Jet Crashes Into Charlotte Home; Pilot Is Killed

CHARLOTTE (AP)—An Air Force jet trainer, low on fuel and trying to land in almost zero visibility, crashed into a house on the outskirts of Charlotte before dawn today, killing the pilot.

Nine sleeping occupants of the house escaped injury, though the 8-room frame structure burned to the ground except for a front wall.

The pilot, flying alone in the two-seat T33 trainer, was Lt. Wendell R. Miller, 24, of Salisbury, N.C. He was stationed at Vance Air Force Base, Enid, Okla.

In a hangar about a mile from the crash scene, the pilot's mother, Mrs. Clarence E. Miller, and sister, Elizabeth, awaited his arrival.

Douglas Municipal Airport personnel said Miller had been cleared for a landing on runway number 5, but missed the strip in his first approach and apparently was coming around to try again when the jet struck some trees, then smashed into the rear of the house.

slid onto the back porch." Ledford continued, "Part of the plane went all the way through the kitchen. The nose section was all the way on the other side of the house."

The pilot attempted to land, the airport said, because he had only 10 minutes of fuel remaining.

"He was out of the (landing) pattern," Ledford said. "It was so foggy out that you couldn't see anything. He didn't have a chance at all."

Workers removed the body of the pilot from the still smoldering ruins of the house about three hours after the crash.

Miller had flown from Vance AFB to West Palm Beach, Fla., and deposited a passenger, then came to Charlotte.

E. R. McCoy, owner of the rental house, estimated the loss at between $8,000 and $9,000, partially covered by insurance.

Part of the shattered plane came into the bedroom occupied by Herbert and Tony White.

"I heard a singing," Herbert recalled, "then I heard something knocking over trees. Then I heard a loud noise and everything was blown over on us in bed."

Reuther Primed For More Duels

WASHINGTON (AP)—Walter Reuther, primed for a third day of verbal dueling with Senate rackets probers, said today the inquiry into the marathon Kohler strike is "really a disgrace."

Chairman McClellan (D-Ark) of the special Senate committee called an unusual Saturday session in an effort to conclude Reuther's testimony and wind up the month-long investigation of violence in the Kohler dispute.

Reuther is president of the United Auto Workers which nearly four years ago went on strike against the Kohler Co., a Wisconsin maker of plumbing fixtures. He has conceded that some UAW members engaged in violence, but he said the violence was provoked by the company.

McClellan said he plans to let the sometimes angry sparring between Reuther and Sens. Goldwater (R-Ariz.) and Curtis (R-Nebr.) run "to the end of the day or the end of the hearing, whichever comes first."

Reuther said in advance of today's session that the whole inquiry, in his words, is loaded with politics.

"This is really a disgrace," he told newsmen.

Reuther said it is "a lot of nonsense" for senators to devote time to the Kohler case while Congress is trying to solve the problems of more than five million unemployed, the farm issue and "the Communist threat."

The even-tempered tone of Reuther's testimony ended suddenly yesterday when he accused Goldwater of producing a picture purportedly showing Jess Ferrazza, administrative assistant to the UAW's secretary treasurer Emil Mazey, and three others beating up a man during the 1941 Ford strike in Detroit.

Reuther denounced it as "an isolated picture." It didn't show UAW members were fighting a "defensive battle" against gangsters, he said, adding that this was harking back to an era when Harry Lunnett, then head of the Ford plant police, was using "thousands of gangsters." "They beat us up," Reuther said. "The police wouldn't protect us. . . . We had to defend ourselves. Sure that was wrong. But how did we get into that sort of thing?"

The answer, he continued, was that Bennett had the police "in his vest pocket" and that gangsters were beating and actually killing UAW members.

Reuther said he saw four workers beaten because they protested when a man was "killed in the Ford plant."

"You get a picture of Walter Reuther beating someone and I'll get a dozen of Walter Reuther beaten," the UAW leader said.

Ruther added that Mrs. Edsel Ford and others in the Ford family got rid of Bennett. "Thank God" for that, he added.

After listening to Reuther, Goldwater cut in and said: "I think you're right. Let's get up to date."

At another point, Reuther accused Curtis of "making excuses" for the Kohler firm. He told Curtis:

"You cover up whenever they get their foot in their mouth." While questioning Reuther, Curtis cited charges he said Detroit newspapers have published that Michigan's Democratic Gov. G. Mennen Williams paid a political debt to the UAW by releasing UAW official Thomas J. Flynn from prison after a month and a day of an 18-24 month sentence for malicious destruction of property.

Reuther said Williams, who has had UAW backing in the five times he has run for governor, "owes us absolutely nothing except good government."

Supplemental Soil Bank Fund Now Available In Pitt County

The $250,000,000 supplemental appropriation under the Soil Bank Acreage Reserve Program is now available in Pitt County, according to J. Lyman Edwards, chairman of the Pitt County Agricultural Conservation Committee.

Generally speaking the only farmers who will not be able to participate in this program are those who visited the ASC office and had their names placed on the register prior to the sign-up deadline, Edwards said. The deadline on cotton and corn was Feb. 20 and the deadline on tobacco was March 7.

According to Edwards there are a few farmers in the county whose names are not actually on the register who might be permitted to take part in this program at this time. In these cases there were definite conditions that must be met in order for the farmer to be eligible.

The farm operator must file with the county committee a certificate setting forth that he took positive action in an attempt to participate, and showing that this action was taken after the opening of the sign-up period, and not later than the applicable closing date.

Another requirement is that this certification be received in the county office not later than April 18. The final condition on acceptance of requests not timely filed is that funds be available in the county allocation to cover the agreement after all farmers actually listed on the register have been given an opportunity to file an agreement.

On receipt of these certificates in the county office, a member of the ASC County Committee, ac-

Farm Price Rise May Assure Veto

WASHINGTON (AP)—An upward leap of farm prices appeared likely today to assure a veto of legislation designed to prevent a drop in farm price supports.

The Agriculture Department reported yesterday that average prices of farm products jumped 4 per cent in the month ended March 15. However, part of the gain was offset by a 1 per cent advance, to a new record, in prices paid by farmers for goods and services.

This was the third straight monthly rise for farm prices which for a long time were in the doldrums. It also was the sharpest increase for any month since February 1951. And it brought farm prices to within 1 1/2 per cent of the level when the Eisenhower administration took over in 1953. At one stage, the level was down about 10 per cent.

The new farm price report came as farm leaders in Congress were pressuring President Eisenhower to sign a bill to freeze price props at not less than 1957 levels for a year.

The White House said yesterday that Eisenhower probably will not act on the bill before next week. The measure would cancel dairy price support cuts which would become effective next Tuesday and bar any reduction in supports for some other commodities.

Secretary of Agriculture Benson has urged veto of the freeze bill. He said continued high price props would aggravate overproduction and make it harder to sell farm products.

Benson halted the March price surge as "highly gratifying." While conceding it is partly seasonal, Benson said it is "evidence of the underlying strength of the

Suspect Arson In Destruction Of Unused Building

ALBEMARLE, N.C. (AP)—Investigators suspected arson in a fire last night which swept the wooden structure which formerly housed the Palmer Stone Works here. The owner estimated damage at $75,000 to $100,000.

Fire Chief Clarence Morris said there had been two brush fires near the plant earlier.

He said last night's fire started in the center of the building and was followed by several explosions.

W. H. Palmer, an owner of the property, said there was no electric power to the two-story frame structure, which had been unused, except for storage, since 1950. The company formerly made tombstones and grave markers.

Palmer said that insurance on the building recently had been reduced to $27,000.

farm segment of our national economy."

Most farm leaders said the price advance would not last long. Sens. Carlson (R-Kan.) and Young (R-ND) said the increase did not justify a veto. They attributed the sharp price rise mainly to weather conditions.

Carlson and Young were among Republican senators who went to the White House yesterday — before the price report came out — to urge Eisenhower to veto the freeze bill. Many Democrats also have appealed to Eisenhower to sign the bill.

The measure passed both Senate and House by sizable majorities, but the margins were far short of the two-thirds necessary to override a veto. Many Republicans in Congress have voiced concern that a veto of the bill would cost the GOP heavily in the fall elections.

Jobless Claims Dropped 10,500

WASHINGTON (AP) The number of workers claiming unemployment benefits dropped by 10,500 during the week ended March 15, the Labor Department said.

However, the total jobless claim figure of 3,264,100 for that week was 124,000 higher than in mid-February.

Decreases in claims were reported in 33 states but increases were noted in some, including 17,900 in Michigan, 4,500 in Illinois, 4,200 in Indiana and 3,700 in Texas. The rise in these was blamed mostly on auto plant layoffs.

The Bureau of Employment Security said nearly 38,000 idle workers exhausted their benefit rights in the first three weeks of March. This brought to 351,000 the number who have used up their claims since Jan. 1.

The administration this week proposed a 50 per cent extension of the period in which jobless persons can draw unemployment compensation.

The Bureau said new claims dropped by 6,000 during the week ended March 22. The total was 404,500 for the week.

State ESC Opposes Any Federal Supplementation

Guarding Against Dynamiter

IDAHO FALLS, Idaho (AP)—Residents of this north-east Idaho city have joined police in night patrols against a dynamite artist police think may have caused seven mysterious explosions.

Volunteers turned out to help the police after a 24-year-old mother was injured Thursday night when a dynamite bomb exploded in her car.

Mrs. Roene Gasser suffered a fractured pelvis, burns on both legs and lacerations. Her 15-month-old son, Ralph, escaped injury. About the same time, another bomb blew the top off a car a few blocks away.

Police think the well-fused bombs may have been set by an insane but skilful bomb artist. Five other blasts rattled windows, clipped pavement, and damaged two other cars Wednesday night.

"Whoever planted the dynamite knew what they were doing," said Police Chief P. G. Perrin. "We have to assume that whoever is responsible is demented."

He said a Civil Defense explosives expert was coming here from Seattle, Wash., to study the debris.

Three FBI men are helping because one of the damaged cars was a government vehicle.

Citizens have posted nearly $1,000 in rewards for capture of the bomber.

Chief Perrin said officers think the bomb-wave may have been touched off by the death of Arthur D. Johnson, 24. Johnson was blown to bits in his car last week by two cases of dynamite. Authorities ruled his death was a suicide and Perrin said that explosion has not been connected with the later blasts.

But he said police were checking a "couple of other theories that I can't divulge just yet."

Eisenhowers At Gettysburg For Quiet Weekend

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP)—President and Mrs. Eisenhower settled down today for a quiet weekend at their country estate.

A weekend as quiet, that is, as the presence of two busy, exuberant grandchildren might permit. White House officials ruled out the possibility of golf for the President. The Gettysburg Country Club course is mushy from rain and melting snow.

But Eisenhower's private green provided a possibility for giving grandson David a putting lesson or two. The forecast was for clear, moderate weather.

David will be 10 years old Monday. Thus, any birthday celebration here will have to be a little premature. The Eisenhowers expect to be back in Washington by Monday morning at the latest.

David and his sister, Susan, 6, rode up with the President from the White House yesterday. Mrs. Eisenhower had driven up earlier.

Asked Execution, Given 299 Years

CHICAGO (AP)—William Stacey, 24, who once begged for a quick death in the electric chair, instead reaped 299 years behind bars.

A Criminal Court jury of nine men and three women deliberated for 3 1/2 hours yesterday before convicting the door-to-door baby photographer of murdering a mother, Mrs. Darlyne Todd, 16.

Then—acting under Illinois law which sets no limit on sentences for murder—the jury gave him 299 years in prison.

Court officers expressed belief it was the longest term ever assessed for a single crime in Illinois.

Stacey will not be eligible for parole until 2057, when one third of his sentence will have been served.

Last November, shortly after he was caught and accused of bludgeoning, choking and stabbing the young mother to death, he told police he wanted to die in the electric chair.

"I hope I get it the quick way," he said.

As the jury foreman intoned the sentence, Stacey dropped his head and stood quietly. His wife, Margaret, 21, burst into sobs.

Stacey's attorney, Gerald Getty, moved for a new trial. A hearing was set for April 16.

Then while bailiffs separated Stacey and his wife from a tearful embrace, the victim's husband left the courtroom.

"I'm just glad," he said.

Stacey, the father of two children, had gone to Mrs. Todd's apartment to photograph her baby, 6-month-old Karyn Lynn. Police found Darlyne's battered body sprawled on the floor, a butcher knife stuck in her chest.

The state had asked the death penalty, contending Stacey had murdered Mrs. Todd after he was overcome by a sexual urge when her robe flapped open.

In taking the stand in his own behalf, Stacey said he blacked out after Mrs. Todd struck him with a baseball bat when he resisted her advances. Upon awaking, he testified, she had been murdered.

Another Decline In Traffic Toll

CHICAGO (AP)—Safer roads, cars and drivers were credited today for another monthly decline in traffic deaths.

February deaths totaled 2,350, a 5 per cent drop from the 2,470 of February 1957 and the smallest toll in any month since the 2,319 record in February of 1955.

For the first two months of 1958 the death count was 5,089. This was 5 per cent below the 5,340 of the corresponding 1957 period.

February was the fourth month in a row to show a drop.

The Council said there is a direct relation between the improved traffic record and the increased effort to make safer cars and de-emphasize speed.

Among the ranking cities, according to the number of deaths for each 10,000 registered vehicles, was Raleigh, N.C. The North Carolina city reported no traffic deaths at the end of February in the population group of cities in the population group between 50,000-100,000. A three-way tie existed in that division, between Raleigh, Orlando, Fla., and Beaumont, Tex., for first place.

Four More Of Beaufort Prison Escapes Caught

WASHINGTON, N.C. (AP)—Two of nine convicts who sawed their way out of the Beaufort County Prison Camp Tuesday night were still at large today.

Four were apprehended yesterday—three at Conowingo, Md., and one at Wilmington.

Maryland state police said the three picked up at Conowingo were headed north in a stolen car. They were listed as C. L. Formy Duval, 27, Whiteville, serving 18 months for forgery; Charles Ferguson, 19, Frederica, Del., serving 3 1/2 years for breaking and entering; and A. B. Hudson, 21, Aultryville, serving 3 1/2 years for forgery.

Leroy Wendell Harrelson, 23, of Delco, serving a 3 1/2 years for forgery, was arrested at Wilmington.

The two still at large are Clyde Burns, 22, Greensboro, serving 2 years for breaking and entering, and William Furr, 27, Mooresville, serving 6-10 years for armed robbery.

No Eating By Cuban Prisoners

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP)—Thirty-six protesting Cubans, foodless since Wednesday night, passed up breakfast in the county jail today.

U. S. authorities seized the uniformed patriot band and a boatload of arms 5 miles offshore in the Gulf of Mexico just before dawn Thursday. They are accused of conspiring to violate this nation's neutrality act.

Their leader described the hunger strike as a protest against shipments from this country which aid the regime of Cuban President Fulgencio Batista.

Jailers reported the prisoners, all from New York, had taken only water since being brought to this southernmost Texas city shortly after their capture. They refused even coffee.

Arnaldo G. Barron, 34-year-old leader of the group, told newsmen Wednesday night snack was the last food for any of the group. That was just before they started loading their 85-foot converted fishing boat, El Orion, with guns and ammunition delivered on the beach.

Barron has refused to say how the weapons, bought with the group's savings of $20,000, got there or who delivered them.

Four Ecuadorean crewmen of the boat, seized and charged with the Cubans, were eating whenever mealtime came around.

Esther Arrives At Wilmington

WILMINGTON, N.C. (AP)—Movie starring Esther Williams, here for the 11th annual Azalea Festival, was to ride today with her kings and court in the Azalea Festival Parade.

Miss Williams, Queen Azalea XI, stepped from an airliner here yesterday and waved to the hundreds of persons who had gathered to see her. She asked, smiling:

"Are there any flowers here?" "No," answered the crowd.

"Well," she replied, "I'm glad to be here—and I have been looking forward to the parade and the other wonderful things at the Festival," she said to applause.

Elaine Herndon of Durham, a Miss North Carolina, had filled in for Miss Williams, who was late because illness had confined her to bed.

Last night's program featured the coronation pageant and ball for the Azalea kings, movie and television actors Scott Brady and John Bromfield.

On today's program, besides the parade, were the second round of the PGA Azalea Open golf tournament, an art exhibit and garden tours. Tonight Miss Williams will be crowned Azalea Queen and her ball will follow.

The festival, almost flowerless because of recent cold weather, ends tomorrow.

Ex-Russian Soldier Says Disasters Preceded First Sputnik; Scores Of Dead

LIVERPOOL, England (AP)—A former Red Army corporal claims he witnessed rocket disasters costing scores of lives before the Soviet Union launched Sputnik I last Oct. 4.

Writing in the Liverpool Daily Post, Seriosha Asafjev said one long-range ballistic missile crashed and killed 130 of the 136 inhabitants of a small Arctic fishing village.

Asafjev said the missile, scheduled to come down 600 miles away in the Kara Sea, changed course a few seconds after launching. The village's wooden houses and small ships in its harbor were obliterated by exploding rocket fuel.

"All further tests with this type of rocket were immediately suspended on orders from Moscow," said Asafjev. "A committee of high-ranking officials arrived next day, interrogated everyone and arrested several people."

Numerous unofficial reports have circulated in the West before this of Soviet rocket failures. One report said that a satellite believed designed to launch a larger earth satellite than the 1,120-pound Sputnik II exploded in cent 1 Russia just before Christmas.

Asafjev claimed he helped guard Russian missile testing grounds in eastern Siberia before escaping to the West. He did not mention in the article how he escaped.

He said a 25-foot guided missile called the Znamja—the Flag—once crashed out of control and destroyed more than 20 trucks, killed eight technicians and soldiers and injured four others.

Asafjev claimed he first saw rocket experiments about 100 miles from Olenok in eastern Siberia.

Other secret tests were held about 50 miles north of the Arctic Circle near Ust-Zymia on the European side of the Soviet Union, the article said.

Announce Plans For Farmville Class Trip

FARMVILLE — Travel plans were announced today for 55 Farmville High School students who will visit Washington, D.C., and New York City for five days in April.

The students will leave Farmville April 14 and return April 18. They will spend two days in each of the cities they will visit.

Principal Sam D. Bundy, who has accompanied 26 other groups on annual "Senior Trips", said the students will leave Farmville at 6 a.m. April 14 on a chartered bus. They will arrive in New York City that evening to begin two days of touring to points of interest there.

The trip to Washington, from New York, will begin at 7 a.m. on April 17. The students will spend most of that day and April 18 in Washington before returning home.

Students who will make the trip include Carroll Avery, Mack King, Curtis Matthews, Sidney O'Neil, Irving Allen, Johnny Dixon, Richard Joyner, Erwin Mall, Horace Corbett, Paul Cox, George Cannon, James Bundy.

Rex Hedgepeth, Jimmy Tugwell, Kenneth Smith, Kenneth Justice, Willie Allen, J. Morgan, Charles Watson, Willie Watson, Troy Dall, James Davis, Sammy Kiltrell, Will Jones III, Jimmy Nichols, Jimmy Joyner and Larry Dilda.

Faye Baker, Linda Mewborn, Eleanor Newton, Betsy King, Betsy Carol Hobgood, Nan Meeks, Sue Dilda, Margaret Allen, Linda Allen, Jean Hobgood, Gloria Joyner, Patricia Cobb.

Brenda Barrett, Fatsy Roberts, Sylvia Gay, Kaye Baker, Beth Baker, Nancy Baker, Sandra Wooten, Betty Sue Baker, Barbara Robertson, Hazel Tugwell, Judy Avery, Wanda Bell, Linda Corbett, Joan Gregory, Henri Perle Johnson and Marjorie Meeks.

Chaperones will be Principal and Mrs. Bundy, Mrs. Evelyn Joyner, Mrs. Hope Rollins, Mrs. Edna Baker and Mrs. Ethel Tucker.

Memorial Baptist Announcements

Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock the Ernle Brooks Circle will meet with Mrs. F. Hendrix and the Virginia Miles Circle meets with Mrs. Erroll Webb.

A Mission study class will be held Wednesday night, April 2, at 7:30 at the church. "Look, Look the Cities" will be taught by Mrs. J. E. Spilman.

The Adult Choir will practice Thursday evening at 7:30 and the Carol Choir will practice Friday afternoon at 3:45.

Christian Church Announcements

At the Eighth Street Christian Church the choir will sing Sunday morning at 8 a.m. in a service entitled "Christ of the Trees" by Sarsen and the message for Palm Sunday by the pastor will be on the subject "Behold, The King." At this service a number of young people will make their public confession of faith in the Lord Jesus Christ and sometime later will be baptized. The Sunday being March 30 is the day that the Christian Churches in North Carolina will be enlisting many members through transfer of church membership.

The attention of the congregation and friends is invited to the special services to be held during Holy Week. On Monday and Friday afternoons at 3:30 in the church there will be special prayer services under the sponsorship of the Christian Women's Fellowship to which everyone is invited. Mrs. J. E. Jackson will lead the service Monday afternoon and Mrs. W. M. Seales Jr. on Friday afternoon.

The pastor, the elders, and the deacons will conduct a church-wide communion service on Thursday night at 8:00 for all the members of the congregation and the friends who worship with us from time to time.

The members of the Eighth Street Church and Sunday school will be participating in the Easter sunrise service on Easter morning at 8:00 to be held in the old Cherry Hill Cemetery.

The Sunday school with Louis W. Gaylord as superintendent will convene at 9:45 Sunday morning with graded classes for all ages and a nursery to take care of the smallest ones. The youth organizations will meet Sunday afternoon at 5:00 and 6:00 for their programs of study, recreation, fellowship and worship. Sammy White, a rising junior of Atlantic Christian College, will be in charge.

Reedy Branch FWB Announcements

"Palm Sunday Christians" will be the Reverend Henry Melvin's subject at Reedy Branch Free Will Baptist Church Sunday morning at the 11 o'clock worship hour. The Chancel Choir will sing "The Holy City" by Adams. This service will be the first of four services for Holy Week.

The second service will be Sunday evening at 7:30 with the Woman's Auxiliary leading a service of meditation and prayer. Meditations will be given by Mrs. M. A. Woodard, Mrs. Estelle Boyd, Mrs. Myrtle Jean Stocks, Mrs. Lila Moye, Mrs. Joan Hollis, Mrs. Pearl Worthington and Mrs. Rebecca Davenport. A ladies' quartet composed of Miss Lois Averette, Jean Hooks, Louise Smith and Gladys Worthington will furnish special music.

The third service of Holy Week will be Wednesday evening at 7:00 o'clock with the pastor leading and the fourth service will be on Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock with the Woman's Auxiliary again in charge in which the theme of Easter will be developed through meditations and music with the service closed with Holy Communion administered in the "light of the cross."

I sat on the sands, watching the palm trees, the city silhouetted against the sky. And as I did, suddenly the city wasn't there any more. I saw only the palms. It was like being transported to another time and place. I felt as if I were in old Jerusalem. It was the day when He was entering the city, and His devoted followers had strewn palm leaves in His path. In church, that morning, our minister had told us the story of Palm Sunday. Now I realized how much this message meant to me. Watching the palms, I realized that all of us need help in understanding life's

Farmville Coed Off To Norway

WINSTON-SALEM—Nan Williams of Farmville, Salem College sophomore, is the winner of a scholarship for study in Norway this summer. It is announced by Dr. Ivy M. Hixson, Salem's academic dean.

The scholarship is one of two which are offered this year by L. Corvin Strong, former ambassador to Norway and Salem College trustee, for summer study at the University of Oslo, June 28-August 8. The grants total $800 each.

Frankie Cunningham of Winston-Salem is the other scholarship winner.

Miss Williams is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. R. T. Williams of 407 Grimmerburg Street. She is majoring in chemistry at Salem, where she was recently elected secretary of the student body for the coming year.

She is house president of Lehman Dormitory, member of the Student Council, vice president of the Science Club, hockey manager on the Athletic Council, a member of the Pierrette Players and copy writer for Signs and Insights, the annual.

As a freshman she was president of her class and feature girl for the annual.

Miss Williams and Miss Cunningham will sail for Norway June 18 on the S. S. Stavangerfjord. They hope to spend three weeks traveling in Europe at the end of the summer session.

Future Brides Of May, June From J. H. Rose High

MISS OLIVE VENETIA MORRILL . . . is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Lawrence Morrill of Falkland who announce her engagement to Hing Lee Kue, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Kue of Norfolk, Va. The wedding will take place in St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Greenville, in early June.

14 Local FHA Members Attend Convention

(Editor's Note: Mrs. Rebecca Smith, Greenville FHA advisor, is guest columnist this week as Reflector's teen writer Martha Jane Pierce has the measles.)

By MRS. REBECCA SMITH

To conclude the observance of National Future Homemakers of America Week, 14 Junius H. Rose High School Future Homemakers are attending the State Convention in Raleigh today.

Future Homemakers from all over America have been celebrating FHA Week (March 23-29) and approximately 3,000 Future Homemakers from North Carolina convened in Raleigh this morning as a climax to the celebration.

North Carolina elected a National Historian, one of the eight offices, a privilege that comes only once in six years. The main speaker of the day was Mrs. Bernice McCullar, State Supervisor of Home Economics in Georgia.

Ceremony By Pitt County FHA

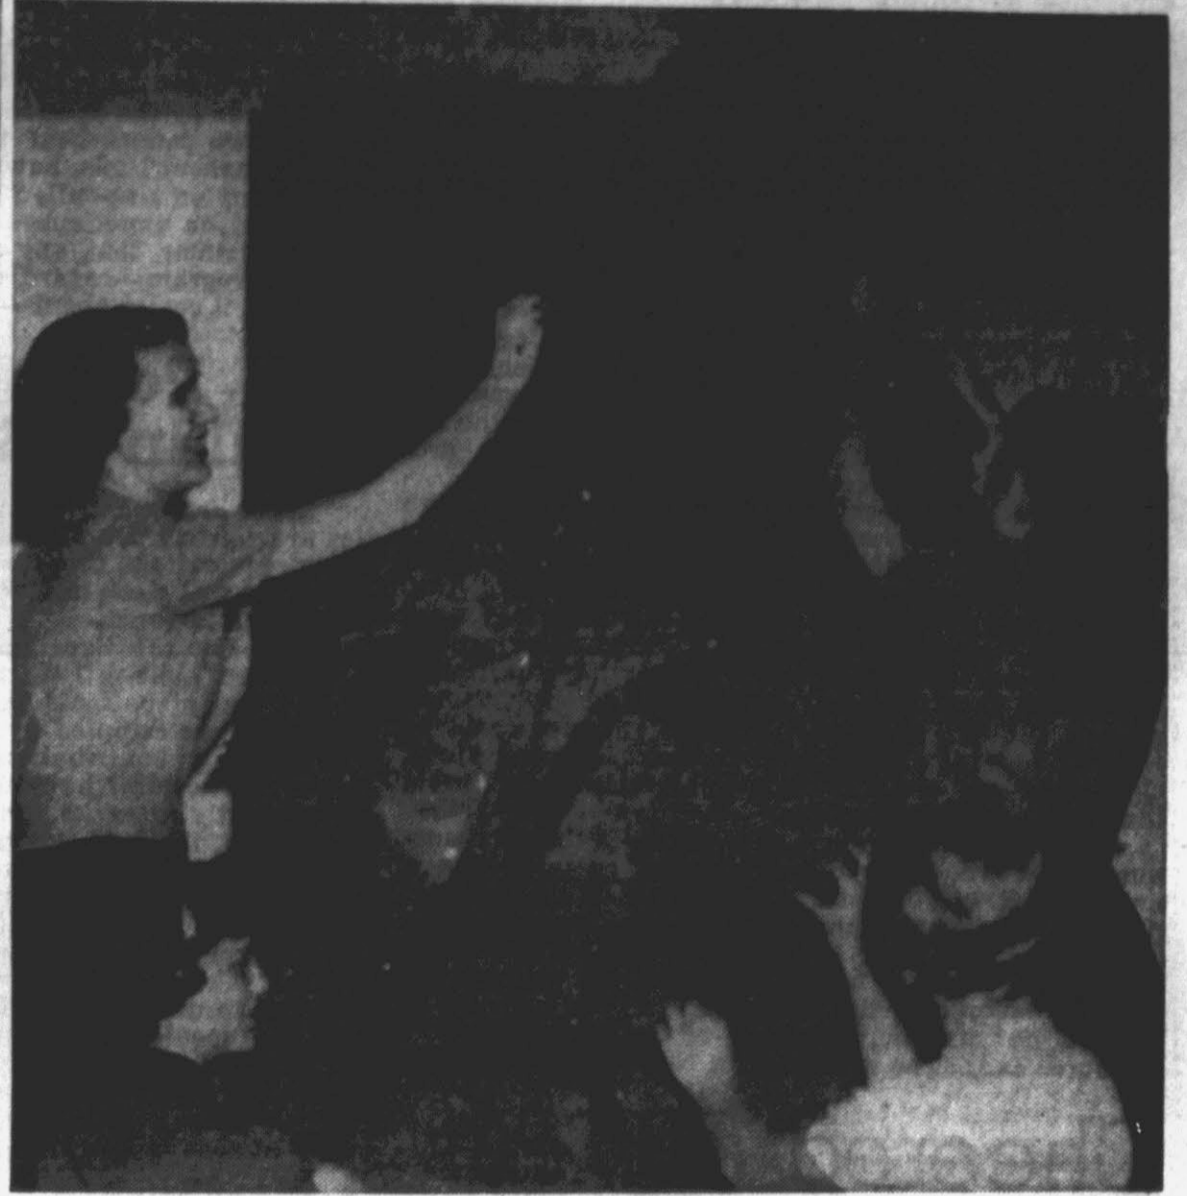

The afternoon session was highlighted by the presentation of "Youth Looks Ahead," a ceremony comparing the growth of a girl with the growth of a rose, the official flower of the FHA. This ceremony was rewritten and presented by 21 members of the Pitt County Federation of Future Homemakers of America.

This ceremony, before it was rewritten, was presented at the District I FHA Rally in the Fall at East Carolina College and again at the County FHA Rally March 18 at J. H. Rose High School.

Two East Carolina College Playhouse members, Bubba Driver and Tommy Hull, directed the final version in anticipation of its being presented at the State Convention. Mrs. Elizabeth Bodkin directed the music and accompanied the program.

Madge Stancill and Vickie Avery participated in the chorus while Frances Moseley placed parts of the rose in the ceremony. Mary French Hawes represented the ultimate in Future Homemakers as the Homemaker, the most noble profession of all.

The Greenville Chapter sent its full quota of delegates to the convention. Other members attending besides the four in the program were Sylvia Vincent, Gwen Johnson, Carol Gaskins, Lib Sutton, Gall Stancill, Pat Tripp, Jane Bass, Pat Coward, Carolyn Mazingo, and Lois Tunnell.

Found Key—Won Animal

Judith Ferris found the key, symbolizing the Junior Homemaker Degree, which was hidden somewhere in J. H. Rose High School to help publicize National FHA Week among the students. She was awarded one of the stuffed animals being made by the Greenville members as a finance project.

Martha Jane Pierce, state Homemaker of Tomorrow, was to accompany the FHA group to Raleigh and be recognized at the state convention by the state advisor, Mrs. Faye Coleman.

She also was to be interviewed by radio station WPTF in Raleigh.

Reading Speed Explained PTA

Thursday night at the Greenville Junior High School P.T.A. meeting Dr. Woodrow Finary of East Carolina College gave explanations and demonstrations concerning three testing instruments being used to detect and correct visual weaknesses and to increase speed in reading.

Dr. Finary said, "Many instruments of this kind are on the market, but these have proven their worth in the field of education, and I would like to see every principal have these and the audiometer for use in his school."

"The tachistoscope or flash meter, which is for training in quick recognition, was used in the Norfolk schools 20 minutes a day for 17 weeks, and at the end of that time the students' reading had increased two and three grades."

P.T.A. members were given an opportunity to check their reading speed with the controlled reader while Dr. Finary explained that the average adult reads orally 150 to 170 words per minute, but they should read much faster silently—to do this properly takes training.

"To be able to read fast saves hours and hours of time. Give children 40 hours of training in the grades with the controlled reader and the reading rate of most students would double or triple," stated Dr. Finary.

Before training is begun with the tachistoscope and controlled reader, the subject's vision is tested with the telebinocular.

"Children's eyes should be in balance and for best results the eye and hand should be dominant on the same side when possible," he said.

"About six or seven per cent of the children in classrooms today have speech or hearing difficulty, whereas 26 per cent have visual difficulty which is sufficient to cause trouble with language-arts. So many children have visual problems rather than emotional disturbances which cause them to fail."

Mrs. M. P. Bailey, president conducted business of the meeting during which the following slate of officers were elected for the coming year: Elbert H. Bennett, president; Mrs. Hartwell Campbell, vice-president; Mrs. Dorothy Johnson, secretary; and James W. Joyner, treasurer.

Robert Youngblood, principal, announced the city paint and clean up dates as April 13-27 and requested aid from the P.T.A. in planning a campaign for the Junior High School.

Members were reminded that financial help is still needed for the school's baseball program.

The Rev. Percy Upchurch of Memorial Baptist Church opened the meeting with a devotional. Miss Georgia Lee Morris' home-room had the most parents present.

Sheppard Library To Participate In Exchanging, Information Service

The establishment of a plan for broadened library service in North Carolina and the creation of an Interlibrary Center in the Wilson Library at Chapel Hill was announced today by Elizabeth H. Copeland, Librarian of Sheppard Memorial Library.

The Center will provide a book exchange and information service for participating libraries in the state. The Interlibrary Center was established to aid libraries in giving better library service to citizens of the state.

A statement of the policy which governs the operation of the Center makes it clear that the University of North Carolina Library, through the Center, will continue to lend books to all university, college, public and special libraries in North Carolina when they are not needed in the teaching and research program of the University.

It is expected that the State Library will handle requests for materials from public and county libraries. Requests from individuals and high schools will be referred to local libraries or the State Library if the individual or high school has no local library service.

The chief bibliographical resources of the Center are the North Carolina Union Catalog which contains information on the Library holdings of University of North Carolina, Duke, State College, Woman's College and a number of public libraries in the state. The Catalog of the University of North Carolina Library will also serve as a primary resource of the Center.

When a book is not available at the University of North Carolina Library, the title will be checked in the North Carolina Union Catalog, and the request forwarded to the nearest library having the book. The Sheppard Memorial Library is one of the participating libraries in this plan for broadened library service in the state.

Dr. Jenkins To Speak

Vice President Leo W. Jenkins of East Carolina College will be principal speaker Sunday, March 30, at an installation service for new officers of the Baptist Student Union of the college.

The program will take place in the Immanuel Baptist Church in Greenville at 5 p.m. and will be open to the public.

Elected to major offices in the BSU are the following students: Carolyn E. Tripp of Greenville, president; Jacqueline A. Davis of Rocky Mount, Ann Pruden of Roxobel, and Sally Musselwhite of St. Pauls, vice presidents; Peggy Mobley of Winterville, corresponding secretary; Pat A. Laye of Belmont, recording secretary; Julia Kendall of Fayetteville, treasurer; Devone West of Roseboro and Shirley Mazingo of Kenly, host and hostess at the Baptist Student Center; and Sue Lassiter of Four Oaks, forum leader.

Other students who will be installed as officers of the East Carolina BSU Sunday night include chairmen of committees and presidents of Sunday school classes and of Training Unions at Greenville city churches.

Faculty advisers are Dr. Herbert Paschal of the social studies department and Dr. George Cook of the English department.

Bride Of Today Feted At Party

GRIMESLAND—Miss Dottie Elks, bride of today, was honored Tuesday evening when Mrs. Jamie Dall entertained at a dessert bridge party at her home.

A pink and white theme was used throughout the home with arrangements of mixed spring flowers in the living and dining rooms.

Upon arrival the guests were shown to tables overlaid with white cutwork cloths and centered with pink tapers in white candle holders. At the base of each candle was nestled a single white carnation tied with pink tulle.

Completing the unique centerpieces were miniature bride and groom.

White carnations marked the honoree's place. Mrs. Leslie Elks, mother of the bride-elect, and Mrs. B. E. Singleton of Washington, mother of the bridegroom-elect, each received a corsage of pink carnations.

Assisting the hostess in serving bridal ices, molded in the shape of wedding bells and slippers, were Mrs. W. F. Galloway, Mrs. P. W. Majette and Mrs. Lloyd Whichard.

Decorated cake squares, nuts and coffee, were also served after which several progressions of bridge were played.

High score prizes went to Mrs. Galloway, Mrs. Dan White, Mrs. George Howard, and Mrs. Hal Wilson of Washington.

The hostess presented Miss Elks with crystal goblets in her selected pattern.

The Cochise Council, Degree of Pochontas of the Improved Order of Red Men, was instituted March 20.

Chiefs elected are as follows: Mrs. Alma Baker, Pochontas; Mrs. Mary Corbett, Wenonah; Mrs. R. C. Mills, Powhatan; Mrs. Hazel McLawhorn, prophetess; Mrs. Shirley Brown, keeper of records; Mrs. Betty Lou Mills, collector of wampum; Mrs. Geneva Coggins, guard of tepee.

Mrs. J. E. Godley, guard of forest; Mrs. Lillian Dickerson, first scout; Mrs. Lila Mae Fussell, second scout; Mrs. Martha Keel, first warrior; Mrs. Mary Lee Zurfuse, third warrior; Mrs. Nell Hemby, fourth warrior; Mrs. Alma Haddock, first runner; Mrs. Carline Phillips, second runner.

Mrs. Elma Stell, first counselor; Mrs. Gladys Pollard, second counselor; Mrs. Hazel McLawhorn, representative; and Mrs. Gladys Pollard, Mrs. Alma Stell, and Mrs. Geneva Coggins, trustees.

This newly organized club will meet every Thursday at 7:30 at the Red Men's Hall. Members who join before May 15 will be charter members.

Birth and Death

Mr. and Mrs. Lucy William Garner of Winterville announce the birth and death of a daughter on March 28 at Pitt Memorial Hospital.

MISS BETTY JO CARROLL . . . of Winston-Salem and Greenville is the daughter of Mrs. J. J. Carroll of Greenville and the late Mr. Carroll. Her engagement to Robert Carroll Hensley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sherman E. Hensley of Asheville, is announced by her mother. The wedding will take place June 14.

MISS ANNA WITHERS MONTGOMERY . . . is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alvis David Montgomery of Greenville who announce her engagement to Stephen Thomas Farish Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Elbert L. Davidson of Ayden. The wedding will take place May 31.

VFW Auxiliary Elects Officers

Mrs. C.B. West, Jr. was elected president of the Ladies Auxiliary to the Veterans of Foreign Wars at the monthly meeting of the organization Thursday evening.

She will be serving in this capacity for a fifth term as she has held the office on four previous occasions. Other officers elected include Mrs. J.S. Allen, senior vice-president; Mrs. Ralph Bailey, junior vice-president; Mrs. Lottie Barnhill, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. J.A. Joyner, Jr., chaplain; Mrs. B.T. Joyner, conductress; Mrs.

Melbern Bailey, guard; and Mrs. Lottie Lewis, trustee.

In accepting the office as president, Mrs. West pledged her continuing loyalty and efforts to maintain the high standards of the local auxiliary which has received citations of merit from the Department of North Carolina for its outstanding community projects.

Officers appointed by Mrs. West include Mrs. Kenneth Brown, public relations; Mrs. L.E. Meeks, flag bearer; Mrs. Alice Proctor, banner bearer; Mrs. Ralph Bailey, historian; Mrs. Clem Garner, publicity chairman; and Mesdames Elbert Bullock, Malcolm Williams, Elvy Fortst and Amox Harrell, color bearers.

These elected and appointed officers will be installed at a joint meeting of the auxiliary and post on April 3.

Mrs. J.A. Joyner, Jr., president, presided at the meeting which was held in the home of Mrs. West.

The hospital committee reported that the local auxiliary supplied 16 bingo prizes, five birthday gifts and three homemade cakes for the party given at the VA Hospital in Fayetteville on March 26.

The party was sponsored by the Second District. Participating auxiliaries included Washington, Farmville, Gritton, Kinston, Pink Hill and Greenville. Attending the party from Greenville were Mesdames Lottie Barnhill, Kathleen Whichard, L.E. Meeks, B.T. Joyner and C.B. West, Jr.

The auxiliary authorized a contribution of $25 to the Health and Happiness Fund which is used for the needs of the children in the N.C. cottage at the VFW National Home, Eaton Rapids, Mich.

Mrs. Clem Garner was the recipient of the door prize.

Hostesses of the evening were Mesdames Melbern Bailey, Bryant Hardee and Grover Edwards, who served refreshments during the social hour.

Squad Gives Demonstration For American Legion Auxiliary Meet

Dr. Sam White and Claude H. Christopher Jr. of the Rescue Squad explained some of the functions of the squad and demonstrated the use of the portable iron lung, which was contributed to the squad by the Moose Lodge, at the American Legion Auxiliary meeting Thursday night.

They pointed out that the squad is a volunteer unit composed of 11 members who are not paid for their services and four firemen. The squad members are specially trained for first aid and emergency work. They added, "For the firemen, the rescue work is in addition to their regular duties."

Members of the club purchased several of the First Aid Booklets which the squad is now selling to raise money for a new ambulance.

Mrs. Joy Brantley, who was in charge of the program on community service, introduced the

Mrs. Bowen, Americanism chairman, announced that JoAnne Eagles and Julia Anthony had been selected for Girls State. She explained, "Ninety-eight students participated in the essay contest on Americanism and six best ones were selected from which the two winning entries were chosen."

Mrs. Alligood, rehabilitation chairman, told about sending 27 boxes of candy to veterans at Oteen Hospital for Easter. Reports were given concerning the District Meeting held at Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church on March 18.

Mrs. Mildred Kennedy was congratulated on her appointment to the office of District President.

Mrs. Nannie Brown and assisting hostesses, Mrs. S. A. Whitehurst, Mrs. W. G. Garner, Mrs. W. D. Barbe, Mrs. M. E. Cavenish, Mrs. Ed Harris, Mrs. Louis Gaylord Jr., and Mrs. A. A. Carrigan, served ice cream and cookies.

Social Notes

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Hartley of Detroit are visiting Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Fleming this weekend on their way South.

Bake Sale

A bake sale will be held all day today at the Colonial Store on Dickinson Ave. This sale is being sponsored by the Jay-C-Ettes.

Club Completes Contest

The Greenville Credit Women's Breakfast Club celebrated the completion of an eight month membership contest with a dinner party on Wednesday at 6:30 p.m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Copeland on the Falkland Highway.

The hostesses, members of Group Two, the users of the contest, wearing red carnations and tea aprons welcomed the guests and presented each with pink carnations, and directed them to the refreshment center.

Decorating the living room and dining rooms were arrangements of spring flowers, candlelight, and glowing oak logs in the fireplace. An Italian spaghetti dinner with tossed green salad, hot French garlic bread and coffee was served to 48 members and guests.

Tables for four, with white linens and lace covers, centered with black wrought iron hurricane lamps or candleholders, were set up in adjoining dining rooms, with individual tables in the living room.

A business meeting was not held. The 11 new members gained during the contest were the honored guests and welcomed.

Archie Henderson of Raleigh was an out-of-town guest.

Japanese 'No' Play Presented

Members of the East Carolina Playhouse and the Dramatic Arts Workshop transformed the Sheppard Memorial Library auditorium into an authentic Japanese Playhouse Thursday night when they presented a Japanese "No" Play, "Hanjo."

The stage, backdrop, lights, properties, and costumes all carried out a Japanese theme.

This production, under the direction of Dr. J. A. Withey, included a cast composed of Alice Ann Horne, Gwen McClamrock and Tom Hull. Members of the workshop who assisted with the play were Barbara Jenkins, William Whaley, Wuma Harris, Tom Hull, Helen McLanahan, Ophelia Kirven, and Jim Daugherty.

Following the play, Dr. Withey told the audience facts about another kind of play in Japan—the Kabuki. Colored slides showed parts of the Kabuki stage, make-up of the characters, and scenes from some of the plays.

Mrs. J. H. B. Moore, who has attended a Kabuki Theatre in Tokyo, discussed the theatre and play she attended.

Members of the club purchased several of the First Aid Booklets which the squad is now selling to raise money for a new ambulance.

'Temporary' Means 'Permanent'

In the haste to write so-called emergency measures to deal with the nation's economic situation, citizens should not lose sight of the longevity of other "emergency" measures of the past.

The President has proposed a 50 per cent extension of unemployment payments to workers whose benefits have been exhausted. In the case of North Carolina it means that instead of receiving unemployment compensation payments for 26 weeks a person could receive payments for 39 weeks.

House Democrats meanwhile have introduced proposals which would go far beyond those proposed so far by the administration. They have begun hearings on extending unemployment payments to jobless workers who are not now entitled to compensation under state laws. Principally this proposal would apply to farm workers and to employes of small firms who are not covered by state unemployment insurance programs.

While these so-called "emergency" measures are being discussed, we should not lose sight of the fact that they may well become permanent rather than temporary measures if they are once approved.

Federal excise taxes were, at the time they were approved, "emergency" measures designed to get the nation over a financial hump. But they have been with us so long, they must now be considered a permanent part of the tax structure. Similar examples could be cited in federal spending programs of various kinds. Once they are established, it is an almost impossible task to do away with them.

It is logical to assume, therefore, if the maximum number of weeks for unemployment compensation is extended, it will be not a temporary, but a permanent part of the unemployment compensation program. The same thing will apply to extending unemployment insurance coverage to individuals now out of work but not now covered by the program.

To be realistic, the cost of such "emergency" measures cannot be evaluated in terms of the duration of the emergency, but in terms of their becoming permanent parts of a permanent government program. If now is the time to build a more elaborate superstructure upon the unemployment insurance program already in operation, then we should consider the proposals made by the President and congressional Democrats. If we cannot bear the cost of these proposals on a permanent basis, however, it would be unwise to set them up on a so-called temporary basis.

Based on experiences of the past 30 years, it is folly to assume that any broadening of the federal welfare program—regardless of the circumstances under which it comes about—is only a temporary matter.

This Polio Hospital Shouldn't Be Closed

At a time when many North Carolina communities are viewing the problem of what to do with overcrowded hospitals, there is at least one hospital in the state that will close in a few months unless something unforeseen happens.

The Central Carolina Convalescent Hospital at Greensboro, built in 1948 to care for polio patients, is running out of patients as the Salk vaccine thins the ranks of those crippled by the disease.

Built by contributions from thousands of Tar Heels, the hospital housed as many as 134 polio patients shortly after its completion. Today it has only 27 patients, three of whom are not polio victims.

It is wonderful that medical advances in the past decade has rendered this special polio hospital unnecessary in North Carolina. As badly as the state needs hospital facilities, however, it would be a disgrace if the facility at Greensboro were closed rather than put to use in caring for victims of other diseases who need medical treatment.

A careful survey of North Carolina's needs for medical facilities should suggest many possible uses for the polio hospital which already has served so many citizens of the state.

Spanish Music In Hi-Fi

By HUGH MULLIGAN
It took a Frenchman to teach a Spaniard something about Spanish music.

From Claude Debussy, who has never lived in Spain, the great Spanish composer Manuel de Falla learned that a composer's job is not to capture and imitate the folk music of his country but to interpret it and embellish it with his own moods and feelings until something entirely new results.

Debussy had shown the way with "Iberia," one of his orchestral "Images," and in several piano preludes based upon Spanish themes.

Falla, steeped in the folk lore of his native land, outdid the master with his magnificent "Nights in the Gardens of Spain," a three-part series of symphonic impressions for piano and orchestra that have become a concert-hall favorite.

By turning away from his previous rigid adherence to folk melodies, Falla managed to capture the very soul of his country; the wild, exotic dances, the dreamy patios, the lingering phantoms of the Moorish past, the passionate influence of the Gypsies; the sensuous, throbbing Andalusian rhythms.

In a new recording especially engineered for hi-fi fans, for whom Spanish music has become a must, Altaufo Argenta conducts the National Orchestra of Spain in a moving, memorable rendition of Falla's masterpiece (London). On the other side of this long playing record is Rodrigo's "Guitar Concerto," featuring soloist Narciso Yepes. Both works were previously recorded by London with the same artists several years ago and have become best sellers throughout the world. The new recordings, made last May, should do even better.

Enrique Granados y Campina, who like Falla deserted a career as a concert pianist to win renown as a composer of Spanish music, is accorded a worthy hi-fi revival on a new Epic release, "Grandos" featuring Spanish pianist Eduardo del Pueyo.

In "Duets with the Spanish Guitar," a first class Capitol album, guitarist Laurindo Almeida is joined alternately by a soprano and a flutist for a series of exciting Spanish folk tunes. The album features superb sound and delightful music.

The Roger Wagner Chorale makes the most of Spanish airs on this side of the world in "Songs of Latin America," another tuneful, memorable Capitol album of this popular singing group.

The Troubadors, KAPP Records' fine makers of mood music, visit Spain and bring back a scrapbook full of musical souvenirs. Among their best are Estrellita, Habanera, La Goldorina and an exciting version of the ever popular tango, Jealousie.

Audio Fidelity Records, specialists in full frequency range recordings, have two Spanish albums with a sound range from 12 to 25,000 cycles per second. They are "La Zambra," featuring Fernando Sirvent, famous Flamenco guitarist, and "Juerga Flamenco," a colorful and exciting collection of gypsy music recorded in Spain. The sound on both is both below and above what the human ear can experience, but the engineers claim the full registers, even though inaudible, are necessary to produce maximum hi-fi satisfaction.

Opinions In Brief

"History is full of examples of evils of softness, in nations and in men. That is one thing history repeats—and needs to."—Sherman County Journal, Oregon.

An Indictment Of Our Industry

By ELMER ROESSNER
This week several thousand businessmen read:
"Let us take a look at the symptoms of the product quality situation... a brand new automobile and parts strewn along the driveway and highway on its first trip; a new deep freeze with a vibration that almost drives you out of the house; a Christmas gift Hi-Fi set that, when first turned on, sounds more like low-fi at its lowest."

There was more to this indictment:
"A brand new suitcase one of the catches of which will not hold the first time the bag is packed; a shirt neck button that quickly comes off the first time an attempt is made to fasten it; trousers of a new suit that were lengthened instead of shortened in altering, even though they were clearly marked by the fitter."

TOIL AND TROUBLE
And more: "A lady's shoe from which the heel breaks the first time worn; an electric light bulb that is dead the first time it is used; an electric blanket packed with the wrong control; Christmas cards with imprinted signatures obviously out of line; a weeping doll that doesn't weep; a handkerchief hemmed on three sides; a 34-inch belt with a 38-inch label, and so on."

Those are not the writings of a man who is beset by the Little People, or who offended the gremlins. Neither are they the work of a consumer group organizer, or of some lefty trying to convince the world that capitalism is coming apart at the seams. And they are surely not the writings of a crank.

Can Spring Be Far Behind?

'Carrier Current' Radio

If you are a listener to the college radio station (WWWS), and wondering why you can't find it these days on your FM dial... here's a good reason:

They stopped broadcasting and will be off the air a good two weeks.

As of right now, Lawrence Behr (engineer and part-time disc jockey) is working out the details for invading the AM band and when WWWS resumes broadcasting it will be carried both FM and AM.

What makes this unique, is that:

- (1) no FCC license is required for this operation, because
- (2) it isn't anticipated anyone living off the campus will be able to hear the college radio programs on their AM dial.

The system used in this electronic black magic is called "carrier current"; and while the "why" is all a mystery to me, I'm told the range is so limited that us non-collegiates will have to rely on frequency modulation if we want to hear the campus radio.

Behr tells me part of the delay in resuming the broadcasts was because when the station ordered some special new tubes from the factory, they had to build them. As he got it, the tubes weren't in stock because they aren't in general use.

The "carrier current" system is the same used at State College, and the East Carolina radio will be the only such east of Raleigh to have that system. Something over a hundred college radio stations in the country are using "carrier current."

"Of all the FM educational stations I know of," says Behr, "WWWS has the longest broadcasting day." Staffed by colleagues, they can transmit from almost any point in the campus; but they call the second floor of Joyner Library "home."

Went out to the hospital to see a friend, the other night.

Visibility was poor, and had to stay close to the ground, but there was no traffic problem going through town. Learned why, later.

The hospital's parking area was filled to overflowing; cars parked in all the legitimate legitimate spaces and a lot in illegitimate places. No wonder traffic was light downtown. I squeezed the car through and around the drive a couple times, looking for a parking place. A car fell in behind me, then another... three cars going around and around, everybody looking for one of the parked cars to pull out so we could make a dash for that precious space.

When it did happen, I got there fustest; a place where cars weren't supposed to park, but by that time my concern for the niceties and propriety had gone by the boards. Pitt Memorial is a right popular gathering place. When they expand for more business, a parking lot would seem in order... with meters, yet.

Other Editors Saying --- Comment On Humor

(Greensboro Daily News)
About the time the jolly, suave Charlotte News was concluding, not at all ponderously, that the art of humor in America is in low estate, the famed Washington Gridiron Club was proving The News all wet.

"We wonder seriously," moans The News, "if George S. Kaufman and Morrie Ryskind could get away with anything so pointedly exhilarating as Of Thee I Sing in 1958 — especially the scene... in which a line of men in black robes come prancing on the stage singing the music of George and Ira Gershwin:

We're the one—two—three—four—five—six—seven—eight—nine—
Supreme Court Judges.
We have powers that are positively regal—
Only we can take a law and make it legal.
Fosh and fiddlesticks, Charlotte News, of course they could.

Consider the devastating humor of the Gridiron Club the other Saturday night. Chief Justice Warren and the entire Supreme Court heard it in person along with all the top brass of Washington, except President Eisenhower.

Here's the song:
Mine eyes have seen the glory of a civil rights decree.
We have trampled on the Democrats and also G.O.P.
As for who is going to make it work, I'm glad it isn't me, Oh boy, this job is fun.
(Chorus.)

Glory, glory, always justice
Five to four it's always justice
We give double scoops of justice
For just the price of one.
We've opened up the files of FBI for all to see
We have emptied all the prison cells from Maine to Kan-kakee.
And any hood can take the Fifth with equanimity.
Oh boy, this job is fun.
(Chorus.)

Oh critics say we write the laws, from this I won't dissent.
We tell the Constitution's authors what they should have meant.
Results of each election, we will never circumvent.
Oh boy, this job is fun.
And if that constitutes humor, consider the all-out offensive on Sherman Adams and Richard Nixon.

Some of this never would never make Broadway, but a lot of it falls in the rollicking frontier tradition of America. It reeks of Mark Twain, Robert Benchley, James Thurber and E.B. White.

We can't sell the nation short on humor. Comedy, yes. Television takes its toll of the wise-aces, and nobody is doing for the thriving '50's what the Marx Brothers did for the fallen '30's.
Still, it is a good deal healthier today than when a guy named Joe McCarthy was scaring the pants off everybody. And a little bit may escape the gargantuan appetite of the mass media.
There's nothing wrong with humor in America when somebody, bless his bones, can come up with this incomparable comment on Sir Winston Churchill's art show in New York:
"Winston paints good like Eisenhower should."

Cheered By His Trip Into East

By LYNN NISBET

PAYROLLS — Governor Hodges left Raleigh the other day to attend a regional industrial promotion conference at Greenville and for a visit to the Marine installations at Cherry Point feeling a little depressed. He had just learned that Bear Grass Mining Company was abandoning immediate plans for producing phosphate in the Beaufort-Hyde area, and there was postponement in the building of a titanium plant at Wilmington.

He came back from the trip feeling much better. The spirit of enthusiasm and cooperation manifested by the 300 or more business men attending the conference delighted him. Although he had been to Cherry Point and other military bases often before, this was the first time he had a real look at their impact upon the economy of the section. He was surprised to learn that the payroll at Cherry Point, military and civilian, approximates $40 million a year.

This includes family allotment and insurance deductions for service personnel, and some other items which never get into local channels of trade.
Projecting the Cherry Point payroll figures to include other military establishments — Fort Bragg and Pope Field, Camp LeJeune, Seymour Johnson, and a dozen or more smaller units—it would seem certain that considerably more than $100 million a million a year payroll money goes into regional channels. Other millions are spent for food and supplies bought directly by the military.

Eastern North Carolina desperately needs industry diffused throughout the whole area. At the same time, comparison of payroll status with other parts of the state cannot overlook the military millions.

RESPONSIBILITY — Governor Hodges said one of the most gratifying features of the regional conferences held at Greenville and Greensboro was the recognition on part of participants that major responsibility for developing industrial payrolls lies upon the individual communities.

The same attitude is expected at the third and final such conference at Asheville next Friday. When the late Governor Umstead intensified the statewide campaign to promote industry, a movement which Governor Hodges adopted and accelerated, there was in many communities evidence of feeling that the State had full responsibility to bring them a factory. There was disposition in part of some community leaders to resent State cooperation with other more active localities. Homefolks realize now that purely local factors — schools, churches, hospitals, recreation facilities, and that intangible thing called "climate" (having nothing to do with the weather)—are more decisive in determining plant locations than State tax policy.

This point has been hammered in two or three statewide and a number of sectional conferences. Governor Hodges says he sees concrete evidence of favorable reaction on part of most communities.

Another place where the Governor emphasized local responsibility is in connection with taking care of needy unemployed after the employment security insurance features have been exhausted. Anybody in real need in North Carolina should be cared for, insists Governor Hodges. But it is important to maintain the distinction between the insurance features of unemployed payments and the welfare feature of providing food, shelter and medical care for the needy.

SANDBURG — People some 300 strong came from corners of North Carolina to do honor to Carl Sandburg. The world famed historian, novelist and poet was honored at a luncheon in Raleigh highlighting Carl Sandburg Day which had been proclaimed by Governor Hodges. It was the occasion of sincere tribute to a great man, whose simple dignity dominated the dining room.

There was suspicion, too, that some of the guests not so much to honor Carl Sandburg as to honor themselves by basking briefly in reflected glory. This was also tribute, perhaps more impressive than the other.

A highly significant aspect of the affair was noted by Edwin Gill, who served as master of ceremonies. It was that in the age of Sputniks when such great emphasis is being placed on the sciences, so many people should pause to pay homage to a man whose contribution is entirely in the area of the humanities.

Business Trends Worth Noting

By RALPH ROBEY

Three items of the past few days are significant to everybody interested in the current business trend.

1. Industrial Production, as measured by the seasonally corrected index of the Federal Reserve Board, suffered another drop in February. This index uses 1947-49 as equal to 100. In February 1958 it was 130 as compared with 133 in January 1958 and the high point of 147 in December 1956. This is a drop of about 12 per cent. In the two previous post-war recessions of 1949 and 1953-54, the decline was a shade over 10 per cent.

Today's decline, of course, is not evenly distributed throughout the production field. Primary metals, at 34 per cent, show the greatest fall since 1956. Metal fabricating, which includes automobile production, is down 16 per cent. Next in order is coal, down 15 per cent. Then clay, glass, and lumber, which are down 11 per cent, followed by rubber and leather down 10 per cent. Durables as a whole are off 18 per cent from December 1956 and nondurables 4 per cent.

2. Required reserves of member commercial banks were reduced another one-half of one percentage point by the Federal Reserve Board, the second move of this kind made by the Federal Reserve in the past few weeks. This move provides the member banks an estimated $40 million of reserves, against which they could lend about $6 billion.

It is presumed, just as it was in the first reduction, that the primary reason for the move is to facilitate U.S. Treasury borrowing a few weeks hence. Needless to say it also puts the commercial banks in a position to be somewhat more lenient in their loan policies. Not too much is expected in that direction, however, because of the already easy reserve position of the member banks.

3. Consumer prices as of mid-February reached a new high. The index, which also uses 1947-49 as equal to 100, was 122.5 as compared with 122.3 in January. This index started up in March 1956, and there has been only one month since when it showed a decline. That was in August 1956 and the drop was two-tenths of one point. In two other months during this two year period the index held steady. Other than that, it has shown a slow, gradual increase.

With the current increase the index is about 3 per cent above a year ago and almost 7 per cent above February 1956.

The immediate cause of the continued rise, in the face of slipping business and employment, is, primarily, the weather.

Because of this, according to Ewan Clague, Commissioner of Labor Statistics, the prices of various foods increased, and since food makes up about one-third of the index, this lifted the overall figure. Medical and personal care also increased in cost, but their combined total was less than that for food alone.

Whether this is a more or less permanent top for consumer prices is anyone's guess. Mr. Clague, who probably knows as much about the behavior of this index as anyone, refuses to commit himself. His comment is that he does not see much on the down-side in the next few months. In the 1949 and 1953-54 recessions consumer prices declined fairly steadily.

A development of a quite different character on the business front was an editorial a few days ago in the New York Times. It is not unusual for the TIMES to have editorials on economic events, but it is not customary for them to use such discussions as the lead article on the editorial page. Yet that is what was done in this instance. The immediate reason for the editorial was President Eisenhower's comment some weeks ago that March would "mark the beginning of the end of the recession," and the TIMES was reviewing the statistics to see how the prediction is working out. In the course of this it was said: "It is difficult to escape the impression that this month is, thus far at least, forming an economic plateau, showing neither drastic improvement nor sharp further decline." The concluding sentence was: "We can hardly blame the President and his advisers if they feel that on economic policy they are walking the thinnest of high wires."

Both of the quoted sentences reach as far toward optimism as possible on the basis of current statistics. This does not mean, as we said last week, that we are headed into a depression but there is no convincing evidence as yet that we have reached the bottom of this readjustment.

Quote...

"Science is a fine thing and we don't propose to knock it. Even so, we're a bit puzzled by the wide publicity given two of its recent discoveries: (1) zebras are light animals with dark stripes rather than vice versa; (2) no two zebras, even of the same family, are alike in their markings."—Omaha World Herald.

Strength For Today

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
FEAR NOT

Have you ever thought how terrifying life on earth is? Think of it—the world is spinning about on its axis at the rate of 18 miles a minute; on its orbit at the rate of 18 miles a second. And then throughout twelve months the axis inclines and again rights itself, thus passing through vast distances. And all the while we are clinging to the side of the planet. Think of being whirled through space at 18 miles a second. If suddenly we became conscious of what was being done to us, we would feel like a hand being jounced about like a handful of dice in a cracker barrel.

The awfulness of all this is hidden from us. If it were not, we could not exist through a single day. We would literally fly to pieces if all these motions occurred in an earth-made vehicle. But we all cling to the planet together. Those in Australia are walking upside down if our posture is regarded as right-side up. We take our eighteen mile a second ride and never blink an eye. The terrifying thing about all this is that we are only a dot in a great celestial system. What is our destiny? Well, whatever it is, it is in the hands of God—a merciful God, loving, forgiving. All that is, is for our good and for His glory. We do not understand all things, but we are not to fear. "Fear not, little flock," were the words of our Lord.

Arnold Palmer Leading By One Stroke In Azalea Open Tourney

Finsterwald Is Breathing Down Palmer's Neck

By KEN ALTYA
WILMINGTON, N.C. (AP)—Dow Finsterwald appears to be making a career of chasing Arnold Palmer.

Going into today's second round of the $15,000 Azalea Open golf tournament, Palmer held a one-stroke lead over Finsterwald.

That's exactly the way they stood last Sunday when Palmer came up with a last round 65 to nose out Finsterwald by one stroke for top money at St. Petersburg, Fla.

And a year ago this week Palmer, a Latrobe, Pa., pro who was National Amateur champion in 1954, finished one stroke ahead of Finsterwald of Tequesta, Fla., in winning here.

Palmer sliced six strokes off par with a first round 66 on nine hole scores of 34-32. Finsterwald, Vardon Trophy winner last year when he averaged 70.3 strokes for 108 rounds, came in with 33-34.

The two 28-year-olds could not afford to overlook their challengers in the starting field of 116. Knotted at 69, only three shots off the lead, were big George Bayer of San Gabriel, Calif., Bob Goolby of Darien, Conn., and Billy Casper of Apple Valley, Calif. Bayer and Casper showed sharp putting, rolling in several putts of from 18 to 45 feet. Goolby, on tour after leaving a club job, birdied three of the last seven holes to move into contention.

After today's 18 holes the field will be cut to the low 60 pros and ties and 10 low amateurs for tomorrow's final 36 holes.

Tony Lama of Napa, Calif., who also left a club job for the touring life; Dave Ragan, a consistent money-winning newcomer from Orlando, Fla.; Doug Ford of Mahopac, N.Y., who defends his Masters crown next week at Augusta, Ga.; Art Wall of Pocono Manor, Pa., who chipped in for two birdies, and Bill Nary, much-traveled Albuquerque, N.M., veteran were dangerous contenders after opening with 70s.

Bob Hill, Rochester, N.Y., pro who would rather ski than golf; Jay Hebert, a major money winner from Sanford, Fla., and Jack Lumpkin of Athens, Ga., a former top Southern amateur ace, worked on initial 71s today.

Palmer, who didn't miss a green, rolled in four birdie putts of 10 to 20 feet, Finsterwald, second 15 times in two years of steady tournament play, dropped three birdie putts of 10 to 18 feet and a 12-footer for a par four on 18 where he missed his only green.

Crawford Wants Crack At Title

By MURRAY ROSE
NEW YORK (AP)—It was a typical fight aftermath. The winner, young Mickey Crawford, hollered for a chance at the title. The loser, veteran Gil Turner, gave out the usual "we wuz robbed" beef. And no subpoenas were handed out.

Crawford, 24, fast-rising prospect from Saginaw, Mich., proved he belonged with the welterweight elite, by nosing out Turner, 27, fourth-ranked contender from Philadelphia, in the television 10-rounder at Madison Square Garden last night.

If there was anyone to blame, Turner should have singled himself out for the rap. His low blows cost him the fight. He would have received a draw except for the fouts. Referee Al Berl warned him for low lefts in the first two rounds. When Gil strayed below the border again in the third, Berl took the round from him.

The officials' votes, all with Crawford ahead, went like this: Judge Sam Irom, 6-4, Referee Berl, 5-4-1, and Judge Artie Aidala, 5-5 in rounds and 6-5 for Crawford in points. Aidala had Crawford ahead in the third and awarded him an extra point for the foul. Irom would have given the round to Turner except for the foul and his card would have been a draw.

The Associated Press scorecard had Crawford in front, 6-4. Turner, pressing forward all the way and using his weight advantage — 154½ to 149 — to bull Mickey to the ropes, led through the first six rounds. He shook his tall, slender rival with a right to the jaw in the sixth.

But from the seventh on, Crawford a much sharper puncher than his mauling, swarming foe, took charge with his fast combinations. He nailed his stocky, charging rival with punches in clusters that didn't hurt much but piled up points.

Although Crawford has been fighting pro only 2½ years he was a 2-1 choice over the veteran. He has won three straight this year for a 21-2 record. Turner, a pro nearly eight years, now has a 55-17-1 record.

"We're going to wait for Virgil Akins and Vince Martinez to fight it out for the welterweight title and then we're going to challenge the winner," said Crawford's manager, Art Greenwald. "After all why not? Turner beat Akins and Turner is the No. 4 guy. Ike Logart was the No. 1 man but he was knocked out of the tournament by Akins. So that puts Mick-

AAU Title

DENVER (AP)—Peoria and Denver, a couple of also-rans in the National Industrial Basketball League, collide head-on here tonight for the national AAU championship.

The title battle begins at 11 p.m. (EST). The two teams divided six games during the regular NIBL season. Peoria gained the championship showdown by humiliating Bartlesville, Okla., 90-53, in last night's semifinals. Denver whipped Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo., 76-64.

Bucs At Lejeune This Weekend; Play Host To Delaware Monday

Coach Jim Mallory packed his Pirate baseballers off to Camp Lejeune this weekend for a two-day workout with the Marine team, in hopes of preparing his club for the regular-season opener, here, Monday.

For over a month now, the Bucs have been harassed by bad weather. Only a handful of outdoor drills have been observed and most of those were perfunctory batting and fielding practice. Mallory's club has had only one scrimmage. That was against strong outside opposition behind closed gates. Mallory's report of that scrimmage was favorable, however, even that was played in cold weather.

The two-day session with the Marine squad was arranged by Mallory in hopes that the Bucs would have one more try at a game-like situation before having to tangle with the University of Delaware, Monday and Tuesday, here at Greenville. Weather reports, however, predict rain and more damp-cool weather for this area of the state this weekend.

A long-range weather report indicates that there may even be rain on Monday.

Aside from the weather troubles, Coach Mallory has other problems. He stated yesterday that the purpose of the trip to Lejeune was to give him an opportunity to see how several of his newcomers can hit against lefthanded pitching. Oddly, in all his years of college coaching, Mallory says he has never had a team with enough lefthanded hitters; this year he's afraid he may have too many.

"We've got to see how our lefthanders will do against lefthanded pitching. We have a probable five lefthanders in our starting lineup and if they can't hit lefthanded pitching, we'll have to make some changes."

Other than this, Mallory also ex-

Winless Duke, Gameless SC Meeting Today

The Duke baseball team, winless in three starts, and the South Carolina Gamecocks, rained out of two schedules, were to meet at Columbia today in the only meeting between Atlantic Coast Conference teams.

Ithaca College of New York State was at North Carolina and Delaware was at Wake Forest in intercollegiate games.

Spring rains continued to play hob with the ACC baseball schedule yesterday, forcing postponement of the Duke-Clemson game to May 1 at Durham, North Carolina and Virginia Tech played 10 innings to a 7-7 tie, the game halted because of darkness.

North Carolina, trailing 7-4 going into the last half of the ninth inning, tied the score on a walk and three hits. One was a two-run triple by outfielder Alton Pons. The Tar Heels got singles in the 10th by Harold Workman and Jerry Nester but could not score.

Virginia Tech's Dave Kuhn had a triple, two doubles and a single in four times at bat. Pons had two for four for the Tar Heels, batting in three runs, and John Burgwyn rapped two triples in three bats, driving in two runs.

$150,000 Riding On Today's Race

The fabulous Calumet Farm of Mrs. Gene Markey will bank more than $150,000 if two of its top horses come through as expected today.

At Gulfstream Park, Calumet's Tim Tam, the Preakness winner, will be the probable odds-on favorite in the Florida Derby, while at Bowie, Mrs. Markey's Iron Liege will go postward the choice in the Campbell Handicap.

Tim Tam appears to have the easier assignment. The mile and an eighth test will be worth $119,000 with $77,900 going to the winner.

Tim Tam will tote 122 pounds, the same as other stakes winners Sir Robby, Yeomen, L'il Fella and Grey Monarch.

Willie Mays Is Finally Hitting

By JACK STEVENSON
PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—The Giants' Willie Mays, slow in getting underway this spring, picks up speed with every day and has hit safely in his last dozen games.

In those 12, he's batted .400 and knocked in 10 runs. The production includes two doubles, two triples and four home runs.

So manager Bill Rigney and all concerned feel the star center fielder is set for the start of the campaign.

Serving notice he's out to regain the National League batting title he held in 1954, Mays stands out as the No. 1 man for the Giants as they move from New York to San Francisco.

Manager Bobby Bragan of the Cleveland Indians terms Willie the best fielding center fielder of all time.

"He's made plays that I don't think anybody else who ever played ball would have laid a glove on," Bragan declares.

Mays continues to amaze even his own manager. "You should have heard him holler. He wanted to play. All he did that day was hit a home run and double against Baltimore at Scottsdale. 'Here's a guy I could afford to give a week off and he wants to play every day.'"

Still Rigney is playing Willie less this spring than in past years. He wants him ready for a fast start in San Francisco on April 15.

There were thrills aplenty, but not much of a crowd for the first annual North-South All-Star basketball game that saw the North win 111-109 in overtime on a last-second tip-in shot here last night.

The crowd size, about 1,000 persons, did not discourage the co-promoters of the event, Gene Shue of Baltimore, Md., and Ed Power of Boston said the date for next year's game may be moved up to attract more fans.

The North, coached by Joe Lapchick of St. John's, tied the regulation game at 99-99 on a jump shot by Don Ohl of Illinois with three seconds remaining. Ohl missed a one-handed shot with the clock running out in the overtime.

Jack Parr of Kansas State then tapped it in to win.

Ohl, high scorer with 27 points, was voted by the press as the game's most valuable player.

Tommy Kearns of North Carolina and Joe Hobbs of Florida led the South with 18 points each.

The South team, coached by Everett Case of North Carolina State, was out front 28-26 at the end of the first 12-minute quarter and held a 52-51 halftime advantage.

George Kline of Minnesota had 18 points and Hal Greer 17 for the North. In addition to Kearns and Hobbs, the leading scorers for the South were Pete Gaudin of Loyola of New Orleans with 13 and Whitey Bell of N.C. State.

Pirates Sweep Seven, Tie One To Top Foes

WINSTON-SALEM—East Carolina's tennis team blasted through a match here yesterday showing championship form as they walloped Wake Forest 8½-1½.

The Bucs, under new coach Bill McDonald, swept through the contest, taking all of the matches except the final doubles event.

Winning singles contests were two-time North State Conference singles champ Maurice Everette, and teammates John West, Billy Hollowell, John Savage, Red Brown, and Mike Katsias.

In doubles play, Everette and Hollowell teamed up to whip Wake's Jones and Nelson. West and Savage conquered Connors and Daniels. In the last doubles match of the afternoon, Katsias and Brown tied Wake Forest's Shervette and Helms, 4-6, 6-4.

It was the first match of the season for both clubs. ECC, displaying a power that carried them to a 14-3 record last year, held complete control of the competition. The Pirates carried practically the same team to Wake Forest that it had last year. Everette, Savage, West, Katsias and Hollowell were regulars on the 1957 Bus outfit. Brown played limitedly last year.

Line score:
Singles—Everette (ECC) d. Jones, 6-0, 6-3; West (ECC) d. Connors, 6-3, 6-2; Hollowell (ECC) d. Shervette 1-6, 6-4, 6-3; Savage (ECC) d. Nelson 1-6, 6-1, 6-3; Brown (ECC) d. Daniels 6-2, 6-4; Katsias (ECC) d. Helms 3-6, 8-6, 8-6.

Doubles—Everette and Hollowell (ECC) d. Jones and Nelson 6-4, 8-6; West and Savage (ECC) d. Connors and Daniels 6-3, 6-3; Brown and Katsias (ECC) tied Shervette and Helms, 4-6, 6-4.

Eastern Golf Schedule Set

The Eastern Carolina Golf Association matches scheduled to start last Wednesday were postponed because of rain.

According to announcement from Harold Thomas, pro of the Greenville Golf and Country Club, Greenville will play its first match on April 2, in Kinston. The remainder of the schedule is as follows:

April 9—Rocky Mount at Greenville
April 16—Kinston at Greenville
April 23—Wilson at Greenville
April 30—Greenville at Rocky Mount

May open date for make-ups
May 26—Eastern Carolina Golf Association Tournament in Wilson.

Trail Blazer by Pap

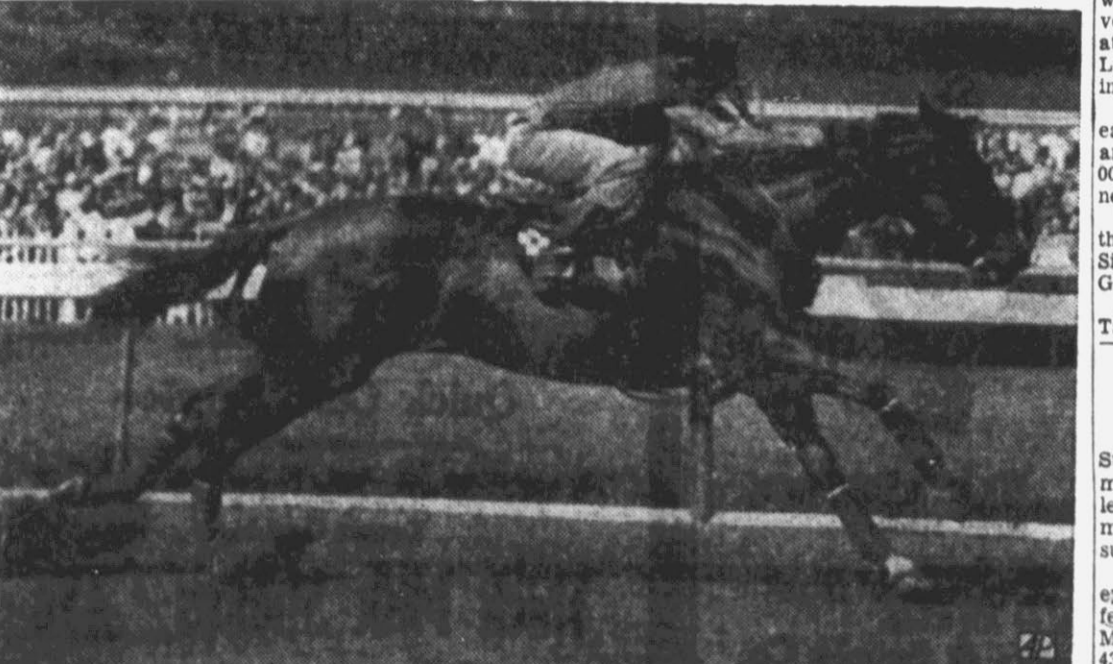

Peter Close won the mile title in the 1958 Intercollegiate Association of Amateur Athletes of America indoor championships to give St. John's University its first such track victory. Close, at the same time, created a school record of 4:10.3 and establish himself as a brilliant prospect with a potential to crack four minutes in the mile when he approaches his full development. The 20-year-old junior has improved in giant strides, cutting 14 seconds off his mile time in a little over two years under Coach Bill Ward.

In high school, Close was strictly a half-mile and not too outstanding since his best time was 2:01. He didn't break five minutes in the mile run. Under Coach Ward, Peter turned in a 4:24 mile as a freshman, cut the time down to 4:12.4 as a sophomore and then, as a junior, lowered the mark to 4:10.3 this winter. Close is ideally built for a mile—5-foot-10, 153 pounds, and is a glutton for hard work. He does on cross-country running and holds the Metropolitan Intercollegiate hill-and-dale title. He was third in the IOAA cross-country championship run and sixth in the NCAA title meet.

If Close has any burning ambition to run the mile in less than four minutes, or whether or not he thinks he can accomplish this feat, he keeps his thoughts to himself. All one gets out of Close is: "I just try to improve as much as possible each year."

The black-haired, sparkling-eyed young athlete is majoring in English and hopes to return to his native Manchester, Conn., one day as a teacher. He is currently sharing an apartment with a couple of other out-of-town students and Peter takes his turn cooking some of the meals. At least, Close has thrived on his own cooking.

Marked Changes Noted In Drinking By Women

By FRANCIS STILLEY
NEW YORK (AP)—Several estimable bartenders in these parts—all report that there has been a marked change recently in women's drinking habits. More are switching to male-type refreshments at the bar, they say. More and more, also, are standing toe to toe with the brethren and matching them quaff for quaff. This pint-sized survey was, naturally, compiled after considerable on-the-scene investigation. While the findings are not guaranteed to be 100 proof, they were as follows: The average bartender has a repertoire of about 85 different types of drinks. Of these, some 50 have been ordered with regularity in the past. Now, Menfolk usually ask for only about five or six of these: Standard and tested old standbys like whisky and soda, water, on-the-rocks, etc. It used to be that the drinking members of the fairer sex favored the other 44 or 45—such as popping champagne cork, the bartender found women's tastes were changing. They were asking for the same things as men. At the same time they were drinking just as much, instead of sipping one or two for hours. Now comes the stinger. Why? "Beats me," said one purveyor of the potables. "Maybe advertising," guessed another. "Maybe they want to be more like men," opined a third. At this point the survey faltered for a moment. A nearby woman customer glanced over her drink and spoke up. "Less calories."

Hooker Memorial Announcements

The Hooker Memorial Christian Church, which is meeting temporarily in the Elmhurst School, will have special services on Sunday, March 30. Sunday school is at 9:45, followed by worship service at 11:00. Dr. Cleveland Bradner, Professor of Religious Education at East Carolina College and interim minister for the church, will bring the message, "The Triumph That Failed." Special Palm Sunday music, "Alone," an anthem, will be sung by the choir under the direction of Mrs. Florence Scott, Mrs. K. F. Whately at the organ. Our congregation is growing rapidly and the church is still open for members. In the near future a lot will be purchased and a minister called. Everyone is welcome at the services. The Executive Board of the Christian Women's Fellowship will meet on Monday night, March 31, at 8 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Milton Williamson, 1601 Oaklawn Ave. All members are urged to be present.

First Presbyterian Announcements

The Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be observed in the First Presbyterian Church Thursday evening, April 3, at 7:30 o'clock. Other Holy Week observances at this church will include Prayer group services. Members of Circles 1, 2, 4, 5, 6, and 9 will meet at the Church at 7:30 Tuesday and Wednesday evenings for Prayer. Dr. J. G. Joyce, supply minister, will conduct these services. On Monday, March 31, members of Circle 3 will meet at 1:00 a. m. in the home of Mrs. S. M. Crisp and Wednesday, April 2, at 10:00 a. m. in the home of Mrs. John Clark for a period of Prayer. Exchange Club Marks Birthday

Local Exchangers observed the 47th anniversary of the founding of National Exchange with a birthday party last night. President Fred Forbes called on each of the past presidents who attended to take part in the celebrations. Past president participating were Ed Parkinson, Jake Hadley, Jack Wallace, Howard Moye and Sweeny Moye. A special birthday cake was prepared by Tommy Diener and Dr. Ray Minges and Dr. Walter Pott, and served the cake. Jake Hadley, who was in charge of the program, gave a brief review of Exchange on both the national and local level. Hadley cited various projects of the local club since its beginning ten years ago. Among them were Mental Health, Crime Prevention, hard of hearing program for children, Little League, Midget Deeds Award, Safety Campaign and participation in many of the local and national charity drives. Hadley recognized Lewis Garris who is a charter member and who has not missed a meeting since the club was formed in 1948. Dr. Pott was also recognized as having brought more new members into the club than any other member. Following the birthday celebration Hadley presented Mrs. Janie Gold Starling and her aunt Mrs. Frank Armstrong. Mrs. Starling gave a talk based on her recent trip around the world. She illustrated her talk with color slide pictures which she took while on the trip.

This Merry Widow Has Rare Fancy In Clothes

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A wowedly merry widow at a jaunty 77, Mrs. Ailsa Hortman is back home today after a South Pacific cruise on which she won headlines and marriage proposals, mainly because of a rare fancy in clothes. When Mrs. Hortman, all twinkles, vivacity and Georgia drawl, arrived in New York yesterday on the Norwegian American Line's Bergensfjord, she was sporting a colorful ensemble made from the neckties which belonged to two of her three late husbands. She wore the same outfit at ports of call on the 11-weeks cruise and acknowledged that, in the eyes of many a gaping beholder, it was a knockout. Chatty and comfortable in her suburban Elkins Park home, Mrs. Hortman put it this way: "I'll tell you, I had three husbands, all lovely and beautiful to me. But they died. So I saved the ties of the second and third husbands and made myself slacks and a coat, all feather-stitched by hand. "It brings back beautiful memories." She said the idea for the ensemble "just came out of my head" all of a sudden. A pity it hadn't dawned on her sooner, she mused, for then the first husband would not have been left out of the memorial. She remarked that it was a good job since she is handy with a needle. Otherwise she probably would have had to turn the tender task over to somebody else. Mrs. Hortman confessed that whimsies and conceits of dress are really not new to her. Formerly a milliner in Charlotte, N. C., she said she had that city in a bit of a whirl with one of her creations—a hat made of $1,800 in new $100 bills. There was only one of its kind however, and she kept it. Nothing if not versatile, Mrs. Hortman also has been a court reporter, a teacher of shorthand typing, and ran massage salons in the Panama Canal Zone. Mrs. Hortman plans a round the world cruise next year and says her necktie outfit again will be a basic part of her travel wardrobe.

Stormy Political Strife Ending In Canada Today

OTTAWA (AP)—One of Canada's stormiest political campaigns ends today with the Conservative party of Prime Minister John Diefenbaker strongly favored to win Monday's parliamentary election. Most all the newsmen who have traveled with the leading candidates predict the Conservatives will win a clear majority of the 265 seats in the house of Commons. Public opinion surveys also report the Conservatives have gained strength since they barely ousted the Liberals last June and ended their 22-year rule. Liberal leader Lester B. Pearson, however, maintains that his party will win. And Liberals point out that all the experts and polls were wrong in last summer's upset. More than 6,700,000 are expected to vote. Poll hours: 8 a. m. to 6 p. m., local time. Pearson, Canada's former foreign secretary, has counted heavily on the recession to help swing the country back to the Liberals. He has accused the Conservatives of failing to meet the situation vigorously. Pearson last night described the government's proposed $1,100,000,000 public works program to counter the recession as "one of the honest things ever perpetrated on the Canadian electorate." Th Liberal leader has proposed a 400-million-dollar tax cut giving Canadians a six-week holiday from taxes this summer as the best way to pep up the economy. If he wins Diefenbaker is expected to push a campaign to divert to Britain a larger share of Canadian trade with the United States. Last night he referred to a report that Ford of Canada had refused to ship 1,000 cars to Red China because the U. S. parent company had vetoed the sale under State Department policy. "We intend to have that matter fully investigated," he said. Many observers believe Diefenbaker's move for an election at this time will put the Liberals at a serious disadvantage. Pearson did not take over the leadership until mid-January and had to plunge into a campaign without time to rebuild his badly shattered party. Diefenbaker has based his appeal mainly on the theme that the Conservatives have not been given an opportunity to put their legislative program into effect because they lacked an absolute majority in the House.

Never Saw Man, But Convicted

DETROIT (AP)—A Circuit Court jury has convicted a car owner of involuntary manslaughter in the traffic death of a man he never saw. William Marshall, 33, of suburbia on River Rouge, was accused of giving the keys to his car to Neil McClary, 19, of Lake Orion, last Feb. 4. Asst. Prosecutor Raymond J. Deryck said Marshall gave up his car keys knowing that McClary was intoxicated. McClary and James Coldiron, 29, of nearby Taylor Township, were killed that day when their cars collided on the Willow Run Expressway. Marshall was tried under a state law stating that a person who gives the keys to his car to another known to be intoxicated can be held responsible. Sentence was deferred.

BEATTY CHECKS WOOD SUPPLY IN PICNIC AREA . . . four such fire places have been constructed.

OVER ALL GREENE SPRINGS PARK PLAN HANGS IN CITY HALL LOBBY . . . light portion in center shows eventual 10-acre lake.

We're Seeing A New Park Emerge

By ALVIN TAYLOR
Reflector City Editor

Several years ago Public Works Superintendent Kenneth Beatty was looking over papers and legal documents concerned with this department.

Among them he found the deed which the Browns heirs gave to the city a tract of land on Fifth St. to be used for a public park.

Upon closer inspection of the document Beatty found that the property was to revert back to the original owners if development of the park area had not begun within a certain number of years.

As Public Works Superintendent, major parks and playgrounds construction comes under Beatty's supervision, so with the blessings of city fathers and his superiors in the municipal government Beatty looked over the area to see what could be done.

He found the ruins of what once had been a public park. During depression days back in the '30s the city had originally come in possession of the property on Fifth St. Then, as now, Greenville was without funds for such a major project so the WPA was brought in to do the construction work on the big municipal park.

The Federal agency, organized primarily to abate the rampant unemployment of the day, sent in workmen to build the park. They constructed a bridge across Greene Mill Run which passes through the area and cleared out underbrush. They prepared an overflow well.

As the park took shape local people began to make use of it. Then came better times. WPA became an unimportant agency and with the coming of World War II it disappeared altogether, and the park work ceased.

Greene Springs Park gradually fell into disuse. The underbrush which had been cleared out in earlier years crept back in. The wooden bridge which spanned the run and low area slowly rotted away.

In a few years the park was once again a wilderness with little left to show it had once been a park.

That was what Beatty found eight or nine years ago when he first surveyed the area.

There were no funds available in the city budget for work in the park. However, Beatty was instructed to use his departmental labor as he saw fit in re-building.

Woman's Club Project

Soon one of the city's strongest ladies organization became interested. The local Woman's Club adopted Greene Springs Park as a permanent project.

As time went by the Woman's Club and its Garden Club furnished assistance and funds for construction of various projects.

Gradually, Beatty recalls, the work of placing the park in shape progressed from year-to-year. First came the big job of clearing underbrush and unnecessary trees from the property. Then a bridge over the Mill Run was needed to replace the original one which had long since rotted away.

A landscape architect was employed by the Woman's Club's Home Department to draw up a plan for the overall development of Greene Springs Park. A picture of the park as it will appear when complete now hangs in the City Hall lobby.

Since the original plot of land was given the city by the Browns, additional property on the South side had been deeded by the Williams and Heath families.

In the center of the park the plan calls for a lake to eventually be constructed and fed by Greene Mill Run. The plans called for a road around the park, various parking areas, and a rest room building on the Fifth St. side.

Much of that work has been accomplished according to the plan.

The dirt road around the 40-acre plot of land has been built. Gravel walks have been installed on the high south side of the park and there are three fireplaces and a picnic shed on that side.

On the Fifth St. side gates and rails constructed of cypress cut when Greene Mill Run was recently improved have been built. There is one fireplace on Fifth St.

"We feel we have a good usable park area," Beatty says of the project.

The park has been used by picnickers in past summers but "we are expecting more people to use it this year than ever before."

To help brighten up the south side the Woman's Club this year is donating 400 Azaleas to be planted in banks along the hill.

The plants should bloom this spring, Beatty says, and they should be visible to motorists on Fifth St.

Major Park?

The area may be Greenville's major park in year's to come.

"It's planned for a major park because of its potential," City Manager Leonard Bloxam says. "I don't know of any area you could do as much with as far as a city park is concerned."

Bloxam gives credit to the Greenville Woman's Club for their work on the park.

"To help make this dream come true they have taken this gigantic task on as a club project," he says.

So far the development has generally followed the design developed by the architect.

"Picnic areas and other facilities that have been developed in the park have been placed in accordance with the general design suggested by the architects," he points out.

As for the lake which the plans call for, that will probably of necessity have to be one of the last major projects.

Bloxam points out that much of earth excavated for the lake bottom will be used to build up low areas along its banks. Thus that work will have to be done before a dam can be built to create the lake.

The city officials say Greene Springs will be developed gradually as has been done for the past several years.

They feel there is enough room to take care of park needs as the city grows.

Just how good an area for a park is Greene Springs?

A landscape architect from Richmond was in the city some time ago on another matter, Beatty recalls. He was asked to take a look at the park while he was in Greenville.

He walked through the entire park including low areas. Finally he stood on the high south hill overlooking Greene Springs.

"He said it was out of this world," Beatty relates. "He said he had never seen any nicer spot in his life."

The local Public Works superintendent echoes the sentiment.

"When we develop this park there won't be a nicer one in Eastern North Carolina," he declares.

PUBLIC WORKS SUPERINTENDENT KENNETH BEATTY ON BRIDGE . . . looks over rapidly developing south side of park.

PICNIC SHED STANDS ON HIGH GROUND WITH FIREPLACE NEARBY . . . eventually others will be constructed at park.

WORKMEN PREPARE BEDS FOR AZALEAS AT PARK . . . some 400 will be planted to bloom this year.

Plan Pre-Easter Church Services

The Annual Pre-Easter Revival Services will be held at Red Oak Christian Church beginning Sunday morning at 11 o'clock and continuing through Easter Sunday morning worship. Leading the Revival will be the Pastor, Rev. Howard James, who will be the Evangelist. Services will be held each evening at 7:45 o'clock. A nursery will be provided for pre-school children. Special Music will be provided by the Sanctuary choir of Red Oak Church and the following guests:

REV. HOWARD JAMES

Sunday night — Stokes Christian Church. Monday night — Eighth Street Christian Church Choir and Men's Quartet; Tuesday night — Mrs. Cleveland Bradner, Jr.; Wednesday — Piney Grove P.W.B. Church; Thursday — Reedy Branch F.W.B. Choir; Friday — Mrs. Mimi Tripp Denton; and Saturday — Mrs. Clarissa Edwards May. The "Seven last words of Christ" will be the theme of the evening services in the order which Christ gave them from the cross. Candle-light Communion Service will be held as the closing part of the service on Thursday night. The Eighteenth Annual Easter Sunrise Service is planned for 5:41 a.m. on April 6.

According to the Rev. Mr. James, a very successful visitation Evangelism Program and a Prayer Covenant Service has been prepared for the Revival. "The public is extended an invitation to attend our Pre-Easter Revival and the Easter Sunrise Service," the Pastor said.

Bans 'Jackrabbit' Starts By Police

DALLAS (AP)—Asst. Police Chief Jess Curry has asked local cops to stop making jackrabbit starts in prowl cars. After learning the connecting rods were burned out in several 1958 models, he directed that squad cars "not be operated in excess of 60 m.p.h. in second gear."

Rules Dogs Go With Children

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A jurist here has ruled that dogs go with the children when families break up. Judge Elmer D. Doyle of Superior Court so declared in the pre-divorce hearing of the Lawrence S. Kriegers. Both Kriegers wanted custody of Gigi, a toy French poodle. "I think the dog should be with the children," the court ruled, granting Mrs. Krieger custody of the dog along with two small children pending divorce hearings.

Re-Echo Case Of Rapist Freed By High Court

WASHINGTON (AP)—The case of Andrew Roosevelt Mallory, 22-year-old Negro who came here from Spartanburg, S.C. and was freed by the Supreme Court from a death sentence for rape, will re-echo next week in the U.S. House of Representatives. The matter already has been debated in Congress since Mallory, convicted in 1955 of raping a 38-year-old white woman, was released from a District of Columbia death cell last June 26. The court held that Mallory had been detained too long—7½ hours—between arrest and arraignment and that the confession he made during that time should not have been considered as evidence. The U.S. attorney later decided that without the confession he would not have enough evidence to try Mallory again. The House Judiciary Committee is expected to recommend next week a bill regarding the questioning of federal prisoners. Introduced by Rep. Willis (D-La.), it would provide that a voluntary confession, once the suspect has been advised of his rights, may be used in evidence against him. Mere delay in arraignment would not be enough to outlaw an otherwise voluntary confession. Mallory, freed after his conviction was reversed, is awaiting a grand jury decision now on a housebreaking charge. Mrs. Mamie R. Hunter, Negro, accused him early this year of break-

Urey Belittles Small Satellites

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—Dr. Harold C. Urey, a Nobel Prize winner, says U.S. earth satellites are "interesting, but they don't mean anything."

Urey, a university of California chemistry professor discovered heavy hydrogen and was a major developer of the atomic bomb. He told a news conference yesterday it is disturbing that the U.S. prides itself in putting a small satellite into the air in an elliptical orbit. "Here the Russians have put up an object which weighs a half ton and which is capable of doing an enormous amount of damage," Urey declared. "We are in for a competition with Russia for the rest of the century, not just for a few months. Russia feels the way to compete most successfully is through education. Russia pays its scientists and intellectuals top salaries and recruits people who excel in their fields."

Urey called for a doubling of teacher's salaries "straight down the line." He said it is fine that industry lends physicists and experts to teach in high schools but would be better if salaries were raised so these people could teach full-time. "It is just as rewarding to turn out a few bright students as it is to turn out those gaudy things we drive around the streets in," he added.

Puzzled Bandit Rejects A 'Loan'

DENVER (AP)—A white-haired gunman entered the Guardian Savings & Loan Assn. and demanded money. Mrs. Peggie Chipman explained there wasn't any money. It had all been deposited in a bank. "Could I loan you some of my money?" she asked, sympathetically. The puzzled holdup man shook his head and left.

Had Two Fires In Three Hours

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Two fires of undetermined cause in three hours kept J. W. Isaac Jr. on the go. The first blaze in a wall at his home did little damage and firemen made short work of it. But the second one, near the first one, forced him to leap from a second story window. He was unharmed but damage was estimated at $9,000.

Credit Collection Division Of City Merchants Ready To Begin Service

The credit buyers who hardly ever or never pay their bills will be given some added incentive here beginning April 1.

On this date the new Credit-Collection Division of the Greenville Merchant's Association, Inc. will officially begin operating. Its primary purpose is to collect "seemingly uncollectable" bills. The new division came about as a result of a number of requests filed by local merchants. Following an investigation into the matter six weeks ago the Board of Directors of the Merchants Association recommended that such an agency be set up here.

Association President J. D. McGlohon, Jr. states the Credit-Collection Division has been organized for "the good" of local merchants, professional and businessmen. "Only members," he explained, "will be eligible to utilize the agency's services."

At the present time there are approximately 275 members representing business firms throughout Pitt County and surrounding communities. Mrs. Betty Mason will be in charge of the Collection division while Mrs. Lois Fleming is to handle the credit files and reports. All of the Association's credit files, containing 27,500 names, will be turned over to the new agency for future reference, McGlohon noted.

According to Mrs. Mason accounts have already begun coming in. In addition, she said, the division has started working with similar agencies in neighboring cities. McGlohon explained that the agency has been set up to collect delinquent bills, not only added service the division will have a two-fold advantage since credit information concerning former Greenville residents and newcomers can be freely exchanged.

The following example was given: Recently a former Greenville resident applied for credit in a neighboring city and was told his credit record would have to be checked before the loan could be made. The firm, upon checking with the Credit-Collection Division here, found that he owed several local business firms and refused to make the loan until the accounts were cleared.

He returned and paid his bills here. In turn the Credit-Collection Division notified the solicited firm and the loan was made. "This is but one of the services the new agency will render," McGlohon noted. "Needless to say there will be many more in the future."

Collection Rates For every dollar collected on any account the agency will pay three-fourths of the amount with several exceptions. These are: 60 per cent on accounts over six months, but under 12 months old and accounts of $10 or less and under 12 months old; and 50 per cent of all accounts over 12 months old, accounts located outside of Pitt County and all judgments, checks, etc. or claims previously handled by other agents. The agency has a 25 per cent fee for repossessions or returned goods.

There is no fee when the account is not collected, Mrs. Mason said. "We do not want accounts that are potentially good accounts," McGlohon said. "It is felt these accounts should be handled through the concern's own collection channels." "However the agency will accept any account and will assist the retailer in any way possible." The Credit-Collection Division is a member of the National Retail Credit Association and the Associated Credit Bureaus of North Carolina and the United States. It is located in the Merchants Association's offices in the Municipal Building at the corner of Fifth and Washington streets.

Permanent Wave Rights Decided In Court Fight

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—An 11-year legal fight for patent rights to a permanent wave solution has been decided in favor of a man who says he discovered the formula by chance. Harry Martin of Monroe, N.Y., once a cleaner and dyer, was ruled the originator of the home-permanent solution yesterday by Federal Judge Sterlin Hutcheson.

Langer Rejected By Dakota GOP

BISMARCK, N.D. (AP)—North Dakota Republicans today awaited the reaction of William Langer after turning down his bid for a fourth term in the U.S. Senate last night at their endorsing convention.

Murder Charged To 12-Year-Old

WOODWARD, Okla. (AP)—A murder charge has been lodged against 12-year-old Robert Smith in the shooting of Floyd Blair last Sunday. Robert and his brother David, 10, were together when Blair was shot at his grocery store. Police said the boys had intended to commit robbery. David was ordered to a ranch for boys from broken homes. Robert was held in jail pending arraignment.

YOU'VE GOT TO FIND THAT BIRD.

YES, MISS EGGHEAD.

CRIMESTOPPERS TEXTBOOK

WITH INTEREST IN ROCKETS AND OUTER SPACE AT FEVER PITCH, YOUTHFUL SCIENTISTS SHOULD REMEMBER TO DO THEIR EXPERIMENTS UNDER COMPETENT SUPERVISION.

TOMORROW, MISS EGGHEAD, I'LL CANVASS EACH HOUSE IN THE AREA ALONG THAT ROAD. THE ROOSTER IS BOUND TO BE IN THAT SECTION.

YOU'D BETTER FIND THAT GAMECOCK.

DON'T WORRY, I WILL. BUT NOW I THINK I'LL DROP BY THE STABLE AND CHECK THE PENS. GOOD NIGHT, MISS EGGHEAD.

FIVE MINUTES LATER

CONCHITA, WHAT IS WRONG?

NOTHEENG, PAPA. I AM ONLY GIVING JOHNNY-BIRD HEE'S MEDICINE.

CONCHITA, YOU KNOW MISS EGGHEAD DOES NOT WANT THE SICK ONES DOCTORED! SHE WANTS THEM KILLED! SHE SAID SO! SHE IS RAISING FIGHTERS—NOT WEAKLINGS.

BUT, PAPA, I CANNOT LET THE LITTLE CHICKEN-FELLOW TO DIE. HE IS SO CUTE TO ME.

BA-AH! BESIDES, MISS EGGHEAD GAVE ORDERS THAT YOU ARE NOT TO MAKE PETS OF THE GAMECOCKS.

EGGIE, I JUST DON'T UNDERSTAND YOU! WITH ALL YOUR MILLIONS AND EDUCATION, WHY YOU CONTINUE TO PURSUE THIS LOWLY, RIDICULOUS "SPORT" IS BEYOND ME.

SOME PEOPLE LIKE HORSES. I LIKE GAMECOCKS.

GRANDFATHER EGGHEAD, WHO MADE HIS FORTUNE IN MEXICO SILVER MINES, ALSO OWNED THE WORLD'S CHAMPIONSHIP STABLE OF GAMECOCKS. I TAKE AFTER GRANDPA.

I CAN TAKE A FIGHTING ROOSTER AND PLAY IT LIKE AN ARTIST PLAYS A STRADIVARIUS. IT'S IN MY BLOOD.

THE GAMECOCK SYMBOLIZES THE DAUNTLESS SPIRIT OF US EGGHEADS—CALL IT WHAT YOU WILL, SISTER OF MINE.

"FIGHT, FIGHT, FIGHT! NOT A QUITTER IN THE PEN. EVERY BIRD A CHAMPION!"

THE SECOND EXAMINATION IS OVER AND MISS BOGGS IS MARKING THE PAPERS.

GOOD GRACIOUS! MUSCLES HAS PASSED 100 PER CENT AGAIN!

MR. BAKER, THIS IS PREPOSTEROUS! THAT MOODY BOY MUST BE CHEATING!

NO DOUBT OF IT, MISS BOGGS... BUT WE MUST PROVE IT!

THE FOLLOWING DAY IN CHEMISTRY CLASS...

I AM ABOUT TO DEMONSTRATE FLUORESCENCE, OR HOW CERTAIN MATERIALS WILL GLOW WHEN SUBJECTED TO ULTRA-VIOLET RAYS.

Fluorescein
 CaF_2 E-ty
 Na_2AlF_6

AND THAT'S THE PLAN, MR. BAKER, IF IT HAS YOUR APPROVAL!

VERY WELL, BOYS, BUT IF IT DOESN'T WORK, I'LL BE VERY EMBARRASSED!

WELL, WHAT DO YOU KNOW! OLD BAKER HAS INVITED ME TO A SPECIAL MEETING IN HIS OFFICE... GUESS HE WANTS TO CONGRATULATE ME!

MUSCLES, BECAUSE OF YOUR HIGH MARKS IN SCIENCE, I KNOW YOU'LL BE INTERESTED IN THIS DEMONSTRATION!

IF AN OBJECT IS DUSTED WITH A FLUORIDE, THE HANDS OF ANYONE WHO HANDLES IT WILL GLOW IN THE RAYS OF THIS ULTRA-VIOLET LAMP!

BUT YOU SAID WE COULD GO ON FURLOUNDS THIS WEEK.

I SAID NEXT WEEK! NOW GO TO BED!

IS HE ASLEEP? I'VE GOT THE BEACON PLUGGED IN.

GOOD! I JUST REACHED IN AND TORE A DAY OFF HIS CALENDAR.

WHAAAA? MORNING ALREADY? SEEMS LIKE I JUST GOT TO SLEEP.

BOY, DO I FEEL DOPEY!

NOW SWITCH IT OFF, HE'S NOT LOOKING.

HUH? NIGHT AGAIN? GEE, MONDAY WENT BY FAST!

HAVEN'T FELT TOO HOT LATELY --- MUST BE UNDER A STRAIN --- SO TIRED... BZZZZ

HE'S WASHING AGAIN.

A COUPLE MORE TIMES WILL DO IT.

WAKE UP, SARGE, IT'S NEXT WEEK.

YOU PROMISED TO SIGN OUR FURLOUNDS.

(GROAN) ALL RIGHT—THEN LEAVE ME ALONE. I'M SO SLEEPY.

The New WAYNE D. OVERHOLSER Thriller

THE LONE DEPUTY

© 1957, Wayne D. Overholser. From the novel published by The Macmillan Co. Distributed by King Features Syndicate.

WHAT HAS HAPPENED

Price Regan, town marshal of Saddle Rock, Colo., and deputy sheriff of Tremaine county, has more on his mind than Laura Madden, even though she has announced to him that he is marrying her. Price would be willing enough to marry Laura if he wasn't the man in the middle in a struggle of money, power and pride between two determined men. One is Laura's father, Barry Madden. Saddle Rocks banker. Price suspects that Madden isn't the strong man he appears to be, but is or can be dominated by Cole Weston, a cattleman whose riders do not respect any laws.

Madden thought he owned Price. He found out differently when, offering Price a house as a wedding present in return for loaning settler-storekeeper Walt Cronin out of the country, Price refused. Price, riding to Cronin's to warn him of trouble, was greeted by a shotgun. The belligerent Cronin accused him of siding with Madden and Weston.

CHAPTER 5

Cole Weston was not familiar with failure. If he had not been sure that Curly Blue could whip Regan, he would never have agreed to Blue's plan. Blue, who had been arrested and manhandled by Regan more times than he cared to remember, hated the deputy with a deep bitterness that he had never felt for anyone else, so the fight had been his idea of square accounts.

But Blue had failed. After he regained consciousness, he sat on the ground, his back against the water trough, a bruised and battered hulk of a man.

Weston stared at Blue in loathing because he loathed all failures. After Price Regan rode to going downriver, Curly on his horse and take him home.

"I didn't hire on to play nursemaid," Nance said in his mild tone.

Weston wheeled on him. "You'll do what I tell you or you'll draw your time." He swung around and strode to the bank, the edge of his fury blunted.

When he went into the bank, John Ramey got down from his high stool. "Good morning, Mr. Weston," Ramey said in the obsequious tone he always used with him. "Go right on back, Mr. Madden is expecting you."

Weston swore and strode through the gate at the end of the counter and went into Madden's office. It seemed to him there were just two kinds of people in the world: Those who bowed and scraped in front of him because he was Cole Weston and those who defied him, men like Price Regan and Walt Cronin, out there on the mouth of the Yellow Cat. He hated the latter and he despised the former.

Now, standing with his back to the door and glaring at Barry Madden, who glared back, Weston wasn't quite sure into which class he should put Madden. He wasn't quite sure, either, whether he could manage Madden if their relationship ever reached the breaking point. There were moments when the banker showed traces of a backbone. That bothered Weston. He needed Madden, needed him badly, but that was something Madden must never know.

"What did Price Regan say?" Weston demanded.

"You can guess," Madden said. "I offered to buy him the house. I told him it wouldn't be long before we had our own county and he'd be the first sheriff. He wanted to know what it would cost him."

and I said all he had to do was to run Cronin out of the country. He got his neck bowed, so I said he'd lose both his job and his girl."

Madden spread his hands. "Nothing worked. He said he'd handle Cronin when he got evidence against him."

Weston walked to the window and stared into the alley, thinking how much he could do with a man like Price Regan. The trouble was, you seldom found a man of his caliber, and when you did he was bound to be on the other side of the fence.

"We've waited too long, Barry," Weston said. "Now we've got to kill him."

"For a moment Barry Madden stared at his back, then said angrily, 'You tried to kill Regan this morning. That wasn't in our agreement.'"

"No, it wasn't," Weston agreed. "You missed seeing a good fight, Barry. Regan could do pretty well in the prize ring. It's my guess he's had some training."

"I watched it from the bank," Madden rose and, putting his hands palm down against the desk, leaned forward. "Cole, I said that wasn't part of our agreement."

Weston turned, irritated by Madden's tone. "To hell with our agreement! You kept asking for time and I kept giving it to you on account of Laura. Regan's had plenty of chance. Now I'm done waiting. She'll find another man. She's young."

"We've got to try once more," Madden said. "I don't like Regan and he knows it, but that's not the point. If he's killed, Laura will hold it against me."

"She'll get over that, too," Weston said. "Sometimes you're a little stupid, Barry. There's more to this than just having a deputy we can't handle. There's more to it than letting Cronin steal a few calves and letting that bunch of subdusters hang on."

"Stupid!" Madden said, getting red in the face. "If anyone's stupid, it's you for thinking you can go on forever making your own law."

Weston grinned. "No, I'm not stupid. I can't change. I've got to keep on. Cronin ain't hurting us and I don't need the Yellow Cat. Neither does Red Sanders or the Mohawk boys." He jabbed a forefinger at Madden. "The point is, sooner or later word will get out that them nesters have come here and they're staying. We'll get some land promoter in here and he'll advertise the country and farmers will pour in by the hundreds. We're finished then, Barry. Our day's gone now. We're living on borrowed time and I am to keep on borrowing time."

"I'm not finished," Madden said. "I'll still have a banking business."

Weston laughed at him. "I'll tell you what you'll have! You'll have competition, and you don't want that no more than I want farmers! We'll stay on top or we'll go down together. And if we do go down, you'll never get to the legislature."

Weston saw Madden's face turn pale; he watched him sit down at the desk again, suddenly, as if his knees had lost their strength and could not hold him any longer. Barry Madden had a dream that Weston had used time and time again to keep him in line, a dream so big and overpowering that it ruled everything Madden did. The only rival it had was Laura, and now, watching Madden, Weston sensed the old struggle that had gone on in Madden from the time his wife had died and Laura had become doubly important to him. Sweat made a bright shine on Madden's forehead. He took a white handkerchief out of his pocket and wiped his face. Then he said, "I know you're right about what'll happen once we get a real flood of farmers coming over the pass, but twelve hours won't change anything. Give me that much time, Cole. For Laura."

"You still think Regan will change, after the way you put it up to him this morning?" Weston shook his head. "You're crazy, Barry."

"I've got to make one more try. Red Sanders and the Mohawk boys will be in town this afternoon, today being Saturday. So far I've been the one to talk to Regan. Maybe I went at it wrong, trying to buy him with a house. Well, I want all of you to be at my place this evening and we'll make it plain. I'll have Max Harter there, too. So Regan will think the townsmen are behind us."

Weston gave this a moment's thought. Then he said, "No, twelve hours won't make any difference. You won't change Regan, but you can try, if you'll go along with me after he turns you down."

"With you? I mean what are you planning?"

"I don't know yet. I just want your word you'll back us."

Reluctantly Madden nodded. "All right, you've got it."

"If you break it, I'll kill you, Barry. Don't ever doubt it."

Weston walked to the door and put his hand on the knob, then looked back at Madden, his dark eyes faintly speculating. No real plan in the man, he thought. He belonged to the bowing and scraping class, and the funny part of it was he didn't need to because the truth was that Weston needed Madden more than Madden needed Weston.

"I'll kill you, Barry," Weston said again. "Remember that."
