Asks Protest Of ACP Funds Cut

Pitt Farm Bureau President George Cox today urged Pitt County farmers to protest proposed cuts in Agricultural Conservation Practices funds for the coming year...

Mack, also a Democrat, resigned a week ago today while under sharp criticism from members of a House investigating subcommittee...

"North Carolina being the most agricultural state in the Union, derives more from the ACP program and thus stands to lose more," Cox continued.

The subcommittee took testimony that Mack accepted loans from a Miami lawyer interested in a case pending before the FCC...

He urged Pitt farmers to send letters or wires to Rep. Jamie L. Whitten, chairman of the House Appropriations committee...

In accepting the resignation, the President called the step wise and told Mack he had impaired his usefulness.

Sen. Johnson Presses For Public Works Action Rather Than Issue

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex) testified today for an accelerated federal public works program and declared, "what we want is action—not credit, not an issue."

Johnson was the first witness at a public works committee hearing on a resolution he and 65 other senators are sponsoring to put the Senate on record as favoring a speedup of civil public works projects.

The Texas said the resolution covered about four billion dollars already appropriated for such projects as dams, river and harbor improvements, and public buildings.

Johnson noted that President Eisenhower on Saturday "announced some steps to pump new vigor into the economy."

"I believe most of us would endorse those steps—insofar as they have been explained up to this point," he said.

Eisenhower announced that some already appropriated public works funds would be released.

He also called for extension of the period during which workers are eligible for unemployment insurance benefits.

James C. Hagerly, White House press secretary, said a special message dealing with extension of unemployment insurance benefits probably will go to Congress about midweek.

Johnson said he did not contend that the two resolutions introduced in the Senate last Thursday would be the complete answer to the economic slump.

"This is a first step," he said, "other proposals are to follow."

While Democrats and some Republicans clamored for more, President Eisenhower ordered a speedup of government construction projects for which money is available, and announced immediate release of 200 million dollars to help make more private loans available for home construction.

Eisenhower also proposed that the federal government, for the first time, provide funds to extend the period of jobless benefits to unemployed workers. Many of these already have exhausted their rights under payment schedules fixed by the various states.

Eisenhower also asked Congress to raise the ceiling on highway spending for the next three years, and said he will ask an additional 186 million dollars for water resources projects within a few days.

With Senate Democrats already pushing a broader anti-recession program, the weekend brought these other developments:

1. Thirteen of the 18 Democratic members of the House Banking Committee, led by Rep. Rains (D-Ala.), proposed a 2½-billion-dollar government loan program to permit construction of sewage and water facilities, libraries, transportation, public buildings and other works projects in labor surplus areas.

2. Eight Republican senators, without criticizing Eisenhower's program, suggested heavier spending than Eisenhower proposed and called among other things for federal aid to school construction. Many other Republicans issued statements praising Eisenhower's actions.

3. Some House members proposed to see the need for a second increase this year in the national debt limit—boosted only last month from 275 to 280 billion dollars—if bad news continues on the economic front and makes heavy federal spending necessary.

4. Sen. Douglas (D-Ill) and Rep. Simpson (R-Pa) repeated their demands for income and other tax cuts to make more spending money available.

Indonesian Troops Invade Sumatra; Rebels In Retreat

SINGAPORE (AP)—Indonesian Central government troops have stormed ashore today at Bengkulu on the east coast of Central Sumatra, revolutionary sources said.

The sources said rebel troops of Lt. Col. Achmad Hussein clashed with the invaders but retreated into surrounding jungle to begin guerrilla activities.

The landings were made about 100 miles west of Singapore at the mouth of the crocodile-infested Siak River leading to the American-owned Caltex oil field headquarters at Pekanbaru.

Informants said 4,000 more troops were crammed aboard transports waiting to land at Dumai, one of the two Caltex oil terminals evacuated on the advice of the Jakarta government.

Caltex announced it is ceasing production in the oil fields of rebellious Central Sumatra and suspending operations.

A spokesman for the company in Singapore said the action was taken on the advice of the Indonesian Central government in Jakarta.

Caltex was the first major American casualty in the economic struggle touched off by rebel attempts to bring the Jakarta government of President Sukarno to terms.

Rebel Premier Sjafrudin Prawiranegara's regime on Sumatra recently issued an order to all foreign firms to halt oil shipments and royalty payments to the Jakarta government.

The three big foreign oil operators in Indonesia—Caltex, American Standard Vacuum, and Royal Dutch Shell—had not heeded the rebel order.

Member nations are the Philippines, the United States, Britain, France, Pakistan, Australia, New Zealand and Thailand.

British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd told newsmen he wanted some side discussions with Dulles on a summit conference, the Indonesian revolt and "a great many other problems."

Each time we have an occasion like this," he said, "they choose the date and pull such a maneuver."

Foreign Secretary Richard G. Casey of Australia and Prime Minister Walter Nash of New Zealand also brushed aside the Soviet call.

The ministers will begin closed door sessions tomorrow. They will wind up Thursday night.

Dulles In Manila For SEATO Talk

MANILA (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles arrived today for the annual SEATO foreign ministers' meeting, which is expected to focus on a possible linkup with similar anti-Communist alliances in the West and Middle East.

In contrast to other ministers here for the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization parley, Dulles declined to comment on the latest Soviet proposals for the Far East situation.

Asked whether he planned to confer with his colleagues on the Soviet Union's latest call for a summit conference, Dulles said, "I came here to discuss the problem of SEATO, I expect that will occupy us fully."

Dulles told newsmen he had not seen official reports on the Soviet demand for an atomic-free zone in Asia and an Asian collective security system, broadcast by Moscow radio in an assault on SEATO. Other foreign ministers rejected both proposals speedily.

The U.S. secretary said the three-day parley, which opens tomorrow, must strengthen further the fabric of this regional defense organization.

High on the agenda is a scheme for linking SEATO with the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and the Baghdad (Middle East) Pact.

The Philippines made the proposal. Britain already is opposed to it.

The ministers also will discuss the question of more economic and military aid for SEATO's Asian members.

Each time we have an occasion like this," he said, "they choose the date and pull such a maneuver."

Foreign Secretary Richard G. Casey of Australia and Prime Minister Walter Nash of New Zealand also brushed aside the Soviet call.

Red Korea Agrees To Free Downed American Airman

PANMUNJOM, Korea (AP)—North Korea today agreed to return a U.S. Air Force pilot shot down over the demilitarized zone last Thursday by Communist gunfire. No date for the release was given.

The Communist announcement came at a meeting of the Military Armistice Commission at which the U.N. Command warned it would shoot down any Red planes deliberately crossing the truce line.

Capt. Leon Pfeiffer of Kenosha, Wis., who parachuted from the stricken Sabre Jet into Communist territory, was being given "humanitarian treatment," the Communist delegates said. There was no indication whether he was wounded.

The U.N. delegate, Gen. Olaf Kyster, admitted that Pfeiffer's and other American planes had violated the demilitarized zone but told the Reds it was because of "mistakes and carelessness on the part of the pilots."

Kyster protested the shooting was an "unnecessary armed attack" and warned that Communist aircraft violating U.N. territory also would be fired upon "if these violations are not due to navigational error."

Kyster emphasized at a press conference later that this was not a new policy.

The North Korean delegate charged U.N. forces had violated the demilitarized zone 588 times since the 1953 armistice to spy on Communist territory.

The Korean, Maj. Gen. Kang Sang Ho, charged that the latest U.N. violations were "along with a series of provocative acts by your side... in converting South Korea into a United States atomic war base."

The Communist delegate said Pfeiffer's Sabre Jet was shot down because the pilot disregarded Communist warning fire by converting South Korea into a United States atomic war base.

New Vanguard Firing Schedule Considered

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Frustrated by a faulty weather report, a crane operator's absence at a crucial moment of need, and a series of minor technical breakdowns, the Navy today prepared a new attempt to launch its Vanguard space rocket, possibly this week.

A new firing schedule was under discussion in conferences between officials of the Naval Research Laboratory in Washington, the Martin Co.—builder of the big rocket—in Baltimore, and the Air Force missile test center here.

It was conceivable that a new attempt to fire the three-stage rocket, and possibly to place a grapefruit size satellite in an orbit, might come within a day or two.

Temperatures will average near to slightly below normal through Saturday. Precipitation averaging three-quarters to one inch and a quarter is expected Tuesday and about Friday. Little day to day change in temperatures is predicted.

It might also develop—should the Vanguard experts find that the repeated delays have weakened any part of the sensitive vehicle—that there would be a considerable postponement.

The Vanguard rocket came within 35 seconds of launching Saturday, shortly after 3 p.m.

Then, it was learned from indisputed sources, the so-called umbilical line—the missile's last link—with the ground—failed to disconnect.

The crane operator who was to have been on hand for such an emergency was missing. As a result there was a costly delay.

Similarly, a "hold" or temporary delay in the approaches toward launching time was ordered on the basis of a weather report indicating high winds aloft.

Vanguard officials could not afford to take a chance. The Vanguard rocket is so tall and slender that winds over 15 miles an hour are a menace to it. A "hold" was ordered and there was a long wait.

Finally a weather balloon was sent aloft. It refuted the wind forecast. Almost immediately the countdown resumed.

Set $129 Million Spending In N. C.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Jonas (R-NC) said today the Army is letting contracts totalling $129,592,706 for Nike-Hercules missile and ground equipment to be produced in North Carolina.

Jonas said he was informed by the Army that the equipment will be made at the Douglas Aircraft Co. plant in Charlotte, and at Western Electric plants in Winston-Salem, Greensboro and Burlington.

"This substantial amount of spending should stimulate considerable business activity in these communities," he told reporters.

The company will purchase its raw products—vegetables and fruit—from this area.

Construction of the first unit, a warehouse, will start as soon as title is cleared to three tracts of land. Gerber has contracted to purchase, for approximately $55,000, land owned by Marcellus Fortune, W. E. Phelps, J. R. Law and C. K. Buckner.

Another $45,000 will be spent on grading and excavation. Grading will get under way before the end of the month and the first unit will be ready for occupancy before the end of 1958, company officials said.

Miami Lawyer Fails Appear Before Probers

WASHINGTON (AP)—Thurman A. Whiteside, Miami lawyer, failed to appear today for scheduled questioning by a House committee investigating the Federal Communications Commission.

Chairman Harris (D-Ark) declined to tell reporters immediately what, if any, word he had received from Whiteside.

Harris ordered a closed meeting of the committee. Whiteside had not been subpoenaed for more questioning on his relationship with former FCC Commissioner Richard A. Mack.

Whiteside gave the grand jury records of financial dealings with Mack.

Like the House committee, the grand jury is studying the conduct of Mack in connection with the FCC's grant of television Channel 10 in Miami to a subsidiary of National Airlines.

Whiteside at one time pushed the application of Public Service, which won the channel over three other applicants.

Mack, who voted with the FCC majority in favor of Public Service, acknowledged accepting thousands of dollars in loans and free stock in two firms from Whiteside, whom Mack described as a long-time friend.

Mack denied he was swayed by Whiteside to vote for Public Service, and contended he had not done anything wrong.

Harris told newsmen there were records indicating that Mack had an income of about $75,000 in two years, adding: "I believe Mack received some $41,000 beyond what he received in his salary."

Harris announced that Col. George Gordon Moore, a brother-in-law of Mrs. Dwight Eisenhower will testify before the subcommittee next Monday. Moore will not appear under subpoena and has not been asked to bring his records, Harris said.

811 Pitt County Scouts Observing Week

Approximately 811 Girl Scouts in Pitt County will be observing Girl Scout Week this week by dedicating themselves to the service of their neighbors and communities.

Mrs. Dwight Eisenhower on the 48th Girl Scout Birthday said in her birthday message that the partnership of girls and adults in Girl Scouting "gives assurance that our young girls will continue to develop those qualities of self-reliance, dependability and initiative which are basic to the American way of life."

Mrs. Eisenhower is honorary president of the Girl Scouts.

Through their 1958 theme, "You Can Count On Her—To Be Of Service," Girl Scouts across the country are undertaking service projects to help the aged, the handicapped, and the sick.

Observance Here

The week's activities in Pitt County began with Mrs. A. M. Mumford's troop in Winterville giving a television program Saturday morning over station WNCT. Mrs. J. H. Behr's troop, which is sponsored by St. James Methodist Church, will present a radio program concluding the week over station WGTC March 15 at 11:05 a.m.

In years past all the troops, in each town supporting Scouting, have held a joint birthday party, but the number of Brownies and Scouts has increased to such an extent that this event is no longer possible.

Mrs. J. K. Proctor, executive director, has asked the troops in each school to hold individual parties some day during the week. Most of the parties will be held Friday and a special feature of each will be the collection for the Juliette Low World Friendship Fund.

Service League To Have Shrubbery Sale

The Greenville Service League will sponsor a shrubbery sale on Wednesday at the Cold Storage Plant, Inc. Proceeds of the sale will be used for the Laughing-house Bed at Pitt County Memorial Hospital.

All types of shrubs, evergreens, azaleas, camellias, rose bushes, and spring and summer bulbs will be offered.

Methodist Church Holding Revival

BETHEL—Each morning Monday through Friday prayer meetings have been conducted in the sanctuary of the Methodist Church preparatory to a series of services which began last night and will continue through March 14.

The evangelist will be the Rev. Kenneth Goodson, pastor of the First Methodist Church, Charlotte.

Open House Honors Newlyweds

BETHEL—On Tuesday night Mr. and Mrs. Bill Goode, recently married, were honored at open house in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Whitehurst.

With Mrs. Whitehurst as co-hostesses were Mrs. L. J. Whitehurst Sr. and the guests helped themselves to chicken salad in pastry shells, cheese straws, a variety of sandwiches, hors d'oeuvres, and petite fours.

The guests were greeted upon arrival by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Davis who introduced them to the receiving line consisting of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Whitehurst, Mr. and Mrs. Goode, and Mrs. L. B. Osborne, sister of Mrs. Goode.

Complimenting the occasion were flower arrangements throughout the house. Red gladioli were used on the living room mantle.

Mr. and Mrs. Wadie Ward invited the guests into the dining room where a pink theme was used. The appointed table was covered with an embroidered white cloth centered with an arrangement of pink carnations flanked by silver candelabras holding pink burning tapers.

With the completion of the present building program, East Carolina Teachers College will be able to accommodate 1,000 students, President Robert H. Wright told members of the Board of Trustees last week. "Enrollment next year, however, will permit the admission of but few day students, except those who actually live in town. The college is lacking in classroom space to accommodate more than 1,000, and, too, the teaching force is not sufficient." The Board of Trustees again went on record as favoring an ultimate building program that will accommodate 1,500 students.

Dr. Humber Explains U. S. Foreign Policy

Dr. Robert Lee Humber, international lawyer, was guest speaker when the Cosmos Book Club met at the home of Mrs. Robert Ross Jr. on March 4.

Foreign policy of the United States was explained briefly by Dr. Humber.

He stated that Point IV of the Truman Doctrine, which pledges technical aid to foreign countries, is one of the greatest humane ideas yet conceived. "By restoring private industry, U. S. financial assistance is helping turn many foreign countries away from Communism," said the speaker.

Dr. Humber closed with a discussion of attaining World Peace through an organization of World Law. This would deal with the individual, instead of the nation, when an infraction of the law is involved.

"This is our only hope for salvation of ourselves and the world. Diplomacy has always failed to prevent wars between nations—with Law, there is peace," he said.

A business meeting was conducted by the president, after roll call and the minutes of the previous meeting were read. It was decided that the club will aid a needy family at Easter. A committee was named for this project.

Bonds for the Heart Fund and Red Cross were voted to be sent by the treasurer.

A social hour was held after the business meeting, at which time a dessert course with nuts and coffee was served by the hostess.

Small Ambassadors To Perform At Wright Auditorium Tonight

VIENNA CHOIR . . . to be featured at 8 o'clock tonight in Wright Auditorium

Twenty-two very important Ambassadors from Austria will visit Greenville tonight.

Small in stature and not of an age of great dignity, they and their predecessors in America have done more toward spreading international good will than any number of diplomats with homburgs. These talented envoys are the Vienna Choir Boys, eight to 14 years old, who will appear in concert at Wright Auditorium at 8 p.m.

They and other groups from Vienna's world-famous Seminary School have appeared in nearly every country on the globe. The School maintains three choirs at all times. Two are available for touring while one must always be in Vienna to participate in services at the Hofmusik Kapelle and the Choir's other musical activities. It is the School's endeavor to rotate the youngsters so that each may visit every country on the Choir's itinerary before his voice changes.

Their conductor, a teacher and a nurse accompany the Choir Boys on all their travels. Illness among the boys is rare because their diet and health are well guarded. The nurse seldom lets the boys out of her sight and cooks for them in their hotels whenever possible to avoid the complications of new food in young stomachs. Some years ago the Choir crossed the equator three times and despite continual climatic changes only one boy suffered a mild cold.

Wherever they go, the Vienna Choir Boys win friends for their beloved homeland. Superbly trained, excellent in their stage deportment and deceptively agile in appearance, the youngsters are very much boys when left to their own devices.

Last year the Choir Boys of New York's noted St. Thomas Church on Fifth Avenue, whose history goes back to 1819, entertained their Viennese compatriots, whose history began in 1498. After a few minutes of embarrassed formality, complicated by the language barrier, both groups broke down and had a riotously good time with a wild basketball game and mountains of ice cream.

"They were just boys together," said Impresario S. Hurrok, who has brought the Vienna Choir Boys here off and on since 1932. "This is the way it should be for all boys everywhere."

Clothing Leader Gives Belvoir Club's Program

Mrs. McAlvin Turner, clothing leader, gave a demonstration on "Care and Use of Sewing Machines" for the Belvoir Home Demonstration Club meeting last Thursday.

Mrs. Turner showed pictures and samples of dresses and material to the group. During the business meeting reports were heard from the Garden Leader, Mrs. D. M. Hollowell, and the Home Beautification Leader, Mrs. C. D. Clark, who spoke on the care of lawns and gave tips on keeping them green.

Mrs. Hollowell gave the devotional. The hostess served a salad plate with coffee to the 11 members and three visitors.

2 FHS Students Win In Baking

FARMVILLE — Two young homemaking students took top baking honors in Farmville High School's bake-off contests.

The judges chose Faye Allen's "Mock Pound Cake" and Joanne Owens' "Sputnik Cookies" as the best foods entered in the school's first baking contest.

According to Miss Elsie Seago, home economics teacher, their recipes will represent Farmville High School in state and possibly national competition.

Faye is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bonnie Allen and Joanne is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Owens.

The following chairmen have been appointed: Mary Drew Roberson, hospitality; Jeannie Blanche Ross and Cris Hurst, constitution and by-laws; and Beth Grimes, scrapbook.

Meetings will be held twice a month for the remainder of the school term.

Mrs. Kenneth A. Wilson, North-eastern District Junior Counselor of Greenville, spoke to the club on the advantages of being a federated club, stressing the importance of participating in the spring Festivals.

She mentioned the opportunity extended to all Junior Club members who participate in the All-State Girls' Chorus, the All-State Boys' Choir and the All-State Orchestras which are annual events at the State Convention.

Mrs. Wilson announced that the State Convention of the N. C. Federation of Music Clubs will be held at Gastonia on April 25-26.

A Busy Ten Years Ahead For People

If events of today do not make us sit up and take notice, predictions by Johns Hopkins University authorities of what will happen to mankind in the coming decade surely will.

- According to these experts the next 10 years will see, among other things:
 - Cures for some types of cancer.
 - Polio as scarce as typhoid fever is today.
 - Synthetic development of a gene.
 - Man controlling phases of the weather.
 - An un-manned rocket flight around the moon and return to earth.

Talk of such accomplishments tax the imagination, the initiative and even the resources of mankind. At first glance they may seem far beyond the realm of possibility during the next decade. Taken in the light of advancements in the past 10 years, however, these predictions appear rather conservative goals for man's accomplishments by 1968.

Ten years ago there was no hydrogen bomb, no peaceful atomic reactors, no atomic-powered ships, no Salk vaccine. Earth satellites were still considered a part of the science-fiction imagination and space travel a fantastic dream. Today all of these things are accepted as common-place except space travel, and that looms in steady focus upon the horizon.

In the opinion of the experts, the next 10 years will bring major advancements in man's ability to make the elements of nature achieve greater accomplishments for him. In the opinion of the experts too, 10 years from now we still will not know any more than we do now why man is obsessed with a limitless desire for more and more power.

Man's scientific accomplishments will be astounding; but his advancements in human and personal relations probably will lag years behind.

It is not enough that man gain greater control over nature. If he is to survive, he must also exercise greater control over himself in order than the things he develops will not be used for his own destruction.

Dreadnaughts Reach The End Of The Line

For the first time since 1895 the United States, possessor of the strongest navy in the world, does not have a commissioned battleship ready for action.

Saturday the commission pennant was hauled down on the Wisconsin, the last battle-wagon, and she joined the mothball fleet with other ships of her class which played a major role in shaping the course of history through half a century.

During World War II the carrier emerged as queen of the fleet, and huge battleships took a position of secondary importance. Now the battleship, as an implement of war, has been assigned to the reserves to be called up only in time of severe emergency.

Changing times and changing tactics have rendered the dreadnaughts obsolete. Like old soldiers they will in time just fade away.

Borrowing Will Be Made Easier Prisons System Is Nearing Goals

By ELMER ROESSNER

It looks as if the Federal Reserve will make money a little bit easier to borrow. It may reduce the discount rate again, or take some other action to swell the pool of lending funds.

The reason for expecting such action is that business excepts it.

When it first became apparent that the economy was in a recession, not a quagmire on a chart line, the Federal Reserve reduced the discount rate. That made borrowing money easier to find, for reasons we'll be darned if we go into again. Since then the Fed has cut the rate again, reduced reserve requirements and lowered margin requirements, each of which was expected to make money cheaper to borrow and easier to find.

Each action did, but to only a small extent. The real reason was that business, including bankers and other financiers, always expected a lot more.

HOW IT WORKS All over the country corporations are refraining from borrowing money because they feel that interest rates will be forced lower. All over the country states and subdivisions are holding off the issuance of bonds because they think interest rates will drop.

This adds up to great pressure on the Fed to take further action. But that action will succeed only if it says, in bankerese, "This is it." Unless it does, borrowers will hold off, waiting for another dip.

Here are some more look-aheads, based on analyses of the news and a few advance tips:

A new do-it-yourself boom is under way. Chocolate bars will get slimmer. Millions of workers with time on their hands and not a few on their backs, as a consequence, they will be more interested in accumulative projects, such as home repair, and perhaps some slight rise in purely recreational outlets, such as oil painting.

COCA, FLAXSEED SHORT Chocolate bars will get slimmer. The world's current crop is down, smaller than the last two crops. This portends higher cocoa prices and smaller candy portions.

Flaxseed supplies will become critical. The Foreign Agricultural Service reports that the 1957 crop is down a quarter, with the U.S. crop almost half as much as in 1956. Shortages will be somewhat relieved by large carry-overs.

Gaudier autos are to come. Studies by Ford show strong public preferences for browned reds, purer yellows and blues, tending toward a peacock shade.

A big turnover in small Florida businesses is ahead. The government is cracking down on vacations to Florida (and elsewhere) disguised as deductible business expenses. But if a man owns a business in Florida, he ought to be allowed to deduct the costs of checking on it once in a while, shouldn't he? Some Floridians have figured that out too, and they are offering businesses and Northern buyers on that basis.

MORE SPENDING, STRIKES Government spending will rise, even without added appropriations. It has been unnecessary to pass the work to bureaucrats to step up the spending of available funds. They read the papers. They know the business score. And money so far appropriated will be spent as fast as possible between now and the July 1 fiscal year.

This will be a year of strikes. Previous predictions here of labor strife now seem too conservative. At the moment, there are few threats and few refusals to consider reasonable demands. But as the spring-summer strike season approaches, both labor and management will firm up, sometimes with each trying to prove the other is responsible for current business conditions. This will lead to strikes, many bitter, some long.

OLD PROMOTER SEES A FAST-BUCK OPPORTUNITY "If I had my life to live over again," the Old Promoter remarked today in the course of one of his interminable visits, "I'd be a bartender."

"To save money?" we asked. "No, to make money," he answered. "I'd make a deal with some psychoanalysts to send them guys who need help. I figure that most of the people who need help first take their troubles to their bartender. And if a bartender could find a way to get a legal kickback on all the confused people he could send to psychoanalysts, he could retire in ten years."

Oh, These Modern Women

By HAL BOYLE

A Concert Artist's Life

NEW YORK (AP) — Many a youthful violinist grumbles rebelliously to his parents: "I'll bet Mischa Elman doesn't practice as much as I do."

But he's wrong. At 67, Elman, who has no intention of hanging up the fiddle and bow he first clutched in a Russian ghetto at the age of 5, still practices up to three hours daily.

"Some artists, as they get older, lose interest in practicing," he said. "They regard it as drudgery."

"To me it is still a pleasure. Even in practicing you make discoveries, and it is the discoveries that inspire you."

This is the golden jubilee season in America for the small, sturdy wizard of the strings who has a puckish face resembling one of Santa Claus' elves. But he had been a child wonder in Europe for more than five years when he made his debut here as an artist of 17.

Acclaimed as one of the great masters of the violin in this century, Elman has given more than 3,500 concerts. He has a repertoire of more than 600 numbers and enlarges it each year.

"If you cease doing new things," he remarked "you cease to grow."

More than two million of his records have been sold. Some of the earlier ones, made with tenor Enrico Caruso, with whom he used to tour in joint concerts, are now highly prized by collectors.

Chance has played more than a casual role in his long career. When he was 12 he failed to turn the gas jet all the way off the night before his Berlin debut — he had never seen gas-light before — and was overcome by the fumes.

When he was 13, in London, a hot glass of tea he was holding burst and badly gashed a finger of his right hand.

"Had it happened to a finger on my other hand," he remarked, "my career would have ended."

All his life he has been unable to indulge in sports for fear of injuring his multi-million-dollar hands. His favorite game: chess.

Asked the most important factors in a concert artist's career, Elman grinned and said: "Well, entrances and exists are important — just as important as they are to an actor."

"Technical skill is important, of course, but the most important thing is heart. The artist's contact with his audience is through his heart. If he has no heart, he has no contact."

"And work is important. People think a person of genius or great talent doesn't have to work. Actually, he has to work harder because he has to higher standards and higher ideals to satisfy."

"My definition of talent is self-criticism."

Among Elman's pleasant memories is playing in a string quartet with scientist Albert Einstein who, as a musician, was a very fine mathematician.

"But I found his violin playing easier to understand than his theory on relativity," said Elman.

Beside chess, the virtuoso has a rather unusual hobby — listening to his wife.

"I love to relax by discussing topics of the day with her," he said. "She is not a musician, but she is a very intelligent woman. When she says something, it is very much worth listening to."

At 67 Elman still has two great loves — the sound of his Stradivarius, and the voice of his wife who, he says, "has made my life happy from the day we married. We have never had a quarrel."

Time To Earn A Million

By ROGER BABSON

BABSON PARK, Mass.—Some wise man said that when anyone steals our money, we have a chance to get it back; but when anyone steals our time, we can never replace it. This is true whether it refers simply to being late to appointments, or whether it concerns strikes, idleness, or not working efficiently.

However, this week I will write of an entirely different use of TIME, — namely, in connection with increasing the value of our investments. In fact, time and patience have been the making of most large fortunes. Of course, one must use intelligence and diversification, but the truly important requirement is TIME.

Most readers know that if they should promise to pay some person one cent the first day, and two cents the second day, and four cents the third day, and eight cents the fourth day, and so on, doubling each day for a month, the result would be fantastic. For the 31st day of the month, they would have to pay the person about $10,000,000! This is the way most large family fortunes have been created, by TIME.

If you substitute years for days, start with one dollar instead of a penny, and double the amount of your investment only once each year, you could have over $100,000,000 at the end of 31 years — after taxes, losses, trust and other fees. Certainly, with proper advice you can select each year — except in bear markets — some stock selling at one or two dollars a share which is almost certain to double within one year. Please note carefully that I do not say you can expect this same stock to double every following year.

This means that when this cheap stock doubles in value, your broker need only sell this stock and reinvest the money in some other cheap stock which will probably double in one year. I am not counting dividends in the above calculations because the stocks which are selected will be cheap non-dividend-paying stocks. But this also means you will have no income taxes to pay, — only the Federal and State "profits" or "intangible" taxes, according to where you live.

You say that there must be some trick in this story of mine. There may be; it probably is that making these millions from one dollar in 31 years without borrowing a penny may depend upon not too many brokers recommending the same stock. Also, there could be difficulty in either obtaining or selling such a large number of shares.

However, remember that the above illustration is based upon starting with only one dollar. As a practical matter, most every reader should be able to start the fund with $5,000 dollars, and then use the latter amount as a Reserve for errors. This Reserve would be invested more conservatively in accordance with the Babson Program supplemented by the Dewey Law of Cycles.

I repeat, there should be no fear about being unable to select one stock which should double the first year. Moreover, the other mathematical or investment conditions can probably be met in every case. The real question why this almost unbelievable result has not been obtained, except by a few investors, is because very few persons have the patience and persistence to carry out the program for 31 years.

Brokers, bankers, and all your friends will advise quitting this speculative program after the sum reaches $100,000, to diversify in "hot" chips, and to "get an income." But five investors out of 100 will fall by the wayside and do it. This makes it possible for the other 5 percent who realize the value of TIME and stick to the 31 years to reach the goal. (Go back and read again my penny illustration. This shows that the real gain comes in the last eight years.)

Other Editors Saying --- Curbing The Court

(Rocky Mount Telegram) Some serious thought has been given by several members of Congress to the possibility of replacing some measure of restraint upon the U. S. Supreme Court. Sen. Ervin says he agrees with Sen. Jenner (R-Ind) that the justices have been "usurping legislative powers." Jenner has introduced a bill to curb the court's powers.

The bill, as proposed by Jenner, would strip the Supreme Court of authority to review lower court rulings in five separate fields relating to subversive activities. The bill would bar the court from hearing appeals in cases involving, among other things, congressional and Federal Employee Security program.

Ervin disagrees with these parts of the bill because he feels a person convicted of contempt of Congress or fired from a government job as a security risk should be denied a review by the Supreme Court. With this contention he agrees. But on the other hand, Ervin says he liked the bill's provisions to deny Supreme Court reviews in cases involving state anti-subversive legislation, admission of lawyers to practice in state courts, and school regulations concerning subversive activities by teachers.

Ervin goes farther than Jenner in that the North Carolina senator would put the Supreme Court out of the picture altogether in fields regarded as concern of the states alone, whereas Jenner would restrict the bill to subversive fields only.

It isn't difficult to see what Ervin is aiming at. If the Supreme Court can be eliminated from state activities then the federal government would lose ground in the school segregation issue in the South, for it would have no recourse in case of future litigation. The question arises, however, concerning the legislative action against the Supreme Court. Could not the Supreme Court rule such legislation unconstitutional, on the grounds that Congress was invading the domain of the court?

This separation of power between the three branches of the government has seen many debates and battles throughout the history of the nation. Often it is felt that one or the other is attempting to exercise power which should belong to the others. This latest attempt by Congress to curb the authority of the Supreme Court is nothing new. The executive branch, too, has eyed the high bench. President Roosevelt tried to bend the court to his will during the famous "court packing" period back in the thirties.

This latest attempt by Congress will be interesting. It will also bear watching, for if Congress succeeds, this latest endeavor could open up an era of legislative influence.

Asked the most important factors in a concert artist's career, Elman grinned and said: "Well, entrances and exists are important — just as important as they are to an actor."

"Technical skill is important, of course, but the most important thing is heart. The artist's contact with his audience is through his heart. If he has no heart, he has no contact."

"And work is important. People think a person of genius or great talent doesn't have to work. Actually, he has to work harder because he has to higher standards and higher ideals to satisfy."

Can Have Butter And Missiles, Too

By GEORGE PECK

On November 14, 1957, Lemuel R. Boulware, vice president, General Electric Co., said during a speech made at Milwaukee that "just the one element of misunderstanding of the purposes, practices and results of business and the resulting resistance or indifference to cooperation in the common interest is probably costing the country a loss of upward of a further 20 per cent in gross national product we could have from the same facilities and personnel without any evil speed-up or anyone going home any more tired than now. This, incidentally, amounts to what the whole federal government spending activities cost us."

A week later in addressing the Public Utilities Advertising Association at a meeting at Washington, D. C., Boulware amplified this statement by saying that "We don't have to choose between butter and missiles to finance our stepped-up program. We can have both. We can have the sky full of our Sputniks with our dogs in them. And we can still live 20 per cent better."

Continuing he said, "There is an estimated wasted capacity to produce in American industry today. The gross national product of goods and services in the United States is now around $400 billion a year. Twenty percent of that is $80 billion and eighty billion dollars is just what the United States Government is spending this year — if you count everything."

Mr. Boulware insisted again that he is not advocating any return of the vil speed-up. "We don't want people to go home from work Friday night as tired as they come back to work on Monday morning after one of our typical weekends," he quipped, and added "that too many people have been taught that the way for each of us to have more is for each of us to do less. People have even been led to believe that doing useless work — or standing around drawing pay when the work has been taken out of a given process — is the way for each of us to live better. Solve this one problem of the ill-advised attitude, and we could produce 24 per cent more with the same facilities and personnel — and still live 20 per cent better."

When this reporter caught up with Mr. Boulware and asked

tude," he had this to say:

"The ill-advised attitude which is responsible for this great loss in production is caused by several things. To name a few: feather-bedding, the union-taught attitude of resistance to cooperation with the boss, from unnecessary lengthened vacations, too numerous and too long coffee-breaks, and worst of all, just standing around avoiding doing something useful."

And he added, "And just in case anyone thinks that such a 20 per cent gain, or any appreciable part of it, would simply go into corporate profits, let me disabuse his mind of any such erroneous idea. It would be diffused through the entire price structure in extra values created both by the inward force of competition and the all-out efforts of individual producers to offer the bigger values available in order to increase consumer demand, market position and profit."

Now, the foregoing statements were not made by a novice in this business of production — they were made by an expert. During World War II, Lem Boulware was vice chairman of the War Production Board, and on three different occasions was given absolute authority over American industry: (1) To get the landing craft built for the North African invasion; (2) To provide similar equipment for invading Normandy; (3) To build a destroyer fleet of submarine killers. History records the success of all three of these undertakings.

Therefore, this columnist string along with this General Electric vice president when he tells us that "we don't have to choose between butter and missiles to finance our stepped-up defense program." The "Brass Hats" of the nation's labor unions who are so concerned about inflation, can find at least a partial solution to that problem if they'll see to it that their members revert back to the good, old American custom of giving an honest day's work for a fair day's pay. Let these union leaders concentrate on that for a change and abandon their present policy of demanding for less and less work.

Japanese Actor Will Play Role Confined To Action

Thus Hayakawa, at 66, faces one of the most challenging roles of his long career since his portrayal is confined to action, gesture and facial expression.

Hayakawa, you may recall, plays the Japanese prison camp commander in that excellent current motion picture, "The Bridge on the River Kwai."
But many forget that Hayakawa was one of the world's most popular movie stars from 1917 to 1927. His fame was international and his Hollywood salary ranged from $5,000 to $6,000 a week. From 1936 until 1949 he lived in France where he made 17 films and appeared in four plays.

"It's in the mind, I say. It does not matter how long I sleep or what I eat. When a person gets little sleep one night, he usually says to himself, 'I didn't get enough sleep last night, I must be tired.' And so he is tired."

Recently he completed a Japanese television series of "Les Miserables," which he translated from the French, and which he directed and played in. Soon he will begin Japanese film in which he plays Genghis Khan — which when you think about it, seems an odd role for such a gentle philosopher.

Snowslides Take 2 Lives At Ski Resort

SNOW BASIN, Utah (AP) — A snow slide swept a skier to his death down a steep mountainside yesterday. Hours later, a second slide killed a member of his rescue party.

Ironically, the second slide may have been touched off by a rescue unit farther up the slope.

The bodies were found about 200 yards apart, on the east face of Mt. Ogden. They were left overnight.

The victims were Dr. Lincoln Ellison, 49, Ogden, a U.S. Forest Service official, and John Anthony (Tony) Deane, 23, Salt Lake City, a former Denver University and Colorado State University skier.

Ellison was research director for the Intermountain Forest and Range Experiment Station at Ogden, 18 miles west of this northern Utah ski resort.

ly organized a rescue party — Deane among them — and started off.

Some, but not all, were roped together. The going was treacherous.

Suddenly, a second avalanche swept six of the party away. One grabbed a tree and successfully hung on. Four others were able to pull themselves out. Deane had disappeared.

Esrapes Prompt Possible Action

RALEIGH (AP) — Recent escapes from the State Hospital by a 16-year-old girl have prompted officials to look into the matter of providing facilities for criminally-insane females.

The girl, Joanne Hammonds, was still at large today after her second escape in two days last Tuesday. It was her fifth escape since she was committed to the hospital in 1956 after being declared mentally incompetent to stand trial on charges of murdering her father.

Chairman John W. Umstead of the State Hospitals Board of Control said he plans to bring the matter of providing facilities for females to the attention of the board's next meeting.

Schedule Check Of Radioactivity

RALEIGH (AP) — Two state agencies, saying there's nothing to worry about at this stage, have set out to find out how much radioactivity there is in North Carolina's food and water.

Looking to the time when radioactivity could pose a serious health problem, the State Board of Hygiene recently bought $5,000 worth of equipment to check the radioactivity of public water supplies, milk and shellfish.

The State Stream Sanitation Committee, citing the increased commercial use of radioactive materials, said it was looking to the day when disposal of radioactive wastes will pose a problem.

Dr. Lynn G. Maddrey of the Hygiene Board said the idea is to determine the "natural level" of radioactivity in water and foods so the state will have a future measuring rod.

Report Chinese Soldiers Pulling Out Of N. Korea

HONG KONG (AP) — North Korean soldiers have been taking over from withdrawing Red Chinese "volunteers" in the past few days, Peiping radio said today.

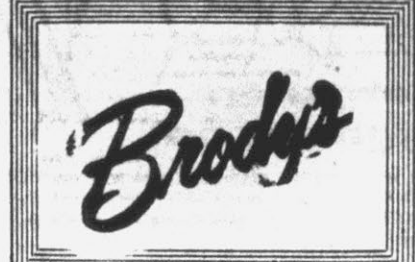

The broadcast said the first Communist Chinese elements will complete their pullout before April 30. The size of the group was not indicated.

The Chinese Reds said two weeks ago they would pull back their entire force in North Korea — estimated at 370,000 men — by year's end. They demanded that U.N. troops do the same in South Korea.

The U.N. has brushed aside the Chinese withdrawal promise as a meaningless gesture, since Peiping's troops need only cross the Yalu River to return. The United States has indicated it will not remove its two divisions unless the Communists agree to free, U.N.-supervised elections to unify Korea.

Cole Goes On Trial Tomorrow For 'Inciting' Maxton Riot

LUMBERTON, N.C. — In a field outside nearby Maxton last Jan. 16, James W. Cole, self-described Southern Free Will Baptist minister, and fellow Ku Klux Klan members gathered to hold a rally in a sector populated mostly by Lumbee Indians. Cole, who is scheduled for trial here tomorrow on charges of inciting riot, was there with his family. Across the road from the field, Indians began to gather, clutching weapons, waiting for signs of activity from the Klansmen. The Lumbees set up a shout, unanswered, for Klan leader Cole to come forth. It was a tense moment. In the few weeks preceding the Klan rally, two crosses had been burned before Indian residences, one in a mostly white neighborhood, the other the home of an Indian woman who supposedly had been dating a white man. The Indian community buzzed angrily with reports that the Klan meant its activities as a warning to the Indians against race mixing. And Lumbee leaders made it clear they wanted no part of a KKK rally in Robeson County. When the Klansmen gathered on their platform near Maxton, ready to burn their fuel-soaked cross and sing a hymn as a prelude to the rally, the Indians acted quickly, seemingly in unison, telling Cole to get out of there. Moving to surround the platform, they broke the single naked light bulb, then commenced firing into the air. In the confusion, they made off with the KKK banner, public address equipment and other souvenirs, roughed up a few Klansmen and suggested more or less directly that they clear out and not come back. Simeon Oxendine, son of the mayor of the Indian town of Pembroke, said later the uprising was spontaneous and not planned, but he made no effort to conceal his pleasure at its outcome. Oxendine himself clutched the Klan banner. A few days later, a grand jury indicted the 33-year-old Cole; James Garland Martin, Reidsville man, and 10 others unknown by name to the state on charges of inciting riot. Both Cole and Martin are due for trial tomorrow; none of the others has been apprehended. Martin, who has since said he has quit the Klan, also was charged with carrying a concealed weapon and with public drunkenness at the rally. He was fined $60 by Asst. Recorder's Court Judge Lacy Manor, an Indian. Cole, a one-time carnival barker who wears a full beard and likes bowstring ties, says he can't see "that they have any evidence whatsoever that we incited riot." Conviction would carry a maximum two-year sentence. The state contends that Sheriff Malcolm McLeod and a deputy drove 40 miles to Cole's home in Marion, S.C., three days before the rally and urged him not to hold the meeting because feeling was high among the Indians. Despite the warning, says the state, Cole and his group persisted in holding the rally "with the common intent to preach racial dissension and to coerce and intimidate the populace." Cole, whose title is grand wizard of the North Carolina Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, lost his battle against extradition and posted $1,000 bond for appearance at the trial here. He has since declared the Klan has gone underground in North Carolina because Gov. Luther Hodges issued warnings that further violence would mean jail sentences for Klansmen. Subsequent meetings held by Cole and billed as evangelistic have drawn small audiences in such areas as Graham and Winston-Salem. Cole has a police record dating from 1940 to 1952, including such charges as assault and drunkenness. "I have repented of my sins," he says, "and that leaf has been torn from my book of life." He asserts that during World War II, when he says he was wounded and earned five battle stars with the U.S. Army in France, "I got to thinking about life and death. I felt I should start living a new life. In Orangeburg, S.C., in 1951, I felt the call to preach. I accepted that call," he said.

Arrest Suspect In Corn Theft

Charles A. Harris, 37-year-old Negro of Ayden Rd., 1, has been arrested by Sheriff's deputies on charges of larceny of corn. Sheriff Ruel W. Tyson said Harris is accused of taking approximately 100 bushels of corn from a farm belonging to Thad Hart Jr., Ayden Rd. 1. The sheriff said a board had been removed from the rear of a barn of Hart's farm and quantities of corn taken from time to time. Harris was arrested by Deputies Duke Andrews and Ralph Tyson. The accused man is in Pitt County Jail. He will be tried in County Court before Judge Dink James tomorrow.

Name Cast Tuesday For College Pageant

"East Carolina's Spade: To Serve," the pageant which will be presented May 3-4 in celebration of the Fiftieth Anniversary of East Carolina College, will go into production Tuesday night, (March 11) when the cast will be selected and other details arranged. Dr. Kenneth N. Cuthbert, chairman of the department of music and director of the pageant, has announced that an organizational meeting will take place at 7 p.m. in the Austin Auditorium. All of those who are interested in taking part in the pageant are requested to be present at that time. People of Greenville are cordially invited to be present. A large number of students and faculty members who will take part in the pageant will be present for the meeting. No other campus activities have been scheduled for Tuesday night, according to Vice President Leo W. Jenkins. Dr. Cuthbert reports that plans for the pageant, which were begun last spring, are progressing satisfactorily. Committees including almost a hundred members and representing students, faculty members, alumni, and citizens of Greenville have been appointed and have been at work on the production for several weeks. "East Carolina's Spade: To Serve" was written by Miss Emma L. Hooper of the department of English. A record of the progress and growth of the college, it will present the story of the development of the institution from its beginnings until the present. Drama, music, and the dance, motion pictures, and an academic procession of faculty members will be used to trace the history of the college. Wilkins declared that only 25 per cent of eligible Negro voters are registered in the South. Turning again to North Carolina, Wilkins said, "You have a mixed-up state, some parts are bad; some parts are good. When the bad part gets too rough, why you have the Lumbee Indians to take care of the situation." He referred to the Indians' action Jan. 18 in routing a Ku Klux Klan meeting in the Maxton, N.C. area. "But their way is not our way," he continued. "We don't believe in meeting violence with more violence." He noted that the last North Carolina Legislature did not act on proposed legislation—such as was passed in some other Southern states—to restrict NAACP operations. "Your Legislature kept its shirt on. We are grateful for that."

Predicts Court Challenge For N. C. 'Pearsall Plan'

GREENSBORO, N.C. — An official of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People says North Carolina's Pearsall Plan—under which Negro children were enrolled in previously all-white state schools last fall—will be challenged in the courts unless it produces more than token integration. Roy Wilkins, NAACP executive secretary, told the organization's Southeastern Regional Conference here yesterday the Pearsall Plan is operating at sub-marginal level. He predicted that if it is challenged in court it will be thrown out as unconstitutional. The plan, enacted in a special session of the North Carolina Legislature, was designed to circumvent integration. It gave local school boards responsibility of assigning pupils. Last fall, six Negroes were admitted to previously all-white schools here, four in Charlotte and one in Winston-Salem. The session ended the three-day regional meeting at which the NAACP drive to register Southern Negroes to vote was a principal

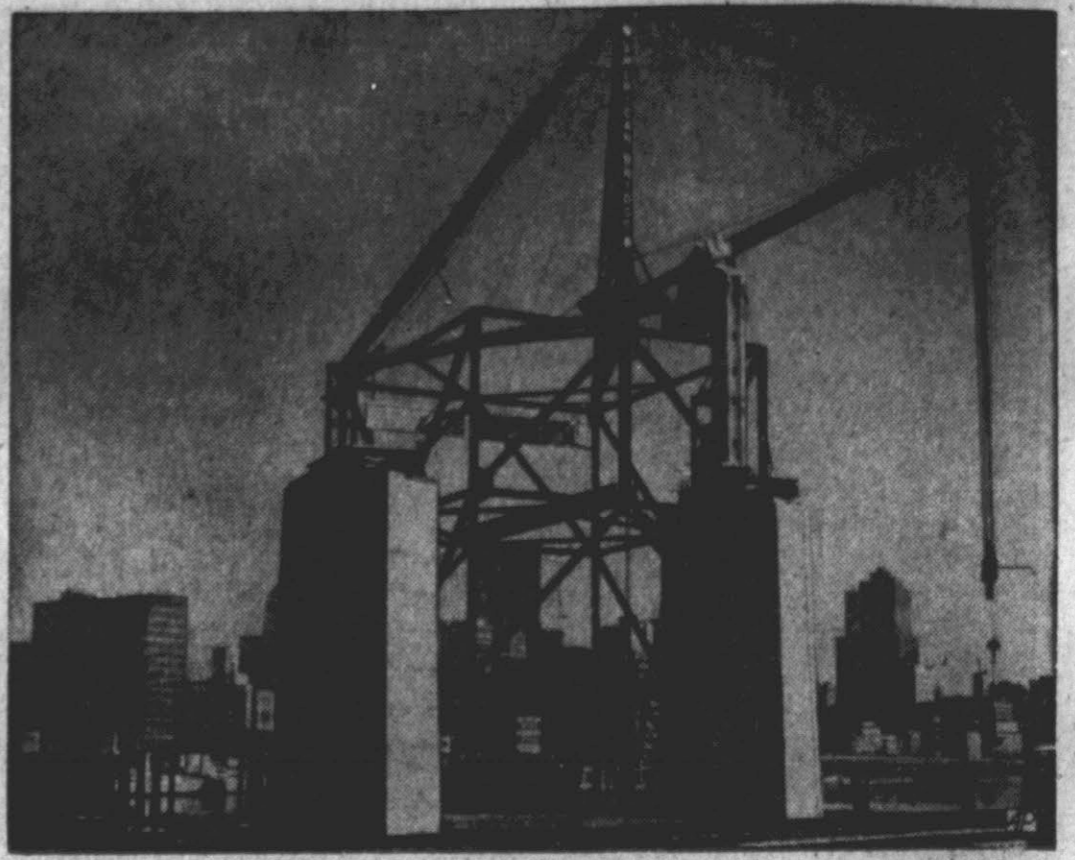

Missile-Makers Threaten Strike

CHARLOTTE, N.C. — Workers at the Charlotte Missile Plant threaten to strike unless they get the same wages as Douglas Aircraft. Co. pays at its other plants producing Nike and Hercules missiles. Local 243 of the United Auto Workers here says there is a wage inequity estimated at between $800 and $1,000 a year for each union member at the Charlotte plant. The contract expires March 16 and calls for a week's cooling off period before any strike. Seven hundred union employees are affected. C. L. Rogers, president of the local, is attending negotiations at the Douglas Long Beach, Calif., plant. The vice president of the Charlotte local, O. W. Reynolds, said failure to reach agreement would mean that employees of the Tucson, Ariz., and Tulsa, Okla., plants also would walk out. The union also asks for a skilled trades program to enable employees to progress into higher classifications, added insurance benefits and severance pay. J. F. Rogan, works manager of the Charlotte plant, said pay is somewhat lower at Charlotte than for similar work at the Long Beach plant 30 miles from Los Angeles, but the difference could hardly be called substantial.

Failed To Win Princess' Hand

STOCKHOLM — Robin Douglas-Home, the British aristocrat who came to Sweden seeking permission to marry Princess Margaret, leaves for home today after failing to win her hand. But he's going to try again. Although the engagement had been widely expected, a royal court communique said they had decided to postpone it. The newspaper Aftonbladet reported the royal family urged the young couple to "think it over." No reason was given, but Aftonbladet added that the two may meet abroad "so they can make up their minds on their marriage plans in peace." During his five days in Sweden Douglas-Home, 25, was formally introduced to King Gustaf, the princess' grandfather, and dined regularly at the royal palace. The tall, wavy-haired nephew of a British peer, Douglas-Home first met Margaret in London last year while he was playing piano in a cocktail lounge. His first marriage proposal was rejected by her family because his salary of $126 a week was not considered regal enough to support a princess. Douglas-Home got a better job and kept on trying to win his princess.

Ayden Cops District Title, Goes To State Tourney

Tornadoes Down Williamston By 36-35 in Finals

By BILLY ARNOLD
AHOSKIE—Ayden High School edged Williamston in a low-scoring thriller here this weekend to cop the District 1 Class A basketball championship.

The Tornadoes whipped the favored Green Wave, 36-35, Saturday night for the title.
It marked the first time a Pitt County Conference team has ever notched the district crown. It entitles them to move on to the state championship tournament at Southern Pines Wednesday for first round action. They will battle Allen Jay (of Greensboro) High School at 7:30, Wednesday.

Came From Behind
Coach Stuart Tripp's quintet came from behind to notch the title Saturday night. The taller, supposedly stronger Williamston outfit led throughout the game until the last few minutes, but cool-headed operation paid off for the Ayden club.

Faced by All-State forward Gaylord Perry, the Green Wave swept to an early 11-4 first quarter lead. Perry, who scored 40 points earlier in the playoffs to defeat Chiler, threw in most of the first-period points for Williamston against the Tornadoes. He also controlled both backboards early in the game to keep Williamston in possession of the ball.

By halftime, the Wave had projected their lead into 15-13 and Ayden was gaining strength. Billy Norris and Leslie Stocks began giving Perry competition on the boards.

Through Perry's shooting, the Green Wave continued to lead in the third period. In the fourth, however, Ayden tied the score 32-33 with one minute remaining on the clock.

Ayden Takes Lead
Bobby Jean Weatherington scored on a jump shot from 10 feet out with less than a minute to go, putting Ayden ahead by 35-33. Perry grabbed the ball and Williamston took to a desperate offensive. He shot, missed, and Weatherington snared the rebound.

Weatherington and Joe Dunn played possession ball in the back court with just seconds showing. Half a minute showed on the scoreboard when Weatherington was fouled. He sank the point to make it 36-33 for Ayden.

Perry took the snap from out of bounds, zoomed down the sidelines and bucketed a final two points for Williamston, making it 36-35. It ended there.

Individuals
Perry grabbed high scoring honors for the night with 23. He was also the leading rebounder in the game, pulling down 14. For Ayden, Tommy Edwards was high scorer with 12 points and Norris was high on rebounds with eight.

The contest was a slow-moving one, a cautious one, stressing defense by both teams. Ayden's ultimate control and easy-going brand of ball overcame a Williamston panic in the end, and Coach Stuart Tripp had himself a championship club.

The Southern Pines tournament will decide the State Class A champions. Ayden will go against Allen Jay at 7:30 Wednesday night and, should they win, will play the winner of the Zeb Vance - Rock Spring game on Friday night.

Ayden reached the State Tournament by winning both the regular-season and tournament titles in the Pitt County conference and snaring the district crown. In district play, they defeated Gatesville and Williamston.

Brennan Leads Tournament Mythical Team

RALEIGH (AP)—Pete Brennan of North Carolina heads the All-Tournament team selected by Atlantic Coast Sports Writers. Members covering the ACC basketball tournament here over the weekend.

Brennan, a 6-6 senior from Brooklyn, N.Y., was the only player all 58 newsmen voting gave a first team berth. He also made the first team last year. His 74 points in three games led all scorers and he grabbed 24 rebounds.

Nick Davis, senior on Maryland's championship team, and Lou Pucillo, North Carolina's State's flashy junior, each received 57 first team votes and one second team vote. With five votes for a first team vote and three for a second team position, Brennan received 290 points, Davis and Pucillo 288 each. Completing the top team were Charlie McNeil, Maryland, 284 points, and Tommy Kearns, North Carolina, 215.

The second team and voting point totals:
Bucky Allen, Duke, 129; Bob Vernon, Duke, 125; Ray Stanley, North Carolina, 116; Al Bunge, Maryland, 88; Bobby Joe Harris, Duke, 77.

In all 30 players received votes, with honorable mention to the following 10:
Paul Schmidt and Jim Newcome, Duke; Ray Pericola and Mike Callahan, South Carolina; Dave Budd and George Ritchie, Wake Forest; Herb Busch and Paul Adkins, Virginia; Bill Murphy, Maryland; Walt Gibbons, Clemson.

George Was A Stranger There
By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Balding George Yardley, the prolific scoring ace of the Detroit Pistons, today was virtually a stranger in paradise.

As his club battles to maintain second place in the Western Division of the National Basketball Assn., Yardley scored almost at will, equally in winning and losing causes.

Yardley notched 26 points yesterday as the Pistons bowed to Syracuse 111-90 and lost an opportunity to clinch second place. But the versatile Yardley accounted for his 2,901 point this season—the first player in NBA history to enter the charmed circle.

The loss left Detroit in second place, a game in front of the Royals, who moved up by crushing Boston 121-107.

New York remained in contention for the Eastern Division's last playoff berth by thumping third-place Philadelphia 123-81. In the other game yesterday, Minneapolis defeated St. Louis, 107-99.

Frank Selvy of Minneapolis played his best game of the year and scored 26 points to help defeat his former Hawk mates. Bob Pettit was game high with 28.

West Virginia, W&M Place Two

By ED YOUNG
RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Champion West Virginia and runner-up William and Mary each placed two players today on the all Southern Conference all-tournament basketball team.

Sophomore Jerry West of West Virginia and junior Roy Lange of William and Mary were unanimous choices for the team, chosen in voting among sports writers and radio-TV sportscasters attending the tourney.

On the basis of five points for a first-team vote and three for a second-team vote, West and Lange each received the maximum of 180 points. Joining them on the all-tournament five were freshman Jeff Cohen of William and Mary, 151; Bob Smith of West Virginia, 127; and Bill Telasky of George Washington, 125.

West was the all-around star of the tournament with 49 points and 32 rebounds for West Virginia in its three games. Lange was the high-scorer for the tourney with 66 points, including 19 in W&M's 74-58 loss to West Virginia in Saturday night's championship finals.

Heading the all-tournament second team was West Virginia's 6-10 center Lloyd Sharrar, with 123 points. Others on the second team were Bucky McDonald of George Washington, 105; Dick Wright of Furman, 72; Tom (Red) Booker of Richmond, 65; and Don Vincent of West Virginia, 45.

Honorable mention went to Roy Peschel of Richmond, Ray Graves of The Citadel, Gene Guarilla of George Washington, Joedy Garner of West Virginia and Don Engelen of William and Mary.

West Virginia's tournament victory gave the Mountaineers their fourth straight conference title and sent them into first-round NCAA playoff competition against Manhattan in New York tomorrow night.

In Saturday night's finals against William and Mary, Ronnie Retton was the starting stand-in for injured Don Vincent for a while the Mountaineers seemed to miss Vincent's steady hand immensely. Before the half, however, the Mountaineers overcame their early disorganization and began pulling away from the outclassed Indians. Sharrar did a magnificent defensive job on Cohen and with only Lange hitting consistently, William and Mary was lost.

Sharrar got 12 points for the Mountaineers in the finals, 11 of them in the first half while West Virginia was staking out a 32-22 lead. Cohen, who had tallied 35 points in W&M's two previous games, didn't get his first field goal until the game was 24 minutes old and had only six points for the night.

Nine West Virginia players got into the scoring column with Gardner topping the list with 16 points, Bob Smith getting 14, Sharrar and Akers 12 apiece and Jerry West nine.

Under the present setup the winners of the ACC's tournament enter the NCAA championships, and all other teams are forbidden from participating in post season events.

New president of the coaches is Maryland's H. A. (Bud) Millikan. Press Maravich of Clemson was named vice president and Bones McKinney of Wake Forest secretary.

In other action, the coaches gave a vote of confidence to M. T. Knight of Durham, supervisor of the conference's basketball officials.

said Waner. "He's too jerky and can't hit a thing. That's how he was in the World Series. But, when he's right, he'll hit anything."

Geraghty described Hazle as "strictly a streak hitter."

Leading members of the Braves' brain trust, including batting instructor Paul Waner and Wichita Manager Ben Geraghty, have their doubts about Hazle.

"When Bob isn't hitting, he's too far out front with his bat—keeps lunging at the ball all the time."

Yankees May Be A Bunch Of Hitless Wonders

Could the proud New York Yankees be turning into a bunch of hitless wonders—and not so wonderful at that.

The Yanks wound up their 1957 business by going 11 scoreless innings against the Milwaukee Braves in the final two games of the World Series.

They opened their exhibition season Saturday by being shut out by the St. Louis Cardinals. Yesterday, they finally scored a run, but it wasn't enough, and the Cards won the ball game at St. Petersburg, Fla., 2-1.

Yank Manager Casey Stengel can take a measure of solace in the performance of 19-year-old rookie Daron Johnson.

The Yanks managed only seven hits but two were long doubles by Johnson.

Bonus baby Johnny DeMert bashed in three runs to lead the Milwaukee Braves to a 4-3 victory over the Detroit Tigers at Bradenton. Earl Hersh homered for the other run.

In other games, the Cincinnati Redlegs defeated the Chicago White Sox 5-4 at Tampa; the San Francisco Giants whipped the Cleveland Indians 5-1 at Phoenix; the Chicago Cubs licked the Baltimore Orioles 5-4 at Mesa, and the Los Angeles Dodgers edged the Philadelphia Phillies 5-4 at Miami.

The Redlegs blew a three-run lead, but came back to score two runs in the fifth with the aid of a couple of White Sox errors.

Only a two-out home run by Gene Woodling off Marv Grissom saved the Indians from being shut out by the Giants.

Chuck Tanner blasted a grand slam home run for the Cubs in the fourth inning off Chuck Beamon. The Dodgers had to go 11 innings before Felipe Montemayor singled Charlie Neal home from second.

Kinston Begins State Tourney

DURHAM (AP)—Eight teams, champions in their own districts, will begin the four-day Class AA North Carolina high school basketball tournament here Wednesday.

There will be two days of quarterfinals with the winners holding semifinal eliminations Friday night and the championship and consolation Saturday night.

The pairings:
Wednesday—7:30 p.m., Kinston, Dist. 1, vs. North Wilkesboro, Dist. 7; 9 p.m., Graham, Dist. 3, vs. East Mecklenburg, Dist. 6.
Thursday—7:30 p.m., Morehead, Dist. 5, vs. defending champion, Wadesboro, Dist. 4; 9 p.m., Bethel, Dist. 8, vs. Smithfield, Dist. 2.

Wednesday's winners play at 7:30 p.m. Friday and Thursday's winners at 9 p.m. Consolation and championship games will be held Saturday night at 7:30 and 9 o'clock, respectively.

Lenoir Rhyne In NAIA First Round Action

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Lenoir Rhyne College of Hickory, N.C., District 26 NAIA champion, plays Drury of Missouri tonight in the first round of the National Intercollegiate Tournament. Game time is 9:30 p.m.

Western Illinois of Macomb, only undefeated (23-0) entry and only team to be invited to the tourney, is the favorite over the 32-team field. The Leathernecks play tomorrow against Georgia State Teachers.

Defending champion Tennessee State, third seeded this year, opens against Northern Michigan tonight in the second night game.

Consolation and championship games are slated Saturday night.

SOUTHERN PINES, N.C. (AP)—Champions from eight high school districts begin play here Wednesday for the state Class A high school basketball crown.

Pairings for the four-day event:
Wednesday—7:30 p.m., Ayden vs. Allen Jay; 9:30 p.m., Zeb Vance vs. Rock Springs. Thursday—7:30 p.m., Biscoe vs. Valley Spring; 9:30 p.m., Swansboro vs. Bethel.

The winners of the first round games will meet in two Friday night games, with finals Saturday night.

Terps Have Come A Long Way Since Millikan Began

By KEN ALYTA
RALEIGH (AP)—His university of Maryland team carried basketball Coach H. A. (Bud) Millikan off the floor Saturday night after it had whipped North Carolina's defending Atlantic Coast Conference and NCAA champions in the ACC tournament finals, 86-74.

The traditional act reserved for particularly happy occasions must have given the 37-year-old Maryland, Mo., native more than passing pleasure.

When he undertook his first college head coaching assignment seven years ago Maryland had just experienced three losing seasons. The Terrapins had lost 50 of 77 games.

"Basketball was at a low ebb at College Park," Millikan recalled.
Millikan was brought to Maryland by Athletic Director Jim Tatum, who now is football coach at North Carolina. Millikan had played college ball under famed Hank Iba at Oklahoma A&M and had four years' high school coaching experience in Missouri and Iowa when the Maryland came.

In his first year he had a 15-10 record. He has had eight successive winning years.

As the team's record improved and interest grew, the old 4,200-seat gymnasium was replaced by a combination gymnasium-auditorium-student activities building. It has more than triple the seating facilities of the old gym. A regular season game with North Carolina this year drew more than 15,000.

Millikan made his presence felt immediately when he arrived in this area. His teams featured a slower style of play than most schools herabouts used. The Terps seldom took a bad shot, they remade every move count. They usually lead the conference in defense.

"They sure hollered about what they called our possession style," Millikan recalled with a grin.

"We are not doing anything different this year than we ever did in my years at Maryland. There are three basketball fundamentals—converting from offense to defense; converting from defense to offense and rebounding. This year we have the boys who do the jobs well. We like to take the easy shot, not the hard one. We like to bring the ball downcourt quickly, but only as quickly as we can without throwing it away."

North Carolina's 13-point lead dwindled to seven at the half and Maryland then put on a 60.8 shooting show in the last half to roll up 59 points. The Terps hit a record 40 of 52 fouls, making 25 in the last four minutes.

That was enough to send the Terps against Boston College in opening NCAA play at New York tomorrow night.

Floating Radar Stations Help Track ICBM Flights

By VERN HAUGLAND
CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The Air Force has bridged the final gap in its 5,000-mile missile test range stretching from Florida across the Equator into the South Atlantic.

With the commissioning of five more ships as floating telemetry stations, the Air Force now stands ready to begin flight testing of intercontinental ballistic missiles over their full 5,000-mile range.

The first ICBM, the Atlas, has been flown successfully twice, but only for distances of about 600 miles.

Testing over ranges of increasing length will begin soon and will be followed late this year by the flight tests of a second greatly improved ICBM, the Titan.

For the first 2,000 miles of its missile range, the Air Force maintains a series of island-based radio and radar tracking stations — from Grand Bahama to St. Lucia.

Now installed on the second 3,000-mile leg between St. Lucia and Ascension are 11 ships, packed with radio receiving and recording equipment to gather and relay data transmitted by missiles under test. The six smaller ships of the force (32-foot beam, 178-foot length) have been operating since last fall in support of the Snark testing program. Five 340-foot, 3,000-ton vessels have just arrived for duty on the ICBM impact end of the range.

Because of their most conspicuous feature — two rounded white radomes in either wing of the flying bridge — the ships have been dubbed "Marilyn Monroes."

The telemetry stations, afloat and island-based, are all operated under Air Force contract by Pan American World Airways. Directly in charge of the Air Force tracking fleet is F. Erich Bruhn, manager of Pan American's marine department. A retired Army colonel, he is an engineering graduate of the Colorado School of Mines.

Valued in Millions
 Radio Corp. of America handles all the telemetry and other electronic technical work of the missile test range and has six technicians aboard each of the ships.

Replacement value of the 11 ships is estimated at 32 million dollars. Modifying them for their special function alone cost about seven million. The six smaller vessels are air conditioned throughout to protect the delicate instruments. The five larger ones are partially air conditioned.

The ships are based at Trinidad and Recife, Brazil, and move anywhere from 500 to 1,200 miles out from their home ports to take up Snark testing program. Five 340-

FLOATING RADAR STATIONS—These telemetry ships help close the gap in the Air Force's ICBM missile test range in the South Atlantic and permit testing of the missiles over their full 5,000-mile range.

Chemise War Rages Among Glamor Girls

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Chemise or not chemise—that is the question. The controversy rages among women everywhere, and that includes Hollywood.

A cross-section of opinion from the style-setting glamor girls indicates that not all of them are taking the chemise to their bosoms.

Italian sexpot Sophia Loren wears 'em and likes 'em. "I think they're very elegant," she says, adding this bit of philosophy: "A girl doesn't have to show her figure to be sexy. She is much more tantalizing if she doesn't show it."

Militant in the anti-chemise camp is Rhonda Fleming. She argues: Why should women go through all the suffering they do in dieting and exercising to build a lovely and attractive figure, then cover it up with a sack? "I think it's an insult to the intelligence of the men for whom women dress attractively. I wouldn't be caught dead in one of the things. The battle cry should be: 'to blazes with the sack, let's get the figure back'."

Jean Simmons is less violent, but sympathetic to Rhonda's campaign.

Her view: "If anyone can get away with the sack vogue, it is the tall, slim girl with very little lines. Personally, I don't care for the style."

The pro-chemise crowd has a formidable ally in Kim Novak. She argues: "It looks as though the style is here to stay. We might as well go along with it."

Shirley Temple has this to say: "They're not for me. But I must admit that I am getting used to seeing them, and on some women they can look good."

My cross-section included some males, all of whom were violently opposed to the chemise.

Ingrid, Friend To Stay On Isle

GOTEBORG, Sweden (AP)—Ingrid Bergman and Swedish millionaire Lars Schmidt say they will spend the summer together on a small island off Sweden's west coast. But they won't talk about wedding plans.

Standing with Ingrid in the courtyard of his big estate, the 45-year-old play producer told newsmen he recently bought a house on the island in the Swedish Archipelago.

"I love that little island," interposed Ingrid, 40, whose romance with her now-estranged husband, Italian movie director Roberto Rossellini, developed on the volcanic island of Stromboli. Rossellini seeks an annulment in Italy of their Mexican marriage by proxy.

Natives of Iceland are largely of Scandinavian origin. Some Irish descendants also live on this Arctic Circle island.

Four Prisoners Flee Skyscraper Jail In Miami

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Four prisoners climbed out of a 23rd-story window of Dade County's skyscraper jail last night and crept down a rope made of mattress ticking.

Norman J. Mackiewicz, 34, New Britain, Conn., accused murderer of a policeman, and Howard Bartlett Piccott, 40, charged with raping a child, made good their escape. A statewide alarm was broadcast.

Roger Wayne Carter, 18, Chicago, charged with slaying a bartender, and Edward L. Kille, 27, held on a federal car theft charge, were collared in the jail-court-house within an hour of the daring escape bid at 7:42 p.m.

Investigators said the quartet sawed out a bar of a window with a smuggled hacksaw blade, made fast a rope of torn-up mattress ticks and inched down the northeast corner of the 26-story building in downtown Miami.

Carter kicked in a window pane at 19th floor level, possibly in a misstep while "walking" down the side of the building, and got into the County Criminal Investigation Bureau laboratory. He hid in the building after women employees who heard the crash of glass summoned help, and gave himself up after about an hour.

Kille was captured downstairs by guard mobilizing to check the break.

Officers said Mackiewicz and Piccott, wearing civilian clothes as prisoners awaiting trial, apparently mingled with street floor passers-by and vanished. They and Kille appeared to have descended on their makeshift rope to the 17th story, wriggled in a window, and walked down stairways to the second floor and slid down to the street on a roller towel they found in a second-floor washroom.

Police quoted Piccott as bragging that he escaped from a jail at Hanover, Pa., while being booked there last April 19.

Set A Record At His Christening

BRUNSWICK, Maine (AP)—Dexter Alden Gagne is too young to know it, but he set up quite a record when christened in St. John's Church.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Doug A. Gagne, he is the 10th child in his family to have the initials D.A.G.

He is the 32nd grandchild to be carried to the sacristy by his grandmother, Mrs. Arthur J. Gagne, who has missed the baptism of only one of her grandchildren.

He is the 41st infant to wear the traditional christening garments that have been in the family for 47 years.

This May Be Last Year In Films For Elizabeth

By JAMES BACON
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Elizabeth Taylor, a top contender for this year's Oscar as best actress, said today that 1958 will probably be her last year as a movie queen.

"My husband (Mike Todd) doesn't want me to be an actress," she told a reporter. "And I don't want it either."

She currently is making "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof" at MGM, the studio where she made her first picture in 1942 — "Lassie, Come Home."

Only 26, she has spent 16 of those years working in front of cameras.

Her contract winds up with "Cat." She's also committed to work for her husband in "Don Quixote," the picture that may be her farewell performance.

But what of an exceptional script—the lure that has brought many an actress out of announced retirement?

"There's no script good enough to get me back once I quit—and that time is no more than two—at the most, three—pictures away."

"I am just too busy otherwise." She has three children, two by her previous husband, Michael Wilding, and one by Todd. That's what she means by "too busy otherwise."

Liz, despite publicity to the contrary, is less actressy than most movie stars. To intimates, she seemed more thrilled about being a Connecticut housewife than anything else.

She admits her favorite role is Mrs. Mike Todd but adds: "It's really more of an occupational disease than a role."

Admit Throwing Boy In Gravel Pit

DALLAS (AP)—Felipe Hernandez, 8, drowned in a gravel pit yesterday. And today two boys admitted they had tossed him naked over a 6-foot cliff.

Police said the two, aged 10 and 14, told officers the drowning came after a dispute. Officers quoted several other boys as saying the Hernandez lad was first shoved into shallow muddy water and that when he scrambled out, he was stripped of clothing and tossed into deeper water.

Police held and questioned several youngsters, all Latin-American. No names, including those of most witnesses, were released.

Neighbors Offer Blood For Child

ONSTED, MICH. (AP)—Blood offered by 24 neighbors may course through the body of Susan Kurtz for five hours tomorrow while the 11-year-old girl undergoes a heart operation.

The 24 offered their blood within a few hours after it became known that Susan must undergo the operation in a Cleveland hospital.

Starting today, the neighbors in this southern Michigan village are to go by car caravan to Cleveland to give their aid.

Lloyd Kurtz, the girl's father, said surgeons told him Susan would not live six months unless she was operated on and that the odds were 5-1 against its being successful.

The operation, to be performed by Dr. Frederick S. Cross, a Cleveland heart specialist, calls for use of a mechanical heart and lung to take over for Susan's own heart during the five hours that surgeons estimate the operation will take. Blood from donors will pass through the mechanical heart.

At the age of 3 Susan had an artery transplanted from her right arm to her heart to replace a defective part of the heart. The artery failed to grow as the rest of her body grew and the new operation became necessary.

Find Eisenhower Picture Slashed

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—An oil portrait of President Eisenhower was found slashed in the exclusive Houston Club yesterday and a note found on the picture said "We don't like Ike in Texas."

Henry O. Barbour, club manager, told police he found the picture slashed. Barbour, who valued the painting at more than $1,000, said it had been in the club 10 days and was sent to the State Capitol in Austin. The portrait was by Boris G. Gordon of Washington.

The slash in the 56x36 inch painting extended about 12 inches across the upper part of the President's face.

Trying Minister In Morals Case

TAYLORSVILLE, N.C. (AP)—The Rev. J. D. Lynn, 41, Baptist minister, Newton, goes on trial here today on charges having sexual relations with a member of his congregation who was 14 at the time.

The minister was arrested in the spring of 1956, shortly after a boy was born to Linda Kay Flowers. Specifically, he is charged with having carnal knowledge of a minor, Miss Flowers, in a station wagon in Alexander County in June, 1955.

It will be his third trial on the charge. He was convicted and sentenced to 10-15 years in September, 1956. But the Supreme Court found that the judge erred in cross examining the girl, and granted him a new trial. The following September, at a second trial, a mistrial when the judge learned that a juror had talked to Miss Flowers during an overnight recess while the jury had the case.

Won't Quit 'Til Slayer Is Found

COPPERHILL, Tenn. (AP)—"We haven't caught them yet. But we will. We won't quit until we do."

So said Polk County Sheriff Bud Payne of the ambush slayers of two of his deputies.

Payne said he had several leads to the Saturday night shotgun killings of Louis Wright, 49, and R. A. (Bob) Rogers, 65, but not enough evidence to make any arrests.

"So far we've had to confine a lot of our investigation to questioning persons who were in the beer tavern when the deputies were ambushed outside," Payne said.

Wright and Rogers, the father of 10 children, were killed as they stepped from their patrol car on a routine check of the tavern located on State Highway 68 about six miles north of here.

The probability that politics may have entered into the slaying was voiced by Copperhill Mayor Emil Greene.

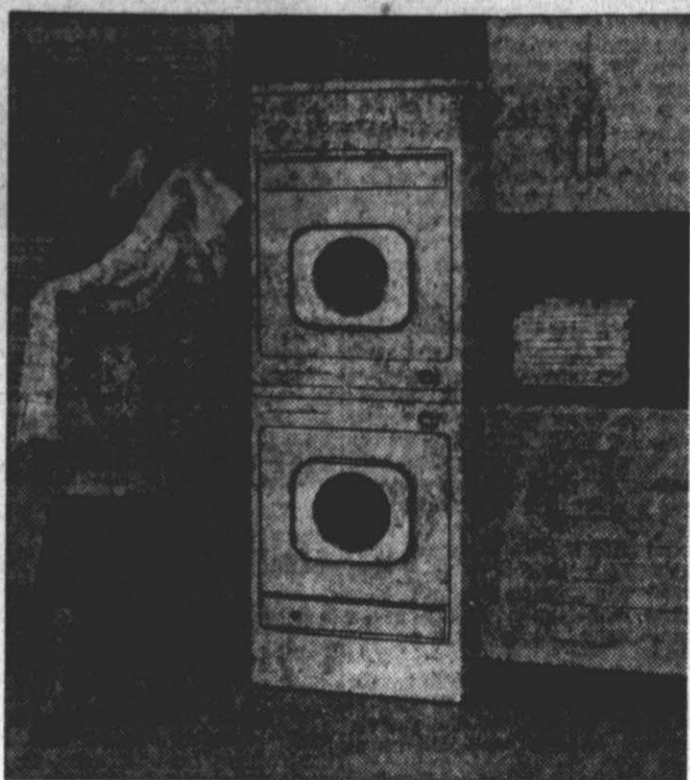

"I think it was politics," Greene said, "and most of those with whom I have talked agree."

Payne said he was uncertain as to the cause. "I have heard speculation it may have been politics. But it may have been personal — a deputy sheriff is bound to make enemies. I just don't know for sure."

An all-night search of the barren Copper Basin Hills after the deputies were killed proved fruitless.

Calls For A Republican Candidate For All Posts

WINSTON-SALEM (AP) — State Sen. William E. Cobb of Morganton, new Republican state chairman, declares that his party should have candidates for every election, on every level and in every county.

However, the convention which elected the 35-year-old Cobb state chairman did not get a chance to vote on his razor-edged proposal that would penalize GOP county organizations for not fielding candidates. It was killed in committee.

The harmonious one-day meeting drew an estimated 1,200 delegates, who heard talks by Cobb, Rep. Charles R. Jonas, the state's only Republican congressman; and I. Lee Potter, director of the GOP National Committee's "Operation Dixie."

Cobb was elected unopposed to succeed Ray Jennings of Taylorsville as chairman. Jennings stepped down because of personal obligations.

The new chairman, who put new life into his party organization in Burke County, home of Democratic Sen. Sam Ervin, wanted to penalize GOP county organizations which did not offer legislative candidates by reducing their representation on the State Executive Committee.

However, the plan was defeated by the convention's Committee on Organization.

Changes were made in the party's plan of organization. One of them would make the following persons ex officio members of the State Executive Committee: all GOP members of the State Legislature, and the president, president-elect and immediate past president of the Republican Women's Federation.

Another change provides for closed meetings of the State Executive Committee. J. Allie Hayes of North Wilkesboro, chairman of the Committee on Organization, said the change was not intended to bar the press.

Mrs. Katherine McColl of Southern Pines was elected by the convention to be vice chairman to succeed Mrs. Walter Zachary of Yadkinville, and Robert Ewing of Southern Pines was named treasurer by the Executive Committee. Re-elected by the committee were Richard Williams of Mayodan, secretary, and Miss Dot Presser of Charlotte, assistant secretary.

In other action, the Credentials Committee settled an Orange County dispute by seating every member from both factions who is a registered Republican. The party's county convention two weeks ago had broken up into two separate meetings in which officers and convention delegates were named.

The Credentials Committee did not decide who is the Orange County party chairman, and recommended that the group hold another county convention. M. L. Cates Sr., county chairman for the past 10 years, was named by one group, and retired Army colonel H. L. Robb was selected by the other as county chairman.

The convention also adopted a resolution aimed at Democrats involved in last year's liquor for legislators scandal. The resolution "commended" GOP legislators for "refusing to liquidate their votes by engaging in this corrupt practice."

J. Edgar Hoover Reminds Reds Are Unrelenting Foe

By WILLIAM L. RYAN AP ForeignNews Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover appeals to Americans today to keep up their guard against a conspiratorial Communist movement which "has been and is engaged in an all-out war against American freedom."

Despite convulsions, flipflops, defections and setbacks, the Communist party's hard core in the United States still is a vast reservoir of spy material posing a

"tremendous and present danger" to American security, the director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation warns in a new book, "Masters of Deceit," published today, by Henry Holt & Co.

When the party was founded in 1919 by a rag-tag group of grotesque revolutionaries on the Bolshevik model, it planted an infection which, though limited to a relative few, could spread dangerously, Hoover says.

"Something utterly new has taken root in America during the past generation, a Communist mentality representing a systematic, purposive and conscious attempt to destroy Western civilization and roll history back to the age of barbaric cruelty and despotism, all in the name of progress," the FBI director writes. "Evil is depicted as good, terror as justice, hate as love, obedience to a foreign master as patriotism."

The attempt to create a "Communist man" will fail, Hoover says, "but we cannot afford the luxury of waiting for it to run its course" because its weapons become more formidable as guards are lowered.

Moscow normally tries to separate the party from spy activities, Hoover says, but the party's thousands of members still play an important role in Soviet espionage.

The FBI director's book, subtitled "The Story of Communism in America and How to Fight It," is a painstaking survey of communism in America and its political savagery.

Hoover sketches Communist tactics, legal and illegal; its attempts at infiltration of labor groups and mass organizations, its use of fronts and a Communist infighting which "is vicious and utterly devoid of moral principle." He tells Americans how to spot such activities and how to counter them.

But Hoover warns that while citizens can help the FBI in its unending battle against the Communists, there must be no "hysteria, witch hunts and vigilantes," which he says will do more harm than good. He warns also that the fight must be waged with regard for "the historic liberties of this great nation."

Stassen Favors Large UN Force

WASHINGTON (AP) — Harold Stassen has proposed a twofold expansion of the United Nations to include a permanent atomic-armed police force and an international space development agency.

The former disarmament adviser to President Eisenhower broached the suggestions in a speech last night before a conference of the American Assn. of the United Nations.

Stassen said both proposals should be preceded by a Soviet-American agreement to suspend nuclear testing for two years.

The possibility of negotiating such an agreement, he said, makes it well worthwhile to pursue a summit meeting. He voiced confidence an agreement could be worked out in time for ratification by the Senate this summer.

Stassen and another speaker, Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala.) urged that any summit conference be held under U.N. sponsorship.

Stassen said a permanent U.N. police force could be equipped with atomic weapons of "limited number and size." A U.N. space agency, he argued, could undertake to send the first human being into outer space and set up the first round-the-world photographic satellite.

KANSAS CITY (AP) — About 150 of Marvin Langford's 246 pupils gave him a surprise housewarming at his new home yesterday. Langford teaches in Kansas City's Southeast High School. His house was blown away by a tornado last May.

"For the last two or three months many of the boys have helped me on Saturdays working on the outside of the place, doing yard work and moving things," Langford said.

The convention also adopted a resolution aimed at Democrats involved in last year's liquor for legislators scandal. The resolution "commended" GOP legislators for "refusing to liquidate their votes by engaging in this corrupt practice."

Another change provides for closed meetings of the State Executive Committee. J. Allie Hayes of North Wilkesboro, chairman of the Committee on Organization, said the change was not intended to bar the press.

Mrs. Katherine McColl of Southern Pines was elected by the convention to be vice chairman to succeed Mrs. Walter Zachary of Yadkinville, and Robert Ewing of Southern Pines was named treasurer by the Executive Committee. Re-elected by the committee were Richard Williams of Mayodan, secretary, and Miss Dot Presser of Charlotte, assistant secretary.

In other action, the Credentials Committee settled an Orange County dispute by seating every member from both factions who is a registered Republican. The party's county convention two weeks ago had broken up into two separate meetings in which officers and convention delegates were named.

The Credentials Committee did not decide who is the Orange County party chairman, and recommended that the group hold another county convention. M. L. Cates Sr., county chairman for the past 10 years, was named by one group, and retired Army colonel H. L. Robb was selected by the other as county chairman.

Says 7 Questions Reveal Right Choice In Marriage

By WILLIAM J. CONWAY

CHICAGO (AP) — How will you know when you meet the right one? That's one of the questions that figure in discussions of love, dating and marriage that drew hundreds of teen-agers to 14 Roman Catholic churches in the Chicago area last night.

The talks, a series of six running through Lent and getting down to such facts of life as sex, dishes and garbage, are conducted by the Cane Conference of Chicago.

The Rev. Walter Imborski, assistant director of the organization, said you will know that you have met the right one, boys and girls, if you can say "yes" to the following queries:

- "1. Can I find happiness making the other person happy?"
- "2. Will he — or she — see my faults and weaknesses and still love me?"
- "3. Can I reveal my fears, ambitions and dreams and still be desired?"
- "4. Can I see myself washing 50,000 dishes for him, or carrying out the garbage for her 365 days a year for 50 years?"

"5. Will I love her when she's 30 pounds heavier, or love him when he's bald?"

"6. Am I a better person since we met — more thoughtful, less selfish?"

"7. Am I proud of the partner I have chosen? Do I enjoy introducing her — or him — to my friends?"

Father Imborski said the answers should come from the head, not the heart.

Cane conferences — the name is derived from the biblical marriage feast — are aimed generally at making good marriages and protecting them.

AUCTION SALE

FRIDAY, MARCH 14th 11:00 A.M.

A. L. COX REAL ESTATE

Being Sold To Settle The Estate of the Late A. L. Cox

TRACT NO. 1—Being the homeplace and containing 62 acres more or less. Approximately 40 acres cleared and 23 acres in choice swamp timber land. This farm is approximately two miles east of Ayden, situated in a very desirable community with good roads, mail route and school buses. This is considered one of the better corn and tobacco farms in this section. The land is free from disease, cockle-burs, nut grass, indigo and vines.

TRACT NO. 2—A track of good swamp land, adjoining the lands of A. H. Cox and others, containing 46 acres more or less. Good location.

TRACT NO. 3—Being lots Nos. 8, 9 and 10 and the eastern half of lot No. 7 of the old Ayden Graded School property in Ayden. These are high and well drained lots adjoining sewer and fire hydrants. Good community.

TRACT NO. 4—Being part of the Lafayette Cox estate and containing 90 acres more or less of highland pine timber in a productive state of growth. This valuable tract of land has a very attractive future for investment. It will yield a large volume of timber now and it is well seeded in all sizes that will give continual returns in saleable timber each year. This would be a choice farm if cleared.

Farms and timberland like this are rarely offered for sale, except to settle estates. You are cordially invited to inspect this property anytime. We invite you one and all to attend this sale, feeling free to bid at will. The personal property will also be sold at the same time.

CHAPTER 24

My breath was coming in short, hard gasps but I was getting oxygen and I felt strength flowing back into me. And with the strength came anger. Not a hot, blind and unreasoning anger, but a cold anger, as cold as frozen steel. I'd been played for a sucker. I'd been accused of crimes I hadn't committed, things I hadn't done. I'd been abducted, shoved around, insulted, beaten, and my hands were tied behind my back. But my turn would come. I'd use it. Somehow, some way, my turn would come.

"Yesterday afternoon you called a man named Tom Lear," Ramez said. "Right, Dolan?"

I nodded my head.

"You represented yourself as a writer. You said you planned to prepare an article on Jack Forbes' disappearance and subsequent death in San Andres, right?"

My breathing was almost normal now. "Yes," I said. I was still standing where I'd been when Alfredo had released me after the beating. "Do you mind if I sit down?"

The chair was overturned on the floor.

"Manuel," Ramez said.

The fat man reluctantly got up, retrieved the chair and skidded it toward me. I kicked it around so that the back faced the men in front of me. My arms were still tied behind me and I knew it would be more comfortable that way. I sat down.

"Lear was immediately suspicious of you. He decided he'd better see you and try and find out what you were up to, what you wanted, what your angle was. So he met you."

"That was another of my many mistakes."

"Lear's suspicions were well-founded. He was able to see through your questions and realize that what you really wanted from him was not information about Forbes. You already knew all you needed to know about Forbes. Isn't that right, Dolan?"

"Don't lie to me, Dolan!"

"It's your imagination," I said. "Use it."

"You knew that Lear worked for me from time to time, flew me or members of my organization on charter flights. You wanted information, first about my recent activities. You were reasonably sure, because of the fact that we were still after Marta for information, that we hadn't recovered the money. But you wanted to find out from Lear, if you could, how far we'd progressed toward its recovery; what we were doing about recovering it."

"That's very interesting," I said. "Tell me more!"

"I will tell you more. You had heard that Forbes had been introduced to me by some girl. And that Forbes and this girl had seen a great deal of each other just before he went to Coronado and for some months afterwards, on his frequent trips to Miami. You didn't know how much, if anything, this girl might know about the money. But you knew that she knew me, and had known Forbes before he died. You saw her both as a valuable source of information and as an incontinent threat to your recovery of the money. You had no way of knowing, after all, what Forbes might have told her before he died."

"I could only shake my head in wonder. This guy was out of this world. He was flying."

"And so, when you saw Tom Lear, you managed to lead the conversation around to the girl. You'd been unsuccessful in your attempts to find out anything about my recent activities. Here you were more successful. Lear, in an unguarded moment, told you the girl's name. Joan Morris. You called her. On some subterfuge you were able to gain entrance to her home. It probably wasn't difficult for a man with your practice in deceit. She was an open-hearted, somewhat naive girl. I don't know why you killed her, Dolan. Perhaps you came to some sort of a demerol decision that she was a threat to your recovery of the money. Perhaps she refused you the information you wanted and you became enraged. Perhaps, even, she recognized in you, because of the nature of your questions, a threat to me. And was attempting to hold you until she could get word to me of your whereabouts — not knowing, of course, that my men had followed you from your hotel to her house and were a short distance away waiting for you."

"Are you all through, Ramez?"

"For the time being, yes."

"Then let me tell you something! I knew nothing about that money — and care less. And I'm sick of listening to you play god! Marta Blanding probably thinks she has as much right to that money as you do, and I don't blame her. Her husband risked his life time after time — if what you tell me is true — and finally lost his life running your dirty, conniving, comic-opera errands. As far as I'm concerned he earned the money. And Marta Blanding, as his widow, is entitled to it. What right, actually, have you got to claim it? I've listened to you rave in that rattle-brained voice about 'your' people, the 'patriots of the resistance,' until I feel sick. What do you care about 'your' people? Your people to you are a buck here and a buck there, bucks ill-afforded, to keep you in yachts and estates and flunkies like this fat pig here! The half-million bucks or whatever it was that you peeled off the top was simply an investment that you hoped to make that would get you back in the really big time, where the profits come quicker than a soiled buck at a time!

"In the meantime — while you're feeding your ego with dreams of your return to glory — you're running an international con game that's as dirty as they come! I'd know two days ago what I know now I'd have advised Marta Blanding to go to Nassau and round up a squad of British tommyes or marines, to come down here and drive the whole miserable lot of you off her property!"

The fat man and Alfredo were moving slowly toward me. Ramez's face had gone dead-white. His eyes were wide and staring, their pupils dilated. His lips were trembling as if he were about to cry.

The fat man and Alfredo were almost on me. I moved backwards. My arms strained as I fought to free my wrists from the belt that held them. I could feel cold sweat pouring from my forehead.

The fat man moved forward. I retreated. I realized vaguely that I was being herded into a corner of the cabin. In a moment there would be no place to go.

Ramez voice was shrill, almost a scream. "Wait!"

I was in the corner now, my shoulders pressed against the two walls. Ramez was crossing the cabin toward me. He shouldered the fat man aside. He swung at my face. The blow was a blinding one. I braced both shoulders against the walls, aimed my heels at Ramez's bells and kicked. Ramez stepped aside. I'd missed. I winched with pain as the weight of my body smashed against my bound wrists.

The fat man threw himself upon my thrashing legs. I lay on the floor, helpless. Ramez had a knee on my chest. Then the blows started, slashing, jarring. I remember hearing Ramez grunt each time he threw a fist at my face.

After that I remember nothing . . .

But Brad Dolan will remember, with pain and sinking heart . . . Continue "Miami Manhunt" to a thrilling climax here tomorrow.

Police In Cuba On Special Alert

HAVANA, Cuba (AP) — Contingents of heavily armed national police stood special alert duty today with orders to act decisively if Fidel Castro's rebels use their "ultimate weapon" — a general strike call.

The 7,000 policemen and 22,000-man armed forces were ordered to take "whatever steps necessary" to break a strike and crush any outbreaks of violence that might develop on this sixth anniversary of President Fulgencio Batista's last military coup.

Batista canceled all celebrations except for a radio speech from a nearby military garrison, where he is protected by thousands of troops.

Castro has threatened a general strike at any moment. The rebel mountain guerrillas are reported running short of arms, and Castro has declared that a general strike would be his last blow — and the one sure to topple Batista.

Leaders of 60,000 high school and university students, already on strike against the arrest of fellow students, announced they would support any walkout to oust Batista.

But the powerful Cuban Confederation of Labor said its 1,200,000 workers would stay on the job. Batista recently decreed wage boosts for them.

Castro, however, claimed secretly organized support among the workers.

FOUND IN RIVER

Recession Or No, Food Lines Expect Set New Sales Marks

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — You have to eat. You like to eat well. That is why recession or no, leaders in the food industry say today they expect to set new sales records this year and to beat or equal past profit levels.

Some companies look for as much as a 25 per cent gain in sales volume. The industry as a whole talks of a four billion dollar food sales increase over last year's 75 billion.

Confidence is reflected by food processors and grocery chains who say they are going ahead with expansion plans and emphasizing research.

Other companies whose products are used by or sold in grocery stores—paper, wine, cleansers—also look for increases.

Current tonnage figures are running well above those of peak year 1957, according to the trade publication, Food Business, it looks for new sales records in the next three months, on the basis of an industry poll. Some leaders feel sure this momentum will carry through the second half of the year.

"Sales thus far this year have been encouraging," says Hanford Main, president of Sunshine Biscuits, Long Island City, N.Y. He says industry sales should rise to 79 billion dollars.

Some setbacks are noted by Robert A. Magowan, president of Safeway Stores, Oakland, Cal. He cites reduced sales volumes in cities hit by output cutbacks in metals and lumber, but adds: "Nothing that has happened so far has been a deterrent to our expansion program, and we will open a minimum of 150 new stores this year."

Joseph B. Hall, president of Kroger Co., Cincinnati, says his chain will go ahead with new distributing centers, bakeries and stores as planned. The chain's sales are running 12 per cent ahead of last year.

George H. Coppers, president of National Biscuit of New York, reports the industry is increasing research expenditures and development of new products.

An expanding demand for high quality foods is foreseen by Porter M. Jarvis, president of Swift, Chicago meat packers.

The nation has steadily upgraded its diet, says Charles H. Bell, president of General Mills of Minneapolis. The consumer demands better nutrition, more convenience and variety and isn't likely to change his ways in a mild recession.

Lyle C. Roll, president of Lellogg Co., Battle Creek, Mich., says Americans will continue to spend a substantial portion of their income for food. His firm plans to build a new plant this year in Memphis.

A frozen food processor, Earl R. French, vice president of Red L. Foods Corp., Great Neck, N.Y., sees as unabated the public's willingness to purchase a "fad," "even those which to some are considered luxuries."

Sales gains are predicted also by Daniel F. Gerber, president of Gerber Products, Fremont, Mich.; Ned N. Fleming, Topco's, Kan., wholesaler; W. P. Strain, president of a Chicago special food manufacturer; C. Clyde Loftis, president of Kraft Foods Division of National Dairy Products, Chicago; Charles G. Mortimer, president of General Foods, Wake Forest, N.C.; and Jerome S. Neuman, president of Joseph Martinson, New York, who thinks his and other coffee companies will be helped by the possibility of lower coffee prices raising consumption.

Other optimists: Ernest Gallo, president of a Modesto, Calif., winery; W. F. Dietrich, president of Green Giant Co., Le Sueur, Minn.; A. E. Staley Jr., president of A. E. Staley Manufacturing Co., Decatur, Ill.; A. M. Gormley, president of Carnation Co., Los Angeles.

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market backed away a little from recent gains in moderately active trading early this afternoon. A few issues declined fractionally. Key gainers dotted the list.

The market seemed headed for the first decline in seven sessions and brokers said some profit-taking was in order. Corporate news continued spotty.

The market was generally lower at the start and maintained this tone although there was some scattered improvement.

Aircraft and selected issues showed gains. Oil, rails and steels were mostly lower. A number of leaders were unchanged.

Bell & Howell was a 2-point gainer, continuing last week's advance on rumors of a merger and its excellent sales and earnings. Another photographic firm, Polaroid, rose more than a point, aided by short covering and expectations of news concerning a new camera.

Boeing was up a fraction. Douglas and United Aircraft rose around a point each. Du Pont, among blue chips which have benefited from institutional buying, was ahead around a point at one phase but lost most of the gain.

Chrysler was down a bit early in the session but later showed a net gain of a fraction.

Air Reduction dropped about a point. Fractional losses were shown by U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Ford, Standard Oil (New Jersey), New York Central, Illinois Central, American Smelting and International Nickel.

Other small losers were Montgomery Ward, Union Carbide, Texas Co. and Gulf Oil. Lorillard, General Electric, Westinghouse Electric and Allied Chemical advanced a little.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was down 20 cents to $162.40 with the industrials down 20 cents, the rails down 40 cents and the utilities unchanged.

Patton, Bryson Running For District Judgeship

ASHEVILLE (AP) — Atty. Gen. George B. Patton, a former Superior Court judge, and Solicitor Thad D. Bryson Jr. of the 20th District are announced candidates today for the Democratic nomination for the 20th District Superior Court judge's seat being vacated by Judge Dan K. Moore.

Judge Moore, of Sylva, announced Saturday he would not be a candidate for re-election in the May 31 Democratic primary. His announcement was followed the same night by Patton and Bryson's notice that they will try for the seat. The 20th Judicial District includes seven western counties: Cherokee, Clay, Graham, Haywood, Jackson, Macon and Swain.

Moore did not say what his plans were. But the Asheville Citizen-Times reported he probably will take a responsible job with a major Western North Carolina industry.

Patton, whose home is Franklin, resigned in 1952 as special superior court judge to take his present position. Observers said his successor as attorney general may be drawn from a list of Western North Carolina lawyers, including Claude L. Love of Asheville and J. Ralph Moody of Murphy, both assistant attorneys-general; R. Le Whitmore of Hendersonville, former special superior

Atlantic States Chilled By Snow

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Late season snowstorms chilled sections of mid-Atlantic states today and storms which hammered parts of the Rockies moved into the Plains region.

Near-record falls of snow for the date were reported in parts of north central and western sections of Virginia yesterday. Snow also fell in parts of West Delaware, Maryland, in the Washington, D.C., area and in Delaware. The drifting snow forced the closing of half a dozen school systems in Virginia.

The weekend storm in the Rockies which dumped up to 8 inches of snow at Lander, Wyo., moved into Montana, the Dakotas, and southward through Kansas.

The wet belt extended into the southern Plains, mostly in the form of light rain, but heavy snow warnings were issued for Texas.

Nine inches of snow fell in a six-hour period in St. Louis. A bright, warm sun melted snow off streets, but blanketed yards and drifts remained.

In Virginia, 15 inches of snow was reported from the Mt. Crawford area near Harrisonburg and 14 inches fell in Bath County.

Cubs Entertain Guests At Event

BETHEL—The Cub Scouts and Den Mothers entertained the Cubs' parents and other guests at a Blue and Gold Banquet Friday night in the Fellowship Hall of the Methodist Church.

Rev. Ralph Ferguson, Baptist minister from Robersonville was the principal speaker for the occasion. His topic was entitled "Qualities of Scouts."

Dr. W. A. Moody, Rotary Club president, welcomed the sponsors and Bill Staton welcomed the parents. The invocation was given by R. P. Michaels.

A program on Americanism was presented by the Cub Scouts. Cubmaster Walter Ed Beverly presented awards to Donnie Carson, Joe Cox, Claude James, Bob Whitehurst and Bobby Carson.

Funeral Tuesday For Mrs. J. McLawhorn

AYDEN—Mrs. Laura Bryan McLawhorn, 81, died early Sunday morning at her home in the Littlefield community near Ayden after two months' illness.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday at 2:30 p.m. at Elm Grove Free Will Baptist Church by her pastor, the Rev. James Lynn of Littlefield. Burial will be in the Lang family cemetery near the home.

Mrs. McLawhorn was a member of Elm Grove Free Will Baptist Church and spent her early life in the Littlefield community. She was first married to Milton Bryan of Vanceboro, who died in 1933.

She was later married to Ben Tom Lewis of Ayden, and he died in 1942. Her last marriage was to Josh McLawhorn of Ayden; he passed away in 1950.

She is survived by four sons, J. L. Bryan of Littlefield, Lyman Bryan of Farmville, and Edward and Henry Bryan of the home; a daughter, Mrs. Paul Dail of the home; 10 grandchildren; one great-grandchild, and a sister, Mrs. Clara Wall of Grifton.

Hardee To Fill Publicity Post

Roy Hardee, of the Greenville Rescue squad has been named State Publicity Director for the North Carolina Association of Rescue Squads.

Hardee, a two year appointed director for the newly formed association was named to the new post at a Board of Director's meeting held in Raleigh yesterday.

The North Carolina Association of Rescue Squads was formed less than one year ago to promote the growth of rescue squads in the State. Since the group's first meeting held in Laurinburg, the number of squads has shown a marked increase.

The State is divided into six districts with a District Director in charge of each. Hardee is Region Two director which includes Lindsay Nobles, Negro, R-1, city, non-support, six months, suspended on payment of $10 per month for support, beginning April 5, 1952.

John J. Jenkins, R-4, city, no operator's license, costs.

Shirley Batts, Negro, 802 Fleming Street, no operator's license, costs; failure to yield right of way, costs.

Thomas Mallory, address unknown, allowing a vehicle to be operated at night with learner's permit, costs.

Alex. Minor, Negro, 105 West First Street, larceny, 12 months on the roads on each of two charges. The second sentence was consecutive. He gave notice of appeal.

Louis Godley, Negro, Grimesland, non-support, six months, suspended on payment of $10 before release and pay $10 a week beginning March 15, 1952 for support. This cause was retained for further order.

B. L. Gardner Dies Suddenly In Florida

Tentative funeral arrangements for B. L. (Tige) Gardner are planned for Wednesday at the First Presbyterian Church in Greenville.

Mr. Gardner died suddenly Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock in Fort eleven Eastern North Carolina Counties from Pitt County to the Coast.

At the Director's meeting in Raleigh yesterday it was announced that the second state convention of the North Carolina Association of Rescue Squads would be held in Goldsboro on Oct. 4-5 with the Goldsboro Rescue squad as host.

Greenville, Goldsboro, Beaufort and Jacksonville are the only active rescue units in Eastern Carolina at this time with Greenville being the oldest one of the four.

The Publicity Director served as the first Commanding Officer of the Greenville Volunteer Rescue squad when it was formed two years ago. Greenville's Fire Department has operated the rescue organization since 1949. The Volunteer unit was formed after a second rescue truck was purchased in a drive by the Greenville Jaycees. Greenville's Rescue squad is one of the best equipped in the state.

Marriage Licenses

MARRIAGE LICENSES were issued last week by the Pitt County Register of Deeds office.

Two of the licenses went to white couples, Lewis McDonald Crossley, Dover, Delaware, and Pauline Page, Stokes; and to Floyd Lee Gay, Ayden, and Joyce Brock, Waistonburg. The Negro couple to whom a license was issued is Cleveland Barnes and Ella Mae Clark, both of Greenville.

The largest zinc mine in the world is at Gilman, Colo.

Gain Agreements In Dressmaking Strike

NEW YORK (AP) — Striking garment workers and dress manufacturers have reached agreement on money issues and appear headed for a full settlement today or tomorrow.

The ticklish problem of contract enforcement — the other major issue in the six-day-old strike — is still to be resolved.

An employer spokesman said last night both sides agreed on an 11 1/2 per cent package increase. The spokesman said it includes an 11 per cent boost in base pay and a payroll deduction for severance pay of one half of 1 per cent.

Agreement also was reached on overtime for piece workers — 81 per cent of the workers are employed on this basis — after 35 hours.

Union officials declined to confirm or deny the reported terms. The dispute, first major strike by the International Ladies Garment Workers Union in 25 years, has affected nine Eastern states and added 195,000 ILGWU members.

The wage agreement came after two days of intensive mediation by two peacemakers appointed by Mayor Robert F. Wagner — former U.S. Sen. Herbert H. Lehman and Harry Uviller, impartial chairman of the dress industry.

Key Club Hits At Delinquency

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP) — Some 500 Key Club members from the Carolina's took a firm stand against juvenile delinquency and teenage problems in general at a convention here over the weekend.

Bob Cordle of Charlotte was elected governor of the Carolinas District. The 12th annual convention closed yesterday.

The Kiwanis-sponsored youth organization called for an adult-supervised program in churches and public schools to help the nation's youth realize "a broader, more wholesome understanding of ourselves as human beings."

Lt. Gov. Ernest F. Hollings addressed a Key Club banquet Saturday night.

Officers elected in addition to Cordle were Chris Leventis, Columbia, secretary; and Swink Saunders, Asheville, treasurer.

Key Club lieutenant governors named were Hugh Colcolough, Bishopville; Baylie Maxwell, Anderson; Lloyd Hendricks, Columbia; John Farmer, Elm City; Howard Ticker, Roanoke Rapids; Bill Duncan, Raleigh; Phil St. Aman, II, Fayetteville; John Kirkman, High Point; Ernest Curry, Huntersville; and Badge Rhodes, Forest City.

Will Hold Class On Investments

RALEIGH (AP) — Beginning tonight a class in investing in stocks will be held each Monday night at North Carolina State College. It will continue for seven weeks.

W. L. Turner, extension economist for the college, will teach the course with the assistance of representatives from local brokerage firms.
