterpillar were off around a point each. National Steel down a fraction as it cut its dividend to 75 cents from $1.00.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off 10 cents to $159.20 with the industrials down 10 cents, the rails down 20 cents and the utilities up 10 cents.

Kinsey Institute Finds 'Shotgun Weddings' Rare

NEW YORK (U) — One in 10 American women becomes pregnant before marriage, the Kinsey Institute reported today.

Of those pregnancies which do not lead to quick marriages, 89 per cent end in abortion, the institute said, 6 per cent produce illegitimate children and 5 per cent end in miscarriage.

A copyrighted article in the current issue of McCall's magazine is based on the report, the first issued by the Institute for Sex Research at Indiana University since the death of the institute's founder, Dr. Alfred C. Kinsey, in 1956.

The report, titled "Pregnancy, Birth and Abortion," also said: Among all women of child-bearing age now alive, one in seven has had or will have a premarriage abortion.

Most unmarried women who undergo abortions continue sexual relations afterward. Only 3 per cent stop.

"Shotgun weddings" are comparatively rare. Only 19 per cent of single women who become pregnant marry during their pregnancies. Half these marriages eventually break up.

Women born during the Gay 90s were less sexually promiscuous than those who reached adolescence during and after the Roaring 20s. The flaming youth of the 20s apparently set a new sexual pattern for the nation.

Two thirds of the single women who have had abortions reported that a favorable consequence whatever.

The more devoutly religious a woman is, the less likely she is to become pregnant before marriage.

Of women who marry after reaching 30 years of age, 31 per cent having premarital sexual relations become pregnant and 30 per cent have abortions.

The magazine article is based on the third book in the famous Kinsey reports on sexual behavior to be published May 14.

The statistics are derived from the group of nearly 8,000 women interviewed for the institute's 1953 report, "Sexual Behavior in the Human Female." After eliminating certain women who remained a sample of 5,293.

In its 1953 report of female sex behavior, the institute said half the women questioned had sexual experience before marriage. Of these, one in five becomes pregnant, the new report said.

Pregnancy before marriage is not just a rare problem, not just a mischance which affects an occasional ignorant farm girl—but a widespread social problem," the report said.

In fact, more women with premarital sex relations married than those who never had any premarital sexual relations.

The report indicated that abortions were performed by physicians, persons who had attended medical school for a brief time, and some who had picked up a smattering of medical knowledge.

The price of abortions, the survey said, is increasing. Up through the 1920s, the median price of an abortion was $76. In the 1940s, it jumped to $143 and is considered even higher now.

Commenting on its findings, the institute said: "To keep one's self and/or one's suitors at a high pitch of emotional and sexual excitement for 5 to 10 years from the beginning of dating to marriage, and meanwhile abstain from sexual relations is, biologically speaking, a most unnatural as well as difficult task."

Argentina Elects A New President

BUENOS AIRES (U)—Gaitan, be spectacled Arturo Frondizi, a left-wing intellectual, is the new president-elect of Argentina. The support of banished dictator Juan D. Peron apparently was a decisive factor in his landslide victory.

Frondizi ran far ahead of middle-of-the-roader Ricardo Balbin in Argentina's first free presidential election in more than a decade. Nine other opponents trailed way behind.

Both are attorneys and represent left and right wings of the Radical party — a conservative group despite its name. Balbin ran for president against Peron in 1952 and Frondizi was No. 2 man on the ticket.

But Frondizi's intransigent Radical party collected votes from many of the strong-arm segments of Argentina's political spectrum this time. His backers ranged from Communists to labor to Peronists and Fascist splinter parties.

With more than eight million Argentines voting, unofficial figures early today gave Frondizi 1,434,773 votes, Balbin 892,133.

During his campaign Frondizi pledged amnesty for all Peronists and that "includes everybody." But he never specifically included Peron, which raised speculation whether Frondizi would let the banished dictator come back.

Last night Frondizi said the first job of the new Congress would be to enact a general amnesty law covering all parties and including those now in jail for their politics.

From his refuge in the Dominican Republic, Peron hailed Frondizi's victory as the result of the implied support he gave him. Peron said he would consider a return to his homeland, but planned a trip "to rest" first. He did not elaborate.

Peron claimed the election did not really represent the majority view because Peronists were banned from campaigning or running openly under their true colors.

"We Peronists... know what we want and march straight to its execution," the banished dictator said. "Each Peronist has his instructions and their leaders the directives to fulfill them."

Comfortable

Compared with last week's frigid temperatures, it was hot in Greenville over the weekend.

Greenville Utilities Commission's weather station on Tar River said yesterday's high reading was 56, one degree higher than Saturday's top mark. The low last night was 39 and at 3 a.m. today the temperature was a comfortable 41 degrees.

The only time the temperature dipped below the freezing mark over the weekend was early Sunday morning. The low mark was reached at 8 a.m. when weather station personnel recorded a low reading of 29 degrees, two degrees below the freezing point.

Tar River at the Utilities Commission's measuring station is now at the six-foot level, about a foot above normal. The river is expected to rise slightly during the next few days.

Percy Staying In Wake County Jail 'til Friday

RALEIGH (U) — J. Percy Flowers, alleged bootlegger sentenced to three years in prison by federal and state courts, will remain in Wake County jail at least until Friday.

Flowers was sentenced last month to 18 months in federal prison on a contempt of court conviction, which resulted after a jury deadlocked at his trial on federal liquor violation charges.

That sentence would be served in the federal prison at Atlanta, Ga. However, U.S. Marshal E. Ray Cahoon said today his orders from Federal Judge Don Gilliam were to hold the 33-year-old merchant-farmer in the county jail here at least until Feb. 28.

Meanwhile, at Wilson, W. A. Lucas, one of Flowers' attorneys, said he has called a meeting for this afternoon to decide what action to take on an appeal from the contempt conviction. Lucas said the meeting would be at Raleigh.

After Flowers was sentenced

Bridge Damaged By Sheet Of Ice

MANTEO, N.C.—State highway officials said today they hope to have the multi-million dollar Wright Memorial Bridge over Currituck Sound open to traffic by the end of the week.

Chief Highway Engineer W. H. Rogers reported no further damage resulted during the weekend thaw.

About 300 feet of the bridge's three-mile span was severely damaged by a solid sheet of ice which resulted from last week's frigid weather.

The bridge was closed to traffic when two piles were shorn loose, causing the bridge to sag four or five feet at one spot about a mile from the west shore.

Rogers said the fresh water sound was "pretty much free of ice today except for some silt floating around." He added, his department has not discovered any additional damage, but he did not discount that possibility.

He said no other bridges in the area were damaged.

Rogers reported service was back to normal on all ferries except the Ocracoke vessel which was halted because of engine trouble. Rogers said service would be resumed Thursday.

Determined To Suppress Revolt

JAKARTA, Indonesia (U)—President Sukarno today reiterated his determination to suppress the rebel government in Central Sumatra.

He spoke to a group of the anti-Dutch "students army."

He charged a foreign force was trying to exploit the rebellion in Indonesia's outer islands. He said one of the power blocs "wishes us to join it" and was no longer satisfied with Indonesia's middle-of-the-road policy.

He did not name the power bloc he accused of interfering, but it seemed obvious he was referring to the West since the Padang rebel group is avowedly anti-Communist.

The Indonesian air force Saturday bombed radio stations at Padang and Bukittinggi. Earlier warplanes attacked a bridge south of Padang. Antara News Agency said the air force also bombed the radio station at Menado, capital of North Celebes, on Saturday. A radio report from North Celebes said it was feared casualties were heavy.

At Least 12 Persons Die Violently In N. C.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The automobile was the big killer as at least 12 persons died by violence during the weekend in North Carolina.

Three of the fatalities reported by the State Highway Patrol were in an oncoming fracas ended in the death of a 21-year-old Matthews girl, Harriet Logan. Her brother, Alfred Logan, was charged with manslaughter and a companion, Jerry Lee Wright, with assault with a deadly weapon.

Police said the two men reportedly were firing a pistol and shotgun outside a club in rural Mecklenburg County.

An automobile carrying two Camp Lejeune Marines hit a bridge on Highway 24 and ran into the river, killing Robert A. Wayne, 19, and Thomas E. Teague.

An 18-year-old boy, Jack Thompson of Rt. 3, Jacksonville, died when the car in which he was riding ran off a rural road eight miles from Jacksonville.

John Henry Watson, 82, of Kernersville, died when he was hit by a vehicle near Kernersville.

An automobile struck a farm tractor four miles from Burgaw and knocked the tractor driver off, then ran over him. The victim was Henry Lee Jackson, 55, of Rt. 2, Burgaw.

A 38-year-old Holly Ridge man, Cleveland Clarence Hines Jr., was killed when the car in which he was riding overturned near Wilmington on U.S. 17. Hines was thrown out.

Forest C. Curlin, 49, of Goldsboro, died when he walked into the path of a vehicle at Goldsboro.

Luther Kistler Currie, 61, of Kannapolis was killed on U.S. 29 six miles from Concord when the car in which he was riding hit a bridge abutment.

Minniejean Is A 'Celebrity' Now

NEW YORK (U) — Minniejean Brown goes to school today more than 1,000 miles from home.

The 16-year-old Negro girl, expelled from Central High School in Little Rock, Ark., begins classes today at the New Lincoln School, a private interracial institution.

The Manhattan school offered her a scholarship of $1,050 a year after her expulsion from Central High.

"My education is the important thing," the girl said on her arrival here.

Until a few months ago she spelled her name "Minnie Jean." She changed it to "Minniejean," she said, "when I became a celebrity."

One of nine Negro students attending Central High under the protection of federal troops, she was expelled after a series of racial incidents.

She acknowledged calling a white girl "white trash." She said the girl had stepped on her heels and called her names.

"It was the first time I ever really got mad enough to say anything like that. I just let go," she said.

She added: "This is all in the past. I'd like to forget it."

Funeral Wednesday For Clifford Rhodus

Clifford Rhodus, 68, died Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock at his home near Greenville following a heart attack.

Funeral services will be held at the Wilkerson Chapel Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 by his pastor, the Rev. Edward C. Thornburg, assisted by the Rev. C. D. Patterson of Cranston, a former pastor.

Burial will be in Greenville Masonic Lodge No. 284, A.F.&A.M., which have charge of services at the grave.

Mr. Rhodus was a native of Richmond, Ind. and later lived in Anderson, Ind., where he operated a garage and battery shop. He came to Greenville in 1932 and was associated with Sugg Motor Company. For the past 20 years he has been employed by Stafford Oldsmobile Company and was parts manager. He was a member and an elder of Meadowbrook Presbyterian Church, and was a past vice-president of the Men of the Albemarle Presbytery. He was a member of the Greenville Masonic Lodge.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Lillie Boyd Rhodus, to whom he was married in 1933; a daughter, Mrs. James W. Harris of the home; a grandson; and a sister, Mrs. O. S. Vansickie of Anderson, Ind.

Aged Farmer In Hertford Found Beaten To Death

HERTFORD, N.C.—Norman Oliver Chappell, 69-year-old farmer, was brutally slain in the kitchen of his home Saturday night. Another farmer of the Belvidere section of Perquimans County was held for questioning.

Sheriff J. Kelly White said that John Edgar Chappell, 36, was being held without charge for questioning. The sheriff added that so far as he could learn the two Chappells were not related. The officer said there was no evidence of robbery. Sheriff White declined to disclose further details of his investigation.

The coroner, Dr. C. A. Davenport, said the elder man met death as a result of a severe beating with a blunt instrument.

Chappell, who lived with his wife and two daughters, was thought by Coroner Davenport to have been killed shortly before midnight Saturday.

He is survived by the widow, four daughters and one son. The son, Gailther Chappell, lives in Norfolk, Va., and one of the daughters, Mrs. Ashby Jordan, lives in Greenville, N.C.

Probe Break-In And Thefts

City detectives are investigating theft of six or seven recapped tires from George Spain's Recapping Service.

The tires, valued at approximately $75, were reportedly stolen sometime over the weekend. Entrance to the building on West Second Street was made through a side window.

Groceries and a quantity of cigarettes, valued in excess of $30, was stolen from Joyner's Grocery on Pamlico Avenue sometime during the weekend, detectives report.

The store was entered through a rear door. An investigating officer said the robber or robbers knicked out a window and opened the door from the inside.

Khrushchev Says Advanced Arms Provided Troops

MOSCOW (U) — Nikita Khrushchev says Soviet troops are being armed with "the most terrifying weapons of all time" but "all we want is peace."

The Soviet Communist party boss told a Kremlin reception observing the 40th anniversary of the Soviet army last night that the Soviet Union's main aim was to "live without fear and in friendship."

Defense Minister Rodion Malinovsky told the gathering that Soviet armed forces are equipped with "the most modern military techniques." He praised commanders who rose from the ranks and said 86 per cent of the army's leaders are members of the Communist party or the Young Communist League.

NEW YORK (U)—Five local young men were convicted Friday in City Court on charges of forcible trespassing.

Convicted were: Harold L. Edwards, 19, of 401 Jarvis Street; Audrey D. Hudson, 19, 119 West 11th Street; George D. Hall, 18, of 313 West Fourth Street; Billy M. Gardner, 18, South Evans Street Extension; and Dale D. Brooks, 19, of 315 East 11th Street.

Both Edwards and Hall were convicted on three charges of forcible trespassing and each was directed to pay a combined court cost. Hudson was charged and adjudged guilty on two counts of forcible trespassing. He was also directed a combined court cost. Brooks and Gardner were convicted on single charges. Each paid court costs.

Other cases disposed of Friday: Edward E. Keel, 207 Columbia Street, failure to stop at a red traffic light, $10.

Found Bootleg, Confiscate Car

Michael Landon Wilson 36-year-old Negro of 1700 West Third Street was arrested Saturday night by Pitt County ABC officers.

Wilson was charged with possession of non-tax paid whiskey and for transporting non-tax paid whiskey. He was released under a $200 bond.

According to Chief ABC officer J. M. Warren a one-half gallon jar of illicit whiskey was found in the front seat of the defendant's car, parked on Mack Street. The automobile was confiscated pending court action.

Had Illegal Booze, Arrest Marine

Arthur Frasier, 19-year-old Negro Cherry Point Marine, was arrested Saturday night by city police for possession of non-tax paid whiskey.

Arresting officers reported finding a half-pint of illicit whiskey in Frasier's automobile. The car was parked in the vicinity of Bonner's Lane.

Two of the Marine's companions, John C. Harris, 23, and Willie Lee Curry, 23, were also arrested for carrying a concealed weapon. Both Negro Marines had a pistol at the time of their arrest, a police officer said.

Five Youths Convicted Of 'Forcible Trespass'

RALEIGH (U) — Five local young men were convicted Friday in City Court on charges of forcible trespassing.

Rites Tuesday For Mrs. Major Sauls

Mrs. Ida Spruill Sauls, 85, died early Monday morning at the home of her daughter, Mrs. R. K. Hodges, near Fort Barnwell, following an apparent heart attack.

Funeral services will be held at Fort Barnwell Baptist Church Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 by the pastor, the Rev. Julian Morton. Burial will be in the Sauls family cemetery, near Fort Barnwell. The body will be carried from the Wilkerson Funeral Home in Greenville to the church one hour before the service.

Mrs. Sauls was born in Pamlico County but spent most of her life in the Vanceboro and Fort Barnwell communities of Craven County. She was married to Major Sauls, who died in 1920. She was a member of Fort Barnwell Baptist Church.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. R. K. Hodges; four grandchildren and three sisters, Mrs. Eddie White of Fort Barnwell, Mrs. Mandy Carawan of Vanceboro, and Mrs. Ellen Simpkins of Askin.

Funeral Tuesday For Mrs. W. S. Royster

FARMVILLE—Mrs. Susie Meadows Royster, 60, widow of W. S. (Bill) Royster, died Sunday morning in Pitt Memorial Hospital in Greenville.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday afternoon at 3:30 from Farmville Methodist Church. The Rev. L. C. Verean, pastor of the church, will officiate, assisted by the Rev. E. W. Holmes of Farmville Baptist Church. Burial will be in Hollywood Cemetery in Farmville.

Mrs. Royster was a native of Granville county. She was a graduate of Oxford College and a member of Farmville Methodist Church. She lived in Farmville for more than 20 years. Surviving are a sister, Mrs. R. B. Green of Durham, and a brother, Lee Meadows of Daytona Beach, Fla.

Places Second In Speech Event

Herbert W. Lee of the Home Savings and Loan Association was the second-place winner of the five-minute speech contest at the Junior Executives and Employees Conference held this weekend in Raleigh.
