Conviction Grows Explorer II Failed to Achieve Orbit In Firing

Senators Will Not Be Quizzed

WASHINGTON (AP)—Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex) said today a House committee will not invite testimony from senators whose names have come into an inquiry into alleged backstage maneuvering over a Miami TV license contest.

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Moonwatch teams geared themselves today for a sky search for the Army's newly launched and mysteriously missing satellite Explorer II.

At the same time the conviction grew that the six-inch metal cylinder, 30 inches long and weighing about 32 pounds, never achieved an orbit.

There were persistent reports that signals from the Jupiter-C launching rocket convinced some Army missile experts, within the first hour after yesterday's firing at 1:28 p.m., that the final stage of the four-stage vehicle had failed to fire.

Officials of the Army Ballistic Missile Agency and of the Jet Propulsion Laboratory, which built the high speed upper stages, were unavailable for comment.

Experts said that failure of the final stage to fire on cue would have meant that the satellite, even though it was at orbital altitude of 200 or more miles, would achieve a velocity of only about three miles a second as against the five miles a second needed to maintain an orbit—10,000 miles an hour instead of 18,000. This in turn could mean that the satellite would tumble into the South Atlantic, or into Africa or the Indian Ocean beyond.

The cylinder would have traveled less than halfway around the world before tumbling down through the atmosphere.

In Washington last night Dr. Richard Porter, chairman of the earth satellite panel of the U. S. National Committee for the International Geophysical Year, told newsmen there was "some indication that the satellite is not functioning normally."

Porter said there had been indications from the Minitrack radio tracking station here and at one other point that the fourth stage did not function.

"There is other information, however, that it probably did and that the difficulty is more probably in the radio transmission equipment," Porter added.

In Cambridge, Mass., the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory said it was alerting Moonwatch teams to be on the lookout for Explorer II even though it had not been determined whether it was in orbit.

If in an orbit, the satellite would not be visible in the United States until next week, the observatory said.

CAPE CANAVERAL (AP)—Army sources said today that if the final satellite stage of Explorer II failed to fire properly and no orbit was achieved, the missile's speed would have been insufficient to cause it to burn up from atmospheric friction on the descent.

They said it might break apart from the stresses of such a fall, however, and return to earth in shattered pieces.

At Iowa City, Iowa, Dr. James Van Allen, who directed construction of decoding equipment in the satellite, said there were three possible reasons why the second satellite had not been located.

In Prison

ATLANTA (AP)—J. Percy Flowers, North Carolina merchant-farmer, was brought here last night to complete serving a year-and-a-day sentence in Atlanta Federal prison.

Flowers, handcuffed and wearing restraining chains, was taken to Atlanta by auto yesterday by two Georgia marshals.

The 53-year-old Flowers, alleged bootlegger, was given an 18-month sentence in Federal Court here for contempt of court. The charge grew out of remarks he made to a Negro ATU agent during his trial on federal liquor law violations. The sentence was shortened last week by Judge Don Gilliam.

Flowers had served 27 days of the sentence in the Wake County Jail. Following his release from the federal prison, he will have to serve a state sentence totaling 18 months.

Another Message Sent By Bulganin

WASHINGTON (AP)—Soviet Premier Bulganin sent a new message to President Eisenhower today on problems of arranging a summit conference.

Soviet Ambassador Mikhail Menshikov delivered the message to Secretary of State Dulles for relay to the President.

Menshikov said he thought it would be made public in Moscow tomorrow.

The message replies to Eisenhower's last letter to Bulganin on Feb. 15—a letter which the Soviets have not published for their own people.

Menshikov said he could not say whether the Eisenhower message would be made public inside Russia along with the Bulganin reply.

The Eisenhower letter suggested that leading Soviet citizens come to the United States and see firsthand what this country is like.

Menshikov said in an interview a few days ago that he thought the more high-level visits there were the better. His words indicated possible Bulganin acceptance of Eisenhower's proposal.

Menshikov called on Dulles shortly before Menshikov was scheduled to speak at the National Press Club in the first appearance there by a Soviet envoy in 17 years.

Menshikov said the Bulganin reply "deals with the questions" raised in Eisenhower's Feb. 15 letter. He declined to give any other detail.

Meanwhile, it was learned the United States has notified Russia that the Western powers intend to ask for a meeting of the U.N. Disarmament Commission this month.

Shaw New Head Of Commission

RALEIGH (AP)—Eugene Shaw of Greensboro, former state revenue commissioner, is the new chairman of the North Carolina Medical Care Commission.

Shaw was elected yesterday by the commission's executive committee to succeed James H. Clark of Elizabethtown who resigned. His term will expire July 1, 1961.

The executive committee also announced the promotion of William F. Henderson of Raleigh, chief hospital administrator, to acting executive secretary of the commission.

Gov. Hodges approved the commission's action. Henderson, 44, has been on the commission's staff five years.

Bethel Boy Dies Of Gun Wounds

BETHEL — A local youth was shot and killed here early yesterday afternoon.

The dead youth was identified by Coroner Griffin H. Rouse as Walter Clayton Brown, 15-year-old Negro. He lived on Church St. in Bethel, the coroner said.

Being held in connection with the shooting is Joe Louis Moore, 18-year-old Negro.

Moore is in County Jail without privilege of bond pending an inquiry into the death. The inquiry was set by the coroner for tomorrow night at 7:30 in the Court House.

Brown was shot at the edge of a wooded area in Bethel with a .12 gauge shot gun, Coroner Rouse stated. He died instantly.

Rouse said Moore claimed the two were tussling over the shot gun and it discharged striking Brown.

Moore was taken in custody by Bethel Chief of Police Walter Gray and placed in Bethel jail.

He was later brought to Greenville and placed in the County jail.

Donate $1,500 In Educational Aid

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (AP)—The International Harvester Co. and its foundation has given the North Carolina Foundation of Church Related Colleges a $1,500 grant for educational aid.

The company's district manager, W. W. French of Charlotte, presented the grant to the colleges foundation here yesterday.

'Unhappy', So He Set Church Fire

LONDON (AP)—An 11-year-old boy says he set fire to a church because God made him unhappy.

The boy's mother died when he was a baby.

Police Detective Edward Anning said in court the boy told him: "The reason I did it is I am unhappy. I lay in bed and wondered why God has made me unhappy. So I decided to burn his church."

Higher Education Board Astonished By Complaint

RALEIGH (AP)—The State Board of Higher Education says it feels strongly that institutions of higher learning "should be allowed more flexibility and greater control of operations."

The board's statement yesterday was prompted by criticism voiced recently by trustees of the Consolidated University of North Carolina.

One trustee, W. C. Harris Jr. of Raleigh, said things may have reached the point where "either we do not need this Board of Trustees or the Board of Higher Education is critically acute," the board said.

"The issue is whether we run the university or somebody else runs it."

The Board of Higher Education said it was "astonished to hear occasional references to red tape and controls placed upon institutions by the board."

In a lengthy statement, the board defended its action in reducing the size of a proposed housing development at State College.

The unconsolidated University had requested permission to build a 100-unit housing development at State College for married students, but the Board of Higher Education trimmed this to 300 units.

The board stated that "in its measured opinion the cost estimates of the married student housing project at State College were unrealistic and could result in later grief. We believe that even if we had approved the full 500 units, they could not have been constructed, equipped and furnished for the estimated cost of three million dollars."

There is no question "that at the present time the married student housing situation at State College is critically acute," the board said.

But the board noted that by the most optimistic estimate the project could not be completed before the 1959 school year.

"No housing authorized now will be available for the vast majority of married students now enrolled at State College."

The statement noted that the Home and Housing Finance Authority "will not make a loan to a single institution at a single campus in a single fiscal year of more than three million dollars."

If State College "exhausts its full borrowing power on this project, it will be compelled to wait another year before it can hope to finance through HHFA any portion of the 800 beds for unmarried students" already approved by the trustees and the state.

The question of whether the state will provide housing for undergraduate students, the board said, poses a "major policy" decision that only the Legislature can make.

The board stated it "has no quarrel with the trustees of any institution."

There is no question "that at the present time the married student housing situation at State College is critically acute," the board said.

Local Man Dies Of Injuries In Greene Wreck

Critically injured in an automobile accident in Greene County late Saturday night, David W. Hardee Jr. of 1100 Dickson Avenue, died at Pitt Memorial Hospital this morning.

Hardee, according to an attending physician, died as a result of internal injuries and a probable brain injury. He had been in "critical" condition since being admitted early Sunday morning.

The local man suffered multiple rib fractures, head injuries and an extensive laceration of the left knee when his automobile overturned on a rural paved road approximately eight miles east of Snow Hill.

Highway Patrolman O. L. McCullen of Walstonburg, who investigated the accident, reported that Hardee apparently lost control of his car on the sharp curve. The patrolman stated the automobile was "driving on the right side of the road, struck a ditch and overturned three times in a nearby field."

McCullen said he found the injured man lying on the highway when he arrived at the scene of the mishap, about 12:10, 25 minutes after it reportedly occurred. "Hardee was conscious when I got there but it was apparent he was hurt seriously," he told the Reflector this morning.

Hardee was transferred to Pitt Memorial Hospital a few minutes later by ambulance. Since that time he had been in critical condition, one of his physicians reported. He died around 10:20 a.m. today.

The fatality was Greene County's first of the year. McCullen noted that Hardee was the third man to die as a result of an accident on the sharp curve.

Reports Decline In Gasoline Taxes

RALEIGH (AP)—A decline in gasoline tax collections has the S. Highway Commission to set aside some three million dollars in reserve.

Director of highways W. F. Babcock said yesterday, "We can't tell whether the trend" in the decline will continue.

He attributed the decline to less driving because of the severe winter weather.

The commission has had to use $900,000 in three divisions in the western part of the state to repair road damage caused by the severe cold.

Highway fund tax collections for this fiscal year have totaled $85,574,723—a drop of $1,013,772 from the same period last year.

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet newspapers made no mention this morning that the United States had launched its second earth satellite, Explorer II.

Fatal Mistake In Flying A Kite

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—Mickey Dale Houk, 16, made the classic mistake when he went out to fly his kite.

He used a copper wire instead of a string.

The wire fouled a 76,000-volt transmission line and Mickey was electrocuted.

Evidence Introduced In Wetzel's Second Trial

SANFORD, N.C. (AP)—A high powered pistol the state claims was used to kill two North Carolina highway patrolmen was introduced as evidence today at the murder trial of Frank Edward Wetzel.

Frank Bacha, an undertaker and hardware store owner of Earneston, Pa., identified the .44 caliber manganum pistol as one stolen from his store the night of Nov. 3.

The two patrolmen, W. L. Reece and J. T. Brown, were shot the same night. Brown was killed near here an hour after Reece was killed 50 miles away. Both had attempted to stop a speeding motorist.

William Stonebraker of Johnstown, Pa., pointed to Wetzel as the person who stopped in a Johnstown service station the night of Nov. 3 for a road map.

Stonebraker testified the man drove a shiny black 1957 model Oldsmobile. During Wetzel's first trial, at Rockingham for Reece's slaying, an FBI agent testified a road map was found in a black Oldsmobile abandoned in Chattanooga, Tenn., Nov. 6. He testified Wetzel's fingerprints were found on the car.

No effort was made today to identify the road map found in the car.

Special Eight-Hour Farm TV Program Set By Local Station

Three agricultural experts were named today as guest moderators for an eight-hour "Farm-A-Thon" planned for March 15 by television station WNCN.

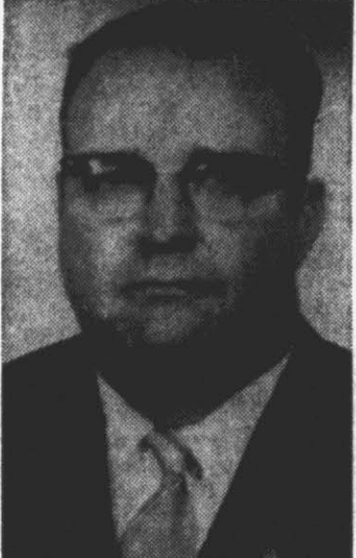

WNCN Farm Director Dick Stokes said the guest moderators will include Bill Humphries, Farm Editor of the Raleigh News and Observer; Bill Pope, Editor of The Progressive Farmer Magazine; and Dr. Earl Hostetter, Farm Director for Raleigh radio station WPTF and a former member of the School of Agriculture faculty at N. C. State College.

The Farm-A-Thon, the first event of its type to be presented in the South, will be conducted from 6 a.m. until 2 p.m. over Channel 9. An estimated 60 experts from all phases of farming operations have been invited to participate in the eight-hour program which will include panel discussion, demonstrations and interviews with farm experts.

In announcing the special program yesterday, WNCN President A. Hartwell Campbell said, "We have two primary objectives in arranging the program. First, these is to show by example and techniques what is being done and what can be done in Eastern North Carolina. As a second point, we hope to stimulate confidence in the opportunity for agricultural progress."

"We have invited several national farm leaders to participate in the program, in addition to State Extension Service officials and county agents from Eastern

Learned To Live Out Of Her Suitcase

By ANNE SINGLETON
 Reflector Woman's Editor
 Most women have to be content with one or two weeks of traveling each year, but not Mrs. Ruth Ehlers.

During the last 15 years her job has carried her from Maine to California and from British Columbia to Havana. "I believe I've worked in every state except possibly Arizona, New Mexico, and Oklahoma," she mentioned.

As a recreation specialist for the National Recreation Association, this seasoned traveler has learned to live from a suitcase with ease. Her secret is, "I never carry more with me than I can handle by myself." Mrs. Ehlers' suitcase is always organized in case an unexpected trip should arise.

Red Box, Too
 Accompanying the active woman on all of her numerous trips has been a little red hat box. "I believe my hat box has been in about every state now. It is almost like a symbol and when the little box gives out, I guess I will, too," she quipped.

Mrs. Ehlers' husband, who is an electrical engineer, does not balk at his wife's constant trips. She said, "He understands that one thing which completes me as a person is my work."

On many occasions he has joined her and they have spent several days vacationing, after she completed her work, before returning to their home in Baltimore, Md.

Winning a scholarship to the National Recreation Association was the beginning point of her career.

"I realized then that recreation embraced all the other fields I was interested in—music, dramatics, social recreation, and all types of games," she said.

In Reframatory
 Her first position was as recreation director at the New York State Reformatory for Women. She then became a leader in community recreation in Baltimore.

Mrs. Ehlers traveled constantly. Now, her trips are confined to winter and spring months when the trains recreation leaders.

The workshop she is conducting here is concerned with training staff members, summer, and part-time leaders and sharpening the skills of each. Tonight the final workshop session will be held at Elm Street Park.

Since this career woman's work is usually in the afternoons and evenings, she often finds time upon her hands in strange cities during the morning.

So, she acquired a hobby which would give her a purpose to visit the stores in the cities and towns across the nation. This hobby—scarf collecting—has resulted in a collection of highly unusual, and exotic scarves.

"Each of my scarves reminds me of the places I have worked and visited. They also fold easily in my suitcase," she explained.

Does she tire of travel?
 Her quick answer was, "During my leave time, I often travel for fun with my husband on his business trips."

Vienna Choir To Appear At EC

The Vienna Choir Boys, internationally famous vocal group, now touring the United States in a 100-day concert schedule, will appear at East Carolina College Monday at 8 p.m. in the Wright auditorium.

Their concert of sacred, secular, and folk music and of costumed operettas is a feature of the 1958 series of the East Carolina College Entertainment Committee.

The group will sing here through arrangement with S. Hurek and Hurek Attractions, Inc., of New York.

The virtuosity of the choral group has won many admirers and made the choir one of the most beloved to tour America. Founded more than 450 years ago, the choir has had its repertoire enriched by such composers as Haydn, Mozart, Beethoven, Liszt, and Bruckner. Haydn and Schubert were Vienna Choir Boys.

Today, as through nearly five centuries, this great tradition is still upheld. The boy singers, praised for their "beguiling freshness, charm, and artistry," provide "enchanting entertainment" in their programs.

The choir has had a successful season on its tour this season, reports Chairman James W. Butler of the Entertainment Committee. Students and season ticket holders will be admitted upon presentation of their cards and tickets. Individual admissions are also available, he says.

Arthur Youth Center
 A semi-formal dance was held Saturday night at the Arthur Youth Center. All young persons are invited every Saturday from 7:00-10:30 p.m. Children who are under 13 years of age must be accompanied by a parent.

Following the program the hostesses served a sweet course with nuts and coffee. Mrs. Ann Boyd and Dr. Utterback were guests.

Bloodmobile's April 3 Visit Announced At Service League

Mrs. Carl Wade announced at the Greenville Service League meeting Monday that the Bloodmobile would return to Greenville on April 3.

Mrs. Wade thanked all workers who had assisted with the previous drive and asked for assistance for the next visit of the Bloodmobile.

Mrs. Wesley Harvey, president, called the meeting to order and led in union the Service League Prayer of Christian Service.

Mrs. Dick Evans, hospital bed chairman, reported one patient had been assisted during last month. Mrs. Ed Parkinson, finance chairman, announced tentative plans for a shrubbery sale.

Mrs. E. J. Williford, project chairman, called attention to this being Red Cross Week and gave workers necessary material for solicitations.

It was reported by Mrs. W. S. Bost that the recent sale of articles made by the blind was quite successful.

Mrs. William Wright, Girl Scout chairman, stated next week had been named Girl Scout Week and that cookies would be on sale.

It was reported that one layette was delivered by Mrs. Erzell Webb. Mrs. Eugene West, emergency charity chairman, reported making 17 calls during February.

Mrs. James Little told the club that Valentine favors were made for all the patients at Pitt Memorial Hospital by the Hospital Committee. She also reported last month as a good month at the Coffee Shop and said new Easter toys are now on sale.

Mrs. Harvey stated that Service League members were asked to investigate cases for winter relief at the request of the Salvation Army.

Buffet To Visit China, Japan

Sunday, the Moose Lodge buffet will visit Free China and Japan. The menu will include Chinese foods: Braised Beef a la Canton, sweet and sour fish, creamed cabbage, noodles, radish and celery salad, and Chinese Chews.

Also included on the menu will be a favorite Chinese dish served in the Western world, but almost unknown in China itself—Chop Suey.

A story of how this came to be related by Mrs. Wang Shu Ming, wife of General (Tiger) Wang, Commanding General of the Chinese Air Force, in the book "Chopsticks." When visiting in America, a Chinese Ambassador named Li Hing Chan grew very hungry for the food of his homeland. His frustrated servant madly sought ingredients, but came up with very little.

A few mushrooms, bamboo shoots, small bunch of celery, and some soy sauce, cornstarch, sugar, cooking oil and salt. Then he found some left overs, chicken, pork, and some ham. He minced these, added the salt and soaked the mushrooms.

Then he cooked it all together for awhile, added a dash of sherry, and cooked it some more! Then, beaming at his master, he humbly served the concoction and called it Chop Suey. So it was that the favorite Western Chinese dish was born in America and actually has practically been left here, as it is not served in the Far East.

Display material Sunday will be furnished by the Chinese Embassy in Washington, D. C. Col. E. J. Maloney and Mrs. J. E. Rodgers have agreed to loan items from their personal collection for the display. Films on Japan and music, "Cherry Blossom Time in Japan," will be presented.

There will also be on display letters from Chinese and Japanese government officials directed to the Moose members and families, together with flags of these nations and a large, recent photo of President Chiang Kai-shek.

The buffet will be served from 5:30-7:00 p.m. Members and friends are welcome.

Music Program Given At Club

Three artists presented a program of chamber music at the Sans Souci Book Club meeting Tuesday held at the home of Mrs. K. N. Cuthbert.

Mrs. Cuthbert introduced the musicians who were Wolfgang Fetsch, pianist, of the college faculty, his wife, Mrs. Nicholette Fetsch, violinist, and P. Richard Atkinson, violinist.

Their first selection was a trio by Jean Marie Leclair for violin, viola, and piano. Then Mrs. Fetsch played "Traumerel" accompanied by her husband at the piano.

Fetsch followed by rendering three piano solos, "Turkish March (Rondo)" by Mozart, "Waltz in C Minor" by Chopin and "The Minute Waltz" by Chopin.

The program preceded the business session presided over by the president, Mrs. W. M. Scates.

A question and answer period concerned with Japan was conducted by Fetsch who lived in Japan for nine years after the war.

The hostess, assisted by her daughter, served a salad plate, cake, and coffee.

Pre-Easter Hats Highlight Meeting

A pre-Easter parade of original hats was the highlight of the March Red Oak Home Demonstration Club meeting yesterday. The group met at "Woodside," the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Tyson. Mrs. Tyson and Mrs. Jarvis Tripp, co-hostesses, greeted the 23 women wearing colorful hats fashioned from mixing bowls, wicker trays, bread baskets, lamp shades, etc.

Mrs. J. T. Manning Sr. acquainted the group with the recommended varieties of vegetables to be planted. She also encouraged every family who had not already started a spring garden to do so. Mrs. Milton May reported that the property committee had made a survey of things needed in the community building. This committee was given authority to make necessary improvements.

The president asked the following to serve on a ways and means committee: Mrs. Fenner Allen, Mrs. Charles Jackson and Mrs. Joe Joyner. Mrs. James Allen gave a demonstration on care and cleaning of an important piece of household equipment—the sewing machine. The devotional was given by Mrs. Charles Jackson. Early spring flowers decorated the home throughout and an arrangement of miniature hats was featured on the living room mantel. The hostesses invited the guests, at the conclusion of the meeting, to the dining room where a dessert course was served buffet.

Prices Go Up! Marriage License Fee Comes Down. Raleigh Times Staff Writer RALEIGH (AP) — Getting married in 1958? Just be glad, especially if you are a man, that the date doesn't go back a century ago to between 1741 and 1868. During those years, prospective bridegrooms had to put a $50 or $500 bond behind a promise to be married. If he changed his mind about the girl, he lost that amount of money to the state. He also lost if either party was discovered to be hiding the fact that they were not "free, white, or 21."

Falkland Home Demonstration Club's annual Family Night supper was held February 27 at the Falkland Community Building. Special guests for the occasion included members of the Falkland Ruritan Club and Larry Averette of Greenville. Mrs. David L. Morrill, president, welcomed the guests. Charlie Tyler said the invocation. Miss Margaret Stevens, assistant HD agent, and Sam Winchester, farm agent, showed slides portraying improvements in the county and discussed the ten points in the Pitt County Progress Program. Questions asked by club members were answered by the speakers.

Mrs. Morrill suggested that the club give further study to the program and urged the whole community to do more reading. Mrs. Julia Lawrence led the group in games and riddles, suitable for all ages. Mrs. G. H. Pittman and Mrs. Jenness Moore gave several piano selections. The meeting was closed by group singing. Seventeen club members and 29 visitors were present.

Tips On Caring, Selecting Rugs Told Adult Meet

Billy Laughinghouse was the speaker when the adults met at the Winterville Home Economics cottage Thursday afternoon. Laughinghouse showed samples of rugs, pointing out the good characteristics of each as well as giving guides to help select the correct rug to give the most satisfaction for the different rooms of a home. He stated that in good home decoration the rug should be selected first because a homemaker buys rugs for the same room only once or twice in a lifetime. The proper cleaning of rugs, good moth protection, and protecting rugs from direct sunlight were stressed. Those receiving lucky prizes were Mrs. N. T. Cox, Mrs. Wilbur Jackson, Mrs. H. A. McLawhorn, and Mrs. J. H. Mobley. Refreshments were served by Miss Alya Ray Taylor and Barbara Manning. For that heavy once-a-week cleaning, keep the supplies you use in a basket and you won't have to gather them together. If the basket has easily gripped handles, it will be easy to carry from room to room.

Justified In Light Of Evidence

The move to oust the director and his assistant from the Eastern Carolina Regional Housing Authority is entirely justified on the basis of information obtained by the special committee which investigated the million-dollar housing deal of Seymour Johnson Homes.

Obviously a "conflict of interest" existed when the executive director of the authority stood to gain 89 per cent of the profit from the million dollar sale of property to the Authority and his assistant another five per cent of profits from the deal.

It is amazing to us that members of the Housing Authority board composed of representatives of 10 counties would have agreed to the purchase of the property in question from the board's executive director. Perhaps they were unduly influenced by the Authority's executive director who stood to make a handsome profit on the deal. Or perhaps they failed to exercise sufficient diligence in discharging their duties as members of the Authority's board.

A person in an office of public trust is responsible both for what he does in the public interest and for what he fails to do in the public interest. The Seymour Johnson Homes deal suggests the Authority board may have been too willing to accept the recommendations of their executive director rather than exercising their own initiative in looking into the matter for themselves.

Probe Turned Up Funny Business

By LYNN NISBET

HOUSING — Nobody who kept up with the disclosures during the investigation of the Eastern Carolina Regional Housing Authority, its members and executive officers in their activities involving the Seymour Johnson Homes property at Goldsboro can reasonably question the finding of fact that some of the acts were of very doubtful propriety and definitely not in the public interest. There was preponderant evidence that members and officers of the Authority, which was a public service quasi-government corporation, traded with themselves to the probable detriment of the public interest.

The report of the investigating committee does not entirely remove some political implications behind the inception of the investigation. With respect to the members of the Housing Authority, which was given a blanket indictment for failure to exercise proper diligence, the committee report said that as among the Housing Authority members there were varying degrees of responsibility by reason of different and varying degrees of knowledge concerning the operations of the Authority.

The most significant political issue was entirely impersonal. It involved the question of superior authority or precedence of a Federal bureau regulation over a North Carolina general statute with respect to ownership of buildings and facilities inseparably attached to the land upon which they are situated. This question was undoubtedly to the courts for adjudication. Ultimate court decision will determine whether Emmett Powell and his associates, of the Federal Public Housing Authority or the Eastern Carolina Regional Housing Authority has fee title to the property at Goldsboro commonly known as the Seymour Johnson Homes project.

ODOROUS — No court decision as to vested title can entirely eliminate the bad smell emanating from inside dealings between the housing authority and its director whereby the director and a few associates stood to make upwards of a million dollars profit. At this point, however, it should be emphasized that up to now no individual has made any exorbitant profits, and the chance of profit depends entirely on whether or not Seymour Johnson Field retains its active status as a major air force installation. The housing facilities in the proceedings had considerable value when the air field was active during World War II, lost nearly all of that value when the field was deactivated after the war, and pyramided in value again when Seymour Johnson was reactivated within the past 18 months.

That brings up the next occasion for bad odor emanating from the whole deal. It seems apparent from testimony offered by officials and attorneys for the Federal Public Housing Authority that the Federal agency was anxious in the period from 1950 through 1952 to get loose from any responsibility in connection with the Seymour Johnson project. It is just as obvious that when the air field was reactivated and the housing project again became of high value, the Federal agency regretted its retirement from the project and sought to re-acquire control.

That is where some "funny" business comes into the situation. All the dealings of the Federal housing agency had been with the Eastern Carolina Regional Housing Authority. But when some question arose about propriety of operations of the Carolina Authority the Federal agency did not go through established channels, but wrote Governor Hodges that there was suspicion of monkey business. The charges and accusations were so vague, that many people who know about that early correspondence believe the Federal agency thought the Governor would ignore it—and that later the agency could point out how it had warned the State and the State did not act.

DIRECT ACTION — If that was the program, Governor Hodges called the bluff. He wrote for further information and a bill of particulars. The Federal answer still was vague, and the Governor ordered an immediate investigation. He adopted a typical Hodges device. Instead of depending upon the regularly established investigative agencies such as grand juries or the SBI, he ordered a special committee to be named by the same official groups which had appointed the regional housing authority. And he instructed them to get on the job—promptly.

Neither the Federal nor regional agencies were prepared for such quick action. In the parlance of the street both groups were caught with their pants down.

Governor Hodges has a way of by-passing established agencies and taking short cuts for direct action. He named his own committees for improvement of public schools, advancement of agriculture and similar projects. And despite existence of an executive committee, a special advisory committee and other aids to the Democratic party, he proposed last week a special "rogram committee" of five members.

Regardless of how the investigation originated or was conducted, the disclosures with respect to handling of public housing point clearly to need for clarification of the conflict between Federal regulations and State law. The extent of "conflict of interest" and the degree of unlawful operations can be determined only by clearly defining the precedence of authority among the agencies.

The fact that the Authority board approved the purchase of the property in question from a group headed by its executive director makes it appear that the board had allowed itself to become a policy-making body. When such a situation exists in any public body, sooner or later the public interest is often placed in jeopardy.

Potential Step For Better Farm Income

Establishment of the Pitt County Livestock Development Association is another important forward step in diversifying farming and increasing the agricultural income of Pitt County.

Organized here Tuesday night, the purpose of the new association is to aid farmers of this county in producing quality swine, beef and dairy cattle, sheep and poultry. By working toward this purpose, the association will also enable the farmers of Pitt to increase their income from livestock production and add greater balance to the overall agricultural economy.

Composed of farmers throughout the county, the Livestock Development Association can play a major role in developing livestock production in Pitt. This county, like many others, has made some progress in livestock production in recent years. Like many others, it has only scratched the surface in this particular phase of farming.

Establishment of the organization is evidence of increasing interest on the part of Pitt farmers in developing additional farm income from crops other than those traditionally produced in quality here. It is evidence of the farmers' determination to resolve through their own initiative the economic problems brought about by forced reductions of tobacco and other cash crops.

Odder Items In Business News

By ELMER ROESSNER

Business news, we keep saying, encompasses strange and wonderful things and many curious and odd developments. Here is some more of the evidence:

Seeing-eye dogs have been made eligible for insurance by the Animal Insurance Co. of America. As often happens during recessions, sales of smoking tobacco have been rising as men switch from cigars and cigarettes. Because the public insistence on leaving out the hyphens, the name of Waldes Koh-I-Noor, Inc., has been changed to Waldes Kohinoor, Inc. More than 18,000,000 wear embroidered emblems, according to an estimate by E. Henry Brad, president of A-B Emblem Corp. of Union City, N.J., which makes gess whoa.

Four seasons a year? Harry Doniger, sportswear manufacturer, is urging retailers to make each month a season. Although some states prohibit premiums with alcoholic beverages, the industry gives away $10,000,000 worth a year, according to one estimate. The price of oil of parastyle has risen sharply because of rising costs in Western Europe.

MORE BABIES ON WAY

More than 5,000,000 babies this year are predicted by Lyndall F. Carter, knitwear executive. The Nebraska legislature has shifted the state cigarette tax from seller to consumer, thereby making it deductible by smokers when calculating Federal income taxes. University of Nebraska economists have referred to present business conditions as "a solidified recession" and "a sort of economic coffee break."

Speaking of cigarettes, prices in Ireland have been raised 1.1 cents a pack, making the price from 31.4 to 51.3 cents for twenty.

Colgate-Palmolive has appointed Savery F. Coneybear, director of new product development. Shy Rosen has been appointed vice-president in charge of planning for Milprint. Modern Metals magazine has named Joseph G. Raynik, of Outboard Marine, "light metals man of the year." No word yet on the heavy metals man.

TRADE-INS BOOST SALES

A California yard-goods store figured many women feel guilty at having bought more fabric than they needed. So it offers trade-in allowances on customers' remnants. This has perked up sales. The traded-in remnants are given to charity.

Long live the coffee break! American Can estimates that sales of paper cups will hit a new high this year. In twelve years, perlitite, an expanded volcanic lava, has become the most widely used plaster aggregate, according to the Perlitite Institute. It was little used before 1946. Fresh produce, freight and frozen foods can all be carried in the same railroad car when a new "reefer" hits the rails.

"Many early advocates of the St. Lawrence Seaway are now working toward fixing ridiculous low tolls or eliminating them all together. This would turn the Seaway into a taxpayer liability with all of us forced to foot the bill not only for its construction but for its operations, as well."—Citizen Herald, Walden, N.Y.

Strength For Today

By EARL L. DOUGLASS

OVERCOMING EVIL WITH GOOD

One of the religious denominations of this country purchased, some years ago a luxurious hotel which had proved to be a financial failure. The church thereupon turned this place into a home for retired ministers and missionaries. The hotel originally had a large bar and cocktail lounge. These have since been made over into an incredibly beautiful chapel.

Here we see being put into operation a spiritual principle very important among Biblical teachings. It is the principle of the superior with the inferior, of turning evil into good. Here was a building which at best would be little more than Pacific Fruit Express has 1,000 on order.

White duck coats equipped with pens with which wearers' friends can inscribe autographs have been introduced for teen-agers by Hess Bros., Allentown, Pa.

Harry O. Bressler, Chicago ice cream maker, bemoans the fact that despite technical advances in other fields, soda fountains still scoop ice cream up the way it was done fifty years ago. The American Gas Association has devised the slogan, "Gas builds a greater America." The initials of the last three words are the same as the initials of the association. How clever some people are!

COLLEGE EDUCATION VALUED AT $144 A DAY

Every day the average male attends college classes he earns $144 in future income, according to calculations by Kenneth Hawthorne, executive secretary of the National Youth Scholarship Committee.

He arrived at his conclusion this way: The median lifetime earned income of a male college graduate, from age 22 to 65, is $201,627, according to government statistics. The median income of all workers in the same age span is $94,600. The difference is $107,027, which is $144 for each of the 744 days the average college student attends classes.

In addition, Mr. Hawthorne calculates, college graduates' income increases until retirement, while non-grads' income usually starts to slide off at 40 or 50. The committee is sponsored by Johnson & Johnson and Mutual Benefit Life. It awards $75,000 a year in scholarships.

Opinions In Brief

"The farm surplus, which has been a major domestic headache since the end of the second World War, has emerged as a useful instrument of foreign aid. Farm surplus cannot be used successfully in all countries, but it is as good as dollar grants in many lands where food is scarce."—Hour, Norwalk, Conn.

"Many early advocates of the St. Lawrence Seaway are now working toward fixing ridiculous low tolls or eliminating them all together. This would turn the Seaway into a taxpayer liability with all of us forced to foot the bill not only for its construction but for its operations, as well."—Citizen Herald, Walden, N.Y.

A comfortable loafing place for people who had but little to do. It became, finally, an institution dedicated to a noble end. Also, the bar became a chapel. Something inferior was made over into something superior. Something evil was transformed into something glorious and good.

There are times when we simply have to tear evil from our hearts. Most of the time, however, the best procedure is to overcome evil with good. If we turn the things in our lives which stand for triviality into realities which stand for goodness and service to our fellow men, we are helping God accomplish His divine purposes in a satisfying and majestic fashion.

"Be not overcome with evil, but overcome evil with good."

Claude Christopher, local fireman and member of the rescue squad, taught a couple of first aid classes the other day. Rescue squad records show that Christopher taught a class which included 75 girls early one afternoon. About an hour later he taught another class which included 35 girls. That sounds like good duty. Only trouble is the girls were only in the eighth grade.

Edgar Gurganus of Williams-ton, past president of the North Carolina Jaycees was speaker at the Outstanding Young Farmer banquet the other night.

He had this story to tell: One day a successful businessman was approached on the streets by a news boy.

"You don't want to buy a paper do you Mister?" the boy asked.

"Son," said the businessman, "You'll never make a go of things thinking negatively. You've got to think big if you want to be successful."

He left the news boy mulling over the advice.

Several days later he passed the boy's home and noticed a sign in the youth's front yard.

"Dog for Sale, $25,000," the sign read.

Later the man passed the house again.

The sign had been crossed out and the word "sold" was written across the bottom.

He stopped the car, ran up to the house and called the news boy to the door.

"Son," he said, "my curiosity is killing me. Did you really sell that dog for $25,000?"

"Well, not really," the boy replied. "But I traded him for two $12,500 cats."

It was a close call for the single folks of the world.

When the Jaycees had that impromptu meal week before last the story was carried by the Associated Press.

At least one Jaycee said the story was spotted in Virginia paper by a salesman. The salesman chided the Jaycee about it when he paid him a call last week.

The club had voted to call off a regular meeting because of a special banquet which was coming up. However, no one notified the caterer and on the regular meeting night a full meal was waiting for the club.

Consumer Will Break Recession

By STERLING F. GREEN

WASHINGTON (AP) — The consumer is the man who, sooner or later, will break up this recession. But right now he is buying with caution, saving more trying to get old bills paid before he takes on new debt.

That's the story told in city after city to Associated Press reporters conducting this "How's Business?" survey across the country.

Out in Reno, Nev., where gambling is flourishing and business is ahead of a year ago, a puzzled banker said: "People are nervous without knowing what they're nervous about."

Retailers reported buyers are well heeled but bargain conscious. They seem less willing to pledge a piece of future income for a new car or refrigerator, either because they're less sure the income will hold up or because they think prices may drop a bit if they wait — a vain hope, so far.

The average consumer is drinking a bit less liquor, buying more hamburger and less steak, giving smaller tips.

Except in the harder-hit areas, he has been making his regular church contributions and planning his summer vacation at the same resort. In more rarefied income brackets, he is keeping up his country club membership. A Nashville furrier reported:

"My most popular mink lines this year are in the $750 range. Last year the most popular sellers were around $1,000." But he can still sell mink coats.

The survey suggested that the startled, white collar employe hasn't felt much pinch. Even so, more wives are looking for part-time jobs, all across the country. And more people are letting their part-time maids go. More children are carrying lunches, instead of buying hot lunches at the school cafeteria.

Across the country, AP news-men found, it was factory workers who were bearing the brunt of the recession.

Major credit organizations report that defaults and repossessions are up a trifle but the losses still are low — certainly not alarming, nothing to suggest that the consumer is overloaded with debt. This is a sampling of the reports given AP interviewers:

From North Carolina, a furniture man — "I haven't sold a piece of furniture in a week, but my trucks are all busy — going out to haul in stuff people aren't keeping up payments on."

A Montana banker — "Repossession are up 40 per cent over last year. On the other hand, there has been an increase in the number of savings accounts."

A big San Francisco department store — "Collections are good. It could be that people want to put their houses in order and get rid of debt before they feel any real recession effects."

A United Auto Workers' official, Local 887, Los Angeles — "I tell you laid-off aircraft people: Conserve your money and don't get into debt until the job situation improves."

A welfare official in the South — "It seems to me the average out-of-work fellow is better off now than he was in 1954. Then, so many owed payments, and they were terrified they'd lose everything in the house. More seems to be paid for now."

The survey indicated that in spite of Washington's well-publicized swing to easier money, credit is tighter for millions of lower-income consumers.

But the high-quality borrower or installment buyer is being wooed by stores and banks as he has not been since the credit binge of 1955. A Charlotte, N.C., contractor remarked: "Last year you couldn't get a loan unless you were a prime customer. Now they're out asking you wouldn't you like some money."

In almost every city, department stores have begun wooing new credit customers with "revolving" charge accounts, which permit a customer to pay, say, $50 a month on his account but keep adding to it. Interest is charged on the unpaid balance. In only one city did the AP reporters find a businessman who thought this was being overdone. A Huntington, W.Va., banker was "appalled" by the increase. He said: "Instead of cutting down, they're going deeper into debt."

A curious by-product of recession is an uptick in some areas, in the luxury trade. Macy's vast department store in New York City reported it is selling more jewels, furs, and perfumes, and costlier ones.

A spokesman for the National Dress Manufacturers Assn. offered a possible explanation for the same trend in women's wear: "It appears that with the falling off of family spending for durable goods such as autos, they have more to spend on embellishments."

Men's clothing sales have lagged this winter while women's apparel flourished. "When the family starts curtailing the clothing budget, men are the first to go," explained Milton Fried, research director of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers Union.

"People are eating bigger lunches and cutting down on dinner," said an official of the New York State Restaurant Assn.

Do-it-yourself haircuts are coming back in Minneapolis.

Movie attendance is so low. A Virginia report says, "Movies are holding the level of last year, which was bad."

Above the Mason-Dixon line Southerners are considered a soft spoken lazy lot, easily satisfied and requiring little. Our Yankee cousins think of us in two classes, the mint julep sipping upper crust that lounges under the magnolias living on the past. Then there is the trifling good for nothing barefoot bran that requires little, contributes little and gets less. Remember Secretary of labor, Mrs. Perkins said what they needed was shoes.

But this is changing. Industry is moving South, and southerners are working for these northern go-getters. And they are finding that we can work and produce. In fact they are finding that northern efficiency is the myth. They are learning from experience that we can give a day's work for a day's pay.

G. Randolph Babcock, president of Pelton & Crane Co., a Detroit firm, with a plant in Charlotte, spoke before the Charlotte Industrial Development council.

This is what Mr. Babcock had to say:

"Despite the fact that the Civil War has been over for almost a hundred years and just last week Richmond presented the key to the city to U.S. Grant, III, there is still a great deal of prejudice in the North toward the South. The best definition of prejudice I ever heard was 'being down on something you ain't up on.' We might as well face it. There are a lot of people in the North who just ain't up on what goes on in the South. Industrially speaking their principal concern in this regard results from the popular misconception that the southern workers are too slow and easy-going.

They still believe that the skill and pace of the northern worker is superior. They are ever so wrong on this score and I can prove it."

This he did with statistics showing his company's southern labor production ran far ahead of what labor produced in the Detroit plant. Mr. Babcock said of the "allegedly slow moving southern workers": "I have nothing but the highest praise for them. They learn readily, they appreciate their jobs and they are anxious to give a day's work for a day's pay."

Within six months after our full work force was hired it was producing at a greater efficiency than we ever experienced in Detroit. In this connection, please bear in mind that the majority of them were operating machines that they had never seen before and doing jobs completely foreign to most of them. . . . For whatever it may be worth to you, this ends, the unsolicited testimonial of a satisfied customer."

This is good copy for the next Chamber of Commerce brochure. For Mr. Babcock stressed efficient labor. He said that the firm's labor costs declined at the Charlotte plant, although the southern employees were paid more than they were in Detroit. The labor costs declined because production increased.

You see "we all" aren't lazy after all.

Is This The Best Of All?

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Is the present college generation the best America has produced?

This cheerful possibility is raised by Dr. Otto Butz, a young professor of political science at Princeton University.

So it is that the middle-aged man today, himself a survivor of what was denounced as "the lost generation," is often found now denouncing the present college crop as the "silent" or "beat" generation.

This verdict didn't jibe at all with the on-the-spot findings of Dr. Butz, who, as a German-born Canadian, felt himself in a better position to judge.

"After all," he said, smiling, "I'm an inside outsider."

"I had heard the younger generation in the United States was a group of unthinking conformists without individuality, altruism or dedication."

"But gradually, as I taught college classes here, year after year, these criticisms amazed me more and more, and seemed more unfair to me. I sensed in these college kids a tremendous amount of seriousness, public mindedness — even idealism — covered over with a sophisticated casualness."

So much of what he felt to be eyewitness had been written about the present young generation that Dr. Butz wondered, "Why doesn't someone ask these young college men what they think of themselves — and the role they hope to play in life?"

He finally did it himself. He had 11 Princeton seniors, picked pretty much at random, write their own biographies, and their dreams. The result is a book called "The Unsilent Generation," and it sold 4,000 copies in two days.

Some of the essays are sophomoric, as could be expected. Some are smug. But no one who reads them, if he accepts them as typical, can feel quite so safe again in describing this generation as thoughtless, silent, dead, or interested only in personal security.

"It is my determination," wrote one, "to adhere to the belief that each man must find his own truth after learning the realities and truths that exist for others; that each man, in other words, must decide for himself."

"The characteristic fear of our generation is the horror of finding ourselves ludicrous," wrote another.

"The reason our generation has been accused of quietude," wrote a third, "is probably because our elders are afraid of our image, when they compare it with their own."

To Dr. Butz the generation now maturing is hard-headed, realistic — and if anything too sober.

And here is his own capsule summary of our "hope for tomorrow":

"These kids are going to be more responsible leaders, and more interested to the public interest, than those of any previous generation."

Let's hope the professor is right. If he isn't, the world will be bent into a sorrier pretzel than it is now.

"Truth of the old adage, 'Great oaks from little acorns grow,' is well illustrated in the rise of the atomic energy industry. Still in its infancy, the industry has grown to become an important element in the nation's job picture. The U. S. # Fabulous San Simeon To Be Opened To The Public

SAN SIMEON, Calif. (AP) — Fabulous San Simeon castle, creating a mountain top like a white crown, prepared today to reveal its long-hidden splendors to all.

For decades it has been the guarded setting of many of the world's great art treasures.

But its vaulted rooms will echo with the tramp of tourists' feet beginning May 17. By then it will be the property of the people of California, a monument to its builder, the late publisher William Randolph Hearst.

The Hearst family will turn over the twin-towered, 146-room castle, its untold wealth in statuary, paintings, tapestries and other art objects and 120 surrounding acres, to the state within the next few days. Between then and May 17 the state will complete arrangements for opening it to the public.

The state opened the property for a preview by newsmen. The glistening jewels in the mountaintop setting overlooks Pacific waves breaking against a rough coast 250 miles north of Los Angeles and 245 miles south of San Francisco.

Zebras, gnus, elk and goats from what once was Hearst's great collection of animals gallop over the hillside.

The beauty of ancient Greece as depicted in Neptune Pool, bordered by the columned facade of a Greek temple and marble statues of gods and nymphs, introduces San Simeon.

Rising above the clear, green pool are terraced gardens, sprinkled with glistening statues.

Rising over all are the twin towers, holding their 48-bell carillon.

The great assembly room of the castle is 100 by 40 feet. There a guests gathered in lavish settings before being served in the austere refectory over which gently wave the banners of 18th century Italian noble families. Great figures of government, entertainment and society were hosted there in regal manner by Hearst.

The tour will take visitors to the art-packed Morning Room, where guests awaited breakfast. Then to the billiard room, where the richest tapestry of all hangs. It is a French Gothic hunt scene valued at $150,000.

Next comes what perhaps to Hearst was one of the happiest rooms of all — the theater where he showed movies nightly to his family and guests. It is rich and deeply warm in scarlet and gold.

Protest Ending Search For Dead

IZMIT, Turkey (AP) — A crowd of men waving shrouds staged a protest demonstration yesterday after the government announced the end of the search for victims of the sinking of the ferry Uskudar last Saturday.

"We want the bodies of our children," shouted the crowd. The government had reported 146 of its were recovered from the sunken hulk. Gov. Ekmeleddin Isfendiyar said more might be missing. Officials said it was impossible to determine how many lives were lost since ticket sales for the Uskudar had been mixed up with those for other ferries.

House Is Given A Choice Of 3 Budget Reform Plans

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House had its choice today of three proposals for budget reform. It was possible all three might be rejected because of uncertainty over their provisions.

All but abandoned was a Hoover Commission proposal similar to one passed last year by the Senate and designed to limit annual congressional appropriations to expected annual spending by federal agencies.

Backers of the original measure have offered a compromise intended to overcome the main objection to the Hoover proposal. Drafted by Rep. Wigglesworth (R-Mass.) of the Appropriations Committee, the compromise would prevent a return to the old practice of substituting contract authority for actual appropriations to finance long-term federal programs.

The compromise would permit continuation of the present practice of fully financing such programs, but would require an annual justification of the amount to be spent from previous appropriations. Such an annual accounting is not required now.

ver Commission backers that the original proposal or the Wigglesworth bill would result in any substantial savings.

"It will not save one dime," Cannon told the House.

Both Taber and Appropriations Committee Chairman Cannon (D-Mo) disputed contentions of Hoover Commission backers that the original proposal or the Wigglesworth bill would result in any substantial savings.

Institution Will Get Young Killer

LAS CRUCES, N.M. (AP) — John Boyett, 14, who shot his minister father to death a week ago as he prepared a switch, has been committed to the New Mexico School for Boys.

John was sent to the institution until he is 18 after a hearing in which his mother said she wished she had broken up the home two years ago as she had planned.

The Rev. Leonard J. Boyett, 41, pastor of the Grandview Baptist church, was shot while he prepared to punish John and his twin brother Jack.

"I wish I had followed my first intuition and left my husband two years ago," Mrs. Boyett told Dist. Judge W. T. Scoggin. "But I was afraid a broken family would be hard on the boys."

The distraught mother testified she once told her husband she would refuse to attend social functions if he did not stop "fussing at the boys in public."

Mrs. Boyett said her sons were not allowed to go the movies or attend school dances.

Swam River And Ends In Hospital

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — James C. Furlong, 22, Chicago, a Brown University senior, swam 100 yards across the Seekonk River last night—and wound up in a hospital.

Furlong was found on his hands and knees calling for help after the swim.

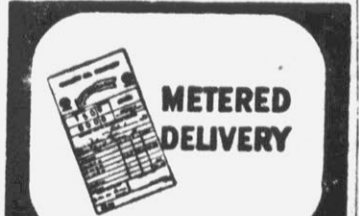

Patrolman Walter Cook carried him on his back 500 yards, so he could be treated at a hospital for immersion.

Police said Furlong apparently swam the river in a dare involving a girl friend.

Dressmakers Strike Called 100 Per Cent

NEW YORK (AP) — The strike of more than 105,000 garment workers entered its second day today, with a union official saying the walkout is 100 per cent effective. Signaling their first major strike in 25 years, members of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union left their jobs yesterday in nine Eastern states.

Julius Hochman, general manager of the union's Dress Joint Board, said not only was the strike call 100 per cent effective, but that dressmakers in 50 non-union shops also had joined. Also idled by the strike are some 25,000 workers in such related fields as belt-making, embroidery and garment trucking. The dispute over wages and contract enforcement affects about 72 per cent of the nation's dress production — in New York state, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Massachusetts, Vermont, Rhode Island, Connecticut, Delaware and Maryland.

An estimated 45,000 dressmakers in such cities as St. Louis, Los Angeles, Chicago and San Francisco were not affected. The union struck for a 15 per cent wage raise and a 35-hour work week for piecework dressmakers — who make up 80 per cent of the strikers. The employers offered 5 per cent and overtime after 37½ hours. Present wages average $2.10 an hour here, but are 50 to 75 cents an hour lower in some other areas.

ILGWU President David Dubinsky told a Madison Square Garden rally that a strike became necessary because "a lot of chislers on the employer side" refused to live up to their contractual obligations. The union wants stiffer penalties for contract violators, including union dress jobbers dealing with nonunion contractors.

The manufacturers accuse the union of laxity in enforcing common standards in all union shops. The employers also contend that ILGWU has failed to forcefully meet nonunion penetration in the industry.

Cattle Growers Hold Assessment Vote Soon

Pitt County Cattle growers March 15 will join others across the state in voting on an assessment to raise funds for promoting the use of North Carolina grown beef.

Pitt County Farm Agent S.C. Winchester said the growers will be deciding whether or not the want cattle sold for slaughter assessed 10 cents per head.

The assessment would apply only to cattle which bring $20 or more per head. If approved the funds would be collected at the market places, including livestock auction markets, packing plants and other handlers of cattle for slaughter.

Funds collected through the assessment would be remitted to the Commissioner of Agriculture each month. Under the plan a North Carolina Cattleman's Association would be set up with an executive secretary and a field man. It would be their job to promote the consumption, sale and use of North Carolina-grown beef.

Winchester said all farmers who sell cattle for slaughter will be eligible to participate in the referendum. If more than one person in the same family participates in the production of cattle for slaughter each person who shares in the proceeds will be eligible to vote.

A two-thirds vote in favor of the assessment will be required to approve the plan.

Winchester pointed out that the assessment plan will be voluntary. A producer who objects to paying the assessment would be able to write the Commissioner of Agriculture for a refund after the amount is collected.

The farm agent said polling places for the referendum will be announced soon.

First Role For Shirley On TV

By GEOFFREY GOULD

NEW YORK (AP)—Shirley Temple played her first full-length dramatic role on television last night in a somewhat padded version of Washington Irving's "The Legend of Sleepy Hollow."

On the whole it was an entertaining hour, though the classic tale surely held no surprises for anyone.

Miss Temple stepped down from her previous position as the narrator of Shirley Temple's Storybook. In her place was Boris Karloff, bewigged, urbane and the opposite of spooky.

Miss Temple stepped into the cast as Katrina Van Tassel, the saucy and very marriageable daughter of a wealthy Dutch settler in 18th century Sleepy Hollow, not far north of what is now New York City.

Both she and John Ericson, who played her inarticulate but handsome suitor Brom Bones, had a little trouble conveying Dutch accents.

Miss Temple is as dimpled as ever, and she made a fetching Katrina. In fact, with her blonde wig and tight braided curls, there were moments when one seemed to catch a glimpse of the Little Miss Marker of 25 years ago.

Jules Munshin, as the foppish schoolmaster who tried to win Katrina away from Brom, turned in a performance of great style that spelled the difference in making the show a smooth, professional one.

FIREWATER MINUS FIRE

WASHINGTON, D. C. (AP)—An article in the magazine, Listen, says that Mormons, who teach abstinence from liquor, drink all sorts of cocktails, with names like "Western Glory," "Golden Slipper" and "Elysian Draught" — but the catch is, none of them are alcoholic.

Farmers Still Have Time To Topdress Small Grain

Farmers still have time to topdress small grains with nitrogen says S.C. Winchester, Pitt County Agent. It is generally recommended that nitrogen be topdressed on small grain between February 15 and March 15, so time is running out. During this period small grain has not yet reached a height of six to eight inches. Nitrogen should be applied before the grain gets this high. Topdressing small grains in time results in a more vigorous plant with a greater number of tillers. These plant characteristics favor the production of higher and more profitable yields. Late topdressing may increase the protein content of grain but not yield.

March and April are the months when small grains need a large portion of their nitrogen. By topdressing now nitrogen will have moved down to the root zone by the time the plant begins to need more nitrogen, says Winchester. The amount of nitrogen which is recommended to the farmers of Pitt County in soil test reports take into consideration the soil, the amount of organic matter in the soil, and the past cropping. Local conditions of each separate field, however, may be such that this recommendation needs some adjustment. Adjustment of the recommended nitrogen topdressing rates depend on the chances of lodging.

"We know," said Winchester, "that maximum yields are usually obtained when a small amount of lodging is occurring in the better areas of the field and this can be used as a further indication of nitrogen needs. "If no lodging is occurring with recommended rates of nitrogen topdressing, a farmer may want to increase the nitrogen rate by 15 lbs. per acre. On the other hand if too much lodging is occurring in several spots in the field this is a sign that the recommended rates of nitrogen should be decreased by 15 lbs. per acre."

Set Hearing On CPL Rate Issue

RALEIGH (AP) — The Utilities Commission has called a hearing for May 6 on a complaint filed by 38 industrial firms charging that Carolina Power and Light Co.'s rates are unfair.

Thirty-four of the firms are textile mills which purchase electricity from CP&L. In an answer filed last week, CP&L asked that the complaint be dismissed, saying that its rates are fair.

Nominations To Postmastership

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has received President Eisenhower's nominations of 339 postmaster candidates for confirmation.

The list, released yesterday, included these North Carolinians: Enos R. Boyd, Waynesville; Vernon P. Fulbright, Brevard; Joseph A. Maltsby Jr., Whiteville; John F. Mewborne, Kinston; and Julius C. Vogt, Wilson.

Rootless Writer Thinks It A Factor In Her Career

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (P)—Ketti Frings, screen writer who penned the Broadway smash "Look Homeward, Angel," lived in 14 different states before she was 14.

As a writer, she views that as bad—and yet good. "I never had any real roots in a community," she observes. "I was born in Columbus, Ohio, but I also lived in Dayton, Cleveland, Portland, Ore., and all over, since my father was a salesman. I've often thought this was bad for me as a writer."

"The really great American writers have all had one place to write about, where they grew up. They were able to watch the growth and development of people they knew. I never could do that."

"Yet, I think my very rootlessness had a lot to do with my becoming a writer. My mother died when I was 11, and my father was away a great deal. I still remained very close to my father by writing him letters."

"I think that's something we lack nowadays. This is the great age of communication. We can pick up a phone and talk to anyone. But we're losing the art of letter writing, of communicating with each other with the written word. My own daughter, who is away at school, never writes me; she always telephones collect. She isn't getting the training I got in expressing herself with letters."

Ketti Frings is a good-looking, expressive woman who has been turning out top-notch movie scripts ("Come Back, Little Sheba," "The Shrike") for years. Last fall, she left the relative anonymity of a screen writer to turn the Thomas Wolfe novel into a hit play starring Tony Perkins.

How she cut the massive Wolfe book down to an absorbing play has amazed many critics.

"It isn't a matter of cutting," she corrected. "It's more a problem of boiling down the basic ingredients, sort of like making soup." Now she is cooking up another appealing project, a dramatization of the No. 1 best seller "By Love Possessed."

Lamb And Pork Are In Market Spotlight

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Lamb and pork steal the spotlight from beef in many of the nation's supermarkets and neighborhood grocery stores this week.

Both meats shaded lower in price in scattered sections with reductions of 2 to 4 cents a pound. This is in line with government forecasts that more lambs and little pigs would be coming to market this spring. Leg of lamb seems to be the most popular cut for that meat and smoked hams are the most numerous pork item.

With the lenten season in full swing, fish items such as salmon, oyster stew, shrimp and scallops are getting a play. Coldstorage holdings Jan. 1 totaled 183,500,000 pounds off 3,900,000 pounds from a year earlier, the Bureau of Fisheries reported.

Founders, sablefish, shrimp, spiny lobsters, tuna and whiting were more plentiful than in 1957, while lower holdings were reported for cod, haddock and ocean perch filets; salmon and fish sticks.

The lenten season also affects egg prices, which are up sharply again this week. Demand always picks up at this time of year and recent extremely cold weather and snows cut down supplies in two ways: transportation of eggs was delayed and hens laid fewer eggs. This week's advances of 4 to 8 cents a dozen may be repeated next week, trade circles say, but after that prices should drop steadily until hot weather arrives.

Outstanding buys are hard to find in vegetable departments, but good buys are available in carrots, spinach and broccoli. Carrots in bunches and bags are down markedly this week, produce men say.

Lettuce and celery are fairly good buys, but somewhat irregular in quality and condition so that careful selection is necessary. Collards, mustard greens, kale and turnip tops are in about the same category. So is cauliflower, which came down in prices a bit.

California asparagus is still on the high side, although supplies are increasing. The recent rise in cabbage prices abated this week. Apples still head the best buy list in fruits. Supplies of controlled atmosphere apples are increasing, augmenting the now generally ripe apples from fall crops.

These apples are kept in storage to control respiration and prevent them from becoming ripe. This type apple will be plentiful for the next two months or so, although they're higher in price than other apples because they're in better condition.

Prices on Florida oranges and grapefruit receded still further this week, although temple oranges are reported irregular in quality. California navel oranges and lemons are plentiful and fairly reasonably priced.

Looks Ahead To Man's Evolution

LOS ANGELES (P)—Man 65 centuries from now may have a hairless head, spindly legs and no toes.

A University of Southern California biology professor, Jay M. Savage, said these are "evolutionary possibilities" for around 8500 A.D.

"Not only are toes getting shorter," he said, "but the little toe has practically no function any more."

Primitive man needed toes for balance, clutching and grasping, he said, but frostbite victims have demonstrated that modern man can balance himself with only a big toe.

Hair was meant to shield man from the elements, Savage said. But with hats, houses, umbrellas and closed cars, who needs hair? Baldness is increasing among men and may eventually include women, he said.

Ervin Declares High Court Needs Restraint

WASHINGTON (P)—Sen. Ervin (D-NC) said today that if the Supreme Court does not "exercise self-restraint," it ought to be restrained by Congress.

In an interview he agreed with Sen. Jenner (R-Ind), author of a bill to curb the court's powers, that the justices have been "usurping legislative functions." The Senate Internal Security Subcommittee, a unit of the Senate Judiciary Committee, concluded hearings on Jenner's bill late yesterday. The full committee is scheduled to vote on the measure Monday.

It would strip the Supreme Court of authority to review lower court rulings in five separate fields relating to subversive activities.

Jenner, a member of the Judiciary Committee, told newsmen he was confident the bill would be sent to the Senate despite the opposition of Atty. Gen. Rogers and the American Bar Assn.

Ervin, also a member of the Judiciary Committee, said he liked some parts of Jenner's bill, but disliked other sections and wasn't sure how he'd vote.

However, he said he might vote to send the bill to the Senate where he said "the recent trend of court decisions can be discussed under the glare of the noon-day sun."

The bill would bar the supreme court from hearing appeals in cases involving, among other things: Congressional investigations and the Federal Employee Security program.

Ervin said he disagreed with these parts of the bill because he felt a person convicted of contempt of Congress or fired from a government job as a security risk should not be denied a review by the Supreme Court.

On the other hand, he said he liked the bill's provisions to deny Supreme Court reviews in cases involving state antitrust legislation, admission of lawyers to practice in state courts, and school regulations concerning subversive activities by teachers.

Ervin said that, unlike Jenner, he would not restrict the legislation to subversive fields but would "put the federal courts out of the picture altogether" in fields Ervin contended are of concern to the states alone.

A NEW SUSPENSE NOVEL BY WILLIAM FULLER

CHAPTER 21
"You don't frighten me, Ramez," I said. "But I don't mind nudging your memory. I suppose a man in your racket must have trouble keeping up with the names of those who have been expediently done in. Like Joan Morris."

His poise was shattered. His mouth gaped. His eyes stared. "Joan Morris. Why, I saw her just—"

I interrupted him. "You saw her just night before last. She was a member of your party at the Gulf Stream Room. I was with her last night. She was about to tell me something about a man named Jack Forbes. I left her alone for something less than ten minutes. When I came back she was dead. Her throat had been cut. Your hoods were in the neighborhood. Haven't you had your report from your head soon on this operation? The fat man—"

"Manuel? I haven't had time to see him. I—"

"I can't stand here and say flatly that you ordered her murder, Ramez. I suppose it's possible that the fat man—Manuel—" or one of his buddies took it upon himself to make the decision. All I know is, she's dead. She was murdered. And I didn't do it."

"He'd regained his poise. 'I'm sorry that Joan Morris is dead. She was so young. So beautiful. I don't know who killed her but I have ways of finding out.' He sipped his drink and eyed me over the rim of his glass. 'And so the police are blaming you, eh, Dolan?'"

"Without the slightest doubt."

"Perhaps we did you a favor by bringing you here, Dolan. Hiding you from the police."

"That remains to be seen."

"I think we did. And I think the fact that we did turn you over to the police at any time should make you amenable to our wishes."

"Just what do you want from me, Ramez?"

"Information."

"Such as?" I was pretty sure I knew what he wanted but I wanted to hear him say it.

"Please, Dolan. We can save so much time and unpleasantness if we eliminate all subterfuge."

"I'm getting a little sick of playing games, Ramez. I don't know what the devil you're talking about."

He sighed. "You're a difficult man to deal with, Dolan," he said. "Perhaps, however, Marta failed to give you some of the details. We'll start at the beginning."

"Without the slightest doubt."

"Without the slightest doubt."

"Perhaps we did you a favor by bringing you here, Dolan. Hiding you from the police."

We'll take it step by step. You will see that my information is very nearly complete. You will be convinced then, I am sure, that it will be useless for you to hold out any longer. You will know, for instance, that I will stop at nothing to get the one answer that will make my information complete. You will convince Marta of this. Then you, or Marta, will tell me what I want to know. I am even prepared, at this point, to be generous with you. I will buy the information—although you must know, Dolan, that this is an unnecessary gesture on my part. But I am a civilized man. I do not want to see people hurt. I will pay you fifty thousand dollars for the information. Twenty-five thousand dollars apiece."

I glanced at Marta. She stared at me, her eyes huge, her lips silently pleading with me. I didn't know what to do. I didn't know what to say. Ramez's patience was, I sensed, wearing thin. I'd stall him, somehow, as long as I could. If I could get some sort of a background I'd think of something.

"You started to give me details," I said.

He sighed. "Patience is one of my virtues, Dolan. I learned that in politics. I'll show you my cards. I'll start at the beginning. I'll start with a girl named Joan Morris."

He was watching me closely. "A girl who died, it would seem, because she knew too much."

I tried to keep my face expressionless. It was hard.

"Joan Morris was a friend of mine, Dolan. One of many such friends. I saw her occasionally. She introduced me to a friend of hers—a tramp pilot named Jack Forbes."

Forbes again. The name had commenced to haunt me.

"Jack Forbes was flying occasional charter flights for a small air service out of Miami. The job was part-time and poorly paid. Joan thought that I might help her friend in some way. It is necessary for me to occasionally charter an airplane. In deference to Joan I used the air service for which Forbes worked. I requested Forbes as pilot."

He sipped his drink. "I came to know Jack Forbes. He was personable. He was an excellent pilot. He was dissatisfied with the job he had and anxious to make a change. He was ambitious."

He cleared his throat. "For some time I had considered the fact that it would be of great political expedience to me to have a man I could trust—one who would report to me—flying as a pilot for CCA. Many of the missions flown by the pilots of CCA are a little... a little different, shall we say. It must be remembered that this is a national airline, and as such is at the beck and call of the chief of state. Carrasco takes full advantage of this situation and uses it unscrupulously to consolidate his position. There are many special missions for Carrasco. Secret missions. Missions of political intrigue. These extraneous missions ordered by Carrasco were the one weak spot in my information service down there. All me Forbes had struck it rich before he'd gone to work with CCA. That checked with Ramez's story.

Ramez went on. "My trust and my confidence in Forbes unfortunately grew. And then it became necessary for me to transport the money to the guerrillas fighting for me in the back country. The funds were for the purchase of guns and ammunition, Dolan. The stipulations of the purchase were such that the money would be paid in United States currency, cash, immediately upon delivery of the merchandise."

He paused and sipped his drink. "The secret transfer of half a million dollars, in cash—when the delivery must be made in utmost secrecy—is no easy matter."

I glanced at Marta. Her face looked blank—as if she understood none of the things Ramez was saying. She'd told me the money involved was a quarter of a million dollars. I wondered if she'd consciously lied to me. Perhaps, I thought, her information had been wrong. Perhaps all this was Ramez plan to make me talk. If I thought Marta had lied to me, I had planned to hold out on me. I'd blow my top, he figured, and tell him what he wanted to know.

I looked at Ramez. He was watching me closely. If that statement of his had been designed to break me up—and I was reasonably certain now that it had been—he was in for a big disappointment.

CCA pilots make, in line of duty, many trips to Miami. If I could have a man who would report to me from time to time on the nature of Carrasco's secret missions, I reasoned, it would be invaluable to me in the operation of my intelligence section. I'm sure you can see that, Dolan."

I was beginning to see a little light.

"There is—or there was an official in the Canadian Ministry of Air who remained loyal to me. Through his office we were able to place Jack Forbes as a pilot for CCA. For a number of months Forbes reported to me. He gave me invaluable information, for which he was paid extremely well—as indeed he had been from the day he'd agreed to become my agent as soon as I could pull the strings necessary to place him as a pilot with CCA."

Ramez paused for breath. I remembered that Tom Lear had told me Forbes had struck it rich before he'd gone to work with CCA. That checked with Ramez's story.

Ramez went on. "My trust and my confidence in Forbes unfortunately grew. And then it became necessary for me to transport the money to the guerrillas fighting for me in the back country. The funds were for the purchase of guns and ammunition, Dolan. The stipulations of the purchase were such that the money would be paid in United States currency, cash, immediately upon delivery of the merchandise."

He paused and sipped his drink. "The secret transfer of half a million dollars, in cash—when the delivery must be made in utmost secrecy—is no easy matter."

I glanced at Marta. Her face looked blank—as if she understood none of the things Ramez was saying. She'd told me the money involved was a quarter of a million dollars. I wondered if she'd consciously lied to me. Perhaps, I thought, her information had been wrong. Perhaps all this was Ramez plan to make me talk. If I thought Marta had lied to me, I had planned to hold out on me. I'd blow my top, he figured, and tell him what he wanted to know.

Kinston Captures '57-'58 NEACC Crown

Devils Wallop NB By 55-49 Margin

By BILLY ARNOLD
Reflector Sports Editor

Lanky Charles Lewis paced Kinston to a 55-49 upset victory over the New Bern Bears here last night to cop the Northeastern Conference championship and an invitation to the State Class AA tournament at Durham two weeks from now.

Lewis and his Red Devils took a two-point lead by the end of the first quarter and held on to it throughout the first half of play. It was 28-26 at halftime. They led ahead by nine in the third quarter and coasted in for the 55-49 triumph the rest of the way.

The 6-2 All-Conference Lewis plunked in 25 points to lead both teams on points. He was also Kinston's top rebounder and led the Devil floor play.

New Bern guards Robert Gillikin and Jon Burwell were unable to hit their usual stride as scorers last night. Burwell netted 17 and Gillikin got 13.

record, a playoff between the Bears and Kinston had to be played to determine the season's winner and champion.

And Kinston determined it last night.

Steady Ball

The Devils played steady basketball all the way from start to finish last night to whip the New Bern club. With Lewis, John Laws, Roger Hobgood, and Jimmy Hearne taking control of the backboards, the Kinston team kept control of the ball throughout most of the game.

New Bern's top scorers, Burwell and Gillikin, were bottled up out deep most of the night and were unable to get loose for their usual drives or long tosses.

After grabbing their 28-26 half-time lead, the Devils played it easy, passing the ball well, moving it without hurry on the offensive. They picked their shots and it paid off. In the third period, they chalked up 18 points to New Bern's 11 to give them a 46-37 lead, the largest of the game.

New Bern outscored the leaders in the final period, 12-9, but Kinston had too many points already accumulated. The score was whittled down to three points with less than three minutes to go, but Kinston held on to the ball in a freeze and picked up several free tosses due to over-anxious Bear attempts to get the ball.

In the end, it was the free throws that won the game for Kinston. Both teams hit on 20 shots from the floor. Kinston added six more via the foul line than did the Bears.

Percentage-wise, Kinston shot a shade better from the floor. The Red Devils hit on 20 of 40 shots, while New Bern got 20 of 44.

Winning the Conference isn't exactly a new thing for Kinston. The Red Devils have represented the loop eight of the past 10 years and were the defending champs this season.

Lenoir Rhyne's 61-53 Win Cops NAIA District Title

Bears Go To Kansas City For NAIA Tourney

SALISBURY, N.C. (AP)—Lenoir Rhyne College's Bears, who operated under a substitute coach this year and compiled a brilliant record, have earned a berth in the national NAIA small college basketball tournament opening Monday at Kansas City.

The Bears defeated Belmont Abbey 61-53 here last night in the final District 26 NAIA playoffs. The Abbey had advanced by defeating Erskine Tuesday night and Lenoir Rhyne walloped East Carolina to move into the playoff final here.

Coach Billy Wells, who took over this year for Bear Head Coach Pappy Hamilton, rolled the team to a 23-3 season's record and won the regular North State Conference season and tournament titles. Hamilton is due to return next season after a year of study on his master's degree. Because of its 19-3 regular season record, Lenoir Rhyne was named to a berth in the NAIA playoffs before the North State tournament. East Carolina was named the conference representative in the playoffs, losing to the Bears Tuesday night.

The Bears will fly to Kansas City Sunday where the elite of the small college field will begin a week of play for the national title.

Belmont Abbey, which wound up the season under Coach Al McGuire with a 23-4 record, its best in history, provided a tough test for the Bears last night.

Behind 17-8 midway the half, the Abbey rallied behind sharpshooter Bob Stewart and pulled into a 19-19 tie with just over 4 minutes left in the half. The Crusaders contained the Bears until intermission, when they were behind two points, 27-25.

Belmont Abbey grabbed the lead twice in the second half, at 30-29 and 34-33, before Ken Norman caught fire and put Lenoir Rhyne ahead with six straight points at 40-34.

While the Bears managed to stay on top from there on in, the Abbey kept it close. With only three minutes remaining the Crusaders pulled up to 51-49, but three straight field goals by Tommy Sellari put the Bears back on top 57-51 and they held on the rest of the way.

Norman was Lenoir Rhyne's big gun with 20 points, Sellari getting 15. Stewart was Belmont Abbey's best with 14. Dick Whitis, who pumped in 32 points in Lenoir Rhyne's 102-79 conquest of East Carolina Tuesday night, got only 11 points last night.

Philly Win Can Close Book For Luckless Knicks

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Philadelphia can close the book on another disastrous campaign for the New York Knickerbockers tonight by defeating the Cincinnati Royals on the Warriors' home court.

A victory for the Warriors would enable them to clinch the third and last playoff position in the Eastern Division of the National Basketball Assn. and insure the Knicks of a cellar finish for the second straight season.

The Knicks reached the "brink" last night when they lost to the Syracuse Nationals 102-91. Now the best Knickerbockers can do is tie for third place. And they can accomplish that only if they win all three of their remaining games and Philadelphia loses the four games it has left.

Syracuse, runnerup in the Eastern Division, broke a tie on a basket by Dolph Schayes late in the third period and held the lead the rest of the way. Schayes led the winners with 20 points. But game high honors went to Willie Naulls of New York with 21.

The triumph reduced to two the magic number for Syracuse to clinch second place.

In the night's only other game involving the divisional champions, the Boston Celtics and St. Louis Hawks, the Celts came out on top 109-102. Frank Ramsey ignited an eight point surge with a pair of baskets that carried the Eastern Division titleholders to victory. Bob Pettit had 30 points for the Hawks. Bob Cousy had 22 for the winners.

Fighter Admits He Feeds Baby In The Morning

NEW YORK (AP)—Just in case you think fighters are all tough guys take the case of Harold Gomes. The young Providence, R.I., featherweight proudly admits he feeds his baby daughter in the mornings.

He says he likes doing it and what about it?

"I work for the sanitation department in Providence," said Gomes, who is in New York for his Madison Square Garden main event debut with Ike Chestnut tomorrow. "I'm due in at 7 in the morning. In order to get in road work, I get up about 4:30.

"When I get back it's still very early so why should Arlene (his wife) get up to give Karen (his 10-month-old daughter) her bottle? I feed her and get breakfast. Then off to work.

"I've been working and fighting ever since I turned pro in 1951. And frankly I like doubling up. Even if I beat Chestnut and get a crack at some more money shots, I'll continue to do it. I'm restless and it fills up my time."

Although Gomes has had several other television fights, Friday is his first shot at a ranked boxer. Chestnut, a classy boxer-puncher, is ranked as the fourth featherweight contender by the National Boxing Assn. and fifth by Ring Magazine.

A hard hitter who keeps after an opponent, Gomes has posted an impressive 41-4 record, including 22 knockouts.

Robertson May Have Clinched Scoring Title

By DON WEISS
The Associated Press

Cincinnati's Oscar Robertson, who makes it look easy when he's on the basketball court, may have clinched the major college season scoring title last night without lifting a finger.

While All America Oscar was idling, All America Elgin Baylor of Seattle was hitting one of his season low marks, scoring a mere 21 points in a 73-60 victory over Idaho State.

Now, with each assured of two more games depending on how their teams go in the NCAA Tournament, Robertson leads Baylor by eight-tenths of a point with a 34.76 average to the Seattle ace's 34.96. Eight-tenths is no runaway but, broken down on the basis of two more starts for each, it means Baylor would have to outscore Oscar by 20 points to top the amazing Bearcat sophomore.

Robertson closes his regular season against Xavier of Ohio Saturday night before moving into the NCAA regional at Lawrence, Kan., March 14. Baylor has a pre-NCAA date with Bradley next Monday.

The 6-5 Seattle junior hit on nine field goals and three of seven free throws last night before fouling out with 5½ minutes left.

In the East, much-thumped Duquesne furnished the highlight with a 55-54 upset of a St. Bonaventure team that had won 15 in a row.

The Bonnies, seeded third for week's National Invitation Tournament at New York earlier in the day, fell behind by nine points at halftime and never threatened against the Dukes, only 10-11 for the season.

Dayton drew the top seed for the NIT Tournament beginning March 13, with defending champion Bradley No. 2 and Utah of the Skyline Conference No. 4.

Butler of Indianapolis, winner of 9 of its first 10 for a 16-9 record, was named to complete the 12-team NIT field and paired against St. John's of Brooklyn in the tourney's opening double-header. St. Joseph's (Pa.) faces St. Peter's (N.J.) in the other game.

Niagara, Xavier of Ohio, Utah, St. Bonaventure, Fordham, and St. Francis play their first games March 15 with Bradley and Dayton moving into action March 16. Fordham, Niagara and St. Joseph's warmed up with victories last night. Jim Cunningham fired in 36 points in Fordham's 107-78 rout of Rutgers while St. Joseph's, coming from nine points back with five minutes remaining, nipped LeMoyne (N.Y.) 69-68 on Bobby McNeill's free throw with four seconds to play.

Carolinas' Last Two Boxers Are Now Out Of It

NEW YORK (AP)—The Carolinas' last two contenders have been counted out of the Eastern Golden Gloves amateur championships.

Lightweight Darrell Powell of Drexel, N.C., lost on points to Nick Fritsch of Lowell, Mass., in the semifinals last night at Madison Square Garden.

Meanwhile, Wayne Vuncannon of High Point, N.C., was knocked out in 59 seconds of the first round by New York's Jose Torres, a 1956 Olympics finalist.

Vuncannon and Powell accounted for the only two points by the Charlotte squad representing the Carolinas.

Atlantic Coast Tourney Begins Tonight At Raleigh

Duke-Wake Forest Open Power-pack Card Tonight

By KEN ALTYA
RALEIGH (AP)—Top-seeded Duke opens its bid for the Atlantic Coast Conference basketball championship tonight against an oft-beaten but potentially troublesome Wake Forest team.

Their 7:30 p.m. contest heads tonight's program which also sends fourth-seeded Maryland against Virginia's fifth placers at 9:30.

The afternoon card matched defending champion North Carolina against Clemson at 2 o'clock and South Carolina against North Carolina State at 4.

This afternoon's winners play in one semifinal game tomorrow night, with tonight's survivors meeting in the other. The championship game is set for 8 o'clock Saturday night. The winner will be acclaimed conference champion and draw the first round assignment in NCAA regional play against Boston College in New York Tuesday night.

Duke has notched three of its 17 victories against Wake Forest, a 16-time loser in Bones McKinney's first year as head coach.

But for weeks observers have been saying that down-trodden Wake Forest might be saving an explosion for somebody, possibly in the tournament.

It's a junior-sophomore dominated team at Wake Forest that will take the court against Duke's all-senior starting five. Wake Forest is the only team never to lose in the first round in four previous ACC tournaments.

McKinney concedes, "Duke will be tough, but I still say my boys are capable of pulling a few surprises."

Duke clinched regular season first place honors and No. 6 ranking in the Associated Press poll with a 13-point thumping of North Carolina last week. Coach Hal Bradley went all the way with his five starting seniors and they flashed the form that carried them through an 11-game winning streak prior to a triple overtime upset loss at Virginia last week.

Should Duke beat Wake Forest it would have to contend with either Virginia or Maryland in the semifinals. It was right after a 25-point drubbing at the hands of Maryland that Duke embarked on its winning streak.

With three other ACC teams in the top 20 nationally, Duke has no easy path to the title. North Carolina ranks 13th, North Carolina State 14th and Maryland 17th.

North Carolina has two stellar members of last year's NCAA champions back to make the Tar Heels a factor—Pete Brennan and Tommy Kearns. Brennan was named to the Associated Press second team All America this week and Kearns drew a third team spot.

North Carolina State, winner of second place over North Carolina by a draw for schedule purposes after they had tied with 10-3 conference records, one game behind Duke, also must be considered.

The Wolfpack is playing on its home court, the Reynolds Coliseum. Coach Everett Case has done one of his finest jobs with a junior-sophomore squad lacking a big gun to carry the load. State beat North Carolina and Maryland in successive road games in January and just before that lost a double overtime affair at Duke.

Actually, each of the first division teams must be given a chance at the title.

And it is well to remember that when the finals rolled around a year ago top-seeded North Carolina was playing sixth-ranked South Carolina. But the Gamecocks ran out of miracles after upsetting Duke and Maryland.

Fire Strikes Vacant Place In Durham

DURHAM, N.C. (AP)—A vacant, three-story building on Durham's main street was gutted early today by fire which threatened to spread to adjoining structures.

Fire Chief C. E. Cox said the structure, once the site of the Church Street Hotel, was "pretty well destroyed and a 'horseback' estimate of the damage would be between $50,000 to $75,000. He said the blaze originated on the ground floor at the rear of the building but he had no idea how it got started.

Cox said that there was some damage to an adjoining building.

No one was seriously hurt by the blaze, but Cox reported some of his men suffered minor cuts.

Southern Conference Sees Cage Tourney Play Open

By ED YOUNG
RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—The Southern Conference's championship basketball tournament opens here today with second-ranked West Virginia cast in the role of everybody's favorite—and everybody's favorite target.

It's a role West Virginia Coach Fred Schaus doesn't especially relish, but one to which by now he has become accustomed. His Mountaineers have been tournament favorite—and champions—for the last three years.

If the Mountaineers outlast the best of the rest of the conference in the three-day, eight-team free for all in the Richmond Arena, they could reap a double reward. A tournament sweep quite possibly would send them into next week's NCAA playoffs as the No. 1 team in the nation.

West Virginia, which compiled a 12-0 conference record during regular season action and has won its last 33 conference games, meets meek-looking Davidson at 4 p.m. in the first round. The tournament opener at 2 p.m. pits The Citadel, the No. 4 seed, against Richmond in a game considered a tossup.

Second-seeded George Washington meets Furman in the night opener at 7:30 with third-seeded Virginia Tech squaring off against William and Mary at 9:30.

The afternoon winners collide at 7:30 and the night winners at 9:30 tomorrow in the semifinals. The championship game is at 8 p.m. Saturday.

A poll of tournament coaches found all in agreement that though West Virginia easily is the "class" team in the field, there are other clubs present who could waylay the Mounties if they drop their guard.

Schaus himself was exceptionally wary of an upset.

"We won't take a thing for granted. We would hate to ruin our best season (23-1) by getting beat here, but we're going to have to be extra careful," said the tall West Virginia coach. "Everybody's aiming at us. This won't be a cut and dried affair—any of five or six teams could win. And we know it."

Coach Lyles Alley of Furman sized up the field as "the best balanced tournament has had since 1953...If West Virginia doesn't assert itself, there's no telling who will win." Alley said he liked the looks of George Washington, Virginia Tech, and home-standing Richmond, all of whom have shown vast improvement in recent weeks.

This will be the first Southern Conference tournament since 1953 that doesn't have a first-string All-America player in the field. Furman provided All-America Frank Selvy in 1954 and All-America Rod Hundley in 1957.

West Virginia, however, has a second-team All-America ace in 6-foot-10 Lloyd Sharrar and a third-team All-America choice in its sensational sophomore, J. Est. They're the biggest reasons the Mountaineers are the odds-on favorites to claim the championship for a fourth straight time.

Schaus, however, believes more than Sharrar, West, and the strongest bench in the conference will have to be on West Virginia's side for the Mountaineers to win again.

Herb Score Is Back On Beam

By BEN OLAN
Cleveland's Herb Score, who befuddled American League batsmen with his blinding fastball and crackling curve before suffering a damaging eye injury early last season, is back on the beam and the Indians may have to be reckoned with in this year's pennant race.

In his first appearance under game conditions since being hit in the right eye by a line drive off the bat of the Yankees' Gil McDougald, last May 7, Score struck out six men in a three-inning intrasquad sting yesterday.

The 24-year-old left-hander fanned four of the first five batters he faced. He weakened a bit after that and gave up a run on two singles and a pair of walks.

"I felt great," Score said later. "Had a little trouble getting my curve over, but my fastball was good and I was throwing as hard as I could."

If the Indians are to improve on their sixth-place finish of last season, Score is the guy who'll have to carry most of the pitching load.

Herb won 16 games in his first big league campaign in 1955 and followed it with a 20-9 performance in 1956. He led the league in strikeouts in both seasons.

Score's apparent recovery tempered the rather gloomy reports that emanated from some of the other major league camps.

Outfielder Irv Noren sustained a possible fractured rib when he crashed into a grandstand wall in a St. Louis Cardinals' pepper game. The veteran was ordered to a hospital.

And outfielder Duke Snider, pitcher Johnny Podres and infielder Don Zimmer of the Los Angeles Dodgers were injured when an automobile driven by Snider was in an accident. Snider reinjured his left knee, operated on last December. Podres hurt his neck and Zimmer came out of it with a bruised forehead.

Preliminary X rays of Snider's knee and Podres' neck for possible fractures proved negative.

At the Chicago White Sox' quarters in Tampa, Fla., a bone specialist directed that outfielder Al

Hamner Expects To Start For Philadelphia

By JOE REICHLER
CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP)—Only 15 months ago Granny Hamner was advised by a doctor he would never play baseball again. Today, the veteran Phillies infielder is practically a cinch to open the 1958 season at second base.

"Only a miracle would enable you to play again," the doctor said. "It would be an act of God if you could swing a bat properly."

Six months before, Hamner had jammed his left shoulder diving for a ball. He ripped a tendon right next to an old injury—another torn tendon—that still had not fully healed after an operation. More than a year of sheer torture followed.

But the gritty Virginian refused to give up. He tried to start all over again as a pitcher. It didn't pan out.

When the Phillies ran into trouble at second, he stepped in and did a satisfactory job for a time but the pain became so severe that his hitting suffered and he finished the season with a subpar .227 batting average.

Still he refused to admit defeat. During the past winter he took a job as coach of the paraplegic basketball team at McGuire Veterans Hospital in his home town of Richmond.

"Then the miracle referred to by the doctor occurred," Hamner, 30, related during a lull in the Phillies' training camp. "The pain in the shoulder became less and less. Now it has disappeared altogether."

"We didn't have but nine players on the team. I had to scrimmage with them every day. Pushing those wheel chairs is as good exercise as you could get. I not only built up the left shoulder but the right as well. I'm as good as new now."

Smith take it easy for 10 days because of an inflamed tendon.

Several other teams prepped for Saturday's opening of the exhibition schedule by playing intrasquad games.

Ayden, Chicod Win In Class A Play

AHOSKIE—Ayden's Tornados rolled over Perquimans (Hertford) high school last night 48-34 in the District 1 Class A basketball tournament here.

The victory entitles Ayden to a berth in the Friday night semifinals against Gatesville.

Chicod the other Pitt County team engaged in the district tourney, whipped Edenton 57-39 last Friday and meets Williamston tonight. The winner of tonight's tilt will play the winner of the Bath-West Bertie game.

The finals of the tournament are scheduled for Saturday night.

Ayden's triumph over Perquimans last night was paced by Tommy Edwards, who got 16 points and Leslie Stocks, who netted 14.

Chicod's win earlier was spearheaded by Jimmy Fornes who collected 25 and Phillip Smith who got 15.

Dubinsky Known As 'Papa' In His Garment Workers Union

By IRISH DONNELLY
NEW YORK (AP)—David Dubinsky, now masterminding the first major strike in the women's clothing industry in 25 years, once said, "You've got to be on your toes, not on your bottom."

As head of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union since 1932, he has obtained until now better wages and working conditions for his followers without striking.

"First you get a whip, and then when everyone knows you have it, put it in the refrigerator," he explained.

From conditions that injected the word "sweatshop" into the language, the union has won one of the most complete welfare programs in the United States. It is now one of America's richest unions with assets in the millions.

The 5-foot-5 Dubinsky, who makes up in energy what he lacks in stature, has built the union membership from 23,876 to 451,000 and restored order to the fiercely competitive, once chaotic industry which balances on milady's whims.

Peppery, with appraising brown eyes and thick gray-black hair, the 66-year-old Dubinsky alternately chuckles and shouts and bellows into a telephone in his Yiddish accent as he flourishes an unlit cigar. He is cordial to all, intimate with none. He is almost always smiling and in general radiating a cherubic artlessness that masks a quick mind.

Favoring conservative blue or brown business suits but unable to resist flamboyant ties, he directs the union from behind a blond curved desk that once was Edsel Ford's in a chromium and air-conditioned Broadway building once owned by Henry Ford. The union is his life. He rules the union's wealth but is one of America's lowest paid major labor leaders, because he wants it that way. His salary is $26,000.

In his union, where women outnumber men 3-1, he is known as "Papa" behind his back, as "Dubinsky" or "D.D." to his face.

Born Dobniewski in Brest-Litovsk, Poland, Feb. 22, 1892, he led a strike against his father's bakery at 15. At 16 he was exiled to Siberia for political activity. At 19 he was in New York—a member of the ILGWU and the Socialist party.

He became secretary-treasurer of the international in 1929 and its president three years later. His was the task of picking up the pieces left in the wake of a Communist-led strike. His union, once dominated by Communists, is now strongly anti-Communist.

He quit the Socialist party and became a Roosevelt elector in 1936. Later, he helped found the Liberal party in New York state and still is active in it.

Some rank-and-file members say Dubinsky is so occupied with politics he has neglected union affairs. He says his only real opposition inside the union comes from the few Communists still on the rolls.

'Be Prepared' In Filing For Social Security

"Be prepared when you go." This is the advice of Kenneth Whichard, Pitt County's Social Security Consultant, in commenting on the change in time of the weekly visit to Greenville of the Social Security Administration representative. Whichard urges all persons who apply for Social Security benefits to take with them the necessary documents and records.

"People who wouldn't think of going to the Post Office to buy stamps without taking the money often leave their Social Security Card at home when they go to file an application for Social Security benefits," Whichard said. They insist that "anybody can look at me and tell I'm over 65 years old," and they cannot understand that they have to prove that they have been farming for years.

"The filing of a claim for Social Security benefits is a serious matter," Whichard stated. "It should not be treated lightly, because every claim must be documented to insure that it complies with the law before any benefits may be paid. The best time to do this is the first time you go."

"The people in the Social Security Office are just as anxious as we are for you to receive promptly any benefit payments for which you are eligible," Whichard continued, "but their job—and yours—is more difficult if you do not help them to help you. You can save time—and additional visits or lengthy correspondence—if you are prepared when you go the first time."

Pitt County has an established office where help may be obtained in preparing to file an application for Social Security benefits. It is located on the third floor of the County Office Building (Old Hospital) in Greenville. Mr. Whichard is there all day on Monday and Friday of each week. Information and literature on Social Security and its effects on the people of Pitt County may be obtained from that office, the County Farm Agent's Office or from farm and business leaders throughout the County.

Youth To Serve 7-10 Years For Death In Fight

RALEIGH (AP)—A 17-year-old Gastonia youth will have to serve a 7-10 year prison sentence he received in the death of another Gastonia boy.

The State Supreme Court yesterday found no error in the conviction of Alfred Knight in Gaston County Superior Court on a charge of involuntary manslaughter. Ronnie Leonard Ramsey, 16, died Nov. 3 following a fight with Knight.

According to testimony, Knight picked a fight with young Ramsey, who was later found dead and doubled up in a ditch. Dr. Harry Riddle testified for the state that there were no injuries on Ramsey's body which would have caused his death.

A pathologist, Dr. William B. Kingsley, testified, however, that in his opinion "the severe exertion, the fear and the anger which Ronnie Ramsey had during the fight caused his heart to stop beating and resulted in his death."

He reached his conclusion, he said, "by eliminating all other known causes of death."

The defense objected to Dr. Kingsley's testimony, basing its appeal on this point. The high tribunal held that his testimony was competent.

The court said: "The jury could draw a permissible and reasonable inference from the evidence that Ramsey's death resulted not from the injuries themselves inflicted upon him in the unlawful battery, but from a cessation of heartbeat directly caused by shock or fright or exertion, by reason of the defendant's violent and unjustifiable assault and battery upon him, and that Ramsey would not have died" otherwise.

Collected Fine Of $20; But It Cost City $250

NEW YORK (AP)—The city has collected a $20 fine from an ex-convict—at an estimated cost of $250.

Esteban Quinones, 62, was released Tuesday from the federal prison in Milan, Mich. He served a three-year sentence for seditious conspiracy as one of the Puerto Rican Nationalist party members who planned to assassinate President Harry S. Truman in 1950.

Before Quinones was arrested on that charge, police here had picked him up for possessing policy slips.

Greeting Quinones when he got out of the Michigan prison were two city detectives. They brought him back by plane to Brooklyn. Plane fares and incidentals for the three men amounted to about $250.

Quinones was taken into Gambler's Court, pleaded guilty to the policy slip charge, and paid a $20 fine.

Baptism Of Fire For New Truck

WOOD RIVER, Ill. (AP)—This city's new refuse truck was literally christened "under fire." The fire department accompanied it to the dump after a fire broke out in a load of trash.

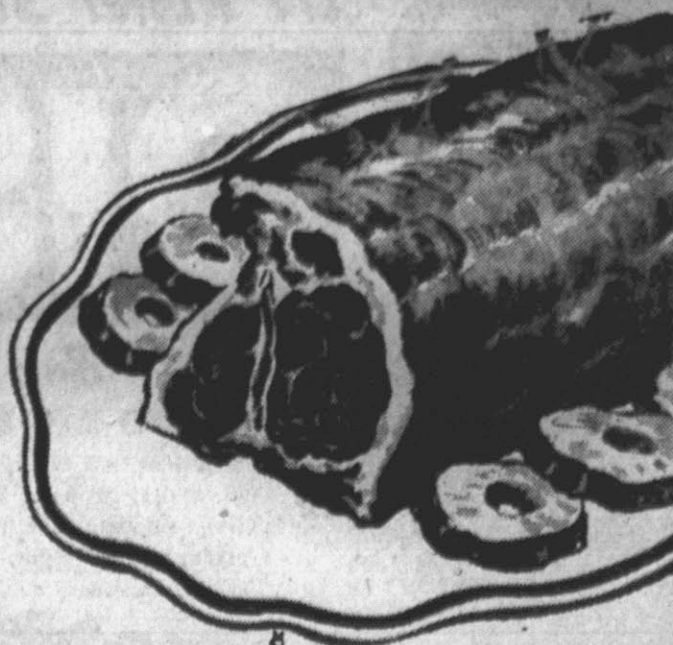

City Manager A. Kraft said the only damage to the unit was a scorched top.

is free. Mr. Whichard emphasized, however, that neither his office nor anyone else in Pitt County can file an application for Social Security benefits. Applications for benefits must be made to an authorized representative of the Social Security Administration, either at the District Office in Rocky Mount or to the field representative from that office on his periodic visits to this County.

An Explanation Of Terms In Eisenhower - Nixon Agreement

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press-News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—This is an A-B-C on the agreement between President Eisenhower and Vice President Nixon for the latter to act as president if Eisenhower becomes too disabled to carry out his duties.

Nixon will decide whether Eisenhower—if unable to speak for himself—is too disabled to act as president. Then Nixon will act for him.

Nixon won't take the oath of office as president. He will not become president. He will turn the job back to Eisenhower if the latter recovers. Eisenhower, not Nixon, will decide whether the President's disability has ended.

The Constitution is vague on just how a vice president takes over from a disabled president. It doesn't, for instance, say who decides on the President's disability. It doesn't say who decides when a president is no longer disabled.

It simply says that in case of presidential disability the vice president will take over the presidential duties and powers and "act" for the President until he recovers or a new president is elected.

Is the agreement constitutional? Some—including House Speaker Rayburn, Texas Democrat—disagree.

Rayburn argues that a vice president who attempts to carry out the presidential duties must take the oath of office as president and, once he has done so, the elected but ailing President is out of office.

But Atty. Gen. Rogers considers the agreement constitutional. Eisenhower has made clear the reason for the agreement: his worry that in a moment of national crisis he might be disabled and there'd be confusion and disagreement.

It will also save Nixon embarrassment. Because it's all laid down in writing, he can take over from a disabled Eisenhower without fear of being called a usurper.

Since the Eisenhower - Nixon agreement is neither an act of Congress nor a constitutional amendment, isn't there a chance if Nixon takes over from an ailing Eisenhower his actions may be challenged in court as unconstitutional?

Almost certainly. For instance: if he signed into law a bill which meant a loss of millions to some company which had fought the legislation, there might be many challenges.

But Rogers believes the courts would hold the agreement was within the meaning of the present Constitution.

To do otherwise, he said, would mean the courts favored the kind of chaos—and lack of clearly understood national leadership—that would follow a presidential disability unless there was this kind of agreement.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States has informally advised the Soviet Union that the Western powers intend to ask for a meeting of the United Nations Disarmament Commission this month.

The move is designed to test the Soviet Union's declared intention of boycotting the commission. If the Soviets refuse to cooperate, the Western powers then will take the issue of disarmament negotiations into the United Nations Security Council.

The plan was developed in consultation with NATO allies. It was put in final form in Paris last week.

The Western governments decided that the whole operation should be handled in a friendly manner so the Soviets would have evidence that the Western powers were not simply trying to embarrass them.

The 25-member U.N. Disarmament Commission was created by the General Assembly late last year after the final breakdown of disarmament talks in a U.N. subcommittee made up of the Soviet Union, the United States, Britain, France and Canada.

Disclosing Some Secrets Of Test

ATOMIC TEST SITE, Nev. (AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission is disclosing today some of the secrets of what happened inside a mountain that was bounced six inches by an atomic explosion last September.

News men were on hand to inspect for the first time the tunnel leading to the inferno-like chamber in which the blast was set off 800 feet below the top of an isolated desert mesa. At the end of the 2,000-foot-long tunnel are several holes which scientists have drilled into the blast chamber.

When the underground atomic blast was set off last Sept. 19, scientists at more than 600 earthquake recording stations were waiting at their seismographs. They hoped to learn what the earth is made of by studying the patterns of shockwaves as they raced through the various strata of the globe.

To a large extent, they were disappointed.

The only surface effects noticed at the site were puffs of dust and falling rocks.

AEC scientists announced shortly after the September explosion that all radiation had been contained within the mountain chamber. Extreme radiation hazards will prevent humans from actually going inside for at least a century.

A Question And Answer Negated

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (AP)—On page 10 of a Cheyenne newspaper appeared a letter to the editor wondering what happened to the flock of 27 ducks which stayed in a lake at the city park all summer.

On page 12, under the heading "Today's Recipe," was the selection "Danish Wild Duck with Sour Cream, the Mayor's Favorite," contributed by Mrs. Val S. Christensen, the mayor's wife.

The mayor was quick to explain. He said the ducks had been moved to warmer quarters for the winter—not to the Christensen dinner table.

Some—including House Speaker Rayburn, Texas Democrat—disagree.

Rayburn argues that a vice president who attempts to carry out the presidential duties must take the oath of office as president and, once he has done so, the elected but ailing President is out of office.

But Atty. Gen. Rogers considers the agreement constitutional. Eisenhower has made clear the reason for the agreement: his worry that in a moment of national crisis he might be disabled and there'd be confusion and disagreement.

It will also save Nixon embarrassment.

Sworn In Office While In Bed

CAPE MAY, N.J. (AP)—It takes a lot to keep Sol Needles Jr. down.

Needles, chairman of the Cape May County Republican Committee, was re-elected a member of the county governing board.

He took sick several weeks later but was sworn into office anyway—in his hospital bed in Philadelphia.

King Saud Accused Of Plotting Assassinate Nasser

CAIRO (AP)—President Gamal Abdel Nasser today appeared embarking on a campaign to brand King Saud of Saudi Arabia with Kings Faisal II and Hussein of the Arab Federation as an enemy of Arab unity.

A spokesman for Nasser's United Arab Republic, Syrian army intelligence chief Abdul Hamid Serraj, charged Saud with plotting to wreck the new United Arab Republic and kill the Egyptian President. Similar charges were made by an Egyptian witness in a Cairo court, and Nasser himself spoke of a Saudi plot.

From the other side of the Arab split, Tunisia accused a Tunisian extremist leader of launching a plot from Cairo to assassinate pro-

Western President Habib Bourguiba. The Tunisian exile, Salah ben Youssef, said the charge was fabricated to divert Tunisian public opinion from pressing Bourguiba into joining the U.A.R.

Nasser's campaign appeared to Western observers to be another attempt to unseat regimes standing in the way of his ambition to dominate the Arab world. Egypt and Syria tried unsuccessfully last April to foment the overthrow of Jordanian King Hussein, and both also have been accused of plotting against Faisal of Iraq, chief of state of the Iraqi-Jordanian Arab Federation.

Saud so far has refused to join either the Arab Federation or Nasser's U.A.R., reportedly hoping to act as a mediator between them in the interests of Arab unity.)

Serraj told a news conference that King Saud's Syrian father-in-law, Asad Ibrahim, tried to recruit him to lead an army coup to prevent the Egyptian-Syrian union. Serraj was to become president of Syria after the coup Feb. 21, the date of a plebiscite on the union, he said.

"He (Ibrahim) told me King Saud was ready to secure recognition by foreign powers of the new Syrian regime (and) that the Americans were aware of the plot," Serraj said. He claimed Arabia would pay the equivalent of $5,600,000 in advance and $6 million upon completion of the plot. There was no comment from American or Saudi sources on the charges.

The intelligence chief, who has been accused of being pro-Communist, said another Saudi agent offered him about $75,000 to arrange for a Syrian plane to shoot down Nasser's plane.

Oahu Sees Night Of Flooding Rain

HONOLULU (AP)—Record-breaking rains deluged Hawaii's principal island of Oahu last night and brought floods to some areas.

With no relief in sight before this afternoon, the Weather Bureau recorded 10.68 inches of rain at Honolulu Airport in 16 hours—breaking a four-year record.

Even the 41-year record of 13.52 inches—set at Honolulu's Federal Building in March 1917—was threatened.

An electrical worker was reported washed into a drainage canal but was pulled out safely.

The storm flooded homes, forced postponement of at least 19 Military Air Transport Service flights, and put a big radio station off the air for 18 hours.

Two F8U Crusader jets crashed after taking off from the carrier Hancock, operating in Hawaiian waters. One pilot was killed; one rescued. Names were withheld. Seven other Hancock pilots landed at Navy or Marine air stations on Oahu.

Commercial flights operated on schedule to the mainland United States.

The glamorous Waikiki resort area was a sopping, dismal place. In the Reef Hotel's basement garage 100 cars were flooded to the headlights.

The Red Cross opened three storm shelters—one in Honolulu and two in suburban areas in southern Oahu.

Houses in the modern Aiea Haina suburb had as much as 18 inches of water on their main floors. Water was waist-high in some Honolulu streets.

Unscheduled Fire Drill Held

LYNN, Mass. (AP)—Members of the Burrill Elementary School Parent Teachers Assn. have seen, first hand, an unscheduled fire drill. They joined the exodus as teachers led 250 hatless and coatless children into rainswept streets when two mothers sounded the alarm.

The PTA's executive committee was in the principal's office when the group spotted what appeared to be smoke seeping up through the floor. They sounded the alarm.

The "smoke" proved to be steam escaping from a defective safety valve.

Firestone Heir To Wed Ballerina

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The second son of Leonard K. Firestone, president of the Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. of California, will marry a London ballet dancer.

The prospective groom, Brooks Firestone, is a grandson of Harvey S. Firestone, the firm's founder.

A company spokesman said yesterday the bride will be Miss Catherine Boulton, daughter of the Very Rev. Walter Boulton, provost of Guildford, Castle Gate, in Guildford, Surrey, England.

The wedding is scheduled for June 26, in Guildford.

MRS. R. A. LOWE ASHEBORO, N. C.

Mrs. Lowe says, "I used to sleep on a soft mattress and my back was always sore. Since I bought a KING-O-PEDIC mattress I have no more back trouble!" Her statement is typical of thousands who have been helped with this quality bedding. Here's how—

The new and improved smooth-top KING-O-PEDIC mattress provides the level, FIRM support recommended by orthopedic surgeons, chiropractors and medical doctors. This enables the hips and pelvic area of the spine to rest in a near-perfect horizontal position, without strain or distortion—thereby eliminating the major cause of pain in the lower back regions of the vertebrae.

So—discard your soft or worn bedding! Throw away your bed board! KING-O-PEDIC gives you the sleeping posture you should have... and, at a price you can afford! Available in twin or full size, with matching box springs (for best results) at the same low price! Come in soon!

Some Bright Spots Exist In Recession Gloom

By SAM DAWSON NEW YORK (AP)—You have to dig to find the bright spots today in the business gloom but they are there.

vary to a much smaller degree during the slump than will some of yesterday's favorites, the growth industries.

with glee: (1) government agencies that guarantee mortgages report a pickup in interest among would-be home owners; (2) government agencies controlling the flow of credit have eased the general money market and have relaxed some of the mortgage financing rules.

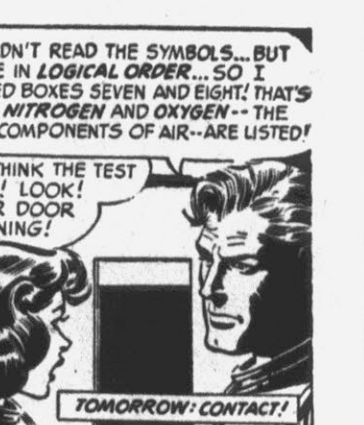

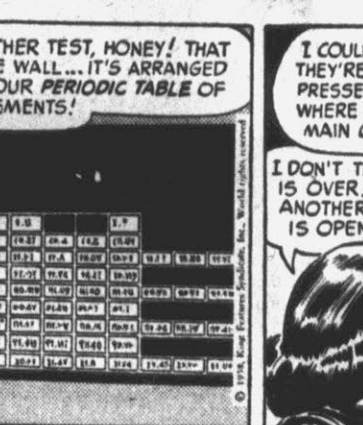

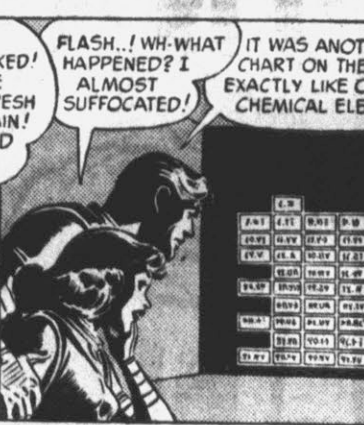

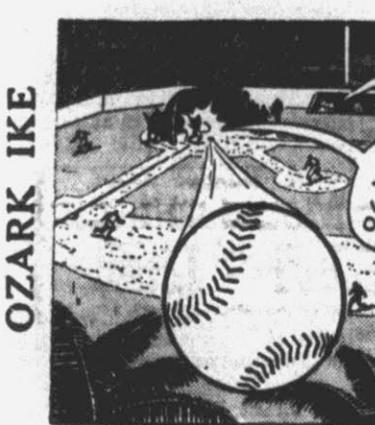

The outlook is hopeful. Many of the companies have further expansion plans in progress.

are still living off stocks and withholding new orders. But it also means that finished goods are moving out and the time is coming nearer when inventories have shrunk as far as practicable, and re-ordering must follow.

By ED MORSE
NEW YORK (P)—A pickup in demand for steels, oils and rails accompanied a pretty good stock market rise early this afternoon. Moderately active turnover pushed key stocks ahead fractions to well over a point.

The rise, while not sensational, was stronger than recent moves to the upside. The market was riding a four-day winning streak and bid fair to make it No. 5. Good earnings reported from oil firms, higher copper prices abroad and reassurance that the administration plans to combat the recession formed the news background.

The heavy short interest proved a technical boost as shorts moved to cover their positions and prevent loss. Leading rails continued their technical recovery yesterday, joining the industrials in the advance and giving the market a sounder tone.

Gulf Oil was about the best performer in its group, adding about 2. Gains of around a point were made by Amerada, Texas Co. and Sinclair. Standard Oil (New Jersey) and Royal Dutch rose by major fractions. Youngstown Steel advanced more than a point apiece. Republic Steel was ahead around a point. Bethlehem and U.S. Steel were fractionally higher.

Kennecott and Anaconda also rose more than a point each. Phelps Dodge was a 1-point gainer. International Nickel rose around a point and Alcoa a good fraction.

Chrysler, prime contractor for the Jupiter-C which fired the second explorer was undiscouraged by the doubt concerning success of the attempt. It cancelled a small early loss and rose a good fraction.

Gains of more than a point were made by Du Pont and Illinois Central. Other gainers included Northern Pacific, Baltimore & Ohio, Santa Fe, New York Central, General Motors, Douglas Aircraft, Union Carbide, Philip Morris and International Paper. United Aircraft dipped about a point on profit-taking following its rise yesterday.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 80 cents to $161.70 with the industrials up $1.00, the rails up $1.60 and the utilities unchanged.

Scholarship For James H. Bundy

FARMVILLE — James Henry Bundy, a Senior at Farmville High School, has been awarded a $650 scholarship by Duke University.

University officials notified the Farmville student that he was selected for the scholarship on the basis of his high school scholastic record and a record of outstanding leadership ability. # Pitt Teachers Told Education On A New Threshold

BLUE RIBBON WINNER AT ELEMENTARY SCIENCE FAIR . . . Prepared by Jim Edwards of Chicod School.

AYDEN — Pitt County school teachers were told last night that they are standing on the threshold of the greatest era of public education in North Carolina and that present criticism of the school system is simply a manifestation of increased public interest in education.

The teachers were representatives to a meeting of the Pitt County unit of the North Carolina Education Association and heard the comments on education from members of a panel discussing "Public Relations in Public Schools."

Participants in the panel were David W. Mosier, promotion director of WNCI; Pray Wilkinson, Rocky Mount radio man who is also an active member of the North Carolina Citizens Committee for Better Schools; and David J. Whichard II, managing editor of The Daily Reflector. Unit President William C. Berry of Bethel was moderator for the discussion and presided at a business meeting which preceded the program.

During the business meeting, James E. Hudson, principal of Grimesland School, was elected second vice-president of the unit, to succeed Mrs. Elsie Cherry Lewis of Stokes-Pactolus School who will move up to first vice-president. The retiring first vice-president, E. F. Johnson of Ayden,

Bethel Rotary Elects Officers Tuesday Night

BETHEL — R. C. Young was named new president of the Bethel Rotary Club Tuesday night to succeed Dr. W. A. Moody.

Dr. Dan Jordan was named vice-president for the coming year and Alvis Mewborn was elected secretary-treasurer.

The new officers were named from among the seven directors who were elected at the meeting. Other directors are: S. C. Ives, H. L. Briley, Dr. Moody, C. W. Everette.

They will begin their duties July 1.

J. C. Wynne, Jr., who was in charge of the program, presented Charles Cobb as guest speaker.

Cobb discussed mental health problems in Pitt County.

will move up to the unit president.

Preliminary nominations for unit delegates to the annual convention of the NCEA, to be held in Asheville March 20, 21 and 22, were made. The county unit will have 23 delegates at the convention.

The teachers also voted to begin preliminary investigations of an insurance plan endorsed by the NCEA and being offered to NCEA and local unit members. Berry was instructed to arrange a meeting between a representative of the insurance company and representatives of each school in the county.

ECC Grad Is In Wayne Race

GOLDSBORO — Roland Braswell, a former member of the Grimesland School faculty and former veterans' advisor in Pitt County, has announced as a candidate for the General Assembly from Wayne County.

Braswell, 32, is now a practicing attorney in Goldsboro. He is a graduate of East Carolina College and the University of North Carolina Law School. He is seeking the House of Representatives seat formerly held by Hardy Talton of Nahant. Thus far, Braswell is the only person to file for the General Assembly seat.

Alarms Will Be In Bethel Clinic

BETHEL — A fire alarm switch and a special telephone are to be installed in the Bethel Clinic so that the alarm can be sounded quickly at night.

The Board of Commissioners approved the project Tuesday night.

Mayor Clifton Everette said the clinic is open 24 hours a day with some one on duty. The town offices close at night.

The special telephone number will be used for night fire calls, the mayor said, and the nurse on duty will be able to immediately sound the fire siren which is located at the town offices.

Services of the clinic were volunteered for the project, according to Mayor Everette.

"We appreciate it very much," he said. "It will be a big help to the town."

The needed equipment will be ordered immediately. When the special fire phone is installed the number will be distributed among local citizens.

Commissioners also ordered the advertisement for bids on the leasing of a tract of farm land owned by the town.

Everette said bids are taken each year on the small tract of land. It is rented to the highest bidder.

New Dates For Club's Meetings

Jack Edwards, President of the Pitt County Executives Club, announced two changes in his organization's meeting schedule this morning.

The club's next meeting, scheduled for tomorrow night, has been re-scheduled to be held March 22.

Boy Bendall who was to speak has been replaced by humorist Sam Kessinger.

According to Edwards the April meeting will be held April 25 instead of April 19, the date formerly announced in the Executive Club's schedule. George Dailey, musician and memory expert will speak.

Both meetings will be held in the dining room of the East Carolina cafeteria.

Recreation Leadership Course Holding Final Sessions Today

Registration for the first sessions of the white Recreation Leadership Training Institute yesterday afternoon and night was the "best yet." Recreation Director Gordon Goodman announced this morning.

Goodman reports that 40 registered for both classes, held at the Elm Street Recreation Center. Included in the classes were representatives from Durham, Ayden, Kinston, Lumberton and Greenville. A large number of students registered from East Carolina College, several representing the College Union and the YWCA.

According to Miss Virginia Gregory, staff member of the North Carolina Recreation Commission who is assisting with the Institute, reports that a majority of those present at yesterday's sessions were professional recreators, employed by Recreation Departments. Others were high school and college students who indicated they were interested in going into Recreation work, Miss Gregory said.

The program was made up of such games as "Stop the Music-Name the Tune." Magic games and musical mixers, used as a leadup to square dancing, were also taken up by Mrs. Ruth Garber Ehlers, staff member of the National Recreation Association, who is conducting the Institute.

Today is the final day of the Institute, Goodman announced. Afternoon classes are being held from 3:35 until 5:45 p.m. today. Tonight the final sessions will be staged from 7:30 until 9:30 p.m.

Funeral services will be held at the home Friday at 3 p.m. by the Rev. W. R. Crowder, Methodist minister of Hookerton. Burial will be in the Grifton cemetery.

Mr. Avery, son of the late Charles and Lou Dudley Avery was born and reared in Sampson County and went to Greene county in 1923. He was married to Sallie Barnes of Greene county and since that time had lived in Greene and Pitt counties.

Surviving are his wife; four daughters, Mrs. Ed Harrison of near Snow Hill, Mrs. Douglas L. Shirley and Mrs. James W. Bowden of Ayden, and Mrs. Johnnie Ray Andrews of near Grifton; four grandchildren; a brother, David P. Avery of Grifton; two sisters, Mrs. C. M. Shipe of Durham and Mrs. Bessie A. Strickland of Ayden, and his stepmother, Mrs. Elsie Jane Avery of Grifton.

New Subdivision Map Is Accepted

FARMVILLE — Farmville Town Commissioners this week accepted a map of a new sub-division of property within the town limits.

Acceptance of the map of the Robert T. More subdivision was made at Tuesday night's meeting of the board. No action was taken on the map which outlines proposed developments of the property in the northeastern section of the town.

Commissioners ordered further study of the town's ordinance regarding truck parking before issuing further instructions to members of the police department. There have been some complaints of violations of the ordinance.

Eleven structures included a list given to the board by Mayor Charles S. Edwards will be subjects of condemnation procedures, following board action on them. Owners are to be informed of the proceedings and will be directed to either repair or remove the structures.
