U.S. Pressing More Satellite Programs

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Two—actually three—U.S. moons whizzed around the earth today in company with the sole surviving but already doomed Soviet Sputnik satellite.

was launched early yesterday into an orbit that pushed new frontiers out into the unknown. The announced orbit ranged from 400 miles above the earth to a peak of 2,500 miles, the highest yet attained by a man-made satellite.

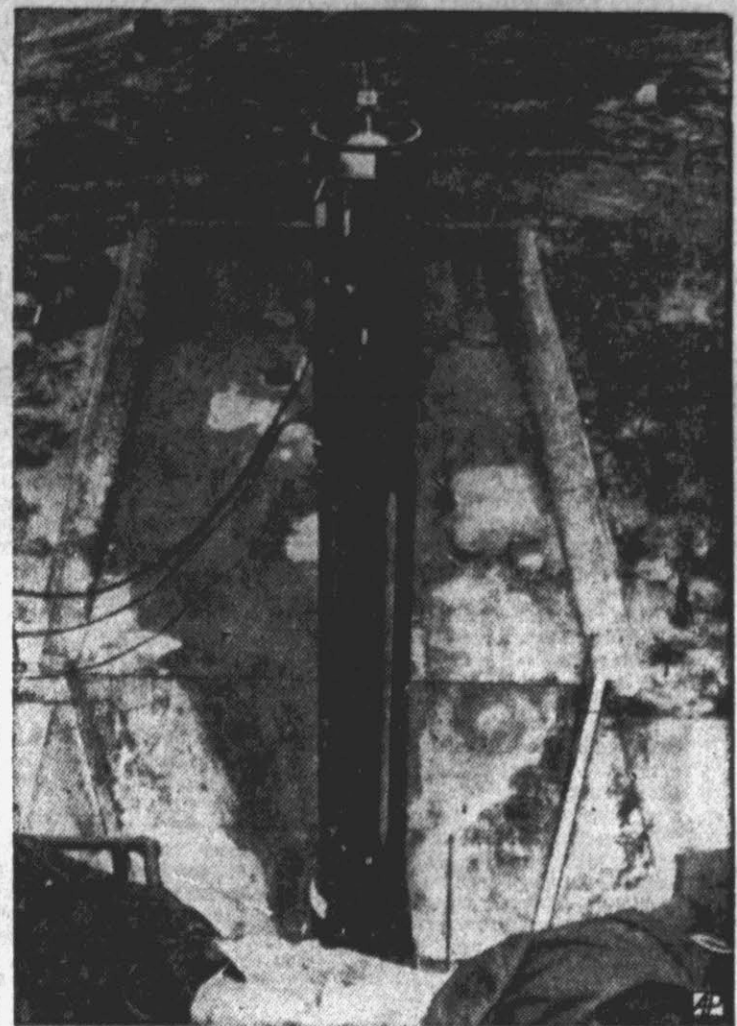

that pushed Vanguard to orbital speed. It was 5 feet long and 20 inches wide. The Navy estimated that the sphere would stay in orbit 5 to 10 years. The dead rocket in its wake will have a much shorter ride.

Panelists Named For Development Conference Here

Panelists for a March 25 Industrial Development Conference, to be held on the campus of East Carolina College, were named today by the North Carolina Department of Conservation and Development.

The conference is one of three scheduled for the state. Other conferences will be held at Greensboro March 27 and at Asheville on April 4.

Four panels have been planned for the conference, which will open at 10 a.m. in McGinnis Auditorium with remarks by Dr. John D. Messick, president of East Carolina College, and Leo H. Harvey, vice-chairman of the Commerce and Industry Committee of the Board of Conservation and Development.

The first panel, which will discuss "Opportunities for Food Processing and Packaging, and Locally Sponsored Industry," will include G. F. Albright and D. S. Coltrane, both of Raleigh, and Charles Gaylord of Williamston.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—A prospective juror who said he had an asthmatic condition and felt it might be aggravated by the courtroom air asked to be excused in Federal District Court.

Judge Bryan Simpson explained the courtroom is air-conditioned, the air is filtered and it should be soothing.

Links Bombings To Klan Activity

CHARLOTTE (AP)—Police Chief Frank N. Littlejohn attributes recent attacks on synagogues to the Ku Klux Klan. Littlejohn referred to last Sunday's bombings of synagogues in Miami, Fla. and Nashville, Tenn., and attempted bombings of synagogues here last November and in nearby Gastonia Feb. 9.

"I am satisfied there is a tie-in between the synagogue incidents," Littlejohn said last night, adding: "I'd walk from here to Nashville or Miami to help break any of these cases. They are instigated by bigots to undermine constitutional government and the Bill of Rights."

Tax-Cutting Possibility Studied No Decisions At White House Talks

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Martin (R-Pa) reported today that a White House conference canvassed—without a decision—the possibility of cutting taxes.

The talk ranged over withholding taxes on individuals, excises, and levies in which a cut might spur venture capital into business.

Martin was the first to emerge from the regular Tuesday meeting with President Eisenhower holds with GOP congressional leaders—a session which Martin said concentrated for half an hour or more on the tax question.

The conference, as on last Tuesday, was expanded to take in members of key congressional committees, as well as Secretary of the Treasury Anderson. Martin told reporters the White House conference looked over the possibility of tax reductions which would have an immediate impact in stimulating purchasing power as well as those which would take hold in a year or two.

A reduction of withholding taxes and excises, Martin said, would be of the type having a quick impact, whereas those which might encourage investment in business enterprises would do little to help unemployment now but would provide assistance later on.

Asked whether a combination of both approaches might be resorted to eventually, if business fails to pick up sufficiently, Martin replied: "That might be."

Quizzed Pilot For Seven Days

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—A U. S. pilot shot down by North Korean gunfire said today the Communists questioned him for seven days but did not treat him roughly. Capt. Leon Pfeiffer of Kenosha, Wis., said about 50 North Korean soldiers captured him immediately after he parachuted onto the Red side of the Korean truce line on March 6. His P86 Sabre Jet was hit by Communist ground fire but he was not injured.

"While descending I was frightened by the continuing small arms firing in my vicinity," he said in a statement issued through the 8th Army. "I was taken to a forward outpost and held for about three hours," he said, "then taken to a forward hospital where I was interrogated for seven days in the seventh day I was given a haircut, shave and bath and during the night was driven to Kaesong."

He remained there until he was released yesterday to the United Nations Command. Pfeiffer's plane veered over the Red side of the demilitarized zone while he and another pilot were on a training mission. The other plane escaped the ground fire. The U. N. Command acknowledged that the planes violated North Korean air space unintentionally but accused the Communists of making "an unnecessary armed attack."

plan said it was aimed primarily at putting into the hands of those who file 48 million tax returns enough money in one sum to encourage immediate expenditures.

"If the people got $40 in a lump sum they would be more apt to buy a chair or something of that sort than if they got the tax reduction back over a year's period at the rate of less than $1 a week," he said.

Both the congressional Democrats and the Eisenhower administration have postponed any final decision on tax reductions until there are clearer indications of the direction in which the economy is headed.

Sen. Knowland of California, Senate GOP leader, said he expects no final decision now on the timing of a possible tax cut and does not believe any administration bill has taken shape.

Chairman Bridges (NH) of the Senate Republican Policy Committee said in a separate interview that any tax change should "provide for tax reductions primarily on the basis of stimulating business."

In addition to their proposed "quickie" cut in individual tax withholdings, Democrats are thinking in terms of reduced corporation and excise levies, plus a possible acceleration in depreciation allowances to encourage

Browning Elected New Rotary Club President

Dr. Elmer R. Browning, head of the business department of East Carolina College, last night was elected president of the Greenville Rotary Club for the coming year. Other officers elected at the annual meeting of the local civic club were:

Wendell Smiley, secretary; Lawrence Stroud, sergeant-at-arms; and directors Kenneth Harris, J. T. Marston Jr., Charles Terpening, and Erzell Webb.

the speaker also traced the origin of "Dixie," the anthem of the Confederacy, which was written by an Ohio boy who was participating in a minstrel show in New York.

Radar Hurricane Tracker Ready

RALEIGH (AP)—A "very powerful eye" to detect and track severe storms in this area has been placed in operation by the U. S. Weather Bureau at the Raleigh-Durham Airport.

Charles B. Carney, meteorologist in charge of the weather bureau, announced today that installation of a storm-tracking radar set had been completed and the instrument now is in operation.

With the radar set, Carney said the Weather Bureau hopes that it will be able "to detect the more severe types of local storms and to give more accurate forecasts of the approach of these storms."

He said "we certainly hope" that it will prove highly useful in detecting and tracking the severest type of local storm of them all—the tornado—and that it will help in tracking hurricanes.

The radar installation is the second of the Weather Bureau has placed in operation in the state. The other is at Hatteras and was installed primarily to track hurricanes.

CAMP LEJEUNE, N.C. (AP)—Marine war games here struck a snag today with the postponement of a helicopter landing of friendly troops because of rain and fog.

A Marine spokesman said the transporting of troops from three offshore Navy carriers to the beach near here might be carried off later in the day, if the weather lifts. About 30 helicopters were scheduled to operate in the opening phase.

War Games Held Up By Rain, Fog

"I think this is something we will have to study very seriously and take up with you later," he told Frazier.

Before the meeting Williams, in his first official visit to the port here, joined the authority and Southern Railway officials in a tour of the facilities.

"I am well pleased," the new director said, "not only with what I've seen, but with the manner in which the port is being handled. Everything looks good—an indication which I must assume is good played by the people of Morehead City, Beaufort and Southern Railway officials."

Williams officially accepted the $18,000 a year post Saturday. "The members of the authority are conscious of the needs of both the Morehead City and the Wilmington ports, and I'm sure they plan to develop both to the maximum," Williams added.

The board will meet again April 22 in Raleigh.

Grain Elevator At Port Considered

MOREHEAD CITY, N.C. (AP)—State Ports Authority officials had under consideration today a proposal that it build a large grain elevator at the Morehead City state docks.

John H. Frazier Jr. of Markley Inc., Philadelphia grain merchant, proposed that the SPA build an elevator, to cost from $700,000 to $1,000,000 for the use of his firm.

Under his proposal, construction of the elevator would be financed through the sale by the SPA of bonds with the grain firm guaranteeing the sale. The company's payments would amortize the bonds over a 25-year period. Under the proposal, the SPA would also furnish the company a transit shed at an annual rental of $1,000.

Authority Chairman John M. Reeves asked the new state port director, D. Leon Williams, and Jack Lee, SPA traffic manager to make a study of grain elevator operations and present the board with its findings.

"It is too early to make a definite prediction," the chief mediator said, "but on the basis of our experience so far we anticipate fewer strikes than last year."

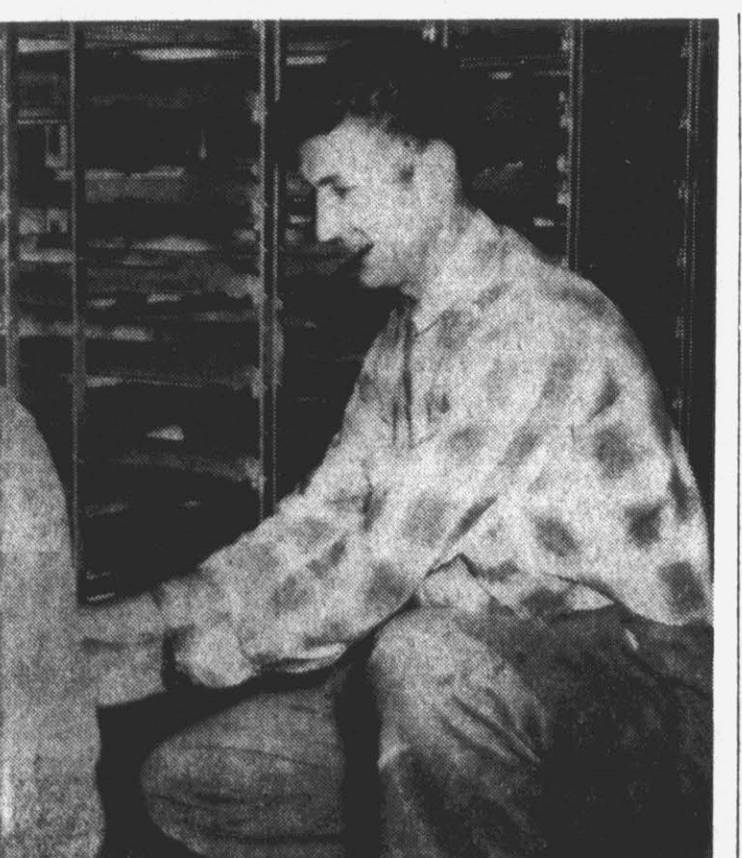

The recession has made workers realize "that the stuff isn't going to shake off the trees as readily as before, and they are reluctant to hit the bricks," Finnegan added.

Here to preside at a weeklong seminar of federal mediators from the East, Midwest and South, Finnegan made his comments at a news conference. "management. The thing that impresses me is the enthusiasm dis-

First Eggs Placed In Incubators Of New Hatchery

WORKMAN INSTALLS EGG RACKS... in one of ten setters at Chemell Hatcheries.

First batches of eggs have gone into incubators at Chemell Hatcheries, Inc. even as hammer blows and trowel rings are heard at the front portion of the building.

Raymond B. Stultz, manager of the local hatchery which is being constructed on the Airport Rd., said several thousand eggs have been placed into the first two "setters" installed in the plant.

However, he hastened to point out that production will initially be limited. "All production in the near future is promised out to customers," he said.

Pre-Induction

Thirty-five Pitt County residents reported for pre-induction physicals this morning, Selective Service Clerk Mrs. Selma Rogers reports.

According to Mrs. Rogers three men failed to report. The three were Alonzo House Jr., Bobby Edward Williams and George Lee Joyner. All three will be classified as delinquents and reported to the U. S. Attorney, subject to direct induction into the Armed Forces unless they are located.

The Clerk stated that the local Board has received an April call. Ten men are to report for final induction and 27 for pre-induction physicals.

capacity it will be producing 120,000 to 130,000 baby chicks a week. The "setters" where the eggs begin the initial hatching process, are being installed in the rear portion of the building. However, at the front of the structure, workmen are still busy installing walls and completing other construction work.

Eight other setters will join the two now in production. Each of the large machines will hold the incubating eggs in racks set to each side of an aisle. The setters are large enough to allow operators to walk in for inspection of the eggs.

Actually the eggs do not hatch in the setters. After a predetermined time they will be moved to small hatchers which are now being set up in another room of the structure.

There the eggs will remain for a short time until they hatch out. Then the baby chicks will be removed from the hatchers and taken to another room where they will be graded and placed in boxes for sale.

Stultz pointed out that, with the eggs already incubating in the setters, the plant will be running on a close schedule. Actually the first hatcher was not yet ready to receive the first eggs from the setters yesterday.

However, the hatcher was being assembled and will be ready by the time it is needed.

Stultz said no definite target date has been set for full plant production. He said, however, the plant construction schedule is proceeding "pretty well."

The building in which the hatchery will operate contains approximately 10,500 square feet of floor space.

Plans for construction of the hatchery were announced last Nov. 7 by Mayor S. Eugene West.

The hatchery is going up in the North Greenville area, which city planners hope will some day be an industrial section. Only recently the Planning-Zoning Commission refused to re-zone a section in the area as residential-commercial. A property owner had requested the change in zoning in order that a subdivision might be opened.

At the time the original announcement of the hatchery's construction was made, it was reported that 25 to 30 persons would be hired by the firm and the hatchery would purchase approximately $10,000 worth of eggs each week when it is in full production.

In addition to the new Greenville plant Chemell operates hatcheries in Gainesville, Ga., where it also has a breeder farm; Joquin, Tex.; Jasper, Ala.; Shelbyville, Del.; Broadway, Va.; Morganton, N.C.; Jacksonville, Miss.; and Americus, Ga.

League Presents First Isolator To Hospital

Members of the Greenville Service League presented Pitt Memorial Hospital yesterday an isolator which they purchased from proceeds derived from the hospital coffee shop, staffed and operated by League members.

Mrs. Wesley Harvey, president of the Service League, made the presentation to C. D. Ward, hospital administrator.

This will be the first isolator to be installed at the hospital. Prior to the presentation, Charles W. Phillips, regional sales supervisor, explained the benefits and facilities of an isolator. "An isolator is a type of incubator in which a child is completely isolated—away from everybody—by means of outside air being drawn into the unit," explained Phillips. "Hospitals can now care for their small premature infants and oxygen can be administered in a safe manner in the prevention of blindness in premature infants through the isolator.

"This unit provides for premature babies and sick infants up to six months of age to have unchanging atmospheric conditions," he said. Phillips pointed out that a baby's temperature can be controlled within one degree for definite periods of time in an isolator. "While enclosed in this unit, the infant can be X-rayed, weighed, fed, and given transfusions without being exposed to temperature changes." "You can call isolators the Cadillac of the incubators," said Phillips in conclusion.

Senior Has Water-Color Exhibit

W. Joseph Stell Jr. of Greenville, senior art student at East Carolina College, is currently exhibiting his work as a watercolorist in the art gallery of the Austin building on the campus. The art show will continue through March 28.

The paintings on display range in style from pure academic to abstract. The student artist has made occasional use of ink and tempera to achieve his effects. The exhibition, one of a series by selected art students during the school year, was arranged under the direction of Dr. Wellington B. Gray, director of the college art department.

On completion of his work at East Carolina, Stell plans to continue his study of art at New York University, where he will be a candidate for the master's degree in art education. This spring he is doing student teaching in the Rocky Mount public schools. He plans to make teaching his profession.

The student artist has an outstanding record at the college both in academic work and in student activities. 30 Years Ago Today

March 18, 1928

Last night was annual ladies night at the Greenville Rotary Club. The whole club was decorated in green and all favors carried out St. Patrick's Day idea. Prior to the serving of supper, members of the club were called back to an ante-room and required to put on mustaches of the famous movie comedian type. Many of them were almost unrecognizable when they returned to the reception room to accompany their ladies to the dining hall. The session was presided over by President Bill Rogers. The address of welcome to the ladies was made by Rotarian H. P. Jones. The response was made by Mrs. J. E. Winslow in a most happy vein. Mrs. Knott Proctor, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Ray Tyson, rendered two vocal solos. Carl Goerch of Washington made a short talk filled with humor. J. B. Kittrell was in charge of the stunts for the evening.

Success Greet's Hour

By ANNE SINGLETON
Reflector Woman's Editor

"Tell me a story . . ."

Mrs. Sam White, II, did just that to approximately 40 children yesterday morning at Sheppard Memorial Library.

This special story telling hour marked a first in Pitt County, and the children loved it.

The stories told carried each child on make believe trips and adventures with new and favorite friends to unknown and exciting lands.

When story hour ended the children appeared reluctant to leave. Under many arms were tucked books of all sizes to be read and re-read in their homes.

Story telling hours are being held in observance of National Library Week.

Registration Closed

Due to the instant success of this library activity, registration has been closed. Only children who have already registered will be attending Wednesday and Friday morning sessions.

Mrs. Blake C. Lewis, who is better known as Miss Jo of Romper Room, and Mrs. David Whichard, III, will conduct the Wednesday morning hour from 10 to 11.

Friday's story teller will be a student from the library science department of East Carolina College.

The aim of these hours is to open the world of books to children who will be the leaders of tomorrow.

Vanguard Success Is Not The End

For those connected with the Navy's Vanguard rocket program, St. Patrick's Day had special significance. It marked the end—for the time being at least—of a period of frustration, failure and anxiety.

The Vanguard and its grapefruit-sized satellite were successfully launched after a series of vain tries. The Navy's satellite program, which for a while looked like a complete failure, has at last proven it cannot be discounted.

Although the Vanguard satellite is admittedly a very small experimental vehicle, it's successful launching, and its sweeps through space will furnish information which will be vital to this nation's space development program.

Numerically, it means that the United States is now up with Russia in the number of satellites successfully launched. It is probably of significance that the United States has been able to launch two missiles successfully in a relatively short span of time. Russia launched its Sputnik I in October and its Sputnik II with pouch a few weeks later. Since that time, however, Russia has not put another satellite into orbit in spite of the fact the United States has been desperately trying to even the score.

Time alone will tell whether the United States or Russia is more nearly capable of launching satellites at will. Time alone will tell whether the United States or Russia is further advanced in the new field of space science.

N.C. Outlays In Education Field

By LYNN NISBET

EDUCATION COSTS — The State Board of Higher Education has compiled figures showing increases in population, college enrollment and State allocations of tax money for college support during the past 20 years. The compilation was not inspired by idle curiosity but for the purpose of projecting, as nearly as possible, the probable demands upon the facilities and moneys which might be available to provide college education for the youth of the next 20 years — et seq.

The tabulation covers each biennium from 1939-40 through 1956-57. There are some very interesting details, but none of the detailed data can have any more startling impact upon the consciousness of the people than does the summarization.

During the 20-year period covered total enrollment in tax supported colleges just a little more than doubled, per capita income of North Carolinians increased to about four times as much — but the appropriations of tax money to higher educational institutions was about twelve times as much this year as in 1939-40.

An interesting, and to many people a surprising, feature of the higher education figures is that the State of North Carolina on percentage basis has increased appropriations for college level education almost twice as fast as allocations for common school purposes. In 1939-40 total allocations for colleges was $2,180,816. The estimated spending for 1958-59 is $25,053,945 — almost 12 times as much as 20 years ago. The total appropriation for public schools in 1939-40 was $26,330,416. Estimated spending — and already appropriated — for 1958-59 is $162,416,469, a little more than six times as much as 20 years ago.

These figures would seem to be the charge that North Carolina is derelict in consideration of needs of education above the public school level.

QUESTION MARKS — That gets back to the question marks suggested by the comparative tables. If per capita income has increased a little more than four times, from $116 in 1939 to $1,305 in 1957 and estimated at about $1,400 in 1959, while money spent for public schools increased more than six times and for higher education almost twelve times, what is going to happen during the next 20 years? If per capita income retains the ratio of 400 per cent increase, and the public school dollar demand increases 600 per cent, and the college demand retains the ratio of 1200 per cent — where are the dollars coming from?

Percentage ratios are the darlings of the statisticians, but it is axiomatic that neither pupils nor teachers, or for that matter the patrons of the schools, can eat or sleep on percentages. They must have dollars to buy food and clothing and shelter. It is also axiomatic that the percentage increases rapidly lose perspective value as the amounts increase. It was much easier, for example, for the State to absorb the increase from two million to eight million between 1939 and 1949 for higher education than to absorb the smaller percentage but greater dollar increase from eight million to $25 million between 1949 and 1959.

Chances are that percentage increases in all brackets will decline during the next two decades, but dollar increases seem certain to continue. Assuming that the next 20 years will see per capita income multiplied by four, public school demands multiplied by six and college demands multiplied by twelve — where will the dollars come from to meet the educational needs of North Carolina youth? If the same percentage increase applied it would take, 20 years from now, more than a billion dollars for the public schools and in excess of $900 million for the colleges.

INSTITUTIONS — The tabulation prepared by the Board of Higher Education also shows that charges made by partisans and alumni of other colleges that the University at Chapel Hill has been unduly favored will not stand up. In 1939-40 the University at Chapel Hill $4,783,233, six and a half times as much as 20 years ago. State College 20 years ago got $346,350. This year it gets $4,183,283, more than 12 times as much. East Carolina College at Greenville got about eleven times as much as 20 years ago, and A&T at Greensboro more than 18 times as much.

Some extra courses at Chapel Hill and Raleigh, particularly, called for additional allocations above and beyond the regular academic standard. The health affairs unit at Chapel Hill, for example, went from half a million dollars ten years ago to more than two million last year and this. Agriculture experimentation at State College jumped from $168,672 in 1939-40 to a million and three quarters in 1949 and four and a third million last year. Community colleges, which first showed on the appropriation list in 1955, this year claim nearly a quarter million dollars.

APPORTIONMENT — Another significant item in the tabulations deals with the proportion of costs of education at State supported institutions paid by the State. This year it is estimated in 1939-40 less than one-third (32.15 per cent) was paid by the State. This year it is estimated that more than half (51.6 per cent) will be paid out of appropriated State tax money.

The very fact that the Navy Vanguard program has succeeded in putting up a satellite, however, is encouraging for American people. It has renewed American confidence in our satellite development program, and it doubtlessly help American prestige throughout the world.

An Able Jurist Who Served His Country

North Carolina and the nation lost one of their foremost authorities on federal and state constitutional law in the sudden death of Judge John J. Parker of Charlotte.

For almost 33 years Judge Parker served as judge of the fourth U.S. Federal Circuit Court and from this post rendered outstanding service to the nation. A jurist respected and admired for his ability, Judge Parker was also a man who was loved by many for his outstanding qualities as an individual as well as a judge.

His contribution to constitutional law will not soon be forgotten in North Carolina or in the states governed by the federal circuit court of which he was chief judge at the time of his death. Tragic as his sudden death is, the greater tragedy is that this able jurist was not allowed to be of greater service to his nation as a member of the United States Supreme Court, a position for which he was eminently qualified, one for which he was often mentioned, but one to which he was never appointed.

If Only Our Voters Matched The Soviets!

We find nothing to admire in the Russian system of elections except the remarkably high percentage of eligible voters who turn out to cast their ballots in the one-ticket voting.

In the election for the Soviet Parliament Sunday there were 1,378 candidates on the official ballot for 1,378 seats in the supreme Soviet. Something over 99 per cent of the 130 million eligible voters in Russia turned out for the election according to official reports from Moscow.

In the United States where there are at least twice the number of candidates as there are offices at stake, and where the voters really have a choice in electing their government officials, we feel it is remarkable when 60 to 70 per cent of the eligible voters cast ballots in an election.

There is no part of our system of electing government officials that we would trade for the Soviet rubber-stamp system. Yet what a blessing it would be for the United States if 99 per cent of the eligible voters would turn out regularly for local and national elections.

Here we have not only a choice of candidates, but the right to choose whether or not we will even cast a ballot. In Russia there is no choice at all.

Expensive Loss In Reservations

By ELMER ROESSNER

Airlines lose millions of dollars because passengers fail to show up after making reservations. But the airlines' own handling of reservations is often bungling and sometimes worse.

Here is why "no shows" cost airlines heavily: Reservations often equal the seating capacity of a plane. Others may want seats, but the lines can only offer to let them stand by in case of cancellations—a dismal and time-consuming prospect. But before the plane takes off, half of those with reservations may change their minds and the plane leaves half empty.

Some reservations are made with scant intention of being used. In one company a secretary was instructed to reserve a plane seat to New York every Friday for a "Mr. Jones," and to cancel it if none of the executives needed it for a weekend jaunt. Then she learned that if a person travels on a reservation made for someone else—that is, if Wunderbar von Garfinkle goes as "Mr. Jones"—his insurance may be invalid. So the girl, a spunky Irish colleen, told her bosses there would be no more such reservations because she would not endanger their children's security.

They accepted her ruling which, incidentally, may show how necessary it is to mind good secretaries, even in times like these.

THE OTHER SIDE

No-shows are such a problem that the Civil Aeronautics Board authorized the lines to levy a $3 penalty on renegades. This has helped a bit.

On the other hand, airlines are sometimes worse than their customers. A traveler recently bought a ticket for New York in the Washington American Airlines office. When he arrived at the airport he was told that the flight had been dropped several days earlier.

Opinions In Brief

"We have tried pampering and excusing delinquents, and all that has done is to make matters worse. A youthful criminal is still a criminal—and action must be taken in the light of that fact." —Industrial News Review.

"We cannot afford to relax our efforts to develop and expand our research. We are faced here in the South and in our own North Carolina with a shortage of trained manpower to conduct and direct research programs. There are predictions of a still further gap in the future." —Gov. Luther Hodges.

Boats That Speed

By REINHOLD ENZ

HAMBURG, Germany (AP)—A Hamburg engineer has come up with a new version of the hydrofoil boat he thinks will send earlier models scurrying to drydock.

Hydrofoil boats — which use various kinds of fins to lift a hull completely clear of the water at top speed—are out of the dream stage. Two of them, for instance, are in regular ferry service between Italy and Sicily carrying up to 75 passengers at 50 m.p.h.

But Friedrich H. Wendel, 37-year-old marine engineer who designed torpedo boats for Hitler's navy, has a new twist. In the most common form of hydrofoil, the boat's "wings" extend from the hull in a curve, with more and more of their surface appearing above the water as speed increases. Wendel says this is a severe disadvantage. Waves strike the exposed portions of the wings and cause the boat to pitch and roll, and could throw it out of control.

In his system, the wings always remain completely submerged. Wave action can only effect the three slender legs connecting wings with the hull. He also has moved propellers from the conventional aft position to the bow wings.

Wendel says his craft handles like an airplane. During "take-off" its nose is pulled up, going around turns the boat is banked. The maneuvers are accomplished with an aviation-style steering gear.

A 30-foot model — with legs long enough to lift the boat above three-foot waves — has been built. This summer, Wendel hopes to begin construction of a 64-foot version that he says could carry 85 passengers at a cruising speed of 40 knots. He maintains the boat would be seaworthy and could carry passengers from Cuxhaven, Germany, to the North Sea island of Helgoland.

"The only thing holding me back is money," Wendel said in an interview. "But if all goes according to plan, I should have enough financial support in a couple of months."

Wendel has been plugging away at his dreamboat since 1951. He has demonstrated the model to various parties, including the U.S. Navy.

The Soviet Union recently announced that Russian engineers have built a hydrofoil boat that can carry 75 passengers and now are working on a sea-going model to carry 300.

Strength For Today

THE LIVING GOD

Our eyes are very deceiving. We look at a table and regard it as a solid piece of matter, but scientists tell us that there is hardly any solidity to it. It is mostly open spaces, for matter is electrons whirling about orbits. What looks solid to us is a seething mass of energy.

It is hard to see how anyone can fail to catch the teaching of both religion and science, that we live in a vital, living universe. Everything about us is living — even the inanimate objects, although the word itself gives the impression of no life. But even the inanimate things are part of a teeming, vital, significant, and purposeful universe. Look in the microscope, and you see God working amid the cells. Look through the telescope, and you see Him guiding the stars in their incredible rush through the universe, and controlling the planets as they spin about their axes and orbits.

Whether we want it that way or not, we are in a living universe, and in that universe we must continue ever to live. The way we live now will determine the conditions under which we live hereafter. But that we will continue eternally to live — either happily or unhappily — about that there is not the slightest doubt.

Death is but the passage from one form of life to another. But life there always will be. God in the microscope: God in the telescope — on earth, in heaven. For God is a living God.

More On Water Problem Survey

(Note: This is the second in a series of articles prepared by the State Board of Water Commissioners for the purpose of familiarizing the public with results of the recent statewide water problems inventory.)

In Beaufort County, the inventory committee called for "more cooperation between the landowner and the Highway Department in the drainage of surface water, especially with regard to relocating highway culverts and ditches."

In Bladen County the committee reported "Highways have blocked the natural course of drainage and adequate culverts have not been provided."

Davidson County reported that "Culverts under roads are frequently too small to take care of water from the watershed."

Forsyth County residents blamed the Highway Department for "turning water across farm fields, causing erosion and sedimentation damage" and added that "A clearer understanding is needed between highway authorities and farmers on where to cut drainage across the farmer's land."

The Guilford County committee reported that "During highway construction silt is diverted through ditches, culverts, etc., and allowed to empty directly into forests and park areas."

In Moore County it was stated that the "Highway Department turns ditch water onto farmer's fields, making no provisions for carrying water safely across the fields." At the same time it was admitted that "Farmers occasionally outlet terrace water into road ditches, causing additional problems of highway maintenance."

No Favoritism

By ALVIN TAYLOR

Skipped It, This Time

Rose High School's newspaper, "Green Lights" was not among the North Carolina high school papers for which ratings were sent down by the Columbia Scholastic Press Association last week.

It was the first time in many years that the local high school publication has not been included in the ratings. And usually "Green Lights" has been high in the standings.

The paper numbers' many "Medalist" ratings among those it has received from year-to-year. That is the top rating offered for high school newspapers, which are grouped according to school size.

The reason "Green Lights" was not included in the list of North Carolina winners was because the school was not represented at this year's Scholastic Press Association meeting in New York.

It was believed to be the first year in the last 12 — since 1946 when the meetings were revived after World War II — that the local high school has not been represented by students and advisors.

Rose High principal O. E. Dowd said it was decided to forego the New York press meeting this year and in its stead, concentrate on the Southeastern Press Institute at Washington and Lee and on the North Carolina High School press meeting.

"We feel we can gain a lot more from these other press institutes since they are a lot closer to home," Dowd says.

Then, too, the Columbia Scholastic Press Association had begun including in the judging of the newspapers such things as the number of hours of journalism taught and the type faces available.

On that basis, Greenville just couldn't compete with schools in other sections of the nation where sometimes twice as much per student is spent each year as in Greenville, Dowd said.

To be in competition it might mean the local school would have to employ a full-time, or nearly full-time journalism teacher.

"There is no need to compete with schools which have so much more money to spend for that type of thing," the principal noted.

Dowd said, however, that he felt the Columbia meetings had been worthwhile.

"Students have enjoyed them a lot and it has been worth a lot to our paper," he declared.

He noted that the school would still participate in the Columbia Scholastic Press Association by sending in issues of the paper for criticism and grading. Such papers will be returned some time after the regular meeting which ended last week.

However, local students probably won't be making the trip any more.

Instead there will be trips to Washington and Lee and to the state meeting.

Dowd said it was impractical to attend all three because of the school work missed. "We felt we should go nearer home."

"Green Lights" has a proud record in the CSPSA competition. In years before World War II the publication always showed up at the top of the awards list.

After the war new student staff members took up where their predecessors left off and high honors were earned from year-to-year.

The publication's name in the awards list will be missed in years to come.

Other Editors Saying --- An Overture On Korea?

(Christian Science Monitor)

Has Premier Chou En-lai made a bona fide move toward settling the tragic and long-pending question of Korea? Or is the latest outgiving of the Chinese Communist government in Peking merely a subtle move in the diplomatic chess game of Asian power politics?

A statement by the Communist government of North Korea early this month proposed withdrawal of foreign forces from North and South Korea, to be followed by "nationwide free elections under the supervision of a neutral nations organization." This was immediately endorsed by the parent Peking government, and Mr. Chou thereupon announced that Peking was withdrawing its troops from North Korea.

Any proposition looking toward reunification of Korea is attractive; and troop withdrawal would seem on its face to suggest reciprocal action by United Nations forces in South Korea.

But the situation is not quite so simple as this. Once before, the United States withdrew forces from South Korea after Communist occupying troops (then Russian) had been removed from North Korea. What happened was that North Korean troops equipped with tanks invaded South Korea, overrunning an army that had been limited to small arms. That was 1950.

UN forces, largely American, have been kept in South Korea to see that this does not happen again. To withdraw them would be to leave the South Korean Army, large as it is, without atomic tactical support and facing probably superior aviation and firepower. Moreover, Chinese divisions could wait merely across the Yalu River while American troops, if removed, would have to be based in Okinawa or Hawaii.

Furthermore, the UN has stamped the South Korean Government as the legitimate government of Korea, since the UN commission appointed to supervise elections in 1948 was refused admittance to North Korea.

Would an effort to organize supervised and genuine free elections in all Korea be any more successful today? The Pyongyang government speaks of "a neutral nations organization." There are "neutral" nations in the U.N. If the UN is to be supported, this should definitely be a UN commission. But would that be accepted by Kim Il Sung and Chou En-lai?

They are angling for equal recognition of the North Korean puppet government and the South Korean elected government. Recalling how Communist members of the supposedly neutral Armistice Supervision Commission rendered that body impotent, the West may reasonably keep its fingers crossed.

Notwithstanding apparently tight control of mainland China, the Peking government may have problem enough in trying to raise the level of living there. It may have resolved to shorten its commitments in Korea and Vietnam and be trying to obtain something in return. Or it may be concentrating its military strength for some kind of a demonstration against Taiwan (Formosa) this summer. The move in Korea may be hopeful; but it will also bear watching.

'Frugal' Cashier Facing Charges

HALFWAY, Ore. (AP)—The quiet, sober man who was cashier at the only bank in this little eastern Oregon town was accused yesterday of making off with nearly $100,000 over the years.

Clair Ritter, 52, who had a reputation for frugality, was arrested within hours of announcement that the money was missing.

"I would have embezzled him with my life," said bank president Walter Evans, who promptly closed the Independent First National Bank of Halfway, and said it would stay closed unless some other bank decides, after a complete audit, to buy it.

The Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. said the bank had assets of about $853,000. The FDIC said the bank's directors had voted to turn it over to the controller of currency for liquidation. The FDIC insures deposits up to $10,000.

Of the bank closure, Evans said, "There ain't gonna be no bank. I'm in my 77th year, and don't want to work no more. I've been sick and this is about as stiff a job as I can stand. My mind's all wrecked."

Ritter, who started working in the bank in 1924, owns a 160-acre ranch in this cattle-raising country. He was held at Baker, 50 miles west of here, for federal authorities.

A charge that he embezzled $99,050 over an unspecified number of years was filed with the U.S. commissioner at Portland. The shortage was uncovered by bank examiners.

Ritter's 86-year-old father formerly was president of the bank in this town of about 500 persons. He now is chairman of the board. His son always had been regarded as financially well off.

Fire Burns Five Tots To Death

SAN ANGELO, Tex. (AP)—Fire raced through a small frame house yesterday and burned five children to death.

Willie B. Bradshaw, the father, was at work at a service station and the mother, a housekeeper for a local family, was away from home.

Victims were Patricia Ann, 5, Willie Jr., 4, Manuel, 3, David, 2, and Ellison, about 1.

Cause of the fire was not determined immediately.

All were Negroes.

Didn't Want To Be A 'Vagrant'

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Circuit Judge J. Marcus Kirtley said a man called for jury service asked to be excused because "I'm a vagrant."

Questioned by Judge Kirtley, the man explained: "Well, I'll be without visible means of support if I don't get back to my business."

He was excused.

Governor Calls For A More Dynamic N. C. Slogan

WINSTON-SALEM (AP)—North Carolina should change its advertising slogan from "Variety Vacationland" to a more dynamic "Everything is on the move," says Gov. Hodges.

The suggestion was made last night in a speech to the annual meeting of the North Carolina Travel Council.

Tightening competition for the tourist dollar, Hodges warned the council, will demand "courage to the point of audacity" in seeking a fresh approach to promote the Tar Heel travel industry.

The governor told the group he has provided $50,000 from surplus highway funds to landscape entrances to the state on major roads.

"I would personally like to see us go still further and put up signs—substantial and good looking—that advertise North Carolina as a growing state in industry and diversified agriculture, including a slogan like "Everything is on the move," Hodges said.

The "variety Vacationland" tag, Hodges reminded, was adopted during the 1930s, and "maybe it ought to be looked at to see if it is what we now need."

Election of new officers was a major item today as the Travel Council held final sessions of its annual meeting. Voit Gilmore of Southern Pines, council president, presided at morning and afternoon meetings.

Tours of Old Salem and Wake Forest College also were scheduled.

Hodges pointed to super-highways on the interstate system as a challenge to be met by the tourist industry. The turnpike-like roads, he asserted, will make it possible for visitors to drive all the way across the state, bypassing cities and towns.

"Unless there is something outstanding to attract their attention, more and more drivers will just keep driving on the big, new highways," he predicted.

The governor also suggested that "each town and each firm dealing in travel" has responsibilities to bear advertising costs, now largely carried by the state. Only Asheville, Fontana and Pinehurst have advertising budgets of $50,000 or more this year, he said.

'Secedes' From U.S. In Quarrel

WALLER, Tex. (AP)—Embattled Mrs. Irene Cliett, 59, fought a court ruling taking away 350 acres by seceding from the Union yesterday. She asked U.N. recognition as a separate nation.

A sister, Mrs. Lucy Mayberry, said Mrs. Cliett also wrote Gov. Price Daniel asking intervention. Federal courts have ruled 350 acres in this southeast Texas community belong to the heirs of George Scott. Mrs. Cliett has said Scott was a friend and not a partner and has denied claims to the land.

She pitched a tent, moved in household goods and armed herself with a shotgun.

Her sister, Mrs. Mayberry, held the fort when Deputy U.S. Marshal Ellis Binford tried to present Mrs. Cliett with a copy of a request for an injunction ordering the woman not to trespass.

"You can't come onto this property," shouted Mrs. Mayberry, who stood guard with a shovel. "I just have my job to do," explained Binford.

But when he started to cross the fence, a crowd of about 15 persons advised him against it and he went back to his car.

Mrs. Mayberry gave a newsman a copy of a proclamation she said Mrs. Cliett had signed. It said in part: "We hereby declare that we are no longer a part of the said United States and do declare ourselves to be hereby seceded and herein, and after, we will be known as Eneri (Irene spelled backwards), with the capital known as Lraep (Pearl spelled backwards). The boundaries are the same as those of several deeds registered in . . . the county of Waller in the foreign land of Texas, U.S.A."

"The country of Eneri does hereby ask for membership in the United Nations."

Local Races Apparently To Provide Main Excitement For May Primary

RALEIGH (AP)—Races for local offices apparently will provide the political excitement in the May 31 Democratic primary.

Thus far, no statewide contests have developed in the "off-year" balloting for nominations in the fall general elections.

Spirited races are in prospect in two congressional districts—the 12th, where Rep. George A. Shuford of Asheville faces four opponents; and the 5th, where Rep. Ralph J. Scott of Danbury has two challengers.

Above the county level, other primary battles are set for superior court judgeships and posts as superior court solicitors.

The only statewide offices at stake in the primary are three seats on the State Supreme Court bench. Chief Justice J. Wallace Winborne and Associate Justices Emery B. Denny of Raleigh and Carlisle W. Higgins of Winston-Salem have filed for new terms and so far have no primary opposition.

The deadline falls Friday noon for candidates to file with the State Board of Elections.

Running against Shuford for the Democratic nomination to Congress in the 12th district are Heinz Rollman, Waynesville; Arch Nicholson Wallace, Swannanoa;

Tricky Nicky Is Again On Loose; Cops Collar Him

MEMPHIS, Tenn. — Tricky Nicky, the Barbary ape, arrived from Norfolk yesterday and the welcoming committee soon included the police commissioner, 12 cops, a squad of firemen and a couple of aerial trucks.

For tricky Nicky had escaped again the instant an unwary Railroad Express employe opened his cage. Traffic had to be blocked off in the downtown area before he was caught.

Destined for the Memphis Zoo, Nicky was collared by a policeman as he was walking up the side of a hotel. The officer put the arm on him by reaching through a third floor window.

Nicky was given the zoo by the British admiral in command of Gibraltar.

The U.S. Navy brought him as far as Norfolk, where he tried to jump ship. He spent the night perched on the Antares' high mast before falling for a trip baited with bananas.

In Louisiana many of the old French laws of pioneer days are still in force and a considerable part of the population still speaks French as much as they do English.

Beverly M. Middleton, Flat Rock; and Sanford W. Brown, Asheville. Scott's opponents in the fifth district are: Mayor Marshall C. Kurfess of Winston-Salem; and Winfield Blackwell, Winston-Salem attorney.

Thus far, only four contests have developed among the 12 superior court resident judgeships which will be at stake.

Atty. Gen. George B. Patton will run against T. D. Bryson of Bryson City for judge in the 30th District. Judge Dan K. Moore has announced his retirement from the bench. Bryson is a veteran superior court solicitor, and Patton served as a special superior court judge before he became attorney general.

Other races among the judges: In the 10th District, Judge William Y. Bickett of Raleigh will be opposed by William T. Hatch of Raleigh, a former special judge. In the 23rd District, Judge J. A.

Rousseau of North Wilkesboro will face Robert M. Gambill of North Wilkesboro.

In the 28th District, Judge Zeb V. Nettles of Asheville will be opposed by W. K. McLean of Asheville.

Solicitorial contests include: In the Third District, W. H. S. Burgwyn Jr. of Woodland, Perry W. Martin of Rich Square, and J. Ed Knott of Roanoke Rapids will seek the post being vacated by E. R. Tyler.

In the 19th, incumbent Robert S. Swain of Asheville is opposed by S. Thomas Walton and James S. Howell, both of Asheville.

In the 18th, incumbent Clarence O. Ridings of Forest City will face Leonard Lowe of Forest City.

The Republican primary will be featured by a solicitatorial contest in the 17th District, where incumbent J. Allie Hayes of North Wilkesboro is opposed by J. F. Jordan of North Wilkesboro.

OCEAN TO OCEAN ACROSS SOUTH AMERICA—AND BACK—IN 41 HOURS!

CHEVY'S NEW V8 LEVELS THE HIGHEST, HARDEST HIGHWAY OVER THE ANDES!

To prove the durability of Chevrolet's radical new Turbo-Thrust V8,* the tremendous flexibility of the new Turboglide transmission,* the incredible smoothness of Full Coil suspension, we tackled the most challenging transcontinental road in the world — the 1,000-mile General San Martin Highway. To make it harder, the Automobile Club of Argentina sealed the hood shut at Buenos Aires — no chance to add oil or water or adjust carburetors for high altitude.

So the run began — across the blazing Argentine pampas, into the ramparts of the forbidding Andes. Up and up the road climbed, almost 2 1/2 miles in the sky! Drivers gasped for oxygen at 12,572 feet — but the Turbo-Thrust V8 never slackened its torrent of power, the Full Coil springs smothered every bump, the Turboglide transmission made play of grades up to 30 percent. Then a plunge to the Pacific at Valparaiso, Chile, a quick turn-around and back again. Time for the round trip: 41 hours 14 minutes — and the engine was never turned off!

Norris Will Get Another Chance To Fight Court

By JOHN H. AVERILL WASHINGTON (AP) — Promoter James D. Norris is getting another chance to fight a court order that spells death for his International Boxing Club as one of history's most fabulous ring empires.

The Supreme Court agreed yesterday to review a lower court ruling that the IBC be dissolved on grounds it monopolized championship bouts in violation of the antitrust laws.

For Norris, IBC's president, the high court's action means at the least a reprieve of many months. Because of a crowded calendar, the court is not expected to hear the IBC appeal until next fall at the earliest. More months could pass before a ruling is announced. Meantime, the lower court's ruling, issued last year in New York, has been suspended.

The ruling by U.S. Dist. Judge Sylvester J. Ryan applied specifically to the International Boxing clubs of New York and Illinois; Norris and Arthur W. Wirtz, principal IBC officers; and Madison Square Garden.

Ryan ruled that the defendants created an illegal monopoly in the promotion of title fights from 1949 to 1953. To break up the monopoly he ordered that:

- 1. The clubs be dissolved.
2. Norris and Wirtz, an IBC director, sell their stock in the Garden corporation and resign as Garden officers.
3. Norris and Wirtz be barred from contracting for the exclusive services of individual fighters.
4. The Garden be limited to two championship bouts annually for the next five years. This also affected Chicago Stadium, which Norris and Wirtz own.

Lots Of Stars Around-Sievers

By JACK HAND ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — "Mickey Mantle is the only hitter with the power to break Babe Ruth's home run record."

"Ted Williams is the best hitter in the game."

"Stan Musial is the best all-around ball player."

The man who was so generous in his praise of others was Roy Sievers, the Washington slugger who beat both Williams and Mantle last year in the home run and runs batted in races.

"I don't have any ideas about any triple crown (batting, homers and RBI)," he said. "I'd just like to keep at least one of the titles I won last year. With hitters like Williams and Mantle around I have my work cut out for me."

"Somebody said I expected to hit 40 homers this year but I'd settled for anything over 30. I want to drive in over 100 runs and bat .300 again."

"I had a few breaks last year beating out Mantle and Williams. Both of them were out for a time with injuries. I got off fast and when I got ahead of them in late season I was able to stay ahead."

Sievers hit .301 and drove in 114 runs in 1957. Usually nobody pays much attention to him until it is time to sign a contract.

They say Sievers gets the highest salary the Washington club ever has paid. At an estimated $35,000, his salary was increased almost 10 per cent.

Bradley, Dayton Make Debuts in NIT Tonight

By DON WEISS NEW YORK (AP) — Dayton and Bradley, the two basketball teams considered most likely to succeed, make their debuts in the National Invitation Tournament tonight against two outsiders bent on revenge.

Top-seeded Dayton (23-3) plays Fordham, (15-9), and Bradley, (20-6), the defending champion and No. 2 seed, bumps into Xavier of Ohio (16-11) in quarterfinals at Madison Square Garden. The Bradley-Xavier winner will meet St. Bonaventure and the Dayton-Fordham survivor will face St. John's of New York in Thursday's semifinals.

The Fordham Rams absorbed their worst cuffing of the season (63-35) from Dayton Dec. 19. Last year, Bradley swept past Xavier 116-81 and set tournament records for total points for a game and for a half (72) during their climb to the NIT title. Xavier never has beaten Bradley in three meetings between the schools.

Fordham, an 83-59 winner over St. Francis (Pa.) in a first-round game Saturday, has impressed both its coach, Johnny Bach, and Dayton's coach, Tom Blackburn, with its improvement.

"That earlier loss to Dayton was the only real bad beating we took this year," said Bach. "But if we can play like we did Saturday, we'll give them a good game. I waited two years to see this club look like it did Saturday."

Blackburn echoed Bach's sentiments. "Fordham has improved very much," he said. "The way they looked against St. Francis, they could knock off any team in the country."

Xavier shook off an atrocious start to whip Niagara 95-86 in a first-round thriller Saturday.

Akins, Logart Argue Crown

NEW YORK (AP) — Welter-weight tournament semifinalists Isaac (Whip) Logart of Cuba and Virgil (Honey Bear) Akins of St. Louis are agreed on one thing—either one of them will beat Vince Martinez for the vacant boxing championship.

After that they disagree, especially on the outcome of their 12-rounder at Madison Square Garden Friday night. The winner has to meet Martinez, of Patterson, N.J., within 90 days for the championship vacated by Carmen Basilio.

Akins and Logart fought each other twice in 1955. The St. Louis veteran, now 30, won the first fight by split decision. Logart, now 24, captured the second by a 2-4 margin.

Here's the way they size up each other and Martinez: Logart: "I've watched Logart fight on television since I fought him and he's not a good as he was. He was real shifty. Now he's slowed down considerably."

"As for Martinez, he'll be scared to death when he gets in there (with Akins). Either one of us will beat him."

Logart: "So he says I've slowed up? He's in for a big surprise. I think he's slowed up plenty. I know I'm faster and better since I fought him."

"Martinez? He's nothing to worry about. The winner of this fight is going to be the champion."

Durham To Coach SC 'Old Timers'

COLUMBIA (AP) — Earl Durham, Gamecocks captain in 1946, will coach the University of South Carolina "Old Timers" in their game with the 1958 varsity here March 29.

He will be assisted by Lou Sossamon, a Gaffney native and second team all-America choice at center in 1942, and Al Grygo of Erie, Pa., a star USC halfback in the early forties.

Durham said his former USC players will probably rely heavily on passing.

"I know it will be hard to run against that tough varsity line," the former South Carolina assistant coach explained.

Rodgers' Aches Are Temples' Bad Luck

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — All America Guy Rodgers has an aching back and that means headaches for Temple coach Harry Litwak and the Owl basketball team who have visions of winning the national collegiate tournament this weekend.

It was revealed yesterday that Rodgers, the backbone of the Temple team, has been confined to Temple University Hospital since Sunday with a strained lower back.

The hospital was mum on when the six-foot senior would be released but one thing appeared certain, he wouldn't engage in a workout scheduled for late this afternoon by Litwak.

A hospital spokesman said Rodgers should be able to play Friday night against Kentucky at Louisville in the NCAA's Eastern Regional finals. But he added that Rodgers "may not be at full efficiency."

Rodgers is the team's high scorer, its "quarterback" and one of the slickest playmakers ever to appear on the collegiate scene.

He apparently suffered his injury Friday night at Charlotte, N.C., when he banged into a press table while chasing an out-of-bounds ball against Maryland. Rodgers said he felt no pain at that time but on Saturday morning awoke to find his back was stiff.

He had treatment Saturday and showed well that night as the Owls beat Dartmouth. However, when the team returned to Philadelphia Sunday, Rodgers consulted Litwak and entered the hospital.

If Rodgers is to see limited action then forward Mel Brodsky who teamed with him in the 1956-57 season in the backcourt, will move to the backcourt once again. Into the forward slot vacated by Brodsky will go 6-6 Dan Fleming, "sixth man" on the team and a regular through most of last season.

Temple has little else in bench strength. Opnie Franklin, a forward who saw extensive action in Louisville in the NCAA's Eastern Regional finals. But he added that Rodgers "may not be at full efficiency."

Throughout the season the Temple starting five gained recognition for two things: Rodgers and his wonderful work as a unit. With Rodgers below par, Temple would be hurt both ways.

Ex-ECC Cager Makes Good As Service Coach

OSAN AB, KOREA (OIS) — Second Lt. James C. Thomas, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack C. Thomas, 501 Collettin Road, Raleigh, N.C., has coached the Osan Air Base basketball team to the All-Korea Air Force Championship.

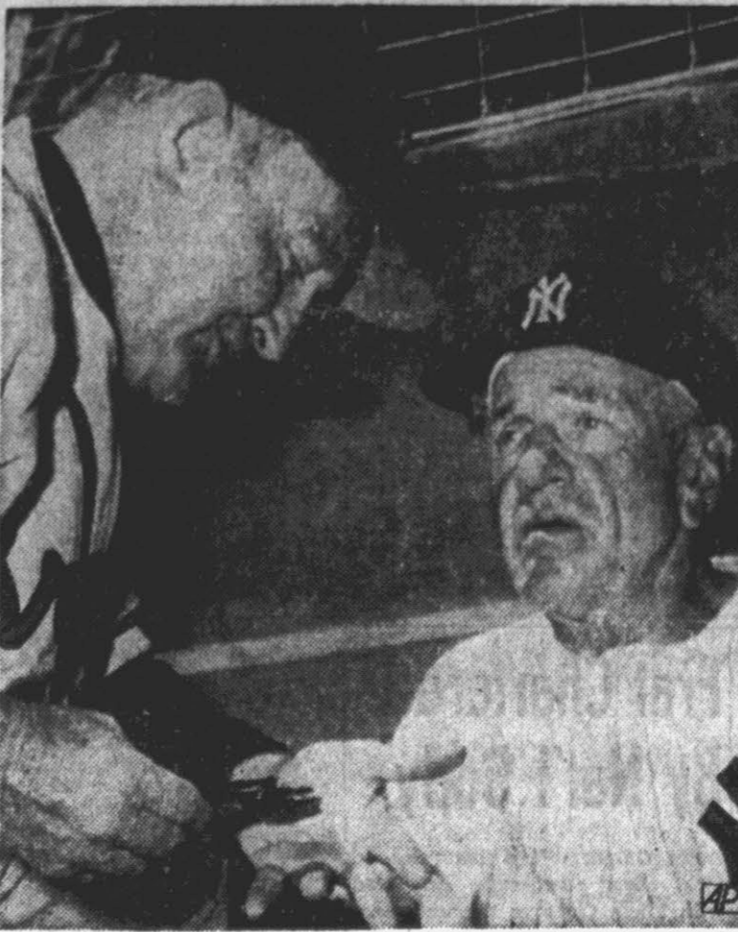

As player-coach on the Osan team, Thomas led his team to an all-time Korean record. His team scored 243 points in two games in one day to clinch the tournament and the championship. The team finished the regular season with a 24-6 record against Army and Air Force competition in Korea and Japan. While playing most of the season with an injured knee, Thomas averaged 18 points per game.

The team has now won the right to represent Korea in the Pacific Area Command basketball playoffs in Japan. The winner of these playoffs will travel to Lowry AFB, Denver, Colo., to represent the Far East in the Air Force worldwide championship games this spring.

A 1952 graduate of Raleigh Sr. High School where he lettered in three sports, Thomas was awarded a degree in physical education at Korean in October of 1957.

Robinson, Basilio Clashing Tuesday

CHICAGO (AP) — Sugar Ray Robinson, who dons and doffs the middleweight crown about as often as the next guy buys a hat, comes to Chicago today for next Tuesday's fight against champion Carmen Basilio.

Robinson will be seeking to win the middleweight championship a fifth time in what is expected to be a record indoor gate.

The International Boxing Club says there will be a near capacity of 23,000 in Chicago Stadium with a gate of more than $500,000 for the rematch of a 15-rounder at New York last fall when Basilio lifted Robinson's title.

Chicago will be blacked out for theater television but will be included in the national radio broadcast.

Basilio arrived in Chicago yesterday and with Robinson coming in today, the promoters will have the entire week to ballyhoo the fight with both contestants on hand.

Inquiry To Be Held In Death Of Young Boxer

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — An inquiry is to be held in the death of a 21-year-old amateur boxer injured in a bout Saturday night in Glens Falls.

James Porior of Burlington, Vt., died in Albany Hospital yesterday of a massive blood clot on the brain.

Ben Becker of Albany, AAU District boxing chairman, said a four-man board of inquiry would conduct a hearing in Glens Falls on Thursday.

Hardy said William Payne, 18, Porior's opponent, and referee Arthur Ramsey of Glens Falls would attend Thursday's hearing.

Brothers Coached Teams To Titles

ASHEVILLE (AP) — The Rhodes family is strutting these days, because brothers Max and Ray coached their respective teams to high school division basketball titles.

Max's Valley Springs club took the state Class A championship on Saturday night at Southern Pines. Ray's Morehead High cleaned up the Class AA title at Durham.

The brother act in collecting the championships in the same year was believed the first on record in the state.

Jack Littrell Is Latest To Switch To New Position

By JOHN CHANDLER The Associated Press Jack Littrell of the Chicago Cubs, who has played with 11 different baseball clubs in the minor and major leagues in 10 years, may be the latest to make the big switch from an infielder to a pitcher.

Littrell, no man to be feared by opposing pitchers as his .190 batting average in 61 games with the Cubs last year will attest, won his second Cactus League decision yesterday when Chicago defeated the Baltimore Orioles 5-3 at Scottsdale, Ariz.

The 29-year-old native of Louisville, Ky., pitched two innings and allowed two hits and one run. The Cubs won it on a three-run homer by Wally Moses with two out in the seventh inning. The game was limited to seven innings by agreement, since the Cleveland Indians defeated the San Francisco Giants 9-6 in the opener of the benefit double-header.

Cleveland slammed rookie Ernie Broglio for five hits and six runs in the second inning—one a two-run triple by Earl Averill. Frank Thomas hit two homers for Pittsburgh at Fort Myers, Fla., but the Chicago White Sox defeated the Pirates 7-4. Chicago got four runs in the fourth inning with the help of two wild pitches, two walks and an error. Vernon Law pitched five innings and gave up all the White Sox runs.

Richie Ashburn hit a double and three singles as the Philadelphia Phillies pounded Herman Wehmeier, Bob Miller and Bill Smith for 15 hits in a 6-2 decision over the St. Louis Cardinals at St. Petersburg, Fla.

The Cincinnati Redlegs defeated the Washington Senators 9-6 at Orlando, Fla. Frank Robinson drove in six runs on a pair of homers, a single and sacrifice fly. Steve Bilko also homered for Cincinnati.

The Milwaukee Braves belted Bob Turley of the New York Yankees for five runs, four on West Covington's grand-slam homer, in the first inning at Bradenton, Fla. Joe Adcock also homered in the inning. But the Yankees, breaking out with their lustiest batting surge of the spring, rallied for a 15-8 victory. Mickey Mantle, Andy Carey and Hank Bauer hit homers as the Yankees won their fourth straight.

The Los Angeles Dodgers had to go 10 innings to squeeze out a 3-2 victory over Spokane, their Pacific Coast League farm club, at Vero Beach, Fla. The Dodgers got only four hits.

McDougald Is Casey's Problem

By ED WILKS ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — "One of these days now," said Casey Stengel, "I gotta figure where I'm gonna play McDougald this year."

What he had in mind when he talked of Gil McDougald was the problem of finding a place to play Tony Kubek, that bright young man from Milwaukee who draped the Braves in crepe in the third game of last fall's World Series with his bat, then decked 'em in ermine with his errant throw in the seventh and decisive game.

"Now that Kubek, he plays good ball for me and this club wins the pennant," said Stengel, "so you gotta say I gotta give him a chance at a job."

"He plays left field and center field too, when Mantle's out, and third base and shortstop and he can play second base," said Casey. "What he can play best, I don't know."

"Now if he can play shortstop—I mean if he can cover that ground out there—with his age why I could have me a shortstop for 10 or 12 years."

"I gotta play him, but if I do than I gotta bench Carey or Lumpe (at third) or get rid of Richardson (at second). And if I play him at second or short, why, I sorta got me a pretty good infield out there with Carey or Lumpe (at third), McDougald-Kubek (short and second) and Skowron or Carey or Lumpe, Kubek-McDougald and Skowron."

Some guy mentioned at this that McDougald was no real problem, Casey snorted. "He's the best I remember for tough spots," said Casey, speaking of McDougald's versatility.

"You take an outfielder and he says he can play all three outfields and it don't mean nuthin' because they're mostly all the same. But you take McDougald and you say he can play third or short or second and you got somethin' because you play 'em all different and the throws are different, don'tcha know."

"I'll tell you somethin' about him to show you how good he is any place."

"I won the pennant," said Casey, "every place he played."

Army Symphony Wins Acclaim In Germany

By HEINHOLD ENSZ STUTTGART, Germany (AP)—A group of 70 young American soldiers is showing Germans that the land of Elvis Presley also appreciates Beethoven and Brahms. The soldiers—frequently described by the German press as America's best ambassadors—are members of the Seventh U. S. Army's symphony orchestra, the only military symphony in the world. Before the symphony was organized here in 1952, many Germans had a low opinion of American musical tastes. If you tried to tell them there are Americans who go for something besides jazz and hilly billy music, they were apt to raise their eyebrows in polite skepticism.

nic, the Minneapolis Symphony and the Boston Pops. He also had a scholarship at the Curtis Institute in Philadelphia. At 26, Sgt. Tung is the oldest. After hundreds of concerts, the Germans gradually became used to the idea that American soldiers could do something besides chase "frueins" and wear loud sports shirts. But then, late in 1956, the orchestra astounded Germans all over again. It got a Chinese for a conductor. He was 26-year-old Ling Tung, who had lived in Shanghai until 1947, when he emigrated to the member of the orchestra. All are enlisted men and their ages range downward to 18. Their youthfulness has made Germans aware of another fact, namely, that American youngsters are interested in classical music. When Germans talk about regular American symphony orchestras, they like to point out that some of their members, especially the conductors, were European born.

'A New Direction' In Life Cited By Minister

"Something happened to Ralph Cushman as a teenager when he gave his life to Christ," the Bishop told his "Youth Night" congregation last night at St. James Church. "My life had taken a new direction," he added. At the close of the service Bishop Cushman invited young and old alike to face squarely the decision for Christ which confronts them. As house lights went out, and only the blue glow of an illuminated giant cross high over the pulpit and altar candles lit the Church, scores of persons quietly found their way to the altar rail.

Dr. Pace Speaks At Lions' Meet

"The printing press is the one invention that has had the greatest influence on the human race," stated Dr. Charles Pace, in speaking to the Greenville Lions Club last night. Dr. Pace briefly traced the history of man and his accomplishments. He stated that even though there is evidence that humans have existed for more than 75,000 years there was no marked progress in his life until some method of writing was devised. "With the invention of the printing press, the printed word came within the reach of almost everyone," said Pace, "and by being able to record man's achievements each generation has been able to start just a step ahead of the preceding one."

Dr. Pace spoke on behalf of National Library Week and urged his listeners to make regular habits of using the library and reading worthwhile literature. "Whenever you read and learn something," he said, "you not only increase your interest in that subject but in other subjects as well." Jimmy Harris announced to the Lions that the annual Ladies and Charter Night for the organization will be held Monday night, March 31, at the Woman's Club. Edward Cushman, senior at J. H. Rose High School, was introduced as the Junior Lion for this month. Costs of accidents in the United States would have clothed every man, woman and child in 1956.

Buffalo Has Share Of Big Snow Woe

By DICK WHALEN
 BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Take a mass of cold air out of northern Canada and pour it across the Great Lakes to the Atlantic Ocean.
 Give one chunk of it a spinning motion as it flows down Lake Erie toward Buffalo and Niagara Falls, soaking up moisture from the lake.
 Then duck.
 Because if you're one of 1,089,230 people living in metropolitan Buffalo, you're in for snow—huge quantities of it—from one of Buffalo's homemade snowstorms.
 The storms are peculiar. They are brewed right in the city's backyard, Lake Erie, and they strike in a narrow belt, sometimes only five miles wide.
 When they hit hard, everything stops. The railroad yards, second largest in the country, are paralyzed. Industry is crippled. Traffic grinds to a halt.
 The storm everybody here remembers as THE storm is the St. Patrick's Day blizzard of 1936.
 It started March 17, just three days before spring, and poured 27.4 inches of snow. The city had exhausted its snow removal money, and emergency funds were appropriated to cart the stuff away. Troops were called in to help.

 The lake storms deliver about half Buffalo's snow, and Buffalo averages 6 feet of snow a year, nearly twice as much as any other major American city.
 This is how U.S. weatherman Bernard Wiggin describes the effect of a typical Lake Erie snowstorm:
 "It's like a garden hose spraying snow over western New York. Sometimes the hose points toward Jamestown, down near Pennsylvania; sometimes toward Buffalo; most of the time it swings back and forth, spraying snow in a belt about 10 miles wide and 30 miles in from the lake."
 Snow removal is a major problem. Buffalo spends about $600,000 a year on it. The private citizen, confronted with snow-plugged driveway, sidewalk and doorway, has to combine a resourceful nature and a strong back to get to work or to the store.
 One man hemmed in by towering snowbanks found he had no place to put the snow he was shoveling from his driveway. So he shoveled it through a window into his basement and then flushed it down a drain with warm water.

'Music Man' Proved Surprising Success

By BOB THOMAS
 HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Music man Meredith Willson, who proved that wholesomeness can pay off on Broadway, is a clean-cut Iowa boy (56) who doesn't gloat over his success.
 Although well he might. Wasn't his show, "Music Man," once dropped by the hit-making production team of Feuer and Martin? Didn't CBS bigwigs decline to back the show and predict it would be a flop? Didn't Victor, Columbia and Decca turn down chances to buy the record album rights?
 The answer to all three is yes. It is also true that "Music Man" is a solid smash, that the backers will get back their investment tenfold and the Capitol album is selling like cracker.
 Smug? Not our boy Willson, the pride of Mason City.
 "I'm not sure I could have done 'Music Man' one day sooner than I did," said Willson, a one-man gang who wrote music, lyrics and book for the show. "I wouldn't be surprised if it didn't take 56 years of living."
 Willson took his show, which he called "The Silver Triangle," to Feuer and Martin in 1953. "They flipped over it," the author recalled, "and Cy Feuer renamed it 'The Music Man.'"
 Ernie Martin came to Hollywood to aid Willson in the rewrite. But the script worsened instead of getting better. The deal was called off. Willson went back to the piano.
 Still obsessed by the story of a con man who sells musical instruments to citizens of a small

Annual Science Fair Is Set April 4 At College

High School science students have been invited to participate in the Third Annual Science Fair for the Northeastern District of the state at East Carolina College April 4.
 Exhibitions by outstanding juniors and seniors specializing in the biological or physical sciences will be displayed that day in the Flanagan building on the campus here as an attraction of East Carolina's 1958 High School Day. Winners of awards will be announced at a ceremony in the department of science.
 Dr. Austin D. Bond of the East Carolina faculty is acting as director for fairs in the Northeastern District, which includes 25 counties in this section of the state. "Interest in the science fairs is running high this spring," he stated, "and many exhibits are expected for the April 4 event here."
 The entries in the Northeastern District Fair, most of them selected as winners in preliminary local contests, will be judged at East Carolina April 4. The ten best, Dr. Bond stated, will be selected from the senior division for exhibition at the State Science Fair at Duke University April 17-19. Winners in the State Science Fair will be selected from the senior division for exhibition at the State Science Fair at Duke University April 17-19.
 19. Winners in the State Science Fair will be awarded an all-expense trip to the National Fair in Flint, Mich., in May.
 The projects of two senior exhibitors at East Carolina College April 4 will be chosen for display at the North Carolina State Fair in Raleigh next October. Dr. Bond explained. In addition, he said, 26 outstanding projects will be selected at the State Science Fair at Duke and will be shown at the Raleigh State Fair.
 Seven district science fairs and the State Science Fair, scheduled for this month and April, are sponsored by the North Carolina Academy of Science and 29 cooperating organizations in North Carolina. The purposes of these events are to give recognition to the work of outstanding science students and to "discover" boys and girls who may become scientists, mathematicians, teachers, doctors, nurses, or engineers in industrial and research laboratories.

Explosive Shells Fall In Town, Hit 3 Homes

SHEBOYGAN FALLS, Wis. (AP)—Explosive cannon shells whipped out of the sky last night, pelting streets and hammering in to at least three houses.
 No one was injured, but residents of the area were warned to be on the lookout for any other shells which might be unexploded.
 The blue-tipped projectiles were identified as shells from 20 mm. cannon mounted on American military aircraft.
 Capt. Robert Dietz, Air Force information officer at Chicago's O'Hare Field, said he was informed the shells came from a B47 based at Lockbourne Air Force Base near Columbus, Ohio.
 At Lockbourne AFB, Lt. Billy Baxter, an information officer, said the only Lockbourne plane over Wisconsin last night was an RB47 which did not have ammunition in its tail cannon, the only armament it carries, the only Lt. Baxter said the 26th Strategic Reconnaissance Wing had one RB47 flying in "that general direction," but he said it was not scheduled to arrive in this area until after the cannon fire occurred.

 Projectiles pierced the roofs of the John Novotny house here, the home of Lloyd Theune at nearby Oostburg and the residence of Francis Deely, Sheboygan Falls.
 Police Chief Henry Dillmann of Sheboygan Falls said one shell exploded about 20 yards ahead of his car on Highway 23.
 Officer Thomas Winter said other shells exploded in the street here.
 Unexploded shells were recovered from the three homes.
 Mrs. Novotny said a bullet struck a chest of drawers in the second-floor bedroom where her three little daughters were asleep. The chest stood on the spot where the bed had been located last week before Mrs. Novotny moved the furniture.
 The shells which ripped the roof at the Theune home caused clothing to catch fire on the second floor, but the fire was extinguished quickly.

Dynamite Blast Damages House

ATLANTA (AP)—A dynamite explosion last night damaged an unoccupied house recently sold to Negroes in a predominantly white Atlanta neighborhood.
 Police said someone apparently entered the six-room frame structure through the back door and set off the charge in a hallway between the living room and the kitchen.
 The blast knocked out most of the windows, ripped a door frame, blasted a hole in the floor and did considerable damage to the ceiling. No injuries were reported.
 Police said a few white residents had picketed the area in the northeast section carrying signs reading, "This is a white community."
 The first tax-supported free circulating public library in the U.S. was established in 1833—only 124 years ago—in Peterborough, N.H.

Batista Ignores Rebel Manifesto

HAVANA (AP)—President Fulgencio Batista showed no sign today of heeding a call for his resignation by leaders of 42 organizations.
 The manifesto, declaring anarchy and bloodshed could be averted only if Batista got out, came on the heels of a 22-point ultimatum by rebel leader Fidel Castro giving the President until April 5 to quit or face "a fight to the finish."
 The presidential palace made no immediate comment on either demand. But it appeared clear Batista is determined to stay on until after the election he has set for June 1. His choice for president, former Premier Andres Bello Aguirre, has said no one can stop the balloting, which the rebels claim is rigged to block any opposition candidate from winning.
 The manifesto—put out by representatives of 42 religious, fraternal, professional, civic and cultural organizations—called for the dissolution of Congress and formation of a provisional transition government representing all major factions.
 Castro's ultimatum called for setting up a military junta immediately after Batista's exit, to be followed by a provisional regime to rule until general elections could be held.
 The civic leaders' manifesto denounced what it called "repressive forces" exercised by Batista in an attempt to stem the revolt.

Green-Haired Girl Told Leave School

BALTIMORE (AP)—There was a wee bit of excitement St. Patrick's Day over an Irish colleen wearing a bit of green.
 Sure 'n she was wearing it in her hair. But as her pop said, "Why get upset about a girl using a little food coloring in her hair to show she's Irish on St. Patrick's Day?"
 Well, before you can say Be gorrah, the lass with the green hair, Margo Miller, 15, was asked to leave school. Officials didn't like the excitement among the 2,600 pupils at Woodbourne Junior High School.
 You should have seen the excitement when her pop, Leo Miller, heard about it. He was on his way to the annual Hibernian Society Mass at St. Patrick's Catholic church.
 Nevertheless he said he wished for a shillelagh to use on somebody. What was worse, he found no Irish support from the two school officials he talked to.
 The principal has the French name of Miss Dorothy Duvall and Miller observed she "obviously isn't Irish." The assistant school superintendent, who also heard some Miller fireworks has the Dutch name of Thomas Van Sant.
 City school Supt. John H. Fisher had the last word: Miss Duvall "exercised the best kind of judgment" in the case because "the green hair was calculated to attract attention and would interfere with instruction."

A NEW SUSPENSE NOVEL BY WILLIAM FULLER

CHAPTER 31
 As soon as it was dark, Marta and I moved out of the ravine. I led the way through the crevice in the rock. The eastern beach was only a few hundred yards away.

I'd decided it would be futile to risk ourselves climbing around the rocky, jumbled interior; we'd be much better off doing our traveling along the shoreline. We'd stay on the inner edge of the beach, head north, and see what we could find.

The ground behind the beach alternated between high, rocky spurs and low, flat areas. By the time we'd traveled a little more than a mile Marta was limping badly. It had been a mistake to bring her with me but it was too late to turn back now. I'd have to find a good place for her to hide soon.

And then, suddenly, we were at a rock and grass encircled spring-fed pool—fifteen feet in diameter at its widest point.

Marta sank gratefully to a rick beside it. I started circling it, feeling my way. Halfway around I found an overhanging ledge of rock. Beneath this ledge was an opening. I went to my hands and knees and crawled into the opening.

It was in a dry, shallow cave—five feet deep, probably, and about twelve feet long. The dirt floor was smooth, fairly level and well-packed.

I told Marta to rest. We'd need food soon, and I'd probably find some not far from where we were.

I rounded a knoll behind the pool. I found myself on the edge of a clearing. The clearing was rectangular shaped, a few hundred feet long and half as wide.

A thin sliver of a moon had appeared and by its pale light I could see, at the far end of the clearing, the sagging, roofless walls of what once had been a shack of some kind. The one-time home of some long since departed Bahaman and his family.

Beyond the house I noticed a cluster of trees. I hurried. As I got closer to the trees I recognized the broad, shiny leaves, the thick clusters of fruit. Avocados. Of all tropical or sub-tropical fruit probably the richest, the most nourishing.

I shrugged out of my damp and You Owe It To Yourself To Check Our Deal! Davenport Motor Sales Ford Mercury Farmville, N. C.

FALSE TEETH That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plates dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Hold false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks plate odor (denture breath). Get FASTEETH at any drug counter.

BISSETTE'S
 PICTURE TALK

By CHARLES BISSETTE

Spring Is Just Around the Corner

Millionaires can choose their weather when they want it, but most of us have to wait for it to come to us. That's why, when Spring comes around, we begin to look forward to a whole outdoors full of fun. And we do our best to make the most of it.

A camera can be a big help. It can help you and your family keep fresh in mind, all year long, the people who shared your outdoor adventures, the places you went, the things you did. When your family plans those picnics, fishing trips, reunions, and motor excursions, be sure you plan on keeping a record of it.

There's one camera in particular that's well suited for the great outdoors. It's compact, easy to carry, and surprisingly simple to use. It's a miniature camera, which means it takes those priceless 35mm color slides, as well as black-and-white. It's called the Kodak Signet 40 Camera, and it costs only $74, complete with deluxe flashholder. It's a real gem and at a small price when you consider how much it adds to family fun!

Of course, we have a considerable number of other fine Kodak miniature cameras for color slides—priced from as little as $26.75. Drop in. We'll be glad to help you select a model that's exactly suited to your needs.

Warehouse Door Fell On Top Of His Car

WAREHOUSE DOOR FELL ON CAR YESTERDAY . . . freak accident was no April Fool's joke. (Reflector Photo).

"I thought someone was trying to play an April Fool's joke on me," J. L. Clark of 2508 East Fourth Street said. "But I realized it was still March."

Clark stated that someone called him and reported that a warehouse door had fallen on top of his car. A few minutes after receiving the call he went around on Boyd Avenue to investigate and found the door right where the caller said it was — on top of his car.

The door, measuring approximately 25 feet wide and 14 feet in height, was the property of the Grover's Warehouse. One bystander estimated it weighed in the neighborhood of a thousand pounds.

According to a police officer, two people saw the freak accident occur. Both were quoted as saying they looked across the street and saw the door just as it fell on the parked automobile.

Police estimated damage to the top and front of the car at $75. Damage to the door was not reported. No one was injured.

Clark told investigating officers he parked his car in the driveway leading into the warehouse early yesterday morning and did not return until he received the call about 12:30. The accident reportedly took place around noon.

"Sure wish it had been an April Fool's joke," he said with a smile.

Farmers Advised To Plant Cotton

RALEIGH (AP) — The governor's Farm Advisory Committee has advised Tar Heel farmers to plant all available cotton acreage this year to boost sagging farm income.

The committee, appointed recently to try to beef up farm income, said price prospects are bright for the 1953 cotton crop.

Cotton is expected to be in relatively short supply this year—especially the better grades—the committee said yesterday.

Gov. Hodges gave the committee his endorsement, urging cotton farmers to plan carefully every step of production to insure a crop of high yields and good quality.

North Carolina's cotton acreage allotment this year totaled 593,851 acres. Of this, 203,574 acres have been placed in the Soil Bank leaving 290,277 acres available for planting. North Carolina farmers in recent years have failed to plant their entire cotton acreage.

Two Hot Water Lines Connected

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Detective John Riordan was sure there couldn't be anything wrong with the new automatic washing machine in his basement. He had installed it himself.

But his wife insisted for two weeks that the machine pumped only hot water, and she couldn't wash delicate fabrics.

Finally, Riordan consented to take another look.

Instead of the proper hot and cold water pipe connections, Riordan found he had connected the machine to two hot water lines.

Benson Objects To Farm Freeze

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Benson has voiced anew his strong opposition to a farm freeze resolution despite a softening of terms yesterday by the House Agriculture Committee.

The committee imposed a one-year limitation on the freeze that would prevent price supports from dropping below 1957 levels and keep acreage allotments up to this year's figures.

The one-year proviso was inserted in a move to further the resolution's chances and make it more acceptable to President Eisenhower and Benson.

The agriculture secretary, however, said he still is opposed to a freeze "whether it be for one year or 10 years."

Benson is opposed to the freeze on the contention it would destroy markets, increase surpluses and add to the cost of farm programs.

The resolution carried a permanent status as approved by the Senate. The one-year limitation was proposed in the House committee by Rep. Abitt (D-Va.). After adopting the amendment, the opposition votes being cast by Republican members. Seven other GOP committeemen voted with the solid Democratic bloc.

Chairman Cooley (D-NC) said the one-year restriction removed most of the objections and he hoped there wouldn't be a party fight on the resolution. He said he hoped to win Rules Committee clearance to bring the resolution to the floor Thursday.

Draw Long Prison Terms For Break-Ins, Thefts

A series of break-ins and thefts in the Ayden area during February has resulted in long prison terms for two Baltimore Negroes.

The two, Jessie Brown, 20, and Joseph Edward Knox, 19, drew four 5-to-10 year sentences each from Judges Joseph W. Parker, presiding at a two-weeks term of Pitt County Superior Court. The sentences, which were grouped in pairs, give each of the defendants a base term of 5-to-10 years with a second pair of concurrent sentences scheduled to begin at expiration of the first pair.

The two Negroes entered pleas of guilty to charges which linked them with robberies or attempted robberies at four stores in the Ayden area.

Other judgments which were returned included: Addie Richardson, Farmville, damage to personal property, prayer for judgment continued on payment of costs; Charlie Edwards, Route 1, Chocowinity, peace warrant, nol pros.

Robert Hines, Negro, Bethel, assault with a deadly weapon with intent to kill, inflicting serious injury not resulting in death, 7-to-10 years; Lawrence Earl Parker, Me.

Ed Parkinson, governor of District 3, North Carolina Exchange Clubs, reviewed the history of Exchange clubs at last Friday's supper meeting at the Woman's Club.

He discussed Exchange clubs from a local and national standpoint, summarized Exchange objectives and stressed the importance of the current expansion program to establish new clubs in Eastern North Carolina this year.

President Fred Forbes, who presided, announced that the Greenville Exchange Club will observe the 47th anniversary of National Exchange on March 27. He appointed Exchangeite Jake Hadley chairman of the Anniversary Committee.

The resolution was approved 25-8 with the opposition votes being cast by Republican members. Seven other GOP committeemen voted with the solid Democratic bloc.

Chairman Cooley (D-NC) said the one-year restriction removed most of the objections and he hoped there wouldn't be a party fight on the resolution. He said he hoped to win Rules Committee clearance to bring the resolution to the floor Thursday.
