Dulles Says Summit Talk Price Too High.. Claims U.S. Would Lose 'Shirt'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles said today the United States would lose its shirt if it agreed to a summit conference at the terribly high price he said Russia demands for such a meeting.

The new Kremlin note was delivered yesterday. The immediate reaction of U.S. officials was that its terms would turn the proposed meeting into a spectacle instead of a decision-making meeting to ease international tensions.

The American view is that Moscow's terms for such a parley would turn it into a spectacle instead of a decision-making meeting.

Dr. Flanary To Address Junior High PTA Meeting

The Greenville Junior High School P.T.A. will meet in the school library at 8 p.m. Thursday.

Dr. Woodrow Flanary of East Carolina College will explain and demonstrate the use of a controlled reader, a tachistoscope or flash meter, and a telebinocular or eye screening test.

The controlled reader emphasizes speeded reading, and the tachistoscope is an instrument for training in quick recognition, while the telebinocular gives more information about vision which is important to a student in learning to read.

"Anyone interested in knowing more about these testing devices and how they are being used to help in the education of young people are invited to attend the meeting," said Mrs. M. B. Bailey, president.

Election of officers for the coming year will be the main item of business.

Mrs. Bailey has called a board meeting for 7:15 p.m. Thursday in the school office.

Training Institute At St. James

A highlight in the Teacher Training Institute to be held in the St. James Methodist Church March 26-28 from 10 a.m.-3 p.m. will be Mrs. D. E. Wisner, speaker.

Mrs. Wisner has traveled extensively in Canada and Great Britain as well as in every state in the U. S. Her use of visual aids in teaching enables the student to become acquainted with top-notch materials for use in reaching children.

Mrs. Wisner is on the staff of the International Child Evangelism Fellowship Institute in Pacific Palisades, California, and Muskegon, Michigan. She has held teaching classes in most of the Bible Colleges and Institutes and in many of them she has an itinerary of going back year after year.

The Child Evangelism Institute meeting in Greenville will be sponsored by North Carolina Child Evangelism Fellowship. Dr. and Mrs. Frank R. Mann, North Carolina directors, will also be assisting in this institute.

Equal Pay For Women Is Gaining

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The world's women, under the banner "equal work, equal pay," are making steady progress in the long battle for wage equality with men.

A report by the International Labor Organization (ILO), prepared annually to provide information on the results of efforts by U. N. members to eliminate wage discrimination against women, shows wage discrimination against women still exists but is being slowly reduced.

In the United States, congressional hearings are expected this year on some of the many federal equal pay bills introduced by women lawmakers.

On the state level, the State Federations of Business and Professional Women's Clubs are playing a big role. In Wisconsin and Ohio equal pay bills have been introduced by federation members.

In New York and Pennsylvania the state federations have been working to revise existing equal pay legislation to enforce the extension of coverage to all employees.

California passed a strengthening amendment to equal pay legislation last year and Nebraska adopted a resolution favoring it.

In Florida, Indiana, Iowa, Minnesota, Ohio, Utah and Wisconsin, equal pay bills were introduced.

In Illinois, New Jersey, New York and Pennsylvania, amendments were introduced with a view to improving existing legislation on equal pay.

Tells History, Uses Of Shells

"Shells were used thousands of years before Christ as jewelry, as a means of exchange, and as domestic and agriculture implements," pointed out Mrs. L. A. Stroud, Clio Club speaker.

To illustrate her talk, Mrs. Stroud showed specimen shells from her collection. These shells include univalves, bivalves, cephalopods, and chitons. She explained which shells had finishes of nacre, enamel, and porcelain.

"There are 100,000 species of shells—90 per cent of which are less than 1/2 inch in size," said Mrs. Stroud.

She added, "The oyster is the most important member of the shell animals, because it furnishes food for both man and marine life, and it also is very valuable commercially. Oysters' shells are used as soil supplements, and buttons are made from them. But, its greatest commercial contribution is the production of pearls."

Mrs. Stroud's collection represents all sizes, shapes and colors of shells collected all over the world.

Prior to the program, officers for the coming year were elected. Mrs. W. J. Stell was named president with Mrs. W. S. Boat, vice president. Mrs. James Moye and Mrs. Rose Fambrough were elected to the offices of secretary and treasurer.

Mrs. Stell, hostess, served a salad plate with coffee and cake to members and guest, Mrs. C. C. Abernethy.

U. S. Women Know Their Spices

AP Newsfeatures
American women are becoming gourmet cooks, and the American kitchen now is stocked with a wide variety of herbs and spices.

This is indicated by a recent survey made by a pharmaceutical company which discovered that women were re-using their apothecary vitamin jars as herb and spice containers. To encourage the trend, the company decided to offer a kit of herb and spice labels together with a recipe booklet along with their vitamins.

At first they offered only eight labels: allspice, cinnamon, cloves, mustard, nutmeg, oregano, parsley and pepper—the most common spices. Housewives throughout the country, when queried, said eight labels were not nearly enough. They requested the following additions: ginger, sage, thyme, celery seed, curry, basil, savory and marjoram.

A few years ago, many of these herbs and spices were little known or used in the average American home. But interest in gourmet foods has doubled the national spice shelf.

Tells Proper Care Of Machine

Mrs. Eric Whichard, president of Sweet Gum Grove Home Demonstration Club, gave a demonstration on the proper ways to clean sewing machines when the club met March 20 at the Community Building.

She urged members to clean their machines often and to do more sewing. Mrs. Marlon Nobles assisted in the demonstration and discussed new styles and shades of the season.

The president presided over the meeting which was opened with a song. Mrs. John Whichard gave a devotional. The club thanked Mrs. Butler for the new bulletin board.

Mrs. John Whichard was appointed Progress Program Chairman. She will be assisted by Mrs. Eric Whichard. They urged members to begin to keep records of all activities that will help to make the program a success.

Leaders' reports were given by Mrs. Johnnie Meeks, gardening, and Mrs. Heber Briley, foods and nutrition. Mrs. Briley urged members to eat more fish as it has fewer calories.

The president gave a report on the recent council meeting and luncheon. Two of the members used printed feed sacks and old hats to create their own spring outfit.

Mrs. Fernando Whichard received the door prize after which Mrs. Johnnie Meeks and Mrs. Mayo Rogers, assisted by Mrs. Alice Teel, served refreshments.

Social Notes

Gayle Briley has been transferred from Duke Hospital to Pitt Memorial Hospital. She continues to be in critical condition.

Picks Up Paint Brush—40 Years Later

By ANNE SINGLETON
Reflector Woman's Editor

When Mrs. John Barker was married 40 years ago she laid down her paint brush.

As the years passed, her children married and began raising their own families. Then Mrs. Barker and her husband moved into a smaller home.

All at once she found time on her hands. "I didn't want to knit or crochet, but I wanted a hobby," she explained.

Three years ago when the Paint and Putty class was organized at Elm Street Park, Mrs. Barker joined as a charter member. Still not quite sure what her future hobby would be, she experimented with water colors and oil painting.

Found Themselves
Mrs. Barker mentioned other women in Greenville who have found themselves in painting. "It is an outlet not only for women, but also for men and children," she added.

Although her husband, who is a lawyer, does not actually paint, he has an important position as her personal critic. She admitted that he is an expert at suggesting improvements in her work.

Mrs. Barker's work is quite varied. Not only does she paint still life scenes, copies of reproductions, portraits from photographs, and flowers, but she also paints vases, lamps, and wedding announcements.

Painting has also opened a new world of friends for her. "I've met so many people during the past few years who have similar interests. We often meet and paint together," added Mrs. Barker.

The part her hobby plays in her life today was pinpointed when she said, "I like to cook and sew, but I love to paint."

AT HER EASEL . . . Mrs. John Barker is at home.

Oils Fascinating
The durability and the freedom found in oils fascinated her. "I'd had my paints packed away in a box for years, but when we moved to our smaller home they were thrown away. Then, all at once, I wanted them," she said.

Before marriage this brown haired artist had painted china. A china painting course taken while in high school is the only formal art training she has had.

"Through the years I dabbled, never trying to do anything serious. But during the last few years painting has given me satisfaction, a feeling of accomplishment and true happiness which has saved me from loneliness," she pointed out.

The pre-school clinic will be held at Wahl-Coates School on Thursday.

The following slate of officers for the coming year was unanimously accepted: Dr. O. R. Pearce, president; Mrs. Clay Burnette, vice-president; Mrs. Philip Smith, secretary; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Smith, treasurer.

The attendance award was won by Mrs. Savage's third grade.

Joint Recital Set Wednesday

TO GIVE RECITAL . . . Carroll Glenn, violinist, and Eugene List, pianist.

Violinist Carroll Glenn and her pianist husband Eugene List will appear at East Carolina College Wednesday in the Wright auditorium at 8 p.m. The concert is sponsored by the College Entertainment Committee as one of its attractions for the present school year.

They have appeared in solo and together, in recital, with the major orchestras, as the great summer festivals and on radio and TV.

When they appeared on Boston's famous Morning Musical series in January 1957, the Boston Globe critic "doubted" in print that he had "ever heard such fine ensemble playing." The Boston Herald praised their "complete rapport with each other as musical artists."

During the fall of 1956, Glenn and List gridded the globe on a concert tour sponsored by the International Exchange Program of the American National Theatre and Academy (ANTA). They played in Indonesia, Pakistan, Singapore and India—30 concerts in 47 days, including 140 performances of compositions by 10 representative American composers.

Typical reaction to these personable and talented "cultural ambassadors" was mirrored by the Times of Bombay. Headlining the event a "FLAWLESS RECITAL," the critic said, "Here is genius—talent above the ordinary, irradiated with that perception of beauty that is given to only one in a million, and here jointly exercised."

Because of the scarcity of material for violin and piano with orchestra, Glenn and List have inspired contemporary composers to write special works for them. Among them are American Paul Nordoff, and the Frenchman Manuel Rosenthal. They introduced the Nordoff Concerto with great success in January 1952, in Indianapolis, and most recently played it for the Town Hall opening of the 10th Annual American Music Festival sponsored by Gothenburg's good music station, WNYC.

When they played the premiere of the Rosenthal work, "Aesop's Convivium," with the composer conducting the Orchestra Nationale over the French radio network from Paris, the French press hailed "their talent which is great and beautiful" and called them "inspired."

Mrs. D. H. Conley Speaks On Inspirational Poetry

"Inspirational Poetry" was the topic discussed by Mrs. D. H. Conley when the Round Table Club met March 18 with Miss Lella Higgs at her home on Pennsylvania Avenue.

Defining first the meaning of poetry as an expression of powerful feeling to provoke positive thinking, she identified inspirational poetry as poetry to stimulate meditation and reminiscing.

Reciting poems to illustrate various types of inspirational poetry, Mrs. Conley opened with "Invictus" and answered the poem with "My Captain," the theme that "Christ is the Captain of my Soul."

She noted, "One would have to be a Christian to appreciate and follow the thought in the next poem." She then recited Rudyard

Kipling's "If."

Among other types of poetry she discussed were nature, romantic, and religious poems.

In closing, Mrs. Conley quoted a scholar who said, "Life after death is the continuation of life after earth."

Using St. Patrick's color theme, Miss Higgs, assisted by her sister, Mrs. L. M. Buchanan, Mrs. Howard, and Miss Jessie Moye, served a salad course with tea to the members attending.

Offers FWB Students Awards

MOUNT OLIVE—Fourteen tuition scholarships worth $250 each will be offered again next year by Mount Olive Junior College, Mount Olive, to Free Will Baptist students of any state who graduate as valedictorians or salutatorians, President W. Burkette Raper announced this week.

Interested students who expect to graduate from high school in 1958 with either the first or second highest scholastic average in their class should write the college for application forms.

Courses of study at Mount Olive Junior College include two years of liberal arts study and business education. The curriculum is designed to meet the general requirements for the first two years of study toward a standard college degree. Mount Olive Junior College, although sponsored by the North Carolina State Convention, is open to Free Will Baptist students from other states on the same basis as students from North Carolina. From an enrollment of 22 students in 1954 the college has grown to 87, which is an increase of nearly 400 percent.

The purpose of these scholarships, Raper declared, is to encourage the best Free Will Baptist students in the nation to further their education in a college of their denomination. "At present," he added, "we are losing too many of our most capable students."

Mrs. Judson Whitehurst, Mrs. Tillet Alexander and Mrs. C. L. James were the guests of Mrs. Rex Edmonds in Scotland Neck last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Tyndall of Swansboro and Mr. and Mrs. Howard McDustrial of Wilson spent the weekend with Mrs. H. D. Guranus.

Banquet Closes Mission Study

About 70 people attended the Missions Banquet at the Red Oak Community Building Sunday evening, which brought to a close a School of Missions, the first ever held at Red Oak Church.

Mrs. Howard James, Mrs. Jarvis Tripp Sr. and Jarvis Tripp were in charge of decorations.

The stage was transformed into a flower garden, symbolic of Japan. Huge colored worlds were used also and red floodlights.

Japanese fans and floral arrangements with lighted candles were placed on the banquet table.

Mrs. B. L. Tyson led the group in singing after which Mrs. H. H. Settle returned thanks.

The highlight of the meeting was a talk illustrated with colored slides presented by Mrs. Jamie Gold Starling of her recent trip around the world.

Mrs. Starling was dressed in a pale blue sari embroidered in gold. She was assisted by Miss Nesa Ann Page and Mrs. Ola Kittrell who wore costumes from the Holy Land.

At the conclusion of her talk, a friendship circle was formed and a benediction sung.

The Rev. Howard James was director of the Mission Study class on Japan. Teachers were Sam Winchester, adult teacher; Thurston Wynne and Mrs. Jarvis Tripp Sr., CYP teachers; Mrs. Howard James, Chi Rho, and Mrs. Leon Tyson, Chi Rhoettes.

Mrs. Amos Evans and Mrs. J. T. Manning Jr. arranged the tables and food for the banquet.

Guests for this event included Mr. and Mrs. Max Ray Joyner and daughter, Mrs. Louella Stancille, Mrs. Roger Mann, Mrs. H. H. Settle and Mrs. Clark of Greenville.

CAMPAIGN COMPOSER
Among many other works, Dame Ethel Smith, English composer, wrote the suffragettes' "March of the Women."

Use Sewing Machine To Fullest Extent Said HD Club Speaker

"Success in home sewing depends greatly on the ability to use to the fullest extent the modern sewing machine and its various attachments," said Mrs. Bruce Hart when she presented a demonstration on "The Care and Use of the Sewing Machine" for the Pactivus Home Demonstration Club.

Mrs. Hart said, "Clean it first—a safe rule to follow if a machine is giving trouble. Dust grit, lint and thread easily collect on the working parts of the machine and will interfere with the free running of the machine."

Simple sewing equipment was also displayed and proper storage of this equipment was stressed.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. John Langley. Reports were heard from standing committees and project reports were given. Members were given questionnaires on "Test Your Egg IQ," stressing the fact that March is Egg Month.

The meeting came to a close after Mrs. W. B. Satterthwaite served refreshments.

Open House Held At Public Library

ROBERSONVILLE — Open House was observed in the Robersonville Public Library Thursday afternoon in connection with National Library Week.

The two rooms were decorated with arrangements of giant jonquils, Japanese quince and other early spring flowers.

Mrs. C. R. Gray, Mrs. Alton Rodgers, Mrs. Marvin Everett and Mrs. R. K. Adkins greeted the 100 guests and served the refreshments consisting of punch and a variety of cookies while the librarian, Mrs. W. L. Swindell, supervised the incoming and outgoing books.

The Book Lovers' Club and the Ex Libris Club sponsored the affair.

Smith-Johnson offered the members one of their windows where Mrs. John Tyler and Mrs. Martha Dell Gray displayed the best sellers, several current novels, a book over 135 years old and an old-fashioned pair of spectacles near an ancient Bible.

Christian Church Holding Revival

ROBERSONVILLE—The First Christian Church of Robersonville is holding a series of revival services which began March 23 and will continue until March 30. Services each evening begin at 7:30.

Dr. Cleveland Bradner, professor and director of religious activities at E.C.C., Greenville, will be the guest minister. He is a graduate of Atlantic Christian College, Wilson, and the University of Chicago Divinity School. He did extensive post-graduate work in other universities and served as chaplain in the European theatre during World War II.

Special music will be furnished by the choir under the direction of Mrs. Irving L. Smith.

Everyone is cordially invited by the pastor, the Rev. Wilbur T. Wallace.

Moves Can Hurt Holes In Reform

The complexity of North Carolina's system of lower courts is enough to cause the committee on court reforms to throw up its hands in despair.

Fortunately, however, the committee headed by Sen. J. Spencer Bell of Charlotte appears not the least discouraged by what it has found in its study thus far. It knew pretty much what to expect. The real problem was getting it all down in black and white and then working out some reasonable solution to the maze of courts that operate in North Carolina.

The committee hasn't finished its work by a long shot, but the work it has already done in compiling information on the state's lower court system is enough to convince the people of the state that some reforms must be had.

The committee so far has concluded sufficient study to show that the state's lower courts have grown without plan, and without uniformity until there are some 1,400 in all with a variety of degrees of jurisdiction, forms, special assignments and what-have-you.

Without sweeping reforms, there is little hope that North Carolina can untangle the appalling jumble that now constitutes its system of lower courts. Without reforms that will set the pattern for establishment of new courts in the future as well as revamping the courts that we now have, North Carolina must resign itself to a hopelessly confused lower court situation.

Faced with such a situation, it is a foregone conclusion that any effective attempt at reform will step on the toes of a good many people. It must be expected that proposals which come from the committee will be attacked from many sides before and during consideration by the legislature. If various special interest groups succeed in puncturing small holes in the reform proposals, North Carolina will gain little real benefit in its attempt to revamp its system of lower courts.

Whatever the recommendations made by the committee studying the lower courts, such recommendations should be evaluated with the welfare of the state as a whole in mind.

Compulsory Liability Insurance Accepted

Acceptance of the compulsory liability insurance law which went into effect this year points up the fact the vast majority of North Carolinians were both anxious for the additional protection the program would provide, and were willing to spend the dollars necessary to have it.

It may take a year or two yet to evaluate the public's lasting impression of the law, but there seems at this moment little possibility that this adjunct to the highway safety program will go the way of the mechanical inspection law.

Some of those who opposed this compulsory insurance law proposed by Rep. Walter Jones of Farmville have recently expressed surprise at the manner in which the program has been accepted by citizens of the state. Among these is Insurance Commissioner Charles Goid.

The fact that the new program is affording North Carolinians greater protection than they have had in the past is evidenced by statistics compiled by the Department of Motor Vehicles. In February 1957 when the old financial responsibility act was in effect, only 57.52 per cent of vehicles involved in accidents were covered by liability insurance. For February of this year the percentage had jumped to 73.45. Subsequent months will show an even higher percentage of vehicles covered by liability insurance.

Compared with the old financial responsibility act, this new program is doing at the outset almost twice the job the old act did. It is affording North Carolinians much more realistic protection than was the case under the old law. As the months wear on, the importance of the compulsory liability insurance law will be more emphatically impressed upon the people of the state.

It is quite possible that time and experience with the new law will point to refinements which should be made; but the law even as it now stands will prove its worth and its merit to the people of this state.

Possible Cause For Recession

By ELMER ROESSNER
One of the major causes of the present recession may be the wage-price push.

There are many other factors, of course. Here are some of them:

The great build-up in inventory, after which manufacturers, distributors and retailers found themselves with unwieldy stock on hand.

The cutback in military plane schedules because of the switch to emphasis on missiles.

The completion of many production expansion programs, leaving many giant corporations with facilities in excess of immediate demand.

Semi-saturation of many consumer markets after earlier shortages. There was a 10-year rush for refrigerators, washers, dryers, television receivers, etc., which is now ended.

AUTO BUYING A FACTOR
Completion of most of the government's stockpiling program, taking government buyers out of metals and materials markets.

The pattern of auto credit which is keeping many three-year instalment payers out of the market for a while.

Something less than wild enthusiasm for new auto models. The postwar catch-up in foreign countries, making them less eager for American food and goods.

Those factors alone would make some kind of dip inevitable. But it may be that the wage-price push was most important of all. The "may be" is important, because there is no known way of determining the relative force of each factor.

HOW WAGE - PRICE PUSH PUSHES
The age-price push has been powerful since the end of the war. It works this way:

Strong unions demand increases in wages and, usually, additional benefits which are equivalent to further increases. They get their demands, sometimes by negotiation, sometimes by strike. Then manufacturers increase prices to cover costs.

When a considerable part of all prices have gone up, organized workers find their rates have been diluted and the demand for another round of pay increases.

All this would be a gay game, like playing poker for matches, if everybody were playing. But many of us aren't dealt in.

MILLIONS LEFT OUT
In the course of a year, the 15,000,000 organized workers may expect to gain sizable wage increases. About an equal number of other workers will also get some kind of increase. Employers have to give increases to compete for workers, or to dissuade unorganized workers from joining unions.

In the course of a year, about the working force may get pay rises. The rest are left behind. They include those without competitive strength to demand more money, some civil service employees, and self-employed persons. Others whose incomes fall to rise include pensioners, annuitants, persons living on bond interest and similar payments, farmers outside the price-support system, and others on fixed incomes.

As prices of autos, appliances, furniture and clothing rise, they can buy less and less. That means fewer sales, fewer orders, less production and layoffs.

A curious thing about the current recession is that the worst effect are concentrated in the industrial centers around the Great Lakes, the East Coast and the West Coast. It is in these centers that labor has gained the greatest pay rises, and in which manufacturers have raised prices the most.

COLUMNISTS' SPOOF IS FOUND OUT
A reader writes: "You were joking when you said that borax houses were listed under B in the telephone directory, weren't you?"

Yes, No borax house ever admitted it was a borax house. A borax house, incidentally, is a furniture store that sells gaudy but inferior furniture at excessive prices, usually on long and expensive credit terms. There are several theories about the origin of the term, a popular one being that they were so-called because they took their customers for a cleaning, and borax is a cleaning agent. More plausible, however, is the theory that the term came from the German word "borg," meaning credit.

Opinions In Brief
"The way John Citizen has been treated to talk about hair-curling setbacks, tight money and recession, one might think inflation would be farthest from mind. It isn't. Sixty-five per cent of all John Citizens tell Gallup pollsters they expect higher prices—meaning more inflation—this year." — New Orleans State.

"Lots of Englishmen walk for fun, as do other Europeans. It is a pity that the practice cannot be more widely adopted, or at least condoned, in this country, but public sentiment and well-meaning friends being what they are, it takes one who dares to be different to indulge." — The Alabama Journal.

Look At Our Heroes

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Will the egg-head become America's new national hero?

There are those who feel that the arrival of the space age has elevated the egghead to a new stature. They are hopeful that the victories of science, in test tube and rocket, will win a new respect for education and a decline in anti-intellectualism in the United States.

It is hard to go along with this optimism. It is certainly, at the moment, premature. As a nation, we still pick our heroes and heroines on the basis of charge or brawn, not brain-power. We admire the obvious; we distrust the subtle.

We reward our national heroes with cash and glory, in most cases; not on the basis of how they have helped our advancement as a people, but how they have pleased our emotions individually. The real heroes of our passing generations are often relatively unknown by the general public in their time.

Everybody knows who is supposed to have jumped off Brooklyn Bridge — Steven Brodie. How many can name the designer and builder of Brooklyn Bridge, one of the loveliest structures ever conceived by the mind of man?

You can measure a culture by the heroes it produces. America has made tremendous strides culturally in almost every field in the 20th century. This great growth is recognized by intellectuals of other lands, but the Americans they would honor as heroes are little known or not known at all to millions of Americans.

We have created a great science, yet how few ordinary citizens can ever name three living American scientists? How many can name four living American poets, five world-famous living American novelists, three native-born opera singers, or even one top American composer?

Of our population of 173,000,000 only a handful can. Not, surely, more than one in five, probably not one in ten.

We are the most pill-taking people on earth, yet who among us can name, off-hand, half a dozen celebrated American doctors, alive or dead?

We are one of the most politically minded people on earth. Politics has always been one of our major sports. Yet how many of us can spontaneously name and identify a dozen U. S. senators and the states they come from? How many of us can name the U. S. representative in Congress from our own district?

Well, ask the average American to name five famous movie stars, five famous heavyweight boxing champions, five great baseball players, five outstanding television performers. He'll pass this quiz with a perfect score.

Then ask him to identify Elvis Presley, and name the present Chief Justice of the United States. The odds are he'll know all about Elvis, but have forgotten Earl Warren.

The fact is that the great majority know very little about the men who control and change their lives, but a great deal about those who entertain them.

No, there is very little prospect that the egghead will soon replace Babe Ruth as a national hero. We would rather, in the snobbery of our general ignorance, see the egghead flat on his face like Humpy Dumpty.

In our civilization the egghead, if he is ever to be a hero, is likely to be a post-mortem one. Most of us have a secret fear of a live intellectual and prefer to admire him after he is comfortably dead. Only then does he seem safe on a pedestal.

Quote . . .
"The American Constitution is, so far as I can see, the most wonderful work ever struck off at a given time by the brain and purpose of man." — William Gladstone.

Mike Wallace Quizes Pogo
Q. What do you think of Outer Space, Pogo?
Albert: It's better, he thinks, than Inner Space, Your Highness.

Owl: He's for Outer Space, if he's for anything, Judge.
Turtle: If Inner Space means you gotta dig a hole and crawl in, then . . . he's for OUT.

Q. I'd like to get Pogo's reaction.
Turtle: He don't play that way — he is not a reactionary, please the Court.

Owl: Let him answer, he's got a right to talk. What do you think of Outer Space, Pogo?
Pogo: I haven't thought of it much. I mean it's okay, but . . .
Turtle: Outer Space is the coming thing. Like Florida in the twenties.

Owl: Blue sky, Judge, that's what; put your money in clouds, sir.
Q. Do you suppose there will be a boom in space travel?
Pogo: Well . . .
Albert: There's a boom in it now. I can't imagine anybody sitting on one of them rockets and . . . pssst!

Owl: If they want to see anything, why don't they see America first? . . . Where's their patriotism?
Turtle: The Russians, you mean? We could exchange rocket passengers. They fire 'em at us, we fire 'em back.

Those Unreasonable Amerikanskis

By DON SCHLIENZ Spring? Now Hear This

Like everybody else, I'm impressed by the arrival of spring;

Only, in a different way. There's a fall housecleaning session and a spring housecleaning session; and in between there are housecleaning sessions to fit any season or mood.

Spring housecleaning sessions are the worst of the lot. They come at a time when arterial circulation hasn't made up its mind between running on the winter or summer schedule, and the body is more inclined toward napping or other such vitalizing activities.

Instead, the Average-American-Housewife (is there really such a person?) gets all wound up with moving furniture, cleaning blinds, cleaning, waxing, polishing, vacuuming and washing and packing and unpacking . . . all very unsettling to the Average-American-Husband (of which I'm sure there are many).

Despite Grandmother's reputation for being a tidy housekeeper, there's a sneaking suspicion circulating around that her granddaughter . . . year in, year out . . . keeps a cleaner household. The argument advanced by those who advance it, is that granddaughter has better tools, a better house and more time to do those things.

Anyway, the habit of spring housecleaning has lingered and lingered; producing untold harmful effects on the American male who is outlived by his womenfolk no matter how he tries to protect himself.

Granddaughters, are you listening?
It happens every Tuesday . . . well, almost . . . when the newsroom staff huddles to discuss the calendar of coming events and how they'll be covered.

Sometimes too, there's an informal report on a meeting a staff member attended; or someone will pass around an idea picked up from heaven-knows-where that might be adapted for our own use.

You can see how such gatherings could easily be reduced to a glorified coffee-break; but it never happens. The idea of making a better Daily Reflector is never quite lost in the shuffle.

Periodically there's a "critique". That is, the newspapers of one week are mercilessly gone over with a sharp eye for story structure, omissions, unnecessary wordage and all other real or fancied faults. Everybody gets into the act and no punches are pulled. Time isn't wasted on the "good" jobs performed; it's the weak spots that are pinpointed and when the ordeal is over no one has any doubts as to what might have done better.

The "new look" of our Saturday feature page is a direct result of two such Tuesday sessions.

"They look all jammed up", fumed a critical writer of a few weeks ago. "Instead of fitting these pictures and story all together like a jigsaw puzzle, they should be given a lot more white space to make them stand out."

It struck sparks, and a lot of time was spent in talking out problems raised by a change in styling one page. Even the composing room volunteered a helpful thought for brightening the layout.

Few things are as contagious as a lively interest in one's chosen work, and the fever runs mighty high around here on a Tuesday afternoon.

Other Editors Saying --- GI Career Men Needed

(Rocky Mount Telegram)
The word mercenary, although a perfectly good word, usually denotes a heavy emphasis on the art of making money, working merely for reward, and the word is most often used in speaking of soldiers who are in the pay for a country other than their own, although this is not always the case, because the term can be applied to athletes, politicians, or almost anybody else who looks to the rendering of service solely for money.

It isn't a pleasant thing to contemplate the new thought trends in regard to the U.S. military, but Congress this week came up with a couple of bills that, if approved, will lead a mercenary air to the donning of an American uniform, for the new bills provide for incentive pay in order to keep American men in uniform.

Having tried patriotism and the more severe method of drafting, the powers that be now must face the hard fact that money alone will keep many men in the service of Uncle Sam. It has been figured out that under the new provisions an enlisted man can make as much as $10,000 a year in the U.S. armed forces. An officer could make more than $31,000. If these incentives are not enough, then the government will have to give up trying.

These examples just cited would be rare cases, but compensation of practically all career men in the armed services would be stepped up considerably and the raises would be the heaviest in the top brackets of both enlisted and officer ranks. This is deliberate policy to encourage men to make their careers in uniform.

Furthermore, the services would be authorized to give enlisted men special promotions, or extra pay, up to $1,800 a year if they became proficient in skills needed by the services. This type of incentive might work, and if it does, the U.S. could boast the most expensive armed forces in the world in pay alone.

Granted that men in uniform are fighting a handicap, in that their civilian counterparts are probably making much more on the outside, it still seems a little embarrassing that this country, the center of democracy and freedom and patriotism, must resort to such high monetary rewards in order to keep enough men in uniform to run our armed forces.

Time was when most American youngsters deemed it a privilege, not to mention adventure, to serve in uniform. But perhaps we are taking the old fashioned view. Times have changed and for some reason or other patriotism today is regarded as being so much corn.

Still we must remember that the dollar today isn't worth what it once was and that it will only buy a similar amount of service.

Lonely Lion Gets Owner In Trouble

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)—Among all the animals in Alaska, Gil is unique. The territory is famous for its brown and black bear, moose, deer, arctic polar bear, mountain goat, dall sheep, reindeer, caribou, musk ox and even buffalo. But Gil stands alone as the only one of her breed in Alaska. She's a lion—or a lioness, if you prefer. And her life, although complicated in the past by frequent court disputes, is a bit more soft than that of other game animals in the territory. She doesn't roam the rugged forests in search of food or a place to sleep. Even Alaska's frigid winter weather is no problem. Gil is a pet—and about as domesticated as a 2-year-old lion anywhere could be. She's owned by S. Sgt. and Mrs. Glenn F. Diel, and lives mostly in the garage of the Diel home in suburban Hidden Valley. Her grazing land, the back yard of the Diel home, now is enclosed by an eight-foot wooden fence topped by a heavy wire mesh. The barricade was ordered by U.S. District Judge J. L. McCarrey Jr. after a number of complaints had been filed against Gil's neighborhood ramblings. Gil's most serious bout with the law came as a result of a $5,000 damage suit filed against Sgt. Diel, who is stationed at Elmendorf Air Force base here. The parents of a young girl contended the lion had scratched their daughter. A federal court jury awarded $59 in damages to cover a doctor bill. With winter snow on the ground, and temperatures around the zero level, Gil doesn't venture outside of the garage much more than 15 minutes a day. Her paws get cold. Gil was born in captivity at the Chase Wild Animal Compound at Halifax, Mass. Mrs. Diel chose the animal's name—in honor of a former employer in Sacramento, Calif.

AFFECTIONATE PET—Gil, the only lion in Alaska, indicates disapproval of fence repairs by his owner, Sgt. Glenn Diel.

Jet Engine For The Youngsters

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—Because Sister Mary Jane of Cardinal High School asked for a jet engine, some 9,000 youngsters from eight schools here have learned about jet propulsion. The nun, a science teacher, wrote to Wright-Patterson Air Force Base in Dayton, Ohio, asking to borrow a jet engine model for her class. Air Force recruiters accepted the assignment and demonstrated the engine for youngsters in other schools as well.

Into Mansion Enter Schatzi

PRINCETON, N. J. (AP)—Morgen, the governor's mansion, is putting on the dog. Democratic Gov. Robert B. Meyner and his wife, Helen, recently acquired their third dog, a poodle called "Schatzi." Schatzi joins "Fluffy" another poodle, and "Buster," a Norwegian elkhound. All three dogs are Democrats, said the first lady, but Schatzi isn't allowed the run of the mansion. "Not housebroken," she said.

Trying To Breed A Red Canary

NUTLEY, N. J. (AP)—Rudy Klemm may make the "little yellow dickie bird" a thing of the past. He's trying to breed a bright red canary. Klemm has assembled about six South American canaries for cross-breeding. Averaging about a chick a month, Klemm figures it will take his pets about five to 10 years to come up with an all-red canary.

Sent Representatives To Beta Convention

By ANNE HARRIS
Belvoir-Falkland Reporter
Nine Belvoir-Falkland High School students attended the recent State Beta Convention in Raleigh as representatives of the BFHS chapter. Nellis Gwaltney, Brenda Windham, Linda Smith, Ernest Lewis, Mitchell Wooten and Mrs. Dorothy Hardy, chapter advisor, attended both days of the convention. Grace Edwards, Iris Smith, Sheila Wooten and J. W. Pollard attended the second day's activities.

BFHS student Jean Flake ranked fourth among Pitt County high school typists in the recent Pitt County Typing Contest, held at East Carolina College. Jean will represent the county in the district typing contest which will be held April 10 at ECC.

Junior Class members presented their class play, "Gentlemen, Preferred," Friday night. Entertainment between acts was provided by four fifth graders, Tommy Harris, Debbie Turner, Janice Whitaker and Patsy Lewis. Mrs. Virginia Lang, class advisor, was presented a gift by the class in appreciation for her work as director of the play.

The Senior Class treasury netted more than $53 from a basketball doubleheader played last week between Seniors and faculty members against residents of the community. The money will be used to finance Senior Class projects.

The Junior Red Cross Drive ended last week in the school with contributions amounting to $44.20. The money will be turned over to the Pitt County Chapter of the American Red Cross.

Students Given Gob And Study

By JIM LESSON
ANNANDALE ON HUDSON N.Y. (AP)—Working their way through college is the rule rather than the exception for most students at Bard College—It's part of the curriculum.

Following Christmas holidays each year, Bard students scatter throughout the United States for an eight-week field period to practice what has been preached in class. They hold jobs ranging from assistant in a mental hospital to hired hand on a farm, finding out—before graduation—what type of work they're fitted for. About 70 per cent of Bard's 255 students get paying jobs for the field during their first three years. As seniors they "retire" to spend the two months on their senior projects. Faculty advisers keep an eye on them and can assign extra studies to fulfill program requirements. As a double check, students and employers write reports of what was accomplished.

The Winter Field Period began at Bard in 1934 as an experiment. At first, all students returned home for special reading or research projects. Gradually the period evolved into the work-study program. The students get a regular vacation in the summer.

Each year, Bard students have been hired consistently by such organizations as Lederle Laboratories, Sloan-Kettering Institute, Reader's Digest, the Esso Company, and the Museum of Natural History. For many students, these temporary job experiences have led to good jobs after graduation. Bard's president, James H. Case Jr., says, "Jobs and study can and should supplement each other. The combination enables students to mature intellectually and practically."

One Of Three Men May Be First To Ride Into Space

By STEVE LOWELL
ALAMOGORDO, N.M. (AP)—Red-haired Joe Kittinger may be the first American into space. At least he hopes so. "If Col. Stapp said tomorrow that the system is ready, I would go. I only hope that they get it ready before I get too old to be considered."

Air Force Capt. Joseph Kittinger, 29, is one of three men who justly can be called space pioneers.

The others are Col. John Paul Stapp, 47; and Lt. Col. David Simons, 35. Stapp was dubbed the "Fastest Man on Earth" in 1954 when he rode a rocket sled 632 miles an hour to test whether a human could stand the violent starts and stops that would be necessary in space flight. He heads the Air Force missile center's aero-medical laboratory here.

Lt. Col. Simons, just promoted from Major, won fame last summer when he rode a balloon 102,000 feet into the air to study upper atmosphere. He is chief of the space biology branch of the laboratory. Both he and Col. Stapp are physicians.

Joe Kittinger, on the other hand, is a pilot. He has flown almost every type of plane, and not long before Simons' record-breaker, soared 96,000 feet in a balloon as part of the project to try to get some of the preliminary bugs out of space travel.

All three agree that space is Tree-Climber Likes Rescues

GRANITE PARK, Utah (AP)—Walter R. Van Moorebeem thinks his cat must like getting rescued from dangerous perches. It climbed 45 feet to the top of a tall tree and wouldn't come down until Van Moorebeem returned home to coax it down. It was his second rescue of the animal in as many days.

Delayed Payment Out Of Africa

NORMAN, Okla. (AP)—University of Oklahoma students have borrowed more than a half million dollars from loan funds at the school and 98 per cent of the borrowers paid promptly. But Emil Kraethli, the funds' administrator, said that there was one loan that took a little longer to get repaid. "One former student paid in full from Africa — after a lapse of 30 years," he reported.

some time away. All three would like to be the first American to get there, but concede that there are more immediate problems to solve than who the first spaceman will be.

What will he be like? Let Col. Stapp describe him: "First, the man chosen must have a first-class nervous system and physique. He must have the motivation — be deeply interested in space research.

"His background and training must be of a high level. We have had lots of volunteers, but if the only response we can get from the man is 'dub,' he's not much good to us." The central nervous system should be superior in intelligence, stability and endurance.

"His mind must be able to function at intense levels of effort on complex problems for many hours at a time. He must not be easily frightened or emotionally disturbed.

"He should be able to tolerate isolation in solitary flight for long periods. He must have good insight and contact-with-reality—he must be a down-to-earth type not inclined to gaze at the stars in rapture, but, instead, watch the dials."

Governments Get Tangled Up In Their Words

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst WASHINGTON (AP)—Ever get the feeling governments talk too much?

Ever since Soviet Premier Bulganin wrote President Eisenhower last December, proposing a summit meeting, the United States and the Soviet Union have been doing the double job of talking about the summit and making propaganda for themselves.

The trouble is: they get so involved with their fancy diplomatic footwork and their hair-splitting that the people of the world can't keep it clear in their heads. The result is the people give up trying to figure who sounds better or who's ahead.

Here's a picture of what's been going on since December:

Bulganin wrote four letters to Eisenhower; Eisenhower replied with three and is probably preparing another; Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles have talked about the summit at their news conferences; Bulganin and Communist party boss Khrushchev have talked about it in the Soviet Union; the Soviets have sent this country an aide-memoire, which is fancy for a note; this country has sent the Soviets an aide-memoire; and yesterday the Soviets fired back with another note.

Thousands and thousands of words have been written or said. Meanwhile, since all this involves propaganda beamed at the whole world, each country hopes it's getting the better of it.

This writer often wonders justman in the street, who has no how much the man in the street, here or anywhere, can possibly remember who said what, or even what's been said, by this time.

I have a complete file on the letters, the news conferences, the speeches, the aide-memoire. But every time a new one comes along I have to root in the files on what happened before to be sure I'm not missing a new point.

This got to be such a dizzy chore that I made a kind of chart, briefly listing the points made by Eisenhower, the points made by Bulganin, what each proposed and each rejected, not to mention what Dulles and Khrushchev and the aides-memoire said.

Even then, each new installment means rooting back into the files and revising the chart.

So I wonder just how much that

Last night the latest Soviet note was handed to the American ambassador in Moscow and the Moscow radio promptly began broadcasting a summary of its contents.

This was in reply to the American note of March 6, which turned down the kind of preparations suggested by the Soviets for a summit meeting and asked if the Soviets really wanted a worthwhile meeting or just a spectacle.

Last night, after 18 days of thinking it over, the Soviets complained this country was trying to mess things up. That's what it said, in brief. That was one more note for the files and a bunch of new words that get lost in people's heads.

Big Circus Loses Familiar Smells

By FRANKIE SHARP

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP)—The big circus doesn't smell any more. Ringling Bros., Barnum & Bailey, which opens here tomorrow in the first non-New York premiere in circus history, is as clean and sweet-smelling as your own home—well, almost.

The circus' new look of indoor performances, more girls and fewer animals is responsible for its cleanliness and its change from the traditional opening in Madison Square Garden.

Instead of sawdust, the circus performs on green rubber padding which is hosed down after each performance.

Now that the circus travels with only 40 horses and 20 elephants, the huge circus trains are gone. Some of the single performers travel in leased railroad cars, but all families drive their own cars and pull horse trailers.

It's a long drive from winter quarters in Sarasota, Fla., to New York. Too long, circus authorities decided, and Charlotte's big coliseum (10,000 seating capacity) is just about halfway.

As performers garbed in jeans and bathing suits prepared for the big dress rehearsal last night, dozens of small children stood in the drizzle, peering through an open door at the wondrous goings-on.

In a small tent, the elephants munched their hay and waved their huge trunks. The circus' new look doesn't suit the elephants at all. No peanuts.

"Nobody can get in to feed them," said an elephant handler. "But in New York, they really get their peanuts. They are in the Garden basement with the side show and they get two or three bushels of peanuts a day."

At rehearsal the Coliseum rings with half dozen languages. About one-third of the circus acts are new each year, most of them from Europe. Many don't speak English at all.

One of the Ringling prizes is tiny (28-inch, 23-pound) Margarito Esparza Nevarez. The 21-year-old midwife was discovered last December in Mexico City.

The perfectly formed little man is billed as even smaller than Barnum's famous Tom Thumb. He doesn't speak a word of English and his one accomplishment—sings "Rancho Grande" and plays a minute guitar.

"When he arrived in Sarasota, everybody was taking his picture," another circus man said. "His one accomplishment—he sings 'Rancho Grande' and plays a minute guitar."

"When he arrived in Sarasota, everybody was taking his picture," another circus man said. "He trotted right up to each camera and squeaked 'Uno dollaire!'"

"If things work out as well as we think they will, we will probably be opening here again next year," says general manager Art Concello.

Death In Fire Is Blamed Smoke

NEWLAND, N.C. (AP)—Fire officials say heavy smoke confused a 50-year-old man who lost his way to safety and burned to death in a spectacular fire that destroyed the two-story Shady Lawn Hotel here yesterday.

The victim was identified as Wiley Swift, a service station operator and hotel patron who was in an upper story room of the frame building.

Nearby another man, 70-year-old Harry Carpenter, was awakened by the heavy smoke and roused hotel operators Jack Griffith and Joe Taylor. All three got out.

Fire Chief Paul Fletcher, estimating damage at $45,000, said the blaze apparently started in the hotel kitchen. Newland and Spruce Pine firemen could not control the roaring fire.

Fletcher said a fireman climbed a ladder to Swift's room, called out and got a confused reply. Swift apparently headed for a hall door instead of the window.

Scouts Planning For 'Expedition'

Plans are being made by Explorer Scouts of Post 30 for a spring expedition.

At last week's meeting members of the local Post made extensive plans for a trip to Washington, D.C. The theme of the expedition will be educational work on the Citizenship Merit Badges combined with "fun and sightseeing," according to Post Advisor Charles D. Cobb. Cobb is scheduled to chaperone the trip.

An awards ceremony, directed by Senior Crew Leader Charles Howie, was also held at the meeting. During the ceremony Sydney Moev received the Printing, Woodworking, First Aid, Music, Scholarship and Reading Merit Badges.

Advisor Cobb announced plans for a traffic safety project. The project will be discussed in detail at this week's meeting, to be staged Wednesday night.

Bad-Tempered Over Pictures

KEWANEE, Ill. (AP) -- The next time James L. Krause poses his registered Holstein bull for pictures, he'll stay clear of the consequences.

He landed in the Kewanee Hospital with two fractured ribs and internal injuries when photographer Richard Ogorzalek attempted to take the bull's picture.

The bull battered Krause against the barn in the first attempt, but he rolled with the blow on the second charge. Before he was attacked again, Ogorzalek grabbed the bull's nose ring and another man helped force the bull in the barn.

Give Preview Of Musical Comedy

Five students who will take part in the musical comedy Carousal at East Carolina College gave a preview of the musical for the Greenville Rotary Club last night.

Steve Farris of Ayden, Dottie Jo James of Wilmington, George Knight of Rocky Mount, Barbara Harris of Beaufort, and Anna Montgomery of Greenville all students at ECC, presented four numbers which will be featured in the musical.

Carousal will be presented in McGinnis Auditorium on the ECC campus on the evenings of April 15, 16 and 17.

Pipe Line Plans Big Expansion

GREENSBORO (AP)—A $2,500,000 expansion program has been announced by Plantation Pipe Line Co. to add 30,000 barrels of oil daily to the current flow of 304,000 barrels received at the company terminal here.

The company, planning to start the expansion in May, operates through the Carolinas, Tennessee, Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana.

Funeral Wednesday For Samuel Hardee

Samuel Hardee, 86, died at his home near Venter's Crossroads at 1:30 Monday afternoon following six months' illness.

Mr. Hardee spent his life in the Venter's Crossroads community and was a member of Rose Hill Free Will Baptist Church. His wife, Mrs. Hattie Harris Hardee, died March 6, 1957.

Surviving are four daughters, Mrs. Luke Mills of Black Jack, Mrs. L. L. Coward of Greenville, Mrs. Cornelia Hardee of the home, and Mrs. Harry Worthington of near Winterville; two sons, David Hardee of Venter's Crossroads and Harvey Hardee of Portsmouth, Va.; 22 grandchildren and 11 great grandchildren; two sisters, Mrs. Sophia Hardee of Greenville and Mrs. W. C. Wilson of near Venter's Crossroads; and three brothers, Jesse B. Hardee of Black Jack, Fred Hardee of Calico and Grover Hardee of near Cox's Mill.

Time For Planning Farming Efficiency

This is the time of year when Pitt County farm families plan the steps they need to take to increase the efficiency of their farming operations during the coming farm season, according to Ben H. White, Farmers Home Administration county supervisor.

Approximately 134 farm families in the county are operating their farms with loans obtained through the Farmers Home Administration. "The agency advances operating credit primarily to help eligible farm families make improved use of their land and labor resources on family-type farms and make needed changes in their farming systems," according to White.

"Most of the changes call for adopting better farming practices and improving the efficiency of their farming operations. The loans help farms pay for equipment, livestock, feed, seed, fertilizer and other farm and home operating trends including refinancing chattel debts. Operating loans run from one to seven years at five per cent interest. The average operating loan in Pitt County is approximately $3,426."

ating loan money in this area is being used for equipment, livestock and annual farm and home expense.

Before an operating loan for adjustment purposes is closed, the applicant and the county supervisor agree on the proposed long time improvement. At the beginning of each farming year while the loan is being repaid, the family with White's assistance, makes annual plans for the best use of the farm income and determine additional credit needs.

A year-end review of the past year's successes and mistakes guides the family and the county supervisor when they get together to plan for the year coming up.

White said he can make operating loans only to families who have or can acquire land and labor resources needed to help them improve their farming, and who are not presently able to turn to private or cooperative lenders for adequate financing of the type they require. All borrowers graduate to conventional credit as soon as they can. White pointed out.

Astonishing! Outdoor Practice At ECC Field!

A VERY RARE SIGHT—Outdoor baseball drills have been a rare thing at East Carolina college during the past month although the Bucs have been practicing for some time now. Rain and cold weather have limited scenes like the above photo of the Pirates taking batting drill. The Pirates open their season tomorrow afternoon against Wake Forest.

Rain Threatens WF - ECC Baseball Game Tomorrow

Rain, Rain, Rain. With Wake Forest scheduled to arrive here tomorrow afternoon for the opening baseball game of the 1958 season with East Carolina, rain and cold weather still threatens to wash the whole thing away. It has hovered over ECC Field for close to a month now and refuses to leave, even on the eve of the season's opener.

N. M. Jorgensen stated that the infield is well-protected with canvas and the field can be dried out in a matter of a few hours.

In the meantime, the ECC baseballers will spend another afternoon in Memorial Gymnasium, brushing up on metal exercises and a few limbering-up gymnastics.

cold. They have done most of their hurling inside the gym. Mallory's infield, composed of Tommy Land, Al Vaughn, Jerry Stewart and Buck Reep, has looked good as a defensive unit. His outfielders have done most of the long-ball hitting in batting drill.

Coach Jim Mallory's team has spent well over half of its practice time inside the gym since drills began a little more than a month ago. The constant outbursts of rain and steady presence of cold weather has kept the 26-man squad inside, tossing balls back and forth leisurely, talking baseball, thinking baseball, and listening to the strategy of Coach Mallory and Assistant Coach Earl Smith.

Basilio Favored To Whip Robinson In Bout Tonight

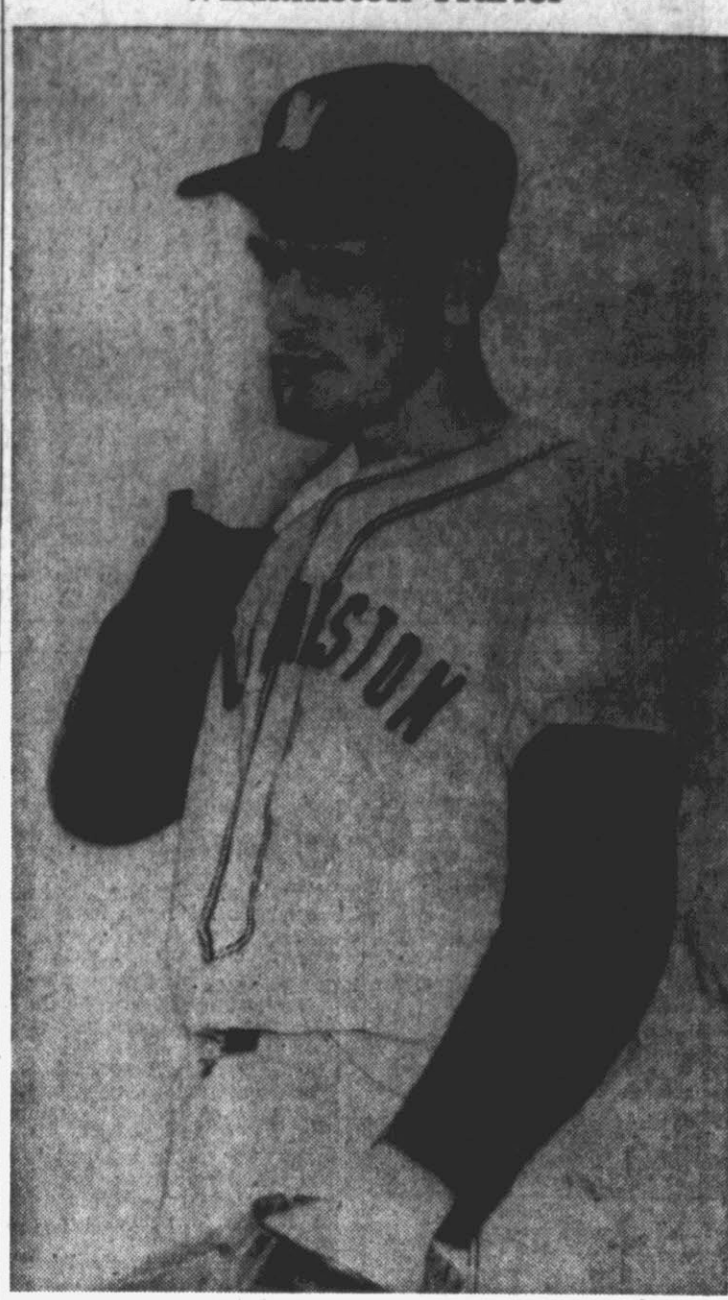

Boxing has been good to Carmen Basilio. Rugged though it has been, the ring game enabled Basilio to climb from the back-breaking chores of a humble onion farmer to fame and fortune. His financial future is as secure as his place in ring history among the great fighters who have held two titles. But if Carmen had one wish that could be granted, he would like to be a few inches taller. The lack of height, and the short arms that go with a short build, have forced him to embrace a forcing, inside style of battling.

Chicago Arena Has Been Good To Sugar Ray

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN CHICAGO (AP) — After a week of rather unusual preflight shenanigans, crowding Carmen Basilio risks his middleweight title against aging but still artistic Sugar Ray Robinson tonight in Chicago Stadium.

Robinson's record: 140 wins, 6 defeats, 2 draws. He won 91 of his fights by knockouts. Basilio's record: won 52; lost 7; 7 draws, 25 wins by knockouts. The gate is expected to be about $400,000. TV proceeds will be about $300,000 and radio $30,000. Basilio and Robinson will each receive 3 per cent slices of everything.

Williamston Hurler

PITCHING WIZARD—Gaylord Perry, whose outstanding pitching feats carried Williamston to the finals of the Class A State baseball tourney last year, will be back with the Green Wave for another season of play this year. The lanky right-hander hurled a handful of no-hitters in 1957 and is expected to be at his prime in the coming season.

Sime Leads Duke To Track Win

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP) — Duke's world record holder Dave Sime won one first place and took three seconds in a duel track meet here yesterday against the University of South Carolina.

220 but glanced over his right shoulder near the finish line to check the rest of the field. Cathcart streaked by him on the left and lunged to break the tape. The winning time was :22.6 on a soggy track.

Pacing Pirate Netters

SINGLES CHAMPION—Maurice Everette, two-year winner of the North State Conference singles championship and the No. 1-seeded man on the East Carolina tennis team for four years, will pace the Bucs against Wake Forest Friday or Saturday at Winston-Salem. It will mark the beginning of the 1958 campaign for the Pirates.

ECC Netters To Open Season At Wake Forest

Coach Bill McDonald's East Carolina tennis team, hindered for the most part by rain and cold weather for the past month, are scheduled to journey to Wake Forest for their first match of the 1958 season either Friday or Saturday.

HAMPDEN-SIDNEY, Va.—Jesse Curry, a newcomer to the team, paced East Carolina's 1958 track team to a 61-61 tie with Hampden-Sidney here yesterday afternoon in the opening meet of the season for both clubs.

Curry took high point honors for both teams with a total of 15 points. He scored firsts in the high and low hurdles and the broad jump.

Going into the last event of the day, ECC held a slight 61-56 lead over the hosting Virginians.

The H-S mile relay team of Billy Bensen, Bob Hippensteele, Tommy Allen and Charlie Holt won the final event and knotted the contest 61-61.

Bensen was high scorer with 13 points for the Hampden-Sidney club. He won the 100 and 220 yard dashes and took second in the pole vault.

Dr. J. O. Miller is coaching the Buc tracksters. Their next meet is this afternoon against the University of Richmond, a track team ECC has never been able to defeat.

Working with Curry for the Bucs yesterday and today are North State Conference record holders Jim Henderson, Bobby Patterson, Bob Maynard, Bobby Patterson, and Dennis O'Brien. Several other vets and a handful of newcomers comprise the rest of the club.

Bike Hit By Auto Boy Severely Hurt

A 13-year-old boy suffered serious injuries when his bicycle was struck by an automobile here yesterday afternoon.

City police identified the victim as Bobby Mabry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Mabry of 307 Glenwood Drive. The youngster sustained a broken left thigh, a brain concussion and possible internal injuries.

He was admitted to Pitt Memorial Hospital shortly after the accident in "critical" condition. According to an attending physician his condition is "much improved" today.

The accident occurred at the intersection of Dickinson Avenue and Greene Street around 4 o'clock. Investigating officers identified the driver of the automobile to be Cornell Alexander Lovett 31-year-old Negro of 512 McKinley Avenue. Lovett was charged with failure to keep a proper lookout.

In another traffic accident here yesterday, Mrs. Annie Worthington Taylor of Ayden was charged with failure to stop for a stop sign.

Mrs. Taylor was involved in the collision with William McLawhorn 25-year-old Negro of Greenville Rt. 1. Neither driver was hurt.

Damage to both automobile was estimated to be $600. Police also reported minor damage to shrubbery owned by Gus Overton of 1301 Broad Street.

The collision took place at the intersection of Boyd Avenue and Broad Street shortly before noon. A similar mishap at this intersection Saturday resulted in an accident, with damage amounting to approximately $900.

Judge Fines 11 Men For Game Law Violation

ROCKINGHAM, N.C. (AP)—U.S. District Judge Johnson J. Hayes has fined 11 men $50 for hunting doves in a baited field. He described them as "men of high character" and said he believed none knew the fields had piles of grain to attract government-protected migratory birds.

The 11 tried here yesterday included Gen. John R. Hodge (ret.) of Fayetteville, Robeson County Commissioner R. E. Tolar of Saint Paul, and County Commission Chairman V. J. Griffin of Farmont.

The defendants testified they didn't know the field was baited as they hunted last Oct. 5 on J. A. Singleton's farm south of Raeford.

Woman Admits Role In Theft

GREENSBORO (AP)—A woman who successfully posed as a man when first arrested on forgery charges has admitted a part in a $4,700 safe theft, according to police here.

Geraldine Grace Moore, alias John Leigh Moore Jr., is to be charged with theft of the money stolen from the J. P. Stevens & Co. plant here in August, 1956. The money was never recovered.

She is now awaiting trial in U.S. Middle District Court on the forgery charges. Following her arrest Friday, the FBI arrested Richard E. House in Philadelphia as an accomplice in the interstate transportation of five $81 checks stolen from the Stevens company. House, a former North Carolina resident, is awaiting preliminary hearing in Philadelphia Thursday.

The FBI said she was arrested here in March, 1957, under her alias at the Stevens plant, where she had worked as a man in 1954-56. Miss Moore failed to appear in court on the forgery charges and forfeited her $1,000 bond.

Police said she implicated an accomplice in the theft of the safe and money, but they did not name the accomplice.

Taxes Blamed By Many For Slowing The Boom

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP)—The burden of high taxes on business — and particularly the extent that tax considerations enter into almost every business decision today — is blamed for slowing down the boom.

Some charge that high taxes will prolong the recession and hamper recovery.

Others charge that, whether times are good or bad, taxes are so high as to hamstring the expansion that would create more jobs.

But most of those who complain also dread the inflation that could follow growing federal deficits if tax collections drop.

Business critics also the chief forms of federal taxation: personal income taxes for cutting purchasing power and hampering formation of investment funds; excise taxes for hiking prices; and corporation income taxes for a long list of business woes. State and local taxes on property, income and sales add a further burden, more onerous when business slows down.

The federal income tax for corporate incomes above $25,000 is 52 per cent. This tax yielded the U.S. Treasury more than 2 1/2 billion dollars in the 1957 fiscal year, or about half the take from personal income taxes, but twice what the corporation tax brought in 10 years ago.

Businessmen study the tax impact carefully before any major decision. Risks lose much of their allure when half of any possible earnings must go for taxes. High rates take a heavy toll of the profit incentive—which is the keystone of the American business economy.

Taxes spark many mergers. A prospering firm buys one operating in the red because these losses cut the tax bill of the profitable one.

Critics of the high tax level say further that it penalizes the efficient management. The higher the efficiency per unit of output the more profit a company makes — and the more taxes it must pay per unit.

The 52 per cent tax has been accused of encouraging bad corporate practices. For one, management figures that the real cost of many things is just 48 cents on the dollar. This has made for waste and carelessness about many items of expense such as entertainment.

It has entered into decisions to use corporate earnings to build new plants since such costs can be charged off. High taxes have led many companies to sell their buildings and lease them back, so they can charge off the rent.

The high personal income tax also has been behind many corporate salary practices. Much of the current flurry over expense account laxity comes from the desire of firms to give executives supposedly tax-free expense accounts rather than a raise which would boost them into a higher tax bracket.

But there's at least one silver lining. Others besides the U.S. Treasury have benefited from the 52 per cent tax rate on business and the sliding scale on individuals.

Charity is deductible and so are gifts to educational institutions. Many business executives are more generous with gifts that cost only 48 cents on the dollar.

Homes Of Two Kohler Workers Stoned Today

SHEBOYGAN, Wis. (AP)—The homes of two more Kohler Co. workers were stoned early today, the Sheboygan County sheriff's office said. And in the city's Common Council, an old controversy among aldermen erupted again in an acrimonious debate on merits of the long strike at the company.

Saturday night, vandals broke a picture window in the home of a company supervisor and tried to damage the home of an employe who testified before the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee in Washington.

The sheriff's office said the latest incidents occurred around 1 a. m. at the homes of Claude Dault and his neighbor, Leo Behrens Jr., both employes of the plumbing ware firm where the United Auto Workers struck four years ago next week. No one was injured.

The homes are located in rural Sheboygan.

Stones were hurled through a window at the Dault home, and through living room and bedroom windows at Behrens' residence.

In Sheboygan's Common Council meeting, Aldermen Carl Mohar Jr., and Hugh Dales shouted angrily at one another.

The outbreak came as the Council discussed a resolution condemning a weekly news magazine — Time — for a recent article that referred to lingering bitterness in the community.

Mohar said that he thought the statements in the article were accurate and added, "I agree, it's true that there is a gnawing labor here, but you can't blame labor for it."

That brought up Dales, who declared, "Sheboygan is fed up with the Reuther-Mazey type of domination."

After several hours of heated debate, the Council approved the resolution condemning the article.

Truck Driver Is Fatally Crushed

ASHEVILLE (AP)—A South Carolina truck driver was crushed to death near here yesterday when his tractor-trailer plunged down a 15-foot culvert and a load of canned goods smashed through the front of the trailer.

Officers said Roy E. Estep, 36, of Rt. 1, Simpsonville, S.C., died before he could be removed from the cab, about an hour after the accident.

The truck and a car driven by Mrs. Eddie Clemons Ayers, 59, of West Asheville, collided on State Highway 191 at nearby Craggy. The truck plunged down the culvert and the load of canned goods shifted forward, crushing Estep in the cab.

Mrs. Ayers was hospitalized with lacerations.

State Council Of Negro HD Clubs Will Gather Wednesday

The State Council of Negro Home Demonstration Clubs will hold its 16th annual State Council in Memorial Auditorium in Raleigh Wednesday. A large delegation from Pitt county will leave Greenville early tomorrow morning.

Mayor W.G. Enloe of Raleigh will welcome the visitors. Dr. William R. Stroser, president of Shaw University, will pronounce the invocation, and district presidents to extend greetings are: Mrs. Vera Slade, northeastern, Mrs. Viola Greene, southeastern, and Mrs. Mamie Williams, western district.

Mrs. Ruth Stancil, State president, will speak briefly and introduce the speaker, Mrs. Harry B. Caldwell of the North Carolina State Grange. Music will be provided by the southeastern district.

The afternoon session, after singing the Home Demonstration songs, "Brighten the Corner Where You Are," and the "Collect," will be devoted to homemaking achievements in the state. Mrs. Helen Bradford, Wilson county home agent, will be narrator for showing of slides.

Installation of officers by Mrs. Minnie Miller Brown, assistant state Home Demonstration agent will climax the day's activities. The following Pitt County Home Demonstration Club members will attend: Mrs. Decle Pollard, Mrs. Rebecca Chapman, Mrs. Estella Edwards and Mrs. Jannie Wilkins, Calico club; Miss Geneva Atkinson and Mrs. Mary Perkins, Sally Branch; Mrs. Carrie Hardy, Mrs. Anna Barnes, Mrs. Addie Underhill, Mrs. Emma Williams, Mrs. Dora Ward, Mrs. Eula Bak-

Suspects Asian Flu Hit Outer Banks In Big Way

OCRACOKE, N.C. (AP)—The two-week-old epidemic afflicting perhaps 70 per cent of this fishing community's 500 residents may be the Asian flu that struck the nation months ago.

Dr. Paul Glezen, a State Health Department epidemic specialist who flew to this coastal island yesterday, said Ocracoke apparently experienced little of the infection last year. He said it might be an example of Asian flu catching up with an isolated population.

Dr. Glezen said specimens he was collecting for analysis would help specify the nature of the illness, which he estimated had confined up to 70 per cent of the population.

He arrived by Coast Guard helicopter in response to reports from the island's only registered nurse, herself ailing. Miss Kath-

Lack Support In Buying A Pool

GREENSBORO (AP)—A group seeking to buy a previously all-white swimming pool owned by the city reports it lacks support in raising funds for the Lindley Park facility which is to be auctioned off April 1.

Temporary Chairman Richard M. Taliaferro of the Greensboro Pool Corp. said yesterday many persons feel the city might open the pool and the Nocho Pool for Negroes, also up for auction, if no bids are made on them.

Bike Hit By Auto Boy Severely Hurt

A 13-year-old boy suffered serious injuries when his bicycle was struck by an automobile here yesterday afternoon.

City police identified the victim as Bobby Mabry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Mabry of 307 Glenwood Drive. The youngster sustained a broken left thigh, a brain concussion and possible internal injuries.

He was admitted to Pitt Memorial Hospital shortly after the accident in "critical" condition. According to an attending physician his condition is "much improved" today.

The accident occurred at the intersection of Dickinson Avenue and Greene Street around 4 o'clock. Investigating officers identified the driver of the automobile to be Cornell Alexander Lovett 31-year-old Negro of 512 McKinley Avenue. Lovett was charged with failure to keep a proper lookout.

In another traffic accident here yesterday, Mrs. Annie Worthington Taylor of Ayden was charged with failure to stop for a stop sign.

Mrs. Taylor was involved in the collision with William McLawhorn 25-year-old Negro of Greenville Rt. 1. Neither driver was hurt.

Damage to both automobile was estimated to be $600. Police also reported minor damage to shrubbery owned by Gus Overton of 1301 Broad Street.

The collision took place at the intersection of Boyd Avenue and Broad Street shortly before noon. A similar mishap at this intersection Saturday resulted in an accident, with damage amounting to approximately $900.

Woman Admits Role In Theft

GREENSBORO (AP)—A woman who successfully posed as a man when first arrested on forgery charges has admitted a part in a $4,700 safe theft, according to police here.

Geraldine Grace Moore, alias John Leigh Moore Jr., is to be charged with theft of the money stolen from the J. P. Stevens & Co. plant here in August, 1956. The money was never recovered.

She is now awaiting trial in U.S. Middle District Court on the forgery charges. Following her arrest Friday, the FBI arrested Richard E. House in Philadelphia as an accomplice in the interstate transportation of five $81 checks stolen from the Stevens company. House, a former North Carolina resident, is awaiting preliminary hearing in Philadelphia Thursday.

The FBI said she was arrested here in March, 1957, under her alias at the Stevens plant, where she had worked as a man in 1954-56. Miss Moore failed to appear in court on the forgery charges and forfeited her $1,000 bond.

Police said she implicated an accomplice in the theft of the safe and money, but they did not name the accomplice.

More Will Be Able To Sign Up For Soil Bank

Most farmers who wanted to take part in the 1958 Acreage Reserve of the Soil Bank, but could not file signed agreements because of fund limitations, will apparently be able to sign up at the county office in the near future.

That was reported today by J. Lyman Edwards, chairman of the Pitt County ASC Committee. He explained that both the Senate and House of Representatives have approved a supplemental appropriation of $250 millions to provide for additional Acreage Reserve participation.

This will bring the total to $750 millions for the 1958 program, Edwards pointed out.

Because agreement on some detailed program provisions must still be reached in House-Senate conference, Congressional action on the supplemental appropriation is not yet complete. As soon as final action is taken, the county committee will get the "go ahead" for completing the sign up. Preliminary steps have been taken to prepare the way for immediate action when the supplemental funds are authorized.

In addition to farmers who have already filed signed agreements, which were in general covered by the initial appropriation for the Acreage Reserve, other eligible farmers will be in position to take part in the enlarged program. These will include those whose names are on "waiting list" registers at the County office, and possibly others where there is evidence that they made an attempt to participate during the sign-up period.

It is expected that in general, funds will be available to take care of all farmers who indicated they would take part in the program if it were enlarged.

Public notice will be given promptly when the county ASC office is ready to sign additional Acreage Reserve agreements, Chairman Edwards said. In the meantime the county office will be prepared to furnish general information. However, he pointed out, farmers should not attempt to sign up agreements until official announcements are made.

Set Pre-School Clinic Mar. 26

Miss Oleva Zahniser, first grade teacher of Belvoir-Falkland High School, has announced that the Pre-School Clinic will be held in the Belvoir School on Wednesday, March 26, at 9 o'clock.

Parents in the Belvoir area who have children who will be six years old by October 15, 1958 are invited to be present for a meeting for parents at eleven o'clock, at which time Mrs. Hemingway, County Nurse and Mr. Arthur Alford, Elementary Supervisor for Pitt County Schools, will talk briefly on the pre-school child.

As a special part of the program for that day a film, "Skippy and the Three R's" will be shown.

Mark Twain was born in Florida, that is, Florida, Missouri, which has a population of 200.

Playing With Symphonic Band

Dewey Griffith of Greenville is a member of the N.C. State Collette symphonic band which played eight concerts in six North Carolina cities last week.

Griffith, son of Mr. and Mrs. E.D. Griffith of 111 Eastern Street, plays trumpet in the band which appeared last week in Clinton, Goldsboro, Lumberton, Fairmont, Concord and Wadesboro. He is also public relations manager for the 87-member symphonic group.

'Good Progress' For An Inexperienced Actress

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Time for a progress report on young Millie Perkins, the New Jersey girl who is playing Anne Frank.

Her progress is good, according to George Stevens, who picked Millie and is directing her in "The Diary of Anne Frank."

After three weeks of shooting, he reports: "She is turning out beautifully—even better than I had hoped for. Millie is kind of a slow starter; she's a quiet girl who doesn't let out too much at first. But then she starts to unfold—like an artichoke. And what you see underneath is very good indeed."

He said he felt no qualms about putting a totally inexperienced girl in such an important role.

"Every woman is an actress. The question is how to get them to loosen up and perform," he said.

Getting Millie to loosen up in an interview is also a problem, since she is admittedly shy.

Sharp Reaction To Funds Threat

GREENSBORO (AP)—Gulford County welfare leaders have reacted sharply against the possibility state supplements to foster boarding homes may be withdrawn unless they all are licensed.

A letter from State Welfare Commissioner Ellen Winston termed the operation of both licensed and unlicensed homes for dependent children as "basically inequitable." About half Gulford County's 100 foster boarding homes are licensed.

Welfare Board Chairman John Clinard of High Point said Dr. Winston's department was putting too much emphasis on licensing.

Physically Tiring Than Modeling

She still isn't sure she wants to be an actress. "I never had the desire," she said. "I never acted in school or anything. I'm not even sure I want to pursue an acting career after this picture is over. I suppose I will decide then."

It looks as if her decision has been made for her. The studio has her under exclusive contract. "Anne Frank" will make her an international star, and there's slight chance that she'll be allowed to seek other pursuits.

Rats Exercise For Scientists

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)

A study of an unusual group of "athletes" at Michigan State University may reveal important information on the effects of exercise on the heart and vital organs.

The "athletes" are three groups of white rats.

Group A leads a sedentary existence, sleeping, eating and generally taking life easy.

Group B exercises at will by running in whirling cages. They average between two and three miles of galloping a day, the researchers say.

Group C has a strict daily exercise routine. The rats in this group run on a treadmill or swim for an hour. Small weights are attached to the swimmers to give them a real workout.

Periodically the rats are given a physical examination, complete with an electrocardiogram.

After six months of this routine, all the rats will be compared as to size and growth of heart, liver, endocrine glands, spleen, kidneys and other vitals.

Dr. Henry J. Montoye, associate professor of health, physical education and recreation, heads the research staff. Of particular interest, he says, is whether the exercises result in a richer and healthier blood supply by opening more capillaries to the heart and other vital organs.

Dr. Montoye said the findings could be important in the prevention of heart diseases.

In an earlier project using human guinea pigs, Dr. Montoye found that proper exercise may help ward off heart attacks by lowering the blood cholesterol level. Cholesterol is a fat substance found in the blood.

Can Apply Topdressing A Little Later In 1958

In view of the delayed growth this spring, farmers can apply nitrogen topdressing to small grain as late as April 1 and expect good returns in most cases, County Agent S. C. Winchester said today.

At March 15 most small grain was two or three weeks behind the common stage of development for that time of year for usual seasons. With the average season in North Carolina, that date is the deadline for most profitable nitrogen topdressing of small grain. By the 15th as a rule most fall seeded grain is well tillered and nitrogen topdressing applied afterwards has failed to give as profitable returns as when applied between Feb. 15 and March 15.

"Profitable returns may be expected from topdressing up to the time the grain is about six inches tall or before it is fully tillered," Winchester declared. However, he pointed out, nitrogen applied after the grain is fully tillered increases the yield of straw chiefly rather than the grain yield.

Nitrogen applied to small grain, when adequate phosphate and potash have been applied, increases tillering — the number of heads per plant — as well as size of the grain head. Hence, nitrogen topdressing can do much to offset effects of winter killing by increasing tillering or stooling if applied on time. Recommended rates are 30 to 80 lbs. of nitrogen per acre. The heavier rates are recommended for the lighter textured soils and the lighter rates for the heavier soils. The lighter rates are also recommended where a legume has been turned, or where some manure has been applied. Where manure has been applied at sufficient rates, no additional nitrogen is needed.

CALL OF THE COURT

NEW YORK (AP)—Coppers were clipped in profit taking early this afternoon as the stock market retreated from a near penetration of the 1958 high.

Leading issues were down fractions to a point or more in moderately active trading.

Steele, motors, aircrafts, mail orders, rails and oils also took losses. Chemicals and radio-televisions were mixed.

A few stocks bucked the downward trend.

High-priced International Business Machines added around 3 points as brokers reported considerable investment buying. Marston Co. had a sudden flurry and was up around a point for a while but held only a fraction. Philco and U.S. Rubber were fractional gainers.

American Cyanamid, which is testing a new drug to combat leukemia, rose about a point while Du Pont and Allied Chemical gained fractions. Union Carbide eased and air reduction dropped a fraction.

Aside from these gains, the picture of key stocks was drab. Deepening early decline, the copper group posted losses of well over a point for Magma and about a point each for Anaconda, Kennecott and International Nickel. Phelps Dodge dropped a major fraction.

Gulf Oil slashed a 2 1/2 gain of yesterday by well over a point. Texas Co. and Royal Dutch fell fractions. Illinois Central, Southern Railway and Baltimore & Ohio dropped fractions.

Losses of around a point were taken by Republic Steel, Goodyear and Zenith. General Motors was about unchanged while Ford and Chrysler lost fractions.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was down 40 cents to $164.20 with the industrials down 80 cents, the rails down 30 cents and the utilities unchanged.

Recruit Elvis Sees First Day In Army

FT. CHAFFEE, Ark. (AP)—Recruit Elvis Presley ate a hearty breakfast, weathered the jeers of some soldiers here and prepared for five hours of aptitude tests to determine his temporary future in the Army.

"It was good—but I'd eat anything this morning," Elvis said at his first Army meal.

A score of photographers surrounded the rock 'n' roll idol. Presley's manager, Col. Tom Parker of Nashville, Tenn., brought a tray of food and sat beside his star client.

Parker was on hand to greet Presley when the group of recruits from Memphis pulled into the reception center here on a chartered bus last night.

As the recruits, still dressed in civilian clothes, passed one barracks several soldiers standing on the steps jeered: "Give us a smile, Elvis!"

Elvis obliged with a grin and then stared straight ahead. Sgt. Francis Johnson of Lafayette, La., commented:

"There goes a nice kid. I'll bet I don't have much trouble with him."

Presley's schedule today calls for five hours of aptitude tests, a classification interview and several lectures. Presley will make the rounds in the sports jacket and slacks he wore to camp. He won't get a uniform until tomorrow.

The 23-year-old singer, whose gross income last year was almost a million dollars, will get the $7 salary advance provided to tide him over until payday.

Presley and the others in his group rolled in from Memphis aboard a chartered bus shortly before midnight. He was greeted by a shouting crowd of newsmen, photographers and civilian fans.

"We never had anything like this before," commented a reception center officer as camera flashbulbs winked and teenage girls among the 100-odd civilians screamed a welcome to the unruffled Presley.

The celebrated draftee, who had charge of his contingent, went immediately into a reception room, where a sergeant called the roll above a din of newsmen.

Presley willingly posed for pictures in the reception room, but he declined to give autographs while he was in ranks.

The recruits were taken to a supply building where blankets, sheets and pillows were issued.

Then Col. John D. Smith of North Little Rock, Ark., steered them to a nearby barracks.

Photographers and reporters followed Presley into the barracks. Smith showed the newcomers how to make up a bed GI style. As Presley worked on his bed, someone asked if he ever made one before. He smilingly said he had not.

At 12:30 a.m. about an hour after the arrival, Presley and his comrades turned in.

Presley was sworn in at Memphis Monday. After three days of processing here, the Army will decide where he will take his eight-week basic training.

Visit Of Bloodmobile To City Set For April 3

The Red Cross Bloodmobile visit scheduled in Greenville on April 3 will be co-sponsored by Moose Lodge 885 and the Rotary Club.

Roscoe King has been appointed chairman of the April visit for the Moose. Assisting him will be: Dr. Kenneth Stokings, Lee Rowland, Luther Stokes, Everette Parker, Bob Thompson and Frank House.

Mrs. W. C. Craven will serve as chairman of the Women of the Moose who are in charge of calling prospective donors.

F. D. Duncan has been appointed chairman for the Rotary Club. The Greenville Service League will sponsor the canteen, with Mrs. W. S. Bost serving as chairman.

A quota of 150 pints of blood has been set for the visit. Dr. Frank Longino, Blood Program Chairman for the Pitt County Chapter of the American Red Cross, reports.

The Bloodmobile will be at the Moose Lodge on the Farmville Highway. According to Dr. Longino the hours are 10 a.m. until 4 p.m.

For the convenience of the prospective donors, the AA and Yellow Cab Companies have volunteered their services, free of charge. King states that any donor desiring free transportation to and from the Moose Lodge may call either 2620 or 7007.

Believes Kohler Strike To Cause New Legislation

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chairman McClellan (D-Ark.) of the Senate Rackets Committee said today he believes legislation will be proposed as the outgrowth of its probing into the Kohler Co. strike.

"I feel legislation will be considered in respect to mass picketing, violence and secondary boycotts," the chairman said.

He indicated that the committee later this week will wind up its current hearing into the strike called by the United Auto Workers at the Kohler, Wis. plant. The hearing is now in its fifth week.

Robert F. Kennedy, committee counsel, said the committee has only a few more witnesses to hear and hopes to call Herbert Kohler, head of the Kohler firm, and UAW President Walter Reuther tomorrow.

Reuther, in a telegram to Kohler, formally proposed arbitration of the strike by Walter Kohler Jr., former governor of Wisconsin and now president of the Vollrath Co. at Sheboygan, Wis.

There was no immediate comment either from the Kohler president or from the former governor, who once held stock in the Kohler Co. and is the son of a former company president.

The strike was called April 5, 1954. The Kohler plant was shut down for about two months but has operated since with non-strikers and new employees. A company attorney, Lucius P. Chase, said the company now is operating normally and has made a profit each year despite union boycott efforts.

Lyman C. Conger, another Kohler attorney, said the firm will not write a new labor contract with the UAW until it is shown the

Helicopter Blew Up In Mid Air

DETOIT (AP)—A helicopter exploded in the air over suburban Center Line yesterday, killing the two passengers and the pilot. Cause of the explosion was unknown.

The wreckage of the craft plunged to the ground near a cement company. There were no other reported injuries.

The victims were Louis A. Garavaglia Jr., 40, his brother Julie, 28, and James Kennedy, 31, the pilot.

Louis was president and Julie vice president of the Louis Garavaglia Construction Co. Kennedy was a company pilot.

Time Out

The Pitt County Selective Service office will be closed from noon today until next Monday morning, Clerk Mrs. Selma Rogers announces.

According to Mrs. Rogers the local office, along with all other offices throughout the state, will be closed. Inadequate funds was given as the reason for closing.

Col. Thomas H. Upton, Director of the North Carolina Selective Service Board, made the official announcement of the three and one-half day closing yesterday. Col. Upton explained that the state organization is experiencing a shortage of funds for the fiscal year ending June 30th.

Brief Rites For Showman Todd

CHICAGO (AP)—A short Hebrew prayer, some verses from the prophets, a simply marked grave was the restrained setting today for the final scene in the whirlwind life of showman Michael Todd.

Survivors of the noted movie and stage producer—following his expressed wishes—brought his remains to Waldheim Cemetery in suburban Forest Park. He had asked, they said, to be buried near his father Rabbi Chaim Goldbogen.

Ironically, the burial coincided with a time of joy and thanksgiving in the Jewish faith—the two weeks preceding Passover, an eight-day observance starting April 4.

For this reason, said Rabbi Abraham Joseph Rose of Congregation Knesseth Israel of Elgin, Ill., "there will be no eulogies at graveside. The 14 days before Passover are a joyous period."

The rabbi said he would read the Kaddish, a short Hebrew prayer of mourning, some psalms and a few phrases from the prophets. In accordance with Jewish custom it will be a year before a monument is erected at the grave.

Todd, 50, and three companions perished in a fiery airplane crash Saturday near Grants, N.M.

His remains were brought to Chicago by train. His son by the first of his three marriages, Mike Todd Jr., arrived from New York last night. Todd's widow, film actress Elizabeth Taylor, and other friends and relatives were flying from the West Coast.

The funeral service in Chicago coincided with a memorial service scheduled for the same time in Temple Israel in Hollywood.

Probe Possible Theft At Store

City detectives are investigating the possible theft of a sizable quantity of butter from the Dickenson Avenue A & P grocery store.

Manager Ed Ratcliffe reported yesterday that 84 pounds of butter is missing from the firm's storage room. The missing merchandise is valued at $58.80.

According to Ratcliffe the butter was either stolen or misplaced between Thursday of last week and Monday morning.

Window Broken During Night

A large plate glass window in the Pollard Building on East Third Street was broken sometime last night, police report.

The broken window was discovered early this morning on the Third Street side of the building. A small stone, measuring three to four inches in diameter, was found inside the window.

Nothing was reported missing.
