Noted Art Educator Discusses The Arts In Contemporary Life

"The creative power demanded in the arts is the same type of power which will carry us forward in science and technology," Dr. I. L. de Francesco, nationally known art educator, told an audience at East Carolina College Monday night.

The speaker, noted teacher, artist, lecturer, and author, and director of art education at State Teachers College, Kutztown, Pa., is a visitor this week on the East Carolina campus. His series of lectures here before college classes, groups of teachers, and the public is sponsored by the Danforth Foundation of the college.

In spite of present emphasis on the sciences in American education, no conflict exists between humanities, of which the fine arts are a branch, and the sciences, he told an audience from the campus and the city gathered in the Joyner Library auditorium.

"Science," he explained, "is concerned with the external realities of the world; the humanities, with the powers of the mind to generate and to apply ideas for solution of living and life as they arrive."

He pointed out that "what we need is to know how to live in an age of scientific advancement. To do this both science and the humanities are needed."

Imagination, adaptability to what is new, nonconformity, and ability to abstract, synthesize, and organize, he indicated, are "ingredients" of creativity in all fields of endeavor. These components, he said, foster change and progress; development of new ideas, situations, and methods; and understanding of their values and significance.

Dr. de Francesco illustrated his talk with lantern slides showing new developments in sculpture, architecture, and painting. He was introduced to his audience by Dr. Wellington B. Gray, director of the East Carolina art department and a former pupil of the speaker.

Landscaping Club House Yard
There may be many different opinions on the best way to get a job done, but when it came to landscaping the yard of the Eastwood Home Demonstration club house in New Hanover County, there was only the committee way.

Several months ago when the committee was organized, they worked with Home Agent Verna Belle Lowery on plans for 1958 and which jobs should be done first.

Members of the Eastwood club had been so busy working toward completing their building and installing a heating system last year, they felt it was high time they paid some attention to the yard.

Then in January, Mr. Arnold Peterson, City Parks and Recreation, attended the home demonstration club meeting to help them with yard plans. He explained to them how much dirt was needed to fill in the yard, and where the driveway and parking area should be located.

Since that time plans have been completed and much of the work has already been done. Club members say it won't be long before their club house will be one of the most attractive places in the community.

Developing Leaders in Pitt Co.
"Developing leadership is one of the goals of the Home Demonstration program. Pitt County is seeing evidence of this leadership development during the month of March as the clothing leaders are in charge of the demonstrations on the care and use of the sewing machine for their local clubs," said Mrs. Lillie Little, home agent.

"These leaders have been very original in their presentation, bringing in extra activities that have made a special appeal to their club members," she said.

Some of the original activities used by the leaders that Mrs. Little mentioned include using samples of new fabrics, presentation of new fashion ideas, ideas on care of newer fabrics, and notes on the newer colors.

Mrs. Ella Pate, Mrs. H. C. Gurganus, and Mrs. Albert Bell not only gave the demonstration for their own club, but also gave it for neighboring clubs.

That's Where The Money Goes
"Do you know where your money goes?" That was the question asked of Yadkin County 4-H Club members recently, according to Rachel Teague, assistant home agent. Emphasis was put on the necessity of keeping some type of record on spending as well as making a spending plan.

It was found through a survey explained Miss Teague, that of 705 4-H Club members, 516 reported they earned some of their money. Those receiving an allowance numbered 132.

One 4-H'er remarked to Miss Teague after the meeting that "My daddy is always saying he doesn't know where his money goes. So I'm going to show him what we learned today."

Emphasis On Food Preparation
Approximately one-half of the 4-H girls in Duplin County are enrolled in some phase of food preparation as a project, according to Lois G. Britt, assistant home agent.

Recent demonstrations at 4-H Club meetings have been emphasizing various phases of food preparation in order to give club girls the most help on their projects. One of these was called "Three Meals That Measure Up" in which Mrs. Britt encouraged the girls to plan menus. These were then checked by the Basic Seven Food chart to see if they did "measure up" to the day's nutritional needs.

Mrs. Britt concluded by saying that a demonstration of this type has increased more interest in food preparation and at the same time given the girls know-how in planning meals.

Benefit Supper Pays Off
A benefit supper staged by the Advance home demonstration club in Chowan County recently paid off in a big way, according to reports from Mildred Morris, home agent.

The plans for the benefit supper were made in order to reduce the indebtedness of their community building. For fun and financial help, they sold penny notes, with a prize to be a scrumptious "lo-cake," for the "Best Looking Couple." This contest netted $90.50. Votes were also sold for the ugliest man present, with the winner receiving a jar of pickles. This resulted in a $37 return for the club. A quilt made by the club members was sold at auction for $25.

As a special treat, Mrs. Alton Harrell, club member and manager of the Nu-Curl Beauty Shop, donated a shampoo and hair set as a door prize, which was won by Mrs. Sanford Bass, Route 3, Edenton.

Approximately 100 persons were served the chicken pot pie and ham dinner with all the trimmings.

Miss Morris said the results of the benefit were far above expectations, because the proceeds from the event amounted to enough to completely finish paying for the community building.

Helped In A Variety Of Ways
Home Demonstration club women in Caswell County have been helped in a variety of ways with their problems in recent weeks.

According to Louise Homewood, home demonstration agent, one of these areas where many club women were helped was in window treatment in their homes.

Bringing In Network TV Show Isn't Easy

By CHARLES MERCER
WILMINGTON, N.C. (P)—Readers in various parts of the country often write this department in New York and complain that local stations do not carry this or that program.

"I know what they mean," says Claud O'Shields, manager of Station WECT-TV here in Wilmington. "People in this area sometimes say to me, 'You're carrying three networks — ABC, CBS and NBC — so why don't you get such and such a program?'"

Bringing a network program in to a specific area is more complex than most people imagine. WECT-TV is the only station in the Wilmington area. It is an optional station of the NBC-TV network. It also takes CBS-TV network programs live and ABC-TV programs which are expressed here on kinescope. O'Shields says that special antennae are necessary to receive other Carolina TV stations here.

After reviewing the WECT-TV schedule, I believe that viewers in this area are receiving as diversified and excellent programs as could be found in any one station area in the country.

Tonight, for example, after a morning primarily devoted to NBC network shows and an afternoon made up chiefly of CBS programs, it brings Douglas Edwards' news report (CBS), followed by Disneyland (ABC), the Betty White Show (ABC), The Millionaire (CBS), I've Got A Secret (CBS), the Pat Boone Show (ABC), and then the weather and a movie.

So it is rather astonishing to learn that WECT-TV, prospering financially as a result of its local and regional advertising, actually loses money on its network programs. O'Shields pointed out, for instance, that last month the station received $6,300 from network programs sources. Yet to bring these programs to Wilmington by long lines it paid AT&T $7,600. Fortunately for both viewers and station, however, its monthly gross was about $45,000.

"To put it simply," said O'Shields, "we know that we have more viewers than people in New York are convinced than we have."

A Nielsen survey has fixed WECT-TV's "saturation" at 51 per cent. More recent surveys by the American Research Bureau and the Carolina Power & Light Co. place the station's "saturation" at over 90 per cent.

O'Shields seeks more daytime sponsored NBC programs than he now is receiving. Presumably the station will receive them after demonstrating that its audience is larger than is currently reported. He also seeks more Westerns which, he says, have created wider viewer interest in this region.

Will Present A Play At Belvoir-Falkland

By ANNE HARRIS
Rehearsals are nearing an end for the Junior Class presentation of "Gentlemen, Preferred," a three-act farce which will be presented Friday night in the high school auditorium.

Featured in the cast of the class play are Mitchell Wooten, Gail Garris, Lila Garris, Nellie Gwaltney, Margaret May, Allen Harris, James Joyner, Dora Brown, Marie Carraway, Milton Elks, Jerry Wooten, Mackie Turner, Catherine Windham and Jarvis Tripp.

Mrs. Virginia Lang, Junior Class Advisor, is in charge of the production. The Class Play hasn't been the main topic of conversation for the Juniors, however. Their class rings arrived last week.

The rings have light blue sets with the school name around them. The North Carolina State Seal is on one side of the rings, while the insignia of Belvoir-Falkland High School is on the other side.

The Rev. Matthew McGowan of the Rocky Mount Second Presbyterian Church was guest speaker at an assembly program last week. He was introduced by the Rev. Philip Corey of Grace Presbyterian Church.

The Rev. Mr. McGowan was holding a revival in the Grace Presbyterian Church of Falkland last week.

Senior Class members have taken a big step in their planned trip to New York. They have chartered a 37-passenger bus for the trip which is scheduled to be held the weekend of April 17.

Seats on the bus will be reserved for 25 students and 12 others, including chaperones. Before the students can make the trip, however, they will be required to complete most of the work on their research themes.

Puzzle Contest Begins Thursday

The new Cashword Puzzle Contest begins tomorrow in the Daily Reflector.

Contestants may win $25 per week in the contest and perhaps a bonus for correctly answering the puzzle. The Royal Crown Bottling Co. of Greenville is sponsoring the contest.

To enter, contestants simply complete the puzzle, the first of which will appear in tomorrow's Reflector, choosing the word in each case that best fits the clues. Two or more words may seem to fit a clue, but the best one should be chosen.

There is only one correct solution to the puzzle. If there are two or more winning puzzles, the prize and bonus money will be equally divided among the winners. After the puzzles are solved, they should be clipped out and

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — The commander of the Atlantic Fleet cruiser force, which includes guided missile ships, has offered to assist Norfolk public schools to encourage students in rocket and missile experiments.

He is offering a carefully directed science program designed to prevent students injuring themselves but to encourage the study of rockets.

Answers are composed in New York City and will be delivered to a local bank. No one will have access to the answers until after the deadline for sending in entries. All puzzles will be corrected locally and the decisions of the judges will be final.

Anyone may enter the contest except employees of the Royal Crown Bottling Co. of Greenville and The Daily Reflector, Inc. and members of their families.

Legionnaires Warned Fight Isn't Over

McLAWHORN, WHICHARD AND FULLER . . . At American Legion District Membership Meeting.

Sixty-six representatives of five Third District American Legion posts were warned last night they will "have to continue to fight for veterans' rights if those rights are to continue."

The warning was sounded by Kenneth Whichard, retired Army lieutenant-colonel and a member of Greenville Post 39 of the Legion. Whichard was principal speaker at a Third District membership meeting.

Representatives from Greenville, Ayden, Farmville, Washington and Aurora attended the meeting, one of a series of membership campaign assemblies being held throughout the state. Third District Commander Herman McLawhorn of Greenville presided.

Happy With 3 Sharks In Tub

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Victor Balibrera, 8, has never been happier. He has three sharks in his bathtub.

Victor caught a 30-inch sand shark alive off the Ft. Mason pier Monday and persuaded his father Joseph, a carpenter, to let him take it home along with some sea water.

The shark died that night, but not until it had given birth to three babies.

Victor says Poky, Tarzan and Skipper are doing fine on a diet of bread crumbs. After they get "a little bigger and stronger" he plans to give them to Steinhart Aquarium.

We must all continue to fight for the veterans' program." Whichard also paid tribute to World War I veterans, who have carried the load in Legion work. "I wonder," he told the group, "if World War II veterans haven't had it too soft in the matter of obtaining benefits. Our World War I comrades have actually carried the load, but they can't do it forever. We have to find new members, among the World War II veterans, and carry the Legion program to them."

Marie Retracts Charges Husband In 'Kidnapping'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actress Marie McDonald has tearfully denied her story that her estranged husband arranged to have her kidnaped last year.

Elegantly dressed in the new "sack look," Miss McDonald, 34, met with law enforcement officers. They questioned her about the story she told two weeks ago in Cincinnati that her husband, wealthy shoeman Harry Karl, masterminded the kidnaping.

Dabbing her eyes with a handkerchief, the actress, known as "The Body," told reporters later: "Just say that I am retracting the whole story."

Karl called her accusation ridiculous. He took a lie detector test Monday. Later Police Chief William H. Parker said Karl had no guilty knowledge of the kidnaping.

The day after Karl announced he had asked Miss McDonald for a divorce and said he is in love with an unidentified redhead, the actress gave the new version of the kidnaping to reporters in Cincinnati. Later she repeated it to Los Angeles investigators flown to Ohio. She was then doing a night club show in the Cincinnati area.

After the conference with Chief Parker, Dist. Atty. William B. McKesson and other officials, Miss McDonald told reporters: "In Cincinnati I had a threatening telephone call. I had also had a call from my husband in which he was cruel and said he wanted a divorce. I was emotionally upset."

"What I said in Cincinnati is in conflict with the truth, except that Mr. Karl told me he had something to do with it (the kidnaping)."

Miss McDonald told the Los Angeles County grand jury last year that two men unknown to her Special guests at the membership meeting were David E. Allen of Aurora, Dr. Lawrence Alexander of Ayden, Carroll W. Modlin of Farmville, W. P. Fuller of Greenville and Alton Allgood of Washington. They are commanders of posts represented at last night's meeting.

Commander McLawhorn told the group that the district's membership quota of 1,200 has not been reached. He requested that the district's member posts put new emphasis on their membership drives.

kidnaped her from her Encino, Calif., home in January 1957, and freed her 24 hours later on the desert 150 miles away. She did not then accuse Karl.

Nearly A Million Russians Dissent

MOSCOW (AP) — Nearly a million Soviet citizens voted against the single Communist party slate in Sunday's parliamentary elections, but it didn't affect any seats.

The Central Elections Commission reported in final returns that 944,377 persons crossed out the names of party-picked candidates. That was more than twice the number who dissented in the 1954 elections for the Supreme Soviet but was less than 1 per cent of the 133,796,091 recorded as voting out of a total electorate of 133,836,325.

Hinnant, Free Will Baptist minister of Micro, assisted by the Rev. Howard James, pastor of Red Oak Christian Church, will conduct the services. Mrs. Pollard died at her home near Greenville early Tuesday morning after a long illness.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Marvin C. Allen of the home; two sons, Max T. Pollard of Greenville and Hicks I. Pollard of near the home; 11 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Discusses Problems In Launching A Company

Problems of launching a major insurance company were discussed last night by Ronald Hagelman, vice president of the Southern Heritage Life Insurance Co. before a group of area businessmen.

Hagelman was introduced by Dr. J. D. Messick, a director of the company. The insurance executive explained that Southern Heritage, although organized only last year, has a present capital on excess of $1,000,000, and has become the largest life company organized in North Carolina in several decades.

Also introduced at the meeting was Robert H. Morrison of Morrison and Co., an investment firm which is underwriting the offering of common stock of Southern Heritage. Morrison called attention to the rapid appreciation that the market prices of life insurance securities have enjoyed.

"A thousand dollars invested in 1903 in the Life Insurance Co. of Kansas City, an example of a relatively small regional company, would now have grown in market value to almost a half million dollars, and has yielded the investor a return of over 70 per cent per year in cash dividends."

Dr. Messick said that some of the other directors of the company include Monroe Redden, former congressman from western North Carolina; Irwin Belk, president of Belk Enterprises; E. L. White, former mayor of Wilmington; Jonathan Woody, former member of the Federal Reserve Board; David McConnell, one of the state's leading corporate attorneys; James Millis, president of the hosiery firm of Adams-Millis and others.

Finally Receives A Purple Heart

CARTHAGE, Mo. (AP) — Rex B. Mealey was struck in the right knee by a shell splinter during the closing hours of World War I.

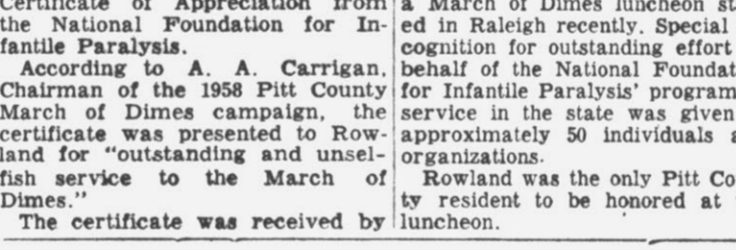

He went to a field hospital but was crowded out by more serious cases and sent back to the Meuse-Argonne offensive. His Army record did not show the record.

Mealey, now 62 and a Carthage city councilman, wrote the War Department and asked for a medal when the Order of the Purple Heart was reestablished by Congress in 1932.

The Army replied no record could be found of his wound. He dropped the matter.

A Purple Heart medal from the Army arrived in the mail this week. The delay was not explained.

House Holed By Bullet In Night

Adell Harris, 22-year-old Negro woman of 808-A Bancroft Avenue, had a legitimate complaint when she called the Police Station yesterday morning.

The woman told detectives she heard someone fire a weapon late Monday night and that a bullet came into her house. She said there were bullet holes in her kitchen and in an adjoining room.

Following an investigation police arrested James A. Forbes, 18-year-old Negro of 609-A Vanderbilt Drive. He was cited for discharging fire-arms within the city limits. The bullet found in the Harris woman's house was fired from a .45 automatic pistol belonging to the defendant, one officer reported.

Teams Arriving For NCAA Tournament At Louisville

Seattle Will Have One Big Advantage

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Seattle University, due to arrive today, comes to the NCAA basketball championships with one of the biggest advantages of any of the four teams.

The Chieftans are the only team to have played in huge 18,500-seat Freedom Hall. San Francisco handed them one of their five defeats here last December in the Blue Grass tournament.

But Seattle is also the only team which had to win three games to get to Louisville and Friday night's second game against Kansas State (at 9:30 CST).

Coach John Castellani said yesterday "our biggest problem is overcoming weariness." Castellani realizes Kansas State has a 3 or 4 inch height advantage, "but their hearts aren't any bigger than ours."

Castellani, Kansas State Coach Tex Winter, Temple's Harry Litwack and Adolph Rupp of Kentucky were interviewed yesterday over a long distance telephone hookup. Temple, Kentucky and Kansas State are due to arrive tomorrow.

Winter said Kansas State has its problems too. "This looks like a frame-up, to us, meeting that Elgin Baylor after having played against great players like Chamberlain and Robertson," he said jokingly.

Baylor is the No. 2 scorer in the nation and Kansas State had to face the other two top scorers, Wilt Chamberlain of Kansas and Oscar Robertson of Cincinnati on the way here.

The Kentucky-Temple battle is Friday night's first game at 7:30 (CST) may be an extension of a December game between them. Kentucky won in a triple overtime at Lexington.

Rupp said "We just happened to be ahead when the game ended last time and I imagine we'll start off in Louisville where we ended in December."

Guy Rodgers, star Temple player, will be in good shape for the game after straining his back last week. "We wanted to play it safe and so we put Rodgers in a hospital to rest," Litwack said.

"As for Kentucky," he added, "we're most fearful of its speed and rebounding."

The consolation game will be held at 7 o'clock Saturday night and the championship at 9 p.m. (CST).

FORM OF FLATTERY — Chicago White Sox righthander Dick Donovan is the model for five youngsters trying to emulate his mound stance in Tampa, Fla., spring training camp.

More Hazards: Harshman Is Stung By A Scorpion

By JOHN CHANDLER The Associated Press

The hazards of spring baseball training were emphasized yesterday when Jack Harshman, lame back pitcher traded to Baltimore by the Chicago White Sox, was stung by a scorpion. This was one of a series of ailments reported from the cactus and grapefruit front.

The poisonous insect apparently crawled into Harshman's uniform and stung him in the small of the back as he was dressing. Harshman, who said recently he would be able to pitch the entire season if his back didn't bother him any more than at present, was treated and then watched Charlie Beamon and Skinny Brown shut out the San Francisco Giants 1-0 on eight hits.

Examinations by a neurologist and head X-rays were ordered for Dusty Rhodes, Giants outfielder, 1957 season, grounded to second and displayed fair speed and no limp as he ran to first base. This was a game where the Dodgers "B" team defeated Spokane of the Coast League 3-2.

Joe Ginsberg, Baltimore catcher, led off the seventh with a double and moved to second when Brooks Robinson walked. Lennie Green ran for Ginsberg, and both runners advanced on an infield hit. Green tallied the winning run when Brown rolled out to the pitcher in the game at Scottsdale, Ariz.

Clem Labine, Los Angeles relief hurler, was struck on the right ankle by Bob Cerv's drive and may be out a week or more. The Dodgers beat the Kansas City A's 6-4 in 10 innings.

The Dodgers got good news from Vero Beach, Fla., where Duke Snider batted for the first time in spring training. Duke, who was operated on for removal of cartilage in his left knee after the 1957 season, grounded to second and displayed fair speed and no limp as he ran to first base. This was a game where the Dodgers "B" team defeated Spokane of the Coast League 3-2.

The St. Louis Cardinals got only four hits, but defeated the Boston Red Sox 3-2 in 10 innings at Sarasota, Fla. Gene Green, rookie catcher, doubled to score Curt Flood in the 10th. Ed Kasko's single then scored Green.

Two Washington pitchers, Ralph Lumental and Camilo Pascual, scattered five Chicago White Sox hits and the Senators pounded out a 10-0 decision at Tampa, Fla.

Four Philadelphia home runs gave the Phillies a 6-3 verdict over the Cincinnati Redlegs at Clearwater, Fla. Harvey Haddix, a former Phil, was the victim as Wally Post, Rip Repulski, Frank Herrera and Willie Jones clouted round-trippers.

Shortstop Tony Kubek drove in three runs and scored three as the New York Yankees defeated the Detroit Tigers 7-3 at St. Petersburg, Fla., for their fifth straight victory. Kubek had four hits, two of them triples.

Basilio, Sugar Ray Weigh In

CHICAGO (AP) — Middleweight champion Carmen Basilio and challenger Sugar Ray Robinson, each confident he'll win Tuesday's title bout, take pre-fight physicals today before the Illinois Athletic Commission.

Robinson arrived in his "lucky town" yesterday lacking his usual swagger but not without his personal army which included: His wife, three sparring partners, two trainers, two managers, a bodyguard, a lawyer, a publicist, his personal physician, a guy named Soldier Jones, of course, his personal barber.

Robinson entrenched himself and his crew at a downtown hotel and will begin final workouts tomorrow at Joe Louis Gym. The sugar man, who is three pounds over the limit at 163, will remain idle today which gives him a three-day rest.

Basilio, quartered in another local hotel, arrived in Chicago Monday and did some road work yesterday. The champion will finish his training at Coulton's Gym where Robinson usually has trained in the past.

Beacham Again Fights Vaughn In Series Bout

WASHINGTON (AP) — Willie Vaughn and Jimmy Beacham, who certainly need no introduction to each other, square off at Capitol Arena tonight for the Vaughn Beacham championship.

The two middleweights probably would feel out of place trying to bask in anyone else's brains. Each already has fought twice this year, and each time against the other.

So far the count is even. Vaughn outpointed Beacham in 10 rounds on Feb. 4. Beacham reversed the decision one month later.

The rubber match was hurriedly arranged for Washington when postponement of the Eddie Machen - Zora Folley heavyweight bout left an opening in the Wednesday night televised fight series (ABC, 10 p.m. EST).

Vaughn, 25-year-old Los Angeles boxer, is 35-1-5. Beacham, 23, has a 22-6 record.

Some Doubt That Juan Will Be In Sebring Race

SEBRING, Fla. (AP) — Strong doubt arose today that Juan Fangio, world champion sports car driver from Buenos Aires, would return here Saturday to defend his championship in the 12-hour Florida Grand Prix of Endurance.

If the "Little Tiger" of Argentina doesn't show up, Stirling Moss, the skillful Briton who outranks all drivers except Fangio, may emerge as the pre-race favorite.

Moss, who calls London and Nassau home, will be at the wheel of an Aston-Martin entered by David Brown Ltd. of Feltham, England. Fangio told newsmen in Miami Beach March 1 that at 46 he was getting too old for the dangerous grid of grand prix racing and would abdicate his throne. He said he would not return to Sebring where he has been a winner for two straight years.

Later, he indicated to race officials that he would be here and would be receptive to offers to drive.

Division Leaders Open Defense Of Positions Tonight

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS The champion Boston Celtics and the St. Louis Hawks open defense of their division titles in the National Basketball Assn. playoffs tonight.

The Celtics entertain the Philadelphia Warriors while the Hawks play host to the Detroit Pistons. Each series is the best-of-seven.

Philadelphia last night eliminated the Syracuse Nats 101-88 before 4,119 at Syracuse. The Warriors, in taking the best of 3 series, 2-1, scored their first victory over the Nats on the Syracuse court this year behind Paul Arizin's 25 points. Detroit had previously eliminated Cincinnati by taking two straight.

ECC Baseballers Scrimmage; Rain Forces Indoor Drills

By BILLY ARNOLD Reflector Sports Editor

Prepping for the season's opener against Wake Forest here March 26, East Carolina's baseball team has been going through strenuous drill for almost a month.

Bad weather during the past three days has kept the Bucs inside working on fundamentals with Head Coach Jim Mallory and Assistant Coach Earl Smith. The squad of 26 ballplayers has had its outdoor activity limited to only three or four good outside days since drills began.

Saturday afternoon was one of the more active days. The Bucs played a closed-session scrimmage game against some strong outside opposition and Coach Mallory was "pretty pleased" at the showing his club made. Though no score was kept in the tilt and no specific number of innings were played, ECC held a slight edge when the two teams called it quits.

Mallory used five pitchers who held the opposition to four hits and no runs. East Carolina did score, once on a home run by newcomer Marion Talton, and on other occasions as well.

Mallory's lineup included Bill Altman in centerfield, Jerry Stewart at short, Tommy Land at first base, Tommy Nance in left field, Al Vaughn at second, Glenn Bass at third base, Jerry Phillips in right field, and Marion Talton behind the plate. This lineup is listed above in order of their appearance at the plate.

Bucky Reep, co-captain of the outfit along with Stewart, was not in uniform Saturday for the game. The senior third baseman is having back trouble, which is not expected to hinder him by the time the season begins. Bass and Jim Cousins, both freshmen, played Reep's position.

The above-named boys played the first six innings and then some were taken out. Mallory sent in his newcomers and got a long look at his full squad.

Pitchers (not in order) were Ben Baker, Leonard Lilley, George Williams, Mitchell Moon, and Tom Salter.

Turning in good plate performances for the Pirates were Talton and Vaughn.

This week the Bucs have been turned inside Memorial Gymnasium for their workouts. Rainy and cold weather has forced them into sweat clothes and limbering-up exercises. Mallory and Smith have spent the inside time discussing strategy, fundamentals.

There are no ailments on the squad thus far except for Reep's back (a pulled muscle) and pitcher Charlie Russell's sore arm. Russell owns a 10-0 record against college competition, but a sore arm kept him out of action all last season. Buc coaches said today, however, that Russell's arm is improving and that the lanky senior will probably be in fine shape when the season opens.

GREENSBORO (AP) — Final tabulations show the recent State Class AAA high school basketball tournament yielded a gross of $8,209, surpassing last year's receipts of $7,280. Tourney officials announced the figures yesterday but said figures on net profits were yet to be received.

Dusty's Head Is Examined

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — San Francisco's Giants today awaited results of extensive tests to determine what causes Dusty Rhodes' headaches.

The 31-year-old star of the 1954 world championship team has been troubled the past two weeks with intense pain. Yesterday the club ordered a series of head X-rays and examination by a nerve specialist.

Trainer Frank Bowman said the pains appear to be those of migraine headaches, but added, "It's something we have to find out for sure. It could be something even more serious."

Although Rhodes starred in the World Series of 1954 as a pinch hitter, this year he battles to stay with the club. Known as a happy-go-lucky fellow, he now appears slipped to 217 and 205 during the trial as he takes his turn at bat.

Bowman has been giving Dusty past two seasons.

His .341 batting average of 1954 oxygen to fight the headaches and on Monday he had his sinuses drained. Still Mrs. Rhodes reported at 1:30 yesterday morning that Dusty was experiencing more severe pain.

"We've got to find out what's wrong," Bowman declared. He said the pains seemed centered behind Dusty's eyes and in the temples.

Hanged Twice, He's Still Winning 'em

NEW YORK (AP) — For a guy who has been "hanged" twice, Jim McCafferty of Xavier is a mighty healthy-looking basketball coach.

His Musketeers from Cincinnati are the big surprises of the National Invitation Tournament. Last night, they upset Bradley's defending champions 72-62 and later were joined in the semi-finals by top-seeded Dayton which defeated Fordham 74-70.

Xavier will meet St. Bonaventure in the first semi-final game Thursday night while Dayton will tackle St. John's of New York for the right to compete in Saturday afternoon's final.

"I don't care if they keep hanging me in effigy," said McCafferty, a 6-8, 280 pound Oklahoman who came to Xavier from Loyola of New Orleans in May, 1957. "They did it to me twice, once right in middle of town and again on the campus. I'll admit we didn't look good after we lost Corny Freeman (the team's star) declared ineligible because of scholastic difficulties" and then we dropped games to Marshall and Ohio University, so they really gave me the business."

Last night Xavier was out for revenge. They lost to Bradley by 35 points in last year's quarter-finals and, said McCafferty, "They weren't going to end our season two years in a row."

The Musketeers, who pulled the NIT's first upset by defeating Niagara last Saturday, turned on the steam early in the second half.

Worldwide Golf Tourney Is Set For Next October

NEW YORK (AP) — Amateur golf goes global this year with inauguration of a worldwide tournament which might well be called the "Olympics of Golf."

It will be known officially as the World Amateur Golf team championship. It will be held every two years and will be open to all golf-playing nations.

The first tournament will be staged next October, exact dates to be fixed later, at historic St. Andrews in Scotland. The 1960 event comes to the United States and the 1962 tournament goes to probably Australia.

The U.S. Golf Assn. and the Royal and Ancient Club of St. Andrews announced jointly that invitations had gone to 49 nations asking them to send representatives to a planning conference May 2-3 a Chevy Chase, Md., near Washington, D.C.

Von Braun Holds Large Group In Own 'Orbit'

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Reporter

DALLAS (AP) — Dr. Werner von Braun, the rocket genius, talked for nearly two hours last night and scarcely anybody even yawned.

He just pulled hundreds of scientists and engineers into his own orbit while telling them:

“About ‘the eight most exciting minutes of my life, kind of desperate minutes’ sweating out success of Explorer I Jan. 31.

That Vanguard, launched Monday, is an unprecedented feat in rocketry, since it started from scratch two years ago and building a new, untested, complicated rocket that fast is something ‘never, never done before.’

That so many satellites are coming up that they’ll have to be given different radio frequency voices to avoid a kind of spatial Tower of Babel.

In a news conference, Dr. von Braun added he thought humans would be orbiting around on satellites in two to five years.

The Soviets may launch another Sputnik any time, he added. But he thinks they used military rockets to get their first two up. Since then, the military may have taken possession of rockets produced, with the scientists waiting their turn again for rockets to launch Sputniks.

Addressing a conference sponsored by the American Rocket Society and American Society of Mechanical Engineers, Dr. von Braun gave a detailed history of Explorer I, launched by the Army.

He said he’s been erroneously given most of the credit for this first U.S. satellite, and listed all the others who should get credit.

“I hope they do get it not only because they deserve it — but then also maybe some of the mountains of mail will be channeled to them.”

When Explorer I was fired, he and Dr. William Pickering, director of the Jet Propulsion Laboratory at California Institute of Technology, were waiting in Washington.

“If it was successful, we had to go meet the press. Nobody said what we should do if it is missed, but I had a pair of dark green glasses, and thought I’d just go to a movie,” Dr. von Braun said.

“Antigua, 1,500 miles from Florida, had heard Explorer pass overhead soon after launching. We calculated this meant 106 minutes for an orbit time. But when 106 minutes passed, there was no confirmation. Those next eight minutes were the most exciting of my life” until the signal was heard “and we knew we were in business.”

Says Statistics Unfair To Youth

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Former Municipal Court Judge Nochem S. Winnet says police and FBI crime statistics are unfair to youth.

They don't give a true picture of juvenile delinquency, he said, citing a Philadelphia police figure stating 50 per cent of all burglary arrests were juveniles.

“During the period in question,” he said, “there were 8,400 reported burglaries with arrests in 2,100 or 25 per cent of the cases. The other 6,300 are unsolved.

“We don't know who committed the vast majority of these crimes, but we do know the kids generally get caught because they travel in gangs and are inexperienced.

“It's the skilled adult criminals who get away with it.”

Sled Dog Draws Heavy Bidding

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy is taking bids on Bravo the dog, and the bidding could be more spirited than that for a major shipbuilding contract.

Bravo is the sled dog born in the antarctic and reputedly the only dog to ever winter at the South Pole. Lt. (J.G.) Jack Tuck, one of the 17 Navy men and civilian scientists who lived at the American South Polar base last season, wants to keep his canine friend when he leaves the Navy to go to college.

But Bravo is Navy property and under the law can't be given away, even though he has been declared surplus property.

Bravo and Tuck are now at the United States Naval Construction Battalion Center, Davisville, R.I.

Bids on the sale of Bravo and four other sled dogs used in the antarctic exploration trips will be received at Davisville next Tuesday.

Originally, the Navy had 1,000 sale brochures printed. That supply was exhausted and 5,000 more were ordered.

Among those expressing interest is at least one manufacturer of dog food.

The bidding forms place the government cost for each of the five dogs at $233. All the dogs except Bravo were purchased from Mrs. Milton Seelye of Wonalancet, N.H.

Bravo really didn't cost the government anything; he was a bi-product of canine social life in the antarctic. Nevertheless, the specifications include him in the list of $233 dogs and that is the lowest price the Navy wants in the bids.

That also is the reason the Navy says it is forbidden by law from just giving Bravo to Tuck.

Could Survive Atomic Disaster

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — If an atomic radiation disaster struck the world, what would survive? Insects, says Lt. Col. Samuel O. Hill.

They can survive 100 times the amount of radiation that humans and animals can take, he said today in a statement from 4th Army medical laboratory.

He arrived at his opinion through tagging wood ticks for identification by a radioisotope method.

He discovered they can absorb as much as 60,000 roentgens without death. It normally takes from 450 to 600 roentgens to kill an animal or human. A roentgen is a unit of measure of radiation.

Said the colonel, “Should man destroy himself with awe-inspiring weapons and inventions, both man and animal could perish, leaving nothing but hardy insects to repopulate the world.” He said he did not have information on how well fish could survive.

His research also points out something that has been known for some time—that many insects have stepped up their ability to break down poison molecules and render them harmless.

Successive generations of some insects have increased their resistance to insecticides by 2,000 times, he said.

Twelve-Year-Old Has No Doubts In Court Hearing

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Justice of the Peace Clark Johnson was dissatisfied with the 12-year-old witness' testimony at the preliminary hearing.

So he asked Max U. L. Lent if he was “conveniently” forgetting answers to questions.

“I have pledged under oath to tell the truth,” replied young Max.

“When I say I do not remember, I do not remember.”

The hearing was for Max's mother, Mrs. Mary Virginia Lent, 36, of Phoenix, accused of embezzling a $4,800 sports car from a Tucson automobile agency.

Max took the stand over the vigorous objections of his mother's attorney, who said Max wasn't old enough to know he was placing himself in jeopardy.

But Max had no doubts about his legal acumen.

He said he would take the Fifth Amendment today.

New Phrase For Jargon in Govm't

WASHINGTON (AP) — The age of the hard-to-get scientist has produced a new phrase in the jargon of government personnel managers: the man-Friday position.

A man-Friday position, as the Army defined it for a House Armed Services subcommittee, is one that has been established to stretch the supply of scientists by providing others for “duties not specifically requiring full professional background.”

One of the formal names given such posts is “staff administrative assistant.”

After 4 Years, Law Got To Him

VAN NUYS, Calif. (AP) — When aircraft worker Herbert Meyer was cited for making an illegal turn in traffic four years ago, he wrote the court:

“I will not appear and will not pay a fine. If you feel that I am guilty and must suffer, send a police car to my home... and I will spend the weekend in your jail.”

The warrant finally caught up with Meyer, 35, when he tried to renew his driver's license. He appeared before Municipal Judge Julian Beck, who gave him the alternative of a $50 fine or five days in jail.

Apparently not mollified by time, Meyer elected to go to jail.

A World Of Information, Entertainment At Library

(Editor's Note: This is the first of a series of three articles written by local citizens in conjunction with National Library Week. Today's article was written by Miss Elizabeth Copeland, librarian of Sheppard Memorial Library.)

PUBLIC LIBRARY—WHOLE WORLD AT NO COST

In this age of rapidly developing ideas, automation, and great scientific advances, there is no possible way for anyone to learn all he will need to know twenty-five years hence. Intellectual habits begun by formal education may find continuous use through the avenues provided by the free public library. It is the only mass medium wholly controlled by its users, where the user is not instructed what and how to think. It has thousands of sources of ideas.

If you are thinking of buying an encyclopedia for your family, consult the Sheppard Library's SUBSCRIPTION BOOKS BULLETIN, a publication set up to advise you on reference books. Impartial and authoritative, it analyzes all types of reference works and can give you the information you need before making your purchase. It is as near as your telephone.

If you long for good music in your home, the Library owns more than three hundred long playing phonograph records of classical music, speech, drama, folk music, history and poetry. They may be borrowed, as books are borrowed, for regular two-week loans. In addition to bringing good music into your home, they will aid you in selecting records for purchase.

If you are looking for a club program, the Library has available good adult films on subjects from art to child care to business. If the right one is not on hand, there is a catalog listing hundreds more which may be had within a few days. For the group without a sixteen millimeter projector, the Library owns one and will supply an operator for the showing.

Soon there will be a micro-film reader and films of the DAILY REFLECTOR, census records and other documents of historical significance. A world of information can be found in the two hundred magazines subscribed to by the Library. THE READER'S GUILD TO PERIODICAL LITERATURE furnishes an index to their contents and gives source material of the articles pro and con that have appeared in them.

There are reproductions of paintings, pamphlets, newspapers and exhibit materials, which may be borrowed upon request. THE BOOK REVIEW DIGEST brings together excerpts of what professional critics have had to say about books. WHO'S WHO IN AMERICA and other specialized biographical directories will give you information you need about people today and yesterday.

THE INTERPRETER'S BIBLE and other theological references will help you to prepare Bible studies for church groups.

Reference service is available to anyone who seeks it. Questions answered range from information on tobacco files, customs in Iran, building garages, to how to buy a mattress and springs. At any hour of any week day, the library is open to answer your questions—check a fact, a date, the meaning of a foreign word.

From astronomy to zoology, from child psychology to modern art, from home planning to suggestions for improving your golf game, it is all there in the Sheppard Memorial Library—in more than 35,000 volumes. If a desired book is not available, it may be borrowed for you from the State Library, the State University, or the Library of Congress.

Citizens of Pitt County do not need to come to Greenville for these services. The Sheppard Library operates a bookmobile which carries books regularly into their homes and communities. It is an informal type of service which follows people as they change their homes and it changes its offerings as their needs change.

The Sheppard Library is many things to many people: to some, it is where classics and great books can be found; to others, best sellers; to the student, it is where he can get help on his required homework; to the club woman, it offers program helps and courses of study; for the business man it has technical books on how to run his business or improve his sales techniques; to the person with a hobby, it offers "how-to" books on every craft; and for the puzzle enthusiast, it has directories, dictionaries and books of facts.

It is the information center of this community. It offers quick and easy access to the world's best thought. Hundreds of books are all spread out and free for the asking. No one will ask you if you are worthy to handle the books or whether you are prepared to put them to good use. All you have to do is want them, and there they are.

The Sheppard Memorial Library stands waiting. It is open to everyone and asks only to be used and enjoyed. It does not cost you a cent. No other public institution takes so little out of your tax dollar and gives so much in return.

EXPECTING

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Rosemary Clooney and her husband Jose Ferrer are expecting their fourth child in October. The singer said she plans to take a year off from television when her current show ends in June.

Famed Old Movie Sets Will One Day Be Razed

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Let's take a nostalgic trip around the 20th Century-Fox back lot.

We'd better do it now, because there's no telling when bulldozers will come in and level all those wonderful old sets. They are bowing in the face of progress as the film company converts the valuable acreage into a mammoth Century City. That's okay if you like skyscrapers. I get a bigger kick out of the movie buildings with no backs to them.

"A lot of the old buildings will be destroyed," explained George Dudley, veteran of the studio art department. "They can't be moved like ordinary buildings because they're only fronts. The ones that are worth saving will be cut into 20-foot squares and trucked to our ranch in Malibu."

We drove past a wooden building which Dudley explained was the first structure on the lot. It was the stable where Tom Mix kept Tony and other nags; now the studio armory. It will be felled to make room for new sound stages.

To the north of the studio is Tombstone, a Western town originally built for a Randy Scott film, "Frontier Marshal." The picture was a flop, but the set was a hit, repeating for "The Ox-Bow Incident," "The Gunfighter" and scores of other horse operas. Some of the other landmarks: a replica of Grauman's Chinese

Theater, built for "Dancing in the Dark" White Chapel Street, the London locale made for "Hangover Square" Chicago Lake, created for "In Old Chicago" and later the waterfront of many a city Beacon Street, which dates from "The Late George Apley" to the current "10 North Frederick"

The Southern mansion where Shirley Temple starred as "The Littlest Colonel" the flight deck for "Wing and a Prayer" and a graveyard of World War II airplanes of all kinds

Suburban Street, built for the wholesome goings-on of the Jones family series and used most recently for the not-so-wholesome doings of "Peyton Place"

"This is the waterway," said Dudley, pointing to green-lined channels built as the Erie Canal in "The Farmer Takes a Wife." "It's the most beautiful part of the lot, and I'm going to miss it."

So will I.

LOOKING AHEAD

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—State Sen. Robert I. McCarthy could well be looking to the future. He introduced a resolution asking Congress to grant special income tax deductions to parents of college students. His ninth child was born Saturday.

A NEW SUSPENSE NOVEL BY WILLIAM FULLER

CHAPTER 32

Marta was standing by a tree on the bank of a stream when I saw her. Her body was tense, almost rigid. Her hands were on her cheeks, fingers splayed. Her face was white and her eyes were drawn with fear.

When she recognized me her body sagged. She leaned against the tree. Seconds later she was in my arms. And she was sobbing. I stroked her back. I buried my fingers in her tangled mass of hair and tilted her face toward me and kissed her eyes and her nose and then her lips. Gently. The sobs lessened. And then they stopped.

I said quietly, "What happened, Marta?"

Her eyes were huge. "There's somebody else on this island, Brad. Not Ramez. Not any of his men. Somebody else!"

My fingers bit into her arm. "Did you see him?"

"No! But I know. I'll show you. Now that you're here I'm not afraid to go back." She shuddered. "I heard you fighting your way through that undergrowth. You were all bent over. I couldn't tell who you were. I didn't think you'd be coming from that direction. I thought—"

I kissed her again. "When you weren't at the pool when I do there I thought things, too. Dozens of things. None of them good!"

"Come on!"

She led the way. The stream turned once to the left and then, a few hundred feet farther along, to the right. We were on the right bank, the inside of this last turn. Halfway around the inside of this turn we struck knee-deep water. The water was not flowing so it couldn't be a converging stream. A backwater, I thought, choked with brush.

Marta had stopped. I looked at her. She was looking toward the pile of brush that covered the neck of the backwater. I followed her look. There was something wrong with that pile of brush. Something false.

And then I had it. I'd been very stupid not to see it at first. Those plants and bushes weren't growing there! They'd been cut and piled there in such a way that they seemed to grow there! And the leaves were fresh and green and I knew they couldn't have been there more than two or three days at the very most!

I ran to the pile of brush and flailed my way through it. On the other side was a boat, an eighteen-foot sea skiff, lap-straked, broad-beamed and capable looking. A good sea boat, for the size of her.

The deck of her cockpit was stacked with five gallon gasoline tanks. I leaned into the boat and tugged at the first, four or five of the tanks I reached. They were all full.

In good weather, it would be an easy day's run to the mainland. And that's just exactly what somebody had in mind!

"Marta stood beside me. Just as I started to turn to her, she screamed. I followed her gaze beyond the boat.

A man leaned against the rock he'd obviously been waiting behind. He held a rifle — I thought it was a .30-30. The muzzle of the rifle was pointed at my chest.

"I wouldn't move," he said.

I saw his face. I recognized the bulging eyes, the innie jaws and lips. It was Tom Lear.

"Now," Lear said, "we'll all take a nice long hike. All the way back to the house on the other side of the island."

"And if we don't feel like taking a hike?" I asked.

His face twisted into what I supposed was meant to be a grin. He raved the muzzle of the rifle. "Then I'll make you feel like it. I'll start out by shooting one of you. Probably you. You both know where the money is. One of you is all I need. And I'd rather split the take in half than in thirds. But I'm a reasonable, generous man. And I don't like killing people unless I have to. The three of us will go to the house. We'll get the money. We'll get in my airplane and fly to Miami. We'll split the money three ways. I'm scheduled to fly back tonight anyway. Ramez will never know."

I'd play along with him until I found out exactly what was cooking. After all, I really didn't have a choice. "Why won't Ramez know?"

"Because he won't be there. And neither will Manuel or Alfredo. There will be one armed guard and the cook, who goes to bed early. The guard goes to the kitchen for his supper at nine on the dot. He stays there for forty-five minutes. That's his routine and it's a regular thing. Manuel and Alfredo are to have dinner on the Teresa with Ramez. I was there when he asked them to be there. They'll go aboard around sundown, have dinner around nine. They'll probably sit around drinking and making plans for several hours after that. Whatever they do after they eat makes no difference to us. We'll be on our way to Miami!"

Fat chance, I thought! If we did know where the money was and let this character see the color of it we wouldn't end up in Miami. We'd end up dead!

My mind was racing, and I hoped Marta's was racing in the same direction. For forty-five minutes tonight we could have — if what Lear said was true, and I didn't think he'd lie about that — the run of the house! And Marta had told me that she'd be able to figure out where her husband, being the sort of a man he was, had hidden the loot! And she'd said she could fly. And if we were weathered in or couldn't get to the plane for some reason we could always come back here. And with Lear out of the way we could beat our way back to the mainland in this boat that Lear had hidden here!

But our best bet was to play ball with him. Maybe he'd get careless. If he did I'd take him over. At least then we'd have a weapon. And transportation off this island.

"What do you say, Dolan, Marta? Do you want this the easy way, or the hard way?"

"One thing you haven't made clear," I said. "And it might be important. Where does Ramez think you are right now?"

"Hunting."

"Us?"

His face twisted into that simulating grin again. "Wild hogs," he said. "This island's full of them. Ramez isn't very smart, you know. He just looks smart, talks smart. Me, I'm just a dumb pilot. I'm not even supposed to know what's going on around here! I'm supposed to fly the airplane, run his lousy errands for him!"

He was working himself into a rage again, the way he had when I'd first met him in that barroom on Key Biscayne. A very unstable character, this one. "Listen!" he said. "I was onto this deal right from the start! I told you Forbes used to talk a lot, didn't I? Well, he did a little talking in the wrong place and it got back to me. Islands in the Bahamas, and stuff! I knew he'd been working for Ramez. I started putting two and two together. They didn't fool me! None of them. Not Forbes or Ramez or Joan Morris."

He clamped his lips together to stop the flow of words.

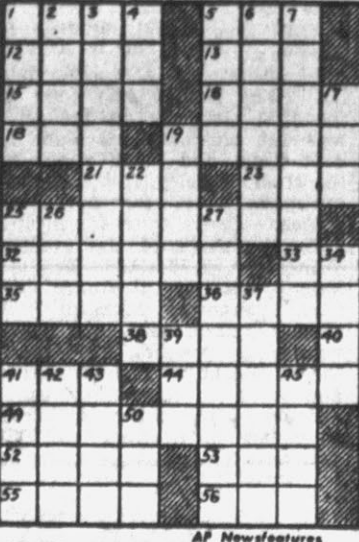

Things were beginning to add up for me. Tom Lear had been the only man who knew I was going to see, or going to try and see Joan Morris that night. The night she was murdered.

"I braced myself for the shot that didn't come. And then—"

Brad Dolan's nightmarish adventure continues tomorrow.

FUN CRUISE

"Annabelle, I thought you said we'd be alone!"

"You know, dear, I can't hold this pose forever."

What happens when a cartoonist takes a cruise? He draws cartoons for fun. Here are some that our Joe Cunningham drew.

It was one of those 12-day Caribbean jaunts and, like most everybody else aboard, Joe reports he had more fun than rest. Almost before the ship got to sea, passengers were calling each other by their first names.

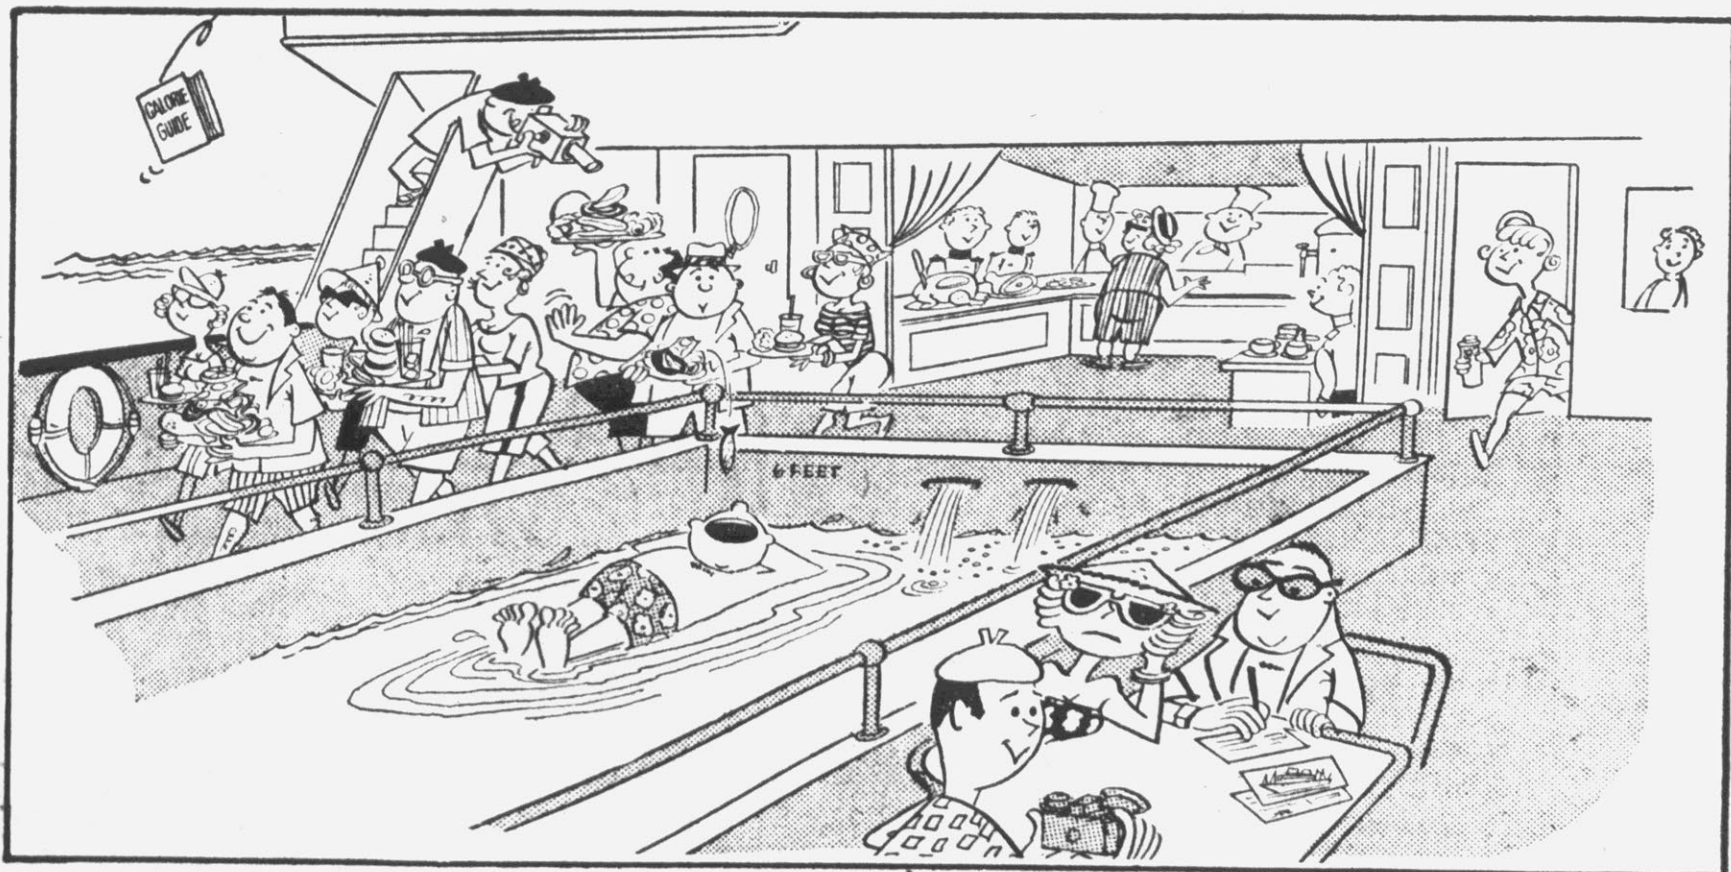

There was more to keep them interested than friendly conversation. Shuffleboard and deck tennis, skeet shooting and dancing, movies and bridge, rumba and bingo kept all hands busy. A big join-in-the-fun party topped off the activities.

Ports of call were fun too. Cabs or buses took the passengers on sight-seeing trips. Peddlers reaped their harvests. The passengers returned to the ship laden with everything from ash trays (made in Brooklyn) to straw hats, woven by hand.

There were people, people everywhere, and Joe has drawn a good share of them.

"Remember, darling, this is only a midnight snack!"

"It's a man's world alright. Take a look at the pool."

"Now you know we can't buy everything!"

NEW YORK (N.Y.)— The stock market rallied in the early afternoon today after a three-day losing streak.

Leaders were up fractions to about 2 points. Some favorites fared better and tobacco shares were in good demand. There were a few small losers.

The market advanced at the opening, backed away slightly then pushed to its highs for the day in early afternoon.

Trading was fairly active. Turnover was heaviest at the start and during the midday rally.

Brokers attributed some buying to short covering. The monthly short interest total will be announced late today and Wall Street expects an increase over last month.

Lorillard rose between 1 and 2 after opening on a hefty 7,000 share block. Among the other tobaccos, Liggett & Myers and Reynolds Tobacco were up about a point and U.S. Tobacco a fraction.

Steels showed some improvement near midday. Lukens, Youngstown Sheet & Tube and U.S. Steel advanced a point or so.

Most other major divisions were ahead fractions.

Zenith gained about 4 points. Du Pont and Bell & Howell around 2.

Up about a point were Chrysler, International Nickel, Kennecott, Schering and Corn Products. Directors of Corn Products boosted the quarterly dividend from 40 to 50 cents.

Such pivots as American Telephone, General Motors and Standard Oil (New Jersey) gained minor fractions.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 60 cents at $12.80. Industrials rose $1.20, rails were up 40 cents and utilities dipped 10 cents.

Extra 6 Months Is Given 2 Prisoners

Two inmates of the Greenville Prison Camp each got six months of additional time yesterday for escaping from the camp.

The added sentences were imposed by Judge Joseph W. Parker, presiding at a two-weeks term of Superior Court. Each of the men, Robert M. Bridges and Willie Spires, entered pleas of guilty to the escape charges.

Bridges escaped from the camp July 23, 1957, while serving a 20-to-30 years sentence for second degree murder. Spires ran on February 4 while serving six separate terms for breaking, entering and larceny, and escape. His previous escape was from the Gates County Prison Camp.

Both of the new sentences were set to begin at the expiration of terms the men are now serving.

Other judgments which were returned included:

George Willoughby Jr., Negro, 1509 West Fifth Street, Greenville, breaking, entering and larceny, motion for non-suit allowed at close of State's evidence; Herman Hall, Negro, Route 1, Greenville, larceny, six months suspended upon payment of costs and good behavior for two years.

Sonny B. Teel, Route 6, Greenville, robbery and assault with a deadly weapon with intent to kill, inflicting serious injury, at close of State's evidence defendant entered a plea of guilty to forcible trespass, six months suspended upon payment of costs, $5 restitution to prosecuting witness, and good behavior for 12 months.

Love Is Topic At Tuesday Service

"God is love" is the most beautiful sentence in the entire Bible, and, stated Rev. Ernest K. Emurian, at Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church last night, sums up all we believe about God.

Preaching at 7:30 each night this week, Mr. Emurian last night said that man "with his finite mind can never expect to understand the infinite ways of God."

"We can understand the heart when we don't understand the mind. Children endure physical pains not because they realize the physical or chemical reasons for the pain, but because they understand the love within the heart of the parent or the doctor attending them."

Leading his own song service prior to his preaching, Mr. Emurian Tuesday night used popular hymns of Isaac Watts. Each evening he builds the song service with hymns and biographical information about a particular composer or hymn writer.

Accomplished as a pianist and organist as well as a preacher, Mr. Emurian last night played the piano while Mrs. Paul Toll played the new three-manual organ. They played simultaneously several hymns as prelude to the service.

Indonesia Army Claims Control

JAKARTA, Indonesia (N.Y.)—The Indonesian army claimed today that it has the situation "completely under control" in the Central Sumatra oil center of Pekanbaru and the North Sumatra port of Medan.

Belying rebel claims, Associated Press correspondent Fred Waters reported from Pekanbaru that only an "occasional exchange of small arms fire" from across the river south of the city disturbed the quiet there.

"The firing, presumably by guerrilla units of the Indonesian rebel forces, is returned by Jakarta government troops," Waters said. He added that officials of the American Caltex Oil Co. arrived from Singapore today to discuss resumption of operations in the oil fields near Pekanbaru.

There were no new reports from the rebels, who claimed last night to have recaptured Pekanbaru and reopened the fight for Medan after it changed hands twice.

The Indonesian air force said it had inflicted many casualties on a rebel force retreating south from Medan. Both the army and air force said Medan now was quiet.

Sources in Jakarta said they heard reports of skirmishes about 40 miles from Medan, Sumatra's largest city, with 300,000 persons. The rebels said the Achinese, renowned Moslem warriors claiming to have 150,000 fighting men in North Sumatra, had pushed south to the outskirts of Medan and clashed with Jakarta troops.

According to a witness Hathaway fell approximately 10 feet onto the pavement after losing his grip on a light pole. His right ankle reportedly struck the side of a truck parked at the base of the ladder.

ACP Help Available To Any N. Carolina Farmer

Any Tar Heel farmer is eligible to participate in the 1958 Agricultural Conservation Program and this program must put up the share of the out-of-pocket cost of the approved conservation practice as well as perform all labor involved.

In turn the farmer and the government enter into a contract which works to the benefit of both partners, according to Hasty.

"In signing up under the 1958 ACP to carry out soil and water conservation practices, the farmer does not obligate himself in any way, but he does become the key participant in a farmer-government partnership which can mean much for the future strength of our agriculture," Hasty declared.

"The ACP for 1958 is a flexible program that can be tailored to fit the conservation needs of every farmer in North Carolina," Hasty continued. "This flexibility that really meets the conservation needs of farmers in the Coastal Plain, in the Piedmont, and the Mountain sections of this state was brought about through the combined efforts of the Soil Conservation Service, the Forest Service, the Extension Service and the ASC."

In 1957, 78,782 farmers across the nation participated in the program.

Farmers who cooperate with this program must put up their share of the out-of-pocket cost of the approved conservation practice as well as perform all labor involved.

How come? A worker cementing ancient tiles together paused and pointed his trowel at the cloud of birds. "Oh, them," he said. "Those are scots. They always send a few scots ahead."

Kenneth Stager, curator of birds and mammals at Los Angeles County Museum, says experts scoff at the legend of the swallows' timetable. He called it a "farical story."

"Their arrival depends on the weather, not the calendar," he said. "The birds winter in South America and then move up here as the weather turns warm."

Gray-haired Tony Oliveras, who runs a restaurant in the town where he was born, has spent much of this century watching swallows come and go.

"We never used to pay them any attention back in the old days," he said. "They were just birds, to us. It seems to me this talk about the swallows arriving March 19 didn't start until about 1932."

The mission fathers don't make any official claims that the swallows' sense of timing is infallible.
